Gas Plant Pipeline Blows Up

Second Explosion At Cities Service Site In 52 Days

An explosion in a 20-inch high-pressure gas pipeline ripped the Cities Service Gas Company plant, two miles southeast of Pampa, Saturday for the second time in 52 days.

Three ambulances and a fire truck were dispatched to the plant, however, there were no injuries, and no fire. Explosion came about 1 p.m. Saturday in the line that was bypassing the one that blew up the morning of June 23, destroying a cooling tower, a tank of natural gas, three small buildings, 15 automobiles and injuring two men, one of whom subsequently died.

Bypass Line Explodes This blast occurred some 200 feet to the southwest of the site of the first one.

Ralph McDonald, 412 N. Somerville, operator of a trench digger, was uncovering the line, which carried 240-pounds of pressure per square inch, at the time of the explosion. Nearby were J. E. Carlson, Pampa, and C. W. Hays, welding inspector.

"It looked like a black tornado coming out of the ground," McDonald commented. Carlson and Hays, it was reported, took off when they saw dust stirring six inches off the by-pass line, which is used for sending gas to Wichita, Kan., and Higgins.

Fire Chief Ernest Winborne said "We didn't get close enough to observe what actually happened. Our trucks were standing by in case of fire."

"Dirt was scattered 400 to 500 feet, and the gas was close as you could get," Winborne observed.

Mixture Fails To Ignite Reason for there being no fire, McDonald figured, was that the gas mixture was too rich to burn at the point of explosion. "It was a lucky thing it was south wind," he said.

It had been planned to "bleed" the line Sunday with partial operation of the plant scheduled to begin Monday. "That's one way to bleed a line," McDonald said, grimly.

Most of the results of the 12 houses at the plant were home at the time of the blast and, remembering the explosion fled fast. Calling it "an awful loud explosion," Mrs. George Hofessa, wife of a Cities Service engineer, said everyone hopped the fence and fled across the fields when they heard it.

That blast earlier in the summer, unlike this one, kicked off a fire which raced across the plant grounds, then returned, burning everything in its way. And it rocked windows in homes two miles away which was not reported Saturday.

This explosion came less than 48 hours before partial operation was slated to begin at the plant, following the first blast.

Senate Approves Foreign Aid Bill

Polio Drive Is Underway

Gray County campaigners got the emergency fund drive of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis underway Friday with a mail solicitation, but "it is a little early to judge how successful it will be," Leslie Hart, Gray county fund campaign chairman said.

"You know we didn't reach our national goal of $75,000,000 in our January drive. It was a figure based on the cost of not only continuing our research, but in conducting vast tests with the new gamma globulin," Hart commented.

The foundation missed its national appeal in January by $20 million, and the current supplementary drive is to make up this difference.

"We will have street drives the last two Saturdays in August with the splendid cooperation of Pampa civic organizations," Hart said. Fund raising campaigns also will open Monday in Hemphill, Wheeler, and Roberts counties as part of the national drive.

Texas, fifth in the nation in occurrence of polio, had 1,396 cases in the week ending July 31, some 400 cases above the same week in 1953. The Texas incidence of polio is 16.6 per 100,000.

Air Academy Is Activated

DENVER, Aug. 14 - UP - The first United States air academy in history was officially activated at Lowry Air Force Base here Saturday.

Li Gen, Hubert R. Harmon, first superintendent of the academy, signed orders which made the "West Point of the Air" a reality.

Saturday's action means that a staff of 272 officers will begin assembling soon at Lowry, temporary academy site.

CAMP KILMER, N. J., Aug. 14 - UP - Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, charged by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy with being "not fit to wear that uniform," announced Saturday he was being relieved of his command of Camp Kilmer and had been ordered to go to Japan.

Zwicker, one of the central figures in McCarthy's dispute with the Army, said he would become adjutant general to the U. S. armed forces in the Far East. He will be stationed at Zama, Japan, he said, but he declined to describe the nature of his assignment.

A Defense Department spokesman in Washington said Zwicker's reassignment was "routine." He said Zwicker had been on duty in the United States since June, 1952.

The 50-year-old hero of the D-Day invasion of France in World War II became a target of McCarthy's wrath after he appeared before the Wisconsin Republican at a hearing last February into the honorable discharge of Maj. Irving Berlin, an Army dentist accused of Communist leanings.

FOUR SISTERS BECOME BRIDES IN QUADRUPLE WEDDING RITES

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 14 - UP - Four sisters became brides in a quadruple ceremony Saturday, but the four pairs of newlyweds said they were planning separate honeymoons.

"That's where we draw the line," said Mrs. James D. Astel, the former Mrs. Marion White, a Seattle milliner, who decided "Jim and I" would have company when they stood up to say "I do."

For Superior Judge Malcolm Douglas it was the first quadruple wedding in his career, and he said he doubted whether any other matrimonial official had run across such an event.

An informed oil source labeled it "one of the outstanding tests with one of the best shows of wildcats ever in the Texas part of the Anadarko Basin." It was spudded June 5 and is about six miles east of the Phillips No. 1 Jackson "C".

Preceding the blow-in was a drill stem test from 9,548 feet to 9,560 feet. It was open for two hours and gas came to the surface in 19 minutes. Oil surfaced in 28 minutes. After the well blew in, it reversed out and 190 barrels of oil, but no water, were recovered, the source said.

The gas gauged 3,200 MCF and the flow pressure was 2,750-2,800 pounds. Two-hour shut-in pressure was 3,350 pounds and plans Saturday were to core ahead.

$200 Million Military Aid Slash Voted

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 - UP - The Senate Saturday night passed a $2,790,824,816 foreign aid appropriation bill after voting a $200 million slash in funds for direct military assistance.

Over strong opposition of administration leaders, the chamber approved, 41 to 34, an amendment by Sen. Burnet R. Maybank (D-S.C.) to trim the direct military aid money.

The measure now goes to a House-Senate conference committee for a compromise agreement on differences between the version approved by the two houses.

The $2,790,824,816 in "new money" compares with $2,895,944,000 voted by the House and is $647,724,989 under the $3,438,549,805 originally requested by President Eisenhower.

Clow Indo-China Materiel Final Senate approval came after several hours of debate, during which Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.) led a futile administration fight against efforts to cut the measure.

Earlier this week, Congress approved and sent to the White House a compromise $3,064,000,000 authorization bill to carry on the military, economic and technical aid program for another year.

Maybank's proposal applied the cut to funds for direct military assistance. The South Carolina Democrat argued that unused equipment "recovered" from the Indo-China war made the reduction possible. Dirksen pleaded that it would "endanger" military aid for Europe.

U. S. Pulls Techs From Indo-China

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 - UP - The United States has started to withdraw from Indo-China the 200 Air Force technicians and planes loaned to France to help fight the recently ended war, it was learned Saturday.

Withdrawal of the men and the planes - representing the United States' most direct involvement in the seven-year war - is expected to be completed in about a month, highly placed defense sources stated.

These sources also disclosed the United States plans to salvage millions of dollars worth of American equipment and supplies stored in the Red River delta before the Communists take over that area under the Geneva peace pact.

To prevent the equipment from falling into Communist hands, it will be shipped to Saigon, in southern Indo-China, which remains in the hands of the French and Viet Nam governments.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 - UP - U.S. Air Force jet fighters will be based on Dutch soil for the first time since World War II under terms of a new agreement announced Saturday by the State Department.

Red Espionage Secrets Bared By Ex-Russ Spy

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 - UP - Former Russian spy Yuri A. Rastvorov has given U.S. and Allied authorities "highly important" information on Red spy networks in the United States and throughout the world, it was disclosed Saturday.

Highly placed officials said "action" already had been taken against an unidentified number of Soviet agents operating in this country. This grew out of six months of "full time" secret testimony by Rastvorov.

The broad-shouldered Russian quit last Jan. 24 in Tokyo as a lieutenant colonel in the Soviet secret police (MVD). He has been given asylum in the United States.

Now that intensive secret questioning of Rastvorov has been finished, it was revealed that he will appear before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee sometime this fall.

Authorities steadfastly refused to say whether Red agents swept up as a result of Rastvorov's testimony.

He had been caught prying into hydrogen-atomic secrets or similar espionage activities endangering U.S. security.

However, they said he had provided intelligence and security agencies with bulky dossiers on officials. These included Alexander S. Panyushkin, former Russian ambassador to the United States and the Reds' top intelligence officer. Panyushkin has been identified as being in charge of plotting assassinations and other "special action tasks" for Red foreign agents.

2. Operations of a mammoth Soviet spy ring in Japan. The Japanese government confirmed Friday night that "several Japanese nationals" had confessed serving in Rastvorov's MVD spy ring.

3. Operations of at least three "high ranking Soviet MVD officials. These included Alexander S. Panyushkin, former Russian ambassador to the United States and the Reds' top intelligence officer. Panyushkin has been identified as being in charge of plotting assassinations and other "special action tasks" for Red foreign agents.

U.S., Allies Paring Red Embargo Lists

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 - UP - The United States and its principal Allies will move to open an era of expanded trade with Russia and her satellites Monday, when present tight embargo lists are officially revised.

The number of embargoed items will be reduced from 440 to 250, but shipments of arms, ammunition, atomic materials and other war-making goods will remain under a strict ban.

The revisions will mark the first major overhauling of East-West control lists since the Western Allies started the embargo program many years ago. Officials say it actually will result in more effective control because there will be harsher enforcement provisions.

The foreign operations administration nevertheless looks for sharp criticism from Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and perhaps other legislators who oppose all forms of trade with the Russian bloc.

McCarthy, arch foe of Foreign Aid Director Harold E. Stassen, has assailed Stassen and the administration for "immoral and indecent blood trade with the enemy."

The controls program is separate from even stricter controls imposed against Red China and North Korea. Some vital materials are completely embargoed, others are under quantitative curbs, and still others are merely carefully checked to keep tabs on large purchases by the Communists.

SEATO Meet Plans Made

LONDON, Aug. 14 - UP - Eight nations defied a last minute threat by Red China Saturday and announced they will meet in the Philippines Sept. 6 to forge a Southeast Asia treaty organization (SEATO) to halt Communist aggression.

The project, blueprinted last April by U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, went into production at last despite Red Chinese Premier Chou En-Lai's declaration in Peking that nations joining the mutual security pact would imperil the peace in Indo-China.

The eight nations, which announced simultaneously they will attend the conference in Baguio, summer capital of the Philippines, were the United States, Britain, France, Australia, New Zealand, Thailand, the Philippines and Pakistan.

Conspicuously absent from the list were the other four "Colombo powers," besides Pakistan - India, Burma, Ceylon and Indonesia. They chose to stay out despite Britain's long and painstaking efforts to gain their backing.

Failure of those four nations even to agree to attend the Baguio conference was celebrated by Communist China as a victory for Chou's "hands off Asia" policy, enunciated after a meeting with Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru.

Reds Poised Near Formosa

TAIPEH, Formosa, Aug. 14 - UP - The Nationalist Chinese news agency said Saturday that Communist China has organized the first contingent of a "Formosa liberation army."

An estimated 100,000 Communist infantrymen together with 12,000 trained paratroopers and shock troops have swung into position along the Fukien coast facing the Chinese Nationalist bastion of Formosa, the news agency said.

Nationalist quarters feared possible Red attacks on Nationalist-held islands off the coast of the Chinese mainland in accordance with Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-Lai's statement earlier Saturday that the Peiping government plans to "liberate" Formosa.

Chinatone said the Chinese Communist troops, now in position along the coast, bore the name "Formosa liberation army." And that their battle cry is "across the straits." The agency said the new command was set up by the Reds for the sole purpose of attacking Formosa.

Bank Bandits Still At Large

BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 14 - UP - The FBI and police in eastern seaboard states Saturday still sought two of the three Negroes who got away with $124,638 in Maryland's biggest bank robbery.

The FBI here continued questioning Clarence Duke McGinn, 24, of New York who literally drove his way into the hands of the police.

Shortly after the robbery Friday McGinn was picked up for speeding, but the arresting officer, unaware of the robbery, let two Negro companions in the automobile go.

Three Negroes held up a branch of the First National Bank of Southern Maryland on the Andrews Air Force Base some eight miles from Washington, D.C. The money still is missing.

Political Precedence Shed By Candidates

AUSTIN, Aug. 14—UP—With election day only two weeks away, Texas' two run-off gubernatorial candidates Saturday shucked political precedent and scheduled campaign appearances on the Sabbath. Sunday, among the politicians, customarily has been reserved for church-going and little else. Austin attorney Ralph Yarborough will launch a travel-filled week by attending a Veterans of Foreign Wars meeting Sunday afternoon at New Braunfels. Gov. Allan Shivers, who will take his campaign for re-election from far West Texas to the Gulf Coast in the coming week, will go to Praha in Fayette county to attend a Czech celebration, his first Sabbath appearance of the campaign, his headquarters said. Shivers spent Sunday at "Magnolia Hills," his Tyler county home near Woodville, while Yarborough camped from Lubbock to Longview, including a rally at Bonham. Yarborough praised House Democratic Leader Sam Rayburn, whose home is in Bonham, and called him "one of the greatest statesmen of the 20th century." He said Rayburn has "been the leader of the Democratic party in Texas for many years" and criticized Shivers for his "opposition" to Rayburn. Yarborough also charged that "it has been the policy of the Dallas Morning News to slander those officials who are working for the people." In a statement at Gainesville, Yarborough called for "food for farmers as well as hay for the cattle."

Attlee Party Arrives In Red China

LONDON, Aug. 14—UP—Former British Prime Minister Clement Attlee and a Labor party delegation arrived in Communist China Saturday after a brief stopover in Moscow. The Peiping radio, monitored in London, said the visiting Britons arrived in a Russian airplane and received a red-carpet welcome, including bouquets of flowers from young Communist "pioneers" and cocktails with Premier Chou En-Lai. The eight-member British delegation arrived in Peiping one day after Chou warned in a saber-rattling speech that a Southeast Asia security pact would jeopardize the Indo-China truce and declared that Communist China intends to "liberate Formosa."

Batista Calls State Vote

HAVANA, Cuba, Aug. 14—UP—Gen. Fulgencio Batista stepped down voluntarily Saturday night from the Cuban presidency he seized by force nearly 30 months ago to campaign for legal election to the same post. The cabinet accorded Batista an electoral leave-of-absence and announced he would be succeeded in the interim by his right-hand man, Andres Domingo Morales del Castillo. Morales del Castillo, 61, had been secretary to Batista since the ex-army sergeant overthrew the regime of ex-President Carlos Prío Socarrás in a coup on March 10, 1952. Batista will be the presidential candidate of a four-party government coalition in the Nov. 1 elections. His opponent will be another former president, Ramon Grau San Martín.

'Red Bluff' Diversionary

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14—UP—Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.) warned Saturday that if Red China attacks Formosa it would be done only with the approval of Russia to divert attention from the Kremlin's real objective of gaining domination of the oil-rich Near East. Wiley, who is chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, said in an interview that Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-Lai's call for "liberation" of Formosa is "in the nature of a feeler." But if the Reds do launch an attack on the Chinese Nationalist island bastion, he said it would be authorized by Russia. "And then," Wiley added, "we've got to keep our eyes open. We must realize that while this is an important venture for the Chinese Reds, for the Kremlin it is only another diversionary tactic. "We must bear in mind that the Near East is the big objective of the Soviet Union." The State Department had no official comment on Chou's statement. Some officials privately viewed it as another move in the cold war of nerves.

Congressmen Set Sights On Aug. 21 Adjournment

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14—UP—Congress belatedly found itself in the annual adjournment scramble Saturday and counted the prospects good for a cleanup of its legislative program in a week or less. Senate Republican leader William F. Knowland told reporters there is a chance unfinished "must legislation" can be cleared by Wednesday. But noting that Congress seldom quits in the middle of the week, he suggested Friday or Saturday would be "a safer guess" on the windup. When the legislative program is finished, only the House will adjourn until next January. As of now at least, the Senate is committed to return for action on the report of the special committee created to study censure charges against Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.). It has been the slow-paced Senate, and not the House, which has stalled the legislative program to keep Congress in session beyond the original adjournment target of July 31. But with the wordy debate on atomic energy and farm bills virtually over, it appeared unlikely the Senate would run into any more time-consuming talk on its unfinished business. Here are the major bills still to be completed: 1. The foreign aid appropriation bill—Before the Senate and still must go through a House-Senate conference committee to compromise differences and then to final votes in both chambers. 2. Farm legislation—Must go before both houses for a final vote on the conference committee version. 3. Social Security—The Senate passed its version of the administration bill Friday night and a conference committee must adjust differences. 4. Anti-Communist bills—The Senate is scheduled to act on two of these Monday; House leaders still must decide what to do with the Senate-approved measure to outlaw the Communist party. 5. Debt limit—The House must accept or ask for a conference committee on the Senate bill to provide a temporary $6 billion increase in the $275 billion ceiling on the national debt. The House had approved a permanent $15 billion boost.

Public Land Opened To Prospectors

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14—UP—President Eisenhower Saturday signed into law a bill throwing open about 60 million acres of public lands to uranium prospectors. Nearly a quarter of it is in the Colorado Plateau region, where the biggest deposits of atomic ore have been found. The new "multiple leasing" law provides for the location and development of mining claims on public lands which already are under oil and gas leases. It also provides for oil and gas development of lands on which there are existing claims for other minerals. The mining industry regards it as the biggest change in federal mining laws in several decades. For more than 20 years, it has been the "administrative opinion" of the Bureau of Mines that mining claims could not be located on public lands on which other mineral leases—such as oil and gas development permits—had already been issued. This interpretation has tended to restrict severely the government-stimulated search for domestic sources of the fissionable ores, uranium and thorium. The new law also is important to the oil industry, since it clears the way for obtaining oil and gas leases on public lands which have been staked out for uranium or other mineral claims.

Solons Deadlocked On Dairy Supports

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14—UP—A congressional conference committee broke up Saturday night in a deadlock over dairy farm price supports which threatened President Eisenhower's overall farm program. However, efforts were begun immediately "over sandwiches and coffee" to find grounds for compromise on the vital legislation. The sticking point in the formal meeting was an issue affecting every housewife and dairy farmer in the nation. House members insisted that dairy price supports be boosted from 75 to 80 per cent of parity—the farmers' so-called fair earning level. Senate members were equally stubborn in wanting the current dairy price supports kept at 75 per cent of parity in the government's program of buying up surplus butter, dried milk, and cheese. The conference committee was "within 10 minutes of final agreement" on the overall bill, Senate conferees said, when they hit the roadblock on dairy price supports. After the meeting broke up, Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) and Rep. Clifford R. Hope (R-Kan.), chairman of the Senate and House conferees, met over coffee to discuss compromises. Hope later announced that the conference committee would meet Monday morning to resume the drafting of a compromise farm bill.

Workers Buried In Road Cave-In

HONOLULU, T. H., Aug. 14—UP—Six and possibly seven workers were buried under tons of mud and rock Saturday in the cave-in of a highway tunnel project. Police and firemen pulled out two men, one of them in critical condition. A police spokesman said there was "little hope short of a miracle" that the still-buried men would be found alive. Rescue squads were viewed in their efforts by huge steel girders which had collapsed under the terrific pressure of the slide and had to be cut apart with torches. Eckener, who never joined the Nazi movement, had celebrated his birthday only four days ago.

Photographers Get License

An out-of-town photography firm, which Friday gave out coupons for a free picture without being okayed by the city, first thing Saturday morning got the required bond and license. Aubrey Jones, city tax collector and secretary of the city's solicitor review board, said the firm had procured its $3,000 bond and paid its $25 examination license fee. The firm had originally had both but allowed them to lapse. They are good only for a year. City ordinance requires the registration of all outfits doing door-to-door or on-the-street business, Jones said. The review board is composed of three residents, appointed each year, whose identity is known only to a few. Protection is the board's purpose, Jones pointed out. Anyone who purchases items by such a system should get a receipt and should pay by check. That way, he can get what he is supposed to. Jones said there have been many cases where the review board has headed off the possible gouging of the public by first checking to determine whether the product or the cause is as represented.

Dirigible Expert Dies

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, August 14—UP—Dr. Hugo Eckener, 86, famed German dirigible expert, died Saturday of a heart attack. Eckener suffered the heart attack Saturday morning and died within minutes. He had settled at Friedrichshafen, the former Zeppelin base, after World War II "to live out my time and write my memoirs." Eckener, who never joined the Nazi movement, had celebrated his birthday only four days ago.

SECOND TERM as COUNTY JUDGE

In 1951-52 the previous judge disbursed $10,270.58 to 115 needy persons at an administrative cost of $11,586.00. Contrast that with Maguire's record — in 1953-54 Maguire disbursed $11,385.08 to 132 needy persons at an administrative cost of only $3,209.00. MORE PEOPLE HELPED AT A SAVING OF $8,176.08 TO TAXPAYERS!

CRIMINAL CASES

In TWO YEARS, the previous judge tried and disposed of only 78.6% of the cases filed and docketed. In only EIGHTEEN MONTHS, Maguire has tried and disposed of 84% of the cases filed and docketed and collected $22,473.47 in fines and court costs.

SCHOOL LAND MINERALS

In 1951, the previous Judge leased only 172.5 acres of land for a total revenue of $4,212.50. In 1953, Maguire's administration leased 3,726 acres for a total revenue of $79,068.13, thereby increasing the Permanent School Fund balance to $209,448.33.

OPEN DOOR SESSIONS

J. B. Maguire, Jr., has always held open door sessions and will continue to do so. Every act and every decision is a matter of record, open to the public for inspection.

ECONOMY

Maguire's budget for 1954 showed a SAVING of more than $14,000.00 over that of the previous judge.

Terminal Closing Decision Due

CANADIAN — A decision by the Texas Railroad Commission on the Santa Fe's proposed closing of the Canadian freight terminal may be made any time after Aug. 28, the final date for filing of briefs and replies by parties in the dispute.

Estimated 4,500 Students Due To Register August 31

An estimated 4,500 Pampa students will register the last day of the summer months, which will be close to 200 teachers on hand to greet them as they return to the books the following day, Sept. 1.

Pampa Schools Supt. Knox Kinard figures there will be close to 200 teachers on hand to greet them as they return to the books the following day, Sept. 1.

Leading the teachers will be the principals of the city public schools. They are Jack Edmondson, high school; McHenry Lane, junior high school; John Adams, Baker; Homer Craig, Sam Houston; J. Aaron Meek, Lamar; Sam Bogert, Horace Mann; H. A. Yoder, Woodrow Wilson; and J. C. Randall, Carver.

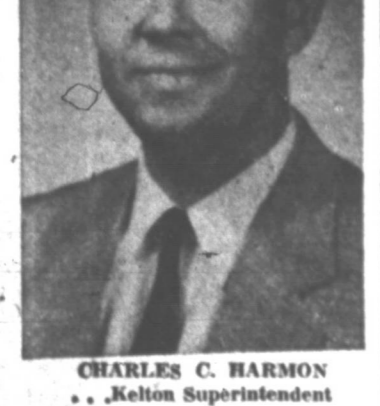

MINOR REPAIRS
No major repair work has been done on the schools during the summer months, though there has been some in the "minor" category. The latter includes a new roof for Baker School, some fence around the practice football field west of Harvester Park and on the Sloan side of Woodrow Wilson and the painting and general repair of the inside of some school rooms.

An indication of what the schools offer in variety of subjects can be seen from a list of the departments in the Pampa High School. Included are English, foreign language, publications, speech, mathematics, science, social studies, business, home making, shop, music and physical education.

Spanish, French and Latin are the foreign languages. In publications are advertising, journalism, the annual and the "Little Harvester." Speech is comprised of public speaking, dramatics, radio and children's theater. Science means chemistry, biology, physics and general science.

Ancient, modern, American and Texas history, civics, economics and sociology comprise social studies. In business are commercial law, sales, shorthand, typing and bookkeeping. Cooking and sewing make up home making. And shop is composed of machine shop, woodshop, crafts, mechanical drawing.

Kelton School Opens Aug. 23

CHARLES C. HARMON
.. Kelton Superintendent

WHEELER — (Special) — Mr. Charles C. Harmon, school superintendent, announced the Kelton School will open its fall term on August 23. It was decided this week by action of the Board of Education. They felt that the earlier beginning date was advisable in order to dismiss later for cotton picking.

The faculty members who are being retained for this school year are Charles C. Harmon, superintendent; Harvey Millsap, Mrs. Jewel Reed, Mrs. Buster Walser, Mrs. Jimmie Field, and Mrs. Lula J. Twitty. Mrs. Charles C. Harmon will teach Home Economics this school year. Only one vacancy exists at the present time and that is in the fifth and sixth grade room. The Board will announce shortly who has been selected to fill that position.

Mrs. Harmon will act in a supervisory capacity on the cafeteria staff as dietitian. Mrs. Bailey Whiteley and Mrs. Roy Hunt will again manage the cooking and serving duties in the cafeteria. Roy Hunt, Albert Johnson, Mrs. Millsap, and Bruce Parks have been engaged as bus drivers.

Games Help Child Catch Up On Work

If a child misses school, or falls behind in school work there are many games that will not only amuse the youngster but they can also be a great help in his education.

"Go to the Head of the Class," for instance, makes competitive fun out of a variety of useful knowledge with play executed on board that's a miniature school-room. There are many other games of this type on the market.

The widest part of North America is the distance of about 3000 miles between Labrador and British Columbia.

Shamrock Schools Add Two Teachers

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Shamrock Schools will begin the 1954-55 school term on Tuesday, August 31. Supt. Elmer J. Moore made the announcement after a meeting of the board of trustees last week. Other business transacted by the board was the decision to reduce season football tickets from $6.00 to $5.00. A budget hearing by the board is scheduled for Tuesday night, August 17.

Two teachers were named to fill vacancies created by recent resignations in the faculty. Willard Edgett, graduate of Texas Tech, Lubbock, was selected as bandmaster, replacing Robert Reeves. Mrs. Joyce Dougherty of Shamrock was chosen to teach in the elementary grades replacing Mrs. Ruthie Thompson, public school music teacher.

Parents: Know What Awaits First Graders

Are you really all set for the first grade? Sure, Johnny is starched, clean and shining-faced for the event. But how about you?

Nostalgic and slightly hazy recollections of your Elson primer days crowd the conversation. Remember how you drilled until you knew the ABC's letter-perfect? How proud you were when you first printed your name in large capital letters?

Can you recall what a pain in the neck "teacher's pet" was, always able to zip through the day's reading lesson without missing a word while you sometimes fumbled and missed and sat down in burning embarrassment?

Better tuck those recollections back in the mental mothballs and prepare yourself for modern school days. Teaching methods have changed.

The tip-off was the lengthy questionnaire you filled out when Johnny entered school. By the time you completed it, your life with Johnny from the first delivery room squall to the latest aggressive argument with baby brother is an open book. With the record to refer to, the teacher can give more enlightened help and better understand your Johnny's reactions.

Formal learning by rote, memorizing the lesson, and dividing the three R's into separate categories have lost favor in many modern schools. Instead, every effort is made to integrate the studies, to fan the desire of kids to learn the meaning of words, numbers and letters. Even in crowded classrooms, teachers are trained to give more individual help and to encourage a child to learn at his own speed.

The fourth R for Readiness looms large in first grade. Is Johnny ready to read? What helps the teacher decide is an analysis of his social, emotional, physical and mental maturity.

She considers his hand preference, his visual and audio discriminations. Can he distinguish between d and p for example? Does he see "no" as "not"? Basic tests help her chart his progress and group him with others who rate about the same. If he needs individual help, her analysis guides her action.

Don't think you've raised an ignoramus or that the teacher is incompetent if Johnny doesn't start to read the first day of school. Teacher builds up to the big moment gradually. He'll learn how to handle a book, to turn the pages, to find a place, and to look from left to right. He'll study pictures and learn to detect small differences in detail.

Briscoe School Opens Aug. 30

DALTON VAUGHAN
.. Briscoe Superintendent

WHEELER — (Special) — The faculty is complete and everything is in readiness for the opening of the Briscoe School on Monday, August 30, Superintendent Dalton Vaughan said this week.

Teachers of the first six grades are as follows: Mrs. L. B. Hill, first and second; Mrs. C. C. Crowder, third and fourth; and Mrs. Bud Scribner, fifth and sixth.

Seventh through 12 grades will be taught by Mrs. Parish, Mr. Parish, Mr. Tipton and Mr. Vaughan.

Mr. Tipton will coach the boys and Mr. Parish will coach the girls. Mrs. Jesse McMurry will teach homemaking and Bryan Brady will teach vocational agriculture. Mr. Mohr has been employed as itinerant teacher of band at Briscoe, as well as Wheeler and Allison.

Superintendent Vaughan said his buses are in good shape. Briscoe has one new bus and has placed an order for another. On arrival of the new bus, Briscoe will be operating its four routes with two new buses and two 1951 models.

The new 50 x 30 feet vocational agriculture shop is nearing completion and may be finished by the time school opens, the superintendent said. Mr. Vaughan also stated all of the floors of the entire plant have been refinished and Mr. Wyant, the custodian has done a great deal of painting about the premises.

Mr. Vaughan estimates that approximately 155 will enroll for the 1954-55 school term.

Children's Eyes Should Be Guarded

No one has to tell you that your child's two eyes are among his most precious possessions.

But there are some things about the importance of a child's eyes and about the care they should have, that you may never have realized.

A child's eyes will bring him 83 per cent of all his knowledge — of all that he learns — throughout his entire life.

His eyesight — throughout life — will control 80 per cent of all his actions.

DARING TEXAN

A daring American pilot gave onlookers an unexpected thrill when he flew his rented monoplane, arrow, under London's Tower Bridge Wednesday. Identified as A. G. Texan Wins Maiden After Dizzy Flight

LONDON, Aug. 14 —UP—Texan Gene Thompson told a London newspaper Saturday his crazy flight under two River Thames bridges paid off. The adventure won him a future wife.

The Daily Express announced that Thompson informed them in a cablegram from the S. S. Atlantic that "you may announce our engagement."

Thompson, 25, set Britain a-twitter by scooting a small rented plane under the bridges, scurrying back to the landing field and sailing for home before the law could catch him.

He claimed by radio-telephone and cable he did it because his girl, Helen Brown, also of Texas, asked him to. He said he was so much in love with Helen he could not refuse.

At first Helen made it plain she thought Thompson was a boob, but then things moved fast.

Thompson and Miss Brown lived only a few miles apart in Texas but did not meet until they joined an American tourist party in Canada.

"I first saw her in person in Quebec, Canada," Thompson's cable said. "First held her hand aboard the Atlantic enroute to Europe. Got my first kiss in Lucerne, Switzerland. Squeezed her beautiful self in Santa Margherita, Italy. Proposed in the romantic setting of Rothenberg, Germany, and fought the battle of the Thames bridges to support my suit."

He took a year's leave of absence, however, and completed work on his doctorate at Cornell University.

In the fall of 1949, Dr. Bertrand was named dean of the Basic Division, the job he is presently holding.

His interest in agriculture goes back to 1931 and his White Deer High School days when he was designated by "Progressive Farmer" as the "master vocational education pupil of Texas." He was also awarded the Lone Star Farmer degree and the American Farmer degree and in 1931-32 served as DALLAS — South's last second victory over the North in Friday night's All-Star basketball game is just about all that saved coach Eddie Hickey's scalp here in one of the feature attractions of the 22nd Annual Texas Coaching School.

Hickey, who makes a living coaching the always tough St. Louis University team, probably will never be invited back as a coach of an all-star team for the Texas Coaching School Clinic even though his team won this year's contest.

Hickey's methods in driving his players in workouts drew criticism from coaches and sports writers alike attending this coaching clinic and it finally led to dissension on the South squad.

Hickey, himself, admitted following the game that "now maybe the coaches will think of me as a gentleman," after the South's exciting 62-61 victory over the North.

The St. Louis coach knew he was in "hot water" with just about everyone attending the school here and the victory here Friday, as we said before, is all that saved Hickey's scalp.

We don't mean that Hickey would have been mobbed had the south lost but it just helped smooth over the many criticisms thrown his way upon his method of handling the all-stars during the pre-game workouts this week.

I believe the reason the rebels fought so hard to win the game was that the newspapers all week rated the north far and above the south. Many scribes weren't giving the rebels a chance of even making it a good game. So much of this will "fire" up an underdog.

And this pre-game little bit possibly got the rebels a little bit over-confident. In other words, the north five apparently didn't have anything to win and all-star to lose in this annual all-star cage classic.

OUR OWN JIMMY BOND came through in the same style as he had done so often during his three-year Harvester career, that of sparking when the pressure was on.

Bond netted only four points in the first half when everything was going in favor of the North team but when the South rose up in the second half with a hot scoring spree, it was Bond who kept the Yanks in the running right down the wire.

Jimmy pumped in 15 points in the second half to live up to advanced notices and keep the North-ers in the game all the way.

Four players in this year's all-star cage tilt broke the previous individual scoring record of 17 points set by Kelly Jim Duncan of Cayuga and Keith Lane of Berger, Bowie's Temple Tucker (North team) netted 20 points while Bond (South team) and Ray Boone of Sweeney (South team) each carried 19 points.

The new foul rule was used here Friday night and everyone we talked to about the rule is highly in favor of the change.

STARTING NEXT YEAR, a player will get a chance to make two points everytime he is fouled regardless whether he is in the shooting act or not. Here is the new rule:

"A player, when fouled other than in the act of shooting, will be awarded one shot. If he makes the shot, he will get another shot. If he misses, he will get another shot."

has to make the first shot though, to get the second attempt."

The difference of the rule from last year is that the player got a second try at the basket if he missed his first shot. Next year he must make his first shot to get another try.

JIMMY VIARONTES, ex university of Texas star and now coach of McAllen High School in Austin, brought out a good point of the new foul rule.

"The player now will be awarded for something he can do," Viarontes said. "By that, I mean that a boy who makes good on his first try, will be awarded with another shot. Last year, he was awarded a second shot because he 'tubbed his dub' on the first attempt."

There's one thing for sure, you can bet basketball coaches will be spending more time on free pitches in workouts than they ever have before.

Switching to football coach Scott McCall of Shamrock, here attending this gigantic coaching school, says his Irish are one year away from having a championship contender.

"WE WILL PROBABLY have only three seniors at key positions next year," McCall said.

McCall, who will be starting his eighth year as the head man at Shamrock, doesn't think his green and white will be able to give Phillips, Perryton, etc. a battle for the 1954 pennant this coming fall.

"We lost our entire starting back field off last year's team," McCall said. "The big hole left in the Irish backfield of course, was the loss of Jack York, outstanding quarterback."

McCall told us here that York's injury in the Greenbelt Game wasn't serious. York suffered a knocked-down shoulder in the Greenbelt Game and was led from the field by his trainers.

But York returned to his duty as a lifeguard at the Shamrock swimming pool the following day. Several fans from back home are here attending the two all-star games. The one's we have run on to are Jack Edmondson, high school principal; superintendent of schools Knox Kinard; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dudley and family; and Marvin Bond. There are probably others that we haven't "bumped" in to yet as this is being written before the all-star football game Saturday night.

KC Confident Of Major Franchise

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 14 --UP-- Kansas City stood by patiently Saturday, fully confident she would fly an American League flag for the 1955 baseball season. Nobody here blamed Philadelphia interests for wanting to hang onto the Athletics, who have made a lot of baseball history since 1901.

Smooth Lions Win Over All-Stars, 31-6

CHICAGO, Aug. 14 --UP-- Detroit's Lions indicated Saturday they might use a double quarter-back system to challenge for a third straight National Football League title.

Buccaneers In Winning Streak

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 14 --UP-- The pesky Pittsburgh Pirates, sparked by the homers of Frank Thomas and Jack Shupe, scored in all but three innings Saturday to win their seventh game in nine starts, 8-4, over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Speed And Hustle Paid Off For South Cagers

DALLAS, Aug. 14 --UP-- Speed and hustle more than made up for an apparent deficit in all-around ability for Coach Eddie Hickey's South squad as they turned in a spine-tingling 62-61 upset over the North in the ninth annual All-Star basketball game.

Cleveland Wins Over Baltimore

CLEVELAND, Aug. 14 --UP-- Catcher Hal Naragon's single in the 11th inning Saturday scored Dave Pope with the runs that enabled the Cleveland Indians to defeat the Baltimore Orioles, 4-3 and remain 2 1/2 games ahead of the runner-up New York Yankees in the American League race.

The Indians bounced right back in their half of the inning with the tying runs after being held to two hits until that point by Larsen. Bill Glynn drew a pinch walk. Al Smith popped a single to left and Bobby Avila, who had obtained the first two hits off Larsen, then hammered his 11th homer of the season into the left field seats to tie the score. This gave Avila more homers than he ever had hit in one campaign before.

Junior Oilers Play In Hedley

The Pampa Junior Oilers will play in Hedley at 3 p.m. today in a contest that can clinch a playoff berth for the locals who now hold down second place in the Caprock League.

Connard Yeager will act as manager for today's game in the absence of Newt Secret.

They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Brooks, 500 N. Nelson.

Miss Lovelle Vaughn was the bride's only attendant. She wore a white nylon afternoon dress and carried pink carnations. Bob Henry of Amarillo was best man.

Miss Mary Karlin, sister of the bridegroom served the cake and Miss Vaughn poured punch.

After the wedding trip to Colorado Springs, the couple will live in Amarillo where Mr. Karlin is employed by Western Electric Company.

Cooling Bath Rests Housewife

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

During the intense summer heat, you can keep your household running smoothly and still be attractive.

It's much cooler in the morning, so plan to do your major housework and meal preparations while the weather is still in the comfortable range.

The afternoon should include a quiet rest and grooming period. You can take a nap, if you've time, but remember, the best cooling device is a long, restful bath.

To really enjoy your bath, attach a foam pillow to the tub with suction caps to serve as a head rest. If you haven't a pillow, a folded towel will do as well.

Then, prop a bath tray across the tub and gather everything you'll need. You might include a good book, letter-writing supplies, your grooming needs — brushes, manicure tools and face cream.

Don't forget pencil, paper and cookbook to plan menus and make up the grocery lists while you're relaxing in the tub.

Sound Off By A Leaguer

If you have moved into a different precinct since paying your poll tax or receiving an exemption certificate, you should apply to the tax collector not less than four days before the election to have your name placed on the proper poll list if you live in a town of 10,000 population.

Certainly no one who has paid his poll tax is ever refused the right to vote, but having one's name on the proper poll list does expedite the voting procedure.

Our treasurer tells us that half of the league members' dues have not been paid. These were due in April but members are not dropped from the league roll until October. However, three notices are sent to members whose dues are delinquent over this six month period. Now rouse yourselves out of your summer lethargy and save Mrs. Osborne some time and send in your dues.

You leaguers who didn't attend the Board of Equalization meeting Thursday morning missed an exciting experience. Can hardly wait to resume study of our city and county tax structure. The yardstick whereby taxes are assessed is complicated, but Judge J. B. Maguire did an excellent job of explaining it. Mrs. A. D. Hills, our Local Recourse chairman was there so we will be getting a full report on the meeting soon.

SCHOOL SPIRIT is coming alive in Pampa mamas. By the time we finish reinforcing the knees of the blue jeans, and buy hair ribbons to match sweaters, the day will be here. We'll miss some teachers who won't be back this fall, like Faye Ann Porter, and also Myrl Salmon, who left last week for a teaching assignment in France. But we look forward to becoming acquainted with the new teachers in our school system. It's a nice practice to invite the children's teachers into your home. We know, from first hand experience, that these friendly gestures are appreciated.

IF THERE COULD BE a place on the official ballot for such things, here's how Peg would vote in the coming election: best-looking new grandparents, Luke and Aline McClelland; most-interested-in-the-good-of-Pampa, "Red" Wedgeworth; best impromptu speaker, Ed Myatt; most becoming summer fan, Rachee Brunley; best cook, Ann (Mrs. Bill) Heskey; best groomed, Mary (Mrs. Cree) Grady; most handsome children, the Kirk Duncans' daughters and the Joe Blacks' sons; best entertainer Coy Palmer; golfing-est golfer, a tie between Ralph McKinney and Les Hart.

HOW'S THIS for an inscription in our new library: Books are keys to wisdom's treasure; Books are gates to lands of pleasure; Books are paths that upward lead; Books are friends, come let us read. —Emilie Poulsson

IS EL-PROGRESSO the oldest women's study club in Pampa? We're interested in knowing.

WITH SO MUCH construction work going on all over town, is it any wonder we all have the building bug. Here's the kind of dream house we've put down on paper: a large living room from the D. E. Hols have, with double doors leading to a porch; a "living-kitchen" like Jean and Charlie Duenkel have, with a breakfast nook under a sunny window; a dressing room and bath combination like in the Tex Evans home, with custom size closets and drawers built along the walls; and a big family-looking dining room just like Vera and Bob Addis have, with a two-way fireplace and wonderful china cabinets with sliding glass doors. I can imagine festive holidays there, especially Christmas-time when the flaming potted plants are brought in. We'd like the bedrooms arranged as they are in the Bill Frasers' home, master suite and guest room in one wing, the children's suite in another wing on the opposite side of the house. We'd love a basement like theirs too, or like the Irvin Pursleys where the business and pleasure of a teenager was the primary concern. The TV room, which seems to have replaced the library, study and even the den, would be planned like Albert and Bob Trippelhorn's, running across the back of the living room and dining room, and with a wall of windows. We could use that attractive, special wear-resistant flooring that the Ivan Noblitts put in their den. The extra, ah, yes, closet space and "built-ins" would follow those designed by Mrs. Frank Culbertson for their home. We'd want a "wrapping center" like Ted Hicks has that folds neatly up into the wall when not in use. Somewhere there must be a bit of brick flooring like in the A. L. Smalley home, and a duplicate of the fireplace in the Harvey Nestali home. Can all this be incorporated into one house? Or is it possible to ever get everything you like into one house. One thing, I just thought of. Like Mrs. Eisenhower, we love bay windows, so we'd want one just like Fern and Johnny Hines have. It's a tribute to Pampa that we have so many fine, lovely homes.

SOMETHING DIFFERENT was the surprise birthday picnic given last Tuesday for F. E. Imel, Citizens Bank and Trust Company president, by his employees and their families. And given in his backyard at that. Brooks served barbecued chicken and the trimmings. A couple of pieces of redwood lawn furniture were the gift to Mr. Imel. There was another surprise in the affair — the birthday cake was a day late due to "mixed up dates," so the employees had the birthday cake served (complete with glowing candles and the "Happy birthday" song) with coffee in the mid-afternoon Thursday. Children of the bank employees participated in the fun also.

THIS 'N THAT: My secret desire is to be "arrested" on one of those tourist of the week days. . . that's another commendable Chamber of Commerce action to put Pampa up front in Texas hospitality. . . A nice family, Dr. John Jermyn and pretty wife, Pat, and their two children. . . Another word about what a nice time the local ladies golf association showed visitors during their tournament. . . They all had such a good time on the course and on the social side. . . Seeing Lil Hall and Jo McMurry looking so tanned and energetic makes the rest of us wish we were the athletic type, reveling in the sunshine "Read of moaning about the heat and longing for the first frost. . . Kiwanians and their wives entertained out-of-town Kiwanians Friday. . . there was swimming, cards and visiting for the women, while the men matched their wits and wools. . . Dr. Ed and Sandy Williams were hosts at the buffet and swimming party held last night at the Country Club. . . Hats off to Marion Osborne and Dorothy Station who're off camping with a group of Girl Scouts this week. . . More stamina, those two have, and their enthusiasm for scouting is contagious. . . Several men, Garvin Elkins among them, were to leave this week end for New Mexico. . . they're sponsoring a large Boy Scout party. . . "Buck" Worley, a fairly new golfer to Pampa, is a missed fellow. . . he and his attractive wife moved here last fall. . . We missed the Charlie Cooks for a time. . . heard they were back from a trip. . . hope the Bob Campbells are going to have their young grandson in Pampa now that son Jimmy is through school. . . Jimmy and his pretty blonde wife would make a nice addition to the young marriage. . . the Cecil Myatts are in Minnesota. . . Good to see Dr. Orion Carter visiting Sunday at the First Methodist. . .

WE'RE ON THE WATCH for the first Dior silhouette. . . and don't anybody say we won't have it in Pampa. Already some of the stores have highlighted their windows with styles that suggests the straight and narrow look. As the later fall styles come in, after the "Dior decree" has had time to be put to work, we'll likely see a modified version of the "roarin' twenties" flapper. Didn't we bob our hair last year, and revive the "spit curl" about the face? We may as well admit that Christian Dior, Jacques Fath and all the other designers are downright dictatorial, but we buy most every time. Once we vowed we wouldn't be caught dead in a long-tailed skirt. . . but, well you remember "the new look." We can try "the flat look" and remember that good styling always comes right back to what is most comfortable and flattering to the individual. Frankly, after seeing some of the fashion shows we've had in the last year or two, depicting the fashions of the twenties, we know some of us (certainly not all of us) can wear the slim as a board creations. Remember those outfits modeled by Albertine Trippelhorn, Frances Cree, Pat Frisby, Marie Harrah, and Fern Hines? All of them cute as a bug, if you ask me. Okay, who'll be first?

There must be a way to use those colorful tinted marshmallows to advantage in salads or desserts. Any suggestions?

THE TWENTIETH CENTURY CLUB has just completed its 25th year here, and is starting its 26th year with its annual coffee this fall. They'll be hostess to the other Twentieth Century clubs they have been instrumental in organizing during their long activity in Pampa. Mrs. George Vineyard is the busy president of this group, and has lots of committees working on the coffee. More on this as plans are announced.

Speaking of long time institutions, Peg's getting to feel like a real old timer. Sunday after Sunday, year after year, and I never change. I'm just now and always Your friend, Peg O' Pampa

MRS. BOB KUHNE (Photo by Clarence's Studio)

Joan Lunsford Weds Bob Kuhne In Double-Ring Ceremony Recently

Mrs. Joan Lunsford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Lunsford, 118 W. Albert, and Bob M. Kuhne, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Kuhne, were married August 10 at 8:30 p.m. in the First Baptist Church.

Dr. E. Douglas Carter, pastor, officiated at the double ring service. An arch covered with ivy and large white shasta daisies with two candelabra of white candles on each side, decorated with white mums, ivy, and pompon shrub-themums, were the setting of the ceremony. Four bouquets of large white mums in tall baskets completed the scene.

The bride wore a dress of star white imported French tulle and Chantilly lace over tulle and silk taffeta. The empire bodice was designed with an oval yoke of silk illusion, appliqued with lace petals. Finely tucked taffeta curled the waistline. Miniature silk buttons fastened her gown down the back, and long lace sleeves tapered to deep petal points over her hands. The bouffant skirt of tulle over taffeta was accented with garlands of the lace petals that drifted into the tulle of her skirt, and swept to a formal length train.

Her veil was of imported French illusion, caught to a Juliet cap designed with a latticed crown of silk illusion sprinkled with pearls, and fell in tiers to the bride's fingertips.

She carried gardenias and stephanotis on a white Bible. White satin streamers fell from the bouquet.

Mrs. Gene Lunsford, the bride's sister-in-law, wore a dress of peacock blue nylon georgette over taffeta. It was fashioned with a wide cummerbund, off the shoulder, and the bodice was covered with lace flowers outlined with seed pearls and rhinestones. The bouffant skirt was waist length. She carried a bouquet of pink baby roses and pink satin streamers arranged on white lace leaves outlined in white satin. She wore a half-hat of lace matching the top of the dress.

Close Within Closet Helps Foil Moths

A closet within a closet! That's a new approach being used by space-wise home owners to obtain more moth-safe storage room. It's something to consider if summer has caught you short on facilities for keeping winter clothing and woollens properly.

Articles in storage need the protection of a moth repellent. They should be kept in a tightly enclosed place so that the effects of the repellent will not be dissipated. Many homes, especially older ones, have large closets that are not fully utilized. At very little cost, part of a closet can be partitioned off and made into a cedar compartment. Even a small overhead space will accommodate a number of blankets. A larger area will provide space for clothing and shelves.

Marriage Vows Are Read For Bonnie Smith And William Almon

Miss Bonnie Jean Smith and William Fred Almon were married in an evening ceremony Aug. 14 at 8 p.m. The single ring ceremony was read by Rev. E. L. Hall in the sanctuary of St. Paul Methodist Church.

White chantilly lace over slipper satin formed the bride's ballerina length gown which was designed with a Queen Ann collar and sweetheart neckline. The dress had a fitted bodice, short sleeves, and a bouffant skirt. Her circular veil of white tulle was caught to a crown of white flowers. She carried a bouquet of white sweet-heart roses atop a white Bible.

Mr. George W. Smith, brother of the bride, was best man and Mrs. George W. Smith of Hereford, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. Misses Nancy Jean and Patsy Lee Smith were their aunt's honor attendants.

The couple will honeymoon in Greenville and Dallas. For the wedding trip she wore a navy blue two-piece dress with white accessories and a corsage of white sweetheart roses from her bridal bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Hereford High School, received her bachelor's degree from West Texas State College and her masters degree from Texas Tech.

Mrs. Almon will be a member of the teaching staff in the Miami schools this fall, and her husband is employed by Phillips Petroleum Company at Bowers City near Pampa.

Mr. Almon attended East Texas State Teachers College, Tyler Commercial College, and Sweeney's Mechanical School, Kansas City.

School Bags Fashion Packed

The old style school bag is fast disappearing along with heavy overshoes, experts tell us. Small fry want to carry their books to school in kits as smart as mother's handbag, as handsome as Dad's brief case.

For the younger set, favorite cartoon, television and story-book characters are still popular decorations, but modern space travel and science fiction motifs are frequently used. In shape, some school bags are styled like miniature

Doctor Bags, suitcases or brief bags. Many have separate pockets to keep pencils and supplies from coming in contact with lunch and snacks.

All types of materials are being used, including nylon, rayon, cotton, plastic and leather. For colors, there's just as big a selection from smart Air Force blue to eye-opening bright red plaids.

Older pupils who have "graduated" to the notebook stage are also taking big doses of color with their learning; although traditional browns are as prevalent as ever, novelty coverings and trims make printed, striped and embossed ring binders fun to own and use.

High school and college students tend to choose classically simple, underarm cases and brief bags — or unusual duffel styles used as "totes" for everything including an extra pair of shoes. Zipper brief cases with disappearing handles, are often selected by the college student who wants a more spacious holder for papers which can also be carried under the arm.

Which only goes to prove: you're never too old to learn, or too young for fashion!

Shower Honors Bride Elect

Miss Margaret Baggerman, bride-elect of Curtis Whitley, Groom, was honored Thursday evening with a shower in the auditorium of the Grandview School.

A corsage of white carnations tied with satin ribbon was presented the honoree. Mrs. Baggerman and Mrs. Whitley, mothers of the prospective bride and bridegroom, were also presented white corsages.

Garden flowers decorated the room throughout. The serving table was covered with a linen cloth, and the centerpiece was an arrangement of asters, cornflowers and chrysanthemums. On each side of the centerpiece were silver candelabra with yellow tapers.

Refreshments of cake, mints and punch were served by Miss Wynaford Whitley at the punch bowl and Mrs. Vernon Baggerman serving the cake.

Miss Amy Babcock registered the guests. Background piano music was played by Miss Anna Lou Fields and Miss Sylvia London.

Hostesses were Meses. O. R. Major, Willard McAdams, J. M. McCracken, Melvin Asberry, Wesley Woods, Jim Babcock, Frank Babcock, and Jimmy McCracken.

Approximately 70 guests registered and 18 sent gifts.

RUTH MILLET

It may interest a lot of men to know that there are some wives who don't want to make over their husbands.

Here's a letter I got from a wife who not only likes her husband just as he is but wonders why so many wives make the mistake of trying to turn the men they married into "perfect" husbands.

She writes: "Women try making over their husbands and wind up with a bunch of things which can also be carried under the arm. Which only goes to prove: you're never too old to learn, or too young for fashion!"

Dig That Crazy Hat!

NEW YORK — UP — The men for years have poked fun at the craziness of women's hats. They ain't seen nothing yet.

The newest feminine headgear is an umbrella hat. It is made exactly like an umbrella except for the lack of a handle. An elastic band holds it onto the head. The hat is held open by a catch which snaps onto the ferrule.

"Sure it's wild," said Nat Biderman whose firm usually makes high-style umbrellas. It's just crazy enough for women to take to it in droves.

Biderman said the idea came from the rattan-framed sun protectors worn by the Japanese.

The first umbrella hats were made of various solid shades of twill. But now, Biderman is using summer dress fabrics—in polka dots, and stripes. He also is planning similar headgear for the children, with nursery rhymes on the fabrics.

The umbrella hat, folded, will fit in a large handbag.

"Now I ask you, is there any other big hat which will do that?" Biderman asked.

New Principal At Canadian High

CANADIAN — (Special) — Registration for the 1954-55 Canadian School Term will begin September 1, with the enrollment of high school students according to A. H. Breazeale, school superintendent. Junior High and Elementary pupils will enroll on September 2 and classes will begin on September 3. "Enrollment is expected to be close to last year's number — from 700 to 720," said Mr. Breazeale.

JOHN ROWNTREE
Canadian Principal

John Rowntree, former high school principal at Lampasas, Greenville, and San Angelo, will succeed Truett Mobley as Canadian High School Principal this fall.

Rowntree holds a B.S. degree from Southwestern University of Georgetown, and received a Master's degree from East Texas State College at Commerce. He has had 20 years teaching experience.

Rowntree came to Canadian from Lampasas where he has been for the past four years teaching student education. He is married and has seven children.

Other new faculty members of the high school staff this year include Charles Halley of Oklahoma City, who will teach Art and English. Halley will replace Miss Reita Austin, now on leave of absence.

Emit Bradford, who will succeed Joe Evans, will teach science. Bradford has taught science in Colgate, Okla., for the past three years. Noble McKibbin of Roaring Springs, will replace Johnny Sims as agriculture teacher in the high school.

High School Faculty members who will return from last year are Nay B. Benich, Arithmetic; Grady Burnett, Coach-History; John Cardinal, Coach; Mrs. Frankie Dameron, Mathematics; M. L. Dameron, Jr. H. Coach; Winford Hendricks, Band; Mrs. Bessie Hext, Language Arts; Mrs. Maudeline Hutton, Library; Mrs. Mary Jackson, English History; Mrs. Marion Karr, English;

Shirts Not Old Sacking, Match Face With Collar

Gone are the days when Mom can walk into her favorite store and buy Junior's back-to-school shirts by simply quoting the size and color to the clerk. Times have changed and so have the styles.

Shirt collars for boys in grade and high schools, for instance, now have variety so the shopper can find a suitable shirt for various face types. And don't think the kids aren't style conscious.

Today, shirt collars are shorter. The long, ribbed collar is virtually a thing of the past, and even casual shirts for sportswear are made with medium-length and shorter collar points. Also, collars are cut shallower and at a greater angle up from the point.

Take the round tab collar which was introduced for older men several seasons ago. It's now shown in several versions for the grade and high school boy. Some are miniature versions of the Eton collar, others barely hang below the neck band.

The new short, pointed collars have a brisk formality that makes them best for dressy wear. And the pink shirt, which was a college fad several seasons ago, is now standard for high school and grade students. The new idea is that the suit furnishes a background for the colored shirt and tie, where formerly the shirt was worn as a special size — but rather specific designs that flatter too-round little girls! Simple necklines, fitted bodices, and graceful flares all give poise to the plump 'un.

Chubby dresses are not just a special size — but rather specific designs that flatter too-round little girls! Simple necklines, fitted bodices, and graceful flares all give poise to the plump 'un.

Fabrics too, play an important part in subduing the awkward traits of youthhood.

Firm-bodied, worsteds, dark-toned cottons, slim-waled corduroy — lend flattering lines to sportswear and dresses.

Eller Heads White Deer Students

WHITE DEER — (Special) — At the close of school last year Roy Eller was elected Student Body president to take office when school opens on September 1st. Students elected to head the senior class are: Ray Eller, president; Jerry Kotara, vice president; Jo Larned, secretary, and Annette Burns, treasurer. Patsy Moran and Larry Cannon will be student body representatives.

Raymond Driskill will serve as president of the junior class with Sue Williams, secretary; Cheryl Tommy Ratliff, vice president; Chance, treasurer with Amy Durning and Patti Powell as student body representatives.

Sophomore officers are Ruth Bagley, president; Jerry Mills, vice-president; William Dumivan, secretary; Rita Johns, treasurer and Buddy Stevens and Judy Rhodes will be student body representatives. Freshmen officers have not been announced.

The cheerleader will be headed by Jo Larned, a senior, who served in the same capacity last year. Representing the junior class will be Amy Durning, Ruth Bagley, the Sophomore class and Naomi Malone, a freshman.

Two Mail Cases Most Practical

Before the term is half over, the mails from colleges all over the country will be carrying letters or cards that begin with the old refrain:

"Dear Folks, I'm sorry I haven't written sooner. But please send me . . ."

Be Sure That Shoes Fit Well

1. Have both feet measured for length and width, with each foot bearing weight. Pull out the toe of the stocking and straighten the child's toes to insure that measurement is taken of the longest toe. The correct size should fit the larger foot.
2. The widest part of the foot should fit into the widest part of the shoe, called the ball, at both little and large-toe joints.
3. The length and width of his foot can be proved by having the child stand with full weight on his toes. The correct length leaves a space of one-half to three-quarters of an inch between the end of the longest toe and the end of the shoe. The correct width allows the leather to be drawn slightly together between the fingers. Shoes that fit correctly should not press or hurt when new, slip at heels, or pinch either toes or heels. Slipping or pinching may cause corns or blisters.
4. As a final check have your child walk around the store on tip toes.
5. At short, regular intervals growing feet should be re-measured.
6. Take your child with you when buying shoes, observe the above points, and take plenty of time. Good feet are a necessity for good health.
7. Foot care should begin in childhood.

Faculty members of the high school staff include Coaches Hap Rogers and Clint Williams, Harold Bunch, Mrs. J. D. Coleman, Miss Betty Lynch, Joe Coleman, Vernon Gibson, Mrs. Betty Alsop, Miss Billie Brown, Mrs. June Story and Jimmy Payne, principal.

Elementary school staff are Claud Zevely, principal, Mrs. Lopez Hauck, Mrs. Sinclair Armstrong, Miss Leona Forbes, Miss Gussie Bledsoe, Mrs. E. D. Priest, Mrs. Charles Weaver, Joe Taylor, Mrs. Luke Armstrong, Mrs. Jimmy Payne, Mrs. Claud Zevely and Mrs. Jack Bailey, lunchroom supervisor.

Custodians for both schools are Jim Wheeler and Mack Mitchell. Wick Geidon is supervisor of transportation and bus maintenance.

Much work has been done to the school system and equipment to bring it up to the desirable standards. All buses have been completely overhauled, the high school auditorium has been redecorated and the stage curtains have been replaced, cleaned and dyed, the lower hallways and class rooms in the high school building have been redecorated and 200 new "chair desks" have been installed to replace the old desks that have been used since the building was erected in 1928. New teacher's desks and chairs are on order for early delivery. All outer doors at the elementary school have had a coat of paint and the Municipal Building which serves the school system as a gym has had extensive renovation and painting.

The football stadium has received considerable work on the gridiron turf. It has been fertilized and watered all summer and now has a very good turf. The east stands have been repaired and repainted. These stands are the old ones. The West stands are new. The old stands having burned in 1952. Some 1600 new books, both text books and library books have been received since the close of the 1953-54 seasons.

New York University, with an enrollment of 39,161 students, is the second largest university in the world.

Diploma Still Pays Dividend

A college education is still paying good dividends on the job market. For U.S. employers have been hustling to hire college grads with as much, if not more, grade than last year, according to a survey by the Family Economics Bureau of Northwestern Life Insurance Co.

And they are offering salaries $10 to $25 over levels of last spring. However, the report said that employers are definitely more selective this year.

A Labor Department analysis also bears out good news for diploma armed job hunters. Here are some of the approximate starting salaries they can expect to receive:

Engineering grads will draw the largest paychecks ranging from between $350 to $400 a month. They're still in short supply because of the manpower demands of the Korean War.

Liberal arts men will be able to find openings paying between $290 and $340 a month in management, training courses of big corporations and in sales, finance and public accounting.

For the girls, there's a tremendous need for elementary and grade schoolteachers all over the country. Salaries for teachers continue to increase. During 1953-54 they averaged $3600 for all classroom teachers, with 17 per cent averaging $4800 or more.

Schoolboys Favor 'Special Outfit'

Parents planning to buy back-to-school clothes for their sons should first consult them before buying! There is a definite school outfit now worn in most parts of the country that consists of a high-length, outer jacket worn with slacks and open-throated shirt.

Attempts to get boys to wear other clothes for day-to-day school wear are probably doomed by the fact that "all the other boys" are wearing a shirt, coat, etc.

It's important, however, to see that this outfit is warm as well as wind resistant.

The University of Buenos Aires, with 64,000 students, is the largest university in the world.

Perryton Expects 1050 Enrollment

PERRYTON — (Special) — The 1954-55 school term for the Perryton Public Schools will start August 30, according to Gilbert Mize, superintendent. The enrollment this year is expected to be around 1,050 pupils with approximately 240 of these in high school. Junior high is expected to have an enrollment of around 260, and approximately 550 are expected to be enrolled in the first five grades.

The buildings have been redecorated on all floors. The halls have been painted and many of the class rooms have been painted. The band room has been completely redecorated, and the cafeteria has been redone.

The faculty is nearly complete for the school year. Still lacking are a Spanish teacher, a public school music teacher for the lower grades, and a boys basketball coach.

Mize is superintendent of the schools, with Troy Sullivan as high school principal, Joe Champion as junior high principal, and Kenneth Precise as elementary principal. Sullivan is the only new one in the group. He was hired this summer to fill the vacancy created when Kenneth Gibson resigned. Sullivan is a former faculty member of the high school.

Head of the music departments of the high school and junior high will be Bob Irby, chorus, and B. D. Walker, band. This will be the third year in Perryton for both of these teachers.

Head high school coach is James H. Peterson, who will be in his fourth year as coach. Keith Flowers is the new assistant coach replacing Duane Byars, who is now head coach at Kress High School.

Joe Ogden is the new B team coach. He replaces Ernest Kendrick who resigned. A head basketball coach is expected to be hired in the near future to fill out the coaching ranks. Cecil Robinson is returning for his third year with the Rangerettes, girls' basketball team.

Included in the high school faculty will be: Mrs. John Barnes,

Other teachers in the schools include: Mrs. E. N. Flathers, Mrs. Paul Lottin, Mrs. W. A. Reitz, Mrs. O'dell Ryan, Mrs. Guy Allen, Mrs. Thelma Davis, Mrs. Raymond Bowen, Mrs. Esther Kelley, Mrs. L. E. Thomas, Mrs. Spencer Whippo, Mrs. Johnnie Ferguson, Mrs. H. E. Smith, Mrs. Joe Champion, Mrs. C. K. Drum, Mrs. Hood Willis, Mrs. Lester Thurman, Robert R. Gibson, James L. Wright, Mrs. O. W. Dunkle, Mrs. Cecil Robinson, Mrs. Martin Duke, Hershell Jamison, Joe Ogden, Mrs. W. O. Harmon, and Mrs. Jimmie D. Henson.

The school will start out the year with four new school buses. This will bring to 11 the total number of buses in operation. Two of the buses are 36-passenger, one 30-passenger, and one 24-passenger.

School Tie Goes Slim This Year

The most important note for this year's back-to-school ties is the variety of shapes that will be offered on clothing store counters.

In the four-in-hand neckties, an extreme of a square end tie in a one-inch width following through to two-inch and two-and-a-quarter-inch modified slim shapes.

The widest that ties will go this year, according to the Men's Tie Foundation, is three and a quarter inches.

The reasoning behind the slim ties, designers say, is the appearance of added height that naturally follows. If you're faced with picking out a tie for the boys in the family, keep his size and face shape in mind.

If he's thin, he can afford to wear a broader tie to lend substance. If he tends to be stocky, don't let the stripes run to the horizontal.

This year's tie colors run to wider ranges than ever before. Newest in hues are pink, helio and gold. The traditional black, of course, is still very much in vogue, but the new colors have been stocked to go with the suit colors that will probably be most popular — charcoal gray or brown.

The basic fabrics of neckties are various, giving a different material for each occasion: formal or casual. There are woven patterns plus foulards, satins, crepes and jerseys. Nevertheless, manufacturers have added other elements in their products. Embroidery, hand-painting and prints are the stand-by ties.

In addition, the fabric itself has been fashioned into pleats and panels.

Bow-ties, either bat or butterfly, have not changed much in the course of the new season. The small design on solid background is still at its most conservative — and most acceptable — best.

"Campus Characters" at staid Oxford University believe in sticking together. They founded the Heretics Club at the school in 1948 for the purpose of providing a platform for freethinkers, non-conformists, exotics and eccentrics.

Wheeler To Have New Bandmaster

A. E. BROWN
Wheeler Superintendent

WHEELER — (Special) — Supt. A. E. Brown of the Wheeler public school system announced that the faculty for the Wheeler Schools for the 1954-55 school term has been completed. Mr. Brown reports that Mr. Stanley L. Mohr has been employed as bandmaster for Wheeler, Briscoe and Allison. Mr. Mohr has a degree in instrumental music and has had 13 years experience in this work. He taught band at Briscoe one year during the war years.

The new grade teacher is James A. Prock, who has been employed in the McLean system for the past 2 1/2 years. Two of the years he spent at McLean as grade school principal. Mr. Prock will teach reading, spelling, health and science in grades 6 to 8. He has a B. S. and Master's Degree from West Texas State College at Canyon. Mr. Brown reports that he comes to this system very highly recommended by his former associates at McLean.

The complete faculty for the Wheeler school system for the ensuing year will be as follows:

Grade School, Carroll Killingsworth, principal; Mrs. Lola Weems, first grade; Mrs. Ida Farmer and Mrs. Elva Hubble, second grade; Mrs. Dee Liston, third grade; Mrs. Roberta Adams, fourth grade.

Those doing departmental work in the fifth, sixth and seventh grades will include, Mrs. Bennie Mae Whitener, Thurman Pfaff, Mrs. Edna Yates and James A. Prock.

Eighth grade and high school teachers will be, B. K. Barham, principal; O. K. Hanson, math; Miss Jeanne King, English; J. D. Atwell, commercial subjects and English; Marvin Cornette, vocational Agriculture; Mrs. Emma Hastings, home economics and Earl Brown, superintendent.

Mr. Brown announced that the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Wheeler Independent School District will be held at the school house at 8 p.m. He also pointed out the fact that all meetings of the local Board of Trustees are open to the public and the public is invited to attend if they have a desire to do so. The first meeting will be September 3.

Mr. Brown is very proud of the improvements made this summer. They include: reroofing on some of the buildings and repair work done on all of them; all the windows on the grade school and high school buildings, cafeteria and Vocational Ag building have been painted; also the class room in the Ag building; repaired ceilings in 4 class rooms; painted dressing rooms in the gym; repaired the driveway and filled in the play grounds; moved the superintendent's office to a location in order to provide a private room for the high school principal.

Mr. Brown announced that school will begin Monday September 6th and will continue all day. Lunches will be served in the lunch room beginning September 6th.

Weskits Give Bit Of Flash

Remember the weskit: College men do — and how! In fact, they're the rage on campuses everywhere now. So, be sure to keep up with your style conscious classmates and include a couple in your back-to-school wardrobe.

No, we're not talking about the old suit vests. The only way these new weskits are kin to the old "conservative" look is the way they're cut.

These vest descendants are the most debonair wardrobe accessory in years because they come in all colors and patterns. Several seasons ago these bright new items offered the male population a chance to add some color and variety to their ensembles, and they caught on in a hurry, too.

Today, you can get these separate weskits in tattersalls, flannels, formal evening silks and suedes. You can also get rich color combinations like red and yellow, solid colors, plaids and patterns both modest and flamboyant.

Although men are notoriously slow to adopt style changes, you'll find that college men don't follow this trend. When you arrive on campus you'll notice these popular weskits at every turn.

So, look over the weskit selection in your favorite store when you're shopping for that school wardrobe. They'll add a note of color to your sports clothes.

Science At Work To Save Eyesight

By the time your child is 18 years old, he will have read enough books to fill an 18-foot shelf. And the penalty for his education will be the terrible strain put to his eyesight.

This conclusion has been reached after thorough research by two engineers, James M. Ketch and Carl J. Allen, hired to do the job by General Electric at Cleveland, Ohio.

Education, the scientists discovered, has become principally a process of seeing. And where school studies are difficult for children, much of the cause can be laid to poor lighting.

Although book-reading represents the bulk of students' close seeing, it is not necessarily the most difficult. This became apparent when Ketch and Allen asked principals and teachers of elementary, junior high and high schools to supply representative samples of visibility tasks required of students.

The range in relative visibility found in these samples was broad, and in some cases the visibility was "surprisingly low." The engineers stated: "It is apparent that the visibility of handwriting depends upon the pencils and paper used, and that it can be bettered by teacher emphasis. Office-reproduced materials may be good or poor according to the care and materials used."

In addition to lighting engineers, interest in better seeing conditions in schools is being shown by educators, eye specialists, school architects, text book publishers, manufacturers of school room finishes and equipment, and others.

The G-E engineers point out that each group has contributed materially to the steadily improving standards. They teach about eye care, study habits, and optical correction. They study building design, room finishes and environmental factors. They develop equipment and the techniques for better utilization of natural and artificial light.

"The common objective of all groups is the mental and physical development and well-being of the students," according to Ketch and Allen. "Because clear, quick, and comfortable seeing plays such an important part in this development, the kinds of visual tasks are how critical or difficult they are, and how prolonged their use are of concern to all cooperating groups."

The engineers undertook to catalog and classify the school seeing tasks, using a visibility meter to determine their relative difficulty, and using the various sizes of Bodoni type, widely used in books, as a scale for comparing relative visibility. Twelve point Bodoni book monotype is widely used in books as a good balance between visibility and economy of printing. Type sizes below eight points become increasingly difficult to see. Yet many examples were found where the visibility of the written work of the students was far below this size, some corresponding to three-point type.

Improvements in visibility can be made by proper supervision in many cases, according to the engineers. To illustrate this point one student was given spelling lessons while using a No. 1 (soft), No. 2 (medium soft) and No. 3 (medium hard) pencil. The equivalent point-size visibility dropped from 15 to 11 to 7 as a result of the grade of pencil used.

When the child wrote the same lesson on yellow paper with the same three pencils the comparable point sizes dropped to 13, 8 and 3 because of the lower reflectance of the paper. "While yellow paper is cheaper than white paper, and a No. 3 pencil will last longer than softer ones, their use may be poor economy in the light of the lower visibility of the work for both students and the teachers who must correct the lesson."

The survey indicates an effort by publishers to keep visibility of their materials as high as possible consistent with the type size and leading traditionally considered a function of text to be printed, according to the engineers. They point out, however, that there is a fairly wide spread of type sizes used in some printed school materials, and also a few of low contrast, and recommend that these variations be taken into account by buyers of books.

Although the authors do not claim that improved lighting is the only answer to eye defects experienced by school children, they do assert that the quality and quantity of light is an important contributing factor to the visibility of seeing tasks in the classroom.

Bicycle Safety Courses Taught

Realizing the increasing popularity of the American bicycle as school transportation, recreation and school directors are now introducing special bicycle safety, repair and maintenance courses in the regular school curriculum. A marked increase is also noted in bike games and races for pupils during the recess periods. Some schools even are thinking of organizing regular bike racing teams to compete with other schools the same as in football and baseball.

Drive with extra care in a school zone. Remember this: A bouncing or rolling ball usually means a child is not too far behind it.

Allison Faculty Complete For '54

W. H. BURRIS
Allison Superintendent

WHEELER — (Special) — Mr. W. H. Burris, superintendent of the Allison Common School District announced that his faculty has been completed for the 1954-55 school term. They are as follows:

Mrs. Ruth May, first and second grades; Mrs. Myra Finch, third and fourth grades; Mrs. Susie Burris, fifth and sixth grades; Mrs. Wanda Alexander will teach commercial subjects and Glee Club; Mr. Ward Alexander, seventh and eighth grades, also science, American History and also coach; Mr. Bryan Brady, Vocational Agriculture and Stanley L. Mohr will be band director.

Mr. Burris said many improvements had been made during summer vacation. The Allison school building was moved to Allison and converted into a band house; the school building has been painted on the inside, new window shades are to be installed; equipment for the science room has been purchased and the school has purchased another house for teachers' residence.

Mr. Burris announced that school would begin August 23 and he expects an enrollment of 118-124 for the 1954-55 school term.

Yearbooks Now Wired For Sound

A spreading new sensation at hundreds of high schools and colleges is the yearbook that literally talks.

To put it a bit more simply, the favorite sounds of the school year are now being captured on phonograph discs for sale to the student bodies.

Thousands of outgoing seniors were first able to buy these audible records of school memories last June. And the plan has proved such a hit that it's sure to be spread much further by classes of '55.

Schools desiring to try it should start their planning in autumn. To collect the needed material, important school year events are "covered" with a tape recorder. The sounds that are most worth saving are edited to 15 minutes and pressed on a low-speed record.

Most make a script in advance, adding a running commentary to the final version. Operating tape recorders is a cinch and the only professional assistance needed is when the tape is transferred to a disc.

The themes of these new-style yearbooks have shown a wide variation.

Students at New Trier High School in Winnetka, Ill., preserved such typical sounds from the 1953-54 sounds as excerpts from the annual operetta, the Christmas concert, voices of teachers, the retiring superintendent and student organization leaders.

At Arizona State, students decided that among the most memory-evoking sounds was the happy pandemonium at "The Devil's Den," a favorite local hangout, and caught it on hidden microphones.

At Hammond High School in Indiana, the yearbook staff chose a brief history of their alma mater as the most appropriate topic for their first talking annual and recorded that on one side.

Other popular choices are school plays, glee club concerts, the school song, the band at the Senior Prom and cheering at football games.

Up to 60 hours' worth of tapes have been recorded for these audible yearbooks. Local recording studios can advise on editing the tapes, and the custom record divisions of many phonograph companies can handle the pressing of discs. Cost varies from 75 cents to more than a dollar a copy, depending upon the number of copies ordered.

Work Needed

There has been little activity by Shivers forces in Gray County in connection with the governor's bid for reelection, and this could mean disaster.

If the forces who are supposed to be working for Shivers don't roll up their sleeves and go to work, Texas may well lose its last link to anything closely resembling conservative, sensible government.

There's nothing wrong with a man getting his shirt dirty doing a good job or fighting a good fight when there is something worth working for or fighting for.

The old saying that "you can't stand prosperity" certainly applied in the First Primary when so many counties went for Yarborough in a surprise development.

The people on the outside always work harder to get in, and it is certainly no secret that the "liberal" forces behind Ralph Yarborough's campaign are "pouring it on" now that they feel victory is within their grasp.

Why do they feel so confident? Not because they have the popular candidate, not because they have the best candidate, but because tradition is on their side. . . people are just reluctant to vote in the second primary, and a light turnout at the polls August 28 will favor the "outsiders."

A candidate needs the support of the people who are supposed to be "on his side" in the campaign. It is impossible for the candidate in a state-wide race to conduct a hand-shaking type campaign. There is too much territory to cover and time is too short.

But, he is supposed to have friends, and those friends are supposed to get out the vote for him.

You can't put a candidate in office merely by wishing him there. It takes work.

Governor Shivers is currently on a pep-talk tour of the state trying to inject life into his self-satisfied workers. If his trip is successful, he may retain the governor's seat. We believe the majority of Texans would prefer Shivers, but, being people, they must be coaxed to return to the polls regardless of the issues or candidates involved. The side that does the most coaxing will win the race.

Sapping The Nation

Senator Jenner of Indiana has said this: "Before we can solve the great problem of foreign policy, in this dangerous and disorganized world, Congress must give back to private industry, to private reform and private education, and to local government, every activity which can be surrendered by the federal government. We must adopt as our first principle the total dismantling of that colossus on the Potomac, the Welfare State. . ."

We pay — and pay through the nose — for super-government in many kinds of coin. The most obvious one is money, as represented by our vast burden of public debt and crushing taxes. But we pay too in lost liberties, in diminishing independence, and in insidious undermining of our moral fiber and responsibility as a people. And, as Senator Jenner intimated, when government is concerned with every phase of our domestic life, energy and resources are diverted from matters, such as foreign and military policy, which are its proper province. The welfare state saps the nation like a leech.

THE NATION'S PRESS

LOOK AT THE RECORD

(Letter To His Countrymen By Candidate Of Total Depravity)
By Mark Twain In The Kansas City Journal, June 13, 1879

I had pretty much made up my mind to run for President. What a country wants is a candidate who cannot be injured by investigation of his past history so that the enemies of the party will be unable to raise up anything against him that nobody ever heard of before.

If you know the worst about a candidate to begin with, every attempt to spring things on him will be chimerical.

Now I am going to enter the field with an open record. I am going to own up in advance to all the wickedness I have done, and if any congressional committee is disposed to probe around my biography in the hope of discovering any dark and deadly secret that I have secreted, why let it probe!

In the first place, I admit that I tried a rheumatic grandfather of mine in the winter of 1850. He was old and inept in climbing trees, but with the heartless brutality that is characteristic of me I ran him out of the front door in his nightshirt at the point of a shotgun and caused him to howl under a maple tree, where he remained all night, while I emptied my revolver into his legs. I did this because I was overworked and I wanted to have somebody else do it for me.

I candidly acknowledge that I ran away at the battle of Gettysburg. My friends have tried to smooth over this fact by asserting that I did so for the purpose of imitating Washington, who went into the woods at Valley Forge for the purpose of saying his prayers. It was a miserable subterfuge. I struck out in a straight line for the Tropics of Cancer because I was scared, I wanted my country saved, but I preferred to have somebody else do it for me.

I entertain that preference yet.

If the public reputation can be obtained only at the cannon's mouth, I am willing to go there for it, provided the cannon is employed in a loaded, immortal and inflexible purpose is to get over the fence and go home.

My invariable practice in war has been to bring out of every fight two-thirds more men than when I went in. This seems to me to be Napoleonic in its grandeur.

My financial views are of the most decided character, but they are not likely, perhaps, to increase my popularity with the advocates of inflation. I do not insist upon the special supremacy of rag money or hard money. The great fundamental principle of my life is to take any kind I can get.

The rumor that I buried a dead aunt under my grapevine was correct. The vine needed fertilizing, my aunt had to be buried, and I dedicated her to this high purpose. Does that unfit me for the presidency?

The Constitution of my country does not say so. No other citizen was ever considered unworthy of his office because he enriched his graveyards with his dead relatives. Why should I be selected as the first victim of an absurd prejudice?

I admit, also, that I am not a friend of the poor man. I regard the poor man, in his present condition, as so much wasted raw material. Cut up and properly canned, he might be made useful to fatten the natives of the Cannibal Islands and to improve our export trade with that region. I shall recommend legislation upon the subject in my first message. My campaign cry will be: "Desecrate the poor workingman; stuff him into sausage!"

These are about the worst parts of my record. On them I come before the country. If my country don't want me, I will go back again. But I recommend myself as a safe man—a man who starts from the basis of total depravity and proposes to be fiendish to the last.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

An Anti-Freedom Ad By CIO

I was interested in reading an ad in the Los Angeles Examiner, published by the International Union, United Automobile, Aircraft and Agricultural Workers of America (UAW-CIO). The ad is trying to create public opinion against the Kohler Co. of Sheboygan, Wisconsin, where there has been a strike on for nearly four months.

The ad reproduces a heading of a newspaper in July, 1931. It is headed "Will America's Conscience Allow this Tragic History to be Repeated?" Evidently 20 years ago the Kohler Co. resisted turning its property over to the labor unions. It defended its rights in property against the CIO by using guns. The CIO evidently believes that it has a right to be an aggressor and to use force but that the owners of property have no right to defend their rights in property. The CIO wants a monopoly on the right to initiate force or have it in the hands of those that it chooses. It denies the whole philosophy of life that each man is owner of himself and all he produces. It seems to think that what is produced should be divided, not on a voluntary basis, but by the use of violence, and it wants to have the exclusive right to use violence.

This ad complains that the Kohler Co. workers struck 20 years ago in protest against the reign of fear within the plant. It says that they sought to gain the benefits and to be treated with the respect which even then the workers felt were rightfully theirs. And then it says that the workers are on strike for the same reasons today.

Of course, the writers of this ad do not explain how workers could be under a reign of fear within the plant. It is hard to comprehend how workers in any plant that is governed by a free market for labor can be under a reign of fear. Of course, if the workers believe that they are entitled to get more for their labor than other workers are able to get and think it would be terrible if they had to compete, then they might fear that their monopoly of jobs might end. But if workers are not to be selected on a competitive basis, who will hire who will do the most for the money, then we would ask the believers in monopoly labor how they will rule the workers are to be hired. Are they to be selected on a non-competitive basis? By whom? By seniority? By rotation? By force or intimidation? Or otherwise by what measurable, impersonal, eternal rule are they to be selected? Evidently the CIO and the writers of this ad believe that they are to be selected by force and intimidation.

The ad says "America has made a lot of social progress since 1931." Those who would raise questions without evasion, as no CIO or A. F. of L. labor boss will do, will know that there has been no social progress in the last 20 years if freedom is the guide as to what is progress. Sure, we have made progress materially, but that has been in spite of the socialistic laws passed in the last 20 years, let alone the last 40 years. Evidently, what social progress means to the writers of this ad is any law or special privilege that entrenches their power to take away from lovers of independence their right to make their own bargains.

The ad proclaims that the workers are asking for full arbitration, funded pensions and other benefits which are standard in the plumbing and iron industry. Of course, they would like to arbitrate something that should not be arbitrated — namely that they have a right to establish the wages for individuals who want the right to use their own judgment and common sense in establishing their working conditions. They have no more right to arbitrate these questions than a woman has to arbitrate whether she will marry this or that man or a store to arbitrate what it will sell its merchandise for.

The Kohler Co. is to be commended for standing for the inalienable rights that belong to every citizen against the tyranny of monopoly union labor.

Why They Oppose Private Enterprise

It is plain to see why the labor unions want to take away from private individuals their God-given right to defend their life and their property. They want to put it into the hands of the government that they believe they can control by their votes. And judging from the laws that have been made, they have good reason to believe that if they give the government a complete monopoly of defense and take it away from those who first had it—the individual—they can practically take over the property of any employer. They do not understand that labor unions keep wage levels down instead of raising them because labor unions have never produced a nickel's worth of wealth, but have prevented billions of dollars of wealth from being created by keeping the wrong man in the job and making the employer pay a non-competitive wage and thus reduce the accumulation of capital and destroy a free market, which are the only ways of raising wage levels. This ad shows how woefully confused men are who hold responsible jobs in labor unions. There is much work to be done to get the public to realize the blessings that come from the competitive, free enterprise system.

National Whirligig Disputes Over Red Trade Mar US-British Relations

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — A premonitory discrepancy between the American and British attitudes toward trade with Russia again threatens to disturb relations between the two Western allies, although post-Geneva differences over major foreign policies appear to have been settled satisfactorily.

The British are desperately anxious to trade with Russia and her satellites on a fairly large scale — and in materials with a possible military potential. The Eisenhower Administration's original theory was that even the shipment of nonstrategic goods would aid Moscow. It would assuage the people's lot, stillle thoughts of rebellion and enable the Reds to devote their productive capacity to the manufacture of weapons. Washington favors a comprehensive embargo.

In recent conferences at London and Washington, both British and French spokesmen have argued that our commercial "Iron Curtain" operates to the democracies' long-run disadvantage. They insist that it tends to make Russia more self-sufficient, industrially, by forcing her to produce the goods which she might otherwise buy from the West.

Here is a typical British comment from the Manchester Guardian, which echoes official thought at London, Paris, Bonn and Rome:

"There is a case for believing that the acceleration of Soviet economic progress has been in part a result of the embargo. Just as Britain's postwar production of crawler-tractors was necessitated by restrictions on importing American machines because of the dollar shortage, so the Communists have been compelled to manufacture equipment which they might have purchased abroad. Thus, new industries have been created and existing ones enlarged."

The Guardian that cites numerous instances involving machine tools to prove its point. It says that when Britain restricted export of heavy machine tools under American pressure in 1930, the Soviet gave top priority to these articles, so that some her output is more than double that of Britain's. The same consideration applies to satellite nations and China.

In short, the new British contention, which is also advanced by our other European allies, is that our embargo acts to strengthen rather than to weaken our cold-war enemy. According to this viewpoint, it also enables Russia to establish permanent economic ties with China and the satellites. Under the embargo, Moscow alone can fulfill their needs for consumer and durable goods.

Partly as a result of our restrictive policy, Russia concluded 12 bilateral trade agreements in 1953, and expects to sign 20 more in 1954. Her major targets are the Southeast Asian nations which we hope to include within an anti-Communist alliance. Moscow seeks also to negotiate buy-and-sell agreements with Japan and Western Germany, which we aim to rearm against the Kremlin.

Although Administration spokesmen on this subject may deny it, this viewpoint is forcing a gradual softening of our embargo program. When British Trade Minister Thorneycroft recently visited Washing-

PAUSE FOR REFLECTION

By JAMES C. INGEBRETSEN, President, Spiritual Mobilization

Moscow sources indicate that some twenty million Communists control the destinies of nearly eight-hundred million people in Soviet Russia and the red-dominated countries, excluding Yugoslavia.

Five-and-a-half million disciplined party members are now at work on this side of the Iron Curtain, according to the same report.

The source of danger from any disease is in the virility of the germ rather than its number. It should be a sobering thought to recall that Lenin took over giant Russia in 1917 with fewer Communists than are now being rounded up in Guatemala.

The CRACKER BARREL

When you get right down to it, Russia can't want to get Red China into the United Nations half as much as she wants to keep the United States from getting out. For as long as we are in the United Nations, Russia has an instrument that can be used to ruin the United States. And THE UNITED STATES IS PAYING FOR IT.

BID FOR A SMILE

The neighborhood butcher burst into the lawyer's office and demanded of the man behind the desk: "Lawyer—if a dog ate 'be a slice' of meat from my shop, is the owner liable for the theft?"

Lawyer—Of course he is liable. Your dog just took a wadded steak.

Butcher—That's what I wanted to know. Your dog what took a wadded steak.

Lawyer—I'm sorry. Now if you'll just give me another dollar, I will cover the fee for my advice.

Fair Enough John Drewry's Qualifications To Confer Radio Honors

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK — Furnishing an injury started by Jack Lail, Jr., radio-television editor of the Los Angeles Examiner, I have requested and received from John E. Drewry, dean of the Henry W. Grady school of journalism of the University of Georgia, data concerning Mr. Drewry's qualifications as a journalist and his authority to confer "honors" or radio pundits in the name of the late George Foster Peabody.

I may start this essay at the conclusion. The conclusion is that I have never inspected a high school or college newspaper and nothing whatever as Dean Drewry, Paul Hoffman, late of the Roosevelt-Truman world-wide patronage machine, later of the Ford Foundation and now back with Studebaker, would be second choice in a photo-finish.

Herbert Bayard Swope thunders up third, late as he always was at banquets in the Jimmy Walker era. A straggle which thrust him into prominence among those present at many auspicious occasions in honor of who gives a dam? Both Hoffman and Swope have taken a firm stand against Joe McCarthy.

For sheer emptiness of honor, Dean Drewry makes even Hoffman look absolutely majestic, whereas Horbie's little collection of bottle-caps and committee badges take on the grandeur of an emperor's cushion at a lying-in-state.

Lail's inquiry brought out the fact that the Peabody award, cynically known as the George Foster Nobody prize, almost invariably goes to radio pundits who follow a common political slant. The angle of that slant may be divined from the fact that awards usually go to Edward R. Murrow of Columbia Broadcasting System, Elmer Davis, this year's unanimous nominee for the John Bunyan medal for sustained, appropiic monotony, and a forgotten man believed to have been named Shiner.

As a step beyond Lail's furthermost inquiry, I wrote Drewry:

"Will you please state what your own professional qualifications are for your job? How much experience have you had in journalism and in what capacities? By whom and for what reasons were you selected?"

He replied with two pamphlets and a photostat of a grandiloquent speech in his honor by George C. Biggers, president of Atlanta Newspapers, Inc., and formerly president of the American and Southern Associations of Newspaper Publishers.

Brother Biggers swung out into space in his laudation of a colleague whose total career in a national newspaper work consists of a hitch as reporter and news editor of the Atlanta, Ga., Banner-Herald "1921-23" desultory service as book reviewer from 1923 until now and work as "correspondent" of the Atlanta Constitution and the Christian Science Monitor until 1930.

What else has brother Drewry done to qualify as dean of the great Henry Grady School of Journalism which confers the imposing George Foster Peabody (or nobody) award?

You ain't heard nothin' yet.

And what you get through listening you will discover that you still ain't heard nothin'.

Here goes: "organizer, press bureau," apparently at the university, "1921," publicity dir. 1921-28 and 1929-32; asso. editor, Georgia alumni record, 1925-29; lect. Journalism, Univ. of Georgia, 1923-26; editor university items, summers, 1927-32; organizer and dir. scholastic press ass'n.; org. and dir. ga. collegiate press ass'n.; univ. adm'r. George Foster Peabody radio awards; Ga. Radio Inst.; Ga. Press Inst.; Indsl. Editors' Inst. Mem. G. A. Bicentennial Comm. 1933. Mem. N.E.A.; Am. Assn. Teachers of Journalism (acting sec. 1935-36, vp 1938, pres. 1939); mem. exec. com. 1941; chairman comm. for cooperation with am. comm. newspaper editors and national editorial ass'n.)

"Am. council education in journalism; Ga. edn. ass'n.; newcomm. soc.; Phi Beta Kappa; Phi Kappa Phi; Sigma Delta Chi; Kappa Tau Alpha (nat. council); Omicron Delta Kappa; Digamma Kappa; Kappa Alpha (southern); Phi Eta Sigma; Blue Key Council; 1st sec. nat. com. on professional education for journalism; formerly member council on research in journalism. AA. S.D.J. H-col staff of gov. Ellis Arnold; dem., Baptist, Romanian, Gridiron, Frs. Ga. Club, Columbia, 1925."

There ensues a list of his learned works none of which I will bet you ever heard of, including one about contemporary American magazines and one about contemporary journalism.

Mr. Biggers' speech added to Dean Drewry's gauds.

"His achievements and honors have grown through the years," Mr. Biggers said. "Only a few days ago he received a gold key from the scholastic press association of Columbia University. The key represented the highest honor which the association could confer and was given in recognition of a service to the school press."

I have to interrupt Mr. Biggers' ought to ask what contributions a speaks of and how a man of such meager experience in the field of his authority could know enough about it to qualify as dean of a college of journalism. He didn't go into details.

I asked Mr. Drewry one other question. Being told, I said, by two newspaper men in New York who are Georgians, that someone had shot him some time ago, I inquired who, if anyone, did shoot him, for what reason, if any, and what his version was.

To this he replied: "I have no comment on the subject of your last inquiry."

He was divorced from his first wife in 1949 and married another in March, 1950.

In closing I am sorry to say I overlooked one phase of the professional service which qualified Dean Drewry for his high and responsible office. He was state mail editor of the A. P. in Atlanta in the summer of 1926.

Looking Sideways

By WHITNEY BOLTON

LAPUSH, Wash. — It was late afternoon here in this independent Quillaytic Indian fishing village, and the boats were coming in with the day's catch. Tubs of silver and kings salmon, some live cod. There had been a heavy run about 15 miles out to sea, a few boats came in with a few smaller fish. The fishermen were busy weighing and packing out. They run a cash business and it is, literally, cash on the barrel head. An odd, unending heron barrel is the paymaster's cue.

This old man came slowly down to the beach and sat on the huge, silver log. It was five feet thick and thirty feet long, clean trim and straight.

"I'm going out about 3:30," he said. "Want to go?"

We were both asleep by 6:30 that afternoon and, at 2:15 in the dark of the morning, we were up and walking down to the wharf. We met him and got aboard. We had four thin steel cables of 200 feet each. Two of them had sets of spreaders branched out from the main cable. He started the engine, backed slowly away from the wharf and when he turned we were headed for open ocean. In 15 miles we slowed down and he paid out the cables, strips of silver and wane panned tin glistening every 10 feet along their lengths.

"No use to waste bait," he said. "They lose their heads to the tin."

We moved slowly across the surface of the sea and, soon, he went below and came back with an opened can of beans and an odd spoon.

"You can get your own," he said. "I been fishing since I 2, Alaska to San Diego, and figure if you are old enough to go to sea you are old enough to feed yourself. That's why I won't take a young man as partner. I open cold beans and start spooning them and right away he says: 'Pop, get me up some ham and eggs.' Lot of trouble, young men."

"Besides," he added, "they always want half of the catch."

Two hours later he began cranking in the lines and when he had done we had eleven silver, nine king salmon, whopping allows four feet or more long, and half a dozen ling cod. He tossed them on the deck and got out his knife.

"Just hold her on course while I clean up," he said.

Soon the decks were running with blood and he hosed some off into the sea, carefully bracing himself.

"Slippery," he said. "The boys will be here for breakfast soon. I'd as soon not be their biscuits."

In less than 10 minutes seven sharks, none less than six feet long, were grabbing at what he nosed from the deck. When he finished, they circled the boat and a few times nudged it with their noses.

"It's my fish," he said. "No use to fish overboard. When I'm alone out here I'd be their boy in a minute if I wasn't careful."

"I didn't know there were sharks this far north," I said.

"Well, there they are, several of them," he said. "Reas ones, too. All teeth and hunger. Look."

He picked up a ling cod and threw it high in the air. It struck the water with a splash and seven jibe forms lanced for it. It vanished in a swirl of shark bodies.

He leed down his catch, tid'd the deck, and turned the prow toward shore. When he tied up at the fish wharf here, he put out his hand.

"Thanks for the company," he said. "Enjoyed it. And you were willing to spoon cold beans. Ap'preciated that. I might have had to cook something hot."

Standard Garb

Sweaters Again Dot The Campus

Whether classic cardigan and slip-on or one of the many new novelty styles, the practical knitted sweater will again be a major item in the back-to-school wardrobes of schoolgirls. You might even call it a "Must."

On the other side of the fiber and fashion scale are the bulky, coarse-gauged knits in wool or synthetic blend fibers, many executed in the baby shaker or shaker stitch.

These latter sweaters, particularly in solid colors of white, navy, jockey red or black, are expected to again be campus and career favorites, and are also styled into leisure jackets and full or three-quarter length coats.

SKJ sweaters come into the coarse-gauge category. In the ladies' field, they are expected to reflect chest, yoke and shoulder interest which has prevailed in the men's wear field for several seasons. Necklines, for the most part, will include turtle and baby turtleneck styles, high double V's, cow and broad arctic smock styles. Colors and stylings take on a European flavor.

Step-By-Step Advice On How To Buy Child's Clothes

No matter how much modern man owes to the atom, the airplane, the rocket, it's a better than even bet that future historians will term this hurried era as The Age of Lists.

Take a look at anybody's bus, resu-top, stove-top, front hall table. And on little bits of paper bags, grocery bills, newspaper margins you'll see items like: "Write Aunt Agnes; call cleaner; pick up shoes; get to sleep early."

Good Meal Gives Child More Energy

Every mother should make a new-school-year's resolution that her children will start each day with a hearty breakfast. Doctors have emphasized and re-emphasized the important role that a well-balanced, adequate breakfast plays in the health and well-being of children.

Mothers should remember, too, that it is during these school years that children establish eating patterns that they will carry through life — and that a good breakfast is just as important to good health during adulthood.

The school child's breakfast must give him the foundation of fuel for his intense energy-burning activity of the day, as well as a surplus for growth.

The lack of proper nourishment is very often the underlying cause of a child's poor marks in school. It is evident in his inability to concentrate and his lagging physical development.

Without the proper breakfast to start the day, grade school children and teenagers show a tendency to tire easily, become irritable, and to be less efficient in their class work. The regularity of good eating habits in the morning is the best insurance of keeping their mental and physical development up to par.

Nutritional experts have set up a basic breakfast pattern for youngsters. It includes: fruit or fruit juice, hot or ready-to-eat cereal, milk, bread and butter.

This basic breakfast can be varied to suit a growing child's needs. Eggs, breakfast meats, or other favorites, such as French toast, can be added to keep the morning meal from becoming monotonous.

It is important, too, for the mother to allow enough time for the child to eat leisurely. Thus, he will start his school day, and his whole life, with good breakfast eating habits.

Sports Fans Cheer Fall, School Start

Will the gridiron giants of last year charge back again this fall, crushing the bulk of their opposition?

Will the nation's collegiate basketball powers of last winter again shoot to prominence?

Will skiing, hockey and other winter sports be as exciting as during previous years?

These are some of the questions being tossed about these days by sports writers and the sports-minded from coast to coast.

For that intangible touch of autumn now in the air gives happy anticipation of the coming sports schedules.

Sports conscious fans may recall the college powers of last season — the well-coordinated football teams which rolled smoothly to conference championships throughout the country — and the champions who went on to compete in post-season bowl games.

Teams of this caliber will again prove their mettle in the '54 season!

And, before the last footballs have been opened over frozen turfs in December, the basketball season will be underway — and it promises to be another one packed with thrills!

While hundreds of college and university teams are competing for athletic immortality, thousands of high schools will field football and basketball teams this autumn.

Just as many boys will be enjoying "big league" games on corner lots and playgrounds — for in sports, there are no age limits, and if you're not actually competing you may likely be on the sidelines cheering your favorite team.

While football and basketball teams are battling in the lower altitudes, there'll be plenty of activity high in the mountains where America's ski enthusiasts will be skimming over glistening slopes.

Skating — comparatively new to Americans — has gained wide popularity and is expected to attract more "snow birds" than ever before.

Whatever sport you may join in this fall and winter, good quality equipment makes the game more fun, say A. G. Spalding and Bros., oldest of America's sporting goods manufacturers and supplier to the nation's sport champions!
