McCarthy Is Accused Of 'Criminal Action'

Arkansas Solon 'Makes Charge'

WASHINGTON, May 27 — Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) Thursday accused Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy of receiving secret information "through criminal means" and said both McCarthy and the donor are guilty of "a crime."

McClellan made the charge in a heated exchange with McCarthy over documents in possession of McCarthy's investigating subcommittee.

AMARILLO — (Special) — The 46th annual Northwest Texas Methodist conference entered its second day today in Poik Street Methodist church here.

The day's program opened with a worship service at 8:30 a. m., with Bishop William C. Martin, Dallas, speaking on "He Appeared Also to Me."

The worship service was followed by a business session at 9 a. m., which featured reports on the Texas Methodist College association, Texas Methodist Student movement, Town and Country commission, Board of Methodist Evangelism, Board of Education and Board of Temperance.

Tin Smelter To Stay Open

WASHINGTON, May 27 — The Senate Armed Services committee Thursday approved a resolution calling for the government-owned tin smelter at Texas City, Tex., to be continued in operation for another year.

The resolution, introduced by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.), would place Congress in opposition to the administration move to close down the smelter by June 30.

Chairman Leverett Saltonstall said the resolution was approved unanimously by the committee. He said it was his opinion that the administration orders would be reversed and the smelter continued in operation.

Blast Rips Four Homes

FORT WORTH, May 27 — A terrific explosion that was heard for five miles demolished one home, badly damaged three others and knocked several persons out of bed or off their feet in a south side neighborhood early Thursday.

There were no reported injuries from the blast, which occurred in a small frame house from which a family had moved only Sunday.

The explosion was believed to have been caused by gas escaping from an uncapped pipe in the empty house.

Debris was blown over a 40-yard area and nearly filled the street in front of the wrecked home, owned by Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Cole. Window panes within a half block of the explosion were shattered.

Two homes on either side of the demolished house were badly damaged, as was a garage apartment in the rear. Raymond Cole, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Cole, said he was blown from bed in the garage apartment where he and a brother, H. C. Cole, live. Furniture in the apartment was turned over.

Wire Pierces Child's Heart

HOUSTON, May 27 — A nine-year-old boy died shortly before Wednesday midnight, his heart pierced by a two-inch piece of galvanized wire.

The child was Donald R. Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Anderson and eldest of their five children.

The wire was driven into his chest by the whirling blades of a rotary power lawn mower as Donald watched 13-year-old Jimmy Anderson mow a neighbor's lawn.

Donald died shortly before midnight at a hospital, despite efforts of two heart specialists to save his life. His heart, the upper part pierced by the wire, stopped beating at 11 p. m. and failed to respond to 45 minutes of massage.

Law Professors Count Proxy Vote

ALBANY, N. Y., May 27 — Three law professors Thursday began counting the proxy votes of stockholders that will decide whether or not to merge with the Young and Rubicam group.

The tedious process started Thursday morning at the Ten Eyck hotel and was scheduled to continue on an 11-hour-a-day basis until results become known.

While said the final count would probably be announced at noon next Tuesday.

Adjournment Of Congress Seen July 31

WASHINGTON, May 27 — The Senate Democratic counterparty, known as the "Young and Rubicam group," is expected to adjourn by July 31 — if the Democrats will cooperate.

The Californian has been confidently making much the same statement for months. But this one came on the heels of a personal estimate by Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) that Aug. 15 is the earliest possible adjournment date.

Famed Prison Warden Dies

CANON CITY, Colo., May 27 — Roy Best, 54, suspended warden of the Colorado state prison and one of this state's most colorful and controversial figures, died Thursday at his Hitchcock ranch near here.

Best, who had been warden of the Canon City prison for more than two decades until his suspension in 1952 on charges of mismanagement and inefficiency, succumbed to coronary thrombosis, according to his family physician.

Best gained national prominence in the New Year's Eve break of a dozen desperate prisoners from the Canon City prison in 1948. He later played himself in a movie filmed of the break.

Texas Has Only Law Barring Reds

AUSTIN, May 27 — A great many people think that all the Communists in the United States should be in jail.

The State of Texas, alone of all in the Union, has the necessary laws to put them there.

But although those laws have been on the books for more than a month now, Texas authorities have yet to make an arrest. It is becoming apparent that the legislature passed at the special session of the legislature is to be held as a legal weapon for an emergency.

The federal government must prove that the defendant is in fact party to a conspiracy to teach and advocate the violent overthrow of the American government.

Texas took that one step forward and made a "finding of fact" that membership in the Communist party, ipso facto, constitutes being a party to such a revolutionary conspiracy.

If that law were in effect in the state of New York, authorities could send to jail hundreds of persons who are known to be members of the party — many of them working in the building off Union Square that is national headquarters and the office of the Daily Worker.

Col. Homer Garrison Jr., boss of the Texas Rangers, refused to estimate for the lawmakers how many Reds are in Texas. His reasoning is that the Communists themselves are the ones who want most to know how many of them have been spotted.

Graduation Tonight For 181 Students

The 181 graduates of Pampa High school will receive their diplomas in commencement exercises at 8 p. m. today in the school's field house.

Presentation will be made after an address by Dr. E. N. Jones, president of Texas Technological college, Lubbock.

Graduates will enter the field house while the Harvester band plays "Emp and Caravony," under direction of Bill Trago.

Invocation
The Rev. Carroll E. Ray, pastor of the Central Baptist church, will give the invocation, after which Jimmy Henson, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Henson, 621 N. Dwight, will play a chorale solo.

Diploma Awards
After Dr. Jones' address, diplomas will be awarded by Supt. Knox Kinard, Principal Jack Edmondson and Assistant Principal Jack Nichols.

Special recognition will be given Valedictorian Gaye Nell Carter and Salutatorian Terry Forrester. After the class sings "Dear Old Pampa High School," the Rev. Porter Brooks, vicar of St. Matthews Episcopal church, will give the invocation. The recessional will be played by the Harvester band.

The graduates held a rehearsal at the field house Wednesday in preparation for the big event.

The Rev. Dick Crews, pastor of the First Christian church, was the baccalaureate speaker at vespers services in the school auditorium Sunday afternoon, which was attended by a large crowd of parents and friends of the graduates.

KPAT Building To Be Changed

The four Pampa doctors — three physicians and one dentist — who bought the Station KPAT building late this morning were planning to build an addition to the west of the present structure on North Hobart.

Dr. Charles Ashby, one of the four, today said the addition would probably add an extra 700 or 800 square feet to the existing 4,200 square feet. An out-of-town architect is presently working on plans.

Others who bought the building from J. C. Daniels with Ashby were Dr. Philip A. Gaster and Dr. R. M. Hampton, physicians, and Dr. Smith B. Sybert, dentist. The sale was consummated about 10:30 p. m. Wednesday, Dr. Ashby said.

Each of the four doctors, Dr. Ashby continued, will have his separate quarters. The entire interior of the building will be remodeled.

Daniels, however, is expected to continue operating the radio station — from a new smaller building to the west of the present one, near the tower.

Travis County Grand Jury Ends Insurance Fraud Quiz

It heard its last scheduled witness Wednesday. He was Paul Key, executive vice president of the Southwest National Bank, of El Paso. Key was the last witness subpoenaed by the grand jury to complete its four days of inquiry.

Officials of two defunct insurance companies declined to answer an invitation from the grand jury to appear before it.

Rejects Invitation

A-Bombers Make 'Good-Will' Flight

Three 10-engine American atomic bombers roared out of the darkness at Fort Worth, Tex., Thursday on an unprecedented "good will" flight over Nicaragua, next-door neighbor of Communist-influenced Guatemala.

Brig. Gen. John D. Ryan, commander of the 19th Air Division, took off in the lead plane from Carswell Air Force base at 12:15 a. m. and the other two Superbombers followed at eight-minute intervals.

The non-stop trip was expected to last about 17 1/2 hours, giving the B-36s at least 30 minutes in Nicaraguan skies. They will not land.

Defense Department spokesmen said officially the flight was a good will mission in observance of Nicaragua army day, made at the request of the South American government. The United States never before had received such a request from a foreign government on the occasion of a state holiday.

Liberace Thrills Squared Garden

NEW YORK, May 27 — The thrill of packing Madison Square Garden to the rafters with screaming, middle-aged women left pianist Liberace all covered with goose pimples.

More than three hours Wednesday night, Liberace entertained 15,000 persons with songs, jokes, dancing and piano selections in the arena where Joe Louis has won championship bouts and Gargantua, the gorilla, has been on display.

The crowd, consisting mainly of women well beyond the squealing bobby sox age, paid a total of more than $50,000 to see and hear Liberace.

"It's so overwhelming that I've got goose pimples," the dimpled darling of the nation's television fans declared. "I made up my mind when I was four years old that this was what I wanted to do. And there are still greater ambitions to look forward to."

Liberace, whose chubby cheeks, boyish chatter and piano personality have turned him into a $6 million-a-year wonder, told his audience he owed most of his success to the great Paderewski — and to his mother.

High Winds, Tornado Hit Texas Points

Weather forecasters predicted showers over the eastern half of Texas Thursday after a night in which hurricane-force winds lashed Bronte, in West Texas, and a tornado was reported around DeLeon, 100 miles east of Bronte.

The wind at Bronte — possibly a tornado, though there was no report of funnel being seen — unroofed the B. A. Bell home, damaged the First National Bank and knocked over three or four electric light poles.

A tornado funnel was reported five miles north of DeLeon, but it apparently never touched the ground. Weather forecasters said there will be widely scattered showers over the eastern half of the state Thursday, and more showers Friday, but less tomorrow and today.

McCarthy

who supplied the information—who has been identified by McCarthy only as a young officer in Army Intelligence—were guilty of crimes.

Repeals Statement

"I repeat that statement," McClellan said. "I do not believe you can receive classified information obtained through criminal means without being guilty of a crime."

"If any administration wants to indict me," McCarthy shot back, "they can go ahead and indict."

McClellan snapped that criminal prosecutions were up to the Justice Department, not him.

The wrangle developed as Roy M. Cohn, the subcommittee's chief counsel, was testifying as the opening witness for the McCarthy side.

Referred to Document

Cohn had referred to a document on Communist infiltration of the Army which the subcommittee staff received in March, 1953.

McClellan cut in to ask for details.

Cohn said he was reluctant to discuss the report or say who prepared it.

When McClellan insisted he had the right to know as a subcommittee member, the subcommittee took a recess to allow Cohn to consult with McCarthy.

The recess, ordered for two minutes, stretched out to 20 while McCarthy and Cohn went to the senator's office. McCarthy eventually identified the author of the memorandum on communism in the Army as Paul Crotch, an admitted former Communist leader.

Soil Group Picks Pampa

Pampa will be host to next year's annual awards banquet of the "Save Our Soil and Save Texas" program, sponsored by the Fort Worth Press.

This was announced Wednesday night at a similar banquet in the Herring hotel, Amarillo, at which Clyde Magee, McLean, received the top soil conservation award.

Making the announcement were Walter Humphrey, editor of The Press, and Sid Payne, Tulsa, Ala. representative and chairman of the State Soil Conservation Board.

Magee, a former agriculture teacher in McLean schools, was honored as the outstanding conservation farmer in this region. He had been nominated several months ago for this honor by the Board of Supervisors of the Gray county Soil Conservation district.

A graduate of Louisiana State university, Magee came to Gray county in 1925, becoming a vocational agriculture instructor at McLean. In 1931 he resigned his teaching duties to devote his time to farming and ranching.

His farm was at that time a non-productive and badly eroded piece of land, but it had been turned into a very productive farm through soil conservation practices.

Among the 200 persons attending the awards banquet from Pampa were Jim Straw, Paul Appleton and All Schneider of the Soil Conservation Service office; W. B. Jackson, a district supervisor; County Commissioner Bill Jarvis, County Agent Ralph Thomas, Quentin Williams, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Agriculture committee; Irvin Cole, prominent farmer; A. B. Carruth, another prominent farmer, and Manager E. O. Wedgworth of the Chamber of Commerce.

District Attorney to Quit GONZALES Tex. 27-UP—District Attorney W. W. Ellison has announced he will not be a candidate for re-nomination at the Democratic primaries in July. He gave no reason for his decision. His post covers the 29th judicial district which includes Gonzales, Lavaca, Guadalupe and Colorado counties.

Red Cross Seeks Enrants

The Pampa Red Cross chapter is looking for someone to head to an aquatic school June 3-13 and who can then assist in the chapter's water safety program here in August. Mrs. Frank W. Shotwell, chapter executive secretary, has announced.

Courses and schedules set up at the school, located at Lake Murray near Ardmore, Okla., include recreation swimming, handicap swimming, canoeing instructor training, and synchronized swimming, Mrs. Shotwell said.

Anyone interested in attending the school should contact the local Red Cross office, the secretary stated. She added that the chapter has funds on hand to defray the trainee's expenses, but stressed that he or she will be expected to assist in the August water safety program here.

Chief difficulty in finding someone to head the school, Mrs. Shotwell said, lay in the fact that they would not be available to assist at the time the safety course is scheduled.

There are 70 Girl Scouts enrolled in the local water safety program," she declared, "but we need more instructors." She added that the safety course is open to anyone.

A water safety program will also be offered at Borger for five days beginning June 28, the secretary revealed, and there is an aquatic school scheduled for June 8-18 at Texas State College for Women at Denton.

Tentative plans for holding home nursing classes in the fall, discussed at a meeting of the chapter Monday night, would include having only registered nurses teach the classes, Mrs. Shotwell stated.

The course, designed primarily for prospective parents, would be on mother and baby care; the secretary revealed. However, the course is open to all interested persons in the surrounding communities, she added.

Attending Monday's meeting was Hazel Haywood, national home nursing representative from St. Louis. Miss Haywood will teach the course, the secretary said, and local nurses would be her assistants. The nurses then will be qualified as instructors when they complete the course.

Perryton To Send Three To Road-e-o

PERRYTON (Special)—Three students will represent Perryton at the regional Jay-Cee driving contest in Dalhart on June 5. They are the Perryton winners in the contest.

Representatives are Richard Wilson, who won first in the local contest, Franklin Hardy, second, and Doyce Pops, third.

The contest was held during the first part of May. There were more than 50 Perryton High school students participating in the written contest, and 31 took part in the driving contest, which was held on the school grounds.

The Road-e-o is a national contest sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce of America. The winner of the regional contest will go to Washington for the national contest in which several scholarships will be awarded to the winners.

The officials tried to figure the cost of having the ground worked, emphasizing that the board would not actually put up a fence, just something to keep cars away.

The practice field will run north and south, just east of Russell, for two blocks, he continued. The track will circle the field. That will necessitate moving the baseball diamond closer to Harvester park.

Next meeting of the board is slated for 7:30 p.m., June 14.

City Water Consumption Below 1953

Pampa rains this spring have made an appreciable difference in the amount of water consumed, as contrasted with 1953.

Wednesday a total of 2,555,000 gallons was used by Pampans; whereas some 5,821,125 gallons were consumed May 26, 1953, according to Assistant City Engineer R. B. (Jiggs) Cooke.

The "consumption figure Tuesday was 1,497,190 gallons—a year ago to the day it was 5,953,125 gallons, Cooke said. A year ago today, Pampans used 6,999,125 gallons.

During May 1953, some 104,470,000 gallons were consumed. This morning with only five days to go in the month, the consumption figure for the month was 46,000,000 gallons.

Biggest month for the use of water in 1953, though, was not May. It was June with 182,405,000 gallons.

The first cotton mill in America was built on James Island, S. C., in 1790, pre-dating by one year one built in another state.

THE MARQUEE

BY DICK KLEINER

Do you realize you're a vul-ture? At least, somebody thinks you are. In fact, four somethodies they're the four gals who make up the questions for "Strike It Rich" and "The Big Payoff." And they say that the whole listening public is just a bunch of vultures, waiting to pounce on a mistake.

"We've only made two errors," said Helen Lee, "but we get ul-cers everytime we think of them." Two errors is more than 40,000 questions isn't bad, but she wouldn't say what they were.

The four girls are all experts in various fields. Miss Lee, for example, knows the Civil War and the Bible especially well. Then there's Ethel Shepard (music), Barbara Hotchkiss (geography and nature) and Lenore Miller, who calls herself "an unfortunate type — a Giant fan" so she's in the sports authority.

Their greatest pleasure is to catch reference books in errors. (Who's a vulture now?) Just a day or so ago, they came across a dictionary which said that Diamond Head was on Maui Island in Hawaii, when any fool knows it's on Oahu. Remember that a fact; it may win you a milk cot some day.

One of the most embarrassing incidents in TV history happened to an actress in a big dramatic show. She sailed through all the rehearsals in fine style, and was a smash at the dress rehearsal. But come show time and she wasn't anywhere to be found. She had vanished, and her understudy had to go on. Later came the explanation — absent-mindedly, she thought the dress rehearsal was the actual program. True, she's ms.

Norman Brokenshire, the author, lifted a glass of 7-Up to his lips and talked about his book, "This Is Norman Brokenshire" (McKay). The book tells of his life as one of the oldest established announcers ("How do you do, ladies and gentlemen, how DO you do?") and also about his personal transformation from alcoholic to abstainer — which accounts for the 7-Up.

"Why did I write a book?" He help up three fingers. "There's no point in lying — I did it for the ego of being a writer and for the money." And he flipped two fingers down. He wagged the one remaining finger.

"But there was this, too. To help. I wanted to help. I wanted to show some guys that it could be done. And I'm getting lots of letters from people telling me that I've showed them the way. You know that old bromide — if he can do it, I can, too. Well, it's a bromide, but it's true. It's working."

Brokenshire took a long swing of 7-Up.

"The letters are wonderful. I makes me feel that I'm really doing something. Nicest feeling I've ever had. I'm going to write some more books."

It's his first book, but he's not a rookie writer. He's written scripts for years, and some magazine articles. He works hard at writing.

"See that bump?" He held up the middle finger of his right hand, and pointed to a bump on the knuckle. "That represents 140,000 words — longhand."

And he took another swallow and looked at his bump. Between the contents of the glass and the bump on his finger, Brokenshire was a happy man.

Maurice Evans on TV vs. the stage: "TV is more of a challenge to an actor. You can get away with things on the stage because of the color and breath. But on TV that monster is always right in front of you. They say you get used to it, but I haven't yet."

Karen Chandler and her husband, Jack Plets, Decca Record's musical director, sold their home in Hollywood and started to build one in suburban Englewood, N. J. One week after ground was broken came word that Universal-International Pictures wanted Karen for a movie in September.

What they need is a little bigger house — one with a front porch in Englewood and a back porch in Hollywood.

Attorney Role In Insurance Case Studied
CORNICANA, Tex., May 27—UP—A State Bar Association grievance committee Wednesday opened an inquiry of the role played by State Sen. William Moore of Bryan in representing the now-defunct Texas Mutual Insurance Co. of Beaumont as an attorney while serving as chairman of the Senate Insurance committee.

Moore was registered at the Navarro hotel in Corsicana where the grievance committee hearing was held. However, he did not appear when Chairman Matt Dawson, Corsicana attorney, and four of the other six committee members opened the hearing.

"He said he would be available when we needed him," Dawson said.

"This is, of course, a closed hearing, though he has made a great deal about asking to be heard, so we may have a statement on this later."

Moore refused to discuss the inquiry except to say "I understand this is a closed hearing."

The state senator appeared before a Travis county grand jury at Austin, Wednesday.

He asked for the bar association grievance committee investigation and expressed belief he would be cleared of "vague and insinuating charges" in connection with the insurance company.

Moore was named recently in a Third Court of Civil Appeals opinion as a recipient of more than $13,000 from Texas Mutual for legal services during its bankruptcy.

JOHN HANSON REP. O'HARA WASHINGTON

Ever Hear Of John Hanson? He Was Our First President

By KENNETH O. GILMORE
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON—(NEA)—You never hear the expression, "John Hanson slept here," for such a boast would only draw a quick "So what?"

Yet John Hanson should be considered the first President of the United States rather than George Washington. That at least is the opinion of Rep. Barrett O'Hara (D., Ill.) who recently gave his fellow Congressmen a little brush-up on their American history.

"John Hanson was the first President of the United States in Congress Assembled. He was recognized and proclaimed head of our Government when Cornwallis surrendered his sword to Washington at Yorktown," said O'Hara.

Hanson, a Marylander, was President under the Articles of Confederation and Washington under the Constitution. But O'Hara points out that "the date of the adoption of the Articles of Confederation on March 11, 1781, fixes the date of the real beginning of the United States as a perpetual union."

Five months later on Nov. 5, 1781, delegates from the 13 original colonies elected Hanson their chief executive. Soon after that Washington wrote him a letter in which he said, "I congratulate Your Excellency on your appointment to fill the most important seat in the United States."

The two were long time friends, but history swiftly passed by Hanson to keep pace with the career of Washington. No cherry tree legends remain to be told about John Hanson.

O'Hara does note that his wife, Jane Conlee Hanson, "was recognized as the First Lady of the Land" and that "a building still standing in Philadelphia was furnished by the Congress for occupancy of John Hanson while serving as President."

O'Hara makes it clear that his recognition of Hanson "is no diminution of the fame and glory that belong in unequal measure to George Washington."

He feels, however, that "we add to the wealth of our national heritage by rescuing from the imprisonment of obscurity the inspiration of other heroes of loftiest stature."

Hank Lists His Aliases! Foreign Governments Nosy About Visitor's Personal Life

By HENRY McLEMORE
Haven't you, at one time or another, wanted to write your autobiography?
Almost everyone has, and almost everyone would write it not for shyness, or a reluctance to reveal intimate details of his or her life.

The best way to break down this resistance, and perhaps get on the best-seller list, is to visit foreign lands across the ocean by flying machine.

I never realized this more fully than on the way to Australia on the inaugural trans-Pacific flight of Qantas Empire Airways. We were somewhere between San Francisco and Honolulu when the stewardess broke in on Mary's and my mah jong game and handed us more papers than have been served on Frank Costello in the past five years.

"Fill these out, please," she said in her pleasant Down Under accent. "I'll be back shortly to fetch them."

The papers were forms that all countries, not only Australia, require from the incoming alien. How dreadfully personal countries get with visitors! It's a good thing my Aunt Beas isn't much of a traveler, because she wouldn't tell them.

"There are certain things you keep in the family, young lady," she would have told the stewardess, "and the sooner you find that out the better!" Then she would have smiled sweetly, defied them to put her off, and gone back to her fancywork.

Foreign countries want to know things about you that you hesitate to tell even your pastor, doctor, or banker. In fact, there were some questions on my sheets the answers to which I have kept a dark secret even from Mary, my wife.

After wanting to know my real name, the Commonwealth of Australia had the gall to ask me to name any aliases I had ever used. Besides the John Smith of my gay or days, I had to reveal that in the Army I had been well known as "Goldbrick Henry," and that while serving a stretch in the South Georgia Home for Wayward Boys (charge: watermelon stealing) I had been known to the warden as "Lazybones." I trust these old aliases won't keep me out of Australia.

Countries always want to know about your financial status. The very mention of this makes me gloomy and casts an unhappy pall over my visit. Often I am tempted to write down that all I have is a strong back, a will to work, and a great desire to become the ward of a rich government.

The quarantine people in foreign countries are pretty nosy, too. One little red sheet demands that I list exactly where I spent the last fourteen nights. That's okay by me, but they sure are inquisitive.

A man's wife is a sacred thing, but foreign countries don't think so. One of the sheets asked me for DETAILS, in capital letters, about Mary. I kind of ducked that one — just gave 'em enough to get by on. I told them Mary made soft scrambled eggs as good as any I'd ever eaten, like a nap in mid-afternoon, could tear more nylon than any woman living, knew all four verses of the "Star-Spangled Banner," liked off-the-face hats, and had never smoked a pipe with any regularity.

By the time I get the forms filled out, my autobiography will be done, and all I'll need is a title and a publisher.

Red Pilot Giving U.S. Story Of Soviet Air Role In Korea

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The full account of active Russian participation in the air war phase of the Korean fighting is now revealed publicly for the first time.

It's told by Lt. Noh Kum Bok, the North Korean fighter pilot who delivered a MIG-15 to the U.S. Air Force and learned to his surprise that there was a C.O.D. price of $100,000 due him on the plane.

At the start of the Korean fighting Noh was in the North Korean naval academy in Chungking. "Tough, hard Russians officers ran the school and supervised all of the instruction," he says. "We had to learn to speak and read Russian. We were being taught to be part of the Russian Navy."

About four months after the fighting started it was decided to build up the NK Air Force, Noh tells. Before that there were about 50 pilots in it and they flew only obsolete biplanes.

In October, 1950, a group of Russian officers assembled the students at the academy, called the names of certain men and ordered them sent to a training base deep in Manchuria.

There were about 200 North Koreans in my class," he recalls. "Some of the instructors were North Koreans. But the base was run by Russians. And all we heard was how grateful we should be to the Russians for all they were doing for us."

About half my class were killed in crashes and that made the Russians very angry. After any accident they would yell and scream about how we were wasting the good, expensive planes they were providing to us.

After primary training Noh was sent to a jet base at Anaham, about 100 miles from the Yalu River in Manchuria. "It was 100 per cent Russian," he says. "Russian generals, pilots, guards, mechanics and even Russian food. It was the first time I saw the Russian MIG-15. About two months after I arrived the Russian pilots began flying combat missions against UN planes and they would use their experience from this to teach us isotics."

He says the first batch of Russian pilots to go into combat were older and much better pilots than the Russians who flew later. Then, he reports, the caliber of the Russian fliers being sent up to fight was much lower. They had an average junior high school education and were a rowdy, unkempt, hard-drinking crew.

The first group of Russian pilots took a more scientific view of what they were doing. They had built-up sessions on the best way to fly against the Sabrejets and also developed a healthy respect for the prowess of the Sabers, Noh says.

While he was learning to fly the MIG-15, Noh explains, the Russians were almost fanatical about the need to be careful with the Red planes. "Sometimes North Korean student pilots were thrown into jail when they damaged a MIG, but most often they were forced to help repair the damage they had done and then fly the same plane after it was fixed."

During this phase of training the pro-Russian propaganda directed at them also became more fanatical. They were made to join the Communist Party and were forced to spend three hours a day studying communism.

Noh left the 100 per cent domination of the Red planes when he entered combat from the jet fighter field at Uiju in northwest Korea.

"The Russian fighter pilots were always kept behind. The Yalu was not permitted to fly below the Pyongyang area or over the open sea, but they were Chinese uniforms," he says. "This was to make sure that if they were shot down they did not fall into the hands of the UN. We were warned never to admit that Russian pilots were flying in combat," he explains.

Russian headquarters behind the Yalu issued the orders about what to fly, what their mission should be and what to do when they tangled with the Sabrejets, he says. Even during actual combat, the Russians directed the operation by radio and ran the whole show as extensively as communications would permit.

The Chinese units, he says, flew in their own formations but also under complete direction of the Russians.

Periodically during the aerial fighting, groups of the NK pilots were ordered to one of several Russian bases above the Yalu and to get more Russian propaganda, Noh explains. Sometimes they flew in combat as part of Russian squadrons, he says.

During these visits Noh got to know many of the younger Russian fliers who were there to get combat experience, he says. They all had a violent hatred for the American pilots and fought against them in the air with real vengeance, he claims. They were assigned to the combat duty on a regular rotational basis, Noh says, and hated it. They blamed their lot on the Americans.

During the latter months of the air war the hatred for the Americans was made more intense among the Russian fliers by the increasing rate of kills the UN pilots were establishing against them. Noh attributed this to better machine guns on the Sabrejet and to its greater speed.

After the truce, and just before he escaped to the UN side, Noh says he heard rumors of a new, faster MIG-17 which the Russians claimed was superior to the Sabrejet in every respect. But he never saw one.

Peggy Lee Yearns To Stop Singing

By ALINE MOSKEY
HOLLYWOOD, May 27 —UP— Peggy Lee, the popular "lover" singer of TV, radio and records, confessed Thursday she wants to quit singing and write songs for others to sing instead.

The thrush with the short-clipped blonde hairdo has been one of the nation's top singers since she first let loose with "Why Don'ts Do Right" for Benny Goodman's band back in the '30's.

"I've worked hard for so many years, and I'd just like to quit singing," Peggy said quietly over lunch at the Brown Derby.

"I've been writing a lot of songs, and I'll sing them for me. If they're hits, and I can make a go of it, I won't sing any more."

Not many popular singers have talents other than crooning into a microphone. But Peggy not only has written the lyrics to 55 songs but recently had a book of poems published and five others accepted by a national magazine.

Her verse to "Mamma's" helped sell two million copies of her recording of the tune. "It's a Good Day" is another Lee lyric. Recently she doubled her efforts and went up writing the words to the music for a full-length Walt Disney cartoon, "The Lady is a Tramp."

"I also recorded the voices of two cats, a lady and a dog," she grinned.

"But writing the score was the real thrill. Not many women have screen credit for that. In fact, there are only about two successful female lyric writers in the music business."

She also won the jobs of writing the words to the tune, "Johnny Goats" the theme for a recent Joan Crawford picture.

She penned the lyrics to Victor Young's title song for a Shirley Booth film, "About Mrs. Leslie."

"The trouble is," she added, "many singers won't record songs I write because they think I'll record them. Actually, I don't write for myself, with my voice in mind."

By now Peggy has polished her night club act to the utmost, with a background orchestra that includes even a harp. But the overhead for her troupe is high, and the trouble of packing clothes, and traveling — I'm tired of it. Her marriage to actor Brad Dexter ended, she plans to sell her big home and move to a smaller one.

"I'd like to marry again," she admitted, "but I don't think about that now."

CIO Helping Port Arthur Strikers
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 27 —UP— The CIO is putting money into a strike against Port Arthur, Tex., business establishments and an executive of the union has predicted victory.

The union official, John V. Riffe of Washington, an executive vice president of the CIO, said at a meeting here late Tuesday that the CIO was "happy" to have members of the Distributive, Processing and Office Workers of America included in its membership.

"We're going to win in Port Arthur," Riffe said. "The CIO and we ourselves are putting money into it."

Riffe said the CIO "had given its backing to the merger (with the DPO) as far back as a year ago. We are happy to have the DPO membership back in the CIO."

Riffe spoke of the absorbing of 50,000 members of the DPO and 20,000 members of the Playthings, Jewelry and Novelty Workers (CIO) by the Retail Wholesale and Department Store Union (CIO).

A slate for Thursday's election was released showing Jack Paley, executive secretary of the DPO, listed for executive secretary. The slate also includes David Livingston, secretary-treasurer of the DPO, as executive vice president.

Arthur Oaman, president of the DPO, Livingston and Paley are under investigation by the state of Texas for invoking the Fifth Amendment in refusing to tell whether they ever were members of the Communist party.

Texas Attorney General John Ben Shepperd launched the inquiry in connection with the strike at Port Arthur affecting 20 stores.

Artificial 'Homing' Instincts For Golf Balls Are Plentiful

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON, May 27 —UP— President Eisenhower ever makes a habit of losing golf balls in the rough, he might look into the inventions of a couple of old timers.

One invented a ball with a ball in it; the other devised a golf ball which, whether lost or not, puffed smoke.

Adolph J. Rubin of Brooklyn, N. Y., according to my friend George Degman, a lawyer and collector of old patents, came up with the musical golf ball. The way Rubin told about it in his description on file at the patent office, "the lost ball plays a tune." He didn't explain how the ball would know when it is lost.

"Winding Systems' Inside" The Brooklyn man's device worked by way of a "winding system" inside the ball. The golfer would wind up the innards before belting the ball. The mechanism inside the ball was supposed to ring after the ball hit the ground, whether it landed in the rough or in the cup.

The other gadget was invented in the long ago by Philip Schuyler Kane of Pans, Pa. This thing didn't make any noise. All it did was send up a smoke screen, through an ingenious set-up inside the ball, which was touched off by a match before club-head hit the ball.

The ball was supposed to leave a trail of smoke in flight and continue to puff after it came to rest.

Degman also has in his collection a record of hair tonic patent issued in 1909 to Friedrich Wilhelm Emil Muller of Chicago.

Muller got to worrying about folks like himself who were losing their hair and came along with what he called a "useful hair-tonic."

In his patent he said that his composition consisted of: Water substantially pure 10 per cent, ripe black currants 25 per cent, granulated sugar 5 per cent, whiskey (best corn) 40 per cent, port wine 20 per cent and "other ingredients," which the inventor did not identify.

A Little Careless The currants Muller said in his application, "are placed in the whiskey and left there for a period of four weeks; the currants are then separated from the whiskey by straining and are no longer used; the strained whiskey is then thoroughly mingled with the water, sugar and port wine by agitation."

The inventor attached a penciled note to his application and warned those who tried it not to let it spill off their pants into other areas of the anatomy. (This part never got into the wording of patent No. 939,431.)

But he said that he had been a little careless in his personal experimentation and had wound up with some hair on his chest, which before had been hairless.

30 Outboard Motors Stolen

WHITNEY, Tex., May 27 —UP— A game warden at Lake Whitney, Louis Clymer, reported Wednesday at least 30 outboard motors had been stolen at the Central Texas fishing lake.

Clymer said fishermen and camp operators had hired armed guards and formed vigilante committees to combat the thefts.

"They will steal anything from a bucket of minnows to an outboard motor," he said. The warden said he suspected professional thieves were preying on Lake Whitney and other Texas lakes.

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)—Excitantly Yours: Call Terry Moore Miss Cover-Up-Girl from now on. The film cuts debut a singing and dancing act at Las Vegas' Last Frontier Hotel late this month, but there will be no front-page headlines about any attempt to top the peek-a-boo dress. Top Marlene Dietrich unveiled there. Still cringing over her mink-trimmed scanties that inspired unfair "publicity" charges when she toured Korea (Marilyn Monroe showed off more than Moore) Terry declares: "Hollywood's undressing madness has gone as far as it can go. I've started putting clothes on and the only thing I plan to reveal in the future is talent."

Rosalind Russell's favorite memory of MGM during her stardom there in the late '30's is a '54 Hollywood shaker, she says: "The place was a Fl. Knox. They were kicking money into corners trying to lose it."

Joan Crawford isn't feeling one bit happy about the printer's report that Anne Baxter has been signed to costar with Anthony Quinn in Budd Boetticher's "The Number One." La Crawford tried to buy the story and got a fast turnaround.

Teresa Wright, rarin' to go again, has changed agents and will be popping up in a big film role any day now. Fair is fair, so let's note here and now that the change in Marie Lensa has his believers—yep, there are some—smiling again. Maybe "Serenade," which he'll make at Arnet's is just what the doctor ordered.

Norman Kerry, the handsome silent film idol, suffered a heart attack and is at Palm Springs, Calif., under medical supervision. Edén Hartford, the brunette beauty who's expected by many to one day become Mrs. Groucho Marx, will accompany the "You Bet Your Life" man to Europe late this month. She's the sister-in-law of Director Howard Hawks.

Paula Raymond, who isn't blonde, Hungarian or publicity mad, is the girl who holds the key to George Sanders' heart. Watch this romance.

Doris Day, all squared away with her Warner bosses, begins her first independent film, "Yankee Doodle Girl," on the lot in June. With hubby Marty Melcher as producer.

Danny Kaye's first love-boy stuff in "Knock on Wood" is bringing him perfumed fan mail from the "I-love-a-movie star" set. He'll have more woo pitching in his next, "The Court Jester," a Columbia's ready-to-shell-out $750,000. I hear, just for the title rights to the Broadway hit, "Wonderful Town," musical version of "My Sister Eileen." The studio's "Eileen" for a musical remake but doesn't own the "Wonderful Town" title.

Spike Jones' U-I howler, "Fireman, Save My Child," is headed for a big box-office cleanup and Spike's headed for more flickers there.

Add releases: The story of the movie producer who took a cutie to dinner and lavishly wooed and lined her on everything from vicysauce to Baked Alaska. "It was a wonderful dinner," the Irma-brained one told a pal later, "but rather strange. We had cold soup and hot ice cream."

Design for the release of the long (165-minute) "The Best Years of Our Lives" in drive-in theaters: An intermission for candy and popcorn sales. Those intermissions are the best minutes of a drive-in theater's life.

"Give an actor a death scene and he's happy. William Campbell 'died' as a U.S. Marine in "Battle Cry" with the command: "Boy, this is really living."

Cowboy star Rex Allen's shed his leg cast. He suffered a broken gam several months ago. Cyd Charisse gets the Marlene Dietrich role in the studio's remake of "Kismet." At U-I, Mari Blanchard is playing the Dietrich role in a sequel "Destry Rides Again." Hey, Hollywood—how about Dietrich in an old Dietrich role?

More than one Mexican actor currently toiling in Hollywood is telling it that Maureen O'Hara and Enrique Parra are secretly married. The same emotes look bluish when it's pointed out that wealthy Parra isn't yet divorced. They think otherwise.

Although Eva Gabor isn't speaking to sister Zsa Zsa, she's playing Auntie Eva in a big way to Miss Two Z's aprils, Françoise Hilton.

Adventists Stress Urgency At Convention

The Seventh-Day Adventist 47th international convention now in progress in San Francisco will continue through June 5.

Delegates from 108 nations were present at the first session in the Civic auditorium, W. H. Branson, the denomination's world president from Washington, D. C., was the speaker.

The president stressed a sense of urgency within Adventist ranks in his address. "We believe that for existing conditions in the world today, especially the armament race, are a definite fulfillment of Bible prophecy pointing to the second advent of Jesus Christ."

Police Chief Cleans Up Sin By Use Of Code Book, Bible

A police chief who uses the Bible and the police code of ethics as his two rule books for cleaning up the "sin city" of West Texas, finds that he can solve many upcoming problems by using the religious approach.

Chief Jess Cariker of Odessa, formerly a special investigator with the district attorney's office in Dallas, has had a major part in changing the attitude of the 42,000 citizens of Odessa toward policemen and their duties.

Attitude Is Copied

His Christian attitude is reflected in his department staff of 63 and his Corporation court judge, Dr. C. A. Johnson, who is a retired minister of the Christian church.

Last February his office received the call that a teen-age boy had fatally injured a 10-year-old child in a bar accident. Taking with him Mayor Ben Gage and City Councilman Ed Costella, Cariker made a visit to the home of the dead youth.

Prays For Guidance

Finding that evidence pointed to the accident as not being the fault of the driver, Chief Cariker asked the mayor to offer a prayer for understanding and spiritual guidance.

A second visit was made, this time to the home of the teenager, who blamed himself complete. After a discussion with the boy and his parents, a prayer was offered there.

The two families now, between whom there could have been hate, are close friends because they followed the advice and prayers of law enforcement officers.

Through his career of breaking major crime rings, Jess Cariker has maintained that no officer can do a good job until he has religious convictions. He said that an officer not properly trained mentally and spiritually is no better armed than a frontier marshal without bullets.

Trash Unit Demonstration To Be Given Rotary Club

A demonstration of the city's new Dempster Dumpster trash disposal unit will be given at next week's luncheon meeting of the Rotary club, according to Paul Grossman Jr., program chairman.

Sid Patterson, Oklahoma City representative of the company, will be here to stage the demonstration. This will be one of five such demonstrations to be given at civic club meetings next week.

Eight of the nine Junior Rotarians who have been attending club meetings throughout the school year were in charge of Wednesday's meeting in the Palm Room of the City Hall.

Each of the boys gave a short talk on Rotary programs they have most enjoyed.

At the conclusion of the program, Rotary President E. S. Williams presented a $100 scholarship to Jimmy Bond as being the Junior Rotarian who "best exemplified Rotary." Bond was selected by a secret vote of the nine Junior Rotarians.

The club president also presented a book, "Service Is My Business," to each boy.

Rapist Gets Execution Slay

HUNTSVILLE, Tex., May 27 — UP—Acting Gov. Ben Ramsey intervened Wednesday night with a seven-day stay for Charles Edward Mauck Klinefelter, just three hours and 30 minutes before the convicted rapist of a 13-year-old Dallas girl was to die in the electric chair.

Ramsey's telegram was received by Warden H. B. Moore as Klinefelter was preparing for the last rituals that went with his execution. He had just finished a meal of fried chicken with the trimmings.

"Thank God for everything, and especially the reprieve," Klinefelter said. "I never for one minute lost faith that God would help me. I have been nervous at times, but never afraid, because I knew I would die with a good clean heart."

Ramsey's telegram said the decision was based on the unanimous decision of the Board of Pardons and Paroles, Board Chairman T. E. White said in Austin, meanwhile, the stay was issued after Klinefelter's court-appointed attorney, Edgar L. Smith, of Dallas, requested time to present "new evidence."

White said that Smith told him the evidence would include a petition from the jurors that convicted Klinefelter and from the rape victim herself.

Klinefelter was sentenced to die for the rape of the girl at White Rock Lake in Dallas on Aug. 31, 1952. It was disclosed during the trial that he raped her twice, with his wife present both times.

The second time, the wife took pictures. She was also convicted of rape and sentenced to 10 years in prison.

Bar Spread Believed Sold For $4 Million

SAN ANGELO, Tex., May 27 — UP—The Bar S Ranch, famed West Texas ranch, part of which is in New Mexico, was under new ownership Wednesday after being sold for a price believed to be around $4 million.

The new owner is William A. Blakeley, Dallas oil man, banker, lawyer, insurance company president and airline director.

Blakeley bought the ranch from P. H. Sawyer Jr., of Oshkosh, Wis., president of the Sawyer Cattle Co. The sale price was not disclosed, but was believed in cattle circles to have involved about $4 million.

The ranch includes 172,000 acres in Irion and Reagan counties of Texas, and an additional 81,000 acres in New Mexico. It was founded by the Sawyer family 70 years ago.

Besides the land, the sale also involved some 3,000 head of cattle and 7,000 sheep. The Texas part of the ranch was devoted strictly to cattle until 1935, when it was stocked with sheep.

The New Mexico division, acquired in 1948, is known as the San Cristobal Ranch, 22 miles southeast of Santa Fe.

Blakeley is president of the Guardian Life Insurance Co. where he maintains an office in Dallas. He also is president of the Love Field State Bank in Dallas, and serves on the executive committee of Braniff Airways.

Dallas-Fort Worth Toll Road Appears In Making

By UNITED PRESS

The possibility of a Dallas - Fort Worth toll road appeared Thursday to be closer at hand than even optimistic observers had hoped.

The chairman of the Texas Turnpike Authority announced that preliminary reports showed the feasibility of such a project "without a doubt."

The chairman, Armistead Rust, of San Angelo, said he will recommend at a meeting of the authority Thursday in Austin the adoption of engineering reports on the proposed project. He said he also would recommend employment of an engineer-administrator.

Established by Legislature

The turnpike authority was established by the Legislature last year. It put the Dallas - Fort Worth toll road at the top of the priority list.

Meanwhile, the State Highway Commission announced approval of two Dallas county projects and the highway department took steps to protect rights-of-way for future development of U.S. 77 and the U.S. 83 expressway in Cameron county.

The commission said surveys and right-of-way information had been developed on a U.S. 77 project and as soon as Dallas county or the city begins to obtain right-of-way, bids will be taken for construction of the facility.

A previously announced plan called for development between the Denton county line and a point near Cadiz street, with construction proceeding on a 9.6 mile section from Field Circle to the Denton county line.

Retread Ordered

The commission also ordered construction of all-weather shoulders and retread on existing pavement on SH 78, on sections between Jupiter Road in Dallas and Duck Creek in Garland — a distance of about four miles.

The Highway Department said it will make necessary surveys to determine the location and prepare data for acquisition of rights-of-way on U.S. 77 and U.S. 83, provided local officials in Cameron county carry out certain conditions.

Those conditions were that Cameron county and the city of Brownsville declare the portion of the route lying within the corporate limits of Brownsville a freeway, and agree to furnish free to the state necessary right-of-way for development of controlled access facilities.

The department said that rapid development of the area makes right-of-way protection necessary. The area involved, the department said, is in Cameron county on U.S. 77 and 83 between a point north of the Farm Road 802 and International Boulevard in Brownsville.

Death Sentence Appeal Denied

AUSTIN, May 27 — UP — The Court of Criminal Appeals Wednesday sustained the life sentence assessed Gerhard A. Cordes for the ice pick-slaying of a Houston woman and said there was no reversible error in his second trial.

In his original trial, a jury found Cordes guilty of murder in connection with the slaying July 23, 1952, of Cleora McCord and set his punishment at death.

However, in March of last year the Court of Criminal Appeals sent the case back for a new trial on the basis of a faulty charge to the jury.

On appealing the second trial, Cordes' defense protested admissibility of an alleged confession on grounds it was prompted by "inducements" and offers of lesser punishment.

"We hold the trial court did not err in admitting the confession and reserving for the jury the fact issue as to its voluntary character," the opinion, by Judge K. K. Woodley, said.

"The evidence sustains the conviction and we find no reversible error," it concluded.

Segregation Ban On Houston Public Golf Links Is Proposed

HOUSTON, May 27 — UP—Houston City Attorney Will Sears Wednesday drafted and submitted to city council an emergency ordinance to permit Negroes to play on the three municipal golf courses at any time on an unsegregated basis, but the council took no action.

The ordinance was laid aside almost without comment "until all members of the council can be present." Councilmen George Kesler and Matt Wilson are in San Francisco, but will be back before next Wednesday's meeting.

All councilmen present Wednesday declined to comment on the proposed ordinance. Mayor Roy Hofheinz also declined comment and shrugged his shoulders and smiled when asked about the proposal.

Sears said the ordinance was drawn at Hofheinz' request.

At the same time, Jack Speer, director of Houston municipal golf courses, said two Negroes showed up at the Hermann course at 6 p.m. Tuesday to play golf.

Warren Remington, professional at the Hermann Park course, advised them that they would be unable to play until an appropriate ordinance was adopted by city council.

The U. S. Supreme Court earlier this week upheld a U. S. Fifth Appeals Court decision that Negroes must be permitted to play on Houston's three municipal golf courses on a segregated basis.

A lengthy legal opinion accompanying the ordinance submitted to council Wednesday cited various Supreme Court decisions on racial segregation.

The city attorney said Houston would run "extreme risk" of having the action declared illegal if it attempted to provide a separate golf course for Negroes, as was done in Baltimore, or attempt to reserve certain days for exclusive use of city courses by white or Negroes, as was done in Miami.

"We can not say that any segregation is lawful," Sears said. "Every attempt at segregation has been struck down by Supreme Court decisions in recent years.

Good Luck, Grads

This evening finds commencement exercises planned in Pampa and other high schools in the Top O' Texas area. Graduation from high school is truly an eventful time in the lives of young people for it signals the step into adulthood and the responsibilities which are attending.

The high school graduate of this generation faces many problems which did not plague mother and dad. Of course there is always the decision whether or not to take advanced schooling, but beyond this is the concern, in the case of the young man, which attends serving a period in the armed forces. It is the natural course of youth to plan for the future both from the standpoint of a home and earning a living and the exigencies of our time make this somewhat difficult.

Probably the greatest cloud every youth must overcome is to resist the philosophy that there are no principles, that everything is relative, that the something for nothing psychology is the best way to "get along."

With the advance of government paternalism, the prime importance of self-reliance, integrity and the wholesomeness of work gain even more importance to the youth who step out into the world.

Of course every individual holds within himself the key to fulfillment and that key can be well summed up in the Golden Rule and the Sermon on the Mount. With these yardsticks comes the understanding which makes for genuine success.

Hence, it is with every best wish for a full future that we join in our sincere "good luck" to Pampa and Top O' Texas graduates for the years ahead.

NEA Prophets

Ever hear of Dr. Ruth Alexander? She is, or was, a big wheel in the National Education Association. This organization strongly influences or downright dominates public school policy.

Years ago when the NEA began subtly to preach teaching the New Deal in social science classes, here's what Dr. Ruth Alexander wrote in the National Educational Association Journal: (Note the prophecy)

"The New Deal is not an emergency measure to tide over a depression. IT IS A REORGANIZATION OF SOCIETY. Its purpose is to refashion the economic system under which we have lived and which has now been found wanting. In refashioning domestic economy, it will, of course refashion government. The New Deal will give us a new civilization."

"These things are coming to be. He who resists them is like King Canute futilely trying to stem the oncoming ocean. . . . The readiness with which we set about organizing for the new social order will determine whether or not that new social order will be born in agony and blood — or not. . . ."

"It cannot succeed if the rising generation is not prepared intelligently for it, if the ideals underlying it are not woven into the thought pattern of the children of today — the citizens of tomorrow."

"OUR CHILDREN MUST BE TAUGHT WHAT IS WRONG WITH THE PRESENT SOCIAL ORDER. . . . Its deficiencies must be exposed. Economics, sociology, government and international relations must be the most vital and most liberal sciences taught in our schools."

"Our old economic system, largely free from government control, has broken down. . . . There can be no central planning without government control. . . ."

"Our children should be guided into ways of international thought and international cooperation. We must save our children from the blight of nationalism. . . . We must expose the falsity of chauvinism."

"Here is our task: to prepare our children for the new day by stressing social sciences, by widening their mental horizons to include the whole of humanity, the federated society of tomorrow."

"For everything that she said must be done in the above article has now been done. She was right in predicting that every point would come true."

"She was right in saying that the New Deal is not an emergency measure to tide us over a depression — like he promised us that it will be with us for as long as he is President."

"She was right in saying that anybody who resisted her predictions would be bowled over as if by an ocean wave — for anybody who has tried to expose the plot of such planners as Dr. Alexander and the National Education Association has promptly been labeled an "enemy of education."

"Ask yourself: Is there one plank in Dr. Alexander's and the NEA's platform quoted above which has not been put into practice?"

"One thing about the generic Communists and socialists makes them superior to Ike: They keep their campaign promises."

BETTER JOBS

A Summary Of Growth In Stojism

VI.
By Congressman W. Ralph Gurin
27th District N.Y. Just north of N. Y. City.

"It is obvious that Tennessee cannot expect industry inside and outside Tennessee to halt the decline in productivity, because industry will not make its plans to depend on a Socialist-Communist community. No sensible person, not even a Congressman, would subject private property rights or plan his life on what Congress may or may not do in the support or failure to support TVA."

"Another example of the New Deal Communist legislation is public housing. The Communists live in the public housing units and form their cells there to agitate for more communism. Here is what the Soviet constitution of 1936, as amended, has to say about public housing:

"Art. 6. The land and the bulk of the dwelling houses in the cities and industrial localities, are State property, that is, belong to the whole people."

"Ever since 1933 when the United States got into the public housing business it has been alleged over and over again that if you improve the housing conditions of the people you improve their morals. That has never been proved, and actually the contrary is true. Judge Francis J. McCabe, of the Rhode Island juvenile court, has said:

"Public housing projects don't wipe out juvenile and adult delinquency by eliminating slums. Delinquents are more plentiful in the projects because they move into the projects from scattered areas and thereby become more concentrated."

"Judge McCabe's observations are borne out by statistics proved by the chief of police of Los Angeles. In that city police calls per thousand population in a privately owned project were 0.08 percent. In four big housing projects the calls per thousand were 13.75 percent. There was 26 percent more crime in permanent public housing projects in Los Angeles than in the slums the same and more than 1,000 percent more crime in public housing projects than in the privately owned low-rent housing projects in the same city.

"The people do not like such houses as is proved by the high vacancy rates in projects in eight localities scattered throughout the Nation.

"Thus we find in the United States the consequences of communism in the areas adopting it, that we find in Russia, England, France, and other countries, viz. a paralysis of building houses for rent with private capital, a lowering of standards of living by taxpayers compelled to supply schools, streets, police, and other like services for the tax-exempt Government houses, and an alarming increase of juvenile crime and dishonesty peculiar to all communism."

"The taking of private property without consent by political compulsion to make it public property for the benefit of special groups is antisocial and morally wrong. Moral qualities which reside in the individual alone certainly cannot be conveyed by force of government to another. So when government attempts to separate a man's house or property rights from him by force so as to convey it to another, nothing of moral value whatever can be conveyed. Violence against property rights of the one brings degradation to the one who takes the proceeds. Besides, it corrupts the government that acts as a go-between."

"Public housing and TVA are only two examples of the New Deal Socialist-Communist legislation still on our statute books. Other such legislation provides for Government subsidies, controls and regimentation extending over more than 100 aspects of the Nation's economic life."

"The principle of a constitutional government, limited to the legal and moral functions of government has been embodied in several proposed constitutional amendments now pending before the House of Representatives and on which hearings will soon be scheduled. Every patriot of the Republic should interest himself in the disposition of these amendments and inform the Congress that the Nation supports the principle of these amendments."

"A fundamental principle is involved in this battle against socialism. That principle is that individuals exercising all their natural rights and powers are the only true source of a country's food, power, the source of all moral improvement with God's help—and that government must be strictly limited to the protection of that source."

"Either we believe that with all our hearts or we believe the exact opposite with all our hearts, that government is the source, the instrument of force over men by which it gets or takes from them houses, food, power, and so forth. Surely we are not going to fall down and worship again that old satanic concept that by the use of political power and compulsion we can bring about the good life of our people. Let us reject it utterly as the concept was rejected nearly 2,000 years ago in the great temptation on the mountain."

National Whirligig... Dewey's Milk Crusade Lands Him In Dutch In South America

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON — Gov. Thomas Dewey has apparently "milked" himself out of a possible appointment as secretary of State or to any other post in the Eisenhower cabinet, especially in the event of a Democratic comeback in this important political district as the Eisenhower-Dewey bargain.

Not understanding our system of the states' reserved powers, especially in the field of political public, he demanded that Secretary Dulles issue an official rebuke to the milkman at Albany.

Fair Enough... Prosecutor Of Costello Tacitly Admits His Own Incompetence

By WESTBROOK PEOLER
(Copyright, 1954, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

NEW YORK — I have searched without success for any expression of horror at the American smear of Frank Costello by Lloyd P. MacMahon, chief assistant U. S. attorney in charge of the court the other day. The judge then gave Costello the outrageous sentence of 4 years in prison for evasion of $1,000 in income taxes.

MacMahon said: "To the man in the street, Costello is the symbol of the successful racketeer who, year after year, has flouted the law and gotten away with it. The sentence he receives will stand as an example for the easy-money boys who are Costello's friends, associates and admirers and also to everyone who is tempted to deal in cash and cheat the government."

"Even after years of the most painstaking investigation, government agents were not able to identify the specific source of the unreported income Costello received. His business associates have been open and notorious underworld characters, men like Frank Erickson, Joe Adonis, Meyer Lanaky, Longie Zwilman and the late Willie Moretti. The list is a who's who of crime in the United States."

"There is no such person as 'the man in the street' and MacMahon holds no credentials from this mythical 'man in the street' to speak for him. If there were such a person, he might be a crook or a fool. Or a very decent fellow who would resent this inflammatory stump speech by a man in a judge's robe to speak for the Department of Justice to which we look for the protection of our rights."

MacMahon knows it. It is a reproach to the men who are paid well to enforce laws, including MacMahon. It is not up to a criminal to accuse and convict himself. And the fact that he did get away with it should be regarded as proof that he didn't commit any crimes at all. Got away with what? If MacMahon knows of any crimes that Costello got away with, he should have reported them to the U. S. Constitution, was requested to retire by the President.

Before we discuss the public's reaction to the dismissal of these two men we would like to say a few words about each of them.

Dr. Oppenheimer is perhaps the world's leading atomic scientist. Dean Clarence Manion is one of the leading constitutional lawyers in the United States. Both have been dismissed from public service. One, the fire expert, has been suspended by the President. The other, authority on the U. S. Constitution, was requested to retire by the President.

There are two names which are ringing in our ears just now—Oppenheimer and Manion. The public reaction to these two names may be the key to the future of America. Who knows? Anyway, we will give our reaction to the public's reaction to these two names.

There is no more identity to the group described as "the easy-money boys" than there is to the Park Avenue pink, crack-pots and fellow-travelers whose existence is denied by those who view with alarm the creation of "climate of fear." If MacMahon has got Lanaky and Zwilman why doesn't he go after them instead of just bawling their names at a convicted man for the purpose of convicting him with a judge?

I will concede that Judge McGohy was not affected by this election, but I still insist that the five-year sentence for a failure to report income represents a grudge against Costello because of his bad reputation. That reputation was created by Senator Kefauver in his television show and by the newspapers. It is a bad commentary on our political system that, on the basis of that outlandish exhibition, Kefauver almost got the Democratic nomination in Chicago.

And what is wrong with dealing in cash? What law provides that people must deal in checks and keep accounts or that failure to do so is evidence of illicit business? I wish I didn't have to deal in checks and keep old receipts. But if I didn't MacMahon would call me a crook deserving 15 years in prison. One result of all this is that people have to spend new ICE signs. You see it in the theatre district as service trucks from air-conditioning firms back into stage alleys. Here and there window screens are being snapped into place and awnings are being scrubbed with fiber brushes and pails of hot, soapy water. You can find the testimony in store windows with gleaming, colorful sandals, transparent, tissue-thin men's shirts and weak ties. It is found in the exhibits of all the new fabrics that go into summer suits. You find it in hat store windows with fresh, shining straw hats on stands.

Down at the Fulton Fish Market they are hauling out the summerized ice tubs and along the Battery new, shining traffic signs are going up. On the roadways out of town, the Westchester and Long Island, the "NO CAN CAN" signs and all the directional signs to Jones Beach are washed and gleaming. You find it in station wagons bound out of town with wading pools for children, golf bags, and exercise bars sticking out of the tailgates. You find it in the declining sales of nylons. You find it in the windows filled with white shoes for women and wonder who buys them because New York women will not wear white shoes in town.

You smell it in the air, feel it on your skin, see it with your eyes.

Summer, for New York, sends a mighty advance guard of announcement.

It is difficult not to find its evidence.

GRACE FRIEND

Dear Grace Friend I am 51 years old and have gone through about the same as the average human being.

I have loved, married, raised my children, buried my dear, counted my blessings, regretted my sins, cured my bad luck, enjoyed my good luck, laughed my laugh, and cried my tears.

But as I sit here tonight, I can only compose these lines, which may not be put together as a poet laureate, but they are from my own heart, and I'm sure from the heart of many another.

I will not sign my name as I am an anonymous in this wonderful condition we call life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness in which there is a laurel for everyone.

Speaking of my not being a poet laureate, can you tell me who is the poet laureate of England and who the first one was. I recently made a mild wager that it was Chaucer.

Dear J. O. It is wonderful to know that there are people who meet life face to face and accept it, good or bad, as part of living. I know your life has been a good one and that you will make the most of the years still ahead.

John Massfield is the present poet laureate of England. Ben Jonson was the first. He was paid, in addition to his year's wages he was sent a cask of wine by the king once a year. The kings of England still send their poet laureates the yearly gift of money. Incidentally there is a new biography on Ben Jonson which paints an exciting picture of Elizabethan England. It is "Ben Jonson of Westminster" by Chute.

Thank you for your poem. I am sorry that I don't have room here for it. BIRTH CONTROL Dear Miss Friend Please send me your booklet on birth control. Dear Mrs. W. I have no booklets on birth control. For birth control information write to Planned Parenthood Federation of America, Inc., 501 Madison Ave. (11th floor), New York 22, N. Y.

Skelly Brownie Troop Holds Final Meeting

SKELLYTOWN — (Special) — The Skelly Brownie Troop 49 held its final meeting of the year in the Skelly-Schaefer clubhouse recently. The Brownies and their leaders will spend a day at Camp Mel Davis near Levans June 7.

After receiving their pledges the girls sang songs and played games. At the conclusion of the meeting, a farewell party honoring Mrs. Fred Powell, assistant leader, Joyce Powell and Ann Duncan was held. Joyce and Ann will "fly up" to intermediate scouts and Mrs. Powell will work with the intermediate scouts next year.

The three honorees were presented gifts by the Brownies and their leader, Mrs. R. E. McAllister. Mrs. Clifton Hanna and Mrs. R. C. Heaton served refreshments of cake, ice cream and punch. Those present were Jean Fields, Nan Harmon, Kay Hanna, Joyce Chapin, Eva Lee and Ann Duncan, F. E. Stephenson, Geneva Veal, Louise Karlin, Erwin Brown, Lo Dyer, and the honoree, Fannie Bolin.

After-Bath Formula Is Free Of Alcohol

By ALICIA HART NEA Beauty Editor Something really new has just appeared on the fragrance scene. It's an after-bath cologne that features both lasting fragrance and skin-soothing properties. What's more, it's not a liquid but a foam. Made by a famed cosmetic house, the new cologne foam is available in four well-known scents.

Two factors are chiefly responsible for the foam's skin-soothing quality: the presence of lanolin and the absence of alcohol. The firm claims that the foam is completely nontacky and that it will melt into the skin very quickly. Its subtle fragrance is said to outlast alcohol-based toilet water by hours.

A fluffy, pink concoction, it's packaged in a spray container that eliminates spillage worries. The budget-minded will be happy to note, the company points out, that more than two quarts of foam can be sprayed from the inexpensive priced, five-ounce container — enough to cover many a bathtime beauty session.

Seven of Nebraska's 14 Production Credit Associations retired the last of their government stock in 1953, making all associations in the state completely farmer-owned and controlled.

COPENHAGEN will be one of the chorus numbers of Dance Instructor Jeanne Willingham's 1954 Revue, slated for 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Junior High School auditorium. Skelly HD Club Meets SKELLYTOWN — (Special) — The Skellytown Home Demonstration club recently held its regular meeting in the home of Mrs. T. L. Horton, 833 S. Sumner, Pampa.

Oiler Pitching Staff To Get Heavy Duty With Doubleheaders Stacking Up

FUTURE DOUBLEHEADERS—The Oiler pitching staff is continuing to mount for the Oiler who have been rained out the past four days.

Last night's postponement of the doubleheader with Amarillo brings the twinnbill list to nine for the Oiler that must be played in the future.

That's not counting the two doubleheaders that are scheduled for July 4 and Labor Day which would bring the total list of doubleheaders to 11 to be played by the Oiler the remainder of this season.

Eight of these doubleheaders will be played at Oiler Park. The Oiler will meet Clovis, Albuquerque and Amarillo in two twinnbills each and one each with Lubbock and Plainview. The twinnbill with Plainview was the one already scheduled before the season started. It will be played Labor Day.

The three doubleheaders on the road will be against Clovis, Plainview and Abilene.

It's going to an extremely tough situation for Doug Lewis to tough out a pitching schedule for these twinnbills that are piling up. It's difficult enough to have a pitcher ready to go at all times by playing just one game per day since the pitching staffs in this league are already small.

The doubleheader with Clovis at Clovis will likely be made up on the current Oiler road trip. The Oiler are slated to invade Clovis Saturday and Sunday with the twinnbill likely to be played Saturday although no official announcement has been handed down on the matter.

Then the doubleheader with Lubbock here will probably be made up next Monday night when the

Oilers Leave On Road Trip; Rain Halts Homestand Final

The Pampa Oilers left yesterday afternoon for Albuquerque after rains postponed their final engagements of their homestand last night against the Amarillo Gold Sox. It was the fourth straight day the Oilers have been kept idle due to the weather. A doubleheader was on tap last night.

The playing field was in excellent shape through most of Wednesday but a heavy downpour between 5 and 5:30 p.m. left the playing field unplayable.

The Oilers will meet Albuquerque tonight and Friday and then will meet Clovis Saturday and Sunday before returning home again.

Jonas Gaines (4-0) will go for the Oilers tonight.

Only two games were played in a rain-cut West Texas-New Mexico League schedule Wednesday night.

Abilene beat Borger, 8 to 2, and Albuquerque defeated Lubbock, 8 to 2. A doubleheader between Amarillo and Pampa at Pampa was postponed as was a single game scheduled at Plainview with Clovis. Both were rained out.

Southpaw Orlando Torres pitched seven-hit ball for Abilene, fanning seven and walking one. This game was played under the threat of a storm as high winds lashed the Abilene park.

Albuquerque scored four runs in the seventh inning to overcome a three-run lead Lubbock had managed. Bobby Fernandez, Lubbock outfielder, homered in the first inning, one of nine hits off winning pitcher Bud Bauhofer. The Dukies also got nine blows off two Lubbock pitchers.

Colored Ghosts In Exhibition Here Tonight

One of the finest softball attractions of the year for Pampa fans will be in the offing tonight when the Skelly Oilers will entertain the Iowa Colored Ghosts.

The game will be played at the Gasoline Plant field northwest of the city. Game time has been set for 8 p.m.

Fun galore will be on tap for the fans since the Colored Ghosts mix comedy along with their playing.

The Ghosts will unroll several tricks which include shadow ball in which they play without a ball, and will perform a slow motion act.

The touring Ghosts go all out to win each time they play but they can usually mix 'n their tricks and comedy in so doing.

Skelly is possibly the top softball team in the Pampa area, and should make it an interesting game with the Colored Ghosts.

All members of the Ghosts are men with exception of one, Jerry Larromore is the lone girl member. She plays second base and outfield.

Admission price for the game is 50 cents.

Junior Oilers In Tilt Here Friday

The Pampa Junior Oilers will meet the Borger Bybee All-Stars tomorrow night in an exhibition tilt at Oiler Park.

The Junior Oilers are unbeaten in three starts this season, all Cap Rock League tilts. Borger has a 5-3 record this season.

The Borger team compiled a 57-4 record last year in winning the Tri-City League.

Game time tomorrow is 8 p.m. Admission prices will be 50 and 25 cents.

Going Away Sets Mark

FIMLICO, Md., May 27—UP—Going away, an eight-year-old gelded son of famed Whirlaway owned by the Brookmeade stable, sped to his first victory in two years at Pimlico Wednesday and set a new turf course mile record in the bargain. The chestnut horse was clocked in 1:39 3/5 to better the old mark of 1:39 3/5 set five days ago by Side Saddle. He paid $7.40 for $2.00.

Pafko Sparks Braves To 9th Straight Win

Gets 4 Hits And Drives In Winning Run

By CARL LUNDQUIST
United Press Sports Writer

Andy Pafko has been beamed, knocked unconscious in collisions, and slowed up by pulled leg muscles, but the slugger outfielder from Boyceville, Wis., still was the moving spirit of the first place Milwaukee Braves Thursday.

Andy, the handy dandy, who never hits .300, never sets the pace in runs batted in or in homers, nevertheless comes through with those clutch touch hits that win key ball games.

Wednesday night it was Pafko who stretched Milwaukee's winning streak to nine games with his fourth hit, a single that brought in Dany O'Connell, who had doubled, for a 7 to 5 victory over Cincinnati. Pafko drove in two runs and scored a pair himself.

Pitchers Show Soff

When the Braves dealt pitchers Johnny Antonelli and Don Liddle to the Giants last winter for Bob Thomson it figured that Pafko might have to move to the bench at least occasionally. Now with Thomson still out indefinitely with his broken ankle, Pafko is carrying the load.

Moreover, the Braves are putting the odds on the critics who said they gave up too much pitching in the Thomson deal.

Wednesday night, young Gene Conley pitched his fourth victory against a lone defeat for the Braves, putting him even with Chet Nichols (4-3) in victories. Nichols and Conley were the pitchers replacing Liddle and Antonelli, who at this stage last season each had a 2-2 record. Thus Conley and Nichols overall now are 4-4 as against 4-2 at the same period for the men they replaced.

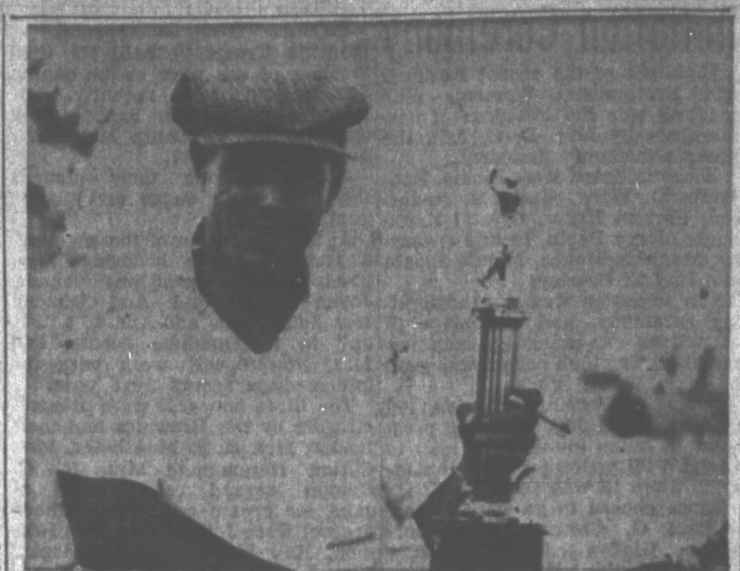

Robin Roberts finally ended his seven-game losing streak against the Dodgers in Brooklyn after 5 to 6 with the aid of five runs driven in by Del Ennis. The Giants took over second place with their fifth straight victory, 2 to 1 over Pittsburgh on Ruben Gomez six - hit pitching and a fifth inning homer by Davey Williams. The Cubs pounded out homers by Ernie Banks, Joe Garagiola, Hank Sauer and Dee Fondy in a 15 to 5 drubbing of the Cardinals.

Senators Beat Lopot

Chicago made it two in a row over the pace - setting Indians in the American League race, cutting their lead to 1-2 game with 5 to 4 triumph. The Senators finally beat lefty Ed Lopat of the Yankees after he had run up 11 straight triumphs against them, winning 2 to 1 on Jim Lemon's ninth inning single. Philadelphia topped Boston 6 to 5 in 10 innings while Detroit handed Baltimore its sixth straight defeat, 6 to 3.

Ennis hit a three-run homer and drove in other tallies with a fly ball and infield out as lefty Johnny Podres suffered the first loss of his career in Brooklyn. Gil Hodges hit his 100th homer in Brooklyn and the 180th of his career while Duke Snider also homered for Brooklyn and Willie Jones got one for the Phils.

Wednesday's star — Del Ennis of the Phillies who drove in five runs with a three run single, a sacrifice fly, and an infield out in an 8 to 6 win over the Dodgers.

DEFENDING CHAMP — Henry Rose, above, will be back to defend the Men's City Tournament that gets underway June 6.

Rose To Defend City Tourney Title

While many Pampa golfers will be competing in the Phillips Invitational tournament this weekend, other local linksmen will be turning in qualifying scores for the upcoming Pampa Men's City Tournament.

The City Tournament will commence match play June 6 but local golfers may start qualifying Saturday for the tournament. Those trying for medalist honors, however, must wait until June 5 to qualify.

Between 25 and 30 golfers from Pampa are expected to participate in the Phillips Invitational that starts match play Saturday and extends through Monday.

Pampa has been instrumental in furnishing leading contenders for Phillips titles in recent years. In the past three years, two tourney champs hailed from Pampa while a third was the tourney runnerup.

C. F. McGinnis of Pampa was the 1951 tournament; Malcolm Douglas captured the 1952 title; and young Tommy Cox of Pampa was the runnerup last year to Tommy Hale of Shamrock.

Henry Rose is the defending champion in the City Tournament and will be back to defend his title this year.

Trophies will be awarded to each flight winner and runnerup in the City Tournament and the winner of each flight consolation winner. Qualifying scores may be turned in through June 6th with first round matches in all flights to start June 6. One match will be played each week thereafter until the champions have been decided.

Roswell Wins 7th Straight

By UNITED PRESS
Roswell, leading team in the Longhorn League, picked on Odessa's Oilers, the cellar outfit, for its seventh straight victory Wednesday night, 8 to 7.

Faulty base running in the ninth inning possibly kept Odessa from winning or at least tying the game. Bob Bauer, the potential tying run, was out by 10 yards when he tried to stretch a double into a triple.

In other games, San Angelo vaulted over Sweetwater into sixth place by beating Carlsbad, 6 to 5. Big Spring beat Sweetwater, 10 to 5. Artesia also won its seventh straight game, 6 to 2, over Midland to make its second spot more secure.

Jodie Phipps was the winning Artesia pitcher, giving up eight hits, one a homer by Floyd Hull in the sixth. San Angelo broke a five-game losing streak as Ralph Carpenter and Jerry Fineman slugged homers.

Manager Pepper Martin and Dick Bravo homered for Big Spring and Sweetwater's Ken Clutley struck two homers.

Holding To Make One More Try At 7-Foot Mark In NAIA Meet

ABILENE, Tex., May 27—UP—Charles (Chuck) Holding, East Texas State's splintery high jumper, will make a final collegiate attempt to jump over seven feet in the NAIA track and field championships here June 4-5.

Holding, a senior, may better his own NAIA record of 6 feet 9 3/4 inches. But he said he would try to jump seven feet, which would eliminate one of track and field's round-number figures if he accomplishes it. Holding has jumped seven feet in practice but has never been able to clear it when it counted.

The broad jump record of 22 feet 5 1/2 inches set by Don Covey of Texas Tech in 1952 also should be eclipsed, and the javelin mark is also within shooting range. Some 300 entries from over the nation will compete.

Ronald Beuford of Southwest Texas State has broad-jumped 24 feet 4 3/8 inches this season and Lloyd Hamilton, Texas Southern, Caley Cook, Lewis and Clark College, Don Frerichs, Manhattan State, Treanly, Abilene Christian, and Alvin Smith, Prairie View, have all exceeded Covey's mark this season.

Rudy Baladez, Redlands University, and Don Penner, Bethel College, have exceeded 151 feet in the discus but have thrown no closer than that to Retzlaff's record.

Baladez, who has tossed the shot put 48 feet 8 inches, appears to have the best chance to set a new record, but John Cavalliere, North Texas State, Mixon Bankston, Union, and Billy Joe Whitley, Southwest Texas State, have all exceeded 48 feet.

THE UMPIRE

By BEANS REARDON
24 Years in National League
Written for NEA Service

Question: What happens when a runner slides into second to break up a double play and deliberately aims the slide at the fielder instead of the bag?

Answer: It is up to the umpire to judge whether he was deliberate heading off the fielder and ignoring the bag. If the umpire feels this is the case, he calls it an automatic double play because of the runner's interference.

Q. Is there a rule, written or unwritten, which prohibits the batter from looking back and stealing the sign from the catcher as he flashes it to the pitcher? — Robert Sinderman.

A. There is no specific rule, but nobody does this. If it were done by a batter it would be dangerous. The pitcher would fire the ball to the plate the moment he turned his head. It's always smarter for a batter to keep both eyes focused on that mound.

Q. How did Jack Lohrke, Pittsburgh infielder, get the nickname "Lucky"?

A. For a couple of good reasons. He once missed an Army transport plane which later crashed and he departed from a Spokane Western League club's bus just before a 1945 accident which killed nine players.

Sugar Bowl Invites Bannister To Meet

NEW ORLEANS, May 27—UP—The Sugar Bowl Thursday invited Roger Bannister of England, first man to break the four-minute mile, to compete in an "international mile" planned during the mid-winter sports fiesta here in December.

Track Chairman L. DiBenedetto said the invitation was cabled to the British Amateur Athletic board by Daniel Ferris, national AAU secretary in New York. Plans for the "international mile," first of its kind in the Sugar Bowl track meet, which is scheduled Dec. 31, were made after Bannister ran a 3:59.4 mile recently in England.

If Bannister accepts, the meet would pit him against the great American miler, Wes Santee of Kansas, who is considered to be America's best bet to break the four-minute barrier. DiBenedetto said he was sure Santee would compete again this year, even though he probably will be in the Marine Corps. Santee ran America's third fastest mile, 4:04.2 in the Sugar Bowl meet here last December.

DiBenedetto said he also was attempting to get students from Norway, Sweden, Ireland and Luxembourg to compete with American milers.

These would include Sture Landqvist of Sweden and Fredrik Ekelhoff of Norway who are now studying at Oklahoma A&M; Josef Bartels, 1900 meter Olympic champion from Luxembourg, who is studying at Harvard; and an unidentified Irish miler who is studying at Purdue.

Italian Moves Up To 4th In M'weight List

NEW YORK, May 27—UP—Tiberio Mitri of Italy rocketed from obscurity to fourth-ranking middleweight contender and "fighter of the month" in Thursday's latest issue of the Ring Magazine's ratings.

He was elevated and honored because of his first-round knockout over ex-world champion Randy Turpin of England for the European title. Turpin sank from fifth to ninth.

Percy Bassett of Philadelphia was replaced as top featherweight contender by Baby Ortiz of Mexico because of Bassett's recent defeat by lightweight Orlando Zulueta. Bassett dropped to second. Ex-champ Willie Fox sank from 10th out of the ratings.

The Ring magazine's latest ratings follow:

My Greatest Shot

By LLOYD MANGRUM

Tam O'Shanter always has been my favorite course; I'm the head pro there. But one hole—the 18th—of the sprawling Chicago layout always has been my particular favorite.

That's because I made what I rate the best shot of my life on that hole. It came during the final round of the 1948 World Championship tournament. I had shot the first nine in 32 and took 29 shots to come up to the spot I was in on the 18th.

That spot was 25 yards away from the hole. My ball was a few feet out from the green, which was uphill. I needed a birdie to win the tournament right there—but was more concerned with getting the par I had to have to gain a tie.

—my chip heading right for the cup. It came down and rolled past it—as my heart gave a jump—and then stopped eight inches away. It was, I say, the best shot I've ever made. I canned the putt and earned a tie with Bobby Locke the South African. I also broke the course record with my 63.

The next day I went out and beat Locke and I've always thought the chip shot gave me the impetus to do so.

Youngsters May Steal Show From Vets In Colonial Meet

FORT WORTH, May 27—UP—Some of the brightest young prospects in years launched a drive Thursday to end Bantam Ben Hogan's domination of the $25,000 Colonial National Invitation Tournament.

They have four days and 73 grueling holes of golf over a long, narrow, water-pocked course that has beaten even Hogan's par-reeking tactics in which to stretch the laurels from the little man.

The U. S. and British Open champion has swept up the first place check here four times in seven previous tournaments and, coupled with shares of second, third and fourth-place money in the other years, has a fat, $15,000 stake in the tournament.

Hogan's Home Course Hogan is defending his crown over his home course—a 7,035-yard par 35-35-70 layout that stretches along the winding Trinity River—and will be seeking his first tournament triumph of 1934 after losing a playoff to Sam Snead in the Masters.

An Amateur, Ernie Vossler, 25, of Fort Worth, showed some class in his course-tying Tuesday practice round of 65—five under par. He was the third golfer ever to tour the course in that figure.

Some of the old reliable tournament veterans like Cary Middlecott—the only other former champion in the field, Lloyd Man-

Colonial's swank layout was in perfect condition Thursday's first hole round and only exceptionally heavy rains could change it.

But, a host of fresh young talent headed by the season's hottest prospect in Bob Tozki; Gene Litter, the 1933 National Amateur king now a fledgling pro; Billy Maxwell, another apprentice pro who owns a national amateur crown; Bud Holscher, Bo Winger and Gardner Dickinson Jr. loom as the best spawning ground for a successor if there's to be one.

Tozki Triple Winner Tozki, the blond lightweight from Livingston, N. J., is currently the leading money winner with $10,998, is fresh from last Sunday's triumph in the Eastern Open and is the only triple winner along this year's tournament trail.

Litter, who has played but little because he can't accept money in PGA-sponsored events until his probationary period is up, has nothing but sub-par rounds to his credit here in practice and will be spurred on by the fact he can take home any winnings he makes here.

The same incentive will be behind Maxwell's tour—his second as a pro in a major tournament. He finished high up in the Houston Open this spring but had to content with the glory.

34-Year-Older To Run In Army Track

FORT SAM HOUSTON, Tex., May 27—UP—A 34-year-old sprinter, who has run the 100-yard dash in 9.8 and the 220 in 21.5 this year, will compete Friday and Saturday in the Fourth Army track meet at Fort Sill, Okla.

The perfectly conditioned track man is Sgt. 1c Alex Litman of Brooke Army Medical Center, a native of San Angelo, Tex.

Litman, who has been running in Army meets since 1930, is defending all-Army, 220-yard champion and finished second in 1933 in both the all-service 100 and 220-yard dashes.

The 21.5 in the 220 and 9.8 in the 100 were his best times this year. In 1945 in Hawaii, he ran the 100 in 9.5 and at Fort Dix, N. J., in 1946, he finished the 220 in 20.7.

Brooks is sending 10 men to the meet including Henry Cray, all-service 880-yard champion. Cray ran the half-mile last year in 1:32.8 in the all-service meet.

Rookie Wins 7th Game For League - Leading Missions

By UNITED PRESS
 Rino Duren, a young southpaw with blinding speed and a brilliant future, registered his seventh victory Wednesday night as he pitched the San Antonio Missions to a two-hit, 6 to 2, victory over Beaumont. It increased the Missions' Texas League lead to two games over second-place Oklahoma City.

Duren is ticketed for bigger things. In fact, he could probably help the Baltimore Orioles, San Antonio's parent club, this season. But he sometimes falls into the rut of most lefties in leading to wildness that has contributed to his two losses this year.

He was superlative Wednesday night, however, fanning 13 batters, at least one in every inning except one. Ev Hall's fifth inning double was the only hit against him for seven innings. Buzz Clarkson beat out an infield tap in the eighth for Beaumont's second hit. The Shags' two runs in the eighth came after a walk and a boot.

In other games, Fort Worth edged Oklahoma City in 13 innings, 8 to 7, on Calvin Felix's home run; Shreveport nipped Houston, 5 to 4; and Dallas' Pat Scanlonbury, another southpaw, took his seventh win of the year, an eight-hit, 4 to 0, blanking of Tulsa.

Shreveport's Bill Tremel came in the ninth inning to pitch to one Houston batter and forced Howie Phillips to hit into a game-ending double play that saved the

JACOBY ON BRIDGE
Leading Trump Is Odd Play Here

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service
There wouldn't have been much to the hand shown today if West had made the normal opening lead of a low spade. East would win the first trick with the ace of spades, cash his top hearts, and then give the rest of the tricks to South. South would lose 100 points, but he would have no complaint since the opponents could have made four spades except for the sacrifice.
West actually chose to lead a trump. Curiously enough, this opening lead gave the defenders a chance to set South more than the normal one trick. If the hand were played in routine style, West would gain the lead with a heart to return second trump.
If the defense happened to be daring enough, West might be allowed to win both of his side's heart tricks and lead a trump each time. This defense would cause South to lose four heart tricks and a spade, for a three-trick defeat.

Foreseeing some such possibility, declarer won the first trick in dummy with the king of diamonds and calmly led the queen of clubs from dummy.
East can hardly be blamed for covering with king. He naturally assumed that South had had a small club as well as the ace, in which case the cover by the king was necessary to win a club trick for the defense.
South won with the ace of clubs and entered dummy with the nine of diamonds. Now he led the ten of clubs from dummy. East covered with the jack and South ruffed. South got back to dummy once more with the ace of diamonds to run all of dummy's clubs, on which he discarded all four hearts.
A spade lead from dummy now gave him a trick with the king and thus enabled him to make his game contract with an overtrick.
