Japanese Make Landings Only 100 Miles From India Foe Prepares New Attack On Moresby

By The Associated Press
Japanese sea-borne troops thrusting closer to India were reported today to have landed at the chief West Burma port of Akyab, only 100 miles from the Burma-India frontiers, as prospects for mobilizing India's 390,000,000 on the side of the United Nations took a sudden brightening turn.

A Chinese spokesman in Chungking said the Japanese landed at Akyab which is only 300 miles across the upper Bay of Bengal from Calcutta.

Besides heightening the threat of a Japanese invasion of India, the landing directly imperilled the rear of British imperial lines, now guarding the rich central Burma oil fields.

Meanwhile, dispatches from Australia indicated that Japan's invasion forces in the southwest Pacific, halted in their attempted overland drive in New Guinea, were preparing to launch a sea-borne attack on the key allied base at Port Moresby, only 200 miles across the Torres Strait from Australia itself.

The Sydney Sun declared such an invasion was "suggested by recent movements of enemy ships, which are being constantly attacked at Lae and Salamaua by the Allied Air Forces."

Lae and Salamaua lie on the northeast coast of New Guinea, less than 200 miles above Port Moresby.

The newspaper also reported that the Japanese were receiving "considerable" aerial reinforcements threatening to challenge the air superiority won by United States and Australian fliers in the battle for the approaches to Australia.

On the critical Burma front, British headquarters reported no substantial change in the situation, indicating that the Japanese had been at least temporarily checked in their two-pointed drive from the south toward Mandalay and the Burma oil fields.

Tanker Sunk In Atlantic

GLoucester, N. J., April 2 (AP)—Battered and set afire by torpedoes from an enemy submarine, a medium-sized Norwegian motor tanker sank under a hail of shells off the Atlantic coast early on the morning of March 27, the fourth naval district announced today.

Eight of the crew of 37, including most of the ship's officers, are missing and believed dead. The 29 survivors were picked up by a Portuguese freighter after spending about seven and one-half hours in two lifeboats and were brought here March 31.

The 25-year-old chief engineer of the tanker said the attack came without warning about 2:30 a. m. The ship was struck by two and perhaps three torpedoes, he said, and was bombarded by about 150 shells before she finally went down.

Workers Walk Out Of Textile Mills

FALL RIVER, Mass., April 2. Key workers in 17 of Fall River's 19 cotton textile mills joined the second walkout in two weeks today, pointing to the eventual shutting down of all plants unless mediation is successful in the very near future.

While loom fixturers, slashenders and knot tiers walked out, representatives of rival unions prepared to meet in the state house at Boston with Charles H. Cole, chairman of the state board of conciliation and arbitration, and Theodore W. Kheel, principal mediator of the war labor board.

India Freedom Talks Takes Brightening Turn

NEW DELHI, India, April 2 (AP)—Both Sir Stafford Cripps, special British envoy to India, and the all-India congress party indicated today a willingness to negotiate a compromise solution of the Indian independence problem.

The executive committee of the party, India's most powerful political organization, was expected to deliver tonight its detailed rejection of a British offer of post-war dominion status in return for full war participation now under British guidance.

But it was understood that the committee also was drafting counter-proposals to be submitted to Cripps if the British war cabinet members so desires.

By postponing his departure for home in the midst of the evident stalemate over Britain's take-it-or-leave-it offer, Cripps seemed to have left the door ajar for negotiation on counter-proposals.

Before he did this and before it became known that the congress party committee was drafting a counter-plan, virtually all hope for the success of the Cripps mission had vanished.

(The all-India radio said that Cripps received the congress party's resolution of reply to the British proposal this afternoon when he was visited by Maulana Abdul Kalam Azad, party president, and Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, past president.

(The two Indian leaders stayed for an hour, and upon their departure, Cripps told reporters, "I hope there will be many more meetings between us." CBS recorded the all-India radio announcement.)

The party's reply, approved after five days of deliberation, was reported to be detailed in reasons for the rejection.

It was understood to criticize the British proposal that direction of Indian defense remains entirely in British hands rather than Indian military men, and to question both the option which Britain would give certain provinces to remain outside the future Indian union and the representation of the Indian principalities in the future constitution-making body.

(The Japanese broadcasts in Tokyo quoted imperial headquarters today as claiming that anti-aircraft batteries, an airfield, barracks and other military establishments on Corregidor had been damaged beyond repair, by repeated Japanese naval air attacks between March 24 and 31.)

American-Filipino command troops have raided two Japanese bases on the southern Philippine island of Mindanao, and military observers predicted today that the invaders would be attacked frequently by the thousands of native fighters hidden in tank and ebony forests of the island.

Office Furniture Stocks Are Frozen

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP)—The War Production Board today froze manufacturers' stocks of metal office furniture and equipment and prohibited production of virtually all types after May 31.

Also effective at once, the order requires manufacturers to cut their monthly use of steel for metal shelving 50 per cent compared with monthly consumption during the year ended last June 30.

Preliminary to a complete stoppage of production of other types of filing cabinets, lockers, desks, chairs, bank vault equipment, and waste baskets, large manufacturers of such items must reduce their steel consumption 60 per cent this month and next.

Auto Registrations Above Last Year

As the end of the regular registration period, more automobiles had been licensed in Howard county this year than last.

As the office closed Wednesday, 3,940 passenger cars had been registered, compared to 3,525 for the same date last year.

Many motorists continued to flood the tax office today to buy plates.

Air Raid Sea Fights Rage In Europe

German Publishers
Claims Of Great
Allied Ship Losses

By The Associated Press
British bombers smashed anew at German war foundries in the environs of Paris last night, the London air ministry announced today, while Adolf Hitler's high command reported "very successful" attacks against United States and British shipping in the grim battle of the Atlantic.

As if countering a U. S. Navy announcement that 23 axis submarines had been sunk or presumed sunk by United States forces so far, the next high command asserted that the German navy and air force destroyed 105 allied merchant ships totalling 646,900 tons during the month of March.

U-boats alone sank 91 ships totalling 554,900 tons, the German command said, adding that 30 other merchant vessels were heavily damaged by torpedo or bomb hits.

Vichy (French) RAF agency dispatches said RAF bombers striking into occupied France during the night attacked a number of points on the outskirts of Paris, particularly at Rueil, Sannois and Poissy.

The British air ministry said the heaviest blows were rained on the Matford works at Poissy, eight miles west of Paris, which had been "rolling out" trucks daily for the German war machine.

The air ministry acknowledged 15 RAF bombers were missing from far-ranging raids that reached into west and northwest Germany as well as into the Paris region, a German communiqué said 11 British bombers were shot down over the reich alone.

RAF fighter planes also attacked objectives in Belgium and northern France.

In a dramatic side phase of the European conflict, at least two of 11 British-chartered Norwegian merchant ships, which boldly attempted to run the German blockade from Sweden to England were given a fighting chance of breaking through.

Stockholm dispatches said next warships guarding the Skagerrak between Norway and Denmark had crippled or sunk two and possibly four of the daring craft after they slipped out of Goteborg, Sweden, during a blinding snowstorm Tuesday night.

Coastal fishermen said one ship went aground; one burned and perhaps sank; two, cut off from hope of escape, turned back; and at least two more were said to be returning to the haven of neutral Swedish ports after being caught in the storm of next gunfire.

The 11 ships, valued at $25,000,000, had been freed from internment by order of the Swedish supreme court on March 17.

On the Russian battlefield, Hitler's field headquarters reported that German troops had taken the offensive in the Leningrad sector and that German artillery heavily bombarded military installations in the suburbs of Leningrad.

Elsewhere on the long front, the high command acknowledged continuing Soviet pressure.

City Faces Numerous New Responsibilities

Big Spring today contemplated developments which will arise out of the announcement that a U. S. Army flying school, to cost in excess of $5,000,000 would be located here.

Word of the war department announcement of location of schools at Big Spring and Lubbock, came in a wire from Rep. George Mahon, and subsequently in telegrams from Sens. Connally and W. Lee O'Daniel to city officials and civic leaders.

What demands will be made upon the city due to an increased population, both in construction of the big unit and in the period of operation following, remained a problem for conjecture. City officials envisioned a possible 40 per cent increase while school authorities said that experience in other places had shown that there would be likelihood of an enrollment gain of from 25 to 35 per cent.

City pledges to furnish certain requested tracts doubtless will entail heavy financial responsibility, which, in turn, probably will mean a bond issue. For what amount, even Mayor Grover Dunham would not undertake to say.

"Right now," said the mayor, "we are at a standstill. We have been engaged in negotiations with government representatives for a long while, and as recently as the first of this week the city, through its commission, agreed to furnish needed land and meet certain other requirements. "We were under moral obligation to keep our conversations in confidence and consequently could not keep the public informed. Under the circumstances, I believe that the people here have been most patient and I appreciate their fine spirit."

As rapidly as details shape up on what the financial requirements of the city will be, Mayor Dunham said they would be released to the public.

The City of Big Spring finished its fiscal year with a healthy balance in excess of $30,000—exclusive of money for land purchase and this may have a bearing, together with possible government emergency aid, on what the city will expect to spend.

The Texas Electric Service has agreed to extend its transmission lines to the boundary of the tract. The same is true of Empire Southern Service concerning its gas mains, Southwestern Bell its telephone lines and the Texas and Pacific Railway has promised to run a spur to the site after having secured permission from the operating unions to include the spur in the local switching area.

Cost of the spur would be borne by the army, and the city has agreed to secure the right-of-way for track, an estimated $0 to $5 acre. Railroad engineers already have staked the route for the track.

Approximately 500 additional acres of land will be required for the project and will adjoin the 700-acre port area at the present. Part of the land, where buildings may be located, will be to the south and east of the port, and more for landing area will be required on the south and west sides, with one small tract in the northeast corner of the port being needed also.

C. H. Colvin, land division of the U. S. engineers at Galveston, was here Monday for a series of conferences with city officials in which they executed land agreements for 200 acres on the south and west, 44.5 acres in another tract and 4.5 in still a third unit of needed land. Other details of the project were then discussed.

Col. L. H. Hewitt, U. S. army engineering corps, signed for the army.

Engineering contract for the job has been awarded to Nevin, Stubb, Hether and Turner of Houston, and members of the firm already are on the ground staking building locations, streets, walks, utility lines and otherwise preparing for the school plot. Representatives of the firm first came here during the weekend and arranged at that time for engineers to return Tuesday for the staking work.

After conversations with Colvin, followed by those engineering representatives, city officials agreed to execute options which would have expired April 1.

The city also will be required to make good on its pledge to secure a small tract, possibly six or eight acres, for a beam station some six miles south of the airport area. Within a three mile radius there will have to be a small parcel provided for a radio station, but it is possible that some section of the extensive city park area could serve this purpose well.

Establishment of the unit here doubtless will set in motion a series of extensions and improvements. The army requires that a 15-inch main carry water to the property line. City Manager B. J. McDaniel said that plans were to run this line direct from the city park reservoir to the army's reservoir, which will be located on the hill at the southeastern edge of the tract. The main will be approximately one and a quarter miles long.

From 750,000 to 1,000,000 gallons of water will be required daily at the school, even after construction is complete and the unit put into routine operation, army engineers estimated. That is the reason an enlarged main to the present port area will not suffice.

House Survey Shows Sales Tax Favored

'Impossible To Get Enough Otherwise'
Says Rep. Disney

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP)—Representative Disney (D-Ohio) said today a survey he had made showed that "an overwhelming majority" of the house would vote for a sales tax rather than for big increases in individual and corporation taxes proposed by the treasury.

Asserting that congress could not raise $7,000,000,000 from corporations and individuals, Disney said in a statement that "we will be compelled to go to a sales tax, much as we dislike it."

Disney, member of the house ways and means committee, which has been studying new sources of revenue for a month, said in his statement: "I have made a general survey of the house which convinces me that an overwhelming majority will vote for a sales tax, rather than to increase income taxes six fold in two years as would be the case under the treasury's recommendations on average incomes."

The 1941 tax bill tripled the average tax paid by low and middle income brackets and the administration's new proposals would double existing levies.

AN EAST CANADIAN PORT,

Activity For Unit Covered Long Period

More than a year and a half of vigilance by the chamber of commerce, working in close cooperation with the city, stand back of the announcement today that an army bombardier unit is to be established in Big Spring.

Since the nation began its defense program, Big Spring leaders have felt that the municipal airport offered possibilities for the government because of its strategic location near the intersection of two transcontinental military highways and because of its facilities.

Big Spring, through its chamber of commerce, however, did not enter into bidding for camps, flying schools, etc., or attempt any pressure to secure defense projects. Rather, the policy first adopted—that of regularly calling attention of army officials to the city's willingness to offer its services to the government in whatever way desired—has been followed since.

First contacts were made more than a year and a half ago when J. H. Greene, chamber of commerce manager, and E. V. Spence, former city manager, called on Gen. H. J. Brees, then commander of the Eighth Corps area.

This was followed by the preparation of a brief by the chamber of commerce containing facts about the city, the airport, and the surrounding area. Copies were left with ranking air corps officials. While local men were in Washington at a later date, and, of course, copies were left with army officers stationed with City Manager B. J. McDaniel, Mayor G. C. Dunham, and City Commissioners R. L. Cook, W. S. Satterwhite, T. J. A. Robinson and J. H. Collins. They remained in Big Spring over a weekend and went thoroughly into the matter, conferred with representatives of the power, gas, and telephone companies and of the Texas and Pacific railroad.

Following this, Capt. Story, accompanied by a party of officers, made an inspection trip here.

Always there seemed to be some obstacle in the way. At first the field's elevation was said to be too high. Then the location as a transcontinental radio beam was raised as a barrier. But one by one these items were eliminated by the army as the defense problem became more acute.

Matters rocked along until June of 1941 when Greene and others made a call in San Antonio. City officials joined in the renewal of contacts and in July two more calls were made. Dr. F. W. Malone, aviation committee chairman, helping as was the case throughout.

General Brant then called for expression from the city commission concerning the offer of its use, and on Aug. 26 this was passed and supplemented by expressions of cooperation by utilities.

Again the issue cooled, and in December Gen. Brant was transferred. Immediately, however, chamber officials were granted an interview with Gen. W. Harmon and Col. W. M. Day at Randolph Field and acquainted them with local facilities which would be at the disposal of the government.

Then the first week in February, word was flashed that an army mission would put down at the Big Spring airport and would confer with officials on a survey looking toward location of a bombardier unit.

This news came to the chamber of commerce, which arranged the meeting. But once army officials arrived, chamber representatives bowed out of the picture and left army officers checked with City Manager B. J. McDaniel, Mayor G. C. Dunham, and City Commissioners R. L. Cook, W. S. Satterwhite, T. J. A. Robinson and J. H. Collins. They remained in Big Spring over a weekend and went thoroughly into the matter, conferred with representatives of the power, gas, and telephone companies and of the Texas and Pacific railroad.

Tourist Trade In Wartime Is A Big Question Mark

BIG THINGS are expected for New Jersey resorts—like Atlantic City here—but all vacation states aren't so optimistic about what 1943 holds in store.

Wide World Features
The men who make a business of catering to America's tourists don't know whether to disregard Sherman's classic remark on war or shout a hearty amen.

Possibilities for the 1943 peak season are all mixed up with factors that cancel each other out all the way down the line.

Heavy pay envelopes run into increased living costs, and even a full pocketbook can't buy transportation facilities or tires that aren't available at any price; the pressure of war-time work has built up a heavy "paid vacation dues" list, but that same pressure doesn't allow much time for vacations.

Other equally conflicting factors add up to a pretty uncertain outlook but a nation-wide survey of tourist and recreational areas indicates that there's an air of general optimism despite the confused picture.

Advertising and promotion budgets have been hiked by almost all states and agencies. All but Massachusetts of the New England states have boosted their advertising expenditures. Pennsylvania has set aside $300,000 and a Pacific Coast promotional group has put its figure at the highest mark since 1929.

May Help Hotels
Men in the tourist business are pretty generally agreed on some of the results of the war situation. They think that large hotel owners, once they get tourist guests, will keep them longer than usual since limited transportation facilities don't encourage hopping around from one spot to another.

Roadside stands, overnight cabins—both used widely by one-night stand tourists—and beaches near coastal defenses are likely to suffer most.

Many think that the tire shortage won't show up disastrously this year. They point hopefully to a recent New England survey which showed 78 per cent of motorists questioned had "good tires," 16 per cent "fair," and six per cent "no good."

Several plans to relieve the transportation tie-up have been offered in various sections, among them the use of trains in the "off-peak" hours to accommodate recreation-seeking workers whose shifts end at midnight or other odd hours, as well as workers whose "weekends" come in mid-week. Another suggestion is the use of school buses, normally in storage during the summer, for general transportation purposes.

Tourist men see a boom for youngsters' camps in areas safe from possible bombings, but fear that a swing to year-round college programs and increased summer employment possibilities will eliminate many potential vacationers.

Jersey Hopeful
Along the New Jersey coast and in that state's lake resort area happy tourist-trade leaders see a 300 per cent increase over last year's business—but concede that they'll be satisfied with a 20 per cent jump. Reason for Jersey's superoptimism is that 20 per cent of the nation's war expenditure is going into plants of the metropolitan area within 200 miles of her resorts.

In Wisconsin, a "near normal" season is in prospect unless (and this is the big bugaboo in most sections) gasoline is rationed. Michigan holds to that same opinion but a move is on there for mass hikes and trips as part of the morale and physical fitness program—with the travelers ending up at state parks.

Minnesota's big fish and wild backwoods may not attract as many visitors as usual, unless that state's plans to use women guides arouses new interest.

The Carolinas are going after tourist trade with vigor and resourcefulness in an effort to meet conditions that have cut transient auto traffic on main highways by as much as 60 per cent. One enterprising hotel has entered into the spirit of the thing by meeting the trains with horses and buggies.

Conditions may not be paralled but Florida's winter season experiences aren't exactly encouraging to the summer trade. The semi-tropical mecca had prepared for its biggest season, and December 7 was too late to pull back.

So business men held their breath and hoped. Business was normal after the first shock of Pearl Harbor but Far East reverses cut it down to estimates as low as 30 per cent of normal.

At season's end Florida resorts turned their attention openly to bolstering their hard-hit economy by heavier participation in the war effort.

Five small Miami Beach hotels were turned over to an air training school as one result.

Knitting Honors Taken By A Man

EUGENE, Ore., April 2 (AP)—All the women gasped in admiration at the handiwork of the latest candidate for top knitting honors. It was a bedspread of intricate pattern containing more than 400 blocks.

James H. Walker, chief warden of the Eastern Lane county fire patrol, knitted the spread during spare time over a 3-year period.

Garden Saboteurs

HOBBS, N. M., April 2 (AP)—Police Chief Sam Young, wearying in his struggle against sabotage, issued this final ultimatum: "If the owners of these saboteurs don't keep 'em penned up, the police department is going to roast some of them and send them to the Army camps."

Chickens have been going all out in raids on Hobbs' victory gardens.

Substantial Food At Low Cost Served In School Lunches

By MARY WEALEY
Baked potatoes au gratin (with cheese to you, chum), substantial West Texas red beans, onions, brown bread, peanut butter, cookies with a glass of grapefruit juice to go along with these—such is a typical hot lunch for pupils and teachers in the Moore school.

Two years ago the school began its hot lunch program with government aid. Mrs. Stella Daylong, assigned as cook by the Works Projects Administration, prepares menus sent by Modelle Higginbotham, Colorado City, supervisor. These are designed to furnish nutritious meals for growing children.

There's nothing particularly fancy about it, even down to the white painted tables with nail legs to match, but the accommodations and the meals are comfortable and adequate for the 25 children.

No child eats without first washing and generally shining up the appearance. He or she waits at an appointed place until the table hostess signals them to be seated.

When the meal is over, each must scrape and stack his dishes (which he or she furnishes, often times leaving them at the school during summer months) before scampering out doors for half an hour of play.

Staples for the meals are procured through the surplus commodities commission and include such items as graham and white flour, canned beans, salt pork, prunes and grapefruit. Often these things come in such quantities that there is danger the children will grow tired, but expert planning (aid by healthy appetites) wrangles around this nicely. Remaining food needs are supplied out of a 10 cents per day per child charge which adequately supplies needs.

A housewife in planning her kitchen at home wouldn't believe that $15 would be enough to furnish it completely. But through the help of parents, trustees and the community in general, the Moore school kitchen has cost just about that.

At first a list of all the things that would be needed was made and one by one the parents scratched through the list offering to donate the articles. Trustees pitched in and built and painted the tables. The remaining articles were bought for $15.

Are the youngsters thriving on this food? Well, in just one month some have gained as many as nine pounds and they appear to be as healthy and happy a group as you'll find.

The teachers say the youngsters do better work and the youngsters—well, they are sold on the hot lunch project. Each child furnishes his own dishes, and eating utensils and may leave them during the summer for next year's use.

Before the lunch project started many of the children had to leave their homes so early on the school bus that they either didn't have time for breakfast or were starved by noon. Packed lunches just didn't furnish the necessary amount of vitamins to make for healthy children.

No lunches to fix sells the parents on the idea too. The project is pleasing to the teachers, youngsters and parents and the results of healthier children are pleasing to any one.

School Board Elections Set For Saturday

Annual election of school trustees will be held Saturday, with every school district naming at least one new board member and three places to be filled on the county board.

Bob Asbury, precinct 3, and L. L. Underwood, precinct 4, are standing for reelection in the county board, with Walter Robinson of Midway and Leroy Echols of Coahoma on the ballot for the trustee-at-large position being vacated by J. A. Bishop.

In the Big Spring district, R. L. Tollett and Ira Thurman are up for reelection, without opposition.

Each common school district will name one new board member, and either consolidated or independent district will name two or three trustees.

Forsan Pastor Has Cosmopolitan Background

By AQUILLA WEST
FORSAN, April 3 (SpI)—Members of the local Baptist church have a right to be proud of their minister—he is young in years, a past master at overcoming obstacles, quite a linguist, and an enthusiastic religious worker.

He is the Rev. Henry G. Wiens, whose ancestors were Hollanders who migrated northward over Europe until they wound up in Siberia, where he was born. He might have been there yet, but his father accumulated a little store of goods and became a "capitalist" to the extent it furnished communists a pretext for confiscating his property.

But to get back to the beginning of the story, ancestors of the Rev. Wiens were scattered during the Reformation period by Catholic persecution in the 16th century. They were folk committed to the Brethren Faith, a belief somewhat similar to what is now the Baptist denomination. Dislodged, they migrated to western Poland, which later became Prussia.

There was no peace, for the Prussian Junkertum regime was equally intolerant. So the group negotiated with Katherina II, the czarina of Russia, concerning the possible migration to the Ukraine, and in this spot the people lived and prospered, and here Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Wiens, parents of the Forsan minister, were born. After marriage, they moved to Siberia where their children were born.

Henry Wiens is the youngest of four children and was born in 1909, attended grade and high school at Omsk, Siberia. Young Henry had seven years training under the Soviet regime and when he was 16, he was selected by the communist government as an outstanding student and given an honorary appointment to the University of Moscow, attesting to the fact a government committee had felt he would be a fine young man to devote his life to Soviet service.

Perhaps this might have been, but his father was too industrious a fellow. His first year farming in Siberia had netted 30 cars of wheat. With his profits he bought an iron works, traded it for a flour mill and eventually accumulated three mills. That was his mistake, for he became a "capitalist" and his property was seized.

So on the night in 1925 when Henry was to have left for Moscow, the family packed up and started the journey to Canada where the family could settle on a homestead available at $10 a section. But before they left, they fulfilled their moral obligation, as they then thought because of their education, by visiting the tomb of Lenin, demi-god of the Reds.

In Canada, the parents became naturalized citizens and Henry attended school in Gretna, Winnipeg and Manitoba. His conversion as a Christian came in a meeting held in a log cabin in 1928. Later he was graduated from a Bible school in Winnipeg and then taught in Saskatoon Bible college and Heburn Bible college at Heburn, Sask., for four years.

Married to Marguerite Van Nieson, a Canadian of Dutch descent, they came to the United States in 1938 on a visitors' visa instead of a student's permit. In consequence, he could not work for his schooling, and yet had no other visible means of support. With three children to support, this was indeed a major step.

But he headed south because he has always heard so much about it, particularly Texas—the fabled state he had read and talked about back in boyhood days in Russia. With nothing but faith to go upon, he got through school. Things would get in a pretty tight place, but he would just pray the harder, and, he said, "would you believe it, the money we had to have always came in when we had to have it, and from points as far as 3,000 miles away—from people who did not know our urgent need." It was, he explained, a proof of what complete faith will do.

After two years schooling in Dallas, he studied in and was graduated from Hardin-Simmons university at Abilene in January.

The Rev. Wiens speaks Dutch, German, Russian, Ukrainian fluently, besides flawless English. Besides, he has studied Hebrew and Greek.

His greatest desire is for peace to come again so that he can return to his native land to preach the Gospel. Of the war, he is certain that "God's people will eventually win, though time only will reveal the sacrifices God intends us to make."

Editorial -- Silence Important In Time Of War

Good rule in wartime is: When in doubt, keep your mouth shut. A special bulletin from the Texas Press Association says many newspapers have received telephone calls asking for new addresses of local boys in service, under the pretext of wanting to send them gifts or write them letters. When asked to identify themselves, these callers hang up suddenly. While some of these calls may be made in good faith, the FBI has reasons to believe that spies use this means of keeping tabs on troop movements. Spies have called up parents of boys in service, posing as newspaper representatives, in order to get addresses and thus check on troop movements and concentrations.

Man About Manhattan -- Inventions Rise To Meet War Needs

By GEORGE TUCKER
NEW YORK -- A man I know called in a couple of chemists and said: "Listen. The government's got two million yards of cotton duck cloth. This material is going to be made into tents. It's got to be treated with something that'll make it flame proof as well as water proof. What do you say?"

The chemists said, "Okay, this is Friday, we'll be back on Monday and see what we can show you."

I happened to be there when the chemists came back. They had a piece of the ducking with them, with the treatment on it. One of the specifications of this order is that the flame must die within two seconds after the duck has been held in fire for twelve seconds. The chemists handed the treated cloth to my friend. He struck a match, held the cloth to the flame for 12 seconds. The cloth began to grow red and curl about the edges. When he removed it, the flame disappeared as if by magic.

It takes a pound of "cure" for every square yard of cloth. The samples have been given to the government agents, and they're waiting for the answer. If the government says okay, this chemical concern is going to have an order for two million pounds of this anti-flame treatment. Nice little order, two million pounds, even in dirt.

The man who showed me this tent-proofing test showed me something else. It was a little thing that proves how much necessity really is the mother of invention. What he did was bring out a number of fabrics from which men's clothes are made and asked me to identify them. I mean, some cloths are tweeds, others are flannels, others are known as woolsens.

"This one," I said, "is flannel." I picked up another and fingered its rough, woolen surface. This is pure wool," I told him. I gave what I thought were good guesses for all the others. He broke into a laugh.

"This makes me very happy," he told me. "There isn't a thread

Forsan Youth Had Part In U.S. Victory

JOHN CAMP ADAMS

Back in Hawaii again after a "mission" is Lt. John Camp Adams, a bombardier on one of Uncle Sam's fighting ships. Where he has been, not even his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Adams, Forsan, know. They can only surmise that perhaps he was in the southwest Pacific, perhaps under the command of Maj. Richard Carmichael, another Texan acclaimed for his heroic feat of commanding a squadron of eight heavy American bombers on a raid on Japanese shipping that sank two ships, left four afloat and beached another.

Lt. Adams was at one time with Maj. Carmichael and it's possible that he participated in the victorious New Guinea action. Although he has never told his parents anything about his units, they have surmised his assignment to the Carmichael command in the early days of the war. Lt. Adams was aboard a flying fortress, one of the flights that put into Pearl Harbor just at the moment Jap aircraft swooped down for the surprise attack which opened the war. Later it came out that Maj. Carmichael also was in that group, presumably in command.

The planes in which Lt. Adams was riding, headed the formation and sat down so quickly on the field that the ship skidded in on its belly because there was no time to let down the landing gear. Picture of the plane was in the Dec. 29 issue of Life magazine. Other ships landed on a nearby beach. Although machine-gunned, the crews -- with exception of one killed and some others shot in the legs -- made it to safety.

Of the historic incident, Lt. Adams wrote his parents that when he arrived "things were really buzzing." Later he could give some of the details of his experience. He called his parents in February to advise them that they needn't expect to hear from him for two or three months. From him there was nothing else. Later they learned that he had gone on a "mission," and that could cover any part of the globe.

Last week Lt. Adams was back in Hawaii, for he advises his parents just as soon as he could. A graduate of the Forsan high school, he also took his degree from Texas Tech and then started work in petroleum engineering at Texas University when the national emergency arose. He dropped his course and enlisted as an aviation cadet, being the last of 55 cadets who washed out on pilot training.

His eyes were not quite good enough for the rigors of piloting, but they were plenty good for bombardier work. His practice grades were exceptionally high at Berkdale and at Albuquerque. Now he may be having a chance to try his wares on some real targets -- and perhaps accounting for some of those Jap ships and material.

Morphine Substitute Non-Habit Forming
BOSTON, April 2. (AP) -- A non-habit-forming substitute for morphine, a major goal of medicine for many years, has been announced to the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology. The new drug is a synthetic, that is, an artificially-made substance.

The morphine substitute was made in effect by taking something resembling atropine and changing it into something resembling morphine.

Scorn 'Em Or Defend 'Em, Yo-Yos Gain In Popularity

By RAY DAVIDSON
Those subtly ridiculous gadgets of goofiness are making another comeback try. Yo-yos (yo-yar yo-yas, what ever the plural) may be seen climbing and descending their strings in increasing numbers. They have not yet become as thick as the leaves on the trees, as was the case in their original invasion in the mid-thirties, but their number is probably greater than in any of the previous comeback attempts. Variety stores and drug-store notions counters offer the gadgets at prices from 10 cents up, and the sale is not altogether slow, they say.

Recently a troupe of Filipinos visited one local five-and-dime to demonstrate fancy yo-yo acrobatics. They neglected to say if Gen. D. MacArthur had taken up the habit while in the Philippines, nor did they say if the Japanese were engaged with the toys.

Over 1450 Persons Have Finished Red Cross Courses Since January

Tentative plans are now in the making for a joint presentation of certificates earned in Red Cross first aid, nutrition and home nursing classes, and when this presentation is held some 1,457 persons will be eligible for certificates. Since the first of the year approximately 1079 students have been taught the rudiments of first aid work from Big Spring and surrounding communities. Another 360 women have received instructions in home nursing and care of the sick. Eighteen women have also completed the initial course in nutrition offered here.

As classes finish the 30 hour or 10 hour courses, graduating approximately 30 in a class, new classes are found usually within the week from the long waiting list at the Red Cross headquarters.

Some instructors are teaching more than one course in order to take care of the numbers of citizens who wish to enroll. In event the mass presentation is to be made, plans call for the date to be set some time between April 20th and 25th when a film, "Before the Doctor Comes" will be shown.

Those wishing to enroll in any of the three courses are asked to call the Red Cross, phone 256, where arrangements will be made to enroll them in the classes.

Washington Daybook-- No Pork Barrel Due On Roads

By JACK STINNETT
WASHINGTON -- Apparently road builders and planners in some states have failed to understand that "highways-as-usual" are out for the duration just as positively as "business as usual." The trek of persons to Washington demanding that roads be built as usual or even faster and the volume of mail to congressmen with the same request not only continues but seems to be growing.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds-- Arline Judge, Poor Little Rich Girl

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD -- I don't know where else this could happen. You meet a pretty little girl you used to know and you talk over old times and new and she tells you how hard she's trying to get jobs. Then she says, "Wanna come up and see my new house?" And you go, and you see a big little mansion on top of the highest hill in Bel-Air, with a view of all the world below you. She's job-hunting and building a house that'll set her back about $40,000.

The pretty little girl is Arline Judge. She's wearing pale blue slacks and a blue metal poise in her short-curved hair. Cute. Looks it, I mean. Doesn't act it. Acts like Judge, to the point and cards on the table.

"It's this way," she says. "If I don't work I go nuts, doing nothing. I've got to have something to do, and I can't stand sitting around playing bridge with a bunch of women. With a nurse for the children, there isn't enough to keep me busy. I've got to work."

The children are Wes, 5, son of her first marriage to Wesley Fugles, the director, and Dan, 4, son of Dan Topping, her second ex-husband. With ex-husbands like those, Arline isn't exactly ready for the role. He confides that Arline is one of the few people he knows who'll let him try out new ideas. Like the moonlight illumination for the dining room. Like the tree-and-bird-cage arrangement for the head of the curving stairway. ("I crossed those out," says Arline, "but I think I'm getting them anyway.") Like the lipstick-red paint they were planning to use on the foyer ceiling... if Arline is game. She is.

Bicycling - Modern Mode Of Transportation - Brings Out A Flock Of New Women's Fashions

By BETTY CLARKE

Wide World Beauty Editor
Bicycling for beauty — even without a bike—booms as never before this year. For the sake of lovelier legs many a modern girl makes the motion of cycling in her regular routine exercises.

But beauty on a bike is apt to be a spring song this season. It's fashion and fun and priorities to push on the pedals.

I asked Cy Panitch of the Bicycle Club of America to suggest special aids to correct cycling, particularly for beginners who wish to take a bike properly.

Here are his recommendations:
1. Sit straight on the saddle.
2. Relax.
3. Don't look in back of you, nor on your front wheel.
4. Keep your eyes forward at least 10 feet beyond the front wheel.
5. Pedal evenly, neither too slowly nor too fast.
6. Pedal with the balls of your feet firmly on the pedals.
7. In coasting, see that the pedals are in horizontal position to give leverage to apply the coasters freely.
8. Don't grip handlebars, too tightly.
9. Keep wrists relaxed.

STYLE CONSCIOUS FIBERONS flutter in admiration of this swank new cycling outfit of gray flannel culottes and little-boy jacket. The sweater blouse is striped rayon jersey.

By DOROTHY ROWE

Daley, Daley, our motoring days are through.

Don't be lazy—walking is good for you.

The tires of our horseless carriage are victims of wear-and-tear-age.

But you'll look sweet upon the seat.

Of a bicycle built for two.

The world has seen the Stone Age, the Ice Age and the Motor Age. But this, boys and girls, is the beginning of the Bicycle Age.

Come spring, a goodly number of the American motoring public will be reduced from four wheels to two.

Since bicycle tires are—as yet unrationed, Mr. and Mrs. Jones and all the little Joneses are taking to bicycles in ever increasing numbers. Last year, even before the spectre of tire rationing became a fact, some two million bicycles were sold in the United States.

As usual, American designers have come through in a big way with smart new functional clothes guaranteed to make any girl run—not walk—to the nearest bicycle shop. Pictured here are some of the best bets for Bicycle Girls of 1942.

NEW AS NEXT YEAR'S HAT are these Pickwickian cycling stacks of brown and white hound's tooth check woolen, tapered at the ankles. The flannel jacket is collarless.

fence project. This would throw the east line of the area along Gollard street.

Already there was some speculation that the Army might require even more territory, and if so the state park (Sonic Mountain) would present itself as a ready-made parcel. Should this come to pass, the east line of the projected housing area would be beyond the eastern city limits of Big Spring.

In taking over the airport, the Army has a landing field on which more than a million dollars will have gone into when the present program of improvement is complete.

Now with an enlarged tract of two miles east and west and a mile and a quarter north and south, the runways which have 5,000 feet on all four fronts already were the longest in the southwest, probably will be lengthened to a minimum of 6,000 feet with one going 7,000 feet.

Pending completion date, American Airlines has been granted special permission to continue operations as usual. After Aug. 6, when the work is to be finished, the Army will be in charge. What then is another question to be answered.

Battle of Bull Run
U. S. Marines took part in the famous Battle of Bull Run. Major John G. Reynolds commanded 300 Marines there.

A new version of bacon and eggs is news. Roll out a recipe of biscuit dough, spread with butter or margarine, and sprinkle with chopped, crisp bacon. Roll it up jelly-roll fashion and bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) for 15 minutes. Serve creamed hard-cooked eggs over the rolls and watch the family eat. Good nutrition, too.

King Captured
The king of the Fiji Islands in 1855, Tul VII, whose people had committed crimes against Americans, was captured by U. S. Marines the same year.

All Happy, These Babies Posing For Photos

Whether a baby is pretty because he is happy or happy because he is pretty—now that's a subject that you could argue about all day. But whichever is true, the infants who turned up Tuesday and Wednesday at Kelsey studio to enter the Personality Child contest were all pretty and happy.
 First subject for the day was Theresa Louann Hood, who looked pleased about the whole thing even when she wasn't smiling. She has brown hair and blue eyes.
 Larry Clark Morgan, nine month old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Morgan, was the blondest blond of the day has big blue eyes. Larry Clark was most contained about the picture making business and took it in his stride.
 Janace Marie Kirby, six months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Kirby, has brown hair and hazel eyes. She was most interested in everything around her and tried to see everything that happened.
 Whether he was happy over his brand new teeth, two of them, or whether he just liked to get into new surroundings, nobody could tell by eight-month old Bill Carrell Bostick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bostick, who was grinning and happy all afternoon. He has light brown hair and brown eyes.
 Sandra Rae Bloom, ten month old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bloom, just couldn't be bothered much about all that was going on around her. She was mostly interested in her grandmother, Mrs. Sam Fisherman, who is the apple of her eye.

The "smile" baby of the day, though, was Evelyn DeJores Wilkerson, seven month old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Wilkerson. Little Evelyn smiled for each portrait and it was quite a job to get her to pose for just one serious picture.
 J. Gordon Bristow, Jr., three and a half month old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Gordon Bristow, was another happy looking baby at the studio. He took his directions without concern and had his picture taken like he really liked it.
 Lynne Wright, five and a half month old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Wright, was contented enough too. She hadn't quite finished with her bottle of milk so waiting on photographers didn't bother her, she just finishes her meal.
 Two out of town babies were registered and had their photos taken Wednesday.
 The out of town young 'uns were George Earl Turner, five month old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Turner of Coahoma and Don Nell Lay, six months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lay of Coahoma.
 Leona Faye Floyd, seven month old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Floyd, was the first baby yet who tried to talk and managed a howdy do when she came in.
 Others having their portraits were Dee Kent Carter, nine and a half month old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dee Carter, Sharon Beth Creighton, 11 month old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Creighton, Larry McCleskey, six month old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank McCleskey.

Ex-Convict Arrested After Three Farmers Are Slain

PONTIAC, Mich., April 3 (AP)—State police climaxed the melodramatic case of the killing of three farmers by capturing the slayer on a dark road far from the scene of the deaths early today and announcing his confession.
 Trooper Roy Perkins, one of the arresting officers, said that 20-year-old Dominick Piccone, ex-convict two weeks out of prison, had admitted shooting one farmer to death in vengeance and killing the others to protect his flight, meanwhile seizing a fourth man to help him flee.
 With a space of 24 hours two Oxford, Mich., farmers, Cassius E. Barber, 71, and Romaine C. Potter, 75, had been slain with rifle fire in their neighboring homes and Carl McKenzie, 43, was killed on his farm at Concord, 90 miles distant.
 Formerly charged with murdering Barber, his former employer, and wanted as suspect in the other two shootings, Piccone had been sought since Tuesday night. It was then that Barber and Potter had been killed.
 Early today a state police car containing Trooper Perkins and his companion officers was cruising in the vicinity of Otisville, a Genesee county town some 48 miles from here. A car drove by with its tail light out.
 A few minutes later, Perkins said, the short-wave radio from headquarters instructed them to look for such a car as one suspected to be bearing Piccone and Roy Thorpe, 55, a neighbor of the Oxford victims who was believed being held as a hostage by the killer.
 Trooper Perkins said the car was overtaken and stopped. Piccone was seized without a struggle and both he and Thorpe, whom Perkins described as "very nervous," were returned to Pontiac.
 Trooper Perkins said that his youthful prisoner spoke little at the time of his arrest but admitted he had shot Barber because "he had something against him" and then had killed Potter for fear that the latter might identify him.
 The confession went on to say that Thorpe was then seized and his car commandeered, Perkins said.
 The third man to die, McKenzie, was shot on his farm yesterday afternoon because he had seen the license number of the automobile,

Perkins said the young man told him.
 Thorpe, a Pontiac defense worker, was a neighbor of Potter and Barber.
