'American Relations' Discussed At Meet of Thursday Study Club

The Thursday Afternoon Study Club held its regular meeting Thursday afternoon at 3 p.m. in the clubhouse.

The club president, Mrs. R. D. Burton, called the meeting to order after which Mrs. Tom Wilson, secretary, read the minutes which were approved.

Mrs. Cecil Collins, library chairman, reminded the members to tell their friends about the Book Fair to be held Nov. 13. There being no further business, Mrs. Burton turned the meeting over to Mrs. Clyde Young, program leader. Mrs. Young introduced Mrs. Frank Lovett, who presented the topic "Inter-American Relations." Mrs. Lovett stated that there have been strained inter-American relations because the United States took to Latin American countries for granted for a while. She also told the members that since Vice-president Nixon was stoned in Venezuela, the United States has endeavored to improve relations.

Mrs. Clyde Young then introduced Mrs. Roy Young, who discussed "Communism in the Caribbean." She stated that the Communists are taking over the Caribbean by infiltration and that they are nurturing the image that the American business men are blood sucking leeches. She warned that we must strengthen the ties of friendship among the Latin American nations.

Members present were Mmes. H. J. Bulgerin, R. D. Burton, Frank Castleberry, Turner Collier, Cecil Collins, Frank Crowell, Fred Davenport, Cyrus B. Frost, I. C. Inzer, Donald Kinnaid, W. P. Leslie, Milburn Long, Frank Lovett, W. A. Martin, W.D.R. Owen, B. W. Patterson, Frank Sayre, E. R. Townsend, Esco Walter, Tom Wilson, Clyde Young and R. L. Young.

TELEPHONE TALK
by Archer H. Marx, Jr., Manager
VOICE FOR THE VOICELESS

Last month in Telephone Talk I mentioned the successful launching of Echo, the communication satellite in orbit 1,000 miles above the earth. Now I have news of still another product of communications research. It's a new artificial larynx to help people with impaired vocal chords to speak again. This electronic larynx is really a "new voice" for people who have lost the use of their vocal chords. When held against the throat, this 7-ounce device (looks something like a flashlight) replaces the vibrations of normal vocal chords to produce speech. It is being offered on a non-profit basis. In an age of great scientific achievements such as space satellite communications, the Bell solar battery and transistors (all pioneered by Bell scientists), its reassuring to know that telephone research has not overlooked human needs in the search for better communications services.

HOW ABOUT A FAMILY HARVEST?
Have you noticed the changes being made in the food markets lately? It seems to me that it is much easier to find certain items... fresh or frozen turkeys, pumpkins, cranberries, chestnuts and other Thanksgiving treats. It looks like some of the biggest Fall harvests in Eastland will be made around the dining room table. That's true in more ways than one. Because, in addition to the good things to eat and share, Thanksgiving has always been a great family day. If all of your family live in Eastland it's usually a simple matter to get together for Thanksgiving. If your family is scattered in different parts of the country, you can still "get together"—by telephone. The cost is low, and if you place your long distance call station-to-station, instead of person-to-person, you can save one-third. Rates are even lower if you call after 6 p.m. Why not plan to call and make this Thanksgiving a "family harvest?"

SCIENCE SHOW ON TELEVISION
In addition to the Telephone Hour, which brings you top artists in the field of music every other Friday evening on Channel 9 at 8 p.m., I'd like to remind you of our new science program. The first of the new series, "Thread of Life," tells the story of how we inherit our many and varied characteristics. This 60 minute color program will be Friday, December 9, on Channel 9 at 8 p.m. I hope you'll be watching.

Kindergarten For Tots Gets Under Way October 7

The tot kindergarten for the small fry got underway Oct. 7. Members of this group are very young and the first day was a big change for them; however, by the second Friday they began to realize what it was all about.

This group of children do not have work books, weekly readers and many of the advanced things do the older children. The tots have only one day a week to get them accustomed from being away from "Mother" and to get adjusted to playing with other children their ages. They are grouped at tables according to their ages; the more advanced group doing hand work while the younger ones do a shorter and more simple project. All are learning to share and do as they are asked at a given time.

School opened on the fourth birthday of Marilyn Pierson. Miniature cakes and fruit juice was served to the group as they sang "Happy Birthday."

Each child played on its bulb as an outside project for the first day of school.

Mrs. Ray Pool served gaily decorated birthday cakes on her daughter's Tresa, fifth birthday which also was Nanette Williams' fifth birthday.

Other children attending the Friday group are Vicki Kay Lee, Randy Harris, John Lee Graham, Suzanne Cooper, John Frost, Kathy Ables, Janet Guess, Marla Kay Guess, Merry Beth Verhetsel, Jimmy Horn and Paul Horn.

Teachers are Mrs. A. E. Cushman, Mrs. Howard Upchurch and Mrs. E. B. Savage.

Pink and Blue Shower Honors Mrs. Rodgers

Mrs. Alvis Rodgers was honored with a pink and blue shower Wednesday from 7 to 9 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Howard Wilson, 512 S. Connelley.

Hostesses were Meses. Howard Wilson, J. C. Tankersley, R. L. Cantwell, Al McMillan, and Mrs. M. H. McCleskey.

Mrs. McCleskey greeted the guests and presented them to the honoree. They then registered in the white baby book. Cake squares topped with blue booties and fruit punch were served from a table covered with white lace over pink. The serving table was centered with an arrangement of storks and umbrellas. Favors were miniature pacifiers.

Scene At The Pet Shop Window

How much is that doggie in the window? No matter what the price... it's not too high as far as the little boy is concerned.

But how long will he and the rest of the family remain smitten with the lonely pup's charms? That depends upon how carefully they chose a pet.

Clarence C. Fawcett, dog authority of the Purina Dog Care Center, advises a good deal of thought before selecting the "right" dog for your home. Here are his suggestions.

Male or female? The female is usually less expensive—in the beginning. But be prepared for puppies, unless you have her spayed or pen her up twice a year for three weeks.

The male is more rugged and sturdy, and less trouble as a pet. However, he tends to prowl about the neighborhood more.

Second point... what size dog? A Great Dane needs lots of exercising room and has a gargantuan appetite. He's not the perfect pet for an apartment dweller.

A Chihuahua is all dog too—even though he can fit in your pocket. If you live in an apartment, choose one of the smaller dogs—Pug, Dachshund, Miniature Poodle and such.

Now that the sex and the size have been determined—what of the species? Should your dog have a pedigree? Many prospective dog-owners are puzzled over the difference between a purebred and a mixed breed.

The "thoroughbred" will definitely grow up to look like its parents. You know what you're getting.

It's almost impossible to predict what that tiny bundle of fur will look like when it's full grown if it's a cross-breed. But it may be just as cute, smart, affectionate, or brave as the purebred.

For additional details on selecting a puppy the booklet, "Selecting the Right Dog for Your Home", is available free upon request from the Purina Dog Care Center, Checkerboard Square, St. Louis 2, Missouri.

New Treatment To Shrink Proof Wool Is Reported

U. S. Department of Agriculture scientists have discovered a new treatment that shrinkproofs wool fabrics and makes them safely washable in machines.

Their discovery is essentially a way to cover wool fibers with an ultrathin coating of a polyamide that is chemically similar to one type of nylon. Treated fabrics retain wool's natural soft texture, yet they wash without shrinking and dry without wrinkling.

The new treatment can be combined with USDA's recently announced ethanalamine method for putting permanent pleats and creases in wool fabrics. It differs, however, from the shrinkproofing treatment previously reported, in which modified epoxy resins are used.

The new approach to wash-and-wear wool is a development of the Western Regional Research Division of USDA's Agricultural Research Service in Albany, Calif., the same laboratory that developed the resin and ethanalamine treatments. Chemists responsible for the polyamide treatment are W. L. Wasley, R. E. Whitfield, L. A. Miller and W. Fong.

Using interfacial polymerization, a reaction well known to chemical researchers, these chemists immerse wool in a diluted solution of a diamine and then immediately draw it through a dilute solution of diacid chloride. Under suitable conditions, a very thin and extremely durable polymer film is formed on the surface of the wool fibers. The researchers say the film is so thin that it increases fabric weight as little as one percent or less.

Commercial equipment should be suitable for the application. Following treatment, the fabric is simply rinsed in water and dried. No heat curing is necessary. In laboratory tests, the new treatment has proved successful for shrinkproofing wool suitings, knitted wear, blankets and other wool goods. Treated garments endure repeated machine washing, dry cleaning, and wear stress with superior retention of dimensions, colors, softness and resilience. The treatment may find application also as a coating for materials such as other natural fibers and paper.

Convair Jet Plant Plans Open House

Citizens of the entire Fort Worth trade territory are invited to visit the Convair-Fort Worth plant during the first public open house in eight years.

The open house, during which visitors will see the assembly line turning out B-58 Hustler supersonic bombers, will be from 9:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. on Sunday, November 6. Visitors need only to drive to the plant gates then follow the signs, according to president and manager of the Fort Worth plant.

In addition to touring the assembly line, visitors are invited to view a new color movie depicting the role of Strategic Air Command and the B-58 Hustler, the nation's first and only bomber to fly at speeds greater than twice the speed of sound.

The film takes the audience on a tour of the famous underground SAC headquarters from which SAC would direct global retaliation in event of an attack upon this nation by an enemy.

Using the "real thing" as actors—a B-58 crew on active duty in the 43rd Bomb Wing at Carswell Air Force Base, Fort Worth—the film covers a complete training mission using the B-58. It begins with the crews' preparation for the flight, then follows the bomber as it makes its run for the target, drops a simulated bomb on Deerfield, Massachusetts, then its speedy return home.

The film, titled "Tall Man Five-Five," which might be the code name of an actual combat mission, runs 30 minutes. Visitors touring the plant will not be required to view the film, but will be encouraged to do so.

In addition to touring the B-58 assembly line—the first time the assembly line has been open since B-58 production began—visitors will also inspect a number of displays.

These include the Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile thrust sections built at Convair-Fort Worth; honey comb panel used in the B-58 for weight-saving and heat reduction; J-79 engines used on the B-58; a two-component pod used on the B-58; a mobile training unit; and nose fuselage sections built at Convair - Fort Worth for the F-106 interceptor the world's fastest, produced at Convair-San Diego.

Visitors will have the choice of two routes—a "complete" tour or a shorter route featuring the B-58 assembly line.

Tour areas on Sunday will be roped off to guide visitors through the plant.

Convair employees will show their families through the plant on Saturday, November 5, the day before the public open house.

The last time the plant was open to the public was in 1952—when an estimated 100,000 visitors viewed the B-36 intercontinental bomber then going down the assembly line.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas
A public service program of the State Bar of Texas

The thrill of the hunt is exhilarating, and yet at the same time can be soothing. This paradox of emotions probably accounts for the tremendous popularity of the sport.

But there is still another aspect—this one, not so attractive—the ever-present possibility of an accident.

During 1959, there were 159 accidental deaths attributable to firearms. While a large number were children who had pulled a "top" gun out of Dad's bureau, most were outdoor hunting or allied "cleaning" accidents.

By October 1, 1960—during dove hunting season—there were four deaths from hunting accidents according to the Sportsmen's Clubs of Texas.

However, death from firearms is not the only way to die during hunting season. A good many hunters slip and fall over precipices while gazing off into the distance instead of watching their steps on unsure ground.

But the greatest danger is still the hunter's weapon. Here are the ten commandments of shooting

1. Treat every gun with the respect due a loaded gun.

2. Watch that muzzle! Carry your gun safely—keep the safety on until ready to shoot.

3. Unload guns when not in use, take down or open breech—guns should be carried in cases to shooting area.

4. Be sure barrel is clear of obstructions, and that you have ammunition only of the proper size for the gun you carry.

5. Be sure of the target before you pull the trigger—know identifying features of the game you hunt.

6. Never point a gun at anything you do not intend to shoot—avoid all horseplay.

7. Never climb a tree or fence or jump a ditch with a loaded gun—never pull a gun toward you by the muzzle.

8. Never shoot a bullet at a flat, hard surface or water—at target practice be sure your backstop is adequate.

9. Store ammunition and guns separately, beyond reach of children.

10. Avoid alcoholic beverages before or during shooting.

THE GOP CLAIM

JOHN F. KENNEDY

LYNDON B. JOHNSON

The GOP Claim: "The Eisenhower-Nixon Administration has kept the country out of war."

THE ANSWER: The primary deterrent to war has been the strategic power advantage the U. S. has had over the Communists. Democratic Administrations built up this advantage. The Eisenhower-Nixon Administration has almost lost it. Many top military leaders have warned that the U. S. is now in great danger.

The GOP Claim: "Nixon and the Republicans can handle the Communists better than a Democratic President can."

THE ANSWER: The recent tragic failures and humiliations of President Eisenhower at the Summit and on his foreign journeys are sufficient proof of the emptiness of Republican "foreign policy." The Nixon-Eisenhower Administration has proved itself incapable of handling the Communists—either by scowling and threatening or by grinning and waving. The only way to "handle" the Communists was developed by Democratic leadership—overwhelming U. S. military, economic and spiritual strength. These are the tools with which we can again successfully handle the Communists and keep world peace. These are the tools we shall regain under Democratic leadership and moral regeneration.

The GOP Claim: "The American people have had 'the best seven years of their lives' under Nixon and Eisenhower—earning more and spending more."

THE ANSWER: Never since the Hoover Depression has the rate of our economic growth been slower than in these seven sluggish years! And the bulk of what little increase our economy has made has gone to the well-to-do, the special interests, the "fat cats." We have 2,000,000 more unemployed, and nearly 1,000,000 more Americans living in desperate poverty than in 1952 when Mr. Truman relinquished a strong, healthy country to Republican misrule.

The GOP Claim: "The Republicans are for 'fiscal responsibility,' while the Democrats are 'spenders.'"

THE ANSWER: This has been the most expensive, most wasteful Administration in American history. Its record of favoritism to special interests, and of using public office for private gain, is the most shameful since the days of Teapot Dome in another Republican era.

The GOP Claim: "Nixon's experience qualifies him to be President."

THE ANSWER: The most important qualifications for the Presidency are character, integrity and imaginative leadership. Nixon's record is not remarkable in regard to these factors. As for "executive experience" President Eisenhower himself said on 8/24/60 that Nixon had had no share in making any of the decisions of the Administration. Asked for any examples of major ideas Nixon had contributed the President said: "If you gave me a week, I might think of one."

Dear Virgil:
Your "Moore About Town" column is refreshing and we have enjoyed the paper all summer but the time has come to send us a bill and to start Monday next with considering us again as home town folks. Please have it discontinued at our Gleasondale, Mass. address and tell the boys to find a spot on the front lawn at 1021 South Seaman. We leave tomorrow.

This weekend Judge and Rosalie Loreto spent here with us and told us how they enjoyed Joseph's letters from Europe and Northern Africa which Mrs. Leslie had sent them and which they sent along to Bob Leslie. We have been so grateful to you for the space you gave them and for the fine headlines which you gave as titles. I think you have a flair for headlines—a very necessary accomplishment!

Halloween passed us by safely and we had fifty village children and a few dogs and a maltese cat call on us. All summer Dorothy

Perkins had maintained a weekly story telling on the lawn or in the big yellow barn and we had an ocean goodwill built for the place. We chose four ringleaders to rake our multitude of leaves and kept them at it till dusk so they were well worn out! The moveable iron kettles which have had petunias and geraniums all summer were put away and the old boy and girl fountain, under their umbrella, has been tugged into the barn. We are packing mackintosh apples and Main potatoes and looking forward to Texas pecans and Valley grape-fruit but most of all to the joy of seeing the family and our friends. This letter should have been a note of sympathy for you when you had had luck at sports; Too much company and too many chores kept letter writing at a low ebb this summer.

Joseph and I have just returned from several days in New Brunswick and Main so we're in practice for a long ride home.

Sincerely,
Emily Gleason Perkins

A Leading Banker Speaks About Better-than-ever U.S. Savings Bonds

"The American Bankers Association has once again pledged vigorous support of the U.S. Savings Bonds program as an essential part of good Federal debt management. The encouragement of thrift, in all forms, is to the direct advantage of every financial institution and of the nation. America needs more savings, more thrifty families.

"The nation's bankers have long appreciated the value of the Bond program, and have given it consistent support. We approve the new, more liberal terms which apply to both new Bonds and old. We will continue to help our country, our customers and our communities by promoting and selling U.S. Savings Bonds—now better than ever.

"We bankers value our customers' faith in our financial judgment and, therefore, exercise extreme care in giving advice. But we need never hesitate to advise our customers to buy and hold U.S. Savings Bonds."
