Sheppard Jury Locked, Will Reconvene Today

By ROBERT F. MORISON CLEVELAND, Dec. 18 - UP - The jury deciding the guilt or innocence of Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard failed to reach a decision by late Saturday night and was locked up until Sunday at 10 a. m.

Judge Edward Blythin called the jury down at 10:04 p. m. and asked if there would be any purpose in deliberating longer Saturday night. He asked for a show of hands of those wanting to stay on but none was indicated. When he asked if those who wished to return in the morning raise their hands, all did so. "I take it then," he said, "you would prefer to return at about 10 o'clock in the morning and resume your deliberations."

School Board Clears Teacher Of 'Charge'

The Pampa school board has "entirely cleared" the elementary school teacher who was charged Monday night by a group of parents with "unfit" and "too cruel" treatment to children in her classroom.

not think, however, that any of the children in the teacher's room had been consulted. The imagination of third-graders, he said, is likely "to get away from them in giving a true account" of such a situation. It would be difficult to consult the youngsters "on such a serious matter," he concluded. "It is no implication of their falsity, but they have a hard time remembering."

Indications were that none of the jurors would be taken to religious services in the morning. Blythin said none of the weary-faced jurors had requested to do so. The jury deliberated a total of 10 hours and 23 minutes Saturday, not counting time out for two meals. Since they began they have not yet asked any sort of advice or instructions from the judge. Sheppard, who was only in the courtroom about five minutes, waved and smiled at his two brothers and their wives. The defendant, as usual, appeared untruffed at the long tension of waiting for the jury to decide whether he shall die in the electric chair for killing his wife, Marilyn, whether he should serve a life term for second-degree murder, a lesser sentence for manslaughter, or be acquitted. The criminal courts building, normally vacant on Saturdays, was filled with reporters, photographers, members and friends of the family and a few spectators. Earlier, Blythin, considered one of the hardest workers in the Cuyahoga county common pleas court system, heard 41 probation and jail cases while the jury's deliberations were going on upstairs. There was no indication from official sources as to how long the seven men and five women might be permitted to continue their deliberations, which resumed at 9:03 a. m. Saturday after spending the night in the Cart Hotel and eating $17.45 worth of breakfast.

German Train Crash Kills 14

DORTMUND, Germany, Dec. 18 - UP - A "Christmas special" express train, carrying 500 children home for the holidays, rammed into a commuter train in an early morning fog Saturday. Fourteen persons were killed and 66 injured, 32 of them seriously. All of the dead and the seriously injured were passengers in the two antiquated coaches of the local commuter train. The steel shells of the modern coaches of the special miraculously shielded the children from serious injury.

Another 'Flying Dutchman?' Missing Vessel Stirs Old Legends

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 18 - UP - What has become of the freighter Southern Districts? Has the converted LST fallen victim to some disaster at sea so sudden her men could not even get off an SOS? Has she, like the storied steamer Cyclops in 1917, vanished without trace? Or will she, like the ghost ship Marie Celeste, turn up a derelict manned only by rats to start another of those salty legends recited by seamen ever since the fabled "Flying Dutchman" stirred their imaginations? At least two of the wives of the 24 men aboard the Southern Districts, missing for more than a week, consider such legends superstitious nonsense. One of them, Mrs. J. B. Downing, wife of the second mate, said she will ask President Eisenhower

Dust Clouds Reduce Area Visibility

A pall of dust which filled the skies over the Pampa area some time during the pre-dawn hours Saturday kept the sun blocked out throughout the day, but presented no hazard except discomfort. Visibility was cut to less than two miles at times during the day Saturday, and strong gusty winds lashed at busy Christmas shoppers in the night.

Shoppers were not discouraged, however, judging from the heavy traffic and crowds of pedestrians in the city. Pampa merchants apparently enjoyed their biggest business day Saturday despite wind and dust. Elsewhere in the state, the weather had more tragic effects. The United Press reported at least three deaths indirectly charged to the swirling dust.

Pampa's weather bureau, Radio Station, KPND, recorded a low of 39 degrees shortly after sunup Saturday, and the mercury rose considerably after that. Highest mark recorded was 55 degrees. At 8:30 p. m. Saturday it had cooled to 32.

No relief from the high flying dust was forecast. The dust was recorded as far south as Corpus Christi on the Gulf Coast.

9th UN Conclave Is Over

Accomplishments Hailed By West

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Dec. 18 - Western democracies Saturday hailed the UN General Assembly for starting President Eisenhower's atoms for peace plan on the road to reality, trying to free 11 American airmen jailed in China and setting up disarmament negotiations.

The ninth annual meeting of the Assembly was one of high drama and personal tragedy, capped by Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's proposal to go to Red China and the death of Andrei Y. Vishinsky, the Soviet Union's venom-tongued chief delegate.

The Western Allies were more solidly united than ever before. From the viewpoint of the Western democracies, the successes of the ninth annual meeting of the 60-nation world parliament which ended Friday night were many. Its failures were few.

Assembly High Point The high point of the entire Assembly was the debate on the prisoners, with thirty-four-year-old British delegate Anthony Nutting making what delegates agreed was the greatest speech of this meeting and one of the best of any assembly. "These airmen are not just members of the American Air Force," Nutting said. "They are soldiers of the world organization sent to fight by the will of the UN. Their lives, their freedom, their future, their safety, is our responsibility." (See UN, Page 6)

Train, Car Impact Kills 3 Students

PADUCAH, Tex., Dec. 18 - UP - Three students on their way home from a high school football game were killed Saturday when their car smashed into a moving freight train inside the Paducah City limits during a dust storm.

A second car also was involved in the accident, but the two occupants escaped injury. Two students in the first car were seriously injured when their vehicle crashed into the 18th car of the Quannah, Acme and Pacific freight with such force it knocked two wheels from the car.

Two youths in the car which was following the first vehicle also crashed into the train, but had managed to slow their automobile billegedly before the impact.

Billy Ted Tomison, 17; Jerry Hamilton, 16, and his sister, Neva Hamilton, 13, were killed in the crash. She died instantly and the two boys died about 30 minutes apart in a Paducah hospital.

RED WORK HORSE IS NOW ONE OF A DIFFERENT COLOR

SEOUL, Korea - UP - A many Communist work horse has deserted the North Korean army, the U. S. Marines reported recently.

Marine Cpl. Paul E. McArdle said the horse left the Communist side and strolled through the heavily-mined neutral zone to Marine outpost Boston where it began to munch grass.

The Marines adopted the slow-footed animal, named it "Blaze of Glory" and announced it would never have to work again - just graze.

No Perjury Counts In Army-Joe Row

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 - UP - Deputy Attorney General William P. Rogers said officially Saturday that the Justice Department will not prosecute for perjury any witnesses in the televised Army-McCarthy hearings.

He ducked, however, a question whether any action would be taken in the curious case of the young Army officer who was involved in the testimony. Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said during the hearings last summer that a young intelligence officer had given him the famous "FBI letter" which figured prominently in the uproarious hearings.

The letter, 3 1/4 pages in length, actually contained excerpts of a longer secret FBI report on alleged subversion at Fort Monmouth, N. J. Rogers disclosed on CBS' "Capitol Cookroom" program that the Justice Department had completed a study of the transcript of the Army-McCarthy hearings.

Official disclosure of the department's attitude confirmed a United Press dispatch of two weeks ago that the department had ruled out any perjury prosecution based on conflicting statements of witnesses. Rogers said there were many inconsistencies in the testimony, but the department has "to look at it from the standpoint of whether we can prove beyond a reasonable doubt that somebody committed perjury. In other words, whether we can prove it or not. And our conclusion is that we do not plan to take any legal action."

Fever Carrier Score Crops Up

AUSTIN, Dec. 18 - UP - A "potentially dangerous" spread of yellow fever mosquitoes in Texas was reported Saturday by a senior engineer in the State Health Department.

Frank von Zuben, a specialist in insect control, said yellow fever mosquitoes are known to be breeding in Texas and added, "they could make trouble for us."

"We haven't had a recorded case of yellow fever in this state since 1905," Von Zuben pointed out. "But with the volume of international travel we have today, together with the presence of yellow fever mosquitoes, the situation is potentially dangerous," he warned.

Six Survive Blind Landing In New York

NEW YORK, Dec. 18 - UP - An Italian trans-Atlantic airliner carrying 32 persons careened off a landing light and crashed in flames in Jamaica Bay Saturday on its fourth attempt to make a radar landing during a rainstorm at Idlewild airport. Twenty-six persons were killed.

There were six known survivors among the 22 passengers aboard the huge four-engined DC-68B apparently died, along with the 10-member crew. Many of those aboard were coming to the U. S. for Christmas.

The airline said nine bodies had been recovered and 17 were missing among the five Americans, one Iranian and 26 Italians on the plane, which left Rome late Friday. Four of the five Americans survived.

Some of the victims apparently went down with the plane in 25 feet of water. Others were dumped into the ice cold water of Jamaica Bay. At least one, a woman, was trapped in her seat when she could not wrench her safety belt loose.

This was the first major disaster in the history of the world's largest civil airport.

The search for bodies continued into the night, with searchlights beamed on the black waters, helicopters and small boats scoured the bay.

The Douglas airliner, one of the largest in commercial service, was bringing an unusually large cargo of Christmas parcels to the United States, along with persons planning to spend the holiday with friends and relatives here. Some had not notified their families in advance, hoping to surprise them. The Civil Aeronautics Administration said the plane circled the airport for two hours trying to land on the instrument runway used in bad weather.

Dairy Gifts Denounced

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 - UP - A private international group denounced the United States Saturday for "giving away" in foreign lands the dairy surpluses piling up under the government's price support program.

It offered to take over the job of disposing of the surpluses abroad under a "trading" program which would give the United States something in return - dollars, foreign currencies or foreign products.

The offer came from Dairy Industries Society, International, a private group established in 1946 to "foster dairy enterprises" throughout the world. The group is headed by George O. Tiffany, Stamford, Conn., and has members in the dairy industry of 27 countries. The society announced it would set up a non-profit corporation to operate a "world surplus milk pool."

Mobeetie Rites For Mrs. Selby

Funeral Services were held at the First Methodist church at Mobeetie Friday at 1:30 p.m. for Mrs. Clara Selby, 86, longtime resident of Mobeetie, who died in the Vivian's Rest Home in Amarillo, Thursday morning. She had lived in this community since 1924, until she moved to Amarillo, 18 months ago.

Born in Sherman, Mrs. Selby was married in Grayson County, Oct. 5, 1901. In 1904, the couple moved to Collingsworth County, where they lived for 22 years. She was a member of the Methodist Church at Mobeetie.

She is survived by two sons, Robert A. Selby, assistant superintendent of schools in Amarillo, and Jim Selby, who farms in the Mobeetie community. One sister, Mrs. Nora Jackson, Pampa, and by three grandchildren.

Death Penalty Asked
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 15 —UP—Citing Indiana as the "transportation center" for the nation's drug peddlers, Gov. George Craig Friday demanded the death penalty for narcotics sales to minors. The governor told a news conference he would ask the 1955 general assembly for stiffer narcotics violation penalties to make the drug traffic "unprofitable in Indiana."

Coffee Price Dip Forecast Next Year

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18—UP—The futures contract price was down 10 cents a pound for May delivery, 14 cents for July delivery, 16 cents for September delivery, and 18 cents for delivery in December, 1955.

The December, 1955, delivery price was more than 10 cents a pound below the level that prevailed in December, 1953, before reports of frost damage to the Brazilian crop sent prices spiraling.

A decline in coffee prices would mean a cutback in Brazil's dollar earnings. In an operation similar to the U.S. farm support program, the Brazilian government now is attempting to bolster prices by offering to buy any surpluses which growers can't market at a government-fixed support price.

Brazil's exports are down sharply from a year ago, indicating she will carry into the new harvest next summer much larger reserve stocks than last year.

A CHRISTMAS CAROL

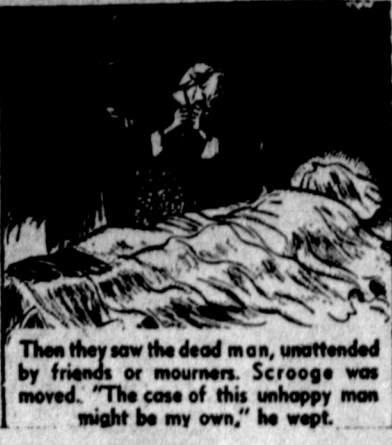

BY CHARLES DICKENS

Scrooge and the Ghost of Christmas Yet to Come overheard a group of businessmen. "I thought he'd never die," said one. "What has he done with his money?" asked another. "He hasn't left it to me!" laughed a third.

The Spirit took Scrooge to a vile part of the city, and showed him, in a wretched hovel, a group of hordes haggling over the personal effects of the dead man.

Then they saw the dead man, unattended by friends or mourners. Scrooge was moved. "The case of this unhappy man might be my own," he wept.

Industry Is Also Moving From Cities

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18—UP—James E. Hanson, a member of the realtors society, says there will be plenty of activity. In addition to the trend away from town (because of high costs), says some specific industries, such as chemicals, will be expanding with new products, and some of the big companies will be spreading out to cover new market areas. And the moving away from downtown will have a dual effect: New building for the plants which mission report businesses of all types will be spending at the rate of $26 billion a year for new facilities and equipment in the first three months of 1955. That compares with almost $26.7 billion this year and the record $28.4 billion last year. Roughly one third of the total goes into buildings; the rest into equipment. Plenty of Activity Good new industries, it says, help share the tax load, provide jobs and make for better schools, roads and other municipal services. The money for all this moving is available, according to representatives of both the industrial realtors and the national association of real estate boards. They report there is a good supply of credit for loans on industrial and business properties. There is more available for those in good locations, and interest rates are best in the larger communities. Abundance of Credit This situation is in line with the general abundance of real estate mortgage credit at this time. For the more distant future, the magazine "Architectural Forum" predicts that development of atomic power for industrial use will "change the industrial map of the nation." Beginning soon, it said, private enterprise atomic power plants will be economical for the relatively remote and power-starved areas. In a general forecast, the magazine says: What hydroelectric power did for the Tennessee Valley Authority areas, atomic power will do for the other power-short sections of the country. Extra Aid to Thailand WASHINGTON, Dec. 18—UP—The Foreign Operations Administration announced Friday it is ready to give Thailand up to $28.2 million in additional aid this fiscal year. Foreign aid chief Harold E. Stassen said his agency is willing to make the extra fund available because the United States recognizes the importance of proposed Thai projects to support the nation's defense efforts, improve living conditions and "to counter the threat of Communist penetration."

Surplus Food Sales May Hit New High

By PATRICIA WIGGINS
WASHINGTON, Dec. 18—UP—The Commodity Credit Corporation's losses on surplus foods purchases this fiscal year will hit a new high, possibly double last year's.

R. P. Beach, director of the budget division, declined to give exact figures because estimates are now being prepared for the Budget Bureau. But he conceded they will be very high. They soared to a record $419 million in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1953.

Beach said there were two primary reasons: Losses on stepped up disposal of surpluses, and storage and handling costs being built up by excessive food stocks.

Larger Stocks
On the basis of current commitments and those expected, the Department of Agriculture, of which CCC is a part, may unload $1 billion more in surpluses this year than last when sales totaled $1.4 billion. A big factor in this is the sale overseas, for local currency, of $400 million of surpluses. Other factors are so-called donation programs, chiefly affecting dairy products, and bartering for strategic materials.

Beach said these outlets should allow the CCC to keep within its $10 billion spending ceiling. "We appear to be all right this year, and we hope we'll be all right next year, too," he said.

Last summer Congress raised CCC's ceiling in anticipation of increases in mandatory price-support purchases. Beach was pleased. He said that otherwise the ceiling would be topped in February.

The latest published report on the CCC's financial status showed commitments creeping close to the old limit. As of Oct. 31, it had in use $7.3 billion. Actually tied up in crops—under price-support loan or in inventory—was a record $6.63 billion, compared with $4.54 billion worth the same time last year.

More Surplus

Although federal controls this year helped hold down wheat, cotton and corn moving into loan, enough came in to help built-up inventories raise the total.

As of Oct. 31, there were 7.3 million bales of cotton under loan and in inventory, compared with 3.2 million the same time last year; 1.08 billion bushels of wheat, compared with 806 million; and 722 million bushels of corn, compared with 524 million.

Cotton tied up in loan and inventory is equal to more than half this year's crop. The wheat total is more than was produced this year and almost equal to the fourth largest crop on record produced last year.

Armory Completion Seen In January

It looks as if it will be after the first of the year before the Texas National Guard armory building in Recreation Park is completed.

Jim Barrett, construction superintendent, Saturday said the roof was being laid and once the doors were hung and the windows inserted the job would be finished.

Adverse weather and lack of material have plagued the job from the start — the original completion date was Oct. 15.

Clay keeps soil fertile from season to season and is considered a necessary ingredient.

UN

(Continued from Page One) ability—the responsibility of each and every one of us present here today. "They went forth to uphold our cause. We must uphold theirs." Voting Climax The debate was climaxed by a vote instructing Hammarskjold to do all he can to release the men. He promptly arranged a Christmas meeting with the Chinese Reds in Peiping. From the Communist viewpoint, this assembly was practically a disaster. United States chief delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. said in a statement after the Assembly closed: "...The UN knocked down decisively all the various Soviet bloc items, most of which were strongly anti-America. Their score of accomplishment was zero. "A wonderful session for lovers of freedom throughout the world." There were 72 items on the Assembly's agenda. They ranged from the atoms for peace plan to a committee report on "customs, ancient laws and practices affecting the human dignity of women."

C of C Irrigation Clinic Stirs Interest Among Area Farmers

Interest in the prospects of well irrigation for Gray County was stimulated by Friday's irrigation clinic in Pampa, according to Quentin Williams, Pampa Chamber of Commerce clinic chairman. More important, he said, "is the fact that farmers in the area were made aware of the problems they face and where they should go to try to gain solutions." "It is a bit early to say how much interest was stirred up," Williams said, "but it seems reasonable to say that 100 or so wells will be drilled in the Pampa area during the next two or three years." Williams noted that during the last year four wells have been drilled in the neighborhood of McLean, and that several test wells were contemplated around Pampa, including one for H. H. Keahey, 12 miles west of town. There are at present about a dozen wells in the county.

Conner Urges Moderation For Holidays

With pre-Christmas activities already in full swing, Police Chief Jim Conner, asked all Pampans Saturday "to make it a safe Christmas and it will be a Merry Christmas." "There are going to be a lot of office parties this year and I shudder to think how meretricious can so easily change to disaster on the way home," Conner said.

1. If there is an office party use public transportation that day — don't drive.
2. Moderation is the key to fun and safety.
3. Remember those you love who are not at the party are waiting for you to return home safe and sound.
4. "One-for-the-road" is a potential murder weapon in traffic.
5. If you insist on driving to the party, don't hesitate to let someone else drive you home if you're feeling the slightest bit "guy."
6. You may be happy when you leave the party — make sure others stay happy by not turning yourself into a traffic menace.
7. Never forget that your responsibility is for others, as well as yourself, when you drive. Remember, little errors cause big accidents.

Nativity Scenes Put On Film

Lighting of the Nativity scenes Friday night in Central Park were photographed by Frank Zehentner, of Dallas, for the Humble Oil and Refining Company's "Texas in Review" television program, according to E. O. Wedgeworth, manager of the Chamber of Commerce. Zehentner, with the Jamieson Film Co., Dallas, said the films would either be shown Monday or a week from Monday, the 27th, "conditioned on whether the films are good." Pampans will see the films on the "Texas in Review" program over station KGNC-TV, Amarillo. They are expected to be shown throughout the entire Southwest. The Nativity scenes will be lighted each night at Central Park. Recorded Christmas carols will be played.

McConnell Rites Pending Here

Services are pending at Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home for Floyd McConnell, 58, long-time Gray County resident, who died Saturday in the Veterans Administration Hospital at Waco. Born in Lamar County, he moved to Gray County with his parents from Deport in 1907. Mr. McConnell made his home at 801 N. Somerville before moving to Wheeler several months ago. He was a veteran of World War I. Survivors include his wife, Flossie, Wheeler; a daughter, Mrs. Alice Marie Banning, Amarillo; three step-daughters; two sisters, Mrs. Mae Boone and Mrs. Ava Bell, Pampa; and two brothers, Roger, of Pampa, and Lee, of California.

SHIP

(Continued from Page One) Mrs. Downing said, "that I request... and think it right... to give the ship a chance." She expressed hope that the Southern Districts' men may be drifting on a raft or in lifeboats if the ship actually has gone down. Mrs. Downing has been keeping vigil with Mrs. Ernest Rowe, wife of the master of the missing ship, for news of her husband at Norfolk, Va. Orleans, Mrs. Madeline Carder, pretty brunette wife of another crewman of the Southern Districts, said "a ship that size doesn't completely disappear."

She said her husband, Marvin, 38, told her before he sailed "he would be home for Christmas and for our first anniversary, and I still believe he will." Left Louisiana The Coast Guard started a search of the southeast Gulf and entire Atlantic seaboard after the Southern Districts failed to arrive at Rockport. Once a ship resembling an LST was sighted at dusk off Cape Hatteras, N. C.—the graveyard of the Atlantic. But a thorough search next day turned up no trace of it in the area. That apparition of Hatteras — if it was an apparition — was enough to make superstitious seamen recall the stories of the Cyclops, the Marie Celeste and even the Flying Dutchman—the ghostliest ship of them all.

Sooner Solon Pleads Innocent

CALESTER, Okla., Dec. 18—State Rep. C. Plowboy Edwards pleaded innocent Saturday to charges of extortion in connection with a $50 payment from a paroled convict, and was free on $1,000 bond. Edwards, a veteran lawmaker who will start his sixth legislative session Jan. 4, was charged with extorting $50 from Tom Smith, a 55-year-old Tulsa Negro murderer who was paroled Tuesday.

KINGS BEACH, Lake Tahoe, Calif., Dec. 18—UP—A family of four was killed Saturday when fire destroyed their home at this resort city. Constable Richard A. Lavey said the alarm was turned in at 5:30 a. m. but when firemen reached the scene moments later the home was engulfed in flames. Judge Harry Chalson listed the cause of death as suffocation. ## The Mighty 'If' Determines Business Outlook For 1955

By LEE BOND
United Press Staff Correspondent

Nineteen fifty-five in the vast area between the Mississippi River and the Rocky Mountains should be as good as 1954 and it could be a lot better if a few "ifs" in the picture come out on the plus side.

That is what business, industrial and governmental leaders in the area, which covers nine states, think. The United Press interviewed these leaders in Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas.

These states, having a total area equal to one-third of the area of the nation, raise wheat, cotton, timber, citrus fruits, corn, cattle and sheep.

They mine coal and copper and the rarest of the rare metals—uranium. Their factories and plants produce gasoline, chemicals, steel products, ships, suits and dresses.

Insurance and Banking
Their big cities are the homes of some of the main insurance companies and banking houses in the country.

The demand for uranium, with the government a ready customer for all that can be mined, has caused a minor boom on the western slope of the Rockies.

Some oilmen are worried about the demand for their petroleum being cut down by imports. But the big "ifs" are in the main agricultural crops—cotton, wheat, corn and cattle.

And one big "if" surmounts all the others. It is, "if it rains." If it rains—and most of the area has been in the midst of one of history's great droughts for four years—production of wheat, cotton, corn and cattle could give farmers one of their best years since the war.

Farm Prices
What could happen if it continues to be dry is anybody's guess. The matter of farm prices is another "if." One expert says stockmen don't have to worry about cattle prices. He believes there is no surplus and they'll stay up.

But overall, letting the high spots fill in the low spots, the picture looks good. Dr. Arthur A. Smith, a well-known economist who advises the First National Bank of Dallas on trends, says there are five reasons:

1. People have plenty of money to spend.
2. A wide selection of goods—the best in years—is available.
3. Merchants are more aggressive in both advertising and selling than they have been in a long time.

Automobile Industry
4. The 1955 automobiles—and the automobile industry is a big factor in the economy—are out early with both styling and engineering highly advanced over last year.

5. Public psychology is good. Business is picking up momentum. Employment is increasing. Income tax payers, which means nearly everybody, have an extra month in 1955 to get in their returns.

This is the way some of the men interviewed see it:

ARKANSAS
R. E. Ritchie, president of Arkansas Power & Light— "We confidently look forward to 1955 general business conditions being as good, if not better, than in 1954. Our business forecasts are based on this optimism."

COLORADO
Robert Ayres, manager of Durango's largest department store— "I feel there is no question that the economy is going to expand."

Rail Issues Sustain Market

NEW YORK, Dec. 18—UP—Railroad issues soared during the last week in their best weekly gain since Oct. 10, 1951. Their strength sustained the whole market and helped lift industrials to a record high.

Rails reached their best level since June 4, 1950. They gained 6.60 points on average, easily the widest rise for that average this year. On Thursday their average made its best gain in more than 21 years.

The rails were bought on the outlook for improvement in business for the railroads in 1955. Big gains are looked for in steel and automobile as well as building and this would mean more freight to haul. Utilities set a new high since 1931 and then backed away from it by a few cents.

Shorts covered when the carriers started to soar. They were helped along also by stock splits, including one of three-for-one for Atlantic Coast Line which ran a center to the trend of a declining market on Monday and Tuesday.

The steels were buoyant when the market finally turned around on Wednesday. They responded along with other issues to a statement by the head of the Federal Reserve System interpreted as meaning the Federal Reserve will retain its easy money policy.

Oils had many wide gains reflecting an improved outlook for that industry. December is expected to be a big one for sales of gasoline as well as for heating oil. November saw a spurt in oil sales because of a cold snap in northern states.

"We are not enthusiastic about business prospects in 1955, but optimistic."

NEW MEXICO
Manuel Lujan, state commissioner of revenue—"New Mexico tax collections for 1954 reflect the rapid, healthy growth of New Mexico. There are no signs of a boom year in 1955, but there are no indications of any decline and an indication of slight increases in the extractive fields, such as oil, gas and potash."

Cotton Prices Creep Ahead

NEW YORK, Dec. 18—UP—Cotton prices crept ahead gradually this week with the new crop deliveries developing relative strength.

At Friday's close the list ruled 7 to 24 points—35 cents to $1.20 a bale—higher than the preceding week.

While frequent declines punctuated the rise, with the market feeling the weight of recurrent surges of hedge selling, especially from far western sections, the market showed underlying rallying power.

Technicians said they were encouraged by the market's show of resistance which developed following the government's unexpectedly large crop estimate on Dec. 8.

Despite the big increase in crop prospects over the last few months of the season, statisticians pointed out that the supply picture at the end of the season next July could present a different aspect.

Looking far ahead, traders expecting a tightening supply situation before the next harvest, said there are five factors to be reckoned with: 1. The overwhelming producer approval of production-marketing controls for next year; 2. Indications that legislative quarters may drop previous plans to drive for an increase in acreage allotments next year; 3. Virtual assurance of rigid high government price supports; 4. The increased amounts of cotton going under the government loan program;

2 Firms Ask Space As Loading Zones

Requests by two Pampa firms to have curb space designated as "loading zones" may be considered at Tuesday's meeting of the Pampa City Commission, City Manager Fred Brook said Saturday.

Ponca Wholesale Merchandise, 322 W. Foster Co. and United Television Service, 101 N. Hobart, have requested "loading zone" space in front of their business locations, Brook said.

Brook said a copy of a letter to G. K. Reading, senior resident highway engineer, from D. C. Greer, state highway engineer in Austin, on future plans for State

Canadian To Vote On Manager Plan

CANADIAN—The City of Canadian will vote Dec. 31 on the question of adopting the city manager form of government.

Petitions circulated early last week quickly got the required number of signers to make the special election mandatory.

Mayor Malouf Abraham acted promptly to issue the election order. The Dec. 31 election date was decided upon, the mayor said, to avoid any legal question about validity of poll taxes.

Hwy. 70 will be read at the meeting.

BOOK PATTTER

By BILL KERR

Pampa News Staff Writer

A notable gift was received by the library recently with the donation of $100 in books, mainly reference guides, from the Pampa Classroom Teachers association, according to Cameron Marsh, president of the group.

"We thought of all the things we could do for the community and decided a book contribution would be most appropriate," Marsh said.

In consultation with Mrs. Lillian Snow and Miss Ethel Emerson of the Public Library, a library committee of the teachers association composed of Misses Mary Gordon, Inez Clubb, and Mrs. Quentin Williams went to work on making the selections.

Among the books, all of which have not as yet come from the publishers, are Audubon's "Birds of America," Brewer's "Dictionary of Phrase and Fable"; Dittmar's "Fieldbook of North American Snakes"; Peterson's "A Dictionary of the World's Great Speeches"; Leach's two volumes "Standard Dictionary of Folklore, Mythology and Legend" and Dumas Malone's "Story of the Declaration of Independence."

Hardly anyone who remembers any of the heroic deeds of World War II has forgotten the story of the four chaplains who went down with troopship Dorchester, following the torpedoing of the ship off the coast of Labrador in 1943. The four chaplains, a Catholic, two Protestants, and a Jew, remained aboard the sinking ship, comforting the men to whom they gave their own life jackets and remained shipboard, praying, until the ship finally sank.

It's a proud story in the living tradition of American "inter-faith cooperation and love." Father Francis B. Thornton following four years of research has brought the complete story of these four lives into book form with his "Sea of Glory."

The library now has the volume. Pick it up, if the critics' reviews mean anything it should make for a meaningful experience. Father Thornton is a literary critic for the Catholic Digest.

Alice Marriott, well-known author in the field of Southwestern Americana is expected in Pampa sometime this week to autograph both of the library's copies of her recently received book "Hell on Horses and Women."

Her book is the story of women in the cattle country from Wyoming through Florida, women who were "formerly city girls transformed to ranch wives," and women born on ranches. Miss Marriott pens inclusive notes on their courage and fortitude, and the humor and joy of ranch life.

She concludes that ranch life "can be hard and tough and truly hell for the women who live it, but it can also come as close to Heaven as any life a woman can live today."

The present volume is in the excellent tradition of all her other work. "Maria: The Potter of San Ildefonso"; "The Ten Grandmothers"; and "The Valley Beyond" are some of her other notable works.

It might be of interest to note a series of volumes not in the library's collection which are unrivaled in theater history. George Clinton Densmore Odell died shortly after the publication of his 15th volume of his "Annals of the New York Stage." His last volume covered three years from 1891-1894, the early years of his professorship at Columbia University in the City of New York, and the era in which he had a close personal contact with the New York stage.

The theater with Odell was an affair of the heart, and he had spent 29 years chronicling this work on the stage. The theater world waited with an expectant hush to see if Odell would be able to conclude the work which

Like Extends Yule Greetings To Servicemen

President Eisenhower Saturday joined defense leaders in extending a Merry Christmas to American servicemen stationed throughout the world. He said he hoped that the new year will bring peace and goodwill among all men. The President, in his special holiday greeting to the Armed Forces, said: "At this year's Christmas season I send to each of you personal greetings and the earnest hope that this time will be a joyful one for you. Above all may it strengthen within you the satisfaction that comes from knowing that you serve a just and worthy cause, and that for your efforts your fellow countrymen are grateful. Wherever your post, station, or billet, and whatever your assignment, your goal is to help bring closer a peaceful world of justice and freedom and of brotherhood among men of good will."

By BUCK FRANCIS Pampa News Sports Editor

AN OPEN LETTER TO SAN ANGELO coach, Bob Harrell:

Just what does it take to convince you guys? Harold Lewis of the Pampa Harvesters rolls up 267 yards against your San Angelo Bobcats and scores three touchdowns on runs of 55, 86 and 75 yards and yet you don't cast a vote for him on either the first or second All-District 1-AAAA team.

We realize this is a free country and you can vote for anyone you wish. But, deep down, you know darn well that Lewis is all-district in your books or even all-state, so far as that goes.

Maybe you don't know it but Lewis gained more yards alone than the entire San Angelo team when Pampa and San Angelo met last fall. San Angelo's net yards from scrimmage was 216 yards, some 51 yards shy of the total Lewis gained that night.

There must be some reason for you not voting for Lewis on either the first or second all-district team.

Could it be that you were pulling for your own Marvin Lasater to make the all-district team and you feared Lasater might not make it if you voted for Lewis?

This being the case, you are defeating the purpose of selecting an all-district team. Persons taking part in picking an all-district team are, by rights, picking the players they think deserve to be on the team and not show any favoritism or grudge against any player.

And there wasn't a player all season that ran as wild against you as Lewis did on the night of Oct. 15.

So, how could you shun a boy's performance like that by overlooking him entirely on both the first and second offensive team?

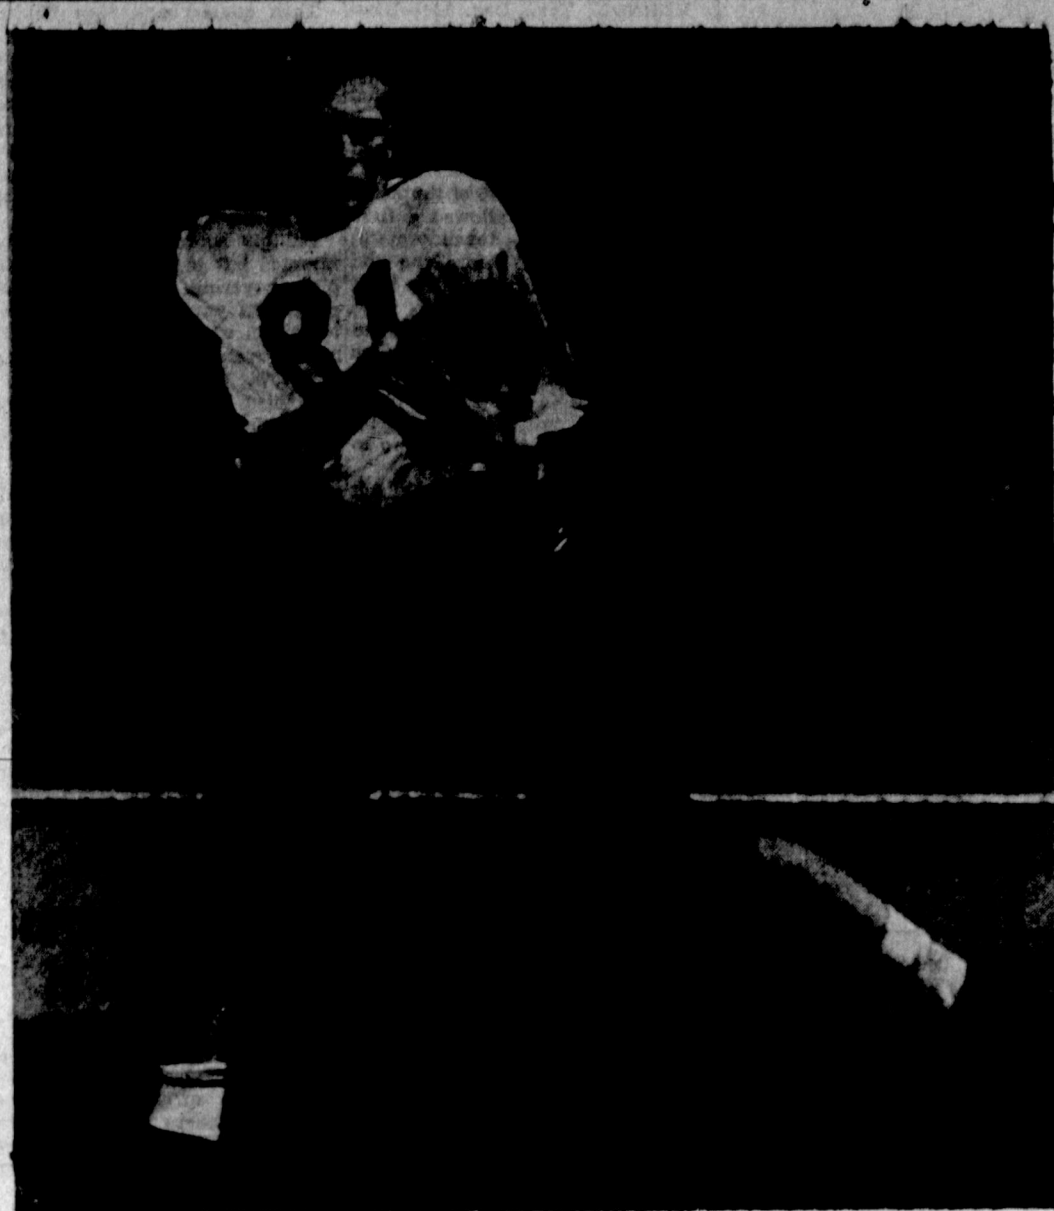

You might be interested to know that I voted for your boy Lasater since I couldn't vote for Lewis, he being on the home team.

And my vote for Lasater gave him two points which enabled him to make the first team, Lasater winding up with 20 points to 19 for Lewis.

But, I used my better judgment and regret that you didn't use yours.

Sincerely, Buck Francis

Harvesters Up Streak To 65; Rip Quannah

ABILENE HERO — End Twyman Ash, above, was the "man of the hour" for the Abilene Eagles Saturday who downed Austin High of Houston for the State 4A title. Ash grabbed a 30-yard pass from quarterback H. P. Hawkins on the Austin five and stumbled over the goal line in the last minute of play to give the Eagles a 14-7 victory.

Hinkle Sparks Pampa Attack With 19 Points

QUANAH, Dec. 18—The Hustlin' Pampa Harvesters breezed to their 65th straight triumph here Saturday night by overpowering the Quannah Indians, 66-48, in a non-district basketball contest.

Quannah had the distinction of opening the night's scoring but once the Harvesters found their scoring eye it was "Katy bar the door."

Charlie Richardson dropped in a two-pointer to give the Indians a 2-0 lead early in the contest; but Ken Hinkle, who led the Harvesters attack, matched Richardson's bucket seconds later and Benny Cartwright dumped one in to give the Harvesters a lead they never lost.

The Harvesters pulled away to a 12-2 lead before Quannah scored again.

It was 16-6 at the first quarter mark. Richardson scored all six points for the Indians in the first quarter. He wound up with 19 points to the Hinkle of the Harvesters for scoring honors.

The Harvesters had a big quarter in the second, pouring 26 points through for a 42-19 halftime lead.

Pampa continued their onslaught in the third period when they hit 29 points to boost its lead to 71-25.

Reserves played all of the final quarter as Quannah whittled the final difference by eight points.

The Harvesters scoring was equally divided with five players scoring more than 10 points. Following Hinkle were E. Jay McMillan with 15, Gary Griffin and Harold Lewis with 13 each and Benny Cartwright with 11.

Billy Sellers was the second high scorer for Quannah with 15 points. Twelve of Sellers' points came in the final period.

Saturday's win here gave the Harvesters a clean sweep of their two-game road trip, the Green and Golders having defeated Vernon Friday night, 65-44.

In a preliminary game, Pampa B team defeated Quannah B, 41-42.

The Harvesters will return home for a Tuesday night engagement with Childress at Harvesters Fieldhouse before disbanding for Christmas.

Buckies Win 3rd State 3A Crown

BRECKENRIDGE, Tex., Dec. 18 —UP—The Breckenridge Buckaroos, moving primarily on the ground, won the Class AAA Texas high school football crown Saturday by whipping the Port Neches Indians, 20 to 7, before a sellout crowd of 7,500 persons in Buckaroo Stadium.

It was the third time in four years that Breckenridge has won the AAA title. But Port Neches was defending 1953 champion.

Led by the quick-witted quarterbacking of supposedly injured Bennett Watts, the Bucks were never in danger of missing the coveted crown, as they completely outclassed, out-gained and out-smarted the boys from the coastal city.

Port Neches' famed speedster, attack never got into high gear, due primarily to a hard-charging Buckaroo line that would not be blocked this windy afternoon.

All four members of the Breckenridge backfield shared running honors, with Jake Sandefer eating up nearly 100 yards; Dick Carpenter accounting for 89, and Watts and Clyde Harris going close to 50 yards each.

Port Neches' ground gainer was Bobby LaBorde.

The Buckaroos drew first blood with a sharp, eight-play drive engineered by quarterback Watt and sparked by the hard-running Harris who went the last 18 yards on a pitch-out sweep around left end.

Abilene Eagles Annex State 4A Title, 14 To 7

Late TD Pass Plays Off For Abilene Club

HOUSTON, Dec. 18 —UP—Abilene High turned a fumble and a long pass into a 14-7 victory over S. F. Austin of Houston Saturday and won its fourth state Class 4A schoolboy football championship since 1923.

An estimated 22,000 fans saw a fired-up Houston team make an heroic final period goal line stand in an effort to save a 7-7 tie.

With four minutes left to play, Abilene back H. P. Hawkins tried three times to crash through from the Houston 1 yard line. He made it on the fourth try, but dropped the ball. Houston punted from the 20-yard line and Abilene's speedster, Henry Colwell, caught the kick on the 50-yard line and barreled through a broken field to the goal, leaving three Houston players injured in his wake.

The dash was nullified, however, by clipping charges against the visitors.

Hawkins dashed Houston's hopes in the last 66 seconds to play with a long pass to end Twyman Ash, who went over standing up.

Jim Millerham, the West Texas Eagles' "money back," was hurt in the first quarter but returned to the game just before the quarter ended to smash wide from the Houston five-yard line and score Abilene's first touchdown after a Houston fumble.

A vastly superior Eagle line and the whipping wind smothered Austin's star passer, Vinca Matthews, but he managed to throw one on fourth down to Jimmy Wales on the Eagle 30 and Bethea Brindley went over standing up on a hand-off.

Abilene won the state championship in Class AAAA in 1931, 1928 and 1923. Austin reached the semifinals only once, losing to Waco, 7-0, last year, before barrelling through this year's playoffs and meeting Abilene.

Deer Park In 1A Grid Finals

MASON, Tex., Dec. 18 —UP—Deer Park, led by Jimmy Carpenter, capitalized on fumbles in smashing the Mason Cowpunchers 24 to 7 Saturday to enter the Class A state high school football finals against Albany.

Officials of Albany and Deer Park high schools announced Saturday night the championship game would be played at Breckenridge at 7:30 p.m. next Saturday, Christmas night. Albany entered the finals by whipping previously unbeaten Paducah, 28 to 21, Friday night.

Carpenter passed for one touchdown and ran two others across in guiding Deer Park to its 14th consecutive victory of the season. A stout Deer line held the Mason ground attack to only 91 yards, while the Deer were getting 183 on the ground and 135 in the air. Mason made only 41 yards in the air and scored in the last minute of play.

Deer Park scored three of its four tallies after Mason fumbles. After a scoreless first quarter, Deer Park recovered a fumble on the Mason 33 in the second period. Seven plays later, Carpenter passed to Hubert Taylor for six yards and a touchdown. The extra point try was wide — the first of four tries missed by the winners.

The next time Deer Park got the ball, it drove 60 yards for the second touchdown, with Carpenter going over from the one after setting the play up with a 36-yard pass to Bubba McLean.

With a 12-0 halftime lead Deer Park capitalized on another Mason miscue in the third period, getting the fumble on the Cowpuncher 29. Carpenter passed to Jimmy Easman for 12 yards, with McLean carrying the final five yards for the score.

The last Deer tally came after recovering of a fumble on the Mason 34. Carpenter carried over from the one.

Mason's lone score also came following a fumble recovery, this one on the Deer Park 15. The Cowpunchers scored in four plays, with Melvin Thomas going over from the three. Doug Gaunt kicked the extra point.

4 Harvesters On All 1-4A 2nd Team

The Harvesters footballers failed to land a man on the All-District 1-AAAA team for the first time this fall since the district was organized four years ago.

Four members of the Green and Gold won a spot on the second team. End Marion Stone, tackle Ed Strickland and back Harold Lewis made the second team offensive while back Bill Fulenwider won a spot on the second defensive team.

Lewis lacked only one vote of winning a first team berth on offense. Marvin Lasater of San Angelo received 20 points on the balloting with Lewis receiving 19.

Coaches and sports writers from each member city participated in the poll. Sixteen of a possible 16 ballots were cast.

Voters were not allowed to vote for their own players which made it possible for a player to receive 14 votes.

Two points were allowed each player selected on a first team ballot and one point for a second team vote. This made it possible for a player to receive 28 votes if selected for first team on every ballot.

No player received 28 votes; however, Gary McElroy, San Angelo tackle, had 27 votes for a place on the offense first team and Russell Rumbaugh, Odessa end, received 27 votes for a place on the defensive first team. Jim Bourland, Abilene back, had 26 votes for a place on the first team defense.

The district champion Abilene Eagles placed six men on the first team offense and four men on the first team defense. San Angelo followed with two men on the offensive team and two on the defensive team.

In addition to the four Harvesters on the second teams, 11 other Harvesters won Honorable Mention.

They were: Offense — End Bill Culpepper; guards Ray Bonsal and J. R. Cross; center John Watson; quarterback Buddy Sharp; halfback Dickie Mauldin and Bill Fulenwider.

Defense — End Jon Cantrell; tackle Ed Strickland; guard Ray Bonsal; line backer Johnny Claunch; and backs Harlan Boyle and Carl Blonkist.

Some Work Out In Snow, Icy Weather

OXFORD, Miss., Dec. 18—UP—With the Sugar Bowl game only two weeks away, Coach Johnny Vaught Saturday reported his Mississippi Rebels ready and eager for their clash with Navy.

Vaught said the squad was working hard for its New Year's Day game and was looking forward to it "with a great deal of enthusiasm."

Friday the Rebels worked on pass defense and brushed up on their passing attack with quarterbacks Eagle Day, Houston Patto and John Blaylock taking care of the throwing. Following the brisk workout in cold and gloomy weather, the squad attended a banquet held in its honor by hundreds of alumni from all sections of the state.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 18—UP—The Middles of Navy depart for all parts of the nation for their Christmas leave Saturday with a warning from Coach Eddie Erdelatz to be on hand in New Orleans the night of Dec. 26.

Navy meets Mississippi in the Sugar Bowl game on New Year's Day and will be shaken down for the final time on Dec. 27 in New Orleans.

Friday's shortened workout was divided approximately equally between offensive and defensive drills with the first half hour devoted to pass defense and line assignments.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 18—UP—The North and South squads assemble here Saturday to begin preparing for their annual North-South Shrine game Christmas Day.

The 48 players named to the two squads began arriving Friday while rival coaches and their staffs began mapping strategy and workout schedules.

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 18—UP—The Yellow Jackets of Georgia Tech begin Christmas vacations Saturday and will not work out again until noon, Dec. 27.

Georgia Tech plays Arkansas in the Cotton Bowl in Dallas, New Year's Day.

Once again bad weather plagued the Engineers as rain curtailed practice session to only 45 minutes. Coach Bobby Dodd plans to hold three more days of workouts here when the squad reassembles after the holiday before leaving for Dallas.

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Dec. 18—UP—Arkansas Coach Bowden Wyatt said Saturday he'll hold back pressing his Razorbacks until the final three days of practice before departing for Dallas and the Cotton Bowl game against Georgia Tech, New Year's Day.

Wyatt said the "old Razorback snap" is back after the strain of the regular season and that "these boys want to play."

Friday the Razorbacks worked out in a drizzle of snow.

Six American Presidents were National Guardsmen.

Phillips Advances To Class 2A Finals

VERNON, Tex., Dec. 18—UP—A Phillips team that was sharp on offense and tougher on defense stopped Terrell's Tigers almost cold Saturday for a 26 to 6 victory that put the Panhandle squad into the state Class AA finals against Killean next week.

Phillips scored all 26 of its points before Terrell was allowed a first down, tallying three touchdowns in four minutes just before the end of the first half to break the back of the Terrell defenders.

Outclassed Tigers didn't make a first down until eight minutes deep in the third quarter, when they marched 70 yards in 14 plays for their only tally.

But the Terrell scoring punch came too late. The Blackhaws from the Panhandle were held off until only four minutes were left in the first half.

Then quarterback Stan Wilder's superb faking began to pay off. A pass interception, however, set up the first touchdown. Ace Linebacker Burch Ingram picked off a Terrell pass on the Terrell 25 and ran it back to the seven. Fullback Don Meek went over from the five and halfback Don Smith kicked the first of his two extra points.

Phillips scored again with two minutes left in the half on a pass play covering 52 yards. Wilder passed 32 yards to halfback Tom Newman, who took the ball on the 20 and ran it over. Smith's kick was low.

A third Phillips tally came with 35 seconds left in the half on a 35-yard pass play. Wilder threw to end Arlie Otis on the Terrell 40 and Otis took it all the way. Smith converted for a 20-0 halftime lead.

The Panhandle team then took the second half kickoff and marched 66 yards in 12 plays for its fourth touchdown, with halfback Larry Lane making the final six yards.

Players Draw Up More Demands

NEW YORK, Dec. 18—UP—Major league ball players, tired of rebuffs by the club owners on virtually every request they make, drew up a new set of demands Saturday and promised to "get tough" if these also are turned down.

The player representatives from each club thus set the stage for a showdown here late next month when the club owners convene for joint meetings to consider the latest proposals.

Such labor union words as "arbitration," "negotiations," or "strikes" were not mentioned by any of the players but they made it plain that some moves more drastic than those thus far would have to be made "if we're going to get anywhere."

The National League player representatives elected pitcher Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies as their chief to replace Ralph Kiner, who went from the Cubs to Cleveland and now is an American League.

Pitcher Alvin Reynolds of the Yankees, the American League representative, said the players were particularly incensed over rejection of a new higher salary minimum.

The players asked for a boost from $4,000 to $7,200. The owners flatly rejected it.

The players also marshaled forces for another battle with their bosses on "overscheduling" of spring exhibition games, the handling of Latin American winter baseball, and increased pension benefits.

"Bureau of Labor Statistics show that there has been a 44 percent increase in the cost of living since 1946 when the present minimum salaries were put into effect by the owners," said Reynolds.

"We feel that this is a reasonable demand and we're going to keep after them until we get some satisfaction."

The players listened to an insurance pension representative, Bruce Green of retirement plans, an actuarial firm, who told them they could well receive benefits of as much as $400 a month on the basis of a new World Series radio and television contract which will be drawn up in 1954.

Vessels Heads All-AF Team

NEW YORK, Dec. 18—UP—Billy Vessels, Oklahoma's Heisman Memorial Trophy winner in 1952 and star of Fort Hill's unbeaten team this year, headed the Armed Forces press service all-star football team announced Saturday.

Vessels, who plays against Bolling Air Force Base in the annual Pointstake Bowl at San Diego, Calif., Sunday, was named to the mythical team's backfield along with Tommy O'Connell, former Illinois player; Rick Casares, formerly of Florida; and Bob Meyers, formerly of Stanford.

The line consisted of Frank McPhee (Princeton), and Bernie Flowers (Purdue), at the ends; J. D. Kimmel (Houston) and Dave Suminski (Wisconsin) at the tackles; Steve Eisenhauer (Navy) and Bruce Halladay (San Jose State) at the guards; and Jerry Hilgenberg (Iowa) at center.

Allie Recovers From Injury

NEW YORK, Dec. 18—UP—Allie Reynolds reported his injured hand "as good as new" Saturday but wasn't tipping it in regard to his plans to play with the New York Yankees next season.

"I feel like I could go out and pitch right now," Reynolds said after an examination by Dr. Sydney Gaynor of the Yankees. "My back doesn't bother me as much as before and the finger I cut to the bone in a shower room accident is completely healed."

"But," Reynolds, who will soon open contract negotiations with the Yankees, added, "I still will have to hold open the decision on whether I'll be back next year."

Baker Placed In Contention For Rocky Marciano's Title

NEW YORK, Dec. 18—UP—Matchmaker Billy Brown placed big Bob Baker of Pittsburgh definitely in the running Saturday for a shot at Rocky Marciano's heavy-weight crown.

Mustached Baker, who again outpointed Coley Wallace Friday night at Madison Square Garden, was approached Saturday by Brown on the possibility of his fighting Nino Valdes of Cuba or Don Cockell of England at the Garden, Feb. 11.

Big Bob, who registered his sixth straight victory Friday night, already is ranked fourth among the world's contenders. Valdes is first; Cockell, second, and ex-champ Edward Charles, third.

Manager William Dwyer Betteor said, "Certainly Bob will fight Valdes or Cockell, but we would prefer Valdes. Don't forget Bob was the last man to beat him," Betteor grinned and added, "and we'd like to give Nino a chance to redeem himself."

Baker, favored at 4 to 1, won Friday night's nationally televised and broadcast bout in lopsided fashion before a sprinkling of Garden fans. But he was disappointed at his failure to stop Wallace, who was on rubber legs in five heats, was bleeding freely from mouth and nose after the second round, and was half-blinded by his swollen-shut left eye in the closing sessions.

Scaling 211 pounds to Wallace's 201-1-2, burly Bob won officially on a rounds basis as follows: Referee Harry Kessler, 3-2; Judge Harold Barnes, 3-2; Judge Bert Grant 7-1.

Baker said, "Wallace fought a lot better Friday night than on Oct. 1, when I outpointed him at Cleveland. It was do-or-die for him, and he was in there to stay. Every time I'd hurt him he'd start clinching or holding me off with his long left. He just wouldn't go down."

It was Bob's 26th victory in 48 fights, and it was Wallace's fifth defeat in 25.

40,000 To Watch Lions-Browns Tilt

CLEVELAND, Dec. 18—UP—An estimated 40,000 football fans are expected to brave snow and cold Sunday to see the Cleveland Browns and Detroit Lions in a preview of the National Football League's championship game one week hence.

This game means nothing. The next one means everything.

The Browns are host to the Lions at Cleveland Municipal Stadium, a vast horseshoe that can hold 80,000. The combination of inclement weather and lack of meaning Sunday probably will have the size of the crowd that could sit in on the proceedings.

The Browns, perennial powerhouses of the pros, are four-point favorites to beat the Lions Sunday despite the fact they never have beaten them before in championship competition. Their only meeting with the Lions this year, in an exhibition game, resulted in a 56-31 rout.

Detroit and Cleveland will meet in the championship game for the third straight year the day after Christmas. The Lions won, 17-7 in 1952, and last year the margin was shaved to 17-16.

The unique situation of the clubs meeting on successive Sundays resulted from the World Series. The Browns originally were scheduled to open their home season at the stadium Oct. 3. The Cleveland Indians and New York Giants were in the midst of the World Series, however, and the fifth game was to have been played at Municipal Stadium.

The Giants' four-straight sweep, of course, ended that, but the football game already had been set back to Dec. 19, so the stadium stood empty.

But in passing it was just the opposite. Boston University's Tom Gastall completed one to Ken Hagstrom for 96 yards, longest since 1947 and the second longest since 1926.

The two 95-yard interceptions were made by sophomores with the first interceptions of their varsity careers. Wisconsin's Billy Lowe did it against Purdue and Miami's Paul Hefti victimized Fordham. Lowe intercepted only one other pass — for one yard. Hefti didn't pick off any others.

Mays Is Now 'Official' NL Bat King

NEW YORK, Dec. 18—UP—The National League batting crown which Willie Mays worked for all summer was awarded him officially Saturday in the dead of winter as recognition for the 345 batting average he posted in 1954.

Mays, also the most valuable player in his first full season as a major leaguer, batted three points higher than Giant teammate Don Mueller, runner-up at .342.

Duke Snider of Brooklyn batted .341, Stan Musial of the Cardinals, .330, and Ted Kuszewski, the Redlegs' muscular first sacker, drove in 141 runs to win that title and also paced the league in homers with 49.

Musial and Snider each scored 120 runs to share the league leadership. It marked the 11th consecutive season that Musial scored 100 or more runs and the Cardinal slugger topped off that showing by also setting the pace in doubles with 41.

First baseman Gil Hodges of Brooklyn topped the league in sacrifice flies, 19, while shortstop Roy McMillan of Cincinnati laid down the most sacrifices, 31.

Speedster Bill Bruton of the Braves led in stolen bases with 34, and was caught stealing the most times, 13.

The league's longest hitting streak was 28 games compiled by Red Schoendienst, who amassed 48 hits in 124 times up for a .387 percentage during the period from June 11 to July 9.

Americans hold a record total of $304 billion in life insurance.

Fists Fly As Tampa Wins Cigar Bowl

TAMPA, Fla., Dec. 18-UP—Three lightning-like thrusts in as many minutes enabled Tampa's Spartans to reign as Cigar Bowl champions Saturday and spoil Morris Harvey's once-perfect record in post-season bowl games. Taking advantage of a short punt and two fumbles, the Spartans defeated Morris Harvey, 21-0, before a crowd of 7,000 Friday night in a game marred by frequent penalties and two fourth-period fights. Fans joined in one of the fights, and end Dickie Harle of Tampa and guard Bill Couz of Morris Harvey were ejected for trading blows.

The Spartans scored their first touchdown just as the first half ended after taking over at a short punt on the Eagles' 35-yard line. A roughing penalty moved the ball to 16 from where Ed Peck passed to halfback Don Herndon on the two. Bob Gambell plunged over as the gun sounded and kicked the extra point in the time out that followed.

A Morris Harvey fumble on the second play after the second-half kickoff gave Tampa the ball on the 28. Al Leathers ran 25 yards on the next play and then plunged over for the touchdown. End Clarence Lowery fumbled the next kickoff and quarterback Bill Minahan passed 51 yards to Herndon for the touchdown. Tampa outgained Morris Harvey, 277 yards to 131, and piled up 13 first downs to six for the Eagles. The Spartans were penalized 95 yards while the Eagles were assessed 105 yards because of infractions.

NCAA Champions, LaSalle; Furman's Selvy; Bevo Francis Feature 1954-55 Cage Season

By JOHN GRIFFIN
United Press Sports Writer
La Salle gave college basketball a surprise NCAA champion, and two scoring terrors named Frank Selvy and Clarence (Bevo) Francis gave it an almost brand new record book in 1954. La Salle's Explorers, led by All-American Tom Gola, stormed through an upset-riddled tournament to win the NCAA crown by crushing Bradley, another surprise finalist, 92-78 at Kansas City. The triumph gave La Salle a strong, but not undisputed, claim on the national championship.

Yank Netters Win Davis Cup

BRISBANE, Australia, Dec. 18-UP—Young Hamilton Richardson, who just came along for the ride, and steady Tony Trabert scored impressive singles victories Saturday to give the United States Davis Cup tennis team a clean sweep over Sweden in their interzone final. Richardson, the U.S. intercollegiate champion from Baton Rouge, La., filled in admirably for the Yanks' veteran campaigner, Vic Seixas (of Philadelphia, as he was called) who was injured, and downed Lennard Bergelin 6-2, 6-3, 6-2. The Yanks, perennial North American Zone champions, entered the finals as heavy favorites. However, few tennis experts were as optimistic as Trabert, and the manner in which the U.S. squad whipped the Swedes served to remind Australia players that they can expect plenty of trouble in the challenge round, Dec. 27-29.

Trabert, now completely recovered from a handful of blisters he developed last summer at Wimbledon, was the big gun against Sweden, winning his two singles matches and teaming with Seixas to capture the doubles. But it was the surprisingly strong showing of Richardson on this final day of the series that stole the show and sent shivers up the spine of Australia's unlooming captain, Harry Hopman.

The freckle-faced Louisiana youth was named as a substitute for Seixas after Friday's clinching victory. It was his first Davis Cup appearance in Australia since 1952 when he helped the U.S. team complete a five-match sweep of Italy in the interzone finals. He was also serving as a replacement for Seixas in that series.

Teams Choose Site
DELAND, Fla., Dec. 18-UP—Five of the St. Louis Cardinals' farm teams will train here next spring, it was announced Saturday. They are Rochester of the International League, Omaha of the American Association, Houston of the Texas League, Allentown of the Eastern League, and Columbus (Ga.) of the South Atlantic League.

Others in contention were Indiana, ranked as the nation's best team at the close of the regular season, and Holy Cross, winner of the National Invitation Tournament at New York with a 71-62 final round victory over Duquesne.

Individuals Take Headlines
These team achievements, however, had to battle for headline space with the basket barrage turned loose by Selvy, Furman college star who re-wrote the major college record book, and Francis, the fabulous Rio Grande College of Ohio player who did the same in the small-college department.

Selvy, six-foot, three-inch two-head from Corbin, Ky., was voted the "player of the year" for his feats. He smashed every significant scoring record in the book—for one game, one season, two seasons, and career; for field goals, free throws, total points, and average. Overworked NCAA record-keepers reported he broke "24 important records and innumerable minor ones." The only two records he missed were for "tries" rather than scores—free throw attempts and field goal attempts for a career. His per game scoring average for 29 games this season was 41.7 points, for his college career 29.5 points per game.

The six-foot, nine-inch Francis, meanwhile, set 11 net national records for small colleges. His averages weren't quite as high as in 1953, but this time they were officially recognized because Rio Grande switched to playing mostly four-year colleges. His per game average was 46.5 points per game, his single-game high 113.

By year's end Selvy had made a brilliant transition to professional ranks and was leading the national basketball association in scoring. Francis, who quit school after his sophomore year, also turned pro but was playing with minor teams.

Other Chosen Stars
Named to the first team All-American with Selvy and Gola were Don Schlundt, the Indiana giant who smashed Big Ten scoring marks; hook-shooting Cliff Hagans of Kentucky; and big Bob Pettit of Louisiana State, who averaged 31.4 points per game to be runner-up to Selvy. The field for the NCAA tourney was expanded to include 15 conference champions and nine "members at large." The upsets started exploding quickly, Indiana losing to Notre Dame 65-64 in one. La Salle squeaked past Fordham 76-74; upset North Carolina State 88-81, drubbed Navy 64-48, downed

Penn State 69-54 and then romped over Bradley in the first nationally televised final round.

New York's NIT tournament saw the four seeded teams in the field of 12 reach the semi-finals. Then third-seeded Holy Cross moved into the finals to beat top-seeded Duquesne and the Crusaders' Togo Palazzi was voted the "outstanding player" award.

All-Girl Duel Set At Local Mat Arena

Monday night's wrestling card at the Top of Texas Sportsman's Club arena will have a feminine touch with two of the country's top lady wrestlers scheduled to clash. Betty Hawkins of Louisville, Ky., will oppose Millie Stafford of Minneapolis, Minn., in the all-girl match.

Both girls are dark haired and each weighs in the neighborhood of 135 pounds.

The two girls are ranked among the top 10 girl wrestlers in the country.

Miss Stafford, at one time, held the World's Tag Team title along with June Beyers.

Miss Hawkins and Miss Stafford will meet in a best two fall match with a one-hour time limit set.

The all-girl duel will serve as one half of the double main event on top Monday night.

The other main event will pit Eric Pederson of Oregon and George Overhuls of Amarillo. It will also be the best two falls or one hour time limit.

Pederson, former weight lifter and who likes to show off his muscles, will be meeting a much-improved matman in Overhuls. In Monday's preliminary event, Chet Wallick of Detroit goes against Vern Taft of Salt Lake City.

Taft only Thursday night met the world's champion, Lou Theas, at Amarillo. Theas won the match in two straight falls.

The Wallick-Taft duel will be for one fall or 20-minute time limit.

The weekly wrestling program in Pampa is sponsored by the Pampa Shrine Club with net proceeds going to the Club's crippled children's fund.

NCAA Committee Ends Investigation On OU Recruiting

NORMAN, Okla., Dec. 18-UP—A three-member fact-finding committee of the NCAA completed an investigation of the University of Oklahoma's athletic recruiting policies Friday, but their findings probably will not be revealed until next spring.

The committee will make a written report to the NCAA and its 18-member committee on infractions. The infractions committee probably will meet in April, and no statement on the investigation will be made until that date, according to Walter Byers, executive secretary of the NCAA.

He said the committee came to Oklahoma because "reasonably substantial" allegations of malpractice in recruiting had been received from a "responsible source."

After the investigation, a witness quoted Byers as saying Oklahoma's recruiting policy is "the cleanest we've ever investigated." Byers, however, declined to verify the statement to newsmen.

The Oklahoma City Touchdown Club, publicized in past years as an organization of "millionaires" that "buys" players for the university's football team, told the committee it gives $25,000 to athletic scholarships and that the practice is above-board.

Paul Brown, secretary of the Touchdown Club since its formation in 1948, said he told the committee that money from the club's fund "goes to the University and is administered by the University under the Big Seven and NCAA rules."

"We have made a complete financial audit to the NCAA of every check we have written," he said. "That audit discloses we have operated entirely on that basis."

Brown said the club does not deal individually with any player and added: "I wouldn't know a single one of those boys if he walked through the door. I never personally met one I can recall."

The NCAA group talked Friday with Brown, Coach Bud Wilkinson and others. Thursday, the committee interviewed 18 players, officials and others about Oklahoma's recruiting policies.

Peg O' Pampa

THE JINGLE OF BELLS from the school girls' shoes or from their hair... the sound of Christmas carols in the air... Snow!... hurried-looking mothers and fathers scurrying around laden with packages... enticing smells from the kitchen... Bright Christmas trees seen peeking out from many a window... the youngest ones marking off the days on the calendar... Santa seen downtown with earnest child on his lap... and a long impatient line beside him... the near-angelic behavior of our offspring... the table in the corner laden with cards to which we rush during a "breather" during the day... our wonderful Mr. Peg tiptoeing into the house with a bundle hidden beneath his coat... and we know Christmas is nearly here!

MANY, MANY HAVE BEEN the Christmas parties this week... Peg just couldn't get to them all... did manage to make the Lions Club party though, which was, as usual, a wonderful affair... those Lions seem to have a knack for having a good time... each year, the party is as much fun, if not more, than the last... There are a lot of familiar faces there... some members, some guests... Joe Donaldson is in good form, carrying around scissions snipping off ties of those who got up to speak... but everyone was goodnatured about it... probably helped prepare them for the barrage of Christmas ties... Paul West, was superb as master of ceremonies in the absence of Boaz Lion Aaron Sturgeon... Ed Myatt, who slyly took off his tie before Joe Donaldson could get to him, did well introducing the program and Mrs. Harold Fabian, the Frank Fafas, Bunny Shultzes, R. H. him... familiar faces were the Cliff Bralys, E. O. Wedgeworths, Dr. and Mrs. Harold Fabian, the Frank Fafas, Bunny Shultzes, R. H. Nensfields, Elmer Francis, the Paul Browns, Floyd Imels... Dr. and Mrs. Charles Brauchle... the Ralph Thomases, John Wellens, Henry Grubens, George Frauts, Rufe Jordans, O. K. Gaylors... Rev. and Mrs. Woodrow Adcock, the E. E. Shelmans, Floyd Watsons, Bill McComas, Ray Duncans, Cliff Whiteys, Bud Johnsons, Irl Smiths, Joe Tooleys... Dr. and Mrs. Ray Hampton... Charlie Roberts, Carol Paxson, as lovely as ever in a bright, red formal... the Homer Dicks... Rev. and Mrs. Ronald Hubbard... John Austin, who has a fine voice... first time Peg has heard him sing... played a hilarious game of passing a tissue from nose to nose... don't know when Peg had such a good time!

THE COUNTRY CLUB TEA DANCE has been talked about all week... never saw so many gorgeous women in one place before... and the decorations are delightful... wish they could leave the red walls permanently... just love the effect of the candy canes hanging by red ribbon down the center of the ballroom... sure is gay... Sylvia Conley looked lovely in a silvery, brocade-looking gown... everyone seemed to have a good time despite being tired from the formal night before, hosted by the Raymond Harrah Jr. and the Bill Davies... Jane Bradley has such big, brown eyes... lots of Amarillo people there... saw one with a white rhinestone-studded pipe... gave almost the same effect as a cigarette holder... first I've seen and it looked quite cute... saw Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Chase... Dr. Carl and Bubs Lang... to name a few.

THOUGHTS FOR THE WEEK - Childhood shows the man, as morning shows the day (John Milton)... Blessed be the hand that prepares a pleasure for a child, for there is no saying when and where it may bloom forth (Douglas Jerrold)... Nothing unworthy of perpetuity should be transmitted to children (Mary Baker Eddy)... Children are God's apostles, sent forth, day by day, to preach of love, and hope and peace (James Russell Lowell)... In the man whose childhood has known care and kindness, there is always a fibre of memory that can be touched to gentle issues (George Eliot)... What the best and wisest parent wants for his own child that must the community want for all its children (John Dewey).

HERE AND THERE: Mary Lou and John Frick have flown to Michigan for a new car, Peg was told... left the children here, I guess... hate to have the Bill Carters leave... going to Ft. Worth real soon... Bill and Maxine Loving are in Michigan for their son's wedding... going to spend Christmas there... saw Roy Sullivan and Caroline Groninger hand in hand... Roy is a Lieutenant now... and by the time you read this, they'll be Lt. and Mrs. Sullivan... just know the wedding will be lovely... Roy is to be stationed in El Paso... won't be long before folks start leaving and arriving for the holidays... understand Ed Nash left today for cold, cold Boston... and this week, the college crowd should be coming home... understand John High was also married recently to a Michigan girl.

PEG JUST KNOWS the Country Club formal last night was a success... sorry, written before hand... heard Jim and Van Fimmel were to be there from Berger... a nice reunion with old friends... and there was to be a cocktail party at the club before... sure was f, getting out my best bib and tucker... just love to see Mr. Peg spruced up... tell you more about it next week.

WHAT I'D LIKE FOR CHRISTMAS... plenty of snow... Louise McCurry's pose... Jeanne Williams' dancing ability... Adrienne Foster's sip... Bev, Fancher's voice... Dorothy Neagle's family... Frances Hostess' good nature... Jo McCurry's sense of humor... Evelyn Nace's writing ability... Wanda Campbell's sweetness... Mrs. Bob Curry's clothes.

CERTAINLY WAS A WONDERFUL shower for Harriet Schwartz in Amarillo... must have been nearly 50 Pampa women there... Harriet was especially attractive in a red cocktail dress... and her mother was lovely in an icy blue gown... Opal Cree, Edna Windsor, Mrs. H. W. Waddell and Mary Williams were in the house party... it was good to see Mrs. Farris Oden again... she is a former Pampa... among the guests were Audrey Tabor, Eleanor Braly, Ann Heskew, Faye Sidwell, Mable Davis, Mrs. Hub Clark, Vena Spear, Irene Beagle, Mrs. Clyde Fathere and Mrs. Buck Miller, to name a few.

SINCE ONE OF THE SYMBOLS of Christmas is a star, why not brighten up your holiday table with a Nesselrode Star cake... it's not a traditional Christmas food, but you can't eat plum pudding and mince pies every day of the Christmas season... it doesn't require baking... it's a refrigerator cake...
NESSLERODE STAR

Carolyn Groninger, Lt. Roy F. Sullivan Are Married During Double-Ring Rite

Miss Carolyn Groninger and Lt. Roy F. Sullivan exchanged nuptial vows at 6 p.m. Saturday in the First Baptist Church. Dr. E. Douglas Carver, pastor, officiated at the double-ring service.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Groninger, 1101 N. Starkweather, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Sullivan, 909 N. Somerville.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white princess lace and nylon tulle over satin. The moulded bodice, which closed down the back with tiny covered buttons, had a wide, deep V neckline, styled with soft folds of tulle and accented with scalloped floral motifs of lace appliqued at the edge. The long, fitted sleeves came to petal points over her hands. The bouffant skirt of nylon tulle over satin, enhanced by a peplum of princess lace, swept to a wide, fan-shaped train. Her waist-length veil of illusion fell from a crown covered with tiny seed pearls and accented with folds of tulle. She carried a cascade of pale pink gladioli.

Mrs. Pat McBrayer, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and Mrs. Billie Steppen, another sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. Both wore identical gowns of deep-aqua velvet, fashioned with strapless bodices, topped with short matching capes. Their ballerina-length skirts were of deep-aqua tulle over velveteen and they wore white brocade shoes and aqua gloves. They carried white lace fans decorated with holly and red carnations.

Miss Nan Harmon was junior bridesmaid. She wore a rose formal and a headpiece of tulle, trimmed with silver. She carried a colonial bouquet of red carnations and holly.

Candlelighters were Hollie Kay Kinkade and Stephen Sengel, and Becky McBrayer was flower girl. All are of Shawnee City, Okla. They wore identical rose dresses, trimmed with silver, and wrist corsages.

G. K. Hobbs served as best man, and ushers were Frank Bolding of Haskell, Okla.; Bob McBrayer of White Deer; and Bob Steppen.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Groninger was attired in a blue dress with pink accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses. Mrs. Sullivan, mother of the bridegroom, wore a slate-blue dress with white accessories. Her corsage was of deep red roses.

The couple was married before an altar flanked by baskets of red carnations with holly and Christmas greenery.

Special music was provided by Bob Allford, who sang "I Love

MRS. ROY F. SULLIVAN

You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Miss Sheila Lemons.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the parlor of the church. The serving table was covered with a white net cloth over white satin, decorated with felt poinsettias trimmed with silver sequins. The centerpiece was of poinsettias, orange leaves and holly.

Miss Faye Burns presided at the guest registrar. Misses Peggy Schafer and Katherine Harris of Pampa, and Miss Frederica Page of Muskogee, Okla., assisted with the serving. Miss Sheila Lemons provided background piano music.

For the wedding trip to Colorado and New Mexico, the bride wore a light blue and navy blue suit with a velvet navy blue hat and gloves. Her corsage was of pink gladioli taken from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will reside in Ft. Bliss where the bridegroom is stationed.

The bride was graduated from Pampa High School in 1952 and attended Oklahoma University and Hardin-Simmons University. The bridegroom is a 1950 graduate of Pampa High School and was a 1954 graduate of Texas A&M College. He is now serving with the Army.

Mrs. May F. Carr will present a number of her pupils in a pianoforte recital at 7 p.m. Monday in the Church of the Brethren.

First part of the program will be presented by advanced students and the second part by pupils of the elementary and intermediate grades.

Cynthia Duncan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Duncan, will present "Concerto in G Major" by Williams, performed by Ann Price, will follow. "Vivace" from Haydn's "Concerto in D Major" will be played by Janis Foster with Mrs. Carr at the second piano.

Presenting a piano duet, "Spanish Dance" by De Falla, will be Joyce Gordon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Gordon, and Mrs. Carr.

During the second portion of the program, Sue Foster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Foster, will present "Concerto in G Major" by Williams, with Mrs. Carr at the second piano. A quartet number, "The Marionettes" by Lynes, will be performed by Linda Kay Andis, Janet Green, Tommie Kelly and Carmen Long.

Others to perform are Candace Noblitt, Gary Dalton, Carolyn Kelly, Kitty Jo Gates, Mark Westbrook and Billy and Peggy Ragdale.

Following the recital, gifts will be exchanged, and a social period held for pupils and parents. Co-hostesses will be Mrs. Bill Ragdale and Mrs. Bob Andis.

RUTH MILLET

Plan for a truly happy Christmas: Gather as many of your family under your roof as you possibly can: If the house isn't filled with relatives, share Christmas with any friends who have no family near.

If you can do neither of these, look for at least one person whose Christmas is going to be lonely. Do what you can to make it less so.

Take time to write a personal note to every person you can who has meant something to you through the year. Christmas is a wonderful time for expressing the love we feel for others.

Keep the preparations for Christmas simple enough so that you have time for experiencing the true meaning of the day.

Don't worry over whether the gifts you have chosen or the ones you receive are just what you wanted to give or what you hoped to get.

The joy of giving and receiving doesn't depend on whether a thing is beautiful or useful or impressive. It comes from giving gladly and receiving gratefully.

Remember the fun of surprise. Asking someone what he wants for Christmas and giving it to him may be practical. But giving a surprise is fun for both the one who gives and the one who receives.

Don't clutter up the Christmas season with so many big parties and social obligations that you have little time for the things that matter. These include letting the children help with the decorating, doing something for the poor, visiting the person who is alone.

Christmas has gotten to be so hectic, people often say. Christmas hasn't gotten to be hectic. But our lives have. And unless we slow them down - Christmas loses its real meaning.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Mark started going into his school of misbehavior as soon as he got home from school.

Told that his father was bringing a guest home for dinner, he protested doing an errand until his mother had to turn her pie into a pudding.

Then, learning that the guest's presence would make it impossible for him to watch his favorite TV adventure, he gave vent to a defiant "Dammit!" And rebuked, he kept insisting that this forbidden word was justified.

Next, asked to wash, he dried himself with a guest towel that had to be replaced. Finally, when she found him sprawled in a litter of magazines spilled from her carefully arranged rack, his mother lost her temper.

She said, "Get up from that sofa and get out to the yard! Goodness, what's got into you this afternoon? If ever a boy had a talent for housewrecking, it's you! Hurry up! Get out of this room so I can get it back into one piece again..."

As she spoke, she gave him a little push. Stumbling, he toppled over the end table beside him - and with it, his china container of after-dinner mints. And suddenly, as he looked from the rolling candies back to his mother in dismay, she knew what was wrong with Mark.

Irritation went out of her like a fever dropping. She said, "All right, darling. Pick them up. Put them back. Then pick up the magazines and arrange them the way you found them."

And the anger was over.

It was over because Mark had regained his self-respect. Finally, after an afternoon of mistakes corrected for him, he had been given his chance to put one right himself.

Every parent experiences these "skids" occasionally. For every parent gets preoccupied occasionally. And in this state, they start children off on their "skids" by resentfully correcting some mistake they have made for them. They begin as they began with Mark.

Under the momentum of his rapidly draining self-respect, he sped helplessly from one bad performance to another until it looks as though the very demon of contrariness has taken him over.

The real demon's name was "I'll do it for you." The instant Mark's mother realized this, she could brake his "skid" by arranging for him to correct his last mistake himself.

Holiday Menus Are Made Glamorous By Serving Rich, Creamy Eggnog Pie

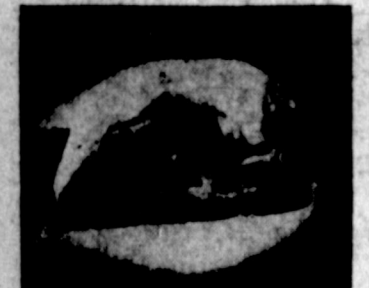

Christmas and New Year menus are made more glamorous by serving Filbert Eggnog Pie. Made with Northwest filberts, this variation of an old favorite is gay enough to grace the table for any holiday meal or dessert party. It's creamy and rich, yet refreshing and elegant with the goodness of filberts.

Filberts from the nut orchards of Oregon and Washington are the Northwest's contribution to holiday traditions. Use them in salads, candies, in the turkey stuffing or saute them in butter and salt them for party tid-bits. Filberts have a distinctive flavor and interesting shape and color; they are decorative for fruit and nut bowl centers.

terpieces and they add flavor and texture to every recipe in which they are used. Filbert Eggnog Pie is an easy-to-make-in-advance dessert for the busy hostess and homemaker. The crust may be baked the day before and the filling prepared early on the day it is to be served. A sprinkling of freshly grated nutmeg over the top with a sliced filbert border makes it a festive pie indeed.

- Eggnog Pie
- 1 cup Blue Pirate filberts
  - 1-3 cup cornstarch
  - 1/2 cup sugar
  - 1/2 teaspoon salt
  - 3/4 cups milk, scalded
  - 3 eggs, separated
  - 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
  - 1 teaspoon rum or vanilla flavoring
  - 6 tablespoons sugar
  - 1 baked 9-inch pie shell

Scald milk. Mix cornstarch, sugar and salt. Add to scalded milk and stir to blend. Cook over low heat until thick and smooth, stirring constantly. Beat egg yolks, stir in a little hot mixture; blend and add to remaining mixture in double boiler. Cook over boiling water 3 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, add nutmeg and flavoring. Beat egg white until light, add sugar gradually and beat until stiff.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?
A. Veal leg, center cut.

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?
A. It is from the leg with the rump and shank removed.

Q. How is it prepared?
A. By roasting or broiling. For roasting, it is seasoned with salt and pepper. Then it is placed on a rack in an open roasting pan. A roast meat thermometer is inserted so the bulb reaches the center of the roast and does not rest on bone. Bacon slices are placed over the roast. Water is not added and the pan is not covered. The meat is roasted in a slow oven (300° F.) until the meat thermometer registers 170° F. About 25 to 30 minutes per pound are required for roasting. For broiling, the meat is browned slowly in lard or drippings. It is seasoned with salt and pepper. A small amount of water is added. The pan is tightly covered and the meat is cooked slowly over low heat or in a slow oven (300° F.) for 2 1/2 to 3 hours or until tender.

BABY

No book can tell, no diagram can teach loving calm that's tempered with a good humor. A parent met an upset with such an attitude and is immortal among his friends and cherished by his children. It could have been disaster, too, for the boss and wife had come to dinner. Between the soup and entree, little Debbie padded into the dining room, naked as birth. Father turned sternly and said, "Debbie, how many times have I told you not to walk around without your slippers!"

Baby seems to heal like magic. When he's tiny, he may scratch his tender skin or develop a rash. But, almost before you have a chance to get upset about it, it's gone. This may give you a tip to keep calm even in the face of a vivid-looking diaper rash or pimples on the forehead. Don't fuss with it, except for using your regular diaper lotion or powder. Don't pick or touch his pimples. His skin, which is so new and untired, will be smooth and soft by tomorrow in most cases.

Some things are very hard to deal with, but most of them are friends rather than Baby. Your neighbor pats Baby's lovely foot and then starts backwards. "How cold his feet are!" she says. You see her baby in booties and mittens. Now you know that Baby's feet and hands are cold even when he's warm, and that you're not a neglectful mother for letting him go without booties. So you must smile and say, "Yes, aren't they cute, though," or some other diverting statement.

How-To-Do-It Toy Kits Are Educational As Well As Fun

By GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Food and Markets Editor

The 1954 crop of how-to-do-it toy kits provides practical lessons in soup and sandwich making, baking and cleaning up the kitchen afterward. They will yield dividends to American family life long after Christmas.

Emma Sheehy, associate professor of childhood education, Teachers' College, Columbia, and chairman of the Toy Guidance Council's Advisory Committee, states: "More and more the kitchen is a center of informal family living. It is important for children to feel that they are participating usefully in group activities. Even three and four year old youngsters achieve creative satisfaction from mixing condensed soup and milk, for example, or stirring up a cookie mix. Boys get just as much fun out of cooking play as girls and should have equal opportunities to try their hand at simple food preparation, dish washing and clean up routines."

The Campbell Kids cooking set is the first juvenile kit designed to interest children in planning and preparing well balanced, nutritious meals. This includes an aluminum

Refreshing Filbert Holiday Mold Gives Ideal Finishing Touch To Hearty Meal

The holiday dinner is all finished but the dessert. And no festive board is complete without one. Yet after turkey, stuffing and all that goes with it, who has room for plum pudding or mince pie?

The clever homemaker will solve this dilemma with a light, fluffy, refreshing dessert that combines the traditional holiday flavors, yet eliminates the bulk of more traditional fare. Such a dessert is this Filbert holiday mold. Made with a gelatin base, it's light and fluffy, yet the crunchy filberts and mince-meat flavor make it gala as a sprig of mistletoe.

And happily you can prepare this dessert in advance, and whisk it out of the refrigerator at the last moment without giving it further attention.

Be sure to stock up on plenty of filberts before the holiday season. They're wonderful for between-meal munching, and they give a certain dash and flourish to a dish which takes it into the realm of the extraordinary.

Filbert Holiday Mold

- 1 cup Blue Pirate filberts
- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- 1/2 cup cold water
- 1/2 cup dark corn syrup
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup water
- 3 eggs, separated
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 cup mince-meat

Coarsely chop and toast filberts. Soften gelatin in cold water. Stir together the syrup, cinnamon, salt and water. Beat egg yolks and add to the syrup mixture. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until slightly thickened. Add softened gelatin, stirring until dissolved. Chill until syrupy.

Beat egg whites until stiff; add sugar. Fold mince-meat and nuts into the gelatin and then the egg whites. Spoon into a mold and chill until firm. Serve with whipped cream. For a festive touch, garnish with marzipan fruits and Christmas greens or huckleberry leaves. Serves 8 to 10.

HOLIDAY TREAT — Try this honey of a pumpkin pie on the man in your life... a surefire holiday dessert to keep him happy and contented. Made with honey, it's called "Catch-A-Beau" pie, and if you've already caught him, it's sure to tickle his palate.

Lefors Teachers Feted With Party

LEFORS — (Special) — Fifty-four guests attended the buffet dinner in the school cafeteria recently when the high school faculty was host to the elementary and junior high faculties, their husbands and wives, board members and wives, and all school employees and wives.

The cafeteria was decorated in the holiday theme, with garlands of greenery and gold bells in the runners of greenery, with red, white, and green candles. Gifts were exchanged.

The custom of burning a yule log originated among the Germanic tribes in pagan times.

Maybe it's not true that the pie shell. Bake in hot oven (325 degrees F.) 40 minutes. Sprinkle remaining coconut over top of pie and bake 10 minutes longer. until custard is firm and coconut a delicate brown.

Here's a pie that fills all the requirements: It's pretty as a picture and "good enough to eat" — as the old-time sayings go. You can do the actual preparation in almost the time it takes for "a cat to wink her eye" too! And if you've been married 25 years, you'll be complimented at least, by a request for a second helping!

Honey Pumpkin Pie

- 1 1/2 cups shredded coconut
- 1 1/2 cups mashed cooked pumpkin
- 1-3 cup sugar
- 1-3 cup honey
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon mace
- 1/2 teaspoon allspice
- 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 2 tablespoons butter, melted
- 2 eggs, slightly beaten
- 1 cup milk, scalded
- 1 unbaked 8-inch pie shell

Combine 1 cup of the coconut and the remaining ingredients (except pie shell) in order given; mix thoroughly. Pour into unbaked

Naomi Class Has Christmas Party

A Christmas party was held recently by the Naomi Class of the First Baptist Church in the home of Mrs. W. M. Dittberner, 1321 N. Starweather.

Mrs. R. L. Edmondson gave the Christmas story, and gifts were exchanged by members. The group also presented gifts to Mrs. L. L. Hollar, class teacher, and each member brought a toy for an orphanage.

Present were Mmes. A. A. Day, L. V. Hollar, G. L. Wilson, E. G. Nelson, J. L. Burba, W. J. Morris, E. L. Anderson, H. M. Stokes, A. McClendon, Jos R. Foster, R. L. Edmondson, Ed Herlacher, J. H. King, James R. Hilton, and W. M. Dittberner.

For brilliancy on the campus, a loudly striped overshirt — a T-shirt grown long with long sleeves — worn with knee pants, a turtle-neck, and smoothly fitted bottom cuff make this an easy way to imbeath the sloppy - shirt - or - sweater look.

Give Irish Linen As Yuletide Gift

What more elegant Christmas gifts than beautiful Irish linens for the table — for any purpose from a picnic to a banquet and at any price from a few dollars on up the line. There is nothing like pure Irish linen to add glamour to a table setting — and yet because of its unsurpassed wearing qualities, it is as practical as it is beautiful. Many tubings and constant use improve its lustrous finish. Its beauty of texture will enhance your table for years.

Irish linen damask — in white and soft pastels and in patterns which harmonize with conventional, modern or period decor — is the traditional background for a formal table. Damask mat sets too, though somewhat less formal are very rich in effect. Finely embroidered and handsome cut-out work as well as linen and organdy combinations in both mats and cloths are extremely elegant. Classic in their simplicity, Irish linen hemstitched cloths and mat sets in a complete range of colors can be dressed up or down depending on table accessories and, of course, can be mixed or matched in a variety of ways. Luncheon, bridge or tea sets may be gaily and soft pastels and in patterns printed — and colorfast — or again you may choose from a host of solid colors.

Purchasing Guide For Leather Gifts

Leather — in a wide variety of articles — shows up on practically everybody's Christmas list. To help ease the pain of Christmas shopping, here's a quick rundown on what we've seen in the stores to suit the lady who loves glamor as well as her down-to-earth sister. Firstly, no woman ever has enough handbags and gloves. It's an open season for fashion in leather handbags and you'll find a variety for every time of day or occasion. Envelopes, tote bags, clutches, boxes, pouches, in suede leathers, calf, kid, cowhide, reptile and glove leathers. Many are made with contrasting textures of leathers, others trimmed in jewels, fur, and various metals. And while we're on the subject of personal leather accessories how about combination sets consisting of wallet, cigarette case, eyeglass case and key case. They come in beautiful shades of scarlet, green, blue, yellow, charcoal as well as pastel shades in smooth aniline calf leathers, suedes, snakeskin and alligator. If she smokes cigarettes, you'll find an array of leather cigarette cases; if she has succumbed to the ladies' "pipe trend" you can give her a wonderful pastel leather tobacco pouch that will double in brass as a jewelry case when she travels. These items are all under $7.50. If she's a hombody, she'll love one of the new fitted leather sewing kits fully equipped with thread.

Insomnia Results In A Tired Look

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

The older woman who complains of a few sleepless nights is not necessarily a victim of insomnia. As any doctor will tell her, an occasional sleepless night never did anyone any harm. But, beauty-wise, a sleepless night will result in a tired-looking face and body. So, it's best to find the cause of a sleepless night. Several things may contribute to sleeplessness. First of all, the bed mattress and spring should be given regular checkups to make sure they are adequate for a good night's rest.

Hunger may be a cause of one's turning and tossing all night, too. So, the woman who eats a light, early supper should have a light snack before retiring. Sleeping position is another factor to be considered, too. People who sleep on their stomachs or on a complain of shoulder and neck aches. This is because in order to breathe they must turn their necks far to the side. Sleeping on one's side is the most relaxing position of all.

Relaxation is necessary for a good night's sleep. To relieve nervous tension, try taking a lukewarm bath shortly before bedtime. While you're in the tub, let your self relax completely. Put your head back and close your eyes. When you feel you can get into bed and go right to sleep, step out of your bath. Or, try listening to your favorite music for an hour before bedtime. Music is a very good form of relaxation and using this method you'll find yourself completely relaxed and ready for a deep sleep in a matter of minutes.

GRACE FRIEND

Dear Grace Friend:

I have been intending to write and think it's about time that one of the public should be heard from. I have talked to a number of people on a number of things, and they feel and think the same as I do on these things of which I am going to write about.

For one thing I just finished reading that book by Caryl Chessman, and passed it along to several others. We think it is a disgraceful book, and should be taken out of circulation.

Why should he be allowed to write a book? He hasn't showed any remorse for the crimes he committed, and he gets a stay of execution every time and is outsmarting the law. They should put him to death and put him out.

Why should the taxpayers be forced to feed and house a devil like him, along with these sex fiends? Why doesn't the public demand enforcement on these fiends who molest and murder our children?

STRING THEM UP
Instead of giving them a trial, string them up to the nearest pole or tree, like they did years ago for horse thieves. If the public would do this a few times a sex maniac would think twice before he would molest a child.

Does he give a child a chance for his life? No. Why should he be given a chance for his life?

Look how the law did in that Stroble case. Where is their shame, to defend a sex fiend. Would they still want to defend a sex fiend if the fiend had mistreated and murdered the lawyer's child? You can bet not—he would be for stringing him up to the nearest pole and hanging him until he was dead, as they should do anyway.

Why waste time and money on such? Just after the McCracken case the public and the press raised a "hell of a row" about these sex fiends and what they were going to do about the law being so lax on these cases.

It has died down—just so much hogwash. Why doesn't the law enforce these laws, instead of giving these sex fiends a chance for their lives?

LAST RESORT
And as of the last resort, after a year or two of defending, these sex fiends can pretend to be insane to save their rotten lives.

Just wait until the next case comes up like Stroble and McCracken, which it will, because they know how the law is, and they can always get a lawyer without shame to defend them and prolong their lives a year or several years to come and the public and press will be up in arms again and it will die down as all so much hog wash, just like it has done in the past.

And we, the voters and majority of the public, are fed up with all this. We elect these judges and put them in office and after they get in office or are re-elected another term, they play rotten politics.

I'd rather see a son or daughter of mine dead, than go into politics, the rotten politics. People have gotten where they have no faith in any of them anymore.

BACKS AGAINST THE WALL
But people haven't been driven back against the fence far enough yet, and when the people get their backs up against the wall where they can't turn away, but have to fight, then watch out.

It's time the public put their voices in and put a stop to it, or are they going to wait until their backs are up against the wall?

And one thing more, in all those trials and cross examinations of these Communists. When they refuse to answer to questions asking if they were ever a Communist, because they might incriminate themselves if they answer that question, in our opinion, they as good as admit their guilt. Then the government should change that amendment or the Bill of Rights. They get away with murder at that rate.

What's the matter with our laws? There's been many a man hung for less than that. Anyone who is absolutely honest and a true American wouldn't hesitate to answer "No" and mean it. We say they are guilty of Communism when they refuse to answer.

Mrs. M. I. S.

Dear Mrs. S.
You overlook the principle back of the reasons for lawyers' defending such people.

Because one, perhaps only one out of a hundred so accused, is innocent of the charges against him; all must be defended and proven guilty before a court before they can be condemned.

If justice seems to miscarry occasionally, how much better that it should err on the one side than against an innocent man.

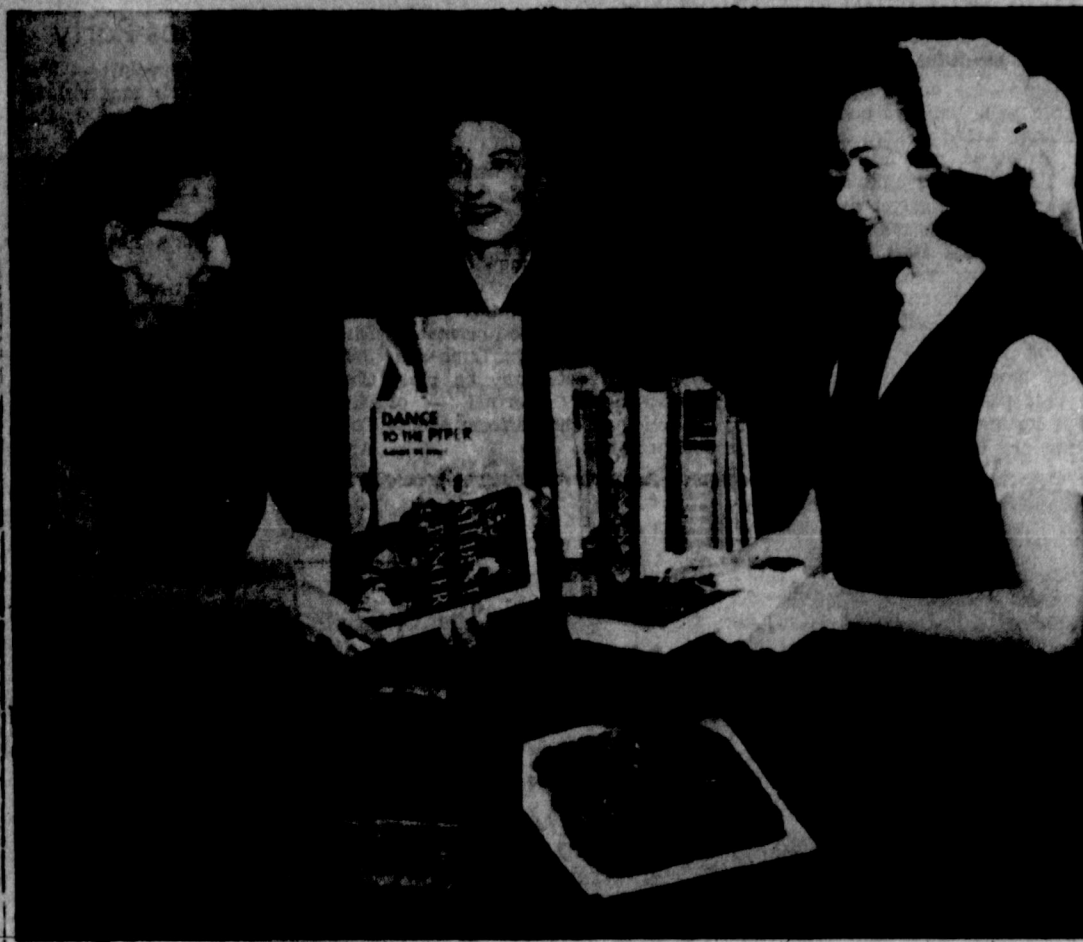

Lynching has more often hanged the wrong man than the right one and nearly always the guilty man would have been punished had the lynchers waited for a fair trial. And the innocent still would have lived.

As for the Chessman book—the best way to take it out of circulation is not to buy it.

Tufted Fiber Developments Are Noted As Biggest Floor Covering Innovation

The biggest innovations in floor coverings to be seen in many a season were unveiled this year in terms of new tufted developments. The utilization of heretofore untufted fibers for tufted goods in one of the most significant of these innovations according to the findings of Retailing Daily. All-nylon appears for the first time as a tufted fabric and more blends of nylon and rayon have been introduced. A tufted wool and rayon blend is the first of its kind as is an all-wool tufted carpeting.

Multilevel textures, executed in newly perfected tufting processes represent an even more dramatic innovation. Some of the textures come through as random straited patterns but in a few cases the designs, such as a floral scroll and a linear key are clearly indicated.

Modern design in floor coverings means many things today. This is because wide variation in mood, motif, material and method has not been impeded by a strict set of rules. Modern carpet design takes its influence from many traditions, its texture from many kinds of weaves. In contrast to the stereotyped geometrics of the Twenties, today's modern floor covering encompasses a wide scope of styles and textures. Patterns range from classic Mondrian rectangles to textured abstractions of nature, such as modern leaf, tree-bark and floral treatments. Some designs show the direct influence of Morocco and modern Sweden, while others turn out to be Colonial New England in contemporary guise. Many are cleanly executed linear styles while still others soften abstract motifs with tweedy textured grounds.

Selection in fabric is equally wide. Weaves run the gamut from novel velvet, wilton and axminster qualities, to brand new tufted synthetics, many of which are over-stitched in cotton with the particular design motif.

The California look has really arrived in modern floor coverings, as witness the large numbers of gay handcrafted looking tweeds which were presented this season.

Bright touches on cakes that can be eaten always make things seem more Christmasy to children.

Place a maraschino cherry on top of puddings, make Christmas wreaths on top of white cakes using both green and red cherries. Here's a maraschino cherry sandwich-cupcake to delight the giddy in heart.

Maraschino Cherry Sandwich
(Makes 12 servings)

One 1-pound, 4-ounce package white cake mix, 1/2 pound marshmallows, 1/4 cup water, 1/2 cup chopped maraschino cherries (about 20 cherries), 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon, 2 tablespoons cocoa, 1 cup heavy cream whipped and sweetened, red and green maraschino cherry halves, well drained.

Prepare cake mix according to package directions. Pour into a greased and floured 13 x 9 x 2-inch pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 35 to 40 minutes, or until cake tests done. Cool 10 minutes. Turn out on cake rack and cool thoroughly. Cut into 2 1/2-inch rounds with biscuit or cookie-cutter. Split each round into 2 layers. Combine marshmallows and water.

Cook over low heat until marshmallows are melted. Add chopped cherries, cinnamon and cocoa; mix well. Spread cherry marshmallow filling on bottom cake layers. Top with remaining layers. Frost top and sides of each cake with sweetened whipped cream. Garnish with a wreath of red and green cherry halves.

For your Christmas turkey, you might like this new pretzel stuffing recipe.

Pretzel Stuffing
(Makes 12 to 13 cups of pretzel stuffing)

Nine cups pretzel crumbs (coarsely crushed), 1 1/2 cups chopped onions, 1 1/2 cups butter, margarine or turkey fat, 3 cups diced celery, 1 1/2 teaspoons poultry seasoning, 1/2 teaspoon ground sage, 1/2 teaspoon ground pepper, 4 cups turkey stock or bouillon.

To make crumbs, crush pre-folds of waxed paper, with rolling pin or milk bottle. Crumbs should be about size of grain of wheat or corn. Sauté onion in butter, margarine or turkey fat until soft, but not browned. Meanwhile, blend celery, seasonings and crumbs.

Inexpensive Gloves Are Wise Purchase

Children's tendency to lose one of a pair of gloves is so well known that for years parents have resorted to tying the gloves together. The long string through the sleeves and across the chest is the answer for youngsters, but what about college men?

Gloves will always stray. Even a tied pair manages to be mislaid, and the college lost and found department seems destined to have a fine library of forlorn single gloves.

The obvious answer is to buy warm and handsome but inexpensive handwear, and wool gloves fill the bill. Knitted wool mitts or

Also, the college man has seen the wisdom of wearing knitted wool gloves, because they have been smartly designed to suit his taste. Dark gray gloves, with a touch of lighter gray and white Scandinavian design on the back, and solid colors in gray, navy, brown or dark green are examples of the wool gloves the college man likes.

New Pampa Citizen Recalls Christmastime In Lebanon

By BILL KERR
Pampa News Staff Writer

With the Yuletide season almost here, the thoughts of one of Pampa's new citizens turns toward home.

There's nothing unusual about that, except his being 6,000 miles from there and the likelihood of his making the trek home seems remote.

These last five Christmases since Tommy Abouhalka came to the United States from Lebanon, have been a novel experience for him because of the essential difference between the way the holiday is celebrated here and in his own country.

"Christmas in our country is strictly a religious observance, a time set aside mostly for meditation and contemplation. The average Christian in the Middle East would find an American Christmas a bit too commercialized," Tommy said.

"At Christmastime the children receive gifts, but they needn't be given on Christmas morning. Most of the time they are presented to the children close to the holiday."

No Santa Claus

As regards Santa Claus, Tommy pointed out, "he has only recently arrived on the Lebanese scene and has taken only a scant hold on the immigration of our children. The only reason he's become known in our Yuletide festivities is that in 1925, Lebanon became a French mandate and the French Santa Claus, Pere Noel, was 'brought' into the country."

Tommy decided to take a moment to explain the religious makeup of his home country.

"Lebanon is half Christian, half Moslem, with a total population of nearly half a million. I am part of what might be considered a Protestant sect patterned after the Unitarians, and known as the Alawites. We believe in the ethics and morality of the New Testament, but not necessarily the divinity of Christ."

Most Christians in Lebanon are Catholics of the Maronite rite, who pay adherence to Rome. Though Lebanon is in great part Moslem, they recognize Christ's birthday, according to Tom, and congratulate their friends whether Christian or Moslem with the Christmas salutation, "we wish you every year happiness and blessedness."

"Many people are unaware," Tommy emphasized, "that the Moslems believe in Christ as a prophet of their religion as they also do of Abraham and Moses."

Getting back to the trappings that make for Yuletide celebrations, Tommy said the Christmas card is almost unheard of in Lebanon.

"Those that are used at all are printed in either French or English, knowing the foreigners will use them. You know, we, too, also have an eye to the commercial angle," he said amusedly. "All they'd have to do is print them in Arabic, the language of the country, and there would be a commercial fiasco as far as the printers are concerned."

While on the subject of foreigners Tommy made an astute observation regarding women drivers in his home country.

"Actually you seldom see any, and when you do they are either French or American women. Our low accident rate," he said with tongue in cheek, "is due to the few women seen carousing around in autos."

He added immediately that he was sure many would accuse his home country of being unlettered, but he shot back with, "Lebanon is the most literate country in the world. Just over 85 per cent of our population has had its bout with the three Rs."

Lebanon, well known for its cedar trees, has not taken to the custom prevalent in this country of having decorated Christmas trees in the home.

"Many times the children will go out into the country and decorate living trees, but other than that we have no use for tinsel, stars and colorful Christmas balls."

Lamb On Menu

Turkey, trimmings, pumpkin pie and cranberry sauce have become favorites of Tommy's since his arrival in Texas, but for Christmas dinner these would not be among the traditional Lebanese dishes.

"Lamb is our basic dish for the holidays, with heaps of beans and rice. Unlike Texans, we use our cows mainly for milking," he said with a sheepish grin.

But as he said: "Whether you celebrate with Santa Claus, and turkey or not, Christmas is Christmas — and we are all taking part in the same joyous occasion — the birth of the Prince of Peace."

"Really we have quite a bit in common with Christmas as it is celebrated in your land of eternal sunshine," southern California. Both of us are in almost the same latitude as Nazareth, the Sea of Galilee, and Bethlehem, and all three areas can reasonably match each other in climate."

Tommy pointed out he's probably stretching the basis for these similarities, but he mentioned he's working to become a U.S. citizen — and this might be a strong talking point for rushing the proceedings, almost like a friendly catalytic agent.

Graduated From TU

Tommy hasn't been in Pampa very long, only since this summer when he was employed as a petroleum engineer, by the local office of the Texas Railroad Commission. In June he was awarded a double baccalaureate from the University of Texas in petroleum engineering and mathematics. He undertook the five year program.

And while browsing on the Austin scene he took himself an American bride, the former Susan Hanke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hanke, of Austin. Her father is professor of Latin American studies at the university, and can admit to a Lebanese connection. He taught from 1927 to 1930 at the American University in Beirut, Lebanon's capital.

Baking Soda Good Auto Fire Protection

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — UP — A University of Illinois safety specialist, Gordon McCleary, says a package of baking soda is the best cheap fire protection for automobiles.

McCleary pointed out that baking soda is the main ingredient in many chemical fire extinguishers anyway. He said the fire's heat creates carbon dioxide from the baking soda, smothering the flames.

Baking soda is more effective than sand, salt or dirt and won't damage the engine, he added. McCleary also recommended that motorists sprinkle a little baking soda in car ashtrays.

Pros And Cons

We are frequently asked what kind of a society we would favor, since it is apparent to all who follow this page that we oppose violence and coercion. And on occasion we are chastized by someone who gathers from what may be superficial perusal that we are more inclined to be against things than we are for things. Perhaps, in this regard, we are at fault sometimes. The things we oppose have a way of impinging on our consciousness. The things we are for have a tendency of being taken for granted. But it must follow that if we are against something, such as violence and coercion, we must of necessity be in favor of their opposites. We would thus be in favor of a lack of violence and a lack of coercion. We are against vice. We are therefore in favor of virtue. We are against collectivism, therefore we favor individualism. We oppose war, and consequently we favor peace.

When we consider the types of society which have existed since the dawn of history we are faced with a number of potential conclusions. We note that man is gregarious. That is, that he tends to survive best with others of his kind. There are few, if any, cases of successful hermits. Man survives best where co-operation pertains.

So far back as we can trace there have been noted only two ways of securing co-operation. One is voluntary. The other is through compulsion. Archeology, pre-history and history itself are full of proof that compulsion is the rule in the barbarian community. The savage chief secures co-operation from the members of his tribe by dint of superior strength, and the threat or use of force. But so long as force is totally employed, civilization lies dormant. Survival may be secured, but little else. The savage tribes which still inhabit parts of Australia, the Melanesian islands and the remote interior of Africa have changed little if any in the past several hundred years. They are governed by total force.

The Doctor Says

As has been the case for the past several years the American Diabetes Association is sponsoring a program emphasizing the importance of early detection of diabetes and the control of that disease. This year the campaign was scheduled for the week of Nov. 14 to 20.

Why is this an important public health measure? First, and foremost, diabetes is a serious disease, especially if it remains undetected and untreated for any great length of time. Secondly, past surveys have indicated that there are probably something like a million people in the United States alone who have diabetes and do not know it.

DIABETES DETECTION drives been revealing. For example, out of one group of over 166,000 persons tested 789 were diagnosed as having diabetes for the first time—it is not including those who already knew they had it. In another group of approximately 275,000 persons over 6,500 showed evidence of the disease. No doubt, also, these large-scale screening tests have stimulated many people to go to their doctors who in turn have surely uncovered many unsuspected cases of diabetes.

All this is to the good because the chances of avoidance of serious complications are enormously greater if a person with diabetes knows it and takes the proper measures. It is not, of course, enough just to realize that one has the disease, however.

THE PROPER STEPS must be taken to treat it. Fortunately better methods of doing this are available today than in the past. In mild cases—perhaps in half of the total—attention to diet alone may serve to control the disease. In more severe ones insulin is often desirable in addition to a careful diet.

The use of insulin is also being improved. More is known about how much to give and how often. Too, there are now available several different kinds of insulin, such as the slow-acting ones, which can be given to some patients only once a day.

THE MAIN AIM of treatment is to prevent the loss of sugar in the urine. If this is done most of the symptoms and complications can be brought under control. The patient should not try to do this himself, since it will result in many failures. Also the victim must realize that he or she cannot expect good results unless the diet and other directions prescribed are actually followed.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES
Reuther's Big Lie
If there ever was an individual who followed Hitler's tactics that if you tell a big enough lie often enough people will believe it, it is Walter P. Reuther, head of the C. I. O.

Here is an example of his big lie made at the 16th Annual Convention of the C. I. O. in Chicago. Here is what Reuther contends: "The C. I. O. is not a narrow economic pressure group. We are not trying to make progress at the expense of our neighbors." Now, let's analyze how the C. I. O. proposes to promote better jobs for C. I. O. members. It proposes to set wages arbitrarily and take away from an individual his God-given right to help establish values. Here is what Reuther contends: "The C. I. ## Blama Government For Unemployment

The fact of the matter is that labor unions are the primary cause of unemployment. They cause unemployment by forcing things out of balance and by keeping a price higher than what the men produce. And when some wages are higher than what men produce, then other wages must be lower than what the worker produces. They get so low that these workers give up and we then have unemployment. Then when unions through things out of balance and cause employment legislation which forces the votes of organized labor, makes laws that further cause unemployment—such laws as the Federal Reserve System, such laws as making it illegal to own gold, such laws that result in inflation.

Success Secrets

By ELMER WHEELER
How do you start your day?
The beginning of the day often sets the pace for the next 24 hours, and can be the true factor in determining its outcome.
Fred Bonar, successful custom-tailor of Denver, has this to say about it: "While I'm shaving, I discipline my mind to expect only the best things to happen that day. Sure enough, the expectation of good frequently brings it."
"I brush out of my mind all thoughts of discouragement, fear and anxiety. I make myself look forward to the next eight hours as an interesting, profitable and happy experience. That attitude of mind invites cooperation, and it opens your eyes to opportunities you'd never see, unless you confidentially anticipated them."

The Nation's Press

THE DEMON WINE
(The Tulsa Tribune)
Has the French nation drunk itself into a second-class drunk? This sounds like an old-time sermon from the Sons of Temperance or the WCTU. But it could be a fact. At least, Mr. Mendes-France, the French premier, thinks so.
Americans have always looked upon French wine-bibing as a gracious, amusing custom, tailored for a people who like to tarry and who like to savor life. Good French cooking and good French wine are Siamese twins. But what tourists overlook is the fact that alcohol among French peasants and workers is not downed for conviviality. It has become a substitute for water.
Today Frenchmen spend 10 per cent of their national income for wine and liquor. There is one bar for every 88 men, women and children. Frenchmen normally have a glass with every meal, even usually incorporating a bottle in a lunch bucket. Factory workers generally get a job of hard liquor between nine and 10 a. m. Soldiers are issued more than a pint of wine each day.
The wine business is big business. One out of every seven Frenchmen is connected with it. Sales are 675 billion francs a year. But 40 per cent of accidents in France are attributed to alcohol. Also 40 per cent of all deaths are hastened by alcohol. Care and treatment of chronic duodenitis cost the French government 250 billion francs last year, or nearly one-quarter the value of the entire wine output.
So maybe there is something wrong with the old superstition that the Frenchman can hold his liquor. True, you don't see many Frenchmen at the fighting of falling-down stage. But no man can operate efficiently with a chronic buzz. And that seems to be France's great weakness—nobody is operating very efficiently.
The output of French liquor is way below the output of the beer-drinking Germans. French farmers persist in holding to archaic farm methods. Nobody runs a machine well or shows much ambition when 10 per cent tight.
There is another intangible. France is a nation without spirit or optimism. Cynicism, security-seeking, and tax-dodging are national characteristics. For all their native ability and natural charm the French seem to have lost the "elan" which once made them the greatest continental nation. How much of this is due to their enormous consumption of wine?
The moralists miss the target when they insist that alcohol is evil per se. Its evil or lack of it can be judged only in terms of how it affects an individual in a national. National drunkenness is always a curse, but not always does a drinking nation lose its enthusiasm for meeting challenges.
Whisky was the curse of the American frontier, yet our ancestors fought well and built well with it. It is still the curse of Scotland and Ireland, yet neither people could be called demoralized. But there seems to be a difference in the effect of alcohol used for an occasional bender, and alcohol sipped incessantly. The stomach is the French method, and whether this endless drinking is the cause of a decaying spirit or the result of it, the situation is not good.
With Premier Mendes-France luck in his campaign to get Frenchmen to ease off on the grape. After all, some of our own "activity" may depend upon a revival of French wine.

Low Quality Of High Court Needs To Be Told To Public

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Some sentimentalists and some selfish cynics when I say the present Supreme Court of the United States is a low-grade outfit not only by the comparison with some courts of the past but on the records of its personnel. But I am dead right and once the decline of the whole federal judiciary is forced into the consciousness of the public we will have made a start toward rehabilitation.
You can't look to the lawyers for any help in this. Few of them have the civic conscience or patriotism, and the moral courage, to stick their heads up to be whacked by panoplied ward heelers, lameduck jobholders and misanthropic mediocrities who were so paltry in their profession that their mean souls yearned for the power to reward their friends and hurt their enemies and the job security thus conferred on them.
You may think I am not qualified to criticize the Supreme Court. If so, then would you be willing to consider a criticism written by a professor of political science at Johns Hopkins and published in the Virginia Law Review of the University of Virginia?
The author is Carl Brent Swisher, whose career as a teacher of political science and a student of the Constitution dates from a hitch at Columbia in 1930 down to the present, except for two years as an assistant to the attorney general under the New Deal.
He says: "The Supreme Court looks back upon two decades of bizarre behavior. It stands exposed as a power group competing with other groups wielding political power in our society."
That is why so many lawyers say confidentially that they just can't advise clients with any confidence on the law and the Constitution.
"Although, perforce, a majority votes as a unit to decide one way or another, the several members have so many times arrived at decisions by different modes of reasoning and have each so criticized the mode employed by the others that the concept of the 'one-ness' of the court has been largely destroyed. Many of the individual justices have joined in debunking what Federal Circuit Judge Jerome Frank has called 'the cult of the robe' to the end of revealing not only that the court is a power group but that individual justices are themselves competitors for power and the individual prestige of determining the course of legal rationalization."
That is gumbo language but it will scan if you will stay with it instead of turning to the fannies. And let me point out that the very ponderosity of such wordage makes it necessary for someone to put such urgent ideas into newspapers. I am reminded of a time when Bill Davenport of Collier's was editing a series of articles by Gene Tunney and told a friend he was on the rock pile making little ones out of big ones. Well we all were young ones.
The professor then goes into ancient situations in which litigants who lost accused the court of playing politics, and brings us down to the actual packing of the court by Roosevelt even though his court-packing plan was beaten in Congress. This play by the way was so consistent with the plan which Col. E. M. House set forth in his revolutionary prophecy "Phillip Dray Administrator" that I truly believe that Roosevelt got it from House, who was his "advisor" early in the New Deal.
Now Professor Swisher recalls that after Chief Justice Stone died and Fred Vinson, the old wool-hat horse-player and first-base man from Centre College, was appointed to harmonize the bunch, one hell of a fight broke out which came almost to rough-house right there on the bench.
"His appointment," says Professor Swisher, "was punctuated by a tirade by Justice Jackson in a letter to the judiciary committees of the two houses of Congress about a feud between himself and Justice Black who was alleged to have maneuvered to prevent Jackson's appointment as Chief Justice. Referring to what he regarded as an instance of misconduct on Black's part which he, Jackson, had criticized in a judicial opinion, he remarked that if Black ever repeated the performance, he would make his earlier opinion look like 'a letter or recommendation' which carries over into the handling

The Nation's Press

THE DEMON WINE
(The Tulsa Tribune)
Has the French nation drunk itself into a second-class drunk? This sounds like an old-time sermon from the Sons of Temperance or the WCTU. But it could be a fact. At least, Mr. Mendes-France, the French premier, thinks so.
Americans have always looked upon French wine-bibing as a gracious, amusing custom, tailored for a people who like to tarry and who like to savor life. Good French cooking and good French wine are Siamese twins. But what tourists overlook is the fact that alcohol among French peasants and workers is not downed for conviviality. It has become a substitute for water.
Today Frenchmen spend 10 per cent of their national income for wine and liquor. There is one bar for every 88 men, women and children. Frenchmen normally have a glass with every meal, even usually incorporating a bottle in a lunch bucket. Factory workers generally get a job of hard liquor between nine and 10 a. m. Soldiers are issued more than a pint of wine each day.
The wine business is big business. One out of every seven Frenchmen is connected with it. Sales are 675 billion francs a year. But 40 per cent of accidents in France are attributed to alcohol. # FPC Ruling Shocks Oil, Gas Industry

By HARRY WILSON SHARPE
WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—Oil and gas industry circles were shocked Saturday by a new Federal Power Commission announcement that after May 1 it will no longer recognize escalator and "favored nation" clauses in some gas certificate filings.

In making the announcement, which industry spokesmen described as another setback in their fight to end what they termed "federal confusion" in natural gas price regulations, the commission also refused, for the time being, to give a re-definition of who is an independent gas producer.

What the commission did was to again change its controversial orders 174 and 174-A. These were issued to carry out the Supreme Court's mandate in the Phillips Petroleum Co. case last June 7 that the FPC must regulate the price of gas from the wellhead to interstate consumer.

An industry spokesman said that under terms of the order, the commission will be forced to turn down requests for certificates with escalator and favored nation clauses. He also said there will be no approval of rate increases where justification depends upon such clauses.

Escalator clauses call for increases when producer rates or other costs rise. Favored nation clauses cover automatic price increases. If one producer increases his price, these clauses allow other producers to match it.

The commission specified that its decision not to re-define the term "independent producer" is not hard and fast but will remain open to future interpretation. It said "the problem can not be dealt with here" but that hearings will be held "to determine jurisdictional questions."

Shell, Deep South, and Humble Oil companies will ask for such determination at a hearing here Jan. 10.

Commissioner Seaborn L. Digby filed a dissenting opinion to the new order and Commissioner Nelson L. Smith and Frederick Stueck filed a joint concurring statement.

Digby insisted the commission should have defined its jurisdiction over producers. He said "orderly regulation would be greatly advanced." He warned that "hundreds of producers will file applications and rates in transactions entirely outside FPC jurisdiction."

Digby also asserted that all fixed escalations in contracts which were in existence when order 174-A was issued "should be accepted as part of the original rate and constituting one tariff or rate schedule not subject to suspension under the natural gas act," he said this would not add up to approval of the rate "but would simply treat the changes as parts of an original rate scheduled not subject to suspension."

TULSA — "Hansford County" is the extreme northern Texas formation, has been the scene of unprecedented oil and gas discovery during 1954," Frank J. Gardiner, exploration editor for The Oil and Gas Journal, says in the Dec. 13 issue of that magazine. Gardiner points out that at least six separate fields, producing from many different pay sands, have been discovered in the county this year. All of these pay are pre-Permian in age. Previously, the Hugoton gas field, producing from shallow Permian sands, had been the only field in the county.

The board of directors of Cities Service Company have declared a quarterly dividend of $1.00 a share on its common stock, and a year end additional dividend of $1.00 per share, both payable Dec. 20, 1954 to shareholders of record Dec. 10, 1954.

In addition, the board declared a stock dividend of two per cent on the presently outstanding shares, payable Jan. 17, 1955 to shareholders of record Dec. 10, 1954.

TULSA — A new dispersant for oil-well drilling muds which might serve as a replacement for imported dispersants is now in commercial production in this county. The Oil and Gas Journal reports in its current issue. The new product, Rayfite, is reported to be resistant to adverse effects of contaminants such as cement, salt, and calcium sulfate, and to be an effective additive both before and after conversion to lime-base muds.

The Journal story says preliminary tests indicate that Rayfite performs well in low caustic soda-low lime muds. It shows considerable promise for this application.

Sometimes It's Better To Just Keep Quiet

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — (UP) — A complaining citizen was taken aback when Mayor Andrew Brodus retorted with a complaint of his own.

William Shumate appeared at the mayor's "beef session" to object to increased storage rates charged owners of motorboats at the municipal boat harbor.

The mayor said he thought out-board motorboats make enough noise to violate the city's new anti-noise law and asked officials to check into the matter.

Edmonton Group Aids In Canada Mineral Development

By STAN McCABE United Press Staff Correspondent EDMONTON — (UP) — The mining companies digging for the riches of the Canadian north shop for everything from truck drivers to toothpaste through an organization here.

Even the government firms tapping some of the world's richest uranium supplies depend for items ranging from help to handkerchiefs on the Alberta and Northwest Chamber of Mines.

northern territory to Edmonton businessmen. And, on the other hand, it tries to steer the businessmen to mine operators who are potential customers.

"The mining industry spends over $20,000,000 a year in Edmonton and this is increasing," a chamber spokesman said. An increase in the organization's activities has taken place since G. H. Finland took over as manager 18 months ago.

Finland, a slim bundle of efficiency who has spent a score of years in the mining industry and the Royal Canadian Air Force, used to fly his own plane over the country between here and the Arctic Ocean. He is high on the prospects of the north.

He admitted that the United States has mineral deposits now reachable by "wheelbarrow or truck." But when the time comes that these run out, he said, the miners of the Canadian north will still be going strong despite their great transportation problems.

Finland is doing his best to see that the northern mining machinery runs on all cylinders. The chamber's membership is increasing and now stands at 212 member companies and about 240 prospector members.

Most of the mining companies operating in the northwest use the employment services of the Chamber of Mines. Each year, about 2,500 employees are lined up for the northern companies.

Arrangements are made to screen the men physically and to determine their aptitudes for the jobs open. The chamber works closely with the federal National Employment Service to obtain recruits.

Finland said the chamber is developing trade tests wherever possible, especially for truck drivers and electricians; he pointed out that where men are handling $25,000 and $30,000 ore trucks, it is important that they know what they are doing where equipment is hard to come by.

Most of the recruiting is done in Canada, principally in the mining areas of northern Ontario and around Edmonton. There are few Americans among the general run of workers, although a few husband and wife teams out to make a life in the north shop up each year. During the past few months the percentage of Americans looking for jobs has been fairly high, Finland said.
