Arrest In Bombing Case Hit

Circumstances Called 'Vicious'

By JOHN COLTON

SAN ANGELO, Tex., Jan. 31 — UP — An attorney for bomb-murder suspect Harry Washburn said Monday a "vicious set of circumstances" resulted in his client's arrest for the murder of his former mother-in-law.

"I don't know of a man living who has lived a nobler life for the past 22 months," said lawyer Percy Foreman in describing Washburn, 38, of Houston.

It was 22 months ago that Washburn gained custody of his two children with the stipulation that the mother never see the children again.

The children, Gregory, 6, and Peggy, 5, were born during Washburn's marriage to one of Mrs. Helen Harris Weaver's daughters, Helen, who now is Mrs. J. R. Willcockson of Billings, Mont.

'Both Father and Mother' Since winning their custody, Washburn has lived alone with Gregory and Peggy in Houston.

Foreman quoted neighbors as saying Washburn had been "both father and mother" to the children.

Mrs. Weaver, 52, a San Angelo socialite, was blown to death Jan. 19 when she mashed the starter of one of her husband's cars, parked in the driveway of her mother's home, and triggered a nitroglycerin bomb under the hood.

Officers believe her husband, architect-archaeologist-rancher Harry Weaver, 67, who was inside the home at the time, was the intended victim in the mysterious killing.

Foreman would not elaborate Monday about the "vicious set of circumstances."

Foreman did add: "Washburn's pennies against Weaver's millions is like a bow and arrow going to war against a jet plane."

Lost $114,000 in Business Washburn, who says he lost $114,000 when his appliance and his contracting businesses went bankrupt last year, and Carl Henninger, a 37-year-old unemployed carpenter's helper, were routed from their beds at Houston and arrested early Saturday by Texas Rangers and police.

Soviet Move To Bar Nationalists Vetoed

Council Given Formosa Problem

By BRUCE W. MUNN

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Jan. 31 — UP — Russia demanded Monday that Nationalist China be barred from taking part in United Nations consideration of a cease-fire in China fighting.

The Security Council immediately rejected the Russian demand by a vote of 10 to 1.

It was one of a series of anti-

Communist moves designed to force a cease-fire on Communist terms.

At Outset of Meeting It came at the outset of a Security Council meeting called to consider a New Zealand proposal that Red China be invited to send delegates to attend security council discussions looking toward a cease-fire.

Red China's radio branded the New Zealand proposal as "absolutely unacceptable" Monday, and Russia put forward a counter proposal which would effect a cease-fire but only on Red terms.

Immediately on convening of the Security Council, Soviet delegate Arkady A. Sobolev demanded that the representative of Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek's Formosa government, Dr. Tingfu F. Tsiang, be ousted.

The Soviet delegation submits a formal proposal to the effect that the Security Council should take a decision to bar the Kuomintang representative from consideration of the questions on the agenda.

Sobolev said the Soviet Union would turn over Formosa without any proposal for a cease-fire, but American officials hoped both would change their minds to avert the danger of a major war in the Far East.

Reds Refuse UN Bid For Truce Talks

LONDON, Jan. 31 — UP — Communist China said Monday New Zealand's invitation to Peiping to send delegates to the Security Council discussions on a Formosa cease-fire was "absolutely unacceptable."

The official Chinese Communist newspaper, The Peoples Daily, announced the rejection of the New Zealand move even before it was placed before the UN Security Council in New York.

An editorial broadcast by the Communist New China News Agency and monitored here demanded that the United Nations oust the American forces from the Formosan area.

It closely followed the line of Russia's demand at the UN Sunday night.

The Peoples Daily is the Chinese Communist party's equivalent of Moscow's party-line newspaper Pravda.

"The proposal of New Zealand is absolutely unacceptable to the Chinese people," the editorial said. "The Chinese people are absolutely determined to liberate their coastal islands, Taiwan (Formosa) and the Penghu (Pescadore) Islands."

"The source of the present tension in the Taiwan area lies entirely in the intervention of the United States," it said.

"If New Zealand is really concerned with the peace and security in the Far Eastern area, it should demand that the United Nations immediately check the aggression of the United States."

WHITE HOUSE IS NO PLACE TO RAISE CHILDREN???

NEW YORK — UP — The President's son and daughter-in-law think the White House is no place to raise their children. Look Magazine reported that Maj. John Eisenhower and his wife, Barbara, consider the White House a bit too glamorous for their three youngsters. Mrs. Eisenhower told the magazine "with all that attention, they are likely to be a bit difficult when we return home."

Ike Again Asks U.S. Health Plan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 — UP — President Eisenhower Monday laid out the extra risks which private health insurance firms would face in offering more comprehensive benefits and broader coverage to policyholders.

Keystone of the program was a repeat request for the federal health insurance plan which Congress rejected last year. Under this proposal, a government agency with an initial capitalization of $25 million would underwrite the extra risks which private health insurance firms would face in offering more comprehensive benefits and broader coverage to policyholders.

Pleading for approval of the plan this year, Mr. Eisenhower said many private health insurance policies now offered are "too limited in scope." He said they are expensive and hard to get for some individuals and families, particularly those in rural areas.

'No Government Subsidy' He said the reinsurance plan involves "no government subsidy." He called it simply a "sound and effective" method of encouraging private firms to offer policies that provide "better protection... against expensive illness" and which cover "medical care costs in the home and physicians office as well as in the hospital."

Other major items in his program were a $20 million-a-year program of direct federal payments to help the states provide medical care for the blind, aged, orphans and others on relief rolls; a $10.5 million appropriation to launch a new program of federal insurance for private hospital construction mortgages; expanded grants for training nurses, mental health research, air pollution control, and treatment of juvenile delinquency.

Mr. Eisenhower's 2,500-word message, read to the House by clerks, did not carry price tags on the various health programs. But his previously submitted budget for fiscal 1956 showed the appropriations earmarked for the projects. They totaled $17,750,000 over existing health programs.

'Better Health for All' Mr. Eisenhower said the goal of his program was "better health for all" and that it was tailored to "encourage private effort, with private funds."

The federal reinsurance proposal called for an initial authorization of $25 million. It would encourage private health insurance companies to offer "better protection, particularly against expensive illness" and to extend coverage to additional millions of Americans.

Red Air Raids Hit Tachens

Nationalists Set For Evacuation

TAIPEI, Formosa, Jan. 31 — UP — Chinese Communist bombers struck Monday at the Tachen Islands where Nationalist defenders were reported dismantling their equipment for an early evacuation.

A Nationalist communique said five Soviet-built TU-2 bombers hit lower Tachen Island late Monday afternoon, killing 16 persons and wounding 23. Seven dwellings were destroyed.

Lower Tachen is the southern half of the twin island of Tachen principal Nationalist base in the group 200 miles north of Formosa. The Communists hurled fire-bombers at the islands Sunday in terrorist raids apparently directed against the civilian populace.

Nationalists Strike Back Nationalist bombers struck back earlier Monday, hitting Communist gun positions on nearby Yikiangshan from which the Reds had bombarded the Nationalist base.

The U. S. Seventh Fleet was in position to take off the 10,000-man Nationalist garrison and the island's 20,000 fishermen and goat herders once the official order comes from Washington.

High American sources said the evacuation order for Tachen had been delayed because President Eisenhower wanted to see what action the Security Council would take. The Security Council debates the Formosa case Monday.

Refugees Arrive Refugees arriving here from the bomb-battered island said troops were tearing down pre-fabricated barracks and other installations which had been shipped earlier from Formosa.

The evacuees said all signs indicated the garrison was making plans to abandon the island base.

There still was no official word in Taipei as to when the evacuation might begin and authoritative sources said the Nationalists still hoped for a statement from President Eisenhower on evacuation.

Military leaders had finished their planning and all that was holding up the operation was joint authorization from Washington and Taipei. Plans were worked out during a weekend visit here by Adm. Felix Stump, commander of the U. S. Pacific Fleet.

Nationalist newspapers spoke out sharply against a cease-fire in the Formosa strait and said it would lead only to "greater risks."

Auto Tag Sale Starts Tuesday

The 1955 Texas license plates go on sale Tuesday morning in the county tax office.

County Tax Collector Jack Back today said he had about 15,500 of them on hand. This is the same number of 1954 plates sold in Gray County.

There are 11,577 plates for passenger cars alone. The numbers Back has in his office are 9150-9999 in the "AR" series, 10-9999 in the "AS" series and 10-749 in the "AT" series.

The old plates — those with 1954 on them — will be good until April 1 when all vehicles must have 1955 plates.

Patient Doing Nicely

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 31 — UP — A North Hollywood physician told Monday how he removed a cancerous bone from the thigh of a 20-year-old girl, cooked it in a sterilizer to kill the growth as it lay on the operating table and then replaced it in her leg.

Dr. Vernon P. Thompson first told of the operation Saturday before a convention of 2,000 physicians of the American Academy of Orthopedic Surgery.

He said the girl had a localized cancer in a six-inch piece of bone. He said he was reluctant to use plastic or metal parts for the missing bone because the woman, at 20, had a long life expectancy and there was no assurance substitutes would last that long.

Thompson said the hip joint had to be frozen for the rare and dramatic operation.

He cut a 6.4 inch piece of the femur out, put it in a steam pressure sterilizer to kill the cancerous cells and then fitted it back in, using two metal screws to toenail it into the bone on the lower end.

Dimes Drive Has $10,365 Total

The March of Dimes drive today had collected a total of $10,365.38, a drop from the 1954 donations of "a little more than $12,000."

And today was the deadline for contributions. Mack Hiatt, drive treasurer, emphasized.

Late contributions reported included those from the high school talent show ($528), Belvedere Club dance ($46.50), 20th Century Club ($46), 20th Century Culture Club ($28.25), Robekah Lodge ($25), Worthwhile Home Demonstration Club ($15), O.E.S. Gavel Club ($10), Oil Workers Union ($11) El Progreso ($25) and B&PW ($101).

Use Of Informers In Trials Hit

EL PASO, Tex., Jan. 31—UP—A campaign against use of "professional informers and stool pigeons" in trials of alleged Communists has been launched by the independent Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers union and aimed at forthcoming trial in Denver of one of its officials.

Orville Larson, international vice president of the union which was expelled from the CIO on a charge it was Red-dominated, told cheering delegates at a union regional meeting Sunday at El Paso they should also mobilize the membership against anti-Communist trials and hearings.

Larson said the campaign against "professional informers" is aimed at the coming trial in Denver of Maurice Travis, the union's secretary-treasurer, on a charge he swore falsely in a National Labor Relations Board non-Communist affidavit.

Larson bitterly denounced Harvey Matusow, the former FBI informer and ex-Communist who last Friday admitted in an affidavit filed in El Paso federal court that he deliberately gave false testimony for the government in the trial and conviction of another mine-mill union officer.

This mine-mill official, international representative Clinton E. Jencks, was convicted in January, 1954, at El Paso of swearing falsely that he was not a Communist.

Since Matusow filed his affidavit U. S. District Judge R. E. Thompson has set a March 7 hearing on a new trial for Jencks. Jencks, who has been free for $10,000 bond, appeared at Sunday's mine-mill regional meeting and received a standing ovation.

About 100 delegates from California, Arizona, New Mexico and West Texas attended the regional union meeting.

Two Die In Auto Crash

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex., Jan. 31—UP—Two automobiles, each occupied by two young Navy officers, crashed head-on on Ocean Drive Sunday, killing two of the men.

Corpus Christi Police Chief Dick Runyan witnessed the collision. He had been trying to catch one of the cars.

Ensign Robert W. Sheldon, 25, of El Segundo, Calif., was killed instantly and Ensign John Hibbard Broadfoot, 24, of Short Hills, N. J., died about 25 minutes after the crash. Both were attached to Air Training Unit 800 at the Corpus Christi Naval Air Station.

Ensign Thomas J. Campbell, 23, of Ossining, N. Y., was critically injured and Ensign Earl C. Carlovsky, 24, of Fond du Lac, Wis., was seriously hurt.

Chief Runyan said he was trying to catch the automobile driven by Sheldon and occupied by Broadfoot when it suddenly veered across the road and smashed head-on into the car in which Campbell and Carlovsky were riding.

Storied Texas Ranger To Be Buried Tuesday

AUSTIN, Jan. 31—UP—Capt. Roy W. Aldrich, 85, lawman and scholar, will be buried Tuesday in the capital of the state he served as a famed Texas Ranger for 34 years—longer than any other man.

Services will be at 3 p. m., with burial in Austin's Oakwood cemetery. He died Saturday.

Aldrich, a grizzled trail veteran who retired from the Ranger force in 1949, had lived since that time on his 110-acre ranch almost within the shadow of the state capitol building, surrounded by books and tending his beloved tulip and rose garden.

Almost his entire life was punctuated by violence, but in leisure he became a scholar and was a recognized authority on natural history and botany. He was inducted into Phi Sigma biological society and a plant was named for Aldrich.

His library of Southwest and Texas lore is considered one of the best of its kind in the nation, totals more than 7,000 volumes and was valued unofficially a few years ago at $40,000.

But mostly Texas knew Aldrich as a lawman—the best kind of lawman in Texas, a Ranger.

He joined that select force in 1915 at Rio Grande City, along the Texas-Mexican border. He immediately was involved in the 1915-16 border disputes brought on by Mexican bandit raids.

Airman Guilty In Murder Case

GALLUP, N.M., Jan. 31—UP—A 25-year-old AWOL airman was convicted in early morning hours Sunday of slaying a 25-year-old Texan.

A Gallup jury brought the voluntary manslaughter verdict in shortly after midnight Saturday. The defendant, James William Hutchins, who pleaded self defense in the death of Bruce Weibel, 32-year-old Dallas truck driver last April, will be sentenced Feb. 7.

Hutchins, AWOL from Nellis Air Force Base at Las Vegas, Nev., was arrested in Weibel's bloody car at Sallisaw, Okla., by officers who caught him speeding.

He admitted he shot Weibel, but said Weibel had attacked him trying to get some money he was carrying.

After the slaying, Hutchins, a former Derby, Colo., resident, put the Texan's body under a culvert about 15 miles east of Gallup on U.S. 66.

Barkley's Secretary With Him 28 Years

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31—UP—I dropped by room 110 in the Senate office building for a chat with the former "Veep," but he wasn't home.

So I sat down to chin with the lovely little lady who knows at most as much about Alben W. Barkley as he does himself.

She would be backward if she didn't, really. Mrs. Flo Bratten has served the senator from Kentucky for 28 years. "Almost man and boy, you might say," she said. "I'm ashamed of our 'house.'"

In Sen. Barkley's more than half a century in politics he has gathered quite a following around the nation—the world, in fact. His mail comes not only from the blue-grass country, but from every state and the territories.

"We're going to have to do something about that," she said with a womanly sigh.

Mrs. Bratten, of course, just had to come from Kentucky, where she owns a piece of ground and does a little "dabbling in-gartening and chickens." Her front lawn is seeded with some of that famed blue grass.

The lady from down there lives in a comfortable apartment on 16th Street and puts in a pretty full trick along with the others in Sen. Barkley's suite on Capitol Hill.

HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—The Wilmet: Edna Ferber's experience with a movie studio will be revived now that Hollywood's about to film her latest novel, "Giant." She went to a movie based on one of her stories and after the showing the studio boss said, "Well, how did you like it?" "It's a good movie," replied Edna, "but it isn't my story. I wonder if you'll let me buy MY story back if I give it a new title."

Plymouth To Hike Output

DETROIT, Jan. 31—UP—Chrysler Corp. announced Monday many of its Plymouth division employees will begin working overtime Tuesday to increase the output of new Plymouth automobiles.

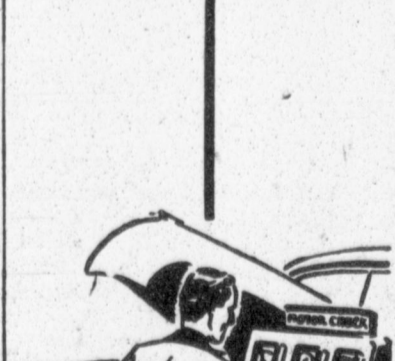

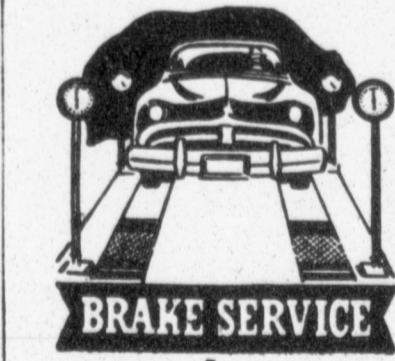

William J. Bird, Plymouth vice president in charge of sales, said overtime work was needed because of "steadily rising dealers' orders which continue at a rate higher than the current production of about 3,000 cars a day."

Bird said retail sales were running about 50 per cent ahead of last year. He said this month's sales compared with those of January 1953, which was the best January in Plymouth history.

"Plymouth's backlog of orders is 22 per cent greater than when the new Plymouth cars were publicly announced in mid-November and has increased 10 per cent since the first of the year despite the high rate of production," Bird said.

Jane Talk

By JANE KADINGO
Pampa News Women's Editor

MRS. C. P. PURSLEY has the most fascinating table. While in her home the other evening, I couldn't resist asking about it, as I have never seen one like it. Although she says she got the idea from a friend in East Texas, I imagine it is unique in Pampa.

THE TABLE is all glass. It has a round glass base on which rests a round glass tube-like structure, topped by a round piece of glass, larger than the base. Inside the tube she has an arrangement of flowers in a straw container. It is really very lovely.

Mrs. Pursley said the tube for the table is from an old kerosene or oil (don't remember which) tank. She said it was quite difficult to clean, but it is certainly worth the effort. The base and the table top she had cut. It is one of the prettiest and most unusual tables I have seen.

THERE IS A NEW WORD for a kitchen... "livinette." Here's an article that tells all about it. "Pick your equipment carefully and you, too, can have a livinette—a brand new idea in all-purpose kitchens that are livable as well as functional.

"Let's say you have a room 10 by 17 feet to work with and a list of musts you've set your heart on,

Sunshine HDC Has Talk By War Bride

"The hardest part of the trip over here was doing without tea for five days," said Mrs. Clarence Costner, Engl a war bride, when she talked to the Sunshine Home Demonstration Club Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Joe Achord, 1041 S. Farley. She told of the customs of her native country and her first impressions of the United States.

She said that the people of England lived and worked at a much slower pace than the Americans. The club is studying requirements to become naturalized citizens, and Mrs. Costner was invited to speak in conjunction with this study.

Mrs. I. U. Bryant told that all applicants must first file a clear intention of permanent residence before applying for citizenship. They must also live here five years, except for war brides whose length of residence is three years. A speaking and writing knowledge of English is also required.

Each member is to bring an inexpensive home-made gift to the next meeting to be used for birthday presents for members. The club will have a "grab bag" every three months from articles the members have made themselves, the first to be held the last meeting in March. Proceeds from this will be added to the club treasury.

Attending, other than those already named, were Mrs. Mmes. Jim King, John Mobley, A. A. McElrath, Earl Dalsing, C. H. Darling, Cecil Deist, Ray Frazier, F. P. Hayes, George Higgins, G. H. Murrah and R. H. St. Aubyn.

Next meeting will be Feb. 11, in the home of Mrs. F. P. Hayes, 724 N. Davis.

Your Masterpiece

You can embroider this masterpiece! Rich browns, vivid greens with bright accents create a distinctive picture for that bare spot on the wall.

Pattern No. 2433 contains hot iron transfer for design 10"x12 1/2" material requirements; stitch illustrations; color chart.

Clean-Up Tips

New pint-size tools can make a big difference in homemaking ease. Made to the measure of small everyday tasks and designed to fit limited storage space is this miniature version of the popular self-squeezing sponge mop. Just as sturdily constructed as the conventional size, the "sponge mop" new smaller size is ideal for cleaning windows and bathtubs or washing kitchen cabinets and tile walls. An extension handle adds an easy reach to ceiling or floor while a rubber hanging tip is handy for storage out of sight behind the shower curtain on a kitchen wall. As an extra bonus, this small mop should equip junior homemakers to be expert mother's helpers.

Skellytown Rebekahs Party Held To Announce Engagement Of Miss Sarah Parker To R. S. Boyd

SKELLYTOWN — (Special) — The past presidents of the Panhandle Circle of Rebekah lodges were recently honored at the Circle meeting in Berger. Those receiving the honor from Skellytown lodge were Mrs. Roy Sullivan, Everett Crawford, Fred Anderson and Lillie Stafford.

The program was presented with the past presidents in the center of a large circle formed by Rebekah members from the Pampa, Dumas, Berger, Panhandle, Skellytown, Amarillo and Pleasant Valley lodges. "Blest Be the Tie," and "Will The Circle Be Unbroken" were sung by the members.

Refreshments of sandwiches, salad, cake and coffee were served. Those attending from Skellytown were Mrs. John Nicholas, Ross Neugin, E. Heaton, Clifford Coleman, Robert Marlar, Mary Thornburn, Fred Genett, Chester Yell, Fred Anderson, Lawrence Young, Lillie Stafford, Roy Sullivan, Delmar Sims, C. M. Estes, J. W. Weaver, Les Kreis, Norval Hucks, Everett Crawford; Miss Addie Fern Lick and Everett Crawford.

Officers elected during the business session were Mrs. J. B. Weis, president; Mrs. Frank Ewing, vice president; Mrs. C. H. Hyde secretary-treasurer; Mrs. C. A. Slack, parliamentarian; and Mrs. Charles Word, critic. An executive committee of the first three officers was named.

Mrs. Lillian Vial was welcomed as a new member. For the program, Mrs. Weis told "How to be a Good Mother-in-Law and Grandmother"; "Understanding Yourself" was the subject of Mrs. Slack's talk and Mrs. Baxter Hurn discussed "Religion as a Factor in Mental Health."

After critic's report and current events, a refreshment plate was served. Four guests were Mrs. A. P. Robinson and Mrs. J. W. Douglas, daughters of Mrs. Barton, from Oklahoma City, Mrs. Barton Jr., of Booker and Mrs. Hal Word of Baton, N. M. Members attending were Mrs. Mmes. A. M. Winesett, J. W. Millhollen, C. A. Slack, P. O. Boyd, J. B. Weis, Frank Ewing, C. H. Hyde, Hollis Cortelyou, R. B. Roberts, Lillian Vial, Clyde Patton, Paul Trenfield, Charles Newcomer, Baxter Hurn, Warren Jenkins and the hostesses.

Mrs. J. Baggerman Honored With Party — Mrs. John Baggerman was honored with a surprise birthday party in her home Friday evening. The honoree was presented a corsage of white carnations, a registered Hereford heifer was a gift from her husband. Guests also brought gifts.

The table was covered with a white linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of lavender mums. A turkey dinner was served. Attending the party were Messrs. J. M. McCracken, Jack Stephens, Glen Studabaker, Johnnie Baggerman, Ruben Baggerman, W. E. Couts, Alvin Stokes, O. J. Miller, all of Pampa; Mrs. M. Stokes, of Pampa; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Herd, aka Dallas; Mrs. and Mrs. Bert McLean of Mobeetie; John Baggerman of Pampa; Jerry McCracken, Harold Studabaker, Betty and Larry Baggerman, Charlotte, John Perry, Billy and Darlene Couts, Juanita and Geneva Miller and David, Lorane, Ann, Haymes, Irene, Roselle, James, Franklin and Nace Baggerman.

Time and again, the fits of irritation that suddenly seize on people of Sara's age are resentment at our refusal to accord new status that is their biological right. It is unwise to rebuke them in terms associated with their childhood. I, for example, had a relative who was prone to correct all that was unlovely in me as a small girl with the words, "That isn't sweet."

I can still remember my sense of outrage when she applied the phrase to some 12-year-old comment I had made. I knew then as I know now that it was used to thrust me back into the convenient nonentity of prattledhood. We all have similar experiences. Let's use them.

To keep metal and wood wastebaskets clean, wax the interior. Dust, pencil shavings and other loose dirt will be less likely to stick.

Party Held To Announce Engagement Of Miss Sarah Parker To R. S. Boyd

The engagement of Miss Sarah Parker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Parker, 508 S. Barnes, to R. S. Boyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Boyd of Houston, was announced at a party Friday evening in the home of Mrs. C. P. Pursley, 1701 Mary Ellen.

Hostesses were Mrs. Ervin Pursley, C. P. Pursley, Jim Cornutt, and John Parker. In the receiving line were Mrs. Tom Parker, mother of the honoree; Mrs. A. T. Boyd of Houston, mother of the prospective bridegroom; the honoree; and Mrs. John Parker, sister-in-law of the honoree. Guests were registered by Miss Jerry Carruth, and background piano music was provided by Miss Mary Pursley.

Corsages of pink split carnations were presented to the bride-elect, her mother, the mother of the prospective bridegroom, Miss Carruth and to Miss Elsie Plants, who presided at the coffee service. Refreshments of cup cakes with pink icing, hot wassil and coffee were served. The table was covered with an Irish lace cloth over pink. The centerpiece was a miniature bride and bridegroom backed by a pink net decorated with pink flowers and greenery. A pink satin banner, on which was printed "Sarah and Bob," was stretched across the net and attached at the corners with pink satin bows. The base was of pink satin on which pink roses were placed.

The coffee service was a family heirloom, belonging to a cousin of the honoree, Mrs. C. C. Carroll of Monroe, La. During the evening, 90 persons attended the event. One of the special guests was Mrs. Bessie Craggs of Lubbock, cousin of the bride-elect.

Officers Chosen By Higgins Group — HIGGINS — (Special) — The Magazine Club met recently in the home of Mrs. Alex Barton with Mrs. Warren Jenkins, president, in charge.

Officers elected during the business session were Mrs. J. B. Weis, president; Mrs. Frank Ewing, vice president; Mrs. C. H. Hyde secretary-treasurer; Mrs. C. A. Slack, parliamentarian; and Mrs. Charles Word, critic. An executive committee of the first three officers was named.

FOR VALENTINE'S DAY serve this Spicy Heart Cake with cinnamon frosting. It's low in cost and high in flavor.

COOK'S NOOK

Special Heart Cake Makes A Valentine's Day Delight

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor
Very special for Valentine's Day, this spicy heart cake is low in cost and high in flavor. It is made with the new liquefied instant nonfat dry milk, available in a one-pound package which makes five quarts of dairy sweet nonfat milk for as little as eight cents a quart. Also, it can be purchased in a convenient premeasured package with three individual foil-lined envelopes, each of which makes one quart of nonfat milk.
Spicy Heart Cake
(Makes two 8-inch heart-shaped layers)
One-half cup shortening, 1 cup sugar, 2 eggs, 3 cups sifted cake flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 cup liquefied instant nonfat dry milk, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla extract, 2 tablespoons molasses, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg, 1/2 teaspoon ginger.
Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cream shortening; gradually add sugar. Beat until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time. Beat well after each addition. Add dry ingredients alternately with liquefied instant nonfat dry milk, beginning and ending with dry ingredients. Stir until enough after each addition to blend thoroughly.
Divide batter in half; add vanilla to first half; to second half, add molasses and spices and blend well. Grease 2 (8-inch) heart-shaped layer cake pans. Line bottoms with waxed paper and grease again. Pour half of spice batter into first pan; top with half of vanilla batter. Spread batter evenly.

Softened butter or margarine; gradually blend in confectioners' sugar alternately with liquefied instant nonfat dry milk. Add oil of cinnamon and enough coloring to tint the frosting a delicate pink. Beat until of spreading consistency. NOTE: Oil of cinnamon may be purchased in a drugstore.

Mrs. Tremble Given Going-Away Party

Mrs. O. G. Trimble was honored with a going-away party recently in the First Baptist Church parlors. Hostesses were Mrs. Mmes. Jim Dean, S. T. Halpain, Lee Crow, C. L. Bixler, L. T. Cleburn, O. L. Giddon, Harold Craddock, Robert Hogan, Alvin Scott and S. E. Waters.

The honoree was presented a corsage of pastel pink, blue and yellow split carnations and miscellaneous personal gifts. The serving table was covered with a white, handmade cutwork cloth over red, and centered with an arrangement of white carnations and heart-shaped pipecleaners. Following the Valentine theme, the cake was decorated with red hearts pierced by arrows.

Refreshments of cake, coffee, tea, nuts and mints were served. Mrs. Lee Crow presided at the coffee service and Mrs. O. L. Giddon served the cake. Guests were registered by Mrs. S. E. Waters. More than 30 persons attended the event. Mrs. Trimble is moving to Abilene.

There's still plenty of skirt fullness to be seen this spring, but with this difference: It's placed low beneath a definite drape.

The wrapped look is important to spring coats both for daytime and evening wear. They taper from large collars to a slim body line.

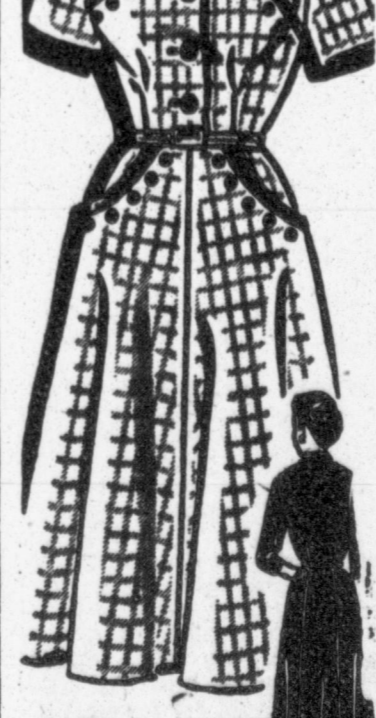

There are lots of prints for spring, done on wool, silk and cotton. And for summer, brilliant prints on linen.

Lots of white linen collars and cuffs this spring for a fresh, sparkling look.

For Not-So-Tall

Make Pampa Office Supply Your Valentine Headquarters

SEASON OF HEARTS — This Pampa Office Supply window display invites you to see the great Valentine Day array of cards, party favors, playing card tables and other attractions in the store at 211 N. Cuyler. Come in, see the card and gift suggestions in this season when we admit we love and like our relatives, friends and neighbors.

It's coming — the day of hearts, love, friendship — the time to express affection and admiration — St. Valentine's Day, Feb. 14.

It's a day when most of us become stumble-bums because we're tongue-tied and self-conscious when we wish we had another self to say the right things to the right people.

We find that "other self" in the valentines at Pampa Office Supply Co., 211 N. Cuyler, telephone 4-3353.

"Right" Cards

There you find the cards to express the right degree of affection, sentiment, admiration, respect for your wife or husband, friend, instructor. The messages are sentimental and reserved, serious and comical. Browse through them. You are sure to find exactly the message and illustration you like.

You can see those neat, small cards, the big ones with the string of pearls or with the decorative clasp. There are all types of valentines in all price ranges — the perfect expression of your sentiment at the perfect price for your bill fold.

The valentine season is more than just a day — it's a "season" of fun, parties, gatherings and games, all in the theme of hearts.

Party Invitations

The place cards, card game tables, napkins, party favors and party invitations add more fun, more zest in the gathering if they are in the valentine motif. Pampa Office Supply has them — heart shaped, decorated with hearts, and in the warm red, heart color. See them and you will realize how much they can do for your gathering.

Have you thought of St. Valentine's Day party at which every one makes his own valentine? Pampa Office has the pictures, the verses, the lace, the envelopes all packaged.

Also there are cutouts which children will enjoy putting together for mother, sister, grandmother. This year let the little ones make and mail their own valentines. They will enjoy it — and grandpa will enjoy the made-it-himself feat.

Pictures for Valentines

What grandmother would not enjoy an album of pictures of her grandchildren whether they be 1 year or 61 years old? Get some heart-red wrapping paper and ribbon at Pampa Office. That would be a special gift, especially welcome.

Valentine's Day provides an excellent opportunity to show him (or her) how much you appreciate him (or her) with welcome practical gifts like office supplies and equipment.

The correspondence and home records all women keep up is enough to demand office supplies like pens, pencils, Jot-It-Down Pads, reminder books, note paper. How often must Mrs. "X" hurry to another part of the room for a pencil (with a point on it) or a piece of paper? How convenient it would be if she had a desk pad and a pen on the telephone table to take return phone numbers, messages, addresses! Get them at Pampa Office.

Pen And Pencil

And Dad, bless his heart, needs a pad of paper, mechanical pencil in addition to a pen to straighten out the monthly bills and to balance the checking account. Why not help him by getting these aids at Pampa Office Supply?

It's so easy to show your professional man or woman that your heart is in the right place on Valentine's Day. Give him a desk pad and pencil set; a blotter set a desk lamp; a typewriter;

If your Valentine writes with a medium, fine, heavy, feathery, line; or a heavy down stroke — select the Esterbrook point designed to write HIS style.

It means a great deal for a professional man (or woman) to have a pen and pencil set (or which he or she) can depend. Give him (or her) a pen and pencil set by Parker, Sheaffer or Esterbrook. That set will mean a lot to any Valentine!

Bill Folds

Your Valentine will like a Boco Built leather bill fold or wallet every size, every design. Make your choice from the complete selection at Pampa Office.

Of course he would like a Royal portable typewriter. Even if he has a typewriter at the office, a portable will give him the opportunity to take care of some of that "rush" work at home — give him a chance to work in a more relaxing atmosphere.

The Royal portable typewriter has the Magic Margin; the full (office) size keyboard; complete office type controls; push button top for easy type cleaning and ribbon changing; improved touch control; and fibreglass carrying case.

Deluxe Features

The quiet deluxe portable has these additional features: a speed selector which adjusts the carriage typing habits; the line meter the number of typewritten lines remaining on the sheet of paper; visible tabular setting; automatic paper lock; adjustable paper support.

Pampa Office Supply is packed with good ideas for St. Valentine's Day. Browse through them. There are many you will like for your special Valentine. Come in today — 211 N. Cuyler.

Trusty Escapes Ft. Worth Jail

FORT WORTH, Jan. 31 — UP — Authorities Monday sought a 32-year-old jail trusty who escaped from Tarrant county jail early Sunday by sawing through a bar and then using a ladder of bed sheets and blankets to reach the ground.

Sidney Wallace Pittman of Grand Prairie, who had been held in jail since last July 29 on an auto theft charge, broke out of the "trusty shack" on the fifth floor before dawn Sunday. The "trusty shack" is separated from the regular cells on the fifth floor, where the worst felons are housed.

Sheriff Harlon Wright said the thin, wiry Pittman acquired a saw blade and saved part way through one of the bars. Then he broke off the bar, leaving a big enough hole for him to wriggle through.

Wheel Drag

A tire becomes "out-of-round" as it stretches because the molecules of rubber align themselves with the stresses of the tire. The process causes high spots and dish areas on the tread. The irregularities vary from 1-64th of an inch to 3-16ths of an inch on passenger tires to over one-half an inch on truck tires.

When the irregularities hit the ground there's a bump — and the irregularity slows the wheel in its turn because the greater circumference at the point of the irregularity creates a drag on the wheel.

At 60 miles an hour a 6.70 by 15 tire develops 2,000 pounds tread weight. Even a 3.32nd of an inch high spot will give slaps, bumps, and jumps that overtax the automobile bearings, bushings, pins, shock absorbers and springs.

There is immediate, excessive tire wear around the high spot, a condition which increases the vibration. Of course the life of the car and the automobile are shortened. In addition, driver fatigue is increased.

Russ Better

You can avoid all that extra fatigue, tire and automobile wear. Drive into Hall & Pinson at 700 W. Foster. Have your tires trued and balanced. It takes only 10 minutes a tire!

Your old car, and your new automobile will run better, feel better when it rides on perfectly round tires. In addition your car will run longer on your pocketbook — fewer and lower repair bills and longer tire wear.

In about 45 minutes you can have your set of five tires trued at Hall & Pinson. Call 4-3521. Have Ley-W. Foster, Hall, owner and operator call for your car, tru your tires, and return your automobile. Then you will notice how that service pays for itself!

See Seat Covers

Better yet, come to Hall & Pinson Tire Co., 700 W. Foster, and look over the largest stock of seat covers in the Panhandle — really one of the 10 largest in all of Texas!

Select a set for your car, Hall & Pinson's tremendous stock of new seat cover patterns, designs, materials certainly contains the one you want to increase the interior beauty of your car, and to increase the life of your car.

Remember at Hall & Pinson Tire Co. you select your seat covers from those which fit your make and model of car. To be sure you have a good selection this firm carries its huge stock.

Expert Installation

Of course you have the seat covers you select installed at no charge. And the installation is by men who know how — no trial-and-error methods. It takes skill to get covers to give you maximum wear and pleasing appearance. Leymond Hill insists that you get both before he lets a set of seat covers out of his shop. He knows that the right fitting will deliver full wear to the motorist.

Come in to Hall & Pinson, 700 W. Foster. Talk over your tire and seat cover problems with Leymond Hill. He can help you.

A New Driving Thrill From Hall & Pinson!

As soon as you ride on truly round tires you will realize what motoring comfort and joy you have been missing!

And you will wonder why you didn't come sooner to Hall & Pinson Tire Co., 700 W. Foster, Telephone 4-3521.

In just a few minutes Hall & Pinson will make your tires perfectly round. It does no good to balance a tire unless it is truly round.

True And Balance

In those few minutes Hall & Pinson actually saves you money! Because perfectly round and balanced tires wear longer, give more miles of transportation, ride smoother. They not only give you more motoring pleasure, but they cut upkeep costs on your automobile!

Hall & Pinson, your Seat Cover Headquarters, has installed the Tiro-O-Matic Tire Rounding machine, the machine that makes tires perfectly round. Of course Hall & Pinson also balances tires, after they have been trued. Come in, let Hall & Pinson tru and balance your tires.

Eight out of ten tires, which have been driven over 2,000 miles, are "out-of-round" even though the same tires were within .125th of an inch of roundness when they left the factory.

Burglars' Blast Sets Place Afire

EDINBURG, Tex., Jan. 31 — UP — A burglar who apparently was trying to blow up a safe set off a deafening explosion that started a small fire and was heard throughout Edinburg Sunday night.

The blast knocked out most of the windows of the Henderson Motor Co. automobile agency.

The burglar was seen by the owner of the agency running away from the building after the explosion. Police Sgt. Joe Nichols said the burglar already had removed the knob from the safe door and had been trying to force it open. Nothing was stolen and the safe was still locked when officers arrived. Edinburg Fire Chief Elbert Sanders said the fire was extinguished quickly.

Texas House To Join Vet Land Deal Probe

AUSTIN, Jan. 31 — UP — The House State Affairs committee will consider a resolution Monday night calling for an immediate investigation by a five-member House committee into allegations of "widespread profiteering and promoting" in the state $100 million veterans land program.

An investigation of the land program is now underway by the Senate's general investigating committee.

Rep. Dolph Briscoe Jr., of Uvalde proposed that the House also make an inquiry into the program, with a five-member group named by the speaker of the House.

Committee hearings will occupy most of the attention of lawmakers this week with two other explosive issues besides the land program on tap. These are labor and insurance.

Water Problem Due

The state's water problem, and proposed solutions, also will come before the lawmakers — both in House and Senate committee — as the 54th Legislature moves into its fourth week.

One, by Rep. Joe Pyle of Fort Worth, would place regulation of insurance securities under the State Board of Insurance Commissioners and calls for a "full and fair dis-

New 'Cease Fire' Pact Would Be Third One In The Far East

By CHARLES M. MCCANN United Press Foreign Analyst

The establishment of another cease-fire in the Far East certainly would set some kind of record. There are creaky armistices now in Korea and Indo-China. Neither is working well from the Western viewpoint.

In Korea, the Chinese Communists have persistently and openly violated the armistice ever since it was signed on July 27, 1953.

Hardly had the Indo-China cease-fire been signed in Geneva last July 21 than complaints started coming in that the Viet Minh rebels were violating it.

In neither Korea nor Indo-China has the so-called neutral nations supervision commission been able to do anything about the violations. The commissions consist of four members each, two of whom are Communists.

Red China's Actions

The most serious material violation is Red China's action in continuing to send war material to its own and the North Korean forces in Korea and to the Viet Minh in Indo-China.

There is also, however, the exceedingly grave action of the Chinese Reds in holding American and other United Nations war prisoners in violation of the armistice, and the astonishing act of imprisoning 11 uniformed American airmen as "spies."

At least, the cease-fire did stop the fighting in Korea and Indo-China.

What would happen if it proved possible to patch up some kind of cease-fire between the Chinese Reds and the Chinese Nationalists?

That the Reds would try to cheat may be taken for granted.

Three-Way Stop

However, if they agreed to a Formosa cease-fire, they would be hemmed in at three aggression points for the present—Korea, the south, and Formosa on the east—insofar as real fighting was concerned.

Few people outside the bamboo and iron curtains would expect Chinese Red leaders Mao Tse-Tung and Chou En-Lai to turn suddenly peaceable.

The Communists talk about "peaceful co-existence" but only if the West will give the Reds what they want. Unfortunately aggression, political or military, is the life blood of a Communist dictatorship like those in Russia and China.

Hence Mao and Chou might be expected to turn somewhere else if the fighting off the China coast stopped.

Burma Could Be Next

It might be Burma, which has been torn by internal revolt ever since the end of World War II. Mao and Chou might decide that in the interest of world peace—Communist style—they ought to help the Burmese rebels.

Or they might start stirring up dissension in Thailand, which is sandwiched between Burma and Indo-China.

Burma has quit the British Commonwealth of nations and has held alliances with Western defense pacts. Thailand is firmly tied with the West.

Mao and Chou could find ways to cause both countries trouble.

Dad Threatens To Kill Self, Kidnaped Son

SOUTH SAN GABRIEL, Calif., Jan. 31 — UP — A father sought for kidnaping his 20-month-old son has telephoned his ex-wife from Chicago to repeat his threat to blow up himself and the child if anyone tries to take the infant from him.

Mrs. Olga Marie Lewis, 25, South San Gabriel, told authorities she received two calls Sunday from her former husband, Harold Wayne Lewis, 28, who said he still was carrying a bottle of nitroglycerine.

"If they (the police) come after me," Mrs. Lewis quoted him as saying, "I'm going to use this nitroglycerine. I'm going to have the baby in death or alive. Call off your hounds!"

Mrs. Lewis accused her ex-husband of seizing the child, Gary Lewis, from her on the street here last Thursday while brandishing a gun and a vial which he said contained nitroglycerine.

He threatened to destroy himself and the boy if anyone tried to get him, she said.

In his calls Sunday, Mrs. Lewis said, her former husband said the child was in good health.

She said he also told her: "The baby is better off dead if I can't have him. . . you shouldn't have called police. . . just let me have the baby and forget about the whole thing. I don't care to live without him."

She added that Lewis, whom she divorced only five weeks ago, told her he was "getting out of Chicago and hitting the road again."

Lewis has been charged with kidnaping and child stealing.

Racketeer's Sentence

One of the happiest bits of reading we have had in a long time was the report that Evan R. Dale, a southern Illinois labor racketeer, was given a verbal working over and a 15-year sentence in prison by Federal Judge Fred L. Whom.

Dale was convicted of attempting to extort more than a million dollars from a contracting company. Judge Whom made clear his feeling when he said to Dale: "I think you are a menace to the union labor movement, to property and to the contractors or southern Illinois, and have been for a long time. You deserve a severe sentence."

Dale was, of course, the intimate of politicians. According to the Chicago Tribune report of the affair, Illinoisans who wanted to attract the Eisenhower inauguration were directed to him for tickets. He practiced a regular system of extortion on contractors, running the cost of construction higher and higher for the public. He finally got his racket in such good shape that he was able to figure one per cent or any bid on a job as the price for having labor peace on a construction job.

Of the situation the Tribune reported: "Dale's conduct has been notorious for years. Members of the union that he headed were powerless to do anything about it. He had the treasury, the power to deny them a livelihood and the gunmen to cow them. Neither his international union nor the American Federation of Labor showed the slightest interest in his misconduct. He was one of the owners."

Having been told by many church leaders, public school "authorities" and others that unions could, in some magical way, lift the standards of workers, it was to be expected that the union members at first would be happy to go along with such a racketeer. And once caught in the meshes of unionism and coercion under government sanction, there was little that the individual members could do about protecting themselves from the machinations of a man like Dale.

The original error was, naturally, the belief that there is some mystical and magical way in which unions, by limiting production, can raise the standard of living of workers. While it is true that there can be a temporary advantage to one specific group at the expense of all the rest of the producers, all the workers are injured when production is artificially limited as union organization requires for effectiveness.

THE NATION'S PRESS

STEWARDSHIP (Christian Economics)

We asked the cafeteria attendant if she had prime ribs of beef. "No," she said, "but we can get it from the hotel dining room upstairs. It will cost $1.75." This was said with the assumption that no one would want it at that price. It was nearly eight o'clock. We had not yet finished a long day and had evening's work before us. We were tired and hungry and knew we must have good food if we were to continue to work successfully during the evening. We ordered it and a flag was placed on our tray. The act set us apart from the line. There was no longer community.

At the check stand we paid a total of $2.65, found a table and sat down. We remembered hunger days in our youth when we regularly lived a whole month on that sum. Our thoughts were interrupted by the bus-girl bringing our succulent roast beef. She was thin and thin though she looked eager. It made us a little uncomfortable. We wondered if she had ever eaten a juicy cut prime ribs. We hadn't until we were older than she, we thought, trying to comfort ourselves.

Then we reasoned that she probably worked forty hours a week while we put in a good seventy. Of course we must have better food. Then we recalled a long life of frugality and hard work which made it possible to enjoy some luxuries in later years. We have earned it we said to ourselves and we have to carry heavy responsibility so we are entitled to it.

BETTER JOBS By R. C. HOILES

"Freedom To Shop Afloat" I want to continue quoting, from a speech made by Hart Buck, Statistician of the Bank of Toronto, before the Queensway Lions Club, Toronto, Canada. This speech was printed and is being distributed by the Foundation for Economic Education, Inc., Irvington - Hudson, New York.

Under the sub-heading of "Common Interests" Mr. Buck continues as follows: "We are used to thinking of various groups of people as necessarily opposed in their economic interests; in particular, that the interest of employes is in natural conflict with that of investors and businessmen. It's not."

"The economic system is a means whereby people get together to produce things for themselves. The investor is the man who lends us the tools we work with. The businessman leads us through the productive process. Under the free market, all of us alike have the same interest in bigger and bigger production. There is no conflict of interests unless the market is not free."

"We are disposed to think of employes as unfortunate underdogs, whom only enlightened laws now save from such ill-treatment and overwork and underpayment as they used to suffer at the hands of businessmen a century ago. They didn't."

"The reason why people worked long hours for a low standard of living in the early factories and coal mines was that there were not enough tools to enable them to turn out enough of a product to earn them a better living in shorter hours. The reason why children of nine can stay in school, instead of working in cotton mills and coal mines as they did in nineteenth-century England, is that we have enough equipment to produce all the coal and cloth we need without putting children to work; and therefore are well enough off to keep them from working without falling back on what they can earn. In fact, neither public enlightenment, nor legislation, but only tools and equipment, have improved the living standards of all of us. Workers in this equipment-rich country are not underdogs. They are Canadians."

Source Of Earnings "We have got the idea that there are natural limits to what a man is entitled to earn, either from his services or from the use of equipment that he owns; beyond which limits, his income can only arise at the expense of the toiling masses. There aren't."

"It is only in a market where everybody is not perfectly free to shop around that anybody can gain anything at the expense of anyone else. Under a free market, if one man earns more than another, it can only be because he performs more service to the toiling masses. (By the way, they seldom let the incomes of movie stars, television stars, and hockey heroes bother them, even if these persons produce no more than most businessmen do, and get paid more than most businessmen for doing it.)"

"We are accustomed to think of an economy more or less government-controlled, preferable to the free market, and to disagree mainly over the extent of control desirable, on the ground that only government action can prevent some people from earning too much and others too little, and on the further ground that only government action can save us from business readjustments, recession, and depression. It can't."

"Only the free market can prevent people from earning too much or too little, and only the free market can save us from the business cycle. We get readjustments and worse things because we have enjoyed the intoxicating over-prosperity of a boom. We can only have a boom because businessmen have been fooled into over-expansion by cheap credit. We can only have cheap credit because governments have given in to the everlasting temptation to make money easier to get than goods are to make. The readjustment comes when businessmen find that there isn't enough equipment in existence to carry out all their carefully-laid plans. Because of the lack of equipment, they find they cannot afford to sell their output at a low enough price for the public to take it all. They cannot afford this because they owe too much. The expansion of cheap credit has been nothing but an expansion of debt. The business cycle results from too much debt, and from nothing else."

Source Of Capital "Yet we are accustomed to the idea that saving is of doubtful value to the economy as compared with spending for consumption. It isn't."

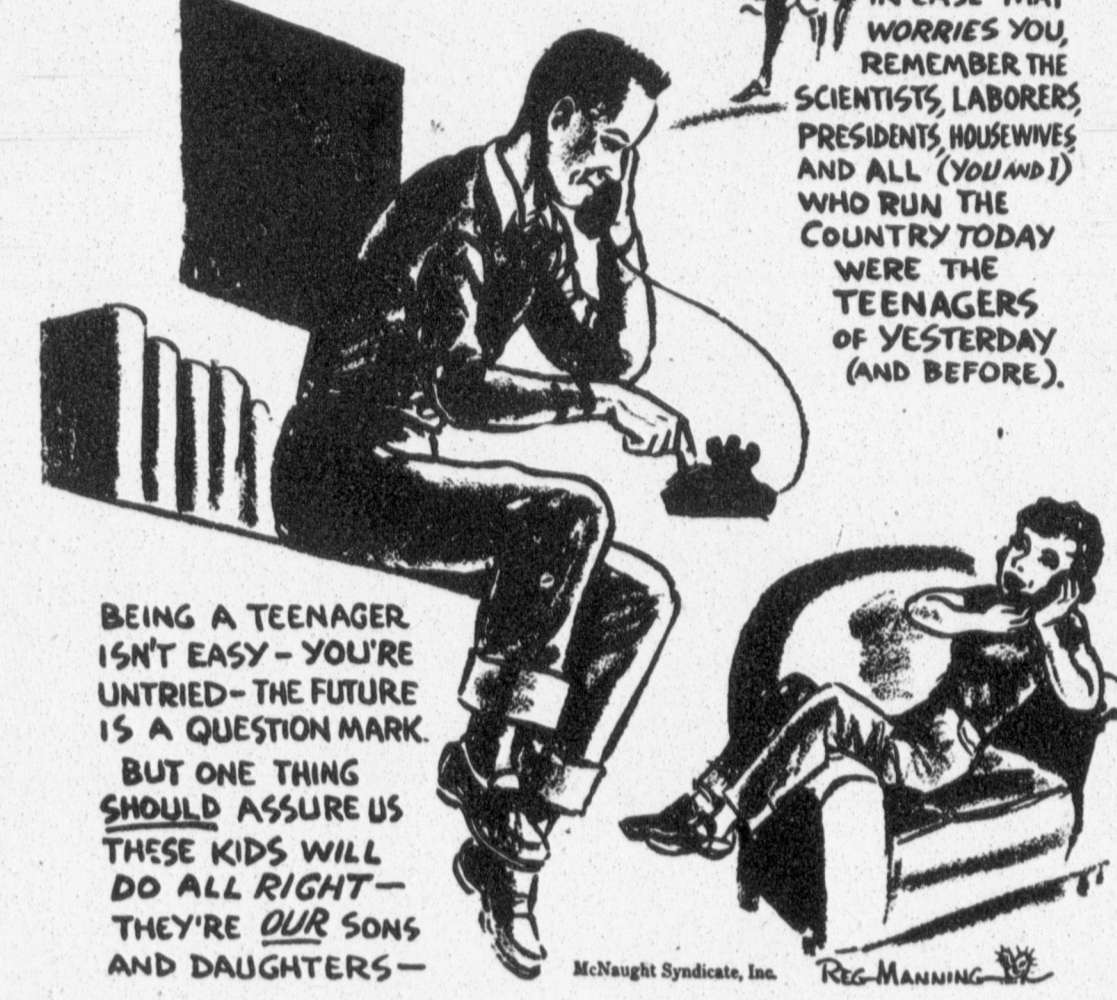

"Material progress depends on the growth of capital, and on nothing else. Production results from the utilization of energy by means of equipment directed by manpower. The equipment is capital. We can only build up capital by producing equipment. We can only produce equipment by consuming less than we can consume and making equipment instead of consumer goods. This we can do only by spending for immediate use something less than our total income. On the free market, anything saved and not consumed goes into the purchase of equipment, whereby workers are enabled to produce more and more goods every hour they work."

"We are used to being told that debt, especially government debt, promotes lasting prosperity. It does not."

"As has just been pointed out, it is nothing but the growth of debt that causes the upswings, and failure to meet it that causes the downswings of the business cycle. Sound banking and finance depend on keeping debt down, keeping it on a short-term basis, and keeping

National Whirligig Ike's Bypassing Shows U. N. Ineffective Keeping Peace

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower's bypassing of the United Nations in asking for Congressional authority to defend Formosa and the Pescadores is regarded as a serious but necessary slight to the international organization. Finally and conclusively, his unilateral action indicates the 10-year-old body as a utterly ineffective instrument for preservation of world peace.

Former President Truman sought U. N. sanction after he decided to resist North Korean Communists' invasion of South Korea. He obtained it only because the Russian delegation had boycotted the Security Council, and were not present to veto Truman's request. Even then, the U. N. Forces furnished only token support in that conflict, which is still a sore point on Capitol Hill.

Ike obviously realized that Moscow would block approval of his new policy, if it were committed to the U. N. More important, he was not certain — and it is not now convinced — of the favorable attitude of our NATO Allies or of the Afro-Asian bloc of neutrals, headed by India and Egypt.

In short, Eisenhower did not dare to chance a showdown with Russia, or with the West European powers on an issue that could lead to World War III. As a result, we do not know yet whether our overseas friends would come in with us, if Ike's aggressive policy precipitates hostilities, including an American attack on the mainland.

We do not know whether they would approve or denounce use of the atom or hydrogen bomb, if it became necessary to employ those weapons against Mao Tse-tung's far superior man-power strength. Such a prospect would impose an enormous strain on Allied unity, which is what Moscow and Peiping most desire to achieve.

It is significant that the most appealing part of Ike's program to our Allies is his proposal for a cease-fire agreement between Chinese Communists and Nationalists. It is also the only subject which he advanced for possible consideration by the U. N., and then only informally.

Neither Britain nor France can afford a war with Russia or China, since they might suffer immediately and severely from conventional or atomic bombing, whereas the U. S. should be almost immune. Both seek a new attempt at an understanding with secured by valuable goods. Only under a market free from interference by government have banking and finance a chance to remain sound.

"We are used to the thought that governments can overcome the downswings of the business cycle by running deficits and relying on 'built-in stabilizers' to maintain purchasing power. They can't."

Fair Enough Senate, Ike, U.S. Press Owe Sen. McCarthy An Apology

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The Senate, the President and most of the American Press owe an abject apology to Joe McCarthy and to the nation for gross, intentional dishonesty. They not only lynched a patriot for doing his duty but deceived the people to that end. Finally they were caught in their own lies by the belated confession of Eisenhower's own Secretary of the Army months after the wrong was done.

This was a wanton abuse of power and betrayal of trust. The conduct of the Press, including radio, TV and the glitzy, high-priced weekly business press, has been a historic violation of the obligation imposed by the first amendment. I such a fraud upon the people committed by order of the Department of the Army to muzzle a Major-General with 27 years of honorable service, General Lawton was zoned to prevent him from naming a certain college as one of the schools from which many suspected persons in his command had been graduated.

Potter was a member of McCarthy's committee and, as a veteran who was grievously disabled in World War II, he was expected to see the fight through. But he faded away and even investigators on the sub-committee's staff shied away from him. When one of them came to me from Potter's information on the Central Intelligence Agency I stalled him off, with old clippings and anonymous letters. I had suspicions which Potter confirmed when he turned on Joe.

Now, McClellan says he will call Stevens and Adams and make them come clean. In fact, they have come clean already with a long-winded confession of dirty work in the Pentagon. But will McClellan have the honor and manhood to exonerate Joe McCarthy and Roy Cohn?

In New York, another Adams, the police commissioner, made himself a towering man among the cops when he publicly rescinded his own hasty and degrading judgment against a detective of the highest quality whom he had chased to the bushes. He admitted that he was wrong and nobody lost anything in his admission.

The Eisenhower say they have decided that Joe and Jeannie McCarthy will never dine at the White House. That was not their decision. Joe and Jeannie decided that.

Hankering Almanac Tells Of Total Eclipse Coming June 20

By HENRY McLEMORE

The Ladies Birthday Almanac which usually reaches me by the first of the year, was late in arriving in 1955, but thank goodness it was in time for me to warn you of a total eclipse of the sun on June 20th, which will not be visible in the United States.

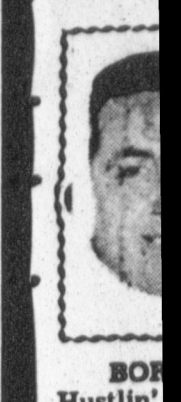

There is still time for those who want to go outside the country to see the eclipse to make preparations for the trip. And isn't it fortunate that it comes after school is out? Eclipse lovers with children will be able to take them along.

The Ladies Birthday Almanac has been coming to me for years from a distinguished patent medicine house, and I am eternally indebted to whomever was thoughtful enough to put me on the mailing list, or pay for the subscription if there is a charge.

The cover proclaims that the Almanac is "a handbook of helpful facts, with valuable information for every day in the year," and that is no exaggeration. Its range is wide, and a reader has no one to blame but himself if he plants watermelons in the wrong month, endures a toothache for want of a quick, effective, temporary remedy, or loses a mink coat and two round-trip tickets to Switzerland because he didn't know that petroleum was discovered on August 27, 1859.

I always had thought that petroleum was discovered on August 26, 1859, so I am glad that I read it in the list of notable days in the Ladies Birthday Almanac. Mary song for the occasion, "Carry Me Back to My Old Kentucky Home."

Don't you join me in celebrating these and other notable days of notable days for another reason. Never before have I realized if enough of us make a big thing out of them they are likely to be celebrated. The calendar is packed with days that have tre-

BORGER WAS HUNGRY FRIDAY

when she upset the Hustlin' Harvesters at Borger.

And well she might be as Borger victories over Pampa athletic teams have been few and far between through the years.

Coach Tex Hanna of the Bulldogs was also hungry, in fact he was "blood thirsty."

Hanna never pulled his starters even when the Bulldogs clinched the decision well before the final buzzer.

Coach Clifton McNeely has never been known to pad a score. McNeely even took mercy on Amarillo last Tuesday night. The Harvesters do not play by the rules. It tells you that the final difference would have been much more had McNeely played his regulars all the way.

Then the Borger officials and fans also pounce on them with their sportsmanlike conduct. I believe the fans booed every foul called against Borger, regardless of how evident they were.

The Borger official scorer almost climbed out of the press box to get at one of the officials when a Borger player was called for travelling with 30 seconds left in the game and the Bulldogs leading by 19 points.

This same official scorer jumped all over the officials at halftime because he had called more fouls on Borger than Pampa.

The referee told the scorer that "a foul is a foul" and if he sees one he is going to call it, "no matter what team the boys plays on."

There's no place in the rule book that says the officials are supposed to keep the fouls even.

We aren't taking anything away from the Bulldog players themselves. In fact they never displayed any outward emotion when a foul was called against them. It was just some of the Borger officials and fans who thought the refs were wrong every time a foul was called against a Bulldog.

The Bulldogs richly deserved to win as they turned in possibly

Evans Tossing In Towel At H-Simmons

ABILENE, Tex., Jan. 31—Murray Evans will submit his resignation as head football coach at Hardin-Simmons University Monday and trustees were expected to ask former professional great Sammy Baugh to take the job, but Baugh told a newsmen he didn't want it.

Evans, 25, and head coach at H-SU for the past three seasons, resigned orally in a telephone conversation Sunday night with Dr. Evan Allard Reiff, college president, and said he'd submit his written resignation Monday.

He had been under considerable pressure from ex-students and the board of trustees athletic committee following a 4-6 season last year. During his three years as head coach of the Border Conference team, Evans has compiled a 15-14-3 record.

Baugh, former Washington Redskins and Texas Christian star, ranches at Rotan about 60 miles from Abilene and has been an "associate coach" on Evans' staff for the past two seasons.

It was reported that Baugh likely would be offered the head coaching position. But Baugh told a newsmen that he hadn't been offered the job and wouldn't take it if he were.

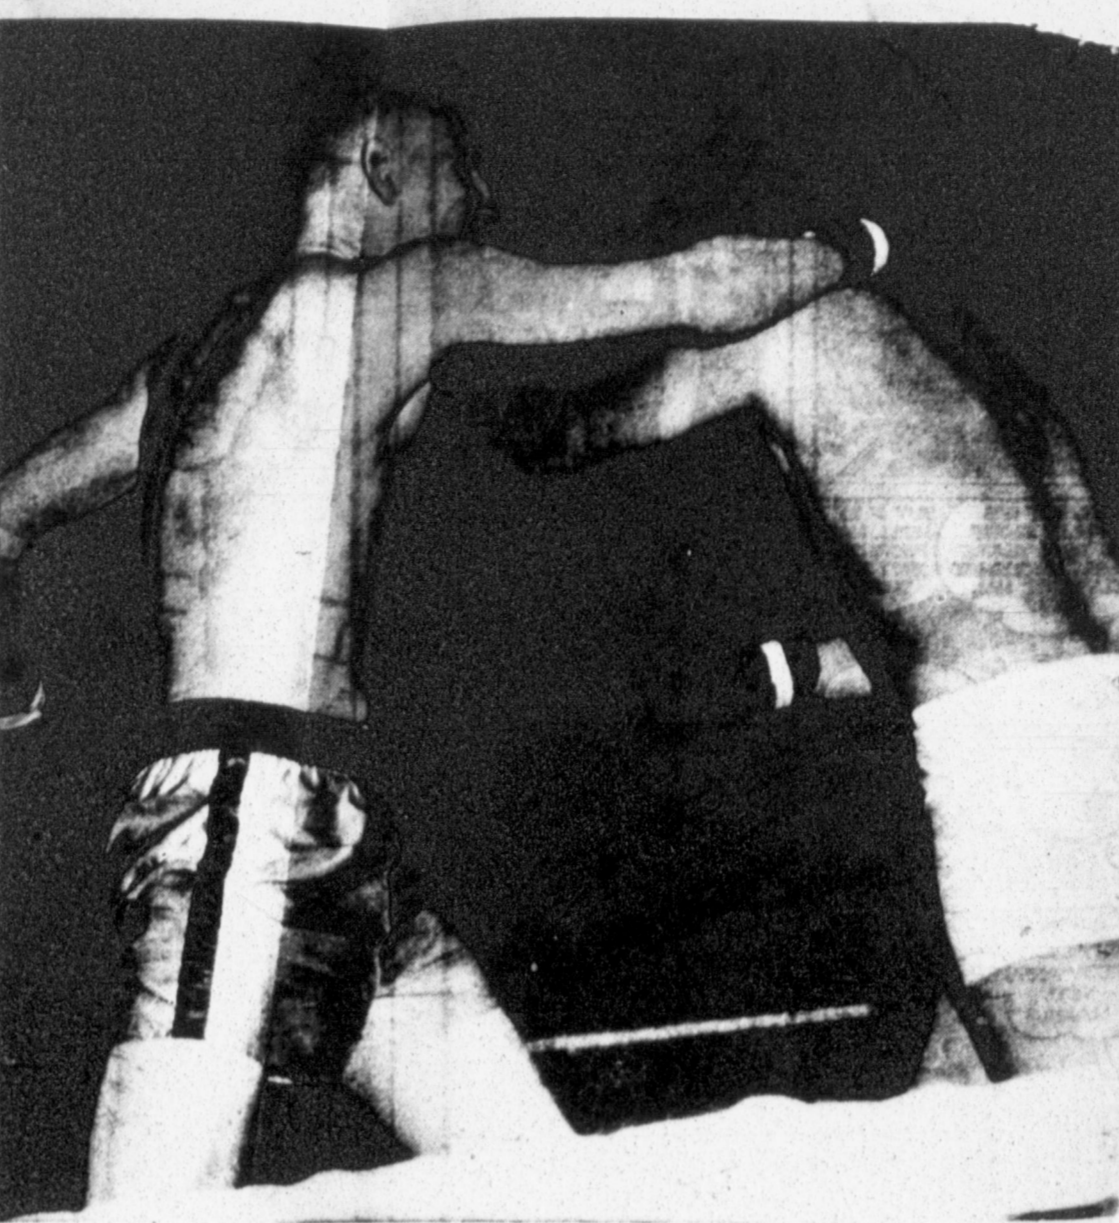

Baugh said, however, that he would stay on as an associate as long as Hardin-Simmons wanted him to do so and would work with whomsoever they chose as a head coach.

Evans' resignation is effective June 1. He said he will go into business in Abilene.

Jake Sandefur, chairman of the H-SU trustees, athletic committee, said he would call a meeting some time within the next few days to talk over finding a new coach.

Evans was an all-Border Conference quarterback for Hardin-Simmons in 1941 and graduated from the Abilene college in 1942.

He was an assistant coach at H-SU from 1946 through 1950 and coached at Kingsville high school during the 1950 season. Evans returned to H-SU as an assistant in the spring of 1951 and was named head coach in 1952. He played one year of professional football and served a hitch in the Navy during World War II.

VITAL PAMPA WIN

Tommy Richardson, left, Pampa heavyweight, is shown missing with a right to the head of Kent Case of Plainview in the Regional Golden Gloves finals at Amarillo Saturday night but Richardson did find his mark numerous times during the match as he punched out a clear cut decision. The win, coming in the final high school bout, enabled the Pampa Optimist Boys Club, team to pull even with Borger for team honors. Both Pampa and Borger compiled 24 points. Richardson spotted Case some 70 pounds in the above match.

AL May Expand In Two Or Three Years

NEW YORK, Jan. 31—UP—The American League realignment committee was studying 10-facility schedules Monday involving Texas, Canadian, Pacific Coast and additional midwestern cities to determine the "reasonability" of expanding within the next two or three years.

Following a four-hour meeting Sunday, members of the committee went on record as "not soliciting additional franchises" but formally conceded that expansion of the league "is possible in two or three years."

General manager Frank Lane of the White Sox, chairman of the league's realignment committee, said that the league has established six standards by which to judge applications for new franchises.

The new "dry run" schedules, as Lane termed them, would involve enormous increases in travel, he said, and in expenditures.

Lane pointed out that American League teams will travel approximately 137,738 miles to fulfill the commitments of the 1956 schedule. By adding two Pacific Coast franchises, the total mileage would be boosted to 209,900 miles. Two midwestern cities would make the mileage 221,138 miles and two Canadian cities would increase the total to 274,622 miles.

President Clarence Miles of the Baltimore Orioles, Vice President Cal Griffith of the Washington Senators and Vice President George Meindinger of the Cleveland Indians serve with Lane on the committee.

The six standards they agreed upon by which to judge applications for new franchises are:

1. Does the prospective franchisee have an adequate stadium or can one be constructed in the near future? (an adequate stadium is considered to be one which seats at least 35,000).
2. Is the group properly (i.e. sufficiently) financed?
3. Will intelligent baseball people be in charge?
4. Has the prospective franchisee cleared the way in its own league to eliminate possible legal entanglements?

AL Californian Wins Senior PGA Tourney

DUNEDIN, Fla., Jan. 31—UP—Senior golfer Mortie Dutra of Los Angeles looked ahead Monday to an all-expenses paid trip to England this summer for the British Open.

The 55-year-old California professional earned the trip Sunday by winning the national PGA Senior Open tournament with a 54-hole total of 213.

Defending champion Gene Sarason of Germantown, N.Y., wound up in a three-way tie for second place with Denny Shute of Akron, Ohio, and Mike Murra of Wichita, Kan. Each finished with 217, four strokes back of the winner.

Dutra tied Murra and Louis Chiappetta of Sylvania, Ohio, for the lead at the end of the second round Saturday. He took a three-over-par 38 on the front nine Sunday, but rallied on the back nine by posting birdies on the 10th, 11th, and 17th holes.

Chiappetta skidded 60 fifth place with a 71-218, while Harry Cooper of White Plains, N.Y., and Jack Willowitz of Toledo, Ohio, tied at 221. Bracketed at 223 were Billy Burke of Clearwater, Fla., Al Wall of Birmingham, Mich., and Joe Turnesa of Sorrento, Fla.

3-Way Tie At Palm Springs

FALM SPRINGS, Calif., Jan. 31—UP—Mike Souchak, Fred Haas and Shelley Mayfield, three of the lesser lights of the golfing world, tee off here Monday in a special play-off for the championship of the $15,000 Thunderbird Invitational golf tournament.

This trio bested the finest in the nation over the last four days when they posted 18-under-par 270s for the 72 holes and ended up in a deadlock for the $2,000 first prize. Second is worth $1,000 and third $750.

"And we're not splitting the purse before we tee off either," said Haas, the defending champion, after the 18-hole play-off was set.

"The money counts in the official PGA standing, but that's not the most important thing. There are 70 points involved towards making the Ryder Cup team—and I'll take them instead of the money any time."

Mayfield and Souchak had 69s on their final round Sunday. Haas a fine 67, despite a disastrous last hole when he shot a bogey six.

Johnny Palmer of Charlotte, N.C., who had led for the first three days, took a 70 on the final round and finished with 271. Bud Holcher, Santa Monica, Calif., and Bob Roazburg, San Francisco, finished with 70s and 272 totals.

Jerry Barber of Los Angeles fired a 67 and came in with 273.

There was a five-way tie for the next spot at 276 between Tommy Bolt, Houston; Gene Littler, Palm Springs; Paul McGuire, Wichita, Kan.; Bo Winger, Oklahoma City and Wally Ulrich, Rochester, Minn.

All of the field, except the trio tied for the title, headed out here Monday morning for Phoenix, Ariz., and the $12,500 Phoenix Open starting Thursday.

K'tucky In Revenge Tilt With Ga. Tech

By JOHN GRIFFIN
United Press Sports Writer

Kentucky's long-awaited "revenge" battle with Georgia Tech touches off a big week in college basketball Monday night as the players return from mid-year examinations fresh and eager to scrap for glory and conference championships.

Monday night's clash at Atlanta has been the target for Kentucky, the nation's No. 1 team, ever since the night of Jan. 8 when Tech astounded the sports world by beating the Wildcats, 59-58.

Except for that shocker, the top upset of the season, Kentucky would be shooting for its 50th straight victory that would equal the all-time record. Instead, the Wildcats' streak was broken at 32 wins and now they are riding a modest five-game streak. Since the big surprise, Tech has won only once and lost seven times.

Victory also could move Kentucky (4-1 league record) to first place in the Southeastern Conference, should pace-making Alabama (4-0) lose to Florida.

Similar Revenge Mission

But the Wildcats should be warned by the fate of North Carolina State on a similar "revenge" mission Saturday night. State, burning for vengeance ever since Villanova ruined a 12-0 record with a 91-78 defeat, got the chance Saturday and wound up with another black eye, 107-96.

Also bidding for the headlines Monday night will be the clash of West Virginia (6-0) and Richmond (6-1) at Richmond for first place in the Southern Conference. West Virginia handed Richmond its only league loss, 72-69, early this season.

First place in the Missouri Valley Conference also will be at stake Monday night when Tulsa risks its 4-0 league record against Bradley with St. Louis (2-0) idle and hoping to take over.

Before the week is over, first place in all major conferences except two—the Skyline and the northern division of the Pacific Coast—could change hands. Here's how the other conferences are shaping up.

Big Seven Race

Big Seven—Colorado (4-0) risks its record against Iowa State Saturday, Second-place Missouri (3-1) meets Iowa State Tuesday and Oklahoma Saturday.

Southeastern—Alabama must risk 4-0 mark against Florida Monday night and Georgia Tech Tuesday. Kentucky, in addition to Georgia Tech game Monday Thursday, also meets Florida Thursday and Mississippi Saturday.

Missouri Valley—If Tulsa (4-0) beats Bradley Monday night and Tulsa (2-0) beats Oklahoma Saturday, the two unbeaten teams will meet Saturday at St. Louis for the lead.

Southwest—Texas Christian (4-1) faces two tests: Texas A&M Wednesday and Baylor Saturday; SMU (also 4-1) faces only Arkansas Monday night.

Idaho State

Rocky Mountain—Idaho State (5-0) meets Colorado College Friday and Saturday.

Border—West Texas State (5-1) meets Arizona St. Friday and Arizona Saturday.

Skyline—Utah (7-0) plays two outside games this week.

Act. Pickers In SWC Cage Race

By ED FITE
United Press Sports Writer

The pace slips up in the Southwest Conference basketball race this week and the first place dead lock between Texas Christian and Southern Methodist is bound to be broken before the week is out.

Coach Doc Hayes' Methodists got first chance at moving ahead when they undertook the always-dangerous task of battling Arkansas on the Razorbacks' home court at Fayetteville Monday night.

Then, TCU swings into action Wednesday night at Fort Worth in the first of two top games on their program. The Texas Aggies, who lost to SMU 73 to 62 at Colleyville, are the Wednesday night foe. Baylor will furnish the opposition at Fort Worth on Saturday night.

Should TCU win both starts and SMU manage to trim Arkansas, the Pros would wind up with a 6-1 record to 5-1 for SMU, which plays only the one game.

TCU Has Trouble

TCU has all sorts of trouble besting the Razorbacks at Fayetteville and had to come from behind to salvage a 67 to 62 victory with Dick O'Neal saving the day with a 38-point performance. SMU is sure to run into the same stubborn resistance.

Baylor, which dropped into third place with a 3-2 record last week by losing its showdown tilt to SMU 96 to 84, will have to upset TCU to keep alive its title hopes. The Bears will warm up for the last-ditch stand by playing North Texas at Waco Tuesday night.

Texas returns to action this week too, playing Texas Tech at Austin Thursday night and then entertaining Arkansas at Austin Saturday night. The Longhorns lost their 14th straight game last week, 59 to 52 at Houston.

Hogs Still in Running

Coach Glen Rose's Arkansas cagers can't be counted out of the running, especially if they trip SMU Monday night. The Hogs hold a 2-2 record and have been looking increasingly sharper with seven victories in their last 10 games after losing four of their first five. The Razorbacks nipped Oklahoma City 55 to 52 in their lone start last week.

TCU ran up its biggest score of the season last week in trimming Abilene Christian 101 to 83, but Center Dick O'Neal failed to break his own single game record of 45 points.

The sparkling sophomore got 39 points, however, to boost his total to 466 for the season and a 27.4-point average. That compares with 20.9 for SMU's Jim Krebs and 20.8 for Baylor's Murray Bailey, his closest rivals.

West Texas State gets a chance for revenge as well as a chance to strengthen its Border Conference leadership this week.

The Buffs, who took over the lead with a 5-1 record by knocking off Texas Tech 87 to 78 last week, play both Temple State and Arizona at Canyon on successive nights, Friday and Saturday.

It was Arizona that put the lone blemish on the Buffs' league record, a 73 to 72 upset at Tucson Jan. 15, on a final seconds fight goal.

And, Coach Gus Miller's pace-setter will be thirsting to avenge that one.

The Buffs' two games are part of a five-game conference slate that also will see Texas Tech playing twice—against Hardin-Simmons at Abilene Tuesday night and Temple Saturday night at Lubbock. New Mexico A&M invades El Paso against Texas Western Saturday night in the other game.

Tech (2-1) will need to win both games to stay within striking range of West Texas, which already has completed half its schedule and will have only four games to go after this week.

Arizona, beaten by Tempe 92 to 74 last week for its first loop loss in three starts, also will be in the do-or-die stage as it opens its swing into Texas.

Tempe, in fourth place at 2-2, has shown surprising scoring punch in its last two games, beating San Diego Navy 101 to 70 at midweek before plying up nearly 100 points against arch-rival Arizona.

In non-conference activity this week, Tech meets Texas at Austin and Hardin-Simmons plays North Texas at Denton—both Thursday night, and Arizona hosts Bradley at Tucson Wednesday night.

Seattle Gal Is Tourney Champ

MIAMI, Jan. 31—UP—Pat Lesser, a pretty coddler from the University of Seattle, Monday pointed to her victory in the Doherty Women's amateur tournament to prove she is one golfer who doesn't scare easily.

Paired against National Amateur champion Barbara Romack in Sunday's final round, Miss Lesser walloped her long-time rival from Sacramento, Calif., 6 and 5.

It was the fourth meeting between the two for West girls and the fourth time Miss Lesser walked off as the winner.

Miss Lesser had gained the final round by eliminating Cookie Swift Berger of Buffalo, N.Y., while Miss Romack beat Joyce Ziske of Waterford, Wis.

U. S. MIGHT IN FORMOSA AREA -- The theme of the fast carriers is vividly etched by these Navy Cougar jets roaring high above the Midway, one of the biggest flat-tops. It is joining the Seventh Fleet off Formosa.

Fast Carriers Pack Deadly Punch In Formosan Waters

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The fast carrier task force off Formosa is the most modern, efficient and deadly weapons system which can be assembled on the sea.

It represents billions of dollars worth of ships, planes, atomic weapons, guided missiles, conventional armament, elaborate communications and electronic gear.

It is supported by a gigantic air and surface supply system capable of keeping it patrolling or fighting for as long as the crisis there might last.

The speed with which this major element of the Seventh Fleet was beefed up and moved into best tactical position for covering evacuation of Nationalist troops from Tachen, halting a Communist invasion of Formosa, or, if necessary, exchanging first blows of a major war, is the task force's complete justification, the Navy believes.

The Formosa crisis proved dramatically the flexibility and potency of this weapon idea, Navy spokesmen point out. There's no eventuality it couldn't cope with, they claim.

Most dramatic, deadly action of any hostilities in the Formosa area would be aerial combat, probably between Russian-built MIG-15, which the Chinese Reds have and fighter planes of the U. S. fleet.

The new F9F-8 Cougar is the plane which would go aloft to tangle with the MIG. The Cougar climbs as fast as the MIG, turns in as tight a circle, and has a higher ceiling. It's faster than the MIG — close to supersonic — has superior fire power and an effective combat radius of over 900 miles.

Every combat plane with the fleet, including the Cougar, can deliver A-bombs. But the huge North American AJ Savage, with two conventional piston engines and one jet, is capable of carrying the larger types of A-bombs and several of the smaller ones. It is the largest plane which operates off carriers.

The Savage flies at extremely high altitudes and can drop its bombs — nuclear or otherwise — by radar at night or during zero-zero weather conditions.

The unit off Formosa is composed of four attack carriers — Essex, Wasp, Yorktown and Kearsage — four cruisers and up to 90 destroyers. When the crisis arose additional units were dispatched to the area, including the large carrier Midway and the attack carrier Princeton. Exact strength of the task force is kept secret.

Guided missiles integrated with the rest of force's fire power include the ground-to-ground Regulus, the ground-to-air Terrier, and the air-to-air Sparrow, all weapons which have become operational since the end of the Korean War.

The Regulus can carry an atomic warhead, its performance is short of pin-point accuracy on long-range targets, but it could be used effectively under many circumstances.

Critics of the carrier task force concept claim that it's too vulnerable to atomic attack and enemy subs. But the Navy has the answer to both of these charges.

It does not operate as the gigantic, massed force the way it did so effectively in the Pacific in World War II. Today it's dispersed so that a direct atomic hit on one carrier or one cruiser would not damage other main units.

And its anti-sub weapons and electronic defenses are vast and effective. One of the most successful of these complex devices is a listening apparatus dunked into the water by helicopters hovering around the perimeter of the fleet.

It has also been said that any carriers caught in the Formosa Strait when serious shooting started would be sitting ducks for enemy land-based planes.

over this scene in front of the woodyard. They were still waiting for a countermand, would have rushed in with bare fists had Crotch given the order. They were halfway to the landing strip before Melott found his voice.

"At that," he said, "they let us off easy. We walked straight into it."

Crotch returned him one of wry, thought-provoking smiles. "Jim, do you figure you could burn the old San Diego in our boiler?"

MELOTT'S face came around to Crotch, eyes filled with a newborn savage light. "How I'd love to throw her beams in our fire boxes!"

"Then go back and have Goss hand out the rifles. Those fellows will keep their eyes on their woodyard; they'll be expecting us back. Instead, you drift downriver to the San Diego. Tie fast and let the crew do a good job with their axes."

Melott's questioning look clung to Crotch. "What about you?"

"I'll look up Maddix. Those deckhands of his won't give you much of a fight if I can keep him out of it."

The strength that was part of Crotch, that hidden will and force that were his, were apparent to Melott. He felt it and was warmed by it, and he brought out his own pistol, handed it over but foremost, "You watch that fellow the way you'd watch a dog with rabies."

He left then, with his two Cocopahs trailing him toward the landing. Crotch turned up Castle Dome's single street, headed for the brightest lights, counting on Maddix being inside this place.

As he passed a boarded-over store, a guitar sounded the racing notes of a Mexican dance. A woman was laughing against the click of castanets. A private affair of some sort was going on behind this darkened front. Directly ahead lay a patch of lamplight. He judged Maddix would be here, and when he came abreast the plate a glance inside bore him out.

Clyde Maddix was seated by himself at a wall table.

Fight The Wild River

by EDMUNDS CLAUSSEN

THE General Heath's wood bunkers were empty and Crotch intended they should be well stocked by morning when they steamed after the Clarence. There would be no chance for them at all if his crew must scour the already stripped river banks, chopping their own wood.

At the woodyard Crotch and Melott ran headlong into the stalemate Jamison had set for them. A bronzed, scar-faced Indian had charge of the selling, a fierce-looking redskin with a pair of cotton summer trousers cut off jaggedly across the thighs, and a long coat that had once belonged to a gambler. And a bowler hat. The hat was the coup de grace.

"You are not going to get any of my wood this time," he howled with a dark unfriendliness threading his tones. "Tonight I am sold out. What is it white brother say?" and he snapped his fingers to add fitting veneration to his remark. "I make clean up."

Crotch felt a hard anger heat against him, and a cold sweat dampened his palms. "What's the matter with us, Lamefoot? Crotch and company have always paid your price without bickering. I'll buy you a good bottle of whiskey for a Christmas bonus."

"I cannot sell what I do not own. Already I tell you there is no firewood here." When Crotch's eyes drifted to the 10-foot stacks, Lamefoot was quick to explain. "It has been bought by Navigation Company. Jamison—I am now working for Jamison."

Lamefoot massaged his fingers, examining a white man. "Bah! for your house!"

"Since Jamison owns with authority of Castle Dome? A chief of the steamboat?"

The Indian nodded, grinning.
