Packed House Attends TO'T Rodeo Opener

Top of Texas Rodeo cowboys almost 8:30 p.m. before the actual rodeo performance began. Parade winners... Midway during the show the winners for the afternoon parade were named by Nat Fleming, rodeo announcer. The Liberal (Kan.) Range Riders and the Kiowa Drum and Bugle Corps. Amarillo placed first in the roping club and band entries. Second and third in the roping clubs were Erick (Okla.) Roping Club and the Wheeler County Sheriff's posse. Second in the band division was the Amarillo Air Force Band, which played Wednesday night. The afternoon parade lasted about 30 minutes.

Yarborough Due Tuesday

Ralph Yarborough, candidate for governor, will speak in Pampa Tuesday at 2:45 p.m. at a rally, his campaign headquarters in Austin told The Daily News Thursday afternoon. It had been reported earlier in the day that Yarborough would attend the Top O' Texas Rodeo Friday night.

'Censure Jury' Appointed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 — UP — Vice President Richard M. Nixon Thursday named a six-man committee — three Republicans and three Democrats — to weigh censure charges against Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy. They are: Republicans — Sens. Arthur V. Watkins (Utah), Frank Carlson (Kan.) and Francis Case (S. D.); Democrats — Sens. Edwin C. Johnson (Colo.), John C. Stennis (Miss.) and Sam J. Ervin Jr. (N. C.). The special six-man committee was set up Monday by the Senate to study and report before congressional adjournment on the resolution by Sen. Ralph K. Flanders (R-Vt.) to censure McCarthy. The group also will consider lists of specific charges against the Wisconsin Republican filed by Flanders and Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) and Wayne Morse (Ind., Ore.).

Dulles Hails Pact A Diplomatic Triumph

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 — UP — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles Thursday hailed the new British-Iranian oil agreement as a triumph of "good will" diplomacy and predicted it will usher in "a new era of great hope and prosperity" for Iran. In a formal statement issued soon after the signing of the 25-year agreement was announced in Tehran, Dulles said the United States is "extremely pleased" by the settlement of the four-year-old dispute. His statement clearly reflected the optimism of diplomatic strategists here who regarded the agreement as a stunning defeat for Russia's long-standing aim to take over the oil-rich Middle East country. Dulles hinted that the agreement clears the way for further U. S. aid to hasten Iran's economic recovery. He said U. S. interest in Iran's progress "has been demonstrated in many ways in the past" and pledged that "it is our intention to continue to demonstrate in practical ways that friendly interest."

Agreement Ends 3-Year Oil 'Drouth'

TEHRAN, Iran, Aug. 5 — UP — Iran and the West announced officially Thursday a 25-year agreement putting Iranian oil back on the world market for the first time in three years. The agreement ended a struggle that had cost more than 1,000 lives and for many uncertain months threatened to swing Iran into the Soviet orbit. It also restored to Iran her major source of revenue. The agreement reached between Iran and a Western oil combine was the second major Middle East settlement in a week. It followed an Anglo-Egyptian pact for evacuation of British troops from the Suez Canal Zone. Relieved of Tail Twisting The deal made here relieved Britain from one of the worst tail-twisting it has suffered since World War II and stabilized a country that lies under Russia's soft Middle East underbelly on a frontier regarded as a likely Soviet invasion route westward in event of war. Principal points of the agreement were: 1. The Western oil combine will operate the rich oil fields and explore for new deposits. 2. A second company formed by the combine will operate the huge Abadan oil refinery which will again become the biggest producer in the Middle East after three years of idleness. 3. Money-short Iran, long denied revenue from her idle oil fields, will get an estimated income of $420 million from oil in the first three full years of operation, following a three-month period required to get the giant industry in operation again. 4. The combine will market Iran's oil abroad. 5. The agreement will run for 25 years, with provision for three five-year extensions. 6. Iran will pay the Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. $64 million compensation for the industry over a 10-year period beginning in 1957. (The figure is looked upon as more or less a "token payment" for the vast and valuable properties involved.) 7. The National Iranian Oil Co. (NIOC) which took over the nationalized industry will continue to operate the Naft-I-Shan oil field and the smaller Kermanshah refineries for part of Iran's own oil needs and will handle all domestic distribution while the combine concentrates on the external world markets. 8. The Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. will have a 40 per cent holding in the operating combine and the Royal Dutch Shell Co., partly owned by British interests, will have another 14 per cent interest.

Economic Outlook In U.S. Gets Boost

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 — UP — The government said Thursday spending for new construction climbed to a monthly record of $3,513,000,000 in July to pace a generally favorable economic picture. The new report brought the total for such expenditures in the first seven months of this year to a whopping $26,138,000,000, about $585,000,000 above the same period in boom-year 1953. The construction figures highlighted a series of more-or-less favorable economic reports issued by the Commerce and Labor Departments. These showed: 1. Personal income was at an annual rate of $285,400,000,000 in the first six months of this year, about $700 million more than in the first half of last year. However, it still was $700 million under the record total for 1953. 2. Inventories, dropped $2.1 billion on a seasonally adjusted basis during the first six months of the year. They totalled $78,248,000,000 at the end of June. President Eisenhower has blamed a pileup of inventories as the main cause of the business decline. Orders to factories are expected to pick up when stocks of wholesalers and retailers are trimmed down. 3. Total sales of manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers rose to $85.3 billion in June, up $2,355,000,000 from May. But even so, June sales were $2,252,000,000 short of a year ago. And June, 1954, sales did not gain as much as usual over May. Informed sources said that both unemployment and employment held steady in July at about the June levels. The government was expected to make these figures public Friday.

Yarborough's headquarters reported however that the candidate would be in Corpus Christi Friday night and would come to Pampa next week. Gov. Allan Shivers will be in Pampa tomorrow night, however and will ride in the Rodeo arena.

Distillery Explosion Kills One

PEKIN, Ill., Aug. 5 — UP — More than 100,000 barrels of whiskey went up in flames as fire raged out of control among American distillery company warehouses Thursday. At least one person was killed when one of the warehouses exploded with a blast that was felt three miles away. At least six other persons, three of them firemen, were missing and officials feared they were buried in a 30-foot high pile of rubble. Damage estimates by firemen ran as high as $10 million. The fire, fed by huge stores of alcohol, was still blazing Thursday. Firemen were ordered to stay a quarter of a mile from the core of the blaze for fear of more explosions. Thirty injured persons were admitted to hospitals in Pekin and nearby Peoria. Officials said casualties were being routed into Peoria whenever possible to clear Pekin hospitals for more possible victims. Firemen said an eight-story warehouse or "rackhouse" was still ablaze and might explode at any time. Such a blast might touch off uncontrollable fires in four other rackhouses, they said.

Rodeo Motorists In Minor Crash

Automobile drivers in the long line of vehicles stretching out from town to the Rodeo Grounds Wednesday night saw state highway patrolmen doing the unusual. Two of them had stopped traffic and were out on the highway with shovels. It turned out that three cars had collided bumper to bumper. And the patrolmen were merely shoveling glass from broken tail lights off the highway.

Brahmas Cause Only Injuries

Brahma bulls were the cause Wednesday night of the only two injuries in the opening rodeo performance of the Top O' Texas Rodeo. Neither cowboy needed the services of an ambulance, however. Joe Helms, Rolan, got flipped off the back of his Brahma bull, as he felt the back of his head hit the ground. The bull kicked and it looked, for a moment, as if Helms had been hit by the hoofs. He lay on the ground a few minutes, then got up with an assist from other cowboys. Harold Thomas, Jayton, got a "splinter" for his Brahma, stayed on the required eight seconds, but as he got off hurt his right leg. He limped awhile, apparently unharmed.

Brahmas Cause Only Injuries

Two-thirds of the cowhands in the saddle bronc riding rodeo the necessary eight seconds. Successful were Malcolm Garrison, Clayton, N.M.; John Parrin, Iowa Park; Tommy Riley, Snyder; Billy Miller, Post; Don Workman, Olton; and Harold Thomas, Jayton. Miller's mount drove right into the fence as the whistle blew. Jenn Hassell, Childress, riding "Oxydol," turned in a fast 16.8-second time to lead the pack in the cowboy sponsor contest around the barrels. Mildred Cotton, Andrews, placed second with 17.3 for third with 17.7 seconds — Martha Ann Butler, Taloga, Okla., and Grandmaw Reynolds, Borger. Tommy Riley, Snyder, and Don Workman, Olton, tied for first place in the bull doggin' with twin times of 29.5 seconds. Third was Dick Barton, Canadiana, with a time of 44.9 seconds and a steer he had to tug and tug and tug to handle. Olin Tevabugh, Pampa, had a real rubberneck but came close to Barton with 46.8. Only five of the 11 cowboys in the event received a time. In the double muggin contest, where the rider must do the tying, Jimmy Bird, Post, had the best time with 21 seconds flat. Olin Tevabugh, Pampa, had 28.4 seconds and Dick Fox, Fort Worth, had 42.5 to place third, given though he had two penalties tacked on to his time. The wild mare race produced a lot of excitement, but no winner. Competing were Freddie Newsome, Lehigh, David Crum, Pampa, Jim Kossan, Lehigh, and Riley Miller, (See RODEO, Page 3)

BULLETIN

For the second straight year, Mrs. Jean Duenkel and Miss Lila Aiken, both of Pampa, will clash in the finals of the Panhandle Women's Golf Association tournament which is now in progress on the Pampa Country Club course. Mrs. Duenkel, the defending champion, was extended 15 holes in her semi-final match today with Mrs. Johnny Austin of Pampa before winning, 1-up, in the other semi-final match, Lila Austin defeated Jane Farquhar of Amarillo, 6-3. The championship match will be played tomorrow starting at 2 p.m.

'Fashion' Edict Stirs GI Wives

FRANKFURT, Germany, Aug. 5 — American women loudly protested Thursday an Army edict banning blue jeans and bare midriffs on U. S. military installations in Germany. But the man behind the order, Col. John R. Dilley of Kansas City, Kan., said they were obeying it. "If they don't know how to dress then somebody's got to tell them," Dilley said. "There's been a considerable improvement already." Dilley's order for the "northern area command" in Germany forbids the public wearing of shorts and peek-a-boo necklines by female dependents of U. S. servicemen.

Brooks Named To Fund Board

Rev. Porter Brooks, chairman of the Gray County Chapter of the American Cancer Society, was chosen to represent the group on the board of directors of the United Fund at a meeting Wednesday evening. During the meeting, held in the home of Rev. Brooks, 2109 Hamilton, a committee was also elected to represent the society to the budget's admissions committee of the United Fund. They were Dr. Emily Hicks, Joe Tooley and Mrs. Marjorie Magee. The inauguration by the state society of new professional education program was announced and explained by Miss Doris Lawrence of Amarillo, field representative for the Panhandle district. Through the new program, cancer specialists will visit the small county medical societies to hold clinic teaching sessions on the newest methods of diagnosis and treatment, she pointed out. It was also announced during the meeting that the 27 Gray County residents died from cancer in a period from January through February of this year. Present at the meeting were Mrs. Jack Fuster, Mrs. Marjorie Magee, Mrs. W. A. Sponemore, Oscar Redd, Bob Plummer, Dr. Raymond Laycock, Mrs. Nicholas Kadango, Rev. Brooks and Miss Lawrence.

Reds Say Second Spy Chief Defects

BERLIN, Aug. 5 — UP — The Communist East German radio Thursday claimed that a second high-ranking member of the West German intelligence system has deserted to the Reds and has asked for "political asylum" in Soviet-run East Germany. He was identified as Gerhard Rafter, alias Falkenstein. The Communist radio described him as a member of the West Berlin office of Reinhold Gehlen, one of West Germany's top intelligence officers. Gehlen at present heads an American-financed intelligence and has been reported the West German government's choice to become co-ordinator of all West German intelligence services. Otto John, former West German security chief, went over to the East two weeks ago. Since that time the Communists have claimed that many security and intelligence agents operating in East Germany have defected.

Policeman Acquitted

AMARILLO, Aug. 5 — UP — C. E. Hodges was to be reinstated as a patrolman on the Amarillo police force Thursday, following his acquittal on a charge of perjury. A district court jury deliberated less than three hours Wednesday before bringing in its not guilty verdict. The trial began Monday. Hodges and J. L. King, former chief of detectives, were indicted last May for perjury in connection with statements they made to a grand jury investigating what happened to a $300 gift to the police department. Druggist J. Vain Nelson gave the department the money last December after officers solved a $2,000 theft at his store.

Everyone Talks 'bout Jane Talk

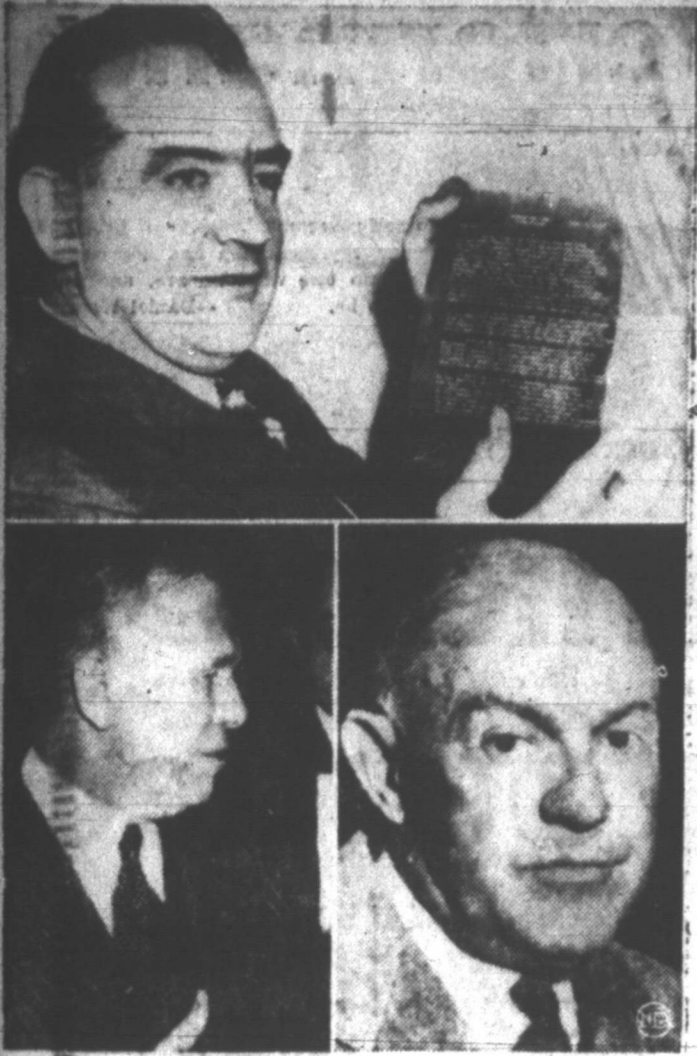

The talk of the town is Jane Talk. That's right, it's The Pampa News' popular original column for the women, dealing with all sorts of things women like to talk about. We've even had comments from men readers, and confidentially, MISTER Reader, there will always be some valuable information for the lovely ladies too. You'll find some hints about kitchen care, and someone's looking for a special pickle recipe in today's column by News Women's Editor Jane Kadings.

Sheriff 'Sees' First Rodeo in Eight Years

Sheriff Rufe Jordan Wednesday night "saw" his first Top O' Texas Rodeo in eight years. Up till this year, the sheriff has always been a timekeeper, one of the men who have to watch for the red flag to be brought down instead of taking in the thrills of the ride. This year he bowed out and got an added thrill. His law-lime, Wayne McMurtry, Subject, entered into the bareback riding contest, gave the fans a chance to yell as he started to slip off the mount, rode him on the side a few seconds then climbed back on to complete a successful ride.

Chuckle Corner

By HAL COCHRAN It's a lot easier to face the music when you promote harmony. A friend in need usually means that somebody must part with a couple of dollars. It's natural for a young boy to have some gypsy in him, says a judge. Especially if he's born in a trailer home. It makes our mouth water when we think how soon the pumpkins will be looking pie-eyed. When the only scrape are those brushed off the dining room table, it's a gummy home.

CHARGES MARSHALL

Sen. Joseph McCarthy, top, displays photostat of letter from former Secy. of War Harry H. Woodring, lower right, that he inserted in the Congressional Record. The letter contained a statement by Woodring that Gen. George C. Marshall, lower left, "would sell out his own grandmother for personal advantage."

McCarran Throws Support to Witness Immunity Bill

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 (UP)—Sen. McCarran (D-Nev.) today threw his support behind a bill to grant witnesses immunity from prosecution if they refuse to answer questions in anti-Communist cases.

McCarran, senior Democrat on the Senate Judiciary committee, said the bill contains "very good safeguards" against abuse. And he said he will press for its enactment before Congress adjourns.

Rodeo Gets Boost From Amarilloans

Some 90 Amarilloans were in town Wednesday to take part in the "Top of Texas" rodeo parade, one of the largest of its kind in the state. The parade, which was held in the city square, featured a variety of rodeo acts, including barrel racing, bronco riding, and bull riding.

600 Sign Up For Swim Class

The Red Cross water safety program, now closed for enrollment, found 600 Pampa youngsters signed up for instruction. Attendance at classes Wednesday was near perfect.

City Urges Cooperation

Pampans who take trash out to the alley should put it in either a garbage can or a Dempster Dumpster container. City-County Sanitarian L. E. West late this morning reported there were too many cases of residents who were not doing that.

Anti-Red Indo-Chinese Begin Exodus

By WILLIAM D. LAFLEER United Press Staff Correspondent

The exodus of anti-Communist Indo-Chinese from the northeast Viet Nam began Thursday by air-lift.

Before the month is over, 80,000 Indo-Chinese will have given up their homes and "country" to escape Communist rule.

Half of them will fly to free south Viet Nam. The remaining 40,000 will go to their new homes below the 17th Parallel by ship leaving Haiphong harbor.

South Viet Namese Premier Ngo Dinh Diem has promised jobs to the refugees. Those who wish to enlist in the new Viet Namese army were invited to do so.

LONDON — American, British and French officials called an afternoon meeting to reject Soviet proposals for early Big Four talks on "European security."

GUATEMALA CITY — Anti-Communist power groups in Guatemala threatened to paralyze the country with a general strike unless the three-man ruling junta bows out in favor of Lt. Col. Carlos Castillo Armas.

Yarborough, Shivers Set Race Costs

AUSTIN, Aug. 5 (UP)—Gov. Allan Shivers and Ralph W. Yarborough reported Thursday it cost a total of nearly $300,000 to put them in the Aug. 28 runoff election for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Yarborough, challenging Shivers for the second time in two years, reported campaign expenses of $182,663, while the governor said he spent $154,709 in the period leading up to the July 24 primary.

In contrast, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson reported his successful campaign for renomination, tantamount to election in Texas, cost him only $5,848.

Johnson reported no contributions, but Yarborough said he got $104,329 and Shivers $100,508.

Arian B. (Cyclone) Davis of Dallas, who ran fourth in the gubernatorial election, said he spent $874 and got gifts of $53, including a blue serge suit from his landlady.

Final reports had not been received from J. J. Holmes, Austin, another gubernatorial candidate, nor from Dudley Dougherty, Beeville rancher who challenged Johnson in the Senate race.

Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey reported spending $9,975 in his successful race for renomination. He said he borrowed $4,751 and received gifts totaling $10,100.

Austin incurred expenses of $5,084 in his race for lieutenant governor. A third candidate, George Hinson of Mineola hadn't filed a final report.

Attorney General John Ben Shepperd said his successful renomination campaign cost $19,122, $16,932 of which was contributed.

No report was received from Doug Crouch of Fort Worth, Shepperd's opponent.

Texas Badman Hunt Spurred

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 5 (UP)—FBI agents and police throughout the West set up mantraps early Thursday in an effort to apprehend a 24-year-old Texas badman believed to be armed with a sub-machinegun he used to rob an Oklahoma bank last week.

The object of the search was Bobby Joe Rine of Royston, Texas, alleged accomplice, James Darrell Holland, 25, of Erick, Okla., and James Earl Spangler, 23, Tulsa, were arrested early Tuesday night in northern California. Both were heavily armed.

Pampa Girl Teaches Swimmers

A Pampa girl, Miss Martha Montgomery, 509 N. Frost, is teaching junior and senior life saving classes at the Lefors swimming pool.

Fifteen children are enrolled in the classes which will run through the month of August. Miss Montgomery was a counselor at Camp Wardimer, near Kerrville, last summer, and the summer before she taught swimming at the Shamrock pool.

Mainly About People

The Fellowship Class of the First Christian Church will have a wa-termelon feast at 7:30 p.m. Monday in City Park.

Glasscock Rites Friday

SHAMROCK — Services will be at 2 p.m. Friday in the First Methodist Church here for O. T. Glasscock, father of Mrs. Jess Clay of Pampa. He died Wednesday following a lengthy illness at his home in Shamrock.

A pioneer Wheeler County farmer since 1907, Glasscock came to Texas in 1893 from his native Kentucky. For many years an active member of the Odd Fellows, he served for a time as Sunday school superintendent at the Methodist Church of which he was a steward for 33 years.

Officiating at the services will be Rev. Frank Bowchamp, assisted by Rev. Earl Nowlin of Calabog, N.M., and Rev. James O. Todd, pastor of the Shamrock Baptist Church. Cemetery rites at the Shamrock, Gravely will be conducted by the Odd Fellows. Arrangements are under the direction of the Clay Funeral Home, Shamrock.

Other survivors include his wife, Shamrock; a son, John William Glasscock, Wellington; three grandsons; one granddaughter; a great-granddaughter, and three sisters of Rocky, Okla.

Candidate Expense Lists Due Aug. 13

Absentee voting for the Aug. 28 Democratic runoff primary begins Monday morning in the office of County Clerk Charlie Thul.

By late this morning Thul had already received eight applications for absentee ballots.

Monday is the same day that the four candidates for paid precinct and county offices on the ballot can file their first of two campaign expense reports. They must file them by Aug. 13. Their second reports must be filed between Aug. 23 and Aug. 25.

The candidates that must file expense accounts with Thul are Incumbent J. B. Maguire Jr. and Bruce Parker, for county judge, and incumbent W. E. (Bill) Jarvis and G. L. (Nat) Linstford, for county commissioner (Pct. 2). Absentee balloting ends Aug. 24.

Kansas Rites For Pampans

Mrs. Cora Bell Easley, Pampa resident for several years, died at 9:45 p.m. Wednesday in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Irene Minatre, 516 N. Nelson.

Mrs. Easley was born April 24, 1874, in Neosho, Mo. She was a member of the Methodist Church here.

The body will be sent to Thayer, Kan., where funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon. Funeral arrangements are being handled there by Engle Funeral Home.

Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Elsie Pittner and Mrs. Lola Porter of Davenport, Iowa, and Mrs. Minatre; three sons, Charlie of Hutchinson, Kan., Rolph, Beggs, Okla., and Glenn of Burden, Kan.; four brothers, John Gilman of Olympia, Wash., Levi of Stillwater, Okla., Fred of Portland, Ore., and Albert of Salem, Ore.; and three sisters, Mrs. Mary Jordan and Mrs. Hattie Turner of Olympia, and Mrs. Oia Hoffe of Thayer, Kan.

United Fund Awaits Naming Of Drive Date

United Fund officials late this morning were awaiting word from Amarillo fund officers on when that city's 1954 drive would be held.

The 1954 drive in Pampa community will be scheduled close to that of Amarillo, John Campbell, this year's drive co-chairman, said.

Three local fund meetings are scheduled in a two-week period. Final plans for the drive will be made Tuesday at a meeting of fund officials and representatives of the eight participating organizations. The annual budget session will be held Aug. 17 and the fund's board of directors will meet Aug. 24.

OLD PET SNAKE JUST HAD TO GO

The kids liked a three-foot snake for a playmate, but their parents couldn't see it.

A. N. Thorne, sanitation inspector, got a call the other day informing him there was a snake in the backyard near the air-conditioner water outlet. But the reptile got away from Snake-lamer Thorne.

The youngsters, unconcernedly, informed Thorne the snake had been around for a month or so and that they rather liked it.

3 Pampans To Attend Swim School

The Pampa Red Cross Chapter and the Aultrusa Club are sending three representatives to the Aquatic School which will be held at St. Stephens Episcopal School in Austin, August 15-25.

Jackie Chisum, Lefors, Mrs. W. A. Dow, 2131 Mary Ellen and Mrs. George Hofess, southeast of city, will be the delegates to the aquatic school.

Mrs. Dow and Mrs. Hofess hold senior life saving certificates and will qualify as instructors after completing work at the school.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ward, 120 N. Faulkner, are making a contribution toward sending these representatives in memory of their son, Kerrie, who was drowned last year.

Half Interest In KPAT Sold

J. C. Daniels today was only half-owner of Radio Station KPAT. The first two employees of the station when it opened up — Ed Murphree, chief engineer, and Jim Terrell, station manager — have each obtained a 25 per cent working interest in the station, Daniels reported today.

Murphree has been with the station since its beginning. Terrell left to take a job in Lubbock, but returned to Pampa a month or so ago to work again at KPAT.

Polio Foundation Sets Supplementary Drive

The local chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis will open a supplementary drive for funds the last two weeks in August.

In view of the expanded operations of the foundation, especially in the use of gamma globulin vaccine, additional funds will be needed to continue the fight, and to evaluate the effectiveness of the mass vaccination. Gray county members learned Wednesday from Mike Hyre, state representative of the foundation from Abilene.

Leslie Hart, drive chairman, said plans include street solicitations the last two Saturdays in August. "We will have the cooperation of the civic clubs in the drive, and it would come as a great help were individuals and groups to offer their services in the campaign," Hart said.

Hyre pointed out that the national goal of $75 million set in the January drive missed its mark by some $20 million. These additional funds, he said, are sorely needed.

Some 650,000 shots were given over the nation in the recent gamma globulin tests, 444,000 receiving the serum, Hyre said. The others, who received shots of water, are to serve as the control by which the effectiveness of the vaccine will be measured. At $11.50 a shot, he pointed out, the program is bound to be expensive.

Funds gathered in the emergency drive will be used to carry on the vast distribution of GG, as well as to evaluate the results of shots already given.

Hyre emphasized the great need for expanded service in Texas. The state is fourth in the nation in number of cases. The rate in Texas is 14.5 cases per 100,000. Over the nation, the 1954 statistics show an increase of the dread disease of between 18 and 19 per cent. In the last few days well over 1500 children in Canyon received shots in an effort to prevent an epidemic, and localize cases.

Solicitations will include distribution of coin collectors; mailing of contribution cards, and possibly some special events.

'Richest Man In The World' Is A Texan, Of Course

By ROBERT ZIMMERMAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

A pink-faced man with a cherubic smile who lives in an oversized replica of Mount Vernon on the top of a hill in Texas has become — as far as anyone can tell — the "richest man in the world."

He is richer than the fabulous Nizam of Hyberabad, who for 30 years was ranked as the wealthiest man on earth.

He is richer than the Aga Khan, the paunchy Moslem spiritual leader whose followers have given him his weight in gold, platinum and diamonds as a birthday present.

He has a bigger bankroll than any descendant of Henry Ford or John D. Rockefeller or any other American with the magic name of Vanderbilt or Astor, Mellon or Morgan.

Ranch Hand to Oilman
His name is Haroldson Lafayette Hunt. Forty years ago he was kicking around the West as a ranch hand and lumberjack. Now he has a personal interest in more oil wells and future oil wells than probably any man alive.

By most estimates — which could be wrong by a hundred million dollars or so, but then, what's the difference? — Hunt is worth $2 billion. That's billions.

His income runs somewhere around $140,000 a day, which figures out to $50 million a year.

If somewhere there is a man with more money, he has succeeded in keeping it a secret. Information about a man's property and income is hard to pin down, and picking the richest man in the world takes a certain amount of guesswork.

But a survey by United Press correspondents around the globe shows that on the basis of published tax reports, known investments and property valuations, Hunt tops them all.

Others in Texas
Not only that, but half a dozen other Texans share the world's financial stratosphere with him. They include Sid Richardson, probably the No. 2 millionaire in Texas; Clint Murchison, who has spread his oil millions into at least two dozen other businesses; Hugh Cullen, the Houston millionaire known for his fabulous gifts to education and charity, and play-boy-moviemaker Howard Hughes.

Outside of America, the ranks of the fabulously rich have been thinned by war and revolution. The princes and great nabobs have met with hard times.

The Nizam of Hyberabad, though deposed as the "richest man," still ranks near the top. His gravy train was derailed by the new Indian government in 1948. The state reduced his income to a mere $3 million a year where it used to top $10 million. An official count of his hoard of jewels, gold and cash, most of which he has been allowed to keep, puts his wealth at about $1 billion.

More Than Money
The Aga Khan, who is not only one of the world's richest men but can look back at once being the father-in-law of Rita Hayworth, weighed in at 215 pounds on his last birthday and decided not to take the platinum he could have claimed to balance the scale. He already has a fortune estimated at $1.6 billion.

The Aga Khan is a potentate unthreatened by political upheavals. He has no worldly realm to be confiscated, but draws his sustenance from 70 million Moslems in many countries.

In the European business world the closest rival to H. L. Hunt as the world's richest man is probably C. S. Gulbenkian, a Turkish-born speculator who got from Iraq what Hunt got from Texas, an ocean of oil. But current estimates say Gulbenkian's holdings probably fall short of the two-billion mark.

John D. Rockefeller Sr., America's first billionaire, died in 1937 with a personal fortune estimated at roughly $1 billion. The Rockefellers remain one of the wealthiest families in America but it is doubtful any one of Rockefeller's heirs personally commands a fortune matching Hunt's.

Henry Ford, who was one of America's wealthiest men in his time, died in 1947 leaving a personal estate of $70 million. It immediately became subject to $21.6 million in federal estate taxes.

Only in a few western states, notably Montana and Nevada, are silver dollars still in common use.

HIGH YIELD—Farmer Worth Norton, of Lamar, Mo., is mighty proud of his oat yield. Planted in October on prairie land, his six-acre farm yielded an average of 128 bushels of oats per acre. About 25 bushels per acre is considered average for Missouri. The crop was so thick he could handle only six drill rolls at a time with his combine.

'Skin Clan' Addressed By Showgirl

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Aug 5.—Wearing only an attractive pair of spike-heeled shoes, showgirl Evelyn West, famed possessor of a "50,000 treasure chest," told a national nudist convention Wednesday that nudism is "the answer for complete health and happiness."

The buxom nightclub entertainer gave the keynote address at the annual four-day convention of the American Sunbathing Association opened here with several hundred men, women and children in attendance.

Miss West, who gained world-wide publicity in 1926 when she insured her bosom with Lloyds of London for $50,000, said she was attending the convention as a delegate of the Colorado Sunshine Club of Denver. She also belongs to the "Sanatans" of San Antonio, Tex., and the Central Sunbathing Association of Columbus, Ohio, she said.

"Some people may scoff and think us immoral and a lot of other things," she told her audience, "but it's still a fact that the best way in the world to relax thoroughly is to take off our clothes."

Miss West took issue with Dr. Braxton B. Sawyer, radio evangelist from Fort Smith, Ark., who took motion pictures of automobiles Tuesday as they drove into the secluded 140-acre sunshine gardens here where the convention is being held. Sawyer said he wanted evidence "to show" the many states from which nudists come.

All but two per cent of the nation's farms now have electricity or have it immediately available according to Collier's 1934 Yearbook.

Confession Rights Wrong

BLOOMFIELD, Iowa, Aug. 5.—UP—William G. Karston, 29, Hamilton, Ill., confessed slayer, admitted a 1932 drugstore robbery for which another man is serving a 15-year sentence, it was reported Wednesday.

District Attorney William E. Clayton of El Paso, Tex., said Karston has confessed to the 1932 robbery for which Kenneth Massey, 27, was sentenced to 15 years in Huntsville, Tex., state penitentiary.

Massey maintained his innocence throughout the trial, Clayton said.

Karston and his half-brother, Almer Anderson, 22, South St. Paul, Minn., have pleaded guilty to killing Wendell Jones, 56, Pulasaki, Iowa, farmer, July 24 after robbing him of $81.

A hearing is being held here to determine their degree of guilt.

Minnesota and Wisconsin are now the only states prohibiting sale of colored margarine.

NOT HARD — Miss Barbara Frye, 17, dices a green pepper she uses in the meatballs that go with her Italian spaghetti recipe. Barbara has been cooking since she was 12 years old. When asked if his sister was a good cook, her 2-year-old brother nodded his head up and down and said "Ummm." Barbara stated that the spaghetti is not hard to make but it "takes time." (News photo)

Children Love Bubbly Cherry Cream Cooler

Summertime seems to about triple demands from the children for something cold to drink and carbonated fruit-flavored drinks seem to be among their favorites. But warm weather doesn't lower their need for milk. So as a delicious way to resolve the problem mix up some cherry soda and evaporated milk for them.

The evaporated milk is used undiluted so it provides a double amount of whole milk nutrients in each glassful, besides adding a pleasant creaminess to the fruity drink. The cooler is bubbly and prettily pink — a sure thing to delight the young ones.

CHERRY CREAM COOLER
2 cups cherry soda, chilled
1 cup evaporated milk, chilled
Measure soda; add evaporated milk. Stir to blend. Makes 4 cup servings.

Note: Any fruit-flavored soda may be substituted for the cherry soda.

Summer Time Meat Tray

For a buffet serving or any occasion when you're looking for a leisurely, yet tempting, serving create a cold meat platter. This tray combines salami slices with liver sausage, spiced meat roll and canned luncheon loaf for an interesting combination of colors and flavors. It's gayly garnished with garden vegetables and crab apples.

A scraper is the best economy batter from your mixing bowl, or aid you could have in the kitchen, that last bit of sauce or gravy. You can use it to get all the from the saucepan.

Brighten Mealtime During Hot Weather With Appealing Summer Tray Of Meat

When temperatures soar upward, meal planning can be a problem. But the fast thinking homemaker turns to handy ready-to-serve meats. Displayed on a tray with crisp relishes, they're a dinner treat anytime.

Says Reba Stags, home economist, make each of your meat trays different. It is so easy with the wide assortment of meats you'll find today in your meat dealer's display case. Consider the different shapes of the loaves, the light loaves such as pickle and pimiento and the darker salamis and corned beef. Of course, choose from them eats with the different flavors such as the bolognas, liver sausage, "boiled" ham, tongue, canned luncheon loaf, etc.

Arrangement of the meat on the tray or platter is important. Choose a large wooden tray or a colorful pottery platter. Salads such as potato, a fruit gelatin or vegetable are temptingly served on the tray with the meat.

For one colorful serving use these four ready-to-serve meats—liver sausage, canned luncheon loaf, salami, spiced luncheon roll.

Arrange in the following manner, using a large square platter. Make a semi-circle of each meat, overlapping slices in a corner of the platter. Fill each semi-circle with one of the following relishes—carrot sticks, radishes, onions and crabapples. In the center of the tray place a row of tomato wedges. On either side of tomatoes overlap thin slices of cucumber. Teamed with garlic french bread or a tray of assorted breads this makes an ideal buffet table serving.

Don't yank out ice-cube trays from your refrigerator. Treat them gently to avoid loosening or jolting the delicate mechanisms. Slamming your refrigerator door loosens joints, too, and hastens the need for repair bills.

Cantaloupes Called Light, Nourishing

The summer cantaloupe crop has come to market in volume, reports the Agricultural Marketing Service. These melons have a lot more than their bargain prices to recommend them.

What lighter or more refreshing food can you eat that will still give you so many food values? And in summertime, when you switch from heavier foods to lighter, one of the things you must watch for is food values. This way you can be sure that the lighter foods you're eating have enough vitamins to keep up your energy.

Italian Spaghetti Rates High With Young Cook

By JANE KADINGO
Pampa News, Women's Editor

A Pampian who is a full-fledged cook at the age of 17 is Miss Barbara Frye, Standish Johns Camp. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Frye, Barbara says she learned to cook when she was about 12 years old while her mother was recuperating from injuries received in an automobile accident.

"I'd get everything out and Mother would tell me what seasoning to use," Barbara explained. Then, she graduated to doing it all herself, and now cooks lunch and supper for her parents, her 12-year-old sister and her 2-year-old brother.

"I'd rather cook than do any other part of housework," Barbara advised. She says her family has lived here "all our lives."

A senior in Pampa High School, Barbara got a chance to display her cooking talent at a recent rush party of the Sub Deb Club — she cooked Italian spaghetti for 30 or 40 girls. In fact, that is one of her favorite recipes.

"It's not hard," she explained. "It just takes time."

ITALIAN SPAGHETTI
Ingredients for sauce:
1 onion
2 pods of garlic
2 cans tomato paste
2 cans tomato sauce
1 large can tomato juice

Mix ingredients together in large roaster. Cook slowly over low flame. Add meatballs when sauce becomes warm.

Ingredients for meatballs:
1 1/2 lbs. hamburger meat
2 eggs
3 crackers meal
3 pods garlic
4 slices toasted bread
1 diced green pepper
season to taste

Mix ingredients in large mixing bowl. Crumble toast and mix with meat etc. Form into balls and drop into sauce. Cook slowly for 3 to 4 hours.

Coconuts, Cereals Made Into Cookies
These cookies are less sweet than some. They're excellent to serve to children with milk or have on hand when friends drop by for afternoon tea. Made as they are, with coconut and corn soya shred cereal, they have fine flavor, firm, chewy texture, and are good-sized — about 3 inches in diameter.

COCONUT CHEWS
2 1/2 cups sifted flour
1 1/2 teaspoons baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup granulated sugar
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup melted butter or margarine
2 teaspoons vanilla
2 eggs
2 cups Corn Soya (corn soya shreds)

1/2 cup shredded coconut
Sift together flour, soda and salt. Blend sugars, melted butter and vanilla. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Stir in Corn Soya and coconut. Add sifted dry ingredients and mix well. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto greased baking sheets. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 10 minutes or until lightly browned.

Shortening may be substituted for up to half the amount of butter, if desired.

YIELD: Five dozen cookies, about 3 inches in diameter.

Mrs. D. M. BOREN called me the other day with a problem. She would like to make some mustard cucumber pickles, but isn't sure of how to go about it.

I ALSO have a problem. I have a new waffle-sandwich grill. I know there is some way you are supposed to treat the waffle and the sandwich section before using it or everything will stick, but I don't know what it is. Any information on this will also be appreciated.

This really is question and answer day. Sue Smith (Mrs. Allan, 725 N. Wells) and Jim Dean, our managing editor, cornered me on what to do when chicken livers or other foods explode during frying and splatter the walls of the kitchen. One solution suggested was to wash the area with a liquid detergent or degreaser and paint with a rubber base paint. It is not known, however, if this will prevent the grease stains from eventually soaking through. Another suggestion was to cover the area around the stove with oil cloth, or imitation tile, or plastic material used for kitchen table tops. . . . from which you can easily wash the grease splatters.

DID YOU know that this is "National Vegetable Week and Mid-Summer Turkey Time?" According to a news release on the subject, this week was originated in 1949 "by the Vegetable Growers Association of America to acquaint consumers with the importance of vitamins and energy in vegetables, emphasize nutrition, avoid waste and loss, and to give consumers fresher vegetables of better quality at lower prices when they are at peak supply." In conjunction with NVW and MSTT, a heavy flow of these foods are coming into the markets and are in oversupply. It is reported . . . and

Blue Ribbon Fancy Cook Chooses Hocks And Vegetables For Family

By FRED PARKER
MILWAUKEE, Wis. — UP—Mrs. Herbert Werner has won about 200 blue ribbons in 25 years of fancy baking exhibits at the Wisconsin state fair. But when it comes to feeding her family she picks pork hocks and fresh vegetables as the favorite meal.

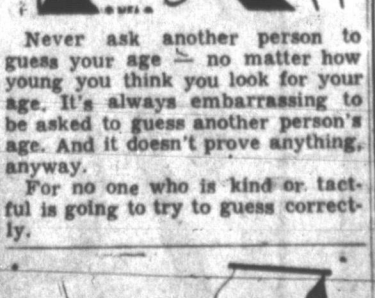

She serves the hocks in the middle of a large platter, surrounded with the vegetables for a complete meal for the Werner family of five.

So Flattering
A charming frock for the mature figure that is so right for almost every occasion all summer. Note the soft, feminine detail.

Pattern No. 8124 is in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50, 52. Size 38, cap sleeves, 5 1/2 yards of 36-inch. For this pattern, send 30 cents in COINS, your name, address, size desired, and the PATTERN NUMBER to Sue Burnett, Pampa Daily News, 372 W. Quincy Street, Chicago 6, Ill.

Never ask another person to guess your age — no matter how young you think you look for your age. It's always embarrassing to be asked to guess another person's age. And it doesn't prove anything, anyway.

RUTH MILLET

A man writes: "My wife is always complaining that I never talk to her. Being a woman, maybe you could tell me what I'm supposed to talk about when I get home from another day on the job."

Do you really want to know what your wife — any other wife — wants her husband to talk to her about?

She wants you to tell her some of the highlights of your day, whether they were good or bad.

She wants you to ask a few questions and show a little conversational interest in what she has been doing all day.

She hates having to try and guess what's eating you when you come home in a silent or grouchy mood. If you would just tell her the problem you are trying to work out she would feel close to you instead of feeling shut out.

She would be interested in your opinions on local, national and world affairs.

There are times when she would like to be able to discuss some problem she is having with one of the children. I mean really discuss it calmly and sensibly instead of feeling that if she confides in you, you will jump to a hasty conclusion and one of the kids will come out the loser.

She would like now and then to plan with you for the future, rather than to drift along from day to day and not even knowing what you want out of life.

And when she says you never "talk" to her, she probably also means that you never listen to her. At least not with your whole mind and with a show of honest-to-goodness interest in what she is saying.

So don't dismiss her complaint that you never talk to her too lightly. How in the world can a man expect his wife to understand him if he never gives her a chance?

When Baby reaches the stage where he won't stay quiet in his carriage, don't attempt to put packages into the front of the carriage. Instead, when going shopping, fasten a good-size clasp hook to the carriage frame with picture wire. It will hold your shopping-bag so Baby won't be able to get at its contents.

Though Baby can only utter meaningless sounds, you can prepare him to learn to speak by talking to him often. He won't understand in the beginning, but gradually he'll learn by listening and observing.

As soon as he shows an interest in words (at about one year old), hold regular daily talking lessons. Point out such objects as furniture, animals, flowers and repeat their names for him. And when he starts talking, don't encourage baby talk.

HOLLYWOOD —(NEA)—Exclusively Yours: Jean Peters, in Washington, D. C., says she's NOT retiring from pictures. She's throwing in the towel marked "Star" since marrying millionaire Stuart W. Cramer, III. Jean gave me this exclusive statement on her future: "I do not intend to give up pictures. I asked for and received an eight-week leave from Fox, during which time I was married and honeymooned. As far as I know, the studio has no immediate picture plans for me, so I won't be back in Hollywood for at least a month or so."

Eva Gabor, far from being over her mad-on at Zsa Zsa, as reported, won't say one word, good, bad or indifferent about the sister who may make her the law of Portofino Rubirosa. The calmer Gabor merely points out that family members shouldn't talk about each other and clams up with a "No comment" if pressed for quotes.

Betty Hutton showed up at Ciro's to celebrate her divorce from Charles O'Curran with constant escort Alan Livingston, a record executive. But she asked photographers not to snap her being the gay Betty all over the place.

EDMUND PURDOM, who worked his mouth while Mario Lanza's tenor voice boomed out in "The Student Prince," is heard as a baritone this time in MGM's "Adam and Athena." Again, it's a voice double for the British star. Just because you can't sing doesn't mean you can't be a singing star in the movies.

A rodeo gal, it's being told, was sent to a vocal coach by a studio executive who thought she had the makings of a star. All day long, the sagebrush beauty went around muttering: "How now, bronco."

Reports of a reconciliation between Don Taylor and Phyllis Avery were unfounded. Phyllis may have sailed to Europe, but it wasn't to join Don, who's making "The Men of Sherwood Forest" in London and dating pretty Jill Adams, a movie starlet.

It escaped newspaper that MGM producer Jack Cummings legally adopted Steven Shaw, the son of his wife, Betty, and her ex-husband, Artie Shaw. The lad is now 31 and gives every sign of being as handsome as his much-married pop.

"CARMEN JONES," Oscar Hammerstein's south of the Mason-Dixon line version of "Carmen" with Bizet's music, was a 1943 Broadway hit and by Hollywood for 11 years because movie makers were afraid of an all-Negro cast.

One studio "genius" almost bought the film rights until Hammerstein read the small print.

The brain wanted to film the deep south "Carmen" with an all-white cast. Hammerstein's shout of "No" in his New York office was heard, it is said, at Hollywood and Vine.

But now CinemaScope cameras are turning on Otto Preminger's version of the musical as Hammerstein wrote it for an all-Negro cast.

Sassy, sultry-voiced Dorothy Dandridge is the tragic heroine in love with a G.I. (Harry Belafonte). Joe Adams is the "Stand Up and Fight 'Till You Hear the Bell" muscle-flexer, who fights 15 rounds instead of 10, and Pearl Bailey's in for a couple of songs.

Preminger is doffing his topper to Darryl Zanuck for taking the chance with the off-beat, by Hollywood standards, production and cast. Says he: "Zanuck's a showman. He knows the play is the star."

ALTHOUGH THE claim was made that Fox had stopped the Ben Hecht series on Marilyn Monroe's life in the Empire News, the secret-spilling wordage is still running in the London newspaper. Seven or eight installments have appeared, with one due soon on Marilyn's version of her feud with Joan Crawford.

Betta St. John, who started off great guns as a movie doll, is temporarily giving up her career to be plain Mrs. Peter Grant in London. When her success outstripped that of her actor husband's, whom she met in the cast of "South Pacific," Betta decided her marriage was worth saving.

Three Los Angeles Rams professional grid stars, Don Paul, Stan West and Tank Younger, join teammate Elroy Hirsch as actors in "Unchained."

When scenes are filmed at the California Institution for Men at Chino, they will work out with the inmates' football team.

Maybe they'll wind up calling the picture "Five and Com."

Production Waste

According to the Council of State Chambers of Commerce, Uncle Sam's investment in farm products as of March 31, the latest date for which figures are available, had reached an all-time high figure of six billion, two hundred and twenty nine million dollars!

That astounding figure is about evenly divided between the value of outright inventories of commodities acquired under loan, purchase agreement and direct purchase operations, and the value of loans outstanding. One crop alone, wheat, accounts for more than one-third of the total.

To illustrate the tremendous quantities of the commodities either already owned outright by the government or pledged for government loans, the Council has converted bushels and hundredweights and dollars into the following graphic examples:

There is enough wheat to provide every man, woman and child in the United States, including the armed forces overseas, with a loaf of bread for 364 days.

There is enough tobacco to provide the nation's 60 million cigarette smokers with 183 packs each.

There is enough cotton to make 117 shirts or 91 house dresses for every American family.

There is enough corn for feed to provide the nation with a normal six months supply of pork and pork products.

Inventories of butter and cheese would supply every member of our population with about two pounds each. Cottonseed oil inventories are sufficient to supply every person in the United States with five pounds of margarine.

It is typical of the calibre of the average farm bloc congressman in Washington that he is not so much alarmed by the burden this mounting of surpluses is piling on the taxpayer as he is by the threat of "political death" if he should vote to end this "production for waste" by eliminating the whole subsidy program.

Earl And Roy Mack Deserve A Monument Of Solid Brass

If ever two men deserved a monument of solid brass — for their brass — then those two men are Earl and Roy Mack.

Earl and Roy are not a vaudeville team, although at times their antics have been almost as funny as any routine of Smith and Dale, Earl and Roy operate the Philadelphia Athletics, and you can always recognize the fans of this team — they have downcast eyes, as a result of looking for their club in the League standing each morning.

At the moment, the Mack brothers are very heavy of heart and light of purse. The team has been playing all year to an audience made up chiefly of ushers, vendors, umpires, and officers of the law, all of whom come in free. Financial matters became acute not too long ago and so Earl and Roy appealed to the citizens of Philadelphia to bail them out by buying tickets to ball games. Philadelphia fans were asked to put pleasure before business — if watching the 1954 Athletics play can be rightfully called pleasure — and go out to the old ball game. "Save the Athletics" was the cry of the distressed brothers. They insinuated, and pretty strongly, too, that the Athletics belong not to them, but to the city, and are as much a part of Philadelphia as Market Street.

Up to this writing, Philadelphia has been cold to the cry for succor and the wringing of hands by the brothers. The rust still is on the turnstiles, and the Athletics continue to play before a silence usually reserved for a great pianist or surgeon.

I can't say that this refusal of help by Philadelphia has either disappointed or surprised me. A man would have to be vast of heart, indeed, to feel sorry for the Macks. He would have to have a heart the size of a blimp to sniffle even so much as one sniffle for the brothers. A man would have to be short of memory, too. Very short.

My memory is not elephantine, but I can recall what the Macks did to one of the greatest baseball teams ever assembled. They broke it up. They broke it up by selling in bunches the players who brought them American League pennants in 1929, 1930, and 1931, and the brave hunting that goes to the World Series winners in two of those three years. Baseball fans who weren't born until well after those years know the names: Al Simmons, "Mule" Haas, Jimmy Dykes; not to mention Mickey Cochrane, George Earnshaw, "Lefty" Grove, and Jimmy Fox.

These and several others were sold on the line for cash. A lot of cash. I don't know how much, but all told it must have come close to a million dollars. And in those days, just as in these days,

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JORDAN, M. D.

Iritis is one of the serious eye diseases. It is usually associated with pain, watering of the eyes, excessive sensitivity to bright light and, if long continued, interference with vision.

The pain is likely to be severe and worse at night. Touching or pressing the eyeball is usually excruciatingly painful.

ONE CORRESPONDENT says that she has had iritis in her right eye for almost a year, and she is getting pretty discouraged. This is evidently a chronic form of the disease and one can only express the hope that the treatments which she is getting will soon prove effective. Indeed this does often happen.

If iritis begins suddenly, the symptoms are likely to be worse than in the chronic variety, but recovery usually comes more or less rapidly — perhaps in a few weeks.

With proper treatment is begun early, the iritis often clears up completely, but complications and the possibility of chronic inflammation are dangerous possibilities.

IRITIS IS SOMETIMES associated with rheumatism, diabetes, tuberculosis, syphilis or injury. It is most important that the cause of the iritis be discovered whenever possible. The disease or condition producing the inflammation of the iris must be treated, as well as the eye itself.

The search for infection elsewhere in the body must be carried out thoroughly. But sometimes no cause whatever can be found.

The eye itself requires highly skilled treatment, including the use of drugs, heat applied locally, rest and protection from light. Sometimes a method called foreign protein therapy has been found helpful in iritis.

Answering Reader On Golden Rule And Public Schools

I had an interesting letter from a reader who thinks I am confused in my contention that tax-supported school teachers have beams in their eyes. This reader believes that the Golden Rule sanctions public schools. And since many other people might have the same idea as this reader, I am answering it in Better Jobs. She writes: "Christ, or as you said, the 'Great Educator,' also said 'Love thy neighbor.' He stressed that over and over as the most important thing we must do. So, supposing one man, John Smith, set up a school because he had children (whom Christ loved dearly) who needed to be educated. But John is a working man, a laborer with a large family to support, and barely made enough money to feed and house his family. On the other hand, Bob Jones, and John Doe, and you and I were more fortunate in a financial way. In other words, Christ had blessed us with say a thriving business and more money. Now to completely follow Christ's teachings of 'Love thy neighbor,' wouldn't you be willing to help John Smith with the financial burden of educating the children? Because I remember Christ said 'What you do unto the least of these, you do unto me.' And 'Cast your bread upon the waters and it will come back one hundred fold.' And there is the Christian thought that 'It is better to give than to receive.' "If you would look upon tax-supported schools as your chance to help your fellowmen as Christ directed us, I believe you'd feel differently.

To get to the actual tax part of it, you may believe that man left alone and thinking the way I have outlined would then donate toward the cause of educating the children. Perhaps in that case some men of honor, like yourself, would donate according to what they could afford. But bearing in mind that man alone is a weak, selfish, greedy creature, there would be so many that would shirk doing their part. Therefore, perhaps taxing a man on what he owns or earns is the fairest way to have all do their part.

The Real Question

Of course, the whole crux of objecting to tax-supported schools is not that one would not want help support education, it is that we do want to be the judge of the kind of education we support. Certainly, people whom God has blessed should help bear each other a burden. But who is to have the right to initiate force on another man's behalf to help bear another person's education the way the initiator of force believes he should? Remember that even Jesus remarked "Who made me a divider over you?" But tax-supported school advocates do not believe this statement made by Jesus is true for them. They contend that they must have the authority to force people to divide the way they want them to divide. They want to take away from a man his right to be directly responsible to God, as is what takes place when compulsion is used to make individuals support some other person's idea of education.

Embarrassing Position

And when it is claimed that kind of education are so much better and wiser that they can be entrusted with the right to compel others to support their ideas of education because they believe others are selfish and greedy, then we are in about the same position as the Pharisee who thanked God that he was not like other men. We are setting ourselves over and above and trying to teach with a rod and a police club rather than by example. And when certain people contend that others must help support what they regard as education, then we are limiting competition in education.

It is a rather strange form of love to force an individual to contribute to an educational system that he regards as harmful, when he wants to use his energy and his strength to educate people in a different way. I can find no place where Jesus ever advocated that the Christian people or "good" people should use the power of the state to make other people do what they regard as good.

Being opposed to tax-supported schools does not mean that an individual thinks that men should be relieved of assisting their brothers, but it means that it is not safe to give anyone the power to coerce others to assist their brothers.

Different Ways of Helping

The reader comments that money and the things it will buy beyond the necessities of life are really meaningless. The reader does not seem to see that the capitalist who tries to follow the Golden Rule knows that it is the best way to help all the needy, and not just a few of the needy by direct gifts, is to add to the tools of the workers. This enables the poor to produce more and thus help themselves. To give money away to relieve a needy person of extra effort tends to make him dependent and come to believe that it is more blessed to receive than to give. That is harmful. This rich man also knows that the poor as a whole will be better off when he dies leaving efficient tools of production than they would have been if he had given it to a few needy people to relieve them of the effort of living by the sweat of their brow, as the Bible says man should live.

The reader also asks: "If you were like our friend, a telephone man earning $84.50 a week, with a wife and five children to support, wouldn't you want your neighbors who are in a better financial position to help in educating your children?" The answer is no. The reason the answer is no is

National Whirligig Egyptians Split On Value Of Voice Of America Work

By RAY TUCKER

CAIRO — The "Voice of America" is extremely efficient or incredibly stupid in selling our foreign aims and policy in this strategic section of the world, depending on the viewpoint of the individuals questioned on the result of its operations.

In one instance, they happen to be American businessmen, foreign officials and newspaper correspondents — there are 50 writers here from almost every nation, including Russia — who are keenly interested in the success or failure of our efforts in this line because of their friendship for or their dislike of us. Although the Tass representative tries to sell a Moscow bill of goods, he is a fairly decent and realistic guy.

The American aviation firm's agent, whose territory includes the Middle East and India as far as Calcutta, submits a rosy report. The Voice's radio broadcasts, he says, are not heard by the masses because they cannot afford a radio. But the influential leaders of thought and opinion, the articulate and intellectual and professional men, he finds, do listen in and obtain the American viewpoint.

Editors of daily and weekly newspapers are regular listeners, and there are 700 publications in the area he visits periodically. They are message bearers for American propaganda, according to him. They spread the word or the news or the interpretation which they received via radio. As respected and leading citizens, their second-hand report of the Voice's broadcasts molds public opinion, which, he says, is favorable.

A Vienna correspondent, however, reports what seems like an extremely inept performance by the operators of this propaganda agency in Austria, where the people still look to us for "liberation" from the Russians.

During the fatal Austrian floods several weeks ago, American and Russian soldiers co-operated in rebuilding dikes and rescuing beleaguered natives. It is, perhaps, the first time that they joined hands since they celebrated the death and defeat of Hitler.

Every newspaper in the world front-paged this picture of Russo-American humanitarianism, with two exceptions. One was the Malenkov organ, Pravda, in Moscow and that I believe it is true that it is more blessed to give than receive. That it is true whether the man be rich or poor. It would also deprive me of showing my love for my children by doing my duty to them. Doing any duty to my children would bring blessing and peace of mind to me that I would miss if I wanted others to assume the responsibility of educating my children. Remember the Great Educator said: "Greater love hath no man than that he lay down his life for another." One is laying down his life for his children when he sacrifices his time and energy to see that they are taught to understand that it is more blessed to give than receive. If others do the giving, they will insist on deciding what the children are taught. I, as a parent, would want the right to teach them what I believed was right. Education is too sacred a responsibility to trust to others. I am glad to have such questions. It stimulates me to answer them without evasion.

The Nation's Press OUT OF THIS WORLD

(The Wall Street Journal)

In Saturday's debate, Senators Lehman, Morse and Murray turn attacking as a gigantic giveaway the Administration's proposals for broadening industrial participation in the peacetime development of atomic energy. Senator Morse, for example, said the Administration wants "to give away to the utility giants of the nation a new resource in which the people of the United States have invested $12 billion." If words mean anything, these words seem to suggest that the Government plans to turn over to private industry, without compensation, the whole range of its atomic activities, military and civilian.

If that were the case, it would be a serious matter. It may be questioned whether the private companies should be allowed to own, just yet at any rate, the mammoth A-bomb and H-bomb plants. And certainly if the Government is going to dispose of any of its atomic facilities, it should sell them, not just give them away.

What mystifies us about the Lehman-Murray comments is that we can't find any documentation for them. As we understand it, the bill before the Senate does not propose that the Government give away, sell or otherwise dispose of Oak Ridge or any other bomb-manufacturing plant. It does not even suggest that the government get out of peacetime atomic work; indeed, the Atomic Energy Commission has ambitious plans in that field that will take four to six years to carry out.

Since the Government intends to stay right in the atomic energy business, military and civilian, just as it always has, it would seem that the taxpayers' $12 billion investment is safe — or at least that it is going to remain in Federal hands.

The bill that so outrages the three senators would, it is true, permit private firms to participate to a greater extent in peacetime atomic development than they have been permitted to do in the past.

Down South Foreign Policy Reappraisal May Renew Our Patriotism

By THURMAN SENSING

As we enter the period of agonizing reappraisal of our foreign policy, which has been forecast for us for some time and which has been inevitable all along, it should really be with a feeling of relief instead of despair. It might well mark the beginning of a rebirth of patriotism in this country which will mean more to our real welfare than anything else that could happen.

It means the beginning of the end of our great "foreign aid" give-away — and perhaps before our nation has been bled white to a point where it could not recover. We borrowed the money to pay for this aid from our children, but it may not yet represent such a load that they will repudiate it. We may even pay off some of the debt ourselves if we ever come to our senses along this line!

Seven years ago when Marshall Aid started, it was supposed to last only three years. The highest estimate of its cost was $18 billion. At that time it was supposed to be for economic reconstruction — and was even offered to Iron Curtain countries. This very soon changed into a program to build up a defense against communism, and since then has been more military aid than anything else.

Now, $50 billion are bound to have helped in some ways the countries that received them — but the whole program was doomed to failure from the very beginning. The money was often used to aid socialism rather than promote enterprise; it created a feeling of dependence rather than one of self-reliance. Nor should we ever have expected that we could go out and buy allies like we can buy a ton of coal or a bushel of wheat. There must be a common interest of love of freedom; otherwise, the recipients remain friends only so long as the money keeps pouring in.

So, what do we see at the end of seven years and $50 billion? We see our so-called allies deserting us, either through lack of courage on their own part or through motives of what they consider their own self-interest. We see perhaps a rebirth of patriotism, or at least nationalism, in these countries. And if so, it will be all to their good, just as it will be for us. For, indeed, it is true that our "soils are dead" when we take no special pride in our native land.

And above all things, we here in America should remember that we have something special in our origin and in our history of which to be proud. Our nation may not have been founded by Divine Guidance, as some would almost believe, but it was certainly founded on the fundamental Christian principles of the dignity of the individual and the right of the individual to carve out his own destiny and choose his own future.

We should not be selfish about these precious possessions here in America. In fact, they are available to all people who will only choose them. But it would be a terrible day for our country and for freedom should we ever allow this special kind of life we have created here in America to be subjected to the contempt of some alliance of nations, most of whom have no conception of the ideals and principles for which our ancestors fought and died in the first place. As we see our allies isolating us, therefore, we should by no means despair. As we see the United Nations falter down the road to failure, we should have no cause for regret. It means we shall no longer endanger our way of life by subjecting it to foreign ideology; it means we shall no longer ourselves fight so-called "United Nations wars" which we are not allowed to win. It was an unholy alliance of nations in the first place, and we can look forward to building upon its unblemished ashes a nobler structure of free nations with common ideals in the "interest of world peace. We should have learned our lesson.

If what is happening now means a rekindling of patriotism in this country, means that we shall pledge anew allegiance to our flag and only OUR flag, means that we shall once again swell with pride on the Fourth of July, that the experience will be worth all the cost in "blood and sweat and tears" — but only then.

Looking Sideways

By WHITNEY BOLTON

EVERETT, WASHINGTON — When the semantics of advertising have been dredged away, the fact is that one modern transport plane is not vastly different from another and what is left to talk about is the convenience of one travel schedule against the other and how much thoughtful, imaginative and considerate service does one airplane crew provide as against another. For the first time in exactly 20 years of flying between Coasts, I have come up against the facilities of the second oldest airline in the United States — and it is wonderful.

The second oldest airline is Northwest Orient Airlines, which was chosen because it flies Stratocruisers between New York and Seattle and anyone who knows anything at all about Boeing's Stratocruisers knows that they are great planes. They have floods of power, they are double-decked to provide the convenience of being able to walk somewhere except up and down the aisle during a 10-hour flight and they are marvellously stable. The extras came when the tickets were purchased. They started right in the New York ticket office. Phyllis Haggerty wanted to know if, since children were going along, it would be pleasant to have the forward cabin, which is separated from the main cabin and makes it easier to entertain and divert children. It was reserved for our party of four.

At Idlewild, came the second evidence of thoughtfulness: if we would go to the Northwest baggage door they would take the children out 20 minutes before boarding time and settle them down in the reserved cabin. This would make it easier for the children and save having them board at the same time that 80 others were boarding. It was done.

During that 20 minutes, members of the crew took time from their pressing work to explain to the children just what was going on, how fueling was done, the pilots' cabin was shown to them, instruments were explained to them.

Then the Misses Henning and Stone took over. They put away hats and coats, they brought magazines for the children, they brought pillows, they explained just when lunch would be served and what it would consist of. The Misses Henning and Stone, with 82 passengers to attend to, went far and wide out of their way to make at least the four of us happy, comfortable and appreciative. The flight between New York and Minneapolis was a silken flight. The sun shone, clouds were absent and the air was still and calm. In Minneapolis, the huge plane scarcely had stopped rolling when George Masters, of the Northwest office there, came out, introduced himself, and asked if he could help in any way to make the remainder of the flight easier and more pleasant.

"Look," I said. "This is Saturday afternoon. Why did you leave your home and come out here? You ought to be home relaxing." "Just thought I'd check and see if there was anything we could do," he said. "Plenty of time left to relax."

Virgil Lezer boarded the plane at Minneapolis. Virgil is an attendant. That means that on a Stratocruiser he tends bar in the cocktail lounge below the main cabin. But he did more than that. He made remarkable little animals out of striped soda straws, he saw to it that the children were amused and entertained, all the while keeping bar service going to the plane passengers. He personally brought dinner so that the children would not have to wait, and he found time to come to the little cabin forward and point out interesting sights 15,000 feet below. He offered them warmly and with a smile. He is the kind of crew member rare and impossible to forget. The plane was going on to Tokyo, via Anchorage, from Seattle. It would have been fun to go on with them. It had been the best job of air traveling in 20 years of personal experience.

The Leftists keep complaining about too much "amateur anti-Communism" and the great state of Texas has decided to do something about it. Texas is going to give them professional anti-Communism and let them see they like it. The state's Department of Safety is opening a school to teach city and state police economic and social propaganda analysis, psychological warfare, sabotage, detection, etc. There will be a special language course, explaining Communistic double talk. For the first time, American public officials have recognized the current world struggle for what it is — a wonderful thing if our Federal government would follow the example of the Lone Star state. If it don't, we're apt to wind up with a flag that has but one star.

BID FOR A SMILE

A gentleman wishing to settle a point or two on art approached the information desk of a certain public library. "Gent, where shall I find something on Correggio and his 'Flight into Egypt'?" "Check Everything about aviation in Room 121."

A New Yorker was introduced to a Cleveland gentleman, and not hearing his name distinctly, remarked: "New Yorker — I beg your pardon, sir, but I didn't catch your name." Cleveland — But your name is a very hard one to catch, perhaps the hardest name you ever heard. New Yorker — Hardest name I ever heard. I'll bet you ten dollars that my name is harder. Cleveland — All right. My name is Stone. Alfred R. Stone. Stone is hard enough, isn't it. To take that ten dollars?

I had an interesting letter from a reader who thinks I am confused in my contention that tax-supported school teachers have beams in their eyes. This reader believes that the Golden Rule sanctions public schools. And since many other people might have the same idea as this reader, I am answering it in Better Jobs. She writes: "Christ, or as you said, the 'Great Educator,' also said 'Love thy neighbor.' He stressed that over and over as the most important thing we must do. So, supposing one man, John Smith, set up a school because he had children (whom Christ loved dearly) who needed to be educated. But John is a working man, a laborer with a large family to support, and barely made enough money to feed and house his family. On the other hand, Bob Jones, and John Doe, and you and I were more fortunate in a financial way. In other words, Christ had blessed us with say a thriving business and more money. Now to completely follow Christ's teachings of 'Love thy neighbor,' wouldn't you be willing to help John Smith with the financial burden of educating the children? Because I remember Christ said 'What you do unto the least of these, you do unto me.' And 'Cast your bread upon the waters and it will come back one hundred fold.' And there is the Christian thought that 'It is better to give than to receive.' "If you would look upon tax-supported schools as your chance to help your fellowmen as Christ directed us, I believe you'd feel differently.

To get to the actual tax part of it, you may believe that man left alone and thinking the way I have outlined would then donate toward the cause of educating the children. Perhaps in that case some men of honor, like yourself, would donate according to what they could afford. But bearing in mind that man alone is a weak, selfish, greedy creature, there would be so many that would shirk doing their part. Therefore, perhaps taxing a man on what he owns or earns is the fairest way to have all do their part.

The Real Question

Of course, the whole crux of objecting to tax-supported schools is not that one would not want help support education, it is that we do want to be the judge of the kind of education we support. Certainly, people whom God has blessed should help bear each other a burden. But who is to have the right to initiate force on another man's behalf to help bear another person's education the way the initiator of force believes he should? Remember that even Jesus remarked "Who made me a divider over you?" But tax-supported school advocates do not believe this statement made by Jesus is true for them. They contend that they must have the authority to force people to divide the way they want them to divide. They want to take away from a man his right to be directly responsible to God, as is what takes place when compulsion is used to make individuals support some other person's idea of education.

Embarrassing Position

And when it is claimed that kind of education are so much better and wiser that they can be entrusted with the right to compel others to support their ideas of education because they believe others are selfish and greedy, then we are in about the same position as the Pharisee who thanked God that he was not like other men. We are setting ourselves over and above and trying to teach with a rod and a police club rather than by example. And when certain people contend that others must help support what they regard as education, then we are limiting competition in education.

It is a rather strange form of love to force an individual to contribute to an educational system that he regards as harmful, when he wants to use his energy and his strength to educate people in a different way. I can find no place where Jesus ever advocated that the Christian people or "good" people should use the power of the state to make other people do what they regard as good.

Being opposed to tax-supported schools does not mean that an individual thinks that men should be relieved of assisting their brothers, but it means that it is not safe to give anyone the power to coerce others to assist their brothers.

Different Ways of Helping

The reader comments that money and the things it will buy beyond the necessities of life are really meaningless. The reader does not seem to see that the capitalist who tries to follow the Golden Rule knows that it is the best way to help all the needy, and not just a few of the needy by direct gifts, is to add to the tools of the workers. This enables the poor to produce more and thus help themselves. To give money away to relieve a needy person of extra effort tends to make him dependent and come to believe that it is more blessed to receive than to give. That is harmful. This rich man also knows that the poor as a whole will be better off when he dies leaving efficient tools of production than they would have been if he had given it to a few needy people to relieve them of the effort of living by the sweat of their brow, as the Bible says man should live.

NEW YORKERS

Mr. and Mrs. Ed C. Pohl and their son, Allan, of Tonowanda, N.Y., are in the running for those who have come the farthest distance to see the Top o' Texas Rodeo. Residents of Pampa 12 years ago, they lived here for five years. They are staying with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Glass, 1708 Coffee, who earlier had sent them stickers about the rodeo—which is where they got the idea of attending. Shamrock Exes Gathering For School Reunion Friday

SHAMROCK — (Special) — The ex-students of Shamrock have already started to gather for the reunion planned for August 6 and 7. Registration will begin at Louise's Flower shop at ten on Friday. The place of registration was changed from the community building to an air-conditioned place. Cakes will be served.

Open house will be held for each class. An incomplete list of class meeting places is as follows: Classes 1910-14 Mrs. Fred Holmes; 1915-19 Mrs. Guy Hill; 1920-21 Mrs. Royce Lewis; 1922-23 Mrs. Robert Holmes; 1923 Miss Re Lummas; 1924-Nathan Lummas; 1925-Mrs. Clyde Whittle;

1926-Mrs. Virgil Agan; 1927-Mrs. Seibert Worley; 1928-Robert Orrick; 1929 Mrs. Sol Blonstein; 1930-Mrs. Cabot Brannon; 1931-Mrs. Geo. Beatty; 1932-Mrs. Walter Neville; 1933-Neal Wilson; 1934-35-Country Club; 1937-Mrs. J. D. Clay; 1938-Mrs. Mathew Taylor; 1939-Lyman Benson; 1949-Mrs. John Bond; 1941-43-Dixie Cafe; 1944-Mrs. Bedford Harrison; 1945-46 Nunn's Cafe; 1947 Jerry Bertin; 1948-49-50 undecided; 1951-Mrs. I. A. Brooks; 1952-Bernice Close; 1953-Tony Dial. A complete list will be available at the registration desk.

Two members of the first graduating class from Shamrock High School are expected for the homecoming. H. H. Mundy of Pawhuska, Okla. and Mrs. Annie Hugh Lyle of Dumas were two of the four graduates in 1910.

A 15 by 18 foot building was the first school established in Shamrock in 1902. There were 19 students. Mrs. John Harvey and Mrs. Lester Holmes still live in Shamrock. The late Dr. Reed Orr of Wellington was the first teacher.

In 1906 a four room frame building was added and the school was affiliated with the state school system.

A two-story rock and brick building was started in 1909 and completed in 1910. This building was part of the school system until 1937 when it was torn down to make way for the present North ward grade school building.

The present Shamrock School system includes South Ward—1927; Jr. High School 1928; Clark Auditorium, North Ward and the High School and Gymnasium. The school cafeteria was the most recent addition. It was added in 1948.

Early teachers expected for the festivities are Mrs. Temple Atkins and Mrs. H. P. Mundy.

Dues set by the organization with Seibert Worley as president are $1.00.

Free golf at the Shamrock Country Club will be enjoyed both days of the reunion. A parade down Mainstreet is scheduled for 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

A business session at 2 o'clock Saturday will decide the dates for the next homecoming. The session will be followed immediately by a memorial service.

Weldon Bright and his musical group from Amarillo will play for dancing at the Armory on Saturday night.

A social is planned at the Country Club for the same Saturday evening hours.

Crop Insurance Deadline Nears

Gray County wheat farmers today had only 9 more days in which to obtain their federal all-risk crop insurance on their 1955 wheat crops.

No applications can be accepted after Aug. 14, Marvin C. Webster, County Federal Corp Insurance Corporation agent, said this morning.

FCIC has advised O. B. Briggs, state director, of the early deadline caused by the unfavorable prospects that face the Gray County area for 1955.

An estimated 300 county farmers are already carrying FCIC insurance, Webster pointed out, adding that Gray County is one of several in the Panhandle in which the new deadline applies. For the others, it is Aug. 31.

"This simply means," Webster said, "that farmers in the county must decide now whether they want all-risk insurance protection on the money they must spend on their wheat crops. Those who want to wait to see whether or not crop prospects change before signing are looking for something other than a reasonable insurance proposition."

"The FCIC program," Webster concluded, "will be better off in the long run without these 'in-and-outers' who are looking for subsidy rather than sound insurance."

Double Rites Planned GAINESVILLE, Tex., Aug. 5 —UP—Double funeral services were scheduled here Tuesday for William Clyde Hawkins, 44, and Mrs. Alma Ella Eddows, 23, his sister-in-law, who drowned in the Red River near Sivelis Bend Monday — Mrs. Eddows as she set out a trotline and Hawkins as he tried to rescue her.

Mossadegh 'Forgotten' Man In Iran

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Foreign Analyst
Old Mohammed Mossadegh, who started the Iranian oil crisis in 1951, must be feeling lonely and forsaken now in his cell in a Tehran prison.

The days of his glory, when he hurled defiance at Great Britain and the world, are over.

He is serving out a term of three years in solitary confinement for plotting to overthrow the shah, trying to wreck the constitution and illegally dissolving parliament.

He has lost appeal after appeal, and for the present at least he is almost a forgotten man.

Whether he will remain forgotten remains to be seen. Iranian politics are turbulent, and Mossadegh still has powerful support among the many Iranian extreme nationalists.

May Wreck Agreement — The extremists will not like the agreement which ends the long dispute over Iran's nationalization of the Anglo-Iranian oil company's holdings. They may try to wreck it.

But young Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi is popular and he has a loyal, strong prime minister in Gen. Fazlollah Zahedi.

If the government can make the oil agreement stick in parliament, and can keep Mossadegh in prison until his term expires in 1956, it seems unlikely that he can make a comeback.

Mossadegh is 74 years old and in frail health.

Further, the oil agreement holds out for Iran the promise of greater prosperity than it ever has had in modern years. Men like Mossadegh, the dictator type, usually do not rise to power in good times.

It is possible to picture Mossadegh in his cell now, egg-bald, hook-nosed, looking somewhat like an aged turtle and probably wearing gray pajamas.

Mossadegh is partial to pajamas. He used to wear them in parliament sometimes, and appeared in them at his trial.

Mossadegh was named premier on April 29, 1951. His extremist national front party had forced the oil nationalization bill through parliament. It became law when the senate approved it the day after Mossadegh became prime minister.

Helped by Assassins — The way for his appointment had been eased when a nationalist fanatic assassinated a more moderate premier, Gen. Ali Razmara, on March 7, 1951. Mossadegh introduced his nationalization bill in parliament the next day. Hussein Ala, another moderate, who succeeded Razmara as premier, did not last long.

Mossadegh kept Iran in turmoil until last August, when he forced the shah to flee into exile after a series of disputes. It developed that Mossadegh had outsmarted himself. He underestimated the popularity of the shah. The army revolted, and six days after his departure the shah went back to Tehran in triumph.

Red Cross Joins United Fund Drive

The Pampa chapter of the American Red Cross this year will again be one of the eight organizations in the Pampa United Fund drive.

Mrs. F. W. Shotwell, chapter executive secretary, late this morning said local participation in the fund had been tentatively okayed Tuesday morning at a directors' meeting.

A representative of the Red Cross will meet at 7:30 p.m. Aug. 10 in the Pampa Chamber of Commerce office in City Hall with other organization representatives, and fund officials to talk over the coming drive, Mrs. Shotwell said.

The fund's annual budget meeting is slated for 7:30 p.m. Aug. 17 in the City Commission room. At that time quotas for each of the eight concerns will be determined. A fund board meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Aug. 24 in the Hughes Building.

The Red Cross, Mrs. Shotwell continued, has been happy with its participation in the fund. There is one proposed change this year, she added. That is the giving-out of Red cross membership cards, which was not done a year ago. Organizations in the fund are the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Red Cross, Milk Fund, Cancer Society, Heart Fund, United Service Organization and Salvation Army.

Oilers Trip Dukes Twice To Near League Lead

Sweetwater 9 At Low Ebb; To Sign Local Sports Editor

SWEETWATER, Tex., Aug. 5—The Sweetwater baseball team in the Longhorn League had reached such a sad state of affairs Thursday Manager Al McCarty was thinking about fielding the local sports reporter.

If sports editor Murray Forsvall gets into the Spudders' lineup, and he has been working out with the team daily, it could be the crowning blow of a long and unhappy season for the team.

Sweetwater, in the first place, didn't have a team when the season started. But the Wichita Falls, Tex., franchise in the Class C League folded and Sweetwater fell heir to the Spudders.

Since then, they have gone from bad to worse and Thursday their record showed 26 victories against 79 losses for a .348 percentage. Forty-five games from first place, they have the ignominious distinction of owning the worst record in organized ball.

To make matters worse, the Spudders' top pitcher, Gil Hernandez, was handed a 30-day suspension for a run-in with umpires Monday. There are only 34 games left on the schedule so Hernandez who had won eight and lost six games, packed up and left for his Havana Cuba home. And their regular rightfielder, Morris Warshaw, broke his hand in a game at Roswell, N. M., Tuesday night and

 As a result, the Spudders now have only 12 players left on the active list and Forsvall may be called on to fill the breach.

SAD SAM WILLIAMS
... 'man of the hour'

Another Twinbill On Tap Tonight

By BUCK FRANCIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

Sad Sam Williams was the "man of the hour" for the Pampa Oilers backers last night as he pitched and batted the Oilers to a twin triumph over the Albuquerque Dukes at Oiler Park, 5-6 and 5-4.

Williams was credited with both wins which brought his record for the year to 11-8. It was the second time this season that Williams gained the decision in both ends of a double header.

In last night's twin-bill, Williams went the route to blank the Dukes on six hits and then came back in the nightcap to gain the win in a relief role.

And in addition to his pitching chores, Sad Sam's bat figured heavily in the twin Oiler victory. Williams whacked out two singles which drove in a run each time in the first game and then broke up the second game in the eighth inning of the nightcap by grounding a single through the box that drove in a run to snap a tie.

Williams took over the pitching duties in the eighth inning of the nightcap after the Oilers had rallied for two runs in the seventh inning to tie the count and send the game into extra innings.

Jim Lemons had hurled the first seven innings but left the game in the bottom of the seventh for a pinch-hitter.

Williams retired the Dukes in order in the eighth to set the stage for the winning Oiler rally in the bottom portion of the inning.

Oilers Rally In 7th
 In the seventh inning rally that tied the score Ben Felder started it with a double. Jose Valesquez was sent in to run for Felder who injured his ankle sliding into second base. Dick Hairston followed with a walk and both base runners moved up when Allen Maul sacrificed.

Oiler hopes faded when Woolbright fanned for the second out but then came the most crucial play of the second game.

Vibert Clarke, pinch-hitting for Lemons, hit a high bommer to shortstop Gil Valentin and beat it out for a single to score Valesquez.

But on the play, Hairston also scored when Valentin's throw to first was low and first baseman Herb Simpson was slow in recovering, Hairston taking advantage of the lapse to score.

That tied the score and sent the game into extra innings.

In the eighth, Duke pitcher Bud Bauhofer got the first two Oilers to face him but Curtis Hardaway defied a single to left to renew Oiler hopes. I. B. Palmer blooped a double down the left field line to send Hardaway to third.

Then Williams came through with his game winning bingle, hitting a 2-2 pitch through the box and Hardaway easily crossed with the winning run.

Maul Delivers
 Allen Maul, who became a father of an 8-pound girl during the day, had driven in the first two Oiler runs in the second inning of the nightcap with a bases loaded single.

Maul also drove in two runs in the first game with a two-run triple.

The Oilers and Dukes will end their 4-game series tonight with another doubleheader, starting at 7:15. John Coddington and Jonas Gaines have been named by Hershel Martin to hurl for the Oilers.

Last night's twin triumph moved the Oilers to within one game of the league leading Clovis Pioneers who defeated Abilene 13-6.

Mack Dynasty In Philly Nears An End

By BUCK FRANCIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 5—UP—The end of the Mack dynasty, once the proudest and strongest in baseball, appeared in sight Thursday with nobody but out-of-town interest seeking the Philadelphia Athletics American League franchise.

The club, now inept afield and impoverished financially, has been a fixture here since Connie Mack became manager in 1901. The "grand old man of baseball," now a slim but sturdy 91 years old, directed the team on the field until 1949 and has served as president since 1937.

Mack, whose sons, Roy and Earle, since have taken over most of the A's front office duties, led the club to its first American League pennant in 1905 and its first world championship in 1910, repeating in the 1911 World Series and making the name of "Home Run Baker" a baseball legend.

The Athletics reached their highest point, however, at the same time that the nation's economy—and the baseball fan's income—plunged to an all-time low. After winning world championships in 1929 and 1930, and the pennant in 1931 with such stars as Lefty Grove, Jimmy Fox and Rube Wahlberg, Connie succumbed to the depression and sold many of his top flight stars for cash to keep his team and ball park going.

To a great number of embittered Philadelphia fans, that move was the beginning of the end. The A's have never had a contender since, and have rarely finished in the first division. Since World War II, attendance has dropped just as steadily as club expense, have risen.

Now, Earle Mack, club vice president and treasurer, feels that the only way out is to sell the Athletics lock, stock and barrel.

Said Earle only Wednesday night: "There isn't a chance of keeping the team in Philadelphia as far as finances are concerned."

Roy Wants Team

MEETS TWO-TIME CHAMP — Miss Lynda Austin, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Austin of Pampa, met Mrs. Eleanor Robertson of Amarillo in the semi-finals of the first flight in the Panhandle Women's Golf Association tournament this morning on the Pampa Country Club course. Lynda's foe, Mrs. Robertson, is a two-time champion of the PWGA tournament but missed the championship flight by two strokes this year. (News Photo)

PWGA Tourney In Semi-Finals

The defending champion, medalist and two "dark horses" met this morning in the semi-final matches of the 5th annual Panhandle Women's Golf Association tournament on the Pampa Country Club course.

Mrs. Jean Duenkel of Pampa, the defending champion, won her first round match by defeating Mrs. Miriam Luedders, also of Pampa, 3-2. Ironically, all first round matches in the championship flight were decided by 3-2 counts.

Miss Lila Austin, the tourney medalist and last year's runner-up, defeated her sister, Shirley Wednesday to reach the semi-finals. The young Pampa girl met another youngster, Miss Jane Farquhar of Amarillo, in the semi-finals today.

Miss Farquhar ousted Mrs. Maxine Rigdon of Phillips to reach the semi-finals.

The fourth semi-finalist is Mrs. Marjorie Austin, a seasoned performer, who gained the semi-final in the semi-final round today.

Mrs. Austin, wife of the host golf pro, Johnny, met Mrs. Duenkel in the semi-final round today.

After today's semi-final matches, the two winners will meet Friday for the tourney title.

Mrs. Robertson met young Miss Lynda Austin in today's semi-finals while Mrs. Post and Mrs. Wagner met in the other match.

Lila Austin won the driving contest held yesterday afternoon with a drive of 207 yards. Jane Farquhar was second with 192 yards. Lila Hall of Pampa was third with 183 yards and Dorothy Walker of Amarillo fourth with 167 yards.

Following are the first round results in all flights:

This year's all-star basketball game will be played a week from Friday at Dal-Hi Gym with the football game the following night in the Cotton Bowl.

It would make an interesting weekend trip for you sport loving Top 'o' Texans of which there are many.

JOE CAMBRIA, A SCOUT for the Washington Senators for the past 30 years or so, was an Oiler Park visitor last night.

Cambria, in a statement following last night's doubleheader with the Albuquerque Dukes, said:

"You have a good ball team here, but I believe it would be better if you could get more people out."

Cambria, of course, was unaware that the big Top 'o' Texas Rodeo got underway last night which hurt the attendance for the twinbill with the Dukes.

The attendance, however, was good considering the circumstances. Reckon there were 500 or more at the games last night.

Cambria didn't single out any of the 22nd annual coaching school in Dallas. And Jimmy Bond will be the third Harvester basketballer to take part in a similar all-star game also to be held during the coaching school.

That's 15 athletes from Pampa High School who have been honored by being chosen for the state schoolboy all-star games since 1935, the year the grid all-star game was inaugurated. The basketball all-star game wasn't started until 1948.

Seven of the previous Harvester Gridders chosen to play in the all-star game have been in line. The complete list of Harvester who have played in the all-star football game are:

1935—Carl Smith, guard.

Baytown Mile Relay Mark Is Recognized

AUSTIN, Aug. 5—UP—The 3:19.8 mile for the mile relay run by Robert E. Lee high school of Baytown at the San Antonio Invitation track meet last May has been officially recognized as the fastest ever run by a high school team.

H. V. Porter, executive secretary of the National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations at Chicago, notified the Texas Interscholastic League Wednesday that the time had been recognized as a new national record.

The Baytown team was composed of Wallace Wilson, Mike Stewart, Vic Davis and Eddie Bussa.

The previous record of 3:21.3 was established in Chicago last year by a team from Lyons Township LaGrange, Ill.

Actually, the Baytown quartet cracked the previous record twice. One week after the San Antonio performance, the relay team ran the mile in 3:21 at the Interscholastic League's 44th annual state track and field meet at Austin.

That time will stand as a league record since it was set at the state meet.

Roberts Defies 'Experts' As He Nears 20-Game Season

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer

The bushes are full of "Humpty Dumplings" who still boast how hard they hit Robin Roberts last spring but the tireless Philadelphia Phillie right-hander can laugh at 'em all now because he's hitting on all cylinders, again.

Roberts, intent upon winning 20 or more games for the fifth straight season, registered victory No. 18 Wednesday night with a five-hit 2-1 triumph over Milwaukee.

He struck out nine batters, walked only one and didn't look at all like the same pitcher who couldn't even get the cut out this spring. Belabored for one big inning after another during exhibition games only five months ago, Roberts became the Phillies' chief problem.

"He's lost his great control," whispered hitters who clouted him and are now back in the minors.

Lucky to Win Half
Roberts will be lucky to win half of the 23 games he won last year, "other spring" morning glories advised.

Roberts heard the whispers and took cognizance of them.

"I know I've looked lousy," he said, "but I'll be okay once the bell rings. I'll win my share of games and then some."

Most predictions made in spring training don't count for a row of grapefruit seeds but Robbie's forecast was smack on the button. As a matter of fact, the Phils have won only 10 games since Terry Moore was named manager last July 15 and Roberts has won five of them.

He gave up Milwaukee's only run in the first inning Wednesday night on back-to-back doubles by Danny O'Connell and Eddie Mathews but the Phils tied the score in the last half of the first on a walk and a triple by Granny Hamner and then went ahead on Bobby Morgan's 10th homer in the third.

Ninth-inning homers were the vehicles for Brooklyn's 8 to 7 decision over St. Louis and Pittsburgh's 4 to 3 triumph over Cincinnati.

Hank Thompson singled home Wes Westrum in the 11th as reliever Don Little held the Cubs scoreless over the last seven innings to wrap up the Giants' sixth straight victory. Johnny Klippstein was the loser.

Dudley Named On Starting Lineup

CHILDRESS, Tex., Aug. 5—UP—Rival coaches have announced their probable starting lineups for Friday night's fifth annual Greenbelt Bowl all-star high school football game.

The fifth annual game, sponsored by the Quarterbacks Club, will find former teammates playing against each other on the East and West teams.

Kenneth Ford of Breckenridge will quarterback the West squad, while two other Buckaroos of 1953—tackle Norman Noble and half-back Billy Dendy—will be lined up against him on the East team.

A crowd of 3,500 was expected by the 8:30 p. m. kickoff.

Sammy Baugh and Larry Cunningham, both of Hardin-Simmons, are tutoring the West team, while the East is being coached by Frank Kimbrough and Clark Jarnagin.

WEST
Ends—Pat Haristfield, Lubbock, and Charlie Shelley, Olton.
Tackles—Ray Morgan, Wink, and Pat Young, Odessa.
Guards—Jack Leonard, Sweetwater, and Lawrence Hill, Lamesa.
Center—Bill Perryman, Plainview.
Backs—Kenneth Ford, Breckenridge; Ed Dudley, Pampa; R. V.

200 Tee Off Today In Tam O' Shanter

CHICAGO, Aug. 5—UP—The "play for keeps" portion of Tam O'Shanter's "All American" golf tournament gets under way Thursday after three days of preliminaries with all-star fields competing in the men and women's amateur and men and women pro sections.

The field of more than 700 entrants in all four groups was cut by qualifications for women and men amateurs Monday and for men pro's Tuesday and Wednesday.

Thus Thursday 200 golfers take off with 136, including 76 exempt players, in the men pro's; 24, including 12 exempt, in the women pro group; 24 in the men amateur with eight exemptions and 16 in the women amateurs, with eight exempted.

Top prize for the 72 hole medal play test, which requires 18 holes a day through Sunday, will be $3,420 for the winner of the men's pro scrap, with $1,000 earmarked for the women's pro champion. Both the men and women amateur champion get $150 in merchandise.

However, the promoters promised a bonus for anybody in the field by offering new course record prizes of $10,000 to men pro's, $5,000 to women and a "big merchandise award" to the men amateurs.

Their targets will be the current marks of 63 set by Lloyd Mangrum for men pro's, 65 by Billy Campbell for men amateurs, and 70 by Babe Didrickson for women.

Only two major stars were missing from the field, Ben Hogan, once a winner of the 12-year-old "All American," and Sam Snead, who withdrew to go to his son, recently underwent an operation for an eye ailment.

However, there were standouts in each division. Among the men pro's were Lew Worsham, winner of the "World" last year with a 104 yard chip shot on the final green, Mangrum, Jim Ferrier, Jack Burke Jr., Dave Douglas, Cary Middlecoff, Walt Burkemo, and PGA champion Chick Harbert.

The women pro's included Mrs. Didrickson, Louise Suggs and Patty Berg, while Frank Stranahan, the perennial amateur champion, again was in the field.

Americans Reach Semi-Finals
HAMBURG, Germany, Aug. 5—UP—Budgy Patty of Los Angeles and Hugh Stewart of San Marino, Calif., reached the semi-finals of the German International tennis championships by scoring extra-set victories in the quarter-final Wednesday. Patty, former Wimbledon champion, ousted Italy's Orlando Sirola, while Stewart defeated German Davis Cupper Ernst Bucholz.

Pampa Schoolteacher To Do Teaching Stint In France

By ROY SULLIVAN
Pampa News Staff Writer

A Pampa schoolteacher, Mrs. Myrl Salmon, is leaving this month to teach at a school even the oldest school-haters among us would like to attend.

Mrs. Salmon, seventh-grade teacher at Pampa Junior High School for past 10 years, is headed for the elementary school at the U. S. Air Force Base at Toul-Rosiere, near Nancy, France.

She reports for her new job Sept. 7 and will leave here Aug. 23 by train for New York. From there she will embark for the French coast either by airplane or ocean liner. To top it all, she will spend three days in Paris being oriented and processed before going on to Nancy, where she will live.

Anxious To Go

"Of course I'm really looking forward to the job and the trip. I've heard that service children are above the normal for intelligence so I think it will be a definite challenge. I bet we both learn something, the students and I," she said.

She will be assigned to teach a grade from the fourth to the eighth. "I hope it is the seventh grade because they are my favorite age group, but it really won't matter," she smiled. "Seventh graders are usually 12 years old, an age when they are neither babies nor grown-ups," Mrs. Salmon explained.

"The girls are just beginning to be interested in the boys, but they, at least most of them, are still more concerned with bicycles and things," she quipped.

Her initial assignment is for one year but 60 per cent of the teachers overseas like their work so well they sign for an additional year of work.

In Lorraine Province

Nancy is the capital of the province of Lorraine, one of the long-disputed twin states of Alsace-Lorraine claimed by both Germany and France. One reason for the uneasiness is Lorraine's proximity to the Rhur valley, heart of Germany's industrialism.

Other than the attractions of travel to Paris only 200 miles away, Germany, Belgium, Luxembourg or England, all within weekend range, she will have her choice of American movies, libraries, tennis courts, golf greens and a myriad of other service facilities.

"I would like to study at the university in Nancy if I can find time," the attractive teacher muses. "I understand it is a good one."

She will do her European traveling in a new Austin four seater which a friend is buying for her. She will be met with the new car and be on her own after she learns a few of the intricacies of driving in France.

"I suppose I'll just park and walk in Paris after what I've heard about their driving and traffic," she said. "I don't think it could be as bad as some of the stories, though."

Texas Lass Tests 'Flame' In Turkey

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Aug. 5—UP—Attractive June Martin, 22, who flew here from Texas to decide whether she still is in love with a Turkish student she met in Houston, said Wednesday her first impressions were "just fine."

Ozcan Turer, her romantic interest, welcomed her on her arrival late Tuesday at Yesilkoy airport. He was accompanied by six friends whom Miss Martin had known in Texas.

He managed to get a choice room for her in the crowded Park hotel by telling the manager he wanted the room for his future wife who would stay in Turkey and marry him if she has a good impression of Turkey.

She got her first impressions of Istanbul Tuesday night. She sat on the hotel terrace overlooking the phosphorescent waters of the Bosphorus under a brilliant starlit sky. Turer arranged a sightseeing trip of the Bosphorus by boat for Wednesday and Wednesday night their friends are giving them a dinner party.

Thursday, Turer said, they will go to Ankara where he is living and is employed as an engineer of the government transport ministry.

Ought To Form Union

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 5—UP—Safecrackers, apparently bent on improving working conditions, now are demanding time out for meals.

While stealing $4,000 in cash and valuables from a safe in a local firm, safecrackers paused to eat lunch as they had packed and brought with them.

Science Claims Promising Clue In Cold-Bug Search

NEW YORK, Aug. 5 (UP) Medical science has a promising clue to a fast cure of the common cold. It lies in the complex chemistry of the white, under-part of the peel of citrus fruits, especially the lemon.

Two physicians in a preliminary report to the medical profession said substances isolated from the under-peel seemed to knock colds for a loop in record time.

The substances are called citrus flavonoids, that is, yellowish. Vitamin P is a flavonoid.

Drs. Morton S. Biskind, Westport, Conn., and William Coda Martin, New York, reported in the American Journal of Digestive Diseases that they had treated more than 22 cases of respiratory infections with the citrus flavonoids combined with ascorbic acid or Vitamin C, in equal proportion.

These cases ranged from simple colds to acute tonsillitis and influenza. In all but two recovery occurred in from eight to 48 hours, usually in 24 hours, they reported, adding that their two failures were a child whose runny nose probably was due to allergy and an elderly woman with acute pleurisy.

Admittedly the flavonoids did nothing to the viruses which are responsible for the common cold and other respiratory infections. The way they work, the doctors believed, was to strengthen with fast nutrition the mucous membranes under virus attack.

The "P" in Vitamin P stands for permeability. This flavonoid (or flavonoids) clears, or makes permeable, the tiniest of the blood vessels, the capillaries, by strengthening them. This "nutritional approach," the doctors suggested, enabled the body to concentrate its defenses against the virus invaders in the membranes where they were most needed.

They weren't sure that the ascorbic acid had anything to do with their cures, but seemed inclined to believe it didn't. They were impressed that it was a new approach "to a group of infections usually unresponsive to any previous type of therapy."

"Though our series of cases is small," they said, "the effects have been so dramatic as to warrant publication of this preliminary report, so that others may further assess the citrus flavonoids in infections."

Living Up To His Name

STURGEON BAY, Wis., Aug. 5 (UP) A defendant was fined $100 Tuesday and told by the judge that he overstepped himself in living up to his name.

Milton Funmaker, Black River Falls, Wis., was arrested for drunken driving, smashing windows in a parked car, ripping off license plates and siphoning gasoline from the tank.

Artist Goes Astray Financing Hot Romance

HOUSTON, Aug. 5—UP—A chubby, 23-year-old "charcoal artist" told police Wednesday he cashed 17 hot checks to "earn" $1,500 to go see his sweetheart behind the Iron Curtain.

Forrest M. Hubbard, an Air Force veteran, was arrested in New Orleans and brought here Tuesday night to face the check charges.

Hubbard, sporting a crew haircut and bland smile, confided that he arranged for his sweetheart to come from Germany next month to marry him. He identified her as Erika Koehler, 20, a blonde whom he met in an art colony in Hollywood a year ago.

"It was easy," he said. "I took the money and flew to Washington, then to New York, where I got a passport. Then I flew to London, then to Berlin. Then I just walked over into East Berlin to see Erika."

Hubbard said he makes his livings as a charcoal artist and cashed the hot checks only "for a specific reason—to see my girl."

However, Det. T. B. Morris wasn't impressed.

Morris said Hubbard, using the name of Hugh Roy Sinclair, cashed the 17 checks at local supermarkets in three days last April.
