Coleman Outscores Mavericks, 24 to 19

Local Miscues Hurt Early In Contest

In a complete reversal of non-district play, the Eastland Mavericks threw an unstoppable offense at the Coleman Bluecats Friday night, but the Eastland defense, which has been tough all year, just couldn't hold the Bluecats at bay and the locals dropped a thriller, 24-19.

It was a ball game all the way as some 3500 fans were glued to their seats in Bluecat Stadium. From the beginning it was apparent that the clock would determine the winner in the game with the thriller, 24-19. Coleman marched to the Coleman 12 where they had a first down, but just couldn't get it across for the tying score. Two ground tries and two incomplete passes left the ball on the 13.

Coleman drew a penalty back to their own eight, then began a 92 yard drive that won them the ballgame. A tired Maverick eleven, which was outmanned, couldn't halt the Cats as they ripped off yardage in 18, 14, and 12 yard rips. DeBusk got the last 23 yards in four straight tries, going over from the one. The pass attempt for extra points failed.

The Mavs were not through, however. Two minutes later they had scored again after a 71 yard march. Humphreys pulled out his passing arm and threw a 24 yard pass to Billy Don Turner and a 16 yard pass to Mickey Garner in the series. Garner's catch was a beauty. He stole the ball out of the hands of two defenders on the Coleman five. McElreath got four yards to the one, and on third down Humphreys rode the middle of the line for the score. This time Humphreys kicked the extra point to make it 24-19, Coleman.

With just 1:55 minutes to go, Coleman began to eat up the clock. The Mavs got the ball with 35 seconds left on the clock on their own 43. Humphreys passed incomplete on first down, then hit Hollis on the second and last play of the game. Hollis got by three Cat defenders and picked up two good blocks as he headed for the goal line and a Mav victory. He was finally smashed down hard on the Coleman 32 after a 23 yard scamper.

Elsewhere in District 7-AA, Ranger won 20-14 over Winters and Cisco was a 32-14 winner over Ballinger.

Farm Bureau Convention Is Set Tuesday

Annual county convention of the Eastland County Farm Bureau will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall of the First Methodist Church in Eastland. John Love, president, announced Saturday.

New officers will be elected at the annual meeting, and the convention will decide on a number of proposed resolutions. Coffee and doughnuts will be served following the meeting.

Don Kincaid is first vice president of the Farm Bureau, A. W. Wright is second vice president, Ray Norris is secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. John Love is service agent.

Heading this year's resolution committee is Mitchell Campbell. Campbell said that among resolutions to be considered is one on proposed legislation enabling Texas peanut growers to conduct a referendum to determine whether or not to assess themselves an amount, not to exceed $1 per ton to be used in programs of research, promotion and education administered by the Texas Peanut Producers.

Love pointed out that October is membership round-up month for the Farm Bureau. Eastland County's quota is 475. Twenty renewals and 30 new members are needed to meet the goal.

Love also said gate signs which were ordered by members would be ready at the convention.

United Fund Drive Reaches $2903 Mark

The United Fund drive in Eastland neared the halfway mark Saturday morning, just three days after it got underway.

David Fry, auditor, said this morning that a total of $2903 had been turned in so far. Steve Potts, financial chairman, said the figure proved that the volunteers working on this year's drive are "really getting the job done." Potts urged all volunteers to contact the persons they have agreed to see and get their names and donations turned in as soon as possible.

This year's quota is $6500. Five agencies, the Red Cross, Salvation Army, USO, Boy Scouts and the YMCA are sharing in the funds. If the United Fund quota is over-subscribed, the Girls Scouts will receive $200.

The local drive got underway last Thursday at a kickoff breakfast held in the roof garden of the Connelley Hotel.

Lark Is Well Received by French Viewers

French reaction to the 1953 Lark by Studebaker shown at the International Automobile Salon in Paris, was marked by "unprecedented enthusiasm", according to a report from R. A. Hutchinson, vice president in charge of export, of Studebaker-Packard Corporation.

The Studebaker Larks were "the most attractive and exciting cars in the Paris show," Hutchinson said in his report to S-P headquarters here, and are being enthusiastically received by dealers and the public alike.

"I am confident that this will be the largest year in the export history of the corporation," Hutchinson cabled S-P president Harold E. Churchill, "and believe our sales will only be limited to our ability to produce."

"I am certain that when the cars are shown to the American public they will have a similar reception. Congratulations to you and the men and women of Studebaker on the development of this new line of cars."

MOORE about... EASTLAND

by Virgil E. Moore

"The future of your small town will be in one of three directions. It will become a regional center, it will fold up and die away, or it will be absorbed into a metropolitan complex."

These are the words of John E. Tilton, publisher of a group of newspapers in suburban Minneapolis. We read the words over several times, and we are about convinced that they are truthful ones.

Tilton went on to predict that small towns, "... as agriculture becomes more of a large, mechanized business," will "slowly die." He says "... people will seep into the great cities."

According to Mr. Tilton, Eastland (we do qualify as a small town, you know) has but three choices. We must move forward and make ourself the "regional center" or we must "slowly die and fade away." The third choice is to become a part of a metropolitan complex. Many people here do not believe that we are close enough to a big city to become inebriated in it. But Abilene doesn't feel that way about us. They fight for our business day and night. The TV station is after the local dollar and the Abilene newspaper plays Eastland stories bigger than they do their own on occasions so that you will be sure and read the advertisements of the Abilene business.

What are we doing to become the "regional center" of this area? We have taken several steps forward, and have also stepped backward a few times in recent years. Lake Leon, Eastland Memorial Hospital (and now the new wing), the new country club... these are all steps forward. The loss of two department stores is a step backwards, but we feel that Eastland was a victim of circumstances on these occasions, and I can think of nothing which could have been done to prevent the loss of the two businesses. It is pleasing to note, however, that Eastland is attracting interest of several chains. We believe we will soon gain a new department store, and we hope when we do, you will remember the words of Mr. Tilton and do your part to make Eastland the "regional center."

Understand Saul Pullman saw a lot of service of the TCU freshman team Wednesday night. TCU downed the North Texas State freshmen 26-6. Pullman, who played fullback on last year's Maverick team, is running from a halfback slot on the second unit.

Joe Canaris, owner of Canaris Studio, is back home after a lengthy stay in a Fort Worth hospital where he underwent major surgery. Joe can't have visitors right now, but he is much improved and glad to be back home.

Fishing weather has certainly hit in the last few days, but not much fishing has been done. Farmers in Eastland County have been for too busy getting their peanuts out of the ground. The sunshine was just what the doctor ordered. We just hope it continues long enough for the growers to harvest their excellent crop.

See you next time.

Linemen this week are: Mickey Garner, Jerry Hallmark, and Don Hazard.

Mickey Garner, number 14, is a sophomore and is now playing end on the Maverick line. He is a member of the Future Farmers of America and Hi-Y and has been fireboy of his class for the past two years. Mickey played basketball and ran track last year and played on the baseball team this past summer.

Jerry Hallmark, number 24, is a senior and only recently joined the "A" squad. He did play on the "B" team and did such an outstanding job that he was added as an end to the Mavericks. He is also a member of the Hi-Y.

Don Hazard, number 27, is a junior end plays center for the Mavericks. He is also a member of the Future Farmers of America and the Hi-Y. During the summer, he played baseball with the Greenbacks.

Highway Patrol Sergeant Gives Explanation of Use of Radar

(Editor's Note: The following article was prepared for this newspaper by Sgt. C. A. Cockrell, head of the Texas Highway Patrol station in Eastland.)

Since the advent of radar as a traffic law enforcement aid, several news releases have indicated that many lay citizens and some courts do not properly understand the police's purpose in using radar. On occasion violators have returned to the scene and assumed the "good samaritan" role by flagging speeders approaching a radar or by installing home made radar warning signs near by to alert speeders. When police have stopped the interference of these self appointed "traffic supervisors" by filing charges, some citizens and even courts have resorted to questions such as, "What was wrong with that? Weren't they slowing down speeders? Weren't the police trying to slow down speeders with radar? What's the radar for if it's not to slow down speeders?"

The first reaction of many citizens to these questions is that the police were more interested in filing charges against speeders than they were in preventing the speed violations. The reasoning implied in the questions and the public's reaction indicate a lack of understanding of what radar is for. This misunderstanding works against the safety of the public who have employed the police for the purpose of protecting person and property. The purpose of this article is to present an explanation of "what radar is for" from the police's point of view.

First, if we ask, "what are traffic officers for?" one might say, "To prevent accidents." This answer relates to an indirect result of the officers' work, but it is not the logical answer. One of several duties of the traffic officer is to enforce laws. It follows (if the laws are sound) that driver compliance with the laws will result in fewer accidents. The officer enforces laws; as a result of enforcement more drivers comply with laws; as a result of wider compliance more accidents are prevented. However, the officer does not file charges against drivers for having accidents. It is not against the law to have an accident. It is against the law to commit the violation that caused the accident to happen.

If you now have a clear understanding of how enforcement work of traffic officers prevents accidents, you are better conditioned to accept the following answer to the question, "What is radar for?" In one instance a court sided with the violator, who had gone back to the radar station a n d flagged speeders. The court told the arresting officer, "He slowed traffic down. That's what the radar was for, wasn't it?" The answer is "No."

The purpose of radar is to generate widespread driver compliance with speed regulations. Radar can generate widespread driver compliance only when drivers widespread over a city or state cannot know where the radar detectors are located. If the locations of radar detectors are revealed to drivers, the cost of purchasing, maintaining and operating radar equipment is a waste of the public's money.

If a sign or a flagman warns drivers that a radar unit is just ahead of them, the traffic law enforcement program designed to prevent accidents is back where it was before radar. The resulting effect is that approaching speeders slow down temporarily. However, the speed limits are, or should be, another question, but whatever the speed limits are, the use of undetectable radar units is the most practical way yet devised to procure widespread compliance. The police are much more concerned about the public generally understanding the purpose of radar than they are about a few individuals informing speeders as to where a radar detector is located. The reaction of well meaning citizens (even a court) to police action against a convicted speeder who returned to the scene to warn other speeders merely revealed the need of an explanation of why police use radar.

Some reliable but uninformed people who really want a better enforcement program look upon the hiding of a radar detector as an unethical practice designed to increase the number of traffic arrests. Yet these people support the police practice of "hiding" to detect burglars, robbers, thieves and narcotic peddlers.

FHA Hears Panel Discussion On 'Dating' Tuesday

The program presented to the Future Homemakers of America held Tuesday, consisted of a panel discussion on dating. With Jan Robertson acting as moderator, the members of the panel discussed the most common questions concerning dating. Making up the panel were two representatives from each of the grades in high school. Representing the senior class were Laura Harris and Clinton Humphreys; junior class, Wilene Lee and Billy Don Turner; sophomore class, Alice Frazer and Mike Potts; and from the freshman class, Doris Jumper and J. B. Tankersley.

The meeting which was held in the high school cafeteria was called to order by the president, Jan Robertson. After the opening ritual, the minutes of the preceding meeting were read by Laura Harris. As the previous secretary had resigned, Jackie Baggett was elected to fill the vacancy. The meeting was concluded as the bell rang.

Each of the participants on the program received a package of fudge made in the homemaking department.

These people should be reminded that in 1957 Texas had 1,084 criminal homicides and 2,539 motorcides. We had 8,287 aggravated assault cases and 122-195 persons injured in traffic. It is not intended to classify traffic misdemeanors per se with those crimes. But a comparison of the results of violations of criminal statutes with the results of violations of traffic laws reveals that highway traffic losses are major social and economic problems in Texas. These people need to make an "agoizing reappraisal" of modern traffic problems and of their attitude toward officials whom they employ to provide protection of person and property.

The goal of traffic law enforcement and driver education is to develop among drivers and pedestrians using our streets and highways a type of intelligent discipline such as we see in citizens now envision.

Poultry Law For Health

COLLEGE STATION — Health protection for the consumer is the objective of the new Poultry Products Inspection Act. The federal law was effective on a voluntary basis last May, but becomes mandatory on January 1. It provides that all ready-to-cook poultry shipped across state lines must be inspected for wholesomeness by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. According to Dr. Kenneth McEnroe, area supervisor for USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service that handles the inspection program, Dallas, more than half of the 100 eligible poultry processing plants in the Southwest have qualified under the Act. All plants have been reminded of the January 1 deadline. He also points out that inspectors are being trained and will be available when needed. If plants apply for the service before November 1, the change ryegrass should be used for they die in the spring. Ryegrass should not be overseeded or grasses other than Bermuda.

For additional information, Trew suggests getting B-203, "Home Lawns", from county agents or the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By BOYCE HOUSE

Boyhood memories . . .

My grandmother (my father's mother) died when I was quite small. I remember that she had ear-lobes that had been pierced for ear-rings and when not wearing the ear-rings, she kept a bit of straw in the holes.

My grandfather's mother (actually my stepgrandfather's mother) was a little woman, who sat very quietly in a corner of the farmhouse and smoked a clay pipe.

Aunt Ida (my father's sister) baked the best cookies I ever ate. She kept a 10-gallon lard-can filled with them — or, rather, she tried to; but her two children, Karl and Lucille, plus my sister Vivian and I made terrific inroads each afternoon after school. The cookies were large and flat, a yellow hue with slightly browned edges, and they were at once firm and yielding.

When I was small, I can remember that my favorite songs were "Throw out the life-line"; "Let the lower lights be burning, send a gleam across the wave" and "We shall come rejoicing, bringing in the sheaves." (I had no idea what a "sheave" was.)

Each season, a few days before a game — say Siwash versus Clementine — you will read that Siwash's coach moans, "We haven't got a chance. We used Clementine's plays in scrimmage with the Zilks, third-string quarterback as the key man, and he was unstoppable."

What I would like to know is, that being the case — why doesn't Siwash's coach use the third-string quarterback in Saturday's game and, discarding his own plays, use Clementine's?

A man who had been a college professor lost his place because of drink. He became a teacher in a country school where he inspired one of his students with a love for literature, oratory and statesmanship. The student was William E. Borah, "the Lion of Idaho," for years one of the great members of the United States Senate. "God moves in mysterious ways—"
