PUBLIC HEARING — This is a portion of the people who were on hand this morning in the county courtroom of the Courthouse for the first day of public hearings on local properties by the Gray County Commissioners' Court, acting as the county board of equalization. The hearings will last today, Friday, Monday and Tuesday. (News Photo)

Tax Rate Meeting Crowded

Equalization Board Holds First Local Property Hearing

The first day of public hearings by the Gray County Commissioners' Court, acting as the county board of equalization, opened with an explanation of the county evaluation setup by County Judge J. B. Maguire, Jr., and a critical reply by John Harnly, spokesman for a group of fellow farmers and ranchers.

More than 100 persons were on hand in the county courtroom at 9:10 a. m. today when Judge Maguire called the meeting to order and began a 65-minute discussion of the county commissioners' study of the last 14 months on equalizing values and what the court had decided.

Harnly, having quite a different idea of how evaluation should be done, followed him and presented a six-count resolution on it.

The judge, speaking for the court, said the purpose of the set-up was to be "fair and impartial to all, the court only wants to do what the majority of the people in the county want."

Showing three separate charts, Judge Maguire explained how the appraisal and assessment of property in the county is done, how the $687,300 income in 1953 for the county was collected and how the 59 per cent of the income was put into various funds in 1953.

Of that $687,300, Judge Maguire pointed out, there was 59 per cent from ad valorem taxes, 25 per cent from car registration and the like, 11 per cent from county officers' fees and 5 percent from fines, state allocations and miscellaneous.

The 59 per cent, he continued, was put into such funds as jury, permanent improvements, road and bridge, general and bonded indebtedness. He emphasized that money for certain funds must not be used in any other and that Gray County (See HEARING, Page 2)

Economic Report Shows U.S. Sound

French Chief Gives Views On EDC Army

PARIS, Aug. 12 — UP — French Premier Pierre Mendes-France outlined his views on the stalled European army project to American and British diplomats for the first time Thursday.

Mendes-France called U.S. Ambassador C. Douglas Dillon and British Charge d'Affaires Patrick Reilly to the foreign ministry and discussed the controversial issue with them for 45 minutes.

The French premier also told Dillon and Reilly how he thought the West should answer the call for a four-power conference on European problems.

American and British officials said the talks were "highly interesting" but declined to give details.

Mendes-France went directly from his talk with the two envoys to a cabinet meeting on the army project.

The premier had kept his plans such a closely guarded secret that even the highest ranking American and British officials were unable to speculate until he broke his silence Thursday morning.

Mendes-France personally prepared copies of his plans for cabinet members.

It was believed Mendes-France would make his decision on how the European army program should be ratified within a few days because the issue will be put before the national assembly Aug. 24.

IN NO PLACE BUT CALIFORNIA WOULD THEY DO IT THIS WAY

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12 — UP — A new section of San Francisco's Bayshore freeway will be opened to traffic Thursday but there will be no speeches or ribbon cutting.

"A man on the construction crew will just pull away the barricades and jump for his life," a highway spokesman said.

Ike Claims Business Dip Has Passed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 — UP — President Eisenhower reported Thursday that the recent business decline has been stopped, and the nation is in a "high — or even an improving — state of economic welfare."

The President said the value of the dollar has remained stable, wages have continued to increase, and wholesale and consumer prices have risen only slightly over a year ago.

In a mid-year economic report, Mr. Eisenhower declared confidently that historians of earlier days would have described the period as one of "great prosperity."

Some Economic Dips

He admitted that some industries and cities have been seriously affected by economic dips although the declines have been small on an overall, national basis.

But he said the administration's economic program being legislated by Congress will help to reduce unemployment and spur private enterprise.

Stating that there are "numerous signs of economic improvement" in the nation, Mr. Eisenhower cited these:

A "tendency" toward decreasing unemployment recently; rising retail sales; a high rate of spending by business for capital expansion and improvement; a construction boom; reduction in inventories; and "great strength" in the stock market.

"The level of business and consumer confidence in the economic future is high and improving," Mr. Eisenhower said in a mid-year statement on the economic situation.

Atomic Production Strike Is Averted

OAK RIDGE, Tenn., Aug. 12 — UP — President Eisenhower won a last-minute Taft-Hartley injunction that halted a 500-atomic production workers from going on strike Thursday at plants here and at Paducah, Ky.

U. S. District Judge Robert L. Taylor granted the injunction Wednesday night at Knoxville in a few hours after the President said an atomic plant was one place where the government cannot possibly tolerate a strike.

Officials of the CIO Gas, Coke and Chemicals Union immediately called off the strike that had been set for 7 a. m. est. Thursday.

Justice Department attorneys won the injunction soon after some 3,500 CIO workers here voted to join about 1,000 fellow union members who agreed earlier to strike at the Paducah, Ky., plant.

The injunction allows an 80-day cooling off period in the four-month-old dispute between the CIO union and the Carbide and Chemical Corp., which operates the plants for the government.

Union, company and government officials said they would arrange for a settlement at Knoxville Aug. 18.

Gas Plant Operations To Resume

Partial operations will begin at the Cities Service Gas plant Monday following the estimated $500,000 holocaust which nearly destroyed the plant June 23.

"The plant should be in complete operation by the first of September," according to C. D. Anderson, plant superintendent.

"Our facilities will be much improved over what they were before Methods and equipment are superior to the initial installations made some 25 years ago," Anderson said.

Employing 40 workers, the Cities Service local plant transmits natural gas to markets in Kansas and Missouri.

Destroyed in the explosion fire six weeks ago were a cooling tower, a tank of natural gas, three small buildings and 15 automobiles. It was one of the major disasters ever to hit the Pampa area. The Kingsmill fire of Sept. 14, 1933 destroyed half a block.

Anderson said that through immediate rebuilding efforts starting a few days after the catastrophe, rapid strides have been made in getting the plant back in operation.

FPC Challenged By Oil Firms

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 — UP — Two oil companies have challenged the legality of Federal Power Commission control over service and rates of independent natural gas producers.

The Magnolia Petroleum Co., Dallas, Tex., and the Ohio Oil Co., Findlay, Ohio, filed petitions with the FPC Wednesday asking for public hearings on the new regulations, issued last month in line with a Supreme Court decision.

Business Decline Halted

The "paramount fact" about the national economy in mid-year is that the recent business decline has been halted, he said.

The President noted that the federal reserve index of industrial production has moved in an "extremely narrow range" around 125 per cent of the 1947-49 average since March.

"In view of this narrow range of fluctuation in total industrial production during the past six months," he said, "we may justly

McCarthy 'Letter' Probe Transferred

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 — UP — The Justice Department Thursday took over from the Army the tough problem of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's controversial "FBI letter" on subversion at Fort Monmouth, N. J.

Department officials would say little about future developments after receiving an Army report declaring the Army does not believe the 2-1/4 page letter was given to McCarthy by an Army officer.

McCarthy swore under oath at the Army-McCarthy hearings that he got the classified data from an Army intelligence officer.

McCarthy's possession of the paper touched off a furor on the question of whether a congressman has the right to seek or receive secret documents from the executive branch.

Justice Department officials would say only that they "are studying" the Army report.

But it was considered a distinct possibility the FBI itself would be asked to find out how McCarthy got the document, a bob-tailed version of a still secret 1951 FBI report to the Army and Air Force about subversive activities at the Fort Monmouth installation.

The FBI would not comment. The letter figured prominently in the recent 36-day hearings on McCarthy's feud with Army officials.

'Texas Towers' To Protect U. S. Shores

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 — UP — The Air Force plans to bolster America's guard against atomic attack with a series of ocean warning stations about 100 miles off the East Coast.

The stations, called "Texas Towers" because they resemble oil derricks, will be linked with the shore-based warning network used in the overall defense of the United States. They will also report weather conditions.

The Air Force raised the secrecy curtain on the radar-equipped stations Wednesday.

The name "Texas Towers" first was used in closed hearings last June before a House committee considering the 1955 supplemental appropriations bill. The Air Force asked for $25 million as a starter for the towers. It got $8 million.

An Air Force spokesman explained "Texas Towers" were so named because they resemble oil rigs which have been constructed in the continental shelf in the Gulf of Mexico, off the coasts of Texas and Louisiana.

He said the stations will be constructed in shoals along the East Coast, presumably from Maine to the tip of Florida.

Each station will include housing facilities for the radar warning and weather reporting equipment and sufficient shelter for a crew of more than 30. The crews will be stationed at the sites for 30 days or less. Space will be provided for helicopter landings. There will be docking facilities for the re-supply of each station.

The Air Force said they will be located above the ocean floor where the water is shallow enough to permit construction.

Each station will cost more than $1 million for basic construction without specialized equipment, the Air Force said. Cost of the equipment still is classified.

Texan Buzzes London Bridge To Impress Girl Back Home

LONDON, Aug. 12 — UP — A lanky Texan, who Wednesday started London by flying a small rented airplane between the towers of London's historic tower bridge and under the crowded span of London Bridge, said Thursday he did it all for love.

But he sadly confessed that his derring-do failed to impress his home-town girlfriend.

The "mystery man" in the 10-gallon hat who pulled the spectacular stunt stepped forward Thursday and identified himself as Gene Thompson, from Lubbock, Tex.

Gene, 35, and admittedly pretty much in love, told his story from aboard the liner S. S. Atlantic to LeHavre, France, where he was safe from pursuing British bobbies.

"I did it to impress a girl I was in love with," Gene said.

"Trouble is, it didn't prove a thing," the six-foot, three-inch Korean Air Force veteran said wryly.

The stunt cost him 10 bucks rental of the plane and a hurried departure from England's shores.

"I figured it was a wise step to get out on the high seas in view of the dim view police took of the whole thing," he said.

It was just at lunch hour Wednesday, when thousands of Londoners were pouring out of offices and shops, when Gene came buzzing along the Thames with the brim of his 10-gallon hat flapping in the propwash of the little red and silver Auster plane.

Thompson piloted the bucking plane through the 120-foot opening between the roadway and over-

Methodist Rites For Ex-Solon

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 — UP — Funeral services for former Rep. Vito Marcantonio will be performed Thursday by a Methodist minister who volunteered when the Catholic church banned a requiem mass for the leftist politician.

Friends said the Rev. Dr. Nicola North, pastor of Jefferson Park Methodist church, would conduct the service at the Ralph Giordano funeral parlors in the polyglot district which Marcantonio represented in Congress for 14 years.

Notar was a close friend of Marcantonio. Other friends of the fiery politician, including Dr. W. E. B. DuBois, an educator, and Luigi Albarelli, will participate in the funeral services.

Marcantonio fell dead of a heart attack Monday.

Korea Given Captured Land

SEOUL, Aug. 12 — UP — The United Nations command announced Thursday it was handing over 2,000 square miles of captured North Korean territory to the Republic of Korea.

It was seen as a major concession to Korean President Syngman Rhee, who has been clamoring for unification of the entire peninsula, by force if necessary.

Transfer of the property, which has been governed by UN military authorities, was not expected to affect future negotiations for settlement of the Korean question.

UN commander Gen. John E. Hull noted in a letter to Rhee that he is prepared to turn over to ROK authorities the Allied bulge north of the 38th Parallel, on a ground won by UN forces in the Korean war.

Suspects Extradited

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 12 — UP — Two men charged with holding up an Erick, Okla., bank last month were returned to Oklahoma City Wednesday from California.

They were James Darrell Holland, 25, of Erick, and James Spangler, 22, Tulsa. A third suspect, Bobby Joe Rine, surrendered earlier this week at Borger, Tex.

Details of Holland and Spangler's return was kept secret until they arrived in Oklahoma City, for "security reasons," according to federal officers.

Holland was captured at Modesto, Calif., and Spangler at Los Gatos, Calif., both on Aug. 3.

Col. 'Thrill Burglar' In Trouble With AF

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 — UP — Col. Robert Orr was carrying secret government documents when he was arrested for the "thrill" burglary at Las Vegas, Nev., hotel, the Air Force announced Wednesday night.

It said a military investigation disclosed "serious breaches of Air Force security regulations" because the decorated Korean war veteran was not authorized to possess the documents.

Orr, who participated in 101st Airborne division combat operations in

Houston Lake Leak Stopped

HOUSTON, Aug. 12 — UP — A repair crew on a barge battled the San Jacinto River Thursday to close a jammed flap gate through which the city's drinking water from Lake Houston was rushing into the river.

The leak, through which an estimated 40 million gallons of water an hour was being lost, was plugged temporarily early Thursday with stop logs—steel beams—lowered from a derrick on the barge.

Engineers from Brown & Root Construction Co., meanwhile, were studying how best to set the huge flap gate—18 feet wide by five feet deep—back into a socket from which it was sprung late Tuesday.

City Utilities Director Frank Baldwin estimated the damaged gate would be back in operation within 24 hours.

Baldwin said the loss of water was not as heavy as expected because the flow through the defective gate was about the same as that entering the reservoir.

Polio Increase In U.S. Reported

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 — UP — The Public Health Service said Thursday that 1,812 new cases of polio were reported in the nation last week, an increase over the 1,498 reported in the preceding week.

The nation's polio total this year stands at 10,797 cases, compared with 11,710 for the corresponding period of last year. Since early April, when the polio "disease year" started, there have been 9,245 cases, compared with 10,130 for the corresponding period last year.

Importance Of Knowing Why We Eat What We Do Is Stressed By Doctor

Find out why people eat what they do, and you have a key to helping them select a balanced diet. Balancing the diet is being reemphasized as a result of recent research sponsored by The Nutrition Foundation, Inc. Dr. C. A. Elvehjem and his group at the University of Wisconsin find that lack of good protein is quickly reflected in the body by a reduction in enzymes, the catalytic agents essential for health, body building processes, and for bringing about changes in foods which give us energy.

"I believe these new facts give strong educational support to recommendations that each meal should furnish a balance of many if not all nutrients," says Dr. Charles King, Scientific Director of The Foundation. "I do not mean to imply that one should be an extremist." Dr. King continued, "but a regular intake of protective foods should guide the preparation of each meal."

This brief definition of the balanced diet can guide the nutritionist in helping people reach the goal of good health through good food. But she also needs to know why people eat what they do. Of course, there are certain traditions and customs that dictate what is eaten among special groups but, in getting people to enjoy the right foods, nutritionists must first of all understand the reasons individuals select the foods they do.

Like the man who eats steak and potatoes for breakfast because he thinks they have more "staying power." Encouraged to test the effect of fruit-cereal-and-milk or fruit-bacon-and-egg breakfasts, he should find that recent tests have shown that either of these well-chosen breakfasts will help him to work better, to be sharper and more alert, and to avoid getting tired, especially during the late morning hours. The person who skips breakfast or has a skimpy breakfast of coffee and rolls can benefit from these tests, too.

Knowing the why of their food choices can help in improving the eating habits of children. If a child won't eat cereal and milk for breakfast because he likes an egg and toast, then why not take the cereals out of their breakfast niche? Serve crisp cereal flakes and milk later for dessert. Top with sweetened fruit or a scoop of fruited ice cream to make a desert children will really go for. And they love cereal cookies served with milk for between meal snacks, too.

Then there is the person who likes milk except for drinking. This is easy for most nutritionists as there are so many attractive ways to feature milk in any meal... there are cereals cooked in milk and hundreds of delicious soups, entrees, and desserts to be made with milk as the basic ingredient.

A Balanced Diet is A Guide to Easy-To-Plan Attractive Meals:

1. PROTEINS: Milk and milk products, meat, poultry, eggs, and fish. Serve meat, poultry, or fish at least once daily. Serve eggs three to five times each week. Try to serve milk or milk products in varied forms and often.

2. WHOLE GRAIN AND ENRICHED BREADS AND CEREALS: Serve whole grain and enriched bread or cereal with each meal.

3. FRUITS AND VEGETABLES: (a) Serve 2 or 3 fruits each day. Be sure one serving is a citrus fruit, tomatoes, strawberries, or melon. (b) Serve 2 or 3 vegetables each day. Be sure one is a green leafy or yellow vegetable. Serve potatoes once daily and at least one other vegetable. (c) Dried beans or other legumes may be served as a meat substitute or other good quality proteins are part of the same meal.

4. FATS: Serve butter or margarine with each meal.

5. NOTE: (a) One key to a balanced diet is variety. Eat a variety of foods at each meal. (b) Sugars, starchy foods, and tasty salad dressings have a legitimate place in the dietary, but don't overdo them. . . . for calories must be balanced, too, to keep weight within the range ideal for height and body build.

RUTH MILLET

Is it selfish for parents to use their vacation time to "get away from the children?"

A wife writes: "Every year when my husband gets his two weeks' vacation, we hire a woman to stay with the children and take a trip by ourselves.

"That was fine when the children were all small, but now that two of the four are in school they feel left out when we start making vacation plans.

"At the end of the first day of school last year our little girl came home in tears because when the teacher asked the children to tell about their vacations she was the only child in the room who hadn't gone out of town with her parents.

"I would like to take the children with us this year but my husband says he would rather stay home than travel with children. Is there any answer that would be fair to everyone?"

SPLIT YOUR VACATION

How about splitting your vacation into two parts, taking the children somewhere not over a day's drive the first week, and leaving them at home the second week while you and your husband go somewhere?

If your husband isn't agreeable to that arrangement, why don't you take the children on a week's vacation either before or after you and your husband vacation together?

It really isn't right never to take children on a vacation for almost as much as adults they need to get away from home and see new sights and have new experiences.

Even more than that they need to see their parents in a vacation mood — free of everyday cares, relaxed and ready to play.

There's one other important factor to consider. It isn't good for children to get the idea that the only way their parents can enjoy themselves is by getting away from their children.

Pillow Comfort Has Improved In Fifty Years

At the turn of the century, the favored few, a commentary of the times reported, were able to boast of downy pillows, but the masses rested their weary heads on uncomfortable, home made feather pillows. They were made by hand and handed down from generation to generation.

In those days feathers did not receive the careful processing used by manufacturers today. Good quality feathers actually make excellent pillows.

The best feather pillow available is comprised of a combination of waterfowl feathers and down. The waterfowl feathers, with their naturally curved shafts, provide resiliency and buoyancy while the down provides softness. To relax neck muscles, it is necessary that the pillow shift with the sleeper's head movements and provide firm, even support all night long.

Latex and dacron pillows, recent innovations, would also prove a pleasant surprise to the critical commentator. Light, springy, and washable, they, too, help to provide sleeping luxury for the masses.

Garden Togs Protect You

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

The woman who likes gardening can and should be able to spend a whole afternoon weeding and still appear attractive in the evening.

It's all a matter of arranging her gardening accessories so that the topsoil on the petunias will be kept out of her hair, hands and skin.

The first thing to do is to scrape your fingernails across a bar of soap in advance of this earthy job. This will prevent earth from caking underneath the nails. Afterwards, the soap and soil can be washed down the drain together.

If you don't own a pair of gardening gloves as yet, you're doing your hands and nails a great deal of damage. Especially since most of these gloves come in such gay colors, some with the well-known green-thumb for a bright note. If you do wear gloves, however, wash them after every wearing to give your hands top protection.

You should wear a big straw hat to protect hair and eyes from both sun and soil. To keep your gardening hat clean, brush a damp, soapy sponge over it, both inside and out.

Melon Feast Fetes Fellowship Class

A watermelon feast was held in the city park recently by the Fellowship Class of the First Christian Church.

Hostesses were Mrs. Dow King, Mrs. Gladys Smart and Mrs. John Brandon.

From the park the class went to the home of Mrs. Mitchell Hill, 820 E. Browning, where movies taken on the Hills' vacation trip this summer were shown.

Members present at the feast were Miss Pearl Spaug and Mmes. Frank Hogsett, Mitchell Hill, Willard Chapman, Lyda Giehrst, Laura Bell Cornelius, Gladice Harvey, Dave Kerns, Bob Roberts, Irma Hayes, and Homer Kessinger.

Stuffed Tomatoes Are Appealing Dish

What can be more appealing in color or taste than a big red tomato surrounded by crisp lettuce and stuffed with cold meat?

Tomatoes coming to market this season are especially good for stuffing, says the Agricultural Marketing Service, because they are medium sized, firm and generally free of blemishes.

The new trend in stuffing tomatoes is to leave as much of the meat intact as possible rather than scooping it out and leaving the tomato a mere shell.

This can be done by removing the stem and the hard core of flesh beneath it. Then place the tomato on its stem end, and slice in quarters or eighths, but not all the way through. Leave something to hold the pieces together at the base.

As you can see, the tomato opens up like a flower and you can place your stuffing in the center.

Here's a stuffing suggested by the Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics. To stuff six medium-sized chilled tomatoes, combine—

- 1 cup diced, cooked meat or poultry;
- 1 cup diced, cooked potatoes;
- 1 teaspoon chopped parsley;
- 1 tablespoon minced onion;
- 2 tablespoons green pepper;
- 1 teaspoon salt;
- 1 little pepper;
- 2 tablespoons mayonnaise or cooked salad dressing.

MMM YUM YUM — one can almost hear Mary, four-year-old daughter of Mrs. Ray Heaton, say as she keeps Momma's mixing under her watchful eyes. Mrs. Heaton is finishing up her special dish, an ice box cake.

This Is My Dish

Ice Box Cake Makes Cool Summer Dessert

By MARLENE KOLB
Pampa News Staff Writer

A summertime dessert that is cool to fix, takes about 15 minutes actual preparation, and is a lovely-to-look-at finished product is the ice box cake which is the special dish of Mrs. Ray Heaton, 209 N. Nelson.

Mrs. Heaton first began using the recipe about seven years ago as her specialty refreshment at company parties.

"There were 15 families," says Mrs. Heaton, "and when it came my time to be hostess — she whipped up this treat."

"It's ideal for parties," she said, "because you don't have to worry about it when you're in the mad rush of other party preparations." The cake must be basically fixed the afternoon before the party, for it must set in the refrigerator overnight.

Then right before serving time, Mrs. Heaton tops the basic mixture with whipped cream, crushed pecans and crushed vanilla wafers. It tastes best served with coffee, according to Mrs. Heaton.

For Mrs. Heaton's creation you'll need:

- 2 eggs well beaten
- 1 cup crushed pineapple (well drained)
- 1 cup chopped pecans
- 1/4 cup butter

1 cup sugar

After the ingredients are assembled, melt butter and cream with sugar. Combine with eggs, pineapple and pecans. Mix and pour over vanilla wafers. Let "set" in the refrigerator overnight. Serve topped with the whipped cream mixture described above.

This dessert or party dish will serve 12, says Mrs. Heaton.

"There is one thing in particular to be careful of when preparing this ice box cake," warns Mrs. Heaton. Be sure that the pineapple is well drained or the cake will turn out more like pudding. "It will still taste the same," says Mrs. Heaton, "but for the way it's supposed to look, and especially for a party, the pineapple must be well drained in order for the cake to cut out right."

A chocolate pudding mixture may be substituted for the pineapple filling if your family likes chocolate, suggested Mrs. Heaton, but her family prefers the pineapple.

Mrs. Heaton cooks for her husband and two children, Dwain, 7 and Mary, 4. She has been cooking since she was 15, and "of course" she learned from her mother.

Pampa residents for four years, Mr. and Mrs. Heaton moved here from Rockdale.

Taffy Touch Adds To Summer Desserts

Cousin to caramel and butterscotch flavors is taffy. A taffy syrup, as it were, comes ready to use for summer ice cream and milk desserts right from the pantry shelf, from your jar of unsulphured molasses. This taffy touch provides amber tones and sweetness to desserts, and boasts its own distinctive aromatic spirit.

Unsulphured molasses is a natural sweetener, being the concentrated and clarified juice of crushed sugar cane. No preservatives have been added.

The purity and mellowness of this molasses lift it to the table-syrup status. Eye- and taste-appealing are the summer ice cream treats, when this pantry staple is part of the dessert array.

A serving of ice cream, a bit of unsulphured molasses poured right from the jar, and there's your taffy sundae!

The taffy accent goes equally well with vanilla, chocolate, coffee, or nut ice creams. For more elaborate appearance and flavor, garnish the sundae with coconut or almonds.

Taffy floats combine molasses, ice cream, and milk in delightful, new, and wonderful goodness. A Taffy Frosted calls for the same ingredients blended by a rotary beater. Or, — try a Taffy Sparkler with molasses, ice cream, and sparkling water.

Since unsulphured molasses wins consideration as an energy food and one of the richest sources of iron, you have a nutritional recommendation in addition to the appetizing taste and looks of taffy summer refreshment.

TAFFY SUNDAE

Four unsulphured molasses from the jar over a serving of vanilla, chocolate, or coffee ice cream. Serve plain, with chopped or whole nuts, or with shredded coconut.

TAFFY ICE CREAM SPARKLER

- 1/2 cup unsulphured molasses
- 3 cups milk
- 4 scoops (1 pint) pre-packaged vanilla, chocolate, or coffee ice cream

Sparkling water

Put molasses in pitcher; blend in milk. Add ice cream; stir vigorously. Fill to top with sparkling water. YIELD: 4 servings.

TAFFY ICE CREAM-FLOAT

Follow recipe for Taffy Ice Cream Sparkler, using all milk and omitting the sparkling water.

YIELD: 4 servings.

TAFFY ICE CREAM FROSTED

Use ingredients for Taffy Ice Cream Float. Beat in ice cream with rotary beater or electric mixer. YIELD: 4 servings.

Homemade Taffy Ice Cream is a simple one-bowl operation, — and then the refrigerator does the freezing job. Molasses, used instead of sugar in this quick ice cream, gives a light amber color and taffy flavor touch.

TAFFY ICE CREAM

- 2 eggs, beaten
- 1/2 cup unsulphured molasses
- 2 cups light cream
- 1-16 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1-2 cup chopped nuts (optional)

Set temperature control of refrigerator to coldest point. Mix all the ingredients thoroughly. Pour into refrigerator tray. Place in freezing compartment; leave until partially frozen. Transfer mixture to bowl; beat until smooth. Add nuts, if desired. Return to refrigerator tray. Freeze until firm (3 to 4 hours). YIELD: 6 servings.

A bony neck can be improved by simple exercises. Lie on your back with a pillow under your shoulder, and your arms folded over your chest. Now, raise your head, but not the shoulders, and lower it slowly.

If your skin is oily, don't use a powder base. Apply the powder directly to the skin. Avoid rich, highly seasoned foods and eat certain green vegetables are included in your daily diet.

On rainy days, when you want to speed your indoor drying, place an oscillating fan on a table a few feet from your wash. Let it blow constantly. This will shorten the drying time of your clothes by hours.

Leftover Beef? Prepare Tasty Hot Beef Puff

When your refrigerator reveals cooked roast beef left from dinner here's the serving — Beef Puff. According to Reba Staggs, home economist, cooked beef is ground and mixed with mayonnaise and seasonings, then spread on bread to make sandwiches. The sandwiches are refrigerated in an egg-milk mixture before baking in a moderate oven for a flavorful serving.

Beef Puff

- 2 cups ground cooked beef
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2/3 teaspoon pepper
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
- 1/2 cup mayonnaise
- 8 slices bread
- Butter or margarine, softened
- 3 eggs, slightly beaten
- 2 cups milk
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon sage

Combine meat, salt, pepper, parsley and mayonnaise. Spread 4 slices bread with butter or margarine, cover with meat mixture and top with slices of bread. Place sandwiches in greased shallow casserole dish. Combine eggs, milk, salt and sage and mix well. Pour over sandwiches and let stand in refrigerator at least an hour before baking. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 45 minutes or until brown and puffed. 4 servings.

Birmingham Cook Recommends Keeping Stretchable Staples

Editor's note — this is another of a series on American cooking, home-style, featuring interviews with good cooks from Maine to California.

By BOB TALLAFERRO
BIRMINGHAM — UP — Mrs. David Roberts, III, one of Birmingham's best-known cooks, says it pays to make friends with your butcher.

"He can save you time and money by knowing what and how much meat you want," she said. "If you make friends with him he will take pride in cutting and trimming your meat and telling you about the specials."

Mrs. Roberts, English by birth, Yankee by adoption, and Southerner by marriage, said that cooking for family and friends is a pleasure, not a chore, "if you go about it correctly."

Cecil, as she is known to her friends, feeds her healthy family on $20 a week but "I stay away from those high priced butchers."

Keeps Staples On Hand

Mrs. Roberts, a brunette of 38, formerly was a fashion consultant in New York. She and her husband, a coal company executive, have two sons — Robin 6, and David, 10.

Mrs. Roberts recommended keeping small amounts of what she calls "stretchable staples," in the refrigerator.

She usually has on hand yeast, cold dough, pie pastry, pound cake, various cheeses, garlic butter, hard-boiled eggs, french dressing, cold boiled chicken and fresh fruit.

"From these, it is quick and easy to serve an elegant and unusual lunch or dinner," Mrs. Roberts explained. "I can serve homemade rolls, chef salad, strips of chicken and cheese, hard-boiled eggs and all the vegetable tidbits in the ice box."

For a quick and unusual dessert, Mrs. Roberts suggests chilled fruit with cointreau.

Her Favorite Recipe

The Roberts specialty is beef nabobs — a variation of the Turkish dish, shish kabob. She says she can serve 8 persons for about $4.

The recipe: 1 sirloin steak (about 3 lbs.); 1 medium-sized egg plant; 8 large tomatoes; 1 lb. can small boiled new potatoes; 2 large Bermuda onions; 2 large green peppers; 1 can large whole mushrooms; 1 small jar, large stuffed olives (optional).

Cut steak in cubes of about 1 1/2 inches after first removing excess fat. Peel eggplant and cut in slices 1/2 inch thick, then cut slices in four quarters. Cut tomatoes into quarters, separating large flakes. Cut green peppers into squares about 1 1/2 inches. Thread long skewers with alternate pieces of meat, eggplant, tomato, mushroom, olive, and pepper. Place skewers in a shallow pan, add a little oil, and broil over a hot fire for 10 minutes. Add more water if a thinner mixture is desired.

This recipe makes 8 servings.

Skillet Dish Is Pretty And Good

Your main dish will be a hearty one if it's Corn and Pimiento Skillet — yes, skillet; and you mix, cook and serve "this" easy main dish from your skillet! But it's the crisp pieces of bacon which come with every bit, that cause every forkful to be mighty, mighty good. So get out your skillet, fry the bacon, and the family will be sitting down to a one dish meal in no time at all.

INGREDIENTS:

- 10 strips bacon
- 1 cup uncooked white rice
- 1 lb. can (2 cups) yellow cream style corn
- 1/4 cup diced green pepper
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 2 1/2 cups water
- 1/2 cup (1, 4 oz. jar) chopped whole canned pimientos

METHOD: Fry the bacon in a skillet. Remove the bacon from the skillet and drain off all but about 1 tablespoon of the fat. Add the rice, corn, green pepper, salt, pepper and water. Bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat down. Cover and cook for 14 minutes. Stir occasionally. Break the bacon into 1-inch long pieces and add to the corn and rice. Stir in the pimientos. Cover and cook over a low heat for 10 minutes. Add more water if a thinner mixture is desired.

This recipe makes 8 servings.

Mexican Foods Inspired This Dish— Easily Prepared Chili Stuffed Onions

Flavorfully prepared foods graced the dinner table in Old Mexico hundreds of years before the discovery of the New World, and the ancient Aztec cooks have passed down many delightful recipes.

In their continuing search for a variety of easily prepared meals that are somewhat different, the American homemaker has begun to turn to foods with a Mexican background. The subtle tasty blending of seasonings and common meats and vegetables that can only be found in recipes with a Mexican background is one of the main reasons behind this new interest.

One of the most popular recipes is for Chili Stuffed Onions. This dish is exceptionally easy to prepare and keeps cooking and dishwashing time down to a minimum.

CHILI STUFFED ONIONS

- 2 cans chili con carne with beans
- 1/4 cup diced green peppers
- 6 large onions peeled
- 2 eggs
- 1/2 teaspoon white pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon black pepper
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1/4 cup raw onion silvers

Saute the diced green peppers until soft, add to the chili mixture and set to simmer. Boil six onions until barely tender. Scoop out centers (this can best be done by placing the onion in a muffin tin or a cup while scooping). Beat the eggs slightly, blend in the salt, black pepper and flour. Dip the onions into the egg mixture and fry in deep fat, 375 degrees F., until they are golden brown. Ladle chili mixture into the fried onions, and sprinkle with raw onion silvers and white pepper.

Serve these chili stuffed onions hot, on a plate garnished with either sweet or hot pepper slices.

If your family likes their chili more spicy than usual, add to the chili mixture 2 teaspoons chili powder, 1 teaspoon hot sauce and a pinch of cayenne pepper.

These chili stuffed onions will fit perfectly into spring menu-planning, and can be served as a main dish meal or on the side. Try them soon and watch the smiles of appreciation when that first bite is tasted.

JOHNSON IN HOLLYWOOD

By ERIKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD. — (NEA) — Exclusively Yours: Marilyn Monroe's sultry all in a sizzling "This Is My Life" series in a London newspaper. The confessions, as told to Ben Hecht, reportedly were stopped by Fox studio attorneys after Chapter No. 2, but the 12th article in the series was just published.

Hecht says the articles were sold to the London paper "without my knowledge or consent" and that he has since turned over all rights to Marilyn—now it's up to her whether the series will be sold in the U. S. and then published in book form as we planned.

Marilyn's last comment on the subject: "No comment."

Irene Hervey will resume her career now that she and Alan Jones are divorcing... S. Z. Cuddeles Sakall, fully recovered from a serious illness, is busy reading movie and TV scripts... Roy Rogers and Dale Evans tried to adopt 13-year-old Marion Fleming, the Scotch orphan now visiting them. But the adoption laws of Scotland and a ruling that a child can't be separated from brothers and sisters prompted them to drop the idea.

MAGGIE McNAMARA, the dish of "The Moon Is Blue," is still ailing in New York. At least two scripts at Fox are being held for her recovery... Los Angeles, now married to an Army captain, is okay in Washington, D. C., after a stark date cancellation.

French newspapers missed an exclusive when Bella ("Hell and High Water") Darvi quietly picked up her divorce from millionaire Alban Calvalade on her recent trip to Paris.

Bella's more serious about still-tendered-from-Peggy Lee Brad Dexter than movietowners guess. Pills of Bob Strauss (he won an Oscar nomination for "Stalag 17") are breathing easier. Doctors have informed him that his heart attack wasn't organic and that he can continue his movie career without danger if he'll stop working.

It may floor Guy Mitchell, her almost-ex, but there's a recording deal brewing for Jackie Laughey, a non-songsstress up till now.

Jack Webb, who has a public relations representative, is combing the woods for a press agent.

GAIL RUSSELL'S reported to be ready for another sanitarium sojourn... Harry Richman's returning to the night-club spotlight, with new songs by Jay Livingston and Ray Evans. There's also talk of a big Richman film biography.

Glora Grahame will do her own warbling as Ado Annie in "Oklahoma!" and Director Fred Zinnemann's meaning: "She sings delightfully off-key."

Alan Ladd's looking wounded about the rumor that he became Mr. Moneybags by making three successive flickers in Europe.

Back on a Hollywood sound stage at Warner Bros. for his first independent film, he did everything but show me his bank book as he explained:

Working in Europe was the same as working here financially. I made no more than I would earn here. The reason I made three pictures abroad was to do my bit toward better Anglo-American relations. Whether I did or not, I don't know. It also gave my children a chance to see Europe. I couldn't afford to give them that kind of trip without working."

If Debra Paget gets the green light from Fox, she'll star at the El Rancho Vegas in galloping dice-town.

The act — the whole hoeddy-hoeddy dance scissored to just a flash by censors in "Princess of the Nile."

ARMY, MARINE and Air Force men are howling at a "Susan Sleep" scene. Alvy Moore turns decidedly to Debbie Reynolds and Dick Powell, who have sent his romantic dreams glimmering, and says:

"I'm too old for college, too young for charity. Guess that leaves the Navy."

Dennis Morgan's Scottish brogue makes him a leading contender to star in "A Man Called Peter" at Fox. It's the story of Peter Marshall, famed Washington chaplain.

Note to Marilyn Monroe: When Miss West goes to the Sahara Hotel in Las Vegas she'll flip: "Why marry a ballplayer when you can have the whole team?"

Self-Styled Med Student Held In $190,000 Robbery

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Aug. 12 —UP—A self-styled medical student who staged the biggest one-man bank robbery on record was held under $200,000 bail Wednesday and authorities began a search for the money he stole.

The FBI identified him as George Patrick McKinney, 27, charged with taking $190,319.55 from a bank at Floral Park, N. Y., a New York city suburb a year ago. He was bagged on a tip from an unidentified woman who recognized him from "man wanted" photographs in a post office.

Special Agent Edward J. Powers in charge of the FBI district office at Miami said McKinney was seized early Tuesday at the pathology department of the Duval county medical center, where he had just taken a job.

McKinney apparently came here and began living under the alias Wade Patrick Johnson shortly after robbing the First National Bank and Trust Co. of the swank New York suburb on Aug. 18, 1953.

He had bought an automobile agency here and afterward sold it, he said, in order to go back into medicine. He told officers he had finished three years of medical studies at McGill University in Montreal and planned to return there.

LA Polio Near Epidemic

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 12 —UP—The City Health Department called the current outbreak of infantile paralysis in Los Angeles "an epidemic."

Seventy-five new cases have been reported in less than 10 days.

Dr. H. C. Pulley, executive officer of the City Health Department, said the outbreak was "the worst in Los Angeles at this time of the year since 1948."

Pulley said that in 1948 the city recorded 1,314 cases and 53 deaths for the entire year. Thus far in 1954, he said, there have been 300 cases recorded, with three deaths among those under observation.

The disease was Maria Farrow, nine-year-old daughter of film star Maureen O'Sullivan and movie director John Farrow.

Ike's Borrowed Chair Will Save Taxpayers About $300

DENVER, Aug. 12 —UP— President Eisenhower will sit on a borrowed chair while working in his 12-by-14 foot office at the summer White House this year and thereby save taxpayers $300.

It would cost that much to buy the bright green, high-backed chair that has been placed behind Mr. Eisenhower's regulation, gray metal desk at Lowry Air Force Base here. So Lowry officials borrowed it from a local furniture store.

When the President goes back to Washington this fall, the chair must go back to the store.

Mr. Eisenhower's cubby-hole office doesn't even boast a private wash room, although his private secretary's office does.

Lowry has done its best, however. Every inch of available space in the Lowry administration building has been set aside, as it was last year, for Mr. Eisenhower and his staff.

The Air Force bought enough light green, salt and pepper carpeting to cover the floor of the President's so-called suite. Three yellow leather chairs, a lamp, an end table and the President's desk were scrounged from various offices on the field.

Six black and white pictures of scenic Colorado spots and one color shot of Denver, all taken by Lowry's photographic department, decorate the walls. Dark green curtains, selected by Mrs. John T. Sprague, wife of the commanding general of Lowry, drape the windows.

When the President leaves, Lowry will convert his office and an adjacent room into a suite for VIPs.

Mr. Eisenhower is expected to begin his summer vacation late next week, if Congress has adjourned by then.

Strict security regulations will go into effect at Lowry the minute the President lands. Ninety-two air policemen, working eight-hour shifts, will maintain a perpetual guard at the administration building.

Ten Secret Service agents, the vanguard of a 35-man Secret Service White House detail, arrived in Denver last week to prepare for Mr. Eisenhower's arrival.

Drawer Killer To Be Charged

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 12 —UP—A grand jury considered a first degree murder indictment Wednesday against Victor Lively, who confessed strangling a girl and cramming her body in a hotel dresser drawer.

Twenty witnesses appeared before the grand jury Tuesday, but only 16 were asked to testify. A report on the jury's findings is expected Thursday.

Prosecutor Frank Fairchild said he would press for the death penalty if the 25-year-old former Beaumont, Tex., resident is indicted for first degree murder.

He is accused of killing 18-year-old Dorothy Poore of Clinton, who came here seeking work, because she resisted his advances.

PORTLAND, Me. — UP—Cindy Lee, two-year-old chimpanzee owned by a schoolteacher, Mrs. Alta Wescott, has a weakness for shampoos and home permanents. The pet "sits patiently through the proceedings and rushes to a mirror when the curlers are removed," she said.

Farm Worker Gains Made

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 12 —UP—Working conditions and treatment of Mexican farm laborers have been improving steadily in Texas in recent months, the National Tourist Association said Thursday.

Director Ricardo Estrada Berg reported that "braceros" are now enjoying "better health and school services as well as living conditions."

"Discrimination is also at its lowest level ever," he said.

Estrada Berg said all these developments "should be attributed to the Good Neighbor Commission which has been fighting to obtain them for the last 10 years with the collaboration of American newspapermen."

He added that migrant laborers are also getting "better" salaries presently, "and the overall prospects are that this situation will keep on improving steadily."

'Hot' Loot Returned By Thief

JACKSBORO, Tex., Aug. 12—UP—A piece of radio-active oil field equipment valued at $10,000 which disappeared Tuesday was returned Wednesday to its owners, Sheriff Truett Waldrop said.
The instrument, developed by the government to help "map" geological formations in oil fields, had been left Tuesday near a truck owned by the Perforating Guns Atlas Corp.
Waldrop said the man who took it thought it was a piece of junk and did not know it was dangerous radio-active. He said a company representative told him the firm would prefer no charges since the instrument was returned undamaged.
The device is a cylinder, about three inches in diameter and 18 inches long. It was contained in an unlocked lead box.
The sheriff said the man who returned it was an oil field worker who learned the device was both valuable and radio active. He said the man was not harmed during the approximately 24 hours he had the instrument in his possession.

Suspected Reds Can't Hire Lawyer

DENVER, Aug. 12 UP—Arthur Bary, 42, described by FBI director J. Edgar Hoover as a top underground Communist, complained Wednesday he and five fellow Reds charged with advocating the destruction of the government are victims of newspaper hysteria.

He told Federal Judge Jean Breitenstein the Communists arrested in Colorado last week are finding it "extremely difficult to obtain counsel" because newspapers were creating hysteria—presumably among local attorneys.

Judge Breitenstein postponed their arraignment on charges of plotting the overthrow of the government by force and violence for one week, to give them a chance to obtain counsel.

Hoover said after Bary's arrest that the chunky, balding New Yorker was one of the "most important" underground Communists in the Western states. Bary's wife, Anna, 29, Harold Zepelin, 28, Lewis Martin Johnson, 34, James Scherrer, 34, and Maia Scherrer, 34, appeared with him before Breitenstein.

Mrs. Patricia Blau, the seventh Communist caught in the FBI's latest roundup under the Smith Act on charges of conspiracy to overthrow the government, was enroute from Los Angeles to Denver for trial with the six arrested in Colorado.

Mrs. Bary told Judge Breitenstein that the $40,000 bond under which she, Bary, Zepelin and Johnson are being held, and the $20,000 bond set for Mr. and Mrs. Scherrer was "out of this world."

"We're just working people," Mrs. Bary said.

The FBI said Bary was carrying almost $1,900 in cash when arrested.

A federal grand jury indicted all seven Monday on charges that at various times and places in Colorado during the past three years they met to plot the overthrow of the government as quickly as could be, and drew plans to go underground, if necessary, to carry out the conspiracy.

The government plans to bring them to trial within two to three months.

SW Public Service Hikes Safety Record

Southwestern Public Service Company employees have now worked two-million consecutive man-hours without a lost-time accident, the longest continuous accident-free period in the company's history, and one of the top safety records among the nation's electric light and power companies.

Only seven other electric companies in the country have achieved the two-million mark for the entire company, the records of the Edison Electric Institute reveal. The EEI award for recognition of million man-hour or more safety accomplishments was inaugurated in 1943, and to be the eighth out of nearly 300 member companies to reach the two million accident-free man-hours goal is a significant safety achievement for Southwestern Public Service Company.

Immigration

Many people who otherwise believe in freedom draw the line at free immigration. Many people who fight for relaxing restrictions in economics demand further restrictions in the field of immigration. The generic freedom lovers known as libertarians are divided on this subject.

Some of them favor repeal of the McCarran Immigration Act; others asked for a stricter act.

The National Economic Council, consistent in advocating freedom in most areas, supports the principles of exclusion and restriction in the McCarran Act. We are admirers of the National Economic Council, and will continue to reprint their excellent articles, though we take issue with them on this subject of immigration.

We believe in a liberal immigration policy.

Many of our arguments concerning immigration come from other fighters for freedom.

Leonard Reed, President of the Foundation for Economic Education, believes that immigration laws should be as liberal as they were in the 19th Century when America became a great nation.

Frank Chodorov, editor of The Freeman, whose own people were immigrants, believes that we should cut out spending huge sums on foreign propaganda, such as the Voice of America, and rely instead on the letters written back home by immigrants who love this country. That was what caused so many Europeans to fall in love with America. Their relatives wrote glowing accounts of life here, and the whole family wanted to come.

Bill Johnson, editor of Faith and Freedom, believes that it is not consistent with Christian principles for us immigrants (all of us are immigrants or descendants of immigrants, excepting only those of us who are Indians) to beat other immigrants back from the border, preventing them from seeking the prosperity which we other immigrants have achieved.

Isabel Paterson, author of The God of the Machine, described how the political power which claimed to be humanitarian, treated the immigrants:

"It's first requirement was that each immigrant should bring with him a certain sum of money. That is to say, it cut off the most needy abroad from their sole hope. Later, when the political power in Europe had reduced life to a gloomy hell, but a large number of persons might still have scraped together the requisite sum for admittance to America, the political power here simply cut down admission to a quota. The more desperate the need, the less chance could the political power allow them. Would not many millions in Europe be glad and grateful if they could have even the poorest chance which the old (American) system afforded, instead of convict camps, torture cellars, vile humiliations, and violent death?"

"... Risking nothing himself (the political official) gets his pay for thrusting desperate people back from the borders, as drowning men might be beaten back from the sides of a well-provisioned ship."

The ship (capitalism) was built and stored by immigrants and descendants of immigrants.

Wives Can't Object To It, So Del Mar Is Best Race Track

I am writing this in the Del Mar race track press box, and it is the best race track I have ever visited.

This statement carries weight, because I am a man who has been to a lot of race tracks, including all the well-known ones, and quite a few in such far-flung places as Alexandria, Peiping, Budapest, and Cape Town.

Del Mar is not the biggest race track I have ever been to. Nor is it the most lavish; nor does it have the best horses; nor does it have the most tradition, atmosphere, or history.

I rate it No. 1 because it is the best track for a husband, and I am a husband.

Wives are not enthusiastic about their husbands going to races. It is even money that Eve scowled when Adam took the money out of the vase on the mantelpiece and said he was off for an afternoon with the ponies.

Wives do not rate a track very high as a recreation center. A wife would rather have her husband break his back bowling, or his neck aching, than spend an afternoon quietly leaning against the rail at a track.

Del Mar is so situated that a wife can't complain when her breadwinner says he is going there. On the right of the track, no farther away than the length of a vacuum cleaner cord, is the Pacific Ocean. Overhead, always, is a sun that shines as if it worked for the Chamber of Commerce. The air is crisp, fresh, and bubbly.

Now, even a wife knows that the Pacific Ocean is healthy. Just to be near it, as vacationists have proved, restores vigor, tones muscles, brightens eyes and puts spring in the step.

From the sun comes Vitamin D for free. If a husband doesn't go to Del Mar — or so he can say to his wife — he will have to buy Vitamin D in a bottle at so much a vitamin, plus being exposed to buying a sandwich at the counter. Health and thrift march hand in hand at Del Mar.

For a wife to tell her husband he must not go to Del Mar brands her as a wife who does not have her husband's health and best interests at heart, or as a wife who has fallen in love with a screen idol and hopes her husband will waste away.

So, a husband leaving for the Del Mar track leaves with a parting glimpse of his wife smiling, and words: "I am so glad you are taking care of yourself. At last you have realized that nothing is so important as feeling good. I am grateful that there is such a health resort as Del Mar handy."

I try to fool Mary as completely as possible. I always take along a pair of bathing trunks, and on the way back I stop in front of a house, soak them in a bird bath, and then shake a little salt on them.

Naturally, I never go near the ocean. This is a form of protection for her, being as I am not a strong swimmer, and currents run swift and deep in the Pacific. I don't risk too much sun, either. I do not want to come home with a sunstroke or staggering around from heat prostration. So I stay in the shade of the grandstand, and take my "bath" at the parietal windows. It is very restful to the nerves to hear the soft swish and swoosh of the machines as one plays $2 on the nose of that most beautiful of all animals, the horse.

When the horse with your $2 on his back runs down the stretch, your blood races — races much faster than if you had stayed at home and took setting-up exercises.

Yes, Del Mar is healthy all around. I am looking forward to a fortnight here. Can you picture how healthy I'll be when I walk home from here? No shirt to turn away from the rays of the sun, the muscles in my hands renewed from thumping, and my mind sharpened by thinking up excuses to tell Mary,

Professor of History Contends There Are No Natural Rights

I want to continue to comment on an article from "The Quarterly Review" written by Dr. Preston Slosson, a Professor of History at the University of Michigan, under the heading of "Freedom, and What It Means" and "We Hold These Truths to be Self-Evident..." which he denies.

Of course, no professor in any state college could actually believe that there are any natural, inalienable rights. Nor could we expect any professor in or any believer in state compulsory schools to be able to properly define liberty or freedom. If they really defined liberty or freedom and inalienable rights for each and every individual, they would be embarrassed because state schools are based on a denial of the rights of some people for the material benefit of others. They would be uncomfortable if they properly defined liberty as being the absence of aggression, or the right to be let alone, or that man is owner of himself and all he produces, or that an individual has the right to manage his own life and no one else's. They dare not define freedom and liberty in this manner. In fact, most of the textbooks in public schools and colleges teach that the youth of the land must give up some of their liberty to the state — even if the sole purpose of any just state should be to protect the liberty of every citizen.

Dr. Slosson writes: "It must be admitted that no right is quite absolute. Almost every law limits someone's freedom in one way or another, but the impracticability of a lawless anarchy is admitted by nearly everyone."

If it does that it is a bad law and violates justice and is void. You will note from the above that Dr. Slosson realizes that the government is interfering with freedom. But what has that got to do with the inalienable rights of individuals? Because we have a government by short-sighted men that does the exact opposite from what it should do—protect the freedom and liberty of every individual—has nothing to do with the inalienable rights of individuals.

Dr. Slosson contends there are no such things as freedom and liberty. If he was trying to contend that we never had perfect freedom or liberty, that would be right; but he is arguing that there are no such things as liberty and freedom. He writes:

"What about the conscientious objector to vaccination, or schooling, or draft registration, or the census?"

A man has a perfect right to refuse to be vaccinated if he does not encroach on other people's property. But of course, Dr. Slosson being an agent of the state and a roll where he does not have to teach well enough that people will voluntarily pay him, has to try to defend compulsory vaccinations and schooling.

Now listen to this from a man who is supposed to be an educator:

Believes Laissez Faire Is Wage Slavery
"We have long since found out that 'free enterprise,' in the sense of complete laissez faire, meant 'wage slavery' for millions."

I know of no one who will answer questions without evasion who so believes. Of course, men who believe there are no inalienable rights do not believe in free enterprise, or a laissez-faire economy. And a laissez-faire economy does not give the government the right to interfere with men freely exchanging goods and services. It only gives them the right to penalize fraud and aggression. To the degree that we have had a laissez-faire economy, to that degree do we have material blessings and freedom. Laissez-faire is nothing but the right to manage one's own life and recognizing the equal right of everyone else to manage his own life.

Nor does Dr. Slosson define "wage slavery." It is an emotional hate phrase. Would Dr. Slosson have the government establish wages, or the labor unions establish wages? How can wages be true wages when all people are not permitted to help establish them? Of course, Dr. Slosson being an agent of the state and on the state payroll would like to have the state have something to say as to what wages should be paid.

Dr. Slosson uses the old, old argument about regulating state roads. He asks:

"Is a man more or less free, when he is compelled to drive on the right side of the road and stop at crossings, or required to send his son to school, or made to pay social insurance to a central fund?"

Certainly, he is less free when he is made to pay social insurance and send his son to school. Then he is robbed by the state. But he is not less free when he is compelled to drive on the right side of the road or to stop at crossings when he is on the road that the state owns. But the state does not own men or boys. It has no right to force a man to send his child to school. To do so is to make the boy a ward of the state rather than a ward of his parents. To do so is to deny freedom and liberty.

Dr. Slosson seems to think that because we have never had absolute, abstract, unqualified freedom that there is no such thing as freedom or natural rights. He says it is like the mathematician's

National Whirligig Tourists Better Advertisers For America Than U.S.I.S.

By RAY TUCKER

ROME — American businessmen, industrialists and relatively low-salaried European tourists — clerks — are doing a better job of advertising the United States in Europe than the U. S. Information Service or Harry Truman's Point Four Agency.

That observation, however, is not meant as a wholesale indictment of the Government's propaganda activities, although they have been extremely inept in many respects. Let me cite a personal experience.

While in Rome, I strolled up the Via Beneta, which is the Italian capital's Fifth Avenue. The USIS building on the American Embassy have a handsome and, probably, an expensive building on that thoroughfare. There may be no cause to criticize the swank location, for a good advertising spot is necessary, whether one is promoting opinion of a country or selling high-class merchandise.

On the outside of the USIS building, enclosed in glass cases, there is a series of beautifully colored pictures on scenes from American life. The over-all caption is "Vision of America." After traveling through Egypt, Greece, Italy and Spain, the United States is not a "vision." It is a Utopian reality.

But the picture which USIS displays would make no friends for the United States. The most stupid photograph reproduces the Massachusetts Governor's home at Boston and describes it as a "palazzo," which means "palace" in Italian. Imagine the late Calvin Coolidge being told he was residing in a "palazzo" in Boston!

Another USIS print depicts the George Washington Bridge, which connects Manhattan and New Jersey. A third portrays an idyllic scene of the farms and village of East Corinth, Vermont. Finally, there is a shot of how irrigation has made Southern California a one-time desert a garden of fruits and vegetables for, as the USIS caption reads, "the Urban Population."

These Government pictures excite foreign envy and jealousy rather than admiration, especially as our immigration laws limit sharply any emigration from Europe and elsewhere to the U.S.A. Thus, the pictures offer a will-o'-the-wisp diagram.

In contrast, the vast array of American goods on the European market present a lesson in hard work, efficiency and productivity, which is Europe's greatest need. The streets at night are bright with neon signs advertising the products of Western practicality.

straight line or perfect circle and he does deny that there is such a thing as absolute, abstract and unqualified freedom? If there are no such things as inalienable rights and we get what freedom we have from government then there are no natural laws—then man can do as he pleases and need not suffer the consequences — then means mean nothing — then we can get what we want if we have enough power. It is certainly too bad that the youth of the land have to come in contact with men who are regarded as educators by the state who deny there are inalienable rights. But that part of the state that violates the inalienable rights of the individual can teach nothing else but that the state is supreme and above freedom and the inalienable rights of individuals and God's law.

They outsell European stuff in almost every line — automobiles, toothpaste, soft drinks, candy, medicines, tractors, etc.

But nowhere does USIS, so far as I have learned, present a panorama of America at work in preference to the Massachusetts "palazzo."

Another phenomenon which impresses Europeans is the number of ordinary Americans who are able to afford these expensive toys. Numerous people over here wonder how they can do it, since Europeans in the same economic category cannot dream of visiting the U.S., or even a nearby vacation spot. They don't have the money. Here again, the answer is higher pay, hard work and thrift — other lessons which Europe could learn to advantage.

There are many hard-working and conscientious people in these propaganda agencies. But there seems to be a lack of common sense and an understanding of human nature somewhere, presumably in the top levels at Washington.

They are glamorizing the United States, exciting envy and distrust, instead of publicizing the basic qualities and virtues which have made us the world's richest and most powerful nation.

Congressional demands for abolishing these agencies or reducing their appropriations have sometimes seemed shortsighted. However, their work seems to have won us few friends abroad. And unless they adopt a more sensible and practical advertising approach, they could be abolished without any great loss.

PAUSE FOR REFLECTION

with JAMES C. INGEBRETSEN President, Spiritual Mobilization

The Mayor of Long Beach, California, boasts that the MISS UNIVERSE CONTEST (paid for by the taxpayers of the City—how about that?) got more press and magazine lineage than anything like it except the Olympic Games!

The contest assuredly got a lot of attention in the papers I read. Even the loss of another twenty-million victims sucked behind the Iron Curtain in the Indo-China debacle couldn't prevent the contest from getting up a full-head of publicity steam.

But, of course, when two or three beauty contestants faint because of the heat, that's real news. Or is it? But then newspapers do the best they can to please their customers.

Senator Knowland has suggested a day of prayer "on both sides of the Iron Curtain" to pray for the wife of Capt. Nikolai Khokolov. It was Mrs. Khokolov who urged her husband to flee to the West rather than commit an assassination for the Soviet Union. She remained behind and no one knows her fate.

The Senator's thought is a good one. She might be saved by arousing the public opinion of the world. And some method should be found for encouraging the consciences of all the good people who are leading lives of moral suppression in godless Russia.

Fair Enough New Yorkers Interfere With Elections In Other States

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—Both Max Ascoli, of New York, a refugee from Mussolini's wrath, and Arthur J. Goldsmith, of the Waldorf Tower, have interfered in the politics of other states in an effort to elect senators and congressmen amenable to their will.

Ascoli's will may be devined from editorials in a magazine which he publishes called "The Reporter." He wrote that a "peace with appeasement" might demand "recognition of Red China when we are no longer at war with that country."

Goldsmith is less specific, but he tried to eliminate Sen. Pat McCarran, of Nevada, after McCarran had fought through for the exclusion and deportation of Communists. Goldsmith collects slush-funds to finance such intrusions into the domestic politics of unsuspecting states. One Franklin, a candidate against McCarran, in 1950, was invited and came to New York to confer with Goldsmith and others of his cult at the center in the Waldorf Tower.

About that time, Alfred Kohlberg, an aggressive anti-Communist associated with Rabbi Ben Shulz in such activities, was invited to a meeting arranged by one of Goldsmith's "committees." There, he found himself face to face with Telford Taylor, a lawyer who was made an Army brigadier by the Roosevelt-Truman machine to take part in the "war crimes" prosecutions in Germany. In those "trials" the Russians both prosecuted and sat in judgment on their own partners in "crime," for the primary crime was the rape of Poland in which Russia took an enthusiastic part. Later, Taylor has been attorney in court for Harry Bridges, opposing his deportation as a Communist.

Some months ago, Taylor was invited to address the corps of cadets at West Point and turned the occasion into an attack on Sen. McCarran. The administration of the academy had refused to place responsibility for this exploit of partisan politics. When Kohlberg and Taylor were introduced, Taylor turned quickly away. Kohlberg says that was all right with him and he adds that an explicit, written demand on Goldsmith for a list of contributors to his "committee" and the amounts, was ignored.

Ascoli and his wife both were discovered in a list of contributors to one of Goldsmith's "committees." Mrs. Ascoli, a daughter of the multi-millionaire Julius Rosenwald, of Sears-Roebuck, contributed under her name as of a previous marriage.

Goldsmith sent at least two contributions to the late Sen. Tobey, of Vermont, and Ascoli at present is blanketing New Hampshire with reprints of an article in his "Reporter" which attacks Sen. Styles Bridges, a pro-American Republican of forthright mien. Delmont T. Dunbar, the editor of the Bangor Daily News, reports that two years ago Ascoli's magazine "sent a hundred thousand or so tear sheets into Maine" in an effort to eliminate Ralph O. Brewster, also a pro-American Republican. These propaganda jobs cost a great deal of money.

Admittedly the stealth of these political activities makes it impossible to draw firm political lines and to separate one force and its "iam" from each of the other forces and its objectives. For example, Goldsmith seems not to have taken a firm stand against McCarran. He is on record as a Republican according to his own lights. On the other hand, in 1942, he was interviewed by a government investigating agency about Francis Adams Hanson, of the violent revolutionary Communist group led by Jay Lovestone who now enjoys the favor of Dave Dubinsky and President Eisenhower. Goldsmith said Hanson undoubtedly was loyal to the U.S.A. Lovestone has ignored the question whether he ever recanted his exhortations to bloody revolution and a system of Soviets in the United States. Goldsmith also said Hanson made "investigations" for "various committees" with which he, Goldsmith, was associated, regarding "isolationist" senators and representatives.

To go a significant step further, Hanson was the Washington representative of "Market Analysis, Inc.," run by one Sanford Griffith, a mysterious but persevering character who was turned up in highly interesting activities by the old Dies Committee. Many telegrams were obtained by the Dies Committee reflecting covert political activities directed from secret headquarters in New York. Numerous checks for a large aggregate amount were obtained and photographed revealing an organized campaign against Standard Oil of New Jersey which would have helped business rivals of SONJ by smearing Standard as a friend of the Hitler government. Griffith and Hanson were involved in this activity.

As I have said, all is very complex and confusing but one reason, and perhaps the principal one, why it never clears up is that congressional committees have shied away from the subject ever since Dies was put out of business for exposing Communists and opposing the Roosevelt reign. Griffin is active in the Overseas Press Club and only recently was invited to lecture at Colgate University.

Altogether, there seems to be a common purpose and a joint effort. The purpose is to swing elections by the use of money raised in the east by pouncing on situations in states of small population where a few thousand votes will beat an uncompromising nationalist or patriot and seat a stooge subject to the desires of Goldsmith, Ascoli and their contributors. The issue, in the opinion of the pro-American nationalists, is the preservation of the United States as a sovereign nation under the Constitution.

The disclosure that Brentano's, the mighty book-selling chain, was backing Ascoli's magazine with a subscription campaign seems indicative. The second officer of Brentano's, Leonard Schwartz, records in Who's Who that he studied at the New School of Social Research. Ascoli was a member of the faculty of this layout. Hans Eisler, a Red who got into this country through the personal intercession of Eleanor Roosevelt, was subsidized over a long period on the pretext that he was teaching music at this school. Hans and his brother, Gerhard, both have fled back to the workers' paradise.

It's Your Country

INTERNATIONAL POTPAGE
SAME THEME: During the past 22 years the internationalist leaders of both our major political parties have collaborated on the theme that the United States is dependent upon Europe and Asia for its survival. We have been propagandized repeatedly to the effect that we "can't go it alone," yet we not only are going it alone but are carrying various socialistic governments on our backs. We have been wrongfully told that we are dependent upon foreign countries for certain strategic materials, and that in order to be certain of getting them we must "contain" communism all over the world.

Every technique, every trick in the bag, has been used to bring Americans around to the internationalist point of view, with the result that we have already poured billions of dollars and hundreds of thousands of men into every corner of Europe and Asia where they will accept one of our so-called "set ups."

The fallacy of this internationalist policy was set forth clearly and capably by Brig. Gen. Bonner Fellers, U. S. A. retired, in his Flag Day speech in Philadelphia on June 14, 1954. (Full text Congressional Record, June 22; also Newsletter No. 36, American Flag Committee, 876 Granite St., Philadelphia 24, Pa.)

INTERVENTION POLICY
"This policy was decided," says Gen. Fellers, "despite the fact that all the strategic materials we require can be found in the Western Hemisphere, which we know we can defend." Nevertheless, the "strategic materials" myth has become widespread in this country, affecting the Congress to such an extent that it has handed over vast sums of American taxpayers' money for the development of resources in foreign countries. "And strangely, the most favored nation was Russia." The originator of this scheme, says Gen. Fellers, "was none other than the late Harry Dexter White, one-time No. 2 in the Treasury Department and longtime FBI-reported Communist spy."

Next came the stationing of our military forces all over the world in order to guard the strategic materials from the communists. If we occurred in any of these areas, we must enter it to safeguard our own "security," lest some of these precious materials fall to the enemy.

"This policy — that we must intervene in every war — has never been repudiated," says Gen. Fellers. "The global allocation of our forces — Americans in uniform are serving in 63 countries or foreign areas — has given rise to critical issues. Since the framers of our Constitution did not shape it to provide for our present global undertakings, the Constitution itself is being circumvented, even superseded by treaties."

DOODY TRAP: This collectivist internationalist-interventionist policy which was initiated by the late President Roosevelt and continued with vigor by both of his successors has caught us in that booby trap known as the United Nations, with all of its multifarious treaties and present and future dangers. It has led us into one costly war, which it prevented us from winning, and holds over our heads the threat of other wars — anywhere at any moment. It has weakened and all but destroyed our Constitution and has denied our servicemen the rights of American citizens.

TALLY-HO!—One of Ireland's most popular sports is hunting, and scenes like this will soon be typical throughout the Emerald Isle. American visitors are welcomed as guest members of Ireland's 85 hunt clubs, which include 52 foxhound packs and 40 harrier packs. Here, lady and gentleman riders are shown at the start of a day's hunt.

JUMPING WITH JOY—Wally Ulrich of Rochester, Minn., dances a jig on the 18th green at Kansas City, Mo., after winning the sixth annual Kansas City Open Tournament with a 24-under-par 268. His total was one stroke better than the Kansas City record set by Ed "Porky" Oliver last year. Lloyd Mangrum finished second and Gene Littler, third, in the $20,000 event. It was Ulrich's first major win.

SOARING MUSCLEMEN—Just to show that the zippy sport of water-skiing isn't for weaklings, these two muscle men flex one set of biceps in mid-air while hanging on to the lead line with the other. The men are enjoying their aquatic calisthenics at Cypress Gardens, Fla.

Landrith seems to have Grissom blocked but he neglects to catch the ball as it sails past his cap. The game, played at New York, was won by the Giants, 7-0.

YANKS UPSET AT NEWPORT

U.S. Netters Face More Tough Tests

NEWPORT, R.I., Aug. 12—UP—Larsen plays English champion Roger Becker and Herb Flam tackles Australia's Rex Hartwig in top third round matches Thursday at the Newport tennis tournament as U.S. players try to stem the upsets that ousted Vic Seixas and three other seeded Yanks in the second round.

Larsen, former national champion from San Leandro, Calif., defeated Don Dell of Bethesda, Md., 2, 6-4, and Flam ousted Australia's Doug Reid, 6-4, 6-4, Wednesday. Larsen and Flam now appear to be America's main hopes to stem the foreign power that produced an all-Australian semi-final in the Eastern Grass Court championships last week.

Jack Frost, the 19-year-old Californian who upset Seixas, the top-seeded American from Philadelphia, 2-6, 6-3, 6-4, meets Louis Ayala of Chile. Frost is ranked 21st in the country while Seixas, the 1963 Wimbledon champion, is ranked second behind Tony Trabert of Cincinnati.

In the other third round features, Straight Clark of Pasadena, Calif., plays Ashley Cooper of Australia; G.H. Shea of Los Angeles

Baumans Sets 2 Longhorn Marks

CARLSBAD, N.M., Aug. 12—UP—Joe Bauman, veteran first baseman for the Roswell Rockets, broke two records in the Class C Longhorn League Tuesday night, one of them his own.

Bauman, a left-handed batter, hit his 54th home run of the season to break his own record of 53 set last season and batted in his 181st run to break the previous record of 180 set by Tom Jordan of Roswell in 1950.

Despite his slugging, Bauman is still a long way from the minor league records in both departments.

Bond Elected Co-Captain

DALLAS, Aug. 12—UP—The calm serenity which has marked the four Texas High School Coaches Association all-star football and basketball camps was at an end Thursday.

Coach Eddie Hickey of the South basketball team curtailed practice in a huff Wednesday over the general poor play of his players. Coach Jess Neely of the South football squad ordered a rough scrimmage for his players Thursday and Coach Duddy Moore of Duquesne shook up his plan of attack to include the single post as well as double post.

Hickey seemed disgusted with the wildness and erratic passing and his usual calm disposition gave way to bitter disappointment. Earlier in the day he had praised the way his South youngsters had taken to the three-lane fast break he employs at St. Louis.

In the rival basketball camp, Moore foreshadowed his double post of Temple Tucker of Bowling Green and Jimmie Bond of Pampa to institute a single post using both of these talented cagers and Jim Bronstad of Fort Worth Paschal. He added the new wrinkle in an effort to come up with another line of attack in case Hickey develops a defense for the Tucker-Bond double post.

Both squads elected captains for their Friday night game in Dal-Hi Stadium—Tinker Wilson of Galena Park and King Hill of Freeport for the South and Tucker and Bond for the North.

Bill Clements of Huntsville seemed to be winning the starting quarterback role for Neely's South football team with his smoother ball handling and passing, while Cleo Cooper of Yoakum has at least temporarily replaced Jimmy Phipps of Waco at fullback.

Will Wyman, Austin McCallum guard, began to make himself felt on offense, while the best defensive showings to date have been by Larry Cowart of San Antonio Brackenridge at end and John Groom of Corpus Christi Miller at tackle.

Bobby Dodd, the North coach, also injected some new faces into what looks like his starting lineup for the Saturday night game in the Cotton Bowl. Richard Crider of Paducah moved into a tackle spot, Harry Taylor Jr. of Fort Worth Poly at quarterback and Bobby Kyzar of Melvin at left halfback.

'World' Journey Begins

CHICAGO, Aug. 12—UP—Tom O'Shanter's $150,000 "World" golf tournament starts Thursday with virtually every notable pro in golf on the trail for the top prize of $50,000 cash.

Among the tourney lights present were Sam Snead, Lloyd Mangrum, Cary Middlecoff, and all the other American plus such foreign standouts as British Open champion Peter Thomson, Australia, and Roberto de Vicenzo from Argentina.

Even among the women pros, there was a full field headed by Babe Didrickson Zaharias aiming for the $5,000 first prize out of the $12,000 jackpot.

The leading pros warmed up Tuesday and Wednesday with the Americans gaining a 6-1-2 to 5-3-3 victory over the leading eight foreign entrants in a two-day International Cup match which ended with two American wins, three foreign victories and three even matches in singles competition Wednesday.

Most notable scores in the singles firing were a 68 by Gene Littler, Palm Springs, Calif., for 18 holes, four under par, and Thomson's four under par tally for 16 holes, while Flory Van Donck, Belgium, had a 69 for 18 holes and Antonio Cerda, Argentina, was three under par for 16.

Among Thursday's field there were five former "World" winners: defending champion Lew Worsham, Henry Ranson, Johnny Palmer, Mangrum and Snead, and the consensus was the winner probably would have to better the 278, 10 under par, which brought Worsham home for $25,000 last year.

There was little likelihood that the hole course record of 269, shot by Byron Nelson in winning the "All American" in 1945 would be equaled. That mark was 19 under par for the distance.

However, there were other top Americans in the field who could challenge the better-known names for the title. Among these were National Open champion Ed Furgol, PGA titleholder Chick Fargot, Walter Burkemo, the 1953 PGA winner, and Chandler Harper, the "World" runner-up last year.

Star Coaches Split On New Rules

DALLAS, Aug. 12—UP—Basketball's new rule which permits a fouled player to take a second shot if he makes his first one, drew praise from one of the nation's top coaches Wednesday and criticism from another.

Eddie Hickey of St. Louis favored the rule as a "better step in the right direction" of attempting to curb excessive fouling and as an incentive for players to improve their foul shooting.

But Dudley Moore of Duquesne, two-time United Press "coach of the year" for his 1952 and 1954 seasons, said he believed the substitution for the controversial "one-and-one" foul rule with some trepidation.

Hickey and Moore are in Dallas as instructors for the Texas High School Coaches Association convention. Moore, in an interview with sportswriters, said "the new rule will put too much of a premium on foul shooting."

"The games too often are decided now on foul shooting and I believe the new rule will increase this trend," he said. "I'm afraid the team behind will be under pressure and continue to foul more, while the team in front will be looser and be more inclined to make a larger percentage of their shots—thus widening the scoring spread."

As a possible solution, Moore said he favored making an offensive foul a "violation" instead of a personal foul, the penalty being of the ball out of bounds instead of free shots for the offended player.

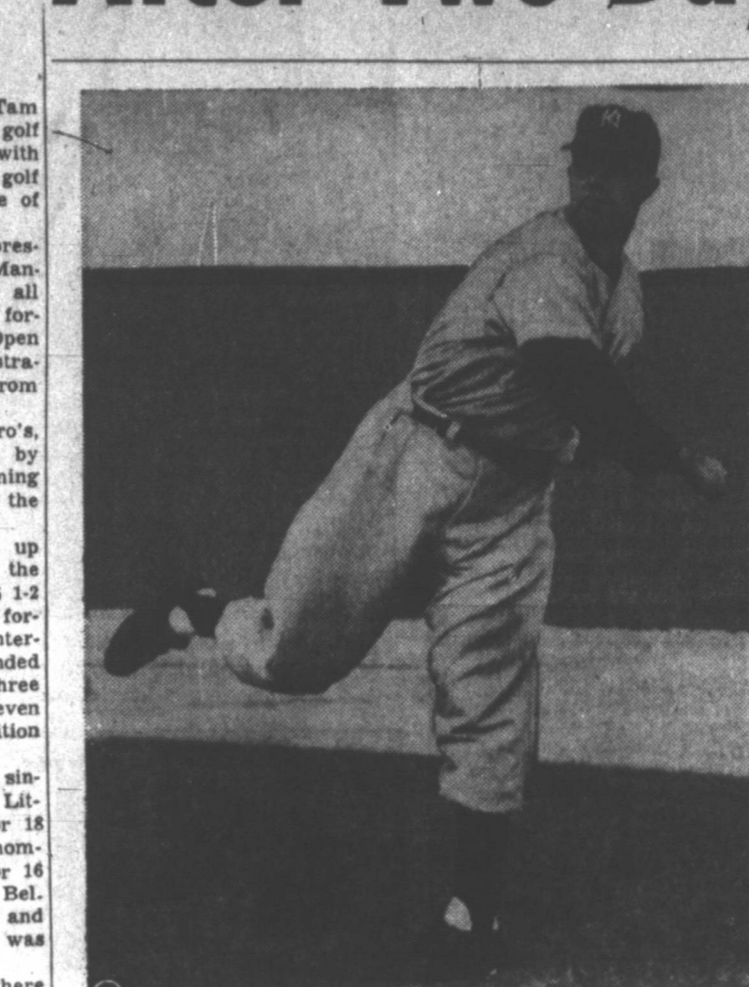

Hickey wasn't satisfied with the new rule change as the answer to the problem of too many fouls, but he said he felt it was "stronger" than the one-and-one regulation which created such dislike among players and coaches last season.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12—UP—Former President Herbert Hoover has accepted an invitation to be the New York-Yankees' guest here Saturday at "old timers day" in Yankee Stadium.

Mr. Hoover, wiring his acceptance from West Branch, Iowa, where Tuesday he celebrated his 80th birthday, said he was looking forward to meeting for the first time some of the diamond stars of his youth, including Hall of Famers Cy Young, Fred Clark, Ty Cobb, Lefty Grove, and Rogers Hornsby.

Mr. Hoover, a life-long baseball fan, played on the freshman baseball team as an undergraduate at Stanford University and later was the student manager of the varsity team.

Oilers In Amarillo After Two-Days Rest

RELIEFER OF NOTE Johnny Sain, one of the key reasons why the New York Yankees are still in the American League pennant chase, had appeared in 35 games in relief through the last official statistical release. The Yanks won 27 of those contests.

HOUSTON HURLER STOPS DALLAS Cuban Gives Texas League First No-Hitter In 2 Years

DALLAS, Aug. 12—UP—Luis Arroyo, 27-year-old Puerto Rican southpaw, pitched the first no-hit game in the Texas League since 1952 Wednesday night as he hurled the Houston Buffs to a 3 to 0 victory over Dallas.

The last nine-inning no-hit game was hurled by Johnny Van der Meer of Tulsa against Beaumont July 15, 1952. Arroyo, a stocky 180-pounder, fanned six batters and walked one. Only two Dallas runners reached base, one on the walk in the fifth inning, and the other on an error in the ninth.

Houston scored its runs off Dallas' Jim Tugerson in the fourth inning on a walk to Ken Boyer, Bob Boyd's double and Russell Rac's homer that barely cleared the left field fence.

Arroyo joined the Buffs only a few weeks ago and he has been the hottest pitcher in the league since then. His record now is 6-1. Three fine defensive plays saved him. Second baseman Howie Phillips robbed Al Stringer in the first inning when he raced into shallow right field to haul down a bloop, and George Lerchen made two fine running catches in center field in the seventh.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12—UP—Light heavyweight champion Archie Moore, who stopped challenger Harold Johnson in a both-on-the-deck fight, craved a shot at the heavyweight title Thursday to further glorify the sunset of his career.

"I'd give up my light Heavy title if I got a written guarantee for a fight with Rocky Marciano," the 37-year-old 175-pound ruler declared.

Moore of Miami pared down to 173 pounds before Wednesday night's defense at Madison Square Garden in which he scored a technical knockout over Philadelphia's Johnson, 172 1/2, at 56 seconds of the 14th round.

Could Hit Harder "But I could be stronger and hit much harder if I weighed 183 for Marciano," he stressed. "I'd like that fight. There's no more honors in the light heavy division for me."

Old man Moore picked himself off the canvas in the 10th round before 8,327 in the Garden and then turned possible defeat into victory by flooring the 26-year-old challenger in the 14th and stopping him in that session. It was a grand Garden debut for the ancient warrior.

Archie, who had beaten Johnson in three of their four previous non-title bouts, was behind Wednesday night at the start of the 14th. The three ring officials agreed on that. He had been favored at 2 to 1.

But Johnson, in his first 15-round fight, made a defensive mistake in the 14th. He backed away straight from the bobbing-weaving champion, and he got nailed on the chin with a right and then another right that knocked him against the ropes in a corner.

Stopped by Referee Then Moore smashed him to the canvas with a straight right to the jaw. Up at the count of four, the swaying challenger was the immediate target for another barrage. Referee Ruby Goldstein stopped the punishment to prevent injury.

The gross take of $34,024 and the TV-radio fee of $50,000 provided Moore with a purse of about $25,751. Johnson will get about $14,875. While Moore is waiting for a possible shot at the heavy crown, he may accept a match with Don

9-Game Streak On Line

The Pampa Oilers, half their two-game lead melted away while they were idle Tuesday and Wednesday, go back to war tonight in Amarillo.

The Oilers spent most of last week just sitting it out after taking a double header from Abilene to extend a win streak to nine games. Elsewhere in the West Texas New Mexico League last night, The United Press wrapped it up as follows:

Showdown time is near in the West Texas New Mexico League with all seven teams in the league still within range of a playoff spot. The firing was particularly hot and heavy between Abilene and Albuquerque Wednesday night.

The Blue Sox from Abilene downed the Dukes 6 to 3 to move into a tie with Albuquerque for the fourth and last playoff berth. Plainsview and Lubbock, the sixth and seventh placers, are still in contention although both lost Wednesday night. Amarillo clubbed Lubbock 16 to 1 and Clovis beat Plainsview 9 to 2.

Ernie Sadler of Clovis celebrated his 21st birthday Wednesday by spacing out six singles to Plainsview as the second-place Pioneers won easily.

Oriando Torres and Andy Alonzo of Abilene teamed for a seventh-inning pitching effort over Albuquerque. John Bruga slammed a two-run homer for Abilene in the ninth inning.

Amarillo's George Tomecek gave up 10 Lubbock hits but missed a shutout when Lubbock scored its lone run in the eighth inning on an outfield error. Tomecek batted in two runs with a double and Frosty Kennedy homered.

Thursday night's schedule—Pampa at Amarillo, Plainsview at Albuquerque and Abilene at Clovis.

A's Decision Is Delayed

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 12—UP—Directors of the for-sale Philadelphia Athletics look a two-week breather Thursday to review "various" purchase proposals, but announced frankly they were set on keeping the club here.

A brief statement after the board met Wednesday in the skyscraper office of Athletics' counsel J. Channing Eillery indicated that the $4 million plus offer by a Kansas City syndicate was moving into the also ran class.

The directors disclosed "various proposals were discussed at length" at the meeting, but "no decision was reached." They said they would hold another session "in approximately two weeks."

"Within that time, all proposals will be thoroughly reviewed with particular emphasis on keeping the team in Philadelphia," the board said.

Mrs. Maurice Blick of Baltimore plays Ruth Wilson of Vancouver, and Mary Gay of Kitchener, Ont., meets Shirley Fry of Victoria, B.C., in the other quarter-finals.

Miss Stewart, who is favored to win the title for the second time, scored a 5 and 3 victory over Roma Neundorff of Scarborough, Ont., and Miss Lenczyk, the 1947 and 1948 champion, ousted Noreen Laing of Port Credit, Ont., Wednesday.

Miss Milligan defeated Ada Mackenzie of Toronto while Miss Brunning defeated Mrs. D. MacDougall of Saskatoon, Sask.

DALLAS, Aug. 11 — Pampa's great gridster, Ed Dudley, returned to the North All-Star practice session today after sitting out Wednesday's drill due to an injury suffered in last week-end's Greenbelt Bowl game at Childress.

Dudley was an unhappy boy Wednesday as a result of having to watch the drills from the sidelines.

"I wanted to suit out today (Wednesday) but the trainer wouldn't let me," Dudley remarked to us during Wednesday's practice session. "I'm so far back on the bench now I probably won't get to play a down in the game Saturday night," Ed moaned.

Nonetheless, Georgia Tech coach Bobby Dodd, who is tutoring the Northern stars for the all-star clash that is to be unrehearsed in the Cotton Bowl Saturday night, still had Dudley in his starting lineup plans for the game.

Dudley injured his back in the Greenbelt game. He said the injury occurred while making a block late in the first quarter. "It pained me for a few minutes," Dudley said, "but I got right before it was over."

"It was after the game that I first noticed it hurting again," Dudley said. "And it's been giving me trouble since then."

Well, if Dudley is able to walk, you can bet your bottom dollar he'll be in there giving his all come Saturday night.

After viewing the grid workouts at Ownby Stadium on the SMU campus here, we ventured over to Perkins Gym where SMU games are unrehearsed to see the all-star cagers go through their workout paces.

It was a rather familiar scene since Harvester Jimmy Bond was virtually the center of attraction along with the giant Temple Tucker of Bowie.

TED KLUSZEWSKI
Power Hitter

Reds In Serious Front-Four Drive

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer

The Cincinnati Redlegs are launching an all-out drive to finish in the first division for the first time since 1944, and if they do, the far reaching drives of Ted Kluszewski are bound to be a dominant factor.

Kluszewski, an amiable strapping 230-pounder dubbed "muscles" by his teammates, blasted his 30th and 31st homers amid a barrage of five Cincinnati homers that accounted for an 8 to 1 victory over Chicago Wednesday night.

While everyone and his brother is shooting for Babe Ruth's record, the smooth-swinging, six-foot, two-inch "Klu" is aiming in a vastly different direction.

"Let 'em all go for Ruth's record," he says, grinning. "I'm just trying to better Kluszewski's record. I hit 40 homers last year and I'd like to top that if I could this year."

By walloping his pair of homers off loser Warren Hacker Wednesday night, Kluszewski moved into third place in the home run department. Willie Mays of the Giants leads with 36 while Hank Sauer of the Cubs and Eddie Mathews of the Braves are tied for second with 32 each.

Dodgers Close Gap

The Dodgers rallied for two runs in the sixth inning to nip the Philadelphia Phillies 2 to 1 and cut the idle New York Giants' lead to 3 1/2 games. Billy Loos gave up both Philadelphia runs in the first inning on a walk, two hits and a sacrifice fly but held the losers to five hits thereafter. Duke Snider shared the hero's role with Loos, who gained his seventh victory. Snider hit his 28th homer in the fourth inning, then doubled on the heels of Pee Wee Reese's two-bagger to tie the score at 2 all in the sixth. Snider came in with the winning run on Gil Hodges' single.

Milwaukee moved within seven games of the top by edging St. Louis, 6 to 5, in a game called because of rain with the Braves at bat in the eighth inning. The Braves scored the deciding run in the seventh off Gerry Staley on Danny O'Connell's double and Joe Adcock's single. Mathews hit his 32nd homer during a four-run rally in the fifth.

Cleveland preserved its three-game lead in the American League with a 2 to 0 triumph over Detroit while the second-place

Yankees beat the Athletics 3 to 1. Won By Unearned Runs

Mike Garcia's four-hit pitching made a pair of unearned runs enabled the Tribe to beat Steve Gromek. Al Rosen walked with one out in the second inning and came all the way home when Wayne Belardi and Harvey Kuenn each committed errors on Dave Pop's potential double play ball. Pope, who took third on the comedy of errors, scored on Sam Dente's infield out.

Yogi Berra and Joe Collins tagged rookie John Gray for homers to help hand Philadelphia its sixth straight setback. Harry Byrd held his ex-teammates to four hits for his third victory.

Virgil (Fire) Trucks posted his 17th victory and his fifth shutout in scattering nine hits while hurling the White Sox to a 1 to 0 win over the Orioles. Ex-Yankee Bob Kuzava made his first start for Baltimore and yielded the game's only run in the first inning on singles by Nellie Fox, Jim Rivera and George Kell.

Washington rallied for three runs in the ninth inning to beat Boston, 5 to 4, in a night game after Ted Williams hit his 20th and 21st homers to pace the Red Sox

Moody Son May Contest Father's Will

GALVESTON, Aug. 12—UP—There was a hint Wednesday that W. L. Moody III, who was cut off with only $1 of his father's $400 million estate, would contest the will.

W. L. Moody Jr., a Galveston financier, left the bulk of his huge estate to a charitable foundation, but gave his daughters $200,000 and $250,000 each, in addition to real estate. The will was probated Tuesday.

The son, a San Antonio oilman-rancher, became estranged from his father several years before the older Moody died after only a short illness last month.

"We've got four years to take action," said the younger Moody's attorney, "we're not in any hurry."

The lawyer, P. H. Swearingen, said Texas had two laws concerning will contests.

"We're interested in the one which applies to contests after probate," Swearingen said.

Diving Victim Extends Thanks For Friends' Aid

O. L. Casey, 132 S. Sumner, who broke his back the afternoon of June 6 in diving from a boat into shallow water at Lake McClellan, has written The Pampa Daily News to thank "every one of our friends for helping us out."

He was brought to Pampa's Highland General Hospital by ambulance that Sunday afternoon, then was taken to Northwest Texas Hospital, Amarillo, for surgery.

Casey is "a long way from being well yet, but has made as speedy progress as could be expected in his condition," Mr. and Mrs. Casey write. "We will never be able to repay everyone for their kindness and help."

Guatemala Repeals Laws

News Plant Fire Said To Be Arson

CORPUS CHRISTI, Aug. 12—UP—A frame building adjoining a weekly newspaper plant was damaged by fire Wednesday and the publisher said Wednesday he suspects arson.

Santos de la Paz, the publisher of "La Verdad," often has opposed George Parr, Duval county politician. De la Paz said he saw a man fleeing the area shortly after smoke billowed from the building.

Fira Marshal Forest Kirby said an inquiry to determine cause of the fire was under way.

De la Paz estimated damage at $4,500.

Firemen prevented the fire from sweeping into the main section of the plant. The frame building was used for storage.

La Verdad (The Truth) publishes news stories in both English and Spanish. De la Paz said it circulates "all over South Texas."
