

Locked Controls Are Given as Probable Cause of Air Crash

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Board said today that locked controls probably caused the crash of a United Airlines plane at New York May 29 in which 43 persons were killed.

In a report on its investigation, the CAB said that apparently the pilot was on preventing the plane from moving the controls. The pilot lock is a device actuated by a handle in the cockpit which permits the pilot to lock the control surface, the rudder, elevators and ailerons, in neutral position.

They are ordinarily locked to keep them from being buffeted by winds while the plane is sitting on the ground.

The CAB said it had found no evidence of mechanical failure or malfunction of the aircraft or any of its components.

The report noted that corrective action had been taken with respect to all of the errors associated with the crash, including those which might have affected the take off but were not believed to have contributed to the accident.

The report criticized the Civil Aeronautics Administration for what it said was lack of supervision of the proper loading of the plane, as well as the air line itself for allowing what CAB said was a higher take-off weight than should have been permitted under the circumstances—that is on a runway as short as No. 18 at LaGuardia Field.

Discussing the corrective action taken, the CAB said it had amended the civil air regulations to require that the gradient or slope of a runway, however small, be considered in determining weight limitations for the runway. It said this had not been calculated on runway 18.

Since the accident, the Board also has issued a rule requiring that takeoff weight limitations be adjusted according to temperature variations. Warm air provides less lift than cold air, so that take-off weights must be reduced as the temperature rises.

The Board set aside an earlier assumption after the accident that a sudden shift of wind occurred during the takeoff roll. It said evidence is that the wind shift occurred four minutes after the crash.

It also dismissed overloading as a probable factor in the accident, although saying "the airplane should not have been loaded" to the weight that it was for No. 18 runway.

The Board said the pilot, Captain

Benton Baldwin, who survived the crash with minor injuries, testified he failed to refer to a table of allowable weights for the runway.

The Board said that the gust lock control in several of United DC-3 type aircraft had been modified to allow the locking handle to remain on without being held either by the gust lock warning tape or by a locking pin attached to the tape.

Under the circumstances, it said, the gust lock could have remained on without the pilot having the usual warning from the tape.

It concluded:

"The Board determines that the probable cause of this accident was the inability of the pilot to actuate the controls due to the gust lock being on, resulting in the pilot's decision to discontinue the take off at a point too far down the runway to permit stopping within the airport boundaries."

Prospect of the storm sweeping into the Gulf of Mexico caused hurried evacuation of Army air fields, and MacDill Field sent its B-29's to Chanute and Scott Fields in the middle west. Smaller planes at Pensacola, Mobile and other exposed points were ordered inland.

An estimated 10,000 persons streamed in a dismal procession through Sebring, Fla., in heading flight from Lake Okeechobee lowlands, where 1,500 persons drowned in 1928. Texas merry-go-round—Little Ben is a beloved Beaumont landmark, but the clock atop the San Jacinto building has the coffee clique all upset.

The usually reliable old clock isn't keeping correct time. "It's just a fraction off-center," says Superintendent Marvin Pugh. Little Ben works best on the downhill pull, from 12 to 6. But it has a struggle climbing back from 6 to 12, and that's what's causing the trouble.

Mr. Pugh says it's off center, but admits he doesn't know which way. However, they're working on it, and in the meantime, Beaumont has learned that when the little hand points to four, and the big hand to nine, that means it's half past eight.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Jacobs of Corsicana were vacationing in Yellowstone Park. Mr. Jacobs, city attorney, decided it would be nice to have a picture of his wife and a bear. The plot he had in mind was something like wife likes bear, bear likes wife, wife pets bear.

But the bear wouldn't play. In fact, he grabbed Mrs. Jacobs by the leg, tossed her to the ground, and the sequence that followed didn't exactly fit Mr. Jacobs' script. The animal ripped her boots, tore her slacks, and trussed her.

The Jacobs left for Lake Louise in Canada to take some more pictures. The Dallas State Fair is pondering a difficult problem: One of the features it offers is an old fiddler's contest. Gerald Wise entered. Gerald is 15.

How young, officials want to know, can an old fiddler be?

Douglas R. Jackson of Dallas, deemed to be homeless in a week, decided to solve the situation by building a home—in one week.

He called a contractor friend, Trig Bell. On Monday, they poured the concrete foundation. Work progressed enthusiastically—so enthusiastically that carpenters, in their hurry, sealed a plumber under the kitchen floor.

The work was completed in the allotted time, but they had to get another plumber. The one they sealed up, and had to rescue by ripping up the floor, quit cold.

"You fellows are in too damn big a hurry for me," he said.

Bell says he believes this was the fastest dwelling construction job ever completed under FHA specifications in Dallas.

Championship Automobile Races To Be Held at Arlington Downs

ARLINGTON Tex. (AP)—The $3,000,000 Arlington Downs racing plant, built for horse racing but idle since 1937 when pari-mutuel betting was outlawed in Texas, will reverberate the cheers of the crowd again come Oct. 26.

This time however, the fans will be watching automobiles and not horses whirl around the racing strip.

Leasing of the plant by Racing International of Dallas, operated by Babe Stapp of Los Angeles and Fred H. Lockwood of Dallas, was announced today.

The two partners said the date of Sunday, Oct. 26, already had been sanctioned by the American Automobile Association for a 100-mile championship race that would bring top drivers and big racing cars from over the nation and would officially decide the 1947 United States Automobile Racing Championship.

The lease agreement was negotiated with Guy L. Waggoner and E. Paul Waggoner, wealthy Vernon, Texas, cattlemen who operated the Downs as a horse racing plant when it was known as the "Saratoga of the Southwest."

Racing International has rented the property for two years.

The new operators of the Downs said more than $75,000 would be expended in improvements to the track buildings and other physical properties before the Oct. 26 race.

The announcement was made at a press gathering in Dallas attended by the principals and their representatives, officials of the AAA contest board, and additionally by Wilbur Shaw, only three-time winner of that city's 300-mile speed class and now president of the Indianapolis Speedway Corporation.

Shaw assured the gathering that the Oct. 26 race would be run entirely with Indianapolis cars and drivers, including Ted Horn, defending National champion, and Bill Holland who now are in a tie for the 1947 National title.

Stapp, a Los Angeles business man and himself formerly well known as an Indianapolis driver in the West Coast representative of the AAA contest board, Lockwood has been an advertising and public relations executive for several industrial concerns.

The new operators of the Downs said two, and possibly three, large-scale automobile races would be held annually which brings this type of official-sanctioned automobile racing south of Indianapolis for the first time. Other tracks in the AAA circuit are in Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania and New York. AAA headquarters of the contest board are in Washington, D. C.

Stapp and Lockwood said the track would be made into a measured mile oval for the championship race.

Arlington Downs was conceived and inaugurated more than 15 years ago by the late W. T. Waggoner of Fort Worth and Vernon. It opened for business as a horse racing track in 1933 with legalization of pari-mutuel betting in Texas and for more than three years flourished as one of the nation's outstanding horse racing plants.

Mexico has an area of 758,000 square miles.

Cobb Erases Own Mark to Set New Speed Record

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah.—(AP)—A determined Englishman—John Cobb—gave the world proof today that man can travel more than 400 miles an hour in an automobile.

The pleasant London fur broker, bedeviled for a month by bad weather or mechanical bugs, streaked through a measure of 100 miles, 403.135 mph in setting new world records for that distance and the kilometer.

On what he called "the roughest ride I have yet had" the old marks he set here in 1939 and posted these new ones as dusk gathered last evening.

Measured mile—394.796 (old record, 363.87) — 393.825 (previous mark, 369.7).

To claim records, Cobb was required to drive both south and north on the 14-mile straightaway on this old lake bed. It was on the return northward trip that he exceeded 400 mph, the fastest man ever traveled on land.

Happily as he was over his feat, the Briton decided against making a record in preparation for their forthcoming battle with the Sweetwater Mustangs of District 3AA, at Harvester Park Friday night.

Coached by Pat Gerald, Ken Newton and Mel Greig, the Mustangs will come to Pampa with an almost certainly new team that downed the Harvester in Sweetwater last year, 19 to 0. Head coach Gerald stated that he lost 30 of the 36 boys that were on his last year's team.

Last year the Mustangs had an impressive year. They won eight, lost one, and tied one game. They lost to last year's state champions, Odessa, and tied Wichita Falls. Friday night's game will be the season's opener for Sweetwater.

The Green and Gold are expected to outweigh the Mustangs 100 pounds per man, come Friday night's game. The Harvester's will average 170 pounds per man, and from Coach Gerald's reports the Mustangs will average 160 pounds.

The entire starting Mustang backfield will be returning lettermen from last year's team. In the signal calling spot will be Robert Dulaney, 155 pounds; Rusty Allen, 165 pounds; and Baxter Lambert, 165 pounds, the halfbacks, and Sweete Holliday, 160 pound fullback.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK.—Sol Strauss, whose one-way hearing aid (it admits only what Sol wants to hear) and self-reversing contracts are becoming almost as famous as his "Jacob's chins" choppers, was almost gleeful when he was able to announce a title fight between Joe Louis and Jersey Joe Walcott—Sol, known generally either as Mike's stand-in or the "in-laws" and formally as acting director of the 20th Century Sporting Club, evidently had been feeling the criticism levelled at the fights that have emptied the garden this summer.

A heavyweight title fight certainly will fill the arena—and at least Louis-Walcott is better than that affair they're planning in Los Angeles between Arturo Godoy and Turkey Thompson—"This is my pride of this," Strauss chuckled. "It took a lot of work—and what's more, in another week or so I'll announce a lightweight title bout for January and after that another championship—That's three title fights—Mike might not get three at a clip, but at least he would have staged the Louis signing like a Hollywood super-colossal.

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE

Paul Krichel, Yankee scout, and Charlie McManus, stadium superintendent, must have some sort of a record. They've been with every Yankee pennant-winner since 1921—and Coach Chuck Dresser has been with pennant-winners on all three New York clubs—the 1933 Ginals as a player, the 1941 Dodgers, and the 1947 Yankees as a coach—Although the Sonny Fraser Golf Tournament at Atlantic City, N. J., conflicts with the big Shawnee-od Delaware event, a lot of first-rate pay tribute to Sonny—Los Angeles reports that eight footballers from Naperville, Ill. have turned up at Ventura, Calif., Junior College. Wonder how Naperville ever heard amateurs will pass up Shawnee to of Ventura—or vice versa?

Sox Down Hubbers in Series Opener, 7 to 0

(By The Associated Press)

The Amarillo Gold Sox licked Lubbock's Hubbers 7-0 last night in the opening game of the Shaughnessy play-off finals in the West Texas-New Mexico League as Lefty Bill Lonergan hurled a four-hit masterpiece.

A crowd of 5,900 saw Lonergan register his second shutout of the year over the season leaders, and he never was in trouble as he handcuffed the Hubber batters while his mates stretched eight hits into triumph.

Paul Hinrichs, who was relieved in the eighth by Royce Mills with two outs, was tabbed with the loss. The Sox got to Hinrichs for seven hits. The only blow off Mills was a homer with one on in the ninth by Joe Bauman.

The clubs play at Lubbock again tonight.

Woman Retires As Football Coach

SAN ANTONIO.—(AP)—Mrs. Joe Ward, football coach at Woodlawn Hills Elementary School, in addition to her duties as principal and eighth grade teacher, today announced her retirement from the game after seven years.

The population of New Zealand, 1,641,000, is just about equal that of Detroit, Mich.

Brooklyn holds the edge on every club in the league with the exception of the Cards.

They wound up their season's work with the Reds yesterday by taking over the third game of the series 7-3 to sweep the three game set. The win, coupled with the Giants 7-2 win over the Cards, increased Brooklyn's first place margin over St. Louis to eight and a half games. The Dodgers won their pennant with four victories in their remaining 10 games. Four St. Louis defeats also would do the trick.

Ralph Branca, ace of the Dodgers' pitching staff, registered his 21st victory of the year and tied Cincinnati's Ewell Blackwell for the most victories in the majors.

The Giants clipped the Redbirds' wings for the third straight time to make their season's record over the Cardinals 12 wins and nine losses. The Giants, by the way, won only seven and lost 13 to the Dodgers.

In the other National League game, Blix Donnelly outpitched Mel Queen to give the Philadelphia Phillies a 2-1 victory over the Pirates in Pittsburgh. The win moved the Phils out of the cellar while the Bucs dropped in.

Having already clinched the American League pennant, Manager Eucly Harris gave most of his Yankee regulars a well deserved rest in their double header with the last place St. Louis Browns. With only Tommy Henrich and Phil Rizzuto of the first stringers in the starting lineup, the Yanks whipped the Browns in the opener 8-3. With most of the regulars, including Joe DiMaggio back in the second game, the Yanks bowed 8-2.

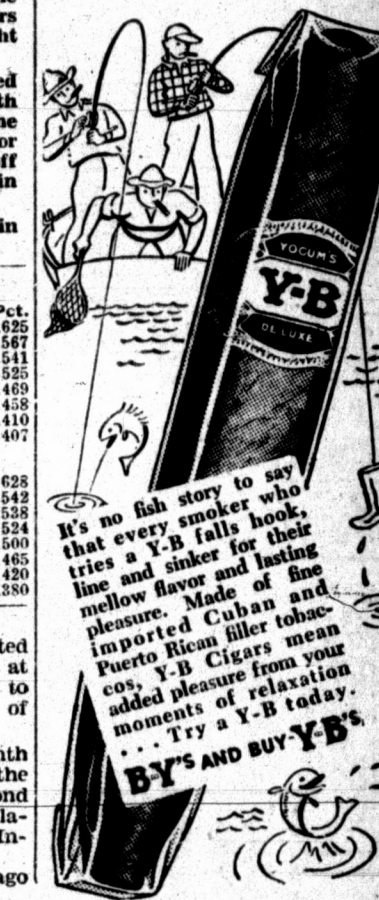

The Chicago White Sox, who eliminated the Boston Red Sox from the pennant race Monday, won their second game of the season at Fenway Park as they split a double header with Boston. After Dixie Galehouse shut out the White Sox 5-0 with a six-hitter in the opener, Chicago came back to win the

Kilgore Leads Lone Star Loop Playoffs

(By The Associated Press)

Kilgore held a one-up advantage today in the Lone Star League title play-off.

The Drillers beat Marshall 9-6 last night in the opener of the final series, blasting 14 hits and riding with the great relief pitching of Willis Channess.

Channess went in in the fifth and allowed only one hit the rest of the day. Joe Kracher paced the Kilgore hitting attack with four for four, driving in three runs.

The clubs play at Kilgore again tonight.

Gals Decline to Help U. S. Laugh

By ARMAND ARCHERD

HOLLYWOOD—(AP)—No one will deny that one of the things this country can use today is a few more laughs. Comedians are, striving valiantly to tickle the nation's funnybone. But what are the gals trying to do about the situation? Very little.

The weaker set hounded us for equal opportunities for a long time. Being soft-hearted, we said O.K. And before we knew it they became doctors, lawyers, writers, etc. But the number of aspiring comedienne today equals that of male mahjong players.

It seemed like a good idea to call up Fanny Brice. She invited me to be glamor-pusses and not Fanny Brices?" I asked.

She countered with, "would you want them to give up everything?" My mouth must have been hanging wide open, for she quickly added, "if a girl becomes a comedienne, she can kiss romance good bye. I had to laugh myself into my marriages."

Any girl with ambition to be funny, she continued, realizes her chances of happy married life fade as she becomes funnier. So, she puts her joke book in the attic and concentrates on a hope chest.

Net result: We've got to wait until the budding comedienne get over themselves married.

Mark Hellinger returned from New York convinced Hollywood is not as bad a place as our Eastern brothers would have us believe. His answer to those in the "Thay-Tuh" who berate Hollywood is "sour grapes."

"There are two groups," he explains, "who like to take a slap at Hollywood. First are those who have never been asked to come here. They, naturally, pan us. The second group is composed of those who were asked, came here, made a picture or two, didn't make the grade and were sent home. Sour grapes, that's all."

Forrestal Becomes The Nation's First Defense Secretary

WASHINGTON—James V. Forrestal today became the nation's first Secretary of Defense, a position of the Army, Navy and Air Forces.

The senior member of President Truman's cabinet relinquished his duties as Secretary of the Navy at noon and took the oath of his new office from Fred M. Vinson, Chief Justice of the United States, in a ceremony at the Navy Department.

The act making him head of the country's armed services set in motion a series of important changes in the defense establishment.

High-ranking civilian leaders attended the ceremony which was being broadcast on radio.

Ranking military officials, including Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Army Chief of Staff; Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, Chief of Naval Operations; and Gen. Carl Spaatz, commanding general of the Air Force.

Under the new defense set-up, Secretary of War Kenneth Royall will become Secretary of the Army, and John L. Sullivan, who has been serving as Navy under-secretary under Forrestal, will become Secretary of the Navy.

W. Stuart Symington, who has been undersecretary of the Army for Air, will become secretary of the new Air Force Department scheduled to be formed within 24 hours after Forrestal becomes Secretary of Defense.

The Army and Air Force headquarters already are located in the Pentagon where Forrestal will have his new offices. Whether the entire defense organization will be centralized there by moving top Navy officials from Constitution Avenue has not been decided finally.

The new organization also provides for civilians to fill posts on various boards and agencies for defense, and in many cases serving and collaborating with heads of the armed forces.

President Truman has filled all of the top civilian posts except that of chairmanship of the Research and Development Board, a position which will pay the holder $14,000 annually. Its importance has been stressed in the light of the world race for supremacy in weapons of war.

The board will include the civilian chairman and two representatives each from the Army, Navy and Air.

Request Ends in Death for Pilot

BOURNEMOUTH, Eng.—(AP)—A small boy selected from thousands of spectators at an RAF exhibition today radioed a request to a Spitfire pilot overhead to "do me a victory roll."

Light Lt. B. E. Green, a Canadian, rolled his fighter a few hundred feet off the beach and radioed back: "Sorry, sonny, it was not a very good one."

Green tried again. The Spitfire dived into the sea, and he was drowned.

 anxious to be favorably regarded by the outside world.

And why not, since she was trying to sell communism? We had evidence of that desire when Moscow eagerly sought and secured re-establishment of diplomatic relations with Washington in 1933 by promising to quit spreading red propaganda in the United States. On that basis President Roosevelt granted recognition.

Again, because of the fierce objection of many nations to the operations of the Comintern, or Third International, Moscow announced during the war that it had been abolished. Of course the work of the Comintern which was to act as general staff for the world revolution—has continued apace. But officially it is off the books as a concession to world opinion.

By the same token Moscow some

 "hostile and aggressive" acts against Greece, told how three Russian vetoes had blocked Security Council action to protect the country, then flung this sharp warning to the 55-nation U. N. Assembly:

"This assembly cannot stand by a mere spectator while a member of the United Nations is endangered by attacks from abroad. If the United Nations should fail to protect the integrity of one small state, the security of all small states would be placed in jeopardy."

Marshall laid before the assembly a seven-point action program, dramatically reversing American policy on the veto issue and demanding that the assembly set up its own full-time security committee to backstop the veto-ridden Security Council.

He announced that the United States now favors drastic "liberalization" of the veto by eliminating it entirely from all security council decisions on Pacific settlements of international disputes. The veto could then be used only on issues involving forceful action against aggressors.

He also called for immediate creation by the assembly of a Greek Eorder Commission—which Russia had vetoed in the Security Council; threw the Russian-American deadlock on Korea into the assembly; asked an assembly solution for Palestine; demanded that Russia come to terms on atomic energy control and called for vigorous planning of arms regulations.

Marshall's address evidently marked the opening of an American diplomatic offensive against Russia in the United Nations and stressed the new American policy that when Russia hamstrings the Security Council with veto votes the General Assembly must take over.

For that purpose he would have the assembly's proposed security committee in constant session, and would give it a membership of 55 members like the assembly itself.

Then with a plea to the great nations to use their power and privilege with restraint, Marshall warned grimly: "The United Nations will never endure if there is insistence on privilege to the point of frustration of the collective will."

 solution to the grave problems afflicting them."

The Mexican diplomat said if this should happen "the United Nations will forfeit its prestige and outside its framework certain programs of joint action will be outlined.

"And if the machinery of the United Nations blocks the world's efforts to survive," he added, "the needs of the world will in the end tear down the juridical structure of our organization.

"Should the great powers continue to cling to the veto right granted them by the Charter, then, it may be necessary to examine anew—in an atmosphere of complete peace, exempt from prejudices—the way to restrain in practice the exercise of such privilege.

"In fact, it is impossible to ignore any longer the outcry against the veto, a clamor that will become increasingly louder as events continue to demonstrate that its use does not constitute a bond of unity between the state, but that, on the contrary, serves to widen their differences. Far from averting dangers, the veto has paralyzed the regulating action of the Security Council."

He declared that if the United Nations is to succeed "we shall have to adopt a policy of international equality, and install reality into our freedoms, by abolishing formulae of exclusiveness."

Personal Study Of Europe to Be Made by Texan

WASHINGTON—(P)—Hope that a personal study of European conditions will enable him to vote more wisely on foreign relief and similar issues was expressed yesterday by Rep. Teague (D-Texas).

The Texan left last night for New York to sail Thursday on the Queen Elizabeth for England.

Although not a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, he will travel with a foreign affairs subcommittee headed by Rep. Bolton (R-Ohio).

After brief visits in London, Paris, and Rome, the committee will go to Greece to spend three weeks, then to Turkey for three additional weeks, Teague said.

"There are so many contradictory reports coming out of Europe that only by first hand studies such as contemplated by this Committee and that now underway by other groups can we hope to learn the truth," said Teague.

"And I have some doubt as to how much real information we will have when everyone gets back. Whatever we learn, however, I hope it will enable us to act with better judgment in the interest of the United States."

Teague said that he already has some definite views about continuing foreign relief, and added to a reporter:

"I certainly don't believe in continuing to ship our food and supplies over to countries while they are striking and otherwise failing to bring about their own recovery. We have had reports of strikes among farmers in Italy and among coal miners in England.

"As long as that situation prevails I don't believe in sending them further aid."

The congressman said he expected to return here in mid-November and then go to his Central Texas district for a while before Congress meets.

Two other Texas congressmen currently are in Europe studying conditions. They are Democratic Representatives Poage, member of a House Agriculture Subcommittee, and Mahon, member of a special committee studying the economic conditions generally.

In a letter just received by Mrs. Poage, the Congressman told his wife that his group was in Copenhagen, Denmark, last weekend.

He remarked that it was the most prosperous of all cities they had visited, and that the people there appeared happy and friendly.

High Demands for Texas Crude Oil Face Commission

AUSTIN—(P)—Continuing high demands for Texas crude oil confronted the Texas Railroad Commission as it met today to hear testimony before issuing its proration order for October.

The U. S. Bureau of Mines estimate of market demand for Texas crude in the coming month was 2,300,000 barrels daily, up from 2,900,000 estimated a month ago.

Purchasers' advance nominations seek 2,703,138 barrels daily, nearly 400,000 above actual Texas production for the week ending Sept. 13, when the figure stood at 2,333,750 barrels daily.

There were indications in a report from Chairman Ernest O. Thompson that still higher allowances will be sought in the months to come.

Said Thompson:

"The oil industry is planning to expand by spending three billion dollars in the United States during the next three or four years. This planned expansion includes new pipeline, new refining and additional marketing facilities.

"This program should bring the industry up to the point where it will be able to take care of the unprecedented and wholly unexpected increase in demand for oil products."

Thompson also called attention to a continuing decline in bottom-hole pressure in the East Texas field during August and said this indicated that "no increase can be granted in the East Texas field during October."

Pressure dropped 5 pounds in July, and the Commission cut producing days from 22 to 21 for September. A 3-pound drop was reported for August.

Battleship Texas Campaign Begins

HOUSTON—(P)—The campaign for funds to bring the retired battleship Texas to a permanent berthing place at the San Jacinto battlegrounds is officially open.

Governor Beauford H. Jester, Secretary for Defense James V. Forrestal and Texas-born screen star Linda Darnell took part in a radio program marking the opening of the campaign Monday night.

Jester spoke here where the program originated; Miss Darnell from Hollywood and Forrestal from Washington.

"This is a typical Texas project," commented Jester.

"It was conceived in Texas patriotism, born of Texas pride and will develop lustily from the spirit and response of Texans."

Secretary Forrestal traced the history of the Texas and termed the ship "a triumph of naval architecture and the pride of the fleet" when it was commissioned in 1914.

Lloyd Gregory, chairman of the State Commission appointed by Jester to organize the financing campaign, put its goal at $225,000.

"The cost of bringing home the Texas will be $225,000—$175,000 to bring her here from Norfolk, Virginia, and provide special berthing facilities. The remaining $50,000 will pay for one year's maintenance," he said.

"After a year, we feel certain that nominal profits from concessions and small admittance fees will provide for maintenance."

The Commission, created by the 1944 Legislature, is now working on a project of redrafting all tax laws of the state.

BATON ROUGE, LA.—(P)—The industrial development of Louisiana is being hindered by "the disproportionate aggregate of taxes as compared with our neighboring states," the Louisiana Revenue Code Commission said yesterday in an interim report on its work.

to the hemline controversy, we say

Go Your Own Sweet Way

THIS IS our viewpoint on a fashion season so debatable that even the men are talking about it! At Bentley's we believe what we have been saying right along is truer than ever: Sheep are out of fashion and the day of fashion herding is done. The new clothes are so varied, abundant and intriguing that you have the opportunity of a lifetime to dress to suit your own looks, likes and life.

TAKE THE much discussed hemline, for instance. We don't think for a second that well-dressed women will be hobbled on the streets of Pampa by suit skirts a mere foot from the ground. Actually (though skirts ARE generally longer) the hemline question isn't just one of more inches, at all. Skirt lengths will differ according to the occasion, fabric, silhouette and—most of all—You.

THE SILHOUETTE is not one but many. The hand-span waist is important but wrap-around coats and suite deny it. The voluminous skirt looks new but so does the straight and narrow, or the figure revealing sheath. It's all part of a new era in fashion, an emancipation from fashion dictatorship. In a season of such leeway, it's a good idea to choose your clothes at a store that recognizes that fashion decrees must be flexible. We advise you to go your own sweet way when you select from our collections, which are more than ever dedicated to you, the individual. Because at Bentley's

Central Baptist Women Hear Mrs. Webb Give Review

Women's Missionary Union of the Central Baptist Church met at the church last week to hear Mrs. J. F. Webb review John D. Freeman's book "The Country Church." The meeting opened with the hymn "Glory to His Name" followed with a prayer by Mrs. R. Q. Harvey. After group singing of the hymn "Bring Them In," Mrs. E. R. Gower led in prayer. The business session was conducted by Mrs. L. G. Lunsford. The women voted to sponsor a clothing drive for Boy's Ranch. The report of the nominating committee for the election of new officers named Mrs. Floyd Crow as president and Mrs. L. G. Lunsford as vice-president. Mrs. Lunsford was also named chairman of the Blanche Groves Circle. The closing prayer was given by Mrs. Emma Dunwoody. Eighteen women attended the meeting.

We, The Women

By RUTH MILLETT, NEA Staff Writer. Doctors say that men live longer and be happier if they had hobbies and small interests to fall back on in their later years of life. Women would see to it that their men have some interests outside of their families and their jobs. If they put their minds to it, B. U. I. instead, many of them are actually jealous of every minute a man spends on a hobby or outside recreation. Even among wives who offer no objections to a man's developing some extra-curricular interests, there are those who don't see the need for it, if the husband doesn't want it himself. If he seems happy enough with his job and family, they don't look far enough ahead to see that some day, perhaps, his job will demand less of his time and energy, or possibly his health will not permit his working a full schedule, and, in a few short years, his children will be living their own lives. HOBBIES COME EASILY It's a simple thing to interest a man in a hobby while he is still young. Sometimes it can be done by a well-thought-of gift, which is actually the necessary tools for a hobby. Of it may be accomplished by including among their friends men with a variety of interests, since hobbies are remarkably contagious. Or the wife can take up a hobby first. But getting a husband interested in something outside himself, his job and his home can be accomplished if a woman puts her mind to it.

Chain Letter Is Still Not Legal

Postmaster W. B. Weathered said yesterday that the Postoffice Department has received complaints that a new chain letter scheme is spreading through the country. This scheme, it is pointed out, differs from those previously encountered in that participants are warned not to forward the chain letter through the mails, but to keep the letter and send $2 to the person whose name heads the list of 10 appearing thereon. The Department was quoted as saying: "It appears that the originators of this scheme have the erroneous belief that by not sending the letter through the mails they will escape prosecution." As a matter of fact, it was stated, depositing any matter, including money, for transmission through the mails in furtherance of this chain letter scheme exposes persons to prosecution for lottery and fraud. Pampa Superintendent of Mails McDonald said he did not know of any such letters having been received here recently.

Developed Sense of Smell, Seeing Eye Dog, Cane Help Blind

DALLAS — (P) — A developed sense of smell, a seeing eye dog and a white cane combine to help a blind man walk with assurance through a world of darkness. Speaking yesterday before the Oak Cliff Civitan Club, Lloyd Sparkman, blind 18 years, said he could tell a drug store, cafe, clothing store or any kind of a store, by smell. Sparkman, executive director of the Lighthouse for the Blind here, introduced Hell, his seeing eye dog, who he said never forgets a place once she's been there. "But if she realizes I don't know where I am," he said, "she halts as if to say 'hey bud, it's up to you now.'" Under a Dallas city ordinance a person with a white cane, he said, is recognized as a blind person and is given right-of-way. A blind person, however, is not required to carry a white cane but having one is a big help. Some 500 sightless persons are benefitted through the Lighthouse for the Blind here, he said. Modern Cozy Nook in Bay Window

By NEA Service. Make a modern cozy nook out of that old-fashioned triple bay window by sprucing it up with double-decker curtains of inexpensive cotton print. If there's a window seat at the window, so much the better. This unit can be made into a real charmer if you'll cushion the seat with a slip-covered pad that echoes one bright color of your print curtains. With your double tiers of print overdrapes, use plain white or ecru glass curtains that admit light. For the purpose of shutting out the street view, if you dispense with shades, install at lower tier of windows either circular rods or double-draw-string pulleys for closing overdrapes. A valance hung across the top of windows in a print fabric matching overdrapes adds a professional touch to your decorating job.

DOCTOR WOODWARD'S AMBITION By Elizabeth Seibert

THIS STORY: Andrew goes to Chicago to stand out in the coming Directors' Meeting. When he discovers that Gregor is an extremely dynamic personality, however, he backs down, anxious to discourage him from even considering a position at the Fair.

DR. WOODWARD returned to the Fair in a fit of temper, a fact which his mother, his operating crew the next morning, and his classes, quickly discovered.

When he returned to his office after class, Miss Dyson gave him a memorandum asking him to get in touch with Malcolm Glenn. "What in the dickens does he want?" Andrew snapped.

"I'll have to come to my point quickly—Sandberg has a breach upstairs. I—" He paused, and moistened his lips. "I do not care for your attitude here in the hospital, Woodward. I'd like to know why you so constantly oppose me."

Andrew looked shocked. "Do I, sir? I had not realized—oh, a time or two upon a diagnosis, but—"

"I'm not referring to diagnostic disagreement—though there, too, you seem to take pleasure in disagreement. I am not questioning the integrity of your professional behavior. But there have been other things—the little matter of ger were guests in the Vester Cook home Sunday. Mrs. M. J. Wall and son of Texon are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Barr.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Gaston of White Deer visited in the C. C. Statz home Friday night.

I think we'll get straightened out in a matter of months and you'll find it's been a good investment.

Sir Wilfred Eady, head of British Mission to U. S. on modification of loan.

this Hospital, for your own sake, and to let new ideas and new blood come into the Fair. I am sure you have the Hospital's welfare at heart—in fact, I am sure the Fair is a passion with you, more than your wife or your children. And perhaps you do not realize—as one coming in fresh from the outside realizes—that the Fair is in a deep rut, both as to policy and practice. Take things like your six-hour autopsy rule—I've met such ideas only in hospitals staffed by older doctors—"

MALCOLM leaned forward to glare at Andrew. "How old do you think I am, Woodward?"

"I know how old you are, sir. You're 45. In another man, that would be fairly young for the position you hold. But isn't it true that you've been here at Caroline Lehr since it was built? Over 10 years. Haven't you worked under Dr. McAn, followed his directions, made his ideas your own? Certainly, he is an old man. And you are the shadow of that old man and his notions. And—" he paused.

Malcolm looked at him, his eyes narrowed. "Go on," he said.

"Well," Andrew said, "you'd be the last one to deny that you are a sick man."

Malcolm's hands dropped to his knees, his mouth fell open. "Me? Sick?" He almost smiled.

But Andrew was deadly serious. "I don't know of anyone who gets sicker than you do, sir, with migraine. The aura and blindness, the swollen fingers and nausea, and the extremely severe pain followed by lassitude—Of course, you're a sick man!"

"When I have an attack," said Malcolm coldly.

"The very uncertainty of an attack occurring, sir, is a burden. On you, and upon the hospital. We—you're lucky if one of your seizures does not cause your knife to slip—or if it does not, some day—"

Malcolm stared at him, shocked, speechless.

Was Woodward right? Migraine was no joke—not the way Malcolm had it—and had had it ever since he could remember. Was his affliction a burden to the Hospital?

AUSTIN—(AP)—A continued boom for Texas banks is predicted by newly-appointed State Banking Commissioner J. M. Falkner.

When the business situation becomes "tight" there will be a continuing need for bank loans to supply needed cash and capital, Falkner declared, adding that "other people will feel the pinch long before the banks will."

Falkner said present high prices have increased the need for loans which he termed "good for the banking business."

He predicted an additional boom in the installment loan field when wartime regulations requiring one-third down payments and the remainder be paid in 15 months are lifted.

A Form of Monopoly

Sometimes one of the most obvious forms of monopoly and one of the least recognized is to be found in the single-store crossroads community...

Take the case of one of these single-store situations. The proprietor opened his store many years ago. In all that time he did not make an improvement in the actual appearance of the establishment...

These things continue in evidence in spite of undreamed of increases in business resulting from expanding local activity.

Under such circumstances no great imagination is needed to picture the eventual straggling of a modern, efficient, retail store...

This is an important problem which consumers and the distribution industry must be actively aware of at all times.

Texas Today

Push-button farming is so near gentlemen of the soil smell the day they may sit under a tree...

Already many of the slow and costly chores are being done by machines. A demonstration of new equipment indicates that in the future, farmers will be just another bunch of white collar workers.

Mechanical cotton picking isn't particularly new, but we saw one of the big machines in operation for the first time...

Flame chopping of cotton is something else—they really use flames from butane gas to up and down the field...

Another machine, operated by one man, rolls down plowing up and baling hay, dumping the completed bales every few hundred feet.

There are also many dryers and grain driers that save moist crops in a few hours time.

And planters that plant and coax growth simultaneously.

news behind the news

WASHINGTON

By RAY TUCKER

FACTIONS—An ironic and amusing aspect of the Eisenhower and MacArthur candidacies for the Republican presidential nomination in 1948 is that they have split Army and Navy officials into two political factions...

The division breaks down into a feud between MacArthur's associates on the Pacific front and Eisenhower's buddies in the European section.

MacArthur never gave them sufficient credit for transporting him and blasting his way from Australia to Tokyo. He does not profess to be neutral. Having no candidate of his own, it supports the Army Chief of Staff.

MACARTHUR—General MacArthur's command is the more active of the two groups. They have buttholed and propagandized every Congressman, civilian and newspaper correspondent who has visited their areas since the close of the conflict.

They are banking heavily on General MacArthur's prospective return to the states early next year. His triumphant reception and a possible address before a joint session of Congress.

They expect that he will give a jolt to the politicians and the people by making clear that, although not an active seeker after the limelight, he would take it if he can get it.

The belief that General Eisenhower entertains the same restrained ambitions based on his mild disclaimers at press interviews at Washington and Columbia University, has led the MacArthur men to step up their efforts on our Japanese commander's behalf.

TEST The Democratic High Command is none too happy over the first fruits of its boasted alliance with organized labor as a result of the outcome in Pennsylvania's recent special Congressional election.

It is admitted that the G.O.P. played a smart game in this contest. They attacked and tempted the Green-Murray-Lewis faction into proclaiming that it was a test of popular sentiment on the Hartley-Tait Law.

That was their major blunder inasmuch as they never had a chance in this Pew-Grundy, Republican area.

BACKGROUND—Once the labor orators and organizers had committed themselves to invasion of the cities and towns, the G.O.P. raised the old cry of "outside dictation and domination."

As F.D.R.'s unsuccessful purges demonstrated, the voters will always respond to this trick. They trooped to the polls and, as a result, the laborites might have fared better with a smaller turnout.

Contrariwise, industrial and anti-union interests felt that they had to obtain a vote of confidence in the Hartley-Tait Act. They worked harder and spent more money than they would have in a dull, listless, non-controversial campaign.

During his long absence in South America, President Truman drafted Secretary Marshall to pitch-in for him. Although Mr. Truman's latest word is that he sees no need for a special session, Mr. Marshall thinks otherwise.

Mr. Truman has also been waiting on two other developments. His scouts are canvassing the nation in an attempt to discover whether the twenty-billion rescue act is popular. He also hopes that the special Congressional committee now investigating Europe's needs will report in the affirmative.

DETERMINED—Capitol Hill Republican lesser-speaker Martin, secretary President Pro Tech Vandenberg, Appropriations Chairman Tager and Finance Chairman Bridges—are determined not to stick out their necks.

That is the inside story of the on-again-off-again maneuverings at Washington on the Truman-Marshall Plan.

We are right down to bedrock in Greece. Both sides have served notice that they will back their position to the limit.

As Pegler Sees It

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

(Copyright, 1947)

NEW YORK. In the language of Adolf Hitler a massacre was being Stalin calls a bogrom a liquidation, Roosevelt, with a similar knack for euphemism, used the term "collective bargaining" to disguise the degradation of the lower classes...

The British are not bad at this sort of thing either, when occasion requires them to deceive themselves. And so the British Trades Union Congress voted six to one in favor of "direction" of labor.

"Direction" of labor, by its maiden name, is conscription of labor at wages agreed to by the employers and the government, subject to the approval of the Trades Union Congress.

The British union membership is erroneously believed to be voluntary because the law recognizes the open shop. To believe that all those who are not in the union are willingly like believing that all persons who tip dirty waiters for slovenly service do so voluntarily.

The British unionizer has not yet learned to jam the obstinate freedom of the worker into the oncoming or to threaten to slit his children's throats. But he has other co-operations and he has learned a little from Uncle Joe as a lot from our boys and boys.

After the second big war, by a conspiracy of conditions, the lower orders were so manipulated that they seemed to win an election and the right to try their hand at government.

They became the sponsors of an unbelieveably flabby, frightened and ineffectual government. Actually, his backers, the upper classes, had a monopoly on the good sense of the country and, by humoring the sallow, snuffling dolt, were able to deter them, until now, the aristocrats had time for scholarship, statesmanship, management and politics in the intellectual serje of the word.

The experiment was capricious and mad. It was obvious to generations in the science of government should govern better than a crew of roustabouts.

Responsibility—The Marshall Plan for both immediate and long-range assistance to Europe's anti-Communist countries has already become a political football even before the program has been formulated.

During his long absence in South America, President Truman drafted Secretary Marshall to pitch-in for him. Although Mr. Truman's latest word is that he sees no need for a special session, Mr. Marshall thinks otherwise.

Mr. Truman has also been waiting on two other developments. His scouts are canvassing the nation in an attempt to discover whether the twenty-billion rescue act is popular. He also hopes that the special Congressional committee now investigating Europe's needs will report in the affirmative.

DETERMINED—Capitol Hill Republican lesser-speaker Martin, secretary President Pro Tech Vandenberg, Appropriations Chairman Tager and Finance Chairman Bridges—are determined not to stick out their necks.

That is the inside story of the on-again-off-again maneuverings at Washington on the Truman-Marshall Plan.

We are right down to bedrock in Greece. Both sides have served notice that they will back their position to the limit.

We are in grave danger of rebuilding Germany as part of the marabone game of power politics among the former Allies.

"How Long Is It Since You Read a Textbook?"

Parents seem to be fiddling while Rome burns. They pay little attention as to what is being taught to their children as education.

Rose Wilder Lane reviews books every month for the National Economic Council. In her August book review, she reviewed a new book published in May of this year entitled "The Elements of Economics."

This is an odd thing to do, I know, for the perfect trust in education. Americans anxiously supervise every detail of their children's lives, except their schooling.

And public school has crippled minds. If our minds had not been crippled we wouldn't have one strike after another; we wouldn't have such fluctuating purchasing power in our money; we wouldn't have so much juvenile delinquency, so much crime, so much hate.

There is nothing new or unusual in this textbook; I urge you to read it because it is typical. Its merit is simplicity. It teaches a few day words the Keynesian theory that has dominated economic teaching for years, and is now orthodox in universities and powerful in Washington.

The Keynesian theory's ancient, pre-Christian theological origins, in modern economics it represents Karl Marx's theory of the "merit" contradictions of capitalism.

Of course the fact is that government's economic action directly causes every depression in this country's history, as well as the chronic depression in which nearly all mankind lived here and died young through all past history.

And that certainly is true. Our depressions are the result of the government interfering with competition, correcting human errors, incompetence in managing to correct these errors, they only make another error that adds to our unemployment and reduced production.

And the great value of "The Elements of Economics" is that it does not hide the Keynesian theory in the usual technical jargon; it states them in plain words.

On the importance of a money standard Professor Tarshis treats it in an ironical manner. Mrs. Lane suggests that the people read the versatile of the ignorant savages in this book on page 331 "who had no banks but did have a thing which many people consider much more important—a standard. But it was not a gold standard. It was a rock standard."

A little more experience in Palestine and fulfillment of threats to bomb London in Zion's cause the British version of Hitlerism will have that piquant flavor too.

The sullen proviso that the coupon-clipper shall be drafted for labor was a pithy but infallible appeal to the stupidity of convention. Now the British workman is in for it, because the same government can say to him that he must obey because the aristocracy have been sent to the pits and the docks, too.

Hitler did long ago. Now the British have the essentials of Nazism themselves. Anti-Semitism is all they lack of Hitlerism, and so today's News Want Ads."
