Army Charges Batchelor For Collaborating

SAN ANTONIO, March 5—UP—The Army announced Friday that charges have been preferred against former prisoner of war Claude Batchelor, charging him with collaborating with the Reds while he was in prison camp. The government charged the Kermit, Tex., soldier's collaboration with the enemy "caused other American prisoners of war punishment and hardship."

SPRING AND WINTER - A few days ago, when the above picture on the left was taken, Pampans were enjoying spring-like weather, but this morning, when the other was taken, it was winter again. The apricot tree, left, shown in full bloom, is in the yard of the Dr. Glenn Miller home, 616 N. Nelson, while the other tree, an elm, shown covered with snow, is located on W. Atchison, just east of the Scholcher Hotel. It has been reported that all fruit trees in the area have been killed by the recent cold weather. (News Photos)

Batchelor was arrested at Brooks Army Medical Center in San Antonio, where he was undergoing a routine medical checkup. Fourth Army headquarters announced that a special investigation will be held to determine whether the evidence justifies trial by court martial.

A three-judge federal court rejected the plea.)

Fielding Stresses Patience As Key To Preventing WW III

By ED NASH
Pampa News Staff Writer
If the United States and its allies can maintain a "balance of power" between the Free World and the Red-dominated portions of the world and can demonstrate in "Simon-pure" terms — for all to see — the difference between Democracy and Communism, there is no reason why a third world war cannot be avoided.

Red Query About Spy Is Ignored

WASHINGTON, March 5—UP—The State Department will take plenty of time investigating "questions raised" by Russia about the disappearance of one of its espionage experts in Japan, informed sources said Friday.

CAPT. MICHAEL FIELDING

is the co-equal of the Reds in military power and the Reds realize the jig is up. "Only then will it be safe to sit around a table and talk turkey," he emphasized.

Beginning by stating the American people have proved themselves to be too emotional ("it borders on hysteria"), thereby resulting in "warped" mass opinion, Fielding said he would talk "cold-bloodedly" on the current cold war.

Snow Moisture Total .10 Inch

Gray County farmers and ranchers were rejoicing today following Thursday afternoon's snowfall that brought an estimated .10 inch of moisture to thirsty farm and pasture land in some parts of the county.

our ideals, that we deny it the right to prey upon our hemisphere and that if it does not heed our warning and keep away, we shall deal with it as a situation that might endanger the peace of America," Dulles said.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles set the stage for action when he urged the 10th Inter-American Conference to line up "clearly and finally" against Communist penetration.

Details of the anti-Communist program are shaping up rapidly, informants said, for presentation no later than next Monday by the American delegation.

There were indications the resolution would be held up Friday by Guatemalan Foreign Minister Guillermo Toriello's first conference speech.

Toriello already has said he disagrees with the ideas on hemisphere relations voiced Thursday by Dulles. For one thing, he said Dulles "spoke about coffee and wool. But he forgot about bananas."

Dulles told the conference the danger of communism and creation of "Soviet Colonies" is increasing in the hemisphere because of inadequate warning has been sounded against Red infiltration.

"I believe that it is time to make it clear with finality that we see that alien despotism is hostile to our ideals, that we deny it the right to prey upon our hemisphere and that if it does not heed our warning and keep away, we shall deal with it as a situation that might endanger the peace of America," Dulles said.

Three hours later, patrolmen continued, Louis E. Falkenberg, Skellytown, and Mrs. Violet F. Harris, Harmon, Okla., were involved in a collision on the same highway, 3.8 miles west of Pampa. Neither of the drivers was seriously injured, though both vehicles were quite damaged, officers said.

Too, there was a minor wreck at 4:05 p.m. Thursday on Hwy. 273, in Lefors, patrolmen went out involved Horace E. Means, Houston, and Otis W. Cooper, 904 E. Scott.

City police covered two collisions within 20 minutes of each other this morning.

Coleman Huffman, 57, of Clarendon and Luther H. Terry, 44, of 413 Barnes, were involved in a collision at 8 a.m. today at Foster and Gray police said. Estimated damages to Huffman's vehicle: $60.

W. E. Noblitt, 45, of 514 N. Wells, and Rollins E. Dobbins, 34, of 1909 Mary Ellen were involved in another collision at North Hobart, south of Alocok, police reported. Total estimated damages: $185.

Highway patrolmen were at work this morning too. At 8:30 a.m. today Marion Majors, 51, of Pampa, and Ruby R. Patterson, 29, south of Pampa, were involved in a collision on the Lefors highway, 3.3 miles south of Pampa.

Miss PATTERSON was headed east, (See WRECKS, Page 4)

Jim Strawn, work unit conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service here, said the snowfall would add considerable moisture to wheat and pasture land, but quickly added that this still is not enough to "carry us through the spring."

TV Goes Modest; Necklines Plunge Up Japan Lining Up With Free Nations Against Communism

By RICHARD KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (NEA) — The Dagmar Age, like the Stone Age, has vanished. Television has gone modest with a vengeance. We are now in what might be called the Dorothy Collins, or Necklines-at-the-Neck, Age.

To put it bluntly, television has changed the content that marked its formative years. Today, conscious of its daily entrance into living rooms, TV has clamped down on super-plunging necklines and the gals inside same.

Take a look at TV's leading ladies of the moment. Probably the top feminine star is Lucille Ball, usually seen in a chic grease monkey's outfit, or its equivalent. The leading singer is pretty Dorothy Collins, seemingly wedded to her high-collared blouse.

There are Imogene Coca, Martha Raye, Janette Davis, Joan Davis, Eve Arden, Dina Shore, Fatti Page, Ariene Francis, Marguerite Piazza. Perhaps a bare shoulder here and there, nothing more.

"The audience dictates to us from the sanctity of its living room," Helfrich's department — like its counterparts on other networks — checks every word of every script before every show. It checks costumes, too. And camera angles, which, Todman says, can make all the difference in exposing what he calls the "strategic area." It also checks lighting.

Lighting, strangely, can be crucial. Side-lighting, Helfrich says, "picks up contours," and a misplaced contour can be most embarrassing to a network. They are particularly cautious about side-lighting in a ballet sequence, because the light ballet costumes are contour-prone.

The combination of costume, lights and female can be tricky. Famous, in NBC history, is the Madge Evans incident. She made a guest appearance as a mistress of ceremonies on "Your Show of Shows." Her gowns were dutifully checked. But, on camera, one innocent gown somehow looked a little less than adequate. The next time she came on, there were two additional pieces of material.

DARING MARIE WILSON is mostly modest now (right) compared to earlier days (left), but she still can be daring—on occasion.

But, for one wistful moment, recall TV of a year or so ago. There was Faye Emerson, billed with some justice, as "the girl who put the V in TV." There was Dagmar, a contour map with a baby stare. There was "Leave It to the Girls" (which may, incidentally, return soon) which featured such as Margaret Mitchell, Rhonda McElhiney and Robin Chandler in gowns that plunged so deep it was rumored they were designed by a deep-sea diver.

The change has been gradual, but is now complete. Television has policed the area, and that area is no longer televised. About the only girl who will still, on occasion, be daring is Marie Wilson. But, as one TV publicist expressed it, "she camouflages her sex with demureness so nobody minds."

Why the change? Simple — too many complaints. The whole thing began innocently enough, with the early TV female performers simply wearing what they'd ordinarily wear to an evening dress-up affair. It just happened that the fashions of the day were daring. At least, they seemed so to the average, non-night-clubbing viewer, who was suddenly confronted with the rather awe-inspiring sight of Faye Emerson in a low-cut gown. It was like exposing a lifelong vegetarian to his first sirloin steak, rare, with mushrooms.

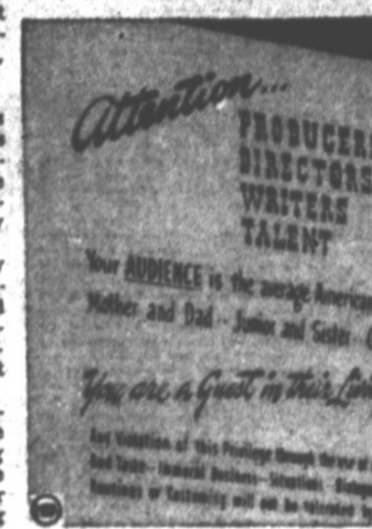

NEW NECKLINE in TV has made it the Dorothy Collins Age.

In TV's infancy, when most sets were barroom fixtures, sexy gals were just what the bartender ordered. But when TV entered the home and exposed itself to children, dogs and such, the angry letters began to pour in.

Most TV executives were ready to accept the change. They realized that the infant industry had needed the early uninhibited films to get an audience. But they knew the need was past.

In the well-carpeted executive offices of TV studios today, the phrase most often heard is "living room." The television execs are now conscious of the fact that their commodity winds up in living rooms, you'd think they were dealing in wall paper.

"Television has to be careful," says Bill Todman, of the fabulously successful producing team of Goodson-Todman ("What's My Line?" "The Name's the Game," "Beat the Clock," etc., ad almost infinitum), "because of the peculiar psychological business of going into the living room."

NEW BATTLE CRY in TV is typified by this living room reminder which actress Betty Cox reads at studio door of major network.

"Television is very conscious of its responsibility," says Chris Wittig, general manager of the DuMont network, "brought on by being viewed in the intimacy of the living room."

"We don't dictate to the audience," says NBC's director of continuity acceptance, (roughly, that means censor), Stockton Helfrich.

EDITOR'S NOTE: In the following dispatch, based on almost nine years of personal study and observation in Japan, a veteran United Press correspondent gives his answer to the question: "Where is Japan going?" The correspondent, Ernest Hoberrecht, is one of the best qualified observers in the Far East to write upon the subject. New United Press vice president for Asia, he landed in Japan in August, 1945, two days ahead of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

By ERNEST HOBERRECHT
TOKYO, March 5 (UP) — The United States will win a major diplomatic victory over the Communist world within the next few days when the Japanese take a step toward firm alignment with the free nations.

This dramatic step will be the signing of a mutual defense assistance pact by Japan and the United States—two former enemies who only 10 years ago were locked in a bloody battle.

A decade ago Japan and Russia had a non-aggression pact. Today Japan and Russia technically still are at war, because Moscow and Tokyo have not signed a treaty formally ending their World War II fighting.

None Dare to Predict
Nobody will dare to predict exactly what the next decade will bring, but for the foreseeable future, the Japanese themselves have answered in question: "Where is Japan going?"

Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida, chosen leader of the Japanese people, has made it plain in public statements and in remarks to me that Japan is going to bind herself, fully and firmly, to the family of free nations represented by America and her allies.

Diplomatic and military officials here feel this is of tremendous significance in view of Japan's importance in Asia and Asia's rapidly rising importance in world affairs.

American military men shudder to think what could happen if the Communists controlled Japan's industrial machine, along with China's manpower and the rich natural resources of southeast Asia.

Wants UN Membership
As Yoshida told this correspondent, Japan "wants membership in the United Nations," does not intend to conclude a "bilateral treaty with the Communist regime in China" and "earnestly hopes" to follow a program of friendly, two-way co-operation with the United States, Britain and others of the free world.

Here, based on almost nine years of personal observation and on-the-scene study, is a report on some of the key problems and situations in Japan today:

Co-operation with the United States — Either late this week or early next week, Japan and the United States will sign a mutual defense assistance treaty under which Japan will receive possibly as much as $150 million in American arms the first year. Japan also will be permitted to buy $40 million worth of U. S. surplus wheat for yen and will be given $10 million worth of free wheat will help the new defense efforts. The Americans hope the treaty will lead to withdrawal of U. S. troops who have been defending Japan against aggression.

Come to Church

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

God made the physical world for His own glory and man's welfare. Five times in Genesis I, the writer mentions that God saw that what He had made was good. At the close of this chapter he says, "God saw everything He had made, and, behold, it was very good."

The coming of sin wrought disaster to God's plan, so great that He resorted to the extreme measure of sending His only begotten Son, in order to restore the possibility of a world such as He intended.

Sometimes men complain about the kind of world we live in but they need to remember that what is wrong with the world is due to man. Then they should accept God's only Son as their Saviour and work for a better world.

"This is my Father's world,
O let me not forget
That though the wrong seem oft so strong,
God is the Ruler yet."

Schools Praised At Lions Club Meeting

Texas Public School Week was responsible for both the "education" and "spice" parts of this week's meeting of the Pampa Lions Club.

Rev. Dick Crews, pastor of the First Christian Church, Thursday noon gave a short talk and the B. M. Baker School choir - 47-strong - sang several numbers.

"Public education is the most unifying influence in all of America," Crews stated, adding that that is what "makes America what she is today."

Asking each member of the Lions Club to visit a public school this week, during the Texas Public Schools Centennial, the pastor said, "You should really find out what's going on there."

Stating that "in my 19 years of knowing school administrators and teachers, I've never met a Communist," Crews said, "The schools and any other public organization, ought always to be open to criticism." He referred to Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) and his past investigations into alleged Communism in U.S. public schools.

Crews went back in American history to the days of Roger Williams, commenting that most of early U. S. education was in "religious schools . . . church dominated." He said public schools make for "religious liberty" and gave as an example the Pledge to the Flag given each day in most U. S. public schools.

Twelve boys and 35 girls, students in Pampa's Baker School, sang three numbers, two of them Negro spirituals, then split into a boys' and girls' sextet (each of them singing one number) and ended up with a bright version of the "Mexican Hat Dance."

All of the young songsters and songstresses were dressed in white choir robes with red trappings. Mrs. Frieda Gallman directed the choir. County Schools Superintendent B. R. Nuckols was in charge of program and Baker School Principal John Evans introduced it.

Boss Lion Ralph Thomas labelled the 1954 Minstrel Show, held Monday and Tuesday nights, as "very successful" and added a pat of praise for the Lions' cooperation. Said Thomas: there were 17 Lions, eight Lionesses (wives of Lions) and two sons of Lions in the chorus; there was one Lion in the Dixieland jazz band; and there were 14 barbershoppers, nine of them Lions, in the cast. Particularly, Thomas praised new members who participated "almost 100 per cent." Minstrel Director Bunny Shultz added his thanks.

The McLain Lions Club Minstrel Show will be held Monday and Tuesday nights, Thomas announced.

Miss Christine Pierce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Pierce, who live southeast of Pampa, was introduced as the March Lions Club sweetheart by February Sweetheart Judy Nance. Miss Nance thanked Ed Myatt - very appropriately - for his work and that of all the others in the Minstrel.

Early Filing Of Income Tax Is Beneficial

Persons filing and paying income taxes early avoid last-minute crowds and have a greater certainty of an accurate return, according to Ellis Campbell Jr., director of the Dallas revenue district, and Walter C. Bowen, Pampa collector of internal revenue.

Also, taxpayers who prepare returns now may still find out that they are due refunds from the government and are in a better position to substantiate the fact than if they wait until the last minute and are compelled to offer incomplete proof.

Where matters of extensive security or property holdings are involved, taxpayers are urged to obtain the services of qualified tax consultants. The local office is not able to give assistance on complicated forms, Bowen stated.

People wishing aid on simple forms will find Bowen in his office five days a week until March 15, and all day March 15.

4-H Club Boys, Girls Observe Special Week

A schedule of activities for Gray County's participation in the observance of National 4-H Club Week was announced today by Assistant County Agent Jerry Mobly.

Special week, March 6-14, has been proclaimed by President Dwight Eisenhower and Gov. Allan Shivers, and will find Gray County 4-H Club boys and girls joining throughout the nation in its observance.

Highlights of the week's events will include a party at the VFW American Legion Hall here at 7:30 p.m. Saturday and another party at the Legion Hall in McLain at 7:30 p.m. next Friday.

Transcriptions will be made at these parties and at a district meeting in Amarillo Monday, and these, along with those already made at club meetings, will be broadcast over Radio Station KPFD at 7 a.m. daily throughout the week.

The district meeting, Mobly said, is being held under the direction of A. H. Karcher, assistant state 4-H club leader, to plan the 4-H program for the year.

Also there will be special 4-H Club programs on the regular Extension Service broadcast of station KPFD at 10:45 a.m. Saturday and on March 13.

Color slides of Gray County 4-H Club work, with a narrative by a club boy and girl, will be shown at service club meetings in the county, he stated.

The service club schedule is as follows: Monday, Lefors Lions Club, basement Lefors Methodist Church, 7:30 p.m.; Tuesday, McLain Lions Club, Lions Club Hall, noon; Wednesday, Pampa Rotary Club, Palm Room of City Hall, noon; Thursday, Pampa Lions, basement First Methodist Church, 7:30 p.m.; Friday, Pampa Kiwanis Club, March 19, as the club will hold its Ladies Night program next week.

Lynda Stevens and Lee Ledrick will be the narrators for the service club programs in Lefors and Pampa, while narrators for the McLain program will be Nancy Tate and Jimmy Don Bailey.

First Taste Of Stardom Is Bitter

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD, March 5 — UP — Grace Kelly, the newest dramatic find, got a taste of what it means to be a star when she denied she caused the recent break-up of the Ray Millands.

The fragile blonde Philadelphia socialite discovered the goldfish bowl life of a movie queen when she co-starred recently with Millands in "Dial M for Murder."

Shortly after the picture was finished the Millands separated, and the gossip columnists blamed the handsome actor was having a real-life love scene with his new co-star. But Grace denied any romance.

"Certainly not on my side," she said.

"When the column items first appeared, I was terribly upset, I wasn't even in Hollywood when they said I was dating him. I never did during their separation. I was back East, with my family.

Her father, a wealthy contractor of Germantown, Pa., was "upset" by the items, too, she added.

The Millands since have reconciled.

Miss Kelly has created a sensation in other ways since her rapid rise to an MGM movie contract and star billing. Only five years ago she was a drama student in New York.

MGM tried to sign her then, but she instead chose New York television jobs "because the offer wasn't good enough." After one small film role she caused a stir.

Church News

The Adult Bible Class of the First Presbyterian Church will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the church educational building. The group, led by Dr. Douglas Nelson, will continue its study of the book of Genesis. Everyone attending is requested to bring a Bible.

A Lighted Cross meeting will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday in St. Paul's Methodist Church of the suburb district council and committees to make final plans for the mass suburban district youth rally to be held in the First Methodist Church March 20.

Circle 9 of the First Methodist Church will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the church parlor. The Crusaders class of the First Methodist Church will hold a dinner at the same time Monday in the church's Fellowship Hall.

Revival services are now being held at 10 a.m. and 7:45 p.m. each day at the Church of the Nazarene, 500 N. West. Rev. T. H. Stanley, who has conducted successful evangelistic campaigns across the nation, is leading the services. Special music is featured at each meeting, under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Zeb Land and Mrs. Lois Fagan. The pastor, Rev. Herbert Land, has announced that the revival is open to the public.

A two-day Methodist vacation church school training institute will be held in the Asbury Methodist Church, Lubbock, beginning at 10 a.m. March 11.

Special music will be presented at the 11 a.m. service at the First Baptist Church Sunday by a girl's quartet, the Harmonians, from Texas Tech, Lubbock. Members of the quartet include Jan Doggett of Pampa, Marjorie Seals of Amarillo, Joyce Miller of Friona, and Marjorie Hendricks of Baird. Mack Hill will lead the singing at both morning and evening services.

Topic of Dr. E. Douglas Carter's sermon at the morning service will be "Spiritual Prevarication." At the evening service, which begins at 7:30, he will speak on "The Shadow of a Great Man's Life."

A meeting of Sunday School superintendents will be held at 7 p.m. Monday in the church parlor as Gary Cooper's wife in "High Noon."

Since then she's been loaned to Paramount's such top pictures as "Rear Window," "The Bridges of Toko-Ri" and "Country Girl," co-starring Bing Crosby.

"My family didn't, like my being an actress at first, but they're used to it now," she smiled.

The slender beauty joins Audrey Hepburn and Maggie McNamara in the new school of stars with boyish figures. She explains the trend as the public's desire for a different shape on the screen.

"The public is tired of curves," she said. "Twenty ago the fashion was for flat-chested women and then came the trend for bosoms like Jane Russell. Now they want something new, I guess."

GI Shoots It Out With Cop; Both Are Killed

CHEYENNE, Wyo., March 5 — UP — A gun-toting Warren Air Force Base enlisted man got drunk Thursday night after a waitress threw an engagement ring in his face and shot it out with a policeman. Both were killed.

Patrolman Jack Jernigan, 39, was shot in the chest as he tried to subdue the airman, Robert Thornton Levine, 30, of Jambula Plains, Mass. Mortally wounded, Jernigan shot Levine three times. Levine was dead on arrival at the base hospital. Jernigan died an hour and 20 minutes after the duel. He was married and had a young daughter.

Waitress Elsie Beas said Levine came to the cafe when he got out of duty and offered her an engagement ring.

"I threw it in his face," she said. Levine left the restaurant and began drinking. He came back in a nasty mood and started a loud argument with the waitress who had spurned him.

She called police, warning them that Levine "always has a gun."

Two air police accompanied Jernigan to the cafe, and took the raging Levine into the kitchen. The drink-craved airman pulled a .38-caliber pistol and fired three times hitting Jernigan in the chest once. Jernigan, firing as he reeled back into the bar room, shot Levine twice in the chest and once in the leg before he passed out.

LOST 50 POUNDS WITH THIS HOME RECIPE

For many of this country's 20,000,000 overweight adults, reducing diets have become a dominating influence. But the frightening fact is that many of the most popular diets are extremely dangerous.

Stay not to the bareheaded way and reduce safely, easily and without starvation diet?

Just get from your drugstore a four-ounce bottle of Barconatrate - now just $1.89. Mix with grapefruit juice as directed on label. Then take according to directions. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the way to reduce, return the empty bottle for your money back.

Mrs. G. T. Hicks, 616 Whittington Avenue, San Antonio, Texas, wrote that she "thinks Barconatrate is wonderful and lost 50 pounds taking it."
