WAITING TO TESTIFY

Homer Edward Bell, about 51, of Estelline, charged with assault with intent to murder Wade Thomasson, waits in 31st District Courtroom this morning to appear before the grand jury which is questioning his brother, Jesse Calvin Bell, 49, on the same charge. Thomasson told authorities the brothers abducted him at gunpoint the afternoon of Sept. 2.

Residents Complain Of Trucks

City Asked To Install Checks

City Commissioners this morning agreed to make a traffic check of N. Sumner, from Rham to the Berger highway, to determine how much trucks and large vehicles are using that means of bypassing the signal light at Francis and Hobart.

A petition signed by 27 residents of the 100- and 200-blocks of N. Sumner asked the Pampa City Commission to put up a traffic light at Rham and N. Sumner and to install a minimum of two raised speed breakers in each of the two blocks.

Complaints Made

H. F. Chapman and two others who live in those blocks were on hand this morning to make the personal request. Mayor Tom Rose and City Mgr. Fred Brook testified they had received many complaints in the last few weeks about the use of that route by trucks. So it was decided by the commission to make the traffic check.

The City of Pampa will haul the city's wet garbage till a satisfactory agreement with a private outfit can be made, it was also decided. The contract with W. S. Boykin, who has been doing the work, runs out Friday and Boykin has declined to continue. In other action today, the commission passed on its second reading a proposed ordinance closing the public hearing on the paving of the 700-block of N. Faulkner.

Two Contracts Made

During a special session of the commission Monday, for the benefit of teachers participating in Business-Industry-Education Day the members okayed contracts with Gray County on the use of the Pampa Fire Department for county fires and on the use by the county of the city's informational cards on property description. The county, however, sets its own evaluation on such property.

Rainfall Total Only .11 Inch

For the first time in three weeks, the rains came. But it was only enough to dirty Pampa cars, streak the streets and get people's newly pressed clothes unpressed.

The KFDN weather station this morning reported a total of .11 of an inch had fallen, part of it about 10 p.m. Monday and part early this morning.

Early reading on the thermometer Monday afternoon was 56 degrees, which dropped to a low early this morning of 61. By mid-morning it had climbed back up to 71. Forecast for the Panhandle today is hot and humid weather with a mild cold front scheduled to push in sometime Wednesday. Additional rain showers are expected to accompany it.

Truck Crash Kills Woman

SUGAR LAND, Tex., Sept. 28 - A pickup truck with five persons crammed into the front seat careened wildly off Highway 6 near here early Tuesday, killing an 82-year-old woman. The victim was Mrs. Sarah Jane Rose of Yoakum. She was hurled from the truck as it skidded along the road shoulder on its side. Her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Turley Rose, also were thrown from the truck.

JayCees Shut Out City Fathers, 8-0

It was safer in the Oiler Park stands Monday night. For out on the playing field were Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce members, City Fathers and donkeys - about a dozen of them. Among the more notable sights at the donkey softball game were City Commissioner Frank Dial sitting square on the back of his donkey; JayCee Jack Dunham going head and tail over the donkey's head; City Father Aaron Sturgeon, in a bright yellow cap, last seen heading into the far outfield; City Father Clayton Husted, cowboy-clad, behind the plate; and JayCee Hank Grubbs, his long legs dangling down the sides of his mount.

Others who braved the unpredictable of the donkeys were Jimmie McCune, Ed Myatt, Leonard Hall, Floyd Watson, Dwayne Darrow, John Jones, Johnny Campbell, John Richards, Ken Calhoun, George Neef, Lyle Gage, Sol on Rhondell, Fred Myers, Bill Carter, Joe Tooley, Horton Russell, J. C. Hopkins and Bill Keller. Some 100-125 fun-loving fans showed up for the contest which was threatened for a while by rain. But the rain, as if sensing this was an historical moment, held off till the game (?) was over.

There will be more of the same tonight, too. It is scheduled for 8 p.m. On yes, the score. The JayCees won 8-0, the announcer said.

U.S.-Canada Radar Fence To Be Altered

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 - UP - Concern over the development of two Russian jet bomber types helped prompt a decision by the United States and Canada to erect a radar fence as far into the Arctic as possible.

"Our security requires it," a joint statement said in announcing Monday that a distant early warning (DEW) line will be built across "the most northerly practicable part of North America."

The two Russian bombers, which first appeared over Moscow several months ago, have altered a number of defense calculations. Outstanding among them is the amount of time industrial areas might have to prepare for attack after the first warning.

When scientists and airmen were considering a DEW line more casually than they are now, they thought in terms of six hours warning to major cities in the northern United States. That was when Russia's bomber force could be expected to mount 300-mile an hour copies of the American B-29 or B-50 piston-engine superforts.

US Surplus Sale Angers Australians

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 - UP - The Eisenhower administration's plan to sell surplus farm products abroad is causing strained relations with Australia, a leading Pacific ally.

Sir Arthur Faden, top Australian representative on the World Bank and Fund, bluntly brought up what he called the "ugly spectre of subsidized exports" of U. S. farm surpluses at the twin international organizations' ninth annual meeting Monday.

He said such exports, combined with U. S. trade restrictions, may force Australia and other food-exporting nations "to reconsider their whole international position."

"We cannot compete on equal terms if U. S. domestic surpluses are to be sold abroad for bargain prices," he said.

"Unless successful ways can be devised for pulling together, we stand in some danger of lapsing into the economic isolationism which proved so disastrous in the pre-war years."

School Board Nixes Material

It took a good two years, but the Pampa school board finally came to a decision on the problem of a flame-proof material in the Pampa Junior High School.

The board turned it down. Main reasons for the turn-down were the high cost, the relatively small increase in fire credit rating that would occur and the questionable advisability of the material in the long run.

For two years company representatives have been appearing at intervals before the board. There have been demonstrations, discussions and the like. However, in turning down the material, the board Monday afternoon continued to recognize the necessity of doing something in the fire-prevention line in the junior high building.

Board members also decided to turn down the request of A. C. Howell, owner-operator of the city bus line, to transport school children who live inside the city limits to school. Schools Supts. Knox Kinard told the board there were not too many youngsters involved and that no special buses were required.

The board agreed to have the old stands at the north end of Harvester Park braced and to have E. R. Cantrell, school architect, check them. Monthly bills and invoices were paid. The next board meeting, scheduled for Oct. 11, will be held at a later date.

NORTH CHICAGO, Ill. - UP - The North threatened to secede, from the South in this city of 8,600 Tuesday.

Some 3,500 residents in the northern half of the city, disgruntled because the city voted to annex additional territory recently, threatened to secede at a city council meeting and go to Wankegan.

57 Americans Perish

Typhoon Toll Now 1,743 Dead, Lost

HAKODATE, Japan, Sept. 28 - UP - Authorities Tuesday listed 1,743 dead and missing, including 57 Americans, from the typhoon which hit the two northern islands of Japan on Sunday.

With reports still not received from small coastal villages of northern Honshu and southern Hokkaido, the toll was 1,567 dead and 176 missing. The Americans died when the passenger ferry Toya Maru was sunk in the 75-mile-wide Tsugaru strait between Honshu and Hokkaido. There was a total of 265 counted dead from the Toya Maru, 899 missing and 171 rescued.

U. S. Army headquarters in Tokyo, meanwhile, issued a revised breakdown on the American dead and disclosed that two passengers on the original list were Mrs. Charles and Mrs. Charles. The Americans, Japanese wife of an Army sergeant, and Pfc. Frank Goelken, 21, of Dubuque, Iowa. However, 55 American citizens, including the Japanese wife of another soldier, are missing and believed dead. This group included 49 military, three Army civilian school teachers, one Army department civilian employee, one wife and one child.

Not on the Army list were two other missing American passengers, cosmetics representative Thomas N. West and YMCA worker Dean Leeper.

Five ships operated by the National Railways corporation including the Toya Maru, were lost in the storm with a grand total of 1,455 dead or missing.

Besides the 1,743 dead and missing in the storm, national police headquarters said there were 1,135 persons injured.

Red Official Given Asylum

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 - UP - Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr., Tuesday announced that Joseph Swiatlo, a high official of Communist Poland, has broken with communism and has been granted refuge in this country.

Swiatlo has been in the American zone of Germany since last December, when he defected from the Communists, a Justice Department aide said.

The Polish official, at the time of his defection, was deputy chief of Department 10 of the Polish ministry of public security in Warsaw. This department is responsible for protecting the Polish Communist party and the Communist regime in Poland against internal political subversives.

Brownell said he had authorized issuance of a temporary entry permit for Swiatlo to come to this country.

A Justice Department spokesman said the time of Swiatlo's arrival here will be announced later by the state department.

Boys Held Without Bond In Slaying

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 28 - UP - Two teenage male babysitters were held without bond Tuesday on charges they murdered an 18-month-old boy. They pleaded innocent at arraignment despite earlier admissions they beat and tortured the child for more than three hours.

Preliminary hearing was set for Oct. 11 for the two, Kenneth James Brewer, 16, and Bennie Westley McGrew, 17, both of Oklahoma City.

The two step-brothers were arraigned late Monday on murder charges filed by Assistant Oklahoma County Attorney Joe T. Martin Jr. Martin said he acted after reading signed statements of the youths.

The suspects discussed the slaying calmly with deputy sheriffs Monday. Deputies said both showed no emotion.

Nine Nations Talk Arming W. Germany

LONDON, Sept. 28 - UP - French Premier Pierre Mendes-France seized the nine-nation conference here and made a strong plea for approval of a French plan to restrict German rearmament.

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer interrupted dramatically with a pledge that the new Germany will voluntarily limit her armament, once the Allies end their occupation and restore German sovereignty.

This, the crucial conference, called to shape the future of the free world's defense of western Europe, got off to what delegates described as "a very good start."

The speech of Mendes-France - whose country has been most stubbornly opposed to German rearmament - was described by one delegate as "very conciliatory."

Adenauer assured the French premier that Germany would keep her armies within the 12-division limit which would have been set by the European Defense Community treaty killed by France.

The German chancellor said West Germany would agree to any armaments controls that do not discriminate against her.

Mendes-France made his speech as soon as British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden finished welcoming the foreign ministers with a statement reminding them that the unity and possible survival of the free world hinges upon the decisions made here.

The French premier put forward the same French plan for German rearmament he had advanced at the council of Europe meeting at Strasbourg.

Immediately after the opening meeting, the United States, Britain, France and Germany scheduled an afternoon meeting to discuss among themselves the restoration of German sovereignty.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles acceded a proposal by Dutch Foreign Minister Johann Willem Beyen that Eden be elected permanent chairman of the conference. The other delegates concurred.

United Fund Begins Early Solicitation

Today is the day for the 1954 Pampa community United Fund advance drive.

A meeting of all drive chairmen was held at 7 p.m. today in Johnson's Cafe to make last-minute assignments for volunteer workers for today and Oct. 5, date of the general United Fund Drive, according to Johnny Campbell, overall drive chairman.

"Close to 200" replies have been received from the 600 letters sent out a week or so ago to those who contributed in the advance drive a year ago, Campbell reported.

Fund officials are urging all those contributing in both of this year's drives to use bank drafts.

Attlee Party Favors Arms For Germany

SCARBOROUGH, Eng., Sept. 28 - UP - The British Labor party Tuesday endorsed by a narrow margin a resolution supporting the present British government policy favoring the rearming of West Germany.

The Moderate Socialists, led by former Prime Minister Clement Attlee, won a 3,270,000 to 3,022,000 vote on a resolution backing a German "contribution" to western defense.

The 1,269 delegates to the annual conference who cast votes for 6,093,822 party members, also turned down a resolution opposing German rearmament by a 3,281,000 to 2,910,000 margin.

The vote was a defeat for left-wing Socialist leader Aneurin Bevan who opposed all German rearmament. He said that the United States was leading Britain by the nose in the rearming of Germany and setting up a southeast Asian defense organization.

Attlee in opening debate on German rearmament before the vote said that "it would be dangerous to give Germany complete freedom."

However, he supported the idea of Germany contributing to western defense and said that an unarmed Germany was a western weakness in the face of an armed Communist world.

HYDERABAD, India, Sept. 28 - UP - At least 22 persons were killed, 35 were missing and 45 were injured Monday night when part of a crowded passenger train was swept into the Albert River by torrential flood waters.

The missing included 27 soldiers who were passengers aboard the train. Rescue workers said they feared the missing may have been swept away by the roaring river.

McCarthy Plans Fighting Anti-Censure Campaign

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 - UP - Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy and his supporters mapped plans Tuesday for a fighting anti-censure campaign that is expected to plunge the Senate into one of the angriest debates in recent history.

As part of the strategy, sources close to McCarthy said, anti-censure resolutions may be filed against some other senators when the Senate returns Nov. 8 to consider the censure recommendation against the Wisconsin Republican. The sources declined to name any possible targets. But they said the resolutions probably would be aimed at senators who have been particularly critical of McCarthy.

A six-man Senate committee unanimously recommended Monday that the Senate formally censure McCarthy for his "contemptuous" treatment of an elections subcommittee in 1951-52, his "vulgar" and "base" comments about a subcommittee member - Sen. Robert C. Hendrickson (R-N.J.) - and his "reprehensible" abuse of Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker during a hearing Feb. 18. The group criticized McCarthy for "highly improper" references to Sen. Ralph E. Flanders, an "improper" appeal for government informants and "irresponsible" handling of some FBI information. But for various reasons, it ruled these things should not be grounds for censure.

Reaction from senators around the country made it clear Tuesday that there will be a pitched battle over the committee report when the Senate opens debate on it after the November elections. It was not clear, however, how the final vote is likely to go.

Sen. Walter F. George (D-Ga.), one of the Senate's most influential members, said he feels "reasonably sure" the Senate will sustain the committee. A few other senators said they personally would vote for censure. But most of the lawmakers - including the Republican and Democratic leaders - withheld their views pending a full study of the findings.

There was some speculation that the report would be used extensively in the congressional election campaign. But two key GOP strategists said privately Tuesday that they do not expect it to have much effect one way or the other.

McCarthy was in seclusion with an inflamed sinus, but his attorney, Edward Bennett Williams, said the senator would wage an all-out fight on the Senate floor.

The Chicago Tribune, in a Washington dispatch, quoted McCarthy as saying that "if the Senate upholds this report, it will have gone a long way toward abdication of its constitutional right to investigate wrongdoings in the executive departments."

VIENNA, Sept. 28 - UP - The Austrian sweetheart of Homer H. Cox, a former American soldier who was found dead Monday in a Lawton, Okla., tourist cabin, said Tuesday that he must have been murdered.

Pretty Inge Brenner, 26, who fell in love with Cox while both were prisoners at a Russian slave camp, broke into sobs when told of his death.

Yank Hostages May Be Freed

FRANKFURT, Germany, Sept. 28 - UP - A United States embassy official in Prague said Tuesday he was "fairly optimistic" about obtaining the release of two American soldiers seized by Communist Czech border guards 11 days ago.

The officials said, however, there had been no new developments in negotiations with the Czechs to free Sgt. L. Richard H. Dries, of St. Albans, N. Y., and Pfc. George M. Pisk of Austin, Tex.

Resignations Continue In Duval County

SAN DIEGO, Tex., Sept. 28 — UP—Duval County Tax Assessor-collector E. B. Garcia has resigned, County Judge Dan Tobin announced Tuesday.

It is the latest in a long series of resignations by Duval county officials that began last spring when all four county commissioners quit.

Garcia was indicted Sept. 2 on a charge of misapplication of county funds. He did not seek re-election and was scheduled to step down at the end of this year.

Tobin said the county commissioners court has named Ralph Garcia tax assessor-collector for the rest of the year. Garcia is an employee of the department and is not related to E. B. Garcia, who had held the office six years.

Another man indicted by the present grand jury is due to take office Jan. 1. He is Jesus Olivera, who is under indictment on a charge of misapplication of school funds. Olivera was nominated for tax assessor-collector in the July primary.

Tobin said Garcia quit "to go into the ranching and cattle business." The Duval grand jury, which has slightly more than a month of its term left, resumed work Tuesday. It has returned more than 80 indictments, many of them against Duval county officials who are backers of political boss George Packer.

Valley Gas War Looms

WESLACO, Tex., Sept. 28 — UP—Texas' gasoline price war spread to the Lower Rio Grande Valley Tuesday as dealers in Weslaco, and Mercedes and Harlingen offered cuts of three to six cents a gallon.

A Weslaco service station manager who asked not to be identified predicted prices would go "below 20 cents" before the war was over. He said he feared the price cuts would spread throughout the four-county Lower Valley.

The cuts followed a special introductory offer by a southern chain (the Billups company), which opened its first two stations in the Valley last week. The firm sold gasoline at 18.9 cents a gallon the first two days the stations were open.

But the manager of the firm's Weslaco station declared his company "takes pride in the fact that we never start gas wars." "We do not encourage them in any way," said the manager, Cliff Johnson. "We hope this situation will not grow to any great extent."

Booker House Ransacked

LIPSCOMB — Lipscomb County Sheriff E. J. Tarbox was checking a purse found near the scene of a burglary today as the hottest clue in the burglary of furniture from a Booker house.

Sheriff Tarbox was out of his office this morning checking leads in the break-in of the Fred Heffner residence in which household goods, including bedclothes, radio, sewing machine, three rifles and pots and pans were stolen.

All stolen articles were small enough to have been carried by a man in an automobile, the sheriff's office reported. A similar burglary was reported last year near Darrouzett, the Sheriff's office said.

Suitor Kills Rival, Another

MINERAL POINT, Wis., Sept. 28 — UP—A rejected 55-year-old suitor killed his rival and another man, critically wounded a woman and turned his gun on himself Monday night.

The suitor, Ray Antoine, was in critical condition Tuesday at a hospital in nearby Dodgeville, Wis., with a self-inflicted wound in the head. The woman, Mrs. Patsy Walton, 48, Linden, Wis., was also in critical condition at the hospital.

The dead were successful suitor, Ernest Thomas, 42, of Chicago, and Ruben Benson, 48, Linden. Iowa County Sheriff Ray M. Reese said a 53-year-old widow, Mrs. Ruth Hughes, had rejected Antoine's suit and had taken out a marriage license with Thomas earlier Monday.

Antoine, who had warned Thomas to stay away from Mrs. Hughes, came to her home Monday night and fired through the window, hitting and killing Thomas. Benson, Mrs. Hughes' brother, and Mrs. Walton were in the yard of the home when Antoine fired. They tried to take the 22 caliber automatic rifle away from Antoine but were cut down.

Reese said Antoine then shot himself. The monthly meeting of the Boy Scouts' Santa Fe District committee will be held at 7:30 p. m. today in the City Commission Room of City Hall with Don Cain, district chairman, in charge.

Greenlease Murder A Year Old Today

By WARD COLWELL
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 28—UP—One year ago Tuesday a six-year-old boy walked away from his school with a lady who said she was going to take him to see his mother.

He had no way of knowing she was lying. He thought all women were as kind and gentle as his mother, his nurse and the nuns who taught him his lessons at school.

Bobby Greenlease had not lived long enough to find out that alcohol and a depraved desire for money could turn human beings into animals. His innocence ended that day in a terrifying few seconds before he died.

On Sept. 25, 1953, Bobby was kidnapped and murdered by a spendthrift alcoholic and his plump, dotting mistress whose last big binge made an entire nation sick to its stomach.

End of Hope
But the world did not know for nine days to what depth Carl Austin Hall and Bonnie Brown Heady had sunk to obtain the money they needed to go on drinking.

After Bobby disappeared, his 71-year-old father, Robert Greenlease, a wealthy auto distributor, paid a staggering $600,000 ransom to the anonymous kidnapers. He and his wife, Virginia, 45, hoped for nine anguishing days their son would be returned alive.

On Oct. 7, their hope withered and died. Bobby's bullet-torn body, scarred with quicklime, was found under a bed of newly-planted yellow chrysanthemums beside Bonnie Heady's bungalow at St. Joseph, Mo.

On that same day across the state in St. Louis the last big binge ended for Hall and Mrs. Heady. They were arrested in separate hotels, confessed almost immediately and told their story to incredulous police.

They told how Bobby's grave had been dug even before he was kidnapped, how lime had been bought to hasten the decay of his body and how flowers had been purchased to give the grave an innocent appearance.

Mrs. Heady told how she beguiled an unsuspecting nun into turning Bobby over to her at his exclusive Kansas City school. She told how she chewed gum to hide the liquor on her breath and how she knelt in the school chapel as if to pray so her masquerade as Bobby's "aunt" would seem more convincing.

His Hand Wavered
Hall told how he drove the boy into Kansas in a station wagon, tried to choke him with a rope that was too short and finally shot him through the head. He had to shoot twice. His wavering hand missed the first time.

He told how he picked up the enormous ransom payment a few days later and drove with Mrs. Heady to St. Louis for the days of drinking that had become a necessity.

A month later a jury took 89 minutes to find Hall and Mrs. Heady guilty of violating the federal kidnaping law. The jury recommended the death penalty, and on Dec. 18, the couple entered the Missouri gas chamber for what many people believed was too painful a death.

$300,000 Still Missing
Although a year has passed since the kidnaping the case is far from closed.

Half of the $600,000 ransom money has never been found. Two St. Louis policemen, Louis Shoulters and Elmer Dolan, who arrested the kidnapers, are serving prison terms for lying about what they did with the money.

Robert and Virginia Greenlease live on in their secluded suburban mansion. Their friends say the wound has been slow to heal. Mrs. Greenlease has made a trip to the Mayo Clinic for treatment and examination. The father, now 72, goes about his business with vigor, as though he were trying to lose himself in his work.

Ex-Convict Wrecks Hotel With Match

PECOS, Tex., Sept. 28—UP—A 25-year-old Tennessee ex-convict admitted Monday the reason he blew up the second floor of the Crockett hotel was because he got tired of lying by an open gas jet for eight hours trying to kill himself.

Daniel Levy Carl, the ex-convict, said he didn't blow up the hotel on purpose. He lay by the gas jet in his room from 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday, he said, and finally got tired waiting and went into the bathroom.

He started to light a cigaret. The explosion blew out all the windows and most of the partitions on the top floor of the hotel, which is half a block long.

The north wall of the brick hotel bulged out, but it did not collapse. Carl suffered burns and bruises, and Police Chief Joe Hill questioned him in his hospital room Monday. There was only one other guest on the second floor of the hotel at the time.

The unidentified guest, a Texas and Pacific Railroad employe, was asleep in the room next to Carl's when the partition fell on his bed. He was not seriously hurt and went back to work.

Carl, who was born in Oklahoma, said he made up his mind two weeks ago to kill himself. He was in Andrews, Tex., at the time and said he went from there to Odessa, Tex., then to Midland, Tex., then to El Paso, then to Van Horn, Tex., and finally checked in at the Pecos hotel Thursday night.

He said he wandered around Pecos Friday, then drank a pint and a half of whisky to get up his courage. The room clerk said she saw him go to his room about midnight Friday.

He said he sealed all the doors with newspapers, turned on the gas and lay down on the bed. But before he went to sleep he changed his mind and turned it off. Then he went to sleep, and when he awoke Saturday morning he started over again.

He turned on the gas and lay down by the jet. He said that by 3 p.m., when he finally got tired and started to light the cigaret, the gas had bothered him a bit.

"When I struck my lighter it looked like a big halo of flame that's the last I remember until I started crawling out," Carl said.

J. V. McDougal, owner of the hotel, closed the establishment and moved the guests to the Courtney hotel which he also owns.

Bank Robber Gets Religion

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 28—UP—A 24-year-old Texas man under 20-year sentence for a $22,000 holdup of an Erick, Okla., bank said Monday he has "found religion" since his surrender and believes he "got what I deserved."

Bobby Joe Rine, of Borger, Tex., was in jail here awaiting transportation to a federal penitentiary. "I asked God to forgive me for the Comandant I broke. 'Thou shalt not steal,'" Rine said. Rine talked to reporters because, he said, he wanted to tell "those teen-agers that I have experienced a few days of crime, and believe me, it doesn't pay."

Rine, with James Darrell Holland, 25, and James Earl Spang, 22, received 20-year federal sentences for the daylight robbery last July 29 of the Farmers National Bank at Erick.

"I'm 24, the right age to do or progress as I please, but I fell into something that was easy to make a fast buck. That's where it always starts. Now I've got 20 years to pay for it," he said.

June Talk

By JANE KADINGO

Pampa News Women's Editor

THE VOTES ARE COMING IN on our contest to determine Pampa's most distinguished man. Dr. M. C. Overton Jr. is still leading, with Dr. E. Douglas Carver of the First Baptist Church in second place. Tying for third are Dr. R. M. Bellamy, Dr. Lloyd M. Hicks, Ed Myatt and E. Roy Smith.

THE CONTEST will run for a few more weeks so get in your vote. You can vote for any of the above or send in another nomination. You don't have to sign your name. All you do is send a postcard to Jane Talk Contest, Pampa Daily News, Pampa, with "my choice for Pampa's most distinguished man is (name)" on the back of it.

In voting or choosing a candidate, we request that you consider dress and bearing. You won't want to be left out of the contest, so send in your vote right away. When the contest closes, we'll run a picture on the one chosen and a short sketch about him. From time to time, we'll run pictures of the men nominated.

WHILE LOOKING through a fashion edition of a New York paper the other day, I decided I would have to retract my statement of several weeks back concerning the "Roaring Twenties" look. I said before that I didn't think it was coming back. But according to that fashion section, it certainly is — at least as far as suits, coats and hats. The large fur collars and loose, wrap-around coats, and large hats that frame the face, leaving only a fringe of hair showing, certainly takes you back some 30 years.

However, most of the fashions shown were very extreme, and I sort of feel they're a little too extreme for this part of the country. But it looks like the East Coast women will be wearing them — in the bigger cities, anyway.

IT'S A B-I-G season for leathers, particularly in the exciting handbags that accessorize many smart fashions for fall, the fashion experts say.

Over and over again, handbags — as do all the accessories of the season, pick up their themes from two big leaders, according to a recent article.

Such grained leathers as pigskins, reptiles, and novelties, give the textured look so right with tweeds.

Elkskin and cowhides, in simple yet bulky styles come to the fore.

WD Girl Honored On Her Birthday (Special) — Miss Sammy Jo Boughan was honored on her seventh birthday recently, by her mother, Mrs. Hunter Boughan, and Mrs. Zane Hall.

The guests met at Sammy Jo's home, and the group went to the City Park Refreshments of cake, decorated with pink lozenges and candles, ice cream, bubble gum and candy were served.

Those attending were Marjan and Bruce Hy Smith, Kathy Hall, Kathy Pugh, Pat Freeman, Sandra Blodgett, Sharon and Jody Collins, Dale Williams, Connie and Anita Boughan, Mrs. Gertrude Huckins and Mrs. Taylor Skaggs, both of Sibleytown, the honoree and her mother.

It Fits Perfectly A special design for the woman who is not-so-tall. Graceful afternoon style with nice detail, and choice of sleeves.

Pattern No. 8994 is in sizes 14½, 16½, 18½, 20½, 22½, 24½. Size 16½, short sleeve, 3½ yards — of 36-inch.

DR. M. C. OVERTON JR. leads contest for fall. The glowing leather colors of aniline calf take on tawny tones — and are particularly good in the deep, deep reds, purples, browns and greens.

"Real fur and fake furs are very new and very fashion-right for the tweedy look for ready-to-wear and woolen fashions.

"Bright felt handbags are used to pick-up the colorful nubs in the new tweeds. Orange, shocking, peacock and royal are so very good with many of the tweeds.

"Velveteen handbags — again in the brightest of hues — can be complemented completely with new gloves, clever little hats and other velveteen accessory touches.

"In keeping with the importance of blacks and charcoals — these two tones are repeated again and again throughout all handbag collections. Wear dull-toned black or charcoal for contrast — their polished tones for emphasis.

"The dark, dark greys, lustrous blacks, 'graphite' toned greys — are your smart 'go-with' shades for purples, bright blues, teals and deep reds.

"And — you can create the one-fabric, one-color effect by color-matching your bag to your suit or coat in such high or smoked shades as teal, purple, berry red, mossy green, bright blue and cognac.

"Handbags in grey flannel, or paisley-printed corduroy or velveteen, are newsworthy this fall. Important too, are high-shine broadcloths, wool-and-fur fabric blends, and hot dressy occasions."

Attending the event, other than the hostesses and honoree, were Mmes. Edwin Hall, H. H. Graham, W. B. Cox, Ray Heaton, Wiley Fesse, W. F. Gaines, Jack Robinson, A. N. Rogers and Basil Pettit.

White Deer Club Has Program On Clothing (Special) — The White Deer Home Demonstration Club met recently in the home of Mrs. George Bryan. Mrs. Loyd Collis gave the council report.

Mrs. Sterling Bearden was in charge of the program on children's clothing. She stated clothing should be designed for comfort and freedom of movement to allow for growth. Children's clothing should encourage self-reliance by using large buttons and zippers.

Those present were Mmes. W. D. Newman, Alva Thornburg, James Stalls, W. G. Eller, Clyde Herdridge, Jack St. Clair, Harold Conrad, Rick Ramming, Alvin Lewis, Sterling Bearden, the hostesses and one guest, Mrs. C. E. Ratliff.

Next meeting will be Oct. 5, in the home of Mrs. Rick Ramming.

GRACE FRIEND Dear Grace I am 14 and one half years old. I enjoy your articles very much. I have never missed an article since my mother advised me to read it because of all the good advice you give.

Grace, my girl friend and I started diets today. She doesn't really have to but I have gained a lot of weight this summer. I was overweight when school was out but now I really have gained.

Do you think you can help us? Can you give us ideas on what to eat and not to eat, Grace, do you know anywhere where I can send for some books on exercises. I have very large hips.

Please answer soon. I. G.

Dear I. G. If you just want to lose a few pounds give up sweets and bread and don't eat between meals. Probably this is all that you will have to do.

But if you want to lose quite a lot of weight you should consult your doctor about a diet which he will give you.

You can get books on calories and exercises in the library.

Another suggestion, since school is about to start, ask your physical education teacher to give you some exercises for "reducing your hips."

EXECUTOR FOR WILL Dear Grace Friend I am writing for information concerning the duties of being appointed administrator of a will.

Does that party take over at once before the deaths of said parties and run everything to the extent that said parties making the will, will have to ask the administrator before making any and every thing.

In this case the administrator runs all of their affairs from the least to the biggest. I would like to know the facts in the case. D. O.

Dear D. O. An administrator of a will has no authority whatsoever until after the death of the person making the will.

As long as the person lives he has the right to make a new will, name a new executor every day or oftener if he so desires. In many cases people don't even know they have been named executors until the will is read.

Being named executor doesn't give the person so named the right to make any decision concerning the person's property until after his death.

New Zipper Follows Expanding Waistline

NEW YORK — UP — Boom for expanding waistlines: an expanding zipper. One manufacturer is producing a zipper which adjusts to change in body size without clothing alteration.

The zipper consists of two parts—a slider and a track. The slider can be moved along the entire length of the track and by pressing the tab, he locked securely in place at any point. It is recommended for adjustable waistlines in maternity clothes, for children's clothes where waistline changes are rapid, or for active sportswear. The zipper is made in a variety of colors. RUTH MILLET

When her husband died six months ago, she was deeply touched at the many expressions of sympathy and offers of help that came to her.

If we want to be a real friend to those whose lives touch ours, we have to go beyond extravagant offers of help to keep right on doing the little everyday kindnesses that go on and on.

So don't forget the friend that last month or last year you were willing to do "anything" for. One little thing done today will be worth more than all your best intentions or most extravagant claims of sympathy.

Reds Mesmerized Batchelor, Expert On Brain Washing Says

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 28 —UP— An expert on Communist brain washing testified Monday that the Chinese Communists took such complete possession of Cpl. Claude J. Batchelor's brain that he could not tell the difference between right and wrong while he was a prisoner of war.

The expert was Dr. Leon Freedom, a Baltimore psychiatrist, who testified by deposition at Batchelor's court martial on charges of collaboration and informing. The trial, which began Aug. 31, may end Tuesday or early Wednesday.

Batchelor's lawyers hope to make the court martial accept the idea that brain washing made Batchelor temporarily insane while he was a POW and that he was no more responsible for the charges of collaboration — which the defense admits — than an insane person in a civilian court.

The attempt to get the eight-officer court to accept this idea will delay the end of the trial. The Army announced that it will put on three witnesses to tear down the testimony of Dr. Freedom and Dr. Philip Boesma, a Washington psychiatrist who testified earlier.

Girl Who Lost Feet Honeymoons

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Sept. 28 —UP— Omogene Wittsche, 19-year-old Roseville, Calif., girl whose feet were sheared off in a speedboat accident five years ago, honeymooned Monday in southern California with her Navy husband.

Imogene climaxed a long fight to regain a normal life Monday when, radiant and smiling, she walked down the aisle of St. John's Lutheran Church to be married to William R. Haynes, 24, a Navy machinist's mate.

She came down the aisle on the arm of her father, Fred Wittsche, then took three steps to the altar where she stood throughout the ceremony. Imogene walks on artificial feet.

Imogene's family and friends kept plans for the wedding quiet. Her mother said she wanted to keep curiosity seekers away so "my girl could have a wedding just like any other girl."

The couple met last June, almost on the fifth anniversary of her accident at Lake Tahoe, when a speedboat piloted by the late Phil Davis of Oakland, Calif., cut off her feet with its propeller.

She said Haynes had never heard of her feet and when he "learned of the injury," it didn't make any difference.

HONEY LAMB—Two hopeful entrants at the Los Angeles County Fair at Pomona, Calif., pause for a rest before resuming their duties. Sally Ann Scharle is competing for the "Fair Queen" title, while the Hampshire ram lamb is after a prize in the livestock division.

Houston Pens Up Stray Dogs

HOUSTON, Sept. 28 —UP— Dog catchers spread out over Harris county Monday to beat the bushes for stray dogs to climax a four-day anti-rabies drive in which a record 43,818 dogs were vaccinated.

The county's mass inoculation program conducted at 28 free clinics, closed Saturday but a "clean-up clinic" remained open at the city dog shelter Sunday to treat 1,196 more dogs.

Dr. Ernest S. Tierkel, U. S. public health expert directing the campaign, said the 43,818 total was a national record, topping the 38,000 dogs vaccinated at St. Louis last year.

"The program was the most successful conducted anywhere," he said.

Dr. Fred K. Laurentz, city health director, said the program accounted for about 70 per cent of the dogs in Harris county.

AEC Chief Admits Book Block Try

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 —UP— Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission, recently tried to suppress a new book that accuses Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer and some others of delaying development of the H-bomb.

This was disclosed late Sunday by the book's co-author, James R. Shepley. Strauss himself confirmed he attempted to buy the manuscript and delay its publication until after the deaths of most of those criticized.

When he was pressed to reveal his reasons, however, the AEC chairman said only "I thought it would be better if the book were not published."

The book, "The Hydrogen Bomb," will not be published until Thursday. But a condensation made public last week said Russia temporarily took the atomic lead away from the United States in 1953, mainly because of Oppenheimer's original opposition to a "crash" H-bomb program. Oppenheimer recently was denied access to atomic secrets.

Shepley, chief of Time Magazine's Washington bureau, related the suppression incident in a television interview (NBC "Comment"). He said Strauss called him to his office and offered to buy his manuscript, put it in the safe for 25 years or at least until most of the individuals concerned are dead, and then let it be published.

Shepley said Strauss' motives were "of the highest" because Russia would have had a monopoly on the H-bomb without his efforts. He said he could only surmise Strauss was under "very great pressure" and that he wished to shield his scientists from public controversy.

SUSPECT

By Hugh Lawrence Nelson

THE STORY: Mrs. Angelica Jones, sister-in-law of Jim Dunn's client, is dead and the facts point to murder at the Colorado mountain lodge where Jim and his bride Nancy are staying on vacation. Nancy is a detective who works for Mrs. Kit Carson. Jim has just found the body in the basement lying on an elevator shaft to bring up wood for the upstairs fireplace.

He moved quickly through the kitchen, toward the hall and bedroom. He could hear the lower answering whine of Mrs. Gelstrap's voice, heard the relaxation of Kit's hysteria into violent sobbing. He pushed open the bedroom door without knocking.

Mrs. Gelstrap held the nearly empty glass of water she had just taken from the younger woman. There was no sign of the black coffee Jim had prescribed. Mrs. Gelstrap soothed, "You rest and sleep now. It'll be all right."

Kit Carlson saw Jim, broke into accusations. "You didn't help! You didn't keep this from happening. It's happened again!" "What have you given her now?" Jim demanded of the cook.

"Just another little capsule or so." There was defiance in Sue Gelstrap's white. "Poor thing. She has to rest. She's been through so much."

Already Kit's eyelids were getting heavy. Jim demanded, "Listen to me. Don't go to sleep again. What did you hear during the night?"

"Hear? I didn't hear anything but the water. And the moaning of the wind. Who is doing this to me? That's the question you should be trying to answer."

"Don't think about it, dearie," Mrs. Gelstrap put a tiny hand across the younger woman's lips. When she removed the gentle pressure, Mrs. Kit was asleep.

Back in the kitchen, Mrs. Gelstrap retrieved her bottle. "Hysterics and hangovers," Jim said.

JIM began a hasty yet thorough search of the whole house. He finished the upstairs with no evidence of Miss Wister's presence, walked down and around for another survey of the basement just as Nancy drove up in the jeep. "The phone at the gatehouse worked," Nancy said. "I had to break in, Jim. It—well, it was strange the way the operator acted. She rang a Toby Argyle. That's where we stopped for the keys, wasn't it?"

"Yes. I guess Toby Argyle runs the town of Creek Junction."

"Maybe. At any rate I told him and he promised to send the sheriff out. He acted funny, Jim. Odd, startled, upset. Oh, I don't know how to tell you. Is—there anything new here? Miss Wister?"

"Nothing. No trace."

"What can I do?"

He rubbed his forehead, smiled. "Breakfast, honey."

He watched her walk around the bend in the trail before he unlocked the basement door. Even this more careful search showed no signs of an intruder.

Outside, Jim began a methodical quartering of the immediate grounds. He found no trace of any struggle.

He completed a wide circle, came out again on the turnaround. A pickup truck was just stopping. He had heard no motor sound and checked that fact again.

The right-hand door of the truck popped open and Miss Wister stepped out. "Am I glad to see you?" Miss Wister said.

Jim looked past Miss Wister, saw the tall, angular woman who had got out of the truck's other door and walked around.

Jim Dunn felt an uneasy stirring in the pit of his stomach. "Who are you?"

"Agnes Argyle," she said. The lips of her wide mouth thinned out into a pale line. "Heard you needed the sheriff."

"Yes."

"All right," Mrs. Argyle said. "That's me. Duly elected sheriff of this county. Had a phone report of a dead woman here." She looked quickly at Miss Wister. "Hear you found the body of Angelica Jones?"

"Not Angelica!" moaned Miss Wister.

Doctor Gives Doomed Girl Ray Of Hope

HOUSTON, Sept. 28 — UP — A 12-year old girl, her life apparently doomed by a rare disease, was flying to Boston, Mass., Monday to the doctor who could offer a ray of hope. The girl is Linda Louise May, a victim of Albright's disease, and the physician is Dr. Fuller J. Albright himself. Albright made new discoveries in Europe recently and he wrote to Linda's mother, Mrs. Mary May, that he thinks Linda's life can be saved.

If Linda lives, she will be the first person ever to survive the disease which slowly saps the life of its victims by causing the bones to grow wrong, to break and to cause blood hemorrhages. Mrs. May and little Linda, an otherwise bright child whose intelligence quotient is 149.8, took the plane Sunday night and were due at Burnham Memorial hospital in Boston Monday afternoon.

Three Killed Near McKinney MCKINNEY, Tex., Sept. 28 — UP — Mrs. Felicitas Olivo of Princeton, Tex., and her two small children were killed Sunday near here when their car went out of control on a curve and overturned.

Former Russian-Held Yank Dies Mysteriously Monday

LAWTON, Okla., Sept. 27 — UP — Homer H. Cox, 33-year-old former Army private who was released last year after four years in Soviet prison camps, died Monday under mysterious circumstances after being found unconscious in a motor court room.

Cox's father, Pete Cox, a Lawton fireman, signed an autopsy order as authorities launched an investigation into the death.

Lawton officers said Cox was in a coma when they broke into the motel room at 8:28 p.m. Sunday. They had been called by the manager after maids were unable to awaken Cox in order to enter and clean the room.

"I tried to arouse him but couldn't," said Officer Henry Bartela. "He seemed to be under the influence of some drug."

The father of the one-time "forgotten American" said Homer had been taking medicine since being injured recently in an automobile accident at Oklahoma City.

"I think he died of pneumonia," said the elder Cox. "He was a sick boy."

Comanche County Attorney Manville Redman said Cox had a temperature of 104 degrees when brought to Lawton Memorial hospital. He died about 8 a.m. without regaining consciousness.

Cox was a military policeman in Berlin when he fell into Russian hands in September, 1949. He was listed as AWOL but upon being released said he was kidnaped and sentenced to 25 years on trumped-up charges.

Cox's death ended a trans-Atlantic romance which was beset with endless frustrations following his return to the United States.

While in the Russian prison he had met and wooed a 26-year-old Austrian girl, Inge Brenner, who also was released last December.

Cox in the spring tried to get a passport to Vienna so he could marry Inge, but the passport was denied.

Cox was court-martialed on the AWOL charges following his release last December, but was cleared and awarded $5,972 in back pay.

The big, ruddy ex-soldier filed as a candidate for secretary of state in the Oklahoma Democratic primary last July, and ran third in a field of 25.

During his political campaign Cox's sanity had been questioned by his mother, Mrs. Edith Spencer of Oklahoma City. He was jailed briefly at her request, but was declared sane in an official hearing.

HOLLYWOOD TODAY! MOVIES - TV - RADIO by Erskine Johnson

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Behind the Screens: "The Moon Is Blue" is still blue to the movie censors and so are the faces of some industry people who have been campaigning for a complete "modernization" of the film censorship code.

The code is slated for some revisions next month but the changes are far from those expected after "The Moon Is Blue" became a box-office hit without an industry seal of approval.

The Motion Picture Association of America board, sticking to its claim that the code is not "antiquated," insists there will be no wholesale raising of the film industry's long-standing set of moral standards.

Only revisions to be approved next month, it is said, will be easing of restrictions on miscegenation, smuggling and narcotics and use, in "good taste," of words like hell and damn.

"The Moon Is Blue" remains on the banned list.

Adenauer Is Man To Watch At Tuesday's London Meet

By CHARLES M. McCANN United Press Foreign Analyst Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, "the old fox," will be the man to watch in Tuesday's conference in London on West German rearmament.

Premier Pierre Mendes-France of France naturally is a key figure also. If there is to be unified European defense, he naturally must be satisfied.

But Adenauer seems to be in position to set his price for the participation of the Bonn republic in the Allied defense set-up.

During the last few months Adenauer has steadily raised his price. That there is not more anxiety, even in France, over the strength of Adenauer's position is testimony to the esteem in which he is held.

The fact is that Adenauer has been compelled to up his price. He is doing business not only with the Western Allies but with the 47.5 million Germans whose leader he is.

When the European Defense Community pact was signed in Paris on May 27, 1952, everything seemed set for West Germany to start raising 12 divisions of troops which would be part of a six-nation European Army fitted in with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Fearful France The pact never was ratified. France, always fearful of renewed German military domination, finally killed it Aug. 30.

French action has caused the German price-raising. Adenauer lost ground in an important election Sept. 12, largely because of the killing of the EDC pact.

Now the position is that the United States and Great Britain are ready, if the worst comes, to grant West Germany sovereignty, whether France agrees or not, and to start rearming it.

Adenauer's terms at the London conference are reported to be immediate full sovereignty and German rearmament on a basis of equality with other Allies.

It looks as if he will get them, and thus get even more than was foreseen in the European Defense Community pact.

But Adenauer never fails to emphasize his conviction that Germany and France must work together.

Nazi's Disliked Him Adenauer was 73, unknown internationally, when he was elected chancellor of the new Bonn republic in 1949. In the five years of his leadership West Germany has risen from the ashes of defeat to become a prosperous and politically stable community.

He has been a leader of the Christian Democratic party for many years and had been mayor of Cologne from 1917 to 1933, when the Nazis ousted him. The Gestapo arrested him several times during World War II.

When the Americans freed Cologne, they made Adenauer mayor again. The British, into whose zone Cologne fell, ousted him; they did not like his independent attitude. Now they like him.

"The old fox," as Germans call him, is now 78, six feet two, erect, cold-eyed, sharp featured, scholarly and courteous. He is regarded as an indispensable man. An Allied diplomat said of him: "If Adenauer hadn't been here, we'd have had to invent him."

Texas Jurist Dies Sunday

AUSTIN, Sept. 28 — UP — Judge Frank Lee Hawkins, former presiding justice of the Court of Criminal Appeals, died Sunday at his home. He was 87.

Funeral services for the prominent jurist were scheduled for Monday afternoon at the state cemetery. State flags flew at half staff.

Hawkins served on the high court from February, 1921, when he was appointed by former Gov. Pat Neff until his retirement Jan. 1, 1931.

Prior to joining the Court of Criminal Appeals, Hawkins had served as a district judge at Waxahachie for 15 years. He was elevated to presiding judge of the state court in 1939, and held the post until he voluntarily left the appellate bench.

How Gulf's cleaner-burning, super-refined gasoline gives you thousands of extra miles of full engine power!

Now Gulf refines out the "dirty-burning tail-end" of gasoline—the No. 1 troublemaker in high-compression engines. And here's what that means to you:

This lamp is burning the "DIRTY-BURNING TAIL-END" of gasoline which GULF refines out

This lamp is burning NEW SUPER-REFINED GULF NO-NOX, the cleaner-burning super-fuel LABORATORY TESTS PROMISED...

this new, super-refined, super-powered fuel will give you these immediate and lasting benefits:

- ▶ More complete engine protection than the so-called "miracle-additive" gasolines. Why? Attlee's Visit

Clement Attlee, the little pseudo-Marxian Laborite, has just returned from a tour of the world's other great centralized powerhouse — the USSR and her lesser satellite, China. If we properly read the reports of his visit to those far places, he was greatly pleased with the consolidation of slave-state power in Russia, and the progress toward same made in China since our State Department and general staff tipped the scales toward Marxism.

According to a news story he plans to visit us next. Will he like us as well? Likely not.

We have been so slow in our "progress." Our milk-toast Marxians have clung to the idea that social ownership and control can be brought about by consent of the governed rather than by realistic liquidation of the freedom lovers.

Thus we have gone only part way in supplanting the idea of simple justice among free men in a competitive society with the "Social Justice" meted out by political powers of absolute authority.

ONLY PART of our lands and resources are owned by the Federal Government.

ONLY PART of Mr. Marx' ideal for COMPULSORY PUBLIC EDUCATION has been achieved.

ONLY PART of the farmers have accepted the idea of taking as their reward such a slice of the communal national income as politics shall decree — as opposed to a free market.

LABOR has only PARTLY bowed to the decrees of political control.

Only a FRACTION of all insurance is written by the Government and politically administered.

Only a PART (the shaky part, usually) of the lending of money is determined by the political whim.

Ah me! From one point of view we have bent the road, the middle of which we so proudly travel, so far to the leftward that the old ideals of limited Federal power, States Rights, self-reliance for all persons and all families of the able body and sound mind all seem far behind.

And, yet, when contrasting with the Soviet, we have so far to fellow-travel. Albeit no apparent place to stop.

However, one can imagine that if the good comrade Attlee arrives with a stout stomach and liver, he may find much to gratify his heart and mind. Someone is sure to point out. All efforts to SET LIMITS to curtail the reckless spending and giveaway commitments meet furious resistance and smear. That efforts to make respectable the investigation of Soviet influence in high places run afoul of furious counterattack directed where counter-attack is a science — the mighty Pentagon and the Commander-in-Chief's newly refurbished White House.

And, if Spiritual solace is required, then the Gentleman Proletarian from Britain may glance at the reports of the meeting of the World's Council of Churches at Evanston last month. There he may learn to his delight and the happiness of all with collectivist leanings that many sincere disciples of the Nazarene who renounced political power and earthly sway, NOW DEMAND that Christian ethics and moral principles (the old idea of tithes for Christian charity) be enacted into SECULAR LAW, be endowed with political power so that he who chooses not to be a good Samaritan (in some politician's opinion) is sent to jail!

Yes, yes, indeed. Whatever Mr. Attlee shall say about U.S. will be of more than passing interest.

It's Difficult to Write What You Believe In 500 Words

And here it is. I believe in work. When God told boys, nagging wives, interesting in I am. "In the sweat of thy face laws, carrying husbands, small, thou eat bread." He wasn't fooling.

Results of Our Foreign Policy

Since our foreign policy is costing us lives and money and friends it should cause every person interested in our welfare to let our officers know whether we approve or disapprove. I know of no one who has given the subject more careful study than Howard Buffett, former congressman from Nebraska.

For this reason for the next three issues I will quote from an article in Faith and Freedom written by Buffett. From here on Buffett is speaking.

GLOBAL INTERVENTION—ON ITS RECORD

Howard Buffett

It seems as though the harder our government wars for world peace, the more purposeless its wars become.

At last, a former congressman has attempted an appraisal of the strategy used in waging world wars. He implies that it is primarily a White House strategy employed without the consent of the governed.

Calling this strategy the global-interventionist policy, he urges today's Americans to see through it and lead the nation out of the valley of death.

As mass victims of propaganda, many persons today have mental habits reminiscent of the pompous judge who was faced with a series of horae - stealings in the Old West. A suspect to the crime had finally been picked out by a desperate sheriff; and despite lack of evidence, street - corner gossip indicated that the townsfolk expected a conviction.

Anxious to head off hasty action, several coolheaded citizens called on the judge, to plead for a fair trial.

"Don't worry, boys," declared the judge with a show of dignity. "He'll get fair trial all right! Tomorrow morning we'll give him a fair and square trial. In the afternoon we'll take him out and hang him."

Sometimes I think we are in a fix worse than that of the coolheaded citizens; that is, those of us who are leery about the further consequences of our global interventionism. All we urge is fair hearing of the facts and arguments for and against the policy of world-wide intervention in the affairs of nations. But for fifteen years now, nursing of the epithet "isolationist," and other smear tactics, have prevented fair debate and honest discussion of the interventionist policy. Let me illustrate with an experience of mine during World War II.

In the spring of 1944 I was one of a group of fourteen freshman congressmen worried by the dragging on of the war. Haunted by the bloody slaughter certain to result from a cross-channel invasion of Europe, we were determined to seek an explanation of "Unconditional Surrender."

A Political Tinderbox To question this much - propagandized war policy was political dynamite, and we knew it. Questioning a well - indoctrinated opinion during war is much like reasoning with a mob.

Nevertheless, we went ahead and presented a petition to Secretary of State Cordell Hull. In it we asked that the Administration set out a clear statement of American peace terms — a forthright explanation of "Unconditional Surrender," with disclosure of the conditions the Germans must agree to for an end of the conflict.

Here we hopefully had in mind another quick surrender such as in 1918 following announcement of Wilson's famous Fourteen Points.

We got a curt brush - off from Hull. But we got more than that. In print and over radio we were labeled Hitler stooges, Nazi lovers, Fascist dupes, near - traitors, and worse. For urging a militarily astute, yet humanitarian move, we were smeared. For proposing an action which, intelligently implemented, might have ended the war and prevented the whole chain of post-war Communist victories, we were treated with scorn and ridicule.

Yet today Winston Churchill, President Eisenhower, and even Cordell Hull himself are on record that "Unconditional Surrender" was among the greatest mistakes of the war.

The global tragedy compounded by "Unconditional Surrender" cannot be undone. But in simple justice to the millions who have suffered or died as its consequence, surely we should learn from this error.

We should learn what? At least this much. . . . No matter how potent the propaganda is for any official policy, we still have the duty to examine that policy regularly for flaws — particularly when it continuously fails to give us the peace with honor that we all yearn for.

Yet who is the hardy soul willing to re - examine and reevaluate propaganda - ingrained beliefs? Any public servant dare ask of his interventionist policy? Is it producing results that justify its continuation? Does it on its record deserve the support of American patriots and followers of the Gallies?

Ike Backing Away From Fight To Lower Tariffs

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The Eisenhower Administration is backing away, cautiously and quietly, from its original policy of lowering tariffs by Presidential action so as to aid foreign nations by opening American markets to them on a large scale. It points toward eventual reversal of the free trade doctrine installed by F.D.R., Harry S Truman and Cordell Hull.

Irresistible politico - economic pressures — labor union protests, Congressional resistance, unemployment in many areas and lack of European co-operation on the diplomatic level — are whittling away at the "trade, not aid" program that President Eisenhower inherited from his Democratic predecessors. As a candidate, he refused to increase duties on lead and zinc, although these industries are an essential in defense work as the watch designers, who fabricate the complicated mechanism for shells.

The Administration is now reviewing an earlier decision permitting the purchase of foreign oil for the military. It acted after protests from the Domestic Industry, which argued that there was enough domestic petroleum to supply civilian and military needs.

Only recently, responding to political pressure, Harold C. Stassen ruled that domestic firms should have a 50-50 split on contracts for $27,000,000 worth of railroad equipment for India.

In short, whether listed as "trade, not aid," or as outright handouts, Congress, Labor and a large segment of industry, opposed any more "giveaway" programs.

The most significant sign of a departure from inherited tendencies is the State Department's procedure in preparing for a revision of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, known as GATT. It is this international body, in which the United States is outvoted by foreign competitors, that frames proposals for across-the-board tariff cuts.

In the past, GATT's program was submitted to the President, and he made reductions under the authority given him in the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act. There was no consultation with Congress which has been criticized for usurpation of Congressional power. Under the Dulles revision, GATT's proposed changes will be forwarded to Capitol Hill before action or approval by the President.

Thus, Congress will recover a portion of the control that has been exercised for almost 20 years by foreign traders and a sympathetic Chief Executive.

Other important but generally unnoted developments hint at a greater consideration for American interests in future negotiations with regard to international commerce.

Re-acting to protests that skilled workers in the watch industry were essential in wartime, Eisenhower approved a higher tariff on Swiss imports. Reflecting his indecision on this general problem, he refused to increase duties on lead and zinc, although these industries are an essential in defense work as the watch designers, who fabricate the complicated mechanism for shells.

Letterhead King Has Chance To Control New Jersey Vote

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK — Arthur J. Goldsmith, the bashful dragon of the Waldorf tower, has a spectacular chance to do his stuff and prove his power in the New Jersey senatorial campaign. His personal patron, Clifford P. Case, is having a hard time as the nominee of the White House palace guard. The sentiments of a strong Republican element opposing Case were summarized recently by Fred A. Hartley, the co-author with the late Senator Taft of the current labor relations law. As spokesman of an organization called the committee for a stronger New Jersey Republican Party, Hartley examined Case's voting record during his term in the House of Representatives and said that if this record was a reliable guide to Republican policy then the organization called Americans for Democratic Action "has become the platform committee of the Republican Party."

Ada is not Communist but rather pre-Communist or Fabian. Like the so-called Labor Party in Britain it embraces much of Marxian socialism without saying so in forthright terms. ADA maintained an agent in London for more than a year and once imported the wife of Aneurin Bevan, the Welsh radical agitator of strong and anti-American tone, to lecture in the United States. Mrs. Bevan's politics and her husband's are identical.

The actual candidate of ADA against Case is Charles R. Howell, running on the Democratic ticket. He is state vice-chairman of ADA but Case has said he believes in the "broad objectives of ADA."

Case was one of the members of the palace guard who maneuvered a testimonial, signed by President Eisenhower, which was presented to Goldsmith under mysterious circumstances between the election and his inauguration. In that interim, Ike's headquarters were maintained in the Commodore Hotel in New York and Case, congressman Hugh Scott of Philadelphia, Milton Eisenhower and Sherman Adams organized the off-Republican cliques which since then has alienated many staunch constitutional Republicans.

The first to protest aloud was Richard Lloyd Jones, the publisher of the Tulsa Tribune, a native of Wisconsin and formerly publisher of the State journal at Madison. He expressed disgust and resentment as a constitutional, pro-American Republican and warned the President that if he did not break the power of the clique around him to exclude real Republicans from his councils, a grassroots pro-American constitutional Republican Party would come into being. He did not go into details if only because the resentment was just beginning to arouse Republicans of his type. Only a few days ago, Clarence Baskington, Keilander, the Republican national committeeman for Arizona, published a letter directed to Vice President Nixon in which he flatly declared the Republican Party was riding to a fall in the approaching election "when we should and easily could have been galloping to sweeping victory."

"Because of stupidity, ineptness, arrogance on the part of a few men who have been placed in positions of power," Keilander wrote, "we are going into this campaign not with a compact army but with scattered regiments. He named Sherman Adams, of the White House guard, as "the symbol" of the attitude which he resented.

"He is," Keilander wrote, "anathema to the organization and its sentiment centers upon him."

Goldsmith bobbed up in the Eisenhower camp long before Ike was nominated.

And soon after Ike's election his "advisors," Milton, now one of his "advisors," and Arthur, a Kansas City banker, were discovered in an apartment a few doors from Goldsmith's residential and political headquarters in the Waldorf Tower.

The two Eisenhowers' brothers had been consulting Goldsmith but all concerned were reticent about their meetings. Goldsmith may have been willing to talk politics with some reporters but he has flatly refused to discuss his political activities to me for publication. It is known however, that he raises money from back-finish eastern doctors who prefer to stay in the background and hoses it into selected states where a few thousand votes may defeat such a senator as McCarran in Nevada or Bridges in New Hampshire. He is a mysterious operator and Arthur Eisenhower was so taken aback when he was challenged to let the public about his relations with Goldsmith that he took an arrogant, insulting attitude and refused to come clean. Not long after that, Case, then a congressman, and Scott, still in Congress, had somehow managed to get Ike's signature on a document which apparently expressed the opinion that Goldsmith was a good citizen.

Why any respectable citizen should feel honored by such a certificate nobody concerned has ever explained. Goldsmith blabbed about this diploma to some of his friends but both Case and Scott have refused to tell the truth about it. Jim Hagerty, the President's press secretary, said it was an unimportant fact and that Ike important fact without deliberation among many papers which crossed his eye on a busy day. Hagerty distinctly minimized the writ.

There is a strenuous campaign in progress in New Jersey on the issue of communism and Case's element of the Republican party is on the defensive because of its apathy on the issue.

Goldsmith has big business interests in New Jersey, but apart from that fact it is plain that for him the checks are down because Case went overboard for him when he got the endorsement. In his other campaigns he has always operated in the dark, often from a great distance.

Harry Elmer Barnes, the historian, who claims he has been blacked out for insisting on writing facts which other current historians conceal, claims that Goldsmith once tried to label him as an enemy of the Jews. Barnes produces a copy of a letter written by Morris Ernst, a new dealer from way back and formerly counsel to the newspaper guild in which Ernst flatly told Goldsmith that "there is not a trace of bigotry or intolerance on the Jewish question anywhere in the bloodstream of Harry Elmer Barnes."

Reminds me of some people who, when confronted with some relatively new version of governmental despotism, rapturously exclaim, "It's wonderful! What a fine example of democracy!"

Mr. Phillips is not wholly without impressions gained during his forty-eight-hour visit, and he recorded some of them in an article written for the Daily Telegraph of London.

Once before Mr. Phillips visited Moscow, in 1946, and he says he left there with high hopes of being able to establish an understanding with the Soviet legation. "Unfortunately these hopes have not been fulfilled," he adds.

But Mr. Phillips still continues optimistic because he waxes enthusiastic over the friendliness shown the British delegation. That friendliness, he thinks, is "altogether genuine" and "we have been received with warmth, and, I think, sincerity."

It might be inferred that the seven-week visit had something to do with Mr. Phillips' optimism. We think such an inference would be unworthy in the first place. In the second place, Mr. Phillips clearly reveals the basis of his feeling of kinship with the Russians.

The talks between the British Socialists and the Russians bore on the two roads to socialism — the Russian way, and the British Labor Party way, which Mr. Phillips is pleased to describe as "democratic."

Observe that Mr. Phillips assumes that as between the Russians and the British Labor Party there is no difference of opinion about the goal to be reached. The goal is a Marxist economic and social system. The only difference is about the road to the goal. The Russians have no scruples about being rough with those who stand in their way. Mr. Phillips would be more urbane. But anyway Mr. Phillips concludes that the Russian leaders are really nice people and mean no harm.

The CRACKER BARREL

According to the way the administration's books now stand, France will still receive ONE BILLION ONE HUNDRED MILLION DOLLARS from the United States for the purpose of resisting Communism, even though she voted not to do any resistin' when she rejected the E.D.C. And Italy which is also certain to reject it, can still draw NINE MILLION American bucks from our master minds in Washington. To anyone but a "Prophet of Gloom" this is a clear case of sound American economy.

THE KIDS JUST DIDN'T TAKE Vernon seriously enough, is the way Harvester coach Aubra Nooncaster put it in his address to the Pampa Quarterback Club last night.

"Our boys were just too happy over winning the first game," Noon said, "and we couldn't get them to take the Vernon game seriously."

Nooncaster added that he didn't think the same thing would happen this week—that of taking the opponent lightly.

"We had our best workout of the season Monday afternoon as the boys really got down to serious business," Nooncaster said.

"We're still going to be hurt this week by injuries," the Harvester coach went on.

"Our two tackles, Ben Sturgeon and Jerry McNaughton, won't be ready for action this week, either," Nooncaster continued.

"We missed these two boys in last week's game against Vernon as the Lions made a lot of valuable yardage through the tackle slots."

"Vernon must have had third down and three about 15 times during the game but we couldn't keep them from making the necessary yardage for first down," Nooncaster said.

"That, more than anything else, is what beat us," Nooncaster told the Quarterbackers.

The attendance at the Quarterback meetings is still far below normal.

The club is going to try a new starting time next week to see if it will help bolster the attendance.

Next week's meeting will start at 7:15.

Television and wrestling is believed to be cutting in on the QB's.

CHARLIE DRESSEN... new Sen pilot

Dressen New Senator Boss

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 —UP—There is a chance that rain may interfere with Wednesday's opening game of 1954 World Series. The weather report for Wednesday calls for "increasing cloudiness, followed by showers."

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 —UP—Charley Dressen, who has been given a "free rein" in player deals in his new job as manager of the six-place Washington Senators, cheerfully insisted Tuesday that he has the "nucleus of a really good ball club."

And one way he may build around that nucleus, he indicated, would be to bring to the Senators some of the star minor league players he managed this season at Oakland in the Pacific Coast League.

Dressen apparently has two years to rebuild the Senators, because that's the length of the contract he was given Monday when he was named to succeed Bucky Harris as the Senators' skipper.

Although terms of the contract weren't disclosed, it's believed he will receive a salary of $35,000 per year.

Calvin Griffith, vice-president of the Senators who announced Dressen's appointment here Monday, emphasized that "nothing will be done in the way of players unless Charley agrees to it—there's a perfect understanding about that."

The 56-year-old Dressen thus received from the Senators the longest term contract that was denied to him by the Brooklyn Dodgers in the fall of 1953. After managing the Dodgers to successive National League pennants in 1952 and 1953, Dressen asked for a two or three year contract. The Dodgers offered him only a one-year pact and thus they came to the parting of the ways.

"You know how it is in Brooklyn," said Dressen with a wide grin Monday. "If you lose, they're not happy, and if you win, they're not happy, either. Here, at least, it's a fellow has a chance."

Leo Has Opportunity To Pick Both 'Starting' Pitchers

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 —UP—Stadium for the third game on Friday, righthanders Ruben Gomez (17-9) of the Giants and Mike Garcia (19-8) of the Indians probably will be the hurling rivals.

The Indians underwent a drill Monday at Cleveland and at the end were warned by Lopez that "this is going to be a tough Series and it could go to the limit of seven games."

But odds-makers continued to make the Indians the solid favorites. In addition to the 17-10 odds favoring them to win the Series, the odds-men also made the Tribe 6-5 favorites to win the opening game. They quoted 10-1 odds on the Indians sweeping the first four games, 20-1 on the Giants doing the same thing.

"It doesn't look that way to me," insisted gloomier when informed of the odds.

The Indians' favoritism was based on their brilliant pitching staff, led by the "big three" of Lemon, Wynn and Garcia and backed up by such famed veterans as Bob Feller and Art Houtteman and such brilliant rookies as Ray Narleski and Don Mossi. In addition, the Indians smashed the five-year reign of the New York Yankees as American League champions by winning 111 games—breaking the league record of 110 wins by the 1927 Yankee team that included Babe Ruth.

Discordant Notes

On the other hand, Giant fans point out that the Indians and Giants played each other 21 times this year during spring training—and that the Giants won 13 of these games.

The Giants were given a series sendoff Monday in a parade up Broadway and a city hall reception where Mayor Robert F. Wagner told them, "All New Yorkers want to see the Giants bring the world championship back to New York."

The mayor's words were somewhat belied during the parade as a few spectators defiantly waved Indian banners and some disgruntled Dodger fans booed and waved placards with such legends as, "Our hearts are still with the Bums."

Whichever pitching combination is picked for the first game, Maglie-Lemon or Antonelli-Wynn, the other combination is expected to start the second game on Thursday, which also will be played at the Polo Grounds. When the scene shifts to Cleveland's Municipal Stadium, the Indians will be the favorites to win the Series.

More than 50,000 New Yorkers and visitors are expected to jam the Polo Grounds for each of the first two games. Crowds at Municipal Stadium for the third, fourth, and (if necessary) fifth games are expected to be approximately 80,000. The sixth and seventh games, if necessary, will be played at the Polo Grounds. The series will be televised in every state in the nation.

Since these are the two largest parks in each league and since the ticket prices have been boosted this year, the total receipts and winning share are expected to set a new record.

The Giants are out to improve on a poor World Series record. They've won 14 pennants in modern times, but only four World Series.

The Indians have won every World Series they've played in—but have played in only two.

DEFENSIVE SPECIALIST

Johnny Claunch, 160 pound guard for the Fighting Harvesters, has stood out defensively in both games the Green and Golders have played this season. Claunch is up from the B team and is making a valuable hand for the Harvesters this fall. He'll be in the lineup Friday night when the Harvesters host Paschal of Fort Worth at Harvester Park.

PLASTIC AND PORTABLE

The world's largest plastic vessel, a flat-bottomed self-propelled, shallow-draft cargo barge that can be transported overland is shown during tests on the James River at Fort Eustis, Va. Developed for the Army Transportation Corps, the 51-foot vessel weighs only 10.2 tons and can carry a maximum of five tons of dry cargo. The boat is designed to be shipped in sections and is easily assembled without special knowledge or tools.

United Fund Agency

Red Cross Ready In All Emergencies

(Editor's Note: This is the sixth in a series of articles on the seven agencies in the Pampa community United Fund which will hold its general drive Oct. 5. The subject of this article, the Red Cross, has been allotted $9,500 of the $45,150 drive goal.)

The Pampa chapter of the American Red Cross is a service organization established by Congress primarily to be the connecting link between the military and the home. And the Red Cross has also accepted the responsibility for the financial assistance and rehabilitation to the individual who has no other resource in natural disaster, according to Mrs. Libby Shotwell, executive secretary of the local chapter.

Served 572 Cases

In the last year, the Pampa chapter has served 572 cases for active service, veteran and civilian families. The chapter further sent 108 verifications of emergency leave or extension of leave; sent 138 reports to the military, Veterans Administration and families; assisted 68 servicemen and veteran families; counseled 234 veterans, servicemen and civilian families; and made 26 social history reports to the military. And financial assistance was made available to those who had no other resource.

The job of the Red Cross safety nursing and water safety is a large one, Mrs. Shotwell points out. "Our objective is to see that one person in each family is a first-aid and to teach Americans how to be safe on, in and around water." An estimated 600 boys and girls received some instruction through the program in water safety and 115 certificates were issued to those completing the course.

Aids Other Agencies

The Red Cross, too, is continuing the policy of working with many other Pampa agencies, Mrs. Shotwell goes on. Homes have been investigated for the Milk Fund. Needs of people have been worked out with the Salvation Army. A supply cabinet in the Red Cross office is maintained for the Cancer Society. Wheel chairs are lent for cancer patients and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. And needy veteran families are helped in cooperation with the American Legion auxiliary and VFW auxiliary.

Pampa participated during the year in the Southwestern Texas floods by having its funds used in the mammoth task of helping people get back on their feet after their homes and cities were deluged, Mrs. Shotwell continued.

"Wherever there was a disaster that involved five families or more, Red Cross was there."

The Red Cross is the largest blood-collecting agency in the world. As Pampa is not located near a blood center, it does not collect blood for the armed forces. But the chapter does maintain a blood file and assists local doctors in emergency cases where the rare types of blood are needed.

Mrs. Shotwell and a board of directors direct the Red Cross in Pampa. Officers on the board are James Hart, chairman; Ross Burzard, assistant chairman; Mrs. J. M. Turner, treasurer; and Mrs. Jack Foster, secretary. Other members are James McCune, Ed Myatt, Dick Crews, J. N. McKean, Dr. Carl Lang, H. V. McCorkle, Mrs. D. E. Williams, Mrs. Sam B. Cook, Mrs. Harry Hoyer, Mrs. Rufe Jordan, Mrs. W. F. Walsh, Mrs. Gene Fatheree, Warren Hasse, Jay Meadow, Homer Craig and Joe Gidden, Letors.

Hofheinz Announces Candidacy

HOUSTON, Sept. 28—Mayor Roy Hofheinz Monday announced he will seek a second term as mayor. He said "I will definitely be a candidate for re-election."

The announcement scooped reports that Hofheinz, nearing the end of his first term, would bow out Jan. 1. It also left the mayor's race open for a possible bitter, all-out battle between Hofheinz and former Mayor Oscar Holcombe. A move to draft Holcombe, who has served 10 terms as mayor, has been under way for several months and Holcombe said Sunday he "might" run if no "qualified" candidate appeared. Recent reports indicate Holcombe doesn't think Hofheinz has been a "good Mayor."

Hofheinz said he would announce his platform later. He said Holcombe's statement had no bearing on his decision to announce Monday.

Railroads Asked To Help Ease Pinch
DENVER, Sept. 28—UP President Eisenhower and Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson joined Tuesday in an appeal to the nation's railroads to help ease drought suffering by cutting freight rates on hay shipments into stricken areas.

Benson conferred here Monday with the President and reported drought conditions in 700 counties of 15 states. The request to the railroads followed shortly.

Other news developments at the Denver White House Tuesday:
1. Mr. Eisenhower's staff believed to be nearly ready to release a public report on the chief executive's health. The report will be based on a complete physical checkup by the White House physician, Dr. Howard M. Snyder, and the staff of Fitzsimons Army Hospital here.

Bandit Robs Same Firm Twice
DALLAS, Sept. 28—UP—Police hunted Tuesday for an audacious bandit who robbed a Dallas loan company twice within less than two weeks.

The gunman, who struck just after noon both times, got more than $400 Monday, slightly less than he took the first time.

Mrs. Callie McNeely, the firm manager, said the bandit asked for the money from both the cash drawer and safe and turned to go. He held open the door for a woman customer, then disappeared on to the crowded sidewalk.

Fort Worth Gas War Ends
FORT WORTH, Sept. 28—UP—A gasoline price war, which had held the regular grade product below 18 cents a gallon for several weeks, apparently had come to an end here Monday. Independent and major oil companies had posted prices only slightly under what they were before the war began.

Some of the independent companies, hardest hit by the short profits, started prices back up last week. This was followed by a Humble station price adjustment. Other majors and independents followed suit over the weekend.

Now major company stations are getting 24.9 cents for regular gasoline and 26.9 for the premium grade.
