Downtown Stroller

Here's one we never heard before that Mrs. W. R. Ivey got off to a group of us still lingering over some very fine food. "Do you have to look in an almanac to see if you are full?" We like that....

Mrs. S. A. McComb was telling a group about her new baby, Sammie, and some of the women were asking her about when she fed the baby in the early morning. She said the baby got a bottle at 1 o'clock in the morning but that Mrs. McComb got up and fixed it. He told somebody, according to Mrs. McComb, "I used to just cook breakfast, but now I cook all night." (And wouldn't give up his job at all, according to those who know him)....

Mrs. H. E. Dunning was presented with several pieces of beautiful silverware as deputy grand matron of the Order of Eastern Star. As the guests started to leave, they found Mrs. Dunning counting her silver. They really kidded her over that....

Mrs. Willard Read is sure that the next time she makes a caramel pie, she is going to be a lot more careful. Seems the caramel splashed on her finger and she put her finger to her mouth and burned both her lips and her finger....

A working team that gets along as beautifully as any we have ever seen are the West Texans. Mrs. R. E. Blount, Mrs. J. L. Billings and Mrs. F. J. Gibson. Nobody tries to run the show but they all work for the best interests of the trio. As a result, they have one of the finest trios we ever heard.

Colors of pink and white were carried out in decorations and in the birthday cake and candles. Those attending joined in a play period before refreshments were served to Jacqueline Smith, Frances Gibson, Dan Mitchell, Bannelle Green, Albert Chaik McGhee, Jr., Maryland and Lou Anna Hicks, and Jimmy, Emma June and Harold George Hamill of Odessa, and Alice and Bobby Smith of Odessa, and the honoree.

Battle On Truck Load Limit Starts Tonight In Capitol

AUSTIN, Jan. 29 (Sp) — Doors opened today for the first round in what might be one of the toughest battles of the legislature—truck load limit legislation.

Given emergency status by Governor W. Lee O'Daniel, the subject was set for hearing at a night session of the senate highways and motor transportation committee.

As battle lines formed here was the setup, calculated to rattle the committee room rafters with oratory.

Governor O'Daniel recommended doubling the present 7,000-pound net load limit.

Already on the committee's calendar when the governor sent in his emergency recommendation was a bill by Senator Rogers Kelley of Edinburg regulating weight on a gross basis and legalizing net loads up to about 35,000 pounds.

Smaller maxima would sometimes apply to trucks by application of a scientific formula.

No one introduced a bill embodying the chief executive's recommendation and Kelley took the position the hearing was wide open to any load limit proposal.

The governor labeled the Kelley bill too fancy to achieve immediate success.

Pass the 14,000-pound regulation immediately and then take all the time you want to debate the scientific measure, he said in effect.

But sponsors of the scientific proposal—it regulates gross weight by a formula using tire widths, distance between axles and other factors—were adamant.

They marshaled forces to support arguments it was the only one capable of placing load restrictions on an intelligent basis, removing a noose from the neck of the trucking industry, eliminating a serious interstate trade barrier and commanding respect for a law which is now flagrantly violated because of its impracticability.

The rail carriers, traditional foe to bigger truck loads, were reported willing to take a 14,000-pound figure without a fight but friends of the scientific bill claimed doubling the present limit would be of no real aid to shippers.

They intended offering engineering evidence showing application of the formula would keep the combined weight of any truck and load within the limits of safety.

Safety was a big factor in previous load limit fights, none of them successful for repeals.

Opponents of larger loads say bigger trucks would result in danger to the traveling public and shorten the life of roads but proponents claim trucks in use can haul much more weight than now permitted to.

Esteemed Chinese Send Honored Brothers In Homeland Results Of Night's Session At Fan Tan

DETROIT, Jan. 29 (Sp)—In the esteemed court of the Honorable Recorder's Judge Joseph A. Gillette there appeared 30 Chinese.

The charge was gambling.

One evening recently Police Lt. Kennedy Lawrence and a raiding party had dropped in at a store basement. The Chinese, said Lawrence, were playing fan tan and hoot know.

To be sure, said the defendants, but it was not for money. It was for buttons.

On a table were two gallons of red liquid, described by the lieutenant as "something to drink."

"This esteemed police officer is mistaken," said an interpreter. "It is ink used by laundry men for laundry slips."

"It is paint," said a second interpreter.

At the head of the basement stairs, Lawrence testified, was a sign in Chinese characters saying "gambling downstairs."

"Error," said the first interpreter. "It says 'pay your relief funds downstairs.'"

"My friend, you are wrong again," put in the second interpreter. "It says 'gifts for China downstairs.'"

The lieutenant's men seized $408.74 in cash. That, said the Chinese, was for the relief fund.

An anonymous letter had come to the lieutenant saying that gambling was to be conducted at the premises. There was a map showing location of the tables.

"Obviously," said the first interpreter "this is the work of a Japanese fifth columnist."

Judge Gillette here halted testimony. He found the group guilty and, suspending sentence, asked them to produce their available cash.

He collected $28. He directed that this, along with the $408.74, be sent to the Detroit council for Chinese relief.

Shelter Built For $2 Saves London Family

LONDON — Seven lives were saved by a shelter which cost only 10 shillings to build when a high explosive bomb fell only three feet away.

The full blast of the bomb hit it, but it still stands on the edge of a huge crater.

The walls were pushed in, but the occupants were unhurt.

The shelter consisted of a hole in the ground roofed with corrugated iron and lined with planks.

Wild West 'Hoosgow' For Festival Stolen

OGDEN, Utah—The general committee of Ogden's annual pioneer days celebration has decided that a festive occasion can be carried too far.

"When our celebration 'hoosgow' turns up stolen," commented Clyde McFarland, of the dress-up committee, "it isn't a joking matter."

The diminutive wooden-barred jail, which was designed for citizens of Ogden who declined to become westernized by donning frontier regalia, disappeared a few days before the celebration. And justice to the offenders also vanished.

Dog's Taxi Fare Extra, Passenger Leaves Animal

OKLAHOMA CITY—Roy Ledford, Oklahoma City taxi driver, felt uneasy when he permitted a passenger to enter with a dog.

"That'll be an extra fare for the dog," Ledford said, when he pulled up to the passenger's destination.

"Keep the dog, yourself," was the fare's answer, as he stepped out of the car and walked away.

Steers Take Lead, Keep It All The Way

LAMESA, Jan. 29. (Sp.)—Taking the tip-off and counting two points on a crisp by Peppy Blount, Big Spring took the lead and never relinquished it, defeated Lamesa's basketballers 24 to 14 at Lamesa Tuesday night.

Blount was high point man of the game with four field goals for eight points, while Billy Womack, flashy Big Spring forward, was a close second with seven points. Lamesa's Reeves took the scoring lead for his club with a total tally of five.

Big Spring was in the lead, 12 to 8, at the close of the half and gained momentum in the basket tossing department soon after the frame got underway. Womack dropped two shots and Blount completed one to wind up the evening's performance.

In a rough and tumble contest following the initial game, the Big Spring B's downed Lamesa's B's with a 29 to 1 count. Lamesa jumped into a 2-point lead early in the struggle on a field goal by Carmichael but this rally was short-lived.

Blake Talbot of Big Spring was high point man with nine field goals for 18 markers, while Lamesa's Wade got second with a total of nine points.

Fascists Say Demonstrations Prove Loyalty

ROME, Jan. 29. (AP)—The fascist press hailed today popular demonstrations of enthusiasm in Milan, Turin and Verona as giving lie to reports that these cities were hostile to the war.

Fascists in all three paraded last night and cheered Premier Mussolini, Reichsfuehrer Hitler the armed forces of Germany.

The demonstrations were described as the spontaneous reaction to "nonsense" published abroad that German troops had quelled rioting in northern Italy.

(Such reports of alleged rioting were broadcast last Saturday by the Columbia Broadcasting System on the basis of its Belgrade correspondent's dispatches.)

In each of the cities provincial party leaders addressed crowds, expressing devotion to Mussolini and scorn for the foreign reports casting doubt on the patriotic attitude of their supporters.

Telegrams assuring the duke of the solidarity of northern Italian fascists were sent from all three cities.

Mussolini's newspaper, Il Popolo d'Italia of Milan, said the reaction was what such "stupidities" the foreign reports merited.

Writing in Il Telegramma, Giovanni Nascido said that "some recent military events have saddened the country," but that no responsible person interpreted this as a sign of the "abandonment of the fight or timid resignation to the enemy's initiative."

Cager Averages 22 Points Each Game

PHILIPPI, W. Va., Jan. 29. (AP)—If Ken Griffith, who plays forward—a lot of forward—for Alderson Broadside college, scores 20 points against Salem tomorrow night, it won't be news. He has an average of 22.25 points for 12 basketball ball games this season.

But if Griffith scores 22 points, it will be news, for Hank Lohse, who played a better-than-fair game for Stanford several years back, will assume the status of a "former" college basketball scoring champion.

That is to say that Kenneth Griffith, six-foot, two-inch star who plays for a little Baptist college with an enrollment of less than 200, is about to replace the Stanford flash in the sports record books.

Magic Fingers Help Tigers Win Games

DETROIT—Denny Carroll hasn't thrown a baseball or swung a bat for years—but when the Detroit Tigers cut up their World Series meion last year a slice as big as any went to Denny Carroll.

Denny, with his roll of tape, the magic in his fingers, and his vast knowledge of the baseball player's mental and physical makeup, practically won the pennant for the Tigers in 1940.

That's what the experts say. The players, by voting Carroll a full share of their World Series purse, showed that they recognized his value.

Denny, after 33 years of treating baseballers' ills, retired this year at 61. His record is full of almost miraculous cases, but he saved his best performance for the finale.

The Tigers that won the American league pennant last season were no healthy bunch of young, fiery athletes. Denny's taps was all that held them together at the seams, his magic-working fingers alone kept the aged legs and arms going at a championship pace. Have a look at what he did:

He took Schoolboy Rowe, dead arm and all, and transformed him from a helpless, puzzled near-cripple into a hurler good for 16 games against 3 Joes in a dog-fight pennant race. He worked on Dick Bartell until the little shortstop, bed-ridden with arthritis the year before and miserable in every joint, played 139 games with a fervor and dash that inspired the rest of the club.

He took the kinks out of Charley Gehring's back, the kinks which had threatened to cause Charley's retirement. He kept the aging Pete Fox in shape, helped Pinky Higgins recover from a spine wound that had threatened to stop Pinky down to a career-wrecking pace. Red Kress, to be available for utility duty, had to wear plenty of Denny's tape.

Denny, who worked in a field flooded with new healing gadgets, remained a firm believer in the stretching system he used on his swimmers when he started training athletes some 25 years ago.

For 23 years Carroll was trainer of the San Francisco Seals. Big league players heard about him from players who moved in from the coast. They flocked to him, his reputation spread, and many major league clubs tried to obtain his services.

Ten Years At Detroit
Denny, liked it on the coast, though, and stayed there until 10 years ago when he moved into Detroit. Players from all clubs in both leagues plagued him. He became so overworked that Mickey Cochrane, then Tiger manager, finally had to put a ban on outside services.

It wasn't all muscle work that made Denny so popular as a healer. Ballplayers tell you that he was a master psychologist. One performer he would berate and fail. Another he would praise, the while he worked soothingly on the player's ailment.

Whatever his methods, they often proved successful where others failed. Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker, Babe Ruth and Herb Pennock all spent profitable time on Denny's table. When the baseball wise men said Lefty O'Doul was through, the southpaw went to Carroll. The next year Lefty led the National league pitchers. "He'll never pitch again," they said of Dutch Reuther. Carroll took him in hand and Dutch won 29 games in the Pacific Coast league the following season.

Texas' Farm Income Gains

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. (AP)—Farm income in the north central states, including Texas, was up 21 per cent last November as compared with the same month in 1939.

A report issued by the bureau of agricultural economics showed gain for the first eleven months of 1940 over the same period of the previous year.

Income for Texas farmers for the first eleven months of 1940 was $31,930,000, including $79,208,000 benefit payments; while in the same period of 1939 the total was $30,532,000, including $97,880,000 in benefit payments.

Italians Take Greek Positions

ROME, Jan. 29. (AP)—The Italian high command today announced the capture of important Greek positions on the Albanian battlefield.

The Italians also announced that their planes had bombed military objectives at the Greek port of Salonika on the Aegean sea and railway lines leading into Athens. Five "jet" planes were said to have been downed, and Italian plane losses were put at two.

In the Libyan war, the Italians reported they had repulsed an attack by a British armored division south of Derna with noteworthy losses to the attackers.

In East Africa, the Italian high command reported a British attack had been repulsed in the Galabat area on the Sudanese front, while fascist attacks were said to have caused the British to fall back on the Kenya Colony border.

British air raids on Amara, capital of Eritrea, were said to have caused no damage.

German Justice Minister Dies

BERLIN, Jan. 29. (AP)—Reichs Minister of Justice Franz Guertner, 59, died last night after a short illness, an official announcement disclosed today.

Guertner, who died in his Berlin home, had been minister of justice since 1932. He held office in the Von Papen and Schleicher cabinets and was reappointed by Adolf Hitler in 1933. The re-appointer bestowed membership in the Nazi party upon him in 1937.

In 1934, Guertner inaugurated the people's court to deal with cases of high treason and espionage.

Guertner's death was said to have been caused by influenza and a weak heart.

Fruit Growers Vote On Crop Control

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 29. (AP)—California and Arizona grapefruit growers are balloting this week on a proposal to set up a marketing control program by the surplus marketing administration.

O. M. Lassen, county AAA supervisor here, explained the proposal provided for regulation of grades placed on the market and in actual operation would limit grapefruit available to the best quality types. Lower-quality types would be kept on the trees until a profitable price could be obtained, he reported.

To become effective, the program must be approved by shippers representing 75 per cent of commercial growers.

Burman Studies All Joe's Weaknesses

NEW YORK, Jan. 29. (AP)—Clarence (Red) Burman, a serious student of boxing from Baltimore, should know practically all the methods used so far to beat world champion Joe Louis.

There aren't many, and unless Red can figure out a new one before Friday his chances of carrying off the title in their 15-round set-to in Madison Square Garden won't be very bright.

The few times Louis has been beaten—or even extended over the full route—have resulted from discoveries of something that he didn't quite understand. Max Schmeling, Bob Pastor and Arturo Godoy all managed to catch the Brown Bomber napping once, but they couldn't do it twice.

And the Louis who will face Burman Friday isn't likely to display a very co-operative attitude. He made a weak showing against Al McCoy the last time out, and his pride was somewhat bruised by the experts' comments. On such occasions, he usually comes back with one of his most devastating performances. He'll be bigger than ever, too, scaling perhaps 205 pounds. Joe hasn't been able to do as much road work as usual up at Greenwood Lake because of the weather, but his handlers point out that six or seven miles through deep snow are just as effective in developing legs as 15 miles over dry footing.

Burman's preparatory studies have been devoted to movies of various Louis fights and of his chief sponsor, Jack Dempsey, against Jess Willard. He and his handlers have picked out what flaw they could find in the champion's style and mistakes that caused the downfall of Joe's opponents.

From these, they have evolved three ideas: (1) for Red to employ a half-crouching, weaving style, something like Dempsey; (2) for him to try the overhand right that was Max Schmeling's surprise weapon; after he discovered Louis had a habit of dropping his left shoulder after delivering a jab; and (3) to aim his attack at the champion's body.

"Nobody has worked on Joe's body yet, so why can't I try it?" Red asked yesterday. "Louis expects you to stand off and take that jab to the face, then let him cross a right. It won't be like that Friday night."

It's just possible that Burman has figured out a way to surprise the champion, who isn't noted for his quick reaction to unfamiliar tactics. But Joe has some able thinkers around him, as was shown when Schmeling's right, Bob Pastor's "bicycle" and Arturo Godoy's deep crouch failed the second time. He won't likely be fooled by borrowed tactics.

Burman, too, has made his mistake, the worst being that of getting his chin in front of a haymaker in the first round or two. That's the kind of error no one can afford to make against Louis.

The experts are saying that if Red can get past the first five rounds, the fight should go the limit.

But they're not betting he will be around for the sixth.

Mexican Prisoners Required To Fight

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 29. (AP)—Compulsory military training for all able-bodied male inmates of the federal district penitentiary was inaugurated today under direction of army officers appointed by the secretary of national defense.

Prisoners, equipped with wooden guns, will be given two hours of drill and instruction in the manual of arms daily.

Back To The Old Grind

Old Texon Discovery Rig Saved For Memorial

By TONY SLAUGHTER Associated Press Staff The old Santa Rita No. 1 Reagan county discovery oil well in Texas that led to the biggest drilling campaign the southwest has ever known, continues to give her daily production of eight barrels each, 24 hours a day but the scenery around this "model town of the world" isn't the same.

Trailer Tintypes

The old rig will have a place so close to the new petroleum building because it would interfere with construction. There's going to be a ceremony at Austin when the rig is completed. The plans are indefinite but the widow of Cromwell, and their daughter, Carlene, both of San Angelo, are expected to be on hand for the ceremonies.

370 Persons Die In Bucharest During Riots

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Jan. 29. (AP)—(Passed by military censor)—First official figures on casualties in last week's revolt, given out by the ministry of interior, said the Bucharest death toll alone included 370 men and women who either were killed in Banessa Forest on the edge of the city, or died in hospitals. It said there were 444 wounded who were carried to Bucharest hospitals. The known dead in the provinces as listed in the official announcement were 14 army men. Thirty-two civilians were listed as injured. Among the first prisoners sentenced by court martial for participating in the revolt were 17 students at the army school for aviation officers. They were given terms ranging up to 10 years' hard labor, or solitary confinement. No death sentence has been announced publicly. Premier General Ion Antonescu of Rumania said in a message to Adolf Hitler that, at the height of the crisis, he had told the Rumanian people he was given strength by the knowledge that "the loyal shadow of the German Fuehrer stands behind me."

with me, I always get sleepy when I try to read nights." David laughed. "That's my trouble, too," he said. "Don't let it worry you."
 Polly was sitting on the steps when David reached the Jenkins cottage. Aunt Susan hadn't been feeling any too well, and had gone to bed as soon as the evening meal was over.
 "Well, Sweetness," David said, "here I am—What's on your mind?"
 "I've lost my job," said Polly. There it was out! She had been wondering all day just how she would break the news to David, and in the end she had done it by using just four short words. "Miss Lucy's niece arrived last night. She's starting to work right away as cashier."
 David sank down upon the steps. He took one of Polly's hands in his.
 "So that's what's been troubling you," he said. "I knew there was something wrong the day we had the picnic. Did you know then?"
 "No," said Polly, "but I suspected it."
 "Well, buck up!" David said cheerily. "What's a little job more or less?"
 "Thanks, David, for trying to be cheerful about it," said Polly. "But it happens that the job meant a lot to me. Of course, Aunt Susan and I can get along in a fashion off what's left of Father's life insurance, but— I hate living off my capital likes that."
 "You don't have to," said David. "You can marry me at once, and everything will be hunky-dory. I'm sure you'll have no trouble raising this cottage of Aunt Susan's. He lifted her hand he held, and laid it against his lips. "See, Sweetness, how easily everything can be settled!"
 Polly's Fian
 "No, David, I don't," Polly replied. "That's what I wanted to tell you—that and about losing my job. I want you to forget marrying me for a time. Just go on as though we had never planned to marry at all—" She motioned David to silence as he started to protest. "I'd rather have it that way, David. I simply will not marry you until I feel I'm not going to be a burden, Aunt Susan and me. You and Peter are getting along wonderfully together, and—and—I'd rather just drop the matter of our getting married."
 "But, Polly," said David, "that's just downright foolish of you. I know I'm not making much of a salary at the moment, but I'll get a raise. The four of us can pitch in together, and manage things like nobody's business."
 "No, David," Polly said, "I'd rather not." She gazed out over the yard. "I've been doing a lot of thinking here of late, about you—and me, and Margo Powers."
 "What's she got to do with it?" said David.
 "Maybe nothing at all, and maybe a lot," Polly answered. "But I think you ought to be free to get a little fun out of life."
 "Fun out of life!" David exclaimed. "Darn it all, I'm sick of hearing that expression. You and I have planned to marry for years, and now—"
 "And now it's time we acted like adults," Polly cut in. "I sometimes think propinquity had a lot to do with our falling in love. You know, being thrown together so much, misery loving company, all that sort of thing. And—and I want to leave you free to look around, David—take time to see what other girls are like."
 "Listen, little idiot," said David. "It all sounds screwy to me. He bent so that he could look directly into Polly's face. "Are you by any chance saying all this as a roundabout way of telling me you're in love with another man?"
 "Of course not! What a silly thing to ask!"
 "Well, darned if I get it!" said David.
 "It's simple as falling off a log."

said Polly. "All I'm doing is postponing our marriage indefinitely. Things just aren't like I want them when I marry you."
 "Then you aren't giving me the gate—permanently?"
 "I'm not really giving you the gate at all, David," said Polly. "We'll go on seeing each other—working together out at the Inn—all that sort of thing; but we're not to go up a lot of time talking marriage."
 "Okay," said David. "I know you well enough to know there's no need trying to change your mind. But listen to this, Polly—you are going to be my wife some day, and that's that!"
 "All right, David, if it's any comfort to you to go on thinking that, there's nothing I can do about it—"
 David got up.
 "You can't look me straight in the eye and say you don't love me—or can you?"
 "No, David, I can't."
 "Well, that's something!" said David. He suddenly caught Polly to him. "Be as foolish as you want to about our marriage," he said. "But I love you—I love you—I love you."

terjected, "will go far to stiffen the morale necessary for her to survive that crisis."
 Speaking of axis "vulnerability," Stimson said that "Italy is already in serious straits," and that the German army "is spread out very thin and already in Italy and in Roumania and in Norway we begin to hear the creaks of the strain under which German power is laboring."
 The Japanese army, he continued, was spread out even thinner than the German, and the country was economically strained.
 If Britain survives the next several months, he said, "the axis powers cannot indefinitely hold even the European world in slavery" for they would be without seapower and the control of the air would be against them.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 (AP)—Three amendments to the administration's British-aid bill, including a mid-1943 time limit on its grant of presidential powers, were reported to have been voted today by the house foreign affairs committee.
 Meeting behind closed doors while Secretary of War Stimson testified before the senate foreign relations committee, the house foreign group was reported to have accepted modifications to:
 Fix June 30, 1943 as the expiration date of the lend-lease powers proposed in the legislation.
 Require President Roosevelt to consult his army and navy chiefs before transferring military equipment.
 Require periodic reports to congress on lease-lend operations.

Big Spring and Stanton were included Wednesday in a list of municipalities delinquent in PWA project bonds purchased by the RFC.

Musical Auto Horns Illegal in Macon

MACON, Ga.—If your horn tootles "The Sidewalks of New York" or "God Bless America" whenever you pass a car, stay out of Macon.
 Chief of Police Ben T. Watkins has dug up a city law which states that an auto horn is a one-note signal for warning purposes only. Indiscriminate, if tuneful, tootling is a violation, says the chief, and tootlers will be prosecuted.

The average Scotchman is one-tenth of an inch higher than the average Englishman and nearly three inches higher than the average Italian.

AIM THE PLANE and the bomb will take care of itself. A good deal has been written of dive bombing by airplane but it is not generally realized that this method of attack was developed in America. Above, Air Corps Flying Cadets at Randolph Field, Texas, are shown by an instructor (kneeling) how the line of flight of a diving plane controls the bomb's aim. Here, dummy planes, a toy ship and a piece of string suffice. Later, at advanced training schools, the embryo pilots will try the real thing as their ships speed over a target area. Uncle Sam needs more Flying Cadets.

Court Studies Damage Case

The court had under advisement points of law presented by counsel for both sides Wednesday in the damage suit brought by the Rev. A. B. Lightfoot, Ector county, against the City of Big Spring.
 Meanwhile, divorces were granted to Bertha Lee Morton on cross-section from Rufus E. Morton and had her maiden name of Bailey restored; Lula Mae Lindsey from Alvin Carl Lindsey with custody of minor child to plaintiff and defendant ordered to pay $10 monthly to support of the child; and Dixie Lucille Hogg from Jim Hogg and maiden name of Hunt restored.

New Center Point Trustee Named

Howard county board of trustees Tuesday named Melvin Loudamy to succeed Floyd Moore as trustee in the Center Point district. Moore had moved to the R-Bar district.
 Balance of $2,093.10, which cleared up the 85-cent per scholastic assessment for county administration, was received by the county superintendent's office, it was announced. At the same time the For- san district had another replacement problem on its hands with the resignation of R. O. Oliver as band director to accept a similar post at Killen, Texas.

First Legless Aviator Is WPA Timekeeper

SEATTLE, Wash.—George Copping, 24, a WPA timekeeper who studied flying in his spare time, today claims distinction as the world's only legless pilot.
 He began his flying lessons in October, 1938. After working hours on his federal job, he was employed as handyman at a flying school. Instead of taking pay for the latter post, he took lessons.
 Three months after starting his aviation course, Copping was making solo hops.

DON'T BE JEALOUS OF DEFENSE BOOM TOWNS: THEY'LL DEFLATE

NEW ORLEANS, La., Jan. 20 (AP)—Real estate appraisers were told today that they faced a great test in the near future because they will have to make valuations in booming defense areas, which, in a few years, may be "ghost towns."
 The warning was sounded by Ralph Y. Field of Galveston, Ill., former president of the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers, in an address prepared for delivery at the south central regional conference of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.
 Field said, by way of illustration, that an appraiser might be called to estimate the value of an office building in a town near a large defense industry. Rents are rising, he said, and there is great demand for office space.
 "Should we regard this very great increase in rentals in such a property as permanent, or as lasting two or three or five years?" Field asked. "Is the city to be permanently bettered by virtue of a considerable influx of population, or will, when the war program is worked out, the result be a ghost city?"
 Appraisals at the present time or in the near future, he asserted, are "likely to require more thought, more study, more hard work, more common sense, and more integrity than ever before in the history of appraisal practice in the United States."
 He added that the "appraiser is justified now perhaps as never before in taking the position that the ultimate destiny of the United States is leadership of civilization on its onward march."
