MOORE about... EASTLAND

by Virgil E. Moore

Jan Taylor, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Taylor, 413 Pershing, is a happy young lady these days. She has just discovered that "... they are making chickens right again."

Jan isn't been too pleased to find out that the pullyphone has been missing from the fried chicken her mother has been serving recently. (The butcher butchered the pullyphone when cutting up the frier.) Naturally she was delighted when she sat down for Sunday dinner and discovered her favorite piece on top of the plate of southern fried chicken. That prompted her statement about "making chickens right."

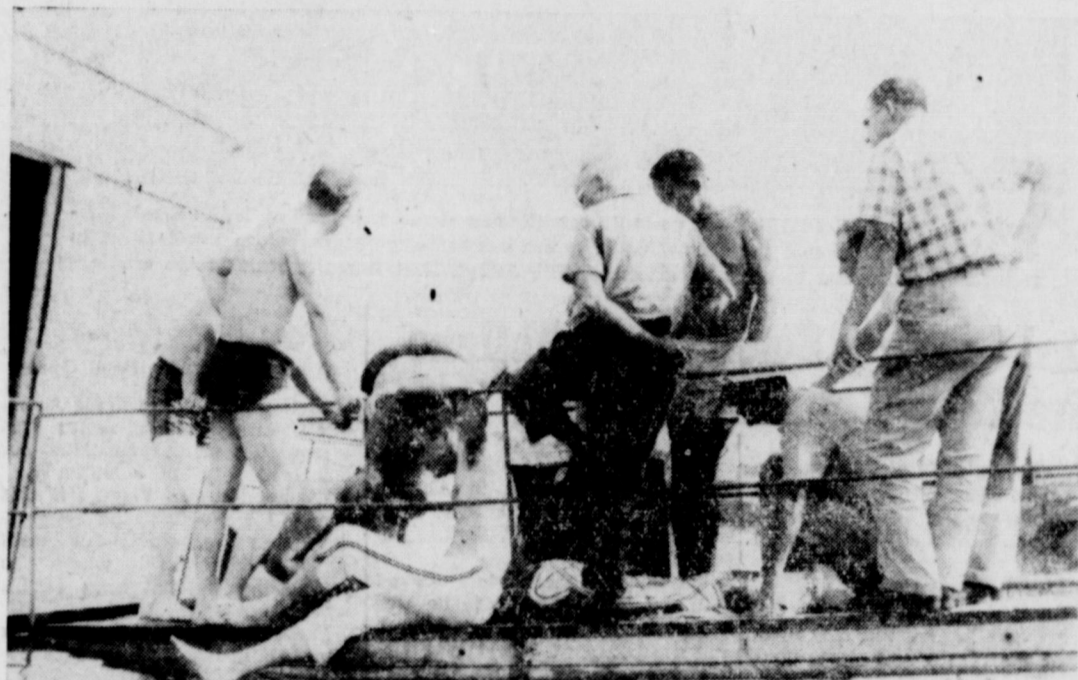

Creig Lund, son of Dr. and Mrs. Fehman Lund, 613 South Seaman, learned a lesson concerning rats the other day. He was out in the yard playing when he heard his dog making loud noises by the side of the house. He ran around the house in time to see the dog throw a big rat to the ground.

Creig isn't one to be afraid of a little thing like a rat, so he reached down to pick it up. When he did, the rat came to life and bit the lad on the hand. Before the rat could do anymore damage, the Lund dog came to the rescue and finished it off.

The rat is being sent to Austin for rabies test, just in case.

If you haven't seen Jim Eidsen's trophy, get him to show it to you. Jim won consolation honors in the seventh flight at Ruidoso, N. M. recently. The Ruidoso golf tourney is one of the best held in the nation, and Jim can be quite proud of himself. It took near par golf to make the seventh flight.

RESCUE EFFORTS FRUITLESS—Volunteers worked for more than an hour Sunday trying to revive Robert Gordon Cameron, 20, of Los Angeles, Calif., but failed to revive the youth after he stayed under the water for 45 minutes at Lake Leon. ## Barn, 2000 Turkeys Lost In Rural Fire Eastland firemen fought a losing two hour battle Saturday afternoon at the L. B. Culpepper Jr. turkey ranch two miles south of Eastland.

Some two thousand four-week-old turkeys were lost and the barn in which they were housed was almost completely destroyed.

Volunteer firemen were called to the scene at 5:55 p.m. When they arrived the blaze was out of control, a Fire Department spokesman said. Black smoke from the fire could be seen for miles around, and firemen fought for two hours to bring the blaze under control. Most of the barn was a two-story section, and it was a complete loss. A smaller one-story section was saved.

Culpepper said the loss was partially covered by insurance. Fire Chief Billy Jack Johnson said electrical wiring may have caused the blaze, but he was reluctant to definitely state that was the cause.

Firemen left the scene of the fire shortly after 7:30 p.m., but had to return again at 8:09 when wind caused the fire to break out again.

The Culpeppers have lived on the farm for three years. It is located on the old Carbon road. Two booster trucks answered the alarm, and almost all members of the Volunteer Fire Department assisted in fighting the fire.

Gray Matter

By JOE GRAY
It appears to me that if Prize Winning Editor Virgil Moore is going to quote me in his column about any remark I might have made concerning his winning the first-place award in column writing as judged by the West Texas Press Association, he ought to quote me fully. He didn't tell it

What I said when I learned that Virgil had brought distinction to himself and his paper was that if they were going to make a photograph of him concerning the award they would have to make a time exposure of that boy. Moore's light he won't register on the fastest film made on a split-second exposure. Virgil is such a lightweight, physically, that he won't register on feed-store scales. I think it would have been interesting if Virgil had given the technical data on the exposure and camera opening used to take the picture of Publisher Graham, of Farwell, presenting Editor Moore with the award. I've heard a rumor that the award used in the picture was only a paper prop used only for photographic purposes. If this pictured trophy had been the real thing, Moore wouldn't have been able to lift it with both hands, let alone one hand. In winning the editor's award (Continued On Page Two)

Fine Catches Made at Lake

Several good catches have been made at Lake Leon, according to the latest fishing reports.

Ed Richardson, lake warden, landed four bass weighing 10 pounds, with the largest weighing three pounds, while casting with top-water lures.

Boone Yarbrough and Jack Ralls of Ranger caught seven bass averaging three pounds each, using spinning equipment and top-water lures.

Floyd Boone of Weatherford pulled in 11 bass weighing three to four and one-half pounds, fly fishing.

Al Larson of Ranger landed a three and one-half pound bass, casting with top water lures.

Coast Youth Drowns Sunday at Lake Leon

Death Is First at Four Year Old Lake

One of the best safety records of any large Texas lake came to a sudden end Sunday when a 20-year-old California man drowned in Lake Leon.

Robert Gordon Cameron, son of a University of California at Los Angeles professor, is the first person to drown in the lake, which is the municipal water supply for both Eastland and Ranger.

Cameron was swimming with a fraternity brother from the University of California Agriculture College at Davis, Calif., when the accident occurred. He and six other members of the University of California chapter of Alpha Gamma Rho were on their way to Daytona Beach, Fla., to attend the fraternity's national convention. Cameron was president of his college's fraternity.

It has not been confirmed whether or not Cameron suffered from a heart condition. His companions reported that he was in a strong condition and that he was not an outstanding swimmer. An autopsy was not ordered.

The group had stopped in Ranger to visit Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Mills, grandparents of Tom Watson, one of the Fraternity brothers. Three of the youths decided to take a swim at the Mill's place at Lake Leon and the other four remained in Ranger.

The three boys, after swimming for a short time, rested at the Mill's place, then Watson decided to do some skiing. A little later, Cameron and Max Herzog decided to swim from the Mill's boathouse to a boat dock owned by Felton Brashier and son which was a short distance away.

Herzog said he swam on into the Brashier boathouse, but that Cameron stopped on the outside. The last time he was seen alive he was hanging onto the side of the boathouse, but apparently was not in any trouble.

Cameron, who would have been a senior next fall, was missed a few minutes later, at about 2:30 p.m. Herzog started the search for him, then called for help from other swimmers and skiers in the area.

Rescuers were unsuccessful in finding the body diving, but 45 minutes later it was recovered by Dr. J. W. Hall of Breckenridge and Elb Richardson, lake patrolman, using grappling hooks. The body was recovered in 35 feet of water, under the Brashier boathouse.

Rescue workers from Eastland, Pomeroy and Cisco worked until 4:30 p.m. in effort to revive Cameron. Despite the fact oxygen was available at the time his body was recovered, efforts were unavailing.

Justice of the Peace W. D. Harper of Gorman ruled death was by accidental drowning.

Cameron was the son of Prof. and Mrs. E. H. Cameron, 10620 Wellworth Ave., Los Angeles. The body is being returned to California from Killingsworth Funeral Home in Ranger.

The drowning was the third of the year in Eastland County. Sixteen year old David Elmore drowned May 11 at Ringling Lake in Eastland and 15-year-old Billy Wayne Taylor drowned June 9 in the Cisco Park swimming pool.

Boy Scouts Are 'Big Business' In Eastland

(Editor's Note: This is another article written by a member of the United Fund Publicity Committee, which is headed by Mr. Arthur Murrell.)
By JAMES REID
The Boy Scouts of America, one of your United Fund Organizations, is big business in our own town. Probably no business outside of the public school could claim over 100 boys. Scouting overlaps all religion and races and teaches fellowship with his fellow man that can be found in no other organization.

Eastland's Troop 103 sponsored by the Lions Club and Troop 6 sponsored by the Rotary Club start the boy out with a knowledge of the Scout Oath, "On my honor I will do my best—to do my duty to God and my Country, and to obey the Scout Law. # Rotarians Make Quick Tour of Country Club

Eastland Rotarians made a quick tour of the new Leon Cedar Country Club layout Monday at noon.

Leading the tour was Dr. James Whittington, president of the Land Company which is building the swanky layout. He told Rotarians he had spoke to them several times of a dream, and that now he wanted to show them a reality.

Rotarians met for lunch at the White Elephant restaurant and drove from there to the lake.

There they saw first hand the elaborate clubhouse, the completed swimming pool, work being done of clearing the golf course and the new half-completed bath houses by the pool.

They also got to see gleaming new kitchen equipment which is being installed, and were told by Dr. Whittington that the floors are due to go down sometime this week and that paving of the road leading to the clubhouse from the highway is to start this week. The parking lot by the clubhouse will be hardtopped at the same time the road is being completed.

Dr. Whittington said an open house is due to be held soon so that all stockholders will be able to tour the plant.

Rotarians also inspected the new filtering plant, which completely changes water in the swimming pool every six hours.

Modern lighting fixtures were demonstrated, and Dr. Whittington explained that the air conditioning for the entire building has been completed.

Boats Must Display Numbers

Registered boats at Lake Leon must have numbers painted or stenciled on both sides, according to Ed Richardson, lake warden.

Richardson said that boats failing to display numbers are subject to a fine. Lake permits are available for boats from Richardson at the rate of $5 a year.

Wasp Sting Victim's Services Wednesday

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 4 p.m. for W. C. (Bill) Nix at the Eastland Church of Christ. Mr. Nix, a native of Eastland, died Monday in Abilene after being stung on the back of the neck by a wasp.

The attending physician said Mr. Nix died of suffocation after a sting caused his neck to swell, cutting off breathing.

Mr. Nix, 34-year-old Abilene electrician, was working Monday morning when he was stung. He was checking an air conditioner when he was struck by the wasp. He told Roy L. Peters, his employer, that he had better take him home since such a sting usually made him sick. Peters took Mr. Nix to his home and he fainted soon after getting there.

Mr. Nix was rushed to Hendrick Memorial Hospital. He died at 8:45 a.m.

The body will lie in state at (Continued on Page Two)

Five Men Injured In Auto Accident

Five men were injured in a double highway accident, about one mile east of Strawn on Highway 80, Sunday night. They were rushed to Ranger General Hospital where three of the men were given emergency treatment and released.

Released from the hospital, after receiving emergency treatment for cuts and bruises, were E. D. Allen of Gorman, Richard Barron of Mingus, and Wilbur Lewis Barron of Mingus. Allen incurred lacerations on the forehead.

Earl Platter of Gorman, who received three fractured ribs on his right side, was released Monday morning.

Still hospitalized is A. D. Ash of Ranger, who is reported in much better condition by his attending physician. Ash regained consciousness Monday morning. Thrown out of the car, he also encountered cuts and bruises.

According to the investigating officer from Mineral Wells, a 1940 Chevrolet—belonging to Allen—ran into a cement culvert on the highway. Passengers in the car with Allen were Ash and Platter.

The second accident occurred when a 1950 Pontiac, driven by Wilbur Barron, collided with the rear end of the Chevrolet, protruding into the road way. Lights on the Chevrolet were turned off, the officer said.

Moore About—

Jon has just returned from six months active duty with the Army. He says coaching sure looks good to him now, and recommends that anyone who is dissatisfied with his working conditions go join up. "It will make them appreciate what they have," he claims.

Have you noticed all the grasshoppers who have tied in with the crickets? When Eastland businessmen came to work Monday morning they found the worst infestation of crickets that they have had all year.

They were so thick at the Greyhound Bus Station, that you couldn't walk without stepping on a dozen or so of the little fiddlers.

That's not too unusual, but we sure do hate to see the grasshoppers get mixed up with that black critter. When the truth is known, Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union, has probably organized both the crickets and the grasshoppers and made them run together.

When Rotarians started out to look over the new country club layout at Lake Leon Monday, Jim Hoffa offered to take his car. He found out those Rotarians were a choosy bunch, however. They wouldn't ride with him because he didn't have an air conditioner.

We meant to tell you about one of the little things that came up at the press convention we attended recently. A panel of Alpine citizens volunteered to ask questions put to them by newsmen.

An elderly school teacher was asked what she disliked most about her local newspaper.

"Well," she replied, "when I picked it up yesterday the first eight personals I read were about people who haven't lived here any time. None of them had been here more than 20 years."

The lady was then asked how many new people there were in Alpine. She thought a moment, then replied, "I don't know, but there are too many!"

See you again Thursday.

Grey Matter—

from the West Texas Press Association, Virgil brought honor both to himself and his publisher but also to his city and community.

It's good to see Virgil win this award. He ought to be congratulated but I'm holding out until his head deshrinks to where he can get his old hat back on his head.

The first day after he got back from Alpine his head was so big he couldn't even get into Dick's office in the "thinking room."

The only way he could report for work was to use one of the telephones in the front-end of the Telegram office and talk to Dick by phone.

A year or so ago I referred to three or four of my little 4- and 5-year-old friends as being Indian fighters. These same little Indian fighters are still in business in the same neighborhood, but for the time being they've quit fighting Indians and are now fighting the Old Devil himself. The boys are now in the Christian ministry.

I guess this comes naturally for them as two of them are preachers' boys and one of them is an outstanding church layman's son.

My three friends are Dr. and Mrs. Lund's, the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Pruitt's, and the Rev. and Mrs. Smith's boys. The Smith boy has the same name as his preacher father. This makes his full name Pichard (Russell) Smith, IV, Russell is already following in the footsteps of his father.

The other day Mrs. Pruitt heard our little angels pounding away on the piano in the Assembly of God Church. As neither of these boys has yet learned the fine points of piano playing, although all three of them do show a definite talent for music, Mrs. Pruitt thought it best to run the boys out of the church and let them finish their playing someplace else.

What the boys were doing, though, was something on a much higher plane than just little boys making a lot of noise on a piano. The little lads were playing church.

The Pruitt and Lund boys were politely sitting in the audience like little boys should do at church, and Russell was pulpit-pounding. It was all he could do to reach the lecture standing on tiptoe but he made it. And banging away like his father does when he's jumping on the Devil. Russell was "preaching" a sermon the "old man" won't criticize him for, although his father wouldn't go as far in his message as the recent Indian fighter did.

Here's what Russell was telling his little audience, "Everybody ought to be a Methodist."

There's a boy after my own heart. I'll wager he's the only Methodist in town that's got enough nerve to go into another fellow's church, step right up to the pulpit and make that state-of-the-art lecture.

There are some of us, I'm sure, who deep down in our hearts sort of secretly believe in that profound observation, but it wouldn't for the world say it in another man's pulpit.

Who was it that said, "From the mouth of babes come wisdom?" That fellow certainly knew what he was talking about.

AS IT LOOKS FROM HERE

OMAR BURLESON, M. C.
7th District, Texas

WASHINGTON, D. C.—At this time during every session of Congress the feeling constantly arises that the Country would be better off if adjournment had come a month ago.

This is the time when legislation is pushed so rapidly it becomes virtually impossible to know the details of every bill under debate. Adjournment is still indefinite, but it appears it will require another several days before the curtain is hauled down.

By reason of the nature of the Committee of which I serve as Chairman, it will be necessary to remain in Washington to clean up the details. There are some things which simply can not be done until the final bell sounds.

It will be my intent to visit over the fourteen counties of the 17th Congressional District during the fall. It will be necessary to return to Washington at intervals to attend to Committee matters, but it is with anticipation I look forward to seeing as many of my constituents as possible for the purpose of rendering a report of my activities as your congressman, and to exchange views on matters of mutual interest.

As is the case in most things, this session of Congress has brought disappointment and satisfaction.

On the domestic side the Congress is about to leave Washington after a spending spree unlike any known in peacetime. The atmosphere of economy and retrenchment was dissipated with Sputnik and the recession. It gave way to many ideas and schemes supposedly needed to meet the emergency.

On the other hand, by reason that some emergency existed, a field day was provided for many ready to take advantage to promote schemes which otherwise would not be possible.

On the Foreign scene a similar

TEA Disaster Program To Go Into Effect

Austin, Texas.—Local civil defense personnel will participate in a disaster feeding program formulated by the Texas Education Agency, it was announced by William L. McGill, state defense coordinator.

Fact sheets on the feeding will be distributed to approximately 3,000 Texas schools taking part in the federal-state school lunch program. During the school year situation exists insofar as spending is concerned. At a time when the Country was ready to retrench in its foreign aid spending, the appearance of "Sputnik" took the lid off.

The best thing coming of it all was an effort to improve our defenses, not only in terms of dollars and cents, but in a real effort to promote greater efficiency in our military establishment. In this connection, it should be a continuing and unrelenting effort.

these lunchrooms daily feed more than 500,000 students.

In time of wartime emergency, the feeding will be under the direction of civil defense personnel, McGill said. Use of the building's lunchrooms will be cleared with the local board of education or school superintendent.

Under the TEA program, lunchroom staffs will assist civil defense workers in operation. If a particular lunchroom is not being used for emergency feeding, the trained staff will report to the nearest operating center as volunteers.

In the case of a natural disaster which would necessitate activating a mass feeding center, the American Red Cross will be in charge.

Mr. Charles M. Hicks, chief consultant of the school lunch service of the Texas Education Agency, is urging lunchroom staffs to become acquainted with the local civil defense director and the Red Cross disaster chairman.

The fact sheet, which is to be posted in school kitchens, will bear the names of civil defense and Red Cross officials and lunch room staff members who are to be contacted when emergency dictates that the program is to be put into effect.

Lake Spraying Successful

Austin, August.—Recent treatment of Possum Kingdom Lake to Kill gizzard shad is proving successful with reports of improved fishing, according to the Director of Inland Fisheries of the Game and Fish Commission.

The 16, 500-acre lake was treated August 6 by spraying a synergized rotenone solution from airplanes. This is the first attempt ever made to spray more than 99 per cent of a lake by air application, and the largest volume of water ever treated for a fish kill.

Shoreline counts were made after the spraying operation to determine the number of fish affected. On the basis of preliminary counts, hurried calculations indicate that approximately 40 million gizzard and threadfin shad were killed in the treatment. This figure does not take into account the shad eaten by game fish or by small animals along the shore. Other species of fish were found, but spot checks seem to hold their numbers to the original estimate of one-half of one per cent of the total.

Random shoreline samples were taken at different parts of the lake. Along measured 100-foot sections, Commission biologists found as few as 4 and as many as 84,900 shad. In some sections no fish were found, but this occurred mainly where sheer rocks cliffs extended into the water.

By ridding the lake of this many shad the game fish food supply has been reduced, making for better fishing over the whole lake, the Director said. Proof of this began showing up as early as Friday morning after the Wednesday spraying when fishermen brought in full strings of large crappie and bass.

FORT WORTH VISITORS

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Verner of Fort Worth spent the weekend with Mrs. Verner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard O'Brien in Olden. Mr. and Mrs. Verner were married recently in Lubbock. Mrs. Verner is the former Frances O'Brien.

MRS. CLYDE NEWTON EVATT (Capps Photo)

Miss Anne Pittman, Clyde N. Evatt Wed

Miss Beverly Anne Pittman became the bride of Clyde Newton Evatt in an evening candlelight ceremony read in the First Baptist Church Saturday at 7 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Pittman of 1005 South Daugherty are the parents of the bride and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Honley Evatt of 1310 South Slay.

Rev. Harvey Kimbler, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiated the double ring ceremony amid a wedding scene centered with Swedish steele candelabra holding white burning tapers flanked with floor baskets of white gladioli. Completing the setting were more Swedish candelabra and green palms.

The beautiful kneeling pillow used on the prayer Brei Dieu was a gift from Mrs. Ola Eldredge.

Carl L. Garrett, soloist, was accompanied by Mrs. Donald L. Kinnaird, organist, as he sang "Requies" and "The Lord's Prayer." "I Love You Truly," "Oh Promise Me," Mendelssohn traditional wedding march and Tannhauser recessional were among the nuptial selections.

Ray Burton Norris was best man and Jerry Cantrell of Ranger, Michael Lisenbee, cousin of the groom, and Kenneth Watson were groomsmen.

Ushering were Don Smith, Henry Sims, Saul Pullman and Clinton Ray Humphrey. Don Smith and Henry Sims were also candlelighters. Maid of honor was Miss Jeannie Pittman, sister of the bride. Sidney Lou Seale, Sarah Sims and Mildred Day were bridesmaids.

The maid of honors and the bridesmaids wore identical dresses of ice blue French brocade styled with a waltz length bouffant skirts and puffed sleeves and fashioned with a square neckline and wide chiffon sashes falling to the hem line in the back.

Complimenting their dresses were blue starched veil hats. They carried cascading bouquets formed of French pink carnations.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of imported white Venetian lace over gleaming satin of ice blue. The curved neckline was scalloped with re-embroideries of the lace design. Long, tapered sleeves formed a point over her hands. The ruffled basque bodice tapered from a shallow point in front to a deep V in back. Tiny lace covered buttons marched from the neckline to waistline in back. The bouffant waltz length skirt of tulle fell into a wide horizontal uneven border of lace. A flounce of ruffled tulle cascaded from the lace.

Her veil of illusion fell from a Queen's crown of matching Venetian lace, scalloped and daintily accented with seed pearls. The bride's only jewelry was a gold cross belonging to her mother. She carried a bouquet of white gardenias atop a white Bible with showers of Stephanotis and pearls.

Mrs. Pittman chose a pink lace dress with white accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Evatt, another of the bridegroom, wore a blue lace dress with white accessories. Both mothers wore pink rose bud corsages.

A reception was held in Woman's Club immediately following the ceremony. Members of the house-party were Meses. Leon Bourland, Howard Upchurch, E. L. Graham, Neil Day, Art Johnson, H. W. Sims, Iona Bounds, Johnson Smith, Virgil Moore, O. H. Dick and Misses Nancy Owen and Dixie Day.

Mrs. Bourland presided at the register table, covered with a white cutwork cloth, which held the bride's bouquet and the white bride's book.

The Bride's table, laid with a white cutwork cloth over blue, held the beautiful four tier wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. Centering the table was an epergne arrangement of white carnations and white mums. Frosted punch was served with the cake. Blue napkins bearing the silver inscription of "Clyde" and "Anne" carried out the Bride's chosen colors.

For the wedding trip the bride chose a coffee colored silk suit with brown accessories and a detachable gardenia corsage from her bridal bouquet.

After September 1 the young couple will reside in Logan, Utah.

Mrs. Evatt is a spring graduate of Eastland High School and her husband, a graduate of Eastland High School, will attend Utah State University this fall. He has also attended Ranger College.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mrs. Annie Stokes, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Osburn, David of Abilene, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Benham, Mr. and Mrs. Gailard C. Benham and Miss Jane Maddox, all of Weatherford.

From Lyndon Johnson
Dear Friend:
The work of this session of Congress has resulted in a record of productivity that compares favorably with the record of any Congressional session in our history.

As this is written, there are still important measures to be enacted before adjournment. But the record already made is one that does credit to our representative form of government. In any field of national security, as I pointed out in my News Letter last week, Congress took definite steps to strengthen our defenses and to improve our position in the Space Age.

Also, we met the threat of economic recession with a series of legislative measures prudently designed to combat the slump in business and to provide jobs for people who need them.
Effects of much of the legislation enacted during the last seven months will be felt for years to come. Space does not permit the listing of all the important bills passed, or even of most of them. But among the outstanding ones are these:
*Resolutions calling for speeding up on previously authorized military construction and public works projects.
*A new highway bill setting up a program to bring better roads to all our people and provide many, many new jobs.
*The biggest health research program in history.
*Extension of unemployment compensation—a lifesaver for people who had been laid off from their jobs.
*A housing bill to stimulate home building. Its good economic effects already are being felt throughout the country.

*We authorized construction of a long list of water control and conservation projects in Texas.
*The Senate passed, and I hope the House of Representatives will approve, a farm bill of great importance to Texas cotton and rice producers, to wool producers and to other farmers.
*A bill creating a permanent Small Business Administration with greater lending authority and lower interest rates.
*A bill to save the country's railroad from bankruptcy.
When will Congress adjourn? Guesses are plentiful, but no one knows the exact date. There is still work to be done. Action remains to be completed on proposed legislation of importance.
These past seven months have been all business so far as Congress is concerned. The concluding days or weeks of the session may be expected to follow the pattern that has been set. That means we will be working right up to the hour of adjournment, on matters affecting the well-being of the American people.
That is precisely as it should be.

Legally Speaking
You can tell a lot about people by the way they regard time. Do they put stock mostly in the past—their record; the present—their direct joy in work of play; or the future—their plans.
Why not use all three dimensions of time? Past experience to guide, the present for zest, and the future to realize dreams.
Lawyers report a sharp shift in the way people regard time and the law: Of old they thought of law in terms of past fact like failures to meet legal duties, mistakes, etc.—fact useful chiefly in lawsuits.
You still have to think of the record, since you may have to go trial some time. So keep good records of your affairs.
But more and more people now also think of the law in the future tense—in terms of built-in safeguards for plans which they want to go through without legal hitches.
Our heavy income and death taxes have made people plan ahead legally, rather than wait for the axe to fall.
Any time you buy or sell a home or a business or make an investment you have choices of how you may do it—some wise, some not, in view of your circumstances. Should you insist on an abstract or accept or offer instead a title insurance policy. (Your lawyer has a definite part to play in either event.)
Should you do business as a sole proprietor, a partnership, or corporation? Do your contracts set out ways of meeting unexpected events? How best may you serve your estate (and also carry out your wishes)—by a will or a trust, or by direct gifts.
While all of these things point forward, the past in the form of court records can serve you by showing where trouble may come from.
As more and more people know the symptoms of legal trouble—where to look for legal hitches in plans before big trouble starts, there will be fewer law suits and better human relations.
And where does trouble sometimes start? Most often where you lack a clear grasp of your relationship, your rights and duties, and your own and the other fellow's resources—in transactions involving large personal or financial stakes.
(This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in fact may change the application of the law.)
