

Make Leon Road Approved by Highway Dept.

Work to Begin In June, Smith Says

The Texas Highway Department has approved plans to pave the Lake Leon road and incorporate it in its farm to market roads in 1960. Eastland County Commissioners accepted the State's recommendation Monday morning and Gordon Smith, resident highway engineer, said the work would probably begin in June.

The work will involve 5.4 miles of new farm-to-market construction from the intersection of Farm Market Road 570 and FM Road 2461 south to FM Road 2214. Cost of the project will be approximately $124,000.

When the road is completed it will give area citizens a paved loop around the 8,000 acre foot lake. It will answer a dream of Eastland and Ranger planners.

The Highway Department also announced plans to spend $132,000 for capital betterment on the farm-to-market road system in Eastland County during 1960. The two county projects call for improving the North Copperas Creek bridge and approaches just east of State Highway 36 on FM Road 587 at an estimated cost of $12,000. The other project will be improving of 10.2 miles on FM Road 2214 from FM Road 570 south-east to FM Road 571 at an estimated cost of $120,000.

The capital betterment or perpetuation money is in addition to the regular construction and maintenance program.

The Highway Commission has approved the appropriation to improve existing highways in the county and little or no additional right of way requirements are called for, Robert J. Milligan, District 23 engineer explained. A total of $667,400 was allotted to the nine counties in the district.

TWO MAVS MAKE IT

All District Team Is Dominated by Cisco

Cisco completely dominated the District 7-AA all-district team named by coaches from the six circuit schools. The Lobos landed seven men on the first team, Ballinger placed three and Coleman got one spot.

The second team is made up of five Winters players, four from Coleman, two each from Ranger and Eastland and one each from Ballinger and Cisco.

It has been a long time since any district team captured so many first team positions. The Lobos also nailed down five honorable mentions, Winters had five players on the honorable mention list. Coleman and Ranger each placed three, Ballinger had two and Eastland one.

The first team is made up of eight seniors, two juniors and one sophomore. Ends making the mythical team were Jerry Forbess, Coleman senior, and Billy Jones, Ballinger junior. Tackles are Jack Qualls, Cisco senior and Joe Davidson, Ballinger junior.

Both Cisco guards made the select team. Jim Sitton, a sophomore, and Gerald Darr, a senior, won the berths. Robert Calloway of Cisco is the first unit center. He is a senior. Three senior Cisco backs and one Ballinger senior make up the backfield. Duane Hale is the quarterback, Charles Lipsey and Dalton Hoffman are the halfbacks, Hoffman is the Ballinger contribution.

Fifteen boys were named on the second team. They are, by positions:

Ends—Ward Lane, Coleman senior; Charles White, Ranger senior; and Jimmy Smith, Winters senior.

Tackles—Charles Taylor, Coleman senior; David Burton, Winters senior; and Tommy Pleasant, Ballinger junior.

Guards—Marvin Agnew, Eastland senior, and Louis Wietz, Winters senior.

Centers—Don Hazard, Eastland senior, and George Scott, Winters senior.

Those listed as honorable mentions include:

Ends—Ralph Clary, Ronnie Prickett, Bill Midkiff and Lynn Hagan, all of Cisco; Stephen Brown of Ballinger; and Sammy Albro of Winters.

Tackles—Bill Jones of Eastland, and Jim White of Cisco.

Guards—Tommy Ford of Ranger; Jimmy French of Coleman and Stanley Bolden of Winters.

Backs—Dale Greaves and Jackie Stoggs, both of Coleman; Jerry Dunnam, J. B. Guy and Dalton Attaway, all of Winters; Lipton Lee of Ballinger; and Bill Stuard and Richard Robie, both of Ranger.

Usage wears things out. That's one reason we shouldn't try to get the same performance out of an ancient automobile as we would expect from a new one. And traffic will beat down a good stand of grass faster than anything I know. Cisco's football team ran over everything they played this year so badly the traffic on the turf wore the sod of grass out. That's not said with disrespect but with awe. Stamford was lucky to get by Cisco the way they did Friday night.

With Thanksgiving's passing all of us can now settle down to getting ready for Christmas and another year. The football fans can look forward to the New Year's day games at the various bowls throughout the land and the fans of the schools playing in a bowl game can start making their plans to attend the big post-season games they are interested in.

Basketball is now in the air. It's a game that seems to be gaining in popular acceptance over the years. For a long time in these parts basketball wasn't as popular as either football or baseball. But the indoor game seems to be doing better, especially in collegiate sports.

A few years ago most of the Southwest Conference schools didn't play to very large crowds at basketball time, but in the past few years most of the schools involved have built larger field houses and gymnasiums to play in and they've been filling the stands every game.

Before the war you couldn't give a basketball ticket away to most fans in this part of Texas. But with the coming of post-war basketball public interest has been increasing by leaps and bounds. I think it was Texas Wesleyan College in Fort Worth that first went into this basketball with the aim of making it pay its own way.

And TWC turned out some mighty fine basketball teams for several years. Although you don't hear anything of TWC in football, as she doesn't play intercollegiate football, we do hear of it at basketball. She plays some of the finest in the land on the hardwoods and stays right in there with them.

At times it is a little hard from some of us hardheaded West Texans to understand that basketball plays to more people every

Gray Matter

By JOE GRAY

"How could you?" a preacher asked me the other day. "How could I do what?" I inquired of the gentlemen of the cloth.

"How could you misspell the word 'theological' three times out of four?"

"Well," I said, "it isn't easy. It takes practice."

And one of my Democratic friends asked how come 'me' to spell Roosevelt with one 'o' instead of the normal two.

And on top of all of this a Republican wanted to know why I even mentioned Roosevelt anyway.

I'm telling you, it's hard to please everyone but I'll go down trying anyway.

I didn't know until recently that it wasn't proper to mention the name of Franklin D. Roosevelt in some Republican circles and that the name of Harry Truman was even in more disrepute than that of his predecessor in office.

But be that as it may, we'll find out what the people think about the two parties come the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, almost a year from now.

That reminds me of something I haven't done. I've got to pay my poll tax, which is something no self-respecting American citizen should be without at any time, much less during an election year. When it comes balloting time next year I want to have my gun loaded and not caught like some of these so-called deer hunters were the past few days with our their guns loaded when the first buck of the season came into sight.

Another thing happened at our house this week-end that sort of upset things. We had visitors from Cisco and I do have a little hair left now that the visitors have gone back home, but not much of it is still there. My Cisco friends are tearing me apart for something I said about Chesley Field needing a new sod.

I don't see why they want to pull my hair out about that. I don't play on their football field. They've got a high school and a junior college both playing on that field over there and with that sort of punishment to the turf there are few fields that won't show the wear and tear by the end of the season.

That's the main reason Eastland field is so much prettier and better developed than Cisco's. Our field is the home base of only the high school team, but if we had another team or two playing all of its home games on its back, I guess it wouldn't look so pretty either.

Usage wears things out. That's one reason we shouldn't try to get the same performance out of an ancient automobile as we would expect from a new one. And traffic will beat down a good stand of grass faster than anything I know. Cisco's football team ran over everything they played this year so badly the traffic on the turf wore the sod of grass out. That's not said with disrespect but with awe. Two Die and Five Injured In Accidents

Two persons were killed and five others injured in four separate Eastland County highway accidents Sunday and Monday.

The dead are Archie Herbert King of Farmersville, who was killed in a one car crash east of Ranger, and William A. Alsobrook of Gorman, who died in a one-car accident east of Gorman.

Here are details of the four accidents.

Archie Herbert King, 49, of Farmersville, Texas was killed and two others injured at 6 p.m. Sunday when their car went into a ditch 15 miles east of Ranger. The three had been deer hunting.

Injured were the dead man's brother, John M. King, 44, of Farmersville, and the driver of the car, P. B. Turner, about 45, of Alto, Texas.

Texas Highway Patrolman Les Strawn of Eastland, who investigated the accident, said that the brakes on the car apparently went out. The driver, in an effort to miss an upcoming bridge, swerved to try and direct the car through an open gate on the other side of a large ditch. When the car reached the gate there was no bridge and it tumbled into the ditch.

Turner and John King were in Ranger General Hospital Sunday night. Turner is in serious condition with cuts and bruises and internal injuries. King is not believed seriously injured.

In another Eastland County accident, William A. Alsobrook, 68, of Gorman, a retired mechanic, was killed and his wife injured in a one-car accident 3.8 miles east of Gorman at 12:30 a.m. Sunday.

Investigating Patrolman Les Strawn and E. M. Watts said that the car apparently went out of control. James Alsobrook, son of the dead man, came upon the wreck and carried his parents to the Gorman Hospital where Mr. Alsobrook was pronounced dead.

Mrs. Alsobrook is being treated in the Gorman Hospital for cuts and bruises and internal injuries.

Pancake Tickets Selling Fast But Still Available

Tickets for the Lions Club pancake supper, which will be held Thursday beginning at 6:30 p.m. in the First Christian Church fellowship hall, were going faster than hotcakes this week, Virgil Moore, general chairman, said today.

Tickets for the annual affair, being sold for 50c, can be purchased from any member of the Lions Club.

Preparations for the supper have been completed, Moore said. He also reminded Eastland citizens that proceeds from the fund raising affair are used to help the Lions' boys and girls programs.

Two Christmas Events Are Set By Local Band

Two special Christmas holiday events were announced today by Phil Hewett, Eastland High band director.

Hewett announced that the EHS band would present their annual Christmas concert Thursday, Dec. 17 in the high school auditorium. The concert will be given at 8 p.m. with three bands, the beginners, junior high and high school, performing.

The second event will be a performance by the community choir on the courthouse square. The choir, under the direction of Hewett, will lead singing and will present one special number. The band will be on hand to play two special numbers, too.

Rotarians Hear Report On New Insurance Law

Eastland Rotarians were given an explanation of the new Texas Safe Drivers Insurance Plan at their regular noon luncheon Monday.

Speaker for the occasion was Haywood Cabaness, Cisco insurance man. He explained the new law, which will begin to function Jan. 1. Under the new law, Texas drivers will be placed under a point system. Drivers who do not have any accidents or moving traffic violations will pay less for their auto insurance, but those drivers involved in wrecks or violations, will be graded down and will have to pay more, he explained.

Eastland club members paid special respect to W. P. Guinn of Cisco, Guinn was working his last day Monday. He has just retired as superintendent of the company's North Texas Division.

Conservation Pays Off, Farmers, Ranchers Find

By SCS PERSONNEL

The rewards of conservation operations are now evident to many conservation farmers and ranchers of this area. The conservation farmer has received better than average yields from his crops resulting in a higher acre income. He is pleased to note the benefits received from the use of various conservation practices, such as cover cropping, crop residue management, strip-cropping, contour farming, terracing and other applicable conservation measures.

He rests assured that the use of a good balanced conservation program based on the needs of his land will result in continued soil improvement and dollar income. The conservation rancher, likewise, enjoys an increase in yields in the form of more and better native grasses. Grass in Eastland County is the greatest single crop making possible the high livestock returns to ranchers. The good rancher recognizes the benefits and value of such range management practices and proper use, range deferments, range seeding, brush control and adequate livestock water.

Range deferments have enabled many landowners to bring their better native grasses into a healthy and vigorous condition resulting in a much needed seed crop on some ranges.

Proper use to the conservation rancher means maximum safe use of his better, higher producing grasses. He knows that "left over" grass is not wasted but that it serves as a litter to hold maximum rainfall in place and enables weaker plants to become higher producers.

Both the conservation farmers and ranchers have an additional reward, the self-satisfaction of knowing that they have done an important job well, that of conserving their soil.

Twenty-three farm ponds have been completed in recent weeks by farmers and ranchers of this area. Landowners constructing ponds are: C. A. Livingston, George Fee, C. A. Perry, Bill Mitchum, Theodore Reich, Robert Donovan, Geo.

L. Ingram of the Cisco area. Farmers of the Carbon area finishing farm ponds include Cecil Self, Nathan Morris, Cecil Suttton and Ida Mae Spear. E. P. Fambro, J. M. Ainsworth, L. E. Wallace, A. H. Blackwell and Dick Hodges of the Ranger area have completed ponds. Hodges and Blackwell built two ponds each on their rangeland. B. J. Greenhaw, Dave Johnson and R. G. Fencher of Desdemona have completed ponds as has J. D. Herrell of Olden and Bill Hoffmann of Eastland.

Ethel Sharp is completing a terrace system on her farm at Olden, approximately 18,000 feet of terrace and 1900 feet of diversion terrace. J. L. McDaneil is in the process of terrace and diversion terrace construction on his farm at Carbon.

Many landowners have planted winter cover crops for soil protection and grazing. Some of these crops are up and looking good. Peanut farmers with late peanuts plan to seed cover crops at the earliest possible date.

"Remember conservation pays dividends in dollars and cents."

year than any other spectator sport in the country. But when we stop to think about all the schools playing the sport and all the boys and girls too, taking part in the game, it isn't hard to understand why all the public interest in the game.

Almost every crossroads school has a basketball team, but all of them don't have football teams. And you don't have to have as large a court to play on as football demands. Also a basketball team in good physical shape can play two games or so a week, whereas no one expects a football team to play more than once a week.

Basketball is a good game. The public's interest in it will continue to grow until the game may sometime become more popular, especially in the smaller towns and schools, than football.

Now I'm going to go way back into my memory. It seems to me that some years ago Carbon was the champion basketball team in high school circles. They took on all comers, regardless of size of school, and emerged as the high school champs of all of Texas.

Is my memory serving me right or did I dream this up somehow? I'll have to find out from some good Carbon citizen who has lived there a long time. I'll bet this goes further back than Earl Bender's memory. On the other hand, didn't Earl Bender play on that championship team? It seems to me that he did.

Jannie Morton Becomes Bride Of Alvis Rodgers In November

Miss Jannie Morton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Morton of Route two, Eastland, became the bride of Alvis Rodgers November 7 in the home of the bride's parents at 7 p.m.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. (Pete) Rodgers of Olden.

Charles Masseege, a student at the Seminary in Fort Worth, officiated at the double ring ceremony. The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a ballerina length dress of white nylon lace over taffeta. The dress was accented by a scalloped neckline and hemline. The fitted bodice emphasized the billowing skirt. Her finger tip veil of white net was attached to a pearl headband. The brides jewelry was matching pearl necklace and earrings given to her by the bridegroom. She carried a bridal bouquet of white carnations atop a white Bible.

The bridal party entered to the traditional wedding march played by Glynda Wilson, cousin of the bride. The Lord's Prayer was then played.

Kay Morton, sister of the bride, was the bridesmaid. She was dressed in a blue chiffon lace dress with a white carnation corsage.

Ray Morton, brother of the groom, acted as best man for the groom.

The bride's mother wore a beige suit with brown accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

The groom's mother was attired in a black tailored suit and wore white accessories.

Immediately following the ceremony, the reception was held in the bride's parents home. The table was laid with a white cut work cloth over pink. The centerpiece was the white three tiered wedding cake topped with the miniature bride and groom. The cake was flanked on each side with candles and red roses.

Following the reception the couple left on a short wedding trip. The bride chose as her going away costume, a navy blue two-piece suit with red accessories. The couple returned to their home at 108 Sue Street in Ranger.

Mrs. Rodgers is a 1959 graduate of Eastland High School. She is now attending Ranger College and is employed in the County Clerk's office in Eastland.

Two Die-

Survivors include the widow; two sons, James Gorman and Edward of Phoenix, Ariz.; one brother, Estes of Oklahoma; one sister, Mrs. Lexie Carter of Kerrville; and one grandchild.

The other two accidents occurred Monday. The first involved a 1959 Chevrolet driven by Mrs. Elizabeth Brown Bush, 18, of Ranger, and a 1955 Cadillac driven by Morris Frazer, 66, of Strawn.

Ranger Police Chief Don Butler, who investigated both accidents, said Frazer had pulled his car off of Highway 80 and was putting something in his glove compartment when his car rolled backwards, partially on the highway. Mrs. Bush's car crashed into the back of the Cadillac. Both cars were headed west when the accident occurred at 8:30 a.m. The Bush car incurred an estimated $1250 damages and the Frazer car some $500 in damages. No one was injured.

The second accident involved Mrs. Bush's father, Calvin Earl Brown. Brown, informed of his daughter's wreck, was on his way to the scene of the accident, just in the west edge of the Ranger city limits, when a 1951 Chevrolet driven by Anna May Parson of Rt. 1, Ranger, attempted a turn in front of his car. The two cars collided and both Brown and Mrs. Parson were injured. Brown's 1953 Chevrolet was damaged to the extent of some $600 and Mrs. Parson's Chevrolet incurred damages estimated at $500.

The accident took place at the intersection of Blackwell Road and Highway 80.

Freezing Lemon Pies . . .

Make the crust as you would any pie whether you plan to freeze it or eat it the day it is baked. Cool the crust before placing the filling in it. Prepare the filling and pour into the cool crust. If you are making lemon meringue be sure to cook the filling as long as the directions indicate. When the filling is thick enough it will hold its shape. The meringue will be placed on the pie later, at serving time.

Wrap each pie separately for the freezer. Cover with a paper plate and keep it in place with sticky tape. Place in foil or moisture vapor proof or in a phlofilm bag; fasten securely. Each pie is protected and can be stacked in the freezer . . . Store at 0 degrees F. For the meringue . . . you can also freeze the egg whites for the pie. Three egg whites frozen together make the right amount for one meringue pie. Thaw the whites for the meringue, taking from freezer about one hour before use. Bring to room temperature for beating.

Be sure to beat egg whites thoroughly for a high, light meringue that will hold up. Spread meringue on the frozen pie, and bake in a 350 degree oven for about 15 to 20 minutes, or until browned evenly. For Cheese and Chiffon lemon pies, there's no use to heat. Simply remove from freezer and thaw.

Add to your fame with other easy desserts made with lemon pie filling from the freezer. All you do is freeze the filling in a covered bowl or jar . . . then thaw and use.

Shopping Begins At Home . . .

A little planning before hand, helps us to use our time, energy and money more efficiently. Shopping can be simplified by using store services, such as telephone and delivery services, milk and bread routes, and local ads. There's more to shopping lists than just writing them down. Here are 10 steps which you might follow in planning a shopping list:

1. Plan your menu a week in advance
2. Study the ads in the local paper
3. Make the shopping list according to plan and food on hand
4. Keep a pad and pencil for a "want list"
5. Organize the shopping list according to store or shopping center layout to avoid "backtracking"
6. Make shopping lists legible and clear to enable someone else to do the shopping
7. Split up the shopping list among family members to speed up shopping and avoid "backtracking"
8. Take sample swatches of paint, paper, floor coverings and fabrics when shopping for home furnishings
9. Keep a record of family clothing sizes in your billfold or purse
10. Time your buying to avoid rush hours; don't wait until the last minute for shopping . . . Christmas or otherwise

Wesleyan Guild Presents Book Review and Tea

As a climax to the Bible study of St. Luke, the professional women of the Methodist Church, the members of the Wesleyan Service Guild, will be hosts to all women of Eastland and surrounding areas when they present a book review and tea.

Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins will present a review of "The Dear and Glorious Physician" by Taylor Caldwell.

This gift from the Guild to the public as their Christmas gesture will be held in the church parlor of the Methodist Church and all ladies and their husbands are invited to attend.

The date is Sunday afternoon, Dec. 13th, at 3 p.m. Mark this date on your calendar and enter into the holiday season with a calm and spiritual experience. A warm welcome awaits you.
