Robbery Suspect Gives Up

Returns To Berger With $4,807 Of Erick Bank Loot

BORGER, Aug. 10 — UP — Bobby Jo Rine, 24, the third man wanted for the $22,000 robbery of the Farmers National Bank of Erick, Okla., surrendered to police Monday night with $4,807 of the bank loot.

"I realized in California there was no need running," he said. "I lost most of my friends when I got a divorce just before I went into the service and I guess I began running around with the wrong crowd after I got out."

Rine said he took a tour of California and the Pacific Northwest by automobile and air before he came back to Berger. He said he caught a freight train from Salt Lake City to Pueblo, Colo., then hitchhiked to Berger.

He got into Berger about 8 p.m. Monday.

Gives Himself Up

"I've come home to give myself up," he told his mother, Mrs. Jack Rine. He cleaned up and went with his parents to the Berger police station, where he surrendered just before midnight.

Twice, Rine said he had narrow escapes from the law — once at a roadblock in San Francisco and once at an air terminal in Seattle. Wash. But both times he slipped past the officers.

James Darrell Holland, 25, of Erick, and James Earl Spangler, 22, of Tulsa, Okla., the other two men charged with federal bank robbery, were captured last week in California.

Rine said the three went to Erick about a week before the robbery July 29, looked the Farmers National Bank over and returned to Berger, where they decided to rob it.

Carried Paper Bag

Rine said that Holland was carrying an automatic carbine, previously described as a machine gun, when they entered the bank. Spangler was carrying a .45 caliber automatic and Rine was carrying a paper bag.

"They walked in first," Rine said, and lined the people up against the wall. I took the money (See SUSPECT, Page 1)

Senate Approves Ike's Farm Plan

Ike Victory Dumps Rigid Farm Props

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 —UP— Sen. Milton R. Young (R-N.D.) predicted Tuesday the Eisenhower administration's victory in the bitter congressional farm fight will turn into Republican defeat in the November elections.

The administration's legislative sweep on agricultural law was sealed Monday night when it routed the Senate farm bloc in two key tests. It won flexible price supports on basic crops and beat down attempts to raise dairy prices.

The Senate took up other provisions of the farm bill Tuesday morning and was expected to complete action on the House-approved legislation before it quits Tuesday.

To Lose Some Seats
Young said the Senate's action Monday night "unquestionably will lose some" Republican seats in Congress.

But estimates of political impact were as much in dispute as the legislation itself.

Chairman George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) of the Senate Agriculture committee countered that "not one" congressional seat will turn on the farm issue.

Of 82 House members from "close" districts — winners by less than 35 per cent of the 1952 total vote — 60 voted for flexible price supports at this session, Aiken said. They included 21 of 43 Democrats, he said, and 39 of 40 Republicans. The GOP exception was Rep. Fred Wampler of Virginia.

"The House boys have to run for re-election every two years and they ought to know what the people are thinking," Aiken said.

Aiken, the administration's principal farm spokesman in the Senate, engineered a more complete administration victory than the House leadership delivered in its rout of the farm bloc a month ago.

In succession, the Senate: 1. Adopted flexible price supports of 82 1/2 to 90 per cent of "fair price" parity next year for five basic crops — cotton, wheat, corn, rice and peanuts. The roll call vote was 49 to 44.

This settled the question of price supports, for the House had agreed to the same sliding scale and President Eisenhower had given it his personal blessing. The present law, which the farm bloc sought to retain, gives basic crop rigid support at 90 per cent of parity.

Refuse Dairy Boost
2. Refused to raise price supports on butter and other dairy products, now 75 per cent of parity. The key roll call vote was 49 to 43 for Aiken's amendment which would leave the dairy price structure as is and would authorize for the first time government purchases of fluid milk as part of the stabilization program. Only milk products — butter, cheese, etc. — have been purchased under the support program heretofore.

Three States Hold Primary Elections

By UNITED PRESS
A bewildering senatorial free-for-all in Nebraska and former Sen. Glen H. Taylor's comeback bid in Idaho highlighted primary elections in three states Tuesday.

In Arkansas Gov. Francis Cherry and newspaper publisher Orval Faubus were locked in a runoff fight for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, tantamount to election.

Nebraskans picked candidates in three separate Senate races, although no state in the nation sends more than two senators to Washington.

The unusual situation arose following the deaths this year of both Nebraska senators, Republicans Hugh Butler and Dwight Griswold.

Thus, primary candidates competed for an eight week term completing Griswold's tenure, Butler's remaining four years, and a full six-year term.

The fight for the six-year term attracted the most candidates — seven Republicans and three Democrats.

GOP contenders included Gov. Robert Crosby, Rep. Carl T. Curtis, former state Republican Chairman David Martin and onetime Democratic Congressman Terry Carpenter.

The defense ministry said the Communist vessels were taken completely unaware and were sunk in a matter of minutes, before they could man their own guns for more than a token defense.

The ministry said all the invading Nationalist naval craft returned safely to their home base.

Both the Nationalists and the Red Chinese maintain a considerable force of small armed vessels, used extensively in patrol actions in Chinese coastal waters. Authorities here said it was craft of this type that were involved.

A Nationalist news agency also reported that the Reds have put 45,000 crack troops through extensive amphibious exercises in the Shanghai area.

Chinastone News agency said the large scale maneuvers were carried out late last month. The report said the Reds employed "completely modern" land, air and sea forces and equipment.

Abilene Players Robbed Of $60

Abilene Blue Sox ball players were robbed of $60 last night during the baseball game. Some entered their rooms in the Schneider Hotel and took money from their clothes pockets, according to police.

The theft occurred during the Pampa-Abilene doubleheader last night. A suspect was picked up and questioned but was released. Hotel manager, Curtis Wesley, who reported the theft to police, said this is the first such incident in some time.

Yarborough Has Full Day

Gubernatorial Candidate Ralph Yarborough, of Austin, arrives at Perry LeFors Field this afternoon for a whirlwind round of political activity in his quest for the decision at the Aug. 28 Democratic primary polls.

A caravan of 25-30 supporters meet at the airport and bring him into town where he gives a talk in the 21st District Courtroom on the third floor of the Courthouse.

Meeting him in Pampa are caravans from Wheeler, Shamrock, Miami, Canadian, Lefors, McLean, Clarendon, Panhandle and Berger.

Following his speech in the courtroom, he meets with the press in the grand jury room across the hall north from the courtroom.

Then he goes downstairs and out the south Courthouse door to the lawn where he gives an open air speech.

Then he goes to the Station KPDN studios where he tapes a speech to be broadcast at 7 p.m. today. By that time he will be gone.

His arrival follows that of Gov. Allan Shivers, running for re-election, by four days. Shivers appeared at the Friday night performance of the Top o' Texas Rodeo.

Charges Against Two Judges, Ex-Cop Won Touhy Freedom

CHICAGO, Aug. 10 —UP— Two judges and the onetime "richest cop in the world" were involved in charges that freed gangster Roger (The Terrible) Touhy was "framed" into 20 years imprisonment.

The charges were made Monday by Federal District Judge John P. Barnes as he ordered the 55-year-old mobster of the roaring 20s released on $10,000 bond.

The bearded jurist named Judges Thomas J. Courtney and Wilbert F. Crowley in his 74-page decision. But he reserved his most devastating charges for Daniel A. Gilbert, former chief investigator for the state's attorneys office who became known as "the richest cop in the world."

Barnes said "perjured testimony was knowingly used" in Touhy's 1934 trial for the alleged kidnaping of welder John (Jake the Barber) Factor.

Courtney was Chicago's state's attorney at the time and Gilbert was his investigator. Crowley was Courtney's chief aide and conducted the actual prosecution.

Barnes said "Gilbert prevented witnesses from telling the truth" and added Courtney must take responsibility for his investigator's acts. Crowley, he said, presented the perjured testimony in court, but probably didn't know it was false.

French Chief Wins Approval

PARIS Aug. 10 —UP— Premier Pierre Mendes-France won a confidence test in the French national assembly Tuesday.

Deputies voted the fast-moving premier the widest economic powers given any French government since World War II.

While the premier won his victory by a comfortable margin, the vote supporting his measures was the smallest of four important ballots the assembly has taken on his policies during his eight weeks in office.

Unofficial sources said the premier received about 350 votes.

Mendes-France was approved as premier June 17 by a vote of 417 to 47. His Indo-China cease-fire bargain won a 471 to 14 vote.

Tuesday's test was the first of two through which the premier seeks to clear the boards of all outstanding problems so the nation can concentrate on the all-important issue of the European army plan.

Others on hand for the 20-minute ceremony were Rev. Woodrow W. Adcock, pastor of the First Methodist Church, who gave the invocation; Fred Sloan, commander of the local American Legion post; E. W. (Bud) Hogan, commander of the local Veterans of Foreign Wars unit; and Floyd Watson, representing the Pampa Chamber of Commerce.

Hart returned home Sept. 18.

Tax Hearings In Second Day

Gray County commissioners, acting as the county board of equalization, today entered their second day of public hearings for oil operators, independents and royalty owners and owners of fee land on the oil roll.

Wednesday will be the last day for them, according to the schedule that has been set up.

Local property owners, those with inventories and those not on the oil and gas rolls can meet with the equalization board Thursday, Friday, Monday and Aug. 17. And a special invitation has been extended to all interested taxpayers to be on hand at 9 a.m. Thursday for the public hearing.

City Commission OKs Monthly Bills

Routine approval of bills was the business transacted this morning at a brief session of the City Commission.

Approved were monthly bills in the amount of $17,322.41 and library bills totaling $176.75.

The commission also approved a contract with the White Deer Corporation for water and sewer lines in the Red Deer Addition.

Iowa Village Fetes Hoover On Birthday

WEST BRANCH, Iowa, Aug. 10 —UP— Herbert Hoover, the village blacksmith's son who became President of the United States, returned Tuesday to a giant 80th birthday party in his tiny town where he was born.

An estimated 30,000 Iowaans crowded this village of 119 to welcome the nation's 11st chief executive.

Hoover, his face tanned and ruddy under a thatch of gray hair, was to arrive by motorcade from Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon had been scheduled to attend as a representative of President Eisenhower. However, he sent a telegram saying the expected closeness of the vote on the administration's farm bill would keep him in Washington.

Wilbur M. Bruckner, former governor of Michigan and now counsel to the secretary of defense, was sent as a substitute.

The morning's events included dedication of a Herbert Hoover elementary school, the 11st in the nation, and a visit to the two-room cottage where the future President and millionaire was born.

At noon church women prepared an "old-fashioned Iowa dinner" for 200 invited guests.

James Hart, Korea Hero, Given Medal

Sfc. James W. Hart, a Pampa man who was a prisoner of war for 38 months in Korea, was presented a Silver Star Monday night in an open-air ceremony on Browning, just east of Frost.

Mayor Tom Rose presented the award which President Eisenhower had directed for Hart's gallantry in action April 22, 1951, in the vicinity of Uhalguy, Korea.

The ceremonies took place near the Army Reserve armory, 208 W. Browning. Many of Hart's friends and relatives were on hand.

Lt. Col. Robert W. Edwards read the citation before Rose made the presentation.

Mickey Jelke Weds Model

NEW YORK, Aug. 10 —UP— Mickey F. (Mickey) Jelke, 24, defendant in a sensational pandering trial in 1952, has married the pretty blonde model who was found in his bed at the time of his arrest.

Jelke and Sylvia R. Eder, 26, were married at Folkston, Ga., June 22 by Justice of the Peace J. E. Haney Sr.

Miss Eder and Jelke stated on their application for a marriage license that it was the first marriage for each. The record is on file at the Georgia State Health Department.

Jelke, who inherits a $5 million fortune on his 25th birthday, was convicted in Feb. 1953 on two counts of pandering. Subsequently the appellate division reversed the playboy's compulsory prostitution conviction.

This settled the question of price supports, for the House had agreed to the same sliding scale and President Eisenhower had given it his personal blessing.

The present law, which the farm bloc sought to retain, gives basic crop rigid support at 90 per cent of parity.

THE MARQUEE
BY DICK KLEINER

The Record Shop: Tony Bennett he was strictly a jazz and pop turned down a $25,000 offer for an eight-day, six-city jaunt to Australia. All his expenses and transportation would have been paid, too. The Columbia singing star said his schedule was too crowded — but this is one of the first big offers made by Australia to an American record star and it may herald more of the same.

But Bennett figured he'd rather be on top here than down under.

Christine Jorgensen may turn record singer. A major label is considering signing her — she speaks six languages and sounds something like Marlene Dietrich. They figure she could do foreign language songs.

Move over, you wine tasters and mattress testers. Make way for another guy with a delightful job — the record-listener. One such is Donald Richter, whose official title is quality manager for RCA-Victor records. Every day, he comes in to work and spends his required hours listening to music. Tough.

But life isn't just a bowl of symphonies for Richter. His listening with a purpose — to detect flaws in the company's master records. He doesn't really listen to the music itself, but to the background to detect bad sounds.

"I don't listen to the music, but around and through it," Richter says.

To accomplish his professional aim in life, he has a battery of instruments set up alongside the turntable where he spins the records. There are oscillographs, microscopes, meters and a crazy assortment of gauges. These gimmicks serve the dual purpose of letting him get a more scientific grasp of the sounds on the record, and also killing his personal enjoyment of music.

"I'm too busy listening for such bugaboos to true hi-fi quality as distortion, scratches, dents, dirt, high surface noise and off-center records," he explains. "Instead of being thrilled by violin arpeggios and flute obligatos, I get excited when I hear wheelmarks, blocking, noisy lead-ins or groove-lines, as we call some of the most frequent defects."

Once he hears, say, an exciting wheelmark, he turns the master record right back to the factory. And he keeps turning them back until he gets one that has nary a wheelmark.

Richter is a stocky electrical engineer from Iowa, who used to be a pretty fair amateur clarinetist. But nowadays he makes little or no music himself. Too busy listening to other people. Since most of what he listens to is classical, he's beginning to develop a taste for that kind of music. Originally Popular albums are plentiful — Frank Sinatra (Capitol) has rhythmic set called "Swing Easy"; MGM has issued the melodic soundtrack from "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers," with Jane Powell and Howard Keel; Consuelo Velazquez, on RCA, has a lovely assortment of piano moods called "Invitation to Romance"; Ray Anthony (Capitol) plays "Top Tunes," some of today's top pops.

Oklahoma Demo Bigwigs Meet Gary
WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 UP—Raymond Gary, Democratic nominee for governor of Oklahoma, was guest of honor at a dinner given Monday night by Democratic members of the Oklahoma congressional delegation.

Gary told the group he was confident of victory in November because "the people of Oklahoma want a progressive government."

"They know that the Democrats will give them that," he said.

The dinner was attended by Sens. Robert S. Kerr and A. S. Mike Monroney and all Oklahoma Democratic members of the House.

Jane Talk

By JANE KADINGO

Pampa News Women's Editor

DESIGNER DIOR has caused quite a furor with his advocating of the "flat" or "ironing board" look. Even the lengthening of skirts and the advent of the stockings bathing suit — way back when — didn't cause the stir that Dior has this time.

Since it's being talked about in nearly every home, and appearing constantly in the papers and on the radio, I thought I'd devote part of this column to Pampons' reactions. I think they're fairly typical of those I've heard, and since the men seem so interested, I've gotten comments from some of them, too.

For the teenage view, I called on JAMES HOLMES, 19, 637 N. Hobart, and MRS. MARILYN Mc DANIEL, 17, 1024 Mary Ellen. James' comment: "I don't like it. I don't think it will go over here or anywhere else." Marilyn was even more emphatic: "I think it's terrible! I think it's the worst thing I've ever heard of!"

For the women's point of view, I called on MRS. KAY FANCHER, 521 Doucette, and MRS. WILLIAM CASTLEBERRY, 221 N. Ward. Attractive Mrs. Fancher said: "I don't like it. Some things even Dior can't suppress. It's mainly for women who can afford it. It won't last long and I don't think it will go over in the United States." Mrs. Castleberry, named among Pampa's ten best dressed women in The News poll this year, stated: "I think it's attractive to tall people, but those on the chubby side can't use it. Personally, I think those fall knits are perfectly gorgeous!"

For the male opinion, I called on ED MYATT and J. C. HOPKINS. Ed, who said he hadn't paid too much attention to it, did comment: "The existing fashions are more than sufficient to meet the needs." After explaining it to J. C. Hopkins, who hadn't yet heard of it, he said: "I don't go for it. If you take the curves out of a road, it gets sort of tiresome, doesn't it?"

Well, that's that for Dior. . . or, at least, what we think of him.

TO GET far, far away from the Dior influence, here's a peek into what is in view for footwear this fall from the Leather Industries of America.

"Transitory shoes in both new fashions of burnished and high-polished calf and kid, and suede leathers, will carry fashion-wise women from mid-summer well into bedraggled summer cottons, and lend an elegant finishing touch to your fall and winter costumes.

"Last winter, these glowing high-polished leathers in black, charcoal and deep browns made fashion news for the formal cocktail and evening shoe. Right now, you will find them in all types of shoes from the very casual and at-home slipper to the afternoon pump and formal sandal.

"For colors for midsummer, as well as later, are coal black, off-black, charcoal, taupe, deep dark browns and blues. Perfect for summer wear, these shoes in the transitory theme will be equally right with your brilliant fall tweeds.

"According to fashion leaders, the darker-toned leathers are predominating in the midsummer-and-fall fashion scene. With the popularity of tweeds for elegant city wear, the dark, town-brown smooth leathers in rich aniline finishes that glint with copper lights are making a fashion comeback, as are the dark brown suede leathers, pigskins and reptiles.

"Next in importance are the elegant black in two textures, the glowing luster leather which represents one of the most exciting leather developments of 1954, the crushed calf in dull black and the soft dusky suede. All of these textures will be worn with elegant patterned silks and broadcades, sleek broadcloth and woolen sibilines.

"The real sophisticate in fall shoe leathers is new darkly gleaming grey. Grey will be seen in every kind of autumn apparel, and you'll find varying shades of greys and many different leather textures in fall shoes — gunmetal in kid, graphite and marcaste in calf, chromeite and doekain suede, and true charcoal in fine pig leathers.

"To wear with pale lilac and plum colors, blues, beiges and black and white, there is a new crop of winter "berry" shades in high-polished luster calf leathers and in suede, kidskin and reptiles. Two new colors that are making their bow in the new anilines are avocado in a deeper and clearer tone that's almost mossy, and an almost black cherry red."

Fall Gown in Barathea

For very formal fall occasions, Jane Derby has designed this bronze-green ball gown with a Victorian feeling. In pure silk barathea, it has sweeping skirt permanently shaped by pelton. Three Top Designers Reveal Methods Of Creating Fall And Winter Fashions

(Editor's Note: Three of leading designers tell you what went behind the scenes before creation of the fall and winter fashion collections now being shown. Mollie Parnis, whose specialty in dresses, and milliner Sally Victor have Mamie Eisenhower as one of their regular customers. Ben Zuckerman, a suit and coat specialist, has won several national awards for design. U.P.A.)

By MOLLIE PARNIS
Written for United Press
NEW YORK — UP — So you think you could design clothes. Well, here's an invitation to try it.

There is one unavoidable type—or should I say "bore"—every dress designer encounters almost daily. It is the frustrated designer—the woman who "simply loves clothes" and feels this passion fully qualifies her as a fashion creator.

For even the most talented designer is only a cog in a large and complicated machine known as "the firm."

A lovely dress must also be wearable or count zero for the designer. And fashion is a painstaking craft as well as an art.

The work on a collection starts about five months before it is shown to the public.

I call together my associate designer, my fabric buyer, and my salespeople. The salespeople review the best-selling dresses of our current collection — you've no idea how quickly you can forget a dress once you've sent it out into the world.

Next, I outline my feeling about clothes in general — what I think women will want to be wearing. Then my assistant designer, the fabric buyer and I go on a fabric-buying expedition that lasts several weeks and forms the basis of our entire collection.

Next step is up to me. I study the fabrics and assign them to my associates. Each member of the design staff is given fabrics which have the "feel" of his particular talent.

When the sketches are submitted, we discuss each in detail, and I decide which ones shall be produced, first in muslin, then as the dress itself.

By SALLY VICTOR

NEW YORK — UP — The hardest part of designing hats is getting the idea for the collection.

My line is started when "it" happens. "It" is when I get the very first idea for a new group. Sometimes, everything that comes to mind seems either too familiar or too radical, and there are moments of doubt and indecision.

Often the news anywhere around the world is the beginning of the idea. Sometimes a new skirt length or maybe the opening of a play or a picture, can provide the needed inspiration. A book, or a trip I take may do the trick.

Sometimes an outstanding personality sets hat fashions. I think Mrs. Eisenhower is a fine example of this. Her inaugural hat, which I made toward a definite need (good fit, becomingness, and weatherproof in case of rain or high winds) proved popular beyond my wildest dreams.

Once the idea for the collection comes, the most exciting part of the millinery business begins. It's fun to watch your ideas carried out and the consumer proclaiming the result a "hit."

As for copying hats, I know that when they stop taking my designs, I'm finished. But it would be nice to have a little more time to exploit my own designs before others copy them.

My best advice to you women come fall is this: Try color; try new silhouettes. You don't have to buy them, but see if you don't discover a new "you." You may have allowed yourself to become lulled into a complacent mood, and will never know the thrill of a new look — unless you become a fashion explorer.

By BEN ZUCKERMAN
Written for United Press
NEW YORK — UP — The fashion business is like show business.

There is the same excitement, the same gamble and often the same crisis in putting a fashion collection "on the road" as in aiming for a Broadway hit.

It is a sure thing the fashion producer and the theatrical producer have several things in common.

In both cases, experience is no guarantee that you will produce what the public wants.

Both cost money. Any significant fashion collection involves upwards of $100,000.

But, whereas the number of critics covering a Broadway opening is limited, those "covering" fashion collections stretch the length and breadth of the nation.

For a representative fall and winter collection of coats and suits must cover at least four different climates — more varied than the whole of Europe and Great Britain.

We "audition" ideas for months in advance. We plot our fabrics and types of costumes and decide which silhouette shall be starred.

It takes six weeks to bring a single new coat silhouette off the sketch pad and onto the body of a fashion model — or about as long as it takes to rehearse a Broadway show. Multiply the six weeks by 25 to see how much work goes into a tailored collection of clothes.

After months of work behind closed doors, my collection opens "cold" to the audience of experts. There is no chance to try out of town; no opportunity to doctor a weak part of the show.

The fashions are a hit or a lemon — depending on the "critics" in every state of the union.

Picnic, Recordings End Reading Program

SKELLYTOWN — (Special) — The reading program at the Skellytown library ended with a picnic at the Huber Park in Borger this week. The reading program has been in progress at the Carson and Hutchinson County libraries since June 1st.

Literary representatives by the children were White Deer, Groom, Skellytown, Borger, Stinnett and Panhandle.

The child reading the most books during the reading program in each group was taken to the Borger radio station by Miss Jo Battle, where they had tape recordings made.

Those attending the picnic from Skellytown were: Sharon and Bob Moore, Wayne Kreis, Arlin Kaler, Donald Gene Carter, Roy Armstrong, Ross and Charlie Coleman, Gerald Logan, Ruth Beighle and Mmes. G. E. Boyd, Melvin Beighle and Clifford Coleman.

Pamper Your Feet In Hot Weather

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

In summertime, your feet and legs take you to all the places where you'll find fun and relaxation, whether it's long walks along the seashore, family picnics or dancing at bungalow parties.

So, be good to your best means of transportation. Pampering your feet requires a little time and effort, but the results are worth it.

First, make a foot bath of lukewarm water and rich, billowing suds of a mild soap that's suitable for babies' skin. Let your feet soak in it for a few minutes. Then scrub your toes and heels with a nail brush.

For a refreshing rinse, pour first hot, then cold, water over your feet. Do this several times. It will be cooling and soothing.

On particularly humid days, you can give your feet more elaborate treatments. For instance, try splashing ice-cold cologne (if you keep in refrigerator) over your feet.

It is not a magic solution. Enterprising people, including children, tend to be bored by reasons produced by somebody else's own experience. Because of this, we are wise to draw upon the child's own experience to control him, whenever possible.

As we've seen, Bob did not have to collide with a car to accept the unreasonableness of riding his bike without a light. All he needed was to recall his own knowledge of its hazards.

Our youngsters have collected experience that should be constantly used in controlling them. It is by teaching them to reason from their own experience that they learn to control themselves.

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Hollywood on TV: Now that there's a new Miss Universe, Jackie Loughery's spilling the bad news:

"They don't say it in front of you at the movie studios, but you aren't given credit for very much ability if you're a beauty contest winner."

But it happened to Bess Myerson, a former Miss America, and now it's happening to Jackie, who was Miss United States in the Miss Universe contest year before last.

Stardom on TV, where the big boys don't hold it against a lass just because she paraded around in a bathing suit.

Red-haired Jackie didn't get very far as a U-I contract player and for a while she was sure that she'd have a better chance in acting roles if she had won a Miss Ugly title.

Then along came a chance to emote in "Mr. District Attorney" and a 52-week contract with CBS as one of the two dolls on "Earn Your Vacation" and "at least I have a good start—something I didn't get in the movies."

Disabled Jet Ridden Down
EL PASO, Aug. 10 —UP— Two Navy pilots who rode their jet trainer down to a crash landing were reported in good condition Tuesday at Biggs Air Force Base hospital.

They were Lt. (jg) Anderson M. Cartney and Stanford A. Smith, stationed at Alameda Naval Air Station.

Their TV2 crashed 15 miles west of El Paso late Monday, after it ran out of fuel. They were picked up soon after the mishap by a helicopter from El Paso International Airport, to which they had radioed when they found they would have to land short of the field.

Doctors said Cartney received a minor injury to his lower spine, while Smith received only a "bad bump."

Americans eat an average of 65 million pounds of meat every day. This is enough to fill about 8,000 railroad refrigerator cars or 8,000 refrigerator trucks which placed end to end would extend more than 14 miles.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE Make Sure Signals Don't Backfire

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Very few bridge signals should be automatic. If a signal gives valuable information to your partner, well and good. If it doesn't forget the signal; it may boomerang by giving valuable information to the declarer.

When today's hand was played, West opened the jack of spades, and East won with the ace. East properly shifted to the queen of clubs, and South won with the ace.

South looked the hand over carefully and saw that he was bound to lose three tricks in the black suits no matter how he played the hand. The contract therefore depended on losing no trump tricks.

Since there wasn't much point in wasting either time or tears on this sort of problem, South continued by laying down the ace of hearts. East began a signal by playing the three of hearts.

The failure of the deuce of trumps to appear on the first trick intrigued South. He entered dummy with a diamond and led a trump from the dummy. East won produced the duce of hearts, and declarer thought about matters very carefully.

An echo in trump is usually employed to show a holding of exactly three trumps. Since East happened to be a fairly steady and unimaginative player, it seemed clear to South that East was signaling the fact that he held three trumps.

It didn't seem likely to declare that East would signal this information if he had started with three trumps headed by the queen. Hence declarer decided to play East for three trumps lacking the queen, which meant that West's queen was now about to drop. South put up the king of clubs and dropped the blank queen, thus assuring the shaky contract.

You may be sure that West had a few choice remarks to make about useless signals. The moral, a good one for everybody, is that the trump echo should be reserved for those occasions when you must inform your partner even at the expense of informing the enemy. Avoid using this echo when there is a possible trump finesse.

A TV SET—a TV set?—will be first prize at a MOVIE STUDIO's annual picnic. . . . Albert McCleery, the Hallmark Playhouse man, is spending the summer months teaching TV techniques to Army personnel.

Telefilm casts are acquiring more star power. Dane Clark, Cleo Moore and Barbara Hale team up for a new Ford Theater telefilm, "Remember to Live."

Steve Dunne had to pass up the CBS bid to play Marie Wilson's wealthy husband in the retitled "My Wife Irma."

His chores on the Bob Crosby show, his role of Corney in "My Favorite Husband," and his announcer-actor stint on the new Red Skelton show were too much.

Now it's the television sneak preview, just like Hollywood. The pilot reel for Robert Cummings' new comedy series will be previewed on TV stations in six key cities within the next 30 days. It will be a test for audience reaction and for title suggestions.

When Eddie Cantor signed a new TV and radio deal with Ziv Prod., he signed his name, by mistake, on the line reserved for John Zinn, who has to shell out the money.

"I don't know if you like it that way," said Zinn, "but I do."

Murderer's Boast Branded 'Nonsense' By Yarborough

HOUSTON, Aug. 10—UP—Gubernatorial candidate Ralph Yarborough said here Monday that a statement attributed to a convicted murderer that he would go free "if Yarborough is elected" was "nonsense."

The statement was contained in a copy of an affidavit allegedly made by S. B. Parker, a Texas prison system employe, and made public by Lawrence Warburton Sr., a Freer attorney and president of the Duval County Clean Government League. It quoted Mario (El Turko) Sapet, who is serving a 99-year sentence for murder, as telling Parker that "George Parr is going to elect Ralph Yarborough as governor" and "Boss Parr can handle Yarborough" and would get him, Sapet, out of the penitentiary.

Yarborough said he had but one word to say: "Nonsense."

"I would be happy to add this matter to the long list of other subjects I have challenged the governor to debate with me from the same platform—a challenge it becomes increasingly apparent he is afraid to accept," Yarborough said.

Sapet was convicted of the murder of Jacob S. Floyd Jr., of Alice, Floyd, a young University of Texas student, was shot down in September, 1952, in what police thought was a "mistake murder."

His father, a prominent Alice attorney, was a longtime political foe of George Parr, the "Duke of Duval."

Parker's affidavit stated, in part: "Sapet told me that he did not expect to be in the penitentiary much longer, that all he needed to get out was for Governor Shivers to be defeated; that George Parr was going to elect Ralph Yarborough as governor; that Boss Parr could handle Yarborough, and would get him, Sapet, out of the penitentiary."

The affidavit was dated Aug. 6, 1954, and notarized by H. H. Hubbard, identified as a Fort Bend county notary public.

Warburton Sr., a Freer auto parts store operator who is president of the Duval County Clean Government League, and Mrs. J. J. Trevino of Benavides, president of the United Mothers and Wives of Duval County, issued a joint statement Sunday. It charged Yarborough's election "will mean the end of all our gains in recent months."

Warburton also said that the "irresponsible statement by Yarborough that the Rangers had been withdrawn from Duval county is part of the smoke screen thrown up by Yarborough to conceal the fact that he — Yarborough — got Parr's vote in the primary."

Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Department of Public Safety, said the Rangers have not been ordered out of Duval county and "we have no intention of ordering them out until the situation that brought about their assignment there in 1952 is corrected."

Yarborough had charged that the Rangers were withdrawn after he carried Duval county and asked "what kind of deal" Shivers had made with Parr.

New Son-In-Law Costs Papa A Cool $6,900

NEW YORK, Aug. 10—UP—The cost of young love soared high when teen-agers Harvey Wurtzberger and Deborah Ann Fine, both 16, decided two can live as cheaply as one.

Harvey and Deborah eloped to Washington last week with $8,000 from the bride's father's safe.

Harvey, deciding that nothing was too good for the new Mrs. Wurtzberger, bought a $4,000 sports car — with her father's money.

Now everyone knows that you can't very well drive around in a $4,000 car without being properly dressed. That cost another $2,000.

During their week's stay at the nation's capital they spent an average of $60 a day on meals alone. That included steak for breakfast, of course.

Cleaning and pressing their new duds cost another $15 a day. Bellboys got $1 practically every time they smiled at the happy couple.

But alas, all good things must come to an end and this weekend

Papa Fine caught up with daughter and the new son-in-law. Not a minute too soon. Harvey and Deborah were getting low on cash. They had only $1,100.91. Harvey kept the 91 cents and turned the $1,100 over to "Papa."

The couple returned here Sunday night with big plans for the future.

Harvey's father-in-law offered his blessing and said he would not press charges.

AS LONG AS "DUST-OFF" pitches are going to be encouraged in the game of baseball, we believe a rule should be passed to enforce all players to wear protective caps for safety measures.

Some clubs are doing it today, but only of their own initiative. Lubbock and Albuquerque are the only two West Texas-New Mexico League clubs, so far as we know, who have been wearing these safety caps.

Every season there are several "beanings" throughout organized baseball and some prove fatal. Fatalities from "bean balls" would be completely wiped out if every player was required to wear these protective caps.

In most cases, a player will refuse to wear a protective cap until he has been beamed once. Then the player wakes up to the fact that getting hit in the head with a baseball could be pretty serious.

Some players, however, don't get a second chance after being beamed.

Milwaukee's Joe Adcock probably wouldn't be with us today had he not been wearing a protective cap when beamed very recently by the Dodgers' Clem Labine.

Some of the attending physicians said Adcock's life was probably saved by the steel lining in Adcock's cap. At any rate, the incident would certainly have put Adcock out for the season, had he not been wearing the said cap, but, as it was, Adcock returned to the lineup the following day.

They say it's "baseball" for a pitcher to dust off the batter now and then. In most cases a dust-off pitch is thrown to keep the batter from crowding the plate. Dust-off pitches usually serve the purpose in this respect.

By the same token, though, these dust-off pitches are dangerous. A majority of these pitchers aren't aimed at the head but at the shoulder down. But a pitcher can't always control a wild pitch of this type and he doesn't have to miss his mark far to hit a batter in the head.

We've heard some fans say a rule should be made against these dust-off pitches.

Well, it would be good to employ such a rule but it wouldn't work. Pitchers are only human, they are apt to miss the mark by a wide margin even when they're actually trying to get the ball over the plate.

And you certainly can't prove that a pitcher deliberately throws the dust-off pitches even though many of them are deliberate.

So, the only solution, as we see it, is to the dust-off pitches that would still insure safety, is to wear the steel-lined protective caps.

Oilers Win Another Pair; Stretch Loop Lead

Oilers Sweep 4th Straight Twinbill

By BUCK FRANCIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

The amazing Oilers swept their fourth consecutive doubleheader and ran their winning streak to nine last night by defeating the Abilene Blue Sox in both ends of a twinbill at Oiler Park 11-3 and 8-7.

The twin wins hiked the Oilers' league lead to two full games over the second place Clovis Pioneers who were idle last night.

In handling the Blue Sox the double hitting, the Oilers snapped a "jinx" that had been hanging over the Oilers' head all season when the Blue Sox came to town. Local fans saw the Oilers down the Sox for the first time this season as the Abileneans had won all six games played at Oiler Park before last night's bargain bill.

The Oilers will take the next two days off since they had been scheduled to play at Borger, now defunct, tonight and tomorrow. Next activity for the Oilers will be Thursday when they open a two-game series at Amarillo.

Following the Amarillo series, the Oilers will have another two days off as Borger was supposed to come to Pampa Saturday and Sunday.

A three-game series with Clovis at Oiler Park Monday and Tuesday will be the next home assignments for the Oilers. The Oilers and Pioneers will meet in a double header Monday night and in a single game Tuesday.

10th Doubleheader Sweep
Last night's sweep was the 10th doubleheader sweep the Oilers have made this season and it was the first time in the history of the league that a team swept four consecutive doubleheaders.

All told, the Oilers have participated in 15 twinbills this season, another league record. Four of the other five double-headers were split while the Oilers have lost both ends of a doubleheader only once.

The Oilers had to win the second game last night the hard way after they had held a distinct advantage through most of the game. The locals led 6-2 going into the seventh and final frame before the Blue Sox erupted with a 5-run rally to go ahead, thanks to a 3-run homer by ex-Amarillo Gold Socker Johnny Bruzga that climaxed the rally.

Bruzga recently released by Amarillo, is on a five-day look with the Blue Sox.

But the Oilers arose to the occasion in their portion of the seventh to erase the one-run deficit with two-run rally. Catcher I. B. Palmer, who collected five hits in seven trips during the night, led off the winning Oiler rally with a single.

George Lopez, making his debut in an Oiler uniform, ran for Palmer and eventually scored the tying run. Lopez moved to second on Ben Felder's sacrifice bunt and after Dick Hairston walked, Lopez scored on a single by another new face in the Oiler lineup, center fielder Rudy Tanner, tying the score at 7-7.

Hauradon Plated Winning Run
Dub Woolbright followed by getting life on an error that loaded the bases and after pitcher Volbert Clarke forced Hairston at the plate for the second out, shortstop Gene Hauradon dribbled one down the first base line and beat it out for a hit to send Tanner across with the winning run.

Tanner made an suspicious debut with the Oilers. He got three hits in six trips for the two games, driving in a run each game and fielding he handled seven chances without a bobble. One of his catches in the second game was of the sensational variety as he speared a long drive off the bat of Andy Alonso with the bases loaded.

Tanner, running at full speed with his back to the diamond, banged into the fence after making the catch but held on to the ball.

The Oilers won the first game in a breeze behind the four-hit chunking of Jose Valesquez. Sparking the Oilers' 14th hit attack in the opener were Curtis Hardaway and Palmer who each pounded three-run homers. It was Hardaway's 30th roundtripper of the year while it was Palmer's 23rd four masher.

Valesquez won his 12th game of the year in the opener while Clarke, who went the route in the nightcap, won his 14th of the campaign.

Arkansas Runoff Vote To Be Heavy

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 10.—UP—A heavy turnout was expected Tuesday in the runoff election between Gov. Francis Cherry and publisher Orval Faubus for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Cherry, running for a second term, was matched with a political protégé of his predecessor, Gov. Sid McMath. Cherry beat McMath two years ago.

Secretary of State C. G. Hall predicted a vote of between 385,000 and 390,000 would climax the bitter campaign for the nomination, tantamount to election in heavily Democratic Arkansas. The record vote of 391,000 was cast in the 1952 general election.

Principal campaign issue, raised by Cherry, was now-defunct Commonwealth College and whether Faubus ever was a student there. Commonwealth was condemned in 1935 as a hotbed of subversion, and it was put on the U. S. attorney general's subversive list in 1949, five years after it went bankrupt.

Faubus of Huntsville, denied he attended the school, but Cherry went on television to display enlarged photostatic copies of the Commonwealth paper, in which there were stories describing Faubus as student body president and a May Day speaker.

Faubus said the stories were wrong. He said he didn't enroll, never attended any classes, didn't give a May Day talk, and left in disgust after two weeks on the Commonwealth campus.

Faubus said he went home when he found out the college president had told legislators he didn't believe in God.

The Huntsville publisher, who was a World War II Army captain, said Cherry was using a 19-year-old incident to divert attention from more important issues.

Faubus was second to Cherry in the first primary last month, but polled a surprising 109,000 votes.

Both Cherry and Faubus are lawyers, with judicial backgrounds. Faubus also was a state highway commissioner and director of highways under McMath.

Job Prospects Appear Good

There will be an increase of temporary jobs during the next week because of the good effects of the rain Saturday night on crops and plowing conditions, Bill Ragsdale, manager of the Pampa Texas Employment Commission office said Monday.

Despite the normal downward turn in the number of full-time jobs available, the usual thing for this time of the year, Ragsdale said 20 jobs were available at the commission.

Openings are for a credit manager, bookkeepers, waitresses, salesmen and housekeepers.

"We expect the usual seasonal upturn in the employment picture with the coming of September, which is generally the healthiest season of the year jobwise," Ragsdale commented.

Fourteen deaths were reported in road accidents by the Texas Highway Patrol in District 5 during the month of July, seven more than in July, 1953, and six above the June of this year.

Road accidents in July resulted in 80 persons injured with an estimated property damage of $66,728, statistics released Monday by the Texas Highway Patrol showed.

During the first seven months of 1954, district 5 officers reported 46 deaths on state, county and federal roads and in towns under the 2,500.

In the 36 counties comprising the Panhandle District, road accidents injured 398 people, during the first seven months of 1954, and resulted in an estimated property damage of $471,535.

Investigated during July were 112 accidents, with traffic arrests totaling 512.

Highway Patrolmen warned 1,445 drivers for hazardous violations on Panhandle roads.

Elvert Begun Near Perryton

PERRYTON—(Special)—Pouring of the concrete for the new Equity Elevator at Twitchell, east of Perryton, was started Monday morning. It is reported that it will take about nine days of non-stop pouring to complete the walls.

A full crew of 75 men are working on the elevator now that pouring has begun. Up until now there have been around 30 men working. The full crew will work for about two weeks and the job will continue into the fall.

The elevator, with a capacity of about 800,000 bushels, will be 138 feet high with a 40-foot head-house on top.

'Signs Of Life' Program Just What Title Implies

By MONTY L. COTTER
Texas Highway Patrolman

There's talk this month about a "Signs of Life" traffic safety program.

The title is a catchy one, but more than that, the program is important to the business of saving lives on our streets and highways.

With last year's traffic death toll at 38,300 there is certain need for improvement on the part of every individual driver and pedestrian.

The "Signs of Life" program points up the need for a universal sense of individual responsibility in the fight for life on our highways.

A knowledge of traffic signs, signals and pavement markings will help save lives. The fact that the eight-sided traffic sign always says "Stop," and nothing else, is of more than academic interest. Any driver approaching such a sign can know immediately what its message will be long before he can see the wording.

Other basic traffic sign shapes include the oblong signs that state traffic laws and regulations; diamond-shaped warning signs that tell of dangerous or unusual conditions ahead; round signs that indicate the approach to a highway-rail intersection; and the cross-buck at the highway-rail crossing.

If motorists — and pedestrians — will take to heart this month's "Signs of Life" message being sponsored in Pampa by the Citizen Safety Commission and the National Safety Council, we CAN reduce traffic accidents.

"Know your signs of life" is good advice for everyone — the only thing that's asked is that we put that advice to work for us personally every time we use our streets and highways.

Rev. Albright To Attend Youth Meeting

Rev. Lyle Albright, pastor of the Pampa Church of the Brethren, will attend the National Youth Conference of the Church of the Brethren at Anderson, Ind., Aug. 23-27. He will serve as a leader of special interest sessions on dating and social life of young people.

An estimated 2,000 young people are expected to attend the conference, at which Dr. Kirby Page, author and evangelist, and Rev. Bob Richards, Brethren pastor, pole vaulter, and 1954 Decathlon winner, will be featured speakers.

Commemorating the thirtieth year of youth work in the denomination, the convalescence will center on the theme, "For the Glory of God and My Neighbor's Good."

ON THE JOB TRAINING

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 10.—UP—Police Monday charged Herman L. Cox with abetting burglaries of safes he sold from his office supply store.

Detectives said Paul E. Dubois, trapped by police cracking a safe in a liquor warehouse, told authorities that Cox gave him the combinations of several of the safes and let him practice opening others at Fox's store.

GLANCING BACKWARD

ONE YEAR AGO TODAY
It was "cigar night" in Oiles Park. The first 700 men to pass through the gate received free cigars.

A new Airport Board was appointed: Ed Dunigan, Hugh Burdette, Ed Simmons, John Frick, Demaras Holl, George Ingram and Fred Haiduk.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY
Pampa's fourth police case was reported.

The Oilers defeated the Border Gaasers.

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY
City Parks Superintendent John V. Andrews had to call on the police to evict several adults from the wading pool in the park. The age limit sign seemed not to matter to them.

A delayed AP news release announced that President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Gen. Douglas MacArthur had concluded their first wartime conference.
