TEC Fills 113 Jobs In August

The Texas Employment Commission here filled 116 non-agriculture jobs and seven agriculture jobs during August, William Ragsdale, TEC office manager, said today.

In the regular report for August, Ragsdale listed 116 applications for work during the month, and 83 new claims for unemployment compensation.

Ragsdale stated that 78 applications were submitted the previous month and the 83 compares also with 128 for February and 208 for January this year.

Of the 116 non-agriculture jobs, 54 were in unskilled labor, 26 in service work, 12 in clerical or sales, seven in skilled labor, six in semi-skilled and one in professional work.

The commission placed 36 people in wholesale or retail sales establishments, 21 in construction work, 18 in private households, 13 in service work other than private households, eight in public utilities other than railroads, four in petroleum work, two each in finance, and printing or publishing and one each in regular government establishment and food manufacturing.

Anson Football Coach Resigns

ANSON, Tex., Sept. 1.—UP—The Anson school board was expected to name a new high school football coach Wednesday to replace Fagan (Moon) Mullins, who resigned to enter private business.

Mullins, who had been head coach of the Tigers since 1947, resigned Tuesday morning.

The school board met Tuesday night and advised it probably would name a successor Wednesday.

During his seven years here, Mullins' teams won two district titles, in 1949 and 1951. The 1951 team reached the state Class AA semifinals before losing to Arlington.

Mullins, former Hardin-Simmons fullback, coached two years at Crane before coming to Anson.

Rain Helps Range Prospects In Area

AUSTIN, Sept. 2—UP—Rains over the northern high plains of Texas improved fall range prospects and got winter wheat pastures off "to a good start," the U. S. Department of Agriculture said Wednesday.

The showers delayed planting of the 1955 wheat crop. However, the USDA said in its weekly crop and weather bulletin that recent rains have assured germination and good early growth of wheat in that area. Cotton, sorghum, corn, peanut and rice harvesting moved along over much of Texas in generally hot, open weather. There was slight interruption from widely scattered showers.

The cotton harvest neared completion in the Lower Valley and coastal bend and passed the three-quarter mark in pinner South Texas counties and along the upper coast. Harvest of the East Texas crop was active with yields light, the USDA said.

Grain sorghums in most of the northern high plains showed further improvement except for scattered areas receiving little or no rain, the USDA said.

The corn harvest continued in North Texas with some areas nearing completion.

Peanuts in the cross timbers are showing improvement due to earlier but scattered rains. In East Texas, vine development of the peanut crop is fairly good, but rain is badly needed for the production of nuts, the report said.

Sweet potatoes in East Texas made little growth.

The rice harvest continued. Good yields were reported.

Planting and transplanting of vegetables made "normal progress" in the Lower Valley. Water is "ample" and irrigated crops made good development. Scattered showers added surface moisture to some non-irrigated vegetable areas of South Texas. Dry range and pasture feed reserves dwindled generally as drought conditions continued over much of Texas.

Friends To Honor Sooner Author

CLAREMORE, Okla., Sept. 2—UP—Plans for a memorial to the late Lynn Riggs, author of "Green Grow the Lilacs," from which the Broadway musical "Oklahoma!" was adapted, were announced Wednesday.

Dr. Noel Kaho, president of the Will Rogers Library in Claremore, said the original manuscript of "Green Grow the Lilacs" would be preserved in the memorial, along with other manuscripts of Riggs' plays.

Kaho, also president of the newly-created Lynn Riggs Memorial, Inc., said the manuscripts would be housed for the present in the Will Rogers Library, but a separate building might be erected later.

Riggs, a Claremore native, died in New York in July. He is buried in this northeastern Oklahoma town, which also was Will Rogers' hometown.

Teen-Aged Gang Chain-Whips Boy

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 2—UP—Juvenile authorities Wednesday held three teen-agers accused of chain-whipping a 13-year-old student for the Roman Catholic priest.

The suspects admitted the attack on Henry Wood and said they did it "just for sport." Wood said he and his brother, Jimmy, 22, were attacked by 10 youths last Saturday. He said one of the boys grabbed a wall while others threw clubs and pipes at him. He was punched in the face.

Pampan's Mother Dies In Louisiana

Word has been received here of the death Tuesday of Mrs. Marie Guilbeau, 87, mother of I. J. Huval, 1601 Christine.

Mrs. Guilbeau died in St. Martinville, La., after an extended illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Huval were with her at the time of her death. Funeral services will be today in St. Martinville.

Service Added At Mental Hospitals

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 2—UP—Dr. Hayden Donahue, state mental health director, announced Wednesday outpatient departments had been established at all state mental hospitals.

Donahue said former patients at the institutions, who formerly might have had to be recommitted, now will be able to receive treatment at weekly or less frequent intervals.

He said improved treatment of patients had cut the rate of return to the hospitals by 17 per cent last year, and the new outpatient program was expected to reduce the return rate even further.

Good Fortune Marred By Death

HOUSTON, Sept. 2—UP—A 31-year-old man who was waiting for his first paycheck in weeks before moving out of a trailer home was burned to death early Wednesday when fire swept the trailer.

The victim was Francis C. Murray, who got a job as a clerk only two weeks ago. He was living with two friends in the trailer while he was out of work. The friends moved to a larger place Tuesday night but Murray said he would wait for his paycheck before joining them. Early Wednesday the trailer caught fire.

Neighbors made no effort to rescue Murray because they believed he had moved Tuesday night. Firemen found his charred body in bed after the fire. Murray was believed to have fallen asleep while smoking.

Hankering

The Late Grantland Rice Had Good Effect On Hank

By HENRY McLEMORE

When the very best man dies, and you are a real good friend of his, and you are a newspaper columnist to boot, you must write a story about the best man's death. I did that when Grantland Rice died. I tried real hard to put down in 600 words what he meant to me, I missed by a country mile. I didn't get anything down in writing that was the true Grantland.

I said how nice he was, but there have been millions of nice people. I said how generous and kind he was, but there have been millions of kind and generous people. My poor words just painted a picture of another really fine fellow, gone to his grave.

Now, sitting with Braven Dyer in the back yard of his home in Beverly Hills, what I feel about Mr. Rice hit me straight on. Maybe being in Braven's back yard had something to do with it. Braven had been Mr. Rice's friend for a long, long time. All of a sudden I was lonesome. No chance to get him back. No more going to 97th and Fifth in New York and seeing him. No more just looking at him. No more belonging to him. No more counting on him. I will never again have the opportunity to thank him. I always meant to, and I never did. I felt he'd always be there. I never thought that the likes of him would go before I did. I don't know why he did.

He was everything that was fine. He never had a small bone in his body. He was a stand-up man, and now he's gone away.

What I am writing here comes from weakness. With Grantland Rice gone I won't be as nice a man as I was. He gave me something that no one else ever gave me. I told my mother about the and I told my father, so they know. I'll tell you what he gave me, most of all.

He gave me a goal. I never came close to reaching it, but he taught me that it was there. Mr. Rice never actually described a goal to me; he never put it in colors, or gave me street directions on how to get there. But just walking with him, just being near him, I saw the goal.

Lots of people will read this and not understand what I am saying. I must have lots of readers who didn't know Mr. Rice, so I ask their forgiveness for just one day.

Now I have come to the really sad part of this column. I let him down. I never was the man he wanted me to be. He had dreams for all of us. He had dreams for us because he loved us. He was such a gentleman, and truly a talented man — just the best in whatever he did. In writing about him in my lonesomeness today, I don't want to overlook his talent.

I want him to know that I know he was the very best writer on golf, boxing, football, and baseball I ever knew.

Braven and I are now trying to think of a line to end this column. We just want to let it go with this — the best one is gone.

Man Killed By Jealous Husband

HOUSTON, Sept. 2—UP—A distraught 29-year-old husband shot and killed a disabled veteran Wednesday after accusing him of stealing the affections of his wife, mother of six children.

The husband, a house painter, gave himself up to police and admitted shooting Dillard Parker, 31, after Parker allegedly taunted him about his wife.

The wife left home two days ago and the husband told police: "She went with Parker. I know because he called me several times and said he was with her and she was in love with him."

Police said the shooting occurred in front of the victim's brother's home. The painter said he had a "brief argument" with Parker.

Parker was a Korean veteran. His divorced wife and three children live in Waco.

Second Man To Fly Atlantic Dies Wednesday In Obscurity

DENVER, Sept. 2—UP—Bert Acosta, who fell from the glory of a ticker tape parade in New York after he flew the Atlantic Ocean in 1927 to the despair of jail, poverty and sickness, died Wednesday.

Tuberculosis and cancer killed Acosta in his 60th year, a charity patient at the Jewish Consumptive Relief Society's sanatorium in suburban Spivak.

One month after Charles Lindbergh soloed across the Atlantic, Acosta piloted Adm. Richard Byrd's tri-motored Ford "America" from Long Island to France. Their goal was Paris, but after a 32-hour flight over the stormy water they circled above an overcast for 30 hours.

Acosta finally spotted a break in the clouds and nosed earthward. The "America" crash-landed in the surf, 12 feet from the French shore.

The son of a prominent San Diego, Calif., family, Acosta, Byrd, and two other companions on the hazardous flight paraded in triumph down Broadway on their return to New York.

But Acosta lost his pilot's license for stunting, and was fined $1,000 for flying a plane that had been seized by a sheriff. Soon he was jailed for five months, charged with abandoning his second wife and their two children.

He went to Spain to fix for the loyalists, but came home after three weeks and dropped from sight.

Acosta came to public attention again two years ago, when he collapsed on a New York street. He was penniless, and ravaged by advanced tuberculosis.

He was admitted to the Denver sanatorium, Admiral Byrd, learning of his former pilot's plight, kept in close touch.

But Acosta developed cancer recently, and soon realized that he must die. A daughter, Mrs. Bertina Sanato of Los Angeles, came to his side.

This Labor Day let's give death a holiday

The long Labor Day holiday is one of the most enjoyed in the United States. For too many families, it is also one of the most tragic.

Last year, 27 people lost their lives in Texas traffic accidents over the Labor Day weekend; hundreds more were injured, and property damage from traffic accidents was over $1½ million.

That is an appalling statement.

And the only people who can do anything about it are you and every other Texan who drives a car.

Here's what you can do:

1. Drive a safe car: good brakes, good lights, good mechanical condition.
2. Observe the speed limit.
3. Heed traffic signs.
4. Don't pass on hills.
5. Stay to the right.
6. Follow other cars at a safe distance.
7. Look well before backing, and before entering or crossing intersections.
8. Give proper hand signals.
9. Rest when you become tired.

Plan a safe Labor Day weekend for you and your family— please drive carefully.

Police Hope Prints May Trap Robber

HUMBLE, Tex., Sept. 2—UP—Police hoped Wednesday that a palm print and two fingerprints may trap a middle-aged bandit who held up the Humble State Bank here and escaped with $14,236.46.

The palm print, which indicated a healed blister, and the other prints were found on the door of the vault in which the gunman locked seven bank employees and two customers. The victims said they saw the man put his hand on the door as he herded them in.

ployees were to be taken Wednesday to make sure the prints were not made by one of them.

The holdup occurred Tuesday when the gunman, a bald-headed man with a painted mustache, called on Maurice Burns, the bank president, to sell stationery. When he was told no purchases were being made now, he said, "well, let me leave you some samples."

Burns said the gunman then opened a briefcase and pulled out a sawed-off shotgun. He forced Burns to clean out two teller's cages and then herded Burns and the others into the vault.

Burns said an accounting Wednesday disclosed that $14,236.46 was taken instead of the originally estimated $9,000.

To Dedicate Parr School
SAN DIEGO, Tex., Sept. 3—UP—A new elementary school named for the late Archer Parr, father of political boss George Parr, will be dedicated Wednesday. Archer Parr was a state senator who founded the South Texas political empire inherited by his son. The school is on a 16-acre site donated by George Parr.

General view of committee room just before first session of a special Senate committee hearing on charges against Sen. Joseph McCarthy, arrow, left, got underway Tuesday.

THE MARQUEE
BY DICK KLEINER

Last year, one of the biggest TV disappointments was Ray Milland's debut. His CBS show, "Meet Mr. McNulty," was a highly professional bore.

But we're delighted to report that the network has apparently realized there'll have to be some drastic changes made. Guess what they're going to do? Are they going to change the format? Well, no. Are they going to change the plot or setting? Well, no, not exactly.

To add to your enjoyment they're changing the name of the character Milland plays. Henceforth, the program will be called "Meet Mr. McNulty."

That's what we like to see — artistic progress.

Where there's a will, there's a way. And there seems to be more will to make music down in Jamaica than any place else. I spent a delightful vacation in Jamaica, lolling on the Caribbean shore, and came back full of admiration for the Jamaican natives, who create music and musical instruments out of nothing much.

At the beautiful Silver Seas, in Ocho Rios, manager-emcee Stuart Sharpe has a fine native show. But the highlight, for me, was a sax player named Jasper Edwards. Jasper wanted to play the sax, but he had no money for an instrument. So he made one. He took three joints of bamboo, a hunk of cottonwood and, for the mouthpiece an old bicycle handle-bar. Out of this junk he fashioned something that looks remotely like a saxophone, and sounds remarkably like one.

Another of Sharpe's entertainers is Levo Burke. This youngster wanted to tap dance, but he had no shoes. So he stuck bottle caps between his toes and danced bare-foot. And he tap dances with all the grace and clickety-clack sound of a vaudeville pro.

The rhythm part of any Jamaican calypso band is furnished by a native instrument called a "rumba box." This is a wooden box, about the size of a small orange crate. It has a round hole cut in it, across which are some strips of metal. In Jamaica, the rumba box player we saw had used old gramophone springs for his metal strips. He sits on it and plucks the strips with one hand, producing deep, rhythmic sounds. And with the other hand, he raps the box itself.

With the rumba box booming in the background, a set of maracas chattering away and a couple of guitars and Jasper's homemade sax carrying the melody, you have a genuine calypso band. Get them going on a driving calypso tune like "Ten Penny Nail" or "Don't Touch My Tomalo" and there's very little music anywhere that's as catchy.

Anyone for beachcombing in Jamaica?

North Grant's 14th national "Jazz and the Philharmonic" tour kicks off in Hartford, Conn., on Sept. 17. From there it'll hit 60 cities before the last blast of Dizzy Gillespie's trumpet fades away. Going along with Dizzy will be vocalist Ella Fitzgerald, Buddy De Franco on clarinet; Bill Harris, trombone; Ray Brown, bass; Roy Eldridge, trumpet; Flip Phillips and Ben Webster, sax; Oscar Peterson, piano; Herb Ellis, guitar; and Buddy Rich and Louis Bellson, drums.

And if that crowd doesn't set your seismographs spinning, nothing will.

Charles Coburn told this story to Arthur Murray, who passes it along. It concerns the Italian composer, Rossini, who was advised by his doctor to give up high living, notably wine, women and song.

Rossini said he'd give up songs without any problem, but could only dispense with one of the other two.

"Which one?" asked the doctor. "That," said Rossini, "depends entirely upon the vintage."

Team Of Experts Spur Efforts To Diagnose Mystery Disease

EDINBURG, Tex., Sept. 2 —UP— A nine-man team of experts began quick-freezing flies and mosquitoes Wednesday in its effort to identify the mysterious Lower Rio Grande Valley disease that was first mistaken for polio.

The frozen insects are then flown to the state virus laboratory in Austin. The Hidalgo county health officer, Dr. Charles H. Miller, said laboratory technicians would try to determine definitely if germs of the disease are being carried by the insects.

Miller said he "would like" to see a fly-killing program put into effect in the Valley. But he declined to say whether he has formulated a definite opinion on whether flies are spreading the disease.

"We'll have to wait and see what the laboratory shows. So far we haven't pinpointed a thing," Miller said.

Twelve Valley residents have died this year, apparently of polio. But Miller said experts believe polio and the new disease have been confused. He said the new disease is probably some form of encephalitis — sleeping sickness.

Mexico Has New Migrant Worker Plan

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 2 —UP— The Mexican government will step up plans to transfer farm workers from northern Mexico to tropical and coastal areas, President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines said Wednesday, in an effort to solve the "complex" migrant labor problem.

"We must intensify our efforts nationally and provide necessary resources to create jobs immediately at places where there are jobs," Ruiz Cortines said in his State of the Union speech to the opening session of Congress.

"The departure of field workers will be cyclical," he said, "and will render mutual benefits to the United States and Mexico."

Ruiz Cortines expressed confidence the "arduous" question would "improve in the future with adoption by North American authorities of efficient measures" to prevent the attraction and employment of wetbacks in the United States.

Mexico and the United States are "co-operating widely and friendly" to make sure that braceros cross the border protected by the present migrant labor agreement, recently extended up to Dec. 31, 1955, he said.

Ruiz Cortines told the joint session of Congress that 133,400 men entered the United States from Sept. 1 to Dec. 31, 1953, under previous agreements, whereas 51,164 were left under the new pact from March 20 to July 31, 1954.

America's new robot telephone exchanges for long-distance use a tape-punching machine that goes into action as soon as the call is dialed. It takes down the number of the caller, the number being called, and how long the conversation lasts. If there is a busy signal or no response the tape records that fact. Later the tape is fed through other machines to figure the monthly bill.

BUSY COOK — Mrs. W. Claude Wilson, 304 N. West, samples one of the cookies she has just made. They are nice for school lunches or afternoon snacks, she stated. ## This Is My Dish

Cookies For Lunches Or Afternoon Snacks

A busy Pampa woman who stated she has always liked to cook is Mrs. W. Claude Wilson, 304 N. West. A Pampa for 18 years, Mrs. Wilson cooks for her husband and her son, Donald.

Mrs. Wilson began cultivating her culinary talent when she was about 12 years old. Her teacher was her mother, who, she stated was an excellent cook.

"All I know about cooking is what I learned from my mother," she advised.

And Mrs. Wilson has plenty of opportunities to keep in practice. Besides making meals for her family, she does a lot of cooking for the First Baptist Church. In fact, she is in charge of the meals they have there, which she says is a "full time job."

"I've cooked for a lot of people," she pointed out.

In addition to her cooking, she works in the church's Sunday School department, and can be found each day helping out in her husband's office at the Grayco Machine and Welding Works.

Mrs. Wilson especially likes to make cookies, which are particularly nice to put in school lunches or for "after-school snacks" for the kiddies. Here are two of her best recipes.

Coconut Buttered Strips
Bake: Temperature 375 degrees F. Time: About 45 Minutes

2 eggs
2 tbsps. sour cream
1 tbsp. vanilla
1 cup ground dates
1 cup ground pecans
1 tsp. cinnamon
1/2 tsp. cloves
1/2 tsp. nutmeg
1 tsp. salt
1 1/2 tsp. soda
4 1/2 cups flour
Cream butter and sugar, add rest of ingredients, shape into 2 rolls, wrap in wax paper. Chill in refrigerator 12 hours. Cut in thin slices and bake in hot oven. Will keep in refrigerator for weeks before baking.

'Peach Supreme' Is Cool Beverage
Peaches and other fresh fruits play a most important part in the American diet, according to experts.

Most nutritional authorities agree that a normal adult, as an example, should obtain 60 per cent of his or her required food calories in the form of starches and sugars, about 25 to 30 per cent in the form of fat, and 10 to 12 per cent in the form of protein. In addition, a wide range of minerals and vitamins must be obtained from fresh fruits and vegetables, dairy products, meats and eggs.

Peaches and other fresh fruits are referred to as protective foods. Their chief value in the balanced diet is a source of energy, vitamins, minerals and trace elements.

FROZEN PEACH SALAD
8 peach halves
1 cup mayonnaise
1 cup cottage cheese
1 cup cream, whipped
1 cup pecans chopped
Place the peach halves, hollow side up, in the freezing tray of refrigerator. Mix the cottage cheese, mayonnaise, cream and pecans together and pour over the peaches. Freeze about three to four hours. Serve on crisp lettuce. Serves 8.

Fruit Cookies
1 cup butter
2 cups brown sugar
2 eggs
2 tbsps. all purpose flour
1/2 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 1/2 cups shredded coconut
1 cup broken nut meats (pecans)
Beat eggs until very light. Add sugar and vanilla, beat well. Mix flour, baking powder salt, then mix with coconut and nut meats. Add to egg mixture and mix well. Pour this mixture over the baked crust and bake again 20 minutes. Cool lightly and cut into strips. 2 1/2 dozen.

Stewed Chicken Prepared With Biscuits Makes A Most Satisfying Family Meal

Is the family's appetite picking up? The chances are it is, with the children playing overtime as though sensing school days ahead, and Dad and Mom trying to get the home in shape before the end of summer.

If that's the case, nothing but completely satisfying meals will do. One of the easiest, most satisfying dishes to prepare is stewing chicken with baking powder biscuits, according to Kathryn B. Niles, director of home economics, Poultry and Egg National Board.

Stewing chicken, sometimes referred to as hen or fowl, is reported in abundant supply and reasonably priced across the Nation, Mrs. Niles pointed out.

Here is a recipe for stewed chicken which will satisfy eager appetites.

STEWED CHICKEN WITH BAKING POWDER BISCUITS
1 ready-to-cook stewing chicken, cut up, giblets and neck
3 cups of water
2 teaspoons salt
1 medium onion
3 peppercorns, tip of bay leaf
Baking powder, biscuit dough using 2 cups flour or biscuit mix

5 tablespoons chicken fat
8 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
3 cups chicken broth
Salt, pepper
Simmer chicken, giblets and neck in the water with the salt, onion, peppercorns and bay leaf until fork-tender, about 3 hours. Remove meat from broth and set aside to keep hot while preparing the gravy. Spoon fat from surface of broth. Measure broth and if necessary add enough water to make 3 cups. Blend the 5 tablespoons chicken fat, 1/2 cup flour and 1 cup milk until free of lumps. Stir slowly into the simmering broth and cook, stirring constantly until uniformly thickened. Cover and simmer about 5 minutes.

Season well to taste. Return minutes will be required for these chicken to gravy to heat. Meanwhile prepare baking powder biscuits. If the doughnut cutter is used and the centers are baked and meat if desired, 6 generous to please the children, about 12 servings.

The Ice Age Returns—In A Coffee-Filled Glass!

"IN the Ice Age," says the encyclopedia, "ice sheets advanced as far as the Ohio and Missouri rivers in North America. Among its characteristic mammals were the mammoth, the sabre-toothed tiger and the bison. It is possible," it adds, "that the Ice Age may, in future times, return."

Well, we'd hate to argue with an encyclopedia, but there's plenty of evidence that it does return, yearly, to North America. As soon as the thermometer starts to climb, tall glasses come into their own, the refrigerator ice tray is the busiest piece of equipment in the kitchen, and our annual ice age is upon us.

Its characteristic mammals, by the way, are the deck-chair sprawler, the bare-footed lawn-camper, and the horizontal hammock-settler. They differ greatly in habits, but they all have one common feature. Clutched in each hot little hand is a long, cool drink that helps them to survive the summer. Deck-chair sprawlers, lawn-campers, hammock-settlers all! Adapt yourselves to the season with Iced Coffee, and out-cool all other species.

Here's the way to make Iced Coffee at its delicious best. Brew double strength coffee by using half the amount of water to the usual amount of coffee. Fill glasses with ice and pour in the fresh hot brew. The melting ice will dilute the coffee to regular strength as it cools it. Pop in more ice if necessary, and there you have it, all ready to serve with sugar, or sugar, syrup, and cream.

Then, there's another way. If you have some coffee left over at breakfast time, pour it into your ice tray. In this case, you'll only need to make the coffee regular strength (that's two level measuring tablespoons, or one Standard Coffee Measure, of coffee to each three-quarters of a measuring cup of fresh cold water). That's because the ice-cubes will not dilute the brew, being coffee themselves.

Fresh Peach-Pie Is Tasty Dessert

"Peaches 'n' Cream Pie" doesn't the very sound of it make you want to whip on an apron and set to work? The golden, sun-drenched fresh peaches alternate in layers with rich custard in a graham cracker-crisp crust. The extra peachy flavor comes from the use of fresh peaches.

PEACHES 'N' CREAM PIE
Crumb Shell: 1-3 cup melted butter or margarine
1 1/4 cups graham cracker crumbs
Filling: 1-3 cup granulated sugar
3/4 tablespoons cornstarch
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 cups evaporated milk
2 eggs
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
2 cups peach slices

Shell: Blend butter with crumbs. Reserve 2 tablespoons crumbs for top. Pack remainder firmly in bottom and sides of 9-inch pie pan. Chill.

Filling: Blend sugar, cornstarch and salt. Slowly stir in milk until smooth. Cook 10 minutes longer, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat and stir into lightly beaten eggs. Cook and stir 4 to 5 minutes sugar. Add butter and vanilla. Cool, covered. Pour half of mixture into crumb shell; top with half of peaches. Repeat layers with rest of custard and peaches. Decorate with remaining crumbs. Chill 3 hours or longer. Makes 1 (9-inch) pie.

Jane Talk

By JANE KADINGO
Pampa News Women's Editor

ONE OF MY MOST VIVID MEMORIES is of some advice my family and marriage class professor gave me in college. While in his office one day with my roommate, he told us this: "I have one piece of advice for every girl who plans to get married. Reserve a shelf in your kitchen for books on cooking, interior decorating, child care, and a notebook for the week's menus."

PERHAPS IT STICKS IN MY mind, because I have never followed his advice, although I agree it's a good idea. However, more and more, home economists are recommending setting aside a corner of your kitchen for a miniature "office." It would be an ideal place to plan meals, figure the budget, telephone and even to write letters while a meal or some pastry is baking. The telephone is practical for a busy clubwoman, too.

Here is what a recent news release says on the subject: "A kitchen 'office' is easy to incorporate in new home or modernization plans or add to existing kitchens where space permits because today's steel cabinets are adaptable to virtually any arrangement desired.

"The office can be a desk arrangement in a corner, along a wall or extending into the kitchen as a divider between work and dining areas. The steel kitchen cabinets and counter tops can be selected to fit the floor area and thus the office can be integrated into the overall kitchen plan.

"The corner office arrangement frequently permits a larger desk surface and more extensive steel cabinet storage facilities. But other kitchen offices can be just as handy. For instance, the office can be fashioned in the middle of a row of base cabinets along a side wall simply by installing two 30-inch table height steel cabinets, leaving an opening for leg room, and extending the counter top across the opening as a desk surface. The adjacent cabinets can be used for storing recipe and budget files, writing materials, and cook books.

"A similar desk arrangement can be had by extending a counter at right angles from a row of wall cabinets to form a divider unit, often called peninsula. A rounded-door steel cabinet or open-shelf end cabinet can be utilized

Deborah Class Has Breakfast Meeting

Mrs. Harvey Downs, 914 Christine, entertained the Deborah Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church at breakfast Tuesday. The devotional, "Wisdom, Faith, Strength and Patience," was presented by Mrs. Henry Gruben. During the business meeting, plans for a promotion luncheon, to be held Sept. 28, were discussed. Mrs. Down led the closing prayer.

Members present were Mmes. Forrest Thompson, Bill Fritz, Joe Smith, Mike Shepic, Perna Scott, John McKinley, Orville Lewis, Henry Gruben, Wayne Denney, M. J. King, Ted Atwood, Bryan Buck and Harvey Downs.

Decorative Motifs

Make your kitchen "eye-catching" by using these decorative motifs on cabinets, chairs, window frames and many other items. They may be embroidered, appliqued, or traced in outline and then painted in gay colors.

Here's a New Idea An 'Office' for Your Kitchen!

This kitchen "office," styled from steel cabinets, is a perfect answer to the busy housewife's need for a handy place to figure her budget, plan meals, telephone, and write letters. The corner desk arrangement is fashioned from steel base cabinets with a large counter top and provides plenty of work space as well as drawers for storing recipe and budget files and writing materials. Cook books also can be kept in the nearby floor-to-ceiling steel utility cabinet or in the attractive wall cabinets above the desk. Because of the adaptability of steel cabinets, virtually any kitchen "office" layout is possible simply by utilizing standard cabinet units and a counter styling to fit space requirements.

WOMAN'S ROAST IS LIKE MRS. MURPHY'S CHOWDER

SACRAMENTO, Calif. — (UP) — Mrs. Nancy Taylor wondered why her roast tasted so bad until she found that in picking up the lid of her pressure cooker she also picked up a hot pod which dropped into the pot and cooked with the meat.

BABY

Babies a "pet," but remember that pets are babies, too, in that their reactions to dangerous or harmful situations are elemental. Watch Baby carefully when he's playing with the dog or cat. Baby doesn't mean to hurt, but his pulling and punching can make the most well-behaved animal snappy.

You can keep Baby happy, and be budget-happy, at the same time. When Baby is 15-18 months old, he's a natural candidate for the "do-it-yourself" movement. A neat of cardboard boxes, an old pill box with a sliding drawer, and a plastic cup and small storage container with an easily removable cover will keep him as

A prayer retreat was held recently by members of the Women's Auxiliary of the First Presbyterian Church in the ranch home of Mrs. Traylor Price, president. Theme of the event was "Christ Is The Way."

The devotional service was led by Mrs. L. W. Jolly. During the executive board meeting, the nominating committee reported on officers selected for 1955. It was also announced that a coffee will be held at 9:30 A.M. Wednesday in the educational building for new and prospective members.

Following the meeting, members shared a picnic lunch.

Cook's Nook

Quick, delicious little pizzas are just the thing for unexpected guests over Labor Day at home. We learned about them recently at a reunion party given by Charles A. Eckburg, president of the Borden Cheese Co.

Three years ago the genial Mr. Eckburg flew a group of editors to Wisconsin to study the cheese industry firsthand. He gives a year of that cheese safari every year at New York's Stork Club. We all relive those wonderful days in Wisconsin.

Here are two ways to use American cheeses for pleasant entertaining.

MINIATURE PIZZAS

(Makes 20 individual pizzas)
One (10-ounce) can Bake 'n' Eat Biscuits, 1 (5-ounce) can tomato paste, 2 tablespoons dry Vermouth, if desired, 1 (3-ounce) package Pippin Roll cheese, dash of pepper; dash of oregano, grated Parmesan cheese.

Arrange biscuits on baking sheet; do not have edges touching. Bake according to package directions. Remove from oven; split each biscuit in half. Arrange halves on baking sheet. Mix together tomato paste and Vermouth; add pepper and oregano; blend well. Place about a tablespoonful of

MAKE FRIENDS MANNERS

You may think the shoes the salesman has brought out for your inspection look cheap and loud. But why antagonize the salesman by being so blunt as to say so? Better to say gently, "I'd like something much plainer."

mixture on each biscuit half. Cut Pippin Roll cheese into 20 thin slices and place one slice on top of each biscuit. Sprinkle each with Parmesan cheese. Return to oven (450 degrees F.) and bake about 5 minutes or until cheese melts. Serve at once.

CHEESE BALL

Two (3-ounce) portions Roquefort cheese, 2 (5-ounce) jars process Cheddar cheese spread, 4 (2-ounce) packages cream cheese, 2 tablespoons grated onion, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 cup ground pecans, 1/2 cup finely chopped parsley.

Let cheeses soften at room temperature. Combine cheeses, onion, Worcestershire sauce; blend well. Stir in 1/2 cup pecans and 1/2 cup parsley. Shape mixture into ball. Place in bowl lined with waxed paper. Chill overnight.

About 1 hour before serving, roll ball in mixture of remaining pecans and parsley. Place on platter and surround with crisp crackers and fruits in season. Serve as hors d'oeuvre.

Boston Cook Gives Family 'The Works' For Breakfast, Topped By Good Dinner

BOSTON — UP — The beginning of good nutrition is a hearty breakfast for the Edward F. Curry family of suburban Milton.

Attractive Patricia Curry, a professional home economist, turned housewife, said she gives her husband and three school-age children "the works" for breakfast.

This helps to combat fatigue, and along with a light and well-balanced lunch, brings the family to the evening meal ready for such main dishes as broiled chicken, the family favorite.

Then turn and brush skin side with melted butter and broil about 20 minutes. Remove to hot platter, brush again with melted butter, sprinkle with salt and pepper, and serve.

Along with broiled chicken, Mrs. Curry usually serves whipped potatoes, buttered fresh peas and carrots, jellied pineapple and carrot salad, lemon meringue pie and coffee, with milk for the children.

But breakfast is "the most important meal of all," she said. "My family has fruit, cereal (hot in winter and cold in summer), eggs any way I feel like serving them), and coffee or milk."

RUTH MILLET

Wives and daughters of service personnel stationed in Germany are reportedly indignant at the American colonel who ordered the ladies to spruce up when they went out in public or else...

The colonel turned thumbs down on bare-back, halter-type sunsuits worn without a jacket or wrap; strapless, low-cut dresses (except in clubs or at social functions); shorts on teen-agers or women; blue jeans on mature women; pin curlers, unless neatly covered.

If the colonel succeeds in sprucing up American women in Germany it is going to be an awful shock to him the first time he gets home on leave.

Let him wander into a suburban shopping center or supermarket and if he can bear to look — this is what he'll see:

Fat women overflowing the shortest of shorts and briefest of halter tops — varicose veins — making strange patterns on the backs of their legs.

Women and girls in pin curlers — not caring how they look at the supermarket if they just look super that evening.

Women in blue jeans and peddle pushers whose figures cry out for full and concealing skirts.

Yep, American women may spend millions every year to make themselves beautiful. And when they are all dolled up for a country club dance or even an evening at the Joneses, they may be the best-looking women in the world. But see 'em at the supermarket and they're a mess.

Fight The Real Enemy

We say that the Reds should not be outlawed. But that doesn't mean that we agree with the Reds on this issue—for our principle is that no group should be outlawed—while the Red principle operating behind the Iron Curtain is that every group should be outlawed except the Reds.

The Communists would be quick to outlaw those of us who consider ourselves individualists. It is a Communist tactic to outlaw those who do not agree with them.

But we are supposed to be a Christian nation—at least the Declaration of Independence was written in the best Christian tradition. Suppose some one had asked Christ if his enemies should be outlawed?

Can you imagine what Christ would have said? George Washington said: "The event is in the hand of God."

If this is so, why should we bother to outlaw Reds? If we have been dealt the right cards, if we are right and if our hand is strong, let's beat 'em fair and square. Leave the dirty fighting to them.

As for those who say that the Reds are the greatest threat to us and should be outlawed because they represent a clear and present danger to us—let's see. It's easy to go off half-cocked. But let's ask a few questions first:

Are the Reds the greatest threat to us? Outlawing Russian Reds doesn't outlaw generic collectivism. But the individualists we have talked to, Bill Johnson, editor of Faith and Freedom, Frank Chodorov, editor of the Freeman; the staff of the Foundation for Economic Education; all believe that we're in greater danger from generic collectivism (all shades of socialism) than we are from Red Russian Communism.

Suppose we outlaw the Communist Party of the U.S.A. and threaten anybody with jail who admits to being a card-carrying member. What do we do next?

We happen to think that Adlai Stevenson, Henry Cabot Lodge, Thomas E. Dewey and Sherman Adams present a greater threat to our philosophy of freedom than does the top Communist, William Z. Foster.

Not because they are Reds—but because they're not! Foster could never get elected president, on his own admission. But one of the above named men could be elected—which is why they're more dangerous to complete freedom than Foster. You might say that Thomas E. Dewey who appointed Sherman Adams and others who advise Eisenhower is just as powerful as the President.

That is why these men are more dangerous to our ideas of freedom than the Communists—because they wield the power.

Suppose we outlawed Foster. Suppose you agree that the above named politicians are more dangerous to complete freedom than Foster because of their power to perpetuate Ike's brand of New Deal Socialism.

Would you then agree to outlaw Stevenson, Adams, Lodge and Dewey?

We wouldn't. We know that two more just like them would spring up to take their places.

The real danger lies not with Communists who hold lighted bombs in their hands. Bomb throwers can be prosecuted under present state laws which forbid the initiation of force.

The real danger lies in an idea. The idea which threatens America most is:

"That the government should have the power to take by force or threat of force the money or property of one man to give to another man."

As long as men believe in this idea we will have Communism, whether it be called the New Deal, Spiritual Christian Socialism, or Red Russianism.

If we tried to outlaw every man who believes in that idea we would have to put most of the world in jail, including Ike himself.

But we don't believe it is consistent with Christ's teachings to embrace expediency which is not backed by moral principle merely because we're afraid of Reds.

The Founding Fathers who wrote the treason clause of our Constitution were not afraid though the physical dangers which they faced were greater in proportion than the ones we face.

We'd be proud to take to the barricades and shoot Communists if we are attacked.

But we're darned if we'll call upon a collectivist New Deal government such as Ike's to outlaw the Communists for us. What we want is decentralized government, not one which votes more power for itself in order to outlaw its chief competitors.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

By EDGAR P. JORDAN, M. D.

Aly daughter, age 17, has diabetes insipidus," writes Mrs. G. "Is this serious? She has been using a hay-fever spray and I wonder if this could be the cause."

The hay-fever spray is almost certainly not the cause of the rather usual condition known as diabetes insipidus. In discussing this condition it should be said that this is not the same as the so-called sugar diabetes or diabetes mellitus which is a much more common disorder.

In diabetes insipidus large quantities of urine which does not contain sugar are passed. This disease is more common in young people than in older ones and in boys than in girls and women.

The underlying cause usually cannot be determined, perhaps a tendency, perhaps a hereditary one, has been responsible in the majority of cases but this is not certain.

Diabetes insipidus usually develops suddenly and is reported as a great deal of urination. A great deal of urination is not unusual in itself, but this is not diabetes insipidus. It is a fairly well known. It is pretty well agreed that the source lies in a specific portion of the brain. Irritation or injury to this region will act on a portion of the pituitary gland, reduce its hormone production and produce the symptoms of diabetes insipidus.

If a specific cause, such as a tumor, cannot be found—diabetes insipidus is a chronic condition.

BETTER JOBS

How to Get "Let's Get Out of UN" Buttons

Freedom Newspapers have, as stated in the last issue, purchased a quantity of buttons with the inscription "Let's Get Out of UN." A single button can be had by calling at any of the offices of Freedom Newspapers or their allied publications. Quantities of five or more can be delivered at 5 cents a piece. If you want to do a good turn to promote a higher standard of living and better jobs and good will among mankind, help distribute these buttons.

If we get enough people wearing these "Let's Get Out of UN" buttons, Congress will get us out of the United Nations. On the other hand, if we do not get out of the UN and the plans as set forth in the UN Charter are carried out, our American free enterprise system will be further destroyed. It will greatly reduce the standard of living not only for the people of the United States, but in the long run it will reduce the standard of living of all people in the world because the UN is nothing but a bigger government with the power to tax in addition to the taxing power that we already have by the various subdivisions of our own government.

Invariably the Charter of the UN always adds the word security to peace. And by security it means a secure job and a higher standard of living and a solution to social, health and related problems by the government—not by individuals. If you do not believe this read Article 55 in the Charter of the UN.

A copy of the Charter of the UN and Statute of the International Court of Justice is small booklet form of 87 pages (3 by 4 1/2 inches) can be had by writing to the United Nations Department of Public Information, New York. Every person who loves the American way of life and makes any pretense of being informed as to what our government should do and is able to do should get this booklet and read it.

I quoted Article 55 in the last issue. Here are three more articles that substantiate how the UN proposes to promote peace and security and put them into effect as set forth in Article 55. Article 103 reads:

"In the event of a conflict between the obligations of the Members of the United Nations under the present Charter and their obligations under any other international agreement, their obligations under the present Charter shall prevail."

In other words, the United Nations is over and above any other group of nations that would defend themselves against aggression.

Article 104 reads: "The Organization shall enjoy in the territory of each of its Members such legal capacity as may be necessary for the exercise of its functions and the fulfillment of its purposes."

In other words, the laws of the United States, where the headquarters of the United Nations are located, are subservient to the laws of the United Nations.

Remember how the United States protested against Communists from the United States being employed in the United Nations? The United Nations ruled that they should be reinstated and paid many thousands of dollars of back pay.

Article 105 is about the same as Article 104. It reads:

"1. The Organization shall enjoy in the territory of each of its Members such privileges and immunities as are necessary for the fulfillment of its purposes."

"2. Representatives of the Members of the United Nations and officials of the Organization shall similarly enjoy such privileges and immunities as are necessary for the independent exercise of their functions in connection with the Organization."

"3. The General Assembly may make recommendations with a view to determining the details of the application of paragraphs 1 and 2 of this Article or may propose conventions to the Members of the United Nations for this purpose."

The best thing to do, of course, is to write and get this booklet and compare it with the Declaration of Independence, which is the spirit of the Constitution of the United States. See how they differ! They are about as far apart as communism is to a republic stopping aggression and fraud.

That is the reason Freedom Newspapers want the United States to get out of the United Nations.

BID FOR A SMILE

A toothache fellow took the liberty of questioning Alexandre Dumas rather too closely about his genealogical tree.

Toothache fellow—You are a quadruple, Mr. Dumas.

Alexandre Dumas—I am, sir.

Toothache fellow—And your father? Alexandre Dumas—Was a mulatto.

Toothache fellow—And your grandfather? Alexandre Dumas—A Negro (whose patience was wanting).

Toothache fellow—And may I inquire what your great-grandfather was? Alexandre Dumas—An ape, sir!

An ape, sir. My pedigree commences where yours terminates.

ing a hormone obtained from the pituitary gland usually brings about relief of symptoms which lasts for many hours.

These treatments, however, have to be repeated and do not bring about a permanent cure. Until more has been learned about the original cause of diabetes insipidus it is unlikely that any complete cure can be devised.

In his stand on parity Senator

National Whirligig

Magic Word, Parity, May Put Kansas In The Demo Column

By RAY TUCKER

(White-Ray-Tucker is on vacation. Schoepel has opposed Republican Clifford Hope of Kansas who heads the House agriculture committee. Hope fought for 90 per cent parity. In committee Schoepel wobbled, voting both ways, but in the closing days of the session he was co-author of an amendment to permit the lowering of parity on wheat to 82 1/2 per cent.

In a floor speech supporting his stand, Schoepel argued that the 90 per cent parity schedule had forced millions of acres of Kansas wheat land out of production; that the high price had encouraged the growing of wheat in other states—putting them in competition with Kansas; that the old program encouraged the production of wheat abroad "with which we much compete," and that the support price had reduced the domestic market for feed. Schoepel declared that the high, rigid support had encouraged the production of high yielding, inferior quality nonmillable wheat and that surplus had been built up until storage space had been virtually exhausted. He predicted that the old program soon would result in reduction of income to the wheat farmer by a third.

In his early campaign talks, McGill has declared that the new farm bill would hit the wheat grower harder than any other farmer; that due to the large carry-over Benson would make the full 7 1/2 per cent reduction and that the average support price would be reduced from $2.24 a bushel to $2.06 a bushel, or a reduction of 18 cents for every bushel of wheat grown in Kansas next year. He points out that the average wheat crop in Kansas has been more than 205,000,000 bushels during the past ten years and on that basis the wheat growers would be out of pocket $38,000,000 as a result of the new flexible parity law.

Without doubt the most spectacular battle of the state will be over the Senate seat, now occupied by Andrew Schoepel who, prior to his election to the Senate in 1948, had served two terms as Governor of Kansas. He is opposed by George McGill who was elected in 1932 and who, for the past ten years, has been a member of the U. S. Tariff Commission.

It was Kansas' senior Senator Schoepel who helped turn the Senate tide against 90 per cent parity and for the Benson flexible price support during the closing days of the session when fate of the Administration-supported bill was in doubt. It was this Schoepel stand which gave real power to the word "parity."

Former Senator McGill lost no time in accepting the challenge. He has been speaking in various sections of the state in favor of 90 per cent or higher parity on the six basic crops. McGill, a rugged and eloquent speaker, has a record of generally corraling Republican and Independent votes to the Democratic banner. He is probably one of the best informed men in the state on farm problems since he was co-author of the Pope-McGill bill which since 1938 has given price support to basic farm commodities.

As a rule Democratic candidates are handicapped in Kansas by not being generally known to the voter. This is not true of McGill. He has been a public figure for the past 21 years and is rated as not being afraid of a buzz-saw. It was McGill who in 1928 headed the A1 Smith clubs in the state of Kansas. The fact that he never has had widespread editorial support from Kansas papers has only spurred him on to speak at a greater number of meetings.

PAUSE

FOR REFLECTION

with JAMES C. INGEBREITSEN, President, Spiritual Mobilization

The American Federation of Labor executive council recently declared, according to press reports, that the 83rd Congress "has been dominated by one narrow consideration—budget balancing."

Take out the word "narrow" and the statement would still be controversial. But to call a serious attempt at budget balancing a "narrow consideration" is certainly to take both a narrow and a shortsighted view of things.

A tight rope over a chasm is narrow—but an aerialist walking it would hardly concede that the matter of staying on it was unimportant.

An unbalanced budget is simply the fire that sends the hot air of inflation billowing into the national economic balloon. The ascent—accompanied by constantly high money wages and pocketfuls of greenbacks—may be thrilling, but the descent may be disastrous.

The law that what goes up must come down has not yet been repealed.

It may be a rather "narrow consideration" to take this into account, but it seems only common sense to do so. After all, the narrower our deviation from the laws that govern this universe, the greater is our chance of being benefited, instead of destroyed, by them.

There has been a great deal of violence across the South as the new industrial era emerged from the agricultural past. It is carefully assumed that practically all of this new "industry" fled from the North. Some of it did. Northern opportunists saw many advantages down South. There was a climate free of the cruelty of the northern winters. Factories could be spotted close to small farm cities and manned with workers rather hostile to unions and eager for wages which were to them very liberal and additional to their farm incomes.

But the "industry" of this new South is largely new and original. It never existed anywhere else. The oil, gas, sulphur and derivative activities did not run away from New England. The great ports of New Orleans and Houston and the tremendous manufacturing centers around them are legitimate southern phenomena.

The unions have seen their opportunity and hopped to it. A little killing and non-fatal shooting and bombing are trivial incidents in the conquest of such a new field. Like the Yankee, however, the actual wage-earner in this new South is not aghast enough to discern the hidden hand and the ultimate purpose of those who fan hatred in his heart, post him on picket lines under professional gauleiters imported from New York, and present him with raises which he would have received anyway as natural development, if perhaps a little later.

The invasion of other states by New York letterhead fronts which use slash funds to destroy congressmen, senators and governors who are opposed to almost unrestricted immigration, to federal "education" to Communism and the United Nations is a new development. The scheme is clever and—the machines are small, agile and efficient. If successful, the plot would place the power of government, national and state, in the hands of puppet beholders to unknown individuals operating from New York offices and deluxe apartments.

NEW YORK — Texas has repulsed the CIO and the "pressure groups" of New York which are trying to win control of the government of the whole nation and the several states by stealth. However, Governor Allan Shivers, elected for a third term last Saturday, has not conquered the invaders. They will now gather themselves for further campaigns in the offing. The CIO is the known aggressor here, but as in the insurrections in Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania and California in the mid-thirties, the Communists and the New York forces which oppose "narrow nationalism" with clandestine slash-funds and hate-campaigns, are mighty allies.

Texas and other southern states took a malicious delight in the news and maneuvers of union terror in Michigan when their late patron and sinner in the White House was dragging millions of workers into the original CIO under John L. Lewis. The southern Democrats, including the rich ones, simply could not imagine such a situation in their own country. They thought they were braver than the executives of the soulless Yankee corporations. They thought they were braver than the land called Dixie would kill, if necessary, to maintain their freedom from the discipline of unions having aloof, impersonal executive centers in Washington in close alliance with the Democratic Party.

Meanwhile, however, Texas and the rest of Dixie were being corrupted by the very party which was operating the terror in the north. Mississippi was drawing more money out of the federal treasury than she was contributing as taxpayer. Congressman John Rayburn, a ferocious Red-baiter who hated most New York congressmen and gloried in their hatred, was nevertheless a diligent New Dealer because the new deal was lavish to Mississippi. Tom Clark, now on the Supreme Court and invoking his immunity when Congress would question him about his conduct as attorney general; Tom Connally; Sam Rayburn and John Garner have been prominent figures in the revolution which now threatens their Texas with the bloodshed and loss of sovereignty which befell Michigan.

For example, early in the game, Roosevelt went to Galveston on a man-of-war and his son, Elliott, then in the Fort Worth phase of his impudent and profitable career, delivered him to two big social parties. This was a triumph not only for Elliott but for certain rich and thoroughly unscrupulous Texas millionaires who were well along in the development which unfolded gradually and almost imperceptibly. Of late some of these individuals have taken up philanthropy to the clamor of national publicity although a little research in the newspaper morgues would yield interesting background.

The propaganda depicting typical Texas as a four-flushing patriotic braggart, inferior to the "international" intellectual New Yorker, is not just a spontaneous expression of popular opinion; it is a carefully designed, and propagated to prepare Texas and the rest of the country for a drastic change.

But the conquest of the press, radio and political expression has gone so far that the Texans can't even identify their distant enemies. Texas is the victim of a hate-campaign but she helped to create her own ordeal by her selfish, thoughtless collaboration with the Roosevelt-Truman regime.

"Please," he said, "let us not make such a country ugly. Give what you can."

"He collected $14.05—and the man went free with a nickel in his pockets. Two days later Frank got a message from a Dutch banker of the area. He went to see the man, mystified."

"I sent for you," the whiskered banker growled. "I heard, you emptied your pockets to help a stranger. Come to me whenever you need help."

In time Frank stopped walking. He bought a horse and buggy. And then a little store and then another. And, in time, he had five stores, one in Poughkeepsie, the largest one. He also bought real estate in the region. He knew it would grow. No town on this noble river could wither. Once because he wanted to complete a real estate parcel, he wanted to buy a Kingston corner on which stood a church. He kept silent a long time, unable to finish his parcel, and then when he was ready he went to the church authorities. He told them frankly it was a business matter.

"But no man should be away from his God for a single day," he added. "I will build you a new church on the site you choose. When it is ready for worship, we will talk again."

It is the way it turned out. He built a new church for a faith not his own because it distressed him that any act of his might for one day halt access to the Deity.

He died in honor and competence. He has left a heritage of decency and good will.

Russia sends us, these days, as much that is evil and designed for our destruction that I wanted to tell about something Russia sent us that was good.

Texas Has Repulsed CIO But The Battle Is Not Won

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK — Texas has repulsed the CIO and the "pressure groups" of New York which are trying to win control of the government of the whole nation and the several states by stealth. However, Governor Allan Shivers, elected for a third term last Saturday, has not conquered the invaders. They will now gather themselves for further campaigns in the offing. NEW YORK, N. Y.—Frank Foran doesn't live any more. You can put it down as a genuine loss. And there is a beautiful Hudson River valley in which men and women will never forget him as long as they live.

He was 18 when he came to this country. Slim and gangling and not a word of English on his tongue to get him a crust of bread or locate shelter for him. He stood on the bare New York dock and was lonely. But it is doubtful that he was afraid. He had a patch of paper in his pocket. He had kept it there for long weeks and better than 4,000 miles. He read it again: "Go to see the man in Pearl Street and he will give you work. He found Pearl Street. It must have been an agonizing search, since he couldn't as just anyone. He had to depend on luck to find a sidewalk stranger who spoke AUSTIN, Sept. 2 — UP — The number of polio cases reported in Texas dropped sharply last week to 160, the State Health Department reported Wednesday.

The total of 191 for the week ending Aug. 21 was the highest reported this year. Hidalgo county's 35 cases led the state, with Harris county reporting 20 for the week ending last Saturday.

AUSTIN, Sept. 2 — UP — Gov. Allan Shivers Wednesday asked federal authorities to extend drought relief to Brazos, Dickens, Kent and Montague counties.

Livestock raisers in 75 Texas counties now are eligible for federal help because of the drought, and federal authorities have been asked to extend the program to 15 other counties, not including the four recommended yesterday.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 2 — UP — Democratic State Chairman Smith Hester said Thursday Sen. Albert Gore (Tenn.) had accepted an invitation to be principal speaker at the party's $25-a-plate fund raising dinner in Oklahoma City Oct. 4.

Meanwhile, Republicans announced Secretary of the Treasury, George M. Humphrey would speak at a GOP $100-a-plate dinner in Tulsa Oct. 2.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 2 — UP — Safety Commissioner Lawrence Bellatti said Wednesday the Highway Patrol would use its entire fleet of unmarked squad cars, radar units and airplanes over the Labor Day weekend.

Bellatti said the patrol hoped to keep the highway toll from matching last year's 11 deaths and 121 injuries.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 2 — UP — The Oklahoma Municipal League will hold its 41st annual convention in Oklahoma City Sept. 23 to 25.

League officials said they expected 450 city officials would attend the session, at which the league's 1955 legislative program, police pensions, road users taxes and water supply will be discussed.

Nearly a million people crowd the 991 square miles of the Saar, the largely self-governing state set up in 1947 in an effort to settle the old dispute between France and Germany over control of the Saar's fuel deposits. Coal reserves of 6,000,000,000 tons and yearly steel production of almost 3,000,000 tons give the area industrial significance.

Ike Urged To Increase Defense Jobs

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Sept. 2 — UP — Gov. Phil M. Donnelly of Missouri has asked President Eisenhower to increase, not cut back, defense work to reduce the number of jobless.

Donnelly, in a letter to the White House Wednesday, said he thought the federal government should "recognize the extent and seriousness of unemployment in Missouri as well as in other states."

He said an estimated 114,598 persons were out of work in Missouri, and the mayors of St. Louis and Kansas City had recently asked for help because of the large numbers of jobless in their cities, the state's largest.

"Instead of cutting back work in defense plants and throwing more persons out of jobs," Donnelly wrote, "we should be increasing our defense potentialities."

"The gaunt specter of unemployment will not disappear because it is ignored," he said. "Let us not bury our heads in the sand. This, Mr. President," Donnelly said, "is not a political issue but a matter of bread and butter to thousands upon thousands of Americans whose lot is harsh today, and whose need will be tremendously aggravated as winter sets in."

Mexican President Pledges Peso Will Not Be Cut Again

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 2 — UP — President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines told the opening session of Congress Wednesday it was his "firm decision" not to cut the peso's value again.

The president also promised to maintain free convertibility of the peso, whose value was cut to an all-time low of eight cents (U.S.) last April.

Ruiz Cortines, in his second annual report to the nation, said the Mexican economy was on the road to recovery. But he revealed, for the first time, that the panic following devaluation saw the government's dollar reserves drop to nearly rock bottom.

From a shaky $210 million (U.S.) reserves plummeted to at least $65 million (U.S.) in two months, last April.

Ruiz Cortines did not disclose how much of the nation's monetary backing went across the border. But he said by Aug. 28 reserves plunged to at least $65 million (U.S.) in two months, last April.

servers "had climbed" back to $196 million (U.S.).

He blamed the devaluation on worsening, unfavorable trade balances arising from a post-war slump, a three-year drought and debts inherited from previous administrations.

He declared his program, however, "contributed to braking inflation and cutthroat speculation... without the collapse and liquidation of businesses which normally accompanies a process of necessary readjustment."

Most fishes need company. A goldfish put alone in a bowl can become so lonely and frustrated as to actually wind up a "mental case." But the bloodthirsty piranha fish of South America are so afraid of each other they will try frantically to escape through the glass walls of a tank when two or more are put together, the National Geographic Society reports.

ALL IN ONE'S TASTE

Laverne Mather, a Bloomington, Ill., painter and decorator, isn't exactly the most popular man in his neighborhood after he finished painting his home. He painted the house a shining black enamel; the chimney, white; the driveway, a young lettuce green; and the front door and porch railing, aqua blue. Mrs. Mather holds a sign which read — "Maybe We Don't Like the Color of Your House. We Like Ours This Way."

Coffee Price Drops To 99c

NEW YORK, Sept. 2 — UP — Coffee prices slid below $1 a pound Wednesday for the first time in months.

Two New York city grocery chains and two Ohio chain stores announced 10-cent price reductions carrying retail prices below the $1 mark. Gristede Brothers, with 125 stores in the New York Metropolitan area, said its own Grisdale brand would be sold for 98 cents beginning Thursday.

Fisher Bros. Co., operating 102 stores in northern Ohio, announced reductions to 97 and 99 cents per pound. The Kroger Co. in Cincinnati said its brands would sell for 99 cents and $1.01.

The Grand Union Co., operating food stores in the metropolitan area of New York, announced a reduction of all three of its grades of coffee to 99 cents a pound.

Copper Plant Strike Ends

SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 2 — UP — Copper workers in four states returned Wednesday to their jobs at Kennecott Copper Corp. plants, ending a strike which cut the nation's copper production by 50 per cent.

Local unions of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers signalled the end of the walkout Tuesday night by ratifying a proposed agreement.

The decision sent 11,000 workers back to their jobs in Utah, Nevada, Arizona and New Mexico. The strike had lasted two and a half weeks.

Union officials said the Kennecott agreement consists of a package offer of nearly nine cents, including a five cent per hour general wage increase and better than four cents per hour in fringe benefits.

The National Pretzel Bakers Institute estimates that last year 720 billion pretzels were manufactured by an industry doing $52 million worth of retail business.

Auto Safety Tags Go On Sale Sept. 15

AUSTIN, Sept. 2 — UP — Motorists in Texas have from Sept. 15 until next April 15 to get their new automobile inspection sticker, Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said Wednesday.

Dates were set by the Texas Public Safety Commission. George Busby, chief of the motor vehicle inspection division, revealed at the same time inspectors from his office have filed 106 cases against car owners who have failed to have their automobile inspected.

These cases, he said, are in addition to complaints filed by members of the Texas Highway Patrol and local police officers.

Busby said he was unable to estimate the number of violations which have been reported. However, he expressed belief Texans have complied with the law "almost 100 per cent."

Cats Reach First Division In TL

By UNITED PRESS
The fast-traveling Fort Worth Cats replaced the stone-cold San Antonio Missions in the Texas League's first division Wednesday night.

Fort Worth blasted Oklahoma City 14 to 1 Wednesday night while San Antonio lost a doubleheader to lowly Beaumont 2 to 5 and 2 to 4.

It was Fort Worth's sixth win in the last seven games and San Antonio's seventh straight defeat. Now, the Cats are in a playoff spot—fourth place—and San Antonio is a full game behind with six games left for each team.

In other games, southpaw Luis Arroyo of the Houston Buffs topped the league-leading Sports on five hits, 7 to 1, and lefty Pat Scantlebury of Dallas pitched a superb three-hitter over Tulsa, 4 to 0.

Scantlebury, despite playing all season with a last place club, chalked up his 18th win of the season to become the winning pitcher in two seasons. Paradoxically, Red Murff was the Texas League's leading pitcher last year with 17 wins for Dallas when the Eagles finished in first place.

Fort Worth whipped Oklahoma City for the ninth straight time in the Oklahoma capital against no losses there this season.

Calvin Felix, Roy Hartfield and Ray Coleman paced a 17-hit Cat batting attack against the four Indians pitchers, Felix and Hartfield homered and Hartfield and Coleman each drove in three runs as did catcher Ernie Yelen.

Mike Lemish, stout Cat right-hander, fashioned a six-hitter in going the distance.

Ed Kazak's three-run home run in the first inning gave Beaumont its opening game win over San An-

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—UP—Casey Stengel will be back as manager of the Yankees next year. He made that plain Thursday while trying to figure out how to beat the Indians this year.

There was no official announcement, no deluxe Yankee press conference. Just a simple statement of fact from Casey himself.

"Listen," he said, "These Indians are real tough. If we don't catch 'em now, they're gonna be even tougher next year. They've got good young guys. They've got a pitcher, Herb Score, down in Indianapolis who can win 20 just like those other guys they've got now. We're gonna have to bring up some pretty good guys ourselves this year if we want to keep up with them next year."

Did that mean Stengel planned to be around next year, despite reports that he would retire and take it easy at his home in Glendale, Calif., at the conclusion of the current campaign?

"Sure, I'm gonna be around for a long time to come," he replied. "And we're gonna have to make some changes."

Stengel said the Yankees would continue to find it tougher, not only because they no longer have fellows around like Joe DiMaggio, Charley Keller, and Tommy Henrich, who sparked his first championship team in 1949, but because other teams in the league now are sparred by ex-Yankee ball players.

"Every time you look up somebody who used to be around here is winning a ball game for some other team in the league," he said. "And sometimes they're beating us."

WEST LOS ANGELES, Calif., Sept. 2.—UP—Wellington H. (Wimpy) Quinn, one-time Chicago Cubs and Los Angeles Angels baseball player, died Wednesday night at the age of 36. The University of Oregon graduate last served in baseball as manager of the Bakerville club of the California League.

Bauman Misses 69th By Mere Six Inches

ROSWELL, N.M., Sept. 2.—UP—Slugging Joe Bauman missed trying baseball's all-time home run record Wednesday night, but one of his three hits against Midland struck the right field fence six inches from the top and bounded back into the playing field for a double.

A crowd of 1,978, most of whom were on hand to see if Roswell's first baseman could get his 69th homer of the season, cried out in disappointment when Bauman's drive failed to clear the fence. He got another double and a single in Roswell's 14 to 7 Longhorn League win over Midland.

Bauman, a filling station operator when he isn't playing ball, still seems a good bet to break the home run record of 69 set by Joe Hauser at Minneapolis in 1933 and tied by Bob Crues at Amarillo in the West Texas-New Mexico League in 1948.

He has five more games to go and Roswell Manager Pat Stasey installed him in the leadoff spot in the batting order last night, from his regular cleanup position, and said he would stay there the rest of the season.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 2.—UP—Paul Ebert, former Ohio State University basketball and baseball star, will be married to his high school sweetheart, Miss Joyce Parks, Saturday.

Accused Reds Still Without Legal Counsel

By GWEN GIBSON
DENVER, Sept. 2—UP—Seven Communists accused of criminally conspiring to overthrow the government have two more weeks in which to persuade a lawyer to advise them on how to plead and defend themselves.

Although the FBI rounded them up a month ago on charges of violating the Smith Act, the seven Reds maintain they have not been able to hire counsel. Federal Judge Jean Breitenstein postponed their arraignment for a third time Wednesday, granting them two more weeks to procure an attorney.

Arthur Bary, 42, of Denver, listed by the FBI as an outstanding underground Communist, appeared with his six co-defendants. All are charged with conspiring to teach and to advocate the overthrow of the government by violence and force.

Bary, a stout, dark-haired man with a resonant voice, was arrested in Denver the night of Aug. 1 along with his wife, Anna, 29; Harold Zepelin, 28, and Lewis Martin Johnson, 34; Patricia Julia Blau, 42, was picked up the same night in Los Angeles.

The next day the FBI completed the roundup by arresting Mr. and Mrs. Joseph William Scherrer of Pueblo, Colo.

The Scherrers got out of jail Aug. 24 on $5,000 bond each. But the others are being held in lieu of bonds ranging from $10,000 to $40,000.

"We haven't been able to consult with each other at all," Bary complained to Breitenstein. "We can't get an attorney because we can't get together to study and prepare our case. We've called many attorneys from jail but when we consult with them we can't answer their questions."

"I'm not a lawyer, I'm just a common Joe," Bary said. "But it seems to me there's been some indecent haste somewhere, when you consider this is not a criminal case but a political case where the things to be tried are ideas."

Can't Have Newspapers
Zepelin argued that in jail he was not allowed to read newspapers. When Assistant U. S. District Attorney Robert Swanson pointed out that no prisoners are granted that privilege, Zepelin countered: "Other prisoners aren't being tried in the papers every day."

"I understand even the President of the United States is making statements in Denver that could have bearing on our case," Zepelin said.

He apparently referred to the bill outlawing the Communist party which President Eisenhower signed at the summer White House last week.

Jap Commies Propaganda Aimed At GIs

By EDWARD R. KENNEDY
NEA Special Correspondent
TOKYO — (NEA) — In the underground empire the Japanese Communists have carved for themselves, the mimeograph operators and typesetters are working over time.

Their latest target is U.S. servicemen on leave from Korea. Their literary output bears no Communist imprimatur, but the accent of the propaganda is obvious.

Two of the publications bear the apparently innocent titles of "Hotel Information" and "Tourist Guide." More than 1000 copies of each of these mimeographed sheets turn up each month at U.S. posts and rest and recreation hotels.

Japanese police investigators say the newspapers are Japanese Communists who have infiltrated into jobs with the U.S. forces. But neither the police nor U.S. counter intelligence agents have been able to stop the will-o'-the-wisp distribution to hotel rooms and lobbies where troops from Korea spend their off time.

Obviously prepared and edited by Japanese writers with a better grasp of the CP line than they have of the English language, the two publications have a high GI laugh-rating.

"Hotel Information," subtitled "The Truth," recently had an article headed, "Why did you decide not to go home?" It quoted the 21 Americans at Panmunjom who "marched jauntily" through the gates to North Korea as saying they refused repatriation "because they would be 'silenced' by the U.S."

The "Tourist Guide," subtitled "Nippon Star," plays up stories of international politics, American imperialism (such as record profits from war contracts for aircraft companies which stubbornly resist wage demands of their work force) and the "socialist" of U.S. servicemen in Germany for "rape, robe and murder."

The Japanese Communist Party has a daily newspaper and a monthly magazine as its openly official organs. But it also prints more than a score of Japanese language periodicals at irregular intervals.

The party has tailored a publication for each government and trade class of workers in an attempt to win recruits for its army of 400,000 members and sympathizers.

"The Policemen's Friend" is a semi-monthly tabloid. Similar tabloids are published for the National Defense Corps and the Coastal Safety Force, units of Japan's new army and navy.

The U.S. soldiers may laugh at the mimeographed sheets distributed by Red agents so well-trained by the underground that nobody can catch them.

But no U.S. officials here are laughing at President Eisenhower's grim warning that unless we help Japan keep her freedom, the Japanese may believe what they read — and the Red underground will come to the surface and take over for the Kremlin.

Drowns in Lake
CORPUS CHRISTI, Sept. 2—UP—Gil Wayne Young, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Young, drowned Tuesday when he stepped into a hole in Lake View.

The Beardlee Telegraph — patented by George Beardlee in 1859 — was the first electrical field signaling equipment used by the Army.
