NUERNBERG, Germany —(AP)— A four-man U. S. Court, opening the war crimes trial of 24 directors of the billion dollar I. G. Farben Chemical Trust, heard the prosecution charge today that they deliberately fostered Adolf Hitler's war of aggression for their own profit.

And further than that, Brig. Gen. Telford Taylor told the court, they would breed a new war if they got another chance.

"These are the men who made war possible, and they did it because they wanted to conquer," said Taylor, the United States Chief of Counsel for War Crimes.

"These men were governed by the same unquenchable thirst for power that for years has gripped and distorted the minds of the military caste and many other leading Germans. Their long range objective was ultimately the domination of the chemical industry of the world.

"What these men did was done with the utmost deliberation, and would, I venture to surmise, be repeated if the opportunity should recur."

The defendants were the men who ran I. G. Farben—its official name is I. G. Farbenindustrie Aktiengesellschaft—which is the world's biggest chemical combine, and allegedly used it as a tool for Nazi conquest. Twenty-one of the 24 pleaded innocent on arraignment Aug. 14.

For their trial, which may well establish an important precedent by holding industrialists as well as political and military leaders responsible for plotting aggression, the Farben officials set in the same dock were Hermann Goering and his Nazi colleagues were tried at the 20,000-word indictment under which the defendants are being tried charges in scorching phrases that without Farben Hitler would have been powerless to start the war or to wage it so successfully for so long. It accused Farben of plundering subjugated countries and of working slave laborers to death, with the crematorium their ultimate destination.

Twenty-two of the 24 indicted men were in the dock today. Max Brueggeman, secretary of Farben's board of directors, was seriously ill with a heart ailment, and Karl Wurster, a director, was recuperating from an operation. Carl Lautenschlager was not present at the Aug. 14 arraignment because of the death of his son, but was present today.

The other defendants are: Carl Krauch, chairman of Farben's supervisory board of directors; Herman Schmitz, chairman of the managing board of directors; George von Schnitzler, chief of all foreign and domestic sales divisions; Fritz Gajewski, Heinrich Heine, August von Knieriem, Fritz Ter Meer, Christian Schneider, Otto Ambrog, Ernest Buerger, Meinrich Buettelich, Paul Harfliger, Max Ligner, Friedrich Jaehne, Hans Kuehne, Wilhelm Mann, Heinrich Oster, Walter Duerrfeld, Heinrich Gettincau, Erich von der Heyde, and Hans Kuegler.

Judges hearing the case were Curtis G. Shake of Vincennes, Ind.; Paul M. Herbert of Baton Rouge, La.; James Morris of Bismarck, N. D.; and Clarence F. Merrell of Indianapolis.

Britain Announces Drastic Cuts

Food, Foreign Travel Among Items Reduced

LONDON—(AP)—The British government announced tonight drastic new cuts in food, foreign travel, gasoline and other items to reduce the national trade deficit of 600,000,000 pounds ($2,400,000,000) by more than one third.

The new restrictions, announced in the vacation absence of Prime Minister Attlee, cut the present weekly meat ration of one shilling, two pence (about 24 cents) to one shilling (20 cents).

It also froze the tea ration at the present reduced level of two ounces a week—a heavy blow to one of the world's greatest tea-drinking nations—and ordered "substantially reduced" supplies of food to restaurants.

In addition, the period during which people can stay at a hotel without surrendering ration books was reduced from four days to two. Imports of certain luxury foods, to be announced later, were prohibited.

"Steps are being taken," the announcement said, "to limit the number of, and attendance at, public luncheons and dinners."

Foreign travel for pleasure after Oct. 1 was virtually outlawed for British citizens by the new regulations, which said the provision of foreign currency for that purpose would be "wholly suspended."

The recently announced limit of 35 pounds sterling ($140) for pleasure trips abroad will take effect immediately, rather than on the previously announced date of Oct. 1, and the government urged that no one take a vacation abroad next month "unless he has already entered into commitments which he cannot break."

September thus will be the last month that Britons can vacation outside the sterling area.

Another blow was complete abolition of the basic gasoline ration, recently reduced from allowances for 270 to 180 miles a month.

The No. 10 Downing Street announcement made it clear that these economies may be followed by still further cuts. Of "even greater importance," the statement said, is increasing production.

Borger Youth Is Held in Murder Of Stepmother

Leroy "Tex" Chivers, 17, slight, sandy haired Borger youth, remained in Hutchinson County Jail this morning awaiting his preliminary hearing on a charge of murder with malice aforethought.

The teen-age boy was charged by District Attorney W. L. McConnell of Perryton at 1 p. m. yesterday.

A motive for the shooting was established yesterday according to a statement by Deputy Sheriff Jess Love and District Attorney McConnell after the lad signed a statement in their presence at 6 p. m., but both refused to reveal any information on the statement or a "motive" to Borger newsmen.

Borger newsmen reported that Mrs. Norman Chivers, 35, dead stepmother of the lad, was shot four times with a .22 calibre rifle; one of the bullets lodging in her right shoulder, another one passing through it, another bullet lodged in her head and still another one through the neck. She was found shortly after 11 a. m. in the bedroom of her home at 1012 Cobble Drive, Borger.

Young Chivers, a native of Borger, formerly attended Phillips High School and had recently returned from the South Eastern Summer School in Detroit, Mich.

Justice of the Peace C. C. McClellan, acting as coroner, issued a verdict of murder yesterday.

Borger newsmen added that young Chivers went to his father, a jeweler, after the shooting and turned over to the sheriff's office in Borger, where the story was told.

Deputy Love brought the charge of murder against the youth and filed it with County Attorney Leigh Fisher. From there it was turned over to the district attorney's office.

Mrs. Chivers had been married to the boy's father for about 15 years. His mother, now Mrs. H. V. Rollins, resides in Borger.

Boy and His Dog Play Last Time

FORT WORTH—(AP)—Phillip Neil Crutcher, 13, and his dog, "Butch," won't play together today as they did yesterday.

The boy and his dog romped in the youngster's second floor bedroom yesterday at River Oaks.

They began to play with a rope that hung from the rafter of the room.

As they played, the youngster somehow tripped or fell and his neck was caught tight in a loop at the end of the rope.

Butch, helplessly, looked on. The dog saw his playmate struggle for a while, then go limp. There was nothing Butch could do.

After a while, Phillip's mother called up to her son that dinner was ready.

She got no response, but like all mothers she knew that children at play were sometimes hard of hearing at dinner time.

"Phillip," she called again in a little stern tone.

But again there was no answer.

Limit on Veto Power Is Urged As Fight Renewed

LAKE SUCCESS—(AP)—Paris El Khoury, Security Council President, took a firm stand today for restricting the big power veto solely to questions enforcing world peace.

A note in the dispute by France, a losing battle at this time.

El Khoury, a Syrian, stated his position as the Council was called to meet for another tussle on the veto, which has been invoked 26 times in United Nations history—18 times by Russia, twice by France.

There was no prospect of any change in the set-up.

El Khoury, who has said that the veto has frustrated the will of the majority, declared in a discussion off the Council floor that the veto should be applied only to calling out troops for UN action to preserve peace and similar strong measures under the U. N. Charter.

He said that the veto should not apply on other matters, particularly on admitting new members.

Council delegates waited for Soviet Russia and continued to tip the odds on the Egyptian case. Delegates of those two countries are slated to speak tomorrow (10:30 a. m. EDT) and then the Council hopes to vote. It also hopes to start a vacation Friday.

The main point in the Anglo-Egyptian case is a Brazilian resolution calling on Egypt and Britain to resume negotiations to settle their differences.

Egypt does not like that resolution; the British, who do not have described Egypt's storm, reported the Council meeting of Egypt yesterday was interrupted again by two Egyptian demonstrators, who were ejected by U. N. guards and sent back to Manhattan in a U. N. car.

Russia's Andrei A. Gromyko said he planned only a brief statement. An indication of what he might say was seen by observers in a Polish statement yesterday that the British should withdraw their troops immediately from Egypt but that the question of the Sudan should be considered separately. Gromyko has spoken similarly himself in previous debate.

Egypt last month called on the Council to order British troops out of Egypt immediately and to discontinue the Sudan condominium administration. Britain has staked her case on the contention that a treaty of alliance with Egypt, agreed upon in 1936, still is valid.

Right-of-Way!—You Can't Take It With You

AUSTIN—(AP)—Right-of-way rules under the new uniform traffic code which becomes effective Sept. 5 were sense and courtesy by Texas Department of Public Safety Director Homer Garrison.

"When two roads or streets cross," he said, "the vehicle that gets the intersection first on the right-of-way, if it is to your right, must yield to the one on the right."

"In other words, if the other fellow is to your right, you must let him go ahead. If he is to your left, he is supposed to let you go ahead."

When making a left turn at a busy intersection:

"A car that is already in the intersection, coming to meet you, has the right-of-way," Garrison said. "So does the next car behind that one. To cut in front of either of them would create a hazard. But when you have signaled and taken the proper position to turn, and have let these first couple of cars pass, then you are ready to turn. Others coming to meet you must let you turn."

Summing up, Garrison said: "You must not cut in front of the other fellow if he is too close to you or if he is coming too fast—you can take the right-of-way from the other fellow, but you can't take it to heaven with you."

Flood Warnings Issued Along Trinity River

By the Associated Press

A storm described as "what was left of the Gulf disturbance" swept Dallas last night, flooding the city with 9.18 inches of rain, and causing the Trinity River to rise dangerously.

The storm moved north into Oklahoma today, diminishing in force.

Flood warnings were issued from Dallas south as the Trinity rose to 27.7 feet early this morning. Flood stage is 28 feet, which the weather bureau said would be expected at 2 p. m.

Lowland residents were warned to evacuate livestock.

At Columbus, the Colorado River stood at 13.9 feet, compared with a normal stage of about 5 feet, the weather bureau said. It was still rising, and a crest of 16.5 feet was expected at 2 p. m.

Downstream at Wharton, the river stood at 4.9 feet, and was still rising, with a crest of 17 feet forecast for noon today. Loss of livestock was predicted unless lowlands residents obeyed warnings to move. No other damage was anticipated.

In Southeast Texas, storm center yesterday, the weather began to clear, but rivers were flooding.

Galveston, where the storm first lunged inland from the Gulf of Mexico Sunday, today reported sunny, balmy weather. Tourists were flocking in for the Labor Day weekend. One report said that "it was beautiful on Galveston Island today," in sharp contrast to Sunday's 70-mile winds and torrential rains.

McKinney, north of Dallas and in the path of the storm, reported 5.11 inches of rain this morning. Fort Worth had 3.83. Bonham reported 2.10 inches. Corsicana 44. Cotton crops suffered.

Rains were general over much of the North and Western areas of Texas. Light, scattered showers fell in the Midland area, with general rains still needed for ideal fall grazing and grain crops. In Amarillo, no rain had fallen today, but skies were overcast and the weather was misty.

Hardest hit was the city of Dallas. Activity slowed to a walk as water ran over downtown curbs, flooded suburban streets, and snarled transportation.

Power failed in some sections. Fire and police departments were kept busy throughout the night rescuing residents from flooded homes. Two ferries boats operated by the city department answered numerous calls.

Three were trapped in a car when high water of surging Turtle Creek washed out a bridge. A woman, Mrs. Lois Morrison, was found floating on a log, and was taken to a hospital where her condition was termed not serious.

Hundreds of wrestling fans were stranded at the Sportatorium when high water blocked sections of industrial boulevard. Water rose over the curbs of downtown streets.

Taxis were working at capacity, enlisting long waits. Some elevators failed this morning in midtown buildings.

Highways were blocked, and off-duty deputy sheriffs were called out to help the regular staff block off flooded highways in the county.

The forecast called for more rain in Northeast Texas.

City Fathers Set Up Estimate on Budget for 1948

Estimated spending to run the city of Pampa rose to a total of $277,466.43 yesterday afternoon as tentative budgets for eight additional departments including the Health, Tax, Park, Engineering, Library, Swimming Pool, City Hall, and Administrative Office, ran to $87,179.59, making the total to date of $277,466.43.

City Manager Steve Matthews said the Commission that by next week he hoped to have the estimated cost of the Water and Sewer Department worked out. Additional spending for paving rat water and sewer extensions will also be laid before the Commission.

Three of the departments, Tax, Health and City Hall, have been reduced from last year's actual spending. This came from the conclusion of the Commission that by streamlining of the Tax Department and need for general repairs to the City Hall lessened by repairs made and paid for last year.

Matthews told the Commission that he also expects to have the city's proposed income made up by next week. He added that should the income fall below the tentative budgets now drawn those departments will have to be further cut down in the expenditures or additional sources of revenue be found.

With the city continually growing larger and the war holding up other progressive measures the city is now way behind in its work, such as sewer lines, water lines, street lighting, expansion of the City Hall, and salaries for the city have risen with the general cost over the country, he added. The Commission as a whole asserted their agreement with Matthews.

An additional added expense was given the Commission when City Engineer Dick Pepin said that the facilities now at the City Barn are growing more inadequate by the week. He pointed out the city has to keep out of the weather when not in use. Repair room is too small for city mechanics to work on heavy equipment and the yard is also too small. The Commission was confronted with the problem of whether to enlarge the City Barn where it now stands or move it to some other part of the city where

Peoples' Party Gets New Confidence Vote

ANKARA, Turkey—(AP)—Premier Recep Peker won a vote of confidence 303 to 34 last night from the parliamentary group of the Reizing Peoples' Party, silencing for the time being reports he might be forced to step down over criticism of his internal policies.

The group controls the Peoples' Party and in turn the National Assembly. Peker spent seven hours with the members in a closed session, defending his domestic program.

Solon Links Steel Industry Heads, Stalin

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) said today that some steel industry leaders are showing the same belief in the eventual breakdown of capitalism as Premier Stalin of Russia.

Instead of boosting prices, the country's business leaders should be expanding production and tapping an "American market that has not yet been scratched."

O'Mahoney is a member of the Joint Congressional Committee on the economy report which already has conducted hearings into the state of this country's business health and which plans a nationwide inquiry this fall into rising prices.

Taking note of reports that Russian leaders are counting upon a depression to first half of this year, stronger foothold in the United States and other capitalist countries, the Wyoming Senator declared:

"Steel executives who are unwilling to expand steel capacity to meet perfecting obsolescence demands seems to entertain the same doubts about the capability of the capitalist system that are expressed by Mr. Stalin."

O'Mahoney said the "consuming power in America is beyond the imagination of these business executives who are retarding production by holding up prices."

But he added, these two facts should influence business leaders "to take chances on the growth of America."

1. A report by the New York Stock Exchange Magazine that net profit for the first half of this year for 402 companies are 97.9 percent larger than the first six months of 1946.

2. A commerce department study showing that per capita income in 1946 "reached an unprecedented peak of $1,200."

O'Mahoney concluded that "if businessmen have faith in America and in their own capacity to produce and would invest some of their huge profits in expanding capacity to meet the market, we need have no further worries about inflation."

Shrimping Boat Crew Found Safe

GALVESTON—(AP)—Three crewmen of a shrimping boat, feared lost in the tropical storm that hit Galveston Sunday, were safe here today.

They were Casper Alligood, E. Swords and Berg Johns, all of Galveston. None was hurt.

The boat was found floundering ten miles off shore in heavy ground swells Monday night and was towed to Galveston.

The boat, the Lyndia M., was badly battered by the winds the fishermen estimated reached as high as 80 or 100 miles per hour.

The mainmast and foresail were ripped off after the motor of the vessel was drowned out with salt water within 20 minutes after the wind first struck it.

They said their small battery radio picked up a broadcast warning of the approaching storm. They tried to make the run back to Galveston, but the boat was buffeted by the winds for nearly six hours.

Condemnation Hearing Slated Friday, 3 P. M.

Special Commissioners I. D. Shaw and C. J. Cash, McLean, and B. E. Glass, Alameda, have ordered Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Roth to be present at a hearing in regard to the petition for condemnation filed by the County last week.

The Special Commissioners were appointed by County Judge Sherman White for the purpose of appraising a strip of land owned by the Roths that the County needs to purchase for right of way in widening Highway 96, through Gray County.

Throughout several hearings on the matter Roth has maintained that his land in consideration is worth at least $1,000 due to the fact that it contains several peach trees and shelter belt of other trees.

The Commissioner's top bid, on the property has been $900, which amounts to approximately $116 an acre for the land, if the trees are figured into the straight acreage consideration. The tract covers 7.63 acres.

The Special Commissioners have scheduled the meeting to be held at 3 p. m. Friday at McLean.

$50,000 Economic Loss Placed on Each Death

AUSTIN—(AP)—If you are killed in an automobile accident during the coming Labor Day holidays this weekend, the economic loss caused by your death will equal $50,000.

That's the value laced on each life by actuaries, George Clarke of the Texas Safety Association said yesterday as he issued a plea for Texas motorists to stay alive through the three-day holiday.

Use courtesy and common sense to make this a "wreckless (not reckless) holiday," the safety group's managing director advised.

Higgins Plant Ruined In Maine Night Fire

PRESQUE ISLE, Me.—(AP)—Nine-rale-fed flames, leaping 50-foot heights, destroyed the A. W. Higgins fertilizer plant with loss of at least $150,000, and menaced nine potato houses before five fire departments controlled them late last night.

No one was reported injured. The cause was not immediately determined.

Now to Beat Sound—Army, Navy and NACA Engaged in Drive to Push Air Speeds Higher

By MAX HALL

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Faster, faster, faster they scorch through the air.

At the beginning of summer, the world speed record was 616 miles an hour, held by the British. In June, a U. S. Army Air Forces officer flew 623½ miles an hour. A week ago today a Navy man flew 640.7.

Day before yesterday, a Marine flew 680.6.

Before long they will reach the speed of sound.

Why do they do it? Hasn't the world had enough of crazy speed? To it a stunt, a daredevil thrill, an Army-Navy sports contest?

No indeed.

America's best aeronautical minds are engaged in a serious, studious, scientific drive to push plane speeds higher, for two main reasons:

The possibility of war. Whether we have faster planes than the other fellow would be the difference between victory and defeat.

2. Civilian needs. Even without the military factor, there is no limit to the world's demand for speed. Just call it speed for people's convenience.

The Navy, Army and plane manufacturers have instant goals.

Playing in the absence of ace pitcher, Patsy Pierson, the First Methodist Senior Girls scored 4 runs in the sixth inning to break a deadlock and whip the McCullough Methodist Girls 13-9. June Myatt took over the duties of First Methodist hurler, Betty Nelson was tagged with the loss, but she too pitched a good game as her team led until the fifth inning when the winners tied it up with 2 runs and then crossed home plate 4 more times in the sixth to take the ball game.

The undefeated First Baptist Senior Girls team had little trouble last night when they romped to an easy 35-3 win over the hapless Central Baptists. The Baptists trailed 2-1 until the third inning, but there they scored 12 runs and then quickly followed these with 10 more in the sixth. Robbie Hawkins pitched for the Baptists while her teammates played almost flawless ball. Patsy Williams was in charge of the Central Girls' tossing duties.

Trailing 12-9 going into the sixth inning, the Central Baptist Juniors rallied 5 runs to defeat the fighting Presbyterian Juniors 14-12. In winning this game the Baptists scored in every inning except the last, while their pitcher, Eugene Bynum was blanking the Presbyterians from the third inning. Carl Stephenson was charged with the loss as he worked himself into several holes throughout the game, but he managed to scrape out of them until the fatal uprising in the sixth.

In another Junior Boys game, the first slot McCullough Methodist Juniors jumped to an early 20-2 lead over the luckless First Baptists and they kept the lead throughout the contest, winning by the large margin of 22-8. The losers threatened a rally in the fifth when they scored 6 runs and had two men on base when Methodist pitcher Alvin Ward settled down to put out the Baptists the remaining 2 innings.

Swamp Fever Raging Among Racing Stock
SALEM, N. H.—As the dread blood disease known to horsemen as "swamp fever" continued raging among the 930 thoroughbreds quarantined at Rockingham Park, New England's long-careworn racing war today appeared roaring towards its explosive stage.

After Rockingham closes its initial 18-day meeting on Saturday, more than 300 owners, whose horses are said to be insured for almost $3,000,000, will be forced to keep their strings idle here for at least 30 days and, veterinarians predict, until fall's first frost hits this rural track.

The latest developments in this outbreak of infectious anemia, which results in temperatures as high as 107 and, according to authorities, ruins horses for breeding purposes, were widespread.

Tulsa Tightens Grip on Fourth
By the Associated Press
Tulsa gained a half game to make its fourth place position more secure last night as rain washed out half the activities in the Texas League.

The Oilers licked cellar-dwelling San Antonio 4-0 while Shreveport, the strongest challenger for Tulsa's spot in the play-offs, was idle at Fort Worth. Today Tulsa is two and one-half games ahead of the Sports.

First place Houston also picked up a half game as the Buffs clipped Oklahoma City 8-6 while second-place Fort Worth, hot in pursuit of the injury-ridden Buffs, watched the rain fall. Dallas and Beaumont also had to call off their game at Dallas because of excessive moisture.

Tonight there will be two double-headers to make up the rained out games with Shreveport at Fort Worth and Beaumont at Dallas. Houston will be at Oklahoma City and San Antonio at Tulsa for single games.

Houston splurged for six runs in the fourth inning to whip Oklahoma City with Clarence Beers, the league's leading pitcher, backing into his twenty-second victory. He was clouded from the Sox by the seventh but was ahead when he left and it stayed that way.

Mack Stewart gave up only two hits as Tulsa laced San Antonio. The Oilers got all their runs in the first inning off Procopio Herrera, making his first start for the Missions.

Teams Squaring Off For Oil Bowl Classic
WICHITA FALLS.—(P)—The Texas football squad appeared to boast more speed and better passing than Wichita today as the All-Stars of the Oil Bowl scheduled Friday night went through their third day of practice.

The Texans, who have won the two previous games—last year by a top-heavy score—were generally rated prime favorites over their larger rivals from the Sooner State. A crowd of 13,600 is expected to turn out to see the game. Coached by Joe Coleman, who led Odessa to the state championship last year, and Joe Golding, Wichita Falls mentor, the Texans will use the same style of T formation employed by Coleman at Odessa.

The Oklahoma charges of Ray LeCron of Shawnee and Leroy Matthews of Purcell, are expected to alternate between a double wing and a T. Presenting a definite weight advantage, the Sooners will depend a great deal on power.

Three Ball Players Try Out for Browns
SULPHUR SPRINGS.—(P)—Three Sulphur Springs baseball players have gone to St. Louis to be assets of the St. Louis Browns of the American League. They will be viewed by the Browns management in workouts at Sportsman's Park.

Making the trio were Billy Looney, catcher; David Gregg, first baseman; and Jimmy Littlejohn, shortstop. Looney and Gregg impressed scouts at a Browns try-out camp at Wichita Falls several weeks ago. The scout heard about Little John and invited him to join Gregg and Looney in the St. Louis visit.

Cardinals Defeated by Boston Braves 5 to 1

By the Associated Press
The talk in the National League day by day, is about Brooklyn and St. Louis, but Boston followers of the third place Boston Braves haven't given up hope yet.

Manager Billy Southworth of the Braves is squeezing his material to the limit. He has his left-hand hitting lineup, and his right-hand crew, and he has two top-notch pitchers in Johnny Sain and Lefty Warren Spain.

"But he hasn't enough pitchers," Brave detractors contend, and for a while this week it looked that way as the St. Louis Cardinals walloped the Braves in their last successful day.

But last night Southworth countered with big Bill Voiselle, the fugitive from the New York Giants who didn't like the climate of the Polo grounds and who was pleased to be traded away from Mel Ott to the Braves in exchange for Mort Cooper.

Voiselle had only won one and lost four with the Giants, but he's won five and lost three since then with the Braves, his latest being the lousy three-hitter he threw at the Cardinals last night as Boston won, 5-1.

It saved the Braves from a Cardinal whitewashing in the three game set, and it also cost the Cards a chance to make up valuable ground in their pursuit of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Earlier the Dodgers, hard-pressed for pitchers, saw three of them—including Dan Bankhead, first Negro moundman ever to fling in the majors, take a 20-hit mauling from the seventh place Pittsburgh Pirates, who collected 16-3 victory.

The big right-hander was treated cavalierly on the mound, but in his first trip to a big league plate, he cracked a two-run homer into the left field stands. That was the high point for Bankhead.

Bankhead Makes Poor Showing in First Major Game
BROOKLYN.—(P)—Just as fearfully predicted by Branch Rickey, the pressure and emotional strain proved too much for Dan Bankhead, Negro right-hander, and the newest pitcher of the Brooklyn Dodgers was anything but a success in his major league debut at Ebbets Field.

Manager Burt Shotton, however, declared that he was "not at all disappointed and wanted another look" at the Birmingham, Ala., native, "before I form an opinion on him, one way or another."

The comment and the Brooklyn players also were "not" his time.

Pattern Firmly Cut In Longhorn League
By the Associated Press
It's about all over except the shouting and the play-offs in the Longhorn League.

With only six more playing days left, Sweetwater boasts a five-game lead over Odessa for the fourth spot and there is no danger any of the three leaders—Big Spring, Midland and Ballinger—being overtaken.

Last night Vernon further punctured Odessa's chances by licking the Oilers 10-1.

In other games leading Big Spring edged Sweetwater 7-6 and Ballinger beat Midland 4-3.

Norman St. George, Big Spring pitcher, was hit on the head by a pitched ball and taken to a hospital where he was found to have suffered a slight concussion.

NEW YORK.—(P)—Former Marine Colonel Heinie Miller rises in just wrath to refute reports that Dan Bankhead, who made his debut with the Dodgers yesterday, served in the Army. "He was in the Marine Corps and pitched for Stamford Point, Camp Lejeune, N. C., Marine team," Heinie writes. "He is plenty Big League material."

As an expert on sluggers, boxing coach Miller should have said something about Dan's home run hitting—Heinie also remembers another "Negro baseball star in the Marines, Calvin 'Babe' Medley—in the Past Service League on Okahu, Medley played with the fleet Marine force team and was highly regarded. "He was a Southpaw speedball pitcher and I saw him fan Stan Musial and such repeatedly," Miller says.

GRID AND BEAR IT
Returning from a vacation in the middle of a hot spell, this writer is slightly amazed to find the football season nearer than just around the corner and the publicity pounders in mid-season form—Here are a few of the pickups: Buddy Young and George Ratterman, picks one-two in the race for most valuable player laurels in the recent Chicago All-Star game, will oppose each other next Sunday when the Yankees and the Buffalo Bills open toe all American conference season Sunday—Notre Dame may have a sellout for every one of its nine games even before the season opens—The Army, Northwest, and Navy games were season nearer than just August—as usual, there's no use trying to buy Army-Navy tickets. At Texas Christian University, J. Willard Riddings' annual pole mace race the favorite to beat the tip still is to look out for Texas with Bobby Layne operating as "T" quarterback—Curly Lambert and Don Hutson claim that Ed McCaffery, fullback from Purdue, gets the fastest start they ever saw on a football back. But how does he do for the other 99 yards?

DOCTOR WOODWARD'S AMBITION

By Elizabeth Seifert
THE STORY: Pop Mac, hospital chief, chafes at the inactivity forced on him by a partially paralyzing stroke. He tells Dr. Malcolm Glenn, top obstetrical surgeon, that Woodward, the new staff doctor, is due to arrive soon. Malcolm is seized with migraine while operating and his brother, Dr. Martin Glenn, jumps into the breach. Martin is the love with Susan, Malcolm's office nurse. He begs her to marry him but she refuses to leave Malcolm, says he needs her.

SUSAN sat on in the quiet office, with the fire and her thoughts. At regular intervals she went into the small room where Dr. Glenn slept, his face white and drawn, utterly weary, somewhat pathetic in the helplessness of deep, drugged sleep. But, even in sleep, the two deep lines remained between his brows—as if he frowned. Susan and Martin had loosened his clothing; he might be more comfortable if he were in night clothes, but Susan would not risk waking him. She went back to the shaded lamp, to the small fire, to the evening paper which an aide brought in.

"I'll call her," said Susan. A man's voice answered from the Glenns'— "Glenn residence, Lieutenant Cox speaking." That would be Nikki's officer. He had a pleasant voice; Dr. Malcolm had said he wasn't handsome, just "man-looking"—whatever that meant. Susan could hear chatter and music—a dog barked—that would be Mac. Mac's portrait sat in a silver frame on the wide desk, along with Nancy's picture, and the children's. Nancy said, "Be still, everybody. Please!" and then she spoke into the phone. "Miss Perry?" "Yes, Mrs. C—" out of every hour," probably will be the solution to the problem. Even more unusual than the infant figures, Dr. Daily thinks, is the work done with the new mamas. "In 1935," he said, "we had a shocking record, with 62 deaths among every 1,000 mothers. "In 1946 that was cut all the way down to 15 to 1,000. "We have had excellent results with certain drugs, such as penicillin with pneumonia. But right off I can't think of any other spot where we have knocked two-thirds off the death rate within 13 years."

"Dr. Martin said he was not to be disturbed, without calling him first." Which was not strictly true, though Martin would have said so if he had thought it necessary. Miss Huppert came over to the desk. "It certainly bails things up to have the Acting Chief dead to the world."

Susan looked sympathetic. Offidently, Huppert would be at duty at this time of night. "McAn's so good," the Supe said. "He just says ask Glenn." She sniffed at the red rosebuds in the silver vase. "I'll certainly be glad when Woodward comes. A young Chief of Staff will be a lot easier to talk to than McAn." "But is Woodward going to be Chief? I thought—" "You think what Glenn thinks. He feels being Acting Chief, with a lot of patients squawking for him, is enough—"

SUSAN looked angrily at the Supe. Huppert admired Glenn fanatically, but there was frustration, too, which showed itself in resentment of Dr. Glenn's authority as Acting Chief, and as the most popular man in the entire hospital group. Susan, his chosen personal nurse, replacing Huppert in that job, often had felt the result of this resentment reflected upon her. "I hadn't heard that Dr. Woodward—" Susan said now, faintly. "Look, Perry. Don't be blind on purpose. Woodward is coming to do Pop's work, isn't he? Chief pediatrician. Well! When the orthopedics wing is finished, he'll take over all of McAn's job—and be Chief of Staff. And then what of you precious Dr. Malcolm? Jealousy of Susan gleamed in her eyes. She nodded her handsome head emphatically. "Things are going to be a bit different around here when Woodward comes." Huppert promised, going out of the room. Susan stood looking at the door. What if she were right? Why hadn't McAn made Malcolm Chief? She understood the old man's hanging on to his title, to his nominal power—but if Woodward came and took over Pop's duties—

Quality, Convenience Expressed In Well-Balanced Two-Story Home

Quality is highly expressed in the fine balance and design of this two-story, three-bedroom home. The arched effect on the two upstairs dormers breaks the stiff roof lines and adds a graceful touch. The first floor elevation, of masonry construction, is given distinctive character by the window treatment and lengthy shutters. Inside the home, clear-cut arrangement keynotes the formal arrangement of rooms. The centrally-located stairway leads to a well-balanced layout of sleeping rooms and bath upstairs. Ample closet space, so desirable, is well evident.

Following the business a social hour was spent making fudge and popping corn. These with bottle drinks were served to the girls mentioned and visitors, Corlie DeLong, Bobby Warren, and Charles Warren.

The power needed to light an electric bulb for one hour would keep a small watch running for 4,000 years.

Eighty percent of all activities are guided by the eyes.

WE, THE WOMEN Want Ad Sections Are Trying New Approach

By RUTH MILLETT, NEA Staff Writer

In a desperate scramble to find a place to live, house hunters are out-doing each other in parading their needs on the want-ad pages of the newspapers.

Humor, pathos and desperation — they're all there wrapped up like neat little short stories, each one a hopeful try at gaining the interest of anybody with an apartment or house to let.

Take this one, for instance, written in a lighter vein: "LUCKY ME! Oh Happy Day! Joy of joys! My mother-in-law said 'two brothers-in-law are moving into my apartment if they don't find a house or apartment, Lucky me! If there is a kill-joy in town who desires to deprive me of the pleasure (by renting them something) he can phone Bill Willis at 2-9404."

Or this one, which combines dignity with modern frankness: "Veteran student and expectant wife need apartment or house."

For this one by a cynic who obviously has concluded that money talks: "Seventy-five dollars for the key to an apartment."

And this one, which definitely aims to be charming: "I like your city and want to stay here—but I must have a place to live."

ALL IN ONE DAY — All those are copied from the Sunday edition of one newspaper. And there were, of course, dozens more — each trying a different method of appeal.

For short, short stories that paint a true picture of life in 1947 you can't beat the want-ad section of your daily paper.

Sunbeam Band Lunch Held at Baptist Church

Members of the Sunbeam Band and their mothers of the Central Baptist Church met at the church for a program and luncheon Monday morning.

The Sunbeam colors of white and yellow were used to decorate. As the children arrived at the church yellow or white ribbons were pinned on their clothing, dividing them into equal groups for the games that were to be played.

The program opened with a prayer by Mrs. R. L. Higginbotham. The children quoted the Sunbeam watchword and sang their song "Be a Little Sunbeam."

A make believe plane ride to South America was taken by the children. Pilots for the imaginary trip were Robert Warren and Kenneth Yeager. Several South American games were played.

Mothers present were Mesdames J. C. Killian, R. L. Higginbotham, E. Sheriff, E. R. Conklin, L. C. Yeager, R. E. Warren, Jr., J. F. Webb, leader, and G. C. Stark, counselor. MOVIES, HORSE RACING Make the Most Money

WASHINGTON—(P)—Movies and horse racing edged out motor cars today in the Treasury Department's newest listing of fancy salaries.

Charles P. Skouras, moving picture theater financier, climbed to first place by drawing $568,143.60 from two corporations headed by him. This was more than twice the earnings of the best paid woman, Betty Grable, whose well-filmed curves were worth $208,000.

The list, far from a complete tabulation, was the Treasury's first announcement of those who compensation was more than $75,000 in 1945 or business fiscal years ending in 1946. Eight hundred names were shown but several big corporation's had not yet reported when the tally was made public last night.

Charles H. Strub, vice president of the Los Angeles Turf Club, Inc., who ran second last year, was No. 2 again with $541,412.12.

Twentieth Century Fox Film Corporation had 42 top-bracket employees, more than any other corporation. General Motors had 33, including President Charles E. Wilson who was sixth highest paid in the country at $303,990.15. Paramount Pictures, Inc., had 31 in the $75,000-plus class.

All the figures represent salaries before the payment of taxes, which knock off 50 to 90 percent in most cases.

Unquestionably a return to religion is one of the significant phenomena of our confused and troubled times. —Norman Thomas, Socialist leader.

Good News For Folks Who Suffer From

- STOMACH GAS SOUR FOOD TASTE ACID INDIGESTION

Do you feel bloated and miserable after every meal, taste sour, bitter food? Is there a how you may get relief from this nervous distress.

Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment, sour, add indigestion, and as frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have positively proved that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Avoid punishing yourself with over-eating of soda and other alkalies to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. WARM WORDS AT LAKE SUCCESS

It might have been the heat or it might have been the humidity. Perhaps it was the result of a concerted decision. Or maybe they just got fed up. Anyway, some representatives of the United States, Great Britain and Australia really got together and teed off on the spokesmen of Russia and her satellites at Lake Success the other day.

There is nothing elevating in the spectacle of government representatives getting angry and calling names. Against the background of recent events at Lake Success, the spectacle might even be a little frightening. But we can't say we blame the gentlemen from the English-speaking nations.

At a meeting on Albania's UN membership, Chief Deputy Alexei Krosilnikov made a typical Russian-type speech. Then Britain's Valentine Lawford blew off steam. "It is deplorable," he said, "that we should be subjected day after day, week after week, month after month, to all this junk about provocations, lies, noises and repetitions. That's not diplomatic language. But it probably better expressed some feelings that before have been expressed more elegantly, or else suppressed."

In the Security Council meeting the Communist bloc had complained that "monarcho-fascism" is rampant in Greece. Then America's Herschel Johnson had his say—and it seems to us that what he said had needed saying in the Russian and Balkan representatives' presence for a long time.

"Dictatorship is dictatorship," he told them, "no matter what name you call it." He explained that his government held no brief for the Greek government, but that Greece was no menace to international peace "and we think her three northern neighbors are." He added that there was not "the slightest evidence" of civil liberties to be found inside those neighbors' borders.

Testy Colonel Hodgson of Australia had something to say after the Krosilnikov speech on Albania, too. "I am glad these meetings are now open to the press," he said. "In the past the delegations here . . . have had to put with calculated abuse and distortions" from the Soviet representative.

But perhaps the best thrust was got in by Mr. Lawford, who said, "We are presumed to be a gathering of intelligent officials, not a gathering of illiterates. We draw our conclusions from facts, not from catchwords."

Any non-Communist who has ever engaged in argument with one of the well-schooled comrades will know what Mr. Lawford meant. The comrades enter the list armed with a vocabulary of mumbo-jumbo and catchwords. They turn aside an opponent's argument by ignoring it and hurling a new accusation couched in the Marxist-Leninist-Stalinist double-talk of the moment.

It's most irritating. And it must be particularly irritating to the UN members, for the Communist delegates are post-graduate masters of their trade. One has only to read the speeches of Mr. Gromyko and his staff to catch the sneering condescension, the cool insult, and the smug sense of rightness that will admit of no question.

We don't wonder that their intelligent colleagues finally blew up and talked straight talk. It may not improve international relations, but it might clear the air. It might also give the Russians and their followers an idea that there is a limit to which taunts and goadings will be endured.

Russia's tactics are those of the street-corner bully. And the bully discovers one day that he has gone too far, and pulls in his horns.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

news behind the news

WASHINGTON BY RAY TUCKER

MARSHALL—George C. Marshall believes that the United States can win its ideological struggle with Russia for preservation of world peace and democratic governments only if it can avert the disastrous economic crisis on which Stalin counts as his ace in the hole in the present international poker game.

The Secretary of State has sold that idea to President and to the Vandenberg-Eaton faction of the Republican leadership on Capitol Hill. He has emphasized again and again that the essence of the so-called Marshall plan for the recovery of Europe is integration of the Americans into a closely knit community and establishment of a sound peace in the Far East.

WISH—Stalin sits behind the Kremlin walls with full belief that our postwar economic system will break down in a crash as thunderous as that of 1929, according to Secretary Marshall's advisers. His refusal to cooperate on plans of general European restoration are designed to drain off our resources and thus hasten the day of doom. In fact, editorial writers on Pravda and Izvestia have recently concluded a series of articles in which they informed the Russians and satellite populations that the U. S. is already suffering from an economic collapse. It is obvious to President Truman and Secretary Marshall that the wish is father to the thought.

STALEMATE—As long as this country maintains a high level of employment and production at a price level that consumers can afford, in Mr. Marshall's belief, and also as long as it can continue to assist nations still outside the Soviet orbit, the Russo-American controversy will remain a stalemate.

He figures, however, that Stalin will climb down off his high horse, and negotiate more sensibly and reasonably on all disputed issues if the United States can demonstrate that a capitalistic form of society provides the safest avenue for them.

JEFF—Wanna good job as a stunt man in the movies?

The World Crisis

By Melchior Paly, Ph.D.

It is very little understood that the international dollar crisis—the critical situation in which most countries are unable to pay for essential imports—is a case of mistaken financial planning for which we carry a large share of responsibility. Melchior Paly

The fundamental idea underlying post-war planning in virtually every country is the same idea that has guided Washington ever since V-J Day; that pretty soon, by the spring of 1946, or by the summer of 1947 at the latest, the United States will plunge into a deep depression. Prices were supposed to break by 25 per cent or more from the war-time level, unemployment to become rampant, etc. Practically all governments, from Moscow to Buenos Aires, were guided these last two years by that idea, according to which capitalism necessarily digs its own depression by producing more than it can sell at home. A crisis of depression was to come after World War II as it did after World War I. That was the basic consideration in all managed economies. Whether Marxian as in London and Washington, this misconception has provided the tune to which all planners throughout the world do their dancing. Remember that Messrs. Truman and Wallace wanted wages to rise so as to safeguard the purchasing power of the masses in the forthcoming depression? All they accomplished, was to get the inflationary wage spiral started.

The consequences of the same mistake in forecasting the business cycle are far more serious abroad. British planning operated entirely on this same forecast which implied three things:

First, that American prices will break and, therefore, the British will be able to buy cheaply American goods. A "little" American loan will go a long way; it was expected to last until 1950 or 1951. (It will be exhausted by the end of this year.)

Second, that the "wicked" capitalism of America will produce unsalable surpluses of food, raw materials, automobiles, etc., and Americans will be glad to give away the surplus, lease it, lend it, or what have you. No dollar shortage could arise.

Third, that Britain's economy must be isolated against the import of American unemployment by all sorts of artificialities which will guarantee her domestic full employment. Socialism would take care of the rest.

One cannot understand the crisis in Britain, the waste of the American loan and of other resources, the mess into which the country has sunk under the Labour government, unless one keeps in mind the fundamental assumption on which it has operated for two years. That assumption of an American depression, the underlying Lord Keynes' prediction in 1936 that there will be no post-war dollar scarcity. It permitted the British to go along the primrose path to reduce working hours, to spend on unessential imports, neglect essential reconstruction, to proceed with their long-run plans of industrial nationalization, income equalization, order-to-grave security, without regard to the dangers of the current situation. Why worry, if a depression-plagued America will deliver the goods anyway?

The same thing happened in France. No one seems to comprehend why the French have chosen an exchange rate first of 50 francs, and later of 119.5 francs to the dollar, when the real value of their currency is but a fraction of that. The answer is that the expected American prices to collapse, taking with them the French price level. The exchange rates would just fit the deflated domestic price structure, this in spite of continued monetary inflation. Indeed, if the American depression had occurred, French prices would have gone down, and the franc would not be over-valued. As it is, its over-valuation is one of the reasons for the economic catastrophe facing France.

Unnumerable examples could be cited to prove the same point: that planning based on a false expectation about the turn of the cycle is the underlying (ideological) cause of the present world-wide calamity. Let me mention just one other illustration from France.

Last January, after a trip to Washington, Socialist Premier Blum came out with the idea of a voluntary and general price reduction of five per cent at a time, trying to talk prices down, an attempt which was doomed to failure just as Mr. Truman's similar attempt in this country had to fail. Both Blum and Truman, naive as they may be in economic matters, know that supply and demand determine prices, and not speeches by politicians. If they tried to play magician, it is because their experts, trained in Marxism and Keynesianism, told them that prices must break soon in the unbridled, and therefore doomed capitalist economy of the United States.

These two years since the war have seen the first experiment in world-wide financial planning, with one single idea as the common premise. It should be a lesson to how dangerous governmental planning is. Individuals' mistakes in forecasting may offset one another. When a government does the economic planning, there is no corrective or balancing possible. Instead of learning from this disastrous experience, we are going ahead doing more of the same. All governments know that miscalculated the American business cycle. That is why they now are in trouble.

And so we come up with the Marshall plan suggesting that they should get together and formulate a common plan. Instead of abandoning authoritarian planning, the road to ruin, we suggest that Europe do its planning on a larger scale so that errors in foresight should have still bigger and more devastating effects.

MOPSY by Gladys Parker
ACCORDING TO MY FIGURES I HAVE A THOUSAND DOLLARS EXTRA. MAY I TAKE IT HOME WITH ME?

HARMFUL—Public admission of such a situation, however, would have harmful repercussions in England and elsewhere. Stalin would cite it as evidence that the U. S. was using its economic power to crush socialism, to aggrandize capitalism and to dictate to past, present and prospective creditors. That was his reason for refusing to participate in the Marshall plan.

In fact, the Attlee ministry might fall is his people thought for a moment that we were practicing this sort of "dollar diplomacy" on His Majesty's Imperial representatives.

Charwoman Retires—Oil Discovered
TULSA, Okla.—(AP)—Discovery of oil on a farm in which she owns one-fifth interest, will mean retirement for Mrs. Anna Renfro, a charwoman in Tulsa office buildings for the past 20 years.

Mrs. Renfro, about 50, broke the news to her employer, W. M. Horster, building manager at the bank, with the announcement that she was quitting. She has been making $28 per week for 40 hours work at the building.

"They have struck oil on my farm near Shawnee," she explained. "It isn't much, but it will give me enough money for the rest of my life so that I won't have to work."

The well, the Deep Rock No. 1 back in Pottawatomie County, will bring her an average of $50 per week from its estimated production of 150 barrels of oil per day at the present price of $1.90 per barrel. Four of her sisters will receive like amounts. They live in Shawnee, Oklahoma City, Albuquerque and the fourth in California.

Britain will support the Marshall plan for European recovery because we cannot live a tolerable life next door to a slum.

—Lord Inverchapel, British ambassador to U. S.

We must abandon the idea that we can oppose the disruptive forces now at large in the world without interfering in the internal affairs of other countries.

—Rep. John Lodge (R) of Connecticut.

Foreign capital will be welcome in India for our schemes of development on profitable terms, but the control of Indian industry must remain in Indian hands.

—Pandit Nehru, vice president of the Indian Interim Government.

ton, General Clay has maintained that greater production could be obtained under a private enterprise system.

Like any good banker, Secretary Snyder believes that he has a right to learn how the debtor is using his borrowings. He also feels that he should inquire into the customer's methods for putting himself into a position for repayment. Naturally the Labor Government's political, social and economic philosophy comes under review.

Air Speeds

 83 percent of sonic speed.
 That's because one day was hotter than the other. The speed of sound varies with the temperature. At 75 degrees Fahrenheit, the temperature at Muroc Lake on the first day, sound traveled 785.5 miles an hour.

The speed scholars don't intend to stop when airplanes are zipping at supersonic speeds—that is, past the speed of sound. They want to push planes to 800, 900, 1,000 miles an hour, and faster.

Then why do we hear so much about reaching the speed of sound? It's because that will be a tough point to get past.
 The thing to remember is that sound waves are only a form of air pressure. All pressure waves move at the same speed as sound waves. When any object moves, when a plane flies, it pushes air in front of it and sends out pressure waves.

When the plane is flying at less than sonic speed, these waves go out ahead, making a sort of path. When the plane reaches sonic speed, no pressure waves go out in front because they can't move any faster than the plane itself. And the plane has to butt its own way, unaided by any advance guard.

Thus at this point the amount of power needed to keep up the plane's speed increases enormously.
 One past this point, the plane is going faster than the pressure waves it causes and the plane slices through.

The situation is complicated by the fact that there is a sound wave area called "transonic," when the air is rushing over some parts of the plane at subsonic speed and other parts at supersonic speed. Air pressures on the plane are very unstable, and problems of design and control become much greater.

Once well into the supersonic range—say 900 miles an hour—the pressure on the plane will be quite stable. Through tremendous, and the speed scholars' problems may get a little easier.

15 Escaped Prisoners Are Still at Large

HOUSTON — (AP) — Fifteen of 42 prisoners who escaped from two prison farms near here Monday continued today to elude scores of heavily-armed police patrols in their trail.

One of the fugitives was captured yesterday near Dickinson by Deputy Sheriff Ed Salzman of Galveston.
 J. W. Allen, 36, Texarkana Negro serving a 75-year term, was nabbed after a chase through sodden rice fields. The deputy fired several shots, one of which grazed the escapee, causing him to surrender.

In Harris County, Deputy Sheriffs paced by bloodhounds searched a triangular wooded area in East Houston yesterday for two of the escaped Negro convicts.
 The search was touched off when a railroad tower worker reported that he saw two men dressed in prison clothing leap from a boxcar and run into the woods.

Would Be Suicider Stopped With Beer
 NEW YORK — (AP) — Using a glass of beer as bait, two patrolmen today lured John L. Guintier, Jr., 32, back from the parapet of a 17-story apartment house where he was talking about an unsuccessful love affair and was poised for a jump, police said.

Guintier, a Rockville Center, Long Island, resident, was taken to Bellevue Hospital for mental examination. Police said he had written a "will."
 The beer was provided by one of a group of residents sitting on the roof, and a policeman grabbed Guintier as he handed back the empty glass.

The T. Dorseys Getting Divorce
 RENO, Nev. — (AP) — Actress Pat Dane Dorsey, whose dark-haired charms once led to fisticuffs between husband Tommy Dorsey and actor Jon Hall, filed suit for divorce here yesterday.
 The attractive Mrs. Dorsey charged her bandleader with extreme mental cruelty. Earlier she told reporters the "friendly divorce" was brought about by what she called Tommy's "upside down" business. She said he traveled so much that they had no home life.
 In the divorce complaint, her name was listed as Patricia Ann Dorsey and the trombonist's as Thomas Francis Dorsey.
 They were married at Las Vegas, Nev., April 8, 1943, and have no children. Their property rights were settled by written agreement.
 In a formal answer to the complaint, the bandleader denied the cruelty charges. His power of attorney listed his address as Morristown, N. J., but was notarized in Los Angeles.
