Importance of Soil Conservation Told

Eastland Lions were told Tuesday that it is unreasonable for American farmers to think they can take everything from the soil and return nothing and still expect the soil to retain its strength. Doing the talking was E. E. McAllister, head of the Eastland Soil Conservation work unit. McAllister told the civic club that "no problem is more acute than conservation." He reminded his listeners that the problem concerns everyone.

water is as important to them as it is to farmers and ranchers. Pointing out that the nation's population now stands at about 178 million, McAllister said that by 1975 the population will reach the 230 million mark, and if the trend continues there will be twice as many Americans in 2010 as there is today.

"We cannot neglect the acres we have, we must conserve the land," the soil conservation expert declared.

McAllister praised the system of soil conservation districts which have come out of the program originated by President Franklin Roosevelt. He said the government has taken an active roll in conserving the soil.

In the past year in Eastland County more than 100 farm ponds were built and some 70 miles of terraces were constructed.

McAllister also stressed that with urban growth continuing, more and more good land is being taken out of cultivation. "We must get the nine percent of our people who farm to be good stewards of the soil."

Betty Cook and Ledee Cooper Rule at Olden

Miss Betty Cook was named Queen of Olden High School Monday night in the Olden auditorium with Ledee Cooper being named king.

The royal coronation was held in the midst of the Thanksgiving motif. The program also carried out the Thanksgiving theme.

Misses Carol Hilliard and Wanda Thomas announced the members of the queens court. Ronnie Reese crowned the king who, in turn, crowned his queen. The royal gift of roses was presented to Queen Betty by Edward Haynes.

Members of the royal party were the following: Joanne Fox and Jim Mosley; Brenda Miller and Gary Thomas; Kathy Hooks and Robert Fox; Sharon Holliday and Wade Thomas; Belinda Owens and Alton Howe; Connie Fox and Russel Walker; Carolyn Thomas and Jerry Hooper; Bernice Baird and Clifford Thomas; Mary Craven and Benny Stewart; Carroll Britt and Rhodney Patton; Irene Fox and Bennie O'Brien.

Flower girls for the occasion were Kay Nell Fox and Judy Woods. Crown bearers were Nancy Copeland and Keith Williamson. Little Miss Rhonda Garner served as train bearer.

That 'C' On It's Back

Chapter 6 "Just listen to me", Anne begged. "After that last time you left, my folks died and I had no other way to leave Coburg Manor."

"Why did you want to leave, Anne? It was your home, our home."

She shook her head. "It was never really my home, Vince; not without you. I was always the 'poor-white-girl' Vince married when he was too young to know better. I met Will and, well, the war was over, but you hadn't come home."

"It was hard to travel with no horse and an injured leg. I got onto Coburg land three weeks after you left," Vince said simply.

"No, Vince, no," Anne said in anguished protest.

"I'm afraid so," he said, turning away.

She reached for him. "I want to go with you. Take me and let's go quickly. Don't you see, Vince? I'm really still your wife."

Vince was filled with a pity that threatened to choke. "Anne", he said slowly, "don't you even wonder why I didn't follow you immediately? Father was buried the day I got home. You see, he

THANKSGIVING TURKEY—Five-year-old Paula Lund pauses a moment in an Eastland super market to admire a paper turkey. DATE SET FOR DEC. 15

Tully to be Speaker At Football Banquet

One of Eastland High School's greatest football players will return here Dec. 15 to be the main speaker at the annual Quarter-back Club football banquet.

Darrell Tully, a Maverick great in the 1930's and immediate past president of the Texas Coaches Association, has agreed to speak at the banquet. Members of the speakers committee who arranged the program are Neil Day, Wendell Siebert, Carrol Shelton and Don Denny.

Tully is now coach at Spring Branch High School, a Class 4-H school located in the outskirts of Houston. He made his name in high school coaching circles when he brought Ball High of Galveston out of a long losing slump into the winners circle.

A 1935 graduate of E.H.S., Tully went on to become a little all-American at East Texas State College. After graduating at East Texas in 1939 he was signed by the Detroit Lions and played professional ball for several seasons.

Then he was brought back to Commerce to become assistant football coach at East Texas State and head basketball coach. From there he went to the Navy where he continued to work in the physical educational field, then returned to E.T.E. after the war.

He became head coach of a Dallas high school next, then was signed by Ball High. At Spring Branch Tully has faced the problem of building a winning team out of a school which suddenly sprang up from a Class B team to the four-A ranks.

Tully's wife is the former Edith Rosenquest. His mother-in-law, Mrs. D. Rosenquest, still makes her home in Eastland.

Plans for the banquet will go on sale in the near future.

Conservation Display Can Be Seen at Bank

Texas Electric Service Co. is showing the company's newest soil conservation display at the Eastland National Bank.

The display this year points up the fact that the entire agricultural industry depends on soil and water conservation, Ben McKinnis, agricultural representative explained.

Also brought out in the display is the fact that 40 percent of the total U. S. employment, or over 26 million workers, are gainfully employed in agriculture industries that process or deal in agricultural commodities, some of which are feed mills, farm equipment manufacturers, petroleum products, dairy plants, meat packing and food processing.

There are four insets on display showing improved practices for soil conservation. A brochure, which is available to the public, shows how everyone benefits from soil and water conservation.

Comanche Makes Clean Sweep of Eastland Teams

The Mavs played the Indians close until the last quarter, but Coach Joe Ed Ingram's charges were no match for the tall Comanche team. Raymond Lusk scored 15 points for scoring honors in the game. Tommy Beck netted five, Ray Denny three and Clark Conner, Bobby O'Steen and J. B. Tankersley each scored two.

Judy Seaberry led the Mavericks with 27 points, Kay Morton netted 19 and Wanda Arther had 10.

Old Fashioned Way of Life Not Completely Gone

This is the jet age, the space age, the age of new things and things not yet known; however, there is still a hint of the old time way of living.

Everyone enjoys the old-fashioned get-togethers of the neighboring towns and counties. Such an affair is held on the first Friday of each month at the Adams ranch about 15 miles north west of Eastland.

Hosts for this event are Tobe, Paul and Claude Boles, who is of Eastland. Present are people from Eastland, Cisco, Breckenridge, Throckmorton, Moran and Ozona, in addition to the neighbors of the community.

Those present enjoy unlimited amounts of food, music and merry-making. One of the highlights of the evening is the fiddling of Edd Glenn, 90, of Throckmorton along with the music of about 20 other musicians.

Effect Of Fumigants On Seed Studied

Many seed men have had damage claims filed against them because of the failure of fumigated seed to germinate. This failure could have resulted from poor field conditions, or it could have been the result of fumigant damage. The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station conducted a study to determine the effect that specific fumigants have on germination and vigor of seed and the conditions under which they may be most injurious.

For the tests, seven fumigants were used to treat seed of barley, oats, wheat, rice, cotton and two varieties of corn and sorghum. Because previous research has indicated that moisture content and temperature of seed during fumigation affects the possibility of fumigant injury, the seed for these tests were fumigated at three different moisture content and temperature levels. It was found that high moisture content and high temperature usually interacted to produce extensive injury to seed.

The fumigants included in these tests were classified into three groups on the basis of their effects on seed germination. Hydrogen cyanide and carbon tetrachloride in the first group had relatively little effect on seed germination. Germination was not affected immediately after fumigation with these materials, but after 12 months' storage of fumigated seed, reductions occurred in some crops without regard to temperature or seed moisture during fumigation.

The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station has published a complete report on this test. This publication, MP-448, may be obtained from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas.

Overton Stones Will Celebrate Golden Anniversary Sunday

An open house will be held Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Overton Stone, Carbon in occasion of the couple's 50th wedding anniversary. All friends are invited to call on them at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Ireland of Lubbock and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Poe of Eastland will be hosts and hostesses. Mrs. Ireland and Mrs. Poe are daughters of the couple. Mrs. Stone, the former Lela Bates, was born March 12, 1889 near Rockdale in Milan County. Her parents were Mr. and Mrs. James K. Bates.

Mr. Stone was born January 5, 1888 in the Jewel Community and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Stone. Mr. Stone has lived in Eastland County all of his life.

The couple were married Nov. 27, 1910 at Rosebud in the home of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Bates, by the Rev. R. J. Wood. They left immediately following the ceremony for Carbon where they have made their home, except for a few years spent in the Western part of the county near Nimrod community. They returned to Carbon in 1924 and he entered the grocery business working for Carbon Trading Company. He left that place to form a partnership in a grocery store in 1947 and, together with his partner, operated the business until his retirement some six years ago. The Stones are members of the first Baptist Church.

Five children were born into this union, three of whom are still living. One son, Major James S. Stone, is serving with the Air Force in Japan will be unable to

The four grandsons are Rocky, Kenneth, Stoney and Mike Stone, who are with their parents in Japan. One great-granddaughter, Vicki Jo Green of Midland, will also be present.

The tea table will be covered with gold net over gold satin and centered with an arrangement of large bronze mums with gold 50's in them. Appointments will be in crystal and silver.

Members of the houseparty will be nieces, sisters and sisters-in-law of the couple. Registering guests in the gold guest book will be the granddaughters, Mrs. Ralph Green and Janice Ireland.

The Ranger College Journalism Class presents as Personality of the Week Sandra Taylor, better known to students and faculty as Sandy.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Taylor of Eastland, Sandy is a 1959 honor graduate of Eastland High School. During her active high school career, she was a majorette, a member of the Maverick Band, the Tri-Hi-Y and F.H.A. and the Eastland High School trio; and she had roles in both her junior and senior class plays.

Sandy is also an outstanding student at Ranger College. A sophomore majoring in journalism, she wants to teach and plans to further her education at East Texas State College in Commerce. A conscientious student with a high scholastic record, she is a member of Phi Theta Kappa, national honorary scholarship society. In Ranger College she has put her high school majorette training to good use in the Rangeans. Her first year as a Rangean she was a lieutenant; this year, in addition to serving as captain, she is choreographer for the group. She was assistant editor of the 1960 RANGER and is one of the co-editors of the 1961 RANGER. She is a cheerleader and a member of the Debs; and this is her second to serve as reporter of her class.

Popular with her classmates, she was chosen freshman favorite last year, and she was a nominee for football sweetheart this year.

Of medium height and build, this attractive blond, blue-eyed coed has added much spark and life to the Ranger College campus. Watching football games and dancing are two of Sandy's major hobbies. She also enjoys bowling, reading, water skiing, listening to popular music, and participating in school activities.

Well liked by all Ranger College students, she is an all-round student both in the classroom and is the type of student that is an asset to the college. She is a well-groomed young lady with a warm, friendly smile, a quiet, courteous manner, and a winning person ality. Though she has a very busy schedule, she always has time to make friends. One of outstanding qualities is her willingness to help others. A typical college sophomore, Sandy Taylor is a person we are honored to present as Personality of the Week.

High School Playoffs Aired By Humble Co.

When football fans all over Texas tune in to the broadcasts of the AAA and AAAA quarter-final high school football games next weekend (Dec. 3) they'll probably recognize the announcers.

One will be Kern Tips, one of the nation's top sportscasters, reporting the action in his own inimitable style.

Listeners will no doubt be familiar with the voices of some of the other announcers, too—Alec Chesser of Houston, Ves Box and Eddie Barker of Dallas, Bob Walker of Baytown, John Phelan of El Paso, and Jack Dale of Lubbock.

All of these sportscasters, well-known for their broadcasts of Southwest Conference games, are members of the Humble Company's football announcing staff.

And this year Humble has purchased exclusive rights for the play-offs of the two top high school leagues from the quarter finals through the finals.

The final AAAA game will be telecast live over a regional network of TV stations with Kern Tips and Alec Chesser describing the action and color.

This is the first year that Humble has ventured into the hot Texas high school circuit to sponsor broadcasts and telecasts. Although definite arrangements cannot be made until the playing teams are all selected, Humble plans to beam the broadcasts into many areas of Texas.

The high school broadcasts and telecasts will be given the same care and preparation that the Southwest Conference games receive each season.

That C—

(Continued from Page One) didn't know whether I was alive or not any more than you did, and when you left he had nothing. He killed himself without anyone or any hope. You stopped being my wife that day".

Coburg strode from the house, with the echo of Anne's half-crying, half-moaning grief ringing in his ears. He needed to leave quickly; to make his last words toher true.

It was practically a surprise to him when he found he was in front of the LaSalle, hitching the big horse, stomping inside as the wind whistled through the doors.

"Anybody say I can't drink here?" he demanded to know. "No, sir", the bartender said. He handed him a drink, adding, "But you still ain't to sleep here, Mister. Mr. Hodges thinks you left".

Vince ignored him. Lifting his glass, he turned to face the men gathered around the stove in the center of the room. He announced a toast to Mrs. Will Hodges. The men glanced at each other uneasily and suddenly the words stuck in Vince's throat, making his drink tasted of bad eggs. He'd started to expose the whole thing by offering to drink to Mrs. Hodges, Mrs. Coburg, take your choice, boys. Now he found he couldn't shame her before these men who called her the lady in the big house, the poor sick lady. And if he couldn't shame her, Hodges wasn't going to by turning her aside for Elizabeth.

"Where's Hodges?" "Back there", the bartender said nervously.

Vince opened the door to the back room without a knock. The man at the desk kept writing, evidently believing no one would dare open that door unless he had very black hair and eyes and Mrs. Collins was right about their being of a size.

As Vince moved toward the desk, Hodges glanced up, then rose hastily. "This is a prive of-ice, Mister".

"That's fine because this is private business. I'm Coburg..." Hodge's hand streaked for his gun, but he was no match for Vince. "Just sit down, Hodges".

"Drop that Coburg", Eastman said from where he was holding his own gun just inside the door. "I told you we don't have any trouble in this town". He closed the door behind him. "I heard you say you wanted to talk", he said to Vince. "Well, go ahead and talk".

"It was personal. Just Hodges and me". Eastman eyed him wondering. "My wife is a good friend to Mrs. Hodges. Some women talk a lot when they're sick".

"You know?" Vince gasped. The sheriff nodded. "I tried to get you to leave".

TRACTOR TALK

Change Spark Plugs In Sets "Mixed salads are fine, but mixed plugs may provide a serious case of tractor indigestion." These words of caution come from Champion Spark Plug Company as a result of recent field investigations revealing that many farmers, when they encounter spark plug misfiring, frequently change only one spark plug to correct the trouble. While this practice may temporarily restore performance, it is not recommended for the following reasons: (1) Uneven spark plug gaps may result in rough idle. (2) Mixing plugs may result in uneven power distribution from the cylinders. (3) Will disrupt maintenance schedule (the farmer won't remember which plug he put in at what time). (4) Other plugs may be "borderline" and wasting gas and power without the farmer knowing it. (5) Low voltage requirements at the one plug (new) may rob voltage from the other plugs - especially if a carbonized path in the cap allows voltage to track from one insert to another (the new plug may get plenty of voltage while the plug next to it may get too little). Champion advises playing it safe when it comes to replacing spark plugs. Replace all plugs every 250 hours for maximum tractor performance. Quick Check Will Reveal Condition of Primary and Secondary Systems If you have a tractor in which the starter turns over but the engine won't start, and you find that there is a very weak spark or no spark at all at the spark plugs, here's a quick check you can make to determine whether the trouble is in the secondary or the primary system. Remove the coil (center) high tension lead from the distributor cap tower, and holding it approximately 3-16 inch from the cylinder head, observe the spark as the engine turns over. If the spark is good, chances are the trouble is in the distributor cap, the rotor or the spark plug cables. If the spark is weak, or there's no spark at all, the trouble probably is in the primary circuit or in the cable between the distributor cap and coil, or in the coil itself. Condensed Facts On Condenser A defective condenser can cause a lot of trouble in a tractor's ignition system. According to Champion Spark Plug Company, here's why: (1) Wrong condenser capacity may cause pitted breaker points. (2) High internal resistance may result in condenser failing to take a proper charge, causing arcing and burning of the contacts. (3) If condenser "flashes over", the engine may miss under high compression. (4) An open or shorted condenser on operation. (5) A condenser tester offers the only means of accurately checking the condition of the condenser.

Eastland County Has Over $4 Million In Savings Bonds

We hear a lot of talk these days about bringing industry to this community or that community in Texas. And we hasten to agree that new industry will do a lot for the local economy. However, we often forget to count the blessings that already are ours in the way of financial insurance for the future. This has been brought to mind by the Texas Press Association-sponsored education program on U. S. Savings Bonds. We were surprised to learn that it is estimated that Eastland county has approximately $4,715,300 cash value in Series E and H Bonds currently being held by the thrifty folks of this area. Recent improvements in these bonds have pushed the earning power up considerably. Those now being issued and those issued since June 1949, are earning at least 3 3/4% compounded semi-annually from now till maturity. Those issued prior to that date earn at least 3 1/2% to next maturity. Just to be on the safe side, lets use the 3 1/2% figure to see approximately how much will accumulate to the bond holders of our people in this county in 1960. According to our grocery store arithmetic, this would amount to $165,000. It's easy to see that this is the equivalent of a good size industrial payroll. Through the years this accumulation of Savings Bonds is always readily available to be poured into the spending stream in times of economic reverses. It could buy a lot of seed wheat, groceries, or pay the rent. It adds stability to local business. Too, people with savings are not afraid to spend from current income. Savings Bonds offer us as individuals a systematic plan for setting aside a part of our income for education of our children, expansion of business or farming interests, a more comfortable retirement, and to finance some of the "big things" in life. E. and H. bonds are guaranteed by the full faith and credit of our government. It's a comfortable feeling to have such a nest egg of security.

Review Rules Before Going On Deer Hunt

Hunters heading for the field beginning opening day, Nov. 16, should take time out now to re-hearse some important "musts," suggests J. B. Phillips, assistant director of law enforcement, Texas Game and Fish Commission. "This involves everything from giving equipment of the hunt a one-over, to the care of the kill." Each year brings tragedy to the families of many hunters because of faulty guns or failure to obey the rules of safe hunting, according to Phillips. "A careful review of these rules and a double check of rifles and ammo may be more important than many hunters realize," he warned. The assistant director also reminded hunters that crippled deer are potential killers. "Be positive that the deer you shoot are dead before getting too close to them. Only recently a story from out of the state told about a hunter who was killed by a wounded deer." The woods this hunting season will be filled with hunters. Many of them will be out for the first time, and they will not be on guard at all times. The director suggested that these novices be extra careful, both when handling

Farm Machinery Efficiency Can Increase Profits

College Station—Machinery inefficiency can strike a devastating blow to farm profits. Cecil Parker, extension farm management specialist, says that every farm operator should know the cost of owning and operating machinery. If he does not, he is in a poor position to determine how to increase his machinery efficiency, Parker continues. Fixed costs, such as depreciation, interest on investment, insurance, taxes and housing may represent the largest expense associated with owning machinery. If the farm is large enough, however, these costs may be small on a per acre basis. Repair and maintenance may also involve a large cash outlay. High cost here can be caused by poor quality machinery, abuse by the operator, operating over rough terrain or a combination of these, Parker explains. The specialist says other factors which affect machinery efficiency are: Substitution of machinery for labor. Whether or not substitution is wise depends on the relative effect on labor costs. Return on investment. Capital invested in machinery and equipment may give a greater return if invested in some other phase of the farm business. Availability. If machinery is not available when needed, lower yields and quality may result. Farm size, type of work to be done and the possibility of hiring custom work. In conclusion, Parker says that good farm machinery records are their rifles and when sighting in on deer. "Be certain it's a deer—a legal deer." Taking care of the meat after the deer has been bagged also is important. "Know how to properly care for venison before you shoot. Lots of good meat is lost each year because of spoilage," said the director. "If you don't know how to care for the meat, ask someone before the hunt."

Deer hunting is the order of the day, with some nice deer available and more hunters than deer. Luckily some miss. One of the first successful hunters was Robert Berkoff, age 14, who bagged a twelve-point buck the first

James Bargsley and family of Arlington have been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fraa; Bargsley. His daughters, Margaret and Elinor, and Nancy Cantwell of Ranger were visitors at New Hope Baptist Church, Sunday morning.

Other Sunday morning visitors at New Hope were Mrs. Hill of Mineral Wells and Miss Arlene Leubetter of Breckenridge, nieces of Mrs. John Gray; Miss Jackie Lou Basham of Eastland, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Miller; Peggy Howton, Roy, Stephen, and Joyce Leonard of Ranger.

Carla and Karen Templeton of Abilene have been visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Templeton.

H. E. Martin and wife and daughter, Norma Ruth, came home from Abilene for the week-end. Mrs. Myrtle McNabb returned to Abilene with them, Sunday, to visit her sister, Mrs. Nannie Bratton.

The Lacasa Community Club met Thursday all day to make a quilt and further plans for the Thanksgiving Supper, Wednesday evening. Each and everyone is invited to come, bring your supper, and enjoy the good fellowship of a good people of a good community.

Slacks Show Off In High Style For New Season

Although traditionally styled sports slacks are far and away the most popular for those leisure hours away from work, patterned wool slacks styled along casual lines stand out this fall as the most eye-catching.

More and more suburbanites with a yen for fashion are getting fitted with these fancy sport slacks, reports the wool bureau.

This fall, wool slacks have an authentic country look. Men in the suburbs are taking to them because they like the air of refinement about them, and that real wooly look that can be found only in all-wool slacks. Sporty, patterned and without gimmicks, they're in good taste.

For week-end living, there are bold plaids and neat small checks, window pane plaids and wool herringbones, in large district checks in twillweave worsted, classic glen plaids, compound color worsted, shadow stripes, new all wool patterned trousers all good with blazers and solid color sport jackets.

These provide the right degree of contrast and color essential this year for a well-coordinated outfit.

No matter how fine the quality of a pair of slacks they cannot look well or wear well unless they fit properly. So it pays to be exacting when choosing slacks.

Here are some check points: Wool trousers should hang
