TOKYO, Dec. 9-UP-A coalition of Conservatives and Socialists joined Thursday to elect Ichiro Hatoyama, a partially crippled, 71-year-old ultra-Nationalist, new premier of Japan.

Pope Fails To Respond

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 9-UP-The condition of Pope Pius XII was reported worse Thursday only a few hours before a team of doctors called a consultation at his bedside.

Hatoyama's election by the lower house of the Japanese parliament took only 15 minutes. The warring right and left wing factions had agreed earlier to support the conservative Hatoyama on condition he dissolve the Diet in January.

Hatoyama received 257 votes from the 448 lower House members present for the night session of parliament. Taketora Ogata, who was handpicked as successor to resigned Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida, received only 191 votes.

Hatoyama's Democrats and the nation's two Socialist factions, while disagreeing on practically every other issue, joined forces to overthrow the pro-Western Yoshida.

The Socialists gave a new election will increase leftist strength in the national legislature, where the conservative Liberals and Democrats now are the two most powerful parties.

Hatoyama, who was purged by Allied occupation authorities shortly after World War II for "totalitarian" actions, favors accelerated Japanese rearmament and unrestricted trade between Japan and the Communist world.

Gales, Tide Deal Dublin Heavy Blow

DUBLIN, Ireland, Dec. 9-UP-Gales drove towering tides from the Irish Sea into five square miles of Dublin Thursday, flooding 6,000 homes in one of the city's worst disasters in history.

The wind drove tides back up the Liffey and Tolka Rivers of this seaside capital city before dawn and sent them cascading into the streets up to depths of five feet.

Thousands of residents were forced from their homes. Other thousands were marooned. Electricity and telephone lines toppled and authorities cut off power to prevent electrocutions.

Shortly before noon municipal spokesman said 6,000 houses had been flooded. He called it Dublin's worst disaster since Republican raiders burned the city during the 1916 anti-British uprising.

A tributary of the Liffey, the Camac River, raced out of its banks in a southwestern suburb, bringing a new flood alert. Forty miles up the Liffey the city of Navan reported floods.

The government called out troops in Dublin and police declared an emergency in five square miles just outside the city center.

There were no immediate reports of deaths.

The storm that hit Dublin roared across the Irish Sea after battering Britain with hurricane-force winds and baby tornadoes during the night.

What Britons call a tornado-small compared with American twisters - unroofed a subway station, sliced open houses and uprooted trees late Wednesday in the London area.

News Prize Won With Water Colors

Golden blonde Wanda Rogers, whose sister won first place in The Pampa News' Easter Coloring Contest earlier this year, today was declared first-place winner in the Christmas Coloring Contest.

Sharon Gay Ogle, of Skellytown, won second place, and Suzanne Paden of 509 N. Starkweather, was third-place winner.

These three girls were the top three of 120 winners picked by Miss Virginia Denton, Mrs. J. B. White and Rev. Edwin Hall, who served as judges for The News' contest. There were 225 entries from children throughout The News' circulation territory.

Reds Hike Production Of Rockets

LONDON, Dec. 9-UP-Jane's All The World's Aircraft said Thursday the Soviet Union is increasing its production of rocket-powered interceptors and farming out manufacture of some jet fighters to satellite nations.

The authoritative annual review of world aviation published Thursday also reported that Russia has developed a mother-bomber that can carry two MIG-15 jets or a twin-engine supersonic piloted rocket, although the experiments "did not seem to be on a large scale."

The plane that carries the twin fighters is TU-4, an almost exact copy of the American B-29 but much smaller than the American B-36 which can launch and retrieve a jet fighter (F-54F Thunderjet).

Jane's added that "it is quite certain that TU-4s were modified for airborne launches of the DF3 (rocket) R-346 built in the U. S. R."

The publication produced drawings of the new intercontinental four-engine jet atom bomber that startled western military attaches when it flashed over Moscow at this year's May Day aviation parade.

Jane's said it was a midwing cantilever monoplane with the main bomb bay between the wing roots. Jane's said the four engines powering the plane were unidentified and its armament unknown.

The bomber was estimated to be 14 feet long with a wing span of 145 feet.

Rocket Development "Rocket development is outside the scope of this annual, but many German models of World War II origin, of all types from aircraft armament rockets such as the R-4-M to long range missiles have been used and improved upon in the U.S.S.R."

Jane's reported Russia had some 360 factories for aircraft and components distributed from the Polish border to the Sea of Okhotsk.

Mercury Dips Low In Texas

By UNITED PRESS A cold front brought a sharp end to unseasonably warm temperatures Thursday and sent the thermometer tumbling to 14 degrees at Dallas.

Lubbock reported a low of 18 degrees, and several other West Texas points had sub-freezing temperatures: Amarillo, with 23, Wink 26, Junction 27, Abilene 28, Midland and Wichita Falls 29 and Mineral Wells 30.

Forecasters said Wednesday night was the coldest night the front will bring, and the state should begin warming up a little by Friday. The entire state was clear Thursday, with clouds reported only at Brownsville and Corpus Christi.

Low temperatures predicted for Thursday night were 30 to 40 degrees in West Texas and North Central Texas, 32 to 42 in the interior of East Texas and 35 to 45 in the north portion of South Central Texas.

At cities where the temperature didn't go below freezing early Thursday, the lows included freezing 32 at Maria and Lufkin.

Arrests Halt Gangland War

HOUSTON, Dec. 9-UP-Two ex-convicts, one of them wanted for a gangland killing in Dallas, were arrested here Thursday as the climax of a long-brewing gang war that took two lives to climax a daring holdup of a swank club here Tuesday.

Joe Flores, 35, was arrested here by Sheriff Buster Kern and officers as he stepped from a cab early Thursday, and Harvey Stewart, 26, surrendered in a rooming house at 5:30 a.m. without trouble.

Kern said Flores freely admitted the gangland shooting in Dallas Wednesday of Lewis Earl (Busby) Vinson, 44, a five-time convict. Kern said Flores told him "he (Vinson) turned his gun on me, so I killed him, instead."

Flores also admitted, Kern said, that he, Stewart and Ofen Alvey, 39, the other victim in the Dallas murder, were the three men who held up a poker party at the Theta Psi Omega fraternity club here.

Flores said four men, instead of three, took part in the club hold-up. He named as the fourth man W. C. (Dub) Wheeler, 28, another ex-convict who is under arrest in Dallas. He said Wheeler "ran out" on them when they slipped into the poker club through a rear door at 4 a.m. Tuesday.

According to people who knew her, $100 was the same as $1,000 to her," Page said. "She collected life and burial insurance, and she also tried to collect the social security due her husbands."

The widow is entitled to the social security under federal law if she has children under 18. Page said officers do not know if she collected any money.

"The people who knew her in Alabama were very shocked at the news," he said. "They said she was very well-liked, was a good cook and housekeeper and a very capable nurse."

Only persons who apparently became suspicious of her nursing practices were the brothers of her husband No. 2, Frank Harrelson. Page said. She had admitted poisoning Harrelson in 1945.

Page said three bodies were exhumed in North Carolina. They were those of Arlie Lanning, husband No. 3; Mrs. Louisa Hazel and Mrs. Sara Lanning. All were buried at Lexington.

The bodies of Lanning and Mrs. Hazel were "loaded" with arsenic, Page said he expects a report on Mrs. Lanning's body later.

Arsenic Odyssey

Nannie Doss Was Liked In Alabama

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 9-UP-Grandma Nannie Doss once packed a pistol in Alabama. She was well-liked, a good cook, housekeeper and nurse. She apparently gave arsenic to husbands and relatives for convenience and money.

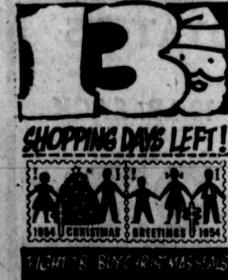

Those are the impressions of Oklahoma crime bureau Agent Ray Page who has just returned from a 10-day "arsenic odyssey" to North Carolina and Alabama.

Page said he believed the Tulsa widow killed for insurance payments and to remove persons who "got in her way."

She is now being held in Tulsa, where she has confessed killing four husbands.

According to people who knew her, $100 was the same as $1,000 to her," Page said. "She collected life and burial insurance, and she also tried to collect the social security due her husbands."

The widow is entitled to the social security under federal law if she has children under 18. Page said officers do not know if she collected any money.

Reds Still Hold 526 American GIs Captive!

By FRED SPARKS NEA Staff Correspondent

TOKYO - (NEA) - The Chinese Communists still keep several hundred American soldiers, sailors and aviators - captured during the Korean conflict - in primitive, Oriental prisons. They are estimated to number 526.

In the proven tradition of Marx, Malenkov and Mao, wardens are abusing the bodies of these young men - better to wash their brains.

From time to time in the future, Peiping again may slap the United States in the face (what little face we have left in Asia) and announce the "trial" of more servicemen for "spying" and their sentences: further rotting years behind bamboo bars.

These are the facts and calculated opinions of bitter officers in the United Nations command who have followed, so far as humanly possible, every allied soldier captured in Korea.

The recent revelation that 11 filers and two civilians were convicted of spying has established a pattern for tomorrow that will allow no holiday for heartbreak in countless American homes.

Having gone to captivity on routine military missions, with perhaps a capitalistic comic book in their jeans, the 11 airmen know as much about "spying" and "espionage" as Liberace.

"As we move from military truce to political parity the ghosts of the missing Americans will tap, tap, tap on the shoulders of UN diplomats."

Eighteen months later they are still tapping.

Below I have written their story. It is a story obtained from the United Nations command on Tokyo's "Perishing Heights," where the lights burn late these nights as Asia's peace flickers like a can-

TB Seal Sales Reach $1,162

"Our Christmas seal sales are coming along splendidly," according to Mrs. C. L. McKinney, drive chairman. Sales have reached $1,162.30.

Pointing out that the battle against tuberculosis is yet to be won, Mrs. McKinney said, "perhaps that immunity will be bought by the purchase of Christmas seals. Tomorrow, they may find immunity through our contributions," Mrs. McKinney concluded.

The commie spokesman, addressing the allied officer as if he were at a Red Square rally, shrieked: "This openly fabricated roster . . . an attempt to slander our side . . . there are no captured personnel of your side for who our side has to do additional accounting. . ."

This lie was later nailed when the Reds advertised the "trial" of the 11 airmen. Perhaps in future "trials" they'll also deny simple involvement in the small compensation of survivor benefit, the Defense Department now lists "all but 24 of the 526 POWs as 'presumed dead.'"

Paper Sued By Sheriff

CANADIAN — Hemphill County Sheriff Clyde Risley has charged The Canadian Record and its editor, Ben Essel, with libel and is asking $50,000 in damages in a suit filed in 31st District Court, Canadian.

In the suit, Risley charges a news story and an editorial published in the issue of Nov. 23 were "false and untrue" and had damaged his reputation and mental health in a total amount of $50,000.

The other $50,000 is for the exemplary damages, the suit says.

The news story, the suit shows, concerns the Hemphill County Commissioners' Court refusal to approve Risley's nomination of a deputy and an editorial commenting on the incident. That is what the suit is based on.

The suit charges these items were "written, published, circulated and delivered maliciously and with vicious, arrogant and cavalier intent by the defendants. . . who knew . . . that they were false and defamatory and damaging to the plaintiff . . . (exposing) him to public hatred, contempt, ridicule and financial injury and to impeach his honesty, integrity and virtue."

Witnesses Back Up Dr. Sheppard Story

CLEVELAND, Dec. 9 — UP— The defense in the Samuel H. Sheppard murder trial concentrates Thursday on the bulky-haired man; the strange intruder Dr. Sam claims killed his wife and knocked him unconscious.

Attorneys for Dr. Sam said they have four witnesses who saw the bulky-haired man near the scene of the crime.

Two of the witnesses are positive in their assertions they saw a tough-looking man with a shock of upstanding hair near the Bay Village house where Dr. Sam's wife Marilyn was bludgeoned to death July 4. They have their stories on the record in testimony at the Sheppard ball bond hearing on Sept. 11. Defense attorneys said they have subpoenas out for two more, in Akron, Ohio, who are reported to have said they saw such a man near the Sheppard home.

Leo Stawicki, 48, said at the bond hearing he saw a six-foot white man in a light-colored T-shirt or polo shirt standing in the Sheppard driveway between 2:15 and 2:30 a.m. July 4.

Germany Already Has 20,000 Of Future 12-Division Army

Editor's Note: The "West German army" exists only on paper until the Paris agreement authorizing its existence is ratified by members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. But West Germany already has soldiers, a 20,000-man border "police" force. Though they are few in number they offer a glimpse of how the future German soldier will look and act.

MUNICH, Germany, Dec. 9—UP—He looks familiar. He wears a "coal scuttle" helmet and Jack boots, and except for the absence of the Nazi insignia he might be mistaken for his father or big brother who goosestepped to disaster in the Wehrmacht.

He is the new soldier of a revived Germany. His eyes are not turned toward France, Britain and the West but toward a potential enemy in the East.

The 12-division West German Army will exist only on paper until the NATO nations ratify the Paris agreements authorizing its existence. But until then West Germany is allowed to maintain a 20,000-man border "police" force.

Forms a Nucleus
It is organized along military lines and forms a nucleus for the future army. Allied observers got a close look at the budding military strength of the new Germany when the border police conducted maneuvers recently in Bavaria.

Almost to a man, the border guards exhibited the ironclad morale that has always been a byword with the German army.

The average border patrolman is around 29 years old. He has never been in battle, and the crushing defeat of Hitler's army is a childhood memory to him.

His officers, however, are veterans of World War II.

"We who have been to Russia know the kind of war we would have to fight if the Reds attacked," said Capt. Peter Mueller, an intelligence officer. He fought for three years on the Eastern front and was wounded 12 times.

"We cannot possibly match the Eastern forces in manpower so we must organize a force of smart fighters and equip them well enough so that they can stand off an army superior in numbers," he said.

The border policeman's uniform includes the "coal scuttle" helmet which was a German trademark in two world wars. The famous Jack Boots at first were discarded in favor of American style combat boots but then were restored.

Less Marching
The new German soldier marches less than his predecessor did. To keep the border police force highly mobile, speedy diesel trucks that seat a 30-man platoon are used.

A stripped down convertible sedan also is employed as a patrol car, and officials are testing a "deek," which is a four-passenger car similar to the American jeep.

The heaviest weapon the border police can use is the German nine millimeter pistol, about the size of a U. S. .32 caliber pistol, and a machine pistol of the same caliber. The force also has a standard carbine as big as an American .30 caliber rifle. All these weapons date back to World War II.

After German sovereignty is returned, the border police are expected to be authorized to carry heavier arms — principally larger caliber machine guns. Their weapons will be planned to match anything the German Communists have on the opposite side of border-fences.

Publisher Convicted Of Libel

LAREDO, Tex., Dec. 9—UP—Santos de la Paz, a Corpus Christi publisher, was convicted Tuesday of criminal libel. He was sentenced to six months in jail.

The publisher's attorneys announced they would appeal the jury's verdict and he was allowed to remain free in bond.

De la Paz was found guilty of libeling former Webb County Judge M. J. Raymond by publishing, in the May 27 issue of La Verdad (The Truth), a dispatch discussing the alleged purchase and installation of air conditioning equipment by Raymond.

Raymond testified that he hadn't bought any equipment that was charged to the county or state. The outlook is brightened by full-blast auto production, a recent marked upturn in steel output, and forecasts for a continued construction boom.

The strongest point all this year has been the building industry. Consumer spending also has set a record. There has been little or no over-all increase in the amount spent to buy tangible goods, but more for services, such as rent, repairs and doctors' bills.

Measured by either of the two standard yardsticks — gross national product (GNP) and industrial production — the full-year 1954 has not been as good as the record year 1953, but things are improving.

The total value of all goods and services produced in the country — the GNP — in 1953 was a record $385 billion. This year's is estimated to be approximately 2 1/2 per cent less, or $356 billion. The final three months of this year, however, are expected to exceed the full-year average.

'54 Is Second Best U. S. Business Year

Editor's Note: After crises of recession and depression, 1954 after all will go down as the second best business year in America's history. Out of a slump conceded by all, business opened up in the home stretch.

By RICHARD E. MOONEY
WASHINGTON, Dec. 9—UP—On a rising tempo, the United States is winding up the second best business year in history.

It has been a better "second best" than some government economists had anticipated.

Preliminary predictions for next year point to another good year—even a little better than this year although still second to the 1953 record.

The outlook is brightened by full-blast auto production, a recent marked upturn in steel output, and forecasts for a continued construction boom.

Consumer spending also has set a record. There has been little or no over-all increase in the amount spent to buy tangible goods, but more for services, such as rent, repairs and doctors' bills.

Measured by either of the two standard yardsticks — gross national product (GNP) and industrial production — the full-year 1954 has not been as good as the record year 1953, but things are improving.

The total value of all goods and services produced in the country — the GNP — in 1953 was a record $385 billion. This year's is estimated to be approximately 2 1/2 per cent less, or $356 billion. The final three months of this year, however, are expected to exceed the full-year average.

Industrial production for the year will average about 124 on the Federal Reserve's index, which uses the 1947-49 average as a comparison basis of 100. Last year it averaged 124. In the closing months of this year, it has been climbing slightly.

In the words of one economist, the 1954 slowdown took the shape of a saucer. Starting in late 1953, there was a moderate dip, then several months a relative stability, and now a slight increase and slightly more in prospect.

The story of economic 1954 follows the saucer theory in a number of important lines; production, consumer spending, business profits.

But there are also several important lines which have been mostly all one way or the other. Total construction has been all up. Business stockpiling of inventories has been down. Federal spending has been down, while state and local government spending has risen. Business investment is new or improved facilities and new equipment has been down.

SWAN SONG?

Sen. Joseph McCarthy interrupted a hearing of his investigating subcommittee to read a statement accusing Pres. Eisenhower of congratulating those who, he said, delay the exposure of Reds and at same time urging "patience, tolerance, and niceties to those who are torturing American uniformed men." McCarthy said he was making statement in "view of the fact this may be my temporary swan song as chairman of the investigating committee." (NEA Telephoto)

Male Answer To Ye Beauty Shoppe

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY
NEW YORK, Dec. 9—UP—Men are the first to grin at the vanities of women, yet there is growing evidence that the male takes to pampering and preening up as readily as the female.
Part of the success of catering to the male ego is keeping quiet about it, so the news of facials and mud-packs and two-way stretch girdles for men gets around slowly.
As one wise authority summed it up: "Men resist change but they absolutely bask in attention."
Recently a new shop opened here devoted exclusively to maintaining the looks of men clients. The proprietors had some nervous hours searching for a proper name for a shop that was more than a barber shop and much less, frightening to a man than a beauty salon.

They settled on groom shop. When a man has a mud pack, that's good grooming, not a beauty treatment.
The shop has been open three weeks now, long enough to discover whether men go for the velvet glove treatment in ye olde barber shoppe. They do.
"Our biggest demand has been for sort of a mud pack treatment, only we don't call it a mud pack, we call it a facial pack," Patrick O'Higgins explained. O'Higgins guided a girl reporter nervously through the plush new shop, operated by Artchil and Helen Gourell, because he was anxious not to give male clients the idea women were allowed into their beauty... ah... grooming sanctuary.
One client lay back in the reclining barber chair, his face covered with a hardening paste, while the barber fanned him soothingly with a bamboo fan. A second man was getting a hair cut.
On a blackboard someone had written the various services the Gourell groom shop provides. There were items like a sun tan shave, special face refresher, special massage, and a beard trim.
They will also dye hair, give a limited shampoo and provide a man with an oxygen pickup (a few deep breaths from an oxygen mask, said to be excellent for remedying a hangover).
On the way out the rejuvenated men can purchase, if they wish, such maintenance equipment as milk-protein cream to soften the skin; another cream that contains, according to the label, active ozone, excellent for brightening yellow skin; various skin conditioners and a new hair stick to darken white hairs.
Just Be Silent
If hubby slips a tube that looks like black or dark brown lipstick in the medicine cabinet, it's only a grooming aid which can be dampened and rubbed on grey hair. Be tactful and don't mention it.
"The whole idea now is maintenance," O'Higgins explained. "but the market is wide open for men. We plan to include other items as they're developed. We'll have soap grains for the face, like women's only not as scented, and eventually the facial pack which men can take home and apply on themselves."
Lock up the chin strap, mother. Next thing you know it'll disappear from the dressing table and show up in pop's new maintenance department.

TV Actor Shuns Credit In Series

NEW YORK, Dec. 9—UP—Ever hear of a well-established actor who accepted a leading role for which he not only received no billing but was not even listed in the cast?
Sounds like a ridiculous question, but that is the way Robert Carroll established himself in television.
This prominent stage player is no stranger anonymous as the stranger in the TV drama of the same name seen each Friday night on the Dumont network, but he worked that way for about three months, and there were reasons.
"In the first place," the handsome actor explained, "it was a summer replacement show. It might catch on and it might not."
"Then, the idea of the show and the role had a little out of the ordinary. The premise was that a stranger can drop into anyone's life at any time, exercise some influence on that life and depart, still a stranger. Frank Telford, the producer-director of the program, thought it would enhance the mystery by having the role played by an unidentified actor.
"I was in a position to do this anonymously because I had no previous identification with television; all of my work had been on the stage. The idea intrigued me, and I knew that if the show went well I would eventually get the proper credit. It was a gamble that has paid off well."
Carroll began getting his star billing early in September. The program made no effort to conduct a contest about the identity of the leading player, but the curiosity of viewers was piqued and hundreds of guesses as to Carroll's identity were sent in to Dumont. They ranged from Perry Como to U. S. Sen. Stuart Symington, neither of whom Carroll particularly resembles. Those who guessed at Louis Jourdan and John Barrymore Jr. came closer to a look-alike.
Carroll has been leading man of such Broadway productions as "My Three Angels" and "Music in My Heart." Even if he never gets to play in "Hamlet," he's been in it—Hamlet, N. C., where he was born and raised.

Texan Tells Horse Tale
HAMILTON, Ohio, Dec. 9—UP—A Texan claims the reason his horse didn't win at the Hamilton race track was because the race was fixed—his horse's tail was tied to the starting gate.
The Texan is George T. Becknell, formerly of Detroit and now of Emory, Tex. He sued Ohio Sports Enterprises, Inc., which operates the track, for $124,800.
He said that on Aug. 22, 1951 the tail of his horse "Detroit Tiger" was tied to the starting gate.
"This prevented the horse from promptly leaving the starting gate," he charged in his suit. He said this was responsible for the horse's delayed finish and that it otherwise damaged the horse.
The suit was scheduled for trial in Butler County Common Pleas Court but was called off Tuesday night and court attaches said Wednesday they understood an out-of-court settlement had been reached.

When the English team comes to New York next January to play America for the World Championship, one of the players on the English team will bear the somewhat un-British name of Jordanis Pavlides.

Just as you might suppose, Pavlides came to England from Greece many years ago and is now a British subject. He is also a first-class bridge player, as today's hand may indicate.

The hand was played in a match between England and Ireland, part of the European tournament in which England won the right to play America for the world title. The contract and the opening lead were the same at both tables of this match.

The Irish declarer won the first trick with the queen of hearts, and ruffed a heart in dummy. Declarer continued by leading the queen of clubs from the dummy. East stepped up with the ace of clubs and led a fourth heart.

Declarer might still have saved the day for Ireland by discarding a spade and ruffing in dummy, but this would have been a very doubtful play. South actually ruffed, and West overruffed.

Declarer had to use the king of trumps from the dummy to win the trick, thus setting up a trump trick for East's queen. South eventually lost the spade finesse, thus giving up one spade, one trump, and one club.

Pavlides did better than this for England. He won the first trick in dummy with the queen of hearts and saw no reason to rush to get the heart ruff. That trick couldn't run away.

Instead, Pavlides led the queen of clubs from dummy at the second trick. This provided a way to get back to his hand (by ruffing clubs, later on) at a time when the enemy could do him no harm. As it happened, West won the club trick with the king and led a spade through the dummy.

Pavlides finessed the queen of spades, losing to the king. East returned a heart, and declarer took the ace. Only now was it proper to ruff a heart in dummy. Declarer could then cash the king of diamonds and get to his hand by ruffing a club.

The ace of trumps then drew the queen and the ten, after which Pavlides could spread his hand and claim the rest of the tricks.

The ace of trumps then drew the queen and the ten, after which Pavlides could spread his hand and claim the rest of the tricks.

While an inventor should seek a patent as soon as possible after he conceives his idea and works out structure or process steps for the practice of the idea if he keeps complete records of his work and has his work witnessed periodically by someone who can later be called upon to corroborate the inventor's story, then the inventor may protect himself clear back to the date of his original conception.

IT'S THE LAW IN TEXAS

(This column, based on Federal and Texas law, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts, because the facts may change the application of the law.)

Got a good idea for a new invention floating around in the back of your mind? Yes? Perhaps to protect your rights you should file an application for a patent with the U. S. Patent office.

Under the patent laws of the United States, an application for patent must be filed, if at all, earlier than one year after the date of first public sale or use of published disclosure of the invention.

If this deadline is met, then the person who first conceives a new and novel patentable idea is entitled to it, provided he thereafter pursues a course of reasonable diligence in reducing his invention to practice or filing a patent application thereon. Therefore, if conflicting claims arrive as to who is entitled to a patent, it is necessary to establish who first had the idea, and not just who filed the first application for patent.

Since an inventor is automatically given credit for a date at least as early as his application, without having to introduce any proof, an early application date is advantageous though not conclusive. But if an inventor protects himself while he is making tests and perfecting his invention, he can get credit for a date earlier than his date of application.

To do this, he should, as soon as he conceives the idea, make a written record of the facts, including a general statement of the nature of his invention, a recitation of the structural elements or steps of the process of his invention, and a rough drawing if possible. Preferably the written record is photocopied. The photocopy of the record should be dated and signed by two witnesses who have read and understood the photocopy of the record on the dates beside their names.

While some inventors mail written disclosures of their inventions to themselves, such procedure is not necessary if the foregoing preferred procedure is followed.

By taking the above precautions, an inventor establishes a preliminary date showing the time when his original idea was conceived. After that he can continue with his work, perfect his idea, and after it is perfected, make application for a patent, if he feels that he has a patentable idea. But the inventor must also keep records of his continued work, and the continued work should be disclosed periodically to a witness who is not a co-inventor.

While an inventor should seek a patent as soon as possible after he conceives his idea and works out structure or process steps for the practice of the idea if he keeps complete records of his work and has his work witnessed periodically by someone who can later be called upon to corroborate the inventor's story, then the inventor may protect himself clear back to the date of his original conception.

Proper Government

Attempting to boil down an entire philosophy of government and economics and human relations into a small space is, to say the least, difficult.

Reduced to its essentials, a reader asks: "Just what is The News' opinion on what is a proper function of government?"

All of which takes a bit of definition and understanding. First of all, there is the differentiation between "government" and "state." In a broad, general sense "government" can be a voluntary grouping of persons united in common bond without any police powers to enforce the decisions of the group, other than public opinion. There have been such governments, notably the Jews after the flight from Egypt.

In such an instance the group selects, without "vote" but by common agreement, a leader or judge to hear those questions of fact and to render a decision. His decisions were final and were accepted by the group but were without physical authority to enforce such decisions beyond the refusal of the members of the group to associate with one who refused to accept such decision. Thus, the "government" was, as Rose Wilder Lane defines liberty, "self-control, no more, no less."

This, of course, is the ideal in government: in which every man is responsible and respects the rights of others in a general acceptance of the rules for conduct set down in the Ten Commandments and the Golden Rule.

It calls for a belief in some sort of Supreme Being or Supreme Power which, by the mere fact that man has been given life and reason, permits the assumption that man has a "right" to life and with this right the corollaries of liberty and the pursuit of happiness. For want of a better expression, we say then, that man has certain "God-given rights."

If you are still with us, we could halt right here and say that we feel that the proper function of "government" is to restrain or halt any one man or group of men from making any act of aggression upon these God-given rights of another man or group.

But actually, this is just a start. To translate this belief, which finds so many adherents, into actual everyday practice in a modern world is quite another matter.

But no matter how many examples are given (they usually start out by saying "How would you like . . . as though that had anything to do with this impersonal rule or belief) we must always come back to this basic premise: that man has a right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness and that this right is inherent in EVERY man — not just 99 per cent.

Obviously a "government" that is designed to bring about conditions under which EVERY man is granted his natural rights must be very broad in scope and recognizes at the outset that there is not likely to be very many subjects upon which ALL will agree. Yet, if we are to use our yardstick for proper government we must permit ALL to pursue their individual roads to happiness willy-nilly and only when such pursuit stops another from HIS pursuit shall there be any force of "government." In ancient days, the force of public opinion apparently was sufficient to insure the carrying out of decisions and the initiation of aggression or threat of aggression was not necessary.

Could we then, in a modern world, have such government, admitting that it is ideal? Very possibly not. Nevertheless, unless we attempt to go towards this type of government; unless we have some ideal for which we can strive we must, perforce, go toward the alternative — statism.

Now, let's try and get down to cases:

The reader asks if the courts are not a proper function of government — with the bland assumption that they are "agencies for the administration of justice." If the courts were "agencies for the administration of justice," and justice were based on our premise of government, the answer might well be "Yes." But our courts are not for the administration of justice but for the purpose of carrying out man-made laws which may or MAY NOT be in harmony with our definition of proper government. Any time that a court upholds or enforces a violation of the rule-of-thumb that a man has a right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, such a court is not an agency of justice but an agency of coercion basing its decisions upon "the rights of society" and "the general welfare." The example of "the right of eminent domain" is a good example of this belief in might makes right school of thinking on things governmental.

Our reader also mistakenly feels that "the people as a whole" have a "duty" to aid the indigent sick. Of course he doesn't mean the people as a whole but a majority of people who have the power to enforce their demands upon the minority or individual who wants to go his solitary way in pursuit of his own idea of happiness. He is the individual who says to himself or others that "if I want to help the indigent sick, then I'll do it and without any policeman's club to make me do it — and if there be one or more than one who is callous or indifferent about the fate of his fellowmen, then let him go his way. But I hope for his sake that he doesn't want help sometime himself, for I won't give it to him."

Our reader then says that "the people acting through their elective representatives, have established hospitals for the care of the needy. The people evidently think that it is a more practical system to discharge this moral obligation through taxation, than through voluntary charitable contributions."

The point is that the people do not want to "discharge" just their own moral obligations. They also want to force others to accept their idea of what a moral obligation is and then force them to pay for this idea of obligation through the tax route. This is, on the face of it, counter to the idea that men have an inherent right to pursue happiness in their own fashion — even if it means being indifferent about the welfare of others so long as they don't interfere with the pursuit by others.

Thus the existing system is certainly a legal one — according to the man-made laws setting up the legal requirements. But such legal hocus-pocus does not mean that it is ethically sound or is a proper function of government. It is merely a demonstration of a belief that there is no higher law than might-makes-right and that we have no inherent God-given rights which all are to respect.

A Talk To Future School Teachers

I want to quote from remarks I made recently to a class of University of California at Los Angeles students who are preparing to become teachers:

I do not believe enough thought and reflection are being devoted to the praxiology of education. Praxiology is the science of means. No matter what one wants to accomplish, the means are important because the means predetermine the results. Since means are so very important, I am going to speak very frankly. If we are to intelligently consider whether the means used in compulsory schools or voluntary supported schools are good and desirable, we must first agree on a standard of rightness — just as we must have an agreed standard of measure if we want to measure distance.

I know of no better standard to measure what is right than the Golden Rule. It is a part of every religion.

Four Questions

- 1. Would it be a violation of the Golden Rule for one individual, say John Smith, to set up a school and accept as many students as wanted to employ his services?
2. Would it be a violation of the Golden Rule for one individual, say John Smith, or a minority, to set up a school and accept another individual, say Bob Jones, or a majority, either to pay a fee for the school or leave town?
3. If it is a violation of the Golden Rule for a minority to coerce the majority either to pay a fee or leave town, why isn't it a violation of the Golden Rule for a majority to coerce a minority to either pay a fee or leave town?
4. Is it in agreement with the Golden Rule to compel a common laborer to help pay for the training of those who want to get a college degree?

I have never been able to find believers in compulsory tax-supported schools who will answer certain questions on the school subject. Voluntary schools, because they need not limit inquiry, can successfully teach the Golden Rule, liberty and justice. But schools that are obliged by their nature to limit inquiry cannot successfully teach the pupil to believe in the Golden Rule or justice and liberty, that our Founding Fathers pledged their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor to defend.

The greatest service any teacher can be to his pupil is to stimulate him to inquire. How can this be done by tax-supported teachers who insist that the Golden Rule in relation to their work cannot be inquired into.

In 1947 I publicly offered Robert G. Sproul, president of the University of California, $1000 if he would answer questions as he would before a court to test whether tax-supported schools are in agreement with the Golden Rule. And I have offered $1000 to anyone who would get him to do it for $1000. Maybe some student in this class can pick up $1000 by simply getting him to do so.

In refusing the offer Dr. Sproul gave evidence that state schools limit inquiry. He wrote: "Free public education supported by taxes has been, and will continue to be, one of the foundation stones of this democracy. To imply that it is in need of defenders is also to imply that the idea of democracy is somehow questionable. For this reason I cannot accept the offer which you have made."

Isabel Paterson was one of the half-dozen prominent citizens who was willing to discuss compulsory tax-supported schools with Dr. Sproul. In writing to me she noted what Sproul wrote above. Then she said:

"Everything that is true is by its truth open to enquiry FOREVER; and each generation learning any truth, must do so by that test." "Dr. Sproul uses the word 'questionable' when you invite him to defend compulsory tax-supported education. The word has various shades of meaning, but all of them signify in some degree that the matter or subject cannot bear questions; it will not stand up to a reasonable or moral enquiry. The only reasonable inference that can be drawn from the refusal of the proponents of compulsory tax-supported education to participate in any enquiry into the subject, is that they are aware that it is indeed questionable.

To say that any matter of public interest, a matter indeed forcibly imposed on the public, is not to be discussed, would appear astonishing if his try did not show that it is the first recourse and invariably the method of despots, of the political agency as soon as it has been extended beyond its proper function. As long as it is held to its proper function and field, the political agency can operate only by a continuous process of questioning and debate — that is the method of a true republic, which the United States was designed to be."

The United States was the first nation known to history which was established by principles and with forms which were proclaimed to the world as reasonable, and therefore FOREVER open to enquiry, demonstration, proof, and reconsideration. "If enquiry is to be forbidden to those under tutelage, the students then simply cannot be educated at all on any subject. They can be trained to recite like parrots and as they are told, they cannot be educated. If it straggles then that American school children and college students are already notably deficient in knowledge of history? Not at all — it

National Whirligig CAB Airlines Findings Await Presidential Action

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The decision to introduce President Eisenhower's promised "new look" in commercial aviation transportation is now up to the man in the White House.

Despite violent politico-economic opposition inside and outside Cabinet circles by long entrenched interests in the Civil Aeronautics Board has ruled against monopoly and the "chosen instrument" theory in the skies.

Its two findings favor the small but efficient companies as against the two ambitious giants — Juan Trippe's Pan American World Airways and Eddie Rickenbacker's Eastern Airlines. But the verdicts do not become effective until the President approves them.

Pan Am's political friends, including Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks, Commerce Undersecretary Robert B. Murray, and Sam Pryor, prominent GOP-er and Pan Am vice-president, still hope and work for a White House reversal of CAB's decision. But it is expected that Ike will approve.

Attorney General Brownell is interested in the controversy. He has filed an antitrust action against Pan American and Panagra, based upon Pan Am's 50 per cent ownership of Panagra, which operates in South America. A White House rejection of the CAB order might prejudice that suit.

Three before in this four-year-old dispute, which has cost taxpayers thousands of dollars, CAB ruled against monopoly. But Pan Am's influence at the White House during the Truman years led him to reject the agency's holding. Politicking and lobbying have been rough and ruthless in the case.

Following from the necessities of compulsory education? This subject may not be enquired into because it is related to some other subject that must not be enquired into; facts cannot be imparted because the rational mind does naturally begin to reason from facts; reason must not be used because reason will seek for facts. The American pupil or student is to be discouraged by silence from knowing the nature of the institution in which he is forcibly placed; yet these are the primary facts of his environment. What then can he know? I would suggest that he must come out of such a process with much the same equipment as a German child under the Nazi regime or a Japanese child under the imperial regime, excepting for what he may contrive to learn outside of school. From outside, he may see the demonstration given involuntarily by state educators of the very nature of the thing they wish to have exempted from rational examination.

If no student here can get Dr. Sproul to investigate the school subject, I will give any pupil in this class $500 who will get either one of the two professors of this class to answer questions on the school subject as he would before a court. And I will also give the professor $500.

To summarize: Real private educators believe in education only limited by the individual's ability to learn and government definitely limited to doing only what is sanctioned by the Golden Rule while state educators believe in arbitrarily limited education and government without definite limits.

Senator Karl E. Mundt has this to say about the recent election:

"The first and most important question the Republicans must decide is whether to seek voting allies in the South or from the pressure groups in the big Northern cities. For if we continue to court both, we shall win neither. The victory of a number of Republican Congressmen in Texas and Florida is a clear-cut indication of the growing affinity between Southern thinking and the non-urbanized (and non-Letter) elements in the Republican Party. I have long favored a political realignment that will give us two meaningful political parties. The sooner the better."

Until we get two political parties that really mean something — two parties that will let the people decide the issues between Left and Right — self-government cannot be said to exist in this country. Jonathan Yank

Commissioner Oswald Ryan voted for Pan Am and Eastern.

Pan Am's "chosen instrument" program suffered another setback in its attempt to obtain a virtual monopoly in flying the Pacific to the Far East. This adverse decision is also on Ike's desk.

Pan Am now flies to the Far East by way of Honolulu, Northwest Airlines, starting from Portland and Seattle, flies a shorter route through Anchorage, Alaska. Besides being the only major airline free of debt, Northwest has provided aerial information and experimentation in this area.

Pan Am sought and fought to drive Northwest from this route, insisting that it be given the Anchorage as well as the Honolulu run. CAB at first voted three to two for Northwest. But when the dissenters discovered that Ike disliked their decision, they switched, making it five to none for Northwest.

Fair Enough Writer Circulated Columns For Congressman Hays

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Just before election, in time to get in a low blow for a Democratic congressman who had insulted a Catholic nun and Catholic University, Drew Pearson circulated, and some papers which knew that he was an liar published, a piece of propaganda exculpating that congressman, by name Wayne L. Hays. Hays comes from Ohio. He had so boldly obstructed the work of the House committee to investigate tax-exempt foundations that Carroll Reece, of Tennessee, the chairman, took the drastic step of protesting to the whole House.

I have taken some pains to get the text of a letter written by Bishop Bryan J. McEntegart, rector of Catholic University, Washington, D. C., to chairman Reece, flatly denying every dirty insinuation Hays uttered and which Pearson, for some ulterior motive, tried to mitigate.

It will take a little repetition, but I think the incident is flagrant enough in contrast with the wild indignation against Joe McCarthy to excuse my setting forth again, briefly, the text of Hays' insults to the committee, whose inquiry has been bitterly opposed not only by the Ford foundation. The witness was Aaron Sargent, a San Francisco lawyer and qualified authority on sociology and fabian socialism. Hays undertook to disrupt the hearings and so heckle the witnesses that the committee would be unable to perform the mission for which it was appointed by the House of Representatives. Reece charged in his protest to the House.

Covert organizations, which constantly expend vast tax-exempt funds to achieve foreign and domestic political aims in Congress and in the press, also horned in to sabotage the inquiry. Sargent had referred to a book on Fabian Socialism in Britain, published as a bound volume, which Sister Mary Margaret Patricia McCarran had written as a student of Catholic U. to obtain her degree of doctor of philosophy.

Hays first sneered at the mention of the nun's last name, McCarran, she being a daughter of the late Senator Pat McCarran of Nevada. He insinuated that Sargent mentioned that name for political effect. Sargent insisted that her last name was on the title page. Hays backed down.

However, Hays soon said with reference to the book, "Maybe, we ought to subpoena the officials of the Catholic university and see how high-type this is."

"It is a doctoral thesis resulting in the granting of her degree of Doctor of Philosophy," Sargent said. "It is a very extensive book, based on original source material." After a space, Hays returned to his belittlement. Suggesting that officials of Catholic U. be summoned for examination as to Sister McCarran's qualifications, he went on to insinuate that pressure of some sort had been resorted to "I happen to know something about the background of the author of that book," Hays said, "how long it took her to get a degree and so forth. And even that there was a little pressure used or she would not have it yet."

Hankering Keep The Facts Hidden If You Want To Be 'Babied'

By HENRY McLEMORE

There is nothing a wife won't do for a husband when he is in the hospital and on the danger list. She's like a Florence Nightingale filled with high octane. Your man is her command, and your simplest sigh puts her in an ever-loving dither. She strokes his forehead with a silken hand, pats your wrist with a million little love taps, and begs you in an agonized voice to let her help you in any possible way.

For the first few days in Room 212 — where I am now as a result of an automobile smash-up — I could sense bad as I felt, that Mary wished there were more than 24 hours in a day so that she could sense, bad as I felt, that she was a Marathon runner. Sleep meant nothing to her. She hovered about me like a pretty blonde bee. She brought me little delicacies she thought would tempt my appetite, nand fed me, and laughed when I spilled half of it over my face and chest.

Then came the day when the doctor told Mary I was past the crisis, was off the danger list, and was going to be all right.

The effect was electric. The second the doctor told Mary that I was going to be all right she looked at me with an entirely different eye. Instead of changing my pillow case she reminded me that a lot of hills were piling up at home. When she fed me a spoonful of custard and I spilled a blob of it on my chest, she said: "Do you have to be so messy?"

My moans began to annoy her a little. My moans, now that she knew I was on the mend, struck her eardrums in an entirely different manner. "Do you have to moan so much?" she asked. "I remember my father and brother being in a hospital without making all the gruesome sounds you make."

Before the doctor told her I was on the upgrade she worried about my pallor. Now she worried about my being unwell, and wanted I was nearly a goner!

Palsy Victim Helps Others So Afflicted

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS WASHINGTON, Dec. 9—UP—Louis Zeni of Eveleth, Minn., doesn't like to consider himself as handicapped.

Louis, now 46, was born by an accident of birth with what is called cerebral palsy.

But the affable Louis has come further on the way to recovery than most victims of this affliction. He was here recently as a delegate to the United Cerebral Palsy Association meeting.

Louis was a ball of fire. He spoke, he walked, with the help of the cane, and he told about what he has done for other victims he knows in Minnesota.

For a long time he was helpless. Then he got his back up. Louis Zeni was not one to watch the world go by without pushing the world a little.

And then this man, who couldn't lift a bottle of milk to feed himself when he was five years old, decided to do something for other kids with palsy.

This was in 1941. Harold E. Stassen was governor of Minnesota at the time. The head man was on Louis Zeni's side.

Through his efforts Louis has collected uncounted thousands of dollars for his cause in Minnesota and the idea is spreading.

"In Duluth," Louis told me, "in six hours on a program we collected $10,500. All of that money goes to help other victims of palsy. In Minneapolis, we picked up $240,000 in 16 hours. We are going places."

Louis has the will to get ahead. He is one of the few palsy victims to have a college degree.

Killer Elephant Sold To Circus

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Dec. 9—UP—A killer elephant who hurled her "best friend" to death in 1953, was en route to Texas Wednesday to join a circus after 25 years in Mesker Park Zoo.

Kay is the 30-year-old, five-ton beast which killed Robert F. McGraw, director of the zoo, although McGraw had been her trainer and keeper for years. She hurled him against the side of her zoo cage.

The park board voted to spare Kay, although many zoo fans thought she should have been executed.

When Kay was removed from her cage Monday night for a trip in a big truck to Bryan, Tex., it was the first time in more than 10 years she had been out of the barred area.

It took three hours to prod Kay into entering the truck. She didn't want to go.

Kay was bought by C. A. Vernon, operator of United Exposition Shows.

In her place at Mesker is a new baby elephant named Bunny.

Park board members had decided long ago to sell her but delayed the sale until they found a good home.

Safe-Driving Day Support Asked By C of C President

Floyd Watson, president of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, appealed today to all motorists and pedestrians in Pampa to give their unstinting support to national "Safe-Driving Day," Dec. 15.

"Our goal will be to eliminate all traffic accidents for the 24-hour period," Watson said in the hope that it will result in more traffic safety the year 'round.

S-D Day is sponsored by the President's Action Committee for Traffic Safety in cooperation with other national, state and local organizations. The Chamber of Commerce and its member organizations throughout the country are cooperating.

"The real cost of accidents," Watson emphasized, "is the most precious thing we own — human life."

Day Director Jim Conner's appeal for observance of the day the Pampa Post Office is teaching its personnel that courteous driving is safe driving, and urging its truck drivers to make courtesy their code of the road. O. K. Gaylor, postmaster said today.

Gaylor confidently predicts there will be no accidents here involving post office people or vehicles.

President Eisenhower in announcing the Dec. 15 drive said "no endeavor could be more worthy of our universal cooperation."

He called on every American to: 1. Follow common sense rules of good sportsmanship and courtesy. 2. Obey traffic regulations. 3. Resolve to stay alert and careful.

Michigan City Wants To Put Christ Back Into Christmas

HASTINGS, Mich., Dec. 9—UP—This community of 5,400 will turn off its gaudy Christmas lights this Saturday night, put away all the paper Santa Claus and try to forget how many shopping days remain until Christmas.

Instead everyone will try to remember Bethlehem, the gospel according to St. Luke, an old, old message of "peace on earth, good will toward men."

Hastings has come up with a unique community plan to help "put Christ back into Christmas." The plan involves taking the commercialism out.

"This is one night when there will be no place in our town for Santa Claus," said Philip E. Schubert, secretary of the Hastings Chamber of Commerce.

Protestant and Catholic churches are going to sponsor a citywide yule program that will try to recapture the original spirit of the celebration of the birth of the Christian savior.

Owners of all shops and markets that normally would be open Saturday night to cash in on the Christmas shopping rush will be closed light as a Christmas drum.

There will be an hour-long torch light parade featuring tasteful religious floats by 14 Hastings churches. A different phase of the Biblical Christmas story will be depicted on each float.

Merchants along the parade route have agreed to remove Christmas merchandise and advertising from the show windows and put up religious displays instead.

As the parade moves along the transformed Main Street the Rev. Russell Houseman, a Baptist minister, will explain the significance of each float. His script is being written by the Rev. Leason Sharpe, a Presbyterian.

CHATELET-EN, France, Dec. 9—UP—Premier Pierre Mendes-France revolutionized the habits of hundreds of generations of French school children here Wednesday. He's making them drink milk.

They're not expected to like it, but the milk-loving premier has added cookies and fruit in hopes the children will find milk more palatable than the wine they have drunk almost since birth.

Mendes-France, known throughout France now as "a man of milk and iron," chose this village of 884 to launch a school milk program he hopes will extend to every primary school in France.

It was the latest step in his campaign against alcohol in this wine-loving country where small children take wine to school with them and where 15,687 persons died last year of alcoholism and cirrhosis of the liver.

The premier announced his program to make France like milk a month ago when he returned from a tour of the Belgian border. France regarded his campaign with good natured humor and went on drinking as much wine as ever. Then he began his program of get-'em-young and the school children campaign was born. Every morning from Wednesday on each school child here will receive half a pint of milk, slightly sugared to kill the taste.

Laredo Authorizes Bridge Bonds

LAREDO, Tex., Dec. 9—UP—The city council Tuesday authorized issuance of $300,000 worth of revenue bonds to finance the city's share in rebuilding the international highway bridge over the Rio Grande.

Payne Briscoe, chairman of the city-owned Laredo Bridge System, told the council that both U.S. and Mexican engineers are speeding final working plans for the bridge and bids will be called about Dec. 20.

The bridge will be rebuilt into a modern four-lane structure 18 feet wider than the spans which were destroyed. The construction agreement with the Mexican government provides that both parties will place the necessary funds in escrow at the time the contract is let.

The piers will be widened and the bridge floor will provide a 40-foot roadway and eight-foot walkways on each side.

The city received $100,000 insurance money for the U.S. span which the Rio Grande flood in June swept away. But new approaches, bridge offices and export and import lot facilities will be required on the U.S. side because of the widened bridge, bringing the total cost to $300,000 to $350,000 for the U.S. facilities.

An endless belt linking Lake Erie with the Ohio River, 100 miles away, has been designed to shuttle iron ore and coal from river barge to lake carriers on storage bins.

Grand Prairie Man Likes People

GRAND PRAIRIE, Tex., Dec. 9—UP—Christmas cards with two-cent stamps ordinarily aren't forwarded, but 500 of them will be at Grand Prairie.

Ex-Con Shot, Another Dead

DALLAS, Dec. 9—UP—An ex-convict who reported only last Saturday that he was taken for a "ride" was critically wounded Wednesday and another ex-convict was killed in a Dallas gangland brawl.

Details of the brawl were confused, but police said at least five police characters, including the two victims, were involved.

The dead man was Buster Vinson, a narcotics dealer with a long police record. Olen Lee Alvey, 39, the man who was taken for a ride last week, was critically wounded and physicians doubted he would live. He was shot four times with a large caliber pistol.

Alvey was released in bond Nov. 29 at Springfield, Mo., where he is charged in a tie-up robbery. He told police Saturday that two men took him to Grapevine Lake northwest of Dallas Friday night to kill him.

He said the men locked him in the trunk of the car and he got away only because he found some burglar tools in the trunk—the two men were other police characters—and was able to pry open the lock.

He said he jumped out just before reaching the lake and ran to a store, where he called police.

AIRLINE TERMINAL WAITRESSES — The recent League of Women Voters membership coffee featured an airline theme. Woman Voter Coffee Theme Is Airline Terminal With Destination Membership

A membership coffee was presented recently by the League of Women Voters in the home of Mrs. H. H. Hahn, president, at 814 N. Somerville.

An airline theme was used for the event. After registering, guests were presented a "ticket" which contained a fact book on the League, and served coffee and doughnuts from the "airline terminal counter." They were then ushered into the "waiting room" where they "watched television."

Appearing on television to talk briefly about the League were Mrs. Hahn, Mrs. Jess Clay, Mrs. W. A. Breining and Mrs. Henry Gruben. In addition to the "television," Mrs. Hahn spoke on the organization as a whole, and Mrs. Earl O'Brien talked on the unit work.

In charge of the coffee was Mrs. H. H. Boynton, membership chairman, assisted by Mmes. Breining, O'Brien, Frank Culbertson and Azelle Loftus.

Mrs. Doyle Osborne presided at the "information desk," and Mrs. Loftus registered the guests. Assisting with the serving were Mmes. George Friauf, Carl Hills,

Ed Eaton, O'Brien, Henry Gruben and Dick Stowers.

Decorations in the "waiting room" included replicas of clocks giving the time in various cities throughout the world; a replica of the U. S. Capitol building surrounded by greenery, with the flag in front, and the "television set."

The menu, listed above the serving counter, included unit soup, poll tax salad, membership special and information pie.

Four groups of women, totaling from 100 to 125 persons, attended the coffee, which lasted from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m.

NESSERLODE WREATH MOLD will add a festive touch to your Christmas dinner.

June Talk

By JANE KADINGO
Pampa News Women's Editor

ANY TIME OF THE YEAR, we often like to use an odd-shaped cake to add to the table decor. But this is especially true during the Christmas holidays. A tree or bell-shaped cake sometimes gives that extra-spirit to the Christmas dinner or Christmas party table.

HERE IS A BASIC white cake batter for all-occasion use, especially suited for the unusually-shaped cake.

2 1/2 cups sifted cake flour
1 1/2 cups sugar
4 teaspoons double acting baking powder (tartrate powder, 5 1/2 teaspoons)
1 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup less 1 tablespoon water
1/2 cup less 1 tablespoon milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

3/4 teaspoon almond extract
1/4 teaspoon orange extract
2-3 cup homogenized shortening
5 egg whites, unbeaten

Sift first 4 ingredients into mixing bowl. Add water, milk, and flavoring extracts. Drop in shortening and beat 300 strokes (3 min. by hand or on mixer at low speed). Scrape bowl and spoon or beater several times during mixing. Add egg whites and beat 300 strokes (same as before).

Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) in any of the following shapes:

- Tube pan (8 1/2") for 45-50 min.
- Round layer pans 1 1/4" deep (two 9") for 25-30 min.
- Oblong loaf pan (9"x13"x2") for 40-45 min.
- Cupcake pans (2 1/2") for 20-25 min.
- Square pans (three 8"x8"x2") for 18-23 minutes.
- Ring pans (two 9") for 25-30 min.
- Christmas tree pans (two 10") for 25-30 min.

WE ALL KNOW that each week the grocery bill takes a big slice out of our paycheck. Here is what the Department of Agriculture says about how much we are spending for groceries and for clothing as compared with other years and other times.

WASHINGTON — UP—The grocery bill continues to take 25 per cent of our income, but our clothing bill is on the decline. The Department of Agriculture says that although one-fourth of the national income goes for groceries, the total now embraces not only food costs but the cost of marketing services.

Families are buying less of the farmer's crops in rough form and more in the finished or partially finished form. Wheat, for instance, used to be purchased as flour. Now, most of it is sold to families as bread or other bakery products.

At the same time, the department says the average cost of clothing for the family has shown a steady decline for three years. Only eight per cent of the consumer dollar now goes for the clothes, shoes and accessories, compared with 14 per cent in the late war years, and 10 per cent during the depression years of the 30's.

It says the decline may be for these two reasons — today's more informal way of life and increasing leisure call for less expensive clothes.

And, the population is changing. Now, we have more in the youngest and oldest age groups, and they are less interested in clothes than other age groups.

HERE ARE a few cooking hints from the United Press.

Hot Canape?
NEW YORK — UP—Looking for a hot canape treat? Try this bacon and apple combination. Roll bacon strips around canned apple slices and broil. Spear each roll on a toothpick and serve hot.

Caramel Dip
NEW YORK — UP—A favorite treat for children this time of the year is an apple coated with caramel and rolled in chopped walnuts while the candy is still soft. The apples are easy to coat—just melt caramel candies and dip.

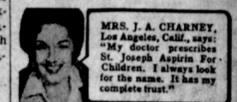

Rice Helps
NEW YORK — UP—Next time you serve a green vegetable plate, add a helping of rice to match. Prepare a five-ounce package of pre-cooked rice according to package directions. Then mix in 1/2 teaspoon curry powder, 1/4 cup each of finely chopped parsley and peanuts, and 1 tablespoon of butter.

Painting the stairway? Paint every other tread, when they are dry, paint the rest.

Festive Nesselrode Wreath Fine Salute To Santa Claus

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Food and Markets Editor

Here's a festive Christmas special — Nesselrode Wreath — delicate and beautiful with green-tinted cream, bright cherries and citron or pineapple leaves.

It comes from Mrs. Raymond Huttenlocher of Des Moines, Ia. She says the eggnog chiffon appears as a dessert in many guises throughout the year in her home. It can be spooned into sherbet glasses and chilled or turned into a baked pastry shell and fruit trimmed. For Christmas, she adds cherries and nuts to the basic mixture and turns the now "nesselrode" chiffon into a ring mold, with Christmas wreath decoration.

boiling water and stir until gelatin and sugar are dissolved. Beat egg yolks slightly, gradually stir in small amount of the hot mixture. Return to double boiler and cook until mixture is slightly thickened. Remove from heat; add nutmeg and flavoring. Chill mixture until slightly thicker than the consistency of unbeaten egg white. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry; gradually beat in remaining 1/4 cup sugar. Fold in gelatin mixture. Turn into pie shell; chill until firm. Garnish with whipped cream, pieces of maraschino cherries and citron to resemble holly wreath.

RUTH MILLET

Where to spend Christmas is a major problem in many homes at this season of the year.

Every year letters come in from young couples with children who can't make their own parents understand that they want to establish Christmas traditions in their own homes — instead of taking the children to the grandparents' home for the holiday.

Here is such a letter from a wife who says her husband's parents expect all of their children and grandchildren to spend Christmas at their house.

She and her husband would like to celebrate Christmas in their own home because of their children but when she tried to explain this to her in-laws she said it was a selfish attitude.

She adds: "I feel that our children should grow up with memories of Christmases spent at home, and that we could get together with my husband's family some other time during the year-end holidays."

"I have been called 'heartless' and 'hard to get along with' because my in-laws feel I think only of my husband and children and not of the older folks who would like to have all of their children and grandchildren at their houses."

There is nothing selfish about your attitude. It is perfectly natural. Your parents-in-law should be able to understand and respect your wish to build Christmas traditions in your own home.

However, if you can't make them understand, it might be better — even for the children's sake — to give in gracefully to their wishes than to cause a family row. Surely, there can be little of the Christmas spirit in any kind of celebration that results in a family squabble.

Nesselrode Wreath

(Yield: 10 servings)

Two envelopes unflavored gelatin, 1/4 cup sugar, 1 quart bottled nonalcoholic eggnog, 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg, optional, 4 teaspoons rum flavoring, optional, 1 cup heavy cream, whipped, 1-3 cup chopped drained maraschino cherries, 1-3 cup chopped nuts.

Combine gelatin and sugar in top of double boiler. Stir in 1 cup of the cold eggnog. Place over boiling water and stir until gelatin and sugar are dissolved. Remove from heat; add remaining eggnog. If additional flavoring is desired, add nutmeg and flavoring.

Chill until slightly thicker than the consistency of unbeaten egg white. Whip gelatin mixture until light and fluffy; fold in whipped cream. Fold in maraschino cherries and nuts. Turn into a 5-cup ring mold; chill until firm. To garnish, whip additional 1/2 cup heavy cream. Tint green. Garnish top with maraschino cherries and green-colored citron or pineapple to represent "wreath."

Here's a pie version of the eggnog recipe:

Eggnog Holly Pie
(Yield: 1 ten-inch pie)

one envelope unflavored gelatin, 1-2 cup sugar, 1-4 tsp. salt, 1-4 cups milk, 3 eggs, separated, 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg, 1 tablespoon rum flavoring, 1 ten-inch baked pie shell.

Combine gelatin, 1/4 cup of the sugar and salt in top of double boiler. Stir in milk. Place over

Mrs. M. H. Weston Makes Suet Pudding

By JANE KADINGO
Pampa News Women's Editor
Mrs. M. H. Weston, 1418 N. Russell, who says she generally cooks by the "pinch-of-this-and-a-dash-of-that" method, has a wonderful recipe for suet pudding, given to her many years ago by her second-grade teacher. It is especially good for Christmas and keeps well frozen. It is also good the year around for parties.

"We prefer it to fruit cake," Mrs. Weston explained. If served for a party, just the pudding and coffee is enough, she pointed out, as it is very rich.

Mrs. Weston, who was reared on a ranch near Panhandle, has been cooking since she was a child. "I just love it," she explained. "It's really my hobby, I'm cooking all the time."

Her motto is "what pleases the eye tickles the palate." She explained that she spends as much time on meals for her family as she does for company. "I don't just throw something together," she said. "When Mrs. Weston goes out for dinner, she orders something she has never eaten. Then she tastes it carefully to try to figure out what it is made from so she can duplicate it at home."

She also likes to pick up recipes and jots them down on anything she happens to have handy. "I have the oddest-looking collection of recipes," she laughed.

A Pampan since 1935, Mrs. Weston worked in the county agent's office when she first moved here. She was a realtor here for many years and served for two years as secretary-treasurer for the Real Estate Board. Although she used to belong to more clubs, she now confines her "away-from-home" activities to the Altruism Club of which she is a charter member, and to work in the First Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Weston now cooks for her husband and five-year-old grandson. Her daughter and a second grandson now live in Amarillo.

In addition to her cooking, Mrs. Weston collects antique silver, china and glassware. "I can't resist anything old," she laughed. She also does needlework and especially likes Swedish weaving which she can do while watching television. She is an ardent angler who loves to tell of the fishing trip for salmon she, and her husband took with some friends. Mrs. Weston was the only one who didn't come home empty handed.

Here is Mrs. Weston's recipe for suet pudding, which she says is her family's favorite Christmas dessert. She also likes to give it to her friends as a gift. It makes about two puddings.

SUET PUDDING
1 cup suet, chopped

2 cups bread crumbs (dry, but not stale)
1 cup molasses
1 cup raisins
1 cup dates
1 cup nuts (pecans)
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. cinnamon cloves
allspice
1 tsp. soda (baking) dissolved in 1 1/2 cups buttermilk

Mix the above ingredients together and add enough flour to make a stiff batter. (Mrs. Weston says it doesn't take much flour.) Steam four hours.

Mrs. Weston's steaming method is to grease two 1-pound coffee cans which she half-fills with water. These cans she then sets on a rack in her steam cooker. She says you can place the cans in a large saucepan to which a little water has been added if you don't have a steam cooker. To make a rack use the outside rings of fruit jars.

SAUCE
2 cups brown sugar
2 tbsp. flour
2 tbsp. butter
Mix with enough boiling water for good consistency, "not too thin." Add vanilla or rum extract for flavoring. Serve warm with a dab of whipped cream.

Mrs. Weston says to be sure to slice the pudding very thin as it is extremely rich. But it always makes a hit.

PARTY BAKED APPLES WITH SOUR CREAM

1/2 cup dark corn syrup
1/2 cup water
1/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
2 tablespoons sugar
4 tart apples, unpared
1 cup sour cream

Mix the above ingredients together and bake in a 350 degree oven for 45 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Combine syrup, water, cinnamon, lemon rind, butter or margarine and sugar. Bring to boiling temperature over low heat, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Wash and core apples. Pare the top third of each apple. Place apples in shallow baking dish. Pour hot syrup mixture over apples. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 to 40 minutes or until apples are tender, basting frequently with the syrup mixture. Serve hot or cold topped with sour cream. Makes 4 servings.

APPLE CAKE

1 1/2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons double-action baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup sugar
1/2 cup shortening
1 egg, unbeaten
1/2 cup milk
2 1/2 cups sliced apples, pared
1 teaspoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar into mixing bowl. Add shortening, egg and 1/2 cup of the milk. Beat 2 minutes at slow to medium speed with electric mixer or 2 minutes by hand. Scrape down bowl and beater or spoon frequently during mixing. Add remaining milk. Beat 1 minute longer. Turn into a greased floured 9-inch square pan. Place sliced apples in rows on top of batter. Sprinkle with lemon juice, brown sugar and cinnamon. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 35 minutes, or until cake is done. Serve warm. Garnish with whipped cream, if desired. Makes 1 (9-inch) cake.

Disguise Leftovers In Appetizing Ways

Leftovers are not only a tradition around the holidays, but they're frequent occurrences throughout the year. Here are some ideas by Reba Staggs, meat expert, which give leftovers appetizing disguises.

Filled Pancakes — Add chopped cooked meat, celery, green pepper and pimiento to seasoned gravy or medium-thick cream sauce. Place a spoonful of the meat mixture on a pancake. Fold over each pancake and serve with the additional meat mixture.

Easy Casserole — Place a layer of sliced potatoes in a greased baking dish; top with ground cooked meat. Pour a thin cream sauce, seasoned with grated onion and cheese, over all. Cover and bake in a slow oven (300 degrees F.) for 45 minutes.

Quick Barbecue — Brown slices of leftover roast or pot roast in fat. Pour barbecue sauce over meat and bake in a slow oven (300 degrees F.) for 30 minutes.

Pork Salad — Combine 2 cups diced cold roast pork, 1 cup diced celery, 1/2 cup diced apple, 1/4 cup mayonnaise. Chill and serve in lettuce cups.

To create the illusion of proper length for a too-short and upturned nose, use your eyebrow pencil to fill in the inner corners of your brows. Your nose will seem longer if your eyebrows point directly toward it.

The exciting new idea behind the motoramic Chevrolet

The Bel Air 4-Door Sedan—one of 14 new Fisher Body beauties in three new series

Maybe once in a car-buying lifetime, you come across something that breaks all the old patterns and establishes new ones. This is that kind of car. This is the true story of how Chevrolet and General Motors shaped a new idea in steel.

Like most good ideas, this one is pretty simple. But it wasn't an easy one to carry out. For Chevrolet and General Motors set out with the idea of building the first low-priced car that would do all these things:

- bring you the very freshest and finest styling to be had.
- bring you the most advanced engine design and engineering features.
- bring you the kind of performance and the kind of ride that have never been available before in a low-priced car.
- bring you the highest quality of manufacture and materials.

All this in Chevrolet's price field? That did take some doing! And isn't it logical that only Chevrolet and General Motors have the people, the skills, the resources and facilities, to carry out this exciting new concept? Here is how this new Chevrolet changes all your own ideas about cars!

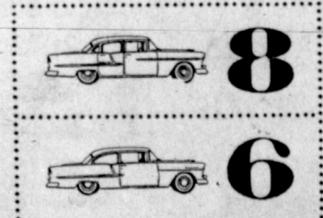

Real Show-Car Styling!
Your eye tells you the Motoramic Chevrolet is no styling "patch-up" job. A rakish, low profile . . . soft swiftness from its sleek rear fenders to its wide-eyed Sweep-Sight windshield . . . a new outlook for motoring. And that outlook doesn't change when you slip inside . . . there's more room for hats and hips . . . exciting fabrics and trim harmonized with the whole car . . . as carefully as a bride matches carpet to curtains.

A Sensational Ride!
You live the new idea instantly . . . you glide . . . actually glide because spherical joints "roll with the punch" of the road in Chevrolet's new Glide-Ride front suspension. And outrigger rear springs mean new balance in turns . . . turns made so effortlessly by new ball-race steering.

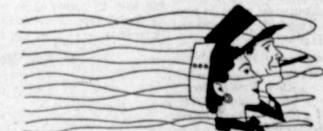

And when you stop suddenly, new Anti-Dive braking control checks that nosing down in front . . . you get more level stopping. Tubeless tires mean much greater protection against blowouts. And with new high-level ventilation there's fresher air.

Power Beyond Compare!
You also feel the new idea quickly . . . quick power like a panther's paw with the new "Turbo-Fire V8" (162 hp.) and two new "Blue-Flame" 6's. And sparking this performance is a 12-volt electrical system giving you better ignition, faster starting, greater electrical reserve for any of the power assists you might desire. You have a transmission choice of economical Overdrive and improved, automatic Powerglide (optional at extra cost) or standard shift.

Even Air Conditioning!
And if you desire the convenience of power assists (optional at extra cost) . . . you'll find new power-steering and improved power brakes on all models. Power-controlled windows and powershift seat are available on the Bel Air and "Two-Ten" models, while air conditioning may be added on V8 models.

Won't You Try It?
Here, we can only tell you how successfully the Motoramic Chevrolet expresses the new idea behind it. But the car itself can quickly show you! Come in for a demonstration drive, won't you, first chance you get.

Professional Baseball Picture In Pampa Takes On New Look

BASEBALL COMMITTEE — Shown above is the group of fellows who were chosen last night to get the ball rolling toward acquiring 250 shares at $100 per share to purchase the Pampa Oilers and keep the club in Pampa. Hal Sayles, president of the West Texas-New Mexico League, extreme right in foreground, sat in on the meeting.

250 Stockholders Sought To Buy Club

The chances stood better than 50-50 today for saving professional baseball in Pampa. Between 50 and 75 Pampa businessmen and fans were on hand for a meeting last night at the Palm Room which was designed to start a campaign toward saving the Pampa Oilers franchise.

Doug Mills, owner and operator of the Oilers the past five years, has announced that he does not intend to operate the club next year. A 12-man committee was named last night to start the ball rolling toward the campaign to save the Oilers.

This committee, which met last night following the regular meeting, is setting out today to acquire 250 stockholders at $100 per share to purchase the club from Mills.

Mills told the group that he would sell out for $25,000 which would include everything, the ball park, baseball equipment, player contracts and the franchise.

If 250 stock holders can be found, the club will be turned into a community project and professional baseball would remain in Pampa.

In the event the goal of 250 stock holders is reached, then an extensive season ticket sale would be launched.

Although no definite price has been set for the season ticket price, it was believed that the price would be set at $20 per season ticket, good for 70 home games.

Dr. Malcolm Brown was named chairman of the committee that was chosen last night to acquire the 250 stock holders. Any business man or fan who would like to see organized baseball stay in Pampa may contact Dr. Brown or any other member of the committee.

Other members of the committee are Coy Palmer, Joe Tooley, Dr. Joe Donaldson, A. A. Schuneman, Art Rankin, Fox Branson, E. V. Ward, A. L. Weathered, W. M. McWright and John Frick.

Hal Sayles, president of the West Texas-New Mexico League, was on hand for the meeting last night.

Sayles pointed out that he would like to see Pampa stay in the league. He also said his sentiments were the same all around the league.

One other club in the league was represented at the meeting last night, Clovis, by its field manager, Grover Seitz.

Seltz, who winters each year in Pampa, expressed his keen desire for Pampa to stay in the league. "I'd like to see you Pampa fans get one more chance to ride the neck out of me," Seitz told the group last night.

Sayles pointed out to the group last night that all but two clubs in the WT-NM are community operated and that he believed the Oilers would succeed under this plan.

All other seven clubs of the league are ready to go, maybe with the exception of Amarillo and Lubbock, Sayles said. But these two clubs were expected to be ready in a week or so.

The league prexy said Wichita Falls was seeking membership in the WT-NM. He indicated that the Oiler franchise would probably be placed in that city if Pampa isn't able to raise the necessary funds to keep the club here.

The proposal to combine Pampa and Borger as one club was hurt somewhat last night when HAROLD LEWIS, ONE OF many fine footballers turned out by Pampa High School in the past, accumulated quite a few yards carrying the ball during his three-year tenure with the Green and Gold.

The 185-pounder toted the mail for a near net total of two miles. He gained better than a mile rushing alone — 2,243 yards on 383 carries which means he averaged 5.8 yards everytime he carried the ball for the Harvesters.

His best season in rushing, of course, was his 1,076 yards gained the past fall on 171 carries. Lewis gained 692 yards his junior year on 99 totes and 475 yards on 113 carries as a sophomore.

His best average per carry of the three years, though, was in his junior year when he averaged seven yards per carry as compared to 6.3 last year and 4.2 as a sophomore.

In addition to his rushing yardage, Lewis accounted for 2 1/2 yards on pass receiving (18 catches); 623 yards on kickoff returns (28 attempts); and 33 yards on punt returns (3 attempts).

Point wise, Lewis put 195 points on the scoreboard for the Green and Golders in the three seasons. He scored 54 points in both his sophomore and junior years and 87 points last year.

Breaking down his scoring, Lewis made 32 touchdowns and kicked three extra points as a Harvester.

Totalling all of the above yardage, Lewis carried the pigskin 3,175 yards for the Harvesters, just 345 yards under two miles. Lewis may well have gotten that 345 yards his junior year except for an injury that sidelined him for the last two games of the season.

When you consider these yardages were accumulated against the very toughest competition in the state, it's a record that would do anyone proud.

Three Harvesters have been named on Patti Powell's "all-opponent Sandie" team for the 1934 season. Putt, in addition, said Dickie Mauldin of the Harvesters was the best sophomore back; Lewis as the best runner; and Culpepper the best defensive end.

Also he said Amarillo's 33-28 win over Pampa was the "game of the year" and that Pampa's 28-14 win over Odessa was the biggest upset of the year.

He added, too, that Abilene was the best coached team.

TCU, SMU Shaping Up As SWC Basketball Favorites

DALLAS, Dec. 9 — UP — A pair of tall, sharp-shooting sophomores who are living up to tremendous buildups make Southern Methodist and Texas Christian joint favorites in what promises to be a down-to-the-wire Southwest Conference basketball race.

The same formula applied to Texas and Baylor make those clubs the logical top contenders with Rice, Arkansas and the Texas Aggies looming as only occasional threats to the better-heeled outfits.

On the basis of early-season play, the best bet to carry the usually-dodile Southwest's banner into national contention was Coach E. O. (Doc) Hayes' talented fast-break artists from SMU.

The Methodists, whose past bids for cage fame have been stymied by lack of height, see into have found the answer in Jim Krebs, a six-foot, eight-inch smoothie from Webster Groves, Mo., and the tallest man ever to wear the Mustang colors.

With Krebs setting a 24-point per game pace, SMU has swept by its first three opponents at a 95.7-point per game clip and heads into an ambitious road trip against Washington University of St. Louis, Purdue, Indiana, Minnesota and Bradley this week end with ample confidence.

Besides Krebs, SMU still has most of the talent which last season set an all-time conference scoring record of 938 points in 12 loop games.

There'll be Art Barnes, a fiery floor leader who averaged 11.9 points a year ago, Ronnie Morris, a dazzling little man who hit at a 11.7-point pace and four other left-termines in addition to some other promising sophomores.

Coach Byron (Buster) Brannon's TCU entry, which fell off last season after winning or sharing three straight championships, has built its hopes around six-foot, seven-inch Dick O'Neal, an eagle-eyed pivot man who will permit Brannon to reinstall the fast break he likes so well.

O'Neal, a hometown Fort Worth first-year man, is doing a shade better than Krebs in three starts with a 24.3-point average, but it wasn't enough to keep TCU from throwing away a halftime lead and losing to always dangerous St. Louis in its first inter-sectional play.

To go with O'Neal, Brannon has eight left-termines headed by Ray (Shag) Warren, a 66 forward who's improved his 15.2 average of last spring to 17.3 so far this season.

Height, But Not Savvy
Jim Olmstead, a galing six-foot, 10-inch-center, gives Texas the edge over the rest of the circuit in height, but Coach Thurman Hull doesn't appear to have the savvy and experience back of the tall boy to match SMU and TCU.

Baylor's soph flash is Jerry Mallett, who is only 6-5 but who comes up to the varsity with an illustrious prep background that may give Baylor the other side of a one-two punch to go with senior Murray Bailey, the top scorer returning among the conference leaders of a season ago.

Rice, which shared the title with Texas last season, lost Gene Schwinger and Don Lance by graduation and then two other regulars were kicked out of school this week to pare the Owls' chances. Arkansas and the Aggies appear lacking in experience.

Harvester Grid Slate Drawn Up For 1935

Nine games have been definitely scheduled for the Pampa Harvester footballers next fall following yesterday's District 1-AAAA meeting at Lubbock.

The Harvester slate will be virtually the same as last year's schedule. The Green and Gold will open against Austin of El Paso at El Paso, Sept. 16.

The Harvesters will meet Paschal Sept. 30 at Fort Worth before opening conferences play the following week against Amarillo at Pampa.

A tenth game will be added to the Harvester slate. It will likely be Vernon, Sept. 23, at Pampa. The Harvester 1-AAAA schedule was drawn up yesterday after the 1-4A heads unanimously voted Pampa and Borger into the district.

Following is the 1935 Harvester football schedule:

- Sept. 16 — Austin of El Paso, there.
- Sept. 23 — Vernon, here (tentative).
- Sept. 30 — Paschal of Fort Worth, there.
- Oct. 7 — Amarillo, here.
- Oct. 14 — San Angelo, there.
- Oct. 21 — Abilene, here.
- Oct. 28 — Midland, here.
- Nov. 4 — Open.
- Nov. 12 — Odessa, here, day.
- Nov. 19 — Lubbock, there, day.
- Nov. 24 — Borger, there, day.

Frogs Vie Against Bradley Tonight; Baylor Hosts 66ers

By UNITED PRESS
Texas Christian moves to Peoria, Ill., for a game with Bradley University and Baylor hosts the independent Phillips 66ers of Bartlesville, Okla., Thursday night in non-title games involving Southwest Conference teams.

Oklahoma City went to pieces in the extra period, and Arkansas won going away. Lyndon Lee and Roger Holloway of OCU led the scoring with 23 points each, while Buddy Smith topped Arkansas with 19.

Arkansas chalked up its first win of the year Wednesday night, tripping Oklahoma City University 81 to 16 in an overtime game at Oklahoma City, but the two other active SWC quintets lost. Tulsa went to College Station to beat Texas A&M, 87 to 45, and the University of Texas took its second defeat from Oklahoma A&M, this time at Stillwater, 77 to 49.

Texas did little right against the Oklahoma Aggies, and the Longhorns scored only two field goals in the second half. A&M forward Mack Carter led the scoring with 24 points, while Texas' Ellis Olmstead, 6-10 center who tallied 18 points last Saturday, was held to only seven.

Tulsa, which beat Baylor Monday night in its only previous start against Southwest Conference opposition, came from behind to hand the winless Texas Aggies their second loss.

The Aggies sputtered to a 13-point lead midway in the first half, but Tulsa pulled to within a point, at 23 to 29, by halftime and took charge in the second half.

Tulsa's forward Bob Patterson paced the scoring with 24 points, while John Fortenberry was tops to A&M with 11.

The conference's only winner of the night, Arkansas, scored four points in the last four seconds to tie up the Razorbacks' game with Oklahoma City. Carol Scorgins hit a long fielder as center Walt Butler was fouled, and when Butler sank both free throws the game went into overtime.

17 5 All-Americans North Squad Named For Senior Bowl

MOBILE, Ala., Dec. 9—UP—Five All-America football players, headed by the fabulous Alan Ameche of Wisconsin, will appear for the North team in the sixth annual Senior Bowl game here on Jan. 8.

The 24-man Yankee squad, shooting for a fourth straight win in this annual scuffle, was announced Thursday by Jimmy Pearce of Nashville, Tenn., vice president and general manager of the Senior Bowl Association.

Coached by canny Paul Brown, veteran mentor of the professional Cleveland Browns, the North squad features three men in the backfield and two up front who made the United Press All-America rolls.

In addition to Ameche, whose fullback feats for the Badgers earned him first team mention and are still reaping him individual honors, the All-America backs are Prime Villanueva, sparkling of UCLA's national championship team, and Bob McNamara, big gun in the Minnesota T-attack, second and third team picks.

The All-America linemen who'll see action against stout Steve Owens' South team are end Dean Duguid, Buckeyes and guard Tom Battis of Purdue, both second team picks. The South team, announced last week, also includes five players accorded All-America recognition by United Press.

All told, 21 schools will have player representatives on the North squad. Both Rose Bowl elevens are represented, as is Nebraska's Orange Bowl squad. Eight members of the powerful Big Ten conference will have men in the tilt.

Ohio State, runner-up to UCLA in U. P. balloting for national honors, will be represented by quarterback Dave Leggett and center Bob Thornton, in addition to Duguid.

Notre Dame Gridder Stars In Irish Cage Victory, 79 - 69

By UNITED PRESS

Jack Stephens, a specialist in the spectacular both on the basketball court and the football field, displayed a near-record performance Thursday as proof that he is Notre Dame's strongest candidate for All-America basketball honors.

The six-foot, two-inch Fighting Irish captain missed his school's fieldhouse record by a single basket Wednesday night as he racked up 33 points in an important 79-69 victory over Northwestern.

Stephens is the lad who dribbled the length of the court in the closing seconds of a game two years ago to hand national champion Indiana one of its losses of the season, 78-70. He's also the lad whose first play in a short football career saw him tackle Purdue's opening kickoff receiver so hard that he fumbled on the eight-yard line and set up an Irish touchdown.

His Own Sparkle

Overshadowed in basketball last year by the brilliant Dick Rosen, another time-up game from Pennsylvania Military 94-39, All-American Tom Gola, used only in the first half, tallied 18 points to lead the scoring as the explorers got set for a big meeting with 10th-ranked Niagara Saturday.

The Oklahoma Aggies, defending Missouri Valley Conference champions rated 11th nationally, whipped Texas, defending co-champion of the Southwest Conference, for the second time in four nights 77-49. The Aggies, the nation's best defensive team in 15 of the last 19 years, allowed the Longhorns only two baskets in the second half. Ellis Olmstead, Texas' six-10 center who scored 15 points in their first meeting, scored seven. Mack Carter of the Aggies took scoring honors with 21 points. Fordham, touted as the top team in the New York area, bounced back from an opening game loss to Niagara to whip Syracuse, 60-56, in another leading game.

Other Games

In other leading games, Buzz Wilkinson, third highest scorer in the nation last year with a 30.1 per game average, tallied 28 for Virginia in a 78-49 win over Navy; Colgate beat Cornell 73-51; Purdue took a 62-50 win over Valparaiso; Pennsylvania romped to an 86-58 win over Swarthmore, Villanova beat Loyola (Md.), 81-67; Richmond missed the century-mark for the first time in four games but beat Washington and Lee 95-78; Brown drubbed Harvard 51-35; Columbia downed Rutgers 85-61; Connecticut crushed weak Yale 83-47; Louisville trounced Mississippi State 113-61; Arkansas won in overtime from Oklahoma City 81-76; Tulsa whipped Texas A&M, 57-45; and Marquette beat St. Norbert's, 83-47.

North Carolina State, ranked seventh nationally and unbeaten in three games, clashes with Penn State in a leading game Thursday night.

The Madison Square Garden season opens Thursday night with Seton Hall-Western Kentucky and St. Joseph's (Pa.) - Manhattan games. Other leading games include: Merrimack - Boston College, Texas Christian - Bradley, Utah State - Washington State, and Hampden Sydney - William & Mary.

Cards Swap Off Jablonski, Staley

NEW YORK, Dec. 9—UP—Cincinnati General Manager Gabe Paul said Thursday he was seeking a pitcher after giving up reliever Frank Smith to the St. Louis Cardinals in exchange for third baseman Ray Jablonski and right-hander Gerry Staley.

The swap was made here Wednesday night with Cincinnati still slated to receive an unidentified minor leaguer from the Cards before the deal is completed.

"We're quite happy with the deal," Paul said, "but I plan to be here for another day and there is a possibility that another trade could be made."

Paul admitted the Redlegs would welcome another pitcher and the best guess was that he was still trying to do business with Brooklyn in an effort to land right-hander Russ Meyer.

Smith, a sidarm sinkerball ace who compiled a 5-5 won-lost record and a 2.67 earned run average, is considered one of the outstanding relief pitchers in the National League. He had an 8-1 record in 1953 and fills a pressing need with the Cardinals, who had little relief pitching to speak of last season.

To land Smith, the Cardinals gave up a fine power hitter but a poor fielder in Jablonski. His .286 batting average included 33 doubles, three triples and 181 hits but his defensive work at third base was far below big league par.

The 34-year-old Staley, a pitching standout during the period from 1951 through 1953, was almost a complete flop with the Cards the past season. He started 30 games, completed only three, had a 7-13 won-lost record and failed even in relief roles when Manager Eddie Stanky tried him in them as a last resort.

Pair Robbed Of $4,500

HOUSTON, Dec. 9.—A man and his wife carrying $4,500 were kidnaped in their own car at gunpoint Wednesday, then robbed and forced to drive a lone hijacker out of town.

The victims of the holdup were Mrs. Dorothy Knotts, 29-year-old liquor store clerk, and her husband, W. B. Knotts, 32.

The hold hijacking was in front of Jackie & Mack's liquor store in southeast Houston. Knotts had just parked the car to bring his wife and the money to work when a man jumped in the car, brandishing a gun.

They said the hijacker was either a white man or a "very light Negro."

The man relieved Mrs. Knotts of $4,500—$3,000 in cash and the rest in checks—and then forced Knotts to drive to the city limits, where he got out.

Knotts said he drove back to the store before reporting the robbery because he feared the hijacker might be following in another car.

TU Co-Ed Is Missing

AUSTIN, Dec. 9.—UP—Police Wednesday were seeking a 17-year-old University of Texas co-ed who has been missing for more than a month.

The disappearance of Jo Alice Rogers of Seagrave, Tex., was revealed yesterday. The gray-eyed, dark brown-haired Texas freshman was last seen Nov. 6 at a local bus station.

Police Lt. Joe Perry said the girl, five-feet, five-inches tall and weighing about 103 pounds, told friends earlier at her rooming house that she was going to Mexico City. However, she later told a friend she had been joking and was really going to Dallas, Perry said.

Authorities were also checking the possibility the girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Rogers of Seagrave, had left school to visit friends in Greenville, N. Y.

Card of Thanks

In God's design of life for us, that He richest has planned, there are so many hidden things we do not understand.

But He would have us know His plan in such a wonderful one. That when we do not understand, To say: "Thy will be done!"

Mrs. Margaret Kinkle

We wish to express our most sincere appreciation to our friends and neighbors whose thoughtfulness in our time of sorrow in the loss of our loved one helped us so much. We are especially grateful to Dr. Frank Kelly for his untiring care of our dear mother.

S. Texas Ballots Impounded

EDINBURG, Tex., Dec. 9—UP—All ballots cast in a bond election Saturday, in which a proposal to pave streets was carried, have been ordered impounded.

The order was issued Tuesday by District Judge S. McWhorter, after two Edinburg men, J. E. Berry and H. Rouw, filed affidavits charging fraud.

Unofficial results of the election showed that a $620,000 paving and drainage bond issue carried by a vote of 548 to 468.

Berry and Rouw charged that "duly qualified property tax-paying residents were denied and deprived of the right to vote," while "persons not so authorized by law were allowed to vote."

Their affidavits declared "said election frauds changed the results of said election and if such frauds had not been perpetrated said bond election would have failed to carry by the required majority."

Both men were opponents of the bond issue, which failed to carry by a narrow margin last August. Most city officials and the chamber of commerce back the proposal, which would provide for paving some dirt streets.

District Attorney Joe R. Alamia said a grand jury would investigate the fraud charges later this month or next month.

KNOW HIM?

Using descriptive data furnished by John Smith, Fort Worth Press staff artist Tal Wilson drew this sketch of a man who rode with Smith and David Fred Hagler, Jr., between Fort Worth and Arlington, Tex., Oct. 9. Fort Worth detectives believe the man may be the unidentified victim in the case of the Charred Corpse, found in a burned station wagon near Davis, Okla.

Most Prolific People Are The Hutterites

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9—UP—"The most prolific people on earth" live right here in North America.

They are the members of the Hutterite religious colonies of the midwestern United States and Canada.

The Population Reference Bureau, a private research organization, reported Wednesday their birth rate in 1941-50 averaged 45.9 babies per 1,000 population. The U. S. average was 24.1.

The Hutterites, members of a Protestant Christian sect who practice communal ownership of property, are multiplying at a rate that exceeds even the phenomenal population increase rates of Brazil and Ceylon.

A Rapid Growth

The original colony of 449 Hutterites who came to South Dakota from Russia between 1874 and 1877 has grown into 98 prosperous farm communities totalling some 8,000 persons, the bureau said. The colonies are scattered through the Dakotas and Montana, and the Canadian provinces of Alberta, Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

The bureau said Hutterite couples usually marry at 19 and marriages are "for keeps." Most families produce nine or more children.

At their present rate of increase, they would double their number in 16 years, and total nearly half a million in 100 years.

Under a program of comprehensive free medical care for all, the Hutterite death rate has dropped to 4.4 per 1,000, compared to 10.2 for the nation.

The difference between the birth and death rate is the "rate of natural increase" which shows how fast a population is multiplying. For the Hutterites, this figure is 41.5 per 1,000. For the whole United States, it is 12.9. In Ceylon, which has the fastest growing population of any of the leaping Asian countries, the annual rate of increase is 26.9 per 1,000.

Many Factors Credited

The Population Reference Bureau said many factors seem to contribute to the high Hutterite fertility.

Social and religious pressures favor large families, and the system of owning property in common assures economic stability for every home, including those in which the fathers are "poor providers" by ordinary standards.

Marriages in the religious colonies are exceptionally stable. There are strong bans against extra-marital sex relations and divorce. Since the first settlement in 1874, there have been recorded only 10 illegitimate births, one divorce, one separation and four "desertions."

The Hutterite sect originated in Switzerland in 1528, and takes its name from its founder, Jacob Hutter, who taught his followers to hold all property in common as did the earliest Christian apostles.

Bank Bandit Clues Slight

ROYSE CITY, Tex., Dec. 9—UP—Police hunted Wednesday for a short, quiet man who robbed the Citizens State Bank of $5,944 at gunpoint.

Bank President Joe Van Cleave, who walked in the bank during the noon-hour robbery Tuesday but didn't notice anything amiss, said he chased the gunman's light-colored car for nearly two miles, but lost it.

It was the second apparently successful robbery in the Dallas area within two days. Another man, who didn't display a weapon, got $3,600 from the Oak Lawn National Bank in Dallas Monday morning.
