W. C. BREINING rates Texas the best

He Served Lefors Over 20 Years

By JIM T. LACY Pampa News City Editor The fact that W. C. Breining has served the town of Lefors in an elected capacity, either as mayor or city councilman, since the early 1930s in itself shows the esteem in which he is held by his fellow townsmen, and, indeed, by other tops of Texans.

Commissioners Discuss Roads

Gray County commissioners today were considering proposed county road projects for the coming year, but by late this morning had taken no definite action. Guy Lott, Amarillo, district highway engineer, and Charlie Smith, his assistant, were meeting with the county commissioners' court on the matter. Also present was Wayland Merriman, the court consultant engineer. Late this morning the court was considering a motion to go along with the highway department's recommendation for the maintenance of 11.4 miles of road on U. S. Hwy. 60 and improvement of 6.2 miles of road on Farm-to-Market Road 293. Clayton Husted was spokesman for a group of Pampans who want to have the truck by-pass from U. S. Hwy. 60 to Texas Hwy. 162, west of Pampa, paved. He was to speak to the court later in the morning.

Russ Bid Answered By Japan

Peace Conditions Pattern Set Down

TOKYO, Sept. 13 -UP- Japan answered Russia's latest peace offer Monday by offering to conclude peace with the Soviet Union along lines of the San Francisco treaty. This amounted to rejection of Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov's statement that "the time is ripe" for restoring normal diplomatic ties, unless Russia's policy has changed. Russia walked out of the San Francisco conference of September, 1951, and led all Communist nations in refusing to recognize the end of World War II with Japan.

Russia's primary objection to the treaty was based on the pact's clauses which permitted Japan to make a security alliance with the United States and permit American forces to be based there. Molotov, responding to questions by a Japanese editor, referred again to the big "obstacle" which presumably would have to be cleared first - Japan's close alignment with the West and treaties with the United States. Molotov's statement to the editor of the Chubu Nippon Shimbum accused the United States of trying to keep Japan in a "dependent" position.

Then Molotov said he thought the time was "ripe" for restoring normal diplomatic and trade relations. "Japan has always been prepared to establish normal diplomatic relations with the U.S.S.R. on the basis of the San Francisco peace treaty or on the basis of substantially the same principles as set forth in that treaty," a Japanese foreign office spokesman said. This official said Japan would demand as a condition for opening talks the return of the Habomai islands of northeast Hokkaido which Soviet troops occupied in September, 1945, on the claim they were part of the Kurile Island chain.

Rep. Rogers Is 'At Home' To Visitors

Rep. Walter Rogers will be in his Combs-Worley Building office today and Tuesday for appointments with his constituents. Friday he will be in Panhandle for his annual Fall-Festival. That is the extent of his schedule to date. Saturday night he said he would like to speak to civic clubs and other local organizations in his district while he is home these two or three weeks. Then he will go back to Washington, D. C., and return again before the Nov. 2 general election.

Old FDR-Tammany Hall Feud Pops Up

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 -UP- The old Roosevelt feud with Tammany Hall is popping again. But this time the machine has powerful allies likely sufficient to lick the bearer of the greatest name in modern Democratic politics.

Franklin Delano Roosevelt Jr. is being denied Democratic nomination for governor in New York state. You must go back about 40 years for the first round of the Roosevelt-Tammany fracas. It has continued from time to time since.

Young Frank's father was a fledgling member then of the New York state Senate before the day of the direct election of United States senators. Boss Charley Murphy of Tammany Hall had chosen William Sheehan of Buffalo to be elected U.S. senator by the New York legislature.

FDR Sr., who was to be a precedent-breaker all through his political career, organized a rebel group of state senators and licked Tammany-backed Sheehan. That was how Woodrow Wilson heard of the young and rebellious aristocrat from Hyde Park, and Wilson's later patronage put FDR on the way to the White House. Frank Jr. is striving now to

FHA Under Demos Scored For Laxity

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 -UP- A special federal investigator has charged that the Democrats were lax in administering the housing program and that former housing official Clyde L. Powell received more than $100,000 in "payments" from "promoters."

William F. McKenna, who headed the government's investigation of the scandal-ridden Federal Housing Administration, said that Democratic administrations failed to do anything about irregularities and permitted bribery.

In a final report on his five-month investigation, McKenna also said "corruption" in the FHA apartment building program from 1946 to 1950 "is largely the story of the reign of Clyde L. Powell." Powell, who was not immediately available for comment, twice refused to answer questions of the Senate Banking committee, which conducted public hearings on the housing scandals. His case now is being studied by the Justice Department. Powell was formerly assistant FHA commissioner in charge of rental housing.

McKenna said "a number" of FHA employees have been removed as a result of his inquiry and others against whom "serious charges appeared to have been substantiated" are or soon will be put on "involuntary annual leave" until formal disciplinary action can be taken. A housing agency spokesman said 25 FHA employees have been removed since the investigation began.

Maine Vote Today Holds Nation's Eye

PORTLAND, Maine, Sept. 13 -UP- Maine's traditional first-in-the-nation elections get underway Monday with Republicans and Democrats casting a doleful eye toward the effects of a third powerful force - Hurricane Edna.

The Republicans, who have billed the election as the first public judgment of the Eisenhower administration, feared the destruction wrought by the big wind over the weekend would keep voters away from the polls and destroy the balloting's national significance.

Hundreds of communities in this sparsely populated state were blacked out by the storm, telephone service was cut and several persons lost their lives in flash floods that caused widespread damage.

The Democrats, making their strongest bid in 20 years for major office in this traditionally Republican stronghold, hoped the hurricane may have been a blessing in disguise.

Republican incumbents seeking reelection are Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, Gov. Burton M. Cross and Congressman Charles P. Nelson, Robert Hale and Clifford G. McIntire.

Mrs. Smith is opposed by a political newcomer, Colby College history professor Paul A. Fullam, who is making his first bid for office.

Earthquake Toll Is Nearing 1,600

ORLEANSVILLE, Algeria, Sept. 13 -UP- Search parties directed by a U.S. Air Force helicopter found 307 bodies Monday in a mountain village that was wiped out by last Thursday's earthquake.

Discovery of the bodies raised the death toll in North Africa's worst earthquake to almost 1,600. Vultures flying above the town of Beni-Reachad, 15 miles from ruined Orleansville, aroused the helicopter crew. It landed on the only flat spot left in the town.

The crew found in the every person in the village was killed, including the tribal chiefs who could have reported the disaster to French authorities.

Reds Free 3 Yank Hostages, But Whereabouts A Mystery

HONG KONG, Sept. 13 -UP- Communist silence Monday shrouded the whereabouts of three Americans the Chinese Reds claim to have freed from Communist jails after 18 months of imprisonment.

Red China's New China News Agency said in a news item broadcast by Radio Peiping "that the three men - two news correspondents and a sea captain - have been 'expelled'."

The United States consulate at Hong Kong said the three - newsmen Richard Applegate, Jon Dixon and Capt. Ben Krasner - were not aboard Monday's train from Canton to the Red China - Hong Kong frontier.

The Reds gave no further information on the release of the three and left it to the West to guess when and where the three would be set free.

Hong Kong appeared the most likely place. But the Chinese could place them aboard a ship leaving Shanghai, Tientsin, or any other coastal port, or could put them across the border in Burma or into

'Edna' Death Toll Is 23

PORTLAND, Maine, Sept. 13 -UP- Swirling flood waters loosed by Hurricane Edna subsided slowly Monday, leaving in their wake a toll of 23 dead and damage that may run $100 million.

Maine, hardest-hit of the New England states which have undergone the lashings of two hurricanes in 12 days, counted eight drownings and damage of $17 million from the Caribbean-born storm which blew itself out Sunday over the Gulf of St. Lawrence in Quebec.

The effects of the storm were expected to cut down the turnout for Monday's Maine election, first in the nation.

Says Army Intent Told To McCarthy

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 -UP- Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker testified Monday the Army had ordered the honorable discharge of Maj. Irving Peress before Peress testified before Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy - and that McCarthy's staff knew it.

The tall, thin general, handsome in a battle-decorated uniform, took the witness chair in the Senate censure committee's hearings after the general's medical officer swore he had heard McCarthy refer to Zwicker as a "Fifth Amendment general."

McCarthy has used the term "Fifth Amendment Communist" to describe Peress, former Army dentist from New York who refused to answer some questions before McCarthy's investigating subcommittee.

McCarthy's attorney objected to the medical officer's testimony on the grounds it was "incompetent" and "irrelevant."

No Recollection of Statement Zwicker also testified he had "no recollection" of calling McCarthy an "S. O. B.," as a New York salesman, William J. Harding Jr., testified last week he had heard him do.

Zwicker read to the committee, which hopes to finish hearings Monday an Army order dated Jan. 12, 1951, which he said he received at Camp Kilmer, N. J., Jan. 23.

The order directed that Peress be honorably discharged at his own convenience, but within no more than 90 days. It added that his commission should be terminated and that he never be reappointed an officer.

Zwicker, speaking in a clipped, firm voice, said that on the same day he received the order - Jan. 23 - he telephoned McCarthy investigator C. George Anastos and told him about it.

Zwicker added that on Feb. 13 - five days before McCarthy told the general he was "not fit to wear that uniform" because he would not discuss who ordered the discharge - he personally handed a copy of the order to James N. Juliana, another McCarthy investigator.

One of five general censure charges which the special six-man committee is studying is that McCarthy, at the Feb. 13 hearing "abused" the general.

Medical Officer Testifies Capt. W. J. Woodward, medical officer who was present with Zwicker throughout the Feb. 13 Foley Square, New York, hearing, testified that early in the hearing, while Zwicker was pausing for an answer to a McCarthy question, he heard McCarthy laughingly tell his associates, "this is the first Fifth (See ZWICKER, Page 3)

Report from Brownell Before the meeting, the President received a first-hand report from Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. and FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover that American Communists have started to take advantage of the new immunity law and are spilling party secrets to the FBI. Some Communist informants have come to Hoover personally.

Brownell also reported on the Justice Department's new crackdown on Communist-dominated labor unions, proceeding under one of a series of Communist-control bills sponsored by the administration and passed in the closing days of Congress.

The aim of the administration... is to utterly destroy the Communist party U.S.A. and its activities within the United States... said the attorney general.

Adenauer, Eden Agree On NATO

BONN, Germany, Sept. 13 -UP- British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer were reported Monday to have reached "complete agreement" on plans to bring Germany into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).

The two statesmen made known their agreement on "a possible solution" to the problem of German rearmament and return to full sovereignty under the spur of an election setback for Adenauer that served a warning to the West that time is running out for a decision on Germany's future.

Eden will fly on to Rome to line up agreement there to Germany's membership in the NATO before he visits Paris on Wednesday.

There he will undertake the difficult task of convincing Premier Pierre Mendes - France on the new plan. France killed the earlier European army plan because of deeply ingrained fears of German rearmament.

Builders Are Angry Over Profit Frauds

By NEIL MACNEIL

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13—UP—The nation's home builders are angry. For months they have heard an almost unbroken chorus charging them with "fraud" and "windfall profits."

Richard G. Hughes, president of the National Association of Home Builders, summed up their feelings this way: "Home builders throughout the United States have been damaged in their communities by sensational headlines which ascribe to an entire industry the alleged faults of a few."

Two Programs Involved The sensational scenarios that rocked the Federal Housing programs—the home repair and improvement program and the now-defunct rental housing program.

The NAHB maintained that few "legitimate" home builders were—or are—in the home repair trade. The association, with 30,000 members, said the industry was given a "black eye" because some outsiders—"fly-by-night boys"—moved in and took advantage of this federal program.

High on the list is a "code of ethics" to which each builder agrees when he joins the association. The code pledges each member to "honesty" as a "guiding business policy" and to maintain high standards of "health, safety and sanitation" in every house.

Best estimates now are that the industry will turn out more than five million cars again next year. This will be roughly the same as this year. This year will be either the third or fourth best in history, depending on what final production figures are.

Ex Governor's Son Marries

YANCEYVILLE, N. C., Sept. 13—UP—Diana Potat Stallings was married Saturday to Ensign William P. Hobby, son of former Gov. William P. Hobby of Texas.

Ensign Hobby is the son of Oveta Culp Hobby, secretary of health, education and welfare. Miss Stallings is the daughter of playwright Lawrence Stallings, co-author of "What Price Glory."

The ceremony was performed at "Forest Home," the country estate of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon P. Marshall, of Boston, Mass. The wedding was performed by the Reverend Albert H. Lucas, archdeacon of the Episcopal Diocese of Maryland. A small group of family members and close friends attended.

Competition Heavy In '55 Auto Market

By REY W. BRUNE

DETROIT, Sept. 13—UP—Somebody might get hurt in the 1955 automobile market but chances are good it won't be the buyer. One of the stiffest competitive battles in the history of an industry known for its competitive fights is shaping up for the 1955 model year. That means the buyers who march into showrooms late this fall will find they're still in a buyer's market.

More Mergers Expected Nash and Hudson have combined into American Motors and are ready to swing out for a bigger share of the market. Kaiser and Willys also are joined together. Reports are circulating that the small companies might merge still more late this year or early next year.

Best estimates now are that the industry will turn out more than five million cars again next year. This will be roughly the same as this year. This year will be either the third or fourth best in history, depending on what final production figures are.

Chrysler Corporation, one of the industry's big three, has watched its share of the market drop from better than 20 per cent to as low as 14 per cent or less. But it is ready to come out swinging with new styles, stronger advertising and a sharp sales campaign to regain its old share of the market.

The NAHB maintains an industry research institute to foster building and design progress. It also runs a "trade secret" program to give each builder the benefits of other builders' techniques and planning.

Fixing Permanent Exhibits The association now is constructing a national housing center which will house permanent exhibits of materials and techniques as well as a technical library of housing information.

To encourage improved building, the NAHB also holds annual contests for best construction and community planning. It also runs an annual "school for home builders" at the University of Illinois to

You're Invited to Enjoy Humble's Comprehensive Program of FOOTBALL Broadcasts and Telecasts

There is no real substitute for a "seat in the stands" at a football game. Neither radio nor television can capture the full flavor of the game, with its dramatic moments, its color, its crowds. You will want to see as many football games as you can.

When you can't, you're invited to enjoy Humble's comprehensive program of football on the air:

RADIO: Southwest Conference games will be brought to you every weekend. The schedule includes broadcasts of both non-conference and conference games. Kern Tips again heads Humble's staff of able announcers.

SPECIAL FOR WEST TEXANS: Humble will again sponsor broadcasts of Texas Tech's football games over a network of West Texas radio stations.

Go to the games with HUMBLE OIL & REFINING COMPANY

TELEVISION: Live! Humble will bring Texans live telecasts of outstanding college games every Saturday afternoon during the season, and on Thanksgiving Day. These are telecast under the program of the National Collegiate Athletic Association. Tentative schedules include four Southwest Conference teams.

On film! Humble's weekly television program, Texas in Review, will feature highlights of Southwest Conference play. This program appears on Monday or Tuesday nights over 14 Texas television stations. Special arrangements enable you to see Saturday's action as early as Monday night.

...drive to as many as you can; tune in Humble's broadcasts and telecasts of those you can not see.

ted a service station in Lefors since 1930.

Remembers Oil Boom
His recollection of the early oil-field days in Texas range from Vernon to Clarendon and on to early-day Borger, then back to Pampa and Lefors. He was a member of the construction crew which brought in the first gasser in the Lefors area, "long before any of the oil and gas wells came in around Pampa."

"I wouldn't trade one handful of Texas dirt for the whole northeast United States," knowing full well he was including a mighty large piece of real estate.

He remembers all the "old families" in Lefors, although this feat is easy as it includes only first and second generations. He summed these up with the names "Thut, Faulkner, and Langham."

Lefors, Old Townsite
Lefors, he reminded, was a townsite long before the county was formed. It was also the first seat of government for the new county of Gray. When Pampa came to the fore during the oil boom of the thirties, Lefors became more of a trading center for oil workers.

Breining doesn't see another "big chance" for Lefors, but was quick to point out that the status quo will not be upset in his estimation.

"There will always be enough income to keep the town going. Even if the oil and gas industry does leave, we have enough cattle and agriculture to keep the town from dying," he insisted.

"Look at Electra and Groom and other Texas towns which were built up by oil then felt the decline. They're still towns and will continue to be because they were established, was his argument.

He summed up his belief that oil or no oil Lefors won't fold.

Breining is proudest of his family. Although his children call Lefors home, none were born there.

Has 3 Children
Besides his wife Lelia, a native of Clarendon, raised in Goodnight, he has two sons and a daughter. Clell, 25, the oldest, was recently married and is a student at North Texas State College in Denton. He is majoring in psychology. Rebecca, his 21-year-old daughter, also attends North Texas State and is a senior music major. Berryman, 24, the youngest son, is in the Air Force at Smoky Hill Air Force Base, Salina, Kans. He plans to study veterinary medicine when his high is up.

On the bench outside his service station under the elm tree, Breining expressed his feeling about his town.

"I'm glad I raised my family in a small town. It's the only place to bring up children," he said. Of course, he was referring to Lefors.

Shivers Sels Conservative Demos' Tempo

MINERAL WELLS, Tex., Sept. 13—UP—Conservative Texas Democrats—the same ones who rebelled against A. L. Stevenson in 1952—met Monday to lay the groundwork for continued control of the party in the crucial election year of 1956.

Members of the state executive committee, who backed Gov. Allan Shivers in his endorsement of the GOP presidential nominee two years ago, where to meet at 10 a.m. at iron out preliminaries to Tuesday's Democratic state convention.

Shivers keynoted the expected temper of the convention, a note that was expected to be underlined by both resolution and action, Sunday night, when he said, "We must build the South and Southwest into as strong a coalition as the North and Northeast is, and we must build and build strong."

Shivers was riding the crest of a thumping wave of confidence given him three weeks ago when Texas Democrats renominated him for a third consecutive term.

However, he warned the action of the coming convention could not necessarily be interpreted as a "preview of '56."

Shivers has held firm control of the Democratic party machinery since 1950, and this was not expected to be challenged seriously at the convention.

The 25 Texas counties will be permitted to send a total of 6,186 delegates and as many alternates to the convention but the capacity of the Mineral Wells City Auditorium will limit actual participation to 2,660 persons.

Some delegation chairman said they would rotate their delegates, so that all would have at least a brief sit-and-look at the convention proceedings.

City Commission Agenda Is Heavy

A heavier-than-usual agenda is in store for the Pampa City Commission which meets at 9 a.m. Tuesday in City Hall.

The third reading of the proposed ordinance to close the public hearing on paving of the 1400-block of Williston heads the agenda, City Mgr. Fred Brook said this morning.

Other items are the discussion of the Sept. 27 Business-Industry-Education Day and of a contract for a sewer line in the Young Second Addition, the final tabulation of the bids for valves and fittings and the perusal of regular departmental reports.

Typhoon Wreaks Havoc In Japan

TOKYO, Sept. 13—UP—Typhoon June smashed into Japan's southernmost island Monday and flooded entire towns.

June's winds slowed down to about 90 miles per hour when the mammoth, 500-mile-wide Pacific hurricane struck Kyushu's high mountains.

At least nine persons were killed during the first four hours that typhoon June was inland.

Weather forecasters predicted a further drop in June's destructive force as the storm moved on to a northward course across Kyushu and southwestern Honshu Island.

Torrential rain isolated towns, set off flood and landslides and raised the prospect of a heavy death toll.

The monthly meeting of the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority, generally held the second Tuesday of the month, has been postponed.

B. D. Robison, Pampa's representative on the authority board of directors, late this morning said no definite date has been set, but that it would probably be held later this month.

Rogers Thinks U. S. Faced With Serious Foreign Problem

Rep. Walter Rogers, whose weekly newsletter finally caught up with him, is convinced the United States is presently faced with "probably one of the gravest foreign situations since immediately prior to World War II."

"The key to the entire situation lies in Europe," says Rogers who arrived back in his home district late last week for a vacation.

Italy and France definitely do not want a re-armed Germany, but as an alternative, they have the Russian threat on their doorstep, the congressman points out.

"Germany is fast recovering from the ravages of World War II and will, no doubt, continue."

Demonstrating that Germany is making the fastest progress of any country on the continent in the matter of rehabilitation, Rogers insists, "If we are to prevent a repetition of the history that has been written during your lifetime and mine, we must face facts, and we must deal with them now."

"The foreign situation must be strengthened," he goes on, "and it must be strengthened immediately; otherwise, we are going to find ourselves with very few and very weak allies."

Going into the matter of the public debt, the congressman says the debt has been rising month by month.

"A record is in the making," he insists. The Congress recently hiked the debt ceiling $6 billion to $281 billion. Highest public debt ever reached was Feb. 28, 1946, when the people of the nation owed a total of $277,972,315.345.

Quoting the monthly reports for July to the Committee on Federal Expenditures, Rogers says there are 2,332,223 employees in the executive agencies of the federal government, plus $10,547 foreign nationals working for U. S. military agencies overseas.

School Rolls Reach 5,467 Over County

A total of 5,467 students has been enrolled in the Gray County public school system.

The lion's share of the enrollment—4,454—is in Pampa schools. That includes a high school, junior high school, five elementary schools and Carver. No figures were available late this morning for Holy Souls School, the only private school in the county.

McLean reported 488 students, 295 of them in the elementary school. In Lefors, there is a total of 387, 228 of them in the elementary school. In the other three public schools in the county the enrollment is Grandview, 24; Alnreed, 46; and Hopkins, 88.

The only major change in enrollment came in McLean, which this year absorbed Alnreed's top four grades. Twenty-four were added from Alnreed this fall.

Three Wrecks Over Week End

Three traffic accidents here over the week end resulted in considerable property damage, but no injuries.

A collision in the 700-block of Foster Saturday between cars driven by Buddy E. Moore, 19, of 502 N. Carr, and Charles Ray Meadows, 21, of Skellytown caused property damage estimated at $200 and $250 respectively.

B. D. Weldon, 23, of Pampa, was given a ticket by the police department Saturday night for driving with defective brakes. His car crashed into a car driven by Frank A. Woods, 23, of Pampa, at the intersection of S. Hobart and Ripley. Both cars sustained only minor damage.

At the intersection of S. Barnes and McCullough Sunday a two-car collision resulted in some $200 damage to both cars.

Wheeler C of C To Hear Watson

Floyd Watson, vice-president of the Citizens National Bank, will speak on "You and Your Chamber" at the Tuesday dinner meeting of the Wheeler Chamber of Commerce.

Watson, who earlier this year addressed the Intermediate class Banquet of the First Baptist Church, is the vice-president of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce and an occasional after-dinner speaker.

series of meetings with the President. Dulles flew in from the Far East where he recently attended the Manila pact conference and visited Japan and Formosa. The other federal policy makers came from Washington. They took off in big government planes for the nation's capital during the night.

The security council, meeting for the first time outside of Washington, canvassed a broad range of international problems—from Quemoy to rearming Germany.

Before going into the meeting, Dulles was positive that a Red Chinese invasion of Formosa could not succeed.

Restates Position
"I am convinced, in the light of what I know, that it is not possible for the Chinese Communists, under any circumstances, to take Formosa... against such opposition as we would interpose," he said.

He restated the basic position of this government: The Seventh Fleet will protect the island stronghold of the Chinese Nationalists against all comers. He did not say whether this would apply to the defense of Quemoy, the little Nationalist island close to the Chinese mainland and which has come under heavy Red artillery attack in recent weeks.

Whether to defend Quemoy as part of the defense of Formosa was a matter first for military consideration, then submission of recommendations to the executive branch. He said the President and the State Department would not necessarily be bound by the advice of the military.

A RECENT ARTICLE I read pointed out that a gradual change is being made in the world of home furnishings and decorations. So gradual, in fact, that most people aren't noticing it. The change? It's toward large furniture pieces and liberal use of wood in room styling.

It flitted through my mind a couple of weeks ago when I asked a local furniture retailer, Jack Foster, if sectional furniture was still popular. He stated that some people requested it, but not very often. The article corroborated this.

Although the furniture pieces are getting larger, the trend is toward the streamlined, and the simple, with "particular attention to durability and easy upkeep of items involved in the decoration plan."

Need people with houses containing not-too-large rooms worry about this trend? Not according to Serge Backhoff, leading home stylist in Washington, D. C. He maintains that through better utilization of space by the use of long sofas, large occasional tables and long cabinets that provide storage along walls, a small room will avoid a "cluttered look."

The greater use of fine wood furniture and attractive hardwood floors is being generated by this trend. Oak floors, partially or completely exposed, are being advocated for rooms with a lot of traffic, such as a television room. They are also easier to clean than rugs in a TV room where light evening meals are often consumed and often spilled while watching a program.

Also evolving from the large furniture trend are ways of giving "When Mother Sewa," a speech by Miss Helen Dunlap, county home demonstration agent, highlighted the recent meeting of the Merten HD Club in the home of Mrs. O. A. Huffines, 505 Lowry.

In her speech, Miss Dunlap stressed determining what best fits the personal needs of your family when buying or sewing. She also demonstrated how to cut two dresses from the same pattern at once to save time.

The business session was led by Mrs. George Dick, vice-president, and refreshments were served. Attending the meeting were Mmes. V. Day, John Brandon, R. N. Brandon, T. G. Groves, George Dick, J. A. Hollar, V. Smith, L. F. Watt, Archie Maness, D. A. Rife, O. A. Huffines and V. L. Exline, a guest.

Next meeting will be held Sept. 21, in the home of Mrs. V. Day.

Wheeler Twins Feted For Third Birthdays
WHEELER — (Special) — Ronald and Donald Rives, three year old twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Rives of Wheeler, were honored with a birthday party recently.

Favors were presented the guests and outdoor games provided entertainment.

Cake and ice cream were served to the guests. Attending were Robert Don Holdeman, Nancy Wiley, Diane Dyson, Steve Hall, John and Dennis Moore, Nancy Weatherly, Steven and Suzanne Hardin, Ronnie and Connie Reader and Tony Richardson.

Adult guests were Mmes. Bob Holdeman, Max Wiley, Spud Moore, Guy Hardin, Ray Reader, Glen Richardson, Carroll Pettit and Misses Sue Waters and Paula Green.

DO SOME of the lights or lamps in your home seem to be giving less of a glow than they should? One reason may be that the lights are dusty, something very much to be expected here. It pays to dust them regularly, however, as keeping bulbs free from dust increases the light output as much as 50 per cent.

AN IDEA to keep throw rugs from slipping is to sew preserving jar rubber rings to the corners. It always amazes me what simple solutions there are to little annoyances.

IF YOU'RE longing for a coffee table, there is a simple way to make your own. I don't exactly remember where I got the idea but it was from my aunt or my sister.

All you have to do is buy a luggage rack and one of those large, attractive, hand-painted serving trays. Place the tray on the rack and you have a coffee table. This idea can also be used for an end table, beside a chair or sofa.

RUTH MILLET

Being a good wife does not mean always letting a man have his own way.

The woman who always tells her husband "whatever you want to do is all right with me" may think she is being a good wife but she is really setting out to become a nobody.

She not only forces her husband to make all the decisions, and set all the standards for living, which is a bigger job than most men want, she, at the same time, shrugs off all responsibility when things go wrong or don't turn out as they should.

She can always say, "It was your idea" or "I was afraid it wouldn't work — but I didn't want to say so" or "I thought you knew what you were doing."

By avoiding the responsibility for making decisions and taking at least part of the blame for failures, she is also avoiding the responsibility for growing and learning.

And she certainly must be dull to live with — the woman who never wants to lead the way but is always willing to follow.

However, should her husband grow bored with her, or become completely selfish, or start treating her with little respect, she can always console herself with the alibi that everything she ever did was to please her husband.

The fact that he isn't pleased proves to her that he's a brute.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES R. MAPLES

Miss Mary Drake and James Maples Of Lefors Are Married In Alabama

The First Baptist Church of Sylacauga, Ala., was the scene of the wedding of Miss Mary Josephine Drake and James R. Maples of Lefors, at 8 p.m. Sept. 3.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Drake of Sylacauga. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Maples of Lefors.

Using the theme suggested by a piece of prose, "The Park of Life," written by the bride's father, the church decorations depicted a park setting with greenery of varying shades set behind a low white fence. An archway was entwined with amilax and huckleberry vine and branched candleabra with white cathedral tapers were interspersed among the greenery.

Mrs. John M. Langley was organist and presented a prelude of traditional wedding music, Johnny Langley, soloist, sang "Always" by Berlin, "Because" by D'Hardelot, and "The Lord's Prayer" by Maloffe.

The candles were lighted by Walter Crawford Drake Jr., brother of the bride and Tommy Acklen of Chattanooga, Tenn., cousin of the bride.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. William K. Weaver.

Miss Sylvia Ann Hall of Fayetteville, Tenn., cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Carol Slaughter of Birmingham, Ala.; Miss Frances Tate of Sylacauga; Miss Carolyn Maples of Lefors, sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. Betty Tankersley of Alexander City, Ala.; and Mrs. Jean Jones of Sylacauga. Junior bridesmaids were Miss Mary Faye Collins and Miss Cecile White, both of Sylacauga.

The attendants were attired in identical floor-length gowns of Nile green crystalite over taffeta. They were designed with fitted bodices and crushed drape necklines. They wore matching bandeaux of leaves fashioned in taffeta. The honor attendant carried a bouquet of white roses tied with Nile green ribbon. The other attendants' flowers were red roses tied with green. Ann Parker Weaver of Sylacauga was flower girl. She wore an identical model of the bride's dress. Ringbearer was Don Rayfield of Sylacauga.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her bridal gown was of white slipper satin. It was fashioned with yoke of white nylon silk-chantilly lace, a long straight front panel, and long sleeves with callilly points over the hand. The full skirt was shirred at the waist. Tiny self-buttons down the back and a rounded court train completed the gown. Her floor-length veil of antique rose point lace fell from a coronet of lace. Her flowers were white rose buds on a white Bible. She wore an heirloom ring of pearls and rubies belonging to her paternal grandmother, Mrs. T. E. Drake, and carried an antique ring of pearl and linen handkerchief given her by a cousin, Miss Ida Sims. Her pearls were a gift of the bridegroom.

Malcolm Huckabee of Olton, Tenn., was best man. Ushers were R. B. Kent, Jr. of Talladega, Ala., Jimmy Thurman, Garland Ward, David Jones Jr., and Clint Collins Jr., all of Sylacauga.

The bride's mother wore a dress of mauve silk lace over taffeta made with empire waistline. Her corsage was an orchid. Mrs. W. A. Hall, maternal grandmother of the bride from Fayetteville, Tenn., wore a royal blue crepe dress with a carnation corsage. Mrs. T. E. Drake selected coral paisley silk with carnation corsage.

The parents of the bride entertained with a reception in their home following the ceremony.

For traveling the bride wore a white suit with matching accessories. Her hat was designed with bead trim and her corsage was of white roses. Following their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Maples will be at home in Clinton, Miss.

You should be able to see the book titles in your glass-enclosed bookcases quite clearly. If you can't it's time to wash them. Sprinkle the panes on both sides with soapsuds, then rinse well and wipe dry. To avoid streaking, rub the glass in one direction only.

Baptist Ruth Class Chooses Officers

A new slate of officers for the coming year was elected at the recent meeting of the Ruth Class of the Central Baptist Church in the home of Mrs. Robert Huffines, 1380 S. Hobart.

Those chosen were Mrs. Earl Griffin, president; Mrs. J. W. Holt, vice-president; Mrs. D. C. Bayless, secretary; Mrs. B. B. Higginbotham, social chairman and reporter. Group captains elected were Mrs. Fred Williams, 1; Mrs. H. H. Crump, 2; Mrs. Dewey Lunstorf, 3; Mrs. Hazel Jay, 4; and Mrs. Hugh Peeples, 5.

The opening prayer was presented by Mrs. Earl Griffin, and each woman recited her favorite scripture and explained why she chose it. Reports of group captains were given, and it was announced the class would serve lunch to revival leaders Sept. 20.

Members present were Mmes. Davis, Griffin, Holt, Bayless, Williams, Lunstorf, Huffines, Helen Lunstorf, Frank Silcott, T. G. Groves, and A. P. Holligan. Guests were Misses Barbara Lunstorf, Ann Silcott and Patsy Huffines.

Skellytown HD Club Has New Officers

SKELLYTOWN — (Special) — Home Demonstration Club met recently in the home of Mrs. Buck Durning, with club president, Mrs. Guy McKenney, in charge.

A discussion was held on demonstrations to be given during the year. The club collect was read by the members.

Mrs. Jimmie Crawford stated she will buy a cake decorator for the club in order to give a demonstration on cake decorating, slated for the next meeting.

New officers elected were Mrs. Hugh Wall, president; Mrs. Buck Durning, vice president; Mrs. Gertrude Hockins, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. Everett Crawford, THDA chairman.

A book review was given by Mrs. Clifton Hanna.

Next meeting will be held Friday in the home of Mrs. Clifford Coleman.

Refreshments of cake and punch were served. Attending were Mmes. Taylor Skaggs, Gertrude Hockins, Joe Chapin, R. C. Heaton, Hugh Wall, Clifton Hanna, Clifford Coleman, Guy McKenney, J. T. Crawford, Everett Crawford and Ross Neugin. Mrs. J. L. Franklin was a guest. Two new members are Mrs. Fred Wall and Mrs. J. T. Fitzgerald.

Advice On 'Paneful' Job Eases Chore Of Keeping Picture Windows Sparkling

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

Be it ever so humble, if it's a new house it has a picture window.

Through the broad expanse of glass, the neighborhood and the world of nature are clearly seen.

And, unfortunately, so are the smears, the streaks and spatters that a floodlight of sun always highlights.

A dirty windowpane, when enlarged to picture-window proportions, prods the homemaker to immediate action.

When I see my friends in glass houses marshaling buckets, sponges and squeegees for a day's outing at the window, I feel a little smug about our old-fashioned windows — just as dirty, but not so bold about it.

"How do you clean up your picture window?"

I've been asking this question of friends who have been coping with acres of glass for some time now. Maybe you'd like to compare notes with my water-soaked findings.

In addition to the buckets of water, the sponges, and the sponges, helpful equipment includes a bottle brush, long-handled sponge-mop and a home-size squeegee.

A solution of suds, water conditioner and ammonia in warm water for washing, and the addition of ammonia to the rinse water, cleans the glass faster and leaves it sparkling.

Use horizontal strokes on the inside of the window and verticle strokes outdoors so that you can tell at a glance which side needs touching up.

Tackle the inside first, washing the framework with a sponge, and routing any dirt collection from corners with the bottle brush. Rinse and wipe dry.

Then wash the glass in manageable sections. Scrape down any excess water with a squeegee. And remember that in any window, the spots and the sponges, helpful equipment includes a bottle brush, long-handled sponge-mop and a home-size squeegee.

When the entire pane is clean, polish with a chamois (or cheese-cloth).

Outdoors you can, of course, be sloppier with the soap and water. Because the window will be dirtier, you may have to go over the glass a couple of times with the suds. The long-handled sponge-mop comes in handy to reach the high places. Hose off the suds.

Because the water in our area is very hard, our most energetic homemakers follow up with a second rinse. They use a clean sponge dipped in warm water which has been softened with conditioner and ammonia (cuts down on streaking).

Then, if you have any strength left, squeegee and polish.

(Incidentally, if the window is close to the ground, a narrow strip of fine gravel spread beneath it cuts down on mud splashes during a heavy rainstorm.)

Another problem with large picture windows is the tendency of birds to fly into them. This is par-

For a "picture" that sparkles, clean your big picture windows with a soapsuds-water-conditioner-ammonia-and-warm-water solution. Wash in sections, remove excess suds with a squeegee and follow with an ammonia-water rinse. Polish with a lintless cloth or chamois.

icularly true during the migration periods during the spring and fall months.

They are attracted by their reflections in the glass, by lights at night, and if large windows face each other, by the idea that there is an open area ahead.

Suggestions to reduce the accident rate include drawing curtains to cut down on reflections and to shield night lights, and shifting of furniture to block life view through a house.

My sister hangs shimmering strips of aluminum from the roof overhanging in front of the window. She reports some success with this method of warding off the bewildered birds.

TIGER BITES THE DUST—Cleveland Indians' shortstop Sam Denté gets set to put the tag on Detroit Tigers' right fielder Al Kaline, caught stealing in the fourth inning of a game at Cleveland. Catcher Jim Hegan made the throw. The Indians won the game, 4-0.

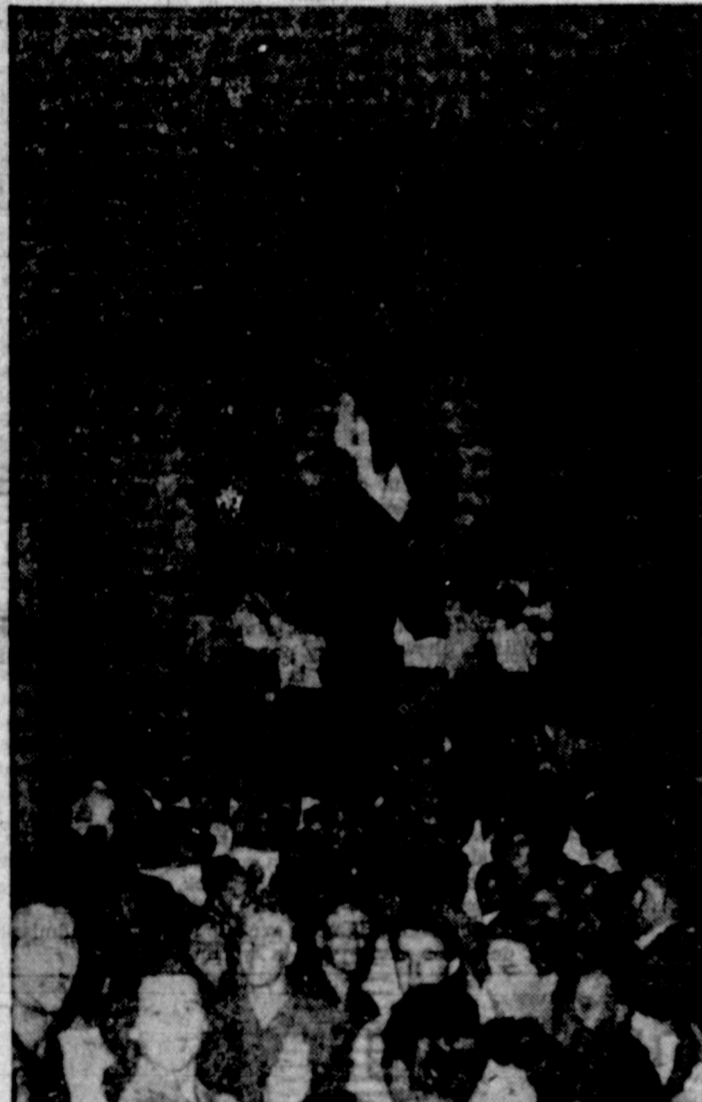

OUCH!—Mrs. Lillian Seizer looks like she's ready to call a halt to her blood test. She was one of 60 ladies undergoing physical examinations for posts as civilian school crossing guards in New York City.

CONE FOR CORINNE—Costumed as a courtesan, but looking too innocent for the role, French actress Corinne Calvet, licks an ice cream cone between shootings of "The Adventures of Casanova." The movie is being filmed in Venice, Italy.

NOAH'S ARK?—Reggie Bloom, animal collector from England, has a hard time trying to lift "Gertie," a 300-pound tortoise, who is headed for the National Zoological Park in Washington. Gertie was part of the "floating zoo" that arrived in Brooklyn, N. Y., aboard the liner Andria. Other animal passengers included three zebras, two horses, five vultures, one crow, 12 tortoises, two pythons, one giant rat, one squirrel, two civet cats, one jackal, one hedgehog and a mongoose.

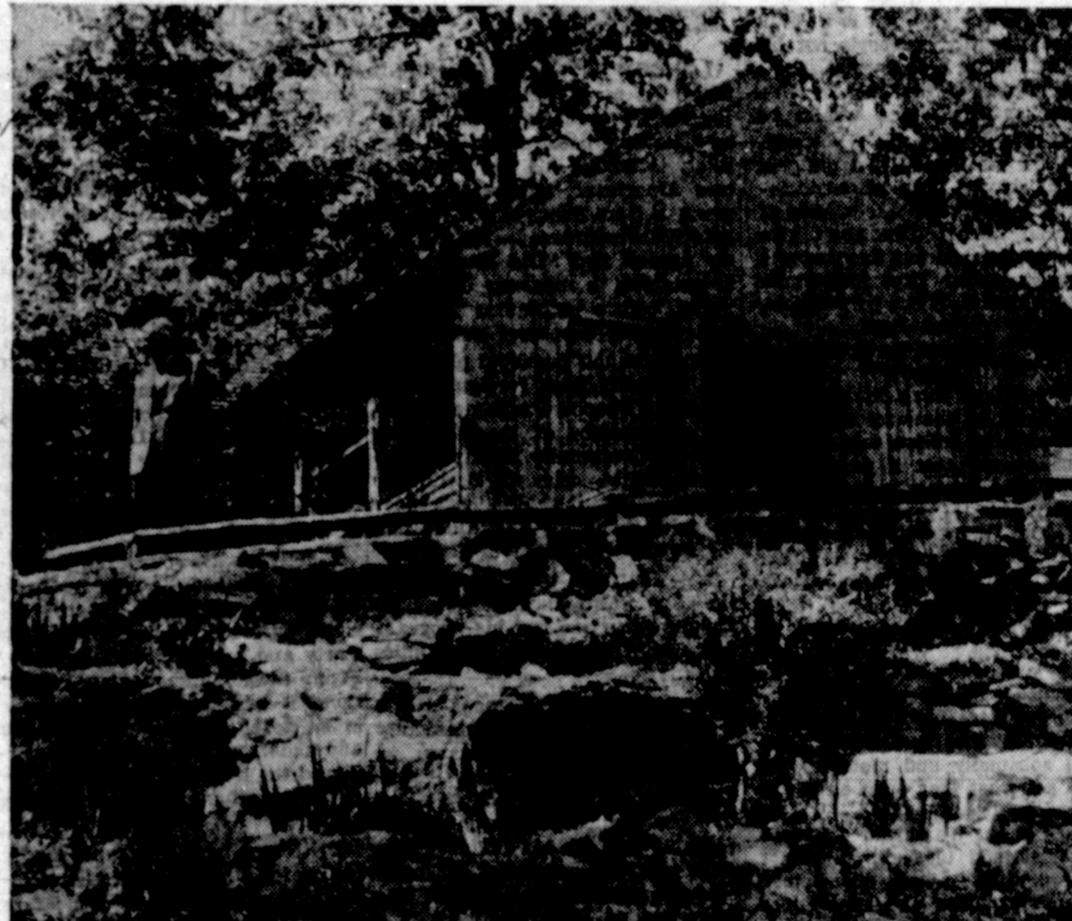

PROTEST IN TRIESTE—Youthful adherents to the M.S.I. (neo-fascist party) climb atop an ornate monument to Trieste's World War I hero, Nazario Sauro, protesting the proposed Trieste agreement. The demonstration followed celebrations of the 38th anniversary of the death of the national hero. The youths were claiming that both zones A and B should be returned to Italy.

SISTER-ACT—Making like stowaways after their arrival in New York on the liner Caronia are the Bide sisters. Top to bottom are Judy, 11; Wendy, 9; and Nancy, 4½, who gives the plot away with a devilish wink. They are en route to Canada with their mother and father, a member of the British Embassy Staff, to visit their grandparents.

THEY REMEMBER—Standing beside the peace bridge in Hiroshima, Japan, are Sakae Okubi (left) and Mariko Matsumoto, both affected by the atomic bombing of Aug. 8, 1945. Miss Okubi, suffered minor burns and cuts, while Miss Matsumoto lost her father, grandmother and uncle.

L&E'S HIDEAWAY—Rustic atmosphere prevails at Camp David, Thurmont, Md., the mountain retreat of President Eisenhower, shown near one of the cottages on the grounds. Formerly the "Shangri-La" of the late President Roosevelt, the camp has been thoroughly overhauled and now has new guest cottages and even a one-hole golf course.

SMOKING BEAUTY—Lighting up for a little puffing practice is pretty Audrey Gordon of Hingham, Mass., an entrant in the Weymouth Fair pipe smoking contest. The briar she's smoking is the one that was used by Sen. Karl E. Mundt of South Dakota throughout the Army-McCarthy hearings.

CROSS OVER THE BRIDGE—Scarcely a brick quivers or creaks as a herd of elephants, circus variety, pass over one of the many canals in the picturesque Italian city of Venice. With the ears of the elephant forming natural chaps on the legs of the Mahout or elephant boy, the turban-topped lad seems a bit apprehensive of the bridge's sturdiness. The pachyderms are part of the famous Togni Circus.

TWO-WAY COOLER—This Frankfurt, Germany, fisherman is keeping cool on the inside and out. The bearded gentleman lets his feet cool off in a tub of water while he pours a refreshing glass of applejack to cool off his interior. An umbrella shields him from the hot summer sun.

TRIBUTE TO THE SULTAN—In a colorful ceremony at Rabat, French Morocco, turbaned Berber tribesmen from the hinterlands of Morocco celebrate the Moslem festival of Aid el Kebir before the sultan's palace. Prayers and oaths of fealty were said for Sultan Sidi Mohammed ben Moulay Arafah by the Berber hillsmen.

Teaching Values

Ignoring for the time being any discussion of the fundamental fallacy of government schools, let us consider some of the results that present day classroom teaching is attaining. Rather we should say, not attaining.

The issue is raised by an article in the current issue of Editor & Publisher, a magazine of the newspaper publishing trade.

E. L. Callihan, head of the department of journalism at Southern Methodist University, is quoted as stating that a high percentage of the young people coming to departments like his from high schools can't spell or write a grammatical sentence.

Mr. Callihan is engaged in writing a spelling book for the use of college students!

If the journalism students, who presumably are engaged in the business of perfecting themselves in the use of the English language and therefore should be more than ordinarily interested in that trade can't spell then the budding young engineers, chemists, teachers and such must be at least as deficient in that elementary branch of learning.

Colleagues long have scorned any attempt to remedy the deficiencies of their students in basic subjects which they are presumed to have mastered in the elementary grades and in high school. They take the attitude that it would be a lowering of their dignity to attempt to teach these simple subjects.

All this is but another result of the system by which the pupils of the lower schools are accepted on the basis of the "affiliation" of the local school systems. That "affiliation" is acquired under an arbitrary and rather complicated set of rules related to the physical equipment, degrees held by the teaching staff, number of pupils per class and number of teaching days.

Nowhere do the rules specify that the product of the schools must meet any definite standard in any subject. The kids are exposed to the subjects and if nothing sticks it's just too bad.

Under this purely production line technique, the high schools are turning out an annual flood of graduates who are unfitted for anything. A proportion of them go to college lacking basic preparation in such things as spelling, grammar and arithmetic.

The colleges, busy cramming advanced specialties into the young minds, have no patience with the deficiencies, so they ignore them. Four years later they turn out graduates of whom they scarcely can be proud.

If the journalism graduates cannot spell or write a grammatical sentence, then can the others do any better?

The journalism department of the University of West Virginia is now teaching spelling and demanding a certain proficiency at it as a requirement for graduation. This may be a hopeful sign to the employers of W. Va. U. grads, but it is a severe indictment of the elementary schools from which these students come.

Spelling and grammar are not the only things too many high school graduates lack. It is an old complaint of merchants and others that they have great difficulty finding high school graduates who can write legibly or know enough simple arithmetic to fill out a sales ticket.

The businessman who discovered his file clerk carrying a telephone book around with her did not have an unusual case on his hands. His questioning brought out the fact that she had never learned the alphabet and had to refer to the phone book when she wanted to know what letter came after "T".

Even if you think tax supported schools are right, you will have to admit that there is something very, very wrong with the teaching system.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

By EDGAR P. JORDAN, M. D.

Any smart youngster can diagnose a wart just as well as a doctor can. But warts, because they are so common and because their behavior is so extraordinary, have always been and are now a subject which is fascinating to discuss. Four different kinds of warts are recognized though it is possible that they all have the same cause. In the past there have been many extraordinary "guesses" about the cause: punishment for some sin committed, contact with toads, lizards or some other living organism and many others.

Today, it is believed that warts are caused by one or more viruses which are tiny living organisms too small to see under the ordinary microscope.

WARTS OFTEN appear with great rapidity, and they frequently disappear equally fast with or without treatment of any kind.

It is not hard to understand why they may come fast, and if caused by a virus how they can be spread from one place to another by rubbing or scratching. But it is difficult to know why they should disappear so easily and for such apparently strange reasons—or for no apparent reason at all.

It is this business of treatment that makes warts so much fun to write about.

WARTS PROBABLY are no new condition known to medical science which can be successfully treated in so many different ways. Warts frequently yield to various treatments: rubbed away after any number of local applications of salicylic acid, X-ray, after treatment with a hot needle, or many other ways.

physicians have succeeded in making warts disappear by mental suggestions of various sorts. Perhaps the answer to all of this is that a lot of them go away without any treatment at all.

I DO NOT MEAN that warts should be neglected and ignored. Some should be treated for cosmetic reasons or because they are being spread to other parts of the body.

Some, like the planar wart which comes on the ball of the foot, may cause a lot of trouble if not treated early. But (except for planar warts) those who have troublesome warts can almost always count on getting rid of them if they want to.

To Mrs. H. who says she is troubled with "these little monsters," I should say she should consult a skin specialist who can almost certainly help her get rid of them.

To those several who have recently asked about any relationship between warts and cancer I can assure them there appears to be none whatever.

What Would You "Substitute" For UN To Promote Peace?

I have never run across anyone who was satisfied with the United Nations. They all say it has to be revised, but I have never heard anyone who made any suggestions for revisions that would stand up if liberty is important.

The question "What would you substitute for the UN to promote peace?" is a loaded question. It implies and would leave the impression that the UN can promote peace. It is impossible to substitute anything for something that is a shadow or a fantasy. It puts the person attempting to answer that question at a disadvantage.

An acquaintance of mine said he had never noticed anything that I have suggested as a substitute for the UN to promote peace. Of course, he has never noticed anything that I would suggest for a substitute for the UN, except to get out of it.

Now, as to what I would suggest to promote peace, I am glad to give a bill of particulars. I would suggest eliminating the primary cause for war. The thing that is bound to bring about wars when it is believed and made legal. I would suggest that we repeal all protective tariff laws. I would also suggest that we repeal all immigration quotas that we have been using for about 30 years.

The great moralist and economist, Frederic Bastiat, said about 100 years ago "Where goods do not cross border lines, soldiers will not." In other words, when we have government interference with people being able to freely exchange goods and services, we are bound to have wars.

I believe that protective tariffs are the greatest cause of wars, but I also believe, although some believers in free trade contend otherwise, that we should also permit individuals to freely cross border lines.

Why People Believe in Protective Tariffs

Now what is the cause of people believing in protective tariffs that bring on wars? It is undoubtedly due to the erroneous belief that there is a limited amount of desires and thus a limited amount of work to be done — that our wants are constant and when one want is satisfied by some individual, then some other individual is deprived of a job. It is a result of the majority of people not believing that in free enterprise the gain of one is the gain of all — if one man produces wealth he benefits everyone in the world. They believe instead that the gain of one is the loss of another — like in gambling or war or gifts of material things. (One can't give away spiritual ideas; they become blessings rather than losses.) In material cases, if one person gets, the other person loses.

What I Suggest To Promote Peace

So the first thing in a bill of particulars to eliminate war is to get people to believe that it pays to be decent, that it pays to be moral, that it pays to respect the equal rights of each individual, that it pays to believe the truth of the great statement set forth in the Declaration of Independence that "governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed." We do not get these just powers by coercion, or compulsion or by gunpowder.

We must persuade people to believe that they are better off both spiritually and materially if they get what they want on a voluntary basis rather than an involuntary basis. We should get them to understand that a man is not injured when he loses a customer because someone else serves him better. We should get them to understand that in the long run everyone is benefited by competition based on a free market without any interference from government — that is when all men are permitted to help establish values, not just some men in certain locations or trades being permitted to help establish values, but all men throughout the world.

We should persuade them to understand that production would greatly increase and the standard of living of all people would increase if the government limited itself to stopping aggressive fraud. But when people believe that there is a limited amount of work to be done, and if one man does it he deprives another man of a job, then these people believe in protective tariffs and immigration quotas, and these are bound to bring on wars.

I have recently been reading a new book by Louis Bromfield entitled "A New Pattern for a Tired World." Mr. Bromfield realizes that we have been fooled by a lot of propaganda and lies. He realizes that one of the primary causes of our trouble is protective tariffs and keeping people in crowded quarters by immigration quotas and that if we are to have a new pattern and are to develop peace and prosperity we must go to the roots that bring on wars.

So the first thing we can do to promote peace, and we have no belief that it will be an easy or a quick process, is to gradually get people to believe in moral laws. Remember the Great Teacher said: "Seek ye first the Kingdom of Heaven and all these things will be added unto you." And the Kingdom of Heaven was pretty well summarized by Him in the Commandments, and the Golden Rule.

Real Education Needed

But the United Nations is an entirely different approach. It is an approach by aggression, by initiating force, rather than by persuasion and by example. What we really need, of course, to promote peace is real education that gets people to recognize that an act that violates the Golden Rule is wrong to an individual also violates the Golden Rule if done by the government or the majority in any subdivision of the government.

These are the suggestions I have to promote peace — but they are not a substitute for the United Nations based on aggression.

Churchill Seeks To Set World Peace Plan At Work

By RAY TUCKER

LONDON — Winston Churchill is today the most daring diplomatic juggler in recent international history, baffling both friends and enemies. Although his methods irritate Americans, French and Germans — from Pennsylvania to Berlin's Wilhelmstrasse — it is generally agreed that "Old Man" seeks to establish a measure of world peace before he names Anthony Eden as his successor next year.

Here are the principal planks in the Churchill-Eden foreign policy, since the French Parliament's expected rejection of the European Defense Community Treaty has inspired bolder cries in Berlin for striking off the 1945 surrender shackles, including the Allied ban on the right to reararm:

- 1. — Churchill wants to continue the Anglo-American alliance, although other parts of his program run counter to Eisenhower-Dulles objectives.
- 2. — He wants France to join a European Defense Community that will include Germany, in view of future French recalcitrancy, and although he dislikes the prospect ever more than Washington does, he will seek procedure for rearming the Germans that will not drive the French into the arms of Moscow.

Despite London-Washington pooh-poohing of this danger, this fear is uppermost in the minds of diplomats on the continent, including U.S. Ambassadors Withrop Aldrich and Clarence Dillon, at London and Paris, respectively.

France has suffered three invasions by the Germans in the lives of its older inhabitants. There are 100 Communist members of the Chamber of Deputies. Russia has not fought against France since the Napoleonic Wars, and then only as a member of a British-financed coalition against the Corsicans. Even the faint mirage of a Franco-Russian Alliance, immobilizing both France and Germany, possibly all Western Europe in future diplomatic and "shooting" wars, leads to the Third, which, to Americans is the most bewildering aspect of Churchill's current diplomatic maneuvers.

Although he may not admit it, like the politicians at Paris, he, too, fears the Germans more than the Russians. His understudy, Anthony Eden, is even more skeptical of the German peoples' conversion to the Anglo-American brand of democracy.

Therefore, they want another full-dress try at rapprochement with Russia, even in the face of allied diplomatic defeats over Korea and Indo-China. Like F.D.R., Churchill has the utmost confidence in his face-to-face charm and negotiating ability.

Many conservatives here assailed the Moscow and Beijing visits of the prominent Laborites, including former Prime Minister Clement Attlee and former Labor Cabinet member Aneurin Bevan, who is so anti-American that he is pro-Moscow.

They quote and reprint savaged the Golden Rule if done by the government or the majority in any subdivision of the government. These are the suggestions I have to promote peace — but they are not a substitute for the United Nations based on aggression.

PAUSE.. FOR REFLECTION

with JAMES C. INGEBRETSEN, President, Spiritual Mobilization

"The role of governments as conceived by the nineteenth century — keeping order, defending sovereignty, and guaranteeing the citizen the integrity of life, honor, and goods — is definitely out of date," according to Mr. Agudelo, Government Delegate from Colombia, to the June, 1954, Conference of the International Labor Organization in Geneva, Switzerland.

The reason for this, he says, is that "we are living in a troubled and dangerous period which requires greater attention to social problems if the equilibrium upset by the unmeasured growth of capital is to be maintained."

His argument seems to be that, since, without government interference, the capitalistic gods lay an "unmeasured" — and more or less constantly increasing — number of golden eggs something should be done to restore and maintain "the equilibrium" — presumably a "stabilized" rate of golden egg laying somewhere below the current rate.

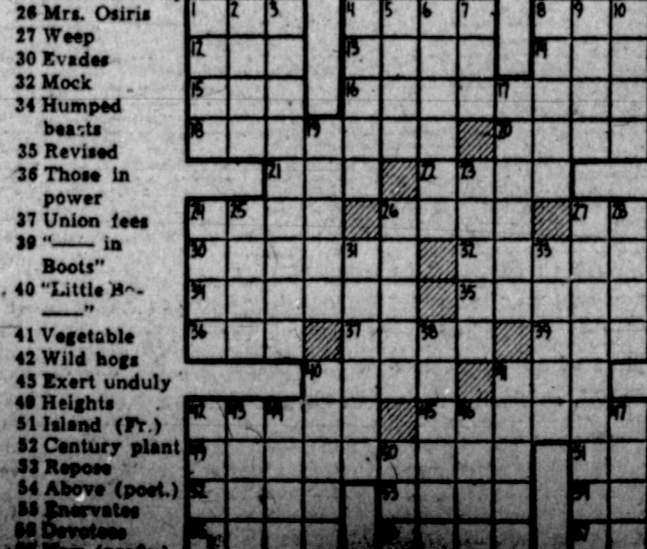

Just what merit there is to this proposal is a little hard for me to see. Presumably his being put into practice would provide added employment for persecutors of geese that lay golden eggs. But I can't figure out who else would be benefited. Can you?

These attitudes and development represent the viewpoint of British Tories, Laborites and Socialists, save for a few extremists in each camp, they reflect a deep yearning for peace if it can be obtained without defeat, dishonor or a Munich-like appeasement.

For the U.S. it may mean heavier military commitments and ever greater expenditures over-trade or Oriental dancing girls.

House's Revolutionary Plan Kept Secret For 42 Years

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK — The revolutionary program written by Colonel E. M. House, who was Woodrow Wilson's "other self," remained practically secret from the general public for 42 years. This cabinet against the Constitution was set forth in a novel entitled "Philip Dru: Administrator — A Story of Tomorrow, 1920-1935." It came out anonymously in 1912. The publisher was B. W. Huebsch, of New York.

He is now treasurer of the civil liberties union and a member of the American Commission for "cultural" arm of U. N. Unesco recently gravely concerned itself with the preservation of the Tasmanian wolf.

The 1919 and 1920 printings of "Philip Dru" contain on the title page a religious symbol not found on the title page of the 1912 edition. There is no clue to the reason Huebsch made this change. He is now in Europe. Mr. Huebsch over a stretch of 20 years has been connected with 13 organizations which were described by the House Committee on un-American activities as subversive. Five of them were so described by attorneys general. Usually, persons in this position insist that such descriptions are unjustified and Huebsch may want to make this reservation, too.

House did not acknowledge authorship of "Philip Dru" until long after he had actually planted his first president in the White House. That was Woodrow Wilson, who started the nation on a course away from the Constitution. To the estate House's bashfulness is quite understandable. "Dru" is a terrible mess as "writing." Yet it seems more likely that House did not own it to political reasons. He was by then well known as the counselor of Woodrow Wilson and his scheme repudiated the Constitution and countenanced Hitler and dictatorship.

Charles Seymour, the Yale historian, later president and now retired, wrote a compilation of House's "papers" in which he flatly admitted that House did write "Philip Dru." He volunteers his belief that House had concentrated on the careful working-out of the political and social ideas of some reviewers were "spiked" by the daring and ingenuity of these ideas and treated the book as a political manifesto. That it certainly was. It was only moderately influential with Wilson, however. House's main attack on the Constitution was carried out by Franklin D. Roosevelt. For this reason, "Philip Dru" should be reprinted in a big, cheap edition.

The copyright was renewed in 1940 by House's daughter, Mrs. Janet H. Auchincloss. This time the author was plainly stated. There are current intimations of a determination to reproduce the book, regardless of copyright. If Mrs. Auchincloss does not manage to "suspend Legras" with a whoop.

Thomas W. Phelps, of the West Virginia Journal, published in a story in July, 1937, Mr. Phelps wrote: "As Congress puts the finishing touches on the legislative program for the first four years of the Roosevelt administration, Colonel E. M. House, confident of President Roosevelt, emerges as the prophet, if not the real brain behind the new deal. Almost 25 years ago, House wrote of a revolution led by a young West Pointer, who triumphed in one brief but bloody battle; he became a benevolent dictator and proceeded to reshape the American government. In its large outlines, almost the entire revolutionary program has been put through under two Democratic presidents who have served since House turned novelist for a few weeks."

Very few Americans had heard of all this until a few weeks ago when I discovered in the sanctimonious memoirs of Jonathan Daniels an admission that House did write the book. Years ago I had received indications that Daniels was now exploiting Daniels' admission with a whoop.

Ben Hecht's Autobiography Tells Of Florida Land Boom

By HENRY MCLEMORE

By J. P. McEVROY
The phone rings and a voice asks excitedly: "Did you know you are in Ben Hecht's autobiography? 'A Child of the Century'?" I say, "Yes," and I am asked if I'll write what he says about the Florida Boom and what the two of us did to it — and vice versa. I tell them Ben could hardly be expected to clutter his best seller with the full story of our sun-kissed shenanigans in Miami long ago.

But the way it all came about was a little different than he tells it. I had sold Paramount the movie rights to my revue, "The Comic Supplement," which Zagfeld had produced, and part of the deal was that I would get a thousand dollars a week for ten weeks as a Comedy Consultant.

It turned out funner than that for when they sent me the first shooting script to criticize I wrote a reply twice as long taking it apart page by page, heaping sarcasm and abuse on everyone connected with it.

The result: a mass meeting in the studio of all concerned and a unanimous vote to march off the set in a body the first time I appeared. Our lawyers took over from there and worked out a compromise: I would get my $1,000 a week for ten weeks — but only if I kept out of the studio and, preferably, got out of town.

It was on this money that I took Ben and his Rose and myself to Miami, ostensibly to gather material for movie starring W. C. Fields as a real estate salesman in the Florida Boom. Ben was to pick up anecdotes, characters, anything that could be turned into movie material for Bill Fields, and I was to lie around in the sun and think up new skulduggeries.

But nobody — not even the incomparably inventive Ben Hecht — could dream up such a madhouse as Florida in those days. I took our introduction to it; they were calling about the Florida boom, and here we come!

Oilers Crush Blue Sox, 21-7, To Take 2-0 Lead In Playoffs

Press Box Views

By BUCK FRANCIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

IT CERTAINLY LOOKS LIKE THE New York Giants are suffering from the same thing that plagued the Brooklyn Dodgers two years ago—panic.

The Giants are in a slump now that may cost them the pennant. We might go on record in saying we hope the New Yorkers wake up in time to protect their National League lead.

There will be at least one new team in the World Series this fall. Cleveland put the damper on any chance the Yankees had of repeating yesterday when they defeated the Yanks twice.

Any combination of three Cleveland wins or Yankee losses will hand the AL pennant to the Indians. The Indians have 10 games left to play while the Yanks have 11.

In other words, the only chance the Yanks have in winning the flag is to win their remaining 11 games and Cleveland lose eight of their last 10.

HERE IN OUR OWN LEAGUE we'll go out on the limb and say it will be Pampa and Amarillo in the West Texas-New Mexico League playoff finals. The Oilers, of course, are well on their way to winning the opening round of the playoffs after winning the first two.

Amarillo and Clovis are all square after two games. The Oilers will be going against the Blue Sox ace tonight, Andy Alonso. But we believe Alonso is the only Blue Soxer who could

Rhubarbs Count Heavy In Bum Wins

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 13.—UP—The old saying about rain being "good on the rhubarb" proved true Saturday to the Brooklyn Dodgers and Milwaukee Braves and might have spelled the difference in the pennant race.

Two of the most noteworthy rhubarbs of the baseball season have flourished in Dodgers-Braves game, both won by the Dodgers with one-run margins.

The latest was Friday night when hurricane Edna soaked Ebbets Field, causing suspension of the game in the last of the fifth inning with Brooklyn ahead 3-1.

Umptire Larry Goetz ruled it a "suspended game" but National League President Warren Giles overruled Goetz and called it a "completed game."

The Brooklyn victory prevented the second-place Braves from closing to three games behind New York and eased the Dodgers a half-game behind Milwaukee.

A previous rainy rhubarb which produced even more dire consequences took place at Milwaukee June 2. An indirect result was the Jackie Robinson bat-throwing incident in which three Milwaukee persons were injured.

In Saturday night's dripping engagement, the Dodgers were at bat in the bottom of the fifth with two runners on base and none out when play was halted.

Goetz said it was a suspended game, meaning play would resume at that point at a later date, on the basis of a league curfew rule which permits no inning to start after 12:30 a. m.

But Giles said the game was completed because the Dodgers were in the middle of an inning with the required number of innings having been played.

Although the old saying proved true about rain being "good on the rhubarb," none was considered good by the Braves who saw World Series money figuratively floating away in the flooded gutters of Flatbush.

Lions, 49ers Unbeaten In Five Warmups

By TIM MORIARTY
United Press Sports Writer

The Pittsburgh Steelers, who probably deserve a better fate, run into a double dose of trouble this week when they play the Detroit Lions and the San Francisco Forty-Niners within a span of five days.

The Steelers have won only one game during the current National Football League exhibition season, while the Lions and Forty-Niners both are unbeaten in five warm-ups.

The defending champion Lions, looking stronger with each game, get first crack at the Pittsburgh patatas at Tucson, Ariz., Wednesday night. Then the touchdown-happy Forty-Niners tune up against the Steelers at Buffalo next Sunday.

In the remaining final exhibition tussles, the Chicago Cardinals play the Baltimore Colts at Chicago Wednesday night, the Los Angeles Rams and the Philadelphia Eagles meet at San Antonio, Tex., Friday night, while Saturday night games against the New York Giants await the Green Bay Packers at Milwaukee, the Browns against the Chicago Bears at Cleveland, and the Colts against the Washington Redskins at Baltimore.

The Lions and the Forty-Niners both ran into tough opponents during the weekend, but came through unscathed and still unbeaten.

San Francisco knocked Los Angeles from the perfect record ranks by edging the Rams, 28-25 at Los Angeles, Halfback Hugh McElhenny's brilliant running and the passing of Y. A. Tittle once again led the Forty-Niners to victory.

Bobby Layne, the Lions' "old pro," was at his passing best as Detroit hammered the Cleveland Browns, 56-31, in a replay of last year's championship game. Layne completed 23 out of 35 passes for 362 yards against Paul Brown's injury-riddled men.

Another standout performance was turned in by rookie halfback Johnny Lattner of the Steelers, who scored two touchdowns in a 21-6 triumph over the Colts. Last season's All-America ace from Notre Dame won the game by snagging a 14-yard pass from Jim Finks in the end zone.

The Eagles won their fourth straight game by whipping the Cardinals, 30-0. End Bobby Watson was the whole show, scoring 18 points on two touchdowns, a field goal and three conversions.

In another game, the No. 4 Green team, led by quarterback Frank Rindgeger of St. Louis, defeated the No. 3 Red team 12 to 0.

Series Switches To Abilene Tonite

By BUCK FRANCIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

The Pampa Oilers took a commanding lead in their playoff series with the Abilene Blue Sox Sunday afternoon when they bombarded two Sox hurlers for 18 hits and a 21-7 victory.

The victory gave the Oilers a 2-0 lead in the series which will be continued at Abilene tonight. The Oilers left at 7 a. m. today for Abilene. The third and fourth games of the series will be played at Abilene tonight and tomorrow. If a fifth game is necessary, it will also be played in Abilene.

Then, if the winner of the series still isn't decided by the fifth game, the series will switch back to Oiler Park Thursday night.

Oiler bats continued to boom in yesterday's RBI department yesterday, each driving in three runs. Palmer hit the only other Oiler home run in yesterday's tilt.

Johnson slapped two doubles yesterday, both screaming line drives down the left field line.

Clarke Goes Route

Vibert Clarke went the route for the Oilers to win yesterday's tilt. Clarke gave up 14 hits but he was never extended as his mates gave him a commanding lead to work on in the second frame. The locals broke loose with six runs in the fourth and then put the game completely out of reach of the Blue Sox in the fourth with a seven-run outburst to make it 14-4.

All six of the Oilers runs in the second came after two were out. With the bases loaded and two away, Lewis blooped a double to right to send two Oiler runs across. Tanner followed with a single to drive in two more and Palmer kept the rally going with his homer that drove in another pair.

The only real chance the Sox had of catching up came in the fourth when they had the tying run at the plate on two occasions. The Sox loaded the bases in the fourth at which time they trailed 7-3. But Clarke got Bob Pascal, who later got his second homer of the series on a sacrifice fly and induced Glenn Burns to hit into a forecourt.

After that the Oilers turned the game into a race track, scoring in every inning but the third and fifth.

Dodgers Sign Walsh

BROOKLYN, Sept. 13.—UP—The Brooklyn Dodgers Saturday announced the signing of James Patrick Walsh, a 21-year-old shortstop from Albany, N. Y., Walsh, who graduated from Siena College, where he starred in baseball and basketball, will report to the Elmira club of the Eastern League next spring.

Rocky 5 To 1 Choice In Rematch With Charles

By JACK CUDDY
NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—UP—Ezzard Charles, 33-year-old Cincinnati Negro, will make his record-breaking third attempt to recapture the world heavyweight crown Wednesday night in a return 15-round bout with unbeaten Rocky Marciano at Yankee Stadium.

Promoter Jim Norris hopes for another $500,000 gate because the first Marciano-Charles fight at the stadium, June 17, was a thriller and because there will be no home television.

The action will be carried coast-to-coast by closed-circuit television to 70 theatres in 50 cities, where a record-breaking total of more than 250,000 seats will be available.

Nathan Halpern, president of Theatre Network Television, Inc., said Saturday a reported estimate of 71 theatres in 61 cities was incorrect.

Although there'll be no home TV, the bout will be broadcast nationally by CBS and throughout Canada by CBC.

Marciano was favored at 5 to 1 in light wagering, and he was the

Quarterbacks Meet Tonight

First Pampa Quarterback Club meeting of the 1954 season is on tap tonight at the Sam Houston auditorium.

Time has been set for 8 p. m. All Pampa football fans who would like to become a member of the Quarterback Club are invited to tonight's meeting.

All coaches of the local school system will be on hand for tonight's meeting. Harvester head coach Aubra Nooncaster will give a run-down on the prospects of his charges this season.

Guerrilla coach Marvyl Bowman and Reaper coach Deck Woldt will also give a preview on their respective teams.

The Cleveland Indians rolled over the stricken New York Yankees toward the American League's all-time record for victories Monday, but it's still a dogfight in the National League for the right to meet the tribe in the richest of all World Series.

The Indians made their pennant clinching a mere formally Sunday with a 4 to 1 and 3 to 2 sweep of the Yankees that ballooned their first-place margin to a massive

Seven Games Due In District 1-AAAA

Seven of the eight District 1-AAAA football teams will be seeing action this Friday night with Abilene taking a week off after last week's 40-0 walloping of the Highland Park Scotlites.

Odessa and Midland will be playing their second games of the year Friday while the other five will be playing season openers.

In last week's games that marked the season openers for District 1-AAAA teams, Midland won over Lamesa, 12-7, Abilene whipped Highland Park, and Odessa lost a heart-breaker to Port Arthur, 13-12.

The Pampa Harvesters will meet Austin High of El Paso Friday in their season opener at Harvester Stadium.

Elsewhere, it will be Amarillo taking on Capitol Hill of Oklahoma City; Lubbock meeting Plainview; San Angelo going against Brownwood; Borger against Altus, Okla.; Midland against Ray of Corpus Christi; and Odessa meeting Waco.

Tickets for the Harvester-Austin game are now on sale at the school business office in the City Hall.

Defending Champ Rice Owls Lose Heavily By Graduation

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series devoted to prospects of Southwest Conference football teams.

HOUSTON, Sept. 14.—UP—For a man who lost six starting linemen and a great fullback from a co-championship club, Coach Jess Neely of Rice might appear a bit touched for not hauling around a huge crying towel.

But, the tactician, drawing Rice mentor is openly hopeful he'll field a fine ball club again this fall—maybe not quite as fine as last year's Cotton Bowl champs, or as good as maybe one or two other Southwest Conference rivals, but a creditable team.

Inexperienced hands dot his three-deep lineup at virtually every position with only four men boasting more than 200 minutes playing time a year ago—halfbacks Dicky Moegle and Gordon Kellogg, guard Kenney Paul and end Marshall Crawford.

There are four others—tackles Layton Golemon and LaVon Cox, center Don Wilson and fullback Mac Taylor—who played better than 125 minutes.

Of the five other lettermen, halfback Morris Stone played only 53 minutes, quarterbacks Atchley Proctor and Pinky Nisbet played only 70 and 88 minutes, respectively, guard Lew Harpold got in only 78 minutes and halfback Sammy Burk 88 minutes.

Burk is not among the top three at his position and Cox is running behind squadman Eddie Rayburn at right tackle. Rayburn played only 28 minutes last year.

Proctor and Nisbet, both of whom reportedly have shown vast improvement in passing techniques, are running neck and neck for the starting quarterback post; Moegle and either Stone or Holland will be at the halves with Taylor at full.

Crawford and Lamoine Holland, a 25-minute player last fall, are tabbed as the No. 1 ends; Golemon and Rayburn at the tackles; Paul and Harpold at guards and Wilson at center.

Moegle, the scintillating "find" of last year's Owl team, will carry the brunt of the offense and has shown no signs in practice of losing any of the polish he displayed last season.

Back of these men, Neely will be relying on squadmen who had no playing time and on sophomores.

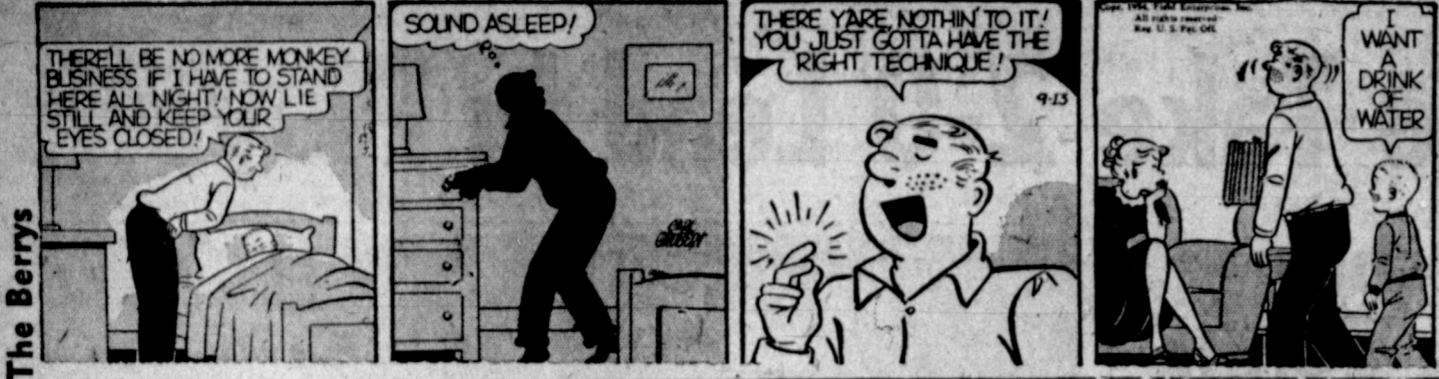

Still, Neely says it'll be a good club if it has the "will to win."

Leafs Split Money

TORONTO, Ont., Sept. 11.—UP—The pennant-winning Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League have voted to split their first place money of $10,000 into 27 shares. Infielder Buddy Kerr, acquired early in August and Pitcher Bud Weiser, who joined the club only three weeks ago, were among those voted full shares. Second Baseman Bobby Wilson, who quit the team in July when he refused to fly to Havana, was voted a half share.

See the new Sunbeam electric frying pans, with the temperature control for tasty cooking of various foods. They are new in cooking, add new thrills to eating. Your hostess can sit with you as she heats party snacks. Mother can cook lunch or supper at the table — save many steps between the stove and table.

Remember this important factor: B & B gives valuable S & H Green stamps on all purchases — and double stamps on all prescriptions. These stamps can help you get extra presents, extra conveniences for your home.

Most Important: B & B's prescription work!

B & B's careful precise compounding of all prescriptions is your guarantee that you are getting exactly the medicines your doctor ordered. You realize how important that is when you consider that the cooperation of your pharmacist is a necessary step in taking the medicine required for your health. Three registered pharmacists compound all prescriptions at B & B Pharmacy. F. L. Stone, R. B. Ragsdale and Vaughn Young do all prescription work accurately, promptly. They are licensed by the State of Texas because of their skill and accuracy in prescription work.

At B & B look at the fall "extras": stadium seats and portable radios. See the game in comfort and listen to the game you see or another one at the same time.

Another B & B service is the less than 24 hour film developing feature. Films left at B & B before 7 p.m. one day are developed, printed in the popular jumbo-sized albums, and ready to be picked up at 2 p.m. the following day. Of course a little extra time is needed over the weekend.

Weaver Brothers' Station Offers Extra Services

The Weaver Brothers, Jake and Clyde, have taken over the Texaco Service Station at 500 W. Foster, Pampa, Telephone 4-5581.

The brothers have run for about 10 years the Texaco Station in Skellytown.

At the Foster Street station they will continue their high standard of service, the top quality of their work.

Both Jake and Clyde Weaver have studied and practiced automobile maintenance for several years before they bought their Skellytown Station 10 years ago.

Each is a specialist in maintenance of hydraulic transmissions, each has attended training schools in the work.

All lubrication work is done by the brothers. That includes packing wheels, lubricating the U joint, checking the transmission and differential lubricants, in addition to the regular car lubrication.

This is an example of the Weaver Brothers' extra interest. As they grease a car they look over the under-parts of the vehicle to see if any parts are showing wear. Such extra interest often prevents accidents and high repair bills. To prevent annoying squeaks they lubricate the rubber spring shackles that some times are forgotten.

For your extra convenience Weaver Brothers keep their Texaco Station open from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. Sundays, from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. weekdays.

Drive in, have your auto greased and washed on Sunday — just before you visit friends out of town, or go for a Sunday drive.

You will enjoy your drive more because Weaver Brothers completely vacuum out the interior of your car in addition to the thorough exterior cleaning. Also, you know Weaver Brothers clean the underside as well as the top of your car — another of Weaver Brothers' extras.

Super Service

When you drive into the station, 500 W. Foster, for Texaco Fire Chief or Fire Chief gasoline you will have the glass on your car cleaned, interior swept out, battery checked and tires checked — in addition to the regular check on oil and water.

Weaver Brothers feature Texaco Sky Chief Gasoline, the fuel that has Petrol for faster starting, more power, more mileage, and longer ring and spark plug life. The station also features Texaco's famous Havolind Motor Oil, B. F. Goodrich Tires and Delco Batteries.

Winterize Cars

For best M auto care motorists should have their automobiles winterized before the cold weather. Jake Weaver said. The car should be prepared for cold weather before it comes, not after the cold has set in. The automobile which has been prepared for cold before the chills come will give better and longer service, and cause few frayed nerves for the driver.

Your Good Eating Climaxed At Friendly, Inviting O & Z

Your adventures in good eating, in having fun while you eat, are not complete without a few dinners at O & Z Dining Room, 306 N. Cuyler (telephone 4-9113).

At O & Z you find tasty, tempting, wholesome food served in the inviting family style. Meals are served week days from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.; and from 5 to 7 p.m.

Saturdays O & Z serves fried chicken, America's favorite Sunday meal. The dining room is closed Sundays.

Tempting Meals

All meals at O & Z are just $1, and all include meat, two vegetables, potatoes, gravy, salad, hot rolls and dessert.

O & Z operators, Mrs. Zella Mae Prescott and Oma Shelton, specialize in preparing tempting, nourishing meals that are keyed to the weather; meals with cool eye appeal for hot weather and meals with "warm" look in cool weather. Both the hungry and not-so-hungry will be pleased with the eye appeal and generous portions of O & Z meals. The proprietors plan their menus and serve their food to please both groups of patrons.

Family Enjoyment

Families giving Mother a night out especially like O & Z because the large tables accommodate the whole family in home style. Conversation is normal, not restricted by having the family seated at two or more small tables.

O&Z has 11 roomy tables which seat 68 persons at one time, all without crowding. The proprietors have arranged the dining room to give every one the extra inches he enjoys at home.

Party Meals

Mother or sister may want to bring her bridge club or church circle to O & Z on her turn to entertain at a dinner or luncheon. She can depend on O & Z to provide the "just right" touch for the refreshments, and can depend on O & Z for the cheerful, friendly atmosphere that "sets off" a social function.

Give Mother a night out — let her enjoy an O & Z meal. She will appreciate it, especially after a hard day, perhaps one of those days when things just go wrong.

Contest To Aid Church Funds

A contest that will bring extra money — more than $1,000 to some entrants — to all churches competing has just been announced by Mrs. Tucker's Foods, Inc., according to Roy Sewell, vice president.

During the period of this contest — September 16 to November 30, inclusive — Mrs. Tucker will pay churches 5 cents for each Meadlake Margarine carton end flap bearing the Tested and Guaranteed Seal which they send to her at Sherman, Texas.

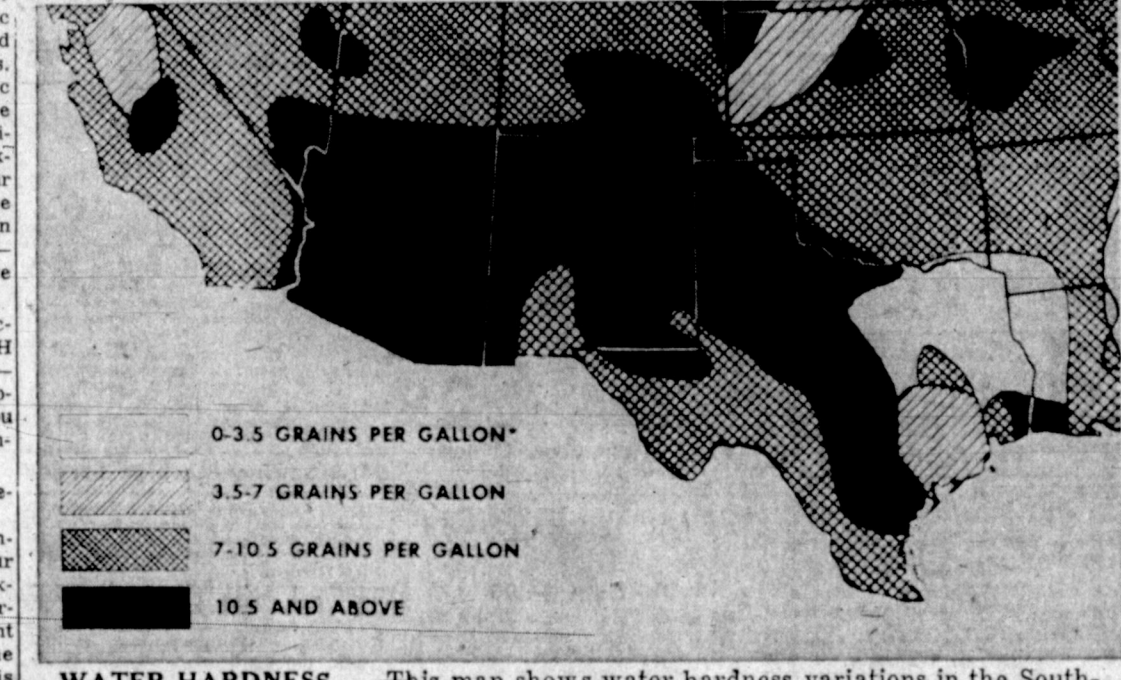

Mrs. Tucker, in addition, explains Sewell, is giving identical prizes for two groups: (1) First, second and third prizes for churches with 250 or fewer members sending in most Meadlake Margarine carton end flaps; and (2) First, second and third prizes for churches with more than 250 members sending in end flaps. There will be two $1,000 first prizes, two $500 second prizes and eight $250 third prizes.

Entry blanks for churches may be obtained from this newspaper or by writing Mrs. Tucker's Foods, Inc., Sherman, Texas.

"Church members everywhere are urged," says Sewell, "to help their church win extra money by collecting for it as many Meadlake Margarine end flaps as possible before the contest ends on November 30."

SONJA HENIE — Undefeated holder of 3 Olympic titles and 10 world championships will bring her big company of 165 skating champions, beauties and comedians to the Tri-State Fair Coliseum, September 20 through 25. The ice-travaganza will be performed on the world's largest portable ice rink. Miss Henie will appear in five lavish numbers. She is pictured here with her skating partner, Figure-skating champion, Marshall Beard.

FDR Jr. Opens Governor Bid

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 13 — Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., son of the late President, kicked off an all-out fight with former Mutual Security Administrator Averell Harriman Saturday for the Democratic nomination for governor of New York.

Roosevelt told a cheering state CIO convention that he would carry his candidacy to the floor of the state Democratic convention Sept. 21 in New York city. He said he had rejected pleas from party "bosses" to withdraw from the race.

Roosevelt's action indicated a sharp split in top New York Democratic ranks. Previously, state chairman Richard H. Balch and a national committee member Carmine de Sapio formally had pledged their support to Harriman, with Sen. Herbert Lehman (D-N.Y.) and New York Mayor Robert Wagner concurring.

Primaries Tomorrow In 9 States

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 — Nine states will hold primaries Tuesday to virtually complete the nomination of candidates for the crucial November election.

The voting will be in Colorado, Massachusetts, Minnesota, New Hampshire, New York, Utah, Vermont, Washington and Wisconsin.

Prizes at stake include: Governors of seven states — all but Utah and Washington.

Five Senate seats — two in New Hampshire and one each in Colorado, Massachusetts and Minnesota.

Ninety-two House seats, 61 of which now are held by Republicans and 31 by Democrats.

The Senate and House races figure heavily in the bruising battle for control of the 84th Congress during the next two years of the Eisenhower administration.

With the Sept. 13 primaries, the selection of candidates for top offices will be completed except for New York governor, to be chosen in state conventions later this month, and the Rhode Island primary in which Democrats vote Sept. 20 and Republicans Sept. 29. Rhode Island will nominate for governor, senator and two House seats.

The New York governorship picture seems virtually decided by action of party leaders this week. Sen. Irvin M. Ives, backed by retiring Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, is the Republican choice when the GOP convention meets at Syracuse Sept. 25.

Democrats, who meet Sept. 21, face a fight between former U. S. foreign aid administrator W. Averell Harriman and Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. Harriman's chances got a big lift this week with the backing of top Democratic policy makers.

The voting in New York state next Tuesday will be mainly on nominations for congressional seats. Most of the primary contests, are among Democrats in New York City.

Atomic Cannon Arrives

STRASBOURG, France, Sept. 13 — UP — A United States Army atomic cannon arrived Saturday from West Germany to participate in American demonstrations at the French officers training school. Four more of the 280-millimeter weapons and 100 supporting vehicles are expected Sunday. French officers said.

Weathermen Meet

GENEVA, Sept. 13 — UP — Weathermen from throughout the world, mostly dubious about the effect of atomic explosions on the weather, decided Saturday to investigate the subject anyway. The delegates to the convention of the World Meteorological Organization admitted they have been subjected to a clamor from citizens who blame nuclear explosions for bad weather.

August Auto Toll In Area: Eight Killed

In 105 accidents investigated by the Texas Highway Patrol in the Amarillo district, during the month of August eight persons were killed, 44 injured and the estimated property damage amounted to $80,058, according to the District Five monthly report submitted by Capt. J. W. Blackwell.

Last August report shows 10 persons killed, 64 injured with only $73,200 in property damage, an increase of $6,858 property damage over 1953, and a decrease in lives taken.

The death-toll-taken in auto accidents during July shows a decrease this month. Fourteen persons were killed, 59 injured. The total for the first eight months of 1954 shows that in the Amarillo area 54 persons were killed, 412 were injured and $551,233 in property damage.

Twenty-eight patrolmen of the Amarillo district covered the 26 counties and investigated 1191 accidents, arrested 473 persons for traffic violations, of the total 280 persons arrested 391 were charged with speeding and 44 were arrested for driving while intoxicated.

The department issued 1191 warnings, worked 5,553 hours and traveled 65,871 miles.

The macrrel has a different swimming apparatus than other fish. It has no air bladder to give it buoyancy, but strong muscles along its spinal column enable it to tuck its fins in close to the body for maximum swimming efficiency.
