Total production of crude oil in the Robert-Settles pool of Howard and Glascock counties for the 6 months ending February 15, was 4,144,056 barrels.

The application was presented by the Pecos and Northern Texas, a subsidiary of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, and contemplated extension from Hale Center to Parmer, both points in Texas.

The committee already has authorized the Fort Worth and Denver Plains company which is connected with the Burlington system to build a new line in this territory.

The decision today said that the Santa Fe construction proposed would parallel the Denver South Plains line throughout its length, a distance of 13 miles, and would represent an unjustified duplication of railroad facilities, particularly in view of the development of highway and truck traffic.

The Denver South Plains line was deemed adequate to serve the territory under the condition prevailing and the $2,000,000 Santa Fe extension was held not necessary.

Big Spring Boys Win Places On All-Star Team

In selecting the five best players for an all-district basketball squad following the district meet held at Roby last week end, Prexy Anderson, sports writer for the Abilene Reporter-News, gave Buren Edwards of Big Spring, an outstanding player on the Steer team, places center.

Edwards of the semi-final Big Spring club, was the central cog in that machine, handling himself and the ball well, leading his team in scoring and collecting only four fouls in three games.

Big Spring's style of playing was favorably commented on, and her squad provided some of the best material in the district meet, in which fourteen teams participated.

Fred Fields, another Steer from Big Spring, was given a place as guard on the second team chosen by Mr. Anderson. Hutto of Big Spring, was given a place as forward on the third team string.

Big Spring undoubtedly played wonderful basketball at this meet. All of the boys made a fine showing, and we have a team that the school and whole town should be proud of.

IF STEWART IS OUSTED

If Colonel Stewart is ousted from the presidency of the Standard of Indiana on March 7, he will not be out of a job very long. According to Wall street publications, plans are already under way, in anticipation of his defeat, to place him at the head of a new combination of independent oil companies.

Big business isn't concerned, in other words, with the ethical questions involved in the Standard's contest. If a man can deliver the dividends, it is for him. Such questions as whether he gave false testimony to the senate committee, whether he acted improperly in the matter of the Continental Trading company, whether he showed contemptuous disregard of the people's representatives, are of no weight. They are something less than academic. They rank, so far as big business is concerned, with a theological discourse by a street-corner preacher, something to divert the man waiting for a taxi.

Big business is half a century behind the times, in its ethical conceptions. The ousting of Stewart from the Standard of Indiana will mean little, so far as it affects the business world as a whole, if leaders of business condone his sins and take him again to their bosoms. —Wichita Times.

LINDY WILL FLY

Herbert Hoover has expressed the hope the Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh will give up flying and stay on the ground, so that the republic will not run the risk of losing so valuable a citizen. Henry Ford has endorsed the idea.

Probably it's a very good idea; but we have a great hunch that it will bear no fruit. Somehow, we just can't picture Lindbergh giving up his plane and taking to earth-bound pursuits. It doesn't seem to be in him.

The matter of risk is overemphasized, anyway. When a pilot is as skilled as Lindbergh, and is flying an up-to-date plane, the element of risk is so small as almost to be non-existent.

LET VARE LOOSE

A political writer in Philadelphia reports that Pennsylvania Republican leaders are supporting Senator-elect William Vare in his fight to gain entry into the U. S. Senate.

A victory for him, they say "would re-weld the shattered Philadelphia organization into an efficient unit and prove of incalculable value to the party in Pennsylvania.

That may be all very true, from a hard-boiled politician's standpoint. But we believe that something of even more value to the party in Pennsylvania would be the complete loss by Boss Vare of all trace of his former power. What might be lost in direct political effect would surely be gained in public confidence. The Pennsylvania machine will never be greatly trusted until Mr. Vare's influence is broken.

THE IMPORTANCE OF TERRACING

You may not have given terracing much thought, but you should in the future. The proper terracing of your farm is one of the best investments you can make.

Every heavy rain that falls on an unterraced farm carries away its fertile soil, and valuable plant food. Terracing consists simply of grading the field so that washing away is either eliminated or greatly reduced.

The federal land banks will not loan money on unterraced farms. They know that, without terracing, their security will be reduced every time it rains. That is something for the landowner to think about, whether or not he wants to borrow money.

THE WHY OF OUR GREAT FIRE LOSS

There are three preminent reasons for the tremendous fire losses of the United States, according to "Safeguarding America Against Fire." First is the type of building construction permitted. In almost every city are sections that offer the fire demon the most perfect opportunity. And even now, through more fire-resistant buildings are going up, there is a percentage of new construction that is not adequately protected against fire.

The second reason is our proverbial carelessness, that blinds us to the danger of throwing lighted cigarette butts into forests or leaving accumulations of inflammable rubbish ready to start conflagrations.

The third reason is that many localities have inadequate fire fighting equipment.

All of these dangers may be removed or at least reduced. The first can be controlled by legislation, education will eventually solve the problem of carelessness (at the present time there is an active movement to educate school children in fire hazards and protection), and the spending of little money will provide any locality with good protective facilities.

In 1927, for the first time in many years, fire losses were appreciably reduced. But we must have several years of progress, before there is grounds for optimism. To attain permanent success every citizen must enlist in the war against fire.

A FARMER THAT THE FARMERS DON'T WANT

Most of this country's secretaries of agriculture have been men whose knowledge of farming was theoretical rather than practical. College professors and farm paper editors have held the portfolio, most of the time. Ever since the department was created there has been more or less agitation for a "dirt farmer" as secretary. Farmers have long felt that the place should be occupied by someone whose knowledge of agriculture was obtained between the plow-handles rather than from books.

Mr. Hoover, according to reports, was inclined to name such a man. When it was determined that Secretary Jardine would not succeed himself, the president-elect let it be known that Thomas D. Campbell of Montana was being considered.

Mr. Campbell is the world's largest wheat farmer. His plows, drills and combines must cover 95,000 acres in planting and harvesting his crop. If it were demanded that a practical farmer be named, it would seem that he filled the bill admirably.

But protests immediately started coming in from farmers' organizations. They said that Campbell was in cahoots with Wall street. They declared that, though his farm was a big one, it was not profitable. Probably they felt that a man with so big a farm would have little sympathy for the small farmer. And so it appears that if Mr. Campbell gets the portfolio he will be in disfavor to start with. Probably it will wind up with one of the theoretical gentlemen in charge of the department, as of old. —Wichita Times.

HOW A MISSISSIPPI FARMER DOES IT

The Southern Agriculturist, published at Nashville, Tenn., devotes a full page in its February issue to setting forth the details of the farm management of Pink Harris of Montgomery county, Mississippi. Mr. Harris is known as "head farmer" of Centra Mississippi. He makes money every year even with full cost accounting which gives him good wages for his own time. He has paid for 450 acres of land, has brought his farm equipment to a high standard, and each year banks a considerable sum, never less, he says, than $5000.

Mr. Harris raises cotton and makes money out of it. He crops a certain field with cotton only so long as he can make it produce a bale to the acre. When the production falls below this figure, he moves his cotton to other land and plants the rundown land in legumes, which restores its vitality in a few years until it is ready again to produce a bale to the acre. But Mr. Harris DOES NOT depend on cotton alone to supply his living and his profit. Here is his scheme of farm management in his own words:

"I can make more money from cotton at a bale to the acre than I can from corn or most anything else, but it takes corn, pastures, hay, hogs and cattle to make cotton profitable. That is why I grow these other crops. I balance my system because it money to do so."

Mr. Harris' record strongly recommends a factor which always enters into balanced farm production and which is possible only with balanced farm production. That factor is rotation of crops which draw heavily on the soil with others which restore to the soil the valuable elements taken out. Cotton drains the soil. Legumes such as grown by Mr. Harris for hay and forage, and for pasture, restore the soil to high productivity. A balanced farm establishment is most efficient because it provides mutual compensations which are necessary for economy. Mr. Harris is not "out" the expense of commercial fertilizer because he builds up his soil by natural fertilization and he makes money from the forage crops and the cattle which are used for this building up.

Farming is becoming more and more a highly competitive business. The efficient farmer is the one who will survive and gain prosperity in addition to the independence of life which must remain as it always has been the chief attraction of farm living. —Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

DON'T NEGLECT THE FOUNDATION

We can't help but realize the importance of devoting a good portion of the proceeds of our present prosperity towards building a foundation for the future. By increasing the poultry and dairy cow population of our county and encouraging land owners to terrace their land and rotate crops we will be starting on the right course. We must go after more manufacturing plants, especially those which might utilize the raw materials so abundant here. Other industries should be encouraged to locate here. Solving our future water supply will greatly aid us in securing more industries.

Securing a north and south railroad, and securing more paved highways should also be our objective while oil developments is at a high tide. Just how big the city is to become will be determined by the effort we put forth to build a sure and dependable foundation. Any city which depends on entirely oil, cotton, coal or any single product will eventually suffer a severe setback.

ABOUT AIRPORTS

Cities that have not yet built airports but are planning to do so should give considerable thought to New York's experience.

New York is surrounded by a chain of excellent flying fields. But all of them are located so far from the city that the time saved by traveling or shipping by plane is largely lost by delays in getting to and from the airports. Now the city is considering spending a high sum to get an airport within shooting distance of its business center.

Often it is physically impossible to locate an airport near a city's business district. But sometimes it is mere negligence that puts it so far out in the country. There's a point that all American cities must consider.

A SURE WAY TO PEP YOU UP

The biggest boosters for Big Spring are those just returned from other points, north, east, south or west. Without a single exception they announce conditions in every way are far better here than in the places they have visited. And they find Big Spring business men are busier and enjoying a more substantial trade than is the case elsewhere. If you get panicky about a slack in business take a trip in their advice.

The stealing of good dogs is the chief outdoor sport of someone here evidently. A small cash reward seems to be the object of these birds. A check up ought to be made to have the guilty one's apprehended.

Competition may be the life of trade—but it certainly is a bogeyman to the fellow who has not learned the value of advertising. Folks are not going to seek your place of business unless you invite them.

Indian Dances Subject Series Of Etchings

ALPINE, Feb. 23.—The ceremonial dances of the Southwestern Indians are the subject of an interesting series of etchings which are causing a great deal of comment at the annual exhibit of living etchers held at the National Arts Club in New York City. The series is the work of a Texas artist, Miss Betty Keefe, Houston artist who heads the art department of the Sul Ross State Teachers College here.

Four etchings compose the exhibit and they portray some of the most interesting and beautiful dances of the Indian Southwest. The subjects are "Feast Dance of the Toas Indians," "Deer Dance of the San Juan Indians," "Black Eagle Dance of the San Juans," and "Buffalo Dance of the Chibchas." Two of the etchings are done in black and white and two in brilliant color, a process which is difficult for the etcher. Nude figures and elaborate head-dresses are characteristic of the groups.

Miss Keefe is well known as a portrayer of the American Indians. Her etchings, "Storm Cloud on Wind" and "Sand-painter," have been exhibited in both New York and Chicago, where they were highly praised and widely sold. Her work is known even in Europe and her methods have been the subject of an article in a French art journal.

The artist is a student of the late Joseph Pennel, greatest American etcher, whom she assisted in New York for several years, and she has studied also in the Chicago Art Institute. She has been the head of Sul Ross art department for three years and she sketches constantly while not teaching. She is impressed with the Davis Mountains and West Texas scenery and now and again she journeys into New Mexico and Arizona to be with her Indians.

Though Miss Keefe is still a very young woman, she is considered by many critics to be one of the greatest living etchers. She is the inventor of the now famous Keefe method or process of etching, and she has many technical contributions to the lore of her favorite field.

Are Now Jockeying for Nearby Leases in Anticipation of New Oil Field Being Opened.

Edwards-Willwood No. 1 on the Willwood ranch in Mitchell county, which created a sensation some twelve days ago when it blew in for a 3,000,000 foot gasser in the limestone with an estimated production of 12,000,000 gallons of gas.

The gas was encountered first, it caught fire and caused thousands of dollars damage to the rig resulted before it was extinguished. Repairs to the rig completed and head installed, drilling was resumed last Friday.

It had gone but three feet beyond the depth where it had been ten days ago when things began to pop. A flow of gas forced the tools several hundred feet up, and mud and rocks were thrown against the well.

No gauge of the gas has been had, some estimate it at 10,000,000 to 12,000,000 cubic feet. Others more conservative say it is more than any well anywhere in this section has ever shown.

Called a dry gas. It has a pronounced petroleum odor first considered a freak because the gas was such a shallow depth, oil men now believe a new well is going to be located, as they believe a new gas field is being developed.

Drilling contracts are in prospect on the Scott and W. L. Lemmons of this city, who own the surrounding the 5,000 acre on which the gas is being sought after by oil men who want acreage.

Our Future Hinges On Our Vision

We keep on hearing of some mighty big propositions headed for Big Spring if the citizens have vision and a willingness to provide the things essential to insure the future of our city.

A water supply adequate for a city of 50,000; a real airport; more rent houses which can be rented to working men at reasonable prices, are just a few of the most important projects demanding immediate attention.

In Memory of Little Billie Tip Boren

About one year ago a little bit of humanity slipped out of the land where the new babies live and came to this old earth searching for a place to live, where he might bring joy and happiness. We found that place in the home of J. D. Boren and wife and their three little sons.

Such a lot of sunshine as he did scatter, because from his dear little soul went every where, one found lodgement in the sad heart of a childless woman and brought a smile to her face. Mothers looked at him wistfully as though hoping their own babies would grow like him.

Little children loved to pet and cuddle him. His brother loved him dearly and his mother and father adored him. But now Little Billie Tip is gone. Perhaps God thought this world too unclean for such a darling to grow up in, or maybe the angels thought heaven needed brightening up a bit, for Friday morning they gently stole down and gathered him up and carried him away with them. So heaven is brighter though this earth is sadder, yet who knows but what Little Billie Tip is happier there.

Lost a dimple baby, young, scarce one year old, eyes of dawn-star lustre, hair of cornsilk gold—seen last in his coffin, hands with flowers filled, small pale mouth was smiling, feet were strangely still, search the sad earth over, search the glad skies through; lost amid the flowers, lost amid the dew; rejoice you heart of mother as you go the long years round, hear God's last day chorus: found, all babies found.

Pioneer West Texan Answers The Last Call

Remains of W. H. Lee Taken to Asperment To Be Laid to Rest. Funeral Services This Afternoon.

William H. Lee, familiarly known as "Uncle Will," died at the home of his brother, E. A. Lee, in the Lees community Saturday morning about 7 o'clock, following a lingering illness. Mr. Lee with his family came to Lees the past November, where he hoped to regain his health but contracted the flu about one month ago, and with complications which followed, was the cause of his death.

"Uncle Will" Lee was born in Meriwether county, Georgia, in 1856, and had reached his seventy-second birthday last July 12. He became a member of the Methodist Church, South, at an early age and lived a consistent Christian life, ready at all times to lend a helping hand to anyone who needed his assistance.

Mr. Lee was married to Carrie Lee in November, 1886, which union was never blessed with children of their own, but his desire to do for others made him a foster father of Major C. McCauley, of Houston, Texas, and the adopted father of two little orphan boys, one who died in infancy, and the other, Little Woodrow Lee, 9 years old, who was left to mourn his father's death, with others who survive, namely his wife, one sister, Mrs. Herbert Posey, one brother, Dr. E. A. Lee, and numerous relatives and friends.

Mr. Lee was a pioneer cattleman of West Texas, moving to Stonewall county from Stephens county some 40 years ago, and was associated with his brother, the late J. M. Lee and Dr. E. A. Lee, in the once famous 3-L Ranch, also known as the Three Lee Ranch.

He served as Sheriff of Stonewall county about 30 years ago, and his administration was noted for his loyalty to his oath and his fairness to his fellowman.

The remains were taken to Stonewall county for interment in the Lee family cemetery on the 3-L Ranch.

That Airport Must Be Landed For This City

We may not realize it but the day of aerial transportation is upon us. Twenty years ago, we never dreamed the automobile would become so numerous, the airplane bids fair to outstrip the automobile because it will not require twenty years for the airplane to win its place in the transportation field.

Just now it is of vital importance that airports be established at points which are likely to prove division points in a nation-wide air mail and passenger service—and Big Spring is being given an opportunity to secure such a division point. In order to secure such an airport as the government will approve it will be necessary to raise $50,000. All but $10,000 of this amount has already been pledged. If you want to keep Big Spring in the front rank aid in securing the balance of the airport fund. If you desire to make a donation get in touch with the Airport Committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Basketball Boys Lose Out in Semi-Finals in Dist. Meet

Big Spring basketball boys made a mighty fine showing at the District basketball meet held at Roby Friday and Saturday, and even though they did not come home with the winners, they deserve much praise. The Steers lost out in the semi-finals Saturday afternoon. Big Spring defeated Snyder by a score of 29 to 11 Friday afternoon and they played fine ball.

Abilene was declared the district winner in basketball honors.

The Herald tried to get a complete report of the games, but because of poor telephone connections between here and Roby, we were unable to understand, and hence could not obtain same for this issue of our paper.

An Unpleasant Subject

All of the functions of life are not pleasant to consider. Perhaps this is why some mothers refuse to think that their symptoms as restlessness, loss of sleep, lack of appetite or itching nose and fingers in their children, can be caused by round or pin worms. Many others have proven, however, that a few doses of White's Cream Vermifuge, that sure and harmless worm expellant, will make these symptoms disappear. You can get White's Cream Vermifuge for 35 cents per bottle from CUNNINGHAM & PHILLIPS.

MARLAND COMPANY PAYS AT RATE OF $6250 PER ACRE FOR TRACT

Anyone who imagines opportunities and big ones are not awaiting them in the oil fields of Howard county, have but to consider a deal of this nature. The Superior Oil Corporation has not owned this 480 acre tract more than a few weeks and one that has been operating therein ever since the Roberts field was first discovered.

The sale of 480 oil producing acres in the Roberts pool of Howard county to the Marland Production Company by the Superior Oil Corporation was confirmed Friday by E. C. Edwards, manager of the Superior Oil Producing Company, a subsidiary of the Superior Oil Corporation. The price paid is said to have been $3,000,000.

The tract included in the sale is the north half of section 136 and the northwest quarter of section 137, block 29, Waaco and Northwest of Railway Company survey. This is in same tract the P. H. E. Oil Company sold to the Moody Corporation for a reported two million dollars.

The Superior Company through the deal, according to Edwards, also will receive from the Marland Company a one-sixteenth overriding royalty in producing acreage in the Allen field of Pontonoc and Seminole counties, Oklahoma, heretofore owned by the Louisiana Oil and Refining Company, but acquired by the Marland Company through the purchase of all the Louisiana company's properties.

Adults Contract Children's Diseases

Adults can, and do, contract many children's diseases. And, usually, they suffer from them much more than children do. For instance, many adult contract worms, an ailment usually associated with children. Sometimes they suffer intensely and take expensive medical treatments, without realizing that worms are the cause of their troubles. Yet, the symptoms are the same as in children, loss of appetite and weight, grinding the teeth and restlessness, itching of the nose and anus and abdominal pains. And, the same medicine that surely and harmlessly expels round and pin worms from children will do the same for adults—White's Cream Vermifuge, which you can get at CUNNINGHAM & PHILLIPS.

Middle Life Troubles

"About twenty years ago, my health was very bad," says Mrs. Mat Howard, of Terrell, Texas. "I was passing through a critical time in my life, and I suffered a great deal. I was not at all strong, and my nerves got all upset. I had hot flashes, and some evenings I would get suddenly so faint I could not stand up. My head would whirl, and I could not see a thing. I would have to lie down for hours at a time. I improved so much after I had taken Cardui for a while. I continued the medicine for some months, until I had passed the critical period. Since then, I have given Cardui to my five daughters. All of them have continued the use of Cardui in their homes. We have all been better for having taken it."

Mexican Dinner and Bridge Gay Affair
 Adding another unusually interesting social date to this week's busy calendar and an affair that was unique and cleverly planned, was the Mexican dinner, given in the lovely new home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hurt, on Friday evening, when they entertained five tables of guests.

Symbols of Old Mexico gave pretty adornment to the entertaining suite, and created an atmosphere of charm and delight, where in guests spent several happy hours.

A Mexican dinner in four courses consisting of enchiladas, Mexican beans, arroz de desopa, meat balls, hot rolls, salad, and frozen baked pudding, coffee and mints. The salad cleverly designed a Mexican sombrero, with a pineapple ring used for the brim, creamed cheese molded as a cone for the crown and a strip of pimiento for the hat band, suggested the chosen theme for the party.

"Peppy Party Pills" were administered by the hostess to each of the guests, and each one had to swallow his dose. Instead of being medicine, the capsules contained instruction as to what was best to aid digestion. One had to crawl under the table and bark like a dog; another had to get down on bended knees and make love to the one he loved; another "stooped to conquer" his handkerchief without bending; and so on, until each in his turn took his dose.

Bridge accessories were placed on the tables following the dinner, and interest was high in the play. At counting time each couple totaled scores. To Dr. and Mrs. H. M. Bennett went the honor of high score, and they were favored with a beautiful hyacinth pot plant in a Mexican flower pot. Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Middleton made low score in the evening games, and they received a piece of Mexican pottery.

Those enjoying this gay hospitality were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Middleton, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Whisenant, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hurt, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hatch, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Price, Mr. and Mrs. V. V. Strahan, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Baker, Dr. and Mrs. M. H. Bennett and Carroll Barnett.

Racquet Bridge Club Entertained Friday
 Mrs. Guy Stinebaugh was the charming hostess to members of the Racquet Bridge Club Friday afternoon, having as guests two tables of players.

Tallies, nup cups, bridge pads and other appointment very effectively carried out a patriotic color scheme of red, white and blue, and also stressed the George Washington birthday motif in a pretty way.

Mrs. Stinebaugh succeeded in making high score among club members in the afternoon play and Mrs. Hayes Stripling won second high, and received a beautiful flower etching.

Cherry pie with whipped cream and hot chocolate were served to the following guests: Mrs. Ray Boller, Mrs. Ed Leslie, Mrs. Hubert Johnson, Mrs. A. Z. Gay, Mrs. Herbert Johnson, Mrs. Joy Stripling, Mrs. Hayes Stripling, and Mrs. Stinebaugh.

Mrs. H. DeVries Has Delightful Bridge Party
 Members of the young social set, society maids and matrons were delightfully entertained in the home of Mrs. H. DeVries, on Friday afternoon, when she was hostess to four tables of bridge enthusiasts.

Dainty bridge accessories were placed on the tables, and by tallies of attractive Washington birthday design, the guests were directed to their places in the play. Mrs. R. Richardson was the lucky winner of high score in the afternoon games, and she was beautifully awarded.

Dainty salads and ices were passed at the refreshment hour.

Mrs. C. T. Watson's S. S. Class Enjoy Party, Friday

Annual Washington Silver Tea Pretty Affair Of The Week

Characterized by the usual beauty and loveliness was the Fourth Annual Washington Silver Tea, given by the members of the Central Ward P. T. A., in the auditorium of the Community Clubhouse, on Washington's birthday anniversary, Friday, February 22nd, between the hours of 4 and 5 o'clock.

Appropriate decorations of flags, cherries, hatchets and other symbols carrying out a color motif of red, white and blue, were effectively used in making the clubhouse festive for this delightful affair.

Small flags, over 50 in number, gave pretty adornment to the stage, windows, and were used at other vantage points in the entertaining rooms. Large white bows, also festooned the window shades, with touches of blue and red thereon to carry out the chosen theme. A large picture of George Washington draped with two large American flags, centered the stage, and provided an appropriate setting for the patriotic program.

Little George Cross, cleverly dressed as George Washington stood at the doorway to greet the guests, and he held the silver plate, where the offering for the afternoon was placed. Little George wore a powdered wig, a pretty black satin coat, trousers of white, with laces, buckles, and other accessories worn during the Colonial period.

Officers of the Central Ward P. T. A. stood in the receiving line, which was headed by Mrs. J. M. Fisher, president of the Central Ward P. T. A. Passing on down the line, the guests were invited to the serving table, over which Martha Washington presided. The table was beautifully laid with a cloth of large patriotic colors, and napkins to match. Centering the table was the large birthday cake, iced in white, with red and blue trimmings, and topped with many tiny red, white and blue candles, which were lighted, and cast a soft glow over the banquet scene. At the end of the table, was the silver service where tea was poured. Mrs. Carl Estes, attractive in a costume of Colonial style, with pink primrose design, cream net tissue, and cameo poured tea, and also Mrs. G. L. Brown, who wore a costume of blue, with net tissue, with touches of black velvet. These two women, graciously and charmingly poured tea, which was served with the birthday cake. Mrs. J. M. Fisher, and Mrs. Claude Wingo assisted in the service.

Guests of the afternoon were delightfully entertained with the following patriotic program:

America, enthusiastically sung by all.

"Little Martha's"—Exercise by 6 little maidens, pupils of Mrs. Ed Hatch's expression class. Each one wore Colonial costumes.

Minuet—Gracefully done by ten girls of Miss Hambrick's dancing class. They too, wore Colonial costumes.

Reading—About George Washington, splendidly given by Gerald Anderson.

Violin Solo—Josephine Winslow and accompanied by Marguerite Winslow.

Talk—"Washington the Father of Our Country," Mrs. W. H. Martin.

Mrs. Martin paid tribute to Washington, and made a talk that was different, and thoroughly enjoyed.

A neat sum was realized from the Annual Silver Tea, which will be used by the Central Ward P. T. A. to supply the needs of the school.

I-Deal Bridge Club Guests At Bridge-Dinner
 A lovely Colonial theme was expressed in the appointments and decorations at the buffet dinner given in compliment to the members of the I-Deal Bridge Club, and their husbands Friday evening with Mrs. Steve Ford and Mrs. M. M. Edwards, cohostesses, entertaining in the spacious Ford home in Edwards Heights.

Around daintily appointed four-course tables, the guests were seated and served a tempting four-course dinner. The menu consisted of fruit cocktail, baked country ham, peas and carrots in cream, candied sweet potatoes with marshmallows, hot rolls, tart jelly, cherry pie a la mode, tea and coffee. Centering each table were beautiful red and white carnations, which lent grace and beauty to the setting.

Prizes went to Mrs. Steve Ford and Mrs. V. H. Flewollen in the bridge games of the evening. Those participating in the play were: Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Piner, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stephens, Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Flewollen, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Lees, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Croft, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. V. V. Montin, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Biles, Mr. and Mrs. R. Richardson, and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Claire.

Radio music was another enjoyed feature of the evening's entertainment.

Quartet of Pretty Big Spring Co-Eds
 Pictures of a quartet of pretty Big Spring co-eds of the Big Spring high school appeared in today's issue of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. Accompanying the pictures was the following write-up:

Loyal Homemakers Are Delightfully Entertained
 Mrs. G. L. Wilke, Mrs. W. W. Inkman and Mrs. J. Fred Phillips, were joint hostesses at a delightful party Friday entertaining the members of the Loyal Homemakers Class of the First Christian church, in the attractive new home of Mrs. Wilke in Edwards Heights.

Mrs. L. A. Eubanks, president of the class, conducted a very interesting business session, and many matters of importance were discussed. Plans for building and maintaining an efficient and wide-awake class were made.

Mrs. Earl Glaser delighted the guests with several piano selections which were thoroughly enjoyed.

At refreshment time, the hostesses, assisted by Misses Helen Hambrick and Mary Alice Wilke, served an unusually tempting refreshment plate holding moulded fruit salad, olives, chipettes, spiced tea, and individual frosted cakes.

The following guests attended this delightful party: Mesdames L. A. Eubanks, Claude Wingo, Harry Lees, Steve Baker, J. E. Crabtree, Earl Reed, Ben O'Daniel, F. R. Peck, F. C. Kendall, Frank Norman, Lucas, Earl Gaiser, Walter Farris, P. Glenn, W. W. Marchbanks, Gene Crenshaw, J. J. Kohanek, Bill Dorn, J. L. Milner, Sol Bledsoe, and Eula Brown Bussey.

South Ward P. T. A. Observes Founder's Day
 The South Ward P. T. A. observed Founder's Day, the 2nd birthday of the Congress of Mothers on Friday afternoon at the South Ward school. A delight program was given by the pupils of the various rooms between the hours of 2 and 3 o'clock.

A big birthday cake, prettily decorated with green and pink candles, the colors of the South Ward school was cut and served with punch to about 30 guests. A birthday offering was taken at this entertainment.

The South Ward P. T. A. has observed all of the special days set aside by the Congress of Mothers, and is now on the honor roll. Such special times as Welfare Week, Thrift Week, Parent's Day, etc., have all been observed with special programs at South Ward.

Bluebonnet Bridge Club Enjoys Gay Party Friday
 Thoroughly delightful in every detail was the club party given on Friday afternoon by Mrs. O. J. Barker at her pretty home on 701 Nolan street, when she had as guests the members of the Bluebonnet Bridge Club.

Emblems of Washington's birthday were used in the party details and appointments for the party. In the series of interesting games high score honor went to Mrs. W. R. Ivey, among the club members. Mrs. Jake Bishop made visitors high score.

A pleasing aftermath to the play was the delicious plate luncheon, consisting of sandwiches, potato chips, olives, individual cherry pie with whipped cream and coffee.

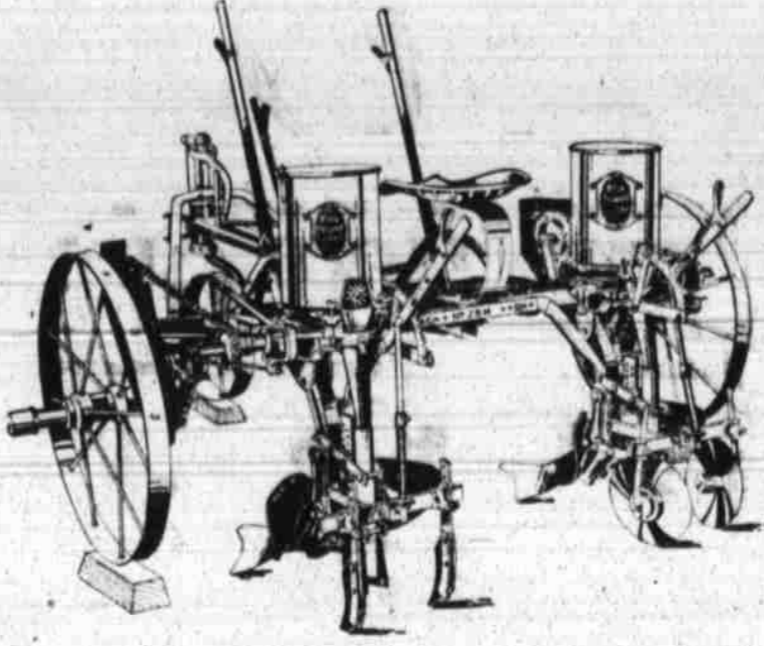

Party favors were painted wooden hatchets.

Besides club members those present were Mrs. Jake Bishop, Mrs. D. E. Waggoner, Mrs. Harry Lester, and Mrs. J. H. Reeves.

Your brain is like that dollar you have in your pocket; it isn't worth much until it is put to work.

Mrs. Pat Halley and daughter of Baird, are guests of this city, visiting Mrs. Gordon Phillips and other friends.

 Plants
ALL YOUR CROPS

Here's a Lister you can't help liking. It's full of good features, The TIP-OVER hoppers permit you to insert or remove plates from the bottom easier than going down through the top, isn't it?

The planting mechanism is driven from both wheels. The automatic take-up insures an even tension of the drive chains, regardless of position of your lister.

Bottoms are adjustable to 34 in., 36 in., 38 in., 40 in., and 42 in. rows, wheels easily spaced to correspond with distances.

Ask us to explain the economical features of the removal sprocket rims--on drive sprockets, and idler sprockets.

SINGLE ROW LISTERS

Naturally, you'll want to know how that is possible. Here's the explanation: See those two gang-spacing levers—one for each gang? These levers work independently of each other, and in uneven rows the gangs can be widened or narrowed without stopping the team. That's how it's done—"in a nut shell." We have just unloaded one car of Rock Island Implements, and have another on the way.
