Explosion Cause Remains Unknown

Damage caused by the explosion which rocked the Cities Service Gas Company plant, southeast of Pampa, causing death to one man and injury to another, will be repaired in 45-60 days.

C. D. Anderson, plant superintendent, late this morning said he thought it would take that long.

Congressmen Fight To Avert Wheat Cuts

WASHINGTON, June 24 — UP — A congressional drive began Thursday to modify Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson's drastic wheat acreage reduction for 1965. Chairman George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) of the Senate Agriculture committee said Congress will have to do something before adjournment to avert the prospect of full-blown depression in wheat areas of at least four states — Kansas, North Dakota, Montana and Oregon — with virtually an all-wheat economy.

Sen. Milton R. Young (R-N.D.), ranking Republican member of the committee, denounced Benson for not coming up with some relief suggestion of his own. Young said Benson's only suggestion was to cut wheat acreage, and then lower the price. He referred to Benson's uncompromising demand for flexible price supports on basic crops — wheat among them — to replace present supports which are fixed rigidly at 90 per cent of parity.

Weathered Is Undecided

W. H. Weathered, Pampa postmaster who has been named as the possible new district manager of the Panhandle district, is "hoping to hear something today" from Earl Wilks, post office regional manager in Dallas.

I still haven't decided whether to accept the job or not if it is offered. I just don't know enough to say "yes" until I know more details," Weathered told The News this morning.

Weathered, postmaster here for 18 years, was approached two weeks ago about the position, which was recently created by the Post Office department's decentralization program, making Panhandle post offices responsible to a district office in Amarillo rather than the department in Washington.

If he accepts the position, he will head the 25-county Panhandle post office district and will move to Amarillo.

Weathered and his wife, Johnnie, have been here since 1950. They have three children, Wynell and Jackie, both students at the University of Texas, and John, 10 years.

BLAST VICTIM — Kenneth Walters, 36, of 1604 Coffee, died 10 hours after the blast which shook the Cities Service Gasoline plant, southeast of Pampa.

Finally Gets Shoes Shined

Fire Chief Ernest Winborne late this morning had his shoes shined. Just before the Wednesday morning blast which shook the Cities Service Gasoline plant, two miles southeast of Pampa, Winborne was standing in the fire station, preparing to shine his shoes.

High Farm Props To Stay In Effect

WASHINGTON, June 24 — UP — The Senate Agriculture committee Thursday dealt the administration's farm program a new setback by voting 8 to 7 for a one-year continuation of present high price supports.

The administration had proposed to let the present system of supporting basic farm crops at 90 per cent of parity die at the end of this year, to be replaced with flexible supports, varying from 75 to 90 per cent of parity, next year.

Sen. Milton R. Young (R-N.D.), made the motion for a one-year extension of the 90 per cent supports. He was supported by two other Republicans, Sen. Edward J. Thye (Minn.) and Karl E. Mundt (S.D.) and five Democrats.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) tried to get the committee on record in favor of a two-year extension of 90 per cent supports, but his motion was voted down 8 to 6.

The proposal to switch to flexible price supports on basic crops next year was the heart of the administration's farm program.

The House Agriculture committee also rejected it, voting 21 to 8 early this month to retain the 90 per cent supports for one more year.

WASHINGTON, June 24 — UP — The Defense Department Thursday announced a draft call of 25,000 men for August.

TRRC Begins Panhandle Well Testing

Jack Ormand Miller, senior engineer in the Austin office of the Texas Railroad Commission, is in Pampa this summer to help in the annual testing of all gas wells in the Panhandle.

Each year, from April to September, the Panhandle's 4,000 gas wells are recalculated in order to arrive at their allowable, according to Jim McClintock, deputy supervisor of the local TRRC office.

Associated with the TRRC's oil and gas division in Austin, Miller has been with the commission since 1947. He was recalled to the U. S. Navy for two years.

There are 15 different oil and gas fields in the 26-county Panhandle, McClintock pointed out today. And a test on one new gas well can take eight days.

Wells are tested, McClintock continued, only when they first come in. There are 10,000 wells in the same Panhandle area.

Among the Panhandle fields are the Avey, Quindom (lower Albany dome), Lips, Hitchland, Cator (Kathryn), Channing (Pennsylvania), Bayou (Lower Crider), Palo Duro, Cranberry, (East Sweet), West Panhandle, Hagston, Buler (Pennsylvania), McCarrough (Pennsylvania), Osborne area and Panhandle.

Prosecutor Hard To Find

SAN DIEGO, Tex., June 24 — UP — Judge Maxwell Welch looked Thursday, outside Duval county for a prosecutor to handle cases in 19th District court after both the district attorney and his assistant were disqualified.

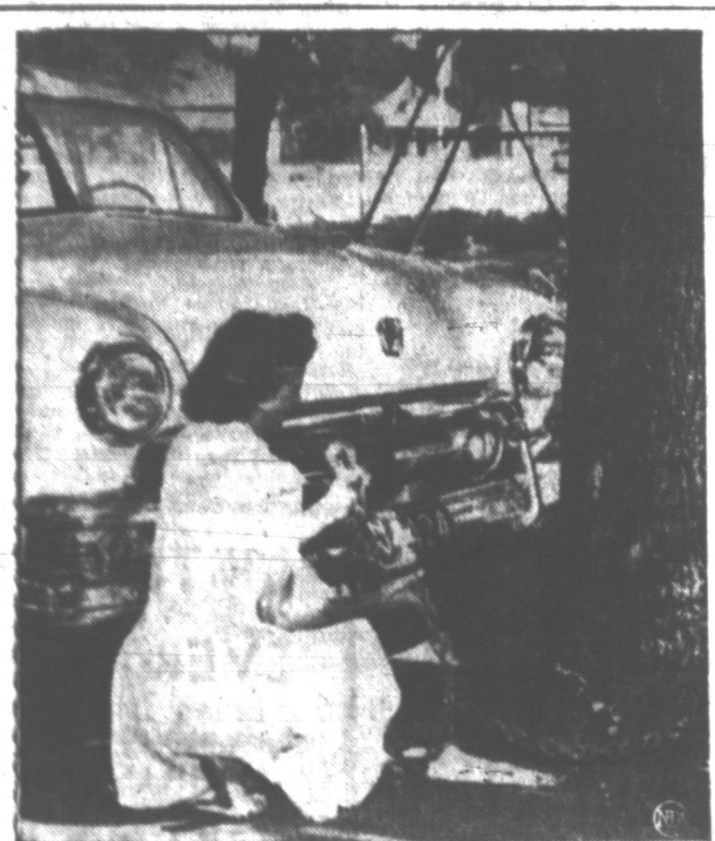

Welch Wednesday ruled John Gonzaless, assistant prosecutor, couldn't try indictments returned by the present Duval county grand jury. Tuesday he disqualified 19th District Attorney Rudburn Norris, who had criticized the jury.

Norris argued that Gonzaless didn't disapprove of the grand jury, and was therefore qualified to be prosecutor. But Welch said, "because the tree falls, the limbs fall," and disqualified Norris' appointee.

The principal case for which a prosecutor was needed involved George B. Parr, millionaire South Texas political boss, of whom Norris is an admitted supporter.

Parr was indicted earlier this month on a charge of assault to murder Crispwell Ybanez.

France, Red China May Reach Accord

PARIS, June 24 — UP — France and Communist China have decided on further meetings to work out an Indo-China peace settlement, French sources said Thursday.

The sources added that both sides are agreed on the need for another meeting, although no details of date or conference have been worked out. Unconfirmed French press reports said it might take place in Geneva about July 12.

Any such meeting would have to take place before July 30, since that is the date by which French Premier and Foreign Minister Pierre Mendes-France has said he will win a cease fire or resign.

The disclosure of the need for further sessions came as Mendes-France started strategy talks with his collaborators following Wednesday's two-hour parley with Red China's Premier and Foreign Minister Chou En Lai.

The fast-moving Mendes-France was highly optimistic over his quick trip to Bern, Switzerland. A reflection of that optimism surged through France in the first reaction to the trip.

The French press hailed the new premier as having accomplished more towards peace in his first week in office than had been accomplished in the seven previous weeks of diplomatic haggling at Geneva.

French Action Calms Hanoi

HANOI, June 24 — UP — French troops mopped up Communist Indo-Chinese elements Thursday in a thickly populated area around a ring of concrete and brick blockhouses guarding the Red River delta's defense perimeter.

The mopping-up of rebel bases took place about 30 miles north of Hanoi following fierce fighting in the Sonlay sector, a key area in the delta.

A French high command spokesman said the mop-up was ordered to thwart a rebel bid to set up assault points on northwesterly approaches to the delta.

The French attacks had a calming effect on the population of Hanoi, which became jittery following the fall of the isolated French bastion of Dien Bien Phu to Red forces of Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap.

Nguyen Huu Tu of northern Viet Nam said the "psychological climate in the Red River delta is better than it was three months ago."

Man Says Haymes Got No Warning

HOLLYWOOD, June 24 — UP — A former immigration official testified a superior ordered him not to warn a crooner, Dick Haymes, that a trip to Hawaii might mean deportation.

Richard Cody, formerly head of the border crossing unit of the immigration service, said at Haymes' deportation hearing Wednesday that he acted under the orders of Herbert Landon, district immigration chief here.

Haymes' deportation hearing took a one-day recess Thursday. The Argentine-born crooner was ordered deported after he returned from wooing his future wife, Rita Hayworth, in Hawaii.

Cody said "ordinarily" he would have warned an alien before such a trip could be made.

"But I did not in this case because Mr. Landon said it was not necessary at this time," Cody told special inquiry officer Ralph Farber.

David Marcus, Haymes' attorney, asked that Landon be subpoenaed to testify when the hearing resumes Friday morning.

Armas Says Delay Caused By Rains

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, June 24 — UP — The Guatemalan government claimed Thursday its army had halted a rebel offensive but anti-Communist Col. Carlos Castillo Armas said rain had bogged down the advance of his machete-wielding troops.

Castillo Armas said at his advance headquarters at Esquipulas, about 10 miles inside Guatemala, that he had not lost a man since the war started last Friday although several were injured.

Guatemalan Rebels Forced To Go It Alone

The National Federation of Farm Workers said in Guatemala City, however, that farmers had captured and killed a parachutist at Amatlan, 14 miles southwest of Guatemala City on the railroad linking the capital to its rebel-isolated port of Puerto Barrios.

Slow Progress
Castillo Armas said his offensive also had been slow because his troops did not want to kill innocent citizens of the Red-influenced government of President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman.

A government communique said, however, that the army had halted the rebel drive along a 90-mile front in eastern Guatemala and had sent invaders fleeing from several cities.

American officials said in Washington Wednesday night that if the rebels' movements had been curtailed, the Guatemalan army could thank Communist Czechoslovakia for help.

The officials said Guatemalan Communists had distributed 1,900 tons of arms imported from Czechoslovakia to peasants and pro-Red labor unions.

Newsmen who flew to Castillo Armas' headquarters at Esquipulas said they were told the town had been taken without a shot being fired.

Cut May Put Wheat Land Below Million

A 13 percent cut in 1955 wheat allotments, as announced by Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson, would mean that next year's allotments in this nine-county area would fall below one million acres.

As a result, only 926,457 acres would be allotted in the area for wheat as compared with the 1954 allotment of 1,064,885.

Figures for the years 1950-1953 were not available here for these nine counties, but in 1949 a total of 1,279,102 acres were allotted for wheat in the area.

The figures below show the 1954 allotment in each of the counties and what the 1955 allotment would be if each county's cut is exactly 13 per cent.

Churchill On Way To U.S.

LONDON, June 24 — UP — Prime Minister Winston Churchill was to fly to Washington Thursday to present his own peace plan for Indo-China and try to convince President Eisenhower to go slow on a Southeast Asia defense alliance.

Churchill and his heir apparent, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, were scheduled to leave at 7:45 p.m. (12:45 p.m. est.) aboard the strato cruiser "Canopus" for weekend talks with Mr. Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

The 79-year-old Churchill's primary mission was to try to patch up differences in the Anglo-American alliance, which he has done so much to weld since World War II.

Rail Hearing Ends Canadian Terminal Decision Awaited

CANADIAN — (Special) — It will be at least 90 days before a decision is made on the Santa Fe railroad's proposal to close the Canadian freight terminal facilities, C. F. Peier, special examiner for Texas Railroad Commission, who conducted a one-day hearing said here today.

All parties in the case will be allowed to file briefs within 30 days after records of the hearing are made available and an additional 10 days will be allowed for filing of replies, he said, indicating that it may be two or three weeks before records can be made available.

Conducting Santa Fe's case was Ballinger Mills, Galveston, general counsel for the railroad. Santa Fe witness G. R. Buchanan, Amarillo, vice president and general manager of this division, the only witness for

SMOKING RUINS OF GAS PLANT

This was the scene at the Cities Service Gas Company plant, southeast of Pampa, after an explosion kicked off a fire that raced through the camp early Wednesday morning. In the background is the giant cooling tower which was destroyed. In the mid-foreground, where the pipes turn into the ground, is where the blast occurred. Clods of mud and chunks of concrete were blasted through the walls of the main engine house, at far right.

cameraman Al Waldron of Miami, Fla., said enlisted men in Castillo Armas' army wore their own clothing, straw sombreros and carried machetes and old Enfield rifles, while officers wore khaki uniforms. Only 100 rebel soldiers were seen in Equipulco. They wore blue arm-bands bearing "Castillo Armas" white insignia of a dagger through a cross.

The Honduran government, meanwhile, complained to the United Nations Security Council in New York that Guatemalan planes attacked the town of San Pedro de Copan, eight miles inside Honduras.

The complaint said six Honduran air-force planes followed the invaders to the Guatemala-Honduras border.

Railroad Trainmen, later testified that it would be impractical to maintain routes in Canadian and work in Amarillo. This would amount to a terminal change, despite the Santa Fe contention that Canadian still would be designated as a terminal point.

Buchanan testified that Santa Fe freights were delayed here an average of 30 to 40 minutes in changing crew and inspection of trains. However, N. E. Johnson, Canadian, retired Santa Fe car inspector, later said that the delay amounted to "not more than 10 to 12 minutes."

Buchanan, before leaving the stand, said Santa Fe is prepared to spend nearly $700,000 in real estate settlements with Canadian employes to make a saving, as he had testified earlier, of $70,000 per year.

Mayor Testifies
Mayor Malouf Abraham, principal witness for the city, testified as to economic effect on business, schools, churches and on local governmental agencies and property values. He read results of a recent business survey, which indicated 122 non-railroad employes might lose their jobs if the move is approved.

Report of "Peace Fighting"
Official Guatemalan communication told of fierce fighting in which the rebels were thrown back with "heavy casualties."

On Tuesday, U.S. State Department spokesman Lincoln White said in Washington that he had no report from U.S. diplomats in Central America that a single life had yet been lost in the Guatemalan revolt. Guatemala City, he said, was quiet.

This week, for the first time, United States correspondents, most of whom have covered wars, reached Castillo's "capital" at Equipulco—about 10 miles inside Guatemala from the Honduran frontier.

They found the former chief of the Guatemalan air force hospitalized but admitted bogged down in mud, lack of organization and transportation.

But he said, "we are entirely sure of ultimate success."

The correspondents were not so sure.

Many Chiefs, Few Indians
Castillo's army which had been billed as 5,000 men seemed to have lots of officers and a plentitude of sergeants. A colonel there said he commanded 1,500 men.

Be Careful, Avoid Foolish Errors

When today's hand was played in a recent match between England and Scotland, the South player at one table "blew" a cold game. Try playing the hand yourself, and see if you're tempted to make the same mistake.
West opened the ten of diamonds, and East won with the king. East now made an excellent shift to clubs, and South won with the ace. Declarer proceeded to draw three rounds of trumps, ending in the dummy, and took the heart finesse, losing to West's king.
"Would you play it the same way up to this point? If so, you'd better have an ally ready because, after going to the dummy, West took the heart finesse with the king and led the queen of club forcing out declarer's last trump. Dummy still had a losing club and a losing diamond, and there was no way to prevent the loss of four tricks.
It's quite all right to draw three rounds of trumps, but there is no excuse for taking the heart finesse immediately. South must lead a diamond to knock out the ace. If the opponents return clubs, the best defense, South ruffs with his last trump, cashes the queen of diamonds in order to discard dummy's last club. It is then easy to cash the ace of hearts and lead a heart towards dummy, giving up one trick in the suit. By this line of play, declarer loses only one heart and two diamonds—and no clubs.

Unwritten Law Includes 'Mistress'

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 24—UP—Oklahoma law says you are justified if you kill someone in "lawful defense" of your mistress.
But the Court of Criminal Appeals decided Wednesday that the legislature used "mistress" in the sense of a woman in command, rather than one living with a man without benefit of clergy.
"We are of the opinion that it was not the intention of the legislature to sanction the taking of a life in defense of an unlawful relationship arising to no higher level than that of paramour and concubine," Judge John A. Brett said in the majority opinion.
The decision was on the appeal of Leo Edward Haines of Tulsa, who was convicted of first degree manslaughter in the 1953 death of Royal Loyd Warner.
Warner was killed while sitting in a tavern with Mary Helen Johnston, who was suing him for divorce and living with Haines.

Ethics Of Fee Splitting On Occasion Argued By AMA

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24—UP—The American Medical Association made another attempt Thursday to solve a delicate problem—whether to allow doctors to "split fees" on occasion without being unethical.

The ticklish subject came up Wednesday for the first time at the AMA's 103rd annual convention and touched off a heated but inconclusive debate. The house then ordered a committee to reconsider the matter overnight.

The resolution that sparked the debate would in effect make it easier for a patient to pay his bills. Under present medical practice a family doctor may refer a case to a surgeon for an operation. The patient then has to pay three bills—family doctor, surgeon and anesthetist.

Dr. George Braunlich of Davenport, Iowa, urged the AMA to let one bill be sent in such cases. He said the patient wants to know his total expense in one bill, just as a man building a house wants to know the total cost and not the separate charges of carpenters, roofers and other building tradesmen.

"Too often the patient is broke before he gets the last bill," Braunlich said.

He charged also that some doctors try to get all they can when they find the patient is covered by medical insurance.

However, Dr. John W. Cline of San Francisco, a surgeon and past president of the AMA, offered a substitute resolution affirming the AMA's "unalterable opposition to fee splitting in any guise whatsoever."

Braunlich retorted that "all this talk about ethics is just a screen to enable the surgeon to get all the money."

Colorado Baked Under Intense Sun

DENVER, June 24—UP—Gov. Dan Thornton feared for Colorado's economic future Thursday as a punishing sun continued to bake the life out of the land.

The Denver weather bureau said there was every chance that temperatures in Colorado and Wyoming would equal the record highs of Wednesday. The possibility of a few insignificant showers promised no relief.

It has been so hot that mountain sources of irrigation water are drying up. An unofficial 103 degrees was registered in Denver's business district Wednesday afternoon.

The city's restricted lawn watering program, begun Sunday, had already saved 300 million gallons of water, Denver's reservoirs now hold at least a two-year supply, but the city is guarding against the consequences of a prolonged drought.

Fort Lupton, Colo., reported a maximum temperature of 103 degrees Wednesday—the highest in Colorado, Wyoming and New Mexico. It was 107 in the center of southeast Colorado's dust bowl and at Worland, Wyo.; 106 at Akron in northeast Colorado, 102 at Denver and Douglas, Wyo.; 101 at Casper, Wyo., and Farmington, N.M., and 100 at Grand Junction, Colo., Cheyenne and Lander, Wyo.

For Denver, Casper, Cheyenne and Lander it was the hottest June day on record. It appeared likely that the 100-degree mark would again be reached or topped in Denver Thursday, which has not happened since July 3 and 4, 1874. The city's all-time high is 106.

Courthouse Work Should Be Finished By Early September

Courthouse heating and electrical repairs should be completed by the first week in September.

County Judge J. E. Maguire Jr. and County Clerk Charlie Frost Tuesday afternoon signed contracts with Jarris Keith company, Berger, and Brooks Electric company, Pampa, for the renovation of the building.

Contract totals $11,800 for the two jobs. To be added is the fee for B. R. Cantrall, job architect, and the cost of any additional materials.

Keith's heating and plumbing contract amounts to $9,823 of the total and calls for the job to be completed in 75 calendar days. Brooks' electrical contract has a completion of 30 days after the contract is signed.

County commissioners a week ago today voted for the building renovation. Lowest apparent bidders in each case got the contract. Four concerns bid on the mechanical part of the repairs; and two, on the electrical.

Armory Work Should Be Finished On Schedule

Construction on the new armory building in Recreation park should be finished by the contract date of Oct. 15, even though there has been a five-week delay caused by too much "weather" and too little steel.

Jim Barrett, job superintendent for the contractor, J. W. Marsh, Amarillo, late this morning said reinforcing steel, which arrived late Monday, was being used and that no more was needed.

No structural steel will be used in the project, he continued, except for the roof girders.

Rainy weather and the lack of the reinforcing steel has caused the delay in construction, but he said he could see no reason why the structure should not be completed on time. Contract provisions, however, provide for extension of deadline in case of such delaying factors.

Bumper Tomato Crop Reported

You've never seen such quality tomatoes!

That's what everyone is saying about the bumper crop now coming to market.

These tomatoes are a bright, rich red, firm and meaty, passing every test for matchless flavor. Almost ideal growing conditions are responsible for the exceptional quality of the southwest tomato crop as well as the record yields per acre, says the Agriculture Marketing Service.

Shipments have been rolling for weeks out of the Rio Grande Valley of Texas, and now shipments from East Texas are fast moving toward the season's peak.

More than twice as many carlots of tomatoes have moved from East Texas this month than last year at the same time.

Before the Texas tomato crops have been fully harvested, farmers in Louisiana, Arkansas and Oklahoma will be shipping tomatoes. So, it looks as though you home-makers have hit a tomato bonanza. Not only is there plenty of quality fruit, but prices should be the most favorable in years.

Because of increased production and overlapping of shipments from the various areas, tomato prices at the farm are running anywhere from 10 to 15 cents a pound lower than last season. This, of course means lower retail prices.

MRS. C. E. CARY frosts an angel food cake she made, the recipe for which is below. Mrs. Cary, who has a son and a daughter, and two grandchildren, now cooks mostly for her husband and herself. However, she sometimes runs over to a neighbor or a friend with a cake or something else she has baked. "I like to cook," she states. "I wish I could bake all the time for my friends who don't like to cook." (News photo)

This Is My Dish... This Angel Food Cake Recipe Rates

"I wish I could bake all the time," stated Mrs. C. E. Cary, 480 N. Sumner, one of Pampa's many fine cooks. "I think you have to like to cook to do it well."

Mrs. Cary, who has lived here 25 years, says she learned to cook as a young girl by watching her grandmother, "a fine southern cook." Her mother, she added, was not a good cook. "When a neighbor made something, I liked, I'd go over and watch her make it until I could do it myself."

One of Mrs. Cary's favorite recipes is angel food cake. Although Mrs. Cary cooks and bakes by taste and by using "a pinch of this" and a "little of that," she did give us this recipe, one of her favorites.

ANGEL FOOD CAKE
 1 cup cake flour
 1 1/2 cups sugar
 1 1/2 cups or 10 to 12 egg whites
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 1 heaping teaspoon cream of tartar
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 1/2 teaspoon almond extract
 Sift flour twice and measure. Add 1/4 cup sugar and sift 6 times. Beat egg whites with flat whip until frothy. Beat in cream of tartar and salt. Continue beating until light and fine grained, but not dry. Gradually beat in 3/4 cup sugar a little at a time. (Sift sugar 4 times.) Add flavoring and beat until eggs look like divinity. Add flour and sugar mixture in 4 additions, sifting it over the egg whites. Fold in each addition with flat wire whip or large spoon, turning bowl gradually. Use 15 complete strokes. Fold over strokes each time. After last addition fold over 15 to 20 times.
 Four batter into ungreased angel food pan. Bake in moderate oven, 375 degrees 35 to 40 minutes. Remove from oven. Invert pan

Smart Cooks Know Broiled Chicken Is Easy, Low Priced

Looking for an easy and economical way to serve chicken? Smart broilers are now more plentiful and lower in price than they've been in a long time. If you have never tried broiling chicken, here is your opportunity to discover how easy it is to serve your family luxury meals on an everyday budget.

The best chicken for broiling is a plump, young bird 8 to 12 weeks old which weighs not more than 2 1/2 pounds dressed. The smaller broilers may be split down the back only and cooked whole; while larger birds are easier to handle when cut into halves. The chickens will be easier to manage on the plate if you break the joints and remove the wing tips.

Before cooking, chicken should be wiped dry, coated with melted fat and sprinkled lightly with salt and pepper. A light sprinkling of flour is optional, depending upon the preference of the individual cook.

Turn the skin side of the bird away from the heat and start to broil with a very moderate heat, keeping the meat several inches away from the flame or heating element. As the chicken browns,

New Peach Developed

Radiola is a new word you'll want to remember. It's the name of a new peach variety developed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

It's just coming into commercial production and for that reason it will be some time before you can buy this new variety. When you do, you'll find peaches that have the bright, attractive color so popular with consumers. About three-fourths of the skin will be covered with red bluish over a yellow background. And the flesh will be free from red streaks which are common in many varieties. This new fruit will ripen about 15 days before Elbertas.

turn it over several times and baste frequently with drippings of melted fat. It takes 35 to 45 minutes to broil a 2-pound chicken (dressed weight) with a moderate heat.

Some cooks may find it more convenient to start the chicken in the broiler and finish it in a moderate oven (300 degrees to 350 degrees); others prefer to start the bird in the oven and finish it in the broiler.

When the chicken is done, remove it from the broiler and serve immediately with pan drippings or melted fat poured over it. A garnish of parsley or toast points will enhance the eye appeal of the bird.

Cantaloupe With Strawberries Makes Ideal Summer Dessert

By GAYNOR MADDOX
 NEA Food and Market Editor
 June is a big month for succulent cantaloupe. So let's get going. Sugar-sweet and fragrant, these cantaloupes from California and Arizona mainly, with some from Texas and even smaller amounts from Florida, are ideal for hot weather dessert.

Either filled with ice cream (called Lillian Russell) or with fresh fruit and berries, they are beautiful to look at and very easy to eat. Served plain, with a little salt or a sprinkling of lemon juice, they are delicious, too.

Helen Goodrich, a genius with fresh fruits and vegetables.

Cantaloupe-Strawberry Dessert
 Cut chilled cantaloupe in halves. Fill with lightly sweetened, crushed strawberries. Top with a few whole, perfect berries. Tuck a few fresh mint sprigs here and there. Then enjoy and be refreshed.

Try this cantaloupe salad, too. It's a favorite in our home. Peel a ripe cantaloupe. Cut in half and scoop out seeds. Slice each half into 4 strips. Place one or two strips in a bed of crisp lettuce for each serving. Paas lemon-French dressing.

Don't overlook the importance of black and white for spring and summer. You might include in your wardrobe just one black cotton dress, and follow the vogue by accessorizing it with only black and white, even including your jewelry. It will provide a refreshing change from your many colored ensembles.

Give a new twist to simple vanilla pudding by adding a couple of spoonfuls of instant coffee to the mix. For richness, add a half cup of whipped cream to the pudding after it has begun to cool.

Dodging The Issue

While not unexpected, the ruling of the United States Supreme Court in connection with the case of Mrs. Mary Turner, who sought to have the right to educate her children in her home without special authority from the state insofar as credentials are concerned, has at least postponed the time when the true issue must be enjoined.

The issue of the matter, as expressed by the Supreme Court of the State of New York, is whether or not "the child is the ward of the state." This issue, regardless of any ruling by any court, will, in the long run, be decided not by man-made mandates or laws but by the recognition of the people that they are deciding whether we shall have freedom or slavery.

It ought to be obvious to all that if the child is the ward of the state — that the child must be taught in such a manner and at such a time and according to the state's idea of education — that when such a procedure is carried on sufficiently the entire nation will be subjected to the softening up process of the state to believe in more and more statism. And the arrival time of slavery and an era of slave and master is only a matter of calculation, not conjecture.

Thus far, the Supreme Court has not had the wisdom or courage to grasp the nettle and settle the real issue. It has become more and more apparent during the last twenty-odd years of Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower, that the appointment of men to the Supreme Court bench has been on the basis of "politics first." Obviously with such a basis for selection, the men appointed to the court are going to be, primarily, politicians — men who have been firmly grounded in the fundamental beliefs of statism and totalitarianism. Certainly such a group of men will not, unless forced to it, make a real issue of the Turner case so that there will be a clearcut determination of whether we are to have slavery or freedom. They find themselves in the awkward position of being in favor of some form of statism and at the same time trying to give lip service to freedom and the free enterprise system.

It is our guess that they will remain on the fence as long as they are able. It is the nature of politicians to straddle and hedge so long as possible and then, when forced to jump, jump to that side which has the most votes. So, it is our continued guess that the right or wrong of the issue will weigh but little in the final decision of this or any other Supreme Court and that the decision will be made on the basis of whether or not there is sufficient popularity in taking one stand or another.

We hope that if the case is again brought before the Supreme Court that it will be on the true issue of the case. We also hope, but we fear, in vain, that the Supreme Court will plunk for freedom in the event that the members have an opportunity to do so. The record of the court and the men who make up the court is a strong indication that our hopes will not be answered and that we shall continue our merry way toward totalitarianism and statism until such time as the burden of slavery becomes too great to bear and the people themselves will throw off the shackles. There is an easier way, the way of building towards more and more freedom upon the present structure. But we suspect that the easy way will be ignored for the sake of expediency and that we shall have to learn, in coming generations, the hard way that we cannot bargain with freedom.

One For The Book

Attention is called by Human Events to a bulletin put out by the Atlantic Union Committee for April 1954. In a small block on Page 1, under the heading "AUC Contributions Deductible" the following appears: "All members will be glad to hear that the Department of Internal Revenue has now granted the AUC (Atlantic Union Committee) tax exemption. . . . This ruling will make it possible for many members to increase the size of their contributions over previous years and we hope will make it possible for us to expand our activities and do a bigger job."

The Atlantic Union Committee spends many thousands of dollars annually propagandizing the American people to abandon the Constitution and go into a common government with England, Canada, France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg — for a starter. It thus serves as the opening wedge for world government. Perhaps it is not so astonishing that the Atlantic Union should receive a tax exempt status under the Eisenhower administration. For some time we have been pointing out that the Eisenhower administration is honeycombed with world government advocates and that next year, it is expected the big push will be on when the internationalists will make their supreme effort to destroy American sovereignty by making us a part of a world government.

On what legal basis can tax exemption be justified for Atlantic Union? It is an organization whose whole program is political from beginning to end; it lobbies ceaselessly on Capitol Hill. Tax exemption was never intended for organizations whose sole business is the promotion of political objectives. That it should be conferred on an organization which seeks to destroy the American Constitution and American sovereignty is one for the book.

INSTALLMENT TWENTY-ONE

One must go to pre-revolutionary history for the legal origins of States' Rights. It is sufficient for the present argument to show that it is an essential Americanism, a bit of folklore learned at the nation's cradles. Both the Founding Fathers and the opponents of the Constitution were agreed on the principle of divided authority as a safeguard of the rights of the individual. No one (except a few monarchists) questioned that. The only question was whether the separation was definite enough. It is unfortunate that the doctrine of States' Rights has become sullied with sectionalism and racism, and its original meaning lost in the bitterness of other issues. Perhaps the name should be dropped in favor of "home rule"; but the essential point, that divided authority is the bulwark of freedom, is still sound Americanism, and ought to be exploited to the full. It can be invoked in a fight to repeal the Sixteenth Amendment.

But why is the case of freedom stronger when the autonomy of the states is violated? There is no vice in the national government that cannot be duplicated in the government of a subdivision; even county sheriffs have been known to take liberties with the rights of citizens. If we were a living in forty-eight separate nations our lot, as individuals, might be worse; it probably would. Some people, using Switzerland as an example, maintain that the smaller the nation the more freedom. But the Central American dictatorships refute that argument. The characteristic of the Swiss government that is often overlooked is the division of authority between the federal establishments and the cantons. That is the essential ingredient; only when the central authority is kept off balance by competition from autonomous subdivisions are the rights of citizens more secure.

Freedom is the absence of restraint. Government cannot give freedom; it can only take it away. The more power the government exercises the less freedom will the people enjoy. And when government has a monopoly of power the people have no freedom. That is the definition of absolutism — monopoly of power.

The object of monopoly, in any field, is to compel the customer to accept the services offered by the monopolist at his own terms. It is a take-it-or-leave-it arrangement. Competition, on the other hand, compels the servicer to meet the standards set by his competitors, with the customer the final judge as to proficiency. The beneficiary of competition is the buyer. In the matter of government services — which is the protection of life and property — the customer is the citizen. ("The first object of government," says Madison in the tenth number of The Federalist, is the protection of "the diversity in the faculties of private property originate.") The conception of government held by the Founding Fathers was quite the opposite of what has been gaining currency in this country in recent years. The government will serve him best only if it cannot set its own standards, when it does not enjoy a complete monopoly of power.

This brings up a contradiction. The theory is that government must have a monopoly of coercion to prevent us from using coercion indiscriminately on one another; we institute government, and endow it with sole police power, for the purpose of maintaining order. Nevertheless, experience has shown that the monopoly of force government can wield for disorder; the power can be used to create disharmony and promote injustice. That, in fact, is the record. Throughout history, those to whom the job of rulership has fallen, whether by heredity or popular selection, have shown a tendency to use their position to dominate, not serve, the ruled. Hence, unless the monopoly of power can be checked, freedom is always in danger. Recognition of that fact gave rise to the idea of constitutional government, with limited powers. And as further restraint on government, popular suffrage was instituted. The vote is presumed to keep the government from getting out of hand; the threat of being turned out at the next election is supposed to hold down the arrogance and ambition of those in whom the power is vested. However, during its incumbency the elected government does enjoy a monopoly position, and it can use that position to solidify, enlarge upon, and perpetuate its power; it can even use the citizens' tax money to "buy up" the next election, either by bribery or by propaganda.

Popular suffrage is in itself no guarantee of freedom. People can vote themselves into slavery. The only way, then, to prevent the monopoly of power from becoming absolute is to create a competitive market for government; to give the citizens, the customers, a choice of jurisdiction. That is exactly what our peculiar American system of divided authority, between states and federal government, accomplished. The Constitution, as originally conceived, set up independent nations within an independent nation — imperium in imperio — each with delimited powers. In that way, it was hoped, the polarization of power that undermines freedom would be prevented. The central government was given certain specified chores to do; it could not intervene in local affairs, unless the state government were not able to maintain order. If the state government got rough with its customers, they could easily transfer their allegiance to another state.

Where The Shoe Pinches

McNaught Syndicate, Inc. REG-MANNING

Right now there is an urgency to have the federal government eradicate by forcible means the stupidity of racial and religious bigotry, particularly in employment practices. This is another example of the fatuous undertaking to make men "good" by law — the socialistic program. It cannot be done. A "fair employment practices" law can only result in intensifying bigotry, by concentrating attention on it. A New York State law of that kind has done nothing more than stimulate the ingenuity of employers and employment agencies to invent new methods of evasion; discrimination is as prevalent as ever. But if the federal government is given the power of a "fair employment practices" act, we can expect an army or corruptible police swarming all over our national industry. That is not freedom. As long as anything is left of our tradition of States' Rights, the danger of absolutism in this country can be avoided. In fact, it is that tradition that must be depended upon in any effort to repeal the Sixteenth Amendment. (To be continued)

The Real Mamie Wasn't An O'Rourke After All

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK — The identity of the girl who tripped the light fantastic as related in the anthem of Tammany Hall is vaguer now than ever, thanks to a casual inquiry by E. V. Durling in his grab-bag column and to a confusing series of letters elicited by a brazen, dogmatic statement that she was Mrs. Diamond Dan O'Rourke. The truth that her name wasn't O'Rourke at all will shock who are not necessarily Irish nor necessarily even residents of New York.

I have received from another informant whose covering letter I have unfortunately jumbled into a mass of accumulated correspondence and therefore cannot at this moment name, a photostatic copy of the original sheet music of this folksong, which plainly refers to "Mamie O'Rourke." The printing on the cover calls this work "Charles B. Lawlor's great success." The, as it were, screen credit just below seems to refute the claims of a relative of the late James W. Blake that Mr. Blake was the principal spirit in the perpetration of a deathless but by no means literary composition. I am referring here, of course, to a lyric which, notwithstanding grievous violations of even the most liberal poetic license, nevertheless has become dearly beloved. The music may be good or inferior, I have no right to pass judgment, being a total ignoramus on the art of aggressive song.

The publishers of this ancient copy was Howley, Haviland and Dresser, of New York and Chicago, who printed on the back cover a characteristic teaser that

Aviation Lobby's Plans Would Bilk Taxpayers

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — American taxpayers will be bilked by between $80,000,000 and $100,000,000 a year, if the politically powerful aviation lobby and its plans on Capitol Hill succeed with two schemes to thwart the White House and Supreme Court demands for reduction of unnecessary subsidies in this field. It is a desperate behind-the-scenes battle.

Senator Pat McCarran, influential Nevada Democrat, and a longtime friend of Jaun Tripp's Pan American World Airways, is quietly seeking enactment of a bill that will upset a Supreme Court decision for a more economical and businesslike computation of airplane subsidies, especially in the trans-Atlantic skies.

A companion measure to McCarran's Senate Bill 3426 has been introduced in the House by Representative Carl Hinshaw, California Republican. It is House Resolution 943. Both are daggers aimed at the taxpayer's pocketbook. Taxpayers may save themselves some money by voicing opposition in letters to their Senators and Representatives.

Under the recent Supreme Court decision, the carriers demand for subsidy payments must be based on net profits and losses of all their operations. In the past, they have kept the profits from successful activities, and then billed the taxpayers for reimbursement on losing ventures. Here is how it has worked out:

Pan Am operates eight swanky hotels, country clubs, golf courses, swimming pools, children's playgrounds and luxurious bars. They attract the wealthy and sporting customers, not the ordinary flying passenger. But they run in the red.

Under the old system of computing subsidies, Pan Am could demand a big subsidy for their losses in these ventures. But Pan Am kept to itself the huge profits on actual operational activities. Supreme Court says that this is an imposition on the taxpayers. So does Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield, who figures that Pan Am and other carriers already owe Uncle Sam $5,000,000 in overcharges.

Secret hearings on the McCarran measure have been held by the Senate Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, which will approve it. This body is headed by Senator John W. Hickenlooper, Ohio Republican. As soon as he became Chairman in January, 1953, Bricker was entertained lavishly at the Mexican ranch owned by Vice President, Pan Am's president in charge of South American operations.

Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr.'s anti-trust suit against Pan Am and Panagra, in which Tripp has a 50 per cent ownership, charged that the two companies monopolize air transportation between the United States and South America. Morrison will be a key figure in trial of the action.

The aviation lobby, which besieged Capitol Hill with highly paid ex-Cabinet members, former Republican National Committee members, and former members of Congress since this fight began, has blocked a direct attempt to cut subsidy grants for the 1955 fiscal year.

Refusing to comply with the Supreme Court decision, the pro-bill by Civil Aeronautics Board asked for a 1955 budget of $140,000,000, in addition to an $11,000,000 backlog for subsidy handouts. Led by Representative John J. Rooney of Brooklyn, N. Y., in the House, the Appropriations Committee reduced this figure to $81,000,000. However, the bill was vetoed to $108,000,000 on the floor through the Clevelander amendment, which was a Juan Tripp brainchild.

The Senate Appropriations Committee approved the $108,000,000 total. When Senators Harley M. Kilgore of West Virginia and John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts tried to reduce the total to $100,000,000, their proposal was rejected. Principal opponents were Senator Hyl Bridges of New Hampshire, Appropriations Committee chairman; Senator Ed Johnson of Colorado and McCarran — all good Pan Am friends from away back.

Whereas Messrs. Rooney, Kilgore and Kennedy thought they had won a victory by keeping the subsidy at $40,000,000 instead of $70,000,000, as CAB and its aviation favorites demand, it may be that they have won only a pyrrhic skirmish. The Bridges majority seems to have put over another Pan Am joker.

Unless eliminated in Senate-House conferences, the Bridges bill stipulates that the $40,000,000 may be financed by bonds for only seven months, or through January, 1955. Then, CAB and Pan Am may ask for a supplemental appropriation to underwrite subsidies for the remaining five months of fiscal 1955. Since subsidy payments average $2,000,000 a month, the 1955 overall figure would be just what CAB and Tripp asked for in the first instance, or about $70,000,000.

Against the aviation lobby and the members of the CAB, the taxpayer hasn't got a chance!

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JORDAN, M. D.

All too often I receive inquiries from people suffering from sciatica who want to know more about this distressing condition. Some of them have experienced pain for months.

Some of them have numbness and tingling as well as pain. All are eager for information on how it can be cured. I wish that I could tell them.

SCIATICA IS a term used to describe pain along the course of the sciatic nerve rather than a single disease. At any rate, it is the back of the leg from the buttock to the foot. Apparently many different causes can irritate the sciatic nerve and bring pain.

Some doctors claim that most cases of "sciatic neuritis" are caused by a hernia or rupture of the cartilage — like substances which lie between the vertebrae or small bones of the spinal column.

This substance is called the nucleus pulposus. At any rate, there is no doubt that many cases of pain in the sciatic nerve have been relieved by the surgical treatment of this rupture.

PAIN IN THE sciatic nerve also may come from conditions elsewhere in the body. Such disease as diabetes, certain kinds of vitamin deficiencies and rheumatic conditions produce sciatic pain. Infection in an abscessed tooth or diseased tonsils also may cause sciatica. In such cases, removal or drainage of the infected area often brings relief although many disappointments can be expected.

When the sciatic nerve is subjected to pressure from something in or near the spine itself, sciatic pain may result. Any disorder of the lower back, for example, can cause sciatica.

MANY TIMES the direct cause can not be found. Sometimes the injection of a local anesthetic in salt solution relieves the pain. Manipulation, together with other measures of physical therapy, such as heat or diathermy, may be helpful.

X-ray treatments and special exercises have been used successfully in a few of the more difficult cases. I learned a hard lesson that brings on the more obscure types. It will be difficult to successfully treat all cases of this condition.

A-Scientist Says Nagasaki, Hiroshima Toll Never Given

LOS ANGELES, June 24—UP—Atomic scientist Dr. Stafford L. Warren of the University of California at Los Angeles maintained Thursday that three to four times more persons died in the Nagasaki and Hiroshima atomic bombings than was admitted.

Warren, medical director of the school's atomic energy project and dean of its school of medicine, said "The government wanted to minimize it (the deaths) because the truth is pretty fearful."

In making his statement during a luncheon of trucking officials Wednesday, Warren declined to say, however, whether he meant the government of the United States or Japan.

"The announced totals were something like 80,000 in each city, but there actually were three to four times as many persons killed," he said.

Truman Coming Along 'Nicely'

KANSAS CITY, June 24—UP—Although former President Truman can't have visitors outside his family for another day or two, his doctor says he's "coming along nicely."

Mr. Truman was operated on early Sunday morning. Dr. Wallace Graham, one time White House physician, removed a gangrenous gall bladder and infected appendix.

The ex-President got his first food by mouth Wednesday, and Graham said it was "the first day he's really felt like talking and reading."

Japan 'Protects' US In Pacific, Says Ike

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Foreign Analyst

President Eisenhower has pointed up sharply the fact that Japan is the key to the defense of the western Pacific.

If Japan fell under the domination of the Kremlin, the President said in his speech Tuesday night, the Pacific would become a Communist lake.

But Mr. Eisenhower was speaking only of possibilities — of what might happen if the United States failed to help Japan make a living.

Actually, with American help, there is hope that Japan may become a bastion that will strengthen the position of the free world throughout East Asia.

Rearmament Just Starting
Japanese rearmament is just starting. Many Japanese oppose it. They do not want to be drawn into another war. But the people as a whole realize that they must rearm, if only in self-protection.

It seems certain that as Japanese rearmament advances, the threat of Communist aggression in East Asia will start gradually to diminish.

Japan has signed a mutual defense pact with the United States. On July 1, its new national defense law goes into effect. On that day, the two branches of the national police force will be merged. This national defense force, of about 137,000 men, will be the nucleus of a new army. Japan also will have a limited air force and a small navy.

Ike Farm Plan Headed For Setback

WASHINGTON, June 24—UP—The Eisenhower farm program headed for an almost certain new setback Thursday as the Senate Agriculture committee met to vote for a one-year extension of rigid price supports.

All indications pointed to an 8 to 7 vote in favor of extending—until Jan. 1, 1955—the present system of supporting basic crops at 90 per cent of parity.

President Eisenhower and Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson have asked for a flexible support system to become effective next Jan. 1. Under their plan, government support levels would fluctuate between 75 and 90 per cent of parity.

Three Republican members of the Senate committee — Sens. Milton E. Eisenhower (N.D.), Edward J. Burke (Ill.) and Earl B. Muntz (S.D.)—lined up with five Democrats against the flexible supports.

That left five Republicans aided by only two Democratic cross-overs—Sens. Clinton P. Anderson (N.M.), a former Agriculture secretary, and Spessard L. Holland (Fla.).

The House Agriculture committee voted down flexible price supports overwhelmingly two weeks ago.

Chairman George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) of the Senate committee virtually conceded in advance of Thursday's closed meeting (8 a.m. est) the decision would be against the administration desires.

Lovely Fingernails Require Daily Care

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor
If you are willing to spend a few minutes every day, you can do a great deal toward making your fingernails lovely. Since nails take four to seven months to grow, don't expect quick results.

Use nail enamel from the outside. Even though you may not want to call attention to your nails now, the enamel will help to protect them. Incidentally, the claim that nails should be allowed to "breathe" is false; nails do not "breathe."

Set aside a certain time each day, perhaps right after your bath, for massage. Massage a nail cream into the base of each nail with the cushion of your thumb. Using a gentle, but firm, rotary motion, continue massaging until you feel warmth beneath the cuticle.

It is important to develop a consciousness of your nails so that you can protect them from breaking. Open bobby pins with the cushions of your fingers instead of with the nails; use a pencil for dialing telephone numbers; push back the cuticles every time you dry your hands.

Your nail enamel will help you to disguise poorly-shaped nails. Wide nails appear more slender when the polish does not completely cover the sides. Fan-shaped nails seem oval when the polish covers the nail near the cuticle, and is applied in a straight line to the top so that the sides are exposed.

In buying hats, remember that proportion is more important than shape. It's important to stand up during a try-on session to see whether the hats are in proportion to your height and figure.

GRACE FRIEND

Mrs. Friend
Am writing you for information.
We are invited to an open house party...
Does this call for a...
Mrs. E. J. S.
Dear Mrs. S.
An invitation to an open house does not call for a gift any more than an invitation to lunch or dinner.

RECEPTION
Dear Grace Friend
Last weekend my only daughter went to Juma with my permission and blessings and got married.
I would like to announce the marriage and at the same time invite their many friends to a reception. I would appreciate it if you would tell me what type of stationery to use and how I should announce it.
I am a widow and have four children and for economy's sake will have the reception at my house—I am planning to make everything but will have friends help me serve.

If there is anything that I am apt to forget would you please remind me.

I would like to have the reception on a Sunday and hold it like an open house as my home is too small to manage a large crowd all at one time.
F. H.

Dear F. H.
If you are inviting a great number of people to the reception it might be easier to have the invitations printed. Choose a plain white or cream paper at the stationery and word your invitation something like this:

Mrs. John Robert Smith requests the pleasure of your company at the wedding reception of her daughter, and
Evelyn Jean
Mr. George Bernard Baker

on Tuesday the fifth of June
three to five o'clock
2547 North Park Avenue

You can vary the hours as you wish, asking some from three to four, others from four to five, and the remainder from five to six. Sometimes just giving the hours as from three to six would be enough if too many are not invited.

If you don't print the invitations but write them yourself word them in similar fashion.

Be sure to have plenty of friends to help so that you will be free to stand with the bridegroom's parents or mother, to join you in receiving.

You can keep the refreshments as simple as you wish. A wedding cake served with punch or coffee is sufficient. From that you can add sandwiches and salted nuts and mints. There could be small sandwiches and salted nuts and mints if you want to serve them but they are not necessary.

For our fishermen readers we asked Roy Wall, of Wichita, Kan., famous for his fishing know-how, to give some practical advice on the care and preparation of the fish they catch in the streams and lakes. Here's what Wall, author of "Fish and Game Cookery," told us.

Game improves with curing and aging, but this is definitely not the case with fish. Fish are extremely perishable and the species possessing the most delicate flavors are more susceptible to deterioration than the coarse, strong-flavored fishes.

Don't leave the fish on a stringer for a long period, and draw them immediately. Fish should not be permitted to loach while being carried in the creel.

This is especially true of trout. If carried in the creel, piled one on top of the other, and wet with slime and water, fish will become soft and deteriorate rapidly even in moderately warm weather.

Don't place dead fish in water to keep them fresh, regardless of the low temperature of the water.

Fish should not be left in the sun, for they will soften rapidly and lose much of their savoriness. Do not place fish on ice if they can't be kept fresh without ice.

Do not, under any circumstances, freeze fish unless they must be kept for a long period.

Do not dress fish, then soak them for hours in brine, vinegar or a marinade, unless you want salted or pickled fish.

When in camp, dip the tip of the forefinger in salt and run a little salt along the backbone on the inside of the visceral cavity. Then string fish on a cord or wire and hang out in the night air. During the day, wrap each fish in brown paper, place in a cheesecloth bag and hang in the shade well above the ground.

When ready to cook trout kept in this manner, drop them in a pan of cold water for a few minutes, then remove and wipe and proceed to cook as usual.

If ice is available, a splendid ice box can be made by digging a hole in the ground at some well-shaded spot. Line it first with paper, then with dry grass and place the ice in the hole and cover with grass, cover with paper and add a few spadeful of earth. Avoid opening the "ice box" as much as possible.

Little girls' fluffy spring dresses needn't present a problem in upkeep, just as dainty as in times past, there are many styles now available for tots in easy-to-wash, long-wearing miracle fabrics.

Jeanette Miller And Bill Archer Marry During Double-Ring Service In Memphis

During an early evening ceremony in the First Baptist church, Memphis, Miss. Jeanette Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Miller, 1223 Garland, Pampa, became the bride of Billy C. Archer, son of Mrs. E. G. Archer, Memphis, Rev. Jesse Miller performed the double-ring ceremony.

The couple was married before a background of orchid-colored gladioli in marble urns, backed by white satin fan arrangements decorated with baby orchids. On either side were candelabra with white tapers.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a strapless gown of white satin topped by a fitted jacket of lace, fashioned with a scalloped neckline and Peter Pan collar. The long fitted sleeves came to petal points over her hands and the jacket closed down the front with tiny covered buttons. Her finger-tip veil of white illusion fell from a tiara of pearls and lace. She carried a white Bible topped with a bouquet of stephanotis and fleur-de-lis.

For something old, the bride wore a pearl stickpin belonging to Mrs. Lester Stewart of Pampa, and for something new, she wore a pearl necklace given to her by the bridegroom. Her "something borrowed" was her veil, which belonged to Mrs. Bill Hitt. For something blue she wore a pair of garters belonging to Mrs. Don Carmen, and she had a traditional six-pence in her shoe.

Miss Jo Ann Miller was her sister's maid-of-honor. She wore a white-length gown of deep purple, topped with a net stole. She carried a matching net parasol covered with baby orchids.

Bridesmaids were Misses Lavern Rollins and Miss Moselle Vandever of Memphis, and Mrs. Bill Hitt of Copeland. They wore gowns identical to that of the bride, in honor in graduated shades of orchid and carried matching net parasols covered with baby orchids.

Flower girls were Misses Laura Mae and Terry Elaine Miller, sisters of the bride. They wore dresses of pink taffeta and headbands of baby orchids. They carried white satin flower baskets filled with rose petals.

Candlelighters were George Archer, brother of the bridegroom, and Miss Mary Kinsey, niece of the bridegroom, who wore a ballerina-length dress of white taffeta and a wristlet of baby orchids.

The bride's mother was attired in a lavender dress of satin cloth with white accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a navy-blue tulle dress with white accessories. Both had orchid corsages.

Daisy Archer of Candor, Ore., brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Kent Archer of Tucson, Ariz., brother of the bridegroom; Duane Miller and Dick Mabry, both of Wichita Falls; Mrs. Bill Hitt of Copperton Cove; Mrs. J. A. Miller and Glenda of Leveland; Wayne Henley of Cheney, Kan.; Rev. and Mrs. Jesse Miller, recently of the Philippine Islands; Mrs. Edith Miranda of Gould, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Taylor and Mrs. Earl Newell, all of Amarillo.

MRS. BILLY C. ARCHER

blis and white suit with navy-blue and white accessories. Her corsage was the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The bride is an honor graduate of Memphis high school and attended Hardin-Simmons university, Abilene. Before her marriage, she was employed as secretary to the division manager of General Telephone Company of the Southwest in Memphis.

Out-of-town guests included Miss Marjorie West, Benny Holland, Mr. and Mrs. Lacy Terrell, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Schneider and Jerry and Wayne Griggs, all of Pampa; Denny Archer of Condon, Ore.; Mr. and Mrs. K. W. Archer of Tucson, Ariz.; Mrs. B. P. Some Beach Togs Are Not Attractive On Older Women

Most of this year's delightful, frilly, bloomer-type bathing suits just don't come in sizes over 14. And with good reason — it's a style that definitely wasn't meant for the older women.

Dressmaker-type swimsuits are your best choice. Most of these suits come with built-in bras and girdles. The skirts are full, and cut slightly circular. Choose a becoming color; dark shades are most slimming.

Your beach coat, too, should be longish and rather full. And if you wear them on well-pedicated feet, shorts are not for the older woman. And unless you are really slender, it's smart to avoid wearing slacks. However, if you are slim and look well in slacks, remember to wear a smart-looking, hip-length cotton cardigan, too.

Denim, wicker or gingham play suits are both attractive and suitable. They should be short-sleeved, but no sleeveless. And the skirt should be detachable.

Sunback dresses look smart, provided they come with concealed bolero jackets. But don't make the mistake of wearing a sunback dress without its bolero jacket. Quite often, the upper arm is not an older woman's best point, particularly when there's a weight problem involved.

A smart appearance at all times is of real help to the older woman in maintaining the dignity she's acquired as part of her personality.

RUTH MILLET

Here is a thought-provoking quote from a recent letter:

"How about a column aimed directly at us 'missed-by-marriage' women (a term kinder and more descriptive than 'old maid') telling us how we can miss as little as possible of the rest of living — even though we have missed that big thing called marriage. Is that any reason why we should have to miss a lot of other things, too, such as a home-like place to live, a respected niche in our community, etc.?"

Of course not. We've nourished the old-fashioned idea that an unmarried woman is an old maid. And a lot of unmarried women accept the picture as their fate, even though it is long outdated.

These women, influenced by that dreary picture, are willing to settle for just any job they think they can hold for years even though it doesn't make them exert their best efforts and offers little in the way of advancement.

So the first thing they give up is their chance to find satisfying work that makes them feel their lives are being put to good use. Then they reason that since they haven't a husband, having a real home is out of the question. They settle for a dreary room or a furnished apartment. Whereas, if they put their minds to it, they could in time choose their own furniture and even manage to buy a small home of their own.

If they think of themselves as "old maids," they probably miss out on still another opportunity to make their lives interesting and worthwhile. They leave all community jobs to their married sisters. By doing that they fail to make a real place for themselves in their communities and fail to make themselves useful to others.

Years ago women "missed by marriage" may have had to settle for very little out of life. But they don't have to today. And they don't unless they think of themselves as old maids that life has passed by.

Smart Teenagers Do Shopping Alone

One way you teenagers can show your maturity is to learn to select your own clothes. Taking a friend or two along on a shopping spree may be fun, but it's really unwise.

In addition to learning to rely on your own judgment (so important in all aspects of adult living), making a habit of shopping alone will help you to develop an individual style sense.

Instead of consulting your friends on what to buy, consult fashion and grooming articles in your newspaper. Learn to understand your figure, how to tone down bad points, play up good ones.

Then interpret fashion news in the light of what you know about yourself. If you follow this plan, you'll be able to tell far better than any friend what will look best on you.

And you'll be gradually developing your style sense, based on your familiarity with your personal needs and current fashion trends.

MATURE PARENT Speech On Clothing Highlights HD Meet

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Sometimes I get letters from grandmothers of spoiled little boys and girls that make me feel sad. Like the one that said:

"Please warn my daughter she's spoiling her child. All he has to do is cry and scream to get his own way in anything. She thinks we don't like the child, whereas the truth is he's a trouble to everyone because she's afraid to say 'No' to him. But if I tell her that she's afraid of him, she acts as though she doesn't hear." She added, "That's when I get sad. For how can we expect Billy's mother to recover from fear of him just because we tell her so?"

She fears him because she daren't imagine what would happen to her if he knew how she really resents him. Psychiatrists have a word to describe what she does when Billy defies her. They would say she "projects" on him.

What they mean is that she believes he feels all the angry resentment she has felt when she was denied her own way. And that to act toward Billy would mean exploding from him all the explosive material that exists in her.

Her action is paralyzed, not because she wants it that way, but because all her experience in any self-assertion has ended in defeat and loneliness and anger.

So if her mother wishes to persuade her that it can end in victory and confidence, I have a suggestion for her.

I suggest she bend all her love and energy into encouraging her daughter to say to her, "Mother, please mind your own business."

Why? Well, if this daughter once discovered that her self-assertion could end, not in defeat, loneliness and anger, she might find the strength to assert herself again.

She might think, "If mother can take my resistance to her without attacking me, maybe Billy could, too! Maybe if I remove this candy from him, in spite of his screams, he won't punish and hurt me terribly either."

But if Billy's grandmother, flush-

The Merton Home Demonstration club met recently in the home of Mrs. R. N. Brandon.

Following a short business meeting, led by Mrs. John Brandon, president, Miss Helen Dunlap, county home demonstration agent, spoke on buying boys and men's clothing.

Boys' clothes should be roomy and full-cut so they will be comfortable, Miss Dunlap advised. The style should be regulated by the "fashion of the day," she added. Good workmanship in a garment is shown by short stitches and even seams.

Ample cuffs, a seam in the back of trousers and long shirttails are recommended for boys' clothes, so they may be let out as the child grows, Miss Dunlap pointed out. Garments should be purchased according to fit, as sizes vary, she stated.

Material for boys' and men's garments should be sturdy and of a hard weave, the home demonstration agent told the group. Cotton is better than wool as it will stand many washings. The material should also be colorfast and guaranteed not to shrink more than 1 per cent.

For men's suits, wool — either worsted or cheviot — is the best material, Miss Dunlap pointed out. The worsted group includes gabardines and serges, and tweeds are in the cheviot classification. Wool mixed with a little cotton will give better wear, and wool mixed with a little rayon will hold its shape better.

A man's coat should have a good interlining in the collar and lapels, the women were told. Tape in the lapels will keep them from sagging and the underside of the collar should be lined with felt. Padding in the sleeves should be smooth and not too large, she recommended. All seams should be bound.

Men's pants should have at least six belt loops, and the inner belt should be cut on a bias and of material with stiffness to it. A closeweave cotton material is best for pockets. Seams should be 1/2 inches wide and should be bound.

A social period followed the program and refreshments were served. Those present included Misses Jack Howard, L. L. Watt, T. G. Groves, Archie Maness, John Brandon and R. N. Brandon.

Next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. T. G. Groves at 1:45 p.m. July 6.

Teenagers Should Put In Some Work At Beauty Routines

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Teen-agers, you're probably very anxious to fulfill your plans for summer fun. By this time, you've taken last summer's wardrobe out of moth balls. Just looking at your bathing suit and playclothes makes you wish you were on the beach.

It will be a wonderful summer, too, if you put in some work at your beauty routine. And eating the proper foods each day will provide you with all the necessary vitamins for those fun-filled beach parties and barbecues.

The skin and hair need special attention during very hot weather. If you're extremely fair, don't ruin your skin in trying to get a quick tan. Chances are you'll get a quick (and painful) sunburn. Time yourself on the beach. It's better to acquire a very light tan than a series of sunburns which can cause great damage to your fair skin.

Be sure to apply sun-tan oil several times while on the beach. This is especially true after leaving the water, if your sun-tan oil isn't waterproof.

If your hair is rather dry, it would be wise to include an oil treatment with your weekly shampoo. Apply baby oil to the scalp, then wrap a hot towel around your head. Keep the towel on for an hour, then shampoo.

Keep your brush and comb immaculately clean, or your weekly shampoo will lose its value.

Beware Of Fads!

Almost every teenager looks to her girl friend or teenage peer for ideas on what to wear.

That's why, at school proms, you'll see so many girls in dresses of the same color and style. The same dress may flatter one girl's figure and coloring, and look most unbecoming on another girl.

The same thing is true of the current teenage fad — matador pants. And these take a really slim figure in order to look smart and trim.

Just because your pal, Margie, looks terrific in matador pants doesn't mean you will. And besides, you should be developing your own individual taste in clothes. Try to step a little ahead of your crowd, fashion-wise, by "bouncing up" on the latest styles and colors.

Study your figure and its good and bad points. Then, keeping them in mind, you'll have no difficulty choosing the most becoming type of dress for you.

Choose colors that complement your own skin tones, not because they're your classmate's favorites. Once you've discovered the colors that flatter your coloring, you'll hear friends exclaim, "You look very pretty in blue. Why haven't you worn it before?"

By being a fashion leader, instead of a fashion "copy cat," you'll gain self-confidence and poise as well as a reputation for being original.

A Few Exercises Add More Curves

You teen-agers who have been growing upward without adding curves don't have to wait for nature to take its course. Start a daily exercise program now and you'll have lovely gentle curves in time for the bathing-suit season.

1. Standing with arms held out straight from the shoulders, put your right hand on your left arm at a point about three inches below the elbow; do the same with the other hand. Spread your fingers, pushing them into the flesh and moving the hands up toward the elbows. For the first two weeks, do this 25 times threetimes a day. Gradually work up to 100 times.
2. Lie on floor with arms out at sides. Keeping shoulders on floor, bend knees and bring feet close up to body. Roll hips all the way to the right, then all the way to the left. Do this 10 times, rolling at a moderate pace.

3. Raise legs in air, rest body on head and shoulders and put hands on hips for support. Stretch legs as wide as possible and close them as fast as you can. Do this slowly, 12 time at first, 30 times after several weeks.

Haddix In 12th Victory For Cards

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer
Harvey Haddix ranks as the hottest pitcher in the majors Thursday and Rip Repulski as the hottest hitter, all of which keeps Manager Eddie Stanky wondering how come his Cardinals are only in a lukewarm fifth place tie.

Haddix and Repulski, each of whom was instrumental in the Cards' 7 to 1 victory over the Pirates Wednesday night, are in the midst of two separate red-hot streaks.

Wednesday night's triumph over Pittsburgh was the 10th in a row for the 25-year-old left-hander Haddix and his 12th triumph of the season.

Repulski's hitting has been almost as spectacular as Haddix' pitching.

Three Hits by Rip
Repulski collected three of the Cards' 10 hits Wednesday night, including his 11th homer with one on in the ninth. It marked the ninth straight game since June 13 that he collected two or more hits. During that stretch, Rip has rapped out 30 hits in 40 times up for a sizzling .500 clip.

Don Newcombe set down Cincinnati on six hits in pitching the Dodgers to within one game of the league-leading Giants, who bowed to Milwaukee, 5 to 2.

Home runs by Joe Adcock, Del Crandall and Andy Pafko contributed to the Giants' downfall. Jim Wilson was the winner in a game which saw Willie Mays hit his 22nd homer for the Giants.

Southpaw Curt Simmons let the Cubs down on seven hits to hurl the Phillies to a 5 to 3 victory and even his season record at six victories and six defeats.

The Orioles pushed over a run in the 17th inning to defeat the Red Sox in a game which consumed four hours and 36 minutes and set an American League record. The longest previous game was a 4:49 affair played by the Indians and Browns on July 1, 1952.

Triple Play by Sox
Adding to the uniqueness of the game was a first inning triple play pulled off by the Red Sox plus the return to action of Ted Williams for the first time since June 5. He pinch hit in the seventh and fouled out. The winning run came across when second baseman Floyd Baker threw home too late on Dick Kryhoski's grounder with the bases full.

Cleveland retained its three-game lead in the American League with a 5 to 2 triumph over Philadelphia.

The White Sox routed Bob Porterfield with five runs in the first inning and went on to defeat the Senators, 5 to 6.

A pair of doubles by Gil McDougald, each with the bases full, helped the Yankees beat the Tigers, 9 to 4.

Wednesday's star—Harvey Haddix of the Cards, who gained his 12th victory and 10th in a row by beating the Pirates, 7 to 1.

The Oilers hit the road today for a four-day trip following last night's second straight loss to Amarillo which toppled the Oilers from the top rung in the West Texas-New Mexico League standings.

While the Oilers were dropping as a team to the Amarillo Gold Sox, Clovis was winning an 11-10 verdict from Ploverview to move back in first place.

The Oilers have lost two less games than Clovis but the Pioneers have won three more than the Oilers, putting them one half game ahead of the Pampa nine.

Albuquerque will be the first stop for the Oilers on the road trip. The Oilers will meet the Dukes tonight and tomorrow night and then move on to Clovis for another crucial series with the Pioneers, Saturday and Sunday. It's possible the Oilers and Clovis will clash in a doubleheader during their series since the two teams still have a game to make up in Clovis.

Following the New Mexico jaunt, the Oilers will return next Monday night to face Lubbock in a two-game series. It will be "Eli's Night" Monday night and "Little League" night Tuesday night.

Jonas Gaines will likely get the starting nod for the Oilers tonight at Albuquerque.

In last night's home stand final, Sad Sam Williams went down to his third defeat of the year against Amarillo's eight runs were earned. The Oilers likewise earned three runs off winning pitcher Taylor Smith. Smith had to have help from the veteran Eddie Locke in the ninth when Curtis Hardaway walked and moved around to third on Doug Lewis' single.

Locke strolled in from his center field position and quickly induced dangerous hitting Dick Hairston to bound into a double play to choke off the Oilers threat. Dick Hustler grounded out to end the game.

Amarillo scored all of its runs in the first five innings. An error after two were away in the second led to three costly runs in Amarillo's portion of the second and that proved to be the difference.

The Gold Sox led 8-1 after batting in the fifth but the Oilers whittled the lead with three runs in the bottom of the fifth and a singleton in the sixth.

The Oilers matched the Gold Sox in hits, each getting 12. Two-base hits were even at four apiece, also, but the Oilers got the only homer of the night.

Gene Hauradou, filling in for the injured Ben Felder at shortstop, got his first homer of the season in the fifth with Dub Woolbright, who had singled, on base for the Oilers. Hauradou made his first debut with the Oilers last night. Burdick, who appeared to be a bit nervous, failed to hit in three at-bats and committed two errors in left field.

Jr. Oilers To Take Over Local Baseball Scene Sunday While Sr. Oilers Are Away

THE OILERS WILL BE OUT of town Sunday but there will be an all-important battle coming off at Oiler Park Sunday.

The Junior Oilers, who have won six out of seven in Cap Rock League play, will be host to the Hedley Lions Sunday at Oiler Park. The Junior Oilers and Hedley are currently tied for the lead in Cap Rock play, each owning 61 records.

It should be a real battle what with the league lead at stake.

The Junior Oilers consist mostly of seniors of last year's Harvesters team and college boys who are in Pampa for the summer.

A group of Pampa merchants made it possible for the Junior Oilers to operate this season. However, we understand the club could use a little more financial backing to purchase other needed equipment and by turning out Sunday for the game between the two Cap Rock League leaders you will not only be seeing a top flight contest but helping a good cause, too.

Manager of the Junior Oilers is Newt Secrest, an ex-Pampa Oiler. Secrest, in fact is managing two teams this summer and he is probably the only skipper in these parts that is managing two clubs and having both on top in their respective leagues.

The other team Secrest is managing is the C. M. Jeffries team in the Western Little League. Jeffries tops this league with a 5-2 record.

WE HAVE BEEN ASKED how close the Oilers came to setting a West Texas-New Mexico League record in consecutive wins when they won nine straight. The Oilers lacked four of equalling the record of 13 set by three clubs.

Pampa, in fact, is one of the hold-overs of this record. The Oilers racked up 13 straight wins during the 1950 season.

We believed if the Oilers had been in top shape they could have kept their streak going. But with two first line pitchers out of action plus the regular shortstop plus the regular shortstop, the odds were against the Oilers of continuing their streak.

CONGRATULATIONS TO DON Tierney, Oiler pitcher, who became the father of a baby daughter yesterday. Tierney, as you know, left the Oilers Sunday to go to Los Angeles and he with his wife for the "big event."

Tierney will rejoin the Oilers in Albuquerque either tonight or Friday night.

It will be good to have Tierney back with us. We're missing his pitching as well as his hitting.

Swiss, German Advance
Zurich, Switzerland, June 24—UP—Switzerland will meet Austria and Germany will play Yugoslavia in the quarter-finals of the World Cup soccer football championships on Sunday, Switzerland and Germany qualified by scoring victories over Italy and Turkey, respectively, Wednesday. Both games were play-offs of ties in the round-robin eighth-round.

WT-NM Attendance Down 3.4 Per Cent

ABILENE, Tex., June 24—UP—Attendance in the Class C West Texas-New Mexico League for the first three of the 1954 season totaled 177,198, League President Hal Sayles reported Thursday.

That is a drop of 5,241 or 3.4 per cent in comparison with the figures for the same period last year.

Abilene was setting the pace with 39,795 fans for the first 27 openings.

Sayles said attendance has picked up sharply around the league the past two weeks and predicted the current season will be ahead of 1953 in paying customers at the halfway mark.

Pill Rollers Drop First Game Of Year; Little League All-Star Tilt Set Tuesday

Kist Beverage finally ended the winning streak of the Pampa Drugists yesterday when it downed the Pill Rollers, 11-0, behind the threat pitching of John Lankford.

It was the first defeat in seven starts for the Pill rollers in PONY League play this season.

The game yesterday was re-play of a 7-7 deadlock the two teams had played earlier in the season.

Lankford, in pitching Kist to the first shutout this year in PONY League, aided his own cause with two home runs.

The win kept alive Kist's slim hopes of pulling up with the Pill Rollers in the battle for the first half title.

Pampa Drugists now have a 6-1 record as compared to Kist's 4-3. Each has two more games to play in the first half. Kist must win its two remaining games while the Pill Rollers would have to lose both of their games for the two teams to end in a tie for the first half crown.

THE PONY League game was the only game played in the Kid Baseball League yesterday.

Play resumes today in all three leagues. Jeffries can clinch a tie for the first half crown in the Western Little League by defeating Your Laundry today; the Pill Rollers can nail down the first half crown by downing First National Bank in the PONY League and Cabot could keep its first half title hopes alive by defeating Tom Ross Ford in the Eastern Little League.

Elsewhere in the Kid Baseball ranks, the big talk is the coming Little League All-Star game to be played next Tuesday night at Oiler Park.

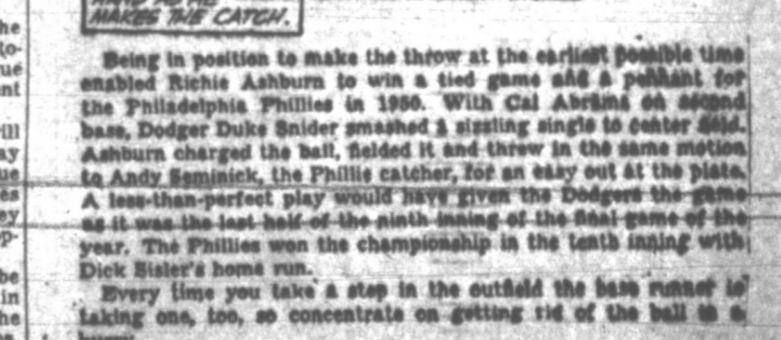

All-stars of the Western and Eastern Little League will meet in a game prior to the scheduled West Texas-New Mexico League game between the Oilers and Lubbock. The game will start at 5:30.

A portion of the proceeds of the advance ticket sale will go toward financing the PONY League All-Star team on its tournament trips later in the season.

The Little League All-Stars will not be eligible for tournament play this season since Little League rules state that first year leaguers don't become eligible for tournament play until the second year of operation.

But the Little Leaguers will be helping out their big brothers in helping raise funds to finance the PONY League tournament trips.

Tickets in the All-Star game Tuesday night which will also be good for the Oiler-Lubbock game the same night, may be purchased at Richard's Drug or from any of the Little League or PONY League players.

Being in position to make the throw at the earliest possible time enabled Richie Ashburn to win a tied game and a pennant for the Philadelphia Phillies in 1950. With Cal Abrams on second base, Dodge Doyle Snider smashed a sizzling single to center field. Ashburn charged the ball, faked it and threw in the same motion as Andy Seminick, the Phillies catcher, for an easy out at the plate. A less-than-perfect play would have given the Dodgers the game as it was the last half of the ninth-inning of the final game of the year. The Phillies won the championship in the tenth inning with Dick Sizer's home run.

Shreveport Lead Cut To One Game

By UNITED PRESS
Shreveport's Texas League lead was cut to one game over San Antonio Wednesday night as the Sports lost to Oklahoma City, 4 to 1, while San Antonio beat the luckless Dallas Eagles, 4 to 3.

It was Dallas' 11th setback in the last 12 games and its fourth straight defeat, inflicted despite the presence of three new players in the Eagles' lineup.

In other games, Beaumont scored four runs in the ninth inning to beat Tulsa, 5 to 2, and Houston tagged Fort Worth with its fifth loss in the last six games, 4 to 2.

Fleming Gets One Hit
First baseman Les Fleming, the league's leading hitter, made his debut with Dallas and collected one single in four times at bat. Fleming came to the plate with the leadoff runner, Buzz Clarkson, in a trade that sent three Dallas players—Eddie Knoblauch, Howard Anderson and Ben Taylor—to Beaumont.

Clarkson didn't play Wednesday night as he was en route to Beaumont to pick up his wife.

Veteran Jim Basso, an outfielder, was also in the Eagle lineup for the first time. He got two-for-

Defending Champ Ousted In NCAA Golf

HOUSTON, June 24—UP—With defending champion Earl Moeller of Oklahoma A&M already sidelined, 32 collegiate golfers moved into the second and third rounds of match play Thursday in the 57th NCAA golf tournament.

Moeller bowed in the first round to young Stewart Carrell of Southern Methodist University, 3 and 2.

Carrell, a member of the SMU team—championship squad, had only to shoot two-over-par golf in the 18 holes it took him to win, as the 1953 champion continued to have trouble with the Bras Burn Country Club course.

He wasn't the only one who had trouble. Don Albert, 1953 Big Ten Conference champion from Purdue, also found the going rough, but managed to edge Bryan Honts of Southern Methodist on the 19th hole. Albert shot a new NCAA medalist record of 136 in the qualifying rounds, but was two over par Wednesday at the end of 18 holes.

Hillman Robbins, southern intercollegiate champion from Memphis State, halloped Ben Dickson of Oklahoma A&M, 5 and 4, and was bracketed Thursday against Frank Stevenson of Georgia, who was a 4 and 3 first-round victor over Bob Barton of Yale.

Albert meets Ed Wallace of Pennsylvania, who topped Don Krieger of Oregon, 3 and 2, Wednesday. Carrell plays Tommy Cruise of Houston, who ousted Raymond Leggett of Texas 4 and 3.

Honts was the only Southern Methodist player to fall Wednesday as the championship squad moved along with little trouble. Other SMU victors, in addition to Carrell, were Hal McCommas, 3 and 1 over Don Thornton of Southern California. Floyd Addington, 2-up over Doug Lind of Utah and Tom Towry, 3 and 2 over Jack VanRossem of Southern California.

North Texas State's team, runner-up in the team championship, also advanced four men, including Marion Hisey, NAIA intercollegiate champion. He had a 3 and 2 victory over Harold Standler of Rice in the first round.

Following the two rounds Thursday, there will be two more rounds Friday, with the 36-hole final to be played Saturday.

Giants' Wilhelm Gets Traffic Fine

YONKERS, N.Y., June 24—UP—Pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm of the New York Giants, who was tagged with a $60 fine Wednesday for traffic violations in nearby Tarrytown, N.Y., faces charges here Thursday that he collided with a patrol car.

The Giants' star relief hurler was fined in Tarrytown on the triple count of driving 60 miles per hour in a 35 mph zone, failing to have a New York state operator's license, and using profane and abusive language to the arresting officer. This incident occurred last Saturday night.

On Sunday night, Wilhelm was involved here in a crash with a police car. He and three other persons, including his wife and the policeman driving the patrol car, were slightly injured.

Trabert, U.S. champion from Cincinnati, who is top-seeded in the men's division as he pursues his campaign to become the world's outstanding player, was matched against Britain's Bobby Wilson in a center court match.

Miss Connolly, U.S. women's champion from San Diego, Calif., who is top-seeded in her quest for her third straight title in this tournament, faced Edda Buding of Argentina in a side-court match.

Pioneers Regain WT-NM Loop Lead

By UNITED PRESS
Clovis' Pioneers climbed back atop the West Texas-New Mexico League standings Wednesday night and Pampa's Oilers dropped a half game back into second place.

An unearned run in the first of the eighth inning gave the Pioneers an 11-10 win over Plainview while Amarillo took Pampa's measure, 5 to 3.

Rookie John Coddington pitched seven-hit ball and his Berger teammates worked over five Abilene Blue Sox pitchers for 18 hits and a 12 to 4 win. An error in the last of the 10th inning allowed Lubbock's Bobby Fernandez to run across the plate with the run that beat Albuquerque, 4 to 2.

F. B. Palmer was the batting star for Berger, knocking in seven runs with two homers and two singles. Two Berger players—shortstop Oll Valentin and catcher Luis Villodas—had to be taken out of the game when they got sick from food poisoning.

Milt Ardrey, Lubbock relief hurler, was credited with the Rubbers 4 to 1 win over Albuquerque and George Socha, who went the distance for the Dukes, suffered his eighth defeat against 12 victories.

Clovis got only four hits off four Plainview pitchers, while Red Dial gave up 14 in going the route for the Pioneers. It was Dial's 13th victory.

Scores by innings:
Berger 250 313 210-15 18 2
Abilene 190 000 201-4 7 4

Tulane, UCLA Net Stars Meet In NCAA

SEATTLE, Wash., June 24—UP—Tulane's great tennis ace, "Ham" Richardson, faced Dick Doss of UCLA Thursday in a drive for a second straight National Collegiate tennis singles title.

Richardson, of Baton Rouge, La., led a field of eight players into the quarter-final round Monday at the Seattle Tennis Club when he dropped Allen Cleveland, USC, 6-1, 7-5.

Bob Perry, UCLA, gained a quarter-final berth with a 6-2, 6-1 victory over Norm Petersen of California and fourth-seeded Jacques Grigry, USC, defeated Jack Neer, Portland University, 9-7, 6-3.

Others who gained quarter-final berths were Bill Quillian, University of Washington, who took Conrad Woods, Illinois, 6-1, 6-2; Dick Doss, UCLA, defeated Herchel Hyde, California, 6-4, 4-6 6-2; Ron Livingston, UCLA, tumbled Jim Demas, California, 6-2, 4-4; Bill Cranston, Yale, took Al Kuhn, Northwestern, 6-2, 6-3 and Allan Call USC, upset sixth-seeded John Hernandez, Texas, 6-1, 6-0.

UCLA tops the field in team play with 10 points. Two UCLA doubles teams are in the semi-finals with play in that division to resume Friday.

Dodgers Lose Podres For Month

BROOKLYN, June 24—UP—The Brooklyn Dodgers planned Thursday to call up a pitcher from their farm system to replace southpaw Johnny Podres, who underwent an appendicitis operation Wednesday and will be lost to the team for at least a month.

Dodger Vice President E. J. (Buzzy) Bavasi said the replacement would be made "within the next two days," and added that Podres will be placed on the disabled list to make room on the roster. Indications were the hurler would be one of two left-handers now toiling for the Montreal Club of the International League—Tom Laorda or Ken Lehman.

Other American stars who have advanced this far were similar favorites, although two of the men's Yankers were matched against top Davis Cup players of other countries. Sixth-seeded Art Larsen, former U.S. champion from San Leandro, Calif., faced Philippe Washer, ace of Belgium's Davis Cup team, and seventh-seeded Budge Patty, former Wimbledon champion from Los Angeles, met Naresch Kumar, member of the Indian Davis Cup team.

Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, the defending champion who is fourth-seeded, clashed with Mark Otway of New Zealand, while 12th-seeded Gardner Mulloy of Miami, Fla., met Peter Molloy of Australia.

Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., the 1953 women's champion, who is seeded second to Miss Connolly, was matched against Miss J. F. Burke of Britain in a center court match.

The top U.S. men's doubles team of Seixas and Trabert, which is seeded second behind the Australian team of Rex Hartwig and Merwyn Ross, was matched against Herb Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., and Larsen on the center court.

Hartwig and Ross were slated to follow on the same court against the British team of Ashley Cooper and Roy Emerson.

Andrews TKOs Nardico in 4th
CHICAGO, June 24—UP—Paul Andrews, a light heavyweight batter, set his sights Thursday on one or two "warmup" bouts before a title battle with whomever might hold the 175 pound crown by that time.

"I don't think I'm ready for Archie Moore yet," he said after a four round technical knockout win Wednesday night over veteran Danny Nardico in the Chicago Stadium.

Andrews, who now has 24 of 27 pro bouts, had no problems with Nardico, who suffered his 13th defeat in 65 battles and his second in 22 meetings with light heavyweights.

No Pitching!

ODESSA, Tex., June 24—UP—The Odessa Oilers, who are in sixth place in the Class C Longshore League, have about decided their main deficiency is in the pitching department.

The Oilers scored 33 runs in their last three games but lost them all.

Washington — (NEA) — Republican Sen. Ralph E. Flanders of Vermont raised a fine point in urging that Sen. Joseph F. McCarthy be stripped of his committee chairmanship if he does not clear himself of charges involving his personal finances. The Senate has removed committee chairmen at least five times in its history. So there are precedents for this action. In 1878, following the election of Andrew Jackson as President, the Senate itself voted to remove Henry Clay as chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee and Daniel Webster as chairman of the Finance Committee. Both these men had opposed Jackson and his policies. President Jackson was, of course, the originator of the political spoils system, mistrusting entrenched officers and believing in rotation in office. Clay and Webster were replaced by two of his followers in a purely political move. In the second instance, the Democratic majority caucus of the Senate took the action. This was in 1859, when Stephen A. Douglas was removed as chairman of the Committee on Territories. The reason was that Douglas opposed the policy of President James Buchanan, though both were members of the Democratic Party. In Gen. Ulysses S. Grant's second administration, the Republican caucus this time took similar action by removing Charles Sumner as chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee. The reason given was that Sumner did not speak to or meet socially with the President and his Secretary of State, Hamilton Fish. This made it impossible for him to carry on his duties. Getting down to more modern times, in 1924 the progressive Republicans were able to block the appointment of Sen. Albert B. Cummins of Iowa to the chairmanship of the Interstate Commerce Committee. He was an "old guard" Republican. Though his appointment had been decided on by the regular Republican caucus in the Senate, the insurgents refused to ratify on the Senate floor. They were able to force a floor vote for three candidates. In the election, Sen. E. D. "Cotton Ed" Smith of South Carolina won, though he was a member of the minority Democratic Party. By still another procedure, the Senate Military Affairs Committee in 1941 forced its chairman, Sen. Robert R. Reynolds of North Carolina, to stand aside and allow his duties to be performed by the ranking Democratic member, Sen. Elbert D. Thomas of Utah. Senator Reynolds was accused of having had close relations with Nazi Germany. This was the era of preparations for World War II. Senator Reynolds was not in sympathy with these moves. He was not fired. The Senate committee just took his job away from him, leaving him his title. These precedents indicate there is a wide variety of methods by which a Senate committee chairman may be removed or stripped of his powers. There is no law or Senate rule governing the selection of committee chairmen. But there are long-standing customs and traditions, which have almost the force of Senate rules, and which would be difficult to upset. These practices are based on the seniority system. Once a senator is appointed to a committee, he can remain as long as he is in Congress, unless he seeks appointment to another committee, and if his seniority entitles him to bump a junior member. Members of committees are ranked according to their years of service. The senior member automatically is designated for chairmanship unless he is chairman of another standing committee. Ever since 1848, it has been Senate practice to make committee appointments by two committees on Committees — one for each party — made up of party leaders. These submit their lists to the Senate for approval as a matter of form. In only one instance — the case of Senator Cummins, cited above — have the lists been questioned or overruled. But the power of the Senate to remove a chairman or change a membership is believed to be inherent. Prior to 1848 the Senate elected all committees and committee chairmen by ballot. The members got their rank by the number of votes they received. This practice led to abuses in political trading for the choicer assignments. All congressional reform efforts to do away with the seniority system and choose committee chairmen on a merit basis have failed.

Senate Precedents Exist For Ousting Committee Heads

Soviets Win Chess Contest

NEW YORK, June 24 — UP — The crack Russian chess team clinched victory over the United States Wednesday night in the first East-West chess tournament played on American soil. The Russian masters compiled the necessary 16 1/2 points to win the series at the end of two games of the final fourth round. Both the fourth round games were ties, giving the Russians the single point they needed for victory. The Soviet team went into the final round with 15 1/2 points. The United States entered the final round with 7 1/2 points and had 8 1/2 points when the Russian victory became apparent. Seven games were still undecided when the Russians won. The draw games which gave the Russians victory Wednesday night were between Samuel Reshevsky of the United States and Russian Vasily Smyslov and American Robert Byrne and Russian Alexander Kotov. Nearly 1,000 spectators watched the finish of the matches Wednesday night in the Hotel Roosevelt here. The tournament ended with U.S. master Reshevsky undefeated in four games against the Russian No. 1 player, Smyslov. All were ties. On the basis of his showing Reshevsky asked for a chance to play a private match with "any of the strong Russian players."

JOHNSON IN HOLLYWOOD

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
 NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Hollywood on TV: It's Art Linkletter who says "Fanny's Fun" before three years of filming weekly Foreign Intrigue telefilms in Europe. Sheldon Reynolds is authority for the statement, "People are actors." Dramatic coaches and the Screen Actors Guild may blush, but Reynolds tipped me that 50 per cent of the featured players and 90 per cent of the bit players in his hit TV films had never acted, or dreamed of acting, before he turned the camera on them. "I go for interesting faces," Reynolds says, "and I don't care where I find them. I've hired Swedish hotel maids and French ditch diggers as actors. If they don't speak English, we dub in their voices." Even Jerome Thor and James Daley were camera unknowns before starting in the adventure series. Thor was a Broadway stage actor, Daley an obscure radio emcee. Reynolds, ex-New York radio and TV writer-director, on overseas movie-making for TV: "It isn't cheaper but it gives the show a label. I don't have to say to my prop man, 'Get me a European-looking ash tray.' I have the European-looking ash tray."

This electronic age note: Wally Cox and Pat Benoit, just married on the Mr. Peppers show, will have a baby in the fall scripts. Dramatic license, they say. Ed Murrow's last Person to Person show of the season, July 2 will start the fireworks early. Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis will howl it up from Hollywood. . . . Another live comedy show from Movietown, "The Mighty O," hits the CBS-TV tubes in September. It's a laugh-getter about two bawling officers on a Coast Guard cutter. Hollywood's new word for telepictures shot in color — tinx. Marjorie Main's up for the lead in "Tugboat Annie," which Edward Small will produce for TV. . . . Eggs agents are now calling Lib-erace "the dimpled darling of the candelabra set." Ugh. . . . Cameras are rolling on Broderick Crawford's series, "The United States Secret Service."

Television network bosses aren't even blushing over Eddie Cantor's charge in Variety that "TV networks lack creative thinking." "Don't grapes," they say. Checking out of a fat NBC contract to film his own shows for syndication, Cantor says the networks have flopped in the good programming department and argues: "They ask themselves 'what's been a success?' and then do something like it." "The 'let's do something like it' attitude is the big trouble with TV today."

Ozzie and Harriet Nelson, who launched the family comedy show on radio 10 years ago and then switched to home screens, are guarding yesterday's dishwasher to people who sneer at the big crop of TV family shows. Says Harriet: "There's great self-identification in them for people and the good shows survive. It's as simple as that."

Paul Kelly, once set to play Warden Duffy in the projected "Duffy of San Quentin" telefilm, has switched to the televersion of "The Whistler."

Edgar Bergen, who's shared his film biography of Charley McCarthy, "From Little Aconas," is unhappy about the live TV contract he signed now that telefilm are a-sloking.

Negroes Given Hospital Use

DALLAS, June 24 — UP — Dallas' only Roman Catholic hospital, St. Paul's, has extended its privileges to five Negro doctors. Details of the new arrangement were worked out Wednesday and announced Wednesday night. Dr. John L. Goforth, medical staff chief, said it was hoped that other Negro doctors might be able to use the hospital later. Sister Mary Helen, administrator of the hospital, said the Negroes would have full use of all facilities except obstetrical services. She said that division was extremely crowded.

The hospital is operated by the Sisters of St. Vincent de Paul. It has had 32 beds for Negro patients who were being treated by white physicians. The five Negroes who now will be allowed to treat their patients at St. Paul's were selected by a committee representing the 18 Negro doctors in Dallas. By still another procedure, the Senate Military Affairs Committee in 1941 forced its chairman, Sen. Robert R. Reynolds of North Carolina, to stand aside and allow his duties to be performed by the ranking Democratic member, Sen. Elbert D. Thomas of Utah. Senator Reynolds was accused of having had close relations with Nazi Germany. This was the era of preparations for World War II. Senator Reynolds was not in sympathy with these moves. Revolutionary New Car Air Conditioning From Nash

At a Price You Won't Believe!

Think of it! That is the revolutionary new NASH ALL-WEATHER EYE! The only car air conditioning system with fresh air intakes on the cowl — above exhaust fume level. The price? The combined Nash refrigerating and heating unit is hundreds of dollars less than cooling systems alone on other cars. See Your Nash dealer's amazing demonstration today! (Nash All-Weather Eye System, Patents Applied For.)
