League Of Women Voters Try New Method For National Convention

Mrs. H. H. Hahn returned late Friday from the League of Women Voters national convention in Denver. Attending the event, were 1,086 delegates, 14 members of the national board and one non-voting representative each from Hawaiian group and the Alaskan league, she advised.

Most of the business under consideration was the League's proposed platform, the by-laws revision, and the two current agenda items, she reported. The national items concern international trade and individual liberties.

A new method was inaugurated to facilitate discussion on business brought before group. Mrs. Hahn pointed-out. The delegates were first divided according to states from which six spokesmen were elected. These delegates were then divided according to sections of about 150 women each, from which 15 representatives were elected. The spokesmen gathered a representative point of view on the business items from their sections to present to the convention.

"In a national convention, we each represent the best interests of all members of the League," explained Mrs. John G. Lee of Farmington, Conn., national president. "The spokesmen function as representatives of the League of Women Voters of the United States."

Among the noted convention speakers were Barbara Ward, former foreign editor of "The London Economist," and noted author and lecturer; and Dr. Peter Ogden, chairman of political science department, University of California, national known authority of his field.

MARIE ROBERTS

Marie Roberts Is Awarded Annual AAUW Scholarship At Sunday Tea

Marie Roberts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Lee Roberts, 335 S. Barnes, was awarded the annual A. A. U. W. scholarship at the association's tea for senior girls and their mothers Sunday afternoon in the City Club room.

"You were chosen because of your participation and leadership, and your service to your school, scholarship and character, and the high esteem of your classmates and teachers," stated Miss Evelyn Milam, president, who made the announcement. Koell Gilpatrick was chosen as alternate.

Last year's recipient was Nancy Adams, who is now attending Texas Technological College, Lubbock. Hostesses for the event were Misses Ernest Lamb, O. M. Frigmore, Perry Gaut, Otis Nace and F. E. Leach, and Miss Helene Huff. Mrs. Roy Sullivan, program chairman, introduced the main speaker, Rev. Porter Brooks, St. Matthew's Episcopal church vicar, who spoke on "The Great Door in Your Life and Mine."

The doors of which Rev. Brooks spoke were the door of memory, the door of temptation, the door of tomorrow and the door of dedication.

"The door of dedication for many is never used," he stated. "It has rusty hinges, but it has a latch on your side. It will not swing silently open as the door of memory; it is not gaudy or beckoning as the door of temptation; you can't see through it like the door of tomorrow. The door is there — if you haven't seen it, find it."

Of the door of tomorrow, he pointed out that many people just look through. "They're window shoppers," he advised. "Don't be afraid to venture forth; to go through the door to invest your life; to expect your money's worth for your investment. If you make something of your life depends, not on his doors made available to you, but if you go through them."

The door of memory sometimes brings back tragic or painful incidents, he said, but the only way to conquer them is to face and relieve them. "When you leave high school, you will have pain and heartaches. Be thankful to let the door of memory swing open."

The gaudy and attractive door is that of temptation, he pointed out. "It beckons us to use our power to exploit other people. Temptation, from a Biblical point of view, is to use other people for our own ends," he explained.

Background piano music was provided, prior to the program, by Miss Eloise Lane, junior high school music teacher. On the program, other than Rev. Brooks, was Mrs. Charlyne Court, who spoke on astrology. Special music was provided by the faculty trio, composed of Mrs. Lonnie Richardson, Miss Evelyn Clayton and Mrs. Kenneth Lanford.

Cake, nuts, and mint punch were served to the group from a table covered with rose satin. White double-daistes in a silver dish comprised the centerpiece. Flanked by silver candelabra with white tapered Mrs. Otis Nace presided at the punch bowl.

Fragrant Spice Cake For Mother's Day

OLD-FASHIONED spice cake, fragrant as those remembered dessert for Mother's Day.

An old-fashioned spice cake, capturing many of the exciting flavors and aromas that made your mother's kitchen one of the most fascinating haunts of childhood, is a perfect dessert for Mother's Day dinner.

Cinnamon and nutmeg from the East Indies, cloves from Madagascar and ginger from Jamaica, plus a luxurious frosting, make this a lovely tribute to Mother.

 Two cups sifted all-purpose flour, 2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg, 1/4 teaspoon ground ginger, 1/2 teaspoon ground clove, 2-3 cup frosting, 1 cup sugar, 1-1/2 cup light molasses, — 2 eggs, unbeat; 1/2 cup milk.

RUTH MILLET

A government official of Queensland, Australia, recently advised citizens it would be perfectly all right to stare at Queen Elizabeth II when she visited there.

He went on to explain: "The queen came to Australia for only one reason, so her people in this country can see her."

"The other point the official didn't make, and that is that the queen is a woman. And what woman in the world, be she queen or clerk who is all dressed up in her best hat and tucker, resents being frankly admired?"

It's a sad day for any woman — when she spends time and effort on making herself look as attractive as possible — and nobody notices.

So, authorities on etiquette to the contrary, it is always in good taste to stare at an attractive woman.

HEART-WARMING WHISTLES
 Even the wolf whistle which women meet with obvious disdain, or pretend to ignore, is not actually resented by women!

It may be theoretically in bad taste, but many a woman has carried her head a little higher all day long because, as she crossed a street on the way to a dull job, some appreciative truck driver gave her a look of open admiration and an approving whistle.

Would a queen ever go on tour if there were no one to stare at her?

And would a working girl go without lurches to buy a dream of a dress if she knew it would never turn a head in her direction?

It would be a sad world for women if the authorities on etiquette ever sold everyone on the idea that it's rude to stare with admiration.

Good Worry-Proof Cheese Souffle

CHEESE SOUFFLE RING, filled with peas and mushrooms, is an ideal dish for a meatless meal. Goes well with cold cuts, too.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
 NEA Food and Markets Editor

When you have sliced cold meat or cold cuts to serve, you can fill out your menu with a tender cheese-souffle ring filled with canned peas and mushrooms or use the souffle for a meatless dinner.

Just try these tricks, and don't be worried about the souffle. Grease the ring mold very well. Set it in a shallow pan of hot water for baking. Eat the souffle the moment it comes out of the oven.

Cheese-Souffle Ring
 (4 servings)
 Three tablespoons butter or margarine, 4 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk, 1/4 cup grated American cheese, 3 eggs, separated, 1/2 teaspoon Tabasco, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1-1/2 pound can peas, 1/2 pound can mushrooms, 3 tablespoons diced pimiento, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper.

Melt butter or margarine; add flour and stir to a smooth paste. Add milk and cook, stirring constantly until mixture thickens and comes to a boil.

Add eggs and stir over low heat until melted.

Remove from heat and cool slightly. Beat in egg yolks one at a time, add Tabasco and salt.

Beat egg whites until stiff. Fold in cheese mixture. Turn into a well-greased 8-cup ring mold. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 50 minutes. Carefully loosen souffle from sides of mold with paring knife. Invert on platter.

While souffle is baking, drain peas and mushrooms. Cook liquid

GRACE FRIEND

Dear Grace Friend,
 I am to be in a June wedding, in which I will be the maid of honor. I would like some specific information as to my duties.

It is a formal church affair with a reception.

I was told some of my duties were to buy the wedding cake and to provide the pillows on which they would kneel on in church.

I am planning to give her a bridal shower also in June. I would also like information regarding the shower, as to what to serve, whom to invite and other ideas you may have.

Thank you so much!
 H. B.

Dear H. B.,
 The bridesmaid's only function in a wedding is to provide the pageantry for the wedding background. The maid of honor usually holds the bride's bouquet during the ceremony and frequently bridesmaids join the bridal couple in the receiving line at the reception.

The bride's parents pay for the wedding and reception expenses including the food served.

The bridesmaids are expected to pay for their costumes which are chosen by the bride. The costumes include frocks the same length as the bride's, shoes which match the dress and gloves and headpiece or hat. The bride's family pays for the bouquets carried by the bridesmaids.

In planning a shower, limit your guest list to close friends of the bride-elect. Do not expect new acquaintances to bring expensive gifts. They usually are articles for the kitchen, linens, lingerie, towels and other useful items depending on the kind of a shower you desire. Showers should never be given by members of the honoree's family.

If the shower is to be a surprise, assemble your guests before your honoree's arrival.

Your menu for the shower will depend on what kind of party you give. A luncheon could include a pretty springtime salad with hot rolls, relishes, salted nuts and a dainty dessert. A dessert party would mean that you would just serve dessert with coffee and, if you wish, nuts or candies.

You can find many pretty place-cards for showers. When you have purchased them, choose your flowers to carry out the same theme. Often flowers for showers are lily-of-the-valley or in the favorite colors of the bride-elect, or even in the colors the bride has chosen for her wedding.

COLUMBIA, Mo., April 30 — UP — Women's news has a "new look," Elizabeth Toomey, United Press feature writer, said Friday in a speech given before the Missouri Journalists' Press Club.

Editorial, recognize that business, politics and world affairs are women's news now too, Miss Toomey said.

"Women outnumber the men voters in this country and women control more than 70 per cent of the savings of this nation," she said in a speech given as part of the annual journalism week program at the University of Missouri Journalism school.

"You cannot put a picket fence around women's interests. It may be the price of coffee in Brazil or the threat of war in Indo-China, but American women want to know how these things affect them and their families."

The United Press has added a new women's section to its mailed nature service and more information to women's features with around-the-world datelines, to meet the needs of modern women newspaper readers, Miss Toomey said.

Manners Make Friends

If you want a child to behave well when you have guests, it is wise to hit a happy medium between ignoring the child and making him the center of attraction. If you ignore him completely, he may start misbehaving in order to get your attention. If you make him the center of attraction, he'll be tempted to show off.

Try making him feel that he shares your responsibility for making the guest welcome.

Show-Off Rhubarb Pie

Feature tart spring rhubarb in this elegant Show-Off Rhubarb Pie.

The season's best-like fruits attain even greater reputation when served in crisply tender pastry shells. Pies have been favorite desserts for ages. Your family will sing new praises when you bring on a generous wedge of this mellow rhubarb pie as the finale for a spring luncheon. If you choose, top the cuts of pie with a fluff of whipped cream. Let everyone-in-turn—the nutmeg grinder, freshly ground nutmeg atop the whipped cream tastes grand.

To make your pie a real production, perfect your art of making flaky pastry. You'll want to follow your favorite recipe for pastry to the letter. Work quickly with the pastry, but do not overmix. Use ice-cold water to sprinkle over the flour-shortening mixture. Chilling the dough before you roll it out is another aid for flaky pastry.

You'll appreciate the fact that when you bake with enriched flour, your family is getting three essential B vitamins and food iron at no extra cost. Enriched flour is also a low-cost source of plant proteins.

When spring days are filled to the hilt and baking time is short, select a golden-crust fruit pie from the bake shop. They are tempting fare when served with cups of steaming hot coffee.

SHOW-OFF RHUBARB PIE

 1/4 cups sifted enriched flour

Fill with Rhubarb Filling. Roll out remaining pastry 1/4-inch thick and cut into strips about 1 inch wide. Arrange over filling to form star design. Trim and lette edges. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) 15 minutes. Reduce to a moderate oven (350° F.) and bake 30 minutes longer.

Humphrey Versus Humphrey: They Help Korea's Orphans

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D., Minn.) has become pretty bothered over being mistaken by his new per-reading constituents for Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey. Probably the other way around, too.

Explaining this situation on the Senate floor, he declared: "The subject to which I address myself is entitled, 'Humphrey vs. Humphrey.'"

"I believe I should be able to speak with some authoritative information on this subject, in view of the fact that my family name is involved." The two Humphreys are not related.

Sen. Albert Gore (D., Tenn.) got right to the heart of Humphrey's worries. "The able senator from Minnesota has said it is becoming increasingly necessary to point out the difference and distinction between the two honorable Messrs. Humphrey. I wonder if he would elaborate on why it becomes increasingly necessary. Might it be that November is approaching nearer and nearer?"

"I do not mean that the other Humphrey should stay out of the headlines," Humphrey replied. "But I do not like the kind of headlines he gets. This Humphrey has to run for office and go forth to face the people. The other Humphrey does not."

"I cannot help but wonder: Can this be the Republican Party's new secret weapon to try and unseat this Humphrey next fall?"

Sen. J. Glenn Beall (R., Md.) then proposed openly: "I wonder if we might call this the open season on Humphreys?"

Young Russians are having their troubles with love, according to "The Listener's Mailbag," a people's opinion program broadcast by Radio Moscow's home service.

Monitoring of this program reveals that one student has written in to say that love and friendship "are still inadequately discussed in Communist literature, the theater and radio."

This student was also disturbed to find that "there are people among us who consider friendship and love their personal affairs, which in no way concern society. Capitalistic influences in love were the problems of another student who wrote in that, 'The formation of the moral contentance of Soviet man does not take place without a struggle against survival of the capitalistic part in the consciousness of certain individuals.'"

What makes this situation really serious, the letter concludes, is that "instability in life gives rise to political instability."

Eighty-nine million dollars

Shamrock Lions Rodeo Is May 7-9

SHAMROCK (Special) — Shamrock residents are trading their donkeys and green hats for boots, lewis and hats with the cowboy crease. May 7 to 9 are the dates set for the first annual Shamrock Stampede sponsored by the Lion's club.

A featured attraction at the rodeo will be an all-girl mounted quadrille, sponsored by the Will Rogers Range Riders of Amarillo.

These girls, mounted on beautiful and well-trained quarter horses, will present a colorful and intricate square dance routine. This is one of the newest and most spectacular of all attractions in the rodeo field.

Prizes Galore

Trophies for contestants include hand-made boots, nickel-plated buckles, and more than a thousand dollars in prize money. The boots will go to the champion all-around cowboy. To be eligible a contestant must be entered in three events. Buckles will be given to the winner in each event with the exception of the wild cow milking. A split of $50, $50 and $20 will be made for each round of the five men's events: calf roping, ribbon roping, saddle and bareback bronco riding and bull riding. Twenty-five dollars will be added to the entry fees in the wild cow milking and the girls sponsor contest.

A new twist in the girls sponsor contest will add interest for both the spectator and the contestant. Following a round of usual clover-leaf barrel race, the second round will be a "Powder-Puff Parade." Each contestant will circle three barrels, dismount, powder her nose, remount and ride to the finish line.

Four Performances

The Stampede will open at 8 p.m. Friday, May 7. Two shows will be staged Saturday, with a matinee at 2 p.m. and an evening performance at 8 o'clock. Sunday's matinee beginning at 2 p.m. will round out the rodeo. Tom Harlan of Kallerville will furnish the stock. Gilford Nolan of Shamrock will be the rodeo announcer and Ty Mills of Shamrock and Pampa has been named as arena director. Much conditioning work at the arena has been done by the Lions since the opening of the arena. The arena has been given careful attention to assure the comfort and convenience of all attending. Admission at the arena box office will be $1.00 for adults and 50 cents for children. Prices for box seats are 75 cents for each seat or $4.00 per box, each contains six chairs.

Star's Japanese-English For Tokyo Golfing Girls

Gorofuing Geisha Gerus

By EDWARD R. KENNEDY
NEA Special Correspondent
TOKYO — (NEA) — The 19th hole for top-ranking golf enthusiasts in Japan is not a locker room or club bar. It's an elegant geisha house.

And the graceful geisha girls, who traditionally sing of love and cherry blossoms as they strum a samisen or flutter a fan, have added a chorus about tee shots and Ben Hogan while they swing the mitsun like a club.

It's been a long established custom in Japan that big business and political deals are settled behind the scenes at fabulously expensive "machie" parties in secluded geisha houses.

The girls are talented entertainers and hostesses known as "karyukai" — the world of flowers and willows — and an important part of their trade is the ability to carry on intelligent conversation with the wealthy customers, yet keep discreetly silent about state secrets.

Naturally, as golf has soared in popularity for the well-to-do class, the uptodate geisha broadened her repertoire to include this very un-geishalike game. Dressed in a neat, Western-style suit or sweater and skirt, she often spends an afternoon at the Birdie Club, located in downtown Tokyo not a six iron shot from the American Embassy.

Here she can practice on what is probably the world's shortest driving range — 30 yards. More important, she can watch and listen to Japanese businessmen and politicians who take long lunch hours to improve their game.

Back in her own environment, clad in kimono and towering wig, she spices the sake and sushi service to her patron by dropping into the conversation such pidgin English phrases as "u shoto" and "hori in won on gurin" or "pa shoto 300 yado." This, in the language of "gorofu," means tee shot, hole in one on the green or par shot of 300 yards.

TOKYO-STYLE 19TH HOLE is geisha tea house, where Harue (left) and Kanoko, back in their traditional kimonos and wig, regale a customer with the language of that game called "gorofu."

Physicist Trades Laboratory For Episcopal Church Vows

By JIM WARTERS
OAK RIDGE, Tenn., May 3 — UP — A 42-year-old physicist who helped create the atomic bomb solemnly took the vows of the Episcopal priesthood Saturday to fight the "battle for man's mind."

"Thank God for the man who is becoming a priest today," said the Rt. Rev. Edmund P. Dandridge in the sermon of confirmation for Dr. William G. Pollard.

Even as a priest, Dr. Pollard plans to continue as director of the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies. He said he decided to enter the ministry not from a sense of guilt because of the destructive force he had helped create but because he believes religion goes deeper than science.

Wife Swayed Him

The new priest was ordained in a two-hour service at St. Stephens Church, an edifice he helped build with his own hands in 1947 after his wife swayed him back to the faith he had neglected during his intense studies.

McCarthy Sees 'Red'

BURLINGTON, Wis., May 3 — UP — Sen. Joseph McCarthy told a May Day loyalty rally Saturday that Britain's decision to extend credit to Russia should "make any loyal American see red."

McCarthy and Sen. Alexander H. Wiley, Wisconsin's two Republican senators, spoke at a "May Day, U. S. Way" celebration in which this village of 4,700 paid tribute to the Constitution and Bill of Rights.

McCarthy said Britain's announcement that she is extending $50 million credit to Russia "made me sick, way down deep."

Movie Stars Drawn To Night Clubs By Fat Paycheck Lure

By ALINE MOBBY
HOLLYWOOD, May 3 — UP — Hollywood stars with an eye on fat paychecks are invading the night-club field, with customers soon able to get even Esther Williams and Fernando Lamas with their steaks and scotch.

Comedians, dancers and seasoned singers used to be the veteran entertainers in bistros. But in the day of fewer movie jobs the stars are whipping up acts and braving the saloon circuit.

Esther, minus a pool or bathing suit, plans to show she can do something besides a sidestroke when she opens at Sahara Hotel in Las Vegas next summer. The gambling city is offering tempting money to any movie name that can offer a good routine.

Mae West, Terry Moore, Lamas, Jeff Chandler and opera star Helen Traubel are working up acts. Keefe Brasselle, Van Johnson, Kathryn Grayson, Howard Keel, Shelley Winters and Sonja Henie already have made nightclub debuts in Las Vegas.

Two enterprising filmowners who are cashing in on the trend are Earl Brent, who writes nightclub acts, and Buddy Bregman, a music arranger. They specialize in Europe for actors who are setting their feet in saloons for the first time.

"After an actor comes to us, it takes a week to know each other," Brent explained. "During that time we talk to the person to find out what he can do."

"We've turned down some acts because of their mental attitude. They ask you to write material, but then they start telling you how it should be done. After a long drawn-out fight they do what they want and it's embarrassing when they open in a club."

One of their recent accomplishments was a nightclub routine for Kent Taylor, the "Boston Blackie" of television, who had "never opened his mouth to sing before."

Brent also wrote the night club act for Jane Powell while Bregman is in demand as an arranger for such entertainers as Joanne Gilbert, Kay Thompson, Van Johnson, Joel Gray and Anna Maria Alberghetti.

"A star no longer can get up in a club and sing 'Indian Love Call,'" said Brent. "Their name is a drawing card, but they have to have talent and a good routine."

Not every movie queen can be turned into a thundering success in a club, however, he added. "Some of them just don't have the courage to get up there," he said.

George Sanders on his song-writing: "I wrote one song, 'When You Make Love.' It had absolutely no merit at all. I've passed over that phase of my life, anyhow."

Tala Birell, the German model who was given a Garbo build-up in Hollywood in the late '30s, is helping to stage G.I. shows with the Army's special service in Germany. Tom Neal, who made all those headlines with Barbara Payton, is said to have joined the Evanston, Ill., police force.

A movie star, telling a story to her little boy, said: "Once upon a time there was a daddy bear, a mother bear and a baby bear — by her first marriage."

The proceedings were directed by a man named Klaus Landeberg, who was everywhere at once.

He supervised the make-up — three shades darker than fill in make-up — checked the brown lips (they had to be brown, he said, because of the lights), lined up the cameras, warned everyone to "keep it informal," then rearranged the sets and the lights and the cameras.

There were two cameras. One for close-ups. Another for long shots. There was a big green light on each camera, to indicate "On the Air."

There was a living-room set for my interview with Diana. "Just sit and talk like you were at home," Landeberg said.

The test pattern with the recorded music went on the air for a half hour. (It took people a half hour to tune in their sets in 1944.)

During the entire half hour Landeberg turned one of his cameras on a title card giving the station's call letters. It was then that the shapely legs of Preston Sturges' secretary, Jean LaVell — made their debut by mistake. Jean walked right between the lens, which was close to the floor, and the camera card. "Oh, no," yelled Landeberg.

Jean blushed, and then almost knocked over a panel of lights in her confusion.

The Landeberg disappeared into the control room and a young lady shoved Johnson and Miss Lynn into a couple of chairs on the living-room set.

Then, the green-eyed camera blinked, and the soundman gave us a cue to start talking. We talked about Diana's movies and

IN TRADITIONAL GEISHA DRESS, "karyukai" girls Kanoko-san (left) and Harue-san giggle over a golf club at Tokyo's Birdie Club. They don't really want to play the game; they just want to be able to talk about it to their customers.

JOHNSON IN HOLLYWOOD

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

"HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Looking backward at TV: The song lyric says, 'There's a difference a day makes.' But what a difference 10 years make. Wow!"

As a TV museum piece, I'm reprinting a column today I wrote in 1944, when I made my television debut as a gag.

Television — in 1944: Why, sure!

Here's the column:

"Television," the man said, "is here." Why didn't I give it a try? It was a challenge of things to come in this world of tomorrow everybody is talking about. So, with a silly grin and my lips painted brown, I made my debut on television on channel 4-78-84Mc Station WXXTZ — Paramount Television Productions, Hollywood, Calif.

It was lots of fun.

Especially when the very trim legs of Preston Sturges' secretary, Jean LaVell, made their debut on television — by mistake. More about that later.

The program (the entire evening's program) read:

Test Pattern — Recorded Music — 8 p.m.

Erskine Johnson Interviews Diana Lynn — 8:30 p.m.

The Miracle of Morgan's Creek, told by Preston Sturges with Mirles from the Paramount picture 8:45 p.m.

The proceedings were directed by a man named Klaus Landeberg, who was everywhere at once.

He supervised the make-up — three shades darker than fill in make-up — checked the brown lips (they had to be brown, he said, because of the lights), lined up the cameras, warned everyone to "keep it informal," then rearranged the sets and the lights and the cameras.

Solon Asks Pension For All Over 70

By REX CHANEY

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Rep. John W. Byrnes (R-Wis.) proposed Saturday that the government begin paying 500-a-month old-age pensions to all retired persons over 70 regardless of need.

Under existing law, as well as under President Eisenhower's program for liberalizing the social security act, retired persons over 65 draw old-age insurance benefits only if they have paid social security taxes for at least a year and a half.

But Byrnes suggested that persons over 70 be paid old-age insurance benefits regardless of whether they have paid social security taxes and regardless of need. He said this plan would enable the federal government to get out of the field of making contributions to state or financial aid to the needy aged.

Byrnes had no estimate of the number of persons over 70 who would draw the benefits. But social security experts estimated the number at around 4 million.

The Wisconsin legislator expects to offer his proposal as an amendment to legislation recommended by Mr. Eisenhower liberalizing the social security act. The House Ways and Means committee has completed hearings on the President's recommendations and will start working on details of it in secret sessions next week.

Rep. Robert W. Keon (R-N.J.), a supporter of the President's program, predicted that the committee will reject Byrnes' proposal and approve the President's recommendations without substantial change. Mr. Eisenhower's program has strong Democratic as well as Republican support.

The President asked that Congress extend old-age insurance coverage to some 10 million persons not now covered, including farmers, some farm workers, doctors, lawyers, dentists, and other small groups. He also recommended that the minimum old-age insurance benefit be increased from $25 to $30 a month. The maximum benefit for a retired worker would be increased from $85 to $108.50, and the maximum for a family from $168.75 to $190.

Byrnes conceded that he doesn't have much hope of getting his proposal approved by the Ways and Means committee. He said he expects a committee to agree substantially on the program proposed by the President.

Hall & Pinson Has Wright Air Conditioners And Service

Hall & Pinson, one of the oldest evaporative air condition dealers in Pampa, offers the complete line of Wright air conditioners and services. The Wright and all other air-conditioners. For the past nine years, Raymond Hall, operator of Hall & Pinson, 700 W. Foster, has been selling and servicing all types of evaporative conditioners. Servicing is stressed at Hall & Pinson. The firm services everything it sells.

A strong business principal is this: buy appliances only from a dealer who offers complete service. Hall and Pinson, in line with its policy of servicing everything it sells, offers complete service on any and all evaporative air conditioners. And Hall & Pinson is one of the few evaporative air conditioner-dealers in Pampa to offer complete service on all types of coolers.

A feature of Hall & Pinson's service is this: It carries a complete line of pumps, tubing, connections and other parts and accessories.

Raymond Hall, who has been studying evaporative air conditioners for many years, works only with trained men to repack and repair coolers.

The work must be done quickly and accurately, Hall declared. In Spring people want their coolers, and they want the machines to work right. Our object is to see that the machines are right.

Because we take care of each cooler conscientiously we know that each one leaves us in good condition, and each owner knows he can depend on his conditioner for many months of comfort and pleasure.

One of the most efficient and most popular of the Wright Evaporative Air Conditioners is the Window View House Cooler model, neat, effective, compact.

The models range from small ones designed to cool just one room or a house trailer, to those made to air condition large residences and businesses.

The Wright Air Conditioners, of which Hall & Pinson offers the complete line, include more than 30 different styles and models to satisfy every conceivable cooler need.

The models range from small ones designed to cool just one room or a house trailer, to those made to air condition large residences and businesses.

Service Cleaners Has Same Name, Same Location 15 Years

Service Cleaners, one of the important business firms in Pampa, has progressed step by step with Pampa, has improved and modernized its cleaning methods, yet has maintained the same name and same location for more than 15 years.

Oliver Jonas, owner, who has been associated with Service Cleaners for 10 years, points to the high quality of work, dependability, interest in good service as some of the reasons Pampa people have patronized Service Cleaners for so many years.

Service Cleaners is located at 312 S. Cuyler; telephone 4-9781.

Another feature the firm has added recently: Gunns Brothers stamps. Giving the stamps is an "extra" added to the regular Service Cleaners savings: the lowest possible price.

The firm follows this policy: clean and press clothes, brush furniture covers right; keep prices as low as possible; do the work as quickly as possible.

Many times it is necessary to reclean garments, dresses, furniture covers to make sure they are just right. That is just part of the care Service Cleaners takes of the work the firm does.

Workers consider that care routine because of their interest in having garments cleaned properly and in keeping patrons satisfied. The policy has held many customers for more than a decade and has won many new friends.

"We encourage Gunns to tell us about spots that may be on garments to be cleaned for this reason," Jonas said, "often a spot that can be removed easily, quickly before the garment is cleaned can harden into the material during the cleaning and pressing process."

If Service Cleaners knows of the spots - particularly those that don't "show" - the firm will clean the materials "like new."

Of course the firm is organized to handle all garments promptly, efficiently, to avoid delays to have the work done right and on schedule.

"That is an essential part of the high quality work, dependability, interest in good service, the policy which has kept Service Cleaners at 312 S. Cuyler for more than 15 years.

Queen Reunited With Children

TOBRUK, May 3 — Queen Elizabeth II, monarch and mother, clasped her three-year-old Princess Anne in her arms for the first time Saturday in almost six months.

For almost three hours before the queen was reunited with her children, she was within sight of the royal yacht where they were waiting but official duties kept her from seeing them.

The first embrace of mother and children was in private on the deck of the yacht Britannia, which brought the children here. However, reports said that it was one of the most enthusiastic receptions the queen has received on her 50,000 commonwealth tour.

Three years ago, the queen, who was then Princess Elizabeth, returned from a lengthy tour of Canada to find that Princess Charles had left her. He withdrew from her at their first public meeting as though she were a stranger.

Princess Charles and Princess Anne apparently kept their mother in the dark about the matter.

The Britannia sailed out of Tobruk harbor for Malta shortly after Elizabeth went aboard.

GOP County Committee Meets

Bill Smith, Dumas, GOP district commissioner, was in Pampa Friday night for a meeting of the Gray county GOP executive committee, according to Don M. Conley, county chairman. It was the first such meeting in months.

Main items discussed were the actual filing of papers by LeRoy (Pete) LaMaster, Perryton, candidate for U. S. representative, and the ordering of supplies for the GOP primary July 24. Conley reported. Each precinct chairman will make his own arrangements for the primary.

THE MARQUEE BY DICK KLEINER

The Record Shop! In a chatty letter postmarked Glasgow, Nat "King" Cole tells about his European tour. He's rocking the British Isles as expected.

The reaction of the audiences and their knowledge of my recordings is fantastic," Nat writes. "The teen-agers react just like our youngsters. Records over here are really beginning to take over. The fans are going through a period America went through in '42, when the singers started to get popular."

A week of Nat in Scotland and all the clans will be wearing zoot kilts.

Bowing on RCA is singer Al Wallis. His first record, "No Love Will Be Real," was written by three Mutual Broadcasting System employees — producer Larry Dorn, engineering supervisor Gene Clark and engineer Mac Benoit.

Shouldn't an engineer's song be played on the slide rule?

Through the kind cooperation of Lu Ann Simms, the baseball player-turned singer, we will consider the matter of high finances in the record business.

"Take Miss Simms, which is a pleasant thought at that. Her records for Columbia records. Her latest is the cute "Bang, Bang, Boom."

A record company, like Columbia, charges an artist, like Lu Ann, for each recording session. The artist must pay for the orchestra, the arrangement, the time, the whole business. It runs somewhere around $1500 a session — two slides.

"I don't actually have to hand over that money," Lu Ann says. "It's carried on the books, and deducted from my royalties. Some singers go for years without making any money — if their royalties don't cover the cost of their sessions. Sometimes one big record comes along and the company keeps all the money to collect for back loss the artist owes."

The artist does get a flat sum for each recording, of course. That's usually somewhere around 100 for each side. But it's only the big stars with the big-selling records who make the big money.

"About Lu Ann and baseball — it seems the diamonds that are her best friends are baseball diamonds. She's going to throw out the first ball this season in her home town, Rochester, N.Y. And she's looking forward to a good year catching for the Columbia Records softball team. Unless she's through."

"Honest, I feel so old," she says. "I'm going to be 22."

RCA's Ames Brothers remember, not so long ago, when they appeared in suits with patches on them. Now they each sport, among other wardrobe items, five trousers. That's what's called singing for your soup and fish.

Dick's Picks: Vocal groups to the fore — the Gaylords, "Tears of a Clown" (RCA); The Four Lads, "Oh, That's Be Joyful"

(Columbia) the Four Knights, "I Was Meant for You" (Capitol); the Hi-Los, "They Didn't Believe Me" (Trend); "Also good: "Untill Yesterday" (Tony Bennett, Columbia); "Three Coins in the Fountain" (Marti Stevens, MGM); "Don't Worry About Me" (Frank Sinatra, Capitol); "Jole John" (Felicia Sanders, Columbia); "Dance My Heart" (Ray Anthony, Capitol).

In the album field, Capitol's Classics in Jazz series has some real good stuff by Duke Ellington, Billy Butterfield and Benny Goodman. plus a jam session led by Eddie Condon. Also jazzy is Columbia's "When the Saints Go Marching In" with the exciting Turk Murphy outfit. Clef gets into the jazz act with good new albums featuring Count Basie's Big Band, the Roy Eldridge Quintet and the Lionel Hampton Quartet.

Angel, on the classics, has issued a polished reproduction of some of Beethoven's most impressive works — Daphnis and Chloé, Suites 1 and 2, and Alborada del Gracioso, played by France's Orchestra of the greatest of Beethoven's "deaf period," the Sonatas No. 2 in C-Minor and No. 2 in G-Major, come from Columbia with Robert Casadesu at the piano and Zino Francescatti on the violin.

"That new car must have cost plenty, Dad! I'd like to help out with part of my allowance—and you could give me a partner!"

BICUSPID PLOWING—Andre Le Gall, of Saint-Malo, France, isn't trying to get rid of an aching molar. The 53-year-old farmer is merely showing skeptics in the crowd that he can plow up a field by pulling the farm implement with his teeth.

Local Druggist Offers Free Pomade For Hair

In keeping with the present day trend toward unusual hair cuts which necessitate good grooming, local Pampa druggists are making an unusual offer, while their supply lasts.

Anyone calling at Wilson Drug, 300 S. Cuyler, with a copy of a certain ad in today's paper, will receive, absolutely free and without any obligation whatsoever, a one-ounce jar of L. B. Pomade, the famous product used for many years in Hollywood motion picture studios to achieve the extra special grooming required by film work.

This offer is good only as long as the supply lasts so readers of The Pampa Daily News are urged to hurry into Wilson Drug and get their jar of L. B. Pomade.

Shamrock Chooses Date For First Homecoming

SHAMROCK — (Special) — A tentative date for the first annual homecoming of the ex-students of Shamrock high school was set for August 6 and 7. The date was chosen at an officers meeting of the association held in the Dixie Cafe Blue Room.

Questionnaires are being mailed to more than 1400 ex-students. One of the questions is a choice of the date for the reunion. The date will be positively set when a sufficient number of the forms are returned.

Dues have been set at $1.00 to cover the cost of postage and expenses of the homecoming. Any ex-student may join the association by paying his dues to Jack Roach, treasurer, at the F. and M. bank in Shamrock.

Committee chairmen for the homecoming are Lyman Benson, membership; Winfred Lewis, program; Bobby Purcell, housing; Mrs. Amie H. Lyle and Mrs. Harry Clay, registration; C. G. Cantrell, Mrs. Frank Going, food and Mrs. Winfred Lewis, open house.

A general meeting of all members is scheduled for May 7 at the Dixie cafe. Each ex-student is urged to bring a list of his class with as many addresses as he knows. It is hoped that a cross filing of the lists will complete the rolls.

City Barn May Get Bleachers

Gray County commissioners Saturday morning named a five-man committee to investigate and make recommendations on the erection of bleachers in Recreation park's, dual-purpose barn.

Meeting for their customary first-day-of-the-month session, commissioners also paid the monthly bills and authorized a small additional amount for the purchase of steel on two bridges now being constructed in the county, according to County Judge J. B. McGuire Jr.

Next meeting of the court is scheduled for 10 a.m. May 10.
