

400 Are Estimated Killed in Explosion Family of Seven Drowns in Mexico Flood

Father Views Tragedy, Tries To Hang Self

JACALA, Mexico—(P)—A family of seven, mother, four children and two servants drowned in one of the flash floods that accompanied great landslides in this area. The father attempted to hang himself following the tragedy.

This was reported today by the chief of police at Tamazunchale who said the incident occurred Friday at Taman, 40 miles north of Jacala, where landslides reportedly covered 40 houses.

The seven lost their lives when a flood of water surged down a mountain, destroying the house. The father, seeing his family drown, tried to hang himself. Friends cut him down, still alive, the police chief said.

The Tamazunchale official also reported two other persons drowned at Axtila, also in the landslide area, where water from the Rio Axtila flooded the town to a depth of 13 feet.

Taman was buried under masses of earth and battered by torrential floods.

Five days after disastrous landslides which occurred in the rugged, scenic mountains for 65 miles north of here, the Pan-American highway was still blocked by earth and rocks and a hundred northbound cars and trucks waited here to get through. The landslides and floods occurred during lashing rains which accompanied a flood.

Human Error and Machine Failure Blamed for Crash

HONOLULU—(P)—The Pacific plane crash which left five known dead and five presumed dead, including Ambassador George Atcheson, Jr., was described by Gen. Carl Spaatz, Army Air Force commander.

Who, if anyone, is to blame will be officially decided in an immediate investigation ordered by Gen. Spaatz.

Files meanwhile based their unofficial judgement of both human error and mechanical failure on this confirmed sequence of events: The converted B-17 bomber left Tokyo last Friday. It landed at Guam and ground crews there removed a faulty engine replacing it with another. The pilot, Capt. K. R. Sill, took the plane up for a three-hour test flight, and the 20th Air Force on Guam subsequently reported in an order that over 1,200 miles of ocean to Kwajalein, in the Marshall Islands.

The plane took off from Kwajalein Saturday after refueling, carrying a total of 300 gallons of gasoline, sufficient for more than 15 hours' flight. The Kwajalein-Oahu (Honolulu) flight normally requires about 12 hours.

As the plane neared it drove into a 10-mile headwind.

Captain Sill did not stop at little Johnston Island, 715 miles southwest of Oahu. He radioed the Johnston tower that he had enough fuel left for eight hours' flight—which would have been more than ample to reach Honolulu's Hickam Field.

When things began to go wrong, the air rescue center here estimated the ship actually was a little farther from Oahu than its pilot had believed; and the headwinds were getting stronger. They ranged up to 21 miles an hour—nothing unusual, but placing a heavier strain on the fuel supply.

Capt. T. L. Rider, the navigator said the new engine seemed to be eating too much gasoline; and the pilot, he related, believed his gasoline gauges must be wrong.

As midnight neared, the pilot asked the Oahu radio control center for a fix on his position; he reported he was 25 minutes' out, and had only 20 minutes' fuel.

The Hawaiian Sea Frontier radio center estimated, however, that the plane was making only 150 miles an hour against the wind, and that it was then 110 miles out.

The new engine "went out" shortly, said Rider. Then another engine quit, and finally a third, while the plane lost altitude rapidly. Even the ditching (setting down at sea) went wrong, said the survivors. In the pitch black night, a wing hit the waves first. Then, as Rider said, "the plane started to catapult and flip."

Rider was one of the three who escaped but he has no idea how.

The Army listed other survivors as Col. Harvey Hugin, Fairfield, Ia., and Sgt. James W. Smith, both of whom were later identified in Tokyo as Opl. Travis J. Holland of Akron, Ohio. The latter survivor was in a coma.

VOL. 46, NO. 118 (10 Pages) PAMPA, TEXAS, TUESDAY, AUGUST 19, 1947. Price 5 Cents AP Leased Wire

Swindle Story Revealed in Tax Decision

AUSTIN—(P)—How a wealthy Texas widow was swindled of $272,000 through a maze of buried treasure on her 23,040-acre ranch was recounted in an income tax decision here.

The account was included in a decision by Federal Judge Ben H. Rice, who ruled that money obtained by swindling was income and taxable, and he thus denied a man and his wife recovery of $2,512.86 income taxes.

The widow was Mrs. Dora Roberts of Big Spring, who was visited by a man in 1929 to discuss oil leases.

In talking to him, the decision said, she mentioned that she had heard tales that there was gold buried on her land.

In 1932, the man returned in company with a second man, whom she said could obtain possession of maps in Mexico showing exact location of treasure on her land.

She advanced $1,600 to obtain the maps, the decision said.

The men and the widow went to his spot indicated by the map. Dug up was a quantity of metal bars. They were taken to her house for safe-keeping.

That was the beginning. All in all the widow expended $43,100 in 1932, $36,100 in 1933, $97,500 in 1934, $94,000 in 1935 and $32,000 in 1936.

The money was divided by the two men who offered to get the maps for her and find more gold. Judge Rice said.

The "gold bars" turned out to be 5,800 pounds of brass melted into bars.

The decision said the "gold" was buried prior to the "discoveries." The final blow came when one of the men fled to his home in Mexico, made arrangements to sell the "gold." He was "hijacked" near Richmond and the metal taken.

It was in 1936 that Mrs. Roberts discovered the fraud.

Outcome was an indictment against one of the men—not for swindling, but for evasion of income taxes. The defendant pleaded guilty to the crime.

He was fined $10,000 and sentenced to two years in prison on the first count and fined $5,000 and sentenced to two years in prison on the other. The sentences to run consecutively.

His two-year sentence on one of the counts was suspended. He then filed suit to recover what money he had already paid of the money the widow had paid him.

Partial Embargo On Coal Lifted

WASHINGTON—(P)—The Office of Defense Transportation today lifted the partial embargo on United States coal shipments to Canada.

The embargo was invoked last Wednesday against shipments via the Canadian National Railways, government-owned principal railroads in the Dominion. It was designed to speed the return to this country of badly-needed U. S. freight cars held in Canada.

Figures released by ODT at the time indicated Canadian National had been tardy on making returns. The embargo did not affect shipments via the privately-owned Canadian Pacific Railway, Canada's second largest line.

The ODT officials in announcing the immediate lifting of the embargo today expressed belief the purpose has been served, in that the return of U. S. cars has been greatly speeded up.

Washington Burglars Operating in the Red

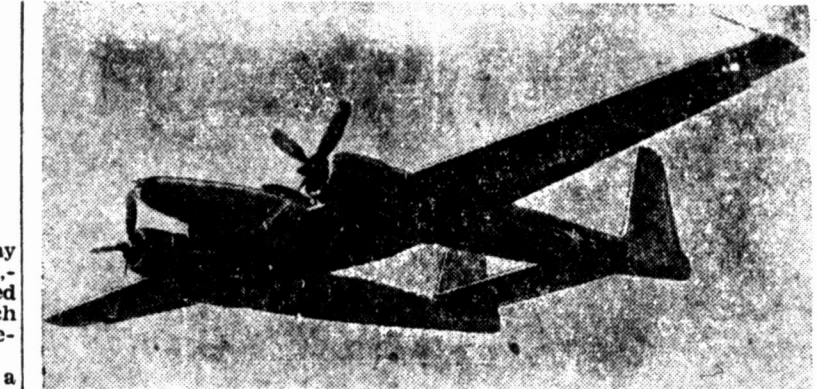

WASHINGTON—(P)—Fuzzed Mrs. Nellie Hagans reported to police that out in her neighborhood the burglars seem to be operating in reverse.

The front door of her home was forced. Instead of taking anything away the hoodlums left behind a neatly packed in a closet, a total of two suits, five sport coats, five pairs of trousers and four shirts.

Interment was at Shamrock.

Tire Men Say Prices Below Pre-War Level

NEW YORK—(P)—Federal charges that makers of 90 percent of the nation's tires have conspired for 12 years to fix prices will be fought "to the limit," said E. J. Thomas, president of Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co.

The criminal complaint naming 19 defendants was filed yesterday in Federal District Court for the Southern District of New York. It quickly brought denials from the tiremakers, who said that tire prices now are at or below pre-war levels.

The action, Thomas said, "seems utterly preposterous." William O'Neil, president of General Tire and Rubber Co., said that tires are selling 24 percent below pre-war levels and the suit "just doesn't make sense."

"On the basis of present living costs as compared with 1941 the price of tires is down almost 64 percent," O'Neil said.

Herbert E. Smith, president of the U. S. Rubber Co., said three of the four tires which account for 85 percent of his firm's business sell below pre-war levels.

The criminal action against the tiremakers followed by a few hours the filing of a civil anti-trust action in Federal District Court in Los Angeles which William C. Dickinson, chief of the West Coast anti-trust division, said was to "make possible an early and substantial increase in color motion pictures for the public."

The civil suit charged that Technicolor Motion Picture Corp., and Eastman Kodak Co., conspired to give Technicolor a monopoly on the processing of kodak's monopak color film. The suit directs cancellation of their contract and release of the process to the whole industry on a royalty-free basis.

At Rochester, N. Y., Eastman's President Thomas J. Hargrave said the firm had no existing arrangement "by which Technicolor does or could control or monopolize the professional color motion picture film." Technicolor made no comment immediately.

A reply to the Federal Trade Commission's "cease and desist" order against steelmakers whom it accused Sunday of conspiring to fix prices of steel was received by Pampa last night from Irving S. Olds, board chairman of the U. S. Steel Corporation.

Containing that the present pricing system in the industry had been evolved through 50 years "as a natural consequence of the fundamental economic and competitive conditions existing in that industry." Olds said adoption of the Commission's pricing plan "would cause 'chaotic conditions' in industries consuming steel.

Marshall Will Discuss Plan At Conference

QUITANDINHA, BRAZIL—(P)—Secretary of State Marshall and Argentina's Foreign Minister, Juan A. Bramuglia, discussed all main points of the inter-American defense treaty at a half-hour private conference today.

The two conferred at Bramuglia's apartment.

"We discussed all main points of the treaty and exchanged views," Gen. Marshall said as they emerged.

Bramuglia told newsmen "The General was given a statement."

Marshall is to deliver a major policy address at the conference tomorrow and is expected to spell out United States views on questions facing the delegates in drafting a hemisphere defense treaty.

The biggest question involved thus far is Cuba's demand for a clause to bar "economic aggression" as well as military attacks.

Marshall's speech is scheduled to follow the arrival of Senora Eva Duarte Peron, wife of Argentina's President, at the plush Quitandinha Hotel where the conference is being held. The Argentine delegation will tender her a gala reception. It was not known yet whether she would be escorted into the chamber where conference plenary sessions are being held.

A member of the United States delegation said that Secretary Marshall had not yet received invitations to any of the functions scheduled to honor Senora Peron.

Marshall took advantage of a conference hall today to confer with Foreign Minister Juan A. Bramuglia of Argentina. He held a similar conference yesterday with Foreign Minister Jaime Torres Bodet of Mexico.

The only conference business scheduled for today was a meeting of the committee on aggression.

Marshall's speech tomorrow is expected to give the official U. S. reaction to the formal demand submitted by Cuba yesterday for a treaty clause against "economic aggression."

Dr. Guillermo Belt, Cuban ambassador to the United States, declared that "simple notification which one state makes against another that it will apply sanctions, or means of economic, financial or commercial coercion if the other nation does not accede to its demands, should be considered a menace."

Cuba, through Dr. Belt, has been objecting strenuously to a provision in the recently adopted U. S. sugar act, one clause of which gives the Secretary of Agriculture authority to withdraw or withhold an increase in sugar quotas if foreign countries fail to give U. S. citizens fair and equal treatment.

Roping Club officials, also, announced this morning that members of the club will participate in Perryton's 28th birthday celebration August 21-22. Members of the club are asked by club officials, to meet at Recreation Park at 6 o'clock, Friday morning in order to be in Perryton for the morning parade. The Roping Club will, also, lead the grand entry of the second, and final rodeo performance, Friday afternoon.

Spanish Torpedo Plant Explodes; Section Wrecked

CADIZ, Spain—(P)—More than 400 persons were estimated by newspapermen here today to have been killed when a Spanish naval torpedo plant exploded last night, wrecking a residential section, an orphanage, a hospital and a factory.

Earlier estimates had placed the injured at several thousands and the property damage at $10,000,000.

Official censorship was placed in effect near the scene of the explosion on the narrow Cadiz Peninsula, about two miles from the center of the ancient city of 80,000.

Troops patrolled the area and barred reporters from the disaster zone. The film of three Spanish photographers who had entered the area was confiscated.

An ocean mine factory and an warehouse went up with the torpedo plant. The ruin was so complete that no clue to the cause of the explosion was left.

The collapsed orphanage was known as La Casa Cuna. Most of the 120 children and nuns were believed dead, buried in the debris.

An unknown number of patients were believed to have died similarly in the Madre de Dios Hospital, caved in by the explosion.

About 100 workers were believed entombed under wreckage of a small factory near the arsenal.

Thousands of Cadiz residents crowded near the stricken area seeking word of friends or relatives.

Telephone calls over the restored lines still were limited mostly to officials.

(The U. S. Embassy in Madrid had received no word of any U. S. resident being killed or injured. Paul Culberson, U. S. charge d'affaires here, said he was making inquiries.)

City Commission Studies Budgets For Departments

Tentative departmental budgets for the Fire, Street and Police Departments for the 1947-48 fiscal year were introduced this morning City Manager Steve Matthews to the City Commission shortly after two o'clock for reworking of residential districts to commercial districts were heard and the reappointment of Dr. Malcolm R. Brown as city health officer was approved.

First to be taken up was the Fire Department budget showing an expected expenditure of $3,744,444 in salaries, supplies, repairs, utilities and permanent improvements. This is a 17.6 percent increase over the amount spent in the Fire Department in 1942-43.

City manager pointed out that in 1942-43 there were not as many regularly paid firemen as there are today and that the city has grown in number of buildings and residences erected since that time.

Two additional items appearing on the city manager's estimated budget for next year included a four-door sedan for the fire chief and a new fire station to be located south of the tracks. Matthews told the Commission, Pampa is about the only city of its size that does not provide its fire chief with a chief's car and added Fire Chief Ben White now uses his own personal car getting no more in return than about 15 gallons of gas a month. White has to use his own personal car to make fire calls and fire inspections to all parts of the city, driving it over all types of streets, alleys and byways and often has to haul firemen to and from the scene of a fire. The latter many times resulting in marring the inside of his car from mud caked boots. For this the chief has had no refund from the city. An amount

Dutch Said Determined to Put End to Indonesian Republic

LAKE SUCCESS—(P)—The Indonesian government charged today that the Dutch were determined to destroy the war-born East Indies Republic.

Taking the floor in the Security Council after the Soviet Union accused the United States of making a "dangerous" and disrespectful attempt to by-pass the United Nations, former Premier Sutan Sjahrir declared:

"It is clear to us that Dutch military actions are aimed at the destruction of the republic. Subsequent Dutch professions of a desire to negotiate with us are neither understandable nor convincing. Everything points to one conclusion and one conclusion only, namely, that the Dutch are fully determined to put an end to the Indonesian Republic."

Sjahrir said his country had no faith in the honesty of the Dutch government and again appealed to the United Nations for investigation and arbitration.

In Yogyakarta, the commander in chief of the Indonesian Republic forces meanwhile broadcast an order to his troops to prepare for prolonged warfare. The announcement came from Batavia after the Dutch reported there that "drastic retaliatory measures" had been taken against the Indonesian forces.

Russia said here that the only solution would be for the council to set up a commission to investigate and arbitrate the conflict.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko stated the Russian position for the first time in an emergency council meeting summoned at his specific request.

He charged that the United States was attempting to "force its good offices on Indonesia" and was "showing disregard of the Indonesian people and lack of respect for the Security Council."

The persistent offering of good offices by the United States becomes even more difficult to understand after the Indonesian government had asked the council to create its own commission for arbitration and investigation. Gromyko said the American offer of good offices could be viewed only "as an attempt to by-pass the United Nations" and that this was both "undesirable and dangerous."

The Indonesian government relies on the Security Council and expects help from it.

The council alone must decide this question and not the Netherlands, Gromyko said. The Netherlands "certainly will submit to decisions of the council if we show no indecision."

Replying to contentions of the Netherlands government that the U. N. has no jurisdiction in the case, Gromyko declared:

"The Indonesian government relies on the Security Council and expects help from it."

Crooner Como Offers To Become Pugilist

CHICAGO—(P)—Crooner Perry Como was in the midst of one of his best renditions of "Dream, Dream, Dream," when a wag in the Chicago theatre socked him on the head with a piece of hard candy.

For that, Como was willing to treat the patrons to an unscheduled performance. He called for the house lights and invited the person "and all his friends" to a vis-a-vis on the stage but there were no takers and the singer resumed his program.

In his next appearance, Como had a sizeable lump on his head.

We, The Women

By RUTH MILLETT
There's always a new way of doing things. Farmers and owners of country estates, who have often complained that city visitors dig up their pine and cedar trees, trespass on their property to hunt, fish or picnic, etc., may owe a debt to a Colorado rancher.

While he was away from home two couples from a nearby town, whom he later identified, drove out to his ranch to do a little fishing.

They drove their automobile across a strip of meadow planted to timothy and clover, leaving deep ruts in the soft ground.

A few days later one of the couples was amazed to see a man, who appeared to be a tramp, sauntering up to their lawn and laying a fire of wood chips. When they protested, he said he just wanted to cook a few wieners.

The couple telephoned the sheriff. Not until the sheriff called off the wieners roasting did the visitor reveal his identity. Yes, he was the rancher on whose property the couple had trespassed.

Imogene Keller Is Coffee Honoree

Wayne Stewart of Enid, Okla., was complimented with a pre-nuptial coffee in the home of Mrs. Buck Hines Sunday morning.

Miss Keller was presented a corsage of pink carnations tied with white ribbons carrying out her chosen colors of pink, white and green.

The guests who were former neighbors of Miss Keller, gave her an all wool blanket.

Those present were Mesdames E. M. Keller, mother of the bride-elect; J. O. McCoy, John Dixon, Vernon Moore, John Umphries of Canadian, and Miss Anna Lea McCoy.

Use Baby's Talc to Dim Shine on Nose

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer
Ever try using baby's talcum powder to de-luster shine on a sun-tanned nose or brow? Richard ("Look Your Best") Willis, radio's beauty counselor, says baby powder dulcs sheen with the least biter of skin tones; with the least pore interference. Baby powder's very fine texture is what backs up its good performance.

Here are more hot weather make-up tips from the beauty counselor. He says that the increased output of oil glands can be offset by washing your face at least four times a day with tepid—not hot—water and soap. An astringent lotion patted on the nose and chin is also recommended for curbing a shine.

Make-up is better able to stay put in face-mapping weather if it is applied sparingly and worked on evenly, says Willis. His argument is that a heavy coat of make-up slapped on the surface of the skin slides off faster than one thin but smoothly applied coat.

Willis recommends for the girl with an oily skin a liquid-lotion powder. Even her dry-skinned sister is better off, he says, wearing a non-greasy foundation under her powder when the mercury climbs. Creamy bases can play a trick even on the dry-skinned by exploding into a film of oil under the stress of hot weather.

MORE WERE TAXED
Ten times as many Americans paid income taxes after the war began as before, the number rising from 4,000,000 to more than 40,000,000.

Lag Seen Between Demand, Estimates

AUSTIN—(AP)—The U. S. Bureau of Mines has estimated need for Texas crude during September at 2,290,000 barrels daily, Railroad Commission Chairman Ernest O. Thompson has announced.

Crude oil production in Texas is presently 2,306,000 barrels daily.

Thompson said he felt the bureau's estimate of demand is somewhat below that of the industry "as there is generally a lag between actual demand and Bureau of Mines reflection in its estimates."

The commission has called a statewide hearing here tomorrow to take testimony on which to base September's oil prorations schedule.

Governor Jester to Visit Mexico City

AUSTIN—(AP)—Gov. Beauford H. Jester's executive secretary, William L. McGill, said he has been advised the Governor and his party will leave Guatemala where they have been vacationing, for Mexico City Thursday.

McGill said the party plans to return to Texas Sunday.

Miss Labus and Joseph King Are Married Thursday

PANHANDLE. (Special)—In a double-ring ceremony at Sacred Heart Cathedral, Amarillo, Anne Pauline Labus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Labus of Panhandle, became the bride of Joseph Arthur King, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. King, 719 West Sixteenth Avenue, Amarillo, Thursday morning, Rev. Edmund F. Hartigan read the impressive service at nine o'clock.

Nuptial selections and the wedding marches were played by Mrs. Donald Honey, organist. She also accompanied Rev. Andrew Rodriguez, who sang "Ave Maria" and "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother."

Arrangements of gladiol and asters in the bride's colors of pink and white formed the decorative appointments on the altar.

Miss Rita King, sister of the bridegroom and maid of honor, was attired in a yellow chiffon gown, styled with a gathered bodice and bustle effect at the back of a full skirt. Her coronet head-dress was of net and she had gloves matching her gown. She carried a bouquet of blue asters.

Bridesmaids, Misses Frances Bichsel and Betty Deiten, were gowned in blue and pink, their dresses and coronets matching the maid of honor's.

They carried bouquets of blue and green asters.

Leo Maack was best man and Adrian Halduk and Edward Gerken were groomsmen. John Edwards and Joseph Kos served as ushers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory satin, designed with a sweetheart neckline, long fitted sleeves and full skirt extending into a cathedral train. Her veil of illusion fell from a crown of satin flowers. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and stephanotis showered with pink and white satin ribbons.

Mrs. Labus, mother of the bride, wore a rust crepe dress with gold accessories and a corsage of gardenias. Mrs. King, mother of the bridegroom, wore a gray crepe dress with matching accessories. Her corsage was also of gardenias.

Following the ceremony, the bridal party was honored at a breakfast in the home of the bridegroom's parents. Later in the day they were feted with a reception at the home of the bride's parents.

Mrs. King attended Panhandle High School and is a graduate of St. Mary's Academy, Amarillo. The bridegroom is a graduate of Price College, Amarillo, and is attending Northrop Aeronautical School of Engineering Hawthorn, Calif.

The United Nations is a stunted two-year-old, struggling in very deep waters.

The Security Council is grappling with the unprecedented problems of Greece and Indonesia.

Greece remains a hard nut for the American contention, and a uniting that knot probably would be relatively simple.

It is an old point, but the U. N.'s legal director, Abraham H. Fisher, made it again last week in an address at Palo Alto, Calif.

The Commission heard and passed to the Zoning Board two requests for rezoning present residential districts to commercial districts, the one to include a clinic.

The second request came from Dick Hughes in a letter to the Commission stating he had been requested by several physicians to build a clinic on a plot of ground east of the Central Park.

Flood

The village of Villa Cerrada, 19 miles north of Tamaunachale, was said by highway engineers to have "disappeared" but the only report of casualties was an unconfirmed report of two dead.

Most tourists have turned back to make a long detour through Queretaro to get to Laredo, Texas.

Casualties in the landslide that blocked the Pan-American highway north of here may prove to be fewer than early reports indicated.

First reports from the area were that 12 were dead.

Much physical damage, however, is apparent and Guillermo Pardo, chief of maintenance for all federal roads, said it may be a week before the road can be cleared.

So far as known the main slide of earth was at Tamaunachale 40 miles north of here, probably covering the village of 40 houses and possibly destroying the highway bridge at that point.

At Tamaunachale 10 were reported dead, road officials said there was only one death confirmed.

The two great slides and many small ones were said by road officials to have been caused by 30 hours of steady torrential rain that started about midnight last Wednesday.

Explosion

Resulting fires destroyed the Echevarrieta and Larrinaga shipyards.

Buildings were damaged and windows scattered throughout this ancient port city of 80,000, which was left without water, electricity and railroad or highway communications.

So complete was the ruin of the naval arsenal, situated about two miles from central Cadiz, that no clue was left to the cause of the disaster.

The force of the explosion cracked buildings in the heart of Cadiz. Street cars were derailed. The huge doors of the Cadiz Cathedral were torn from their hinges.

The explosion came at 10 p. m. last night.

The heaviest casualties and damage were believed in the summer colony and residential district of San Severiano, which is near the submarine naval base in the neck of the narrow peninsula.

Spanish authorities announced no estimate of the casualties. Reporters said most of the injured they saw had been cut by flying glass or were bruised by falling debris.

The Perez de La Frontera Radio Station, 16 miles to the north, broadcast appeals throughout the night for doctors, nurses and medicines.

Ambulances and rescue teams were arriving from as far east as Malaga, west from Hueiva, and north from Sevilla.

The population of the San Severiano district, which received the full force of the explosion, was about equally divided between summer vacation transients and workers.

Many prominent persons who live in chalets along the peninsula were expected to be among the injured.

Eduardo Sallej de la Cuesta, president of the Council of State, was reported injured slightly.

Some of the costliest damage was expected at the Echevarrieta ship-

Communists

"The chain must be complete, from the top down," the NLRB general counsel declared.

In the case of the CIO, one member of the executive board is a self-avowed Communist. He is Ben Gold of New York, president of the International Fur and Leather Workers Union.

Denham, reminded of this by reporters, said only, "The alternatives, if there are any, are obvious."

As for the AFL, there have been reports that John L. Lewis, although a vigorous anti-Communist, might withhold his affidavit as a matter of principle.

As president of the United Mine Workers and an AFL vice president, Lewis is a link in the AFL chain.

Denham estimated that about 500,000 union officials—representing some 50,000 local, national and international labor organizations—will be directly affected by the requirement for a non-Communist affidavit.

Resurgency Tyler whipped Jacksonville 3-0 to shove the Jax farther down.

Kilgore beat Henderson 3-0. Top pitching feat of the night was by Tom West of Tyler who shut Jacksonville out with four hits and fanned 11.

The new naval training ships, Juan de Austria, which was reported injured slightly, was destroyed by fire. Many smaller boats also burned.

TAKE A LOOK AT YOUR INSIDES. Study the above drawing for a few minutes. Notice particularly how the bile flows from the liver into and out of the gall-bladder and how it enters at a point just below the stomach. A cut-off valve prevents the return of the bile from the intestine into the gall-bladder. The gall-bladder is the pump for the bile. NATURE'S DANGER SIGNALS: When the bile becomes stagnant in your gall-bladder and is dumped back into your liver instead of flowing freely into your bowels, you sooner or later begin to feel some of the following symptoms: Your breath may become unpleasant (halitosis); your tongue coated; a bad taste in your mouth; your coffee and tobacco lose their natural flavor; your food does not agree with you; you may have heartburn, gas or belching around the heart; and finally you may be troubled with constipation or frequent passages of gas from the bowels; the gas may "bul-

In the morning you are tired instead of refreshed. Gradually your health is impaired. Your complexion may become sallow or bilious; dark rings may appear under your eyes, you may feel lazy, dull and irritable or blue and melancholic. You may have frequent colds (catarrh) or dull head-ache; your bowels stop their free, full and natural action; you have constipation, gas, indigestion and self-indigestion or "intestinal toxemia," as many doctors call it. This group of symptoms is referred to in the South as "torpid liver" but apparently a better expression would be Torpid Bowel Flow. HOW TO INCREASE BILE FLOW: But when the bile stops flowing freely how can we help Nature speed it up? The answer is: TAKE CALOMEL AT BEDTIME AND DRINK WATER FREELY THE NEXT DAY. The beneficial effects of Calomel lie in the fact that they are (1) laxative, (2) antiseptic to the intestines, (3) diuretic to the kidneys (4) effective in relieving symptoms due to constipation and sluggish liver. These improved calomel compound tablets make calomel taking pleasant. They are sugar-coated, palatable, prompt and effective. It is not necessary to follow them with salts. Try them and see. By HAROLD V. KATLIFF
DALLAS (AP)—Is catching a calf in a corral with the calf itself as the prize a violation of the amateur rule? Does that make a boy who is over 15 years of age a professional athlete and ineligible for high school competition?

Ed Heap moved from tackle to right guard and is followed by Danny Wolfe, a very likely looking candidate who has picked up more weight.

There are several ways to look at a calf scramble so far as being an athletic contest is concerned. A boy wouldn't have to be an athlete to catch a calf ahead of another boy who was an athlete.

The football season should start in the winter when the scribes have all their faculties. Anyway, the heat has brought their attention from your youth.

Any school need a football game for October 4?
Coach Ralph Murr of Corpus Christi Junior College is seeking a game for that date to replace one scheduled with Arts and Technological College of Beville, A. and T. College has decided not to have a football team this year after first making plans to get into the swim.

Paul Tyson, dean of Texas football coaches, has resigned at Jesuit High School of Dallas and will do a syndicated column for the newspapers.

Southpaw Golfers Start Qualifying
CHICAGO (AP)—Two former champions, including the defending titleholder Alex Antonio of Linden, N. J., and at least five state titleholders, headed the field of entries today in the 18-hole qualifying round of the eighth annual National Left-Handers Golf Tournament.

In addition to Antonio, leading contenders include Texas State Champion Roy Ribelin of Dallas.

Longhorn Fans Are Wondering About Linemen

AUSTIN (AP)—One of the biggest questions on the quiz list of University of Texas football fans is "How will the guards and tackles shape up this fall?"

Coach Blair Cherry re-shuffled the starting spring training and came up with a combination he hopes will stop opposing backs from thundering through the left side as they have during the last two years.

At right tackle, Ed Kelley, a fast, rugged Houston boy that was out much of last year with injuries, Joe Mitchell, a vicious blocker and a good-all-around player, will be at right guard.

With a break-neck schedule including North Carolina, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Rice and Southern Methodist and consecutive weekends, the Longhorns will have to rely heavily on reserve strength.

Relieving Kelley will be Charles Tatom, member of the undefeated Texas 44-70 relay team, and currently heralded as the fastest tackle in America.

Victor Vastek is rated the No. 3 guard on the team and the short, sturdy player is a valuable addition to any team.

Ed Heap moved from tackle to right guard and is followed by Danny Wolfe, a very likely looking candidate who has picked up more weight.

There are several ways to look at a calf scramble so far as being an athletic contest is concerned. A boy wouldn't have to be an athlete to catch a calf ahead of another boy who was an athlete.

Dodgers Chalk Up 2 Triumphs Over Cards

(By The Associated Press)
The Brooklyn Dodgers, fresh from two crushing triumphs over the St. Louis Cardinals, moved to administer the "coup de grace" today to the pennant ambitions of the Red Birds in the third game of a four-game doubleheader at Ebbets Field yesterday.

Having blasted the Cards' two top Southpaws, Howie Pollet and Harry (The Cat) Brecheen in a day-night doubleheader, the Dodgers now are out of the danger zone in the important series.

In the opener the Cards moved ahead, 4-2 in the third on successive singles by Schoendienst, Erv Dusak, a force play, balk and another one-bagger by Kurovski.

The Dodgers added another run in the sixth, three more in the seventh and their final in the eighth.

The second game was a playoff of the disputed July 20 game which the Dodgers won in the ninth, 3-2, only to have National League President Ford Frick uphold the St. Louis protest.

A number of exhibition games were played. The New York Giants covered the American League's pace-setting New York Yankees, 4-1 at New York, the Washington Senators blanked the National's tail-end Philadelphia Phillies, 3-0 at Washington and the Pittsburgh Pirates out a 7-6 victory over the Eastern League's Albany Senators at Albany.

Oilers Hold Fight for Third With 12-4 Win Over Gold Sox

The Pampa Oilers maintained their powerful offensive for third place in the West Texas-New Mexico League here last night with a brutal 12-4 win over the Amarillo Gold Sox.

The game was almost an exact reverse of the series opener Sunday night when the Gold Sox pounced all over the fumbling Oilers.

Decker, and three other Gold Sox who would probably not have been in the lineup, were to come to the game by private car, but failed to show by game time.

In the meantime, the Hose were being well controlled by the southpaw leaver of Bob Bailey. After a bad second inning, during which the Hose collected four hits that were good for three runs, Bailey settled down to work and limited the Hose to three hits the remainder of the game.

Tulsa whitewashed Beaumont 5-0 in the first game while the Oilers came back in the second with a 4-2 decision.

One Texas League manager for 1946 already is known, Prexy Bonneau Peters of Shreveport announced last night that Francis (Salty) Parker will pilot the Sports again next year.

Dallas winds up its series at San Antonio tonight and it's the same with Fort Worth at Houston and Oklahoma City at Shreveport, while Beaumont and Tulsa have an off night. They open a series at Tulsa tomorrow night with a double-header.

A RIDER WITH SPURS

When socialism gets into the saddle, it is almost impossible to unseat it.

That is the gist of an editorial in the Portland Oregonian, which said: "In a democratic country such as the United States, private ownership is always on the uneasy seat. Election after election can be ordered on the same issue—say, on government ownership of power. Private ownership may win overwhelmingly today, yet tomorrow it faces the effort all over again. But public ownership if it wins just once is for practical purposes secure. . . . The victory of capitalism in any election is tentative; the victory of socialism is virtually final."

The essence of this lies in the fact that the abuses of private enterprise can always be corrected, and capitalism can be controlled. The people, through their government, wield the ultimate power. But socialism is in a very different category. Once it captures the government, it becomes in itself the ultimate power. It can conceal its mistakes. It has charge of the public purse-strings, and it can use them as it wishes. It can dominate elections through patronage and bureaucracy. It becomes a mass employer—and the livelihood of millions of people are dependent on its perpetuation. And once that happens, little short of revolution can change it.

This has been demonstrated too many times to need argument. It is taking place now in England, precisely as it has taken place throughout most of Europe. If the American people learn only one fact from history, it should be this: the preservation of all liberties can only be insured in a social and political system in which government regulates but never competes, and in which the state is never permitted to become a mass employer.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

Editor's Note: During Ray Tucker's vacation, Roger Warren is writing the Washington Whirligig.

WHITE HOUSE—Question:

If my family motors east on a vacation trip can we visit the White House and see President Truman?—K. C. E. St. Louis, Mo.

Answer: The White House is closed to the public during August. The painters are touching up the interior and their canvas covers are spread over everything.

The staff says that if all goes according to schedule the White House will welcome visitors around the first of September. Guests may inspect the huge East Room, or State Auditor, with its three large crystal chandeliers; the Blue Room with walls of blue coral silk, used as the President's Reception Room; and several other "State" rooms, including a collection of rare china on the ground floor.

The President's office, Cabinet room and the private suite of the Truman family and its guests are not open for inspection. During the war all of the White House was closed except to official guests. Since it has been thrown open, thousands again have visited it. As you own a small piece of that real estate, you have a right to look over your property.

Unless one catches a glimpse of President Truman on one of his morning hikes or at a public function, it will not be easy to see the Chief Executive as his time is limited.

During the recent hot spells he left Washington on week-ends for a special hideaway in the Catoctin Mountain woods in Maryland. He takes it easy, far from telephones and visitors. He doesn't even get up until half past eight in the morning, which is about three hours later than his usual rising time.

SNYDER—A. S. F. of Sacramento, Cal., discusses the British loan, the financial angles of which are being negotiated by John W. Snyder, Secretary of the Treasury. He wants to know what kind of man is Snyder.

Answer: Secretary Snyder is a close friend of the President. He is a banker from his home state of Missouri. He is supposed to be the great conservative influence in the Cabinet in contrast to Postmaster General Hanesman, who favors New Deal policies.

He hasn't a single grammatical spark in his makeup. When he talks his face is so expressionless and his voice so low that it is difficult to hear him or to be enthralled by what he says. He seems to take delight in not giving away what is on his mind.

He was once picked to testify before a House committee on an important Administration bill. He was advised to speak in a peppy manner and give the impression of great urgency. Sizzling phrases were included in a statement which he was to read.

He mumbled along with about as much fire as a fog. To Congressmen's questions Snyder replied that he didn't know, that he wasn't sure, that it might be so but he wouldn't voice an opinion. His staff in agony: the boss was throwing the game.

When he returned to his office he was chipper—for him. "We won a great victory," he explained with some warmth. "They were all trying to trip me. But I fooled them. I eluded every spot they tried to put me on." (He "eluded" so well that the bill didn't pass.)

Although the Secretary is aware of Britain's plight and recognizes the need for giving London a break, he is not the type from whom foreign diplomats can wangle everything they seek.

PUERTO RICANS—If we are leaving the Puerto Ricans right, because we have treated them so well. Under the Jones Act of 1917 we gave the islanders full rights as citizens of the United States. They can go anywhere under the American flag that a citizen from Maine to California can go.

The other afternoon Governor Jesus T. Piñero told me with great emotion that earlier in the day President Truman had signed a bill granting his territory the right to elect its own governor next year.

"The influx of Puerto Ricans is exaggerated," he maintained. "They came during the war. Travel from the island to the mainland is heavy in the summer but not in the winter. Poor people in the tropics don't own coats and cannot come in cold weather."

"Why are you trying to encourage them to spread out and not settle in New York? We've arranged to send a lot of domestics to Chicago and copper miners to Utah where they are needed. Many Puerto Ricans fought in the United States Merchant Marine during the war. Some were torpedoed. We have 63,000 war veterans."

"We're trying to teach the younger generation vocational training so that later many will be fitted for better American jobs."

But, even more important, we are attempting to develop the island as a tourist center, so the young people can find work at home. We have beaches several hundred miles long and a wonderful climate in our mountain resorts. We hope that some day the tourist trade will be our main industry, more important than sugar or rum.

By R. C. HOLLES

The Right to Be Let Alone

A friend of mine after he had come back from the war in Europe where he had been wounded said that what he wanted most was the right to be let alone. He probably did not realize how profound and all important such an objective as wanting to be let alone and to have others have the equal right to be let alone really is. That it is the very foundation of which this government was built.

It is in reality the difference between the objectives of this government and the objectives of other governments. No other government has such an objective to any such degree. If people lived by this objective and permitted every other person to have the right to be let alone and respected human beings, we wouldn't have any booms or busts; we wouldn't have any unemployment; we would have mighty little poverty, if any, and then it would only be because of individual laziness.

This same idea expressed by this American soldier was set forth by a great Justice. Chief Justice Brandeis expressed the same objective. He wrote the makers of the Constitution undertook to secure conditions favorable to the pursuit of happiness. They recognized the conditions of man's spirit and his intellect. They knew that only a part of the pain, pleasures, and satisfactions of life are to be found in material things. They sought to protect Americans in their beliefs, their thoughts, their emotions and their sensations. They conferred as against the government, the right to be let alone.

Supporters of the two immediate look sides, Hallock men inferred that the naming of Martin as successor to the President had given him ideas that he might be the No. 1 Republican darkhorse at next year's convention, or at least that this would give Martin the edge for if some senator should outrank him for first place on the ticket.

INFLATION RIDES THE RODS

Railroad executives fear that they're going to be hit harder by the new John L. Lewis coal wage contract than anybody else. Railroads are the number one coal consumer in the country and the number two steel consumer, being second only to the auto industry. Now being arbitrated is a wage demand on railroad management for a 20 percent increase for the 17 non-operating "brotherhoods." If granted in full, it would cost the roads $24 million a year, plus $46 million in social security taxes. Railroads now have pending before the ICC requests for freight rate increases of 25 percent for the eastern roads, 15 percent for the south and west. This is to cover just wage increases.

Assistant Secretary of State William Benton still maintains his permanent residence in Fairfield County, Conn. This on the New York suburban area which is supposed to have been the original scene for adventures related in the naughty best-seller, "Hecatone County." Recently Benton's office was raked over the congressional cauldron for having a copy of this work on the shelves of one of the U. S. "cultural relations" libraries abroad.

Ex-Congressman Clare Boothe Luce, who also lives in Fairfield County, Conn., has told Benton that all his neighbors are down on him for getting their community such a bad publicity. Benton says the worst part of it is that his investigation shows that the U. S. government never bought a copy of the book in the first place. How it got on the shelf of the U. S. library can't be explained.

STEELE MAY BE INVESTIGATED

Tables have now turned on Walter S. Steele, chairman of the National Security Committee of the Coalition of Patriotic Societies, who was first visited before recent Un-American Affairs Committee hearings. Congressman Adolph J. Sabato of Chicago has demanded that Steele himself be investigated for alleged pro-Nazi sympathies and connections. Steele was not one of the 28 indicted for sedition during the war, but the Coalition of Patriotic Societies with which he is connected was named as one of the organizations formed by the defendants to further their program. Court decision to dismiss the sedition trial will be considered on appeal by the Supreme Court at its next session.

Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney of Wyoming were arguing about the effect of the new rent control bill. "The money that goes into rent increases," said Taft, "will be spent by the landlords to improve property, and it will all get back in circulation."

O'Mahoney smiled. "What the senator means," he said, "is that the tenant will be better off if the landlord spends his money for him than if the tenant gets to spend it himself for something else."

Gracie Reports

BY GRACIE ALLEN

Well, I see that a presidential candidate is going to be put forward by the vegetarians. I suppose their slogan will be: "If you eat meat you'll taste defeat."

Just imagine the changes that would take place if a vegetarian did get into our highest office. All "vaidic" diners would feature barbecued turnip sandwiches. And the American eagle, which eats meat, would probably be replaced by the chickadee or the turtle dove.

When I didn't see much in favor of being a vegetarian George pointed out that G. B. Shaw, the king of them all, has lived to be almost a hundred. I told him I'd live to be a hundred, too, but I'd hate to go without meat for the next eighty years; just to make it. Then I left before he could mention how long we'd been married. That man's so fussy about details!

We no longer can visualize a Communist as a bomb-carrying, bearded madman in heavy boots. Today he is streamlined in all kinds of guises, sometimes behind a democratic front.—Tom Clark, U. S. Attorney General.

In Hollywood
BY ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent
Johnson on KPFD Monday thru Friday, 2 p. m.
HOLLYWOOD — As I expected, Columbia studio was quick to reply to my editorial on the Larry Parks suit to break his contract.

So, to establish the Parks personality, the studio first cast him with Rita Hayworth in another musical, "Down to Earth," then opposite Ellen Drew in an action melodrama, "The Guardsman."

I've been screaming that Larry should have been cast in a light modern comedy opposite a big-name feminine star, and not as a Hayworth coat-holder.

"He's definitely not a Hayworth coat-holder," said the spokesman.
He has a wonderful role in the picture. If he clicks with Rita and if "The Guardsman" makes money without a big feminine star, we'll know Larry can make money for us on his own."

I asked Larry if he has a wonderful role in "Down to Earth."
All he said was:
"I haven't seen any flying saucers lately, have you?"

DUBBED AGAIN
A Parks fan writes me that she saw a sneak preview of "Down to Earth" and in the picture Larry sings. Only it isn't Larry singing.
Nor Johnson. The fan said she recognized Larry's voice double as Hal Derwin, the radio singer.

No wonder Larry is unhappy. In "The Jolson Story" he sings like Jolson and in his very next picture he sings like Hal Derwin. It's rather obvious that Larry should have been steered clear of singing roles by the studio following the Jolson picture.

Lana Turner probably will get the lead opposite Clark Gable in "Homecoming." She'll play a war nurse who makes Gable forget about his wife back home. Diana Lynn, who says it isn't serious, is dating with millionaire Bob Hope only seven nights a week. Olivia de Havilland will do a dramatic series on the radio transcribed a la the Crosby show.

Dane Clark is carrying a torch for Ida Lupino. Bob Walker is burning over M-G-M's refusal to loan him out as Ida's co-star in the Ben Hecht story, "Miracle in the Rain." William Elyne is reported quitting the screen for good. He never quite clicked.

Woody Herman, who gave up his hand to sing on the radio and make records for Columbia, says he's making twice as much money now and will never return

WELL, WILLIE, IT'S GREAT TO BE OUT OF THE WOODS AND HOME AGAIN. WE'D BETTER OPEN UP THE TRAILER AND GIVE IT AN AIRING.

DEATH of a DOLL

MARK walked and thought and talked to himself. He turned the thoughts into pictures, real and imaginary. Foy, parked in the snowy street, waiting. Sobeloff in the snowy courtyard, close to the wall for shelter, waiting. Another man on the snowy roof, watching the fire escape, watching the roof door, waiting. A man on each floor, pacing the dim halls, listening, waiting. Moran in the warm lobby. Those were the real pictures.

Then they'd confronted her with Ruth Miller, who had seen the last, quick movement at the counter. Ruth Miller, standing with her back to the light for her own protection. The detectives had told her where to stand. They knew their stuff. And they'd told her not to speak. Protection, but it hadn't been enough.

Norman Crawford said he would never forget it. The other one had broken loose, screamed, fought, tried to reach the girl who identified her. Crawford said: "We sent Miss Miller away, we had to. She went to pieces. I nearly did myself. I still quake when I think of it. Demoralizing, horrible. . . . The other girl got the usual sentence, plus medical care." Crawford repeated the psychiatrist's report.
It was hideously accurate. And he'd asked what he could do, his voice showing plainly that he knew the answer. Nothing.

Ruth Miller in the Hope House lobby, clinging to her suitcase, wrinkling her eyes, peering at the new faces, seeing an old, familiar one. No wonder she had tried to keep Roberta from investigating the shoplifter at Blackman's. Roberta had given him that story in parentheses, but he'd known it was important. And when Libby had described the short-change episode, he'd known that was important, too. So had Libby. . . .
A good saleswoman, one of the best, she said she had never worked before.

He walked on, thinking, talking to himself. It was ten-thirty. He didn't want to know the time, but the clock on the Metropolitan tower told him with a bright face and emphasized it with chimes.
After a few blocks he called a cab.

MISS SMALL looked at the traveling clock on her desk, looked at the silent telephone, and began to pace the floor. It was to the bandstand.
POSTWAR WAR FILM
The first postwar war picture is on the horizon. The title is "Taps at Dawn" which Curt Bernhardt wants to direct. Gary Cooper is the possible star. . . . RKO will release "Mourning Becomes Electra" as a three-hour movie with an intermission.

The Howard Hughes-Johnny Meyer gags are still popping. Someone said to producer Bill Thomas:
"Why don't you film 'The Johnny Meyer Story'?" Replied Bill, "Too expensive. He spends more on a dinner guest than I do on an actor's salary."

Tom Drake's sidown strike at half past ten. The phone had been silent since nine-thirty, when Kitty Brice had called from the lobby. Kitty had sounded miles away because she was whispering.

She'd wanted to know if anyone had told Miss Small about the policemen. She'd tried to tell Miss Brady, but Miss Brady wasn't in her room or else she wouldn't answer her phone. Somebody ought to be told. There were policemen on every floor, and the one in the lobby wouldn't let anybody out.

"I'm sick," Kitty had said.
"Miss Small, I'm sick. I want to go to the doctor, but the cop won't let me out either. And Mrs. Fister and Jewett quit, so I'm all alone."

Miss Small had told her to go to bed. That was the first she had heard about the policemen, it was the first time Monny had failed to consult her. She thought it over, wondering.

She was still thinking about it an hour later. Was Monny trying to keep things from her? Monny had been strained at lunch, and she hadn't even come down to dinner. And she hadn't phoned. . . .
Miss Small sat at her desk and put her aching head in her hands.
If this thing came between her and Monny, if it broke their lives and happiness, canceled out the years ahead and the planning—
She whispered fiercely to herself.
"It can't, it can't, not when we have so much!"

She reached for the phone, let her hand fall, and reached again.
When the other voice answered, her own was almost too choked to reply.
"You didn't call me," she said.
"I'm worried about you. Are you all right?"

Miss Brady admitted to a headache.
"Is it too bad for company?"
Miss Small asked. "I mean, would you like me to come up?"
"Not tonight."

Miss Small replaced the receiver and looked at her surroundings.
She hardly saw them, even though the carefully chosen colors were bright, and the English chintz was gay and arresting.
She was blind to everything but an absent face and filled with a pain that was like a drug.

Kelly and Price Seek Passage of
New Amendment

AUSTIN, (P)—Sen. Keith Kelly of Fort Worth and Attorney General Price Daniel last night in a joint radio program urged adoption of the proposed college building constitutional amendment.

Kelly, author of the proposal, described as "ridiculous in the extreme" the idea that the plan will in any way "take from the veterans of any war that which belongs to them or that it will affect, influence or prevent the adoption of some future bonus plan."

Daniel said the plan is the only one which will enable colleges to begin needed building improvements immediately.

"The plan must be sound and for the best interests of each college concerned, else it would not have the unanimous approval of the governing boards and administrators of the 16 state-supported schools," he said.

The proposal would allow the University of Texas and Texas A. and M. College to issue building bonds on the University Permanent Fund. The state's other 14 institutions of higher learning would be permitted to issue building bonds supported by income from a reallocation of the state's confederate pension tax.

Ill-timed and reckless government buying for shipment abroad, with too little regard for the needs of our own people, or even the needs of those we wish to help, has been an important factor in keeping the cost of living in our country high—Rep. Charles Halleck of Indiana.

Here's a NEW party-line customer!
This little fellow may be enjoying the protection of a telephone because you are sharing telephone service with his family or some other family on a party line.
Were it not for party lines, thousands of people—now being served—would still be waiting for telephones despite all the effort we've been able to put into the manufacture and installation of new telephone equipment.
If you are on a party line, you'll find courtesy and neighborly co-operation pay big dividends in better service. A party-liner who is thoughtful of the other fellow may well find that the other fellow will be thoughtful of him.
