Lt. J.D. Laramore shows fake bills

Funny money probe under way

JEFF LANGLEY
Staff Writer

The secret service will head up the investigation of high-quality counterfeit $10 bills that were passed to at least two Pampa businesses over the past week. Police Chief J.J. Ryzman said.

Police believe two white men have passed at least 11 counterfeit $10 bills to clerks in at least two Pampa businesses.

Police and bank officials said more of the funny money dumped around town may turn up, but police speculate that the suspects have moved on.

The phony tens have turned up at an Allsup's convenience store and at the Alco Discount Store.

A clerk at the Pampa convenience store alerted police about the bills about 11:50 Thursday night.

The clerk told police that a white man bought a $75 money order at the store shortly after 11 p.m. Thursday. The man paid for the money order with four real $20 bills, police said.

A second white man entered the store immediately after the first suspect had paid for his money order and left. By no coincidence, police said, the second suspect told the clerk he happened to have too many $10 bills in his pocket, and could the clerk please exchange his $10s for some $20s? The man left eight counterfeit $10 bills with the clerk in trade for the four genuine $20s that his suspected partner had just used to buy the money order, Ryzman said.

The clerk suspected something was wrong with the whole deal, and he called police.

One of the bill passers must have been in the store earlier, Ryzman said, because another fake $10 was found in the store's drop box.

The chief said the only description of either of the suspects is one of a man about 45 years old, with a mustache and "dirty blond hair."

"If they're still here, they're probably transients," Ryzman said.

Police took the nine $10 bills passed at the convenience store into custody.

Friday morning, Lieutenant J.D. Laramore took the bills to Citizens Bank & Trust, where supervisor Kay Smith used a "Moneytron" to examine the bills. The machine confirmed that the good reproductions are fakes.

The bills in custody all bear different serial numbers on the front but have the same plate number, 211, on the back. The 1981 series bills all have the stamp of the Federal Reserve Bank in Richmond, Virginia.

The bills feel different than real money, Laramore said. He said the paper of the fakes has a slippery or slick texture when it's counted.

The portrait of Alexander Hamilton also appears a little washed out on some of the bills, as does the green ink on the back side.

"The bills are crisp, but they look like they've been washed," Laramore said about the counterfeits.

Ryzman said the secret service in Lubbock will take custody of the counterfeit bills and control of the investigation.

"We'll probably start getting more reports of passed counterfeit bills; once people are aware of it. When they're aware of it, they start looking," Laramore said.

Police alerted the Pampa banks about the phony tens early Friday. The banks and the Credit Bureau of Pampa issued an "S.O.S." on the bills to the town's merchants.

morning, employees noticed two of the counterfeit $10 bills in Thursday's receipts at Alco.

Alco Manager Bob Chambers said he thinks the two fake bills were passed some time Thursday. But because "we deal with thousands and thousands of customers every day," he said it's unknown who might have passed them.

Chambers said he showed the bills to all of the store's employees in an unfortunate "training exercise."

The manager said the discount store will lose $20 on the experience, even though the business unwittingly accepted the counterfeit bills.

"It's just a cost of doing business," Chambers said.

Counterfeit bill passers have hit town before, Ryzman said.

"They go in spurts. You may not have any in quite a while, and then they show up," he said.

Smith, a 14-year bank employee, said she usually can detect a counterfeit bill more easily than an unsuspecting merchant.

Looks for momentum

Mondale notches Arkansas win

BY EVANS WITT
AP Political Writer

Walter Mondale defeated Sen. Gary Hart and the Rev. Jesse Jackson in the Arkansas caucuses Saturday, as the former vice president looked for victories and momentum on a day of state contests from Michigan to Mississippi.

Mondale won more than 44 percent of the vote in the 767 caucuses across Arkansas. Early returns from Mississippi showed Mondale and Jackson running neck-and-neck with a heavy uncommitted vote.

Turnout was reported heavy in Michigan, where organized labor worked hard to give Mondale a big victory over Sen. Gary Hart and Jack Democrats also had caucuses in South Carolina and three counties in Kentucky. Latin American Democrats met in Panama Saturday to parcel out their three pledged delegate votes to the convention in July.

Mondale hoped to add most of Michigan's 136 delegates to his side in the fight for the nomination and gain momentum for coming contests.

Hart's campaign ran extensive radio and television ads in Michigan in the last two days, urging the Colorado senator's supporters to turn out. Hart spent only one day campaigning there himself.

"The most anybody predicted was about 125,000 voters," said Richard Wiener, Michigan state Democratic chairman. "It's obvious we're going to have a lot more than that today."

Mondale turned back both Hart and Jackson in Arkansas. Returns from justice of the peace district caucuses in 70 of 75 counties gave Mondale 44 percent of the delegates to later county conventions, while Hart had 32 percent, Jackson won 19 percent. The rest were uncommitted.

Early returns from Mississippi showed Mondale and Jackson running even — but behind the uncommitted vote. Returns from 109 of Mississippi's 2,070 precinct caucuses showed 41.5 percent of the voters were uncommitted, 25.1 percent backed Jackson, 24 percent Mondale and 9.4 percent Hart. Jackson's strong showing was due to the heavy concentration of returns from mostly black areas.

The black candidate also had high hopes for South Carolina, where he was born, but Hart has the endorsement of the state's other favorite son — Sen. Ernest Hollings — after Hollings dropped out of the race two weeks ago.

Mondale's aides hope his showings in the caucuses and in the Puerto Rico primary on Sunday will give him omen for a crucial confrontation with Hart and Jackson in Tuesday's Illinois primary — a key industrial state with the fifth-largest delegation to the national party convention.

Hart, who campaigned in Illinois on Saturday, has had the momentum since he upset Mondale in the New Hampshire primary and Maine caucuses, riding that wave to victories in key states like Massachusetts and Florida. Mondale has been fighting back and won primaries in Georgia and Alabama and caucuses in Delaware this week.

A total of 304 pledged delegates were at stake in the processes that began Saturday.

That made the day the biggest Saturday of the presidential nomination season.

Father shoots down his son's kidnapper

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — A kidnapping suspect was clinging to life at a New Orleans hospital Saturday after being shot by his alleged victim's father while being escorted to jail in Baton Rouge.

Meanwhile, authorities were determining what charges to file against Gary Plaque, who calmly admitted revenge was his motive when he fired one shot into the head of Jeffery Paul Doucet, 25.

"If the man dies, he (Plaque) will be charged with either first or second-degree murder. If the man lives, he'll be charged with attempted murder," said Col. Fred Sliman of the East Baton Rouge Parish Sheriff's Department.

A witness to the shooting said Plaque told an officer, "If it were your son, you would have done the same thing."

Doucet was shot at Ryan Airport after arriving from Los Angeles. He was being escorted past the airport's metal detector. He had been returned to Baton Rouge to face trial on charges that he abducted Plaque's 12-year-old son.

Plaque, 39, was arrested immediately after the Friday night shooting at Ryan Airport and was taken to the East Baton Rouge Parish Jail.

Doucet, 25, was first taken to Earl K. Long Hospital in Baton Rouge. Early Saturday, he was transferred to Charity Hospital in New Orleans, where the assistant clinical director said he remained in intensive care in critical condition.

At the Baton Rouge Hospital, an attending physician said death was virtually certain.

"He's essentially brain-dead. He's on a respirator. His mother's coming up from someplace. Hopefully, after that, his family will allow his kidneys and eyes to be harvested, but that's basically it," said Dr. Ray Caillouette.

"He's not going to live."

The kidnap victim Jodie Plaque, had taken karate lessons from Doucet. He said the child was taken from his home outside Baton Rouge on Feb. 19 and, 11 days later, was rescued unharmed when the FBI arrested Doucet in an Anaheim, Calif., hotel room.

Ed Buggs, a WBRZ television reporter, witnessed the shooting.

Optimist Club plans 30th anniversary celebration

BY CATHY SPAULDING
Staff Writer

"We already have enough civic clubs here," Chamber of Commerce officials told a member of the Borger Optimist Club when he confronted them about opening a Pampa chapter.

But the Borger Optimist persisted, citing such benefits as little league ball teams and other organized activities. Soon, the Pampa Optimist Club was born.

Thirty years and numberless little league ballplayers later, the Pampa Optimist Club continues to grow and to help young boys and girls to grow.

Local Optimists will observe their 30th anniversary with a banquet 6:30 p.m. Saturday at the Optimist Club building. The banquet will honor surviving charter members as well as outstanding members of the past.

Newt Secrest was one of the charter Optimists. He has seen the club grow from holding ball games at the park they borrowed from the Lion's Club to hosting high school tournaments at their own sports complex, which features four baseball diamonds, one softball field and a building which houses a basketball court and a meeting room.

Located at the corner of Barnes and Craven Streets, the Optimist park was built in 1956.

"When we first bought the park, it looked like a cow pasture," Secrest said. "Weeds were knee high."

But, he reported, the Optimist members and volunteers were able to clear the weeds and build their park.

"The park was paid for by soliciting people on gas meters," he said, explaining that members would call people listed as gas company customers and solicit donations.

"We got $6,000 and members paid the other $1,500 — $1,800," he added. "The park was built by donated labor. Everybody in town pitched in on the program."

By 1960, Secrest said, there were enough members in the Pampa Optimist Club to not only convince the skeptical that Pampa could use another civic club, but also to add a second local chapter.

"It was the Breakfast Optimist Club," he said. "Kendal Green was the president of that club. We merged after eight years."

"When we had two clubs in 1960, there were 500 kids in the baseball program. In 1962 and 1963, it had enlarged to 1,000 boys," he said.

The Optimist Club park saw a number of structural improvements in its budding years.

"In 1960-61, we added lights to the ball park. The concession stand was built in 1963-64," he said.

The year 1963 was also the year the Optimist Club added football to the program. Later, basketball was added.

"When it started (the sports program) we had basketball in cahoots with the Kiwanis Club and we played in grade school gyms," he said.

The gym and multi-purpose building was built three years ago.

"Since we started, we've added a farm league park and a girl's softball park, as well as the gym," he said.

This year, the parking lot of the park was paved.

"And all this was strictly non-tax supported," he claimed proudly. "It's all by volunteer labor."

Boosting this volunteer labor has been funding by such sources as the M.K. Brown Foundation.

"It's been an impressive growth," he observed. "No one would have thought that the program would have grown like this."

He noted that the Pampa Optimist Club now has 108 members and nearly 20,000 boys and girls have gone through the program.

Although nearly synonymous with boy's baseball, the Optimist Club means more than athletic activity.

"We've had bike safety week. We've sponsored the Mock Legislature each year at Pampa High School. We have the Oratorical Contest. We've taken disadvantaged kids shopping each Christmas," he said, listing some of the activities.

Despite parents' objections Judge orders transfusions for baby DALLAS (AP) - A judge has ruled that a 6-day-old premature baby will continue to receive blood transfusions, despite objections from the child's parents, who say the medical procedure violates their religious beliefs as Jehovah's Witnesses. State District Court Judge Gary Hall on Friday extended an injunction permitting Medical City Dallas Hospital to give blood transfusions to Shannon Jermaine House. The child's parents, William and Jacqueline House, are opposed to the transfusions because it is against their religious beliefs as Jehovah's Witnesses. In granting the order, Hall said the child's physician, Dr. Rachel Griffin, said the child would die if he was not given a blood transfusion. Ms. Griffin testified by telephone at Friday's hearing. Hall said the child's delicate condition made it impossible for the physician to be in court and allowed the telephone hookup. She testified that the child's condition was serious and that after talking to the parents they still did not want the transfusions, "even though it may cause the child to die." The parents did not attend the hearing and refused to comment when contacted by The Associated Press. Hall said he would conduct another hearing in two weeks and issue a permanent injunction if necessary. "We were seeking another way, a substitute instead of plasma," Hall said. "But from what (the physician) told me, there is no other way."

Two men found guilty in Big Dan rape case FALL RIVER, Mass. (AP) - Two men were convicted Saturday of gang raping a young woman on a barroom pool table while spectators joked and cheered. The jury of eight men and four women reached the verdict after 5 1/2 hours of deliberation after a 16-day trial in a case that became a focal point for women's rights advocates. Squads of court officers lined the oak-paneled courtroom and flanked the two defendants as the verdict was read in a hushed courtroom. Daniel Silva, 27, and Joseph Vieira, 28, were convicted of aggravated rape, which could bring a life sentence and possible deportation for the Portuguese immigrants. The two are among six men charged in the March 6, 1983, gang rape of a 22-year-old woman in a New Bedford bar. The defendants heard the verdict read over headphones by a translator. They showed no emotion. Earlier Saturday, the jurors had studied a mockup of the tavern and asked for lengthy trial transcripts. Superior Court Judge William Young turned down the request for the transcripts. The jurors began deliberations at 9:30 a.m. after hearing testimony by 30 witnesses, and a final appeal by the prosecutor not to "perpetuate the myth" that rape victims invite attacks. The four other defendants are being tried in a separate case that is expected to go to a jury at midweek. The case has been in the national spotlight for over a year since police reported the woman was raped and sexually abused while others in Big Dan's tavern cheered them on. The notion of a crowd of men cheering as a woman lay pinned to the table provoked an outcry among women's rights advocates. A week later, 2,500 people staged a candlelight march to New Bedford city hall to protest the incident. Major TV networks, national magazines and large newspapers have covered the case. Much of the testimony has been televised throughout the country by Cable News Network. In four days on the stand, the woman told how she went into a bar to buy cigarettes, stayed for a drink, and was then grabbed by strangers on her way out the door. She said she was knocked to the floor, dragged to a pool table and raped by Silva and Vieira. She also said Vieira and John Cordeiro, a defendant in the separate morning trial, tried to force her to perform oral sex. Another witness, bartender Carlos Machado, said he saw Silva on top of the woman, "doing piggy things." But he said he only saw Vieira touch the woman briefly. The bartender's testimony contradicted parts of the woman's story. He said she had three drinks and joked with the men, putting her arms around one defendant before the attack. The defense called only nine witnesses, including Silva, who said the woman approached him looking for drugs and settled for sex. He said the woman agreed when he asked if she wanted "to play" but began to cry when other men crowded around the pool table. Silva said the crowd's laughter made him impotent. But when he got off the table, he testified, the woman hugged him and asked him to take her to his house. It was only when he declined that the woman became angry, he said. In closing arguments Friday, District Attorney Raymond Veary said the woman may have been afraid to admit she drank and talked with her attackers. But he said it didn't change the basic element of the case. The second jury in the case relaxed Saturday, taking a bus tour of western Massachusetts. Chief Court Officer Peter Cordeiro explained he wanted to keep them from learning what the first jury did.

fake money "As many years as I've handled money, it stands out to me," she said. Smith said she noticed that the serial numbers printed on the counterfeit $10s are thicker or heavier than those on the real thing. The bills also had several other minor flaws, she said, including the noticeably different feel of the paper and a slightly "washed out" appearance. "The color was good," she said about the phony $10s. "One time we had some fives that looked like play money," Smith said, adding that counterfeit bill passers don't hit Pampa very often. She said most often the counterfeit bills that turn up here are those "that floated in from out of town" and are cashed by an innocent party who had received a fake bill in change. Smith said to her knowledge, the incidents this past week were only the second time that someone has deliberately dumped a quantity of phony bills in Pampa. She said during the Christmas rush in 1981 or 1982, bill passers with counterfeit $20s, hit Pampa merchants over a busy buying weekend. Her bank caught the funny money in a commercial deposit. "That day, it was something else, the amount of money they brought in," Smith said. However, she said the largest loss to a single merchant suckered and stuck with the phony Christmas $20s totaled about $80. Smith confirmed the counterfeits Friday with the "Moneytron." The handheld, electronic sensor reads a special substance in the black ink imprinted on genuine U.S. currency. To work the bill tester, a bill is placed on a soft, flat surface. The sensor head is run back and forth across the portrait on the bill. A little red light on the tool will change to green, and it will beep a long tone, if the bill is real. If the red light stays on, the secret service has a job on its hands.

Texas abortion laws hit

AUSTIN (AP) — The president of a group of Texas physicians against abortion on Saturday called on the State Board of Medical Examiners to ban abortions of "viable unborn children" whose mothers' health is not threatened.

Dr. Steven Hotze of Houston said the 1973 U.S. Supreme Court ruling that legalized abortion leaves states free to protect "fetal life after viability."

"Although there exists a great controversy concerning the practice of abortion in America, there is a large consensus among the lay public as well as in the medical profession that abortions should be prohibited in the latter stages of pregnancy when the unborn child is viable, except when necessary to protect the life and health of the mother," said Hotze, president of the Texas Doctors for Life.

organization met in Austin on Saturday.

In a petition Hotze said was filed with the Board of Medical Examiners, which regulates physicians, the decision on what constitutes a "viable unborn child" is left to individual physicians.

The proposed rule defines viable unborn child as, "An unborn child who, in the reasonable judgment of the attending physician, possesses the capacity to live, on a sustained basis, after any birth or removal from the body of the affected female... whether that capacity exists with or without artificial support."

The doctor would be instructed by the rule to consider the gestational age, the estimated weight, the mother's health and the "quality of the medical facilities which are available."

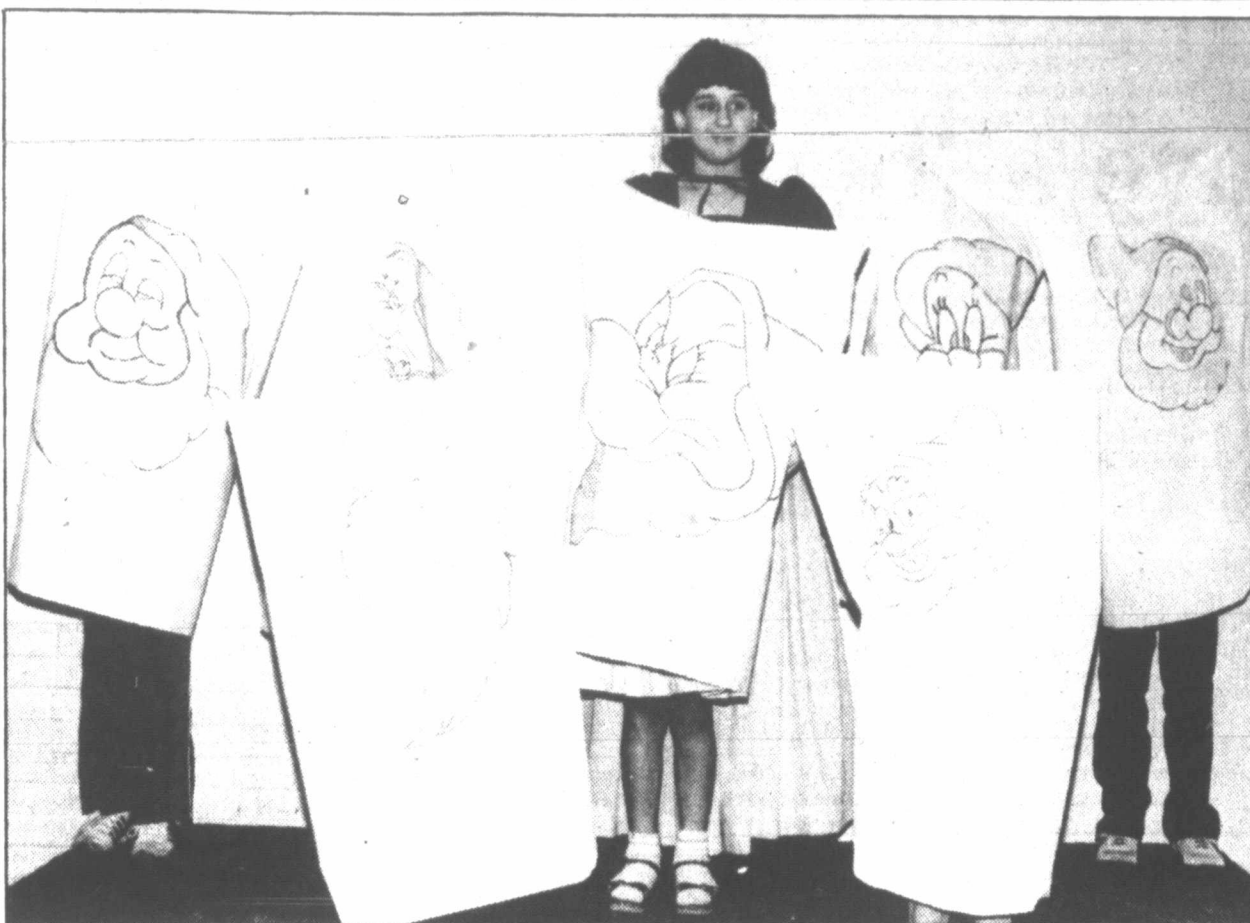

Hotze said Texas law now allows abortions anytime during pregnancy, although he said few doctors perform abortions during the latter stages of pregnancy.

"Most physicians oppose abortion when you have an unborn viable child and the mother is not in danger, as does most of society," he said.

The proposal was taken to the Board of Medical Examiners because "the Legislature has refused to act" on anti-abortion proposals in recent years, according to Hotze, who showed photos of a child who survived after a 20-week gestation period.

Texas Doctors for Life supports a ban on all abortions, but Hotze said such rules "would not be permitted by the Supreme Court."

He predicted that the Board of Medical Examiners would consider the request in June.

Miami one-act play a winner

FOLLETT — Two schools presenting the same one-act play took top honors Thursday at the District 2A North Zone one-act play contest.

Follett and Miami will meet Mobeetie and Kelson high schools at the district contest March 22 in Miami.

Mobeetie's entry, "After Midnight, Before Dawn" and Kelson's "The Cop and the Anthem" won the South Zone contest Tuesday at Wheeler, Briscoe and Wheeler also participated.

McLean and Claude high schools will meet Adrian and Vega high schools at the District 1A contest March 22 at White Deer.

'Miracle baby' is dead

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A man who lost his wife, 3-year-old son and a baby daughter delivered as her fatally burned mother lay dying says he "wouldn't be able to make it" if his third child hadn't survived the fire that destroyed the family's apartment.

Six-week-old Brenda Renee Smith, whose birth after the fire Jan. 30 had been described as a miracle by her doctor, died Friday of heart failure in John Peter Smith Hospital.

The father, Vernon Smith Jr., was only able to rescue his 16-month-old daughter.

Official says jailhouse rapes can't be stopped

HOUSTON (AP) — Guards sometimes cannot prevent jail inmates from raping each other, says a supervisor at the Harris County Jail, where five prisoners are accused of sexually assaulting two others earlier this month.

"I don't know whether ours or any other jail could ever completely eliminate sexual assaults," sheriff's Lt. C.P. Borchers told The Houston Post.

"But we make every attempt to keep it as minimal as possible. In any detention center, you're going to have the stronger inmates trying to dominate the weaker ones."

Two men, aged 18 and 21, were assaulted by five cellmates March 10 as 16 or 17 other inmates watched, said Larry Feldstein with the Sheriff's Department Professional Standards Unit.

Five men — Roy Lee Evans, 17; Airole M. Tubbs, 20; Marcos R. Castillo, 19; Frederick O. Broussard, 17; and Alexander C. Garcia, 19 — were charged Thursday with a single count each of sexual assault.

The charge listed only the 18-year-old prisoner as the victim. All those charged and the two alleged victims had been jailed in connection with non-violent crimes, Borchers said.

The episode began about 8 a.m. March 10 when an inmate in the cell forced the 21-year-old victim out of a bed, Feinstein said.

The inmate "was in a top bunk and he wanted a bottom bunk" because the bed he was sleeping in had a nail under it, Feinstein said.

EXAMPLES OF CONVERSION

"And Crispus, the ruler of the synagogue, believed in the Lord with all his house, and many of the Corinthians hearing believed, and were baptized" (Acts 18:8) Paul had journeyed down to Corinth from Philippi. There he joined Aquila, recently come from Rome, and they reasoned with the Jews in the synagogue every Sabbath (Acts 18:1-4.)

They were instrumental in converting Crispus, the ruler of the synagogue, and many others as well. Historians tell us that Corinth was a very wicked city with a constant mixing of all kinds of people. Yet in the midst of all this, Paul, and his helpers, were able to convert many to Jesus Christ. This shows that the gospel is for everyone, regardless of whom they might be.

We note that Paul was testifying that Jesus was the Christ (Acts 18:5) Paul was qualified to speak and give such testimony because he had been confronted by Jesus on the road to Damascus (Acts 9:3-9) By this encounter Paul was convinced that Jesus was the Christ, the Son of God. No one today is qualified to give such testimony because none has every personally seen Jesus. But the testimony of qualified witnesses is recorded in the inspired Word of God (Luke 24:48; Acts 1:8.)

The power of God to save the soul is the gospel of Christ (Romans 1:16,17.) It is by the word of Christ that we shall all be judged in the last day (John 12:48.) And so the Corinthians were not required to have some kind of "experience" to convince them of the Deity of Christ. Neither is such required today. We are required to come to a saving belief of His Sonship through an understanding of the Holy Scriptures (Romans 10:17) Based upon this we are required to humbly submit to His decrees to "repent and be baptized in the name of Jesus Christ unto the remission of sins" (Acts 2:38.) This will make us Christians, children of God, saints, members of the one body, the church of Jesus Christ.

EVER STRIVING FOR TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Let Peace Begin With Me

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. Only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he possesses can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government, and that men have the right to take moral action to preserve their life and property for themselves and others.

Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself, no more, no less. It is, thus, consistent with the coveting commandment.

Our opinion

School conflicts can't be solved

You have to wonder if some members of the United States Senate have been taking lessons from H. Ross Perot. One of the trial balloons recently floated on the proposed prayer in public schools amendment makes about as much sense as some of the recommendations Perot, chairman of the Select Committee on Education, has made for the public schools of Texas.

One of the recent suggestions made in the Senate was to divide classrooms into two sections, one for the students who want to participate in organized prayer and one for those who don't. The theory behind that proposal, we suppose, is that if the students were divided in such a manner there would be no pressure on them to either participate or decline to participate in organized prayer sessions and their rights of freedom of choice would not be compromised.

Anyone who arrives at such a conclusion is indulging in nothing more than wishful thinking. You can be sure that in a matter of days the youngsters opting for the prayer side of the classroom would be referring to the non-prayers as "The Athiests," regardless of their motivation for not joining the prayer sessions. Anyone who thinks this would not represent more than a considerable amount of pressure simply is not thinking.

The divided classroom proposal, and others that seek to protect the rights of all parents and students on the school prayer amendment issue, are exercises in sheer futility. As we mentioned in an editorial a couple of weeks ago, it is impossible to do anything in the public schools without violating the rights of some citizens.

In the case of the prayer amendment, if it is not approved the rights of those parents who want their children to participate in organized prayer at school will continue to be violated; if it is approved, the rights those who don't want schools involved in the religious education of their children will be violated.

As long as government operates schools through taxes collected from all citizens, violations of some citizens' rights are inevitable. The people who pay the taxes have a right to demand the kind of schools they want. So until all people agree on all things, the rights of those whose views are not accepted will continue to be trampled.

There is, of course, an alternative that most people in government do not consider. That alternative is for government to get out of the education business, abolish the taxes it assesses to pay for public schools and let citizens send their children to schools that are operated the way those citizens want them operated.

We can either have public schools supported by mass taxation or we can have a system of education that preserves the individual rights of all citizens. But we can't have both in the same context. And we may as well admit it and stop the Congressional charades that pretend the two are compatible.

Berry's World

Walter Williams

Let's have a 'benefit rebellion'

We have eight months or so until the 1984 election, and ten before the winners take office. We should begin to think of a mandate for the president and his fellow federal officers in Congress. To develop this mandate, we need to get down to the bare bones, or if you prefer, the nitty-gritty. So let's start by establishing some broad areas of agreement among Americans.

It's safe to say most Americans do not want high and increasing budget deficits, such as that of 1983 when we closed the year with well over $200 billion in red ink.

Few Americans appreciate the kind of inflation rate that CAN result from such financial mismanagement. Should we encounter a climate of double-digit inflation and double-digit prime lending rates, no American looks forward to the painful "medicine" necessary for the cure. The past three years of high unemployment rates, business bankruptcies, and general economic malaise were the necessary consequences of the cure. Who wants to go for a re-treatment?

Now the big questions is: How do we get something that no American wants? Part of the answer has to do with a fatal flaw in our political system whereby the BENEFITS of government spending and control are narrowly shared while its COSTS are widespread and borne by the taxpayers-at-large.

For example, very few Americans would vote for a federal program that raises the price of food while taxing us $30 billion in the process. We have these programs because organizations of cattlemen, dairymen and farmers are well-organized and exert considerable force on the Congress and the White House to mandate higher prices for food. (By the way, those congressmen crying the loudest about hunger in America cave in and vote for higher food prices.) On the other hand, the consumers have no such lobby and hence little representation in this matter. Thus, a dairy price support means billions to the few in the dairy industry, while the cost is borne by all Americans who pay a dime more when they buy a gallon of milk.

The identical scenario, narrow benefits and widely dispersed costs, applies to the banking, auto, steel, textile, and garment industries. You can make your own list by picking up a director of Washington lobbyists. The average American knows nothing about this Washington hustle, nor does it pay him to spend much time studying it. On any one program, he is helpless to do much more than pay the bill—both at the store and on April 15.

But the average American is not without some blame for the status quo. How many times have you or your friends said, "The government ought to..."? One person says the government ought to build more roads. The next says the government ought to provide more education. The next says the government ought to do more for the poor and elderly. If Congress attempts to satisfy each of our pet projects, it results in something NONE of us wants: massive government control and spending and the mess we've been in for a number of years.

So what's the mandate for 1984? We need a BENEFIT REBELLION. Tell our elected representatives we want no programs. We just want them to go to Washington and prevent other people from using government power to take away our earnings. Given human nature, this writer is somewhat pessimistic about the Benefit Rebellion. An alternative would be to give Congress and the president a bottom line: the federal budget cannot exceed 10 percent of GNP. Why 10 percent? That's all many churches ask for in tithes; why should Congress get more?

Today in History

Today is Sunday, March 18, the 78th day of 1984. There are 288 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:
On March 18, 1970, letter carriers in New York City began a one-week strike that spread across the country.

On this date:
In 1776, George Washington took control of Boston after the British evacuated.

In 1965, a Soviet cosmonaut became the first man to leave an orbiting spacecraft and float in space.

And in 1980, President Jimmy Carter won Illinois' Democratic Primary, while Ronald Reagan took the Republican contest.

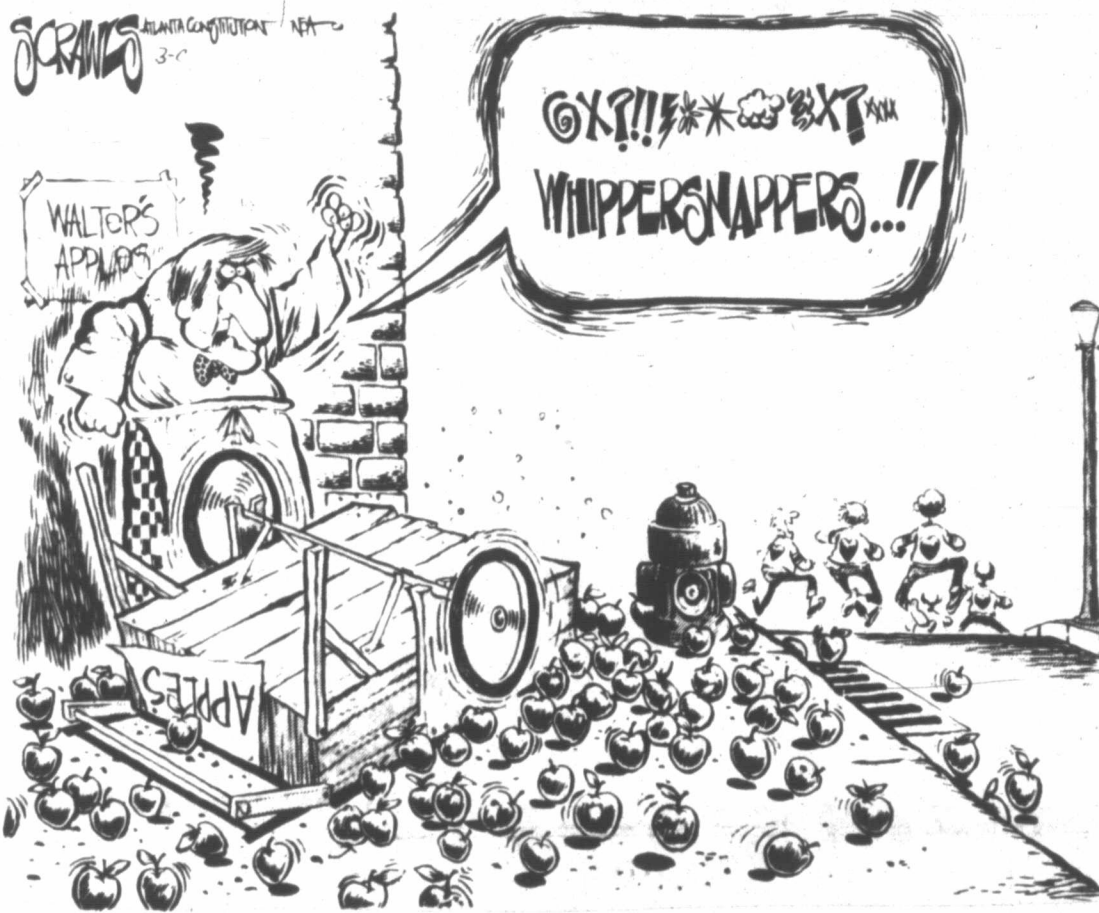

Ten years ago: The Arab oil countries — except Libya and Syria — ended their oil embargo against the United States.

Five years ago: National Security Adviser Zbigniew Brzezinski failed in his attempts to get Saudi Arabia and Jordan to back the Egyptian-Israeli peace treaty.

Healing from a 'quiet heart'

For years before the medical profession acknowledged a relationship between emotional stress and physical distress you and I watched circumstantial evidence accumulate.

A public official would suffer some traumatic public disgrace and within days or weeks he would be hospitalized with some acute illness.

Then there were the incontrovertible "healings" which appeared to result from a quiet heart.

A quiet heart may result from prayerful faith in divine healing - or from the unquenchable optimism of a Norman Cousins who "laughed his way" back to vigorous health following two potentially fatal illnesses.

Now, at long last, the profession of medicine has acquiesced. Now there is abundant literature on the therapeutic value of an affirmative attitude.

Medicine presently is overwhelmed by the challenge of AIDS. This mysterious ailment tends to negate a person's immunity to disease so that he is helplessly vulnerable to any bug that comes along.

Now the American Psychological Association hears evidence that the onset and progression of AIDS - among homosexuals - is traceable to emotional factors, "to stress."

If I mention the therapeutic value of prayer, it is not to deny the opportunity for divine healing but rather to acknowledge that the Lord indeed works "in wondrous ways..."

Recent articles and editorials in the Journal of the American Medical Association and in the New England Journal of Medicine affirm that "patients tend to move in the direction of their expectations."

The biochemistry of the emotions is now regarded as a tangible and classifiable process.

Previous generations assumed that illness was something that came into us from outside. Now we know most doesn't.

In his remarkable book, "The Healing Heart," Norman Cousins calls positive emotions "the bullet - proof vest that protects us against the effects of emotional assaults."

Positive emotions? Confidence, deep purpose, joyousness, laughter and the will to live. At the very least they increase the value of whatever medical treatment we receive.

Mr. Cousins knows; his heart made its own bypass.

Mondale's New England losses

NEW YORK (NEA) — What shall we make of Gary Hart's unexpected victories over Walter Mondale in the various New England Democratic primaries?

The first thing to remember is that all this pulling and hauling is going on within a wildly unrepresentative segment of the U.S. population. Reading the papers or watching television, one could be forgiven for supposing that American public opinion as a whole is violently torn between Hart and Mondale, with Hart currently in the lead. Nothing could be farther from the truth. There are those (and I am one of them) who resent the disproportionate attention that New Hampshire and a few other small states manage to focus on themselves every four years by holding their presidential caucuses and primaries earlier than anybody else. With all this attention, moreover, comes considerable clout: It is not impossible for the outcome of a piddling New Hampshire primary or Maine caucus or Vermont "beauty contest" — let alone all three together — to alter the whole course of a presidential nomination battle, as presently may be happening.

But at least a Republican primary in New Hampshire tends to reflect, however imperfectly, the views of a significant proportion of that state's population. The people who participate in New Hampshire's Democratic politics, on the other hand, include a highly disproportionate share of young liberals recently up from New York and Massachusetts and steeped in the leftist ethos of their cities. In both New Hampshire and Vermont, there are Democratic caucuses in plenty of picturesque little towns where Bella Abzug would feel right at home.

The news, therefore, that Gary Hart did well in the recent Democratic contests in northern New England tells us very little about the true sentiments of the general population of those states. All three will be solidly for Reagan in November.

Nevertheless, some curious sort of sentiment was pretty clearly stirring among those Democrats who did vote, and it is worth reflecting what it might be. Was it an unexpectedly strong attraction to Gary Hart? He is not unappealing, in a craggy, Western sort of way. He is also relatively young, and has managed (so far) to avoid being stereotyped as either a liberal or a conservative, in Democratic terms.

On the other hand, there were signs in New Hampshire — the NBC exit polls on primary day were one — that many a Democrat was not so much enamored of Gary Hart as dissatisfied, for one reason or another with Walter Mondale. Mondale is a pleasant man (I am told he even displays, in private, a commendably dry wit), as well as a thoroughly competent, workman-like politician. But he has all the charisma of a pet rock.

Worse yet, he is — or rather was — way out ahead. He had the endorsement of Big Labor (something unprecedented in our recent history, at this stage of the Democratic nomination battle), as well as plenty of money and the support of every Democratic politician with an eye for the main chance — in other words, practically all of them. What he had going against him was boredom, and therefore the media. When Hart came in second in Iowa, the media naturally tagged Mondale as the giant and Hart as Jack and began beating their tom-toms. This wouldn't have mattered in the slightest if the Democratic voters of northern New England hadn't taken the hint. But they did: They went for Hart and creamed Mondale, and now it's a brand-new ball game.

Evidently the voters had heard about Mondale's AFL-CIO backing and didn't like it very much. They may also have disapproved of his strategy of stitching together a whole gaggle of special interests, from gays to Indians, together in a massive coalition. Reagan is smarter: He addresses much broader concerns, common to the American people as a whole.

If this analysis is correct, two things follow: (1) Mondale can recover and prevail in the convention only if he does well in the Southern primaries and exercises his muscle successfully thereafter; and (2) Hart's "attraction" may not be personal to him but simply a reflection of Democratic voters' disinclination to support Mondale. If the latter is true, however, it is conceivable that Hart may wind up knocking Mondale out of the race only to see somebody else — a late-blooming John Glenn — take the prize in San Francisco.

Then comes November and Ronald Reagan — and doom for the whole Democratic pack.

Exchange students visit Pampa

By LARRY HOLLIS
Staff Writer

Six American Field Service foreign exchange students from the Panhandle attended AFS weekend activities this weekend before heading back to their host towns Saturday evening.

The weekend in Pampa was one of several various area gatherings AFS students have had since their arrival in the Texas Panhandle last summer for their stays with American families.

Visiting AFS students included Yoko Komatzuzaki of Japan, Amarillo; Anja Biester of Germany, Groom; and Owen Viles of New Zealand and Marie-Cecile Soetans of Belgium, both from Dimmitt. They joined AFS students in Pampa, Guil Herkenhoff of Brazil and Hidenori Maeda of Japan.

Friday the visiting AFS students attended classes at PHS. At noon the students were guests of the Downtown Kiwanis Club for a luncheon at First United Methodist Church. Each spoke a couple of minutes, introducing themselves and discussing the AFS program.

"I was nervous," Yoko said. She added she usually is nervous when she has to give a public speech.

All the AFS students have been speaking at various clubs, civic organizations, schools and other places during their stay in the United States. Owen said it seems he speaks at such places twice a week. Others have not had as many opportunities, but all have had the experience.

The students were guests at a St. Patrick's dance at M. K. Brown Auditorium Friday night, sponsored by the PHS Student Council. They all enjoyed the dance. "It was pretty neat... good music," Owen said. "There were many people," Yoko said. "When I danced, I hit somebody."

They had a brunch Saturday morning at Dr. and Mrs. Roy Braswell's home. Other activities Saturday included a luncheon at Lamar Full Gospel Assembly, followed by volleyball before they went back to their American homes.

Sitting together at the luncheon, the students discussed homesickness. Asked if she were homesick, Yoko said, "Uh uh." Marie said she hasn't been too homesick, since "time goes by too fast." Guil said it was worse the first few weeks he was in Pampa, but now it doesn't bother him too much.

"There's always thoughts of home," Anja said, but she said she's caught up in too many activities for it to bother her much. Owen said he misses home more now than at the beginning. "Things have settled down," he said, and there's less to do, giving him more time to think of his home.

None, though, felt it was much of a problem.

Discussing the approaching end of their stay in America, the students agreed they were beginning to feel some reluctance about having to leave. "There's a lot of fun, but you know it's near the end," Owen said. Anja said she was worried about finding things to do in the five weeks after school before they leave the country. "My friends will be at work," she said.

The weekend activities give the AFS students a chance to get together to discuss their experiences. Previous AFS weekends have been held at Tascosa and Caprock high schools in Amarillo, at Dimmitt and at Carlsbad, N.M., where AFS students gathered from Texas and New Mexico. Attendance varies, since AFS students may be involved in other school activities or in activities with their host families.

The Pampa AFS chapter is looking for a host family for the 1984-1985 school year. Families interested in serving as a host for a foreign student can contact Bill Mackey or Howard Graham at Pampa High School or Mary Braswell at home for further information.

SHARING EXPERIENCES - Area American Field Service foreign exchange students gathered in Pampa this weekend for activities. Discussing experiences during a luncheon Saturday at Lamar Full Gospel Assembly are, from left, Owen Viles of New Zealand, Dimmitt; Guil Herkenhoff of Brazil, Pampa; Yoko Komatzuzaki of Japan, Amarillo; Marie Soetans of Belgium, Groom; and Anja Biester of Germany, Dimmitt. Convicted killer is granted stay DALLAS (AP) — A federal judge has granted a stay of execution for Joseph Jernigan, 29, of Waco, who was scheduled on Monday to become the second Texas Death Row inmate in a week to die by lethal injection.

The order came Friday afternoon from U.S. District Judge Robert Porter of Dallas, just hours after Texas' highest criminal appeals court had refused to postpone the execution.

Jernigan was convicted of the July 3, 1981 murder of Edward Hale, 75, of Dawson, a community 25 miles west of Corsicana. Authorities said Hale was stabbed several times, then shot three times with his single-shot 410-gauge shotgun.

If Jernigan's execution had gone through as scheduled, it would have come only five days after the execution of James David Autry, Autry, 29, was executed early Wednesday for the 1980 slaying of a convenience store clerk in Port Arthur.

Jernigan's capital murder conviction was upheld in November by the U.S. Supreme Court, which rejected arguments that Jernigan's conviction was tainted because two prospective jurors were excused after voicing general reservations about the death penalty.

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals rejected Jernigan's request for a stay earlier Friday, saying only that "application for stay of execution should be denied and that all relief requested in said application for a writ of habeas corpus should be denied."

Local craftsmen make a saddle for 'Gov. Bill'

By JEFF LANGLEY
Senior Staff Writer

A Pampa saddle shop recently finished making a custom saddle for former Texas Governor William P. Clements; but because Clements has a bum hip, he probably will never use it.

The saddle, which has an intricate floral pattern and the state seal of Texas on each side, was completed last week. Area ranchers, who kicked in to pay for the saddle, were scheduled to present it to Clements at the Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association meeting this weekend in San Antonio.

According to craftsman Will Snyder, the man responsible for the saddle's hand-tooled patterns, area rancher and oilman Bill Arrington commissioned the saddle—for the outspoken former Pampa resident and governor of Texas.

"Evidently, Governor Clements and Mr. Arrington were out riding one day, and the governor said he liked that saddle," Snyder said.

Arrington's saddle was designed by long-time saddlemaker Reid Errington of Canadian. Snyder, an employee of Pampa's Rocking Chair Saddle Shop, said he based the floral pattern for Clements' saddle on the saddle that Errington made for Arrington.

The shop's craftsmen started work on the governor's saddle last month. Dave Trimble built the saddle, which was made from raw leather and materials, with the exception of a manufactured wooden base, or "tree."

Trimble turned the saddle over to Snyder for the complicated tooling. Snyder followed Errington's pattern but left space on each side to carve out the official state seal.

"Finishing a pattern for the seal was the hard part," Snyder said.

"I had a hard time getting a clear picture of it," he said, adding that he first tried to carve a freehand design of the state seal by looking at a letterhead on state stationery.

But the craftsman later found a phone directory for state offices with a seal on the cover.

"It was the same size and everything, so I got lucky," Snyder said.

He said the credit for the saddle belongs to all of the shop's employees, with the understanding that General Manager Buck Franklin "does all the bragging."

The completed saddle left for the San Antonio presentation early Thursday morning. It's a shame, though, that Clements' past hip-replacement surgery probably will prevent the horseman from using the gift from Pampa, Snyder said.

"It'll never be ridden," he said.

Bull market hopes renewed

Jimmie Trimble, general manager, in one of Cabaret dining areas

New club features new look, plans entertainment

By LARRY HOLLIS
Staff Writer

Good American and oriental food, entertainment, country-western music, amateur talent night, plays, TV videos, dancing - all in one place

SPEAKER — Mack Wallace, chairman of the Railroad Commission of Texas, will be guest speaker at the Pampa Desk and Derrick Club's March meeting. The meeting will be at 7 p.m. at the Rustic Inn. Guests are welcome and reservations can be made by contacting George Sadler at 665-3701. Ext. 361 or 669-9889. Wallace has been a member of the Railroad Commission since 1973.

"I think Pampa's ready for this," said Jimmie Trimble, general manager of the recently opened and remodeled Cabaret Restaurant Club, 318 W. Foster.

The club is developing a family dinner theatre atmosphere, providing a wide range of entertainment and activities.

Located in the former La Vista Theatre building, Cabaret has a stage which will be used for entertainment, dancing groups and eventually, plays. "We hope to be featuring so many different things," Ms. Trimble said.

Recording artist Terri Gibbs, best known for "Somebody's Knocking," will be appearing at the club April 14. The club hopes to attract other recording artists for future appearances.

Amateur nights are held on Thursdays, with any talent welcome to perform - actors, dancers, singers, musicians, whatever. Ms. Trimble said "We're really shooting for amateur night," she said, adding she wants it to become a big event. Some talent scouts have already been contacted to attend the talent nights, she said. Prizes will be available for participants.

Live entertainment will be provided Friday and Saturday nights.

The Top o' Texas Cloggers have appeared at the club previously and will be returning for future engagements, including March 30 and 31. Square dancers are invited to use the stage, too, she said, even if just for practice.

Dance lessons are planned for Saturday mornings.

"We've changed our appearance, inside and out," Ms. Trimble said, changing the personality of the establishment. "A lot of hard work is in here."

The floors are all carpeted, chandeliers hang from the ceiling, large and plush sofas along the walls allow for relaxed visiting and several dining areas are provided. A unique feature is a harmonious blend of oriental and American decor. The general color scheme blends blue, beige and dark browns with touches of red.

Television sets located along the walls broadcast shows or play country-western videos of such artists as Crystal Gayle, Dolly Parton, Willie Nelson and other singers. A DJ's booth overlooks the large, comfortable dance floor.

The food features both American and Korean-oriental cuisine. The reporter can testify the oriental food is really fine, with some of the best egg rolls he's ever had.

Membership fee is only $5 a year, making it accessible to a wide spectrum of Pampa and area residents. Ms. Trimble said

NEW YORK (AP) — After a long, cold winter on Wall Street, hopes are mounting that the bull market for stocks is heating up again.

This feeling has been spurred by some signs that the federal budget deficit, which has been bedeviling the markets for months, might not turn out to be quite as disastrous and intractable a problem as it has been lately portrayed.

When President Reagan announced agreement with congressional Republicans late in the past week on a plan to shrink projected deficits by $74 billion over the next three years, there was a euphoric response in the stock market. But even before that, some market analysts had begun to suggest that gloom over the deficits and the outlook for stocks was reaching excessive depths.

"Every problem has a way of generating the seeds of its own solution," said Raymond F. DeVoe Jr., an analyst at the firm of Legg Mason Wood Walker Inc.

In the case of the deficit, he said, the markets themselves, with their recent declines, have played a role in pushing the problem toward a possible resolution "by scaring the politicians as well as the administration."

"We do not expect the problem to magically disappear, but feel that the eventual deficits will be much lower than the boxcar figures now in circulation."

These lower than consensus figures, in our opinion, will be a function of

1) some tax increases, 2) cuts in the defense budget, 3) only modest cuts in social welfare spending programs, and 4) higher than expected receipts as the economy continues to expand.

Many economists have noted that recent month-by-month deficit figures have been coming in below projections. One apparent reason for this is that a stronger-than-expected economy is bolstering federal revenues.

The idea that the general level of pessimism had gone to extremes also struck John Mendelson, an influential technical analyst at Dean Witter Reynolds Inc. "We believe the second leg of this bull market is beginning in this immediate area," he told the firm's clients last Monday.

"We look for an advance to well above the 1983 highs in all major stock market averages during the remainder of this year," he added.

With such upbeat appraisals going for it, the market had its best week of the new year, with the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials recording five consecutive gains and finishing with a flourish — a 16.96-point gain on Friday. For the week, the average recorded a net advance of 44.60 to 1,184.36.

The New York Stock Exchange composite index chimed in with a 2.79 gain to 91.73, and the American Stock Exchange market value index was up 5.28 at 212.42.

SPS joining effort to save energy

"Don't Waste Electricity" is the theme of Southwestern Public Service Company's program supporting the "State of Texas Residential Energy - Cost - Control Program" announced by Governor Mark White today in Lubbock.

Gary L. Gibson, Southwestern Public Service Company (SPS) vice president, marketing and administration, explained the utility's cooperating with the state program.

"We support the goals of this program," Gibson said. "We are glad to join in any effort that will help our customers avoid waste of energy. We at SPS have always encouraged our customers to use all of the electricity they need - but not to waste it."

In addition to energy - tips brochures already available at SPS offices, the company is developing special public service announcements that offer tips on avoiding waste of energy, he said.

SPS speakers' bureau, home economists, and marketing representatives also will offer presentations on energy - costs control to civic groups, schools, senior citizens' groups, church groups, and other organizations.

Southwestern will provide "conservation starter kits" to customers hearing "Don't Waste Electricity" theme programs. The kits contain "draft stoppers" that fit behind electric outlet covers and present air infiltration. The kits also contain shower-water "flow restrictors."

Other aspects of the SPS program are "walk-through audits" of homes, and toll-free "telephone energy-talk" tapes. Both the audits and tapes will help customers identify energy - trouble spots in their homes. The toll-free "Energy Talk" number is 1-800-231-3080.

Civic groups, senior citizen groups such as the Retired Senior Volunteers Program, and church groups are welcome as volunteers to help with the cost-free aspects of the SPS program. Gibson said, "We'll train qualified walk-through auditors."

SEMINOLE, Texas (AP) — A combination of agriculture and energy problems has caused another West Texas bank to go under, officials say.

SPORTS SCENE

Harvesters beat Canyon to win tourney crown

Pampa defeated Canyon, 7-6, Saturday in the finals of the Pampa Invitational Tournament when Alfredo Soto trotted home on a bases-loaded walk in the seventh inning.

"It's hard to believe the way we won it. There were two outs when Soto came home, but a win's a win," said Pampa Coach Billy Butler. "We'll take it."

Soto, first batter up for the Harvesters in the seventh, reached first when the Canyon shortstop couldn't handle his hot grounder. Soto went to third on Garland Allen's single to right field. After Tobi Ritthaler struck out, Jeff Steward walked to load the bases. Devin Cross struck out, but Charles Wuest then worked Canyon hurler Cliff Eldridge for a 3-1 count. Soto came home on the next pitch.

Pampa, now 8-3 for the season, was outhit by Canyon, 11-4, but again came up with the big defensive plays to stop Eagle rallies. Pampa committed two errors and Canyon had five.

Allen was Pampa's top hitter with two hits and three RBI.

Devin Cross was the winning pitcher after relieving Gary Clark in the fourth inning.

Pampa defeated Berger, 4-2, in Saturday's semifinals with Allen and Cross combining for a four-hitter.

Allen held the Bulldogs scoreless on three hits and five strikeouts the first four innings to pick up his second win against one loss. Cross, who relieved Allen in the seventh, also had the game-winning hit.

Cross had two of Pampa's five hits, including two RBI.

Pampa goes against Canyon this Tuesday in the District 1-4A opener. Gametime is 4 p.m. at the Eagles' field. The Harvesters will be looking for their third win over the Eagles this season.

"We need to improve on our hitting," said Butler. "It just isn't quite up to what it needs to be. We're playing good defense and as long as we can hold teams to three or four runs, we're going to win 78 percent of the time."

Pampa's first district opener at home will be against Lubbock Estacado on Saturday, starting at 1 p.m.

Pampa cagers will be honored Monday night

The Pampa Booster Club's annual Basketball Banquet will be held Monday, starting at 7 p.m. in the Heritage Room of M.K. Brown Auditorium.

The booster club sponsors the banquet to honor all boys' and girls' players in the ninth through senior high.

Tickets are $5 apiece and can be purchased at the high school athletic office or Heard-Jones Drug.

Master of Ceremonies will be Doug Carmichael. The Pampa High Show Choir will provide the entertainment.

Basketball King and Queen for 1983-84 will also be crowned.

Parents of all the players, including the ninth-grade teams, are urged to attend the banquet, which is open to the public.

Rangers hope to avoid fizzle

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Manager Doug Rader watched with dismay last season as the Texas Rangers' first-half sizzle turn into a second-half fizzle.

Rader made managing look easy in the first half of his rookie season when the Rangers built a 44-36 record and led the American League's Western Division by two games.

That was the sizzle.

"What happened was we had a great deal of success with California, Oakland and Seattle right before the All-Star break," Rader said. "It was possibly an inflated situation because at that time those particular ball clubs weren't playing particularly well and we were playing as well as we could play."

Then came the fizzle. The Rangers lost 21 of their next 26 games and faded back into the pack, finishing third in the final standings.

"We didn't play any differently the first half or the second half," Rader said. "We just got out-horsed at one period in the second half when we played what I considered the best teams in the league."

"After the All-Star break we went to Toronto, which was playing very good and we got swept there and then we ran into New York, Milwaukee, Toronto and Baltimore and we just couldn't score enough runs to compete with them."

"We had a horrible July and after that we pulled ourselves together and played well but in July, playing against those top caliber of ball clubs, we just got our socks blown off."

Despite their second half tailspin, the Rangers improved 13 games from 1982 with strong pitching and defense. But they couldn't score runs and finished with a 255 team batting average.

The Rangers acquired Gary Ward from Minnesota and Ned Yost from Milwaukee but better performances this season from first baseman Pete O'Brien and third baseman Buddy Bell are needed if the Rangers are to continue their improvement.

"We had a very difficult time scoring runs last year," Rader said. "We had to do something to get leverage off our strength, which is pitching. We feel Gary Ward is an accomplished hitter and will supplement our lineup."

Outlaws slip by winless Blitz, 17-14

CHICAGO (AP) — Efen Herrera kicked a 34-yard field goal with one second remaining Saturday to lead the Oklahoma Outlaws to a 17-14 United States Football League victory over the winless Chicago Blitz.

Herrera's winning kick in a driving snowstorm improved the Outlaws' record to 3-1 while Chicago fell to 0-4.

Herrera's winning kick was the result of an interception by Oklahoma's Barry Copeland, who picked off a pass by Chicago's Vince Evans with 1:53 remaining. The Outlaws then drove from their own 46-yard-line to Chicago's 17, setting up Herrera's game-winner.

Despite the conditions, Oklahoma quarterback Doug Williams completed 18-of-40 passes for 240 yards and two touchdowns. Evans completed 10-of-28 for 145 yards, with two interceptions and one touchdown, with wide receiver Marcus Anderson accumulating 123 yards in six receptions.

The Blitz opened the scoring with a 44-yard touchdown pass up the right sideline from Evans to Anderson with 10:42 left in the first quarter.

After an interception of a pass by Evans by Oklahoma safety Herb Williams, the Outlaws tied the game on a nine-yard pass from Williams to wide receiver Darryl Crane.

Less than three minutes later, Oklahoma struck again on a 56-yard pass from Williams to rookie Alphonso Williams, who signed with the Outlaws two weeks ago as a free agent.

Sutton leads Bay Hill Golf Classic

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Hal Sutton, the PGA champion and leading money-winner in 1983, came from three shots off the pace with a 4-under-par 67 to surge past Greg Norman and take a one-shot lead Saturday in the third round of the $400,000 Bay Hill Classic.

Norman, the Australian who matched the Bay Hill Club course with a 62 on Friday, opened the gates to Sutton's charge when he made double bogey on the second and fourth holes.

And Sutton, who reached the top rank of golf's stars as a tour sophomore last season, wasted no time in taking advantage. He made up four shots on Norman in four holes, played the front side in 32, took the lead at the turn, birdied the 10th and finished on a string of pars that was good enough to keep his position atop the standings.

Sutton finished three trips over Arnold Palmer's course in 203, 10 shots under par.

Norman, who shook off double disaster early in the round, made a great birdie from the rough on the 18th that finished off a round of par 71 and a 54-hole total of 204. George Burns was another shot back at 205 after a hard-won 69 that included five birdies. Ray Floyd and Sammy Ratchels were next at 206, three shots off the pace. Floyd bogeyed two of the last three holes for a 70. Ratchels had a 68.

They were followed by Bernhard Langer of West Germany, 69-207, and Nick Faldo of England, 68-208. South African veteran Gary Player, Bruce Lietzke and Gary Koch were at 209. Player and Lietzke had 68s, Koch a 72.

Tom Watson, with a third consecutive 70, was seven shots back and apparently out of title contention at 210.

Masters champ Seve Ballesteros of Spain had a 68 and was 1-under-par at 212. Palmer was 74-217.

Jack Nicklaus, who had made double-bogey on the 17th hole for two consecutive days, got past that trouble this time. But he made double-bogey on the 18th where he hit his second in the water. Nicklaus finished with a 73 and was out of it at 214.

Norman, winner of 31 tournaments around the world but still seeking his first American tour title, was a three-shot leader before his pair of double bogeys.

"I hit two bad shots that deserved to be punished," he said.

NFL could draft undergraduates

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football League, confronted by the loss of college stars to the United States Football League, is trying to work out a plan to include undergraduates in its draft. The Associated Press has learned.

The USFL, in less than two years, has signed undergraduate running backs Herschel Walker and Marcus Dupree and about a dozen potential first-round NFL draft choices. Further influencing the NFL is the successful suit against the USFL by University of Arizona dropout Bob Boris.

"The discussions have just been in general terms right now, but the league feels, in view of the Boris case and the loss of Walker and Dupree, that it has to do something to retain a share of good players," said a source close to the NFL, who asked not to be identified. "We're trying to work out the details. We don't know yet what we can live with."

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle said he believes there is little likelihood undergraduates will be included in the next draft, scheduled for May 1. Still, the fact that the NFL is talking about including them is a major shift in league policy.

Under current rules, the rights to a drafted player who doesn't turn pro are retained by the drafting club for one year, then he re-enters the draft. If he again fails to sign within one year, the player becomes a free agent. There is concern that a star undergraduate drafted twice but not signing before his eligibility expires could be a free agent at the end of his final year in college.

Under NCAA rules, a player loses his college eligibility only after negotiating with a pro team, hiring an agent or declaring himself eligible for the draft. Just being drafted, the NCAA said, would not cost a player his eligibility.

Dupree retires

IRVING, Texas (AP) — Tight end Billy Joe Dupree, the Dallas Cowboys' "Mr. Reliable" for 11 years who played in 181 consecutive National Football League games, says he's retiring and won't be back unless Coach Tom Landry has an emergency.

Dupree said he wanted Landry to realize he needed to draft another tight end but added, "I told him if he got into real trouble he might want to give me a call."

Dupree said at his retirement party Friday that his fondest memories will come from the Super Bowl and scoring a touchdown as a runner.

"You just can't beat a Super Bowl victory as the greatest feeling of exuberance," Dupree said. "And to score a touchdown as a runner when you are a receiver is another tremendous thing for a player."

"Of course, I scored a touchdown running once out of fear, not because of my speed," he said.

Dupree said he wouldn't miss the drudgery of training camp.

"I hated getting up at 7:30 in the morning for two-a-days in camp," he said. "I never understood how other guys stayed out until 2 a.m. at beer parties and then made it the next day."

He said Landry tried hard to talk him out of retiring.

"I got out of bed with the flu to talk to Tom and he almost convinced me to come back," Dupree said.

Landry said, "I feel B.J. could have played another year or two and you don't replace people like him."

Landry said he would leave the door open for Dupree's return should there be a problem.

Dupree, a No. 1 draft choice out of Michigan State in 1973, caught 42 passes for 680 yards in 1976, his best year receiving.

He was rated as one of the Cowboys' finest blockers.

"He had all the attributes you want in a tight end," said Landry. "He was a great team player."

Dupree made about $170,000 last year and Landry had already told him he had a place on the 1984 roster if he so wished.

"Eleven years is a long time to play," Dupree said. "I decided to devote fulltime service to my business."

Dupree operates a highly successful construction company.

He always joked that when football season started, "I always had to take a pay cut."

Dupree also said he believed Gary Hogeboom was the answer to the Cowboys' quarterback problems.

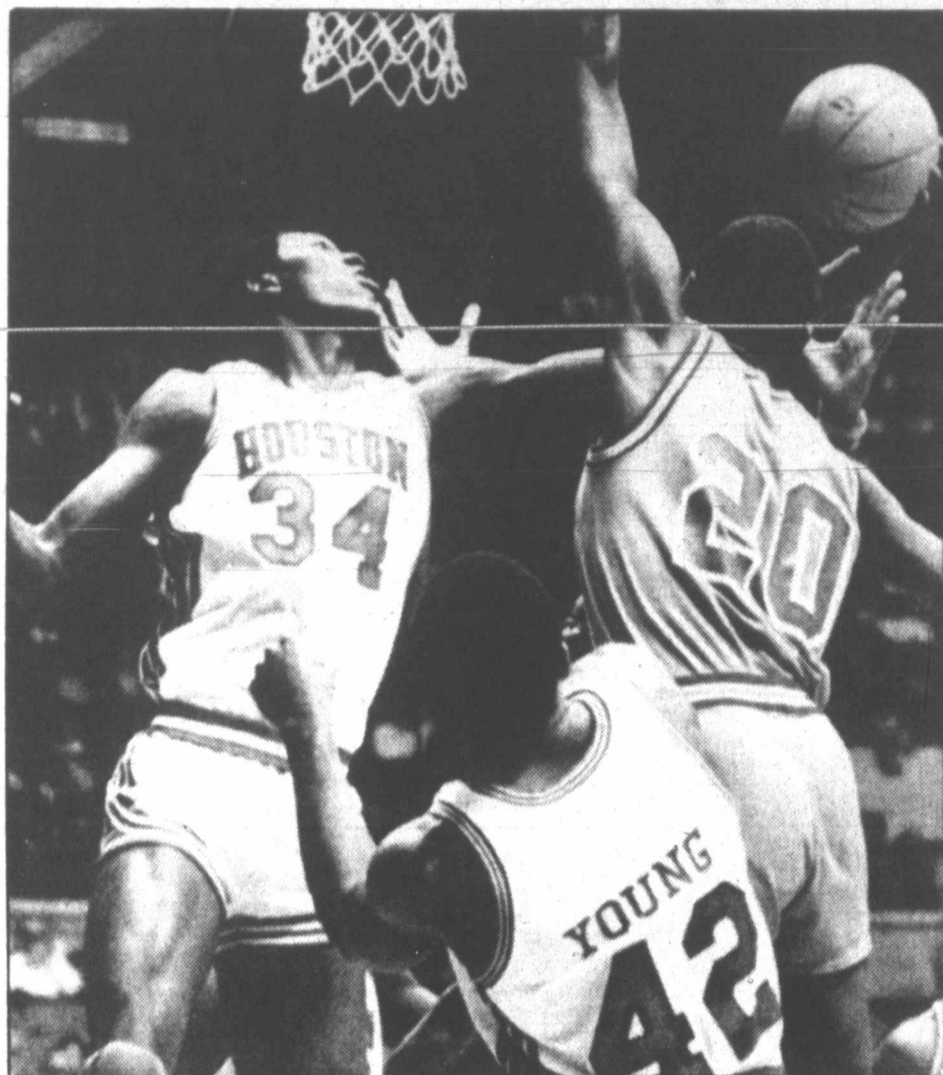

"I have no preference and I think Danny is excellent, but I believe Hogeboom has some qualities that Danny does not possess," Dupree said. "Both guys are qualified to do it, but I give Hogeboom the edge in leadership and aggressiveness."

He said Hogeboom wants the job and "will either push Danny into greatness or out of the (No. 1 position)."

Dupree was voted to the Pro Bowl three times and his nine touchdown catches in 1978 led all NFL tight ends in that department.

Against Miami in 1978, he caught eight passes and his biggest game in the scoring department was three touchdowns against St. Louis in 1973.

In recent years, Dupree had lost his starting job to Doug Cosbie.

REBOUND BATTLE— Houston's Akeem Olajuwon (34) and Michael Young (42) fight for a rebound with Louisiana Tech's Rennie Bailey (20) Saturday during the second round of the NCAA Midwest Regional Tournament in Memphis. The Cougars advance with a 77-69 win. (AP Laserphoto)

Gunslingers still winless after 13-12 Express win

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Los Angeles kicker Tony Zendejas kicked a 39-yard field goal with 1:09 remaining to give the Express a 13-12 United States Football League victory over the San Antonio Gunslingers Saturday afternoon.

The Express evened its record at 2-2, while San Antonio dropped to 0-4.

Zendejas also had a 36-yard field goal with 8:59 left in the final period to pull the Express to within two points, 12-10. San Antonio had taken a 12-7 advantage with 14:57 remaining in the fourth quarter.

Gunslinger running back Scott Stamper went two yards over right guard but San Antonio failed on an attempt at a passing two-point conversion.

The touchdown was set up when Gunslinger defensive back Peter Raeford blocked a punt by Jeff Partridge and Maurice Tyler returned the ball from the Los Angeles 32 to the 6-yard line.

The Express held a 7-0 advantage in the first half, thanks to a 15-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Frank Seurer to halfback Ricky Ellis.

The extra point by Zendejas was good. The Gunslingers came back to score with 8:29 remaining in the third period.

Linebacker Putt Choate returned a Seurer interception 45 yards for the touchdown. The extra point by Nick Mike-Mayer was blocked by linebacker Howard Carson.

The Express' 7-6 advantage held up through the third quarter until Stamper scored early in the fourth period before a crowd of 9,821.

Los Angeles' $40 million

Astros better prepared for '84 season opener

COCOA, Fla. (AP) — Spring training for the Houston Astros last year was enough to ruffle even the easy-going nature of Manager Bob Lillis.

Anything that could go wrong, went wrong.

Frequent rains kept the Astros from the hard workouts they needed to prepare for the season. The team won only three spring games, started the regular season with two starting pitchers on the disabled list and consequently lost their first nine games.

The Astros rebounded to finish third in the National League Western Division behind Los Angeles and Atlanta. The resurgence has continued into spring training this year, leaving Lillis with having to solve only two key problems areas, catching and deciding on one starting pitcher.

That's an over-simplification but those are two positions that will be in the heat of the battle as far as determining the final 25.

Lillis said "But everything has been going very smoothly."

"We didn't get this good work last year and it showed. The guys understand now that we have good conditions so we have to work long hard hours."

The Astros could open the season with only two new faces and an old face that returned.

Catcher Tom Weighaus is a strong candidate to backup Alan Ashby and pitcher Jeff Heathcock could find a spot on the pitching staff. The Astros also signed Enos Cabell, who played for the Astros from 1975 through 1980 before he was traded to San Francisco.

Ashby is returning from a season of frustration that included injury, a hitting slump and criticism of his defensive qualities behind the plate. He hit .227 and had 13 errors in 85 games.

"But he's healthy now and he's improved," Lillis said. "We are expecting big things from Alan. We also have Weighaus, who looks like he can catch and throw."

In 1981, Knepper had a 9-5 record and the second best earned run average in the National League behind teammate Nolan Ryan. Knepper has had 5-15 and 6-13 records the past two seasons however.

"I think he's going to be much improved too," Lillis said. "He's really improved his unloading time to home plate with runners on base. That's something we're really working on this year."

The rest of Houston's rotation will include Nolan Ryan, Joe Niekro and Mike Scott. Mike Madden also could earn a spot.

A key to the bullpen will be the continued progress of Joe Sambito, trying to comeback from elbow surgery.

Cougars reach semifinals

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Sophomore guard Alvin Franklin scored 21 points as No. 5 Houston gained the NCAA Midwest Regional basketball semifinals Saturday with a 77-69 victory over Louisiana Tech.

On Friday in St. Louis, the Cougars, 29-4, play the winner of Saturday's later game at the Mid-South Coliseum between 10th-ranked Purdue and 16th-rated Memphis State.

Houston, winner of 13 of its last 14 games and gunning for its third straight Final Four appearance, got 16 points apiece from All-America Akeem Olajuwon and Michael Young and 14 from freshman Ricky Winslow.

The Cougars pulled away after Louisiana Tech reduced the lead to 54-50 with 7:32 remaining. Olajuwon then returned to the game after sitting out three minutes because of foul trouble and the Cougars went on a 11-2 spurt.

Winslow hit for seven points, including two slam dunks, during the run, to put Houston ahead 65-54 with 4:24 remaining.

With over three minutes remaining, the Southwest Conference champions grabbed a 14-point advantage and put the game out of reach, even though Olajuwon was to foul out with 2:55 left.

Karl Malone, Tech's 6-9 center, was contained by Houston's zone defense in the first half, scoring only four points, but wound up with 18 points. Rennie Bailey also had 18 and Willie Simmons put in 12.

Louisiana Tech, which had upset Fresno State in the first round in its first NCAA competition ever, had its eight-game winning streak snapped to finish at 26-7.

Houston led 34-27 at halftime. Olajuwon piled up 11 points and 10 rebounds in the first half.

Terps win

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Ben Coleman scored 19 points and Herman Veal and Len Bias 18 added each as 11th-ranked Maryland crushed West Virginia 102-77 Saturday in the second round of the NCAA Midwest Regional basketball tournament.

Maryland's eighth consecutive victory came just after third-ranked Kentucky overpowered Brigham Young 93-68 as both teams advanced to the regional semifinals on Kentucky's home floor next Thursday night.

Maryland will meet the winner of Sunday's clash between sixth-ranked Illinois and Villanova, while Kentucky will take on the winner of 12th-ranked Tulsa's battle with Louisville at Milwaukee.

Boston College, Pitt advance in NIT

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — After two sizzling shooting shows, Boston College and Pittsburgh are on their way to the second round of college basketball's National Invitation Tournament.

Boston College, 18-11, missed only eight of 25 shots from the field in the second half as it overpowered St. Joseph's 76-63. And Pittsburgh, 17-12, hit 18 of its first 21 tries from the field in the second game of the Palestra doubleheader.

In Friday night's only other NIT game, which wrapped up the opening round, Weber State, playing at home in Ogden, Utah, whipped Fordham 75-63.

"It's probably one of the best night's I've had shooting the ball from outside," said Boston College's 6-foot-11 forward Jay Murphy, who led the Eagles with 26 points on 12-for-15 shooting. Most of his shots were medium-range jumpers.

"I just got the opportunity," he said. "I've always been a pretty good outside shooter."

Teammate Michael Adams added 22 points and had six steals.

"When you have Michael, you have a pretty good chance to outquick a lot of teams," said Boston College Coach Gary Williams. "And Jay did a good job of finding the seams in the defense."

That pressure caused four St. Joseph's turnovers as the Eagles outscored the Hawks 12-2 to take a 46-34 lead and break the game open with 17 minutes left.

"Their press was very effective," said St. Joseph's Coach Jim Boyle.

"I don't think any of our kids took bad shots all night. The ball just wasn't dropping and you have to credit their defense for that."

Forward Tony Costner led St. Joseph's with 29 points and nine rebounds on 12-of-14 shooting, and became the school's all-time leading scorer with a career total of 1,729. The Hawks ended their season 20-9.

Clyde Vaughan scored 30 points and hauled down 10 rebounds for Pitt, which held off a La Salle rally in the second half.

Pitt ran off 16 straight points, including eight by Vaughan, to take control 71-58 with 7:24 left in the game. The Explorers, who had erased a 43-36 deficit to lead 58-55 with 12 minutes left, suffered through a five-minute scoring drought and stayed at least four points behind after that.

La Salle, 20-11, was led by Ralph Lewis with 27 points, Steve Black with 23 and Albert Butts with 21.

"One of the keys was when they made their spurt, I thought some of their big people got tired," said Pittsburgh Coach Roy Chipman said.

La Salle coach Lefty Ervin thought the Explorers were not patient enough.

"We did not control our pace. We rushed. We forced just a couple of baskets and when we didn't get them they came up and scored. They took their time and worked the ball. We did not."

In the second round of the NIT tournament, Pittsburgh will meet Florida State Sunday night in Greensboro, N.C., while Boston College plays Notre Dame in Springfield, Mass., on Monday night.

Junior forward Randy Worton paced Weber State over Fordham with 20 points and 10 rebounds. The Wildcats, 23-7, travel to Lafayette, La., on Monday to play Southwestern Louisiana. Fordham finished its season 19-15.

Sunday's second round also finds South Alabama and Virginia Tech meeting in the Greensboro doubleheader.

Tech women lose in regionals

RUSTON, La. (AP) — With junior Pam Gant pumping in 26 points, Louisiana Tech, ranked No. 2 in women's basketball, eliminated Texas Tech 94-68 in a first-round game of the NCAA Midwest Regionals.

The Lady Techsters, in front 41-33 at halftime, outscored the Red Raiders 22-10 in the first eight minutes of the second half to go up 63-43, and held command the rest of the way Friday night.

"Things were extremely physical from the outset," said Red Raiders Coach Marsha Sharp, "and we thought we could use our quickness inside to get some fouls, but it didn't work out. Instead, we got in a hole early and could never come out."

Louisiana Tech Coach Leon Barmore thought the Techsters should have done better in the first half.

"I thought we stood around early and just didn't play good defense at all," Barmore said.

The Techsters scored 41 field goals in 63 attempts for a 65.1 shooting percentage compared to Texas Tech's 26 of 60 for 43.3 percent.

Louisiana Tech also used superior height for a 39-24 rebounding advantage.

In the second half, Louisiana Tech hit four of every five field goal attempts for an 80 percent accuracy mark.

Carolyn Thompson, an all-Southwest Conference forward, had 23 points to lead Texas Tech, which finished its season at 23-7.

The Lady Techsters, 28-2, advanced to the March 23 semifinals in Ruston against the winner of Sunday's game at Baton Rouge between Missouri and Louisiana State University.

Top-ranked Texas will meet Northeast Louisiana in the other semifinal.

Deal finalized for Cowboys' sale

DALLAS (AP) — A consortium headed by Dallas businessman H.R. "Bum" Bright is the chief investor in a consortium that has finalized a deal to purchase the Dallas Cowboys for about $75 million, a Dallas television station reported.

The report Friday by WFAA-TV quoted sources as saying that the Cowboys should be under new ownership by next week. But Cowboys spokesman Doug Todd discounted the report.

"That's just the semiweekly rumor," Todd, contacted by phone at his home, said. "The report is news to us."

At a press conference Friday, Cowboys coach Tom Landry denied the televised report, and National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle reiterated that Cowboys President Tex Schramm had given him several names of potential owners, who were still undergoing an investigation by NFL security personnel.

Rozelle said the Cowboys situation is not on the agenda for an NFL owners' meeting next week.

"The only thing I know, it's kind of a sad time for us because of Clint Murchison and the relations we have had for many years," Landry said. "It's difficult to think of the Cowboys without him. But time moves on, and I guess it's inevitable we have to do it, but you don't have to like it."

Schramm said Friday night that he had no comment on the WFAA-TV report "other than that he (Bright) is one of the people we have been talking to."

The television station said a source close to Bright's group confirmed the deal had been made. One of Bright's company officials said he would neither confirm nor deny the report, WFAA said.

Speculation had previously surrounded two groups, one led by Dallas businessman Vance Miller and auto dealer W.O. Bankston and another by Florida real estate developer George Barber.

Miller and Bankston, however, told the television station they are still in the running to buy the Cowboys. WFAA quoted Miller as saying the bidding was "not over until it is over."

The names of Miller and Bankston were submitted to Rozelle for preliminary approval in January.

Murchison, Cowboys owner, put the team up for sale in December.

Bright is a major stockholder for Trinity Banc Savings Association and serves on the board of RepublicBank Corp. His other interests include real estate, trucking, oil and gas and a 2,500-acre ranch north of Dallas.

How much should a funeral cost?

NSM believes the sooner you ask the question the more comforting you'll find the answer.

National Selected Morticians is a group of responsive funeral directors who believe a funeral is no place for on-the-job training.

So they've published a booklet that talks openly about prices... options... the countless little details that could add to your expense and grief—if you're not prepared for them.

The booklet doesn't attempt to influence your selection of a funeral director in any way. But it will give you enough basic knowledge to plan wisely beforehand... without the pressures that can cloud your judgment and possibly lead you to spend more than you should, or need to, for a funeral.

It's offered as a public service by the National Selected Morticians listed in the adjoining column. Pledged to a policy of consumer education, they believe that the more you know about funerals, the better they, or any other funeral director, can serve you.

Community Concert celebrates 40th year

Peter Nero

Pampa's Community Concert Association begins its 40th year with the opening of the group's annual membership campaign Monday.

A Workers' Tea is scheduled at the First Baptist Church Parlor at 3 p.m. today. Louise Richardson is chairing this event. Past memberships are to be renewed beginning Monday, March 18 through March 24.

A Workers' Appreciation Dinner and celebration of the local group's 40th anniversary is planned for March 26 at 7 p.m. in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn. George Blake, president of Community Concerts, New York, N.Y., and Mary Lloyd, Community Concert representative of Jefferson City, Mo., are scheduled to attend the dinner as guests.

Membership headquarters are to open in the Coronado Inn on March 26, also. Memberships may be bought or turned in at the headquarters, open from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. The telephone number is 665-6290. Adult memberships are $15, students — $8. A family membership for two adults and two or more children 18 and under costs $38. Memberships are available during the campaign only. No individual performance tickets are sold.

Guest performers scheduled to appear during the 1984-1985 Community Concert season include Peter Nero, the Royal Ballet of Flanders, The Texas Boys Choir and Bill Schustik, the American troubador.

Peter Nero, the "Madcap Maestro," is unquestionably one of America's leading versatile musical personalities, not only as a pianist, but also as a composer, conductor, arranger and jazz-rock-contemporary musical artist. His long, successful career has bridged the worlds of both classical and popular music, which he does so adeptly, and which defies labeling.

By the time he was 11 years old, he was giving concerts at such places as the Brooklyn Academy of Music. At 14, already having received a significant number of piano awards, a scholarship to the Juilliard School of Music, as well as guest appearances with several symphony orchestras, Nero's future in the world of music was assured.

Early in his career he established himself as a top jazz artist, playing in clubs from New York to Las Vegas. He produced 23 albums in eight years and received 10 Grammy nominations and two Grammy awards.

He composed the entire score and title song for "Sunday in New York." His compositions, "His World," and "Anne Frank: The Diary of a Young Girl," are probably his most ambitious undertakings to date.

As a television personality, Nero has starred in the NBC Emmy Award-winning tribute to the music of George and Ira Gershwin, "S Wonderful, S' Marvelous, S' Gershwin."

Some time ago, Nero was scheduled to appear as solo pianist with the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra. Unfortunately, the conductor was unable to perform at the last minute and Nero was asked to fill in for him that evening. In Nero's own words: "That was it. I had conducted studio orchestras for my own records, and I had studied conducting, but once I got that feeling of what it was like to be in front of a good symphony orchestra and have the music performed my way, I decided that conducting was what I wanted to do."

He is now principal conductor for the Philly Pops Orchestra made up of 80 young, talented, dedicated musicians. Most recently, he has accepted the prestigious post of music director and pops conductor for The Tulsa Philharmonic, Tulsa, Okla., and for the Edmonton Symphony, Edmonton, Alberta, Canada.

Twenty-six spirited young singing cowboys from Fort Worth, whose dulcet voices, marvelously disciplined ensemble and superb showmanship have earned them a world-wide reputation, comprise the celebrated Texas Boys Choir, now in its 40th year of performances.

On programs ranging from exquisite old church music and Elizabethan madrigals to the latest Broadway show tunes and the exuberant folk songs of the Southwest ranches, they include fully costumed, lighted and choreographed extravaganzas.

Igor Stravinsky, with whom they performed his "Persephone," called the young Texans "the best boys choir in the world." Pope Paul VI, after they had sung Mass at the high altar of St. Peter's told them: "Through your singing and your discipline you create the peace and beauty of true art."

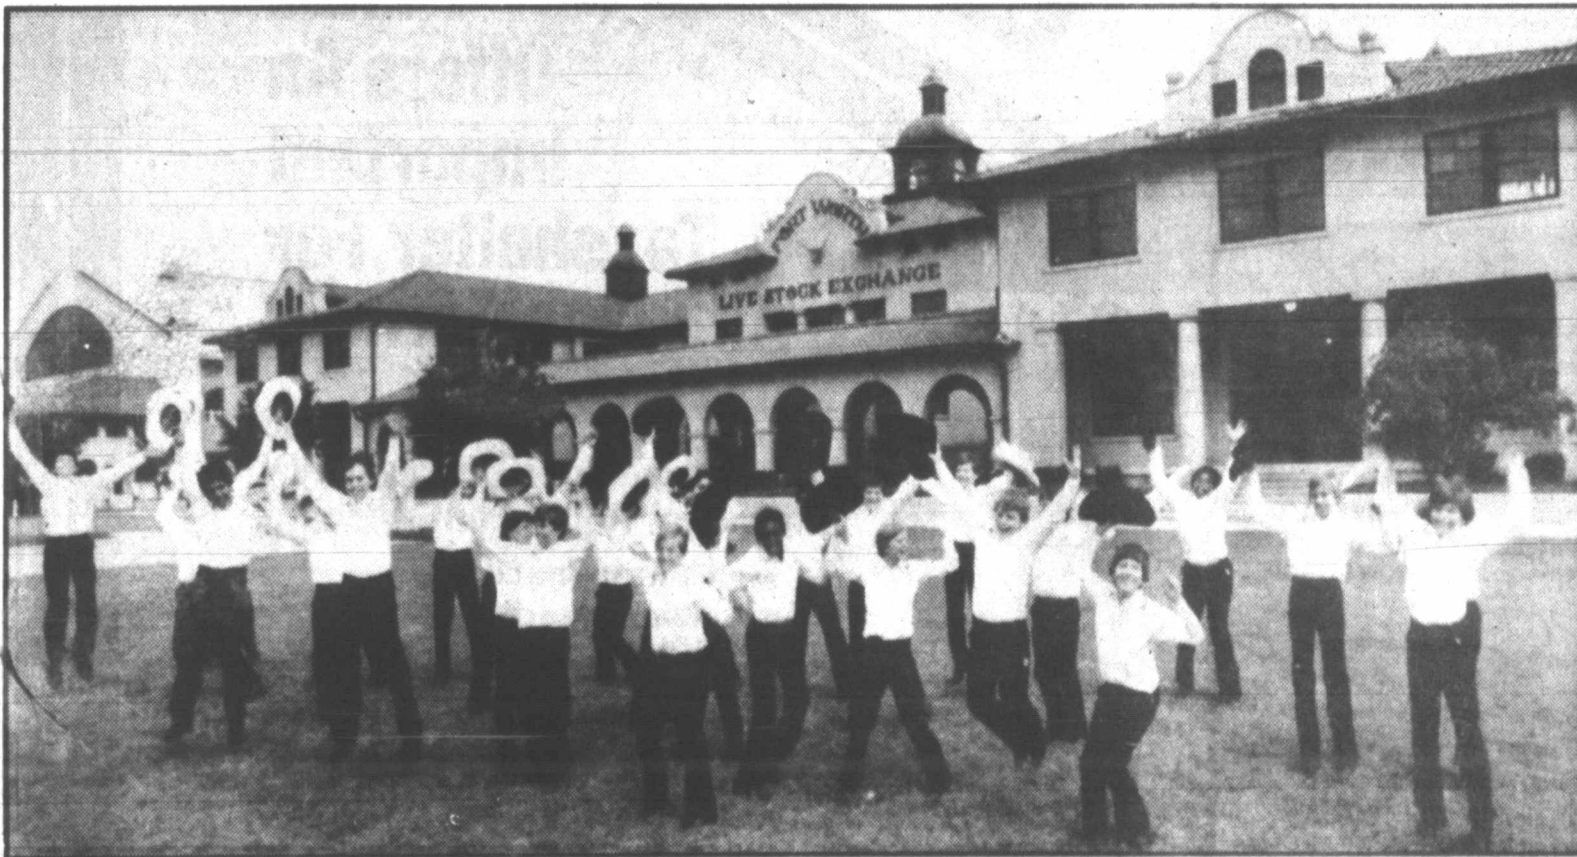

The Royal Ballet of Flanders made an indelible impression on audiences and critics during its first tour of America in the spring of 1978. On earlier tours of Europe, similar acclaim was the rule for this newest of major companies to emerge on the international dance scene.

Featuring brilliant young principals, soloists and corps de ballet — all trained in the traditions of classic ballet — the ensemble captured hearts from coast to coast. Performing a broad repertory of ballets, they spelled dance excitement to the thousands who saw them.

By decree of King Baudoin and Queen Fabiola of Belgium, the company became the Royal Ballet of Flanders in 1976. Set off in eye-catching decors and stunning costumes, these artists provide elegant, memorable entertainment.

Bill Schustik is a singer, an historian, a composer, a chanteyman, a raconteur and a stellar performer. He has entertained and educated enthusiastic audiences throughout the United States with his stirring performances of America's most beautiful ballads, sea chanties and folksongs, as well as his moving rendition of the National Anthem.

Schustik is an original member of Pete Seeger's Hudson River Sloop Singers.

Peeking at Pampa

How long have you been thinking "Spring" which officially arrives next Tuesday?

Butterflies, bouquets of spring flowers, green plants and even a picket fence greeted guests at a recent "Early Spring Fling" at M. K. Brown Heritage Room a week ago today. The serving table was an artistic masterpiece of floral bouquets in blue vases gracing a colorful print tablecloth. Butterflies were sprinkled among the floral centerpieces.

Pampans wholeheartedly welcomed the spring atmosphere and danced the evening away. Ladies in casual spring finery completed the spring decor. Compliments abounded for hostesses Rachel (Mrs. Parks) Brumley and Lois (Mrs. Meivin) Watkins who designed the decorations.

Other energetic hosts and hostesses included Jim and Boydine Bossay, Norman and Norma Fulps, Bob and Pat Johnson, Max and Frances Louvier, Billie Mac and Frances Milcan, Otis (the brightest spot of the evening in a dazzling yellow shirt and pants complete with red suspenders) and Mary Nace.

O. C. and Marge Penn, Price and Carolyn Smith, Norman and Martha Sublett.

Seen tripping the light fantastic were Ed and Lillith Brainard, Malcolm and Mary McDaniel, Ted Gikas, Ruby McWhorter, Leon and Pauline Daugherty, Al and Pauline Wagner, Raymond and Delma Fields, Huey and Eleanor Davenport, Keith and Jolynn Davis, Lee and Janice Porter.

Ingrid Edwards, teller at a downtown bank, dressed for spring in pastel stripes over orchid pants. Makeup and pretty blond hairdo completed a striking picture.

Julia Lopez, a White Deer senior citizen, makes relatives of the Cabbage Patch dolls that are completely irresistible. Sooooo cute.

Let's think pink and great-grandparents. Thelma Hoover and Jewel Hale are proud great-grandmothers of little Meagan Elizabeth Cree, daughter of Jane and Kevin, granddaughter of Joy and Joe.

Esther and Frank Culberson are proud great-grandparents of Shelley Stowers, daughter of Janet and Richard, granddaughter of Dot and Dick Stowers.

Several grandparents brag about little Rebecca Fatheree, daughter of Sue and Tim Fatheree. Grandparents are Ann and Hoby Fatheree and Louise and Andy Smith. Great-grandparents are Polly and Gene Sidwell, Laura Fatheree. Her big sister, Jennifer, was a precious doll dressed up in grey and pink.

Janyth and Charles Bowers are proud parents of Chamblin Paul, lovingly named to honor the memory of his paternal grandfather.

the late Paul Bowers. Helen and Darrell Danner became grandparents for the sixth time with the birth of Schuyler Bond Danner, son of Dixie and Darrell Jr. Maternal grandmother is Loyce Bond. Larry Mayo participated in a bridge tournament in San Antonio last week.

Brian Hanson did it again! His recent trip to Denver netted an additional six inches of snow for a combined total of 52 inches for his last three trips. The 120 mile trek from the ski slopes at Beaver Creek back to Denver took a mere six hours.

Virginia and Jimmy Wilkerson made a grandparents' trip to the Metroplex area last weekend.

Mary Ann and Dr. Frank Kelley, Sandie and Dr. Ed Williams, Anna Mae and Jim Tripplehorn, Carmen and Veri Hagaman, Alleith and Bob Curry vacationed with golf clubs in hand at Wigwam, a resort area near Phoenix, Ariz. The Kelleys and Currys exchanged golf shoes for dancing slippers Sunday to join the Early Spring Fling group.

Wedding bells rang for Pernie Fallon and Jim Davis on Feb. 29 with family members only in attendance. From far away came Tedda Fallon; from Lubbock, Melinda and Bennie Fallon; and from Taos, Jim's brother, Bob. Days later, Pernie and Jim entertained with a Mexican dinner at their home. Guests were Karen — shiny, long, honey-colored hair and dressed so prettilly in orchid — and Jim Hall, family members previously mentioned, Cynthia and Billy Hawkins, Patsy and Kenny Smith, Dr. Bob Chafin, Angie and Mat McCorkle, Sharon and David Martindale, Paula and Raymond Reid Jr., Martha and Bob Campbell, Marge and Ken Lemons, Margaret Spearman of Lubbock, Larry Franklin, Sue and Hal Cree. A recent issue of Texas Monthly featured the show place country home Jim is building on the way to Alanreed from Lefors.

Mark Walters, youth director of Central Baptist Church and Tonya James are newly engaged. Tonya and her mother Sara are often mistaken for sisters.

Paul White in retirement turned his hobby of writing stories of the west and northwest into a new career. His latest book already is a complete sell - out locally. Bernice is his proud wife.

Randy Land, youth director at First Baptist Church, spends leisure hours working with boys at the Youth Center. He often serves as a referee for sophomore ballgames.

A couple of serious and pleasant walkers are Fred Vanderburg and Tom Price.

Sam (Mrs. Hunter) Chisum, plant nurse for Celanese walks faster than most joggers jog! She exchanges greetings along the way. Owners of a popular area barbecue place believe in Pampa's future. Else would they be looking for a location in Pampa. They're aiming for a combination barbecue - steak house. Yummy!

About 500 people saw Rotary's last travel film of the season on Mexico for guest night. Hal Cree succeeds Lee Waters as next year's chairman. Watch for more presentations by Pat McCarrier.

During Texas Education week Rotarians, as is their custom, met last week for lunch with students at Stephen F. Austin School.

There was a jumping rope exhibition by Coach Lou Allred. Leslie Forister, daughter of Judy and Jim, jumped rope with a pogo stick attached to her belt. A difficult feat!

At least 100 Baptist girls, grades one through five from Pampa, Borger and White Deer, met for an Associational GA (Girls In Action) house party at Central Baptist Church last weekend. Myrna (Mrs. Darville) Orr, Joyce (Mrs. Jimmy) Morse and Louan Minyard put it all together.

The TAG (talented, gifted plus high achievers) program appears to be enormously successful. Pampa has a lion's share of participants from elementary through high school in the special programs offered at West Texas State University in Canyon.

Michelle McGivern and Polly Hinton, elementary students, attended the archeology presentation recently. Middle school students include Chris Wilson, John McGrath, Rebecca Fletcher, Abby Wood, Jessica Patton, Mitch King, Tracy Bezner, Chad McDougall, Noelle Barbaree, Jason Cameron, Matt Collum, John Cooley, Misty Cota, Juli Enloe, Joseph Garren, Lloyd Harvey, Jeff Jones, Stacy McDonald, Michele Williams, John Fouge, Chris Hite, Jennifer Kristal Keyes, Jon Leggett, Tory Peet, Liz Popejoy, Cory Stephens, Paula Swindle, Greg Wilson and J. J. Winborne. John Burnham, Robert Saylor, Robin Green, Joseph Anderson and Scott Drdul are in PHS.

Sponsors are Kay (Mrs. Jimmy) Crouch, elementary, and Marcelle Diller, middle and high schools.

Marcella, a native of Hereford, came to PHS straight from Garden City, Kan. There she was personnel director for a hospital. Her master's degree in English was earned at Notre Dame University. During Easter vacation she is to take a group of TAG students on a tour of Washington, D.C.

A favorite meeting place of young people is the home of Alice and Mark Price, where the welcome mat is always out. Work on travel merit badges by Weblows Pack 404 of the First Christian Church included a slide narration on Brian Hanson's African safari. The boys, fascinated by the animals, asked all the right questions. Weldon Ellis is pack leader.

More than 50 ladies attended the monthly ladies luncheon at the Pampa Country Club last Thursday. The PHS show choir, directed by Billy Talley and dressed so spiffy in khaki, sang after the Rev. Ron McCrary spoke on St. Patrick's Day.

Informal modeling of spring fashions by Terry Etting of Gruver, Melba Borton and Janet Whitsell gave a clear message: Girls, do go shopping for an Easter bonnet!

AGRICULTURE SCENE

High interest rates could slow recovery In Agriculture

WASHINGTON (AP) — If the federal government doesn't stop spending so much more money than it takes in, this year's rosy farm forecast could wither quickly as high interest rates dampen rising consumer demand, a new Agriculture Department analysis says.

"Beyond 1984, the outlook for the recovery is clouded by large federal deficits," the new outlook report said Thursday. "Continued high real interest rates would gradually put a brake on economic activity again, undercutting farm product demand."

The improvement in the general economy includes a projected 4 percent boost in U.S. real disposable income, which is expected to boost consumer demand for food and beverages by about 2.5 percent.

"Not all of the increase will go to the farm level, of course," the report said. "Nevertheless, the recovery is expected to give farm-level demand the biggest lift in five years."

Also, USDA economists are optimistic about 1984 because of last year's sharp decline in crop output as a result of drought and the government's payment-in-kind acreage program designed to curb further buildups in inventories of wheat, corn, sorghum, rice and cotton.

The 1983 PIK program, estimated to cost taxpayers $9.7 billion, provided free surplus commodities to farmers who agreed to reduce crop plantings. Those commodities are having an impact on 1984 farm income as well as in 1983.

"Current prospects indicate that farm income will likely be more evenly distributed among commodity lines national agricultural organization leaders.

Among Agriculture Day activities across the nation will be parades, public exhibits, farm-city luncheons or breakfasts, special radio and television programs, special promotions by major agricultural manufacturers and businesses, and demonstrations of grain grinding, cow milking, sheep shearing and similar events.

Agriculture Day is set aside as a special time to focus on the achievements of the 23 million men and women in U.S. agriculture. This is one-fifth of the work force, from suppliers of goods and services on through the food and fiber chain to retail food, clothing and horticultural workers. Altogether, they are responsible for more than 20 percent of the gross national product.

A Gray County Horse Short Course will be held March 27 and 28 in the Pampa area, starting at 7 each evening.

On Tuesday, March 27, in the Courthouse Annex Meeting Room, the program will feature discussion on general horse nutrition and feeding by Dr. Doug Householder, extension horse specialist.

On Wednesday, March 28, the program will be held at the Bar D-K Appolosa Ranch, from Kingsmill on Highway 60, one mile west, one-half north, one-half mile west. Dr. Householder will discuss improving mare reproduction and a session on condition scoring mares will involve the audience. Drs. David Woods, Bill Horne and Ron Easley, local veterinarians, will hold a panel discussion on horse health care.

This education activity has been planned for the benefit of all horse owners in the Eastern Panhandle area — youth and adults. Everyone is invited.

Theme of this year's observance is "The Food Chain — A Human Chain."

National events will include the selection of a "Miss Agriculture" and an address by Secretary of Agriculture John Block before the National Press Club. There will also be a "Taste of the Country" barbecue and reception at the USDA Administration Building for members of Congress and the Cabinet as well as state and

DATES
March 19 — orientation for 4-H'ers, parents and leaders for Clothing and Textiles Project and Fashion Show.

March 20 — 7 p.m., Lefors 4-H Club meeting, Lefors Senior Citizen's building.
March 22 — 7 p.m., 4-H Family Night, Courthouse Annex.

CLOTHING AND TEXTILE PROJECT

If you are interested in the clothing project, it is very important that you make plans to attend an orientation session to be held at 7 p.m. Monday at the Courthouse Annex. It is important that 4-H'ers, leaders and parents be present for this session. This will be the first meeting concerning the clothing project, and we will discuss the cost of the project, rules and what will be expected of everyone in the project.

4-H FAMILY NIGHT

Make plans now to attend 4-H Family Night to be held March 22, at 7 p.m., at the Gray County Courthouse Annex, east on Highway 60.

The purpose of this event is to help provide information for the parents and other family members of present 4-H'ers and those of prospective 4-H members. We will discuss the background, purpose and opportunities of the 4-H program and the relationship of 4-H to the Extension Service.

We hope that everyone who is a present 4-H member will attend with their families and also bring some new people into the 4-H program.

4-H has a great deal to offer, and we would like to share these opportunities with everyone. Refreshments will be served following the program.

YOUTH TURNED ON BY 4-H ELECTRIC PROGRAM
Electricity means power. That power may be 1,000 kilowatts for a locomotive, 100 watts for a lamp, or only a tiny fraction of one watt picked out of the air by a radio receiver. But every day, the energy generated by electricity vitally affects man and his environment.

The why's and how's of electricity are being explored by young people ages nine to 19 in the 4-H electric program.

Sponsored by Westinghouse Electric Corp., the learn-by-doing program helps 4-H'ers fathom the mysteries of this important energy source.

How electricity heats, what makes motors run, how electric bells and buzzers work, how cells and batteries operate — these are some of the topics examined.

4-H members acquire electrical safety skills aimed at preventing personal injury or property damage. And 4-H'ers learn to play a part in easing energy costs by using electricity efficiently in the home.

Practical 4-H electric projects range from the relatively simple, such as making a circuit board or rewiring a lamp, to the more complex, such as building a crystal radio or radio voice transmitter.

This year, in addition to six

$1,000 national scholarships, Westinghouse will provide an expense-paid trip to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago to the top program member from each state. Medals of honor will go to as many as four 4-H'ers in each county.

To find out more about this exciting, as well as rewarding 4-H program — the electric program, contact the county Extension office.

Astro-Graph

by bernice bede osol

More opportunities than you've been exposed to for a long time are apt to come your way in the year ahead. However, if you fail to take full advantage of them, you'll regret it later.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
Your judgment in business matters is good today, yet there is a possibility you might whittle down your advantage just to appease another. Major changes are in store for Pisces in the coming year. Send for your year-ahead predictions today. Mail $1 and your zodiac sign to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Send an additional $2 for your Astro-Graph Matchmaker set, which tells to whom you are best suited romantically.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
Commercial dealings should work out to your advantage today, provided you don't take small details for granted. The entire picture must be considered.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
Give credence to your mate's input when discussing important matters today. He or she might grasp important facts you overlook.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
Subdue tendencies to slack off at work today. You're in a good cycle to perform effectively. It would be a shame to waste momentum.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
If you are managing something for another today, don't treat your responsibility with indifference. Act as if the situation were your own.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
This can be a productive day, provided you are consistent. Don't fumble the ball when you are about to cross the goal line.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
Before putting your plans into action today, sound off your ideas on someone whose judgment you trust. If something is lacking, he or she will spot it.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
Today, don't price your goods or services too low. If you do, a smooth chiseler could grind you down to where you'll have no profit.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
Allot some time for recreational pursuits today, but don't arrange your schedule so that it will cause you to neglect essential duties.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
In a social involvement with friends today, don't feel you have to fund the entire event. Make arrangements where each pays their share.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Normally you're a good listener who gives others a chance to speak their mind. Today, uncharacteristically, you may try to dominate the entire conversation.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
Conditions look promising today where your career and finances are concerned, but you must keep your expectations within realistic limits.

Dolly is cheerful person

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Dolly Parton had just finished a much-troubled musical film with Sylvester Stallone, and by all rights she should have been angry and depressed.

Not Dolly, the earth-woman of Nashville, Tenn. She could find something cheerful in the Johnstown Flood.

The movie "Rhinestone" was rumored to be plagued by infighting among participants and way over budget. After a change of directors, the 20th Century-Fox movie was completed last month for a sum the studio has not disclosed.

"The problems started real early and I wasn't aware of them," Miss Parton said in an interview. "All I know is that they changed directors after a short time, and the new one, Don Zimmerman, was darned good."

"I hope 'Rhinestone' will be a good movie I think it will be." The 38-year-old entertainer's sense of wonderment, coupled with relentless ambition, is infectious. Even though she earned a reported $3 million for "Rhinestone," she was delighted the studio had provided a Beverly Hills Hotel bungalow for a few interviews.

We owe you an apology and a great price on a VCR.

In January and February we offered a special price on our front loading, 7 day, 1 event VCR and our 7 day, 5 event VCR.

You recognized the exceptional value and fine quality of our products and surprised us by buying virtually every Montgomery Ward brand video cassette recorder we had in stock.

Our advertising sections are printed weeks in advance, so we had no way of knowing that VCRs #10528 and #10529 (which appear in March and April ads) would be unavailable. We sincerely apologize for the inconvenience.

We've ordered more VCRs and they'll be in our stores by May 19th.

If you can wait until then, we'll be happy to order one for you now through April 14th at today's advertised sale price.

Thank you for making Montgomery Ward your favorite store.

'Underground railroad' defies feds

CHICAGO (AP) — Turning their "underground railroad" into open defiance of federal authorities, 50 religious activists set off in a car caravan Saturday with a family of illegal Guatemalan refugees who seek sanctuary in a Vermont church.

The travelers embarked on their well-publicized eight-day trip from a South Side church in 12 cars festooned with signs reading "Hands off the Freedom Train" and "Resist Death—Give Sanctuary."

They planned to stop in several cities along the way to hold prayer meetings and sleep in church basements or living rooms of supporters. Rallies are scheduled in Washington on Monday and Tuesday, and the journey is to end Saturday at the Weston (Vt.) Priory, where a group of Benedictine monks have proclaimed the latest sanctuary.

For Felipe and Elena Excot and their five children ranging in age from 11 years to 7 months, it is the last leg of a desperate journey that began in November 1982. That is when they fled to Mexico for fear Excot would be killed as a subversive because he was helping teach villagers to read.

Upon their arrival in Arizona three months ago, the family was taken under the wing of a group of religious activists that has helped about 350 illegal aliens from Central America in the past two years.

The Excots reached Chicago on a modern-day version of the "underground railroad," named for the network of pre-Civil War abolitionists who spirited runaway slaves to freedom in the North.

But now the Chicago Religious Task Force on Central America, the umbrella group for the churches trying to claim the ancient right of sanctuary, has taken the railroad above ground.

Mike McConnell, an organizer of the caravan, said the movement wants to send a message to the Immigration and Naturalization Service, especially in light of recent arrests of church workers and refugees in Arizona and Texas.

"We will not be intimidated by the arrests," McConnell said.

No charges have been filed against the church people in Arizona, but authorities say their investigation continues. A federal grand jury, however, indicted two church workers in the Texas case. Conviction for aiding an illegal alien carries a maximum prison sentence of two years and a $5,000 fine. The Salvadorans arrested face deportation.

In Washington, INS spokesman Duke Austin said authorities know about the caravan but did not plan to change their policies toward the sanctuary movement. He said immigration officials arrest church people only if they encounter them in the course of their regular duties which concentrate on turning back illegal aliens at the borders, deporting them from factories and farms and arresting smugglers who bring them into the country for money.

He said that given the more than 1.2 million illegal aliens caught by the INS last year, the 350 granted sanctuary are hardly worth pursuing. However, he emphasized that U.S. law has never recognized the right of sanctuary, and these refugees could be arrested, even in churches, if authorities have the proper warrants.

The Excots are aware of the risks. "In Guatemala, I was afraid of the army. Here I am afraid of immigration," Mrs. Excot said.

Miami gets quiet Saturday morning

M'AMI (AP) — Sporadic violence continued early Saturday in three black neighborhoods as the arrest toll rose past 370 from two nights of unrest, sparked by the manslaughter acquittal of a Hispanic police officer who shot a black man to death.

But as morning neared, the city was "very quiet," said Metro-Dade Officer Sue Munn.

Sniper fire broke out late Friday in an apartment complex a few miles north of the neighborhood of Liberty City, scene of a 1980 racial disturbance that left 18 people dead. Those riots also were sparked by the acquittal of police in the slaying of a black.

No one was injured in the sniper incident. But by early today, police said, at least 34 people, including four police officers, had received minor injuries in disturbances that began Thursday evening after an all-white jury quickly returned an innocent verdict in the manslaughter trial of Officer Luis Alvarez.

Alvarez fatally shot Nevell Johnson Jr., 20, in a video arcade in December 1982, sparking several days of rioting. During his trial, the officer testified he fired after seeing Johnson reach for a gun, a .22-caliber "Saturday night special."

Police Sgt. Larry Scheer said four to six young black men late Friday randomly fired small-caliber weapons from the apartments at police. Another officer at the scene, who asked not to be identified, said several shots had been fired at passing civilian cars as well.

Police tactical squads surrounded the buildings and conducted a room-by-room search. No weapons were recovered.

Later, five men were arrested at the apartment complex. Police Officer Maria Caro said three were charged with disorderly conduct, one with loitering and prowling and one with throwing "a deadly missile."

There was repeated but minor rock- and bottle-throwing throughout the night in the predominantly black Coconut Grove and Overtown sections of the city. Many streets were littered with broken glass, rocks and chunks of concrete.

As of early today, 371 people had been arrested by county and city police since Thursday night, officers said. At least a dozen businesses were ransacked and three warehouses were torched.

Seven people were arrested early today on burglary charges in isolated incidents in Liberty City, Miami Police Officer Mike Stewart said.

Passing This Test Could Mean Failure.

Kids who pass this conventional school eye test may see the blackboard fine from the back of the room. But how about up close? Studies prove your child may be one of 15 million school-aged children with reading disabilities due to a visual deficiency this test can't detect.

Is your child giving you any of these early detection warnings?

- Book held only 7 or 8 inches from the eyes
- Makes errors when copying
- Uses finger to trace lines in his books
- Writes or prints poorly
- Short attention span while reading
- Closes or covers one eye

Proper vision therapy using a series of vision exercises and sometimes combined with proper corrective lenses can successfully help many of these problems. Don't take chances with your child's sight. Contact Dr. Simmons who specializes in early detection. It's just too important to risk a failing grade.

NUMB ARMS, LEGS
Danger Signals

There may be misalignment of vertebrae in the spine causing pressure on nerves, yet the patient experiences no pain in the back. Instead, a variety of sensations may be felt in other parts of the body. These include tingling, tightness, hot spots, cold spots, crawling sensations, electric shock sensations, stinging, burning, and others. Here are nine critical symptoms involving back pain or strange sensations which are usually the forerunners of more serious conditions. Any one of these usually spells back trouble.

- (1) Parasthesias (see above) (2) Headaches (3) Painful joints (4) Numbness in the arms or hands (5) Loss of sleep (6) Stiffness in the neck (7) Pain between the shoulders (8) Stiffness of pain in lower back (9) Numbness or pain in the legs.

These signals indicate that your body is being robbed of normal nerve function. Until this function is restored, you will, in some degree, be incapacitated. The longer you wait to seek help, the worse the condition will become. Don't wait! Should you experience any of these danger signals... call for in-depth consultation in Layman's terms.
