Mondale left struggling for new start

HART: he's all smiles

BOSTON (AP) — Walter F. Mondale's drive for the Democratic presidential nomination was supposed to be a frontrunner's express to success, but two quick losses have derailed that train and left Mondale struggling for a new start.

After his loss in Maine's caucuses Sunday, the difficult question now for the former vice president is whether he has enough time to get his once-vaunted campaign machine back on track before Sen. Gary Hart builds a string of primary and caucus victories that would make him the "inevitable nominee."

With Super Tuesday and its 11 caucuses and primaries only eight days away, Mondale must move quickly to get back into the winner's column.

AP news analysis

His chosen weapon is going to be direct attacks on Hart and Hart's record, a strategy he unveiled on Thursday.

"We are still fighting back. We have got a long way to go," Mondale said after his defeat.

Mondale's loss in the Maine caucuses — on top of his upset loss to Hart in New Hampshire — demonstrated that millions of dollars, a feared campaign organization, all the help of organized labor, and the backing of the party establishment do not necessarily add up to victory.

Hart triumphed over Mondale in Maine with little money and much volunteer help.

Organized labor in particular finds its reputation for political power in tatters after Sunday. The AFL-CIO has 60,000 members in Maine and the State affiliate of the National Education Association has about 17,500.

But those two groups — both solidly behind Mondale — couldn't get enough of that 77,500-member pool to the caucuses to top Hart's vote total of just over 8,000.

Union help is still valuable and may be the key to future Mondale victories in other states where labor is better organized. But it is the question of time that is most troubling for Mondale.

To begin with, the next seven days aren't good ones, as Hart is supposed to do well in the next two events — Vermont's beauty contest primary on Tuesday and the Wyoming caucuses on Saturday.

Then comes March 13, with 11 events and 511 national convention delegates at stake.

Mondale is heading South Tuesday to campaign in Florida, Georgia and Alabama, where he was the clear leader in most polls before the recent losses.

Hart, with little organization in those states, is looking to ride the momentum of victory whatever the lack of other resources in the states.

Ironically, the jammed-up, front-loaded primary schedule is working against Mondale now, not for him as many expected.

MONDALE: looking grim

Hart claiming 'another political miracle'

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — Gary Hart is on a political roll, adding an upset victory in the Maine caucuses to one in the New Hampshire primary, but Walter F. Mondale and his managers insist they can upend the upstart in the race for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Hart claimed "another political miracle" Sunday night, as complete returns from Maine's 414 caucuses showed him with almost 51 percent to Mondale's 44 percent.

Sen. John Glenn, former Sen. George McGovern and the Rev. Jesse Jackson had scattered support, but they had left the state — and the spotlight — to Mondale and Hart.

Hart, the Colorado senator, declared he may "have brought a political juggernaut to its knees" in the race for the Democratic presidential nomination.

"I love New England," Hart told a Massachusetts Democratic Party dinner as the votes were being counted in neighboring Maine.

He quickly rearranged his schedule in hopes he could make his political momentum migrate from New England to the South, where a big round of primaries is upcoming.

Mondale and his men went to bed without conceding defeat in Maine, a state where he out-spent and out-organized Hart and claimed support from most of the major figures in the Democratic Party establishment.

The former vice president said the results actually demonstrated he had stopped the momentum Hart gained with his New Hampshire win last Tuesday, and said he would recapture the lead in the South on March 13.

"I'm fighting back," said Mondale, a week ago the prohibitive front-runner for the nomination.

Even so, Mondale's aides say they expect Hart to win the next two contests, a non-binding primary Tuesday in Vermont and caucuses in Wyoming on Saturday with only 12 delegates at stake.

They said they will concentrate their efforts on the 11 primary and caucus contests on "Super Tuesday" on March 13, and insist they can stop Hart that day in Georgia, Alabama and Florida.

"Walter Mondale will emerge from Super Tuesday as the clear delegate leader and front-runner," Mondale's campaign manager, Robert Beckel, said Sunday night.

There are more than 500 national convention delegates at stake March 13.

Hart's aides say they have picked up supporters from candidates who already have dropped out of the race, and political sources said fresh public opinion surveys show Hart gaining ground in the South as well as elsewhere.

McGovern has said he will drop out of the race if he doesn't finish in the top two in Massachusetts.

The Maine caucuses gave Hart 48.9 percent of the delegates selected for the Maine state convention, compared to 44.2 percent for Mondale, 1 percent for McGovern and 1 percent for Glenn. There were 5.6 percent uncommitted.

Proposed changes in Texas schools could cost taxpayers up to $7 billion

AUSTIN (AP) — Some members of a committee studying Texas schools say many of the panel's innovative and well-publicized proposals will likely be forgotten when the public and the Legislature find out how much they will cost — with "ballpark" estimates ranging up to $7 billion.

"When they put the fiscal notes to longer school day and those things, it will blow some folks out of the tub," Bob Gregg, a state Board of Education member who also serves on the Select Committee on Public Education told the Austin American-Statesman.

The select committee was appointed by Gov. Mark White to come up with a list of recommendations for improving Texas public education.

Sources on the committee told the American-Statesman that a "no frills" package limited to teacher pay raises and equalization of funding between rich and poor school districts would cost at least $2 billion — a 25 percent increase in the current budget that could be raised through a one-cent increase in the 4-cent sales tax.

Other proposals under debate, such as a longer school day and year, day-care services for working parents and limits on class sizes, could up the cost of the reform package to between $4 billion and $7 billion, committee sources told the newspaper.

The committee, headed by Dallas computer magnate H. Ross Perot, had planned to issue its preliminary recommendations today, but members said that report has been delayed until after a committee meeting in Dallas March 14-16.

The proposals are then slated for a month-long public review before being passed along to the Legislature.

Gregg said he expects the final package to be limited primarily to teacher pay raises and equalization of school district funding because of the cost of the other proposals.

"There will be enough conservatives on the committee to stir it up. If not, the Legislature still gets its chance to cut things," Gregg said.

School prayer backers see close Senate vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Backers of a proposed constitutional amendment to permit voluntary prayer in public schools, claiming Senate support for the measure is at an all-time high, are predicting a close vote in the Republican-run chamber.

The Senate was beginning debate on the amendment today, with Senate Majority Leader Howard Baker, R-Tenn., leading the charge. "It's the best opportunity to pass this amendment that we've had" in more than a decade, Baker said.

But a top Senate GOP official, who did not wish to be identified by name, said it was still not certain that backers could muster the needed two-thirds vote of the Senate — or 67 votes — to approve the measure.

A long Senate debate was anticipated, although it was not clear whether a threatened filibuster by liberals would materialize.

The amendment being considered by the Senate, strongly supported by the Reagan administration, states: "Nothing in this Constitution shall be construed to prohibit individual or group prayer in public schools or other public institutions. No person shall be required by the United States or by any state to participate in prayer."

The words of the prayer would be up to individual local school authorities to determine.

Student 'legislators' raise speed limit, abolish insanity defense

If Pampa High School students traded places with U.S. congressmen, they would raise the national speed limit to 70 mph and pass a law prohibiting "insanity" as a defense in criminal cases.

The two issues were the substance of the only "bills" passed by both Houses of the student Model Congress IV Saturday at PHS.

Ronald Reagan could take some tips from PHS class president Troy West on how to move legislation through Congress. West served as President of the United States for the mock session. The student representatives and senators approved all of the President's requested legislation in his "State of the Union" address.

West's speech opened the session of the Model Congress, and he urged passage of the two bills that both Houses approved later Saturday. The President also asked the legislators to defeat a proposal to abolish the death penalty. The students responded by burying the bill so deeply in committee that it couldn't even be found to type and duplicate for the afternoon debates.

The real U.S. Representative from this district, Democratic Congressman Jack Hightower, of Vernon, presided at the Model Congress as "Speaker of the House."

Before debate began, Hightower instructed the students in congressional procedure.

State Senator Bill Sarpalus also instructed the students, and he served as President of the Senate.

The 75 high school students, who served as "senators," "representatives" and "lobbyists" for the day-long session Saturday, listened to "witnesses," debated various bills, and moved them into committees and onto the "floor" for votes, the same way Congress does.

The student legislators voted down bills that called for a repeal of the minimum-wage law for people under age 18, lengthening the school day to nine hours, a constitutional amendment establishing a moment of silence for school prayer, and one that would prohibit abortions under any circumstances.

The legislators couldn't agree on bills calling for handgun registration, a flat-rate income tax of 10 percent, and raising the drinking age to 21. The bills that couldn't get both Houses' approval also went down to defeat.

The proposal to eliminate the present federal income tax system in favor of a 10-percent flat rate resulted in one of the biggest battles of the day. The students inserted provisions that exempted senior citizens and families with less than $8,000 annual income. They provided that the tax would be levied on the net, rather than gross receipts, for businesses. The measure came down to the final minutes before being approved by both Houses. However, the versions in the Senate and House weren't precisely the same, and the income-tax bill was killed.

The committee on school funding approved a proposal to limit the amount of class time that students could miss for extracurricular activities. But the two branches of the legislature couldn't agree on how many classes missed amounted to "too much time," and that bill failed on the floor.

The bill to raise the national drinking age to 21 was changed to age 19 in committee. The bill failed when the House voted for a criminal penalty for violations, while the Senate insisted on a civil penalty. A conference committee on the drinking-age bill couldn't reach a compromise.

The school prayer committee changed the proposed constitutional amendment to provide for a mandatory period of silence at the beginning of each school day. The amendment would allow students to pray, rest or study during the period of silence. The school-prayer amendment failed when it didn't get the required two-thirds vote in each house.

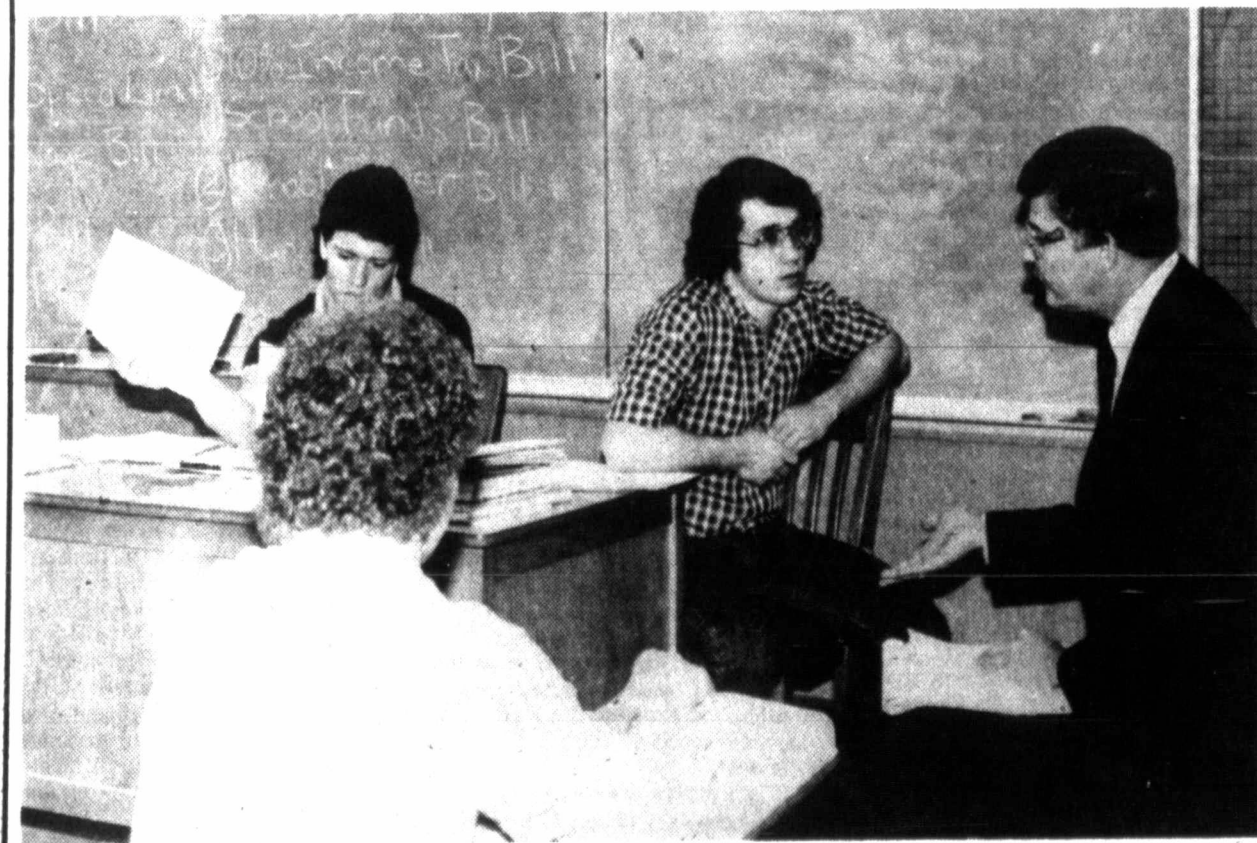

A bill to prohibit federal funding of abortions was changed by committee to prohibit all abortions. The bill passed the House, but failed in the Senate.

"I think the original bill would have passed without any problem," said John Burnham, vice chairman of the House Rules Committee, "but the change was opposed by too many senators."

Chairman of the Model Congress, Pampa lawyer John Warner, praised the student participants and the organizations that sponsored the session.

"All of the students said they enjoyed it, that they learned from it, and recommended that we do it again," Warner said. He had special praise for John Goes and Howard Graham, who have worked with the Model Congress program since its beginning in 1971.

Sponsors of the Model Congress include the Pampa Kiwanis Club, the PHS Key Club, student council, Future Farmers of America, Gifted and Talented Class and the social studies and business education departments; the Little Harvester; the Pampa Chamber of Commerce; the Gray County Bar Association; and the Pampa Optimist Club.

Dear Abby

Reader says mother's milk is healthy source for son

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1984 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: So you think the mother in Hawaii who was still breast-feeding her 6-year-old son needs "help." Abby, I think you need help if you don't know that the longer a child is breast-fed, the healthier he will be. Mother's milk contains special properties that are extremely healthful for growing children. Get some material from the La Leche League, Abby, and educate yourself!

ALICE J.

DEAR ALICE: This is not to belittle the immunological (or psychological) benefits of mother's milk, but an overwhelming number of pediatricians agree that a 6-year-old child should be getting his milk from a cup. And they don't mean a "D" cup.

DEAR ABBY: Please edge a little further into the 20th century on the "Mrs. Jane Doe" vs. "Mrs. John Doe" convention. I have been happily married for 16 years. As much as I love and respect my husband, I would no more call myself "Mrs. Gene McGraw" than I would wear a bustle.

For one thing, it's semantic nonsense. Just who is "Mrs. Gene McGraw"? I'm not a bisexual, nor do I have two heads. Although I willingly took my husband's family name, my first name never was and never will be "Gene."

Semantics aside, there is an even more compelling reason to get rid of this bit of "etiquette." It arises from the cruel, snobbish and archaic belief that a widow was socially respectable, while a divorcee was morally suspect. The name form required of the divorcee publicly labeled her, so that she could be appropriately snubbed. (Isn't it odd that no such distinctions were required for men, regardless of their marital status?) I'm surprised that you, Abby, of all people, would favor perpetuating such a false and unkind distinction.

If a woman feels that "Mrs." plus her husband's full name confers on her a needed aura of respectability, I will certainly honor her choice. But in whatever state I may find myself, married or widowed, I remain...

MRS. BARBARA MCGRAW

DEAR MRS. BARBARA MCGRAW: Some married women (myself included) prefer to call themselves "Mrs. John Doe." And according to my mail, most widows want to be known as "Mrs. John Doe," even though their "Doe" is gone.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 10-year-old girl who was appointed by my teacher to be a bathroom monitor. I didn't ask for the job, she just appointed me. I'm supposed to report anything the girls do in the bathroom that is against the rules, such as starting fights, smoking, wasting supplies, writing on walls and stuff like that.

One day some girls turned up the heat when they knew they weren't supposed to, so I reported them and they got into trouble, and now they are mad at me and calling me a snitch.

How can I do my job as a monitor without losing friends?

A MONITOR CALLED "SNITCH"

DEAR MONITOR: When a girl is about to do something that's against the rules, warn her. And if she goes ahead and does it, report her. Your teacher should explain that there is a good reason for every rule. Smoking can cause fires. Damaging property and wasting supplies cost your parents—as taxpayers—extra money.

Maybe when the kids understand this, they will realize that you are performing a necessary duty, and rather than criticize you, they will cooperate.

(Every teen-ager should know the truth about drugs, sex and how to be happy. For Abby's booklet, send $2 and a long, stamped (37 cents), self-addressed envelope to: Abby, Teen Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.)

Home celebrates 75 years

The Knights of Pythias are to celebrate 75 years of service to homeless children with a "Diamond Jubilee" March 10 at the Texas Pythian Home in Weatherford.

The Texas Pythian Home is a long standing project of the Knights of Pythias providing a home for homeless children for 75 years.

The Diamond Jubilee will include a parade, an open house, a catered barbecue lunch, induction of new members and a fireworks display. The schedule for the day begins at 10 a.m. with the parade through downtown Weatherford. The barbecue (by reservation only) begins at 11 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. Tickets are $4 per person. Initiation of new members and the open house begins at 1 p.m. concluding with a presentation of special guest and programs at 4 p.m. and the fireworks display at 5 p.m.

For details or meal reservations, call the Texas Pythian Home at (817) 594-4465.

Local students are featured in Texas history poetry book

A 20-page booklet of selected poetry titled "Texas History - Heroes" is now on sale at Pampa Middle School, Pampa High School, White Deer School and The Gift Box. The publications, sponsored by the Pampa Fine Arts Association, sells for $1. Student poems were submitted by Pampa and White Deer middle school teachers.

Ray Garcia, Mark Williams, Ethan Hutchinson and Kevin Keith, Pampa High School art students drew the illustrations included in the publication. Keith drew the Alamo design for the front cover.

This is the second volume of student poetry sponsored by the Pampa Fine Arts Association. The first volume of Haiku poetry was published in 1982 and included poetry from grades 1-12.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Normally, when shopping, price is the dominant factor. However, today weigh quality above cost. Let the worth of the merchandise take precedence.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Persons who were not in accord with your ideas yesterday may be more compliant today, yet they still might not back you 100 percent.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You might be involved with someone today who displeased you in the past. Unless you let bygones be bygones, events may repeat themselves.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Circumstances may force you to socialize with someone today you'd rather not acknowledge. However, if it pleases your mate, bite the bullet and do so.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your efforts on behalf of others are likely to be more successful today than things you do to further your own ambitions. Put others first.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If one-to-one relationships are handled skillfully today, mutual benefits will result. Selfishness by either party introduces drawbacks for both.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Joint involvements could tug at your purse strings today. Some sacrifices may be required, but don't extend yourself beyond your means.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You might line yourself up against one today who constantly demands your objectives. Convert him with kindness, rather than imitating his tactics.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Be helpful to those who require your assistance today, but don't allow yourself to be jockeyed into a position where their duties become yours.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Don't let making a point in a debate with a pal today jeopardize your friendship. An understanding can be reached without compromising your standards.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You should be adequately compensated for your efforts today materially, but not in praise from others. You'll be disappointed if you expect both.

Second-ranked Houston falls

Razorbacks slay another giant

By The Associated Press
Arkansas knocked off second-ranked Houston on Sunday, 73-68, ending Houston's 39-game win streak and spoiling the Cougars' shot at an unbeaten league record for a second year in a row.
Houston wrapped up the conference championship with a 64-61 win over the Razorbacks a week ago.
Southern Methodist clinched third place and a tournament bye with an 86-78 win over Texas Tech on Saturday. Texas Christian landed in seventh place in the final league standings with 78-70 victory over Texas, in eighth. Rice, in sixth place, defeated cellar-dwelling Baylor 56-41 in their regular season finale.
Houston coach Guy Lewis could only be philosophical after Sunday's defeat at the hands of 12th-ranked Arkansas.
"Well, so much for streaks, huh?" Lewis said.
Lewis said Alvin Robertson, who had nine assists, was the difference in the way Arkansas handled Houston's defense.
"We've been beaten before," Lewis said. "We know how to come back and how to practice after defeat."

The Cougars are 26-3 and 15-1 in the SWC. Arkansas finished 24-5 and 14-2 in the SWC.
"It was great to beat Houston. I'm happy for our team, particularly our seniors who can say they went unbeaten at home and beat the number one and two teams in the country in their state," said Arkansas Coach Eddie Sutton.
Arkansas center Joe Kleine made 10 straight free throws, five during a 7-0 spurt that put Arkansas up 51-45. Houston got to within 53-51 on a rebound basket by Greg Anderson with 9:53 left, but the Cougars, who made 14 of their first 15 shots, did not score again for 5 minutes and 10 seconds.
The Cougars got to within 69-66 on two Alvin Franklin free throws with 26 seconds left, but Ricky Norton made two free throws four seconds later to wrap up the victory.
Michael Young led the Cougars with 22, and Alvin Franklin had 21.
Klein finished with 22 points, Balentine had 16 and Norton 14.
Larry Davis powered in 27 points and Jon Koncak added 17 for SMU in Saturday's contest, married by angry exchanges between coaches and players.

Tech Coach Gerald Meyers was ejected from the game after he charged onto the floor to argue with a referee and drew three technical fouls for his effort.
The third place finish for SMU gives the Mustangs a bye in the first round of the post season tournament. Tech, which finished in fourth place, will host last-place Baylor in a first-round game Tuesday night.
SMU finished the season 24-6 and 12-4 in the SWC. Tech finished 16-11 and 10-6 in the SWC.
Carven Holcombe matched his career high with 31 points in Texas Christian's win over Texas.
TCU raised its record to 11-16 overall and 4-12 in the SWC. Eighth-placed Texas finished 7-20 overall and 3-13 in the SWC.
TCU will play Rice in Houston Tuesday night in the first round of the SWC tournament. Texas will play fifth-place Texas A&M in College Station.
Tyrone Washington scored seven of his team-leading 11 points in the final seven minutes to spark Rice's victory over Baylor.
Rice improved its conference record to 6-10 and overall record to 11-16.
Baylor finished the regular season at 1-15 in conference and 5-22 overall.

Young may get $40 million pact

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Express of the United States Football League is expected to announce the signing of Brigham Young's All-American quarterback Steve Young to a contract reportedly worth $40 million.
The team would neither confirm nor deny the signing, other than to say it had a major announcement to make today.
"It's one of the most significant sports announcements in Los Angeles in recent years," said Bob Rose, the Express' director of public relations. "That's all I can say at this time."
Young told The Associated Press on Saturday that the money offered by the Express was "staggering," and would most likely make him the highest-paid athlete in professional sports.

The contract reportedly would be worth $6 million over four years, with another $36 million deferred for the next 40 years.
The Los Angeles Times reported today that Young's deal with the Express was completed after halftime of Sunday's game against the Birmingham Stallions. The Express, 0-2 this season, lost 21-14 to the expansion Stallions.
Young, a left-hander, led the nation in total offense last season with 4,346 yards.

Long wait over for Reese, Ferrell

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — The long wait is over for Pee Wee Reese and Rick Ferrell.
Reese, a shortstop with the Dodgers in Brooklyn and Los Angeles from 1940-58, and Ferrell, a catcher who caught 1,805 games for the St. Louis Browns, Boston Red Sox and Washington Senators from 1929-47, were named Sunday to the Baseball Hall of Fame.
Their selections came during a meeting of the Veterans Committee, an 18-member panel that each year considers old-timer candidates in three categories — former major league players, former Negro League players and ex-managers, executives and umpires.

"You're sure? You're not kidding? It's true?" Reese asked a reporter who brought him the news. "I'm flattered and very proud."
"I'm delighted. I had hoped it might happen someday, but I didn't know when," Ferrell said by telephone from nearby Clearwater. "It's a great honor."
Results of the balloting weren't released, but election required 75 percent approval from the 17 committee members present Sunday.
Reese and Ferrell will be inducted to the baseball shrine in Cooperstown, N.Y.,

Aug. 12 along with slugger Harmon Killebrew, shortstop Luis Aparicio and pitcher Don Drysdale, elected by the Baseball Writers Association of America in January.
The Veterans Committee considered 30 candidates Sunday, including ex-New York Yankee shortstop Phil Rizzuto, whom many believed stood an excellent chance for selection.
Asked if Rizzuto received much support, Ed Stack, the Hall of Fame president, said: "He was among the 30 nominated, but Pee Wee and Rick were the only ones who received the required 75 percent."

Reese was captain and leader of a club that won six National League pennants from 1947-56. He finished with a career batting average of .269 in 16 seasons.
The 65-year-old native of Ekron, Ky., hit 126 home runs, drove in 885 runs and led National League shortstops in double plays in 1942 and 1948. He led the league in putouts four times and shares the World Series record of seven double plays by a shortstop in a seven-game series.
Ferrell, 78, is now a consultant with the Detroit Tigers.

Texas' two USFL teams in first meeting tonight

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The Houston Gamblers and the San Antonio Gunslingers each will be depending on a rookie quarterback when the state's two United States Football League clubs meet tonight.
Gamblers quarterback Jim Kelly passed up the National Football League for a $4.5 million contract with Houston, after sitting out his senior year at Miami with a shoulder injury.
San Antonio's signal-caller, Rick Neuheisel of UCLA, wasn't a big-name college quarterback, but bolstered his reputation with a four-touchdown performance in the Rose Bowl.

USFL results Page 10

"Kelly is a real fine quarterback," said Gunslingers head coach Gil Steinke. "He does a real good job of throwing the ball."
But Steinke also expressed "great confidence" in the poised Neuheisel, who completed 16 of 26 passes for 174 yards in last week's 13-10 loss to the New Orleans Breakers.

Kelly had a good day in Houston's 20-17 losing cause against Tampa Bay, hitting 24 of his 41 passes for 299 yards and two touchdowns. He threw two interceptions, though.
Steinke says he knows his offensive line will have to do a better job of shielding Neuheisel from the Gamblers' defense, which includes former Texas A&I linebackers Mike and Andy Hawkins.
The Breakers sacked Neuheisel five times last week, and pressured him into throwing some bad passes.
Kelly never was sacked, though he had to scramble a few times.
The Gunslingers have countered by signing defensive end Greg Fields, who led the USFL's Los Angeles Express in sacks last year.
ESPN plans to televise tonight's game nationally, beginning with the 7:10 p.m. CST kickoff.

Boys team gets tourney berth

Nazareth goes for double state title

AUSTIN (AP) — Now that his Swiftettes, surprising no one, have won the state Class A girls basketball title, Nazareth Coach Joe Lombard is ready for the challenging part of his season.
He'll be back here Thursday with the Swifties — the boys team — as Lombard tries for an unprecedented double state title. He coaches both teams, and did this past weekend as the girls won a state title and the boys won their region.
"I'm in the gym all day long," said Lombard, who wore his lucky blue tuxedo in Saturday's 64-32 rout of Petty West Lamar in the girls title game.
Ramona Heiman poured in 28 points as the Swiftettes won their seventh state title in eight years. The win capped a 35-0 season that was impressive even by Nazareth standards. The year included wins over top-ranked teams from bigger schools.
The Swiftettes won twice (50-39 and 59-22) over Hale Center, a Class 2A finalist. Nazareth destroyed Abernathy, the Class 3A champion, 62-38 and 51-37.

Levelland, a Class 4A finalist, fell to Nazareth 39-36. Levelland has 913 students, Nazareth has 93.
Lombard's weekend started with the girls semifinal win on Thursday. Friday night, he was in Levelland to coach the boys to a win in regional play. Saturday morning the Swiftettes won the title game here, while an assistant coached the boys to a regional semifinal win.
Lombard was back in Levelland Saturday night for a 52-46 boys win over Anton, sending the Swifties to Austin and giving the double coach a chance for a double title.
While Saturday was the end of half of Lombard's dream, it was the fulfillment of Longview Coach Tommy Aldridge's hopes. His Lady Lobos, winners of 97 of their last 99 games, finally got the state championship that every dynasty deserves.
Longview blasted defending 5A champ Houston Yates 72-52 in the Class 5A title game.
"We wanted it for our city," said Aldridge. "It's better for a community than for a coach."
Longview's last state title was a football crown in 1937.

In the last five minutes of the second quarter Longview, paced by Angela Lawson, guaranteed an end to the title drought by running off a 17-4 streak. The win was revenge for last year's 78-77 Longview loss to Yates in the state semifinals.
"They didn't have Monica Lamb and that hurt them," said Lawson, referring to the 6-5 girl who gave Yates the state title last year. Lamb now plays for the University of Houston.
The 5-8 Lawson, who's headed for Louisiana Tech, had 24 points and seven rebounds. Cassie Brooks, a 5-10 junior, added 22 points and 11 rebounds. Donna Roper led Yates with 18.
After watching his Lady Lions stifled by Longview's relentless full-court, full-game press, Yates Coach Maurice McGowan said, "They have a great team. They're one of the greatest teams that I've ever seen."
In other title games Saturday, Pollok Central beat Hale Center 37-36 in 2A. Abernathy beat Groesbeck 67-37 in 3A, and Waco Richfield beat Levelland 56-43 in 4A.

NUMB ARMS, LEGS Danger Signals

There may be misalignment of vertebrae in the spine causing pressure on nerves, yet the patient experiences no pain in the back. Instead, a variety of sensations may be felt in other parts of the body. These include tingling, lightness, hot spots, cold spots, crawling sensations, electric shock sensations, stinging, burning, and others. Here are nine critical symptoms involving back pain or strange sensations which are usually the forerunners of more serious conditions. Any one of these usually spells back trouble.

- 1) Parenthesis (see above)
- 2) Headaches
- 3) Painful joints
- 4) Numbness in the arms or hands
- 5) Loss of sleep
- 6) Stiffness in the neck
- 7) Pain between the shoulders
- 8) Stiffness of pain in lower back
- 9) Numbness or pain in the legs.

These signals indicate that your body is being robbed of normal nerve function. Until this function is restored, you will, in some degree, be incapacitated. The longer you wait to seek help, the worse the condition will become. Don't wait! Should you experience any of these danger signals... call for in-Depth consultation in Layman's terms.

USFL draws major league crowds

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

The United States Football League is attracting some major-league crowds this season but there may not be enough football fans in the world to pay the freight for the out-of-this-world contracts Marcus Dupree has signed and Steve Young may sign.

On the heels of last week's throng of 62,300 in Birmingham which saw the New Jersey Generals defeat the Stallions, some 73,227 turned out Sunday in the Gator Bowl to again watch the Generals knock off the hometown favorites, this time nipping the Jacksonville Bulls 28-26.

But the weekend's biggest news for the 2-year-old league came when the New Orleans Breakers signed Dupree, the former Oklahoma star, to a five-year, $6-million contract.

"It's a big burden off my shoulders because there's been a lot of pressure on me from even before I left Oklahoma," said Dupree, who quit Oklahoma last October, switched to Southern Mississippi, then left that school with two years of eligibility remaining.

It may take awhile before Dupree is in top form, but he says he's in no hurry. And despite a knee injury in Sunday's 13-0 victory over the Oakland Invaders that could sideline running back Richard Crump for the rest of the season, the Breakers say they won't put any pressure on Dupree to start earning his money.

"Dupree will play next week anyway, as was our original plan," said Coach Dick Coury. "We'll bring him along carefully and not push him too soon."

And shortly after their 21-14 loss to Birmingham, the Los Angeles Express announced a major news conference for today at which they are expected to announce the signing of Brigham Young quarterback Steve Young for what may be the most lucrative sports contract ever.

Young told the Associated Press on Saturday that the Express' offer was "staggering" and would most likely make him the highest-paid athlete in professional sports. It was reported to be worth an estimated $6 million over four years and an addition $36 million in payment deferred for the next 40 years.

In other Sunday games, the Philadelphia Stars trimmed the Washington Federals 17-6 and the Memphis Showboats downed the Chicago Blitz 23-13. Friday night, Tampa Bay defeated Arizona 20-17, while on Saturday, Denver nipped Oklahoma 17-14 in overtime and Michigan shaded Pittsburgh 27-24. Houston visits San Antonio tonight.

New Jersey's Herschel Walker rushed for only 72 yards in 21 carries but scored twice from the 1-yard line against Jacksonville. However, the victory wasn't secure until the Bulls' Danny Miller, who kicked field goals of 20 and 36 yards, barely missed on a 41-yard attempt with 40 seconds left.

Jacksonville's Matt Robinson passed for 329 yards but was intercepted three times. Bob Leopold returned one 16 yards for a touchdown and Jim LeClair picked off another one on the Bulls' 22. Four plays later, quarterback Gene Bradley, playing in place of the injured Brian Sipe, ran over from the five with 3:26 left in the game to give the Generals a 28-19 lead.

Miller said his last-minute field goal "really looked like it might have been over the upright. I heard the (TV) replay said it was in by two feet or something. The wind was swirling in there. Ordinarily the ball floats for me, and it went a little bit to the right."

Breakers 13, Invaders 0

In Oakland, a crowd of 34,300 saw the sloppy home opener of the Invaders, the USFL's 1983 Pacific Division champions, who played almost as badly as they did in a 35-7 loss at Arizona last week. There were 6,900 no-shows despite perfect weather.

Crump bolted over from the one-yard line after leading an 80-yard drive at the start of the second period to give New Orleans a 10-0 lead. He ran four times for 22 yards and caught two passes from Johnnie Walton for 15 yards in the drive, which was aided by 24 yards of penalties against Oakland. Tim Mazzetti kicked field goals of 23 and 31 yards for the Breakers.

"We were embarrassed and humiliated by today's performance," said Oakland Coach John Raiston.

Stallions 21, Express 14

At Los Angeles, before a crowd of 14,789, Joe Cribbs rushed 12 times for 83 yards, including a decisive 18-yard touchdown dash early in the fourth quarter. Birmingham broke a 7-7 tie with 10:35 left in the third quarter when quarterback Cliff Stoudt scored from a yard out to complete a six-play, 87-yard march. Cribbs' touchdown 13 seconds into the final quarter made it 21-7.

Stars 17, Federals 6

At Washington, Chuck Fusina passed for 221 yards and one touchdown and Kelvin Bryant rushed 25 times for 104 yards and another score as Philadelphia spoiled the coaching debut of Dick Bielski, who replaced Ray Juch at the Federals' helm last week. With 12:07 looking on, Fusina completed 17 of 31 passes, including a 38-yard scoring strike to Willie Collier in the fourth quarter.

Washington running back Craig James suffered ligament damage to his right knee and team officials said he will be out for approximately six weeks.

Showboats 23, Blitz 13

Rookie Walter Lewis threw for three touchdowns in the rain and mud to give the expansion Showboats their first USFL triumph before only 10,152 fans at Liberty Bowl Memorial Stadium. Memphis' defense never allowed the Blitz to mount a serious threat until the game was out of reach in the fourth period. It wasn't until Vince Evans connected with Marcus Anderson on a 38-yard touchdown pass with 10:08 left that the Blitz got inside the Memphis 40.

Lewis completed nine of 18 passes for 142 yards, including scoring tosses of 16 yards to Terrell Middleton, seven yards to Alan Reid and 14 yards to Derrick Crawford.

Lietzke may be off on a streak

CORAL SPRINGS, Fla. (AP) — The record says Bruce Lietzke may be on a tear.

True, he's won only once in the last 18 months — a playoff decision over Andy Bean Sunday in the Honda Classic. And one win in a year and a half hardly constitutes a streak.

But look closer.

"Over the years, I'll often win two or three in a short period of time. Then I'll go an extended time without winning. Three times in my career, I've gone 18 months without winning."

"I've been called a streak player," Lietzke said after he'd tied Bean with a lucky bounce that set up a 72nd hole birdie, then beat the big man with a routine, 2-putt par on the first hole of sudden death.

"I hope that in the next 8 or 10 months you see my name right up there among the leaders fairly often," said Lietzke. "I think you will. I say that just because that's the way my career has gone."

There's another factor.

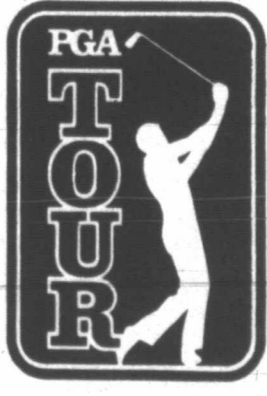

"This is early in the year for me. I'm enthusiastic about playing right now," said Lietzke, adding that he plans a reduced playing schedule to combat what he called "burn-out."

"I'm looking forward to a good year. There are a lot of important tournaments coming up," said Lietzke, who won his 10th career title and a winner's share of $90,000 from the total purse of $500,000.

With Bean leading by from one to three strokes most of the day, Lietzke never really got close until the 16th hole.

"Standing on the 16th tee, I thought I was out of the tournament," he said. But he holed a monster putt of perhaps 60 feet in length, pulled to within one, parred the 17th and went to the 18th needing a birdie to tie and force a playoff.

J.C. Snead missed the playoff by a single shot at 70-281, his best finish in more than a year. He was followed by Mark McCumber, who rallied for a 72-280, and rookie Joey Sindelar, 70-283.

Race driver killed

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — Race car driver Mike Mosley, a veteran of 15 Indianapolis 500 races, was killed when his van rolled down an embankment off a remote desert road and caught fire during the weekend, authorities said.

Mosley's teen-age son, Michael, was in the van but escaped with only bruises and was recovering at the family's home in Fallbrook, according to a family friend, Debbie Driscoll.

Mosley, 37, apparently lost control of the vehicle about 7 p.m. Saturday on Highway 79 near Aguanga, in Riverside County about 75 miles southeast of Los Angeles, the California Highway Patrol said.

Driscoll said Mosley and his son were returning from an outing in the Borrego desert with their three-wheel recreational vehicles when the accident occurred near the San Diego County line.

Mosley's best finish in the Indy 500 since he began competing in 1968 as third place in 1979.

The native of Oklahoma City won his first major Indy car race, the Trenton 200, in April 1971. In 1970, the United States Auto Club named him most improved driver for finishing fourth in the year's point standings.
