Army Counsel Is Accused Of Aiding Security Risks

Charge Is Made By Army Captain

WASHINGTON, April 29—UP—Army Counselor John G. Adams was accused Thursday of once asking Maj. Gen. Kirk B. Lawton to withdraw a recommendation that some Fort Monmouth "security risks" be fired.

The charge was made in a written statement by Capt. Joseph E. Corr, aide to Lawton, who is commander of Fort Monmouth.

Ray H. Jenkins, special counsel for the Senate investigating subcommittee, said the statement was written Thursday morning in the presence of Lawton and with the approval of Lawton.

Jenkins used Corr's statement in questioning Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens at the 11th session of the Army-McCarthy hearings.

Heading from the Corr statement, Jenkins asked Stevens if he was aware that Adams had asked Lawton if he "could see his way clear to remove (recommendations) that persons at Fort Monmouth be suspended as security risks."

According to the Corr statement, as read by Jenkins, Lawton replied: "I will not. Let the secretary (Stevens) take the responsibility."

Fort Monmouth, commanded by Lawton, is one of the Army's chief radar development centers. Techniques and equipment perfected there are of great importance to the country's system of early warning against possible A-bomb or H-bomb attack.

"Nifty Far from Truth"
As Thursday's session opened, Army special counsel Joseph N. Welch told the subcommittee that Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) had strayed "far from the truth" Wednesday by indicating Lawton was threatened with reprisal for praising the senator.

McCarthy, as permanent chairman of the subcommittee, had investigated alleged Communist infiltration at the radar center, and Stevens had charged he gave an "unfair" picture of the situation there.

Welch cited McCarthy's statements Wednesday about conversations concerning Lawton, which (See ARMY, Page 4)

Under questioning however, he said disingenuously that he had never discussed treatment of the Army of a man he referred to as this private.

The private is G. David Schine, central figure in the controversy between Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and the Army.

He was asked what, as a former commanding general of the Army, he thought of all the excitement in the Senate over Private Schine.

The President said he declined to talk at all about something which he did not think he should discuss and something which he hoped would be concluded quickly.

Up to now these efforts have been snaggled on Bao Dai's refusal to negotiate with representatives of Red Indo-Chinese leader Ho Chi-Minh. Russia had refused to agree to any conference from which Ho's representatives were excluded.

Bao Dai yielded on the point after U.S. Ambassador to Viet Nam, Donald Heath, and two high French officials had flown to Cannes to apply pressure to the reluctant Indo-Chinese ruler.

Paris reports said Bao Dai finally agreed to send a delegation to Geneva. An official announcement of the decision was promised soon.

Hix Files For JP Post
W. V. Hix, candidate for justice of the peace in Lettors late this morning filed his formal intention with Bob Baker, secretary of the Democratic county executive committee.

He is the third man formally in the race. Others who have filed are W. R. Combs and Bill Kennedy. Incumbent E. A. Vance has never publicly announced his intentions, but it is thought that he will sit this race out.

Second Nomination Try
Yarborough Opposes Shivers

AUSTIN, April 29—UP—Attorney Ralph Yarborough, who opposed Gov. Allan Shivers in the Democratic primary race of 1952, announced Thursday he will be a candidate again this year.

"I shall be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor of Texas in 1954," the 51-year-old former district judge said.

Having been through a campaign in 1952, I know the financial and family sacrifices involved in fighting the machine in control of the government of Texas. It would be easier and far more pleasant to spend these next few months in peace and quiet at home with my family, but I believe with Abraham Lincoln that to sin by silence when they should make protest, makes cowards of men." Shivers announced last week he would seek re-election to an unprecedented third term in office.

One other candidate has formally filed for the primary race — J. J. Holmes, a 47-year-old Austin electrical contractor.

House Speaker Reuben E. Setzer, of San Saba indicated earlier he would be a gubernatorial candidate, but recent continued silence on his plans has left the question in doubt.

Yarborough, as an unannounced candidate, has lambasted the Shivers' administration since the 1952 race.

He has maintained a steady silence when they should make

Has Dashing Name International Air Squadron Being Formed To Aid French

TETERBORO, N. J., April 29—UP—Pilots rushing to sign up here Thursday in a "don't give a damn" squadron to aid drop supplies to the embattled French in Indo-China ranged all the way from a Wall Street stock broker to a Canadian soldier of fortune.

The big drawing card was a $25,000 annual salary. Some also said they didn't want Indo-China to fall to the Communists.

The pilots are being recruited for an unnamed American airline by the Pilots Employment Agency here. They get a $10,000 life insurance policy, have been warned to "expect death if shot down" behind Red lines.

Edward Binder, manager of the agency, said calls were pouring in from all over the world.

"We received a cable from a pilot in the Philippines, a call from another pilot in the Panama Canal Zone and a Canadian called and said he had 30 pilots all ready to go," Binder said.

Even an old infantryman volunteered his services.

One American applicant, New York stockbroker Richard S. Johnson, 35, said he volunteered because "we can't permit Indo-China to fall to the Communists."

"We've got to stop them there or fight them on some hill in Indiana," Johnson said. "If I don't go now, I'll go later and I think I can be of some help at the present time."

The President went on to say at his weekly news conference that he knows the "Mr. Atom" of World War II and certainly admires and respects his technical ability.

But this, he added, is the kind of thing that must be gone through with.

Oppenheimer is being investigated by a personnel security board of the Atomic Energy Commission on charges respecting his truthfulness, loyalty, and conduct.

Pending completion of the inquiry, by President Eisenhower's order Dr. Oppenheimer has been stripped of his federal security clearance and has been denied access to secret atomic and hydrogen information.

The President objected first to the technique adding an amendment to the appropriations legislation.

As to the specific proposal he called it an artificial restriction which could not fail to damage the flexibility needed by a chief executive to deal with a fluid international situation.

As for the prospects of this country becoming involved in combat in Indo-China, Mr. Eisenhower repeated that the United States will not get into a war except through a declaration of war by Congress.

However, he said that until now this government had upheld the terms of the mutual assistance pact by providing technical assistance and equipment to the French in Indo-China. That, he said, is as far as we have gone.

He declined to speculate on the future because of the Geneva meeting which he hoped, he said, would arrive at some practical basis for getting along in the Far East without war.

Anti-Polio Tests Going Smoothly
By UNITED PRESS
The nationwide test of the Salk anti-polio vaccine was running smoothly Thursday.

The inoculations were given to children in 83 counties in 27 states Wednesday and more areas started Thursday, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis said.

The percentage of eligible children getting the shots ranged between 78 and 90 per cent, the foundation said.

A spot check showed that the shots produced no after-effects in the children beyond a few cases of light fever that lasted for an hour or two.

Hundreds of thousands of school children were getting either the vaccine or a harmless injection to provide a "control group" to test the new drug this week.

Schine Draft File Locked Up
SACRAMENTO, Calif., April 29—UP—Col. K. H. Leitch, California Selective Service director, has locked up the draft file on Pvt. G. David Schine for "safekeeping."

Leitch said he locked up the file on his own volition because he had the responsibility for maintaining the confidence of the file.

Two Hurt In Wreck
A 29-year-old White Deer woman was in Highland General hospital here today, recovering from injuries received in an automobile accident Wednesday.

The condition of Mrs. Opal M. Kuykendall was reported by hospital authorities this morning as fair.

Mrs. Kuykendall was injured when the car she was driving collided with a pickup truck, driven by Conlin Kenneth Thornton, 34, Simola, at an intersection on a county road, 11.4 miles southwest of Pampa, according to highway patrolmen.

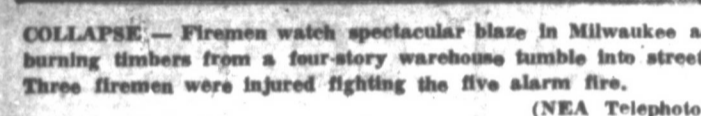

The Kuykendall car was being driven north while the truck was traveling west. Both vehicles were demolished, officers said.

Both Mrs. Kuykendall and Thornton were taken to Kelley clinic here by private conveyance and Mrs. Kuykendall was later hospitalized. Thornton was taken to a Borger hospital for treatment.

French Post Endangered

HANOI, April 29—UP—Communist troops drove Thursday to within 50 yards of an isolated French outpost where "several" battalions of French Union troops have been cut off from the main Dien Bien Phu garrison.

The artillery outpost, "Isabelle," lies three miles south of the main fortress of Dien Bien Phu and commands the route between the main French Union forces and a 6,000-strong loyal column poised at Muong Khous, 25 miles away.

The black-uniformed Communist assault squads swept forward to within easy hand grenade range after an intense artillery barrage hammered the outpost without let-up for three days and nights.

The French high command cautioned against speculation that the French relief column to the south would strike northeast to relieve Dien Bien Phu, but jungle-fox Red Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap appeared to be taking no chances of letting the Dien Bien Phu garrison slip through his fingers.

If the Communist general is able to capture Isabelle, guarded by the French Union battalions and some tanks, he will win an important height on which to emplace his heavy artillery and big mortars to bar the southern road leading to Laos.

The President objected first to the technique adding an amendment to the appropriations legislation.

As to the specific proposal he called it an artificial restriction which could not fail to damage the flexibility needed by a chief executive to deal with a fluid international situation.

As for the prospects of this country becoming involved in combat in Indo-China, Mr. Eisenhower repeated that the United States will not get into a war except through a declaration of war by Congress.

Conference Highlights
WASHINGTON, April 29—UP—President Eisenhower's news conference highlights:

Mr. Eisenhower said a completely trustworthy peace seems to be still over the horizon but the United States will continue to work toward it because we all know what loss of the southeast Asia area to the Reds would mean to the rest of the world.

The administration does not mean to minimize the danger to American security where the problem of Communists in government exists, if at all. It is alert to doing all it can to weed out any which may be found.

The President still believes the over-riding issue of the 1954 congressional campaign will be whether the Republican administration in its first two years has enacted a program good for the entire country or whether it has dilly-dallied. For his own part, Mr. Eisenhower expects to do some traveling, talk about the program he submitted to Congress, what was done about it and what he sees for the future. But he will not campaign or participate in any local election contests.

No defense is ever completely adequate, but we are working on a continental defense program which he believes will provide what (See CONFERENCE, Page 4)

Hay Fever Victims Form Organization

By WARD CANNEL
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Dig down, brother. There's a brand-new fund-raising drive on the horizon. And guess who's going to be called on to fill the coffers? Us allergics!

It's called the National Hay Fever Fund; it's sponsored by the Hay Fever Prevention Society; and for eight million summertime sneezers, wheezers, coughers and itchers, it may pay the way to relief.

At the same time, the society says, it will cut industrial and agricultural waste by cutting the lost man-hours during what hay fever sufferers knowingly call "the season."

For the uninitiated, hay fever is easy to explain. It is a philosophy and a way of life built on the microscopic pollen of the ragweed plant. And during the weeks of mid-August into frost time, when the ragweed pollinates, the hay feverer expresses his true feelings with the clarion cry: "I'd miserably unhappy."

But for thousands of sufferers, the joke is short-lived. Unalleviated hay fever can produce asthma — a respiratory ailment that chokes its victims to death.

Clinically, hay fever is an allergy; the body reacting to a foreign substance with uncomfortable symptoms. A recent survey has shown 25 million Americans to be allergic to one or more everyday materials — foods, clothing fabrics, trees, grasses, cosmetics.

It is the allergy to ragweed pollen alone that is known as hay fever. And it is against this plant that the National Hay Fever Fund will arm fighters.

The goal is set for $400,000 — exactly one-thirtieth the amount of money Americans each year give to charitable causes.

According to the National Information Bureau, which keeps active files on almost every national non-profit organization that calls on American donations, about $4 billion went into health, culture, veteran, welfare, youth, foreign aid and international relations coffers last year.

Most of that money, the NIB reported, came from public and corporation subscription. Today, the Bureau says, philanthropic organizations — with their buildings, capital and endowments — are large enough to stand side by side with America's major industries.

By comparison, the Hay Fever Fund is small, even for the job of eradicating ragweed from the national landscape. But as one more caller following the Community Chest, Red Cross, polio, cancer and hundreds of other fund-raisers, the Hay Fever Society believes it's not a job to be — or — sneezed at.

Trip To Mexico To Cost Less

LAREDO, Tex., April 29 — Beginning Saturday, it will cost less to visit Mexico.

Mexican consul Hector Jara said Wednesday devaluation of the peso would drop the cost of a single entry permit to visit interior Mexico from $3.01 to $2.08, while a multiple entry permit will cost $3.46 instead of $5.

Permits to work in Mexico will cost $28.80, instead of $41.62, and the immigrant tax for those who wish to acquire immigrant status in Mexico will be $71.20 in place of $102.53.

The cost of commercial invoice visas will go from 50 cents to 40, and the fees for affidavits and certification of signatures will drop $1 to $2.24.

Cotton Maid To Model For Solons

WASHINGTON, April 28 — UP — A blue-eyed Maid of Cotton from El Paso, Tex., arrived Wednesday to model cotton clothes for congressmen.

Miss Beverly Louise Pack, a "tall size 12," will model two "dainty" cotton creations Wednesday night at a congressional reception where Vice President Richard M. Nixon will award a prize to an outstanding American designer of cotton clothes. One of Miss Pack's dresses will be an Adele Simpson winner of last year's award.

Miss Pack, traveling with 57 cotton costumes packed in 23 cotton-coated suitcases, also is scheduled to visit the House Agriculture Committee and Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson, and attend two fashion shows before she leaves on Sunday for Cleveland, Ohio. She just returned from a European tour and is halfway through her six-months traveling schedule.

Miss Pack said she hasn't had a chance yet to wear all 57 outfits, five designed in Paris. But she said the one that has seemed most popular to audiences so far is a pink princess-cut low-neck number designed by Cell Chapman.

Beverly can't decide which is her favorite. But she gets to keep them all.

Rita Studies Fine Print In Settlement

NEW YORK, April 28 — UP — Actress Rita Hayworth, worried over custody provisions in a $1.5 million settlement for her daughter Yasmin, huddles with her lawyer Thursday for another study of the "fine print" in the agreement.

The actress balked at signing the settlement Wednesday night after a daylong session with her attorney, Bartley Crum, and Charles Torem, lawyer for Prince Aly Khan.

Aly, father of four-year-old Yasmin and Rita's third husband, signed the settlement Tuesday just before taking off for the racing season in Paris and London. He said as he boarded his plane at Idlewild Airport he was worried over whether Rita would sign. She has disrupted the two-year-old negotiations before.

Rita was reported fearful that Aly might take Yasmin out of the country during the three months a year he has custody of her, and then not send the child back. She wants assurances that police action can be taken, if necessary, no matter where Yasmin may be.

Green Verdon, the dancing star of "Can-Can," took her dog for a walk in Central Park. And she fell asleep on the grass under a warm early spring sun.

"I woke up," she says, "and there was Basil Rathbone looking down at me. I've never met him and I doubt if he knew who I was. In fact, I'm sure he'd been watching me for quite a while and I'm sure he thought I was dead and was wondering what to do about me."

"When I did open my eyes, he was suddenly very flustered and he said what must have been the first thing that popped into his mind. 'What sex is your dog?' he asked, and then turned around and walked away."

All things come to him who waits. And this time it is Hugh Marlowe, a movie actor who generally winds up getting killed or otherwise mistreated, to the understandable disappointment of his kids. But now he's playing the lead in a new TV film series, "The Adventures of Ellery Queen," and of course, always emerges alive and triumphant.

He took his sons, Jeff, 5½, and Chris, 3, to see a preview. They now look at Daddy with new respect. "Their Daddy can lick other daddies," after all.

Wanted: Girl; must be pretty but not high fashion; wholesome but not back-yard-fancy; good voice but obviously an actress.

If you fit this description, there may be a future for lucky you in TV commercials. Ellen Blanchard, head of the Hartford Model Agency, says that's the kind of girl advertisers want. It's not an easy type to find.

In case you're wondering how a model agency happens to wander into a TV story, many of the agencies — such as Hartford — have heard opportunity rap-rapping on their doors. Nowadays they supply many models — men as well as women — to TV for commercial purposes. Next time you see a pretty gal opening a car door or posing gracefully by a stove that'll be a model.

There's big money for models who qualify in TV. Miss Blanchard mentioned one girl who, in one day, filmed three commercials and several 20-second shorts. Her fees, plus the percentages which accrue in case of filmed material, will probably net her $800 for the year. It was a good day's work.

Model agencies act in this connection, like talent casting bureaus. A request for a car-door-opener comes in, they check their list of girls who fit the size requirements and are able to open doors, send general to the client for a kind of audition, called a "go-see," and then wait developments.

Among developments lately is the fact that TV seems to prefer small girls. Somehow, Miss Blanchard says, small girls are more "outgoing and warm." And TV wants those two qualities. Who, by the way, doesn't?

Billy Dew thinks there should be a prize awarded to the smoothest highway built each year. He'd call the prize the Macadam Award.

A complete six-room house will be built on a TV set for the April 27th United States Steel Hour (ABC-TV). Only it won't figure in the story — the house is going to market a pre-fab house called "The Westerner," and will show it first on the program. Mary Kay and Johnny will do the actual selling because, as we all know, four walls do not a commercial make.

Even stars have their worries. Gather round and listen to some typical star-gripes: Bob "Howdy Doodie" Smith worries about finding time to go to the ball games just because, as we all know, "Dezi Arnaz hates to be called 'Mr. Ball'." Jane Pickens fumes when people question the authenticity of her Southern accent. . . . Bob Hope hates actors who say they're bored with the attentions of their fans.

WASHINGTON, April 28 — UP— President Eisenhower Wednesday nominated West Point classmate, Lt. Gen. Joseph May Swing (ret.) to be the new U.S. commissioner of immigration and naturalization.

Mr. Eisenhower accepted the resignation Wednesday, effective upon qualification of Swing as his successor. Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr., announced that Mackey will become deputy commissioner of the immigration service. He is a career government employee.

Circus Aficionados Brave Chill Winds At First Show

Thousands of wind-blown Pampanos sat through chilly weather and swirling dust to watch the Bailey Brothers and Cristian Circus' opening night performance. They cheered the trapeze artists, the clowns, the riders, the roly-poly stars, the acrobats, the wire-walkers, the elephants, the man shot from a gun, the unicyclists, the trapezists and the girls in the aerial ballets.

CONFERENCE

As for complaints of some Democrats in Congress that they haven't been told enough about the Indo-China situation, Mr. Eisenhower said the administration has conducted many talks with congressional leaders of both parties. It also is doing all it can to keep the leaders of both parties fully informed on the theory that no difficulty abroad affects only one party at home.

The circus, now in its 97th annual tour, were scheduled for today: 8:30 and 8 p.m.

FDR-Churchill Secret Pact
Raises Question Of Others

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Disagreement between Franklin D. Roosevelt and Sir Winston Churchill, restricting the use of the atomic bomb, has raised the question of how many such "secret" international agreements the United States may be bound by.

According to U. S. law, it is impossible for the American government to have any secret international commitments. An act of Congress passed originally in 1933 and amended in 1938 and 1950 requires that all U.S. treaties and international agreements shall be published annually.

Individual treaties and agreements are printed in pamphlet form. They are distributed officially to congressmen and appropriate government agencies. And they are sold by the Government Printing Office to anyone interested at from five cents to a dollar apiece, depending on size. To this extent, American diplomacy is a completely open book, with no secrets involved.

The present series of "U. S. Treaties and Other International Agreements" begun in 1947, combined two previous series. The old series of treaties numbered 984 documents. A newer series of executive agreements, begun in the 1930's, ran to a total of 804. When the two were combined, the numbering began with 1901. This means that some 1300 of these treaties and agreements have been made in the eight postwar years.

Treaties, of course, are formal agreements ratified by the U. S. Senate. The agreements are made by the President with the heads of other states under his constitutional powers.

Agreements may also be made by the President designated representatives, like commanding generals of armies in the field, cabinet officers or ambassadors.

A study of the agreements made in 1953 disclosed that approximately 85 per cent of them had been made in accord with legislation passed by Congress. Another 10 per cent were made to carry out the administrative details of treaties ratified by the Senate.

These agreements cover such things as air routes and landing rights for commercial aircraft, military advisory missions, economic assistance, educational exchange, technical cooperation projects, or exemptions from income tax on shipping agreements.

The five per cent of the agreements not covered by legal or treaty authorizations include such things as exchanges of diplomatic notes between governments, communique issued at the end of international conferences or agreements between the President of the United States and the heads of foreign governments.

What brings all these exchanges within the range of the public treaty series is that they set foreign policy or apply to the conduct of a war.

At the time, 1943, that President Roosevelt made his deal with Churchill at Quebec on use of the atomic bomb, it was two years before the first bomb was dropped. So this pact had to be kept secret. The same restriction applied to these parts of the Yalta agreement of 1945, on the conduct of the closing phases of World War II.

These are the only once-secret agreements that have ever been disclosed. If there are other, they're still secret.

Research indicates that the United States has been a party to only one secret treaty in its entire history. This was "An Act Separate and Secret" from a "Treaty of Alliance, Amity and Commerce" negotiated with France and approved by the Continental Congress of 1778.

Secrecy was of course the accepted practice in international relations up through World War I. Many of the German Kaiser's alliances of that era were based on secret treaties.

To end secret diplomacy, the first 14 points for ending World War I called for "Open covenants, openly arrived at" and no more private international understandings.

In spite of that ideal for a perfect world, the realities of modern diplomacy demand the continuance of many private international understandings. Thus the text of the broad North Atlantic Treaty can be made public. But the international defense plans and agreements to carry out the NATO concept must always remain secret. To publicize them would wreck the defense of the entire free world.

ARDMORE, Okla., April 28—UP—Byron Nelson, who has limited his competitive golf to the Masters and a couple of other invitation affairs, will come out of semi-retirement next week to play in the Ardmore Open. The tourney, listed as a $15,000 affair, had added money which ranks it close to a $40,000 event. The tourney will be contested over the Dornick Hills Country Club course, May 8-9.

ON MYERBERG'S SET for "Hansel and Gretel," technician reaches up through trap door to adjust position of puppet-like stars for one of 117,000 single photos that will comprise new movie.

They're Called 'Kinemins' Stringless Puppets Starred In Hansel And Gretel Movie

By JAMES FLOWERS
NEA Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (NEA)—There's an old dance hall down in lower Manhattan where a motion picture company is busy shooting the final scenes of the first full-length puppet-television version of "Hansel and Gretel."

Outside the building the street is swarming with tenement urchins playing stick ball and cops and robbers. If these kids could only glimpse inside their eyes would become as big and bright as the puppet-like stars of the film.

For producer Michael Myerberg and his staff of more than 50 technicians have fashioned some amazing sets, costumes and figures. Although the figures of Hansel, Gretel, Rosina the Witch, Fire the Cat, Gingy the Bear, Stuy the Goose, Doozy the Sand Man and others look like puppets, they're not. There are no strings attached.

Myerberg prefers to call them "Kinemins." The one-third life-sized characters have joined aluminum and steel skeletons, and their feet are magnified for balance. Their bodies are fashioned from a rubber-plastic material that looks so much like real flesh, that they literally come to life.

Producer Myerberg has spent 15 years of research and development to give unlimited movement and facial expression to his "Kinemins." Elaborate head mechanisms control their movements. Even his stages are magnetically controlled.

The minute adjustments of expression and action are made manually and photographed frame by frame. Myerberg estimates that no less than 117,000 single photographs will be taken for his 78-minute production.

"We've been in production almost two years now," says the hard-working Myerberg. "As you can see, it's a long and intricate process. We hope to complete the picture in May and release it in August of this year."

As everyone knows, "Hansel and Gretel" is a beloved Grimm fairy tale. It was adapted for the film by Padric Colum, famous Irish writer and poet.

The unique production has been filmed entirely in the former dance and assembly hall. Myerberg turned it into a completely integrated studio. Sets, wardrobes and figures are all made and assembled there.

Since the film is being made in New York the big question was whether or not it is a Hollywood production. Theatrical producer Myerberg ("The Skin of Our Teeth," "Lute Song") waved his arm toward the dazzling three-dimensional set and camera crew: "No, they aren't Hollywood people. We had to have fresh minds and ideas for this sort of thing. Take, for instance, Ewalds Dajemkis, our set designer. This skilled technician came over from Europe but couldn't find a job. We found him painting houses in the Bronx."

Dr. Harold H. Henderson, general secretary of the American Leprosy Missions, spoke Wednesday at the final session of the organization's 46th annual convention.

He said his hope Hansen's disease, as leprosy is known, would be controlled by 1974 was justified by the optimism of medical men in the field, the increasing awareness of governments of their responsibility for control programs and an awakening public concern for treated and discharged leprosy patients.

Henderson said Christian forces "must increase rather than decrease their historic and pioneering ministry to victims of this disease." If the 1974 goal is to be reached.

Myerberg's eyes roamed around the studio and came to rest on a calm, pleasant-looking man; he nodded toward him, and said: "That's John Paul, our director. He's been working with me for years helping to perfect this process. You see, he's not hopping around shouting 'quiet.' The man who makes the steel skeletons of the figures is a former dentist. He left his practice to join us."

The dialogue and songs are dubbed in by such stage personalities as Anna Russell, Mildred Dunnoek, Constance Brigham and Frank Rogier.

They are backed up by Franz Allers, conducting a 60-piece symphony orchestra, and the Apollo Boys Choir. The original Humberdick operatic score has been retained in its entirety.

WICKED WITCH leers at camera. She's one-third life size.

HANSEL AND GRETEL, as well as other characters in Myerberg film, have jointed aluminum and steel skeletons, bodies of rubber and plastic. Their feet are magnified for balance.

Myerberg estimates the production will cost approximately $1,000,000 by the time it's finished. If this one turns out all right he hopes to do "Lute Song," and maybe "Alladin."

After watching the rushes of Hansel and Gretel playing in the lush woods it was kind of disturbing to step into the street and see kids romping in "an asphalt jungle" instead of in a dense forest.

Leprosy Cure Predicted Soon

DALLAS, April 29—UP—A leprosy expert believes the disease, one of the oldest known to man, will be brought under control throughout the world during the next 20 years.

Dr. Harold H. Henderson, general secretary of the American Leprosy Missions, spoke Wednesday at the final session of the organization's 46th annual convention.

He said his hope Hansen's disease, as leprosy is known, would be controlled by 1974 was justified by the optimism of medical men in the field, the increasing awareness of governments of their responsibility for control programs and an awakening public concern for treated and discharged leprosy patients.

Henderson said Christian forces "must increase rather than decrease their historic and pioneering ministry to victims of this disease." If the 1974 goal is to be reached.

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Exclusively Yours: A nation-wide boycott of the picture by small fry may leave an independent movie company red-faced, red-linked and sorry it ever filmed "I killed wild Bill Hickok."

Kid fans of Guy Madison, who plays Wild Bill as a hero on television, are organizing a "Don't See" campaign, I hear, because Tom Brown plays Bill as a villain in the picture.

The idea of a movie killing off a popular TV character has diabolical possibilities. "I Killed Lucy" and "I Killed Milton Berle" could be next.

As a matter of fact, "I Killed Libera" might win an Oscar.

A giant screen Cinerama version of the historical Lewis and Clark, Warner Bros., is a new E (for entertainment) bomb exploded by Hollywood in the War of the Screens.

The magnitude of the Cinerama screen and its three-headed camera tops all of Hollywood's current big-screen movies, and the Warner announcement should further revolutionize theater movie-going.

One thing is for sure: Screens can't get any bigger than Cinerama's.

When producer Frederick Brisson was scouting locations in Las Vegas for Rosalind Russell's musical, "The Girl From Utah," he was joined at dinner by several hotel and gambling casino operators. All were curious about the story.

"It's a different kind of story about Las Vegas," said Brisson. "It has nothing to do with gambling."

"Oh," grunted one of his listeners, "A fantasy."

Oops, sorry. Rhonda Fleming and Lance Fuller, who should know, insist they have had no dates. I've rechecked and they're telling the truth. Pardon me while I blush.

Margaret O'Brien's return to the screen as grown-up, glamorous Maggie will be with Greer Garson in "Strange Lady in Town," which Mervyn LeRoy will direct.

Jackie Gleason and Fox are having talks again about the comedian starring in the film biography of the late W. C. Fields. Lana Turner's telling MGM she doesn't want to do "Cobweb" slated as her next movie. There may be a big showdown and a torn-up contract.

"Lute Song" starring Carrol Nash, didn't make the grade as a TV show but returns to CBS radio as a daily 15-minute soap opera.

U-I is paying Montgomery Clift for a remake of Jimmy Stewart's prewar hit, "Destry Rides Again." Mitz Gaynor and Fox have called it a day and she's headed for TV. Double marriage chukle: "Marry Me Again — The Bigamist."

Gene Nelson and his wife, Miriam, are definitely calling it a day. The reconciliation try didn't take. Whether he and Jane Powell will resume is an even money bet.

Now it's Italian movie makers raiding Hollywood. Pier Angeli and Ariene Dahl are being pegged to star in "Casta Diva," to be filmed in Rome. Italian Films Export is doing the dickering, with the salaries topping Hollywood's.

Get the ice bags ready, Fortirio!

Cecil the Sea Sick Sea Serpent will put on a blond wig, an eye-patch and a Hungarian accent in upcoming "Time for Beany" shows on TV. The character is "Ha-Ha Patcher," who bursts into hysterics every time someone says, "How old are you?"

Linda Darnell isn't worried about talk that U. S. censors will never allow "Forbidden Women," her Italian film, to be shown. Says Linda: "It's a story about three prostitutes, but there's nothing objectionable. I made the picture and I'm glad of it. It was the greatest experience of my life."

Newsman 'Gagged' At Geneva Talks

GENEVA, Switzerland, April 29—UP—Heavy bronze doors of the Geneva conference chamber were closed Thursday to an estimated 900 newsmen from 39 nations assigned by their editors to report the talks.

Troically, the conference in Korea and Indo-China is taking place in the same chamber in the green-and-gold Palais des Nations where only six years ago representatives of 60 nations pledged themselves to observe the "fundamental principles of freedom of information."

In April, 1948, a United Nations conference of freedom and information and the press approved three resolutions safeguarding the rights to gather and transmit news.

But at this conference none of the newsmen has been permitted to see for himself.

Converted Department Store. Instead, a converted downtown department store that once was called "Springtime," now Geneva conference press headquarters, is the fact-finding newsmen's beat.

Journalists gather there daily to discuss the news and wait for press briefings by the various delegations.

Every day more than 45,000 words are cabled to all parts of the world by the Swiss government telegraph office, in the press building.

Thousands more are dispatched through commercial cable companies, leased teletype wires of the major news agencies and over scores of telephone lines to almost all the world capitals.

At the horseshoe-shaped bar, journalists from East and West rub shoulders and discuss the day's events.

Among those present from the iron curtain country is Wilfrid Burchett, Australian correspondent for the French Communist newspaper "L'Humanite," who covered the Korean War on the Red side.

On the first and second floors of the press building are five large briefing rooms complete with microphones, loudspeakers and a spokesman's rostrum. From these rooms each day the events taking place in the forbidden chamber are described by delegates from both East and West. The versions are seldom identical, and sometimes differ in startling fashion.

U.S. State Department Press Chief Henry Suydam, a former chief editorial writer for the Newark Evening News, is the West's principal briefing officer. Suydam speaks slowly and with quiet humor.

Russian briefings are conducted by Soviet Press Chief F. Dyachev, a moon-faced, bespectacled man who delivers Russian pronouncements through English and French interpreters.

Chinese Communist briefings are usually conducted by Counselor Huang Hua, who described Chou En-Lai's "give us the moon, too" speech Wednesday in a nasal singsong voice.

All briefings are usually held at an agreed time 30 minutes after the end of each session. Sometimes the Reds, anxious to present their viewpoint to the world, try to "jump the gun" by holding earlier briefings than the West.

BUT I'M NOT DIRTY—Krocko cries "no soap" to a hide scrubbing as he struggles to avoid an annual cleaning. The crocodile is a favorite at the Vienna, Austria, reptile farm.

Doctor Says Beaten Child's Deformity Can Be Corrected

LOS ANGELES, April 29—UP—Doctors at General Hospital said Thursday they believed extensive treatment will correct the misshapen limbs of nine-year-old Celia Sanchez, the victim of her mother's sadistic rage for the past 18 months.

But they feared it would take the same length of time to repair the deforming injuries as it took her mother, Mrs. Vera Trinidad, 25, to inflict them.

And they said the little girl never would regain the sight in her left eye, blinded by one of the beatings the woman regularly administered with a two-foot length of hose or her fists.

Expecting Eighth Child
Mrs. Trinidad, who is expecting her eighth child within a month, sobbed in her jail cell, meanwhile, that she still loved her daughter. She is held on five felony charges, including mayhem, and will appear at a preliminary hearing May 6.

Deputies found the crippled and frightened child cowering behind a pile of dirty clothes Tuesday when they went to Mrs. Trinidad's home in near-by Norwalk on a tip that Celia was "slowly being beaten to death."

They said the woman later admitted beating the girl almost daily with the hose, breaking her arms three times by twisting them and giving vent to her sadistic rage in other forms of torture.

Physicians said much of the little girl's hair had been beaten or pulled off her head, her nose had been broken several times and her entire body was a mass of bruises and welts.

Arms at Grotesque Angles
Her arms, which had been allowed to heal without medical attention after they were twisted until they broke "with a crunching noise, were frozen at grotesque angles from her stiff shoulders.

Celia, the daughter of Mrs. Trinidad, has been kept out of school since the first grade and hidden at home to conceal the obvious injuries, deputies said.

They said her husband, Joe, 42, had been absolved of any responsibility in the beatings, and said she apparently had not mistreated any of her other children.

Contractors Accused Of FHA Frauds

SAN FRANCISCO, April 29—UP—Three partners in a painting firm and nine salesmen have been accused of defrauding the Federal Housing Administration in a home repair racket.

U.S. Attorney Lloyd Burke said the fraud involved kickbacks of as much as $1000 to homeowners and fat commissions to the salesmen of as much as $525.

Named as defendants in the indictment were Atlas Enterprises Inc., of San Leandro, Calif., and its partners, Gordon Brown, R. A. Brown and Howard Wardle.

Burke said the fraud was carried out by the contractor in applying for FHA-insured bank loans on behalf of home owners, which were far in excess of the cost of painting the homes.

Burke said a salesman would approach a homeowner in need of paint-work and propose that Atlas do the work under a 4 per cent FHA loan.

As an inducement, Burke said, the salesman would propose that the FHA loan be made high enough to provide a cash sum to the owner.

Actually, the 13 home owners named in the indictment did not profit. The "kickbacks" they got must be repaid to the banks, as well as the cost of the repair job and the salesman's commission.

John J. Anthony Becomes Top Television Oddity

By ALINE MOSBY
HOLLYWOOD, April 29—UP—The most controversial figure on television in this town is no longer Liberace or Arthur Godfrey, for the time being, but a be-spectacled man who gives advice to the love-lorn.

This video personality now being peddled and roasted by the critics is the famous Mr. Anthony. John J. Anthony launched the "first marriage counseling service in the country" on radio in 1930, and became an institution of the airwaves. After 3,000 radio listeners he quit to go into business a year ago. But returned six weeks ago to a local TV station (KTTV), which plans to syndicate his program on film to TV outlets around the country.

If the local reaction is a guide, Mr. Anthony will out-dazzle Liberace and his candelabra when it comes to TV arguments.

Critics here questioned whether the counselor could in a few minutes solve the problems of four or five volunteers who weekly appear on the show. They never are seen by the camera, and fictitious initials are used.

"We don't pretend to cure, we only attempt to assist to point out the right direction," explained Anthony, 42, thin, energetic, and "I know the advice helps. On the radio show eight out of ten people wrote to tell us how beneficial it was to them."

Anthony admitted he never has had training in psychology, or psychiatry, and added, "I never had training in marriage counseling because when I started there was no such thing." But he feels he is qualified to give advice "because there is no one in this field with more experience than I."

From time immemorial man has gone to man with his problems," he said. "The mere fact you have someone to whom you can speak gives benefit. And many times I urge people to seek psychotherapy or other help."

League Of Women Voters Supports UN

DENVER, April 29—UP—The resolutions committee of the National League of Women Voters drafted a strongly worded motion Thursday re-affirming the league's "vigorous" support of the United Nations.

The motion said at the same time that the league should undertake a new study of the United Nations charter to determine if revisions are advisable "in the light of world political realities."

Mrs. John G. Lee of Farmington, Conn., president of the league, said she expected the resolution to be adopted late Thursday or Friday by the 1,200 delegates attending the organization's annual convention.

The league already has in the "continuing responsibilities" portion of its program an item which calls for "U.S. support of the UN and its specialized agencies, including adequate financial contributions, increased use and improved procedures."

The national board has proposed that during the next two years the league's membership of 122,000 concentrate on "individual liberties" and a study of U.S. trade policies.

No one objects to this. The only unsettled issue is whether to expand the program to include the UN and Thursday's resolution may settle the argument.

The league's 21st convention opened Monday and will end Friday at noon. Thursday night the delegates will hear an address by Dr. Peter H. Odegard, chairman of the department of political science at the University of California. Odegard's subject will be "political leadership and party responsibility."

Fluor Co. Income Rises
LOS ANGELES, April 29—UP—Preliminary, unaudited figures of North American Aviation company disclosed Thursday a net income of $8,850,000 after taxes for the six-month period from Oct. 1, 1953, to March 31, 1954. Company officials said the net income figure for the same period last year was $6,000,000.

Roosevelt To Make Plea For Divorce

PASADENA, Calif., April 29—UP—James Roosevelt will go to court Friday seeking a divorce from his wife, Romelle, in what she calls a "carefully conceived plan" to obtain the divorce without damaging his political career.

Mrs. Roosevelt filed a memorandum in superior court Wednesday accusing her estranged husband of originally filing a separate maintenance suit and then asking that it be amended to one for divorce because he felt "a divorce action would prove unpalatable to the voters of the electoral district into which he had just moved."

Roosevelt, the eldest son of the late president, is a Democratic candidate for nomination in the 28th congressional district. He filed for separate maintenance last Jan. 18, and last week said he will seek to amend it on grounds that "irreconcilable differences" have arisen between him and his wife since then.

Roosevelt also will ask the court Friday to disregard a wartime letter attached to his wife's separate maintenance suit in which he admitted infidelities with nine women.

WD Livestock Judgers Entered In State Contest

WHITE DEER—(Special)—The three-man livestock judging team of the White Deer chapter, Future Farmers of America, will participate in the state contest, to be held this week end.

Winner of the state contest will represent Texas at the national contest in Kansas City, Mo., next fall.

In the recent regional contest at Texas Tech in Lubbock, the White Deer team placed fourth, with Ray Eller placing fifth among the 276 boys entered in individual sheep judging. Jerry Kotara was among the high ten for his participation in grading steers. Third member of the team is Jerry Gordzell.

Otis Frost placed seventh in individual crop judging, while his teammate, George Collins, placed ninth in a field of 90 participants. Third member of this team is Maynard Kotara.

Founder Of Boys Ranch To Address Rotary Club

Cal Farley, Amarillo, founder of Boys Ranch, will be guest speaker at next week's luncheon meeting of Pampa Rotary club, it was announced at Wednesday's meeting in the Palm Room of City Hall.

DeLea Vicars and Travis Lively were speakers at this week's meeting, discussing several proposed amendments to the Rotary International constitution, which will be brought before the international convention in Seattle, Wash., next June.

Amendments discussed by two Rotarians concerned club attendance, representation at international conventions, methods of voting at international conventions, attendance rules affecting senior active and past service members, audits, Rotary magazine and objects of Rotary.

Vicars and Lively were introduced by Don Cain, program chairman.

John Teed, high school senior, was introduced as Junior Rotarian for the month of May by Ed Dudley, April Junior Rotarian.

Guests included J. W. Dillard and George Black, both of Borger; John Mayer, Lewistown, Mont.; William O'Toole, Trenton, N. J.; and E. W. Spearman, Pampa. Past President George Scott presided in the absence of President E. S. Williams.

Tripped By Drink

PECOS, Tex., April 29—UP—Two Silver City, N. M., jail fugitives were held Wednesday because they couldn't resist getting drunk on their first day of freedom.

City Patrolman Sam Waiding captured one of the fugitives Tuesday night and highway patrol nabbed his companion shortly afterwards at a tavern.

The fugitives held here are Carl Franklin Martin, 27, and Marvin H. Vaughan, 30. A third man, Charles Caldwell, 22, also escaped from the New Mexico jail but Martin and Vaughan said he never left with them.

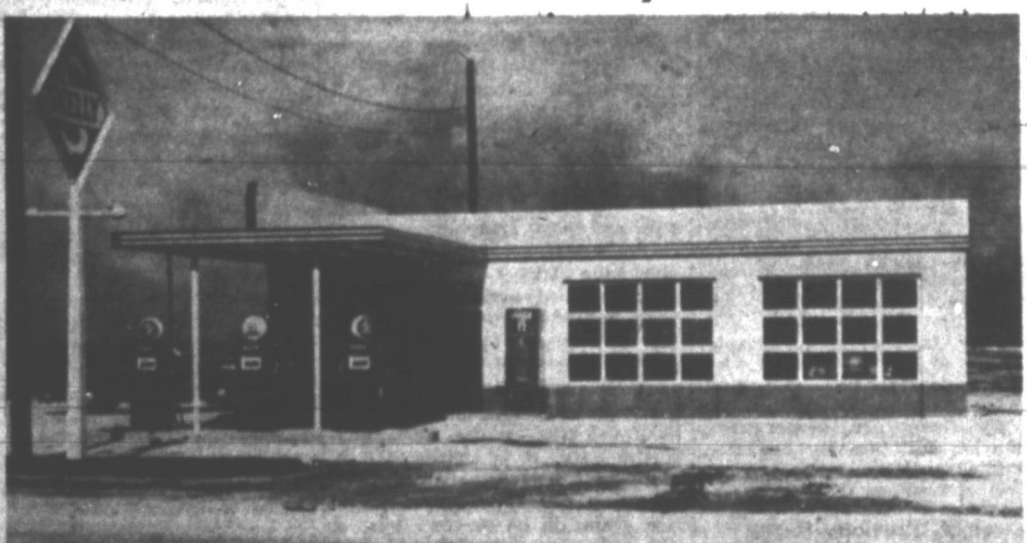

Martin and Vaughan were speeding around town when Waiding stopped them. Vaughan was driving and when he got out from behind the wheel, he managed to flee, but Martin was arrested.

Pits Not Radioactive

INDIANAPOLIS, April 29—UP—A geiger counter test of car windshield shields with "glasspox" showed no evidence Wednesday that the pits are radioactive. Owen Yates, manager of a service station, borrowed the device to use after some persons advanced a theory that atomic or hydrogen bomb tests might be the cause of windshield damage in several Midwest and Western states.

Can Opener Week

We hold no brief for the sword, but there have been times when we have had cause to doubt the mightiness that is so glibly credited to the pen. There can be no question, however, about the power of the can-opener. Just to make it official, we will be celebrating National Can Opener Week during the merry month of May...

Further, if you don't think it's about time for NCOW, you might consider how destitute the American family would be without this humble device — faced as it is with an average of 788 cans of food to open during the year. Another way of looking at it is that the great American can-opener will slice its way through four million miles of tin-coated sheet steel during 1954!

America's first can-opener, a rather slight improvement on the hatchet, was patented by Ezra J. Warner in 1854. Since that time, Uncle Sam has granted 1,149 more can-opening patents, so that the "art," as they call it in the Patent Office, is now pretty well advanced. In fact, there's one priced at $3,000, that is studded with diamonds and rubies, although we think the magnet they now put on the wall-type can-openers (to keep the severed lid from falling in) is a gem of far greater value.

Another little-known fact is that all of us who ever open a can are indebted to the Can Manufacturers' Institute for the recent improvement and present excellence of the device that stands between us and starvation in this land of plenty. They hired twelve young ladies of assorted shapes and sizes, weak and strong, helpless and determined — and put 'em to work "evaluating" can-openers, for eight hours a day. Among other things, they found that it takes only four seconds to open a can with a wall-type opener — more than twice as fast as the old fashioned punch-pump way.

We don't know what in the world they did with all the food they opened up, but they found out (with 450 different sizes and types of cans, including dented ones) what was good and bad about the openers. So now, when you buy one of these implements with the CMI Seal of Approval on it, you know it failed to make any of the girls cry, or scratch a finger, or wrench a tendon — or even get juice in her eye.

Diet For The Ill

In past times it was widely believed that most ill people required relatively little in the way of food. The "tea and toast" variety of diet was a commonplace.

Science has proven how wrong that idea was. For example, an article by J. E. Rhoades in the Journal of American Dietetics Association deals with nutritional needs after a major surgery, severe injury, or prolonged illness. "What many such patients need most," he says, "is generous intake of highest quality meat, suitably supplemented and appetizingly served."

The reason for this is that long-drawn illness or serious injury usually results in marked losses of tissue proteins. In surgery, considerable protein may be lost through bleeding. To minimize the hazards resulting from these losses, replenishment must be accomplished as rapidly as possible. So the patient is urged to eat liberally of a diet especially high in top-grade protein, which is the kind provided by meat. Such a diet promotes rebuilding of tissues and healing of wounds, increases vigor, and speeds recovery.

The value of a high-protein diet to well people is also very great. This was conclusively demonstrated during the last war. Much of the credit for the American soldier's mental and physical vigor is given to the fact that his diet is rich in protein.

More people ought to know about Circular 506 — published by the National Bureau of Standards — which tells us that now is the time for all good men to drain their radiators. . . and that "permanent" anti-freeze is about as eternal as a permanent wave.

Until now, in fact, we had thought it was a good idea to leave the stuff in all year, and that the rust inhibitor in it should keep the cooling system nice and clean. And so, according to a recent survey, do two car-owners out of three!

But no. These government scientists tell us we're hung over with hoses. Some of us have been lucky, while 700,000 others each year have had to buy new radiators, with still larger numbers investing in water pumps, hoses, and thermostats. Circular 506 says: ". . . during use, anti-freeze is subjected to several conditions that cause it to change its properties. Inhibitors are depleted by exhaust gas leaking into the cooling system. This chemical change, it seems, can occur in as short a time as a few months. Acids are formed, also salts. The result is clogging and corrosion.

All of which reminds us that anti-freeze manufacturers have been urging spring drain-out for years. So perhaps we should apologize for the unworthy suspicion of self-interest. It is now evident they wanted to save us expense — as well as highway breakdowns.

Okay, 506, okay. We're telling the man to drain it out — today!

How Can One Tell Who Is Interested in Education?

Since education has such a great influence in man's spiritual, cultural and material well being, it would seem to be of the utmost importance to know how to determine whether or not a man is deeply interested in education.

Those who are not certainly should not be entrusted to hold important positions in organized education.

Difference Between Education and Instruction

In this article I am discussing education and not training or instruction. By education I mean as Plato contended "seeing things as they are," or as looking for the reason of things. Or, as Herbert Spencer said, "To prepare to have complete living is the function education has to discharge."

Albert Nock in his "The Theory of Education in the United States" said "The object of education, as we understand the word, the purpose of enforcing the Great Tradition's discipline, is to inculcate certain views of life and certain demands on life." Nock also defined education as being "the laying foundation for formative knowledge on which to build a structure of instrumental knowledge."

It seems to me the real test as to whether a person is deeply interested in education is whether he is deeply interested in educating himself. Whether he himself has the will to understand the nature of things — to "see things as they are" or the "reason of things."

If he is deeply interested in education, then he certainly wants his own ideas challenged or tested so that he himself can develop and improve education by presenting society with one improved unit.

If he is not interested enough in education to want his own ideas challenged by those who want theirs challenged, then it seems reasonable to conclude that that person is not deeply interested in education but only fictionally interested.

He might think he is because he does not differentiate between education and training or instruction. And he evidently does not know that instruction that is not backed by an education in ethics and justice can do infinitely more harm than good. Ernest Renan pointed out this fact late in the last century when he said: "Countries which, like the United States, have set up a considerable popular instruction without any serious higher education will long have to expiate their error by their intellectual mediocrity, the vulgarity of their manners, their superficial spirit, their failure in general intelligence."

As evidence of the wisdom of this prediction, the Wall Street Journal recently reported that the number of "major" crimes—murder, non-negligent manslaughter, robberies — increased to a new high of 2.2 million last year, a 6 per cent jump over 1952.

False "Educators"

So it seems reasonable to believe that a lot of our trouble, ethically, intellectually and materially comes from having men in positions of organized education who themselves are not qualified to be educators or direct education because they have no will to educate themselves, if willingness to have their ideas on education challenged is the test of their will to learn.

Here are a few men who were enough interested in education to want their ideas challenged: John Locke, Henry Ford, Eric Bastair, Albert J. Nock, Emerson, Thoreau and the late Henry Link, Henry Grady Weaver and John Rustgard; or such living persons who want their ideas on education challenged as Leonard Read, president of the Foundation for Economic Education; Isabel Paterson, author of "The God of the Machine"; Ayn Rand, author of "The Fountainhead"; John Chamberlain, former editorial writer for Life and the Freeman; William Johnson, editor of Faith and Freedom; Frank Chodorov, one of the editors of Human Events and author of "One Is a Crowd"; Rose Wilder Lane, author of "The Discovery of Liberty" and many other books; Orval Watts, author of "Away from Freedom: The Revolt of the College Economists" and "Labor Monopoly"; and many other books.

Who Are These False "Educators"? Now who are these persons in trusted positions in organized education who give lip service to claiming they are deeply interested in education but who do not want their beliefs on the subject challenged by persons who do; by persons who are convinced that "education" based on aggression, as are all tax-supported schools, is one of the main causes of our spiritual decline.

They include the officers of the National Education Association, the members of the National Citizens Commission for the Public Schools, the superintendent of WASHINGTON—Any firm which has a disproportionate share of its own ideas challenged or tested so that he himself can develop and improve education by presenting society with one improved unit.

By the amendment of prominent lawyers and industrialists, the Department of Justice and Federal Trade Commission are applying this yardstick in their current investigation of the automotive giants and especially the sales race between Ford and Chevrolet cars.

Under this interpretation, a civil suit may be lodged at the conclusion of the four inquiries now under way. Other industries alleged to dominate their markets are under examination.

COUNTER TO COURT'S RULING—This interpretation of the anti-monopoly statutes seems to run counter to a Federal Court's decision in the Truman prosecution of the du Pont interests. In that proceeding, the court dismissed the indictment on the ground that the defendant was designed to "penalize mere bigness or efficiency."

As of today at least, there is no suggestion of federal regulations or quotas on production and sales.

SALES FIGURES — The man largely responsible, among others, for presenting the auto problem to the D. J. and FTC is Representative S. J. Crumpler, Jr., of South Bend, Ind. Studebaker, a key South Bend employer, has recently cut its force from 24,000 to 12,000. According to his figures, Ford and G. M. now sell 69.1 per cent of all cars, as against 65.1 in 1953. Chrysler's sales have dropped from 22.9 per cent of the total to 17.4, and the independents' from 11.3 to 6.8 per cent. Meanwhile, G. M.'s sales are down only .49 per cent, and Ford's have increased by 13.5 per cent.

Production charts show the same trend, Crumpler charges. G.M.'s output has increased by 3.3 per cent over the same period in 1953, Ford's by 12.3 per cent. Chrysler is off 48.2 per cent, and the independents by 59.7 per cent. Crumpler also insists that the two big firms are demoralizing the market and possibly engaging in unfair practices by forced unloading of cars on dealers.

Recall an F.D.R. ATTACK—Officials entertaining this attitude do not fear that it will penalize the efficient and prop up uncompetitive industrial units. Strangely enough, they recall F. D. R.'s attack on Andrew W. Mellon's Aluminum Company of America which once enjoyed a monopoly of that essential product.

This viewpoint, from "fortuitous circumstances." The alleged monopolist need not have resorted to uncompetitive underpricing, controlling raw materials or demanding exclusive and preferential treatment from suppliers or dealers. It assumes the character of a monopoly by becoming too successful.

RECALL AN F.D.R. ATTACK—Officials entertaining this attitude do not fear that it will penalize the efficient and prop up uncompetitive industrial units. Strangely enough, they recall F. D. R.'s attack on Andrew W. Mellon's Aluminum Company of America which once enjoyed a monopoly of that essential product.

Roosevelt used federal funds and favors to raise up Henry J. Kaiser and the Reynolds interests as rivals to the Pennsylvania Republican dynasty. Alcoa's control was reduced from 90 to 40 per cent of the aluminum market. Despite a drop in prices, all three firms are highly prosperous and the consumer has profited.

Nevertheless, assuming that Ford and General Motors should be broken up, as Standard Oil was partitioned many years ago, Washington has no formula for maintaining any new automobile setup on a solid and profitable basis. It has no plan to assure that the broken-up units, through superior management and manufacturing methods, would not again dominate the market.

As of today at least, there is no suggestion of federal regulations or quotas on production and sales.

Notes On A Track Classic... Race Fans Undergo Tortures To Witness A Kentucky Derby

By HENRY McEMORE

Even Bill Corum hasn't pointed out this facet of the Kentucky Derby: There never was such a horse.

He has never mentioned, since he succeeded Matt Winn as president of Churchill Downs, that it places the greatest strain on horses and humans of any race in the world.

I will admit that the Belmont Stakes, run later in the year, and over a greater distance than the derby, is a truer test of horses, aged three. So is the English Derby, because it requires the horses to run uphill and down, whereas the American copy of it is on the flat.

But to have a horse race there must be humans in attendance. There never was a part-mutual machine built for horses who like to bet. There never was such a thing as a chicken salad sandwich costing two dollars made for a horse, or a small hotel room, the measurements of which made it possible to read only magazines geared for condensation.

Louisville gives you all these things, such that if you get better than that. The machines are at a premium. Get to them later than eleven o'clock and you are likely to be a member of a line so long that the window will be closed shut before you have a chance to bet.

You are lucky to get a sandwich inside of an hour in Louisville during the last three days of Derby week. You are lucky if you get a sandwich at all. In 1939 (possibly 1938) I gave a waiter in the Kentucky Hotel a wrist watch just for a nod of his head. That's pretty high for a waiter's nod.

As for the horses, a year's notice, with payment in advance, will get you a room so small that if your ears are large you have to sleep near an open window to make room for them. I know a rich man (who doesn't?) who offered a producing oil well for the best room in the Brown Hotel on Derby eve, and his dare was accepted. They gave him the manager's desk with a pillow close to the bed, and a sign that read "don't disturb until daybreak" to hang on the outside of his door. He was glad to get it.

I think J. R. Corum and his public relations people are not so sure of Americans to put up with what they would never think of putting up with from their wives to see the Derby run.

It has to be the top race in this country. Other races have bigger crowds, other races have more money bet, and other races offer more money to the winner. The Derby, though, is the one a man wants to see. Given his choice of sports events that he could see, he would choose the Derby and the World Series would run neck and neck.

I believe that an owner would prefer to have his silks in front when they pass the judge's stand at the Derby than would in any other race. I believe Louisville provides an atmosphere of racing that no other place in the country can provide. I believe that if the purse to the winner were dropped to twelve and a half, the Derby would still have a full field.

The race is great because human beings are willing to undergo the tortures of the wicked to be able to see it.

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JORDAN, M. D.

Every year thousands of men and women have to submit to an operation for removal of the gall bladder. This may be done by a procedure that stones are present in the gall bladder, or it can be because the wall or lining of the gall bladder becomes inflamed, producing pain and other symptoms.

Thousands more will presumably have to have their gall bladders removed over the coming year since the causes of inflammation of the gall bladder are not clearly understood and no good preventive measure is in sight.

The gall bladder lies under the liver and ribs, on the right side of the body. It is shaped like a small pear, and is hollow. In the human body its principal function seems to be to store bile, a substance manufactured in the liver which is emptied into the intestine and is useful in digestion, particularly the digestion of fatty substances.

When bile doesn't flow freely germs can grow inside the gall bladder and other irritations and troubles can develop. In addition to the formation of stones in the gall bladder, it can become acutely or chronically inflamed. If the inflammation or infection comes on suddenly the condition is called acute cholecystitis. This is often accompanied by pain on the right side of the abdomen, which sometimes extends to the back, under the right shoulder blade.

Nausea, vomiting, slight fever, and even swelling of the entire abdomen may follow a bout of pain. The area in front of the gall bladder is usually tender to touch.

Ironically enough, this same group of "liberals" when it is attacking Congressional Investigation Committees, usually argues, "Let the FBI do it," but when the FBI does "do it," they turn right around and smear the very sources which J. Edgar Hoover has found to be the most helpful and accurate in their information!

On hand when it is run. I myself, have undergone every suffering aside from being banged by the thumb to report a Derby. Not just me, but to cover it. And I have never regretted one second.

Before The Dishes Are Done

By BETTY KNOWLES HUNT

ARE "INFORMERS" EVIL? Our best-informed experts on the Communist conspiracy, including FBI Chief, J. Edgar Hoover, all agree that there are three divisions to the anti-American brigade—the known Communists, (foreign and domestic) the hidden Communists, and the conscious or unconscious fellow-travelers who aid and abet the conspiracy by endorsing the same line.

The first group, being out in the open, is perhaps the least dangerous. At least, the FBI can keep a watchful eye on them. The second group, the hidden, are the fellow-traveler group is less exact, but it can be fairly well identified by the regularity of its adherence to Communist policies.

Some fellow-travelers are more consistent followers than others, and judgment has to be formed on a percentage basis.

But the second group, the hidden Communists, constitute the biggest menace, for the precise reason that they are hidden, and therefore unknown. Some of them could be among the fellow-travelers, and probably are, but others are probably well-disguised behind the more respectable label of "liberal," as was Alger Hiss.

Now, presumably, all good Americans agree that any hidden Communists who may be in our government, our schools, our labor unions, our defense plants, our armed forces, or in any places of influence, should be discovered, exposed, and removed from such spots. But just how do we go about discovering and identifying them? Do you know any? Do you have any means of finding out who they may be? Who can or does know?

The FBI certainly has the major role in this detection job, and it has copied some traitors, like Judith Coplon, through the means of wire-tapping. Unfortunately, however, despite Miss Coplon's proven guilt, her conviction was disallowed because the evidence leading to this proof came through wire-tapping. That is why Congress has been asked to change our Federal law in this regard, and make wire-tapping, with a new legal in security cases, as it now is legal in kidnapping cases. Why some people approve of its use against kidnapers, but object to its use against spies — is a major mystery.

But another source for detecting hidden traitors has been most effective of all. Indeed, it has usually preceded the wire-tapping surveillance that led to proof. The source is the reformer, the Communist, who has told the FBI everything he knows about his former associates in this conspiracy. The two top examples are unquestionably Whittaker Chambers and Elizabeth Bentley, but a host of others have added their valuable bits to the puzzle.

FBI Chief, J. Edgar Hoover, has repeatedly praised these cooperative informants for their invaluable contributions, and indeed has publicly urged all other reformers to come forward and give their personal knowledge to the Bureau as well. He deems this source of information indispensable, and has described this cooperation as a patriotic duty.

But here we run into a strange phenomenon. When official Communists from Iron Curtain countries try to stir up, and try to lead the cause of the reformers, revealing all they know about the Communist conspiracy — they are almost universally welcomed and lauded for this action. But when American ex-Communists defect to the freedom-side, an attempt to aid our cause in exactly the same manner, they are heavily and horribly smeared by some of our most potent subliminals and communists, as "professional informers," "stoop pigeons," "neurotic liars," etc. etc. Many of these "liberals" who are loudest in their denunciation of Senator McCarthy as a "character assassin," have outside him by miles in their smear-barrage against Chambers, Bentley and Buzen.

Ironically enough, this same group of "liberals" when it is attacking Congressional Investigation Committees, usually argues, "Let the FBI do it," but when the FBI does "do it," they turn right around and smear the very sources which J. Edgar Hoover has found to be the most helpful and accurate in their information!

Either these "liberals" know more about the Communist conspiracy and how to expose a defector than J. Edgar Hoover — or they don't! Either they have better sources and methods for detecting hidden Communists than the FBI — or they don't.

Inflammation of the gall bladder can often be alleviated by living chemical substances by mouth which stimulate the emptying of the gall bladder. This is not always successful, however, and when it is not operation to remove the organ has to be seriously considered.

Unhappily for them, their record to date is a verbal approval of catching "rats" but a loud denunciation of all "rat-traps." And their record of identifying or catching anything, except conservatives, is a currently secret.

Mmes. Harold Wright, Grundy Morrison Report On Federation Convention

Mrs. Harold Wright, delegate, and Mrs. Grundy Morrison who attended as a visitor, reported to the Progress club on the recent convention of the 7th district meeting of the Texas Federation of Women. The meeting Tuesday was in the home of Mrs. Knox Kinard, 1325 N. Russell.

"One of the outstanding speakers," they reported, "was Dr. Per J. Stensland, head of Adult Education program at Texas Tech. Rev. Harry Vanderpool, of the First Methodist church at Littlefield gave the address, "Forward With Knowledge and Understanding." Judge Philip Gilliam, Judge of the Juvenile Court in Denver for 18 years, gave an informative talk on "What's Wrong With People." Mrs. J. W. Walker of Plainville, candidate for office of 2nd vice president in the general Federation of Women's Clubs, presented her candidacy and was endorsed by the 7th district.

The speakers reported that the people of Dalhart were most cordial to conference delegates and visitors. About 375 women attended the district meeting.

Mrs. Bob McCoy read a paper on "Your Vacation," giving a choice of Canada and Mexico after which the club adjourned to meet in final session May 11 for a 1 o'clock luncheon in the home of Mrs. W. R. Ewing, 422 N. Somerville. Meses, Henry Gindorf, Carlton Nance, H. L. Ledrick and D. V. Burton will be co-hostesses.

Rev. Albright Tells Club Members About UN

Mrs. Michael Wilson was hostess Tuesday to the Twentieth Century Culture Club in her home at 1325 Garland.

Rev. Lyle C. Albright, pastor of the Church of the Brethren, spoke on the United Nations, tracing its historical development and telling of its present organization. He showed pictures of the UN building, which is divided into three parts — the General Assembly, Secretariat building and the Conference building, composed of various council chambers.

International Court of Justice at The Hague, which took the place of the World Court, is really part of the UN, Rev. Albright advised. He added that he firmly believes the world is getting better and that the United Nations is an outgrowth of this fact.

Following Rev. Albright's presentation, Mrs. Phillip A. Gates spoke on World War II, emphasizing the work of chaplains with the Armed Forces. "The cost of this 'War for Survival' with its destruction and economic losses is estimated at a sum of a trillion dollars," Mrs. Gates said. "The responsibility for meeting this obligation is placed on future generations. The amount of money consumed in this war is sufficient to build a home for every family in the world, or to give an education to every child on earth."

Mrs. Leslie Hart presided over a brief business meeting and Mrs. Vernon Hobbs reported on what Federated Club women over the nation are doing.

Fifteen members were present. The two guests were Mrs. W. L. Edminister of Oregon and Rev. Albright.

Employees Enjoy Family Night

Family night for Haliburton employees was held recently in the Haliburton barn.

High prizes for bunco were won by Mrs. Gerdes Schmidt and Mrs. Leroy Thornburg. Traveling bunco prize was won by Mrs. Fred Adcock. Pie and coffee were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Wayne Cook, Mrs. J. T. Jones, Mrs. Dick Willis and Mrs. Roy Stone.

Attending were Messrs. and Mrs. Earl Morland, Fred Adcock, Dewey Bullard, Price Harville, Kenneth Molabe, Gerdes Schmidt, George Plumlee, Leroy Thornburg, Buddy Cauthorn, Dick Willis, Austin Wilson, J. T. Jones, Otis McClelland, Leon Green, Floyd Bettis, Don Elrudge, Joe Otto, Stewart and Chester Riddles.

Coffee-Shower Today Honors Ann Sidwell

Miss Ann Sidwell, bride-elect of Lt. Eugene Fathree, was honored today at a 10 a.m. shower-coffee in the home of Mrs. C. V. Wilkinson, 813 N. Somerville.

Co-hostesses were Meses. E. J. O'Brien, George Prafra, Bill Dixon, E. E. Shelhamer and Wilkinson. Fifty guests attended the miscellaneous shower.

Decorations followed the pink and white theme of the honoree's colors. The dining table was covered with a beige cutwork tablecloth and the centerpiece was of pink carnations.

Mrs. Ralph Sidwell and Mrs. Fred Hobart poured. Mrs. Bob Sidwell presided at the guest register.

Varietas Study Club Presents Program With 'Unusual Western Spots' Theme

"Unusual Western Spots" was the theme of the Varietas Study Club meeting recently in the home of Mrs. J. C. Vollmert. Featured speakers were Mrs. C. L. McKinney, Mrs. J. A. Hopkins and Mrs. R. W. Lane.

Mrs. McKinney told the group of her trip to Bryce Canyon, Utah, and showed slides of pictures she had taken. She also spoke on Zion Canyon and told of her recent trip to Natchez and other southern spots.

Virginia City, famous old frontier city of Nevada, was the topic of Mrs. Hopkins' talk. She stated it is the best known as home of the Comstock Lode and as where Mark Twain once worked as an editor.

Mrs. Lane's presentation was entitled, "From Sagebrush to Roses," the saga of Grand Coulee Dam. Building of the dam, which transformed the barren land around it from a desert to a fertile land of roses and fruit, was the result of a 33-year dream, she related. It was like adding another state to the Union because of the land it made productive, she pointed out.

Final meeting of the club year will be a luncheon at 1 p.m. May 11 in the home of Mrs. Otis Nace, with Mrs. Dow King as co-hostess.

Present at the meeting were Meses. H. H. Butler, J. G. Cargile, J. G. Doggett, H. P. Dosier, E. C. Evans, H. T. Hampton, Lee Harris, J. A. Hopkins, Dow King, J. E. Kirckman, R. W. Lane, C. L. McKinney, Luther Pierson, J. R. Spearman, Ralph Thomas, W. C. Hutchison, W. A. Wagoner, Sherman White, and J. C. Vollmert.

County Clubwomen Will Help Launch National HD Week

By HELEN DUNLAP
Gray County HD Agent

Two Gray county home demonstration club women, Mrs. Charles Warrinham, Bell; and Mrs. O. G. Smith, Worthwhile, will appear on "Cotton John's" television program over KGNC next Saturday, May 1 at 4:30 p.m. They will start off the observance of National Home Demonstration Week by showing how to make a high altitude sponge cake. Miss Helen Dunlap, county home demonstration agent and Mrs. V. Smith, county council chairman, will accompany them.

During the week of May 2-8, 40,000 Texas Home Demonstration club members in 1,990 clubs will be observing National Home Demonstration Week, along with some three million members over the nation. Their national theme is, "Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World."

The purpose of this observance is to call the attention to the achievements of farm and ranch women through their organized planning and action.

Texas Extension Work is carried on cooperatively by the United States Department of Agriculture, Texas A & M College and county commissioners courts. The extension home demonstration program is one of education for adults. It offers a variety of opportunities for learning in every day living, and for leadership in community activities.

Texas has a total of 233 of the 2,700 county home demonstration agents of the nation. These agents are helping the rural women with the educational programs by giving a variety of different kinds of demonstrations to unorganized groups as well as to organized ones. They also train volunteer leaders to give demonstrations to their groups and others. These programs include various ones in home making and in organization work. The business meetings of these groups are conducted according to parliamentary procedure, and it is through the monthly meetings of the county home demonstration council that the leaders get this practice and information to take to their communities.

Exemplar Chapter Names Outstanding Girl At May 18 Meet

Plans for a dinner and installation of new exemplars and officers were discussed at a recent meeting of Beta Sigma Pi, exemplar chapter, in the home of Miss Joyce Warner, 808 N. Somerville, Tuesday. The event has been set for May 18, when the outstanding girl of the chapter will also be announced.

Following the business session, Mrs. Stanley Chittenden gave talks on Morocco, and Mrs. Joe Fischer spoke on Algiers.

The ten members present were Meses. Ralph Eason, Jim Poole, Bill Sullivan, Martin Stubbs, John Warner, Roy McKee, Laymond Hall, Stanley Chittenden, Joe Fischer, and Miss Joyce Warner.

Mrs. W. J. Craig Hostess At Dessert Bridge Party

Mrs. W. J. Craig was hostess to the Tuesday Bridge Club, yesterday in her home at 2008 Hamilton, for a dessert bridge party. Special guests for the afternoon were Meses. Bill Waters, James Fennell, John Frisby, Price Dooler, Don Cain, Ken Madiera, Garland Goodwyn, J. B. Maguire Jr., Cliff Braly, Johnny Campbell, Clifford Whitney and Bob Baker.

Spring flowers, individual table covers and pottery in brilliant colors carried out a decorative fiesta theme. Prize winners were Mrs. R. C. Goodwyn who won high score among guests and Mrs. Bill Waters, high among members. Mrs. John Frisby won Bingo prize.

Mrs. Cecil McCarroll Is Shower Honoree

A shower was held recently for Mrs. Cecil McCarroll in the home of Mrs. Dick Cooks, 820 N. Christy. Co-hostesses were Meses. John Pierce, Neal Middleton, and Cooke.

Following the playing of games, refreshments were served. Cake was trimmed with blue and white icing. Dispersed napkins, pin money and pink and white mints were used as favors.

Those attending were Meses. Virginia Pigg, G. W. Rick, Louis Bonny, Valla Alkhouse, Lell Fears, Fred J. Gray, Clyde Jonas, Geneva Gohin, Gloria Weldon, J. W. Moore, Betty Ward, Charlene Garner, Ian Price, L. Clark, the hostesses and the honoree.

Attendance Is Down In All Parks In West Texas - New Mexico Circuit

IN A CONVERSATION WITH last night's umpire for the Oiler-Gold Sox tilt, we learned that Pampa isn't the only club in the league that is having poor gates to date.

The arbiters, Carleton and Blundell, said every team in the league is having poor attendance including Plainview who was so "hot" for the baseball sport last season in its first season of organized baseball.

Bad weather, of course, has been the chief reason for the low attendance marks. But even with the bad weather, the attendance seems to be far below the past few seasons at this same stage and the weather is no worse this year than in the past.

Carleton said last night that Lubbock drew only 600 fans to its park Sunday and was a perfect day for baseball. That's about as bad as the few hundred that turned out here Monday night which was perfect baseball weather.

We might go on to say that the attendance is down for all minor leagues over the country. Just what is the real cause behind this, other than inclement weather?

Jimmy Hamilton, Oiler business manager, possibly has one good answer for this. "Television and game-of-the-day broadcasts are hurting the minor leagues," Hamilton says.

Saturday crowds throughout the minor leagues will likely fall off this year with the game-of-the-week in the major leagues being televised from coast to coast.

As Hamilton put it, fans get bored of baseball watching the game over television and Saturday night they seek other methods of entertainment.

Of the game-of-the-day broadcasts, Hamilton says that the announcers have a lot to do with hurting the minor leagues. "They make every play appear sensational," he said.

Prospects of a muddy track left the field for Saturday's Kentucky Derby more uncertain than ever Thursday with 21 horses headed by the favored Correlation, still listed as possible starters.

Two of the nominees, For Free and Super Devil, are almost certain to be declared out even before the entry box for the big race opens at Churchill Downs Friday morning.

The entry of three other horses depends entirely on the weather-two of them, Sea O Erin and Close Out, to start only if the present weather forecast holds true and the track is muddy; the other, Allied to start only if the track should happen to be fast.

The addition of Close Out to the possible field is a surprise. The colt, owned by Pollard and Harkins, had finished fourth in Tuesday's derby trial and trainer Henry Forrest had indicated Close Out was "out" of the Derby. But Forrest changed his mind Wednesday night when he heard the weather forecast and said that his colt would run if the track is muddy.

Thus, a Derby field of 18 is indicated for a muddy track, but only 17 for a fast track.

The mud prediction has had another effect - it has cost Hasty Road a lot of the support he earned by winning the Derby Trial in track record time. Owner Alvin Reuben insists that Hasty Road will start in the Derby regardless of the weather, but it's well-known that the colt does not like muddy tracks.

Hasty Road, coupled with Sea O Erin as an entry, remains the second choice in this Derby odds line, but the odds have jumped from 7-3 to 5-1. Correlation is the 2-1 choice.

In addition to Correlation and Hasty Road, the other sure starters appear to be Goyama, the Blue Grass Stakes winner listed at 8 to 1; Determine, beaten by a head by Hasty Road in the trial, who with Allied as an entry, also was listed at 8 to 1; Fisherman, a 10-1 shot; Hasseyamps, 25-1; James Session, 40-1; Red Hannigan, 50-1; Admiral Porter, 75-1; and Black Metal. Gov. Browning, King Phalanx, Ordained, Timely Tip, Pinetum and Mel Leavitt, all quoted at 100-1. If For Free and Super Devil should go, their probable odds also were listed at 100-1.

Tierney Goes After Second Win Tonight

By BUCK FRANCIS

Pampa News Sports Editor

The Oilers embarked on their first invasion of New Mexico this morning after pounding out an 18-3 decision over the Amarillo Gold Sox last night at Oiler Park that ended the 2-game series with the neighbor city nine.

The victory also left the Oilers just one game back of first place Lubbock who downed Albuquerque last night. Four other teams are tied with the Oilers for the runner-up spot, Amarillo, Albuquerque, Plainview and Clovis. All have 4-4 records. First place Lubbock has a 5-3 record.

Manager Doug Lewis of the Oilers said Don Tierney would start for the Oilers against the Dukes tonight. Lewis also added Jonas Gaines would start tomorrow's series final with the Dukes. Friday's Oiler-Duke tilt will be televised by an Albuquerque station.

Both Tierney and Gaines have won their only start to date. Tierney went the route in beating Berger, 18-7, Saturday night while Gaines won his game the following day, an 11-7 win over Clovis. Today's game will be broadcast on the air at 8:45 p.m.

Newcomer Dick Hariston came through in grand style last night in his debut with the Oilers by banging out four hits, one a homer and driving in five runs. Hariston was purchased by the Oilers from the Indianapolis Clowns a few days ago.

Well, it is hoped by all WT-NM clubs that hot weather will bring the fans out in the future.

IT LOOKS LIKE THE LUBBOCK Westerners are on their way to the District 1-AA baseball championship. The Westerners, with diminutive George Nelson on the mound, pitched Lubbock to a 3-2 win over Amarillo yesterday.

Lubbock now only has two games each with Plainview and Berger. But the Westerners may have to win four to capture the undisputed title.

Don't be surprised if the Harvesters don't knock the Sandies out of the running in Saturday's doubleheader. A split will ruin Amarillo's chances for the flag.

THE AMARILLO GOLD SOX have signed Whitley Krueger, released yesterday by the Oilers. Krueger was in the Gold Sox lineup last night but drew a goose egg in four trips to the plate. He didn't get a ball out of the infield.

Connie Ryan Released CINCINNATI, April 27 (UP)—Infielder Connie Ryan, a 12-year veteran in the major leagues, Tuesday was shopping for a new job after being handed his unconditional release by the Cincinnati Reds.

Culberson Chevrolet defeated Northern Natural Pipeline and Celanese No. 2 won over Northern Natural Gas, both by 3-1 scores. In the other game, Tom Rose Ford and Pampa Bowl battled to a 2-2 draw.

Culberson Chevrolet dominated scoring honors. The Chevy team had the high team game with 2,432 and high team series with 2,432 and furnished the high individual series bowler in Buck Donnell who had 652.

M. Johnson of Cabot Ordnance had the high individual game with 210. Restore leftover biscuits and muffins to freshness by splitting them, spreading with butter or jam, and toasting under the broiler. Serve hot.

Hubs Down Dukes, 8-6, To Keep Lead

Lubbock's Hubs took over the West Texas-New Mexico League lead Wednesday night with an 8-6 win over Albuquerque with catcher Moose Hochstetler's double in the eighth inning pushing across the winning runs.

The Hubs lead five other teams who were all tied for second place one game behind. In other games Wednesday night, Pampa got 20 hits to beat Amarillo, 18 to 3; Abilene scored nine runs in the second inning to beat Berger, 12 to 9; and Plainview whipped Clovis, 12 to 4.

Albuquerque pitcher George Socha, who had won 16 straight games over two seasons in the league, suffered his first loss at Lubbock. Socha won 14 games last year and had two wins this season.

Despite Abilene's big second inning, the Blue Sox were on the ropes in the ninth. Relief pitcher Harry Keicher hit a grand-slam homer in the ninth inning for Berger as the Gassers scored five runs.

Plainview's Ponies got 13 hits against Clovis while Ed Arthur went the distance and gave up 10. He walked only one batter. Jose Velazquez held Amarillo's Gold Sox to seven hits as the Pampa Oilers beat the Sox, 18 to 2, at Pampa.

RICKY MANTOOTH
McLean grid captain-elect

Mantooth Is New McLean Grid Captain

McLEAN (Special) - Veteran signal caller, Ricky Mantooth, has been elected as captain of the 1954 McLean Tiger football team.

Mantooth is a 160-pound senior with three years of experience back of him.

In the 1953 season, he was runner-up to the top scorer of the district. He is a wing back.

To aid Mantooth in the captaincy, Rodney Gunn and James Smith were elected as co-captains. Gunn is a 160-pound right half back and will be a senior with three years of experience. Smith plays full back and weighs 141, and will also be a senior.

Gal Tourney To Q-Finals

DALLAS, April 29 (UP)—Three former champions and two teen-aged schoolgirls were still in the running Thursday as the Women's State Amateur golf tournament moved into the quarterfinals.

The ex-titleholders were Polly Riley of Fort Worth and Mrs. H. C. Riedel of Dallas - favored to meet in Saturday's final - and Mrs. Kay Keating of Houston.

The young prodigies were 16-year-old Diane Garrett of Houston and 14-year-old JoAnn Brun of Laredo.

Other survivors were Mrs. Gene Harding of El Paso, Mrs. F. Turner of Baytown and Mrs. W. K. Stripling Jr., of Fort Worth.

Miss Riley, the medalist and favorite, met Miss Garrett and Miss Brun played Mrs. Harding in the top half of the round of a 12-hole Thursday. Mrs. Riedel met Mrs. Turner and Mrs. Keating faced Mrs. Stripling in the lower half.

There wasn't an upset, or even a tight match in Wednesday's third round as Miss Riley whipped Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite of Fort Worth 5 and 4 with three-over-par golf in what had been billed as the top match of the day.

Miss Garrett pummeled Mrs. T. L. Sampson of Lubbock 7 and 5; Miss Brun walloped Mrs. Lorraine Young of San Antonio 6 and 5; Mrs. Harding cut down Mrs. H. W. Tyson of Houston 4 and 3; Mrs. Riedel put out Mrs. C. C. Farris of Dallas 6 and 4; Mrs. Keating stopped Mrs. L. B. Hoesek of Dallas 4 and 3; Mrs. Stripling beat Mrs. Ray Shelton of Dallas 5 and 3, and Mrs. Turner nipped Mrs. G. H. Teasley of Texas 5 and 3 in the closest match of the round.

Cats Retake Lead By Beating Sports

The Fort Worth Cats combined a powerful hitting attack, featuring four home runs, with the two-hit pitching of Ralph Butler Wednesday night to defeat Shreveport, 10 to 1, and regain the Texas League lead.

While the Cats and Sports were fighting for the No. 1 spot, Manager Tommy Tatum's Oklahoma City Indians jumped from the cellar to sixth place by beating Houston, 6 to 4; San Antonio sent Tulsa into the dungeon by beating the Oilers, 11 to 4; and Beaumont moved to within two percentage points of the Dallas Eagles, in fourth place, with a 7 to 3 win.

Butler could have saved his outstanding mound performance for a closer game as the Cats hammered five Shreveport pitchers for 11 runs, including homers by Jack Lindsey, Bill Gabler, Glen Garbous and Ken Staples. It was Butler's third win of the season.

York Assures Victory Earl York of Oklahoma City took personal charge of the Indians 6 to 4 win over Houston.

After Houston took a 3 to 0 lead in the fourth inning, York hammered a two-run homer in the sixth to bring the Tribe into contention.

In the ninth inning with the Bulls ahead 4 to 2, the Indians Allan Cross struck a home run and then the veteran York got familiar with the fence again for his second four-master that caught a mate on base to win the game.

The Indians bunched seven of their 10 hits, as well as all of their runs, in the two big innings.

Mahager Eddie Stanky, whose temper has a mighty short fuse, was finding out Thursday that his Cardinals can win just as well without him.

The little pepper-pot was tossed out of a game for a row with an umpire for the third time this season Wednesday and as on the previous occasions, the Cards scored a leader-less triumph.

The latest victory was their most significant of the young campaign for it was their second in a row over the champion Dodgers, 6 to 5 in 10 innings and it enabled them to replace Brooklyn in second place in the National League race.

Removed in Ninth Both Coach John Riddle and Stanky were removed by umpire Frank Secory in the ninth inning. Riddle for protesting a strike call against the Cardinals and Stanky for protesting Riddle's removal.

Dodger outfielder Dick Williams went out in the top of the 10th; also for complaining over a call by Secory.

It was the seventh Cardinal victory in the last nine games and it came dramatically. After Ray Jablonski walked, pinch-runner Dick Schofield, the bonus boy shortstop, stole second and scored on a single by Steve Bilko off losing reliever Jim Hughes. Jablonski, Rip Repulski and Stan Musial got three hits apiece in the 14 safe blows collected by the Redbirds. Gil Hodges hit his fifth homer for the Dodgers to take over the major league lead.

Stanky previously was ejected on April 18 when he looted umpire Lee Ballanfant and the Cards went on to defeat the Cubs 6 to 4, then was put against Cincinnati on April 21 when he refused to stay in the third base coaching box and Birdie Tebbetts, the Reds' manager, protested the to a defeat forays to league President Warren Giles. The protest was not allowed, however.

Third Straight for Cincy In other National League games Cincinnati won its third in a row, 8 to 4 to stay in first place while the Giants defeated the Braves at Milwaukee 5 to 1 as Ruben Gomez edged Lou Burdette in a pitching battle.

Philadelphia at Chicago in the National and Chicago at New York, Detroit at Philadelphia, Baltimore at Washington, Cleveland at Boston in the American were postponed.

Cincinnati, which has been looking desperately for pitching help, received a one-hit relief job for 6-3 innings by Little Jackie Coleman, who gained his first victory after being traded to the Cardinals. Coleman was pounded out in a three-run third inning Pittsburgh rally. The Reds scored five runs in the same frame as Johnny Temple stole home on the front end of a double theft with Jim Greenaway, who had doubled in one run and singled home an earlier one.

Wednesday's star - Steve Bilko of the Cardinals, who singled home the winning run in the 10th, hit a 4 to 5 victory over Brooklyn which put St. Louis in second place ahead of the Dodgers.

When Mathews draw a walk from Gomez in the sixth inning of Wednesday's game, it marked the first time in 22 at-bats against the New York righthander that Mathews had reached first base by either a hit or walk. He got there once on a dropped third strike.

Tyler Increases Lead In Big State

By UNITED PRESS
The Tyler Tigers snapped a three-game losing streak Wednesday night to beat Waco, 4 to 2, and increase their Big State League lead to two and one-half games.
Corpus Christi, Waco and Austin were deadlocked for second place. Harlingen's Capitols downed Corpus Christi, 6 to 5, Austin edged Temple, 8 to 7, and Galveston trounced Bryan, 7 to 5, in other games.
The Galveston-Bryan game was played under protest during the final inning. Bryan manager Al LaMacchia protested when Joe Noda, Galveston centerfielder, supposedly batted out of turn in the ninth inning.
Four Players Ejected
It was one of the stormiest games of the season, lasting three hours and 45 minutes with four Bryan players—Gene Depperschmidt, Lorenzo and Emilio Cabrera and LaMacchia all being ejected from the game by umpires Ken Sears and Harry Reeder.
J. D. Sanderson walked with the bases loaded in the last of the ninth inning to force home the winning run.
Bill Bagwell went the distance for Tyler to record his fourth straight victory without a loss. Tyler could muster only three hits but, combined with five Waco errors, used them to best advantage.
Home Run in Ninth
Hardie Matties' home run in the ninth inning gave Austin's Pioneer their 8 to 7 win over Temple.
Roberto Rodriguez, who took over Austin's pitching duties from Roger May in the first inning with none out, allowed the Eagles but two hits the rest of the way, both coming in the fourth inning.
Harlingen rallied for two runs in the eighth inning to beat Corpus Christi, Walt Dukovich's double, the third hit of the inning, sent the winning run home.

Port Arthur Holds Lead In Evangeline

By UNITED PRESS
New Iberia lambasted a trio of Alexandria hurriers for 21 hits and a 20 to 7 victory Wednesday night to hang on to second place in the Evangeline League, still a half game behind high-flying Port Arthur.
Port Arthur edged Lake Charles, 4 to 3, Lafayette downed Baton Rouge 6 to 2 and Crowley nipped Texas City, 4 to 3, in other games.
Ted Del Rio tossed his third win against no losses as his New Iberia mates piled up a large lead. Jim Smith and Ted Smith shared stick honors for the winners in driving in seven runs and hitting four-for-five, respectively.
Single runs in the last three innings gave the loop-leading St. A Hawks of Port Arthur a comeback 4 to 3 win over seventh-place Lake Charles.
Veteran righthander J. E. Richard turned in a two-hit performance against Baton Rouge in posting his third win of the young season, 6 to 2. Don LaVigne led the 11-hit Laker attack with four for five including a double.
A wild pitch by Texas City's Ed Bowles in the last of the eighth allowed Fred Demourelle to score the winning run for Crowley.

Patton, Chapman Pace North-South

PINEHURST, N.C., April 29—UP—Tournament favorites Billy Joe Patton and Dick Chapman led eight survivors Thursday into the quarter-final round of the North and South Amateur golf championship—but they were the only "big name" players left.
And Patton comes up against a dangerous rival Thursday in Curtis Ferson of Memphis, Tenn., who Wednesday eliminated the tournament's medalist.

18-Year-Old Dupas Whips Pat Brady

NEW ORLEANS, April 29—UP—Ralph Dupas, 18-year-old New Orleans "whiz kid" fighter, said Thursday he hoped his victorious performance against Irishman Pat Brady in a 10-round nationally televised fight would give him a chance at a "lot more TV appearances."
"I wanted to give a good fight, especially since I was on television for the second time," he said after his unanimous decision Wednesday night over the 26-year-old Brady, who couldn't cope with the elusive "French Quarter darling."
In his first televised fight last Jan. 2 against now lightweight champion Paddy DeMarco, which he lost, and in other events, Dupas got the name as a hit and run fighter, but he punched it out Wednesday night to win going away.
"He (Brady) was the roughest fighter I've ever met," said Dupas, the fifth ranking lightweight challenger. "He was a lot of trouble on the inside."
Referee Pete Giaruso, who warned both fighters about low blows, gave Dupas six rounds and Brady four, while judges Ed Wolfe and Francis Kercheval each scored it six for Dupas, two for Brady and two even. The United Press scored it 8-2 for Dupas.
"The heat bothered me, and the referee was too rough in breaking the clinches," said Brady in commenting on his showing. "The referee grabbed me at the neck instead of the shoulder. The heat was so bad I was punching like I was in a dream."

IN HALF-MILE Wes Santee To Attempt World Record

LAWRENCE, Kan., April 29—UP—Wes Santee, the nation's fastest miler, will forego his favorite race again Saturday in a dual meet at Manhattan, Kan., to try for a new world record in the half mile run.
Kansas State officials thought Santee would run in the mile, but Santee and his coach at Kansas, Bill Easton, announced a change of plans Wednesday night and said "a real effort will be made to lower Mai Whitfield's time of 1:48.6 set in Finland last summer."
The Ashland, Kan., senior ran second to Whitfield on that occasion and was clocked in 1:48.9. His best time in the 860-yard event was established three weeks ago in the Texas Relays, when he was timed in an unrecognition 1:48.3.
Santee said his goal Saturday, when Kansas meets Kansas State in a dual meet, will be for a half mile in 1:48 flat.

San Francisco Open Underway Today

SAN FRANCISCO, April 29—UP—A sprinkling of the nation's top play-for-pay golfers, along with their sim-pure brothers, tuned up Thursday in the first sunshine of the week for Friday's opening round of the 54-hole $10,000 San Francisco Open.
Heading the list of those getting in their final prep over the tricky, slender fairway Lake Merced layout were Art Wall, winner last weekend of the Tournament of Champions at Las Vegas; PGA titlist Walt Burkemo; Ed (Porky) Oliver; Dr. Cary Middlecoff and E. J. (Dutch) Harrison.

DID YOU RECOGNIZE 'EM ALL? — Quickly, from left to right, they are Ernest Winborne, Aubrey Jones, Warren Hasse and Jack Back. Winborne is Pampa's fire chief. Jones is the city tax assessor-collector. Hasse is the co-owner of Radio Station KPDM. And Back is the county tax assessor-collector. Each of them sports a different type of straw hat, two days before Pampa's official Straw Hat Day arrives. Mayor Tom Rose today made Saturday the day with a proclamation, pointing out that springtime and straw hats go together. The four pictured above are among the hundreds of Pampans expected to be wearing the new light-weight head gear, beginning Saturday. Like so many other Pampans during the mid-morning period, these four had just completed a morning cuppa coffee when this picture was taken. (News Photo)

GI Accused Of Raping Elderly Woman

GIFU, Japan, April 28—UP—A 73-year-old Japanese woman who accused a young American Marine of raping her died here Wednesday. Doctors said death was from shock. The woman, Kinue Iwama, told police Pfc. Clarence P. Butler, 20, Roanoke, Va., broke into her house and raped her. Butler was found by police in her home, wearing only shorts and undershirt, the 3rd Marine Division reported. A Japanese police report said he entered the house Wednesday, threatened the old woman with a knife and attacked her when she resisted. He slashed her in 30 places on the face and right hand, police said. A Japanese doctor's report supported her claim of rape. An investigation of the case by both U.S. and Japanese authorities is expected to produce an "early report," the Marine division said.

Sentenced To Death For Rape

MIDLAND, Tex., April 28—UP—A district court jury deliberated only 30 minutes Wednesday before returning a death verdict against Harry F. Butcher Jr., 26, on rape charges. Butcher, an ex-convict, pleaded guilty to raping two Odessa, Tex., women last March 14. The jury was left only the decision of deciding on the penalty. The trial was held here on a change of venue. It began only Monday. Butcher entered the homes of two women within a short period of time and at gunpoint raped the women and tied up their husbands. However, the husband of one of the women broke his bonds, grappled with Butcher and shot him in the foot. He held him until police arrived.

Eagle Scout Aspirant To Attend Meet

Bob Schoofield, Post 4, First Presbyterian church, is the first applicant for Eagle Scout to take part in an Eagle conference, held in conjunction with the monthly Santa Fe District meeting. Phil Pagues, district Scout executive, mentioned it late this morning pointing out that a panel of four adults — Floyd Watson, John Campbell, C. A. (Lefty) Huff and E. Roy Smith — heard Schoofield tell of his Scouting future and the spiritual and moral aspects of Scouting. The first procedure of its kind was held immediately before the regular meeting of the district, which got underway at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. Floyd Lassiter is the advisor for Post 4.

TOPSY-TURVY BUCK—Hotel proprietor William Globerman, of Ossining, N. Y., has a dollar bill which everybody wants. The serial numbers and signatures of George Humphrey, Secretary of the Treasury, and Ivy Baker Priest, Treasurer of the U. S., are printed upside down. Globerman got the bill from a customer in the hotel bar.

State Health Officer Resigns

AUSTIN, April 29—UP—Dr. George W. Cox stepped down Thursday after 17 years as state health officer of Texas when Dr. Henry A. Holle was sworn in. Holle, who took over the post after 20 years with the federal Public Health Service, was sworn in at 3 p.m. by Chief Justice John E. Hickman of the Texas Supreme Court.
Cox, 74, resigned last December, effective March 1. But he remained in office until a successor could be found for Holle as director of the USPHS' Regions 1 and 2, a 10-state area with headquarters in New York.
The new health officer was born at Brenham, Tex., and studied at Texas A&M and the University of Texas, which granted him a doctor of medicine degree in 1927.

Mazza Seeks Freedom

DENVER, April 29—UP—U.S. Attorney Donald E. Kelley met with Frank (Blackie) Mazza's attorney Thursday to discuss seeking his freedom from the federal correctional institution at La Tuna, Tex., where he has already served 18 months for income tax evasion. Mazza, an associate of Clyde and Eugene Smaildore, now serving 60-year terms at Leavenworth, Kan., for jury tampering, was sentenced to one year and fined $5,000 on the income tax charge. He has been held at La Tuna since last Sept. 29, when his year was up, because the fine has not been paid. Kelley said he would talk with Frank J. Morrissey, Mazza's attorney, about having him released because he thought it wrong to keep Mazza in prison indefinitely for nonpayment of a fine on a misdemeanor charge.

Suspects Caught

DENVER, April 29—UP—Immigration officials announced Wednesday that two Mexican Nationals—one a murder suspect and the other charged with smuggling aliens across the Mexican border—have been arrested in Colorado. Pascual Rangel-Esplanon, 28, was arrested by border patrolmen near Lafayette, Colo. Authorities said he was wanted in Mexico on suspicion of killing a man last year. Joe Cabrera, 45, was arrested at his home in Longmont, Colo., and charged with smuggling aliens into the United States.
