The televised eclipse of the sun was a fascinating thing to watch. And it opens up new vistas for TV in covering natural phenomena.

There could be a sandy program called, "I Love Summer Solstice." Or big hills could be built around, "This Is Your Neap Tide." "Life With Sunspots," or "Toasts of the Volcanic Eruption." (Theme song — "Lava Come Back to Me.")

The only trouble with televising eclipses is that nothing can be done about rescheduling them for later broadcast to the West Coast.

Eclipses, of course, don't lend themselves to commercials. No sponsor in his right ledger would back a once-a-year program. It wouldn't bring the sales message home with the accepted degree of repetition. Even worse than eclipses, though, would be for a sponsor to buy a TV-cast of Halley's Comet, which passes this way once every 76 years (last seen in 1910).

"Tune in again in 1986 for the next exciting chapter in our story."

graduate work at Occidental College in California (Phi Beta Kappa, too) and then headed for Columbia University here in New York for her master's degree. Her cellar club thesis — cellar clubs are hangouts for teen-agers — was well-received.

But through all these years of higher education and low cellar clubs, she'd been singing. Her parents had thought a professional career more "refined and respectable" but finally let her come east again to study singing. And then it was just a hop skip and tremolo to a radio job and Waring.

She thinks, looking back on it all now, that her knowledge of sociology has helped her get along with people. She still gets — and reads — the sociological journals, as well as Variety.

But, in front of the spotlight, you'd never know she was a sociologist. She's traded her Phi Beta Kappa key for a few other keys.

Earthquake Injures 13; Wide Damage

FALLEN, Nev., July 7 —UP— Jittery Nevadans feared more aftershocks Wednesday in the wake of two sharp earthquakes that jolted widespread areas of western Nevada and California, causing extensive damage and injuring 13 persons.

The quakes were felt most strongly in this farming community of 4,000, but they shook buildings and rattled windows in California's Central Valley and in San Francisco.

Fallen residents were prepared to leave their homes at a moment's notice if they felt any further shocks. Such shocks usually follow a major tremor like Tuesday's.

The first quake was felt about 6:15 a.m. est Tuesday and measured between 6.75 and 7.3 on the Richter scale. The second quake at 5:08 p.m. est measured 8.4.

By comparison, the San Francisco quake of 1906 measured 8.25 and the Tehachapi quake of July 21, 1952, which raised the town and killed 12 persons, measured 7.75.

Nervous residents ran out of their homes and downtown buildings when the second quake struck for about 30 seconds. Bricks loosened by the early morning quake fell to the street, but it appeared there was no extensive additional damage.

Seismologists at the University of California in Berkeley said the early morning quake might have spelled disaster had it been centered in more heavily populated areas.

As it was, the quake caused at least $100,000 damage to the system of dams, canals and irrigation ditches in the Fallon area. Some floods resulted from the broken canals.

Twelve sailors at the Fallon Naval Auxiliary Station were injured, most of them by fragments of glass. One suffered a broken leg when struck by a foot locker.

Son Of Radio Star Is Dead

LOS ANGELES, July 7 —UP— A coroner's autopsy failed Wednesday to disclose the cause of a kidney ailment that led to the "peculiar" death of the seven-year-old son of Charles J. Correll, the Andy of radio's Amos 'n' Andy team.

Dr. Frederick D. Newbarr, county autopsy surgeon, said an autopsy Tuesday revealed definite evidence of damage to the liver and kidneys of young John J. Correll, but added it was unlikely the boy had been accidentally poisoned.

The boy was stricken last Thursday and died Monday. His physician described the death as "peculiar," saying the boy might have been poisoned by paint or insect spray.

Rosary will be recited for the boy Wednesday night in the Good Shepherd Church of Beverly Hills.

Injured Helping Son
TULSA, July 7 —UP— Doctors said Wednesday they had been able to save the remaining hand of 7-year-old H. Coe, father of gubernatorial candidate William O. Coe. The elder Coe's hand was cut Tuesday as he used a power saw to make campaign signs for his son.

Dealer's Complaints Bring Investigators To Auto Row

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Sweeping changes in the $30-billion-a-year automobile industry trade practices may be in the making from an investigation by the antitrust division of the Department of Justice.

First steps in this reform have already been taken. It will be many months before the business surveys are completed, however. Ultimately it is possible new legislation will be asked for to regulate what has become one of America's largest industries.

The automobile industry has always been under the eye of government agencies like Treasury, Justice and Federal Trade Commission. But an increasing number of complaints from automobile dealers themselves in the past year has stepped up antitrust division investigation.

In general, the dealers complain that they have been put under increasing pressure by the manufacturers during the business recession in which car sales have been down.

Judge Stanley N. Barnes, assistant attorney general in charge of the antitrust division, says his investigation now covers seven different fields of automobile industry trade practices.

He stops there. He will not disclose what the seven fields are, but he does say that no one manufacturer is involved in all seven fields.

The scope of this investigation is fairly obvious to anyone who has been at all aware of what has been going on in Auto Row during the past year or so.

General Motors today has approximately 45 per cent of the business and Ford has about 32 per cent.

The rivalry between these two — now controlling over three fourths of the business — for still greater supremacy has made competition from smaller companies extremely difficult. Though there are now 15 makes of cars, General Motors has five, Chrysler four, Ford three, Kaiser and Willys have merged. Nash and Hudson have merged. And the Packard-Studebaker merger wipes out the last two independents.

In this process the control of the manufacturers over the distributors has become much tighter.

While it is recognized that the manufacturers have to sell cars to keep going, attempts to force sales beyond what the market will take have worked hardships on many dealers.

While there is fierce competition among dealers, restraints in dealer franchises are criticized as not permitting the kind of free competition which lets prices fall for the benefit of the ultimate consumer, who is the car buyer.

This has resulted in the "bootlegging" of new cars as used cars so that dealers can get rid of the quotas forced on them by manufacturers.

Instead of running speedometers backward to make used cars seem newer, the trick now is to run speedometers forward so that dealers can unload unsold new cars as used cars.

In mid-April Department of Justice refused to approve a General Motors "railroad release" which would have permitted GM to buy back from its dealers any unsold cars, to prevent their being bootlegged at cut prices. This was the first move on the government's part toward an overhaul of the industry.

Control over parts manufacture and sale is also under scrutiny by Department of Justice investigators.

In January General Motors introduced a new practice whereby it sold its parts to its own dealers exclusively. Sales to independent parts jobbers and warehouses were discontinued. This forced the "alley garages" to buy parts from GM dealers.

Ford and Chrysler have long operated under similar practices.

The system helps dealer sales volume.

But when GM began this, many of the independent jobbers began to fear that they would be forced out of business. So here was another field for antimonopolistic investigation.

In May the National Automobile Parts Association, a combination of some 25 warehouse jobbers, was forced by the Department of Justice to discontinue monopolistic controls over the output of favored parts manufacturers. The consent decree by which this restraint of trade was broken up grew out of an antitrust action begun in 1950.

Airman Charged

SAN ANTONIO, July 7 —UP— Airman Jimmy Shaver, 30, Grape-land, Tex., charged with the rape-murder of a three-year-old girl, was held Wednesday in a secret location. Sheriff Owen Kilday said he moved Shaver from the Bexar county jail after receiving "reliable reports" that there might be an attempt to lynch him.

Name-Dropper

EAST HAVEN, Conn. — (UP) — A Bible salesman was using his name without authority as a reference until a warning was issued to fellow townsmen by Police Chief Edwin B. Priest.

Texas Plans 'Wetback' Roundup

HIDALGO, Tex., July 7 —UP— Lower Rio Grande Valley farmers were given a final chance Tuesday to have illegal alien farmhands "legalized" before the U. S. Border Patrol begins a mass roundup of the aliens.

Officials at the bracero processing center at Hidalgo said Valley farmers had until Thursday to bring workers to the center and have the workers processed as braceros.

After Thursday, farmers will still be able to get Mexican contract workers, but they will not be able to have workers already in this country processed and "legalized."

Border Patrol officials said the mass roundup, similar to one last month in California, will begin by July 15.

Pretty As A Picture

Fetted red nylon dress, printed and flocked with black-and-white flower caris, turns any small girl into a pretty picture. This design by Nannette has sheer white nylon underskirt edged in black, white nylon collar and bow.—By GAILE DUGAS, NEA Women's Editor.

Fad Diets Destroy Health And Beauty

By ALICIA HART, NEA Beauty Editor. This is the time of year when some older women decide to go on a diet, after all. They hope to lose extra poundage in order to look well in their bathing suits. In desperation, they may resort to drastic "fad" diets. These consist mainly of black coffee for breakfast, soup-for-lunch, and salad for dinner. Generally, they starve themselves in their efforts to acquire a svelter streamlined figure through starvation. You'll only lose body looks and health. Besides being harmful, "fad" diets should be avoided because they create real hunger for the dieter. They cannot provide you with enough fuel calories or essential nutrients to carry on your everyday activities. Your own doctor is the best person to consult if you are even thinking about dieting. Depending on your condition, he'll choose one for you. What ever it is, you can be sure it will be both balanced and sufficient. He'll tell you the safest amount of weight to be lost each week, too. Of course, if your overweight problem is less than ten pounds and you are in good health, you can plan your own safe diet. Just cut down on sweets and starches. Reach for a celery stalk instead of that piece of chocolate. And if you can substitute fresh fruit instead of a piece of strawberry shortcake for dessert, you're on your way to learning the technique of permanent weight control. Disregard completely any ideas you may have had about a quick "fad" diet. Remember, your excess weight accumulated over a period of years, and only time, patience and will power can remove it.

Plain Table Salt Is Good As Beauty Aid

If someone told you there is a magic substance that stimulates circulation and prepares you to meet the day with vigor and alertness, and that also eases a sore, soothed, frazzled nerves when day is done, it would be natural to expect such a product to be costly and out of reach of many. But it isn't. It's plain, common table salt that costs but a few cents a box. Salt has worked its wonders for mankind for thousands of years. It continues to be one of the most useful and versatile products we have. Today its uses in the bathroom are chalking up beside its kitchen and other household uses. You start the day with vim and vigor if you add a brisk salt rub to your morning bath. Rub plain white salt over the entire body until the skin is pink and tingles. Your circulation steps up, your body is toned and you are ready to tackle the day's work. At the other end of the day, when you're tired and worn, your nerves frayed and you can't relax, add a couple of handfuls of salt to a warm bath. Lie there and soak until the tired, jumpy feeling gives way to an easy, relaxed calm. Again you may have pounded the hot pavements or taken too many steps in keeping up with your daily chores. Your burning feet are popping out of your shoes. Try soaking them alternately in a hot salt water bath and then in a cool bath until the burn and swelling are gone. For the busy person, a dry shampoo between times often is a must. One of the most effective and easy-to-remove applications is a combination of one ounce of powdered oxide root and one cup of salt. Spread well over the hair and scalp, rub in with the fingertips, then brush vigorously. The hair turns out fresh and glossy. As a treatment for dandruff, try a mixture of one cup of salt and five tablespoons of water packed on the scalp. Let remain for ten or fifteen

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE. We are dicing onions into chopped steak when we hear the shrieks from the back yard. We fly to the kitchen door. In the yard, Kate's doll carriage is overturned. Kate herself is sprawled on her brother's back, banging at his shoulders with her clenched fists. Between blows, Bobby raises his head like a spouting whale to emit his shrieks of protest and outrage. At the sound of our voice, our daughter scrambles to her feet and wails. "He threw mud into my doll buggy, mother! He just picked up a hunk of mud and..." Bobby's got his breath. "She stepped on my Strato-liner first!" he gasps. "She busted it. She..." "I did not!" Kate cries to us. "He shoved it in my face! He said he betted that I wished he'd let me fly it!" He said... In these situations, we act instead of talking. We put space between Bobby and Kate. We send Bobby to his room and Kate to the sunporch. We maintain this space between them until their passions have lost their urgency. Even when they've lost it, we should take care in judging the rights and wrongs of our children's quarrel. For each can only present us with prejudiced testimony. If we do make the mistake of judging on the prejudiced testimony offered us by our excited children, we are more apt to foment more quarreling than to resolve their argument. We adults are very conscious of our rights to justice. If we ourselves cannot resolve a quarrel with a neighbor, judges, lawyers and juries have to decide it for us. As we don't have time for such impartial investigation into children's fights, we should not judge the fights. Our hasty judgments are dangerous. If I accept Bobby's prejudiced testimony against his sister, I can quickly become infected with prejudice against her. Soon, whenever he and Kate quarrel, I will blame Kate for it, not on the merits of Bobby's case against her, but on my suspicion of Kate as a starter of quarrels. In no time at all, I will be incapable of impartial justice to Bobby and Kate. When children learn that we reuse judgment on their quarrels, they resolve the quarrels themselves. They are able to do it, because their feelings for each other are not embittered and intensified by fear of our disapproval, or by dependence on our justification. minutes, and rinse well with warm water. The salt tones the scalp and loosens acaty particles. Rubber tile flooring is available in pastel colors which give a feeling of spaciousness to a room. These floorings require damp-mop care. Extra-stubborn stains such as paint, ink or nail polish, come off by rubbing with fine steel wool.

Play Shoes Are Fireworks Of Fashion

There's never been so much excitement in footwear as there has been since the play and at-home shoe was discovered. The sky is literally the limit when it comes to fashion extravaganzas in the field. No material is too improvable, no color or pattern too striking, no decoration too bizarre for somebody's fancy. Best of all, the choice is unlimited, the price range very wide. The gay and colorful spot in the shop where these shoes are displayed is sure to have women of all ages buzzing around—and buying! Where lines are simple, colors and materials are gay. Take the smart tapered flats, pretty and trim on the foot, the perfect accompaniment to modern suburban life. But take them, say, in brilliant orange linen with bright brass dots. How about a thong sandal of azure deerskin? It doesn't look primitive but the height of sophistication. The mother and daughter look-alike trend is apparent in play shoes. The little-girl flats with one or two straps in pastel or bright colored kidskin appeal to young mothers too. For a summery look, these come also in white, natural or pastel linens, sometimes sprinkled with handwoven colored beads or a touch of floral embroidery. For those who want the least shoe with the most style there are some new hot-weather beauties to choose from. Outstanding is one with a lacing that ties around the ankle, a sole and a huge jeweled button to hold it in place. Another favorite is a sole on flat or medium heel with just a broad band swathing the instep. This may be suede, smooth leather or fabric, in pure white, dead black or high shades, often perforated for a more open look. On the practical side, there are some knitted cotton slippers in white or natural with dark or bright borders. With pressed foam soles, they are glove-easy on the foot, completely washable and packable, perfect with play dresses or slacks. At the opposite extreme, for sheer fun and fantasy, we recently saw a pair of play shoes in natural sueded pigskin-velvet soft. One was flat, the other a high open wedge. And they were trimmed with sparkling rhinestones and simulated sapphires in bands around the heels, decoration on the vamps. Couldn't have been smarter for cabana wear, for dinner on the terrace, or just for a conversation piece.

RUTH MILLET

Just because Mama's marriage pattern works for her doesn't necessarily mean the same pattern will make her daughter happy. The following letter bears that out: "I grew up in a family where Papa was the most important member of the family. My mother catered to his every desire. She cooked what he liked to eat. "She never spent any money without consulting dad about it first. She carried out all the rules he laid down for his children, even though I suspect she often thought he was too strict. "She entertained the friends he enjoyed, went where he wanted to go, walked easy when he was in a grouchy mood. In fact, all of us grew up with the idea that Dad was the important member of the family. "I married at 18 and I suppose, without realizing it, I copied my mother's way of treating a husband. I guess I didn't know there was any other way. "Well, after 17 years of marriage I have thoroughly spoiled my husband and it doesn't help any to know that I have only myself to blame. "I see how much happier my friends are who haven't spoiled their husbands the way I've spoiled mine. But I don't suppose there is any hope of changing a relationship after 17 years of marriage. Of course there is. You can't change it overnight. But you can do it gradually. "First of all you'll have to stop thinking of yourself as a wife cut from the same pattern as your mother and start being yourself. When you stop acting like you think a wife should act and start acting like yourself you'll be well on the way to changing things. "Don't make the mistake of making a right-about-face on everything simply because you've been spoiled your husband in the past. That would certainly throw a monkey wrench into your marriage. "Instead, examine your behavior as you go along, asking yourself: "Is this my own attitude or is it one I borrowed from my mother?" If it isn't yours, discard it. If it is yours then it's right for you. "A waffle iron grid mustn't be scrubbed, but you can soap down the outside and the edges. An electric toaster must never be immersed, but shake out the crumbs and then soap down the outside. Electric heating and broiling equipment can be taken apart for washing. "It's possible to buy quilted garments made with dacron padding, process. Generally, it takes some time for quilted garments to be completely dried through. These dacron driers are said not to lump when wet.

By GAYNOR MADDOX. NEA Food and Markets Editor. Blueberries are as American as the flag. It was the Indians who first taught us to enjoy them. And modern agriculturists have developed the berry to its present cultivated state of largeness, juiciness and awesomeness. Elizabeth Walls of Whitesboro, N. Y., has been one of the leaders in pioneer commercial plantings of the modern blueberry. Old-Fashioned Fresh Blueberry Cobbler (Makes about 6 servings) Four cups cultivated blueberries, washed and drained, 3/4 cup sugar, 3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca, 2 tablespoons butter or oleo, 1/4 cup shortening, 1 1/2 cups flour, 1/2 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 1/2 cup milk, 1 egg, slightly beaten. Combine blueberries, sugar and tapioca in 8-inch square baking dish. Dot with butter or margarine. Sift together in a mixing bowl remaining dry ingredients. Cut in egg. Gradually add to dry ingredients, stirring until flour is just dampened. Drop batter in 6 mounds on blueberries. Bake for 15 minutes at 325 deg. F. Reduce heat to 350 deg. F. and continue to bake 30 minutes or until done. Note: If frozen cultivated blueberries are used, thaw and drain. Proceed as with fresh berries. If canned cultivated blueberries are used, drain and proceed as with fresh berries. Blueberry Drops (Makes about 24) Two egg whites, 1 cup granulated sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup

Best Bet For Bridesmaids:

By GAILE DUGAS, NEA Women's Editor. NEW YORK — (NEA) — The girl who acts as a bridesmaid at one or more summer weddings is invariably ended up with some frilly-looking dresses for which she has no use. Chances are very good that they're not her own taste at all. So the dress chosen by the bride goes into the bridesmaid's closet to stay. By using a small amount of ingenuity and a little time, a girl can redeem her lost investment and provide herself with a new dress for parties. A frilly, baby-blue dress can, for instance, be shortened by removal of ruffles, tinted any color she likes and transformed completely by use of plastic buttons as a surface trim. Tissue melamine-type buttons which can be sewn on by machine, will not, the makers claim, warp or melt in ironing. Further, they resist abrasion and keep their color. And they needn't be removed from the dress before it's dry-cleaned. We show (above) a bridesmaid's dress that's been prettied up through use of gleaming white plastic buttons formed into clusters of grapes. Both leaves and buttons were sewn on with zigzag stitch. Possibilities for such button designs are endless. They can be worked out to fit in best with the lines of the dress in question.

Concert Association Membership Open To New Pampans

Newcomers to Pampa may still become members of the Community Concert Association, advised Mrs. Raymond Harrah Sr., president. The membership drive ended in April, but persons who moved to Pampa after that time may still join by contacting Mrs. A. A. Schueman, association secretary. Price of membership for adults is $5 and $3 for students. The local association has reciprocity with Shamrock. Mrs. Harrah stated, which means Pampa members may attend concerts in that city and vice versa. Membership cards are expected to be mailed one week before the first concert, slated for October. The concert schedule for the coming season includes Richard Gregor, pianist, in October; Robert Shaw Choral and Orchestra in November; The Angelaires, five-girl harpist ensemble, in January; and Donald Dickson, tenor, in April. The Association's membership drive this year was a success, Mrs. Harrah pointed out. It was the group's sixteenth drive.

Miss Jaquelin Robertson Awarded Scholarship To Baylor University

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Robertson, 448 Graham, have received word that their daughter, Jaquelin, has been selected to receive an I. A. Goldstein Scholarship Award at Baylor University. Miss Robertson won the scholarship after taking a series of tests in competition with other students. She plans to study nursing. A 1954 graduate of Pampa High School, Miss Robertson was active in many activities while in school. She was president of Future Teachers Association, a student council member for four years and secretary her senior year. She was chosen "Best Pampa High School Citizen" in 1954, and was a member of the National Honor Society for two years. She was a member Tri-Hi-Y, A Cappella Choir, and the high school debate team. She was secretary of her class in 1953 and was a delegate to the Texas Student Council that same year. In addition to her school activities, she was Lions Club pianist this year and has been pianist for the Calvary Baptist church for

Banish Date Fears By Planning Ahead

If you're a teenager who develops a slight case of stagefright when preparing for a special date, you can banish all "dressing-room" fears by planning everything a week in advance. Make a complete list of what you'll wear. If it's to be formal, have your gown ready. Look it over carefully to see if it needs pressing. Check the zipper, too. Being unable to get into a dress at the last minute is a real disaster. Are your dancing shoes in good condition? Do they match or harmonize with the gown you're going to wear? If your shoes are ready to wear, wrap them in white tissue paper and put them in an empty hatbox in your closet. This way, they'll be safe and easy to reach. Next, arrange your cosmetics and grooming aids on your dressing table. See to it that you have enough cold cream, hand cream, deodorant, etc., on hand and you'll avoid those frantic shopping trips when the time of the date is at hand. Decide on what shade of lipstick and nail polish will set your gown off nicely. These, plus your powder, and a few clean, cotton balls for applying it will cover most of your make-up needs. Hair and nails should be attended to well in advance. A nylon scarf placed on the same hanger with your dress, will remind you to tie it over your face and hair before slipping on your dress. The scarf will protect your dress from lipstick and make-up and your hair from mussing at the same time. The girl who presents the prettiest, most relaxed appearance at a dance or party is the one who has planned everything ahead of time and can enjoy herself with confidence.

JOHNSON IN HOLLYWOOD

By ERKINE JOHNSON NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Behind the Screens: Is there a jinx that follows former child stars once they grow up and try to make the star grade? Peggy Ann Garner, who has developed into a shapely, husky-voiced, attractive package in the five years that have passed since she left Hollywood, doesn't know from the well-known "nothing" about the jinx legend.

Before the camera in "Black Widow" at Fox, where she zoomed to stardom as a solemn-faced moppet, 22-year-old Peggy Ann told me: "I just don't believe that there's a jinx."

"If a former child-actor has a problem, it's probably one he created himself. If you prove that you have what it takes when you grow up, nobody in show business will realize you because you were once a child star."

Marlon Brando is looking sheepish about transatlantic phone calls from Paris scribes checking rumors that he's secretly married to Denise Darcel. He admitted to press agents at Fox, where he's starring in "Desiree," that he playfully wrote something of the sort to a pal who has a crush on Denise.

Den Dalley is on the road to a settlement of custody problems with his ex-wife, Lis, now Mrs. Hudson L. McGuire of Leavenworth, Kan. Dan relinquished all rights in a previous custody agreement valid until the youngster was five, and now he's merely asking that his son spend all summer vacations with him.

Meanwhile, he's taking a ribbing about playing the father of Mitti Gaynor, Donald O'Connor, and Johnny Ray in "There's No Business Like Show Business." Laughs Dan: "People forget. I've played father to Colleen Townsend, Mona Freeman and a lot of other young people."

"The only difference now is that I don't have to put gray in my hair to be believable in a father role."

Sam Goldwyn's film version of "Guys and Dolls" is expected to launch a new cycle of Damon Runyon films. Columbia's already planning a musical remake of "Lady for a Day," the old hit starring Mae Robson. Betty Hutton and Charles O'Connor kissed and made up, then broke up again.

The story of the famous London Palladium music hall will be filmed by Henry Ginsberg. The movie will be an international story revue, with scenes to be shot in Hollywood, New York and London. Samia Gamal, the belly dancer, will be billed over Robert Taylor and Eleanor Parker when "Valley of the Kings" plays Egypt. It's in her MGM contract. New title for "The Human Beast" — "Human Desire."

Too many people thought it was another horror film.

Law Ayres' pals are getting letters from the Orient, where he's filming a religious television series featuring leading churchmen of all faiths. An ace cameraman is accompanying the actor around the world.

It's 17 years in show business for young old-timer June Haver. She made her radio debut at the age of 10, in Rock Island, Ill., in 1937. Mario Lanza has two movie contracts waiting for the day when he can shake off enough heft to tip the scales at 210 pounds. But so far he hasn't shed an ounce of the Falstaffian girth.

If the name of Mae Wynn, the only doll in "The Caine Mutiny," strikes your humor rib, consider the name of Win Min Than. She's the 21-year-old Burmese beauty

WASHINGTON, July 7 — UP — The U. S. Air Force is flight testing a spectacular new jet fighter reported to be faster than any warplane in the world. Authorities said Wednesday the scrappy little jet — designated the XF-104 — may become the first combat plane to reach a speed bordering on 1,000 miles per hour. Of radical design, it has tiny, straight wings mounted far back on a slender fuselage.

who plays Gregory Peck's leading lady in "The Purple Plain." Immediately after the film she rushed back to Bruma saying she was giving up her movie career.

It is stripped of much of the complicated and weighty gear installed in night and all-weather interceptors and is referred to in some quarters as a "light-weight fighter."

Susan Hayward pulled a Jane Russell when she signed in at RKO for her role in "The Conqueror." Brought her own make-up man, Tom Tuttle, from Fox. Jane's RKO grease-pencil expert follows her from studio to studio.

The XF-104 weighs as much as the F-86 Sabre of Korea fame, however, and is not to be confused with some of the European "stripped-down" fighter designs, authorities said.

Hearing Continued AUSTIN, July 7 — UP — A hearing on the fate of General American Casualty Co. of San Antonio continued in 128th district court Wednesday after two reorganization plans were submitted. Under one plan, General American would be reorganized under a new name, and the other called for it to be taken over by Home Service Casualty Insurance Co. of Dallas.

The Lockheed plane, if tests prove it successful and production is ordered, would fill a demand by many of the Air Force's tactical units. The fliers argue that so much effort has gone into develop-

Killed Near Enid ENID, Okla., July 7 — UP — Mrs. Evans Talley, 50, wife of a prominent Enid doctor, was killed Tuesday when her car collided with a truck south of Enid at a county road intersection.

Robert Shelton, 90, explained, "I don't believe in retirement so long as you can stand on your feet."

Second Giant Leap Air Force officers said they also want a "light-weight" day fighter for the day-in and day-out job of battling enemy aircraft ahead of the ground battleline, as the Sabre did in Korea. Such a fighter also could supplement the expensive all-weather types in continental air defense.

Good Foothold NEW HAVEN, Conn. — (UP) — Still working for a hardware manufacturer after 75 years service.

Development of the XF-104 means that the speed of air combat has taken a second giant leap in the short time since the Korean War. Sabre fighters with the Russian-built MIG-15 were in the 600 to 700 mile an hour range. Production of the F-100 Super Sabre, the first supersonic combat plane in history, pushed the range to 800 to 900 MPH. Now the range is on the threshold of 900 to 1,000 MPH.

Care Advised In Heat Cases

LINCOLN, Neb. — (UP) — Caution should be used in giving first aid for ailments due to summer heat, according to Helen Becker, extension health specialist at the University of Nebraska.

Miss Becker emphasized that first aid should never be given unless you determine, with a thermometer, the victim's temperature.

If the temperature is 108 or higher, give first aid for stroke, she said. If it is around 102, don't do anything. It begins to rise. When a person collapses in hot weather, the health specialist said, he should be moved to the shade and any tight clothing loosened. If his skin feels hot, he probably has sunstroke or heatstroke — but do not give first aid until you are sure.

For sunstroke or heatstroke, put a pillow under the victim's head, and cool him quickly by soaking his clothes with cold water, covering him with wet sheets or bath towels, or put ice packs around his head, neck or body.

The victim should be fanned and some one should rub his arms and legs to keep blood circulating. A cold bath should be prepared while waiting for the doctor. A person struck with heat prostration should have his head kept low, and his body should be kept warm. Even though the weather is hot, cover him with blankets and put hot water bottles around him. Rub his arms and legs, she said. If he is conscious, give him hot tea or coffee.

EASY DOES IT—But it pays to walk softly in a mine field, so the British Royal Engineers are experimenting with inflatable sneakers for wear in the ticklish business of sweeping for land mines. At left, sapper John Bonny inflates a sneaker before trying them out, at right. Behind Bonny is a four-footed detecting "device"—a mine-finding dog.

YOUNG SALESMAN—Five-year-old Michael Fryer and his dog are dressed up for a children's pet parade in La Grange, Ill. That long pooch represents a hot dog with a bun wrapped around it, and young Mike carries a pot of mustard that ought to contain enough.

SOMETHING FOR THE GIRLS—When Mac Reynolds, of Watertown, Wis., got his divorce, he reversed the usual tradition. In Milwaukee, he placed a "Just Divorced" sign on the back of his car as a warning to any party who might be interested.

TRAFFIC PROBLEM—The Sheriff's office had trouble in Wichita, Kans., when patrol cars were dispatched to an aircraft plant where cattle had wandered onto the highway and stopped traffic. Patrolman Harry Price is shown directing some of the autos around the wandering animals.

INTERNATIONAL SET—French mannequins in Berlin are getting a model's eye view through one of the U. S. cameras now recording news events throughout European nations and bringing video to the continent and Great Britain. These girls were taking part in a fashion show which an American TV company was filming.

KNITTING TOGETHER—Attorney William Cohen discovered a few years ago in Detroit that knitting argyle socks relieved the tension built up in courtrooms. Now he's recuperating from an accident in which he sustained a few smashed bones. The knitting is coming in handier than ever for it helps pass time.

THREE OF A KIND—School's out and the Garner sisters from the University of Nevada are enjoying the sun at the Sands in Las Vegas, Nev. Only their closest friends can tell them apart but, left to right they are: June, Jean and Joan. And they're mighty nice to see.

Clark, Gonzales On Mound Tonight

By BUCK FRANZIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

The Oilers snapped out of their brief batting slump last night to rack five Albuquerque pitchers for 10 hits and a 10-10 victory over the Dukes in the opener of a three-game series.

The Oiler attack included four home runs including two by third baseman Curtis Hardaway, his 19th and 20th of the season. Don Tierney clouted No. 10 while Joe Fortin, who made his debut with the Oilers last night, got the other round tripper.

The two teams will conclude their series with a double header tonight. Vibert Clark (7-5) and Luis Gonzales (6-1) have been named to start for the Oilers. Clark will work the first game.

Game time for tonight's opener has been set for 7:30. Last night's Oiler victory coupled with Clovis' loss to Abilene pulled the Pampanos to within three games of the league lead and strengthened the Oilers' hold on second place as third place Amarillo bowed to Lubbock.

Oilers Start Early
The Oilers wasted little time in getting their scoring attack underway last night. The locals broke loose for six runs in the first frame that drove starting pitcher Pete Domenici to the showers.

Domenici got the first batter to face him but he never got out No. 2. Ben Felder singled sharply to right to start the Oilers rolling. Hardaway drew a base on balls and Fortin lined one off the center field wall to score Felder. That finished Domenici and brought on Grover Blacksher.

Tierney, however, greeted Blacksher with his homer that drove in three runs and put Oilers ahead 4-2. The locals were never headed thereafter.

The Oilers continued their scoring ways in the second and third innings with three-run rallies and then climaxed their run-making in the fifth with seven big runs.

Hardaway's first homer, coming with one on, featured the second inning spree while Fortin's circuit wallop, coming with two on, sparked the third inning rally.

Hardaway's second homer of the night highlighted the big seven-run fifth inning, the blow coming with two on.

Jonas Gaines coasted to his eighth win of the year against only one loss. Gaines thus became the winningest Oiler pitcher as he had been tied with two others with seven wins apiece.

In addition to the four homers, Ben Felder and J. B. Palmer were big guns in the Oiler onslaught, each collecting four safeties.

After Domenici was shelved from the mound in the first inning, he was followed by Blacksher, Manager Tom Jordan, Joe Pierre and Cliff Crawford.

Last night's Oiler victory was Pampa's 40th of the year against 31 losses.

Abilene Trips Leading Clovis

By UNITED PRESS
The Abilene Blue Sox won their fifth game in the last six starts Tuesday night, beating Clovis 8 to 2 and cutting the Pioneers' West Texas-New Mexico League lead to three games.

While Clovis was getting beat, second place Pampa poured it on Albuquerque, 19 to 10. It was the first game the two teams had been scheduled to play at Pampa this season. All previous ones were postponed because of bad weather and heavy clouds. A sprinkling of rain threatened to postpone Tuesday night's contest.

CINCINNATI, July 7-UP—Manager Walter Alston will abide closely with the choices of the nation's fans when he shops for a record fifth straight National League triumph in the major league All-Star game at Cleveland next Thursday.

Except for left field, Alston's squad will contain every man who finished either first or second in the 2-voting.

The Dodger manager, first freshman pilot in all-star history, selected a pitching staff containing three lefties and four right-handers and boasting an overall mark of 66 victories and 36 defeats.

He has baseball's two top winners, lefties Johnny Antonelli of the Giants at 19-2 and Harvey Haddix of the Cardinals at 12-1. The other hurlers and their records through July 5 were Robin Roberts of the Phillies at 11-8, Carl Erskine of Brooklyn 9-7, rookie Gene Conley of Milwaukee at 6-3, relief ace Merv Griffin of the Giants at 8-3, and veteran southpaw Warren Spahn of Milwaukee at 8-9.

In left field, Alston deviated from the voting by the fans when he chose Frank Thomas of the Pirates as his second man behind Stan Musial, a seventh outfielder named to the squad, Gus Bell of Cincinnati, was third, choice of the fans for center field.

In the infield, Alston's No. 2 selections were Gil Hodges of Brooklyn at short and Randy Jackson of Chicago at third. That was the way the fans voted for them behind their top choices of Ted Kluszewski, Gran Hamner, Alvin Dark, and Ray Jablonki.

Smoky Burgess of the Phils was the No. 3 man for catcher with both Alston and the fans behind Roy Campanella of the Dodgers. Del Crandall of Milwaukee, who fanned third with the fans, also was selected by Alston as a spare receiver.

Alston will be supported by two former NL pennant winners and All-Star managers as his coaches, Manager Leo Durocher of the Giants and Charley Grimm of the Braves, previously were chosen to be Alston's aides by Warren Giles, president of the National League.

Manager Casey Stengel of the American League all-stars, made several changes in his squad because of injuries. He dropped third baseman George Kelly and first baseman Ferris Fain, both of the White Sox, and added first baseman Mickey Vernon of Washington and lefty pitcher Dean Stone, a rookie with a 7-1 mark, also from the Senators. An allowance had been made previously for Kell when Stengel chose Jim Flanagan of the Athletics as a third baseman.

THE JERRY BOSTONS, senior and junior of Pampa, aren't surreptitiously plotting the opening of a jewelry store, but it began to look like some such shady shenanigans were under way Monday when prizes were distributed at the end of the Borger Invitational golf meet. Both Bostons stepped forward and received watches. Then, again, again and again they had their hands out when swag came around. Finally the elder Boston thought it wise to make known to the crowd that some of the loot piled around him was being carried to other Pampanos who had left earlier, Frank Mitchell, Robert Narron and Leon Fain.

CLOSE PLAY—Gary Wilhelm, centerfielder for First National Bank PONY League, slides safely into third base during yesterday's game with Kist's Beverage that wound up in a 5-5 draw. Wilhelm later scored to tie the count at the time, 3-3. The third baseman for Kist's in the above action is John Nutting. (News Photo by T. D. Ellis)

Tribe Continues Winning Ways

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer

If the Cleveland Indians continue to play the same kind of ball, they'll wind up in the World Series and Casey Stengel may wind up his association with the Yankees.

Stengel, in the first flush of pennant victories in the past, has said, "If we'd a lost, I'd have been gone" and has indicated since then he will retire only when the Yankees fail to win the flag.

The way the Indians are rolling now, they have a 3 1/2 game lead in the American League race and are playing at a feverish .778 pace in their last 27 games that is all but hastening Stengel's departure.

There seems to be no stopping the Indians. Take, for example, their 11 to 3 victory over the Orioles Tuesday night. They scored 11 runs in the first inning, making their biggest uprising in a single frame since pouring across 14 runs in one inning during the 1949 season.

Glynn Homers Again
Billy Glynn, who smashed three homers in one game Monday night off the big frame against Joe Coleman with a homer. After two singles and a walk loaded the bases, Wally Westlake emptied them with a triple, then came home himself on George Strickland's single. Five more singles and two walks completed the carnage.

Giants Beat Dodgers
Washington rallied for its runs in the sixth to beat Philadelphia, 5 to 2 as Jimmy Schroy was the winner despite a loss by Lou Limmer.

The Giants, refusing to let up the second-place Dodgers, led them for the fourth straight time within a period of nine days, 2 to 1 victory over the Red Sox, the world champions failed to finish off a pair of small home chops for dinner.

Elsewhere in the American League, Virgil Trucks of the White Sox, a guy who has pitched major league no-hitters and who isn't especially interested in third one, just missed by oneing the Tigers for a 4 to 0 triumph. Harvey Kuenn's third inning air clear smash to center — the lone Detroit safety. It was Trucks' 11th triumph.

Dallas Makes Big Move In Obtaining Major League Club

DALLAS, July 7-UP—Six Dallas millionaires, apparently "rumormongers" for a major league baseball franchise before rival Houston grabs one of, claimed Wednesday to have $6 million ready cash and knowledge of where they can buy the team they want.

"The men with the big money were coy. Even the spokesman for the unidentified millionaires, a syndicate of six to be expanded to 30, demanded anonymity.

But all of a sudden this major league baseball talk in Dallas seemed to be blossoming into something more than talk.

"The men in the group are live-wire leaders in the city," said Dick Burnett, owner of the Dallas Eagles of the class AA Texas League and a man openly ambitious to operate a major league franchise provided it is properly financed.

"Actually, it is a group of men who will operate along the plan of Cotton Bowl Athletic Association. It's a civil venture and they don't plan to make any money out of it."

A spokesman for the millionaires said Tuesday the syndicate was ready to spend "between $5 million and $6 million" to buy a major league baseball franchise for Dallas.

Burnett, who only last week was of the opinion that it would require a municipal stadium to turn the trick for Dallas and that he couldn't expand his Burnett Field to accommodate a big league team, suddenly came forth with plans to enlarge his baseball park to seat "about 30,000 fans."

"Can Get Franchise"
The Dallas Chamber of Commerce athletic relations committee convened at noon and passed a resolution asking the chamber board of directors to meet at the earliest possible date with the Dallas Citizens Council and decide if the two organizations were ready to support the move to obtain a major league franchise.

The spokesman for the syndicate said it knew where it could get a franchise, but it wasn't saying just now where that would be.

"It would up the price a bit," the spokesman said, adding: "I know that we can get a franchise."

At least one major league baseball club, the Philadelphia Athletics, is known to be in financial difficulty.

Chrysler Earns High Praise In Stiff Automotive Tests

The mighty Chrysler New Yorker Deluxe, the automobile that is causing a sensation among motorists, has been praised highly by Don Werner, editor of "Motor Life."

These are some of the findings of Werner's test crew, and you can see them yourself by calling Cornelius Motor Co., 318 W. Foster, 4-4838.

In horsepower development when it announced the New Yorker Deluxe model for 1954, last year the Fire-Power V-8 attracted wide attention from the public, including hot rodders and sports car builders, when it was rated at 180 hp. But the latest version, boosted by 50 hp to a peak of 230, promises something new.

As soon as Chrysler brought out the car, it was given a high priority on "Motor Life's" road testing schedule. The basic question: How well does a big, family-sized sedan perform when powered by a stock engine of such potency?

The answers were provided during 30 days of careful inspection, severe performance tests and more than 1,000 miles of city and highway driving accompanied by heavy rains, hot sun and high winds.

Chosen for experimenting was a four-door sedan that was equipped with practically every item of equipment. Most important accessories were a Power-Flite transmission, power steering and power brakes.

Four drivers ranging from an ordinary motorist to an experienced competition professional, participated in the tests. In addition, an average housewife checked the handling in traffic for the woman's reaction. The analysis that follows is a summary of their opinions.

Chief interest of the road crew centered on the acceleration and top-speed runs, since this was the highest powered stock car tested to date. Speeds clocked during the flying quarter-mile were remarkable. Peak time registered was 11.62 miles per hour, at steady speeds, the Chrysler recorded very respectable mileage for a car of from 20 miles per gallon at 30 mph and 16.2 at 60.

Power steering gives the New Yorker Deluxe virtually finger-tip control. Turning ease was strongly advocated by the woman test driver. The 12-inch power brakes were a notable feature, requiring only moderate pressure to bring the two-ton machine to a quick stop in a straight line.

For riding comfort the Chrysler is unsurpassed. The characteristic chair-high seating gives a good view of the road. Cushioning is of just the right tonal.

Chrysler has continued its traditional styling for the 1954 models. The overall length has been increased by four inches, and the paint was good, bumpers were designed for maximum protection while headlights were slightly flared.

Interiorly, the Chrysler designers apparently are comfort and safety minded. Most of the dash board is padded for possible bumps and leather-covered to eliminate reflection. The seat has seven adjustable positions and vision was excellent from either side.

To sum up, the New Yorker Deluxe can be considered a good representative of most features which are widely accepted as best in American automobiles. It is big, powerful, fast, comfortable, dependable, economical, easy to steer and safe. What more could you ask for. You can see the new Chrysler at Cornelius Motor Co., located at 325 W. Foster.

50 Chinese Ask Return To Homeland

WASHINGTON, July 7 — U. S. officials are quietly checking the background of about 60 Chinese in this country who are anxious to go to Red China to live, informed sources reported Tuesday.

Most of the Chinese are students who have acquired training in the United States, often at this government's expense, and who have not been permitted to return home to communism.

A decision to permit the majority of all of this group to return to China might have an important bearing on the Peiping regime's release of 45 American civilian and military personnel languishing in Red jails.

Informal talks have been held at Geneva between American and Red Chinese officials on freeing the imprisoned Americans. A Red spokesman has hinted that release of the Americans was linked with return of 5,000 Chinese students in the U. S. He alleged "forcibly retained" here by the United States.

Official sources say the 5,000 estimate was a "wild exaggeration" of the number of Chinese students who want to go home. The United States was said to have denied exit permission to about 124 Chinese who once expressed interest in leaving. Of that number, only about 50 still want to return and it is their records which are being checked, informants said.

Davey Jones' Locker May Give Secret Of Danish Coast Wreck

COPENHAGEN — (UP) — The 200-year-old mysteries of the armed freighter on the sea bottom of the Danish coast of Skagen are nearing solution.

The recent finding of a Russian kopeck coin from 1757 indicates, according to experts, that the ship was of Swedish or Russian origin.

A professional wreck hunter Sigurd Damgaard, 69, is doing a detective's job on board his ship, Sankt Georg, assisted by his son, Sigurd, 24, and a diver, Borge Johus. Beside his investigations on behalf of the museums and historians, he runs his business, fishing from wrecked ships along the Danish coast tons of iron and other metals for sale.

Damgaard, known among fishermen as "the pirate" because, they say, he looks like one, is spending his life exploring wrecks. He knows them all and all about them, and he has made a living out of them for 44 years.

Every day when weather permits, he is fishing materials from the more than 100 wrecks on his list. "I shall never be out of work," he said. "The sea bottom is almost oak-planked by shipwrecks."

Damgaard has picked up a sun marked "anno 1757" and several other things, all sent to the arms museum of Copenhagen, with which he cooperates without compensation.

This summer he hopes to get after a big treasure in gold supposed to have been on the British ship St. George which was wrecked and sank with 1,700 men on Christmas night, 1812, off the western coast of Denmark. More than 10 years ago, after having checked with the British Admiralty, which confirmed his information, he found the vessel, half buried in the sand.

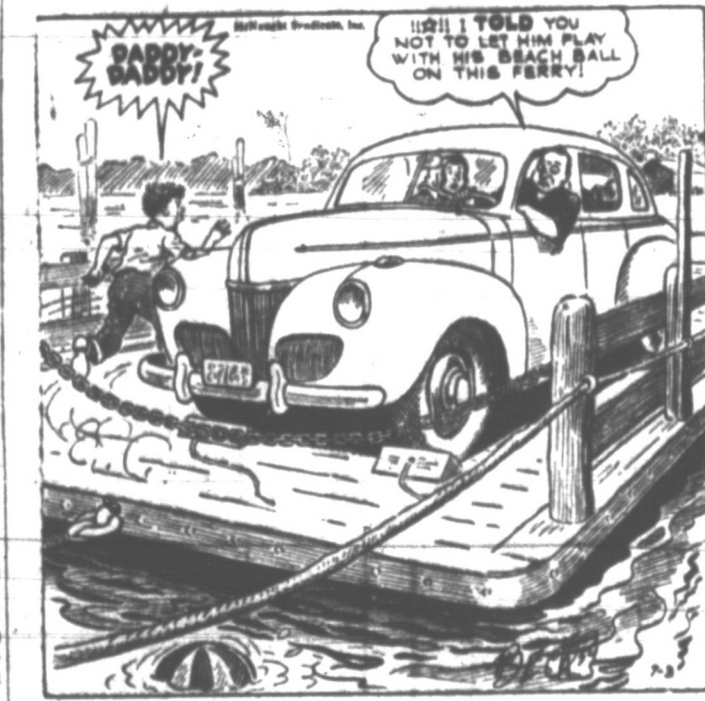

According to a story told by seven survivors a chest containing gold went down with the ship. Every year Damgaard has inspected the St. George wreck, and this summer he will make an attempt to get into its cabins to seek the chest.

Water Trouble (UP) Mayor Andrew Broadus recently agreed with his constituents that Louisville's water tastes bad. At a meeting of the Louisville Water Co. directors, the mayor confessed he uses bottled spring water at his home. The disagreeable taste and smell of the city's water has been blamed on bacteria, detergents, and various industrial wastes in the Ohio River.

France May Use Draftees In Indo-China

PARIS, July 7 — Premier Pierre Mendès-France will ask the national assembly to approve sending French draftees to Indo-China if the war is not ended by his July 20 deadline, informed sources said Wednesday.

The sources said Mendès-France decided to move after a cabinet meeting Tuesday and was to appear before the assembly Wednesday at 3 p.m. (8 a.m. est) to disclose his intentions.

Draftees are prohibited by law from being sent to combat zones, but observers predicted the deputies will balk at changing this law no matter how black the picture is painted in Indo-China.

Highway Patrolman Cites Area Accident Incidence

There has been a traffic accident every 6 1/2 hours and a traffic injury every 1 1/2 hours in the 28-county Panhandle during 1954. Sgt. Jack Higginbotham, Amarillo, of the Texas Highway Patrol, Tuesday noon talked traffic safety to the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce, complete with statistics on highway accidents. He was accompanied to Pampa by Capt. J. W. Blackwell, chief of this highway patrol district.

Violation of traffic laws and lack of attention by drivers are the two main causes of accidents in Texas, Higginbotham said, pointing out it is quite a job for Texas' 300 units to patrol the 51,000 miles of highways in the state. Twenty-eight patrolmen are in the Panhandle.

Learn, Then Obey

Learning traffic laws is only part of it, the sergeant said. It is a question of obeying the laws, too. As for paying attention on the part of the driver, it includes distractions both outside and inside the car. Top causes of accidents in June were excess speed and driving while intoxicated. Eighty-five per cent of the automobile accidents investigated involved at least one violation of the law, Higginbotham continued. That means 2,000 lives, 70,000 injuries and $115,000,000 damages could have been saved in 1953 in Texas. Higginbotham had words of praise for the Jaycees, other civic organizations and the Pampa Citizens Safety Commission in their current campaigns on safety. As highway patrolmen, "we're outnumbered, we need help," he said.

Strength Not Sufficient

"We are not able to cover the highways as they should be covered," the sergeant went on. He said there were three radar control units in Texas and added it was lack of money that was holding up the purchase of more. Oklahoma and New Mexico have radar units, he stated, and "maybe that helps our safety record in the Panhandle, especially on 'through' traffic." Before Higginbotham spoke, he showed a colored film about what careful and intelligent driving can mean.

Bob Carmichael, first vice president of the club, presided in the absence of President J. C. Hopkins. He announced Rocky Ford, Midland, Jaycee state president, would be in Pampa July 13 and that the bi-regional convention would be held July 18 in Lubbock. At the convention, Pampa will make a bid to stage the next bi-regional session. Cards with the 12 different Jaycees committees were handed out at the meeting. From these club members are to make their three choices of assignments. Four guests were present, including Aubrey Jones, vice chairman of the citizens safety commission.

Recovery Of Crash Dead To Be Tried

DENVER, July 7—UP—An Air Force ground crew was to attempt later this week to recover the bodies of the pilot and observer of an F-94 jet fighter which crashed seven months ago into the side of a 12,900-foot Colorado mountain peak. The wreckage of the plane, which disappeared Dec. 2 on a flight from Williams Air Force Base, Ariz., to Lowry Air Force Base here, was discovered Friday by a party of residents of Montezuma, Colo., 60 miles west of Denver. Evidence indicated the plane had flown into the side of Teller mountain. The location is near the Continental Divide in a region of numerous peaks higher than 14,000 feet elevation. The bodies of the pilot, Lt. J. J. Cutley, and his observer, 2nd Lt. R. D. Hungunin, were found in the wreckage. The plane was based at Kinross Air Force Base, Bault Ste. Marie, Mich. Maj. John Louis, Lowry public information officer, said an officer from the Air Force memorial affairs division, Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, would fly here to direct recovery of the bodies of the two officers.

Perryton Park Work Progressing

PERRYTON — (Special) — Perryton's newest city park in the Stark Addition is scheduled to be completed by next year. Work is progressing rapidly on the park, and playground equipment should be installed by next year. Since the dedication of the park in 1950 the Red Bud Garden Club has been working toward its development. They have planted shrubbery, and it has also had charge of the landscaping. The city recently installed a sprinkling system. The park is now almost completely grassed and trees have been planted.

The Jennie June Club, which has done much of the work on the City park, has gotten a barbecue pit, a water fountain, and a lighting system installed at the City park. Plans are now being made for the completion of the sprinkling system and the construction of a combination tennis, volleyball, and basketball area at the City park.

Explorers Back From Pack Trip

Seventeen Explorer Scouts from the Adobe Walls Council have returned from a 10-day back-pack trip to the Philmont Scout Ranch, near Cimarron, N. M. While there, they climbed the eight highest nearby peaks, Paul Beisenberg council scout vanes, reported.

All on-the-trip carried their own supplies and brought back three awards for which they were eligible: camping, conservation and hiking.

Scout Leader Training Set

A junior-leader training camp will be held Aug. 22-27 at Camp Ki-o-wah for all Boy Scout patrol, assistant and senior leaders. Muri Howard, Phillips Explorer Post 66 advisor, will be in charge of training. Paul Beisenberg, Adobe Walls Council Scout executive, reported late this morning.

Scouts Plan Bicycle Tour

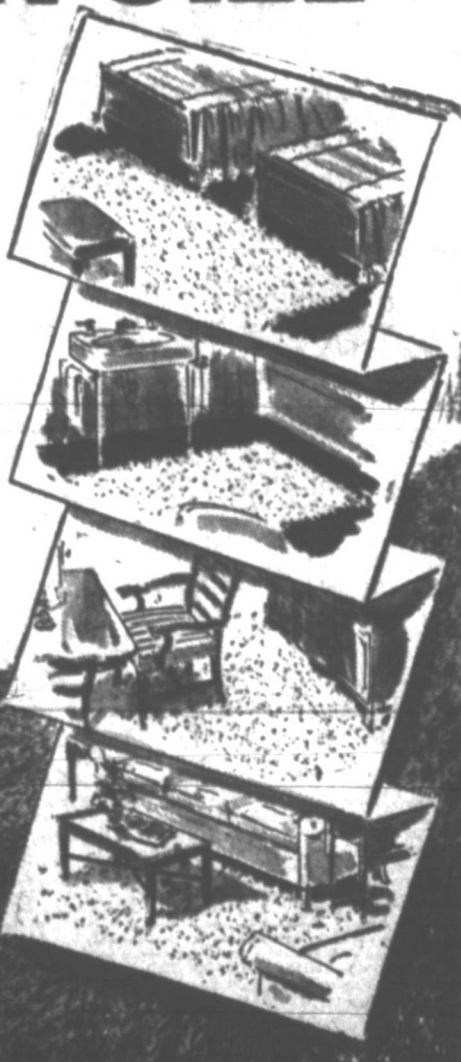

Some 150 Scouts have shown interest in a week-long bicycle tour that will begin in Pampa's Central Park and wind around the area. Paul Beisenberg, Adobe Walls Council Scout executive, late this morning reported the tour would begin July 17 and that successive nights would be spent in Miami, Canadian, Perryton, Spearman and Borger, ending up in Pampa July 23. All participants will attend church in Pampa July 18, the executive said.
