Two Youths Plead Guilty to Parade Staple Shooting

Two 18-year-old boys were returned to their cells in city jail yesterday after sentence was deferred by Judge Clifford Braly on their pleas of guilty to charges of malicious mischief in Corporation Court.

The two youths, Bobby Grant Mitchell and Clinton Stanley, had been arrested Friday afternoon by city police and charged with malicious mischief after they were caught shooting steel staples into the crowd from the Moses marquee during the giant balloon parade.

The trio had armed themselves with shooters and staples they had purchased in a local downtown store and made their way to the Moses roof by a ladder in the rear of the store.

City police reported this morning that one little girl, under 10 years old, was hit in the leg with one of the staples. The staple stuck in the child's leg and had to be pulled out.

Both City Police and E. O. Wedgeworth, Chamber of Commerce manager, said they had no reports that any of the giant balloons had been punctured.

During the past week a high school girl was also hit, while in class, with a steel staple. However, the pupil shooting her has not been identified.

Police said this morning any boys or girls caught shooting this type of staple will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law. The staples could put out an eye if they hit in the right place.

Stag Night Is for Men to Buy Presents

Stag night will be observed by Pampa stores on Wednesday, Dec. 16, for men to purchase gifts for wives, other relatives and friends, it was announced yesterday.

The regular mid-month roundup of values, usually held second Thursday after Dollar Day, has been moved up to Thursday, Dec. 18, it was stated, due to the fact it came so near Dollar Day and the Santa Day parade.

London Fog Will Last Another Day. A day and a half long Londonization period was forecast for Pampa last night by the U. S. Weather Bureau here as a 10-mile-per-hour southeasterly wind swept the soup from the Gulf to the Panhandle.

However, the opaque skies will clear if the wind changes to the southwest as it is expected to do. As the fog rises the mercury is predicted to tumble, biting into the vitals of all and sundry.

Scattered showers through the night and up into mid-afternoon were included in the gloomy forecast. Friday night the temperature glided downward to a low of 39 and was expected to be little higher, about 40 Saturday night.

French Crisis Appears Ebbing as Strikers Begin Returning to Work

Unemployment Relief Demand Made by Reds

ROME—P— Communist-led workers in Rome last night demanded "unemployment relief" and gave the harassed government of Premier Alcide De Gasperi just three days to comply with their ultimatum.

A workers committee, estimated by the Communists to represent 300,000 people in the city and province, also told the national government it would have to punish police who fired on demonstrators during rioting Friday night at the capital's gates.

Although the police themselves had been fired upon in the disturbances, a suburban slum, the newly organized Roman Workers' high command described the action of the law enforcement officers as "bestial brutality" and declared:

"The sub-machineguns of the government of plutocrats have been used against the workers."

He used to be the buddy of Dick Wilson, before Dick went off to school at West Texas State, but his best pal now has become five-year-old "Butch" Wilson.

But all the Wilsons agree that although "Panda's pedigree isn't worth 15 cents—we wouldn't take a thousand dollars for him."

Crashed Plane to Be Repaired Here

The red Cuyler Cadet monoplane owned by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Beales, Houston, that crashed landed in a field near McAllen Tuesday afternoon, was brought to the Pampa Municipal Airport yesterday to undergo repairs.

Attendees at the field said the plane would be repaired in the airport's shops under the direction of R. L. Stevens and Tom Davidson, both licensed aircraft repairmen and mechanics.

Stevens reported an entirely new landing gear assembly will have to be installed besides repairs to the under cowling and woodwork to the bottom of the fuselage. A new carburetor and yoke will also have to be installed.

The plane was escorted through the city Saturday morning by a city police car.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Beales suffered slight injuries when they attempted to land in the field after the plane's motor iced over.

It Was Quiet Peaceful Just Six Years Ago

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD Associated Press Staff Pearl Harbor Day, six years ago today, was crisp and bright in Texas.

Hilter had overrun the continent after his invasion of Poland on Sept. 1, 1939.

Life was like this: Texas farms, ranches and plants were turning out food and equipment for the Battle of Europe.

There was some grumbling about rising prices. Eggs, 35 cents per dozen; pork chops, 21 cents per pound; butter, 35 cents; coffee, 19 cents; bacon, 26 cents and chicken, 29 cents.

You could buy a radio-phonograph combination for $29.95 or an electric refrigerator for considerably less than $150.

"Buy homes now as a safeguard against inflation. There seldom has been a better time to buy."

But Hut Sut song was the popular tune. Dallas was having epidemics of red measles and diphtheria, a cafeteria featured a "big turkey dinner" for 35 cents.

Fletcher Kennedy To Head Chapter Of API in 1948

Pampa's Fletcher Kennedy, with Stanolind, was elected chairman of the Panhandle Chapter of the American Petroleum Institute at a banquet held at the Country Club last night by the Advisory Committee.

About 120 persons heard a humorous talk by Texas Number 1 publicity agent, Boyce House.

Ralph O'Neil, of Phillips Petroleum Company, was elected to the first vice chairmanship of the organization for the new year.

C. S. Kaura, of Stanolind, was elected secretary-treasurer.

The Advisory Committee of the American Petroleum Institute, Panhandle Chapter, meets at this time each year. Men from throughout the Panhandle were present last night.

Death Toll in Middle East Reaches 159 Since UN Vote

JERUSALEM—P—Communal fury flared in the Holy Land again yesterday but appeared dying out temporarily elsewhere after bringing death to 159 Arabs, Jews and others in the Middle East since the United Nations voted to partition Palestine.

Dispatches from Aden, the British colony on the Arabian coast, said 25 Arabs and 50 Jews were killed in serious three-day disorders there, but that calm finally prevailed and the curfew lifted.

Seven Jews were killed in a series of clashes in the tumultuous Tel Aviv-Jaffa borderland, two Arabs were killed at Haifa and near Jerusalem.

The Jews of Palestine seized upon a comparative lull in Arab waves of death and destruction, launched Monday as a spontaneous protest against partition.

To the north, the Arabs of Syria and Lebanon volunteered by thousands and were training openly in the parade grounds of the preparatory school at Aleppo and on the city's "village green."

When trained, they will join Fawzi Bey Kawakzi's "Army of Yarmouk," named for the little river that flows out of Transjordan into the Jordan just below Galilee.

Deputy Sami Es Solh, former premier of Lebanon, declared in Beirut that "we are facing a 10-year-war" and demanded compulsory conscription.

Three Men Fined by Justice of Peace

Three men were fined Friday in the Court of Justice of the Peace Charles Hughes.

One was fined $14.15 on a charge of intoxication, one was fined $14 on a charge of illegally passing a school bus, and another was fined $10 on a charge of driving without an operator's license.

New Economic Policy Being Worked Out

PARIS—P—France's crisis appeared on the way to solution last night as the government announced its intention of working out an economic policy to give strikers partial satisfaction and union leaders showed a willingness to negotiate.

There were no new cases of important violence, which on several occasions reached proportions of near anarchy in several cities last week.

Workers streamed back to their jobs after being on strike in some cases more than three weeks. The five-day "taken" strike of public service employees which began Friday was showing only partial success.

Many French and foreign observers agreed that the Communist-dominated majority of the General Confederation of Labor (CGT) tacitly admitted the failure of the nationwide strike movement when it requested President Vincent Auriol Friday night to intervene with the government "to create a favorable atmosphere for negotiation."

The French Parliament completed legislative approval early Saturday morning of a drastic strike-control law which was immediately sent to Auriol for final signature and promulgation.

The law gave the government strong powers to protect the right to work of non-strikers and punish agitation for a strike or sabotage of machinery and equipment.

ANTA representatives endorsed the Barter players for sponsorship while the group was rehearsing at Abingdon, Va., preparatory to touring the country.

It was announced that ANTA is a non-profit organization designed to promote good theatre throughout the United States.

First Impressions formed by individuals about businesses are a lasting ones.

The voice of business must be heard; what business needs is to talk to the public as citizens not as customers; public good will is a most valuable asset.

Clarendon Man Dies

While on Fishing Trip

J. H. Slater, 76, of Clarendon was found dead yesterday morning around 10 o'clock at Lake McClellan beside the car in which he and his companion, C. C. Oakley, also of Clarendon, had driven to the lake.

Slater was found lying on the ground at the rear of the car. He had had heart trouble for some time, it was reported, and he is thought to have had a heart attack.

The trunk of the car was opened, and he is supposed to have been getting fishing tackle from the trunk.

His companion, Oakley, was obtaining fishing permits at the time.

Chief Deputy Rufe Jordan and Justice of the Peace D. R. Henry were called to the scene.

The body was taken to a Clarendon funeral home.

NEW PRESS

And that's just a sample of the way those two get around. This year, before coming to Pampa, Seeds had assembled presses in Toronto, Canada; Clovis, N. M.; Indianapolis; Mexico City, Long Beach, Calif.; Virginia and Wyoming, among others. He recently had an offer to go to Shanghai, but he's trying to hold down the travel just a little.

But Seeds has to get around, because, even with all the present expansion in the printing industry, there are less than a dozen independent press erection firms in the United States, those being scattered over the country in Atlanta, Kansas City, Boston, Idaho, and New York.

Since most of the world's printing machinery is manufactured in the United States, they get calls from all over the globe.

The Seeds company has been in operation since 1930. Bob Seeds has been erecting presses about 25 years, but his start into this exclusive specialty came as a result of some work he did for the Duplex Press Company. After calling him in on a special job, they continued correspondence.

The company began to reorganize him and because of the shortage of specialists in this field, Seeds began devoting more and more of his time to the work.

And after seeing the intricacies of putting thousands of parts into precision operation, we can understand the shortage.

Chiefs of the seven-nation Arab League were gathered in Cairo to decide upon an Arab high command and take other measures.

Premier Jamil Mardem Bey of Syria declared that the Syrian Army was now on the Palestine border and would move into Palestine "in due time."

Salih Salem Jabr, prime minister of Iraq, declared in Cairo that Iraq tribes totaling between 2,000,000 and 3,000,000 were ready to fight and the Transjordan minister in Cairo asserted the British-commanded Arab Legion of Transjordan already had taken part in Palestine fighting by "repulsing Jewish attacks on Jaffa" yesterday.

Hagana, the self-styled Jewish defense army, declared in a communique Friday night that some Arabs Friday were fighting in the uniforms of the Legion. Some of the Legion has been brought to Palestine by the British for police duty.

Reports from Amman, Transjordan, said tribal fighters had made recurrent attacks on oil and pipeline camps without inflicting casualties.

struck men, women and children indiscriminately.

One worker was killed at Primavera, where the demonstrators had built paving-block barricades and shouted demands for employment of public works. Several demonstrators and police were wounded, one police lieutenant being seriously injured.

The attempt of leftist-controlled workers in the capital to dictate to De Gasperi's government came as 1,400 partisans from all sections of Italy assembled here in a national congress to determine their stand in "the present Italian political situation."

The partisans, veterans of the fight against German occupation forces during World War II, now are considered to constitute the shock troops of the extreme leftists who have badgered the government with waves of strikes and street battles for the last 25 days.

The ultimatum to the government was announced in the Communist and pro-Communist Socialist newspapers in Rome. The Communist newspaper L'Unita said the new workers' high command was organized to "direct the fight of Roman labor" for a voice in management and employment policies.

As one of its first acts the organization—which took the name of "Provincial Committee of the Congress of Management and of Internal Commissions"—denounced the police action at Primavera. L'Unita said the committee's ultimatum contained these conditions:

- "1— Immediate punishment of functionaries and agents responsible for violence against women, children and the old.
- "2— 10,000,000 lire ($17,241,000) for absorption of labor in public works.
- "3— An extraordinary unemployment grant" to be distributed before Christmas.

Unrest continued in other sections of the country.

Texas Building Employment Ebbs

AUSTIN—(AP)—A one percent decline in employment by Texas construction contractors was reported yesterday by the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

The total number of workers remained above year-ago levels. The university bureau said inflationary pressures continued to dominate the building picture, and there was short supply of materials in some areas despite the steady increase in the flow of materials.

and East Texas noted an increase in gasoline shipments. Texans read with interest of a "new aircraft creation" in Italy, a strange propellerless plane "which sucks its way through the skies." A news story explained that "air is drawn through the open snout of the plane" but details of what made it go were not available.

The University of Texas announced the election of 374 Bluebonnet Belles. Favorite movie of the day was Sergeant York, a story of the first world war starring Gary Cooper. A teen-age farm boy of Farmersville, Tex., saw it and was greatly impressed. Within four years the boy, Audie Murphy, would win every medal an infantryman could win and would tell Gary Cooper, face to face, in 1945: "the shooting you did in that picture was the best I ever saw."

Many Texans were having Sunday dinner when the news of Pearl Harbor stunned radio listeners. A corporal on leave from a California camp got up from the dinner table and went into the parlor for a little quiet cussing. An auditor in Corpus Christi switched on his recording machine and gravely recorded his prediction that the war would be over in two weeks. In Dallas,

Governor Pleased On Federal Report

AUSTIN—(AP)—Gov. Beauford H. Jester Saturday said he is greatly satisfied with a report from the Public Roads Administration at Washington that Texas leads all other states in the building of post-war farm-to-market roads.

The Governor, in a prepared statement, said he was especially gratified to learn from a Texas Highway Department report that 3,751 miles of farm-to-market roads are now in use on the state maintained road system. This includes 2,407 miles improved under contracts completed under the federal aid farm-to-market program.

SCATTERED across this nation are some of the eagiest automobile buyers the world ever saw.

They cut their eyeteeth on a steering wheel, so to speak—they know car values from A to izzard—and you have to be plenty good to step ahead of your price class in the volume of your sales to them.

That's why it's startling—sometimes even to us—to see the double-barreled story of public preference that's written in the sales records and registration figures:

ITEM: Only three cars outsell Buick—and all of these are in the so-called "low-price field."

ITEM: In some localities—and quite often in polls that ask "Which car will you buy next?"—Buick ranks not fourth, but third, actually ahead of one of the lowest-priced three.

Naturally, the smart buyer will ask "How come?"

Well, the most standout style of the season, the style that's the clearest forecast of wonderful things to be, undoubtedly has much to do with it.

But that isn't all. The dollar is still a pretty important measuring stick.

So we don't think Buick could be where it is if it didn't offer a bigger dollar's worth—bigger in size and substance, in lift and life, in soft ride and easy handling, bigger in the all-round happiness you'll get out of your buy.

Which suggests, of course:

Why go against the solid judgment of your fellow men? Why not see your Buick dealer now—with or without a car to trade—and place the order that will put you where you belong, right up in the four-front?

Labor Beating Trial Is Delayed One Week

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — A one-week postponement has been granted in the trial of three labor organizers and four others charged with violating the Arkansas Anti-Violence Labor Law.

The seven defendants asked the extra time in which to file a petition for a change of venue to take the trial outside the county. Circuit Judge Dexter Bush Friday scheduled hearing on the petition for Dec. 12.

The labor organizers, W. Lee Martin, 37, of Lynchburg, Va., Owen Bolen, 35, of Dora, Ala., and Fred Thomason, 45, of Springfield, Ill., are accused of chain-whipping a Negro employe of the Texarkana Cotton Oil Company who crossed a United Mine Workers (AFL) picket line.

All seven men are charged with attempting to prevent by threats, other employes from working in the mill during a strike over a wage dispute.

Judge Bush said that in the event the petition was denied, the trial was set for Dec. 17 in the Miller County Circuit Court.

Bank Bandit Caught

BIG SPRING (AP) — Charges of robbery with a deadly weapon have been filed here against William Larry Martin, 29, in connection with the holdup of the State National Bank at noon Friday.

A neatly dressed gunman robbed the bank of $2,149 and escaped in a waiting taxi, only to be captured by police less than an hour later.

Martin gave his last address as Dallas and said he had been working for the Henry C. Beck Construction Company there.

Sheriff R. L. Wolf quoted Martin as saying in a signed statement that he had been in Big Spring since Tuesday morning, and that he "decided to rob a bank."

T. S. Currie, president of the bank, said all of the money had been recovered.

Wolf quoted Martin as saying he was on parole from California State Prison where he was serving a term for murder committed in 1938 at Los Angeles.

THE DRILLER'S LOG

By KEN BENNETT

There is a definite feeling of optimism in the producing end of the oil business today over the announced price hike in crude oil. The overall rise in the purchase price was initiated by the Sun Oil Company the latter part of last week. Now that Phillips, Sinclair, Magnolia, and others have met the price hike the producers look for an immediate effect in the field. Although some officials have stated that this action may lead to more inflationary movements, it is still the opinion of the average producer in this area that it will be a real boon to the oil business, hampered only by the steel shortage to restrict development.

I have been accused of overworking the Phillips' deep test, the Jenkie No. 1. I admit that overall I have in reality said nothing. My remarks have been built purely on ideas brought about by the opinions of those who make it their business to follow the oil production picture. I have tried to avoid wild rumors and have only reported those that I felt were more or less reliable. As to the latest developments I can only report that tests are presumably continuing, although interest has certainly waned. Where there's life there's hope, I've been told, so I am hoping there is still life in the Jenkie and that more important news is in the offing. After all, it would be a great Christmas present to this area if something really worthwhile would develop. And here's a little promise. Unless something worthwhile does develop I promise not to say another word about it. Fair enough?

I don't envy Clyde Carlock, employe of Shell Gasoline Plant No. 17. He reports back to work tomorrow after a two weeks vacation. W. H. Fowler, who represents the mechanical engineering department of Shell, has been spending a few days in the Panhandle inspecting their electrical distribution systems on the Hughey and Haggard leases. Company business for Shell has called I. S. Marlin to Centralia, Illinois, for about two weeks. He is a gas tester for Shell in the Panhandle District. Johnny Hines, district gauger for Shell, has just returned from a trip with his family to New Orleans. Johnny reports a wonderful time. G. M. Walker left Saturday evening for Arkansas City, Kansas, where he and his wife plan to spend a two weeks vacation visiting with relatives and friends. (My thanks to Larry Snyder, of Shell, for his weekly contributions to this column. Wish more companies would follow his example.)

Fred Sloan, district clerk for Skelly in Pampa, has just returned from two weeks vacation at points in Indiana and Illinois. Brownie Osborn, district foreman of the Borg-Schafer District has just begun a vacation and has left for Oklahoma. (Did you ever notice how many employes in this area go to Oklahoma for vacations? Must be some indication of how many have migrated to the Panhandle from that state.)

Oil production employes of the Panhandle Division of Cities Service Oil Company, were entertained at a steak dinner in the Palm Room Thursday evening. The dinner was given to the employes of this division as a reward for their completion of 400,000 man hours of work without disabling injury. Following the dinner, Clyde Conover, district superintendent, led a discussion on safety practices in this district. A talk by E. R. Estus, safety director from Bartlesville, Okla., then followed. The program closed with the showing of several motion pictures. George Haynie has returned from Fort Collins, Colo., where he visited with his family. George is now confined to a local hospital with a severe cold. Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Knox left Tuesday on their vacation. They plan to visit with their daughter, Mrs. Jeff Ashcroft and Dr. Ashcroft at Houston. D. L. O'Mara, young grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Eaton, has been released from the hospital after several days confinement. Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Leland, parents of E. E. Leland, have returned to their home in Tulsa, Okla., after a several weeks visit. R. F. Edgerton of Bartlesville is here on his junior engineering field assignment in production. The Doherty Men's Fraternity will hold its semi-annual election of officers at the Welfare Hall, Tuesday, Dec. 9, at 7:30 p. m. (Also wish the thank E. H. Edgerton for helping with this column in the absence of Mrs. J. A. Knox.)

This is your day! Set the time; see the car you've been told was years away!

A style-setting beauty, with a sparkling and massive front grille. A car that is only five feet high, and with the lowest center of gravity you've ever known, but with a new, all steel Monobilt body-and-frame that gives you more inside head room than any other car built today.

A car with the roomiest seats ever built into any American-made automobile.

A car you step down into when entering, not up on—yet a car that maintains road clearance! A car that cradles you not only between axles, but ahead of the rear wheels.

All of this is made possible by a basic new development in motor car design—Hudson's Monobilt body-and-frame, shown in phantom view and described to the right.

The Hudson dealers listed here are ready with information about Hudson's all-new Super-Six engine—the most powerful six built today—and Hudson's masterful Super-Eight. They will tell you about Hudson's exclusive Drive-Master—no clutch pushing, no gear shifting in forward speeds.

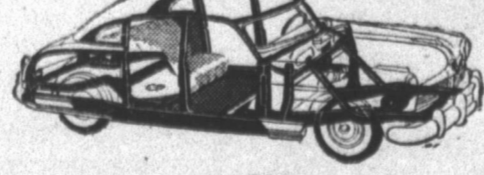

See Hudson's gorgeously upholstered interiors, with chrome handles and hardware recessed into side panels, out of the way. Examine all of Hudson's new beauty, comfort and convenience features, including a new type of low-pressure, Super-Cushion tire that mounts on a new, wide safety rim. See how Hudson's wide, curved windshield and rear window give added vision all around.

Max Skelton Reports Oil News for Texas

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON —(AP)—Sun Oil Company's recent boost of crude oil prices by 50-cents per barrel apparently has brought into the open more than ever before the industry-wide problem resulting from the practice of many purchasers making use of premium or bonus payments in order to secure the amount of oil needed.

Such payments, primarily, are the cause of the tight-lipped conservation and study with which officials of most of the major companies reacted to Sun's hike. Would a price increase halt such payments?

The decision on the part of the major companies obviously is that additional hikes would mean only added confusion, because presidents of three companies, Standard of Indiana, Standard of New Jersey, and Shell, have announced open opposition.

On the other hand, only six in all independent purchasers, mostly in Michigan, followed Sun's boost, and Union Oil Company of California followed with a 40-cent hike.

Premium payments (in excess of posted prices) are being paid because of the unprecedented demand for oil, which has forced many purchasers to enter into a highly competitive field in order to secure sufficient crude to meet requirements and to keep refineries at least in near-capacity operation.

premium contracts. They are:
1. An agreement to pay a specified amount in excess of posted prices for a period of from three to six months.
2. Agreement to pay a specified amount in excess of posted prices until posted prices reach a certain figure.
3. Agreement to pay a specified amount in excess of posted prices, with no limitations on the maximum posted price or the time element.

What I can't understand," the executive said, "is how they can call such agreements a contract when they don't even specify a definite amount to be paid for each barrel of oil."

This executive's company has not announced publicly its reaction to Sun's 50-cent hike which sent the crude price level to its highest peak since the early 1920's.

There was a sharp difference of opinion in the statements made on the hike by Col. Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission, and H. S. M. Burns of New York, president of Shell Oil Company, Inc.

Thompson, who made a similar statement October 15 when a 20-cent hike was accepted generally throughout the industry, said the 50-cent increase is "the greatest incentive for discovering new oil fields since the end of the war," adding that "price is the 'greatest discoverer of oil.'"

Burns, in Houston, said "if all major purchasers should follow Sun's action there would be no definite amount to be paid for each barrel of oil."

MISSION EXPENDITURES

BUCK HILL FALLS, PA.—The Board of Missions of the Methodist Church reported today it had spent $9,300,000 (million) overseas and in the United States during 1947—"or more than one dollar per member of the church."

increase in the availability of oil," adding "there is no shortage of oil, but, instead, an exceptional demand."

The shell executive also said price hikes would not stop small purchasers from offering premium or bonus payments.
"It seems to me the right thing to do is to hold down excessive oil prices as a measure to check inflation if for nothing else," he said. "After all, if crude oil prices increase it means boosts in prices of fuel, burning and heating oils and gasoline."

Houston oil circles are speculating over the significance of a recently completed trip to Argentina by Glenn H. McCarthy, Houston oilman who was accompanied to the South American nation by a staff that included attorneys, construction and chemical engineers, petroleum engineers, drilling superintendents, exporters and the head of the foreign trade department of a Houston bank.

After telling reporters of his having had long conferences with President Juan Domingo Peron, War Minister Soso Milino, Aviation Minister San Martin and Minister of Commerce Barro, McCarthy said it would be "premature" to announce the purpose of his trip.

He added, however, that there undoubtedly are large quantities of oil to be discovered in Argentina and that the country needs about 15,000 barrels daily.

Hardin Victor in Wichita Falls' First Kickapoo Bowl Game
WICHITA FALLS, Tex. —(AP)—The Hardin Indians held the title of Kickapoo Bowl champions today, triumphant in Wichita Falls' first college gridiron post-season classic by a 39-20 score over Arkansas State Teachers College of Conway, Friday night.
The Indians, co-champions of the Texas Conference, roared back for 27 points in their third period last night to knock Arkansas State from the ranks of undefeated teams.
A crowd of 6,000 who turned out for the first of seven Texas bowl games saw Hardin jump to a two-touchdown and a 12-0 lead in the first period, then had that sinking feeling as Arkansas State stormed back for 13 points in the second.
But the third-period spurge was too much for the visitors who couldn't plant the pigskin in paydirt until the waning minutes of the game against Hardin substitutes.

Most of the spectators didn't know it, but they could have seen the scrap enacted, almost blow for blow, on Jacobs Branch any day last week with Dumb Dan Morgan playing the roles of both fighters. Remember Dan's prediction: "Louis can't jab this fellow and Walcott will give him trouble!"

Weak End Notes
Hint from a guy who oughta know is that the fuses over the rival U. S. olympic hockey teams didn't originate in the United States at all. Could that mean that Canadians still are peeved at Avery Brundage about that automobile Barbara Ann Scott didn't get?

decorations were of white crystals, themums and candles in crystal holders.

Miss Mary Chacek poured the coffee. After the three-tiered wedding cake was cut by the bride it was served by Mrs. Adrian Henderson.

A pink and blue party and shower honoring Mrs. Harold Justice was given by Miss Mary Reeve, 713 West Francis, on Friday night, Dec. 5.

Game prize was won by Miss Lillian Mullinax and gifts were presented to the honoree.

Pink and white refreshments were served to the honoree and Mesdames G. S. Brown, Katie Zachry, John Eppanham, M. K. Griffith and Misses Bernice Larsh, Lillian Mullinax, Jimna Searce, Josephine Thomas, Ila Pool, Myra Millard, and Marie Stedje of the hostess.

Director of Irish Band Resigns Post

SHAMROCK — (Special) — R. L. Meyers, director of the Shamrock Irish Band since the first week in September, has resigned his position to re-enter his former work of arranging and playing for orchestras.

Mr. Meyers left on Thanksgiving Day for his home in Lamesa where he will visit for awhile before assuming his work. Raymond Sonnenburg, popular young Shamrock musician, will serve as bandmaster the remainder of this semester. Supt. Elmer J. Moore has announced. The son of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Sonnenburg, Raymond is an accomplished musician and is doing fine work with the class which numbers more than 50 in membership.

Mr. Meyers, a native of Lamesa, came to Shamrock three months ago from New Orleans, La., where he was connected with an orchestra. His work with the Irish musicians was highly creditable, and the band made many public appearances under his leadership. Recently at a homecoming celebration of Hardin College at Wichita Falls, Meyers' group was classified as first in the division among the several high school bands in attendance.

CROPS IN DESERT
In what now is only arid Arizona desert, early American Indians grew bountiful crops long before the days of Columbus. By hand labor alone, a network of irrigation canals 150 miles in length was dug through the stony soil to carry water from the Salt River. The ditches ranged up to 30 feet in width, and 10 feet deep in places.

First cross-country long distance telephone call was made between San Francisco and New York in 1915.

Worth, Roland of Borger, and Leo of Dallas. Their daughters are Mrs. Letha Northup of Pampa and Mrs. Helen Di Napoli of Waldaboro, Me. All the children except Mrs. Di Napoli were present for the golden wedding festivities. She spent three months with her parents' last spring. Mr. and Mrs. Harris are in good health. Neither has ever been hospitalized. Mrs. Harris says that the secret of their happy married life has been that they have both worked at their vows to take each other "for better, for worse."

MACKENZIE'S Column

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AF Foreign Affairs Analyst
We are faced with the tragic but certain fact that war—"cold" but nevertheless war—is being waged between Russia and the democracies, that Moscow's purpose is to communicate the world and that the democracies are determined to prevent this.

The question arises why the combatants devote so much time and energy to international conferences which rarely reach agreement. Take for instance the bogged-down conference of Big Four foreign ministers in London—called to draft a German and Austrian treaty. On the face of it this parley is serving mainly to ruffle tempers and act as a sounding-board for propaganda. Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov shows signs of being worried over the determination of the democracies to proceed with the organization of Western Germany without Russia if the London conference fails. Secretary of State Marshall, British Foreign Minister Bevin and French Foreign Minister Bidault are gravely concerned over the Bolshevik upheavals in France and Italy—key objectives in Moscow's effort to stymie the whole Marshall plan for rehabilitation of Western Europe.

Why don't the combatants abandon their conferences and get ahead with the job of finishing that "cold war"? I think the chief reason they don't make a clean break is that both sides are appalled with the gravity of trying to run two worlds in an atomic age. They hate to admit officially that there are two worlds.

Moreover, neither side is absolutely sure of the real strength of the other. For that matter they aren't sure of their own strength, in some instances. That is true of the crises in France and Italy. Communist striking-power in those two countries hasn't yet been put to the final test and therefore is an unknown quantity. Upon this unknown strength hangs the fate of the Marshall Plan. If the Reds in France and Italy should succeed in their efforts to cause the downfall of the governments of those countries, Russia certainly would have taken a mighty stride toward winning its "cold war."

Hollywood Has Its Share of Characters

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — So much has been written about New York's Broadway characters that it is often overlooked that Hollywood has a lion's share of unique individuals. Since the spotlight is usually on this town's famous folk, the lesser and often more colorful inhabitants are largely ignored. There are lots of Hollywood characters, the place being what it is. Let's take a look around town and spot some of them: The slim, impeccable man walking down Vine Street, his mustache waxed green to match his tie, the raters' worker on Warner sets who daily drops pieces of candy to his favorite stars and directors, most of whom have never met him... the middle-aged man who sweeps up cigar butts and other debris on down to his shoulders. The character actor who plays gin rummy with his dog when he (the actor) has been hitting the bottle, which is often... the aged crones who trudge with their shopping bags down Hollywood Boulevard, the sun shining in their dyed orange hair. The song pluggers who hang out near the Palladium bandstand, ready to pounce on the maestro with their "latest hits" as he leaves the podium. The punchy ex-pug who occasionally works in fight pictures—he can sometimes be seen walking down the middle of Gower Street, shadow-boxing... the film writer who hates all child actors and asks friends for new ways to exterminate them. The Gower Gulch gang of western extras and stunt men who frequent Brewer's saloon, creating an atmosphere of the old west. Yes, and there are lots more, though they're not all roaming the streets. Many of them are working on the inside, making $5,000 a week.

Panhandle GOPsters Reported Organizing

Panhandle Republicans are organizing for the 1948 presidential campaign, according to Ruthelle Bacon, Amarillo, committee-woman for the 31st Senatorial District. Miss Bacon reports fourteen county Republican clubs have been organized in the Panhandle within the last few months under the auspices of the Republican State Executive Committee. Fastest growing club is that of Randall County where Mrs. O. L. Coleman of Canyon, is president and A. L. Tarlton of Canyon, is county chairman, she said. It has added 31 members since organization. The youngest club is the Hutchinson County Club. She stated the drive to organize each county in the 31st Senatorial District will be intensified during the next few months. Hobart K. McDowell, director of organization for the Republican State Executive Committee of Texas, Houston; W. C. Briggs, Paducah, member of the headquarters committee and E. P. "Dick" Wall, Dallas national committeeman for the Young Republican Clubs of Texas, are the state officials who will help with the county organization drive. These men have no connection with the Republican Club of Texas which was organized some time ago in a split within the party ranks. No club has been formed thus far in Gray County.

A LETTER
TO MRS. MITCHELL
Mrs. Wills Mitchell,
Cincinnati, O.

New York, Dec. 1

Dear Mrs. Mitchell:
In the November issue of the official magazine of the teamsters' union, you write about the poverty and anxiety of a mother of four children, between 8 and 15, whose husband, a union driver, works 11 or 12 hours a day for about $55 a week. I assume that Mr. Mitchell's take-home pay is much less. You said you were a little better off than some other teamsters' families because your rent was only $17.50 a month and the average of the others, on the word of the union, itself, was only $50.

This is a queer advertisement for a union whose high-salaried royal court, courtiers, nobles, and intrigants, some of them fat and pompous and others lean and hungry, are always boasting of their priceless service to the men who drive those motorized box cars over the icy highways—the likes of Mr. Mitchell. If they have done so much to earn their enormous pay and lavish expenses and the loyal attachment of the idle people, as Mrs. Roosevelt called all you Mitchells again, recently, that service doesn't show in your report on the financial condition of your family. You don't need a union these days to get your pay up to $55 a week for five days of 11 or 12 hours.

I will quote from your report on the teamsters and contribute some discussion later.

"My husband hasn't had a raise for more than 18 months and prices were going up all the time. We have what you would call five meager days a week. On the other two days, we have steak or roast. The rest of the time it's cold cuts and vegetables. We haven't had butter for 18 months. We use only margarine. The children come first so if there is any money to buy clothes, they get it. My husband hasn't bought an overcoat in four years. My winter coat is three years old. In the last three years I have bought three dresses. We have been lucky that none of us has been really sick. I try to doctor the children but I call a doctor whenever I get worried. Outside of an auto ride to Maysville, Ky., occasionally, we don't have much recreation. We haven't gone to a movie or a show for a long time. We have had to turn in our war bonds and get a loan for a Frigidaire so we could keep food cold and my husband needs the car to get to work. My husband will have to get a good raise soon or we will go under. We used to be able to get enough food with our money. That was before they took off price controls. Prices will have to be controlled again and wages will have to be made high enough as everyone can at least live without worry."

TOO FAST FOR AN OLD SAILING HOONER MAN

An argument on price control but will lay it down and continue. Price controls no longer control prices. The black market had taken over and there was no market at all, you will remember if you think back, at the time prices and the black market prices were awful. Then, President Truman, himself, just about election time, wiped out most of the controls in a vain grab for votes and thereafter Congress, not the National Association of Manufacturers, repealed the OPA, and it was Congress also, not the NAM, that passed the Taft-Hartley law, not once but twice. Your union bosses in the International Teamsters and other publications will tell you that the NAM passed the Taft-Hartley law but it was Congress that passed it twice.

When you write that wages will have to be made high enough so everyone can at least live without worry, Mrs. Mitchell, you are speaking of a job for your husband's union, not Congress. What class is the union for? What kind of union is this whose members have to put in 11 or 12 hours a day and still can't show their children butter in 18 months? Cincinnati—that is where old Brockley Farrell, the fifth vice president, who died in October, ran an absolute dictatorship over 11 teamsters' unions for 24 years by Tobin's appointment and in all that time wouldn't let the men hold union meetings and refused to account for millions of dollars in union money. And, finally, when some of the boys got their nerve up and sued in court, the upshot of it all was that the issue never was tried, the facts never were revealed, and four lawyers got $5,000 apiece of your money by court orders. Money that belonged to these little Cincinnati locals, collected from the miserable wages of men like Mr. Mitchell. Money that might have been spent for meat and butter for the table and clothing. And one of the lawyers who got $5,000 was Joe Padway, the general counsel of the American Federation of Labor and for the teamsters' international.

That was a hot one on you rank and filers, wasn't it? Your boys take their lives in their hands to sue this grafting old goat and gambling house bum who was placed over those thousands of family men, and the details never came out to embarrass him or the king who appointed him.

When the settlement was announced in the royal court circular of old King Dan's kingdom of almost one million subjects with a treasury of $17,000,000 the old boy didn't tell you that you had been forced to pay $5,000 to his greedy pal, Joe Padway, did he? Nope. What you poor faceless nonentities of the rank and file don't know won't hurt you. If they tell you such things you might get to figuring how much butter and meat that would buy.

I was just looking in some of their recent publications. They say they give you an accounting and you may be stupid enough to believe them. But when you read that "attorney fees" were $8,755 for the year 1937, do you ask for details? Do you demand to know how much Padway got from his old friend, Dan Tobin? Do you know how much of it was spent to frustrate rank and

Gasoline Men to Meet on Dec. 12

The National Gasoline Association of America is holding the first of a new type of program of regional meetings at Amarillo on Dec. 12. It was announced this past week.

According to NGAA president E. Williams, the Chicago Corporation, these meetings are "to provide a forum at which field and plant men can discuss their own particular problems. While many of the operating details are common to all regions," he said, "special attention is to be given to those peculiar to the different localities. Streetcars, trackless trolleys, and busses of America make the equivalent of 371 trips around the world daily.

SAILED TO KANSAS

Some interior towns of "dry" Kansas were settled by pioneers who arrived in boats. A steamer left Cincinnati in 1854, loaded with settlers and ready-cut houses and steamed down the Ohio, then up the Mississippi, Missouri, and Kansas rivers. When they ran aground near the mouth of the Blue river, they went ashore and founded the town of Manhattan.

TRIED TO PREVENT HAIL

In many European countries great amounts of money were spent in the early years of this century for hail cannon, to prevent hail. The mortar-like cannon discharged a whirling ring of smoke, but no projectile, and, of course, was entirely worthless.

Armed Forces Queen To Take Cook Book

SAN ANTONIO —(P)— Miss Frankie Oltman, Lackland Air Base employe selected out of thousands of girls as Miss All-Armed Forces, Jilted the Army, the Navy, the Air Force and the Marines to keep a date with a civilian.

The date is set for Dec. 15 at the altar of Madison Square Presbyterian Church here with Henry Bartels, Jr., a civilian employe of Fort Sam Houston. The dream girl of the armed forces will exchange a trip to New York, beautiful clothes, a whirl in the night clubs and training as a Conover model for a rolling pin and a cook book.

Announcement that a panel of experts in New York had unanimously cast their vote in favor of the blue-eyed, brown-haired San Antonio stenographer came too late. Other announcements, engraved ones, were in the mail. The wedding will go on and some other girl can enjoy the coveted whirl in New York, Miss Oltman said.

Challenge To Love

By ETHEL HAMILL

THE STORY: Cam starts dating Herbert Powell so much that a rumor of their engagement spreads around the campus. But Cam has told Herbert she has no intention of marrying him. Her scheme is to conceal her feelings about Joel, so that he will feel perfectly free to come to the house to call on Maurine. Which he does.

XXII

ETA MU'S pledge tea dance was held on the Thursday afternoon following the first football game.

The pillared sorority house vibrated with laughter and music. The twenty new pledges who had received coveted white ribbon rosettes were preening and beaming and ostentatiously glancing into every mirror they danced past. The dance committee was bustling about looking official and slightly smug.

Cam was reasonably free of responsibility. Once she had been shown off prominently in the receiving line for an hour, so that each of the new sisters-to-be might be suitably impressed with the beauty of the Dean's popular daughter, there really was nothing beyond the dancing itself to demand her attention.

And she didn't feel like dancing. She didn't feel like parrying the wise cracks of any of the hopeful stags who had been devising schemes to kidnap her from the line. The constant tap-tap-tap of the music had begun to twang at her nerves in a fashion which signaled a bad headache ahead, unless she were to run out on the dance for at least a few moments of quiet—for at least one gulp of cool air.

It was such a sound idea that, presently, she acted upon it. No one was noticing when she slipped through the tall French window and out onto the terrace.

MAURINE laughed with such flattering appreciation that the sophomore Delta Delta with whom she was dancing decided instantly he was going to spend more long winter evenings in the Eta Mu parlor.

With her chin on his shoulder, Maurine had discovered, she didn't have to pay nearly such close attention to what he was saying. He couldn't watch her eyes. They were free to fasten themselves on the big gilt mirror over the sorority fireplace, in anticipation of the heady moments when their spinning reflections would come within its field of reflection and she could see how daintily the white ribbon rosette fluffed out on her own shoulder. She'd made it! No more uncertainty, no more envy, no more torture! She was an Eta Mu!

It meant that she could go all out in her campaign for Joel. It meant that she didn't need Cam any more. It meant that it wasn't going to be necessary to pretend that she didn't really take seriously her chance of making Joel ask her to marry him.

Between dances, she slipped out to the sunporch. She thought she remembered having seen a payphone perched against the wall.

The glassed-in room thrust off from the house at an angle which, luckily, made it as remote as possible from the dancers in the handsome double parlor facing the street. It was quiet back here. Nobody to listen in, once she had gotten through to Washington.

"The Blair residence," a voice she knew was saying, presently.

"Williams? It's Miss Maurine. I'm calling from Cartersville."

"Oh, yes, Miss," her father's butler replied. "The Senator—"

"I don't want Father. Tell Nick Sutton I'm on the phone."

THE staff at David Blair's town house on the correctly fashionable fringe of Georgetown knew better than to keep her waiting. Even Nick Sutton, who as a senatorial secretary was not without his own minor position, appeared at the far end of the line so promptly that Aladdin might have summoned him with the rubbing of a lamp. "Maurine?"

"Nicky, darling!" Her voice was all spun enchantment, now. Even one who in his day had heard it ring other changes—pettishness, or shrill anger, or deliberate arrogance—could not remain immune to it for long. Sutton was more than a little in love with his superior's daughter.

"Oh, Nicky, I've been missing you so! It's simply dull as death up here. Would you believe it, I haven't gone out a single evening since—Nicky, that was quite the sweetest farewell party you gave for me!"

"If you were asking a question, just now," Sutton said, "the answer is no."

"No, what?"

"No, I wouldn't believe it. Why haven't you written, Maurine?"

"I've meant to, darling, honestly I have. But it's been just one thing after another. Classes and being nice to Uncle William's stuffy old faculty friends. Professors are even duller than politicians."

A soft, throaty little laugh like a purr reached out toward him. "Nick—I've called to ask you the most tremendous favor. I need help, Nicky."

"Do I rob a bank this time or plant a bomb in the White House?" Her dark eyes were gleaming as they looked down at the checkered sun-porch at her feet. The shadow of her stretched long across it. "Now Nicky! It's nothing drastic. Have I ever gotten you into real trouble?" Before he could answer that, she hurried lightly on. "Remember a map of Daddy's I just happened to come across, a week before I left? That survey about the proposed airports? Now, all I want you to do, dear—"

Governor Would Hunt Lost Oil

AUSTIN —(P)— A plan to send research teams of engineers into "prematurely abandoned" oil fields to work out means of recovering production once considered lost has been given a boost here by Railroad Commission Chairman Ernest O. Thompson.

He credited Gov. Jester with the idea of employing 50 graduate petroleum engineers to work in teams of five to a field to hunt "for oil supposedly but not actually lost."

Thompson predicted Texas reservoirs hold one billion barrels of such oil.

Thompson estimated the program would cost $120,000 a year. It would have to be approved by the Legislature.

Former Pampian Realizes Boyhood Dream: Makes Home in Alaska; Now Visiting Here

By W. U. McCoy
Frank J. Thomas of Anchorage, Alaska, former Pampian visiting here in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Ward, is sold on Alaska after working there for four years as a carpenter foreman for Civil Aeronautics Authority.

Thomas lived here from 1912 until he left for Alaska, except for brief periods, and in his work as carpenter contractor in a city all over this area, and he is trying to get around to see all before he returns to Anchorage.

When asked about the higher wage rates in Alaska, Thomas said, "Pay scales are higher, but when you pay $1.25 for an order of bacon and eggs, and $2.50 for a haircut and shave, it all adds up to about what you would make here in similar employment."

His friends here are astonished when he tells them Anchorage has better weather than he ran into when he got in the state. Before he left about a week ago, the temperature at Anchorage, warmed by chinook winds and warm currents, had not been below 15 above—although he says that at Fairbanks, 300 miles north, the thermometer had already dropped to 17 below zero.

"Six months of the year the place is covered with ice and snow, but the rest of the time we have wonderful weather, seldom warmer than 70 or 75 degrees," he says.

"But the mosquitoes! There are more mosquitoes there than in Texas and Louisiana put together," he declares. "During the summer when I was on the Yukon, we had to wear head nets and close protection." Alaska consists mostly of mountains and tundras, or swamplike regions, although there are many good farming areas.

The Alaskan farmer's main problem, Thomas said, is the production of a good money crop. The 100-day growing season allows the farmer to grow a good many vegetable and grain crops, and the experiment station of the University of Alaska at Fairbanks is experimenting at present with wheat, oats and other grains to find crops best suited to the area.

Farming in Alaska presents a challenge. Of homesteaders taken to Alaska in past years, only about 40 percent have stuck it out. One of the larger farm communities is Palmer, 55 miles from Anchorage, with a good road between. But Homer, a farm community 75 miles away, has no transportation contact with larger towns but by air, although a road is under construction at present.

Anchorage, with its population of 14,000 is one of the largest cities in the total Alaskan population of 100,000. Because entertainment facilities are few, lodges and organizations flourish, and almost all fraternal orders are found there. Movies are usually about 60 days late, Thomas says. Well over a million dollars was spent on a movie theatre recently constructed in Anchorage by an old sea captain of the Klondike gold rush days.

Other than fishing and mining, the government agencies offer the major part of the employment in the Alaskan towns, which are usually about half native in population.

A copy of the Anchorage Daily Times, Nov. 22, lists food prices consistently double ours. One striking statement on the front page notes: daylight today, 6 hours, 44 minutes.

Thomas likes to return to Pampa every two or three years to visit his old friends, but he is staying with his boyhood ambi-

Next of Kin Asked Not to Go to Port

SAN ANTONIO — Next of kin of the war dead were urged today not to go to San Antonio upon receipt of the initial telegram advising them that the remains have returned to the United States.

"When the ship reaches the port of entry telegrams are sent to the next of kin advising them of the return of the remains," Lt. Col. S. H. Partridge, Chief of the American Graves Registration Division at Fort Sam Houston, said. "The purpose of this telegram is to give the families ample time for funeral arrangements, to contact other relatives, and to give us a check on whether the next of kin will be available to receive the remains."

"The remains do not reach the distribution center until 10 days or so after the ship arrives in port. It requires two to three weeks, after arrival at the distribution center, before deliveries can begin. Next of kin have come to San Antonio from considerable distance upon receipt of the initial telegram. Such a trip only adds to the expense and worry as there is nothing we can do for them. Telegrams announcing the actual date of shipment are sent to the next of kin or funeral directors four days before the remains are shipped from the distribution center."

In the final analysis it will be the American people who will determine what they will hear and when and how they will hear it.

Stevenson Life Story Is Told in New Book

Thousands of Texas men and women have written ex-Gov. Coke Stevenson of Junction, urging him to become a candidate for United States Senator in 1948, according to a biography published this week under the title, "Coke of Texas: The Story of Coke Stevenson."

The illustrated book, by Booth Mooney of Dallas, traces Stevenson's public career from the time he became attorney of Kimble County in 1914, through his service as a county judge, legislator, speaker of the House of Representatives, Lieutenant Governor and Governor.

The biography also tells of his youth and early manhood, giving attention to his success as a conservative smalltown businessman as well as to his public service. A number of revealing anecdotes about Stevenson are included.

Electric Power Demands Doubled

FORT WORTH — (AP) — Representatives of 153 electric power cooperatives heard plans yesterday of the Southwestern Power Administration to meet 1948 demands for electric service which are expected to be the heaviest in history.

Douglas Wright, Tulsa, SPA administrator, said that the service load of power-supplying organizations in the Southwest is now double that of the peak wartime period. Increased usage by industrial consumers, plus heavy purchasing of electrical machinery by farmers, accounts for the record use of power, he said.

He Promised to Marry Her Back in 1936

BEAVER, Okla. — (AP) — Something different in breach of promise suits faces 50-year-old Hugh McFarland, wealthy owner of a 10,000-acre ranch near here.

In a suit for $50,000 filed Wednesday in Oklahoma City Federal Court, Mrs. Sylvia Dick, 49, his ex-wife, said McFarland promised in 1936 to marry her again—but never did.

The couple was divorced 32 years ago after little more than a year of wedded life, and the rancher is now married to another woman.

Said McFarland, "It's a free country! Anyone can sue."

Lefors Seniors To Enact Play

LEFORS—(Special)—“You're Young 'Only Twice,” a comedy in three acts by Joseph Spalding, will be presented by the Senior Class of Lefors High School Dec. 8 in the High School Auditorium, 8 o'clock.

With college life as a background, the author brings a group of gay, irresponsible young people and shows the ridiculous complications that follow their attempts to prove the importance of the rising generation.

The action occurs in a sorority house at State University where Agatha Dunning (Barbara McCullough), who has been teaching school for 20 years, returns for graduate work and elects to live at the Sorority House and visit with the House Mouser, a former school mate, Mrs. Trigg (Sara Arlington).

The girls do not like Agatha, an old-fashioned “fogey,” who can find nothing right with the modern generation, and they would like to get rid of her. Van Wyck Waterhouse (Berryman Breining), All-American football hero, would also like to get rid of her because his father Van Wyck Waterhouse, Sr. (Ogden) has asked her to supervise his studies. They decide to make a fool out of her. With the help of the college “Romeo” (Rudy Reche), who pursues her madly, they carry out their plans which “boomerang,” bringing success to Agatha who comes out on top.

Leaves From a Correspondent's Life Note Book

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—(P)—In the great Twentieth Century drive to wipe out special privilege in the world, one small class has escaped legislative attention. I am speaking of hermits. Congress should get after these scorn-munching life dodgers.

The banker and the employer class claim the New Deal blackened them. Labor says it now is getting lumps on the skull from the Taft-Hartley Act. Nurses complain they are overworked, school-teachers grumble they are underpaid. Hollywood thinks it is being persecuted, housewives moan nobody appreciates them. High prices have put us all through the wringer.

It has been a rough century for every class except the hermits. How long are we going to let these fugitives from life's disorder run wild in the woods, laughing and scratching themselves and evading all responsibility?

Why should the rest of us walk the treadmill of the commonplace, wearing callouses on our brains figuring out ways to pay the butcher, the baker and the candlestick manufacturer? Why, indeed, when escapes from this routine are allowed to roam about the underbrush, frightening the rabbits and confusing innocent squirrels, and with no worry except what bush their next berry is coming from!

The contrast between the common man's thrall and the hermit's freedom threatens the basis of our whole social order.

Hermits have had it too easy for too long. They don't have to pay income taxes, wait on street corners for their wives, fawn on bosses, shave, take saps from children, stand still for a public opinion poll, or go to cocktail parties. The wind fans them free for nothing, a stream is up their mirror, the moon their lamp.

The cricket serenades them with his rusty-sweet fiddle, one small tune in nature's endless music. And the wood thrush never bores them with the mouldy preamble: "Stop me if you've heard this one." He just opens his small beak and lets go, pouring joy from a feathered container.

The possibility of a third world war never ploughs furrows in the brows of hermits, because the bulletins on the start of the second world war never reached them. They take a night cab to something you keep handy to throw at a root owl. They can whistle all morning, and if their sacas itch they can rub against a snaggy oak tree all afternoon. They can pick their teeth in public and the deer won't complain.

Texas Today

BY JACK RUTLEDGE
Associated Press Staff
If you're a cross-word puzzle fan, you'll love Mayor G. H. Lasater of Tyler. He proclaimed one special day in November as "community crossword puzzle day."

The Tyler Morning Telegraph naturally, plastered it all over page one, complete with the day's cross-word puzzle.

The mayor urged the active participation of all citizens, and added: "I further designate the hours of 6 p. m. to 9 p. m. as a period in which all literate men, women and children of the city of Tyler are urged to lay aside their labors and cares and join in the community observance by working a cross-word puzzle to the best of their abilities."

Speaking of newspapers, the Spanish edition of the Brownsville Herald was 13 years old last month. It is one of the very few Spanish editions of a Texas Daily published in the state.

It has grown from a one-page paper into one of several pages daily, with a circulation of many thousand over the lower Rio Grande Valley, and in the Mexican border towns of Matamoros, and Reynosa.

Oscar J. Del Castillo, the editor of "El Heraldo De Brownsville," was also its originator. Thirteen years ago he suggested to the late J. M. Stein, then publisher of the Herald, that such a daily would click.

Stein said okay, so Oscar went to work. He owned his own motorcycle and airplane, and worked them to death gathering news. He, the motorcycle and the plane got in a lot of people's hair, but he got his news, translated news from the wire and news turned in by local reporters, wrote headlines, laid out the pages, nursed the paper through the composing room—and then went out for more news.

He also wrote a daily column, and an occasional editorial. Incidentally, it is the only Spanish daily south of San Antonio and Laredo.

News item for newsmen: The publisher of the McKinney Daily Courier-Gazette carries the name of everyone on the paper, from general office manager down the apprentices in the shop.

Keynotes of World Peace to Be Theme Of Special Program

SHAMROCK—(Special)—“As Others See Us,” will be the subject discussed by Guy Hill, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, when he is featured in an address by the North Ward Parent-Teacher Association Dec. 9, at Clark Auditorium.

“Keynotes of World Peace,” will be the general theme of the program. Mrs. J. Everett Smith will be in charge of a group of students from her speech class, who will make talks on peace.
