"The Friendly Store"

THE MARQUEE

BY DICK KLEINER

TV STAGE RADIO RECORDS PEOPLE

The Record Shop: You can get almost anything on records now. Cornell University issues discs with real bird songs, like "The Mockingbird Sings," and also has one called "Voices of the Night," with the calls of 24 different species of frogs and toads. That one really jumps.

In the record industry, the "A & R" men run the show. A & R stands for artists and repertoire, and it means they pick the singers and then pick the songs for them to do. It adds up to the most responsible position in the business. The youngest of all the A & R men, at 31, is Coral's Bob Thiele. "I've been interested in records as long as I can remember," Bob says. And his interest was far from passive. At 15, he began a collection that now numbers in the thousands. In high school art class, he didn't draw posters — he drew sample record labels. One, incidentally, was called Capitol, which was long before there was a Capitol Records in existence. Another was called Signature, and Bob actually started Signature records when he was 19.

He isn't a professional musician, although he fronted a high school dance band and can play the piano and sax. But he has an inborn feel for pop music and pop singers, a feel that has been translated into a steady stream of hits by such Coral stars as Teresa Brewer,

Don Cornell and Eileen Barton. At the moment, Bob is excited about a trend he's had a lot to do with trending — "talking records" featuring comedians.

"They're popular now for the first time in decades," he says. He started it all with the very funny Chinese waiter routine of Buddy Hackett. Coming are records featuring Jackie Miles and Phil Foster, and, when he has some more, Thiele plans to put them all into an album called "The Laugh of the Party."

It should be just that. Remember Leonna Anderson's charmingly macabre recording of "Fish" for Horrible Records? If you ever heard it, you couldn't forget it. Now Miss Anderson is doing an album of the same type of ghastly stuff, including one written by the editor of Metronome Magazine, George Simon. It's called "I Want a Limburger Lover, Who'll Take My Breath Away."

Speaking of titles, Eartha Kitt has a dandy coming on RCA. She made eight new sides on the coast. Among them is something called "Mink Schmink." Eartha's come a long way; you might say she's traveled a fur piece.

Dick's Picks: "Three Coins in the Fountain" (Four Aces, Decca, Decca); "The Grass Looks Greener" (Dick's

"Looks like his father? Sorry, but that's just a head of cabbage you're looking at!"

land, Mercury): "The Bells of Notre Dame" (Paul Weston, Columbia); "It Ain't My Baby" (Rusty Draper, Mercury); "Brave Man" (Burl Ives, Decca); "Goodnight, Sweetheart, Goodnight" (Ella Mae Morse, Capitol); "If It's a Crime" (The Lariks, Lloyd, Decca); "Lazy Afternoon" (Kaye Ballard, Decca). The two top male vocalists of the past decade, Bing Crosby and Frank Sinatra, both have new albums. Crosby sings, "Some Fine Old Chestnuts" on Decca and RCA has issued some of Sinatra's great-est on "Fabulous Frankie." Semi-

Comedy Presented By Lefors School

Lefors (Special) The comedy, "Here Comes Charlie," was presented at the Lefors High School Auditorium recently.

Sponsored by the Wesleyan Service Guild of the Lefors Methodist church, the play was directed by Mrs. R. L. Daugherty, and the proceeds were to help buy band jackets for the members of the Lefors Pirate Band.

Playing the part of Charlie, was Carole Graves, an Ozark hill-billy, and Aleck Twigg, played by Percy Davis, was her "adopted" uncle.

Larry Elliot, was portrayed by Jimmy Roberts, with Mickey Sue Johnson, playing the part of Mrs. Farnham, his widowed aunt. Others in the cast were: Ted Hartley, played by Billy Bennett, an old classmate of Larry's, Melba McCarley, played the part of Nora, the Irish maid. Tim McGrill, Nora's policeman sweetheart, was portrayed by Wayne Cody.

Larry's fiancée, Vivian Smythe-Kersey, was played by Aletha Smith. A rich society matron, Mrs. Caroline Smythe-Kersey, was played by Sylvia Bradford, and Mortimer, her sleep son, was played by Jerry Pflug.

Life To Art MEMPHIS, Tenn. — UP—Miss Florence McIntyre has taught more than 10,000 persons to appreciate and create art. For the past 31 years, Miss McIntyre, now 75, has conducted free art classes here teaching both serious artists and "Sunday painters."

Cristobal Colon peak in Colombia, 18,947 feet high, is the loftiest coastal mountain mass in the world.

"THEY GO THROUGH THE AIR..."—Siegfried Cimarro, a well-known German trapeze artist, who was grounded because of an injury several years ago, has found a way to compensate for his idleness. He's training his three sons, left to right, Mathias, Thomas, and Michel, to become trapeze performers. A refugee from the Soviet zone, Cimarro uses his sister's West Berlin apartment to put the youngsters through the paces.

The ermine, the ptarmigan, the Arctic fox, and the varying hare change their fur or plumage to white in winter.

Easy Come, Easy Go

SEATTLE, Wash., May 20 — UP—Nels Olson wasn't moaning Tuesday even though he sold eleven $100 bills for a nickel apiece.

"It really doesn't make much difference," said Olson who found the bills in an old suitcase in a garbage can.

Olson thought it was "stagnant money" and sold five of the bills for a quarter to a neighborhood garage store owner who told him the bills were probably worthless.

Olson, still under the impression he was selling only a substitute, sold the rest of the bills to friends in the area.

One of the purchasers took the bill to the bank where he was informed it was genuine money. Federal agents and Detective Frank Lundquist were called in on the case to try to recover the bills and return them to the rightful owner.

BARGAIN BULL—E. C. McCormick, of Medina, Ohio, got a bargain in bulls at the recent auction of Hillcrest Farms' purebred Hereford stock at Chester, W. Va. He paid $52,500 for a second half-interest in HC Larry Domino 12th, with whom he's pictured above. Larry Domino is the grand old sire of the famous Hillcrest herd. A couple of years ago McCormick paid $105,000 for a half-interest in the bull. Larry Domino, one of the greatest breeding bulls of all time, is the second-highest Register-of-Merit sire and has sired six International Champions.

Military Junk Goes Pentagon's Operation 'Clean-Up'

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The most gigantic spring cleaning in history is under way.

Inspired by Secretary of Defense Charles Wilson, the project is called "Operation Clean Sweep."

Its goal: to clear out an estimated $5 billion worth of obsolete equipment and just plain junk from hundreds of military warehouses and depots around the country.

One of the most unbusinesslike procedures in the defense establishment, the former head of General Motors discovered when he became boss of the Pentagon, was the habit of commanders to accumulate big stocks of just about everything they could lay their hands on, from paper clips to anchor chains.

To his further amazement he discovered that only the Navy had a vague idea of what it had stashed away in warehouses and rusting in junk yards. Neither the Army nor Air Force could come up with even an educated guess on its excess stuff.

A preliminary study inspired by Wilson showed that the quantity of surplus was fantastic, that millions of dollars were being wasted in storage space and, worst of all, the junk was piling up at an uncontrolled rate.

Wilson ordered a rigid accounting system and inventory control. And he started Clean Sweep to clear everything that wasn't needed to keep the services going or for strategic reserves.

The Navy, traditionally a careful storekeeper, was designated to coordinate the disposal of excess for all services.

Material declared excess is offered first to the other services, then to the civilian agencies, then to charitable and educational institutions and finally for public sale.

The great bulk of it is useless to the other agencies and is being sold for whatever it will bring. During the first three months of

FOR SALE, SLIGHTLY USED: Navy storekeeper John Woods lines up a display of samples of deep-sea diving equipment the Navy is putting on sale in drive to clean out useless stores.

1954, $438 million worth of many thousands of different items were declared excess. Out of that only $18 million worth was claimed by other agencies and $17 million worth given to public organizations. Some of the stuff is still being processed, but $317 million worth—original cost—has been sold, bringing to the U.S. Treasury $16 million in cash. And the experts consider this a pretty good return.

The biggest saving is on warehouse and yard space.

ON GRADUATION DAY—Five-year-old Larry Duncan is so happy about graduating from kindergarten in Mooresville, Ind., he kisses Janice Bryan, 5, a fellow graduate. From her facial expression it appears that Janice isn't too happy about the idea.

Segregationists To Band Together

ATLANTA, May 20 — UP—Attorney General Eugene Cook of Georgia Wednesday invited the attorneys general of the states affected by the Supreme Court's ban on public school segregation to meet here May 28 to discuss legal means to maintain racial separation.

Cook said the conference would be closed to the press and public and would not be an official meeting of members of the National Association of Attorneys General, which he heads.

Among the problems to be considered, he said, are those relating to preserving segregation without circumventing federal or state constitutions and the question of whether to appear as "friends of the court" at further Supreme Court hearings on segregation this fall.

Oklahoma Governor Cancels Trip

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 20—UP—Oklahoma Gov. Johnston Murray will not start a flight to Korea for an inspection trip Thursday.

Murray cancelled his plans to make the trip with three other governors, at President Eisenhower's request, because his wife is running to succeed him and the possibility of a southern governors' conference on school segregation.

"After much deliberation on those things which vitally affect the state and the states of the South," Murray said, "and my assistance to Mrs. Murray in her candidacy for governor, I feel it is incumbent upon me to remain in the state for the next several weeks."

Murray said he had been asked to call a meeting of the 18-member Southern Governors' Conference, of which he is chairman, to discuss last Monday's U. S. Supreme Court decision banning segregation in public schools.

Earlier, he said he didn't see the need of such a meeting, except "to let them blow off steam and cool off the situation." But Murray said Wednesday "there may develop a need for such a conference, which would include the attorneys general and superintendents of public instruction."

Mr. Eisenhower originally invited 10 governors to make the trip, but Murray said he thought only Govs. Allan Shivers of Texas, Dan Thornton of Colorado and John S. Fine of Pennsylvania would go.

Assault Hearings Adjourned
CANBERRA, May 20 — UP—A royal commission investigating Soviet espionage in Australia adjourned its hearings Wednesday, probably until next month. The commission, made up of three supreme court justices, halted its hearings in Canberra to make further inquiries and to allow the commission translator to check papers submitted by former Soviet embassy third secretary Vladimir Petrov.

JOHNSON IN HOLLYWOOD

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)— Exclusively Yours: An Oscar netosis? Talked about in whispers in Hollywood, it's a state of mind that has sent more than one Academy Award winner sliding down the career slide.

But don't worry about Donna Reed, the year's best supporting actress in "From Here to Eternity."

The first winner I've found willing to talk about it, Donna told me:

"It's a fear complex, I think—a fear that you won't be able to ever again match, or top, that performance. For me, I pray Oscar has laid the groundwork for a better career. I'm not going to worry about matching or topping myself. I'm just going to worry about giving a good performance."

Jimmy Durante's changed his mind again about giving up hectic night-club work. He's a Mr. Can't Say No to Old Cronies and has a whole schedule of after-dark dates this summer. Explains Jimmy: "I hate to lose friends."

Those "Four Gals"—Rhonda Fleming, Jane Russell, Connie Haines and Beryl Davis—had a big Las Vegas offer after warbling on TV's Comedy Hour. But they chorused a "No, thanks" because of their religious songs. I've been receiving letters from people who didn't think they even should have appeared on Comedy Hour.

Mark Down September for the version of "People Are Funny" on NBC-TV. Supersalesman John Guedel sold the show, starring Art Linkletter, on a five-year, $2-week-a-year contract. Radio listeners will have the TV version, as they do two other Guedel shows, "You Bet Your Life" and "House Party."

Ava Gardner's hubby in "The Barefoot Contessa," Italian actor Rossano Brazzi, becomes Katharine Hepburn's leading man in "Time for the Cuckoo." The film will be made in Venice, Italy, this summer.

Hollywood's lack of knowledge about television can be appalling. The other day a big movie trade paper, on its front page, referred to Jack Webb re-editing some of his Dragnet "kinescopes."

Even the kiddies know by now that Dragnet is filmed just like a movie and that a kinescope is a delayed broadcast of a live show.

Milton Berle is nibbling at movie offers—another reason why he'll be doing three TV shows in Hollywood during May.

Advertisements for a new movie are baiting audiences with the line: "There is someone like YOU in the picture."

A movie that could say, "There is no one like you in the picture" would sell more tickets.

Movies have been, and always will be, an escape from reality. Who wants to go to a movie and find someone like himself in the picture? Nobody. Audiences of normal people want to see dream world characters—not normal CLOSELY KNIT SEXTETTE—Gray skies and a roaring surf don't stop these "life belles" from their practice rescue work along the beach in Brighton, England. people. That's the magic of the movies.

Audrey Hepburn is the latest victim of irresponsible magazine sensationalism. The wordage about her in the gruesome magazine is hair curling.

CBS banned Phil Harris' latest recording, "Persian Kitten." Too spicy, Edmond O'Brien, who's always hankered to make his bow as a director, for Audrey Schenck's "Shield for Murder." He'll also star; But there will be no directing career, as rumored.

for Fred MacMurray. Says Fred: "I'm too lazy."

Joe DiMaggio told CBS sports-caster Tom Harmon he'll never return to baseball, not even if he's offered a manager's job. The way is being cleared for Peggie Castle to wed assistant director Bill McGarry.

Judy Holliday and Jack Lemmon, as husband wife, were rehearsing a quarrel scene for Columbia's "Fhttt." "You're really annoyed with Jack," explained Director Mark Robson. "He's left his clothes on the floor, burned a hole in a tablecloth and flicked cigar ashes into his coffee cup."

Observed Lemmon: "It's obvious you've been talking to Mrs. Lemmon."

Loretta Young's sister, Sally Blane, will be popping up soon as a TV ice-box opener, lipstick applicator, hair lotion plunger and anything else in the Betty Furness line of commercial spelling. She says she prefers it to acting.

Sid Miller says Liberace is the man who found success by burning the candelabra at both ends.

★ EDSON IN WASHINGTON ★

Why It's Tough To Teach Asians 'The American Way'

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The difficulty in trying to win away from communism persons in undeveloped areas is that no one has known what went on in their minds when they joined.

Why did communism appeal to them? What did they think of the Russians? Of America? Of Washington, the atom bomb, Wall Street, their own government, their own future?

He was well-fitted, therefore, to interview 60 Chinese in Manila who had quit communism when they found it did not measure up to its promises.

All are now active anti-Communists. They had no hesitancy in talking to Dr. Pyle, recounting their experiences in minutest detail and giving their reactions to world political and economic forces affecting their lives.

Nearly all of the 60 believed that Russia won World War II. They had heard of Stalingrad and the Russian defense of Moscow. They knew the Russians got to Berlin first.

They believed that the United States and its allies made a forced landing in France only to keep the Russians from taking over all of western Europe.

They had heard that the United States had perfected the atomic bomb first, and had dropped it on Japan. They thought that very clever of the Americans — to let all the others get killed in actual combat while the Americans themselves were perfecting the atomic bomb.

The Chinese believed that their countrymen had won the war in Korea. Normally having an inferiority complex with regard to America and things American, here was one thing that made them proud of China. It gave them a feeling of superiority, even though the victory had been won by Communist China.

These people whom Dr. Pyle interviewed all had a great appreciation for skillful propaganda. They believed it an essential part of politics.

NEW LAREDO, Mexico, May 20 — UP — Mexican farm production and the nation's ability to supply all of its needs will both be increased by devaluation of the peso, according to a Nuevo Laredo banker.

Social Security Cards A 'Must' For Most Workers

A social security account card will be needed by students who plan to take a job this summer, reminded J. R. Sanderson, manager of the Amarillo Social Security office.

A duplicate card should be acquired if the first card has been lost. Most jobs are covered by the social security law, Sanderson said, by which the card is required.

Sanderson advises students who do not plan to take a vacation job this year to defer getting a card until they need one. A representative from the Amarillo Social Security office is in Pampa Monday mornings at 9:30 at the Texas Employment Commission office.

Oxygen Lack Fatal To Child

WORLD, Wyo., May 20 — UP — Two-year-old Roxanne Nelson of Newcastle, Wyo., died aboard a chartered plane Wednesday when her oxygen supply was exhausted.

Doctors said the girl apparently died a few minutes before the plane put down at municipal airport here for more oxygen. She was suffering pneumonia caused by a congenital lung abnormality.

An emergency crew with oxygen was waiting at the airport when the plane landed. The girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Nelson, was being flown to Cody, Wyo., for treatment by lung specialist Dr. Chester Ridgway.

That's More Like It!

LOS ANGELES, May 20 — UP — Hotelman Glyn Wolfe, one of four persons involved in a messy, go-round marital mixup here, only has to pay his estranged wife $1 a week until his status in divorce court is cleared up.

Superior court ruled Wednesday that Wolfe can reduce temporary support payments to Beverly Marsh Wolfe, 24, from $35 to $1 weekly. Mrs. Wolfe, who obtained a Mexican divorce last year is seeking a California decree.

Wolfe's first wife, Peggy Lou Wolfe Hirsch, 26, also has asked another court to determine the validity of her 1952 Mexican divorce to him and whether her subsequent marriage to Texas oilman William Hirsch is legal.

When you are afraid of a defensive ruff you usually try to get the trumps out as quickly as possible. In adopting such a plan, you ordinarily avoid taking a trump finesse.

In today's hand, the declarer adopted this procedure with unfortunate results. There wasn't any safety in refusing the trump finesse.

West opened the king of hearts and East followed suit with the nine. South had been thinking of refusing the first heart trick, but the appearance of the nine of hearts changed his mind for him. He was afraid that the second round would be ruffed, and then the fat would be in the fire.

After winning the first trick with the ace of hearts, South decided that there was grave danger that East would overruff dummy on a third round of hearts. Seeking safety, South decided against a trump finesse but merely led a low trump to dummy's ace and then returned a trump from dummy.

East very properly hopped up with the king of diamonds and returned his remaining heart. West won and led a third heart, whereupon East was able to overruff dummy with the nine of diamonds.

South's attempted safety play brought about the very misfortune that he was trying to prevent. The correct line of play is to finesse the queen of diamonds at the second trick. This finesse loses to East's king, and East can return a heart.

When West leads a third round of hearts, however, dummy can ruff with the ace of trumps. No overruff is possible, of course, and South can continue to draw trumps and take his tricks in perfect safety.

REAL "ZOOT"—Zoot suits are a real problem in London, England, and this is typical of what the boys wear. The garment is cut to Edwardian styles, consisting of a long jacket, narrow trousers and a stringy tie. Called "Teddy Boys," they cause trouble in dance halls, bars, restaurants.

Fairland Park... Disneyland Called The Legacy Of Cartoonist To All Children

By HENRY MELEMORE

The prettiest park in the world today, and the one where children and grown-ups alike can have the most fun, is Rivoli in Copenhagen.

It has held that honor for many years, but it will be a runner-up at the end of July of next year.

That is when Disneyland will be opened — 145 acres of dreamland created by Walt Disney. For years he has had such a playland in the back of his mind, and now it is in the building stage. I spent most of yesterday with Walt, and a good deal of the time was used in looking at the sketches of the fairland that even a fairy god-mother would have a hard time thinking up.

The walls of two rooms of his studio are covered with the most delightful drawings you ever saw. Working with other artists and engineers, Walt, the creator of Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck, and all those other endearing creatures has created a playland that would delight even the sternest witch.

I asked him why he was giving half his time to Disneyland when he was mixed up in a thousand other things.

"Oh, I don't know," he said. "Maybe I'm crazy."

I wouldn't take that for an answer, and finally he gave me a reason. This is it: If children the world over have liked and laughed at his film creations, then he wants to leave them something to laugh at and open their big eyes at when he is gone. Disneyland is his legacy to the little ones. Lewis Carroll, Hans Christian Andersen, and Walt Disney. Name me three other men who have been able to see the world through the unclouded eyes of a child.

I'm far from a child, but I can't wait to see Disneyland. I want to see the Peter Pan Fly-Through, the Snow White ride, the Mother Goose Fun House; I want to ride the pirate ship, manned by cut-throats, complete with a plank to walk. I want to take the water ride that carries its passengers through a whale, with a whirling chute down his big, red tongue into a lake.

I want to dine at the Lilliputian Club and the Mickey Mouse Club, and take a whirl on the Dumbo swing. I want to walk through the Gingerbread Castle, and take a ride on the real paddle-wheel steamers which every once in a while trip a wire causing elephants to poke their heads out of the bushes along the banks, crocodiles to surface, and hippos to come up and do whatever Disney hippos do.

And who would want to miss the Alice in Wonderland Tea Party Ride? Here you'll sit in cups and be revolved in saucers, while the dormouse and all the others look on. There will be a railroad, built to five-eighths scale, pulled by a huffing and puffing little replica of Casey Jones' locomotive. Disneyland's Main Street will be a main street in miniature, with a bakery that cooks the things that children love, and which smells heavenly. There'll be a real doctor and a real pharmacist, and all the other stores that belong on a main street will be there.

Frontier Land will show America's progress from Plymouth Rock to the Pacific; Kit Carson, Daniel Boone, a working blacksmith shop, and pony expresses. There'll be a trip to the moon, which, as explained to me by Walt, will come as close to giving you the feeling of travelling into outer space as is possible.

And you know as well as I do that with Disney directing, there will be nothing cheap, tawdry, or honkey-tonk about it. It will be done just right. Disneyland is being built about 45 miles south of Los Angeles. My guess is that the world will beat a path to its doors.

DALLAS, May 20 — C. H. Zachry, president of Southern Union Gas Co., said Wednesday his firm's financial position and future outlook have never appeared more favorable.

Zachry made the statement at the annual stockholders meeting. He announced net earnings in 1953 of $2,597,808, the largest ever. He said the number of customers served in Texas, New Mexico, Colorado and Arizona increased 6.7 per cent to some 250,000 in 1953.

Sea Monster Caught In Gulf

TAMPICO, Mexico, May 20 — The shrimp boat "Xochil Elena" docked Wednesday with a 550-pound "sea monster" aboard. Capt. Antonio Martinez Sanchez said the monster was a "most rare beast, six feet thick and four feet long."

It had flippers on both its back and belly and a half-moon shaped tail, Martinez Sanchez said. "Its teeth were long and sharp and its skin so thick harpoons bounced off it several times."

Britain's Bevan . . . He Sees The World Through Red Specs

By TOM A. CULLEN
NEA Special Correspondent
LONDON (NEA) — Aneurin Bevan, a Welsh miner's son, once boasted that he was worth more than $75,000,000 a year to the British Labor Party.

That was in the days when the Labor government was in power, and Bevan, as Minister of Health, was giving away free dentures to win votes.

Today, the burly Welshman has split the Labor Party into warring factions and blinded it to the realities of the Communist cold war.

He accuses the Americans of trying to wreck the Geneva conference. He blames his own government for "toadying" to the Americans in their plans to "encircle Republican China."

"If the Americans persist in building a defensive alliance for Southeast Asia, they should be told to go it alone," he says.

"If the Indo-Chinese elect to go Communist, they should be allowed to do so," he insists.

Bevan is opposed to NATO, EDC and British colonial policy. The fact that the Russians are opposed to the same things is purest coincidence, he maintains.

But if "Bevanism," as the doctrine is called, wins warm applause from the Kremlin, it plays hob with the British Labor Party.

"There are, in effect, two Socialist Parties in Britain," the Daily Express observed recently, referring to the fact that Bevan has formed his own "party within a party" that he can count on from 50 to 70 Members of Parliament to follow his policies blindly in the House of Commons.

Playing upon fears of German rearmament and latent anti-Americanism, the Welsh MP has also built up a following in the trade unions. For Bevan makes no bones about it — he is out to capture the leadership of the Labor Party from the more conservative Clement Attlee.

The storm center of Labor politics was born 56 years ago in the Welsh mining town of Tredegar, one of 13 children, of whom only eight survived the rigors of living on a miner's pay in a four-room shack with sanded floors and no bathroom.

Those who know "Nye" Bevan best, explain his aggressiveness today as one big reaction against a painful childhood when, as a pale-faced, nervous boy of 13, he was sent to the coal pits to work for seven years underground.

If Bevan is second only to Churchill as the finest orator in Parliament, it is because he stammered badly as a lad, his friends claim. In order to overcome this handicap he forced himself to speak at street-corner meetings, and thus gradually overcame his nervousness.

In 1916 two events greatly influenced Bevan's life: he was elected chairman of a lodge of 4000 miners, and he was arrested as a draft dodger. In court he pleaded exemption from military service on the grounds that he suffered from nystagmus, an eye disease common to miners, whipped out a medical certificate which he had obtained the previous day to prove it. It was his first big public triumph.

"I will fight, but I will choose my own enemy, my own time, and my own battlefield," Bevan taunted as he left the courtroom.

Bevan did not choose his battlefield until 13 years later when, with the coming of the postwar depression, he was swept on a wave of Socialism into Parliament.

Before that he and his family had lived mostly on the dole, with Nye getting an occasional job laying pipe for the gas works.

From the start he quarreled with Labor Party leaders. He was expelled from the party for a few months in 1939, was on the brink of expulsion again in 1944. In 1951 he resigned as Minister of Health in protest to cuts in the social services budget.

But for a brief heyday Bevan knew power as czar of Britain's national health scheme. Millions of free dentures are a lasting monument to his success.

Today Bevan is running out of dramatic exits in order to force his will upon the British Labor Party.

ANEURIN BEVAN: Communism and Bevanism are just coincidences.

Circus Not Worried TV Will Hurt Box Office Take

By HARMAN W. NICKOLS
WASHINGTON, May 20 — UP — The big wheels under the big top are not worried about television hurting their box office receipts.

I had a chat with F. Beverley Kelley, one of the public relations men for the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey circus. He put it like this:

"You have to come see the greatest show on earth. In order to cover our four rings, the TV people would have to guarantee the home audience a 1,000-foot screen."

Five Television Sets
I raised an eyebrow just a little and maybe he thought I thought he was exaggerating a trifle.

"Look at it this way," he said. "Say you have a couple of aerial acts on either end of the arena. And a couple of pony acts in the middle, and a bunch of clowns running up and down across the saw dust."

"A person would have to have above five television sets working at the same time to catch them all in the living room."

"Most people have only two eyes," he said significantly.

Kelley is not a man to leave a nail half-driven. He thought I was sold, but he wasn't taking any chances.

No TV camera, he told me, could do justice to Josephine Bernosini, who walks the high wire above the ground, some 60 feet up "without a pole."

Or the great Colleano, "the best tight-wire worker in the world," who does a forward somersault so fast you can't see the wire for looking at him.

New Tattooed Lady
"Incidentally," he remarked, casual-like, "we have a new tattooed lady from Germany."

"I thought you've always had a lady wearing ink under her hide," I said.

"Yes," he said, "but not one with the United Nations building and the supreme court and a picture of the McCarthy hearings and—"

"Stop that nonsense, Bev," I said. "How about the bearded lady?"

The great Kelley hung his head. "As I told you 18 years ago and wish I hadn't," he said, "we don't have a bearded lady. She got too close to the fire-eater."

Summer TV Ready For Shot In Arm

By ALINE MOSBY
HOLLYWOOD, May 20 — UP — A television producer launched a crusade Thursday against the custom that summer is the time you turn off your TV set and wait for "the good winter shows."

Ernie Glucksmann's first blow for the cause of good summer TV, he says, will be NBC's "Saturday Night Revue." He's lined up Eddie Albert, Ben Blue and Alan Young as regulars, and they'll be surrounded by guest stars throughout the season.

"This is my crusade," the well-known producer said enthusiastically as he sat in a crowded, noisy rehearsal hall of NBC studios in Burbank.

"I've always resented the attitude of people that in the summertime they get junk on television."

Unfortunately they often do, according to many TV critics. But Glucksmann hopes his Saturday Night Revue will prove otherwise when it takes over as replacement for the Colgate Comedy Hour, which he also co-produced.

In anticipation of the switch, he confessed, numerous unhappy viewers have written him complaining that "for the next three months they expect indifferent or poor shows."

Besides conditioning the public to watching summer TV, Glucksmann and other producers have the task of trying to educate TV networks, and sponsors, too. They often follow the pattern set by radio, though deplored by many experts, of light-weight shows for al-

Crusading Minister Knocked Through Plate Glass Window

BANDERA, Tex., May 20 — UP — A court of inquiry has been ordered to look into a minister's charges he was knocked through a plate glass window for a sermon against drinking at this hill country resort center split wide open Wednesday over a call for a "wet or dry" election.

So far three plate glass windows allegedly smaller summer audiences.

"There are 150 million people in the U. S., and only a small percentage go on vacations," the producer went on.

"Some go for two weeks, but most for one week. And even then only a small number are out of reach of TV sets."

Glucksmann plans to promote new talent such as singer Carol Richards, who's dubbed voices in films for such stars as Vera-Ellen and Rita Hayworth, and comedienne Pat Carroll. He's also hired the Sauter-Finegan band, the most provocative group since Stan Kenton, as regular musicians for the program.

"This won't be as lavish as 'Shows of Shows,'" the producer added. "But it's no small budget program. We plan a winter show for the summer."

Lanza Papa Again
HOLLYWOOD, May 20 — UP — Actor-singer Mario Lanza passed out cigars Thursday for the fourth time. Mrs. Lanza gave birth to a seven-pound, five-ounce boy at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital Wednesday. The couple has another boy and two girls.

have been broken — one of them when Rev. Joe Townsend and a marine clashed in front of a cafe.

Rev. Townsend, pastor of the First Baptist Church, said Wednesday he planned to "ask Austin for help" after a Texas Ranger appeared briefly in Bandera Monday then left.

Justice of the Peace T. H. Caldwell ordered a court of inquiry for later this week after he had been contacted by the minister, apparently to file charges in the brawl. Justice Caldwell said no charges would be filed until after the court of inquiry.

The peace of this small town northwest of San Antonio was shattered Sunday when Rev. Townsend delivered a sermon blistering "mobs of drunks" and saying the town was "wide open and lawless."

On Monday, Rev. Townsend entered the cafe of Buddy Richards and the owner ordered him to leave. Outside, Richards, his brother, Richard Richards, 17 a marine, Mrs. Buddy Richards, the minister and rancher D. W. Hicks got involved in a fist fight which ended with marine Richards and the pastor falling through the window of a leather shop.

Hicks' face was reported badly battered during the fight.

The Richards accused Rev. Townsend of calling them "the scum of the earth" during his fiery sermon.

Hicks is a friend of the minister's and a leader in the "dry" camp.

Early Tuesday, after a Methodist church group met in the offices of the Alamo Lumber Co. to discuss campaign strategy, two plate glass windows were broken.

Ben Weimers, lumber company manager and a "dry" sympathizer, said Wednesday damages "exceeded $200."

Prison Wedding Held
TRENTON, N. J., May 20 — UP — Condemned murderer Eugene Monahan and his wife went through their second prison wedding ceremony here Wednesday so he could receive the sacraments of the Catholic Church. The couple exchanged vows through the bars of Monahan's death house cell at the New Jersey state prison before the Rev. Stephen J. Buvidas, prison chaplain, Monahan and his wife, Rosalind, were first married in a civil ceremony years ago at the Essex county penitentiary.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE The D.'s have a car and a son of 16. One morning Mr. D. told his wife he needed the car for a business trip that evening. So that afternoon, he took the car to the garage for an oil change. When she got home, Mr. D. was waiting for her. Having left his office early, he was furious at being delayed. He blew up in a temper before Henry, his son, charging his wife with interference in his affairs. Following his father to his garage, Henry said curtly to his mother: "We'll get dinner out." "I am sick of my husband's humiliating treatment," Mrs. D. says in her letter. "Perhaps I should get away and let them both have a chance to fend for themselves." Do we realize what we're really saying here? We're saying, "If I remove my helplessness from these two people, they may learn to appreciate life." "I don't get recognition of my helplessness, I am humiliated and frustrated." So the problem here is not Mr. D.'s bad temper, but our dependence on his appreciation. Our own idea of our value is not stable, but goes up and down according to the moods of someone else. Our helplessness has no integrity in itself, but is worth only the price Mr. D. is pleased to hang on to. Getting away from him isn't going to do us much good, I'm afraid. What we really want to get away from is our need to be "rescued" by our helplessness for recognition a n d praise. It is the insincerity of our services that irritate our husband and son. They know that we are rendering them, not out of genuine concern for them so much as out of the hope that they'll say, "How thoughtful you are. Whatever would we do without you?" While such praise is pleasant, to need it is to put our self-respect in Mr. D.'s control. If he gives it, we feel hopeful; if he withholds it, we are "frustrated." Such dependence has its roots in our past. We are people who were taught to mend a skirt, not to become independent of mother but to "win her praise. We did lessons well at school, not for pleasure in our own skills but for good marks. So that our own judgment of our action and effort has become worthless to us unless someone else confirms their virtue by praising them. The way to regain control of our self-respect is to begin to consciously refuse to act for praise. If we can't take the car to the garage out of genuine concern for Mr. D., let's leave it alone. For only if we act out of conscious and sincere interest in him, can we show our tops with genuine indignation when he misjudges us. The United States now competes with China and Manchuria as one of the world's principal producers of soybeans. Read The News Classified Ads

June Allyson, John Wayne Picked First

NEW YORK, May 20 — UP—The readers switched their favorites among motion picture stars, but they're faithful to the television performers they liked best last year, according to an annual survey by the Woman's Home Companion.

June Allyson and John Wayne were named the top movie personalities of the year in the poll of some 2,000 readers of the magazine, replacing Bette Davis and Bing Crosby, who topped the poll last year. "The Robe" was named the most enjoyable picture of the year.

Among TV stars, the readers again picked Lucille Ball and Arthur Godfrey, and named Miss Ball's program "I Love Lucy" a step ahead of Godfrey's "Godfrey and His Friends" and "Talent Scouts," as they did last year.

The magazine reported 89 per cent of the readers said they felt television had a "good" effect on their children as opposed to seven per cent who felt TV viewing was harmful.

"STUBBORN AS A MULE"—They're burros, not mules, but the family trait is the same. Buttercup, left, and her son, Sunflower, stopped dead in the center of the Concord Turnpike in Lincoln, Mass., while traffic piled up behind them. Owners Warren Carstenson and his wife respectively pulled and pushed, to no avail. Snafu was eased when a farmer trotted out a pony, which the burros willingly followed across the road. Traffic was tied up for 45 minutes.

Nationalist Chinese Gird For Red Invasion

TAIPEH, Formosa, Thursday, May 20 — UP—The Nationalist government was reportedly rushing preparations Wednesday to ward off an invasion by Chinese Communist forces of the strategic Taichien Islands expected within 48 hours to three days.

Authoritative sources said Chiang Ching-kuo, elder son of Gen. Chiang Kai Shek and head of his father's security forces, has rushed to the area and ordered all non-combatants evacuated.

Naval and air battles have raged around and over the islands, known as "the invasion bridge to Formosa," for the past week. The islands, lying some 200 miles south of Shanghai, are highly strategic in the blockade of the China coast.

The air and naval battles were marked Wednesday by a Nationalist propeller-driven plane's reported victory over a Russian-built MIG-15 jet fighter. The Nationalist plane, an F-47, knocked the sleek jet out of the skies to become the second propeller-driven plane in history to shoot down a jet.

Actress Wins Dispute
HOLLYWOOD, May 20 — UP—Red-haired film star Susan Hayward received court permission Wednesday to take her nine-year-old twin sons on location to Utah despite the objections of her estranged husband, actor Jess Barker. Barker opposed the request before Superior Judge Herbert B. Walker in a nearby Burbank on grounds that a movie location was a "three-ring circus" and might have a bad influence on the boys.

'Joe Must Go' Campaign Is Washed Up

SAUK CITY, Wis., May 20 — UP—Editor Leroy Gore, leader of the "Joe must go" movement, hinted Thursday that the drive to recall Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) will fail.

Gore asked "will Joe go?" in an editorial published in his weekly Sauk-Prairie Star and apparently answered his own question with an explanation of the great difficulties the recall movement now faces.

He angrily criticized the "paralysis" he said has gripped the Democratic party and organized labor in Wisconsin, and especially in Milwaukee, and accused them of failing to work wholeheartedly for McCarthy's recall.

Gore was in Chicago collecting money Thursday, but was to leave for Wisconsin about noon. Interviewed in Chicago about his editorial he said:

"I hate to say it is a tacit admission of failure, but it is evident now we will have to work awfully hard to succeed. It's a matter of arithmetic."

Gore said he has about 300,000 signatures on petitions asking that McCarthy be forced to stand for recall re-election. He must gather a total of at least 404,000 by June 5.

He said the "Joe Must Go" clubs scattered throughout Wisconsin would have to collect 8,000 signatures a day, compared with the current rate of about 3,500 a day, to meet the deadline.

For The Birds

A pamphlet, listing hobby publications printed by and available from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, is chock-full of topics of "everlasting value" to the folks of these United States.

We find through cursory perusal that the taxpayers have paid for the compilation and printing of such interesting booklets as "Homes for Birds," "Attracting Birds," and "Migration of Birds." If one might be allowed to lapse into the vernacular of the day, one might add "that's for the birds."

We don't want to incur the wrath of the ornithologist or bird-watching societies. We like birds as well as the next fellow, but doubt if it falls within the province of government to tell us how to house, attract and otherwise nurse them.

The variety of subjects covered by the government is amazing. For instance there are books which tell you how to use tools, repair your house, grow orchids, prune shade trees, grow lawns, cultivate city gardens, cook meat, raise geese, turkeys, hamsters, rabbits, chinchillas, guinea pigs and fur-bearing animals, take pictures, slip-cover furniture, make coats, sew up a hole in the old man's trousers, make a dress, clean sewing machines, play with leathergoods, fix your car, build a camp stove or fireplace, collect coins and stamps, study American music, prepare educational exhibits, catalog old cycles, collect and preserve insects, study meteorology, learn aircraft maintenance, inspect your airplane, operate small boats, study fish, become an electrician, and learn all about clothes moths and carpet beetles.

All these topics, lumped under the general heading of hobbies, are available to the public for as little as 10 cents or as much as a buck and a half.

These masterpieces might be some of the leftovers of Roosevelt's first regime. Back in the early thirties, broken-down and out-of-work writers, artists and scientists of various sorts were put on the public pap to keep them off the streets.

The artists usually daubed paint on the walls in some post office, the writers wrote and the government footed the bill. We suppose some of the writers merged their talents with those of scientific leanings and turned out "hobby" booklets.

Since then, we suppose that a staff of writer-scientists is retained to keep the brochures up-to-date.

One of the amazing things about government is the difficulty of finding a means of cutting expenses, thus lowering the budget and finally cutting taxes. Administrations — Democratic and Republican alike — will cut a few clerks off the payroll and then brag loud and long about the great savings to the public.

But still it will permit the printing office to publish pamphlet after pamphlet about less and less and then all but give them away.

The government has made bold strides in telling us about our work, making our employers tax collectors and planning for our old age. Now it is prepared to give us aid and comfort in advising us in our pursuit of an avocation — at our own expense, of course.

Trumped-Up Case

In a column printed in the New York World-Telegram, Lawrence Fertig said: "Socialism is socialism no matter how it is dressed up to appear different."

The occasion for that apt observation is the debate in and out of Congress as to whether a $400,000,000 hydro-electric project on the Niagara River shall be undertaken by the federal government, the state of New York, or a group of five tax-paying, publicly-regulated utility companies which are ready to go ahead with the job.

At the end of his discussion, Mr. Fertig emphasized the main principle when he wrote: "In the case of Niagara there is no question of navigation, flood control or any other factor except the development and sale of power. The power industry, as everyone knows, is an outstanding example of an efficient industry that has met its public responsibilities well. Advocates of government control of various projects—whether state or federal—generally try to trump-up a case based on some delinquency or apparent failing in the industry they want to take over. But in the case of power, they haven't got a leg to stand on. There is no sound reason why private enterprise should be further restricted by the entrance of government-dominated monopolies in this or in any similar field."

Yes — socialism is socialism, no matter what kind of government is responsible. And socialism, as modern history so grimly proves, inevitably leads to communism and the destruction of all liberty — civil as well as economic, individual as well as corporate. That's why every citizen has a personal stake in what happens at Niagara — and everywhere else where socialism is being urged.

BETTER JOBS

How Much Is Too Much Government?

I was talking the other day with an attorney about the handicap that goes with having an office in a government that claims to be a republic but is not really a republic.

This person was rather vague about what the duties are of a good government. He said that we of course have too much government. But when I asked him how much was "too much" he government, he walked away.

Knowledge Of This Subject Most Important

It seems to me that most of our trouble comes from the fact that very few people have any definite idea as to how much government is "too much." Many think we have too much government and some think we do not have enough. But what is "too much" or "not enough" is vague in their minds.

We are bound to have confusion when people cannot definitely specify how much government is "too much." Their idea is too vague that a person would have to come back to them every time on every question to find out whether we were having "too much" government. And undoubtedly their ideas change from day to day as to what is "too much" government.

If we could get people who think they are pretty well posted on government to be able to define how much government is needed in order to have good government and how much government is too much government, then we would be on the road to peace and prosperity. Until such time as we get this idea into enough heads we will continue to have more and more government and one war after another. Wars are the result, in most every case, of people not knowing what is "too much" government.

Every person tinged with any phase of socialism has his own individual idea as to how much government is "too much."

The reason most people cannot tell how much government is "too much" government is that they believe the government should do things that violate principles; they believe the government should show favoritism to certain groups at the expense of other groups. Naturally when they want a government that is not based on the ethical principle that all people are equal before the law as they are before God, they cannot then define how much government is "too much." These people who cannot tell how much government is "too much" government and want some special privileges at the expense of someone else believe in such things as granting soldiers, progressive taxation, protective tariffs, immigration quotas, subsidies, "free schools", exempting certain groups from such laws as the Sherman Anti-Trust Law — as is the case with organized labor — and the farmers. And when people start to make exceptions to principles they naturally are embarrassed and want to walk away when someone asks them to be specific as to how much government is "too much."

On the other hand, the man can tell how much government is "too much" who believes government should be based on the principle that all men are equal before the law and that every one should get what he wants on a voluntary basis. The writers of the Declaration of Independence, knew how much government was "too much" when they contended that all men and not just some men are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights — and among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. They expressed about the same thing when they said that "governments derive their just power from the consent of the governed." That is another way of saying that everyone, whether he be an individual or an agent for the government, should get things on a voluntary basis instead of by initiating force or fraud.

A Government of Anarchy But when a man begins to believe that the agents of the government or the state's agents have a right to do things that would violate the Golden Rule and the Commandments if done by an individual, then he cannot define how much government is "too much." Then, in reality, we have a government based on anarchy or the whims of men. And government based on anarchy or the whims of men can only lead to strife and plunder and tyranny and almost continuous wars.

People often ask what they can do to have a better government. The best thing that anyone can do is to ponder over — think over — reflect over — how much government is "too much" government. Until an individual gets a definite idea as to how much government is "too much" government, he cannot really do much to help mankind have a better government.

OUR BELLIGERENCY MUST BE JUSTIFIED There is a final and conclusive qualification. No wanting to squander what Wendell Wilkie called our "reservoir of good will" after his international tour in early 1941, we will not engage in war unless we can justify our belligerency before the court of world opinion. We must have angels as well as aircraft on our side.

Finally, we will not "go it alone," as we did virtually in Korea. We will not rely on the United Nations because Russia's veto on the Security Council can block any positive action, and because, as the Korean "police action" demonstrated, the U.N. is not a military organization.

We are not, however, advocating our role as the world's major and strongest anti-Communist bulwark. We simply insist that the nations and peoples under Red guns, whether it be France, Indonesia, China, bestir themselves instead of relying solely on Uncle Sam.

UPHOLDING U.S. TRADITIONS — In view of this revision and re-statement of American foreign policy, it is now obvious why we could not agree to the Laniel-Bidault plea for active military reinforcement of the symbolic but

The Pentagon WANTED to play this game of "Ask me another" with McCarthy. Now the public wants it. For there are a lot of questions the top brass could shed a little light on. Among them is this one: WHICH OF THE ARMY BUREAUCRATS WANTED TO SEND A U.S. MILITARY MISSION TO GUATEMALA TO TRAIN THE GUATEMALAN ARMY? That's what somebody has been up to, according to an International News Service report filed by David Senter on April 19. Guatemala is the ONLY COMMUNIST COUN-

National Whirligig... U.S. Refusal To Fight In China Heralds Major Policy Change

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Military and moral reasons underlie the Eisenhower-Dulles refusal to throw troops into Indo-China to make the same stand against Communism that expansionist Secretary Dulles has explained in blunt language to the statesmen at London, Paris and on Capitol Hill.

The administration's refusal to intervene in Indo-China, in view of the background to be described here, heralds a major change and advance in United States foreign policy. It is as important in its world-wide implications and repercussions as the Monroe Doctrine and the Marshall Plan. And, in tribute to its real author, it should become known in history books as the Dulles Declaration.

Simply phrased, it means that the United States, alone or in alliance with other nations, will never fight to preserve the ancient and outmoded system of colonialism. We will go to war only when and where the countries attacked by the Red hordes are struggling for absolute independence, and show that they are willing to fight for it themselves. Those conditions do not exist in Indo-China.

In short, we are now waging both a moral and military offensive against Russo-Chinese communism. Although it may result in temporary loss of territory to the free world, it may win us the support and people of good will everywhere. And Secretary Dulles believes that they still represent the majority of men and women.

DULLES' STURDY HEALTH — Secretary Dulles' unlined face and other evidences of sturdy health belie his travels and travels, a grinding routine which none of his predecessors suffered. He even sees a humorous aspect of the ordeal.

"True, John," remarked the listener. "But had it not been for the airplane as a weapon of atomic war and a destroyer of time and space, you would not have had to make so many diplomatic trips." Sadly, Secretary Dulles agreed.

TRY in Central America. It is the logical point from which to launch an attack on the Panama Canal. SO SOMEBODY IN OUR ARMY thought it would be a good idea to send American officers down there TO TRAIN THE RED ARMY. Who was it I can't wait to hear Secretary Stevens trying to answer that one.

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JORDAN, M. D.

The eyes are precious possessions and should be guarded at all times.

Q — Please tell me if extreme electric light is harmful to the eyes.

A — It is hard to know just what is meant by extreme electric light, but any bright light can damage the eyes, though this is usually temporary. Snow blindness is one of the best-known examples.

Q — Is there any remedy or cure, aside from surgery, for nasal polyps? I have already had two operations, and now I am told they are coming back.

A — Surgery is, as a rule, the only advisable treatment. The tendency which polyps have to grow back is one of the most annoying features of this condition, and I know people who have had to have them removed many times. Fortunately, the operation is usually fairly simple.

Q — Is it possible to heal radiation burns and how long does it take?

A — Unfortunately, these burns are often exceedingly difficult to heal and the length of time depends principally on the depth and extent of the burn.

Q — My sister-in-law states that two sperm must fertilize an egg at the same time to produce identical twins. I am sure that I have read that only one sperm can possibly produce identical twins, and that two fertilize two separate eggs to produce fraternal twins.

A — You are correct. Identical twins are produced by the division of one egg fertilized by one sperm.

Q — Please inform me if food cooked in aluminum cooking utensils is harmful to health. M. P.

A — Extensive studies have been made and qualified scientists

Fair Enough....

Frank Costello Is Latest Victim Of U.S. Justice Administration

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

(Copyright, 1954, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

NEW YORK — Frank Costello is the latest prominent victim of a vicious development in our administration — of justice by which the national government persecutes men for their notoriety created by the press. The classic example was Al Capone, who got nine years and, by arbitrary judgment of James Bennett, the director of the Federal Bureau of Prisons, was shipped to Alcatraz for most of that term.

This was cruel and unusual punishment inflicted by decree of an individual who has shown remarkable consideration to Communists including Alger Hiss. I have never met Frank Costello, but I personally know that for at least ten years the deflected one of the most efficient prosecuting agencies in the entire country have covered him almost continuously, have searched his affairs and have never been able to accuse him of parking by a hydrant or throwing trash in the street. Failing on all other counts of the huge bill of generalities which Kefauver, the television and the press created, the Department of Justice finally decided to "get" this victim on a charge of evading taxes on some income. The amount was reduced by about half before the trial was over.

Herbert Hoover, whom I honor on the whole, was guilty of a great wrong with good intentions in the case of Al Capone. A group of eminent citizens of Chicago called at the White House to implore his help in redeeming their city from civic bankruptcy. Capone, it seemed, was not only a master bootlegger, an office which in those days was held in hypocritical contempt by the bootleggers' multi-million patrons, but the leader of a gang or syndicate which also operated gambling houses and brothels, procured females for the faculties thereof, murdered its rivals, bribed politicians and public executives and, in general, debilitated the government of the city. These citizens could not swear to a single criminal charge against Capone.

A false report has been published that Mr. Hoover wanted personal revenge because in a hotel lobby in Florida Capone attracted more attention than the President of the United States. Mr. Hoover denies this absolutely but he does realize that he agreed to cooperate with these citizens. Accordingly, Arthur Madden, in charge of the Chicago office of the Treasury Intelligence, began to search Capone's financial affairs through "bank records, Madden and his assistant, particularly Clarence Converse, did an amazing job and there is absolutely no doubt that Capone had evaded taxes by failing to declare income. But he was punished for his bad reputation, which was the product of sensational publicity.

Nine years was an outrageous sentence for tax evasion. Hundreds of other individuals have been guilty of the same crime or the same crime in effect, but with saving technicalities. And they have been allowed to walk out free upon payment of "adjusted" claims. Elliott Roosevelt got the benefit of a "loan" of $200,000 from John Hartford, of the A and C stores, and other "loans" from other suckers in that the money ultimately relieved him of a financial obligation to support one of his divorced wives and their children. But he was absolved of all taxes and violations of the law. The grateful little man was a Spanish bullfighter on his way to Mexico and he too had special permission to leave the premises.

In between all these—models, bullfighters, tweeded Britons and amiable hostesses from the airlines — came groups of serious men and women. They were missionaries and the Prince George is their New York haven as they move between Africa and Brazil, Tierra del Fuego and France, Mexico and Asia.

A man named Charles F. Rogers built the place around 1904-05 and named it for Prince George of England, then visiting Canada. The Prince later became George V, and Rogers felt happy in his choice. His son, 36-year-old Charles Jr., now operates this colorful hotel and feels he has his roots in America. He should. The first member of the family arrived at Ipswich in Massachusetts in 1638. He came a former President of Harvard, a four-term governor of Massachusetts and the Boston Tea Party boys among his ancestors. The bar has huge oils of some once-dominant New Yorkers: Vanderbilt, Gould, Fisk, Morgan, Rockefeller, Tiffany. Hill. Mostly whiskered. There was one of Russell Sage, but it's in another public room now because a new night clerk became agitated. He went to Rogers and said: "I have just seen a picture of my uncle in the bar. It was named for him, and I feel it only right to tell you that it is a most unseemly place for him. He was an ardent member of the Anti-Saloon League." The oil was moved at once.

The elder Rogers, an art lover from far back, once had eight fantastic copies painted of some notable paintings by Romney, Rubens, Reynolds and Van Dyck. Cost him $1,000 each. Young Rogers recently asked an art expert to appraise them, thinking that the years might have enhanced their value.

"I'd say $1,000 each," said the expert. "As the cost of painting them."

I liked the Van Dyck, especially, but that Dior doll was something special, too.

Looking Sideways

By WHITNEY BOLTON

The place is 50 years old, or will be inside a few months, and the man talking about it said, "You're missing an interesting slice of New York if you don't go down here some night and just park in the lobby. You don't have to talk to anybody. Just buy yourself a paper, get a chair and watch what goes on. Fascinating."

It sounded all right. It had the making of a story, so two nights after there was an empty chair in the lobby and I took it. The first one was a slim, lithe, dark-eyed girl who didn't have to walk four feet before she could be identified: Paris model. No doubt about it. They all look alike and walk alike and have a protective coloration consisting of a coating of frost one-eighth of an inch thick. She was checked into the elevator and that was that. Little man with the grace of a ballet dancer and the man talking about it said, "You're missing an interesting slice of New York if you don't go down here some night and just park in the lobby. You don't have to talk to anybody. Just buy yourself a paper, get a chair and watch what goes on. Fascinating."

Then there came a spate of British accents and five tweed men walked briskly across the lobby and went up into the regions above via elevator. And then it was time to talk to someone. It was getting mystifying.

It turned out to be a good yarn! The Prince George Hotel, just around the corner from the Little Church Around the Corner, is a lot of things: the New York home of transport plane crews between flights, headquarters for visiting British businessmen, sanctuary for national travelers from one country to another but who have no visa for the United States and must be kept in one place at one time without leave to wander among the wonders of New York. It was found best, for the airlines and for our American relations with other countries, not to keep these people on benches at Idlewild with immigration guards eyeing them. A system was elaborated for the Prince George to put them up, make soap, nylon, American cigarettes and other treasures available for cash, and send them on their way some hours later. They have a special section of the hotel and can't leave it. The girl who looked like a model was indeed a Dior model-traveling from Mexico City to Paris by air and had special permission to leave the hotel for 30 minutes. The graceful little man was a Spanish bullfighter on his way to Mexico and he too had special permission to leave the premises.

In between all these—models, bullfighters, tweeded Britons and amiable hostesses from the airlines — came groups of serious men and women. They were missionaries and the Prince George is their New York haven as they move between Africa and Brazil, Tierra del Fuego and France, Mexico and Asia.

PICTURE NEWS

AROUND THE WORLD

CAMP IN KENYA—An African policeman, with rifle in hand, watches Mau Mau prisoners from one of this camp's 16 watch towers. The Langata Detention Camp, a tent-town surrounded by barbed-wire, is located near Nairobi where 5000 British and African troops have been active.

FEATHERED FRIENDS—Well, they don't exactly have feathers yet, but tiny Gregory Scheuring has been assured that some day soon they will have. He got this glimpse of them in Pittsburgh, Pa., where they had just made their spring bow to the world.

ALL DROPPED BY AIR—Aboard a truck, under the tail of a huge Air Force C-119 Flying Boxcar, is part of the 474-foot aluminum bridge dropped from the plane during a training mission in Japan. Three of the cargo-carrying Boxcars airlifted various parts of the bridge, while four C-119s transported paratroopers of the 187th Regimental Combat Team. Below, GIs are shown crossing the finished bridge. Two maintenance men are in the water, keeping watchful eyes on the nine-ton span.

STREETCAR ANTICS—When this human zebra tried to board a streetcar in Berlin, the conductor seemed to be against the idea. The zebra was actually made up of a couple of stars of a circus appearing in the German city and this effort must have been inspired by the warm spring weather.

IMPEDIMENTA—No white streaks will mar the bronze beauty of Barbara Wending's shoulders when she finishes her early spring sun bath at Miami Beach, Fla. After a bracing ocean swim, she tucks the straps of her suit out of the way before relaxing on the sands in order to acquire an even, all-over sun tan.

WHO NEEDS IT?—Only a very unromantic city official could have ordered electric lights installed along "Lovers' Lane" in the Villa Borghese Park in Rome. Where moonlight has always seemed sufficient, sweethearts will doubtless consider this no improvement.

WHAT'S NEW?—This beautiful peacock often perches on the roof over the delegates' entrance of the Palais des Nations in Geneva, Switzerland. Here, it is pausing at a window of the palace, seemingly asking for news of the Far East Conference now in progress.

TAKING IN THE VIEW—Members of the German soccer team, Fortuna, of Duesseldorf, dressed in fancy costumes and got together to be photographed atop the R.C.A. Building in New York. It turned out that Manhattan got to see them as much as the team got to see the city. They are in the U.S. for a "Good Will Tour" sponsored by the German-American Football Assn.

FLOWER WINGS—Giant wings of flowers keyed this beautiful float which represented butterflies in Hamilton, Bermuda. It was judged the best entry in the annual spring pageant of the Bermuda Lily, and created much interest among spectators.

EXPOSING HIS FLANK—Three-year-old Jerry Reed seems to be "shooting it out" with nurse Sue Riggs in a hospital in Hutchinson, Kans. The boy was badly injured when his home burned down, but now he's well enough to play in the halls and ambush hospital personnel. Being so young, he hasn't learned about fighting tactics and not keeping his rear exposed.

HALF AND HALF—When "Snowbound Gem," a 160-pound St. Bernard, gave birth in Chicago to 10 puppies, her owners realized she wasn't capable of feeding so many. A supplementary feeding trough was fixed up which could take care of five of them at meal time, while the mother managed the remaining five. So far, none of the pups has been heard complaining about it.

Four Homers Help Oilers Score Victory Over Amarillo, 13-9

Hariston Collects Five Base Knocks

AMARILLO — The Pampa Oilers will be out to make it two in a row over the Amarillo Gold Sox here tonight when the two teams meet at Gold Sox field.

Jim Lemons is slated to toe the rubber for the Pampa nine, while Amarillo will have Ray Faust on the hill. The Oilers return home Friday to open a six-day homestand, meeting the Borger Gassers Friday and Saturday nights. They will then meet the Clovis Pioneers Sunday afternoon and Monday night, closing out their stay here on Tuesday and Wednesday night with the Gassers.

Blasting out four home runs — three of them coming in the first inning — the Oilers rolled over the Gold Sox in the series opener here Wednesday night, 13-9.

Manager Doug Lewis, Dick Hariston and Don Tierney clouted homers in the first frame. Lewis' drive coming with two mates aboard. The other Oiler homer came off the bat of Ben Felder in the ninth with one on. In all, home runs accounted for seven Pampa runs.

Not to be outdone, the Gold Sox connected for four round-trippers also, with Goose Goff, who recently joined the Sox after opening the season with the Gassers, getting two of them. Others hitting for the Pampa were Frosty Kennedy and Frank Kempa.

Lewis Banished

For the first time this season, Lewis, the Oiler pilot, was ousted from the game by umpire Ray Helke for protesting too strongly in the seventh inning on a play where Felder was doubled off first base.

Pampa jumped on the offerings of Taylor Smith in the first frame, scoring five runs on as many hits. Before Manager Ted Clawitter pulled him after only one man had been retired, Smith, who received credit for the loss, was relieved by Carl Swenson.

Deb Woodbright opened the inning with a walk on four straight pitches. Felder singled, sending Woodbright to third and both runners scored when Lewis slammed out his homer over the right-center field fence.

After Curt Hardaway flew out to center, Hariston sent another ball out of the park over the left-center field. This was the first of five hits for the Pampa outfielder, which included a homer, two doubles and two singles as he led the Oilers at the plate.

The fifth run of the inning was scored on Tierney's smash over the left field fence.

Oilers Score Three

Three more Oilers crossed the plate in the third on Hariston's single, a hit by pitched ball, two walks and a single by Felder, who collected four hits during the night.

The Oilers added two more in the fourth on two walks, a sacrifice and doubles by Hariston and Dick Hutzel. In the fifth Hariston way doubled and Hariston got his second two-bagger to score Hardaway with the lone run of the frame.

Through the first four innings, Amarillo batters had gone hitless and it seemed that Jake Henson might get himself a no-hitter. However, Goff led off the fifth with his first homer over the left field wall and at the end of the inning the Oilers held an 11-1 lead.

Three more Amarillo runs came in the sixth on homers by Kempa and Kennedy, with a single by Bill Whitte sandwiched in between.

The Sox made it an 11-6 ball game with two more in the seventh, one coming on Goff's second homer.

Hutzel Doubles

The Oilers came back in the eighth to score two more runs on singles by Hardaway and Hariston, a sacrifice and Hutzel's second double of the night.

Goff led off the eighth two more Sox runs came in but the Oilers collected the same number in the ninth on a walk to Woodbright and Felder's homer over the left field fence.

The Sox scored their final tally in the ninth on a single, a walk and a fielder's choice.

The Pampans collected a total of 16 hits off the offerings of four Sox hurlers — Smith, Swenson, Fidel Olvera and Kennedy.

Henson was touched for nine safe blows, these coming in the last five innings.

Yankee Steam-Roller Begins To Move In High Gear Again

By CARL LUNDQUIST

United Press Sports Writer

Belatedly, but with the same old devastating force, the Yankee steam-roller is in high gear again, leaving the fans in town after town with their hopes crushed and a feeling that it will be the same old kind of a monotonous pennant race in the American League.

It is an old familiar pattern. Enthusiasm ran high in Cleveland, Detroit, and Chicago as those teams started out brilliantly and dominated the early phase of the race. The Yankees faltered. They couldn't even win at home. Then they launched a western trip in Cleveland and the Indians took the first game.

Boom. The Yankees rebounded to take the next two. On they moved to Detroit where the Tigers were in first place, a completely rejuvenated team from the second division laggards of the last two seasons.

Exporters Lose 8th In Row To Drop Into League Cellar

By UNITED PRESS

Manager Les Fleming of Beaumont was in desperate need Thursday of Shreveport manager Mel McGaha's recipe for breaking a slump.

Fleming's Exporters, after a good start, were in the Texas League cellar after dropping their seventh and eighth straight games Wednesday night, 7 to 0 and 6 to 4, to McGaha's Sports.

Shreveport was almost ruined by a nine-game losing streak earlier this month but now has won seven of its last eight games and moved from seventh into a virtual tie for fourth place.

Ziggy Jasinski singled to drive home Mike Lutz in the third for the only earned run of the game. Tulsa scored its first run in the second. In the nightcap, Mike Lemph of Fort Worth scattered eight hits in going the distance.

Waco Wins To Take Lead In Big State

By UNITED PRESS

Waco nosed into first-place ahead of Tyler Wednesday night, with only six percentage points separating the two teams in the tighter-than-ever Big State League race.

Third-place Corpus Christi is only a half game back, and next comes Austin, a single game behind.

Corpus Christi knocked Tyler out of the first slot with an 11 to 5 victory while Waco was lambasting Harlingen 16 to 5. Bryan downed Temple 7 to 1 and Austin trimmed Galveston 9 to 6 in other games.

Winning pitcher Myron Hoffman took it as a personal chore to turn back Harlingen, and not only turned in an eight-inning performance but banged a double, triple and homer in batting in seven runs in the 16 to 5 victory.

Bullpen catcher Al Point of Temple was thumbed-out of the game with Bryan when a return throw to the pitcher hit an umpire along the first base line in the fifth. Temple manager Fred Martin was also ejected in the fifth inning when he protested a called strike. Bryan was the game 7 to 1 while the short-manned Eagles, to split the two game series.

Firstackner Keith Riddle made his debut with Galveston by slamming out two consecutive homers in the seventh and ninth innings as the Waco Caps were tripped by Austin 9 to 6.

PGA Champ Enters Colonial National

FORT WORTH, May 20—UP—National PGA Champion Walter Burkemo, returned to the 48-player Colonial National Invitation Golf Tournament field Thursday when Jimmy Demarec was forced to withdraw from the May 27-30 tournament.

Burkemo, the Franklin, Mich. better who earlier had withdrawn from the $25,000 tournament because of schedule complications, asked to be reinstated only a short while after officials received Demarec's withdrawal.

Demarec had to drop out of the Palm Beach tournament last week because of illness. He would have been one of only six players who have competed in all previous Colonial tournaments.

DOWN THE LINE — These two long tables (left) were full as the first of an estimated 500 persons of the annual Grandview barbecue started down the lines. Most of the remaining diners can be seen crowded into the doorway of the Grandview school gymnasium, waiting their turns. There were so many different kinds of pie and cake that persons were hard-pressed to make a choice. Two hours later, the tables were bare. (News Photo)

Politicos Just Eat . . . Grandview 'Feed' Is Host To 500

GRANDVIEW — (Special) — An estimated 450-500 persons — farmers, ranchers, politicians, visitors and just plain hungry people — turned out for Grandview's 27th annual barbecue.

It got underway shortly after noon Wednesday in and around the new Grandview school gymnasium and by 2 p. m. there was still many a visitor combing the tables, picking up a last piece of barbecue.

Two long, long tables under the green-blue roof of the Quonset hut gymnasium were loaded down with barbecue, beans, salads, pickles, pies, cakes, spaghetti and all. Nearby was soda pop, coffee and ice cream.

All Free

And it was all free, with the exception of the soda pop and ice cream. The women of the Grandview Parent-Teacher's association — some 30-35 persons — prepared all the trimmings while John Andrews went on one of his traditional 24-hour stands to prepare the calf.

A welcome by County Commissioner and Mrs. Paul Bowers and an invocation by Rufe Jordan started off the two long lines of eaters serving themselves. The school gym was not big enough to hold all the visitors, so many of them took their piled-up plates outside.

Politicians There

Nineteen candidates were introduced. As Bowers called each name, the candidate stepped up on — of all things — a soap box. But none of them got a chance to speak, just to stand up.

In addition to Bowers, Jordan and Andrews, there were H. A. Doggett, A. G. (George) Seitz, Mrs. Crystal Hankhouse, B. R. Nuckols, Miss Ois Gregory, Mrs. Frankie Mae White, J. E. Maguire Jr., Bill Waters, Bruce Parker, Miss Helen M. Sprinkle, Don Cain, Harold Sanderson, W. E. (Bill) Jarvis, L. P. Fort, Charlie Thut and Jack Back.

ICC Refuses To Intervene In RR Battle

WASHINGTON, May 20 — UP — The Interstate Commerce Commission Wednesday refused to step into the bitter proxy battle for control of the New York Central railroad.

It denied the Central management's request for a declaratory order that financier Robert R. Young and his associates could not legally take over control of the great railroad without ICC sanction.

The commission said it "concluded that the interest of justice would not be advanced by the granting of said petitions."

The ICC gave no further reasons for its decision.

The petitions were filed last month by the railroad's present management and by Harold S. Vanderbilt as an individual stockholder.

In arguments before the commission last week, the railroad's attorney urged the ICC to give its ruling before the scheduled meeting of the railroad's stockholders at Albany, N.Y., next Wednesday.

Crash Device Demonstration Proves Worth

NELLIS AIR FORCE BASE, Nev., May 20 — UP — The Spanish air minister got a realistic look at a crash barrier here and saw a jet pilot's life saved by the device.

Fifteen minutes after Lt. Gen. Eduardo Galzarra and his party inspected the barrier Wednesday, an F-86 Sabrejet rammed into it, saving the life of the pilot and causing only minor damage to the plane.

The group, touring the United States at the invitation of Secretary of the Air Force Harold Talbott, had just finished the inspection when Lt. James M. Jordan, 32, Borger, Tex., came in for a landing. His brakes apparently were faulty and he decided to hit the barrier. Jordan rammed into it at 70 miles an hour.

The Spaniards were scheduled to leave Thursday for New York after a five-day visit in the West.

ONE FOR THE MONEY — A record auction price of $100,000 was paid for this bull, Hillcrest Larry 234th, one of the youngest sixes ever to get the Register-of-Merit designation. It was bought by Ralph Fair, of Boerne, Tex. The three-day auction dispersed the famous 650-head herd of Hillcrest Farms, Chester, W. Va., to settle the estate of the late C. A. Smith, the owner. Fair and Mrs. Fair are shown being congratulated by C. A. Smith, Jr.

Death Stay Given Negro

AUSTIN, May 20 — UP — Gov. Allan Shivers Wednesday granted the customary 30-day constitutionally stay of execution to Charles Waymon Barnes, Houston Negro, sentenced to death for the murder of his 11-year-old niece.

The reprieve changes the scheduled date of execution from June 11 to July 11.

Barnes' death sentence was upheld by the Court of Criminal Appeals on April 14.

Hail Damages Crop

CIUDAD CHIHUAHUA, Mexico, May 20 — UP — Serious crop and property damage was caused Wednesday in northern Chihuahua state by heavy hail storms. There was no loss of life.

Reports from the village of Villa Ahumada, between Ciudad Chihuahua and the Texas border, said the hail was so heavy the roofs of about 20 houses were caved in.

He was convicted of slaying his niece, Ella Faye Barnes, on Oct. 6, 1953. The prosecution charged the defendant shot his niece in the head, struck her with a knife, stabbed her with a dagger, beat her with a rolling pin and then placed her body in a bathtub full of water.

The court said Barnes also shot and killed his sister-in-law, Winnie Rachel Barnes, and wounded his brother, E. B. Barnes. However, he was tried only in connection with the slaying of his niece.

Farmer Who Shot Daughter Denied Appeal

AUSTIN, May 20 — UP — The Court of Criminal Appeals Wednesday sustained a death penalty assessed Henry William Meyer, Jackson county farmer convicted of fatally shooting a married daughter.

"The jury saw fit to give the appellant the death penalty and we reverse this case, which has been carefully tried by a prudent and cautious judge," the high court said in an opinion written by Presiding Judge Harry N. Graves.

Meyer was tried for the slaying of his daughter, Mrs. Elsie Yearwood, on June 12, 1953.

The killing took place in Houston at the home of another married daughter, Mrs. Charley Schultz.

Four days earlier Meyer's wife of 43 years had filed a petition for divorce.

Meyer's only defense was that when he was served with the divorce papers he thought the division of property so unfair that his "mind went out of control."

Testimony showed that Meyer forced his way into the Schultz home, shot locks from two doors and as his wife and other members of the family fled, shot his daughter, Elsie, twice.

The defense made no effort to plead insanity, the high court pointed out.
