George Newberry, district manager for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., takes it easy after helping his Pampa office staff get ready for an open house, scheduled 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. and 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. Wednesday through Friday. An estimated 4,500 persons are expected to inspect the plant, which has had a dial system for 11 months. Every 100th person to enter the doors gets a free long distance phone call. 'Super Giant' Bomb Developed By U.S.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21 — UP — that officials decided not to risk setting it off during the Eniwetok tests this spring. When the first bomb fired during the tests released more than twice the destructive power that the scientists had anticipated, Shepley and Blair said the estimated strength of the "super giant" was scaled sharply upward, "near the practical limit of thermonuclear weapons, 45 megatons, 2,400 times the force of Hiroshima."

The Shape Of Things To Come

NEW YORK, Sept. 21 — UP — Beans growing in beads — that's the shape of things to come. No earth, not a crumb of earth (and no sunlight, either) but an abundance of beads.

Glass beads are put in plastic dishes, where they're bathed in water. Water contains hydrogen and oxygen. The beads also are bathed in air. Air contains carbon in the form of carbon dioxide.

Now put red kidney bean seeds among the beads. Add calcium, magnesium, potassium, sulphur, phosphorus, and nitrogen. Also add traces of zinc, iron, manganese, boron, copper, and molybdenum. Next concentrate fluorescent lights above the beads. We have to approach the intensity of sunlight to get this stew of chemicals bubbling.

The seeds sprout. They anchor their roots around the beads. In precisely 25 days every bean plant blossoms, and each has precisely the same number of blossoms. Ten days later each plant bears the same number of beans.

All this is going on in laboratories at the plutonium plant at Hanford, Wash., which is operated by the Atomic Energy Commission by the General Electric Co. Here we get to the subtler contours of the shape of things to come.

Plutonium results when Uranium-238 is bombarded by neutrons in nuclear reactors, and plutonium is the active part of an atomic bomb. But this atom-splitting in nuclear reactors produces also "waste" by-products, such as strontium, cesium, and yttrium. They're all rare earth metals in nature, always combined with other elements. But when these are

Mystery Figure Indicted

Henry Grunewald Accused Of Perjury

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21 — UP — The Justice Department announced Tuesday that a federal grand jury in Brooklyn, N. Y., has indicted Henry W. (The Dutchman) Grunewald on perjury charges.

The indictment charged that Grunewald in 1952 lied five times before a Brooklyn grand jury which was investigating crime and corruption in the Internal Revenue Service.

Grunewald, so-called Washington mystery man and alleged influence peddler, already is under indictment here on 10 counts of perjury. A local grand jury charged that he lied 10 times in testimony before a grand jury here and before a House Ways & Means subcommittee investigating tax scandals.

Trial set for Nov. 15 Grunewald's trial in the District of Columbia case has been set for Nov. 15.

Conviction of perjury charges carries a maximum penalty of $2,000 fine and five years imprisonment.

Tuesday's indictment was returned to U. S. District Judge Mortimer W. Ebers in Brooklyn. The five counts charged that Grunewald lied when he testified before the grand jury that:

- 1. He never received any money for exerting any influence on government officials in connection with tax cases.
- 2. He never heard of the tax case involving Pattullo Modes Inc., a New York dress firm, until he read a newspaper item about it.
- 3. He was not instrumental in averting criminal prosecutions in tax cases.

Denies Discussing Case

4. He never discussed tax cases with Max Halperin, New York attorney.

5. On Sept. 11, 1952, he did not discuss tax cases with Halperin. The indictment said that at the time Grunewald discussed an agreement whereby he would receive $100,000 to obtain a favorable settlement in the Pattullo Modes tax case.

U.S. Expects Commie Bid To Be Shelved

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Sept. 21 — UP — The United States lined up enough support Tuesday to defeat Russia's anticipated afternoon bid for admission of Red China to the United Nations.

More than 40 UN members said they would vote with the United States against giving Nationalist China's seat to the Peiping regime.

Only a brief verbal battle was expected before a vote is taken. If Soviet delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky follows last year's pattern, he will bring up the issue before the ninth annual General Assembly, which convenes at 1 p.m. Oct. 1, elects its new president.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was scheduled to lead the fight against Vishinsky's efforts to gain a seat in the 60-nation world parliament for his friends in Peiping.

Pope Shows Improvement CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy, Sept. 21 — UP — Pope Pius XII showed improvement Tuesday in his battle against a new siege of hiccups and fatigue.

Sparkman Is Target Of FHA Probers

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 21 — UP — Senate housing investigators said Tuesday they are convinced that Sen. John J. Sparkman (D-Ala.) exerted no undue influence in connection with housing "windfalls."

A witness before Sen. Homer Caphart's banking committee testified Monday that it was "common knowledge" — although "purely gossip" — that the 1953 Democratic vice-presidential candidate helped push through an illegal loan.

However, Caphart said Tuesday that the committee is convinced that Sparkman is the victim of "rumor and gossip" and that the Alabama only "was exercising responsibility to a constituent like any senator does."

Emergency Talks On West Defense Called By Britain

SHUCKS, THIS IS THE CORNIEST STORY WE EVER STALKED ABOUT

DES MOINES, Sept. 21 — UP — Iowa's secretary of state, Melvin D. Synhorst, thinks his state is cornier than Ohio and hopes to prove it.

Ted W. Brown, Synhorst's counterpart in Ohio, suggested a corn husks "duel" during halftime at the Iowa-Ohio State football game Oct. 16, after Brown grew a 13-foot stalk in his garden.

In accepting the challenge, Synhorst said he was sure some Iowa farmer would come up with a corn stalk that will dwarf the Ohio model.

Germans Angered Over French Plan

LONDON, Sept. 21 — UP — Britain called an emergency meeting of the five Brussels pact nations Tuesday to seek a new way around French fears of a rearmed, sovereign Germany and mounting German resentment against French delaying tactics.

West Germany reacted angrily Monday when French Premier Mendes-France proposed a plan creating 12 German divisions but temporarily banning Germany from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).

Germans said they would not contribute to a "foreign legion."

Representatives of Britain, France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg met to study the widening of their mutual aid pact to include West Germany and Italy.

Churchill Holds Conference Prime Minister Winston Churchill also called his cabinet into session to decide how far Britain can go to meet French Premier Pierre Mendes-France's demands for more British commitments to Europe.

Mendes-France made it clear that France wanted British participation in any western defense network and blamed the death of the European Defense Community on the fact that Britain would not have been a member.

The Brussels treaty nations, who signed their pact in 1948, were called into session by Britain to draw up a formula to present to the nine-nations conference in London next week.

In addition to the Brussels pact members, the United States, West Germany, Italy and Canada will take part in the meeting on West German rearmament.

Mendes-France stirred up new German resentment Monday by opposing an Anglo-American effort to bring West Germany into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).

He told the consultative assembly of the Council of Europe at Strasbourg that he preferred giving the Germans membership in an extended Brussels treaty organization.

Authoritative sources at Bonn said Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's West German government will reject any move by France to delay German membership in NATO.

In proposing German inclusion in the Brussels pact, Mendes-France said his plan could be put into effect before the end of 1954 if the nine-nation London conference approves his conditions.

Because of West Germany's fight to gain NATO membership, diplomats feared Mendes-France's insistence upon delay might wreck the London meeting.

City Employes Get Pay Raise

The Pampa City Commission this morning unanimously approved the 1954-55 city budget of $826,314 and left the tax rate at $1.75 per $100 of evaluation.

City Mgr. Fred Brook and City Director of Public Works James Cowan each got a raise in salary—the only changes in the proposed budget. Brook will receive $50 a month more and Cowan, $25. Brook's monthly salary is now $600 and Cowan's $325.

The budget, tax rate and salary changes become effective Oct. 1, the beginning of the city's fiscal year.

The budget and tax rates were passed as emergency measures; that is, all three readings of the ordinances were okayed at one sitting. The tax rate was broken down into several ordinances, the way it is split in the budget.

Benson Gets Son As Aide

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21 — UP — The Republican National committee has furnished an aide for Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson — his son.

Asked about the arrangement Tuesday, a department spokesman said that Reed Benson, 26, is devoting most of his time to making arrangements for his father on the secretary's heavy out-of-town speaking itinerary.

He said the Republican committee figured that since the secretary has been fulfilling speaking dates for the party, the GOP could pick up the tab for his son to accompany him.

It was felt it would be awkward if young Benson were put on the secretary's own payroll when other Benson assistants have been unable to accompany him on his many speaking tours.

Reed Benson, who recently ended two years of duty as an Air Force chaplain, also accompanied his father on most of a drouth inspection trip last fall. He joined the plane party in Texas, where he was stationed at Lackland Air Base, and continued on for the rest of the eight-day trip back to Washington.

Mrs. Moss On Stand

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21 — UP — Mrs. Annie Lee Moss, a shy, aging Negro widow, fought for her reputation and her $3,335-a-year government job Tuesday at a secret-shrouded Defense Department hearing on her security clearance.

Two sid sometimes three soldiers guarded the corridor leading to the closed hearing room where an Army security board sought to determine whether Mrs. Moss can be linked to the Communist conspiracy or is innocent of Red connections.

Ike Issues Prayer Call

DENVER, Sept. 21 — UP — President Eisenhower issued a solemn statement Tuesday inviting adults and children of the Iron Curtain countries to join Americans Wednesday in prayers for "lasting peace for all mankind."

"May the world be rined with an act of faith so strong as to annihilate the cruel, artificial barriers erected by little men between the peoples who seek peace on earth through the Divine Spirit," the chief executive said.

The National Day of Prayer was the result of a congressional act passed three years ago. Mr. Eisenhower plans to participate personally by attending early morning prayer services Wednesday in a chapel on Lowry Air Force Base shortly before he takes off on a long aerial tour of the Pacific Coast.

"In common with religious people everywhere," the President said, "we in America know that the true cure for the tensions that threaten and too often produce war lies not in guns or bombs, but in the spirits and minds of men. We are firm in the belief that faith is the mightiest force that man has at his command."

Encephalitis Kills Boy

HOUSTON, Sept. 21 — UP — Dr. Fred K. Laurentz, Houston health officer, said Tuesday a nine-year-old boy had died of encephalitis or sleeping sickness.

The victim, who died Monday, was Harold Murph, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Murph. There was no indication where the disease was contracted, but the family returned two weeks ago from a vacation trip in Mexico. The parents said they didn't go through the Lower Rio Grande Valley, where sleeping sickness has been prevalent this year.

Laurentz said the boy was Houston's second known encephalitis victim this year, with an earlier patient recovering. He was admitted to the Texas Children's hospital several days ago as a polio patient, but was transferred to Jefferson Davis hospital when polio tests were negative.

Houston had three encephalitis cases, all fatal, in 1953.

Warren Hasse, general drive chairman, in announcing the names of the nine men, who have accepted the jobs, pointed out that each "major" will pick five "captains" who in turn will each choose five volunteer workers — making a total of 400 persons conducting the general drive.

SHAPE

(Continued from page one) other elemental isotopes are "made" by transmutation in nuclear reactors, they're dangerous because they're both radio-active and, being elements, are practically indestructible. Dangerous Waste Elements No atomic scientist doubts that the day will come when nuclear reactors will provide the power for industry, for transportation, for just the ordinary living of ordinary people. When the day comes there will be large and ever-increasing quantities of these dangerous and indestructible "waste" elements. Drs. John H. Rediske, A. A. Selders, and their associates in the vegetable laboratories at Hanford are "feeding" these elements to kidney beans — and to tomatoes, wheat, thistle, and barley. Because each chemical step in their growth and maturing is precisely controlled, the scientists can measure precisely what each "waste" element does to the plants and — more important — what the plants do with the "waste" element. How much of each element do the plants "take up" — how radioactive do the plants become? That is the vital question. In making use of the vast potentials for easier, better living in atomic energy, man would lose if he contaminated his earth with atomic "waste" elements. In the shape of things to come, that will be a problem. Rediske and Selders are getting the answers ready now.

Canadian Will Miss Familiar Town Figure

Bob Campbell, the "little round man" from Canadian who was as well-known to his town folk as any public official, was buried Monday. The Rev. Carter McKemy who delivered the eulogy, said, "Bob Campbell was one of the first people I met when I came to Canadian, and almost anyone else who has moved here in the past 25 years could say the same." Bob had lived in the city hall and was never known to do much outside lowering the colors on the post office each day at sunset. Public meetings took up much of his social life. Orphaned when he was 17, the town took Bob to its heart and had taken care of him since. He was a familiar figure, shuffling down Canadian streets, all 300 pounds of him, Bob's only strenuous activity was limited to an occasional jaunt with Canadian's volunteer fire department. It was Bob's day yesterday. Following the long entourage to the cemetery were his many friends — men from all walks of life. Many of the local businessmen closed their doors in his honor. Everyone was there, Bob never knew any strangers.

FEELING BETTER

Apparently recovered from his latest seizure of hiccups, Pope Pius XII waves happily to an audience from his summer retreat home at Castel Gandolfo, Italy. The Pope showed no signs of his illness as he delivered a 10-minute talk.

It's Almost Autumn White House Now

By MERRIMAN SMITH
DENVER, Sept. 21—UP—Back stairs at the summer White House: In another few days, they'll have to stop calling this the summer White House. It'll be the autumn White House.
And 600 Pennsylvania Avenue, Washington, D.C., will be the winter White House.
Actually, it is the reporters who put seasonal designations on Mr. Eisenhower's various headquarters away from Washington. His staff, for example, refers to the set-up here as "the Denver White House."

Mr. Eisenhower probably will go fishing again next week after he returns from the West Coast, but not at Fraser. It is getting too cold up there. Instead, he'll probably return to the Bal P. Swan Ranch outside Pine, Colo., where the fishing is better.

Mrs. Eisenhower is much more sensitive to stories and broadcasts critical of the President than Mr. Eisenhower, himself. And when she thinks someone has dealt with her man unfairly, she builds up a real head of scornful steam.

There are times even today when the Eisenhowers act like high school sweeties. The other day, as he returned to the Doud house after a morning of speaking and conferring in Boulder and Brighton, Colo., Mrs. Ike was waiting for the President at the top of the front porch steps.

"I do not believe," he said with mock gravity, "that I have had my kiss today."

Whereupon he gave her a real movie star bus right on the lips while his aide, Col. Robert L. Schulz, and his press secretary, Jim Hagerly, stood discreetly staring at the ceiling.
And as Mamie beamed radiant, the President marched back down the steps again, into a limousine and out to Cherry Hills Country Club for a round of golf.

School Funds Pose Problem For Oklahoma Legislators

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 21—UP—The Oklahoma Legislature either will have to recess next spring to hold a special election on the issue of de-segregation or be forced to hold another session later, Sen. James Rinehart (D-El Reno) said Monday.
Rinehart, speaking at a legislative council committee meeting, said the lawmakers "ultimately are going to have to take care of the financial situation" arising out of de-segregation.
State school officials have said they intend to follow the U.S. Supreme Court mandate outlawing segregation of the white and Negro races in the public schools. However, the separate methods for financing white and Negro schools has made it difficult to make the changeover without amending the state constitution.
"I am thinking we may have to break the next session in two and submit an amendment to the people and then finalize it," Rinehart told the council's revenue and taxation committee.
"Or, we may put it off—we are good at that—and have a special session. But ultimately we are going to have to take care of that financial situation, and its going to have to be done by constitutional amendment."
The Oklahoma Education Association has recommended a five-mill ad valorem tax levy to replace the maximum four-mill levy for Negro schools. The proposed revenue would be used for all schools.
Should the legislature fail to act and the ad valorem levies for Negro schools be held unconstitutional, the burden of financing education for Negro students would fall on the white school districts.

Prisoners Overpower Jailer, Flee

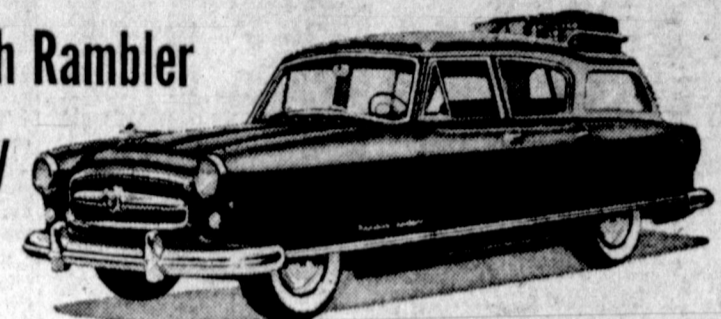

TYLER, Tex., Sept. 21—UP—Two Negro prisoners overpowered a jailer, dragged him down three flights of stairs by an improvised rope around his neck and escaped from the Smith county jail Monday.
The jailer, 55-year-old T. F. McCaghren, was hospitalized, but was not believed in serious condition. Sheriff W. S. Ashcraft identified the escapers as Curtis White of behind, he said, as he entered the block shortly after midnight to answer a call from a prisoner for an aspirin.
He said they threw the rope made from a blanket, around his neck, stomped him in the face and chest and kicked him before dragging him down the stairs.

HOLLYWOOD TODAY!

MOVIES - TV - RADIO
by Erskine Johnson

HOLLYWOOD —(NEA)—The million-dollar mits of Clark Gable, Cary Grant and Gregory Peck, according to a Hollywood manufacturer, are just loaded with electricity.

I'm taking Rose Sussall's guarantee for this unreported piece of fiddle-faddie and passing it on in a big hurry. Who knows?

The snap, crackle and pop in the hands of movie heroes may be just the thing to stop TV dead in its tracks.

Rose Sussall is the official Little Miss Buff-It over at the 20th Century - Fox studio. Maybe it's because she wasn't hired by the casting office, but Rose looks more like a schoolteacher than a barbershop Hedy.

It wasn't easy for Rose, who's unmarried and makes a point of never listening to travelling salesman jokes, to talk about the single that she gets from holding hands with her burning-eyed movie customers.

"What it's like is an electric current," she explained blushing. "On the tips of their fingers it buzzes. You might say it's thrilling."

ROSE GOT HER FIRST spark when she worked on Clark Gable's digits during the making of "Gone With the Wind" and she's been receiving voltage ever since from the dream boys of Hollywood.

"I'm sorry, I just don't get any electricity from the girls," Rose apologized. "Just some man, you understand. Like Gregory Peck. I gave him his first manicure years ago and I had the pleasure of working on him just a little while back."

Cary Grant got his first manicure from me, too. Also Cornell Wilde, who was very stubborn about it. All of them have powerful electricity.

George Jessel and Charles Coburn are down in Rose's book as snoots who drop off to sleep at the sound of a rattling file.

"THAT CHARLES COBURN," Rose laughed. "He snores all through a manicure. You can hear him all the way to the administration building a block away."

Vic Mature was a riot around the barbershop and Rose didn't mind saying so. Once he'd stuck a plastic hand up his sleeve and handed it to her, Rose laughed, and another time he left her a dollar tip in pennies.

"One hundred pennies piled up on the table," she sighed. "He's a perfect scream."

Stars spill secrets to her, but she's cooler than her tongue off than do a playback, she insisted.

She knew that Betty Davis had fallen for Gary Merrill during the making of "All About Eve" long before anybody else on the lot.

"Betty didn't have to talk," Rose said. "She always keeps records going in her dressing room. Before she met GARY she would play 'There Must Be Something Better Than Love.' Over and over. Then all of a sudden she started talking to somebody about crash-

Abolishment Of State Orphan Home Is Appealed By Exes

AUSTIN, Sept. 21—UP—A delegation of ex-students of the Corsicana State Orphan's Home Monday called a proposal to abolish the institution "unfair and biased."

The 20-member delegation, including Associate Justice Robert Calvert of the Texas Supreme Court, presented a report which asked, "are the children of the home to be the butt of the state's economy program?"

The report, taking issue with recommendations made last May by the Texas Research League, was presented to the board for Texas State Hospitals and special schools. It was received without action.

The Texas Research League, a privately financed organization, last May recommended gradual abandonment of state orphan's home through placement of the children in foster homes.

The ex-student delegation said research league's study was made without a sample study "of the ex-students to see what 'institutional care' had done for them and for the state."

"We claim that this study is unfair and biased on this ground alone..." the ex-students report said. The delegation was headed by J. B. Carrington, Bryan, president of State Home Ex-student Association. The group was introduced to the board by Calvert.

The research league's report said the state now spends $180 a month to maintain each child at Corsicana, while foster family care could be "adequately financed" of $80 per month per child.

"Are the children of the home to be the butt of the state's economy program?" the ex-students' report asked. "Human value should come first in any study of this type. Texas has been and will be repaid many times over by investing well in her unfortunate children."

Would Save $220,000

The research league had estimated its proposed changes in care of the state's orphans would save the state at least $220,000 a year.

The ex-student group's report said it felt the orphans' home would be "much better administered" under the hospital board than by the State Department of Public Welfare, as recommended by the research league.

"We also believe under the present policy of operating the home it would be much better to leave the minimum age limit at three years" the report added. The research league recommended raising the admission age to six years.

However, the ex-students report said the group wanted it "clearly understood" it does not oppose all of the research league's study.

"We certainly favor the proposal to restore to as many of the children as possible to the care and custody of responsible parents or relatives who are able and willing to provide for them."

Solon Warns Of 'Forgotten' Guatemala

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21—UP—Rep. Patrick J. Hillings (R-Calif.) has warned that U. S. neglect of the anti-Communist government of Guatemala may allow the Communists to slip back into power.

He called for a congressional investigation which he said would show that "the Communist threat in this hemisphere is by no means resolved" even though Guatemala has broken Moscow's "shackles."

He said the Kremlin is banking heavily on economic difficulties to bring about the downfall of the anti-Communist government of Castillo Armas and to return the Reds to power.

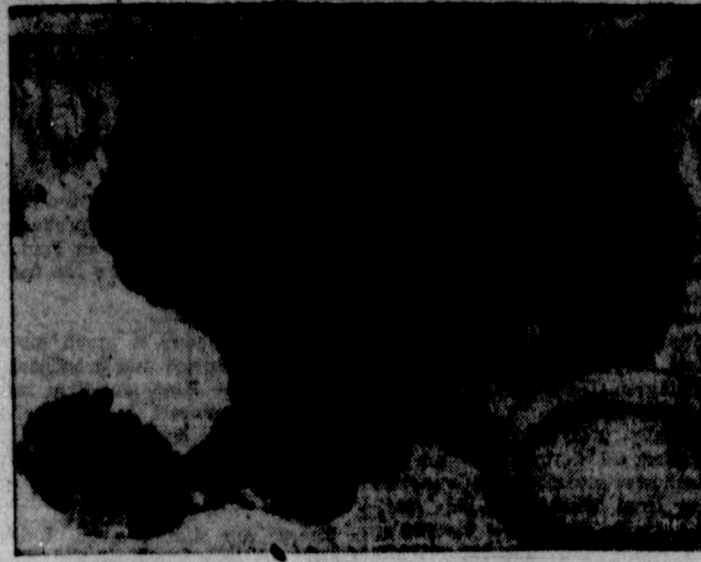

Hillings charged that Castillo's government is being neglected by the United States "despite its grave economic problems" and in spite of the Communist threat.

"It would be a tragedy to the free world if Castillo's government should fall and Guatemala should again slip into the clutches of the international Communist conspiracy," he said.

Hillings is head of the Latin American subcommittee of the special House committee on Communist aggression. He said he has asked Rep. Charles J. Kersten (R-Wis.), chairman of the full committee, to schedule hearings soon.

Statistics at the International Pet Fair disclose the Americans now own 6.5 million parakeets, an increase of 161 per cent in two years. The dog population is 19.6 million and cats 14.6 million.

Sen. Karl Mundt, campaigning for re-election in South Dakota, sits astride his party's symbol at state fair in Huron. GOP provided elephant at their fairgrounds headquarters.

The next time somebody comes up to you and asks, "How many miles of 16 mm film has the NBC-TV news room used in the last year and a half?" just smile and tell them, "one hundred and fifty-nine miles."

That's a fact some diligent NBC operatives unearthed recently. And in case that fact isn't enough for you, here's another — they used 500 miles of 35 mm film in the same period.

But you didn't know THAT!!

Television's tremendous impact has never been doubted, but did you ever stop to think what it means to be a TV star? Everywhere you go, you're recognized. You must watch what you wear, what you say, whom you're with. It's that "whom you're with" business that causes trouble for Imogene Coca. This fall she'll have her own NBC-TV show, but for years, of course, she was associated with Sid Caesar on "Your Show of Shows." Most of the skills they performed on that great program had the two married. And they performed so convincingly, apparently, that many viewers thought they really were married. They are married, but to two different people.

"Sid's been married to a very beautiful girl, Florence, for about ten years," Imogene says, "and I've been married for a good number of years to a great guy, Bob Burton."

OK, the stage is set. Sid and Imogene are married. Imogene and Bob are married, but people think that Sid and Imogene are married. Lights — action — confusion.

"Once," Imogene began, "my husband and I entered an elevator in a Fifth Avenue building and the operator winked at me and asked, 'Where's Sid?' Bob shot back, 'Somebody has to stay home and mind the children.'"

Sid gets the same treatment, Imogene says, only perhaps a little more so. Whenever he goes out with his wife, which is naturally rather frequent, he's certain to overhear somebody saying something about, "Those TV stars, all ways two-timing their wives."

There's more. "To add to this confusion," Imogene says, with a laugh, "many of our husband and wife sketches were based on incidents that happened to Bob and me or Sid and Florence. Remember that skit we did on the first meal prepared by the new bride? Well, that was born when Bob complained to Sid about my cooking. I don't cook much, but when I do, it can sometimes be disastrous."

Londoners Asking, Whither Summer?

LONDON, Sep. 21 —UP—A British newspaper has charged that vapor trails from jet airplanes are to blame. Scientists of the World Meteorological Organisation are studying to see if it might have been those hydrogen bomb tests out in the Pacific.

But wherever you go in Europe the question is the same: What happened in summer?

They say it was the worst summer in memory. Or they swear summer didn't even come this year.

Records in the London Weather Bureau show the 1954 summer—if you can call it that—was the most miserable thing, statistically, since 1890. It was just a gloomy procession of cold, damp, windy days.

No Records Set

No records were set. It rained more in 1948. There was less sunshine in 1944. It got colder in 1920. But for sheer monotony of ugly weather you have to go back 67 years.

The perverse weather threw a wet blanket on the tourist season. The number of tourists from the United States and most other countries was greater than in the coronation year of 1952. But many of them went home with complaints about the poor weather.

Paris hasn't been itself. It carried on its gaiety under somber skies. There are those who predict dire results for French wine bearing the '75 label. Not enough sunshine.

In Germany they refer to June, July and August as a "mild winter." It has left the weather insurance people punch-drunk. The Allianz Insurance Co. paid out five times more in compensation to Harz and Alpine mountain resort owners than it collected in premiums.

Pray for Better Weather

Farmers in Germany and Ireland gathered for public prayers in hopes the weather would be better for harvest.

In Finland the rainfall ranged from 80 to 200 per cent above normal. Swedish weather officials described it as "an unusually rainy summer."

Sen. Ralph Flanders (R-Vt.) came to England for a vacation. After bundling up against the damp cold and surveying London through dripping window panes at his hotel he cut his vacation short and went back home, complaining about the weather.

The British press, stung to the quick, displayed weather records from the state of Vermont. Seems they had a pretty bad summer there, too, this year.

U.S., Mexico Plan Meet To Pick Dam Site

NUEVO LAREDO, Mex., Sept. 21 —UP—U. S. and Mexican government engineers will meet the latter part of this month, probably at Del Rio, Tex., for final selection of next international dam site on the Rio Grande, assistant minister of hydraulic resources Raul Echeagaray Bablot said.

Echeagaray said the choice lies between three possible sites located very close together, all above Del Rio.

The dam probably will be built at a point less than two miles downriver from where the Devils River empties into the Rio Grande. That river junction is 14 miles above Del Rio.

Geological conditions are difficult at all three proposed sites, and to build at what appears to be the safest place will be more expensive than had been anticipated, Echeagaray said.

"Actual construction will not start before the latter part of 1955, at the very earliest," he said, "although engineers are already making geophysical explorations in the area."

Plans are to build the next dam about the same capacity, if not a little greater than Falcon dam. The project is expected to prevent recurrence of any such floods as the greatest in the history of the Rio Grande last June 30 which caused tremendous loss of life at Piedras Negras and heavy property damage all the way from Del Rio to Laredo.

Police Rescue Drowning Woman

GALVESTON, Sept. 21—UP— A 35-year-old woman who said she was Helen Marter, Beaumont, was rescued by Stewart Beach police from drowning at 4:30 a.m. Monday.

The police, Officers Otto Black and Roy Rogers were on patrol when they were told that a woman was missing. They made a search of the beach and found the woman floating in the surf.

She was hauled ashore and revived by artificial respiration. At St. Mary's Infirmary, she refused to give any information other than that she was a nurse.

Doctors said her condition was "satisfactory."

Real Security For All

Take Whistler's Mother, the kindly old dame in the armchair with her feet on a footstool and a look of benign beauty on her tired sweet face. Blow up a poster of her ten feet high and print beneath it the caption:

"Would you let your mother starve? No? Then vote to tax perfect strangers to support her."

How proud young men must feel! Mother-love stirs in their breasts. They say: "I'll never let my mother starve. I'll vote for Joe Zilch who promises to take the most money away from perfect strangers and give it to my mother!"

We should be proud that we have educated young men to have such a social outlook, a social conscience, an attitude of saving society rather than merely one individual maternal ancestor.

Time was, in reactionary days gone by, before a young man knew that Society was duty bound to assume his responsibilities for him, the average youth felt a pride, now regarded as anti-social that made him say: "We take care of our own — we don't ask anything from any man — if my family needs me I'll see to it they're provided for myself!"

Now he says: "I pay taxes. I'm hard up. Let the State look out for me."

And so politicians who used to talk about opportunity, bringing new industry to their areas, lowering taxes to make more business possible, now listen to these educated youths who whisper:

"Pss! Take my old lady off my hands, will you? Tax other people to give her enough to go somewhere else to live."

And the pensioners themselves, wooed by a generation of robbers, band together in something called The National Pensioners' League to Lobby for Bigger Pensions, and mutter lecherous self-righteousness:

"There's only one issue in this election! Never mind Russia. Never mind high taxes. Never mind Communism in government. The issue is us old people. Never mind our children, our grandchildren, or our country — vote for the man who'll give the most taxes for us!"

Fortunately our respect for old people is restored every once in a while at meetings such as the El Paso Taxpayer's Association. Here many old people get together with many young people and mutually pledge to each other that each man will agree to abolish his own subsidy in the interest of saving America from the organized "gimme" groups, each of which can put on a pious face and find a noble, self-righteous reason to continue feeding from the public trough.

Such old people as John Hess, described by Thomas Gaskins as refusing his pension unless he could work for it and keep his self respect, remind us that the America of the pioneers, the America of the frontiersmen who crossed oceans in sailing ships, and grassy plains in covered wagons, fighting Indians for the privilege of keeping their independence — such people rekindle our faith that there are old men who still know this. The only security there is comes from trying — not to save our lives, but trying to save our souls. Peace of soul is the real "security" in our lives.

System For Getting Eye Of Waiter Doomed To Fail

By HENRY McLEMORE

By J. P. McEVROY

I have a friend — a free-wheeling soul — who has waiters figured out. He doesn't sit around fuming while waiters ignore his request for the check. He merely waits a decent interval and then picks up a glass or plate and drops it on floor. When waiters come running from every direction he says, "Just put that on my bill."

I have a system, too. I start out as you do, calling "Waiter, waiter" — not really believing it will do any good. Then I snap my fingers; stand up and wave the bill high in the air; make different kinds of noises, such as clucking like a nervous hen, kissing noises, hissing noises — all equally futile and foolish.

I hear some scientist is working on a whistle just for waiters — like the one which only dogs are supposed to hear. I predict it will be an enormous failure. Waiters all over the world and in every language have already shown real genius for developing a protective deafness.

Perhaps the moral is to stay at home and be ignored where you are comfortable and where the price is right. Otherwise you are just another tourist and it is open season all year round for you — at home or abroad. There are bird sanctuaries and buffalo sanctuaries but no sanctuaries where you can relax and enjoy life if you are a tourist.

And there is no legal bag. Anybody in any country can take as many tourists as the law allows — and the law allows all you can take.

To go through life like a tourist is not to know where you are going, or what to do when you get there. Worse, you don't know how to find out. Well, worse, you are too timid or intimidated to try. You don't know the fair prices; the local gimmicks; the native short cuts for those who are hep — the booby traps for those who aren't.

An evening in Naples comes to mind. I made the fatal mistake of not settling the amount of the fare before leaving the hotel. When we arrived at our restaurant only a few blocks away the driver demanded a fantastic sum. I protested. He yelled and screamed, a crowd gathered, and I went inside and brought out the headwaiter to interpret and arbitrate. Without the slightest hesitation he agreed with the driver — and I paid.

Later, in a more philosophical mood — induced by the fabulous Italian food and wine — I said to the headwaiter, "I am not angry any more, only puzzled. You knew the driver was absolutely overcharging me — why did you side with him instead of with us? We were coming here to spend a lot of money with you, Right?"

"That is a good question," said the headwaiter. "I will answer it truthfully. This is the first time you have ever come here and maybe it is the last. But that chauffeur comes here every day, every night, many times, and always he brings us many people who spend much money here."

"If I made him angry he would not come here any more. He would tell tourists my place was no good and he knew a better place and he would take them there."

"Soon all the drivers would be taking all the tourists to other places where the headwaiters and the doormen would be friendly and sympathetic. This is to be regretted, I know — but can it be helped? I think not."

BETTER JOBS

How Lucky Are Our School Children?

Dr. George S. Benson, president of Harding College at Searcy, Arkansas, who sends out a column for newspapers, gives evidence that Isabel Paterson was right when she said most of our trouble comes from "good people."

In a column recently sent out, Dr. Benson reiterates and reiterates that our 30 million American boys and girls are the luckiest boys and girls on the earth. He contends among other things that they are lucky because young Americans have the best educational facilities in the world. He admits that many things need to be corrected or improved, in our school system, but he seems to think the test of education is whether it is better than any other educational system in the world.

He uses other government schools as a standard rather than God's laws as set down by Jesus. The question is not whether it is better than other educational systems, but it is a question of whether a tax-supported school system is in agreement with the Golden Rule and whether it is doing a job to promote beliefs in the responsibility of the individual and his inalienable rights to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

If we judge from how rapidly we are losing more and more of our liberty, it certainly is not a good educational system. In fact, it is not an educational system at all — it is only a system of training of indoctrinating the youth of the land to believe in security rather than liberty. It certainly is not as good an educational system as we had in the United States before most states had compulsory school attendance laws. Then we had competition in education. Now the children are the wards of the state rather than of their parents in most every state in the union. As evidence of this, remember the case of Mrs. William Turner who wanted to educate her own children and was fined in California for her attempt and the Supreme Court refused to hear an Appeal. She is now in Arizona and the educational hierarchy in that state is determined that she shall not have the right to educate her own children there.

Does Dr. Benson believe that a training that violates the Golden Rule can produce results that are in agreement with the Golden Rule? And if Dr. Benson does not think our educational system violates the Golden Rule, let him answer these questions:

1. Would it be a violation of the Golden Rule for one individual, say John Smith, to set up a school and coerce another individual, say Bob Jones, either to pay a fee for Smith's school or leave town?
2. If it is a violation of the Golden Rule for John Smith to coerce Bob Jones to help pay for Smith's school or leave town, wouldn't it be a violation of the Golden Rule for one group, say Group A, to set up a school and coerce another group, say Group B, to either help pay to support Group A's school or leave town?
3. In question 2, Group A could be a majority or it could be a minority. If it is a violation of the Golden Rule for a minority to coerce the majority either to pay a fee or leave town, why isn't it a violation of the Golden Rule for a majority to coerce a minority to either pay a fee or leave town?

Of course, Dr. Benson will not answer these questions without evasion because if he did he would prove that tax-supported schools do violate the Golden Rule. So, Dr. Benson must believe that a school system in order to be "good" does not need to be in harmony with the Golden Rule. He must believe that an evil tree produces good fruits. He must believe that we can correct a practice that violates the Golden Rule.

Dr. Benson hammers away on the freedom in our American system. But we had infinitely more freedom in America before we had compulsory attendance at public schools. Then the National Education Association didn't have a strange hold on the youth of the land. Then parents were responsible for the education of their children and not the state, as is the case in most every state in the union now.

State schools are propaganda for the state, as Aldous Huxley put it: "Universal education has proved to be the State's most effective instrument of universal regimentation and militarization, and has exposed millions, hitherto immune, to the influence of organized lying and the allurements of imbecilities and debasing distractions." (from "Grey Eminence" p. 243)

And yet Dr. Benson congratulates our youth who are being regimented to believe in collectivism. What we need in America is for heads of private colleges to themselves believe in liberty and have enough of a desire for an education that they are willing to have their ideas tested by answering questions.

Only U.S. Money, Vatican Keep Italy From Going Red

By RAY TUCKER

NAPLES — Only vast American economic aid and the tremendous influence of the Vatican on devout Italian women will keep this country from installing a pro-Communist Government within the next few years. Poverty unimaginable to Americans, living side by side with mediaeval wealth and display, makes Italy the most fertile soil in Europe for the Reds.

Now that France has rejected the European Defense Community Treaty, Moscow has intensified its anti-American propaganda here. Italian Reds stage nightly rallies in the wretchedly poor agricultural areas that stretch from here to the toe of the Peninsula. The walls of homes, business houses and factories are plastered with posters, rejoicing over the "death of EDC" as an "act of liberation." The Kremlin seeks to prevent Italian ratification from offsetting the French debacle.

The Communists' principal seat of power used to be in the Northern industrial cities — Milan, Turin, Verona — and they are still strong there. It was the series of strikes and the government paralysis, precipitated by the Reds in the North, that led Mussolini to march on Rome in 1922, and establish his own dictatorship. Industrial improvement and U. S. help has cut down Communist strength here, although they polled 28.5 per cent of the vote in recent elections. Their maximum was 23.9 in 1946.

In the section south of Naples, however, where living standards are notoriously low, the Communists have registered sensational gains. Their 1946 figure of 31.6 per cent has increased to 21.75 per cent. In Sardinia, it has jumped to 21.2 from 12.5. It has tripled in Sicily, rising from 7.9 to 21.8 per cent.

Meanwhile, the rightists, anti-Communist parties — Premier Scelba's Christian Democrats, the Monarchists, Neo-Fascists and lesser groups — remain almost stationary in voting strength. Since that critical year of 1946, when former President Truman and the Pope pooled forces to repel Red efforts to obtain complete control of this poor, Mediterranean nation, conservative groups have raised their 1946 batting average of 20.8 to only 21.8 per cent. In local August elections, held after Russia's recent diplomatic victories, and involving more than 500,000 farmers, the Reds rang up the alarming total of 38.5 per cent of the popular vote.

Anti-Communist leaders advocate formation of a "national bloc" to combat the rising Red tide. It would consist of liberals, conservatives, Royalists and Premier Scelba's Christian Democrats. Such a combination would control about 60 per cent of the popular vote and of the seats in Parliament. It would insure a stable government pending forthcoming conferences on revision of NATO, EDC and the Mediterranean Defense Organization.

The mere suggestion of such a political coalition, in view of the fierceness of factional strife in Italy, reflects the serious concern over the Communist menace from the Alps to the toe pointing to North Africa. But so far the Scelba Government has rejected the unity compromise.

It appears to be the only solution, in the opinion of Anglo-American diplomats. It looks as if President Eisenhower and Prime Min-

Fair Enough

More On FDR Following Pattern Of 'Philip Dru'

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK — I have proved that Franklin D. Roosevelt was intimate with Colonel E. M. House, the revolutionary king-maker of the Wilson and Roosevelt administrations who wrote prophetic novel called "Philip Dru: Administrator" in 1911. Published it in 1912, the year Wilson was first elected, and later tried to disown authorship.

Roosevelt's own writings reflect much of the dictatorial scheme and reasoning which House expressed in the mind of his fictitious West Point revolutionary, Dru. George Sylvester Viereck, a fighting opponent of our fate if not fatal intrusion into the wars of Europe, who ghosted a good deal of writing for House, has added two important items akin to accusations.

He says Roosevelt made his dramatic flight to the 1932 convention in Chicago to accept his first nomination on the advice of House and, soon afterward, sailed up New England waters with two of his sons to call on House and consult him. The latter incident is confirmed by current newspaper clippings and the recollection of individuals. At any rate, Roosevelt was close to House and it is a fact, demonstrable by deadly parallels, that Roosevelt cribbed much of his revolutionary, anti-constitutional program from this-fictionalized scheme hatched in the brain of a mysterious adventurer with no credentials from any electoral constituency, even as small as a precinct: I shall develop these parallels in a separate essay.

They confirm the observation of one of the greatest living figures in the period of the three world wars, that Woodrow Wilson largely resisted House and tried to remain a constitutional Democrat. FDR on the other hand, recklessly cribbed from House's plot, even unto civil disorders disguised as labor "disturbances."

The CIO riots of the period were, in Roosevelt's own words at the time of the Ingelwood brawls, a violent insurrection against the government. There is evidence that the Russian government provided millions of dollars through a great bank in New York to foment these troubles and bring the CIO into substantial being.

I have briefly reported that on Jan. 7, 1933, less than two months before Roosevelt took the oath with his hypocritical crack about money-changers, House published in Liberty Magazine an article entertaining the idea of a dictatorship in the United States. At that time, the connection between Roosevelt and House was known to but few of us. Dictatorship was less realistic and fearsome than it has come to be since. Viereck says he ghosted House's piece about dictatorship and knew what House had in mind. However, it were better to let the article speak for itself, remembering, for irony, that Roosevelt later had Viereck sent to prison for opposing his design of sending this great country to war to save Soviet Russia from her western enemy. Some may object that although this was the effect of Roosevelt's course, it was not his purpose. Be that as it may,

In Liberty for March 7, 1933, he has no electric lights, no running water, no sanitary facilities, no street lights, no movies, no radio, no television. He is living — or existing — behind a tattered Curtain.

Save for a few hundred thousands of the 46,000,000 population, it is a bare and bleak existence. Whether the two great, anti-Red and conservative leaders — President Eisenhower and the Holy Father — can prevent Italy's surrender to Moscow may be decided within the next few months. As of today, it is only an even bet.

GOING TO COLLEGE? WHAT FOR? (The Tulsa Tribune)

By Richard Lydion Jones

In our dictionaries of common usage no word implies more magic than the word "college." In the last sixty years it has grown to mean to American youth the gateway to triumphs. Somehow youths have become convinced that no large opening to a successful life is available to the fellow who does not have a college diploma. So the rush to college halls has grown.

We have acquired the notion that colleges make smart men. Yet, Lincoln, Washington and Benjamin Franklin, to mention a few of our greatest minds, never went to college. Over in England Shakespeare triumphed without the help of a Bachelor's sheepskin. No professor of literature could teach him how to write.

With this increasing rush to college halls it is pertinent to ask how smart have our colleges made us? Men who make work for workers seem to have acquired the notion that the fellow who has gone through college is a little smarter than the fellow who has not. On that presumption it is fair to inquire, "How smart are our colleges?"

Aside from our commonwealth universities, which have so expanded in student population in the last fifty years that they are now overwhelming and distracting to students and teachers alike, all our colleges began through church efforts and with church endowments. Our churches had the idea that through acquiring knowledge and religious consecrations at the same time we would make better citizens. It was a great idea. It is an idea that is by no means abandoned, but it is largely forgotten.

Youth enters college. He is assigned to courses. In most cases the freshman is required to take some mathematics, algebra, ge-

Jane Talk

By JANE KADINGO

Pampa News Women's Editor

HOW MUCH DO WOMEN NOTICE MEN? It may sound like a silly question, but I'm talking about what the men wear and the general impression they give. I'm out to prove that women know what the well-dressed man should wear, as well as the latest female fashions. . . that women do notice what men wear. I think the men sometimes feel they're overlooked in the field of attire with most of the emphasis being placed on women's clothing.

IT ALL BOILS down to the fact that I'm starting a contest beginning today. There is no prize involved — just recognition. All you have to do to enter is write on the back of a postcard: "My vote for the most distinguished Pampa man is (name)," and mail it to Jane Talk Contest, Pampa Daily News, Pampa, Texas. You don't have to sign your name. You can even vote for your own husband, if you like. When selecting a candidate, I suggest you consider his dress and bearing. That is what we're looking for. Let's all vote and prove to the men that we do notice.

A word to the men. . . The women will be watching, so put your best foot forward. The eyes of Pampa women will be upon you. From time to time, we'll announce the leading contenders for the title up to the time the winner is revealed.

"NO MATTER what Dior, Givenchy, Fath, and other French couturiers may try to do with our feminine figures during the coming months, they seem to be pretty well agreed that they're going to leave our legs alone. . . fashion experts say. "Skirt lengths remain normal — and by normal we mean comfortable and attractive. Your neither extremes will show in all their shapely beauty beneath slim, straight skirts or wide, flaring skirts, but the important thing is — they'll show!"

That means we women will pay lots of attention to choosing our hosiery. Our sheer, sheer nylons take on a new importance.

Members of Beta Sigma Phi sorority entertained the new pledges with a breakfast Sunday morning in the Pampa Country Club.

The welcome was presented by Mrs. John Campbell, president; and introductions were made by Mrs. R. J. Sailor Jr. The pledge response was given by Miss Helen Schafer.

RUTH MILLET

Two acquaintances who apparently hadn't seen each other for some time met in a department store and these are the things they chose to talk about:

The heat: "It's been simply terrible, hasn't it. I told John this morning I didn't know whether I was going to get through this summer or not."

Their children: "I'll be so glad when school starts. Having them all at home, I just don't get anything done."

Their vacations: "It's such an effort to get the whole family ready I sometimes think it would be better to stay at home."

As they said "good-bye" one of them gave a half-hearted invitation: "Do come by to see us sometime" and the other gave a disinterested reply: "We never seem to go anywhere, any more."

Does your conversation ever sound like that? If it does, there is not only something wrong with your conversation, there is something wrong with the way you are living.

BROADEN YOUR OUTLOOK
You are so conscious of the small inconveniences and discomforts of living that you can't think of anything else, and so you find it easier to talk about frustrations than about accomplishments or plans.

You want so badly for life to run smoothly that you hate change or any kind, even the change from winter to summer that creates the "problem" of having your own children at home.

You can't even anticipate a trip with pleasure — because instead of thinking of the fun you will have you are thinking of the work involved in getting ready to go away.

The reason you never go anywhere any more isn't because you have so much fun at home you would rather be there than anywhere else, but because going out and doing things is just too much trouble.

Catholic Ladies Plan For Rummage Sale
The Catholic ladies will present a rummage sale Thursday and Friday in the Dunchan Building in the 100-block of West Kingsmill. The sale will open each day at 9:30 a.m. Clothing and household goods will be sold.

Purpose of the sale is to raise money for postage on clothing boxes the women send to Korea and other needy foreign countries.

You can quiet an annoying, creaking floor by working a little moist soap into the cracks between the boards.

Care Of Bulbs Told To Goodwill HD Club
The Goodwill Home Demonstration Club met recently in the home of Mrs. M. E. Ray, 520 Magnolia.

Mrs. Ray presented a demonstration on the care of bulbs, explaining what to do before planting, what kind of soil to use, and the care necessary during storage.

Refreshments of sandwiches and punch were served. Attending the event were Mmes. Bill Grundy, W. C. Epperson, Elmer Balch, Boyd Maul, Bill Cox, Ross Buzzard, Carl Warner, Darrell Hogsett, Johnny Johnson, and Eugene Turner.

LEADERS TRAIN

BABY

One of the worst things you can do to a child is force him to eat. The displeasure experienced by the unwilling eater, doctors tell us, stops the flow of juices that are necessary to digestion. So don't force Baby to eat. Consult your doctor on the best way to educate his taste in food.

If you are a young mother, you may be so anxious to do all that is right for Baby you'll neglect enjoying him. Both you and Baby will be happier if you take time each day to have fun with him, even if occasionally your efficiency slips a bit. Take lots of snapshots and keep a diary of what he does. When he wakes from his afternoon nap, he's likely to be in a playful mood. So be prepared to join him for some fun.

Besides being a large instrument, your piano is also a very delicate one. So, when you clean it, don't touch the inside. Baby this to the expert who tunes it. The cleaning job is usually included in the regular service.

White Deer Bridge Club Has Meeting

Negroes Admitted To Pan Am

EDINBURG, Tex., Sept. 21—UP—Four Negroes have been admitted to Pan American College at Edinburg, the first Negroes ever to attend the school in its 27-year history.

R. P. Ward, president of the college, said Pan American is the only state supported school in Hidalgo county and therefore "we can't comply with the law and the Constitution any other way (than by admitting Negroes)."

"It would cost an awful lot of build a separate plant," he said. The four Negroes are Annie Merl Brannon, Doris Joe Williams, Billy Myers and Mrs. M. D. Betts. Mrs. Betts is an Edinburg teacher who is taking a graduate course, the other three are graduates of the McAllen high school for Negroes.

"I don't think there is anything new in this," Ward said. "It's just the first time (Negroes) ever applied for admission. They just came through like everyone else." Ward said as far as he knows there will be no question or controversy over the Negroes' right to attend the college.

Another state supported college in the region, Texas A&I at Kingsville, has deferred action on the application of a Negro taxi driver for admission this fall. A third South Texas college, Texas Southmost at Brownsville, admitted one Negro student two years ago, but he dropped out after only a few weeks.

Rumor Gives Attlee Credit For Helping To Free Yanks

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 21—UP—"I told the Chinese leaders it was extremely stupid to keep people in jail," British Labor party leader Clement Attlee said Monday when questioned about his rumored part in the release of newsmen Richard Applegate and Donald Dixon by the Chinese Communists.

"It annoys people who should not be annoyed," he said he told the Chinese leaders. "But I take no credit for the release." It had been reported that Attlee had interceded on behalf of the two Americans, who were released last week after imprisonment in Red China for 18 months.

Attlee and his wife stopped here briefly en route to London from the tour of Russia and the Far East by seven leaders of the British Labor party.

He declined to answer questions following a prepared talk on "The Relationship of Red China and Russia." In Honolulu, he had told newsmen he was refusing press comments until he reached London, where it is reported he will serialize his travel observations for British newspapers.

He said it was "natural that they (the Chinese Communists) should feel sympathetic with Russia" since they have been "cut off from other supplies." Wearing a travel-mussed dark blue pin stripe suit, he casually puffed on his pipe and told reporters the Red leaders of China represent a "great Nationalist movement."

U.S. Surplus Buying Plans Being Readied

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21—UP—The Agriculture Department is working out arrangements for the first foreign purchases of American farm surpluses under a $1 billion surplus disposal program.

Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson Sunday night disclosed the "preliminary discussions" and said he hopes to authorize the first purchase "within the next few weeks."

The department is finding out the kinds and amounts of commodities buyers in foreign countries may want to purchase under the part of the three-year-old program which permits the sale of up to $700 million worth of surplus farm crops in exchange for foreign currencies. The Agriculture Department administrators that part of the program and the foreign operations administration handles that part which permits disaster donations of up to $300 million worth.

THE STORY: Mrs. Milton Carlson, one of the wealthy... ..

DUNN pulled in a deep breath, stretched a grin on his face which he hoped looked as meaningless as the expression of the younger man. "I have a little message for you to give your Mrs. Hilton. You tell her to keep her fish on her own side of the lake. And you too, for that matter."

"I'll tell her," Philip said agreeably. "But in the meantime..." The rest of his sentence was drowned out as he started the motor again. The boat jumped forward. He swung it around snarling with speed as he passed the end of the pier. He made a tight turn, passed the pier again, repeated the process. Dunn timed the turns, made a east when the outboard was most distant. He hoped there were too many hungry fish in the well-stocked lake to be disturbed by the commotion. He was right. Philip couldn't make his turns tight enough to keep the water in constant turmoil. There was always some place for Jim to cast, and he caught two more even larger trout in quick succession. The man waved a hand, made a half turn and swept on across the lake.

TOWN GROWS ATOP WATER—Two-story buildings, built on pilings, house workers for a Soviet offshore oil field in the Caspian Sea, about 60 miles from Soviet Republic of Azerbaijan. A hospital, entertainment spots and a place of culture are also part of the settlement. The town and the many oil derricks are connected by 25 miles of pile-supported trestle. Photo and caption are from an official Soviet source.

honey, you don't have to wear that all the time, do you?" "You mean you don't like the new Nancy?"

Jim looked again and still could not repress a shudder. Nancy's trim blue jeans, gay wool shirt and jacket were gone. Instead she wore a short, tight, black dress with an uneven hemline. A pink slip showed in front, and a shoulder strap showed at the V neck. The dress had tiers of dark red material and a sash with a large buckle too low on the skirt. The sleeves were long. Nancy had pinned her hair back, and had make-up crudely applied. Her shoes were high-heeled black pumps on which she had managed to fasten red bows.

He listened to her explanation, only half understanding. He was willing to let it go that his wife had contrived the "outfit" from things she had brought.

JIM shaded his eyes with one hand. "You're actually going to wear that when you finally meet our client?" "Certainly. I do so look forward to our meeting. Do you think I should curtsy? Or should I content myself with a simple 'Yes mom, no mom'?"

"Depends on the infection," Jim said judiciously. "Are you really worrying about what I'll say?" "Frankly, no. Your clothes might be a good idea."

A piece of wood cracked, broke in two in the fireplace. Jim moved reluctantly to put his foot on the glowing ember which had popped out onto the hearth.

He whirled around quickly at the sound of a strangled gasp, a sound completely out of keeping with the mood of the moment.

Nancy had one hand at her throat, was pointing with the other. Her face was very pale now. "What—what happened to you?" he demanded.

"You like my outfit?" she wanted to know. "It's something dark and dowdy I whipped up. More proper for the servant class, you know."

"There are so many more shirts to do since George was promoted from the shop to the office—I don't think the raise was worth it!"

Move To Suburbs A Boon To Press

LAKE PLACID, N. Y., Sept. 21.—Alicia Patterson, editor and publisher of Newsday, said Monday the population switch from cities to suburbs is giving newspapers their greatest opportunity for circulation and advertising gains.

Miss Patterson told the New York State Publishers Association that newspapers must be "tougher, smarter and brighter" to maintain first place over radio and television in the field of communications. She said newspapers should spend more time developing local stories and pictures rather than depending on syndicates and should reconsider the physical appearance of their papers which, she said, "can be 'mightily improved.'"

"The ANPA has no special or unusual power with which to persuade manufacturers to take the results of its research and translate those results into finished products," she said. "Results... will be obtained only when manufacturers and suppliers are convinced it is good business for them to produce those products for a ready market."

"It's up to the publishers to produce that market."

Perfume manufacturers once sent their concoctions to sea to let ship motion thoroughly blend the ingredients. Even now perfume mixtures are sometimes placed in bottles strapped to turntables rocked as if by ocean waves.

RFC Affairs Are Shifted To Treasury

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—UP—Laurence B. Robbins Monday discarded his hat as director of the Reconstruction Finance Corp. and put on a new one as assistant secretary of the Treasury.

The RFC has gone out of business and its few remaining affairs were shifted to the Treasury Department for handling.

Congress stopped the agency's lending powers 51 weeks ago and it officially died June 30.

But Robbins and several hundred other people are hard at work trying to liquidate 961 loans still outstanding. The shadow of RFC, under Robbins in the Treasury Department, will probably linger on until the last loan matures several years from now.

The agency was set up in 1932 to help banks and businesses hard hit by the depression. It was supposed to be temporary, but it lasted 22 years and made loans totaling nearly $50 billion.

WHERE'S MISS MIZZOU?

Readers of "Steve Canyon," which appears in The Pampa Daily News, would swear the toothsome blonde is up in the north woods with Milton Caniff's comic strip hero. But airmen at Nellis, Nev., Air Force Base know better. That's original "Miss Miz-zou" right there on the wing of that jet fighter plane. She's Bek Stiner, a chorus girl at The Sands Hotel in Las Vegas, who posed for the first Miz-zou drawings when Caniff introduced the character into the strip.

Oklahoma City Puts Up Tallest Structure

EDITOR'S NOTE: The recent series of stories on the tallest buildings in the world prompted Oklahoma City to point out that New York's Empire State building may be the loftiest building but is no longer the highest man-made structure. A new television antenna in Oklahoma rises 100 feet higher than Manhattan's highest.

By HOWARD WILSON
OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 21—A new television antenna tower just completed here is so tall that from its top you could look down, not up, at the Empire State building.

The needle-like tower of station KWTW ("world's tallest video") rises 1,572 feet into the Oklahoma sky and ranks as the tallest man-made structure on earth. But the Empire State building, though 100 feet shorter, is still a better tourist attraction. After a trip to the top of the KWTW tower it is possible to report that as a perch for sightseeing it is strictly for the birds.

An elevator was built into the tower so workmen wouldn't have to spend most of their time climbing the slender framework. The two-foot by two-foot elevator cage whoshes the passenger up to a narrow steel beam that seems closer to heaven than to earth. The Steel Sings. The wind sings the steel. The desire to hug the nearest cross-beam with both arms is irresistible.

But workmen fitting together the final connections for television transmission climb about with un-studied nonchalance. They don't use safety belts. "When you have to move around a belt gets in your way," explained Eddie G. Bures, one of the high-altitude construction men.

KWTW began using its 565,000 tower Sunday on a reduced-power basis. The station expects to turn its full 50,000 watts of power into the antenna in a week or 10 days, and hopes its picture will then jump crystal-clear into TV receivers "in the far corners of Oklahoma."

KWTW General Manager Edgar T. Bell said the station built such a high tower not to set any building record but to provide greater coverage for the station. "We're especially concerned with bringing the urban and rural families in the state the informative, educational type of programs as well as the finest entertainment," he said.

The station expects good reception beyond a 100-mile radius of the tower, although the line-of-sight mileage from the top to the horizon is about 60 miles.

Utilities Official Speaks For Customers, Gets Fired

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 21—UP—A high official of Mississippi Power and Light Co. was promptly fired Sunday after his charge that customers of the private utility are saddled with excessive rates because the company is "dominated" by New York interests.

Chaplains, Crew Saved By Prayers

NEWHALL, Calif., Sept. 21—UP—Fifteen Civil Air Patrol chaplains and three Air Force crew members Tuesday credited heroism and prayer for their successful escape from a burning C-46 transport plane that crashed near here.

None of the chaplains was seriously injured as they landed by parachute in widely scattered sections of Bouquet Canyon's brush-covered slopes. None of them missed spotting a helicopter that arrived a little later and guided them to safety.

The plane set off three brush fires when it crashed at the Los Angeles police department's rehabilitation center near Newhall. Several inmates took a 2 and 1/2 inch hose line to the crash scene in hopes of saving anyone in the flames. One person, Earl W. Sharp, was burned.

Credited as the hero of the drama in the air was Maj. Bertil von Norman, 41, pastor of the West Hollywood Presbyterian church. He was the last of the chaplains to hit the silk after he slapped the others on the seats, or, in some cases, pushed them out.

Maj. Thomas E. Wilson, the transport's pilot, said he was the last person to bail out. The chaplains were enroute to Mather Air Force Base at Sacramento, Calif., for a conference. The plane had taken off from the Lockheed air terminal in Burbank, Calif., and to look at the top you can get a crick in the neck very easily," said Montez Tjaden, KWTW promotion director.

Construction was completed in a little over three months with no serious casualties. But KWTW has warned spectators of one hazard. "If you stand up close and try to look at the top you can get a crick in the neck very easily," said Montez Tjaden, KWTW promotion director.

Texas Actress, Greece Wants Back Island Lost In B. C.

READING, Pa., Sept. 21—UP—Actress Kalita Humphries Burson, 40, and her husband, Joseph Kline Burson, 34, Liberty, Tex., were killed Saturday when their private monoplane crashed on a 1,600-foot mountain near here.

Burson, who recently played a benefit role of a pilot who survived a plane crash, and his wife were enroute from Liberty to New York for a month's vacation.

State police said Burson, who learned to fly a year ago, may have been lost in a heavy overcast and came down to a lower level to get his bearings. His plane crashed against a mountain known as Pinnacle Hill.

Mrs. Burson recently completed an 11-week run of "Affairs of State" at the Alley Theater in Houston, Texas.

Stanley Kunkle, 10, told police he heard the plane circle his home a few minutes before it crashed.

The boy said it did not appear to be in trouble. Then, he said, he heard the engine being "gunned" and the crash. He and his cousin, John Kunkle, made their way to the wrecked plane, found the Greece intends to make a strong bid at the United Nations General Assembly which opens Tuesday to get back an island it lost nearly 2,500 years ago.

Strangely, it will have the support of the Communists in its bid, even though communism is outlawed in Greece.

The question why the Reds should want the island turned over to one of the most bitter anti-Communist countries in the world is one that puzzles Western diplomats.

The island is Cyprus, now a British crown colony, at the eastern end of the Mediterranean.

Its recorded history goes back nearly 800 years before Christ. Mythology records that Aphrodite, the Greek goddess of love, rose from the foam of the sea to make her first appearance on Cyprus.

Cyprus has been ruled by Egyptians, Persians, Romans, Arabs, bodies and notified police.

Mrs. Burson met her husband in Waco while both played in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street."

He was director of Liberty's bi-centennial celebration scheduled for next year.

Holds Invaders At Bay

Only Thing Between Reds And Formosa Is 7th Fleet

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — If the Chinese Communists attempt an invasion of Formosa, as they threaten, it will probably be the bloodiest naval engagement in history.

Bloody for the enemy, that is. Because the U.S. Seventh Fleet which is protecting the Strait of Formosa is one of the most alert and most powerful peacetime fighting forces Uncle Sam has ever maintained on the sea.

The only possible hope of success for Red leaders in such a venture would be to employ their favorite tactic of sacrificing unlimited numbers of men to gain an objective.

Their gamble would be trying to get enough men through the deadly hail of everything the Seventh Fleet can deliver — from atomic bombs to massed machine gun fire — to establish a beach head against the U.S.-trained forces of Chiang Kai-shek.

7th FLEET BOSS is Admiral Alfred M. Pride, Pacific veteran.

Reconnaissance by planes of the Seventh Fleet, and other intelligence information, indicates the Chinese Reds have massed an impressive invasion armada of junks, sampans and other small craft on the mainland coast.

Most of them are wooden vessels and have only make-shift armament. They range from small boats which carry four or five men to big junks which can hold up to 200 soldiers.

The exact size and deployment of the Seventh Fleet arrayed against this junk fleet is a secret. But some fairly close estimates can be made of its minimum size. Four large carriers — the Boxer, Philippine Sea, Hornet and Yorktown — are the vital striking force of the fleet, although one or two are periodically out of the Formosa area.

They launch jets and prop planes which fire rockets, missiles, cannons and can drop A-bombs.

The normal force supporting four carriers is four or five heavy cruisers, 16 to 24 destroyers and a varying assortment of smaller escort craft, mine layers, mine sweepers, seaplane units and smaller gunboat types. The fleet is supplied at sea from Japan.

New commander of the Seventh Fleet is Admiral Alfred M. Pride, a well-decorated veteran of the Pacific in World War II and former head of the Bureau of Aeronautics. He is a quiet, soft-spoken man of sound judgment, not one to make a mistake in any emergency which might develop around Formosa.

The basic mission of the Seventh Fleet is to protect American interests in the Far East and carry out America's defense agreements with the Philippines, Japan and Australia.

At the start of the Korean War, former President Truman ordered the fleet to "neutralize" the waters around Formosa. President Eisenhower amended this to give the Nationalists permission to make any strikes against the mainland, with the U.S. Navy continuing to defend the island against the Reds.

Officers who have been on the staff of the Seventh Fleet recently and have participated in the Formosa patrols have formulated a pretty good picture of the type of probably even fire mortars. Even the guns of the mine sweepers would be fired. We'd ram the wooden boats and set them afire with incendiary ammunition," one of them says.

"It would be unbelievable slaughter. The planes from the carriers would have two missions. One would be fighting off the MIGs which would probably attack us. The other would be bombing and strafing the invasion boats."

Even if the Reds managed to get a force through that kind of defense and make a beach head on Formosa, the fleet could continue to bombard enemy forces and keep them from getting supplies.

The Navy says the Chinese Reds have no submarines, but that the Russians about 100 undersea craft operating in the area. If the Russians used their subs in this effort the Seventh Fleet would be hurt. But it has extensive anti-sub weapons.

The distance across the Strait is about 95 miles, a long trip for an exposed, slow invasion armada. It could be launched from anywhere on a 500-mile strip on the mainland.

Navy experts are skeptical that the action would be worth the use of an A-bomb. But numbers of them would be available in an emergency.

One Navy expert says: "Communist Chinese soldiers might be tough as hell in the jungle or in the mountains of Korea but the minute they get into water over six feet they are over their head both literally and figuratively. They'd find that out fast if they try an invasion of Formosa."

Rogers Scores Bickering On Subject Of Subsidies

"Our progress would be so much better if some of the attempts to set one segment of our economy against the other should cease."

Rep. Walter Rogers of Pampa, who is home for several weeks, feels that statement applies particularly to the matter of subsidies.

The House Agriculture Committee has put out a report showing that the price support program has cost $1,194.8 million since it began in 1933, the congressman says in his weekly newsletter. Nearly half of that figure was a loss occasioned by the Irish potato famine, which accounted for an estimated $478 million.

Serious Delay Warded Off

It was pointed out in the report, Rogers goes on, that most of the costs of the price support operations occurred during the post-war time, business reconversion payments by the government amounting to over $40 billion.

"There is really no reason to try to build up a big bugaboo about so-called subsidies or special services or incentive benefits, or what you want to call them," the Pampa continues. "The truth is that these payments have actually gone into all segments of our economy, and it hardly behooves one group to criticize the other. The further truth is, much has been accomplished in this manner that would otherwise have been delayed for many years."

When the first Congress convened in 1789, Rogers says, going back in U. S. history, its first act was to devise a system for administering oaths. The next business was the enactment of a tariff bill. "This legislation set up a subsidy principle that has been followed in many forms."

The government granted more than 6,000,000 acres of public land to private interests, between 1827 and 1866, the congressman points out. It was to encourage canal building and river improvement, plus right-of-way grants.

Oil Firms Said Backing Price Wars

HOUSTON, Sept. 21 — UP — Some 500 gas filling station owners caught in a developing price squeeze Monday said they would lodge charges that two major oil companies were trying to foment a price war here.

C. N. (Mel) Wolfe, executive committee chairman of the Greater Houston Service Station Association, said the charges would be filed with State Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd in Austin Monday.

The oil companies involved are Shell and Gulf.

"We are going to lay our cards on the table and tell Shepperd what is happening in Houston," Wolfe said. "We will tell the attorney general that both Shell and Gulf are conspiring with their dealers to cut gas prices in direct violation of anti-trust laws."

Wolfe said "those two companies are trying their best to start a price war and if it bursts out into full strength, at least 50 per cent of the Houston station operations will go broke."

Some 30 Shell and Gulf outlets city's 1,200 gas stations have cut prices 2 cents a gallon on both regular and premium gasoline in the last two weeks, along with other stations in eight other Texas cities.

The dealers said they were trying to offset competition from "neutral operators who sell other than major brand gas."

Spokesmen for both Shell and Gulf denied they were trying to start a price war.

Eric R. Boswell, Shell district manager, and Don Riddle, Gulf executive, both said "we don't want any price war."

However, Riddle added that his company would continue to meet competitive prices to "protect our dealers."

OLE MAN INJURY IS STILL hampering the Fighting Harvesters.

Two more PHS gridders have been sidelined for Friday night's tilt at Vernon — tackle Jerry McNaughton and halfback Carl Blonkvist.

This duo joins another tackle, Ben Sturgeon, and end Jesse Ring on the disabled list. The Harvesters were thin on tackle strength (numerically wise) when fall practice opened and now two of the hunky linemen at this position have been sidelined indefinitely.

Sturgeon, of course, is still recuperating from a fractured foot he suffered in an early fall workout.

McNaughton joined Ben on the sidelines after last week's win over Austin of El Paso with a wrenched knee.

Coach Aubra Nooncaster, at last night's Quarterback Club meeting, said "we've got ends playing tackle; guards playing tackle and still haven't come up with any suitable combination at this spot."

Blonkvist wasn't hurt on the gridiron but nevertheless he will be out of action indefinitely.

The reserve Harvester halfback was injured in a fall from a horse Sunday evening. The horse Blonkvist was riding became excited when a rabbit darted in front of him and he ran under a tree, knocking Carl unconscious to the ground.

He received cuts and bruises about his head and face. It was first thought that Blonkvist suffered a slight concussion but an X-Ray examination revealed no concussion.

When Blonkvist was being revived following his fall from the horse, he said:

"Let me alone. I can walk off this football field by myself."

Well, for a team that is shy on personnel, the Harvesters are certainly having ill luck in the injury department.

The four injuries now cut the squad to a total of 34, far below average of Class AAAA squads.

"VERNON HAS A GOOD TEAM and will be tough to beat," assistant Dwayne Lyon told the Quarterback Clubbers last night.

Lyon scouted Vernon in the Lions' 8-0 loss to Wichita Falls two weeks ago.

"Vernon has a big line and with a lot of experience," Lyon said.

Nooncaster, in reviewing Lyon's scouting notes on Vernon, said it's going to be difficult to set a defense for them. The Harvesters coaches held a long confab last night after the QB meeting to study the situation over.

Sad Sam Hurls Oilers Back Into Playoff Lead

Williams Stops Clovis For 3rd Playoff Win

CLOVIS, Sept. 21 — Sad Sam Williams hurled the Pampa Oilers back into the lead in the playoff finals of the West Texas-New Mexico League here Monday night as the Texans recorded a 6-3 decision over the Clovis Pioneers.

The victory gave the Oilers a 2-1 lead in the series. Play continues tonight in the best four-out-of-seven series with the veteran Red Dial, the winningest pitcher in the WT-NM over the regular season, due to hurt for the Pioneers, Jim Lemons (7-8) on the regular season, is due to get the opening assignment for the Oilers.

Williams, in pitching the Oilers to victory here Monday, had the Pioneers completely baffled throughout the game with exception of one inning—the third—when the homeesters scored all of their runs.

The Oilers, however, had already scored four runs before the Clovis rally in the third and Williams tightened up after the big Pioneer inning to protect the winners' lead.

Sad Sam did not allow a hit from the fourth inning to the ninth. Pete Trabucco broke the hitless spell of the Pioneers when he led off the ninth with a bunt single.

But the Pioneer centerfielder was stranded on the initial sack as Williams retired the next three Pioneers in order to end the game.

The Oilers took the lead in the second inning with a single run and were never headed. Dick Hairston started the inning by drawing a walk. He advanced to third on two passed balls and scored on Ben Felder's sacrifice fly.

The visitors made it 4-0 in the third, scoring three runs with the aid of some faulty fielding on the part of the Pioneers. With one away, Doug Lewis got life on third baseman Chuck Steele's miscue. Lewis moved to second on Rudy Tanner's single and bases became loaded when Hank Pasiewicz booted I. B. Palmer's grounder to short.

Hairston then lined a single to center to score Lewis and Tanner. Palmer later scored the third run of the inning on Felder's ground-out.

Clovis rallied in bottom of the third to score all of their runs to narrow the Oilier lead to 4-3. Virgil Richardson's two-run double scored the rally. Richardson scored the third run on Lynn Boyd's single.

After the third, the Pioneers were helpless at the plate as Williams mowed 'em down rest of the way. It was Sad Sam's third win in playoff competition. He compiled a 15-10 record for the year.

Six Teams Remain Unbeaten In 1-A

District 1-A still has six unbeaten teams after the second full week of activity for the 1954 season.

Four of the teams have 2-0 records while two own 1-0 status. Canadian, Lefors, Clarendon and Gruver have each won their first two starts while McLean and Memphis are undefeated in their lone starts thus far.

Of the unbeaten teams, Canadian faces the toughest assignment this week. The Canadian team takes on rugged Perryton of District 1-AA who is unbeaten in three starts this season.

Lefors, who has won both of its games by 8-0 margins, will open its home schedule against Shamrock of District 1-AA.

Clarendon takes on the Pampa B team Shockers at Pampa Thursday night.

Gruver, the other two-time winner in the district, has an open date this week.

McLean will return to action this week after a week's layoff since their season opening 45-6 win over Shamrock. The Tigers will meet Lockney at McLean Friday night.

Memphis also was idle last week after winning its season opener and will face a rugged foe this week at Canyon.

Following is the District 1-A score board:

DISTRICT 1-A STANDINGS (Full Season)

Rangers Head Winner's List In 1-AA Race

The Perryton Rangers and Phillips Blackhaws continue to set the pace in the non-district warfare of the District 1-AA grid competition through the first three weeks of play.

The Rangers head the list in the matter of wins with three. Phillips has played only two and won them both easily. In fact, Perryton hasn't been pressed this season either.

Phillips has averaged 52.8 points in its two games while Perryton has averaged 41 points in her three outings.

Perryton is expected to face its sternest test of the season Friday night when she takes on the unbeaten Canadian Wildcats at Perryton. Canadian, of District 1-A, is unbeaten in two starts.

Phillips, however, isn't expected to encounter much trouble this week in disposing of Wellington.

Two other District 1-AA teams own unbeaten marks. Canyon and Dumas. Canyon has a 2-0 record while Dumas is unbeaten in two tries but has been tied once.

Following is the District 1-AA score board:

DISTRICT 1-AA STANDINGS (Full Season)

PHS' Friday Foe, Vernon, Boasts Weight

By E. J. WADKINS
Vernon Record Sports Editor

VERNON, Sept. 21 — (Special)

Vernon's Lions are slated for one of their toughest drils of the young season Wednesday afternoon as a 42-candidate working out but probably no more than 35 will suit up Friday night.

It will be the second game of the season for the Lions, who lost their Sept. 10 opener to Wichita Falls, 9-0. It was a bitter loss to the experienced Lions who fumbled away the game to a lighter hit faster Coyote eleven.

Coach Harold "Spot" Collins has 42 candidates working out but probably no more than 35 will suit up Friday night.

The Lions will field a starting line with an average weight of 177 pounds and a starting backfield with an average weight of 168 pounds.

No serious injuries have bobbed up to hobble the Lions unbalanced line and Michigan-T attack.

Savior Jerry Pearson is the man under with Robert Pigg and Carl Franks on the flanks and Bill Lovelace at fullback. Pigg and Lovelace are 175-pounds and Franks weighs 165 pounds.

Sophomore Robert Christopher, a 170-pounder, also will probably see a lot of action, and Robert Bailey and Bob Bryant were used considerably in the defensive backfield against Wichita Falls.

Up front the Lions forward wall is anchored by 185-pound Joe Hickey, senior, at center. Probable starting guards are Tommy Stamps and Dick Sewell, 160-pounds; tackles are Marvin Foster, 180, and Millard Glass, 195; and ends are Benny Goodrum, 165, and Gene Miller, 190.

LEO DUROCHER

praises Antonelli, Willie

Antonelli, Willie Key Men In Flag Drive

BROOKLYN, Sept. 21 — UP—

Manager Leo Durocher Tuesday singled out centerfielder Willie Mays and pitcher Johnny Antonelli as "the two key men" in the New York Giants' drive to the National League pennant.

"I said in the spring we'd be tough if Willie and Antonelli came through," Leo said. "Well, they came through and I was right. They were picking us up to finish third in the spring but I knew we were a better team than that. I won't say I thought we would win the pennant, but I knew we were better than that."

Mays slashed two singles and a double to take over the National League batting lead with a .341 batting mark in Monday night's 7 to 1 clincher over the Brooklyn Dodgers, while Antonelli has a 21-8 won-lost record and leads the league in earned run average.

Durocher insisted he "hasn't given the World Series a thought," but Brooklyn Manager Walt Alston warned the Cleveland Indians "to expect a tough fight."

August Was Decisive

"The Giants have been good in the clutch all year," Alston said. "I don't see why they shouldn't be tough in the Series."

Durocher singled out Aug. 9 as the key date in the National League pennant race, stating, "I knew then we were in the race all the way."

"We just lost three straight to the Dodgers and our lead was down to a half-game," Durocher said. "When the team bounced back from that with a winning streak, I knew we were going down to the wire with 'em."

Leo Glos

There was a glow on Leo's face when he was asked whether the Giant victory this year made him as happy as the "miracle" 1951 triumph clinched by Bobby Thomson's pinch homer.

"This bunch isn't as dramatic as the 1951 bunch," Leo conceded with a broad grin. "But they're just as happy. They're a better team than the 1951 team — got more bench and more bullpen."

In the tumult of the victorious dressing room Monday night, Durocher had praise for everyone — except himself.

Champagne Flows

"They were all just wonderful, just wonderful," Durocher said. "In the clutch, they had it. This is a team that seems to play its best in the clutch. They did all year long."

It's Indians Vs. Giants In 1954 World Series Classic

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press Sports Writer

The Giants playing the Dodgers Tuesday with aching heads and light hearts because Sal (the Barber) Maglie already has assured them of a World Series date next Wednesday with the Cleveland Indians.

The Giants clinched the National League pennant Monday night and touched off showers of champagne in their clubhouse by whipping Brooklyn, 7 to 1. It was fitting that it was Maglie who squashed Brooklyn's faint hopes, officially ending the Dodgers' two-year reign as National League champions by limiting them to five hits in their own backyard.

For 37-year-old Sal always has been tough for the Dodgers, even when they were kings of the league. His lifetime record against Brooklyn stands at 22 victories against eight losses.

The Dodger-Tamer

He has lost only once at Ebbets Field. He dropped a 9 to 1 decision last July 26 at Brooklyn and was chased in another start there Aug. 13.

But Monday night, he was his old Dodger-taming self, getting better as the game went along. He eliminated his 11th victory at Ebbets Field by retiring 13 of the 13 men he faced.

His catcher, Wes Westrum, said Maglie "pitched as good the last six innings as he's ever pitched. He wasn't so hot in the first three, but he suddenly got sharp in the fourth and he kept getting better."

Willie Was There

Maglie's 14th 1954 victory put New York 6 1/2 games ahead of the Dodgers, who have only five remaining games.

Willie Mays, Hank Thompson and Monte Irvin backed Maglie's pitching with clutch hitting. They collected eight of New York's 13 hits and accounted for five of the seven runs.

A Mays single scored Whitey Lockman in the first inning and Thompson followed with a single that scored Al Dark with what proved the winning run.

Batchelor Testifies He Always Loved His Country

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 21 —UP— Cpl. Claude Batchelor testified at his court martial, on charges of collaborating with his Chinese Communist captors and tattling on fellow American POWs, that he has always loved the United States.

Civilian defense attorney Joel Westbrook asked Batchelor, a 22-year-old soldier from Kermit, Tex., as his last question Monday: "Corporal Batchelor, do you love your country?"

"Yes, sir, I always have," he replied.

Batchelor, who planned for a portion of his 38 months in a North Korean prison camp to become a "peace fighter" for the Communists, said he finally rejected communism because the Reds didn't practice in their prison camp what they preached.

The Army, meantime, called back for further cross-examination Sgt. William Skipper, 24, of Ayer, Mass. Skipper had testified last week that an Army witness, S-Sgt. Bernard Bull, couldn't have heard Batchelor squeal on a fellow prisoner.

Conflicting Testimony

Bull, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., had testified he heard Batchelor tell the Chinese Communists which American had a motion picture camera being used to take pictures of Communist atrocities.

Skipper said last week that Bull told him he was confined in the bathroom and not in a room adjoining the headquarters of the camp commandant, a Chinese nick-named "the screaming skull," during the period when he reportedly eavesdropped on Batchelor's tattling.

But Monday Skipper said, "after further study and recollection," he recalled that his conversation with Bull was "nothing but a bull session."

Skipper had been named in a statement given by Batchelor to Army intelligence officers, which is a part of the court martial's evidence, as a leading prison camp "progressive," or Communist sympathizer.

Red Front Planned

Batchelor, telling in his statement about a proposed Ex-POW Welfare Association which was to be a front for Communist activity, said he first was selected to head it. But when he belatedly decided to accept repatriation, he said, the Chinese finally decided William C. Skipper was the "best qualified prisoner to take my place."

Batchelor named a number of other prisoners, who were to keep in touch with the leader, and said "if there are any Americans who have missions for the Communists, I feel (they) are the ones."

James Drought, a defense lawyer, asked Skipper if he had changed his testimony because his wife had been bothered by a number of persons calling their home.

Skipper denied that was the reason, although he said his wife had left their home because of the calls.

CLOSING THE RING—These kittens seem a trifle apprehensive as they close in on this tiny skunk, as it was fully equipped. However, moments later, the kittens proved hospitable and welcomed their new friend to the Fletcher Tiger Ranch, northwest of Deming, N. M.

THEY ALWAYS SAY THE SAFEST PLACE TO BE IS IN A CROWD

TORONTO —UP— Two well-dressed youths shouldered their way through a crowded New York restaurant Sunday night with a heavy object wrapped in a raincoat. One customer quipped, "They're probably taking the safe."

They were. It contained about $3,000.

'Loan Shark' Methods Told

TOPEKA, Kan., Sept. 21 —UP— He was the first witness before the Senate Judiciary subcommittee hearing presided over by Sen. William Langer (R-N.D.).

The hearing in Kansas Senate chamber, due to last two or three days, signaled the start of a national anti-trust investigation into the sale of life, health and accident insurance by small loan companies.

A U. S. Senate subcommittee hearing was told Monday some Kansas small loan companies hoodwinked borrowers into buying insurance policies with death benefits as much as 40 times greater than the amount of the loan.

The short-term loans of a few dollars were conditional upon the borrower taking out health and accident insurance, testified Kansas Attorney General Harold R. Frazier.

Three Killed In San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 21 —UP— Three persons were killed Monday in a head-on collision at a South San Antonio intersection.

They were Anthony Jasik, 19, and Joseph Divin, 18, both of Lore, near Pleasanton, and Robert C. Knowles, 28, of San Antonio.

Police said the car carrying the Lore men was traveling north into San Antonio at a high rate of speed when it collided with Knowles' car. Milton Palmer, 19, of Lore was critically injured.

A spare tire from the Lore car broke loose and whirled into a nearby service station, where it sent two truck drivers running for cover.

Dope Squad Nabs Hormel Heir

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 21 —UP— George A. Hormel II, 26, heir to a $7 million meat packing fortune, denied Monday that he had bought narcotics as charged by two police officers who arrested him and threatened to file a complaint against his house guest, screen starlet Rita Moreno.

The officers arrested Hormel Sunday after they found 13 marijuana cigarettes cached above the sun visor of his automobile. The heir denied he had purchased the narcotics, saying, "I have never used narcotics and never expect to." He was released after posting $1,500 bond.

Apple Surprise

MANCHESTER, Conn. —UP— Harry Weinstein, 41, thought a late spring hailstorm that knocked the blossoms from his apple trees had killed the trees. He got the surprise of his life when the trees burst out in a new growth of blossoms about two months later.
