

Tornado Wipes Out Kansas Town

UDALL, Kan. —UP—Tornadoes left a tragic path of death and ruin in three southwestern states Thursday.

One twister all but wiped this village off the map in the worst such disaster ever to hit the "cyclone state" of Kansas.

The estimated death toll was set at 79 and authorities feared it would mount. Hundreds were injured.

This was the heaviest of death and injured in the devastation which struck Wednesday night in Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

Udall and vicinity — 43 believed dead, at least 200 injured. Cheyenne, Okla. — Two dead, Sterling City, Tex. — 14 feared dead in a bomber crash.

Udall, a village of 610, suffered the most savage blow. State highway police said an estimated 40 persons were killed when the twister demolished a home for the aged.

Three more bodies were brought to hospitals in surrounding communities, and at least 200 persons in the area were injured.

Weather bureau records showed it was the most deadly tornado ever to hit the state of Kansas.

The worst previous year of storm deaths was 1917, when 42 Kansans were killed.

Udall Mayor Earl Rowe estimated the toll in Wednesday night's twister even higher.

wounded. I counted seven bodies around my home."

At nearby Blackwell, the same twister or perhaps another one wrecked a 12-block area and demolished a hospital and a glass factory.

Weather Bureau experts said reports indicated that at least 10 tornadoes struck during the night in Oklahoma along a path nearly 200 miles long.

The storm line extended in almost a straight line from Memphis, Tex., where the first storm hit at 3:17 p.m., on through Cheyenne, Camargo and Blackwell, Okla., and on to Udall, Rock, Derby and Gueda Springs, Kan.

Two persons were known dead at Cheyenne and at least 18 homes were destroyed in the western position of the state.

The Udall twister struck about 10:30 p.m.

"I had just gotten up," said Mayor Rowe. "I'm a night worker. I was standing at the front door in my boots. There was lightning and just a little rain. Then it hit."

"My house just floated away. I (See TORNADO, Page 2)

Williams Guilty; Gets Six Years!

Verdict Considered Victory For D.A.; Miller To Appeal

By ED NASH
Pampa News Staff Writer

Williams is guilty! His sentence is six years! An all-male jury brought in a verdict of guilty at 11:08 1/2 a.m. today in the murder trial of Fred C. Williams.

And the court room, which had been packed through two marathon sessions of the trial was almost deserted — the spectators had missed the climax of the drama.

"No hard feelings," Williams told Dist. Atty. Bill Waters. "That's your job." E. T. (Dusty) Miller and Harold Sanderson, Williams' attorneys, were not on hand for the finding of the jury.

It was a victory for the "young challenger" over the "old pro." Waters, the new young district attorney, won a clean-cut victory over Miller, who was trying his 292nd murder case. And, to top it off, Waters also defeated again Sanderson, the man he defeated for district attorney last summer.

"That's good," Mrs. Margaret Payne, widow of the slain man, said on hearing the verdict. "It couldn't have been better unless it was 60 years."

Williams, using the phone in Waters' office minutes after the jury's findings were announced, talked to Miller in Amarillo and he said Miller told him he was on his way over to Pampa to file an appeal.

Sheriff Rufe Jordan took Williams to county jail to await the arrival of Miller. He was expected to be out again on appeal bond before the day is over.

Williams gave the go-ahead to Waters and Dist. Judge Lewis M. Goodrich, knowing that his attorneys were not present. Williams showed up in the judge's chambers at 10:54 a. m. today, dressed in a pepper-and-salt brown suit, yellow shirt, brown socks and brown loafers.

He appeared calm as he chatted with court officials and reporters in the judge's chambers while they were awaiting word of Miller's whereabouts. But there was sweat on his brow.

Damaging Winds Hit Wheeler County

Tornado-like winds swept over parts of Wheeler County Wednesday in the late afternoon causing thousands of dollars worth of damage, and injuring at least four persons in one family on the Mills Ranch near Texola, Okla. The Keltan area was the hardest hit.

Wide-spread damage to highways, utility lines, barns and orchards accounted for towering estimates of loss, which were still uncounted at press time.

Released from the Shamrock hospital this morning after a harrowing experience about 5 p.m. yesterday were members of the Bond Ward family. According to reports the family was on the Mills Ranch when the tornado approached. Seeking safety, after the water had reached the running-board level of the car, the family ran to a creek bottom, where they clung onto a tree. It was a desperate five minutes, during which their five-year old son was blown loose from the tree. Miraculously he was caught by a member of the family. All the members of the family, Bond Ward, his wife, Linda, 8, and their son, J.D., were released after treatment.

Near Keltan and east of Shamrock damage was at its heaviest. The Highway Patrol reported that on the Texas side of Hwy. 152 near Sweetwater, Okla., 176 feet of the pavement was lifted off the ground, according to patrolman Jack Taylor. Utility lines were reported down in both areas. Hail in Shamrock was reported the size of ping pong balls.

East of Shamrock, the H. V. Parrish home was destroyed. None of the family were injured, but 30 head of the family livestock were killed and one of 11 horses survived during the five-minute holocaust. Also in the area, the home of Jim Howell was reported destroyed with severe damage done to the farmhouse of Melvin Hill.

In the Keltan area the machine shed and orchards of Raymond Moore were reported to have sustained considerable damage. Outbuildings and fences on the farms of Bill and Melvin Overcast, Garland and Louis Abernathy, George, Ed and Lawrence Davis, were known to have been damaged.

Reports from Keltan this morning said trees were strewn across roads and highways and the power lines of the REA, Southwestern Public Service and the telephone company, were down.

Radio Station KEVA Shamrock said the path of the tornado east of the city cut through an area two blocks long, and was thought to have come out of the southwest from the general area of Clarendon. Pavement in the Shamrock area was torn up, but no accurate estimate was made this morning.

At Least 14 Die In Texas Weather

By UNITED PRESS
A series of tornadoes plowed a path of death and destruction from West Texas into southern Kansas Wednesday night and at least 14 persons were killed in Texas.

They were crewmen aboard a B-36 Superbomber from Roswell, N. M., which apparently ran into a tornado near Sterling City, Tex. It crashed in flames on the Collin Brennan ranch.

There were no survivors. A tornado was reported early Thursday in the southeastern part of Wichita Falls. It roofed two barns but injured no one.

Tornado Sighted Near Merkel
A tornado was sighted west of Merkel, which is 25 miles west of Ablene, but it caused no damage. Another tornado was reported at Sterling City — apparently the one the B-36 ran into. It did not touch the ground.

The weather bureau warned there is a possibility of damaging surface winds in parts of Missouri, Oklahoma and Texas up to noon Thursday.

It said the danger area is up to 60 miles either side of a line from 40 miles west of Columbia, Mo., to 60 miles southeast of Ardmore, Okla. That area includes most of Grayson, Lamar and Fannin counties in Texas.

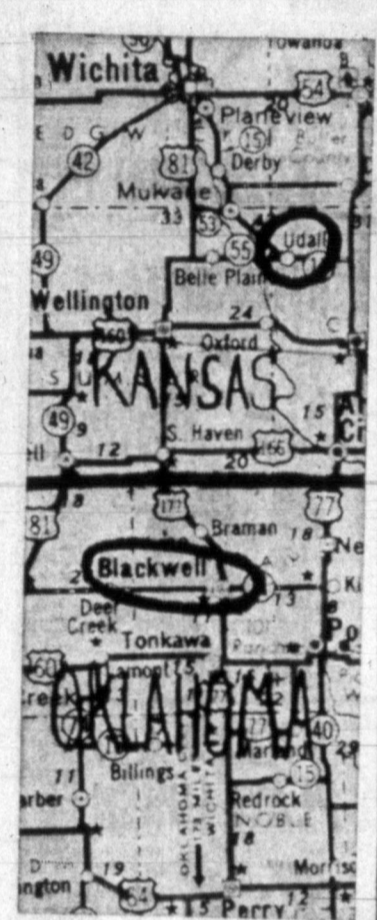

Forecasters said the thunder storms will continue in Texas Thursday and move eastward, with some scattered thunder storms and severe weather "mainly in North Central Texas."

The rains and storms won't bring much of a drop in temperatures, they said.

Heavy Hailstorm
The destructive funnels dropped out of muggy, stormy skies in the Texas Panhandle Wednesday night. Hail the "size of baseballs" hit east of Memphis, Tex., where the severe storm was first reported.

Clifton Neely of the Memphis fire department said some of the huge ice-balls were put in refrigerators. The weather bureau at Wichita Falls said one of the stones was reported to measure eight and three-quarters inches around, but that the stones were soft and did little damage.

The text of the note was not released immediately.

STORM AREA — This section of the road map shows both Blackwell, Okla., and Udall, Kan., where tornadoes took heavy toll of life and property last night.

BLACKWELL, Okla. —UP—Rescue parties Thursday began digging out from a devastating twister which killed at least 19 persons and leveled some 75 square blocks.

More than 50 ambulances from surrounding areas shuttled the injured and dead to the city's two hospitals and an emergency ward in the First Baptist Church.

Extent of damage which resulted when the tornado struck at 10:30 p.m. Wednesday was difficult to determine until daylight. Emergency crews believed many bodies were buried in the debris.

The Blackwell General Hospital had more than 100 patients, including 10 to 15 serious cases.

Sister Mary Alma, administrator at General hospital, said 10 dead were taken out of the hospital soon after the tornado struck.

Safe Plan Sought For Vaccine Use

WASHINGTON —UP—Scientists, drug manufacturers and government officials set out Thursday to devise a practical safety plan for Salk vaccine which would permit early resumption of the nation's inoculation program.

An informed source said enough Salk vaccine may measure up quickly to the government's tight new safety standards to permit partial resumption of the program next week.

His prediction followed a Public Health Service spokesman's comment that some vaccine manufacturers "on their own hook already have approached the standards" set Wednesday but not immediately made public.

A special committee of scientists including Dr. Jonas E. Salk, developer of the vaccine, and Dr.

Thomas Francis Jr. who prepared the original report on its effectiveness—began the new safety review Thursday.

The Public Health Service said the committee "can be expected to move pretty fast" in its batch-at-a-time check of vaccine. It will review vaccine already produced but not yet released as well as vaccine produced in the future.

At the same time, industry and health service officials met to discuss the standards further and try to decide how they should apply to each manufacturer since they are a guide to production and do not spell out every step the manufacturer must follow.

Extensions of Tests
Dr. Leonard A. Scheele, U.S. surgeon general, described the new standards as additions and extensions of tests previously set up by the health service. Another source said they are "not drastic."

But Homer O. Fritsch, executive vice president of the Parke-Davis Co., Detroit, said he and other producers feel the revisions are not acceptable "as presently written."

Both Fritsch and Dr. Betty Lee Hampill, director of virus research for Sharp & Dohme, Philadelphia, said the manufacturers were given only "tentative" specifications.

But a public health service spokesman said the standards are firm and the government "insists on the standards it considers necessary."

Hedy Lamarr's Jewels Stolen

HOUSTON —UP—Hedy Lamarr reported to police Wednesday night that $30,000 worth of her jewelry was stolen from her home Tuesday night.

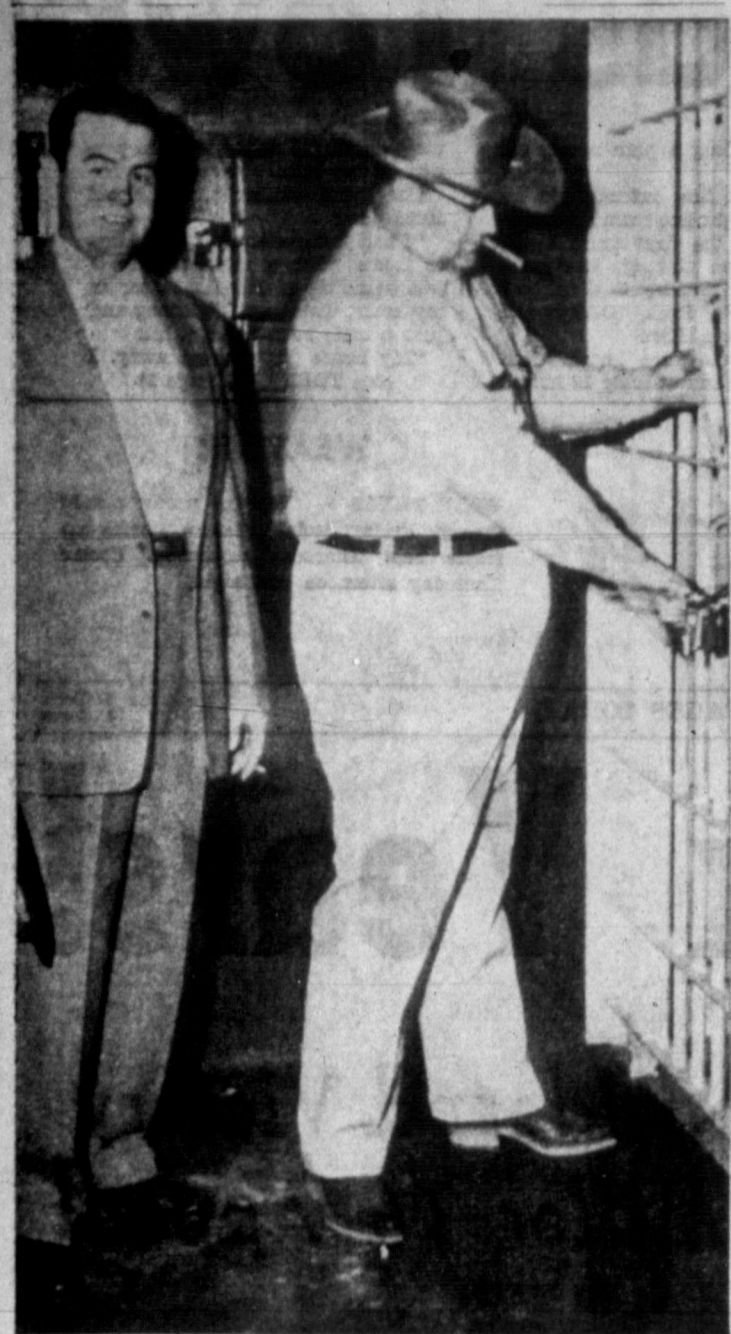

Miss Lamarr and her husband, Houston oilman W. Howard Lee, made the report to police. Lee said they had not reported it earlier because "we thought it must be around the house somewhere."

They said they made a thorough search of the entire house before they called police.

Miss Lamarr said she and her maid, Elizabeth Bradford, 49, took the jewelry from a dressing table about 3 p.m. Tuesday and cleaned it with diamond cleaner. Then they put the jewelry back in its green leather bag and into the dressing table.

BACK TO CELL -- Sheriff Rufe Jordan prepares to lock up Fred Williams shortly after a jury in 31st District Court found Williams guilty and sentenced him to six years. (News Photo)

Williams Guilty

One of the jurors said it took seven or eight ballots — both official and unofficial — to reach a verdict. First the jurors would take an official ballot, then they would take an unofficial one to see if they were getting together. The jury deliberated till 2 a.m. today and went back to work after breakfast at 8:45 a.m.

Williams and Waters sat together at the bench in 31st District Courtroom, which was moderately empty — there were only five in the balcony Williams appeared glassy-eyed and nervous as C. A. Martin, of Lefors, jury foreman, handed the verdict to Judge Goodrich who, in turn, handed it to Dist. Clerk Helen Sprinkle. Mrs. Sprinkle read the verdict.

Asked by Waters if he wanted a poll of the jury, Williams replied, "Yes, sir."

He stroked the right side of his face as each jurorman declared his guilty verdict and six-year assessment.

Mother Breaks Down

Midway through the poll, Mrs. Viola Williams, the defendant's mother, broke down, shrieked and her head fell over into the lap of the man sitting next to her in the courtroom. She wept. Her son watched each juror intently as he gave his individual verdict.

When the poll was over, Judge Goodrich thanked the jury and dismissed them. Williams and Waters talked for several moments. Then Williams walked out with Jordan to the elevator. His mother followed him into the elevator, still weeping.

When she burst out again, her son murmured, "Now, baby."

Williams then went to Waters' office, talked with his attorney and was taken to jail.

Asked why the jury was out so long — from 9:42 p.m. yesterday to 11:04 1/2 a.m. today — Martin, the foreman, replied, "It was a hard decision to make. Hard fought. Everyone was honest and fair in making their decision."

The courtroom emptied quickly and little, if any, comment was heard.

Court Emptied

Where there had only been people, people, people, the night before, there were none — 10 minutes after the jury was dismissed.

It was the culmination of three days' court work. It took till 5:30 p.m. Tuesday to get the jury. Then Judge Goodrich ordered a night session which wound up dramatically when Williams collapsed at 10:27 p.m. The trial ran from shortly before noon yesterday to 12:48 a.m. today when everyone went home.

The tip-off that a verdict would not be read before bedtime early this morning came when Williams walked into the courtroom at 12:45 a.m. today, picked up his hat and walked out of the courtroom. For the defendant is always on hand when the verdict is read.

It was the third day — and the second "marathon" day — for the trial of Williams, accused of stabbing to death Oran J. Payne, 39, of Pampa, early the morning of Feb. 23 in the home of Williams' estranged wife, Mrs. Juanita Ellen Williams, 622 N. Banks.

Testimony got underway shortly before noon yesterday and at 12:15 a.m. today, the jury indicated to the court attaches that they were just getting started.

Bill Waters, the youngish district attorney who took office Jan. 1, began his closing argument to the all-male jury at 8:17 p.m. yesterday.

Defense Argues

Harold Sanderson, the former Miamiian who ran unsuccessfully against Waters last summer for DA, allowed Waters at 8:33 p.m. And —

E. T. (Dusty) Miller, the "Goliath" who will be 70 in December and is in his 292nd murder trial "on both sides of the fence," took over at 8:50 p.m. and "lectured" them for the next 44 minutes.

The testimony in the trial ended at 4:20 p.m. with the conclusion of Waters' cross-examination of Williams. At that time, the defense rested, the state closed and the defense closed.

District Judge Lewis M. Goodrich said he would try to have the charge to the jury ready by 5:30 p.m. Then the trial-opening time was changed to 7 p.m. But, actually, the jury did not return to the courtroom till 8:07 p.m. when Judge Goodrich read the charge to the jury.

Dressed in a plain brown suit, arms akimbo at his waist, Waters began his closing argument to the jury with a recitation of the testimony of the six prosecution witnesses.

"I know this has been going on between Payne and my wife for about three months," he quoted Patrolman Frank Brooks as hearing Williams say at the scene of the crime. He moved on to quote O. M. Atkins, Amartillo, who had had uranium business dealings with both Williams and Payne, as hearing Williams say he knew Payne had been playing around with his wife and "I Don't care."

And, Waters trumpeted, "he (Williams) didn't deny it."

Cites Divorce Papers

Williams admitted, the DA said in referring to Williams' afternoon testimony, that there had been two divorces filed (the defendant had filed one) — "there had been a good deal of lack of harmony" — and that the Williamses had been separated and that he had signed a waiver when served with divorce papers.

"The only issue," the young DA said, starting straight at the jury, "is the defense is based solely on justified homicide." And justifiable homicide, he added, has two conditions: (1) the parties to the act cannot have been separated and (2) there can not have been "connivance or assent to" the adulterous condition.

The law, he continued, allows a man to protect his home — "What home was there to be protected here?"

Sanderson, a stockily-built young man in a blue suit, then spoke for the defense in a strong voice.

There were two adult persons in bed, Sanderson said, referring to Payne and Mrs. Williams. "They had no clothes on — the purpose is quite obvious, it is uncontroversial."

It makes no difference, he said, whether any divorce had been filed or whether he used a "dagger, a gun or a leg of the cook stove — because the law says he was justified." The law says, he said, that the man should "protect the home and the marriage relationship. All the man has to do is 'see them in bed' — they were on one side of the bed, their arms were around each other, they had no clothes on, it would be reasonable to assume adultery." Hits State's Case

"The state tried to show Williams was not of good character," the defense attorney continued. "But the statute makes no reservation about what kind of person the defendant is, colored or white, old or young, ex-convict or preacher for the First Baptist Church."

The packed courtroom — both downstairs and the balcony were full and they were five-deep at the doorways — hushed as "Dusty" Miller, the fabulous, balding and red-faced criminal attorney, went before the jury at 8:50 p.m.

Limping somewhat and clad in a rumpled blue suit, Miller, speaking a strong voice that was to rise and fall with inflection, said, "The act is sufficient, the husband has the right to slay."

Waving his arms for emphasis, Miller said, "Marriages are ecclesiastical" — the law places the burden on the man to protect his wife. Williams, he said, is "a fellow who more than likely loves his wife." He served in the armed forces "with honor and distinction and he labored (afterward)!"

Describing his client as "clean-cut, truthful, honest, peaceful," Miller said Williams "looked after his wife, he sure did, he turned over his money ($400 a month) to her — they were getting along pretty good."

"He says he loves his wife, there is every indication he does, he did a thing any good man ought to have done," he said.

When Miller described the night of Feb. 23, one week before the killing, when Williams drove out to 622 N. Banks and said he saw Payne's car in the driveway, he said, "Fred acted cautious, the act of a good citizen." (Williams in the afternoon testified he had that night driven back up the street and had fallen asleep, awaking to find Payne's car gone.)

"I feel sorry for him (Payne)," Miller said in a soft voice. "It was suicide under the law. He led her (Mrs. Williams) into a sexual condition, to satisfy his passion."

When Williams went out to 622 N. Banks the morning of Feb. 23, the aging attorney continued, "he had in mind all these incidents . . . in bed . . . HIS WIFE . . . he exercised his ecclesiastical right . . ."

Commandments Quoted

Then Miller spoke of the Ten Commandments — "Thou shalt not commit adultery." Mrs. Payne seemed tear-eyed and Mrs. Viola Williams, the defendant's mother, seemed stern-looking, as she held a handkerchief. Williams was Payne's "legal executioner," Miller said.

"A man has a right to slay a man in bed naked with his wife," he concluded.

Waters rebutted by calling it a "brutal murder."

"They say Williams was cautious," he said, beginning to gesture wildly. "But how cautious was he? Enough to do nothing about it," he said, referring to Williams' testimony he had known of the relationship for some time.

"Assent," he said, referring to the wording in the statute, "is a passive act, it is not consent — know of it and do nothing about it."

"Why the gloves (which Williams testified he wore because of the cook weather)?" Waters asked. "Didn't he know where he was going? He went prepared."

Then he brought up another of the Ten Commandments — "Thou Shalt Not Kill." "That is God's law — no man has the right to take the life of another, except under the law."

Judge Goodrich then sent the jury and Court Reporter Bob Baker closed up the last of six notebooks — "they're big ones, too" — he had used to record the trial.

Williams Testifies

The featured attraction of the afternoon for the courtroom had been the testimony of Williams himself. He went on the stand at 2:11 p.m. and was questioned by Miller till 3:09 p.m. when the judge called a recess. Waters cross-examined him from 3:29 p.m. to 4:06 p.m. Ten minutes later Miller and Waters were through with him.

It was while Williams was on the stand that the "mystery woman" of Tuesday, Mrs. Colleen De Vore, dropped up. Williams saw her in the doorway from his seat in the witness box. As the rule had been invoked at the beginning of the trial to keep all witnesses except the one testifying at the time from the courtroom, Judge Goodrich ordered her from the doorway.

Woman Not Called

Mrs. DeVore, reported to be a bookkeeper at Your Laundry, Payne's laundry, was stated to be a prosecution witness. But she was never called to the stand. And her name was never mentioned again after her ousting from the courtroom.

Williams was calm as he took the stand and, asked by Miller if the charge was true, replied, "That is true."

Miller led him, through an account of his early years in Denton, and Hereford, his U.S. Army days, how he was wounded in action, how he served in Casablanca, Sicily, England, France, Germany, Austria on two separate hitches and how he "labored" after his final discharge.

Williams said he was married July 23, 1952, in the First Christian Church, Pampa, after knowing his wife for 11 months. He related how he and his wife worked together, how his mother had stalked them many times.

Miller introduced as evidence a $650 check from Williams' mother, for the purchase of the Pampa Hotel fountain, as evidence.

When Waters objected, Miller said he wanted to show the jury how "these people got along, this was cooperation."

Williams told how he went to Tulsa, Okla., for a week in search of a job — it was the night he got back, Feb. 16, that he found Payne's car in the Williams driveway and then drove up the street and fell asleep. He said he and his wife "planned to sell the place and move away."

When he awoke that morning in his car, he said he went to the house, but his wife was gone. He said he stayed at the house several days, his wife did not come home, then he went to the hotel and saw his wife.

Williams fidgeted on the stand with a rolled handkerchief and he told how he had asked his wife the month before, not to go with Payne — "I'd come home from the liquor store (in the Pampa Hotel) early, she would come home at 2 or 3 in the morning, Payne brought her."

"I'd ask her to come home, after each occasion," he said. "I didn't like it. She promised she'd quit."

Going back to the night he got back from Tulsa, he said she told him Payne had spent the night with her all night and "had had intercourse."

Tells of Murder Night

The morning before the stabbing, Williams continued, his wife had asked him to get a room at the Pampa Hotel — "I did" — and he had gone to bed at 10 p.m. Then he said he awoke at about 2 a.m. (Feb. 23) — he was visibly moved as he spoke — and told how he went out to 622 N. Banks, parked behind two other cars in the driveway, went in the house and saw Payne and Mrs. Williams in bed.

"I had in mind, 'They're in bed, I was going to do something about

Henry Harvey, news director of radio station KFBI at Wichita, Kan., hastened to the scene and reported destruction beyond description.

Clocks had stopped at 10:30 p.m. but communications were shattered and it was after midnight before word got out that the town had been leveled.

Residents had no time to think of calling for help, anyway, Harvey reported. They were busy trying themselves from the debris, rescuing the wounded and searching for their scattered families.

Later, when communications were set up and rescuers moved in some surrounding hospitals were forced to turn away ambulances loaded with the injured because they were filled to overflowing with the tornado victims.

Slams Into Blackwell

The twister hit Blackwell a short time earlier. One resident said it "sounded like a freight train coming by my house."

The eastern half of the town, about two and a half square miles, was flattened, and the Riverside Osteopathic hospital and the Hazel Atlas Glass Co., were demolished.

Mrs. Milo Davis and her husband crawled from beneath the ruin of their home to find their two young sons playing on the flattened roof.

Meanwhile, a about 450 miles away, a B-36 Superbomber apparently ran into a tornado and crashed near Sterling City, Tex., with 14 feared dead.

Long Ride On Train Caboose Is Must Or You Haven't Lived

By HARMON W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON — UP— Any old timer who hasn't sat around a pot-bellied stove in a caboose tied onto the end of a freight train just hasn't lived.

I did that once. I had a fast, memorable round trip of say 50 miles on a caboose, on a runaway trip from home on account of I had flunked Seventh Grade arithmetic.

I've looked one up again and the caboose has changed. No longer do caboose stoves have bellies like Jackie Gleason. Caboose are rather refined things now.

The Association of American Railroads has in its files a wonderful volume called "A Treasury of Railroad Folklore." It's a bunch of stories, tall tales, traditions and the like. Anecdotes about the little men who made railroads great.

There is a whole chapter on the mind side of the train.

This volume, edited by B. A. Bolkin and Alvin T. Harlow, tells us that the caboose is known among the railmen by a lot of other names, "some not printable."

It seems the caboose is known in polite railroad society as a crummy, a bedhouse, a doghouse, bouncer buggy, chariot, glory wagon, go-cart, monkey wagon, palace, parlor, brainbox, zoo, diner, kitchen, and shanty.

Even the word "caboose" itself is sort of a stepchild, and isn't American at all. According to the railroad experts, it is a conglomeration of a number of tongues. It first appeared as "cambrose" or "camboose" in the logs of French railroaders during the last century.

The word caboose first appeared in English literature in 1859 during a lawsuit against the New York and Harlem Railway.

In the courtroom, somebody mentioned that "the men had erected a caboose in which to cook their meals." The phrase had nothing to do with the lawsuit, whatever it was about, but the word "caboose" was born.

It is interesting to learn how the cupola was added to the caboose.

According to the rail folks, it happened in the summer of 1863. A conductor named T. B. Watson was assigned to a regular freight run between Cedar Rapids and Clinton, Iowa.

He was the temporary captain of a rather shabby boxcar, which somehow had come by a circular hole in the roof.

Mr. Watson, being something of a comic, approached the yards at Clinton, stood on a packing case, stuck his head through the hole in the top, lifted his bid and bowed to everyone watching.

Watson, being smart, observed there was a two-foot clearance above the roof of his car. He talked the master mechanic into glassing in his observation perch. And there was the first cupola.

Casablanca, Morocco, claims the world's biggest municipal swimming pool, 1,575 feet long and 246 feet wide. Moorish girls often arrive at the pool in robes and veils, disappear into dressing room, and emerge in brief bathing suits.

Sponsorship Of Butler Tour Splits Texas Dems Again

AUSTIN —UP—The breach in the Texas Democratic party, almost closed in conferences between Gov. Allan Shivers and new National Democratic Chairman Paul Butler earlier this month in Washington, gaped wide open again Thursday.

The conservative faction, led by Shivers and in control of state party machinery, apparently will boycott the June 14-18 Butler appearances in Lubbock, Dallas, Big Spring, Tyler, Waco, McAllen, Weslaco, Corpus Christi and Houston.

Officially, State Chairman George W. Sandlin of Austin said, the State Democratic Executive committee has adopted a "hands off" attitude toward the national chairman's visit.

Butler's tour of Texas, said Judge James Sewell of Corsicana, will nonetheless, "be conducted as previously announced."

Sewell is chairman of the State Democratic Advisory Council, a group set up under leadership of House Speaker Sam Rayburn after state Democratic officials in 1952 followed Shivers in support of the Republican candidacy of President Eisenhower. Sandlin said at Austin that Mrs. Hilda Weiner of Seguin, national committeewoman for Texas, originally had been scheduled to make arrangements for Butler's June visit to Texas.

"However, the so-called Democratic advisory committee and Speaker Sam Rayburn seem to have taken the matter out of her hands. They apparently have taken over sponsorship of the visit."

"I certainly do not appreciate the way Mrs. Weiner has been treated by the Sewell group in this matter, and do not feel Mr. Butler is aware of it or would approve of it if he knew the facts."

House Refuses To Speed Action On Adjournment

AUSTIN —UP—House members refused Wednesday to speed action on a resolution calling for final adjournment of the 54th Legislature within the next 30 days.

Rep. W. L. Smith of Beaumont, seeking to move the resolution from the State Affairs committee to the House sitting as a committee of the whole, lost by a top-heavy 33-91 vote. It would have required a two-thirds majority vote.

"I'm sick and tired of being called a lagging legislator," Smith told the House. Smith's resolution would peg final adjournment this Friday, but he said he would offer an amendment to set sine die adjournment for the following Friday, June 3.

Smith said passage of a sine die resolution would spur action on the session's tax-and-spending problems.

However, Rep. Ben Glusing of Kingsville, chairman of the House State Affairs committee, said such an action would leave an "incomplete work load, merely because our pay has expired is no excuse to quit."

Glusing also argued that a definite date for going home should not be set until the Legislature solves the vital problems.

"I've always thought a man could work better on his own volition without a 45 at his temple," he said.

Glusing promised to call a meeting of his committee by next Monday night to consider Smith's resolution.

Rep. Reuben Talasek of Temple, meanwhile, said he had signatures of 42 House members on a resolution calling for final adjournment June 3. He said the success of his move depended on Senate action on a tax bill reported out of committee Monday.

"If they don't move this week with the tax bill, I'll get you 100 names," Talasek predicted.

Many legislators voiced the feeling that the session's tax-and-spending problem can be solved by June 3 — and if not agreed upon by that time a solution would be hopeless at this session.

Gov. Allan Shivers last week in a special message told the lawmakers that if they found they could not reach a decision on the

2 San Antonio City Chiefs Quit

SAN ANTONIO —UP—San Antonio was looking for a new city manager and city health officer Thursday following the resignation Wednesday of George W. Rice, who served in that capacity since last August.

Rice, a retired medical officer, said he resigned because of increased work. He added that he had taken the city manager job only on a temporary basis.

The city council was expected to take action on the resignation at a meeting Thursday and San Antonio Airport Manager Walter C. Gunstam was reported a likely prospect.

SOLO TRIO

The Dinning Sisters radio and recording stars of a decade ago, are cutting platters again, but when the "trio" shows up at recording studio, there's only one of them, Jean. Theatre Owner Against Subscription TV Idea

HOLLYWOOD —UP—A momentous decision is currently facing the Federal Communications Commission in Washington, D. C., and everyone in America who owns a television set has a vital stake in the outcome.

The commission must decide whether it is in the public interest to license pay-to-see-TV to operate on the hitherto free airwaves.

I am pleased to have this opportunity to answer the most vociferous proponents — the gentlemen who own the coin-box patents — in terms of their own arguments.

The first and most enticing claim of the coin-box gentlemen is that they intend to present to the American public — for the first time — Broadway opening nights of legitimate plays. We have personally talked with many of New York's top pay producers and asked them candidly if they would be willing to put up with four to eight TV cameras telecasting while nervous actors attempt to impress fickle first night audience.

The answer was unanimous — of course not — it would be suicide! It's bad enough getting good reviews under the best conditions — without having to cope with TV lights, cameras and techniques!

The second argument: The general public will be able to see a vast new aura of sports attractions in their own homes and will not have to leave home to pay money to see them on big-screen theater TV.

I cannot imagine a wider scope of sporting activities on pay-TV than there are presently in free-TV. Today you can see baseball games, boxing matches, football events, the Kentucky Derby.

Land Probe Recess Ends

AUSTIN —UP—A five-day recess in a court of inquiry aimed at overall operations of the General Land Office ended Wednesday with resumption of testimony before Justice of the Peace Travis Blakeslee.

Thus far, 20 witnesses — all employees of the sprawling state agency — have testified during six days of hearings. All denied knowledge of any irregularities.

The court of inquiry, asked by Attorney General John Ben Shepherd, was recessed last week after aides to the attorney general asked time to check "leads" in the far-reaching investigation, stemming originally from the Veterans Land Board scandals.

Sewell said that at any time during the Texas visit, Butler will welcome the opportunity to meet with all Texans who are members of the Democratic party. He said the Butler visit was an indication of the party's desire to give Texas Democrats the recognition that is rightfully theirs.

Farms Raided For Pay Rate Violations

EDINBURG, Tex. —UP— The United States Border Patrol Wednesday raided five lower Rio Grande Valley farms on which, it was charged, Mexican contract workers were forced to accept less pay than was called for in their contracts.

The patrolmen removed all contract workers, or braceros, on each of the farms—located all across the lower Rio Grande Valley, from Brownsville west to Mission, Tex. District Immigration Service Director Walter Sahli said in San Antonio that operators of the five farms were accused of violating the contracts they signed when they ordered the farmhands through the bracero system.

Sahli said the crackdown was "in line with plans for improving the bracero contracting program." Some of the plans, he said, came out of a conference last week in Washington.

Sahli said surveys of pay and living conditions in the Valley showed various violations of law. He said the surveys were continuing and other farms and ranches might be affected later.

Sahli said that whenever a single violation of law is found on a farm the federal government will remove all contract workers assigned to it. He declared that the practice of paying braceros less than the minimum specified in contracts is widespread.

Minimum for straight farm work is 50 cents an hour, while there are other scales for particular tasks, such as cotton picking. The farms raided today were located near Brownsville, San Benito, Westaco, Edinburg and Mission, Sahli said all braceros taken from them would be reassigned elsewhere.

There was no official figure available on the total number of workers affected, but it apparently was large, since at least two of the farms employ many workers.

SHADY NOOK IN KITCHEN

The tree that grew in Brooklyn could not have been more greatly appreciated than this one growing in the kitchen of a monastery in West Berlin, Germany. It's there because the nuns of the Order of The Good Shepherd refused to have it destroyed when the monastery was expanded 10 years ago. They built the kitchen around the tree. Kitchen helpers, like the one above, enjoy the chestnut tree's shade. Top of the tree grows through an opening in the roof.

Solon Says Pressure Brought To Get Cutter Vaccine OK

WASHINGTON —UP— Rep. Arthur G. Klein (D-N.Y.) said Wednesday he had information from a reputable source that a "very, very prominent politician from California" brought pressure on Welfare Secretary Oveta Culp Hobby regarding licensing of the Cutter Laboratories, to produce Salk polio vaccine.

Assistant Welfare Secretary Roswell B. Perkins denied "categorically" that this was so.

"On the basis of information available to me, that is absolutely false," Perkins said.

The exchange took place at a hearing by the House Interstate Commerce committee on bills to authorize a government outlay of $28 million for Salk vaccine for children unable to pay and to set up new standby controls over distribution and manufacture of the vaccine.

Mrs. Hobby, through Perkins, approved the free vaccine proposal — which had originated in her department. She turned thumbs down on the second. Mrs. Hobby was not at the hearing. She is at her home in Texas.

Cutter was one of six manufacturers licensed to produce the Salk vaccine. Sixty cases of polio have developed in persons who were inoculated with the Cutter-produced vaccine.

The Public Health Service said Tuesday that there was "presumptive evidence" that two lots of the Cutter vaccine caused polio in the cases. In all, Cutter had released nine lots.

The committee hearing was held as the nation awaited word from Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele on when more Salk vaccine will be released for distribution.

The committee dealt with long-range distribution problems. But the immediate question is resumption of the free vaccination program of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

The committee is considering legislation which would create stand-by federal controls over distribution of the Salk vaccine. Mrs. Hobby said they are not necessary and actually might do more harm than good by restricting production and increasing its cost.

Klein raised reluctantly, he said—the report which he said had been widely circulated in Washington that pressure had been brought on Mrs. Hobby by a California politician in connection with the Cutter license.

Arab Nations Claim Victory

MEXICO CITY —UP— Arab nations held a victory Wednesday over Israel after the World Health Organization voted to continue the committee system in its eastern Mediterranean region.

The eighth assembly also over-United States proposal to ask all countries in the region to make a further report to carry out WHO work by meeting in two sub-committees.

The eighth assembly also overrode objections by three nations—the U.S., Britain and Canada—to authorize the United Nations specialized agency to solicit voluntary contributions for its malaria eradication program.

Burglary Suspect Gets Out Of Jail

BANNING, Calif. —UP— Burglary suspect Roger Deason, 27, won his temporary release from jail Wednesday to attend funeral services for his nine-year-old son who killed himself because playmates called his father a "jailbird."

Roger Jr., a third grade student, killed himself Monday night with a .12 gauge shotgun, using a piece of string to pull the trigger.

"He just couldn't take the ribbing of other boys about his dad," Mrs. Deason was quoted. "He idolized his father."

This Is My Dish

Mrs. Marian Osborne Explains GS Cookery

By JANE KADINGO
Pampa News, Women's Editor

Pampa's Girl Scouts do a type of cooking that would sound like Greek to the uninitiated — such terms as reflector oven, trench cooking, plank cooking, coffee can casserole and beanhole cooking.

"You can cook anything outside you can cook in the house," explained Mrs. Marian Osborne, 922 Mary Ellen, leader of a troop of Senior Scouts.

For the reflector oven, a backdrop of a big rock, a pile of rocks, logs or metal is used, Mrs. Osborne explained. The fire is built against the backdrop, reflecting the heat to the reflector oven made from cookie sheets, placed opposite the backdrop and fire.

With the reflector oven, the girls make gingerbread upside down cake and even cream puffs. "I was worried about how the cream puffs would turn out," Mrs. Osborne stated, "but they were better than some I've made here at home."

The plank cooking consists of covering a plank with foil and attaching nails or hooks to it. It is then placed opposite the reflector fire. On the nails or hooks you attach pork chops, T.B. one steaks or fish, and the reflected heat cooks them.

The girls do a lot of foil cooking, Mrs. Osborne explained. They build a trench fire (a fire built in a trench). They wrap foil around what is to be cooked, such as a potato, rake back the coals, and place the item in the trench where the heat from the coals cooks it.

The coffee can casserole is really intriguing. You place bacon in the bottom of the coffee can, put in a pork chop, steak, or hamburger patty, and then add vegetables, such as carrots, onions, green pepper slices, tomato celery, potato (sliced), carrots, onions and so on. If prepared ahead of time, wax paper should be put on top to fill up the can and keep the ingredients firmly in place.

Before cooking, however, the wax paper must be removed. When ready to cook, the coffee can, covered with lid, is placed among the coals in the trench fire. After about 10 minutes, it should be checked, and if needed, a tablespoon of water may be added.

"It is the same principal as the waterless cooking you use at home," Mrs. Osborne pointed out.

The bean hole cooking is used for baked beans or roasts. The girls dig a deep hole which they line with rock. They use hot coals to heat the rock. When the rocks are heated, the coals are removed and the pot of beans or pot containing a roast is placed in the hole. The hole is then covered with a wet burlap sack and covered with sand. You leave the beans or roast in the hole about 8 to 8 hours and it is done.

This is the same principal as deep well cooking, Mrs. Osborne pointed out.

Almost any of these principals can be used in your own backyard, as a barbecue pit would do fine for the coffee can casserole, the foil cooking, and even the plank cooking.

The Girl Scouts leave Monday for Day Camp at Camp Mel Davis, where the more advanced Scouts will do a lot of this type of cooking and the younger ones will begin learning the fundamentals.

Mrs. Osborne has been working with the Girl Scouts for nine years. She started as a Brownie leader and has followed her girls up to their Senior rank. She said she only has three of the original members left, and two others who have been with the troop after the first year. She has been GS training chairman for four years.

Born and reared in Miami, Texas, Mrs. Osborne has two daughters, Vicki, 15, and Sharon, 12. In addition to her Scout work, she is a member of the First Baptist Church, serving as president of the Lydia Business Women's Class and secretary of the training union in the young people's department. She is a member of the Order of the Eastern Star and of the League of Women Voters.

Here is the recipe for the gingerbread upside down cake the girls make.

1 1/2 Tbsp. butter
1 cup molasses
1 can sliced pineapple or apricots

Nutmeats
raisins
1 3/4 cup flour
1/2 tsp. soda
1 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. ginger
1 tsp. cinnamon
1-4 tsp. cloves
1/4 tsp. nutmeg
1/2 tsp. salt
3 Tbsp. shortening
1-2 cup sugar
1/2 cup boiling water
1 egg

Melt butter in frying pan. Add 1/2 cup molasses and heat to boiling point. Remove from fire. Strain juice from fruit and fill spaces between slices with broken nutmeats and raisins. Let frying pan stand in warm place until following batter is prepared. Sift together flour, soda, baking powder, ginger, cinnamon, cloves, nutmeg, salt. Cream shortening and sugar. Stir in egg, well-beaten, and 1-2 cup molasses. Add dry ingredients. Mix thoroughly. Add boiling water. Beat well, and pour into frying pan over slices of fruit. Bake 30 to 35 minutes in reflector oven. Remove from oven and turn out cake on serving plate, fruit side up. Serve warm.

Mrs. Osborne said this should be baked about 375 degrees, if done in an oven.

Twin Salads Rate For Spring Party

A shower for the bride, a party for the June graduate, a luncheon for the club — are these occasions for which you will be planning a menu soon? If so, then here's a colorful and refreshing spring luncheon plan suggested by home economist Reba Staggs.

Make it an all-salad plate. That is, have one flavorful cold meat salad and one jellied fruit salad. Then pass a tray of assorted dainty sandwiches. Use date, nut or fruit bread for the butter spread sandwiches. For your dessert have pretty petits fours or decorated cake squares. Serve with either tea or coffee.

For your meat salad practically any type of cooked meat may be used — roast beef, pork, lamb or ham. Canned meats such as luncheon loaf, Vienna sausages or smoked tongue are good. Of course any of the ready to serve meats present a wide range of flavor choices.

Miss Staggs gives this simple recipe for preparing a tasty meat salad which ever your choice of meat. For each 2 cups of cubed or julienne meat add 1/2 cup of chopped celery, 1 chopped hard-cooked egg and 1 tablespoon of minced green pepper. Lightly moisten with mayonnaise.

Results obtained by painting over wallpaper are not perfect, but if you don't care you can save yourself a lot of trouble by doing it. Test the colorfastness of the paper by rubbing with a damp cloth. If it's not colorfast, apply a coat of thinned shellac and let it dry three hours before painting.

Springtime Pretty, and Delicious

"As good as it looks" will be the verdict of all who are served this springtime treat, Pineapple Tapioca Pudding. Conveniently made in advance, it comes from the refrigerator at serving time, to be placed in pretty sherbets and garnished with whipped cream and nut meats. Here's how to make it.

Pineapple Tapioca Pudding
1 egg white 1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 egg yolk 1/8 teaspoon salt
2 cups milk 2 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca 1/2 cup canned crushed pineapple
1/4 cup broken nut meats

Beat egg white until foamy throughout; add 2 tablespoons granulated sugar, 1 tablespoon at a time, and continue beating with rotary egg beater until mixture will stand in soft peaks. Set aside.

Mix egg yolk with about 1/4 cup of the milk in saucepan. Add tapioca, brown sugar, salt, and remaining milk. Place over medium heat. Cook until mixture comes to a boil, stirring constantly — this takes 5 to 8 minutes. Add butter.

Pour small amount of hot tapioca mixture gradually on beaten egg white, blending well. Then quickly add remaining mixture, stirring constantly. (The hotter the tapioca and the faster it is blended in, the thicker and fluffier the pudding will be.) Cool 15 to 20 minutes. Add pineapple and nuts. Chill. Serve with whipped cream, if desired. Makes 6 servings.

If desired, 1 cup evaporated milk and 1 cup water may be used.

Good Girl Cookies Fine For Parties

Feting graduating seniors can be as frivolous as a noon luncheon or as casual as a supper buffet. Let a clever but quick cookie dessert bring the party atmosphere.

Good Girl Cookies look fancy, yet are Betty Crocker's newest trick with a cake mix. This crusty combination of white and dark dough can be made up easily from a package of Marble Cake Mix. Delight your guests by mimicking their faces or hairdos when you decorate with the dark chocolate dough.

The poor man's way to an effective pastry tube is to cut an envelope in half, spoon chocolate dough into the envelope, then squeeze the dough through a small corner opening.

Avoid a last-minute rush by baking the day before. Serve the cookies with ice cream balls rolled in coconut or on a buffet platter.

GOOD GIRL COOKIES
1 egg

1/4 cup shortening
2 Tbsp. water
1 package Marble Cake Mix
Empty package contents into bowl. Save marbling mixture for later.

Blend egg, shortening and water with Marble Cake Mix. Roll out all but 1/4 cup dough. Cut with 2 1/2" cookie cutter and place on ungreased baking sheet.

Blend marbling mixture, 1 Tbsp. water and 1/4 cup dough for face and hair. To make the pastry tube, cut a paper envelope in half.

Then cut a small opening in one corner of envelope and force dough through to form eyes, nose, mouth and hair.
Bake 8 to 10 minutes. Makes 4 dozen.

Tito Thanks Russia For Greetings

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia—UP—President Tito thanked Russia for wishing him a happy 63rd birthday Wednesday on the eve of a historic mission from Moscow to forgive him for his seven years' defiance of the Kremlin.

"I most sincerely thank you for your own welfare and the progress of the people of the Soviet Union."

Tito celebrated his birthday on the eve of the visit by a top-level Soviet delegation that will translate into reality the Yugoslav president's prediction when the communist ousted him in 1948.

Dulles Says Red Reversal Encouraging

WASHINGTON—UP—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said Wednesday he is encouraged by the recent "striking reversal" of Soviet tactics in Europe. He said the Russians may be about to "adopt more tolerable policies."

"I do feel a certain sense of encouragement because today the tactics of the international Communists suggest that they realize that the free world is in fact 'strong' and that they do have to give up some of the courses they once selected," Dulles told the House Foreign Affairs committee.

He was before the committee to support President Eisenhower's $3.5 billion foreign aid request. The encouraging items he cited included the Austrian treaty, the "pilgrimage" of Soviet leaders to Yugoslavia, and a change in the Soviet attitude toward disarmament.

"... The time may be nearing when those who have been seeking the conquest of freedom will in fact adopt more tolerable policies," Dulles said. "I do not want to imply that I think we have achieved our goals."

Dulles said progress in Europe was achieved only with the help of the foreign aid program. He cited the freeing of West Germany and the first meeting of the Western European Union.

The President's aid request appeared to have picked up powerful support.

French May Have Closed Season On Prime Ministers

By CHARLES M. MCCANN United Press Foreign Analyst French political leaders seem to have decided at last that the casualty rate of their prime ministers is too high. There have been 21 French governments since the end of World War II. Premiers have fallen at the rate of one every six months. As the result, French prestige has declined steadily. The situation has become so serious that France is in danger of losing its position as a world power. So the politicians seem to have really made up their minds that they must revise the constitution of the Fourth Republic. What they want to do is to work out a system that will strengthen French government and, at the same time, safeguard the country against the emergency of a dictator.

There was a strong monarchial movement in France right up to the start of World War I in 1914. Marshal-Marie Edme Patrice Maurice de MacMahon tried hard to make himself a "strong man" after his election as president in 1873. Again in the 1880's a military man, Gen. Georges Ernest Jean Marie Boulanger came pretty close to establishing himself as a dictator. Just 10 years ago Gen. Charles de Gaulle made a powerful bid to set himself up as the national "strong man." De Gaulle remained a threat to the Fourth Republic for several years despite his lack of the pleasing personality which a dictator needs. But now, the republic seems safe, and France can afford to let a premier stay in office long enough to get his chair warm.

Spelling Star Tangles With News Writer

By H. D. QUIGG NEW YORK — UP — I tangled Thursday — crossed words, as it were — with the spelling champ of the nation. It was a defeat not entirely without honor. She had an unfair advantage — I mean, advantage. Brains. The champ is Miss Sandra Sloss. She is 13 years old, and she goes to St. Joseph's school in Granite City, Ill., and she came here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Sloss, and her sister Nancy, 12, and they call her Sandy, and last Friday she told President Eisenhower how to spell "szyzygy" (pronounced sizzy-gee), and she has practiced spelling one hour every day for the last two years, not counting Sundays and Christmas holidays and there you are. Sandy won the national finals in Washington a week ago, spelling down 61 other elementary-school wizards. Naturally, when she came here, there was one clear call for me (from the boss) to uphold the honor of reporters of the old school against the elementary schools. Think Like Is Nice Before our bout, Sandy, a quiet miss with blue eyes, sandy hair, and a few freckles, was asked her opinion of President Eisenhower.

2 Lose Bid To Overrule Convictions

AUSTIN — UP — Habeas corpus petitions by two Hidalgo county men seeking freedom from jail following their conviction on charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor were denied Wednesday by the court of criminal appeals. The defendants, Edsel Waggoner and Kenneth L. Melton, contested the legality of their conviction by a six-man jury in the Hidalgo county court at law, and challenged the constitutionality of the court itself. The high court, in an opinion by presiding Judge W. A. Morrison, overruled the defense arguments and refused to free the men from their six-months sentence. "We conclude that the Legislature, by the passage of the Hidalgo county act, intended to and did create a county court at law, in which legis should be had to a jury of six rather than 12..." Judge Morrison wrote.

Jane Talk

By JANE KADINGO

Pampa News Women's Editor

WITH THE SWIMMING SEASON in the offing, many of us women are eager for ways to get back into shape for a better bathing suit appearance. Below is an article on sensible dieting — meaning you don't have to starve yourself nutrition-wise. Many thin women just don't eat and leave themselves open to all sorts of diseases and sickness. Here is what you need. So eat wisely and lose weight, rather than not eating at all. After all, who wants to be sick during vacation season?

A SOUND PLAN FOR REDUCING serves as a permanent guide to good eating in addition to keeping calories in check. "Like all balanced meal plans, the reducing diet begins with breakfast — a good breakfast," says Dr. Charles Glen King, Scientific Director of The Nutrition Foundation in New York. "Besides contributing all the protective nutrients, a good breakfast tastes good, too. Its energy content should keep the body and mind alert until lunch time. Key items are citrus fruits, tomato juice, berries, melon, or other vitamin C-rich fruit; cereal and milk combinations, eggs, ham, or other breakfast meat with whole grain or enriched toast, roll, or muffin; and a favorite beverage.

The next two meals, lunch and dinner or supper, can be just as varied and attractive. They can include (1) a main dish from the protein foods, meat, poultry, eggs, milk or cheese; (2) at least one leafy green or yellow vegetable; (3) a serving of salad or other vegetable and potato; (4) enriched or whole grain bread or roll; (5) a fruit or other light dessert; (6) fats and sweets in moderation. Too much food? No! But keep the total intake, repeat orders, and snacks within reason. You won't fool your doctor or the bathroom scale by using alcohol. An ideal body weight adds enjoyment as well as years to your living.

If snacks are eaten, either for entertainment or to alleviate hunger recognize them not as entertainment only, but as part of a balanced intake. Soups, milk, fruit, and fruit juices can be used to advantage by most individuals concerned with overweight.

An ounce of common sense flavored with good humor adds to the enjoyment and value of any meal. The plan just outlined is very brief, but it reflects the abundance of delicious foods available in today's markets, and it reflects also what is known in the science of nutrition.

COOKING HINTS — Don't forget what a delight grapefruit can be when you have added a teaspoon of honey to its center. And if you wish to get extra fancy, push the grapefruit under the broiler for a minute or two before you serve it.

A low calorie dessert is possible if you try this treat: Arrange 2 pear halves in a shallow baking dish and pour 1/4 cup lemon juice and 1/2 cup honey over them. Sprinkle them with 1 teaspoon cinnamon and dot with 2 tablespoons butter. Then bake at 350 degrees for 10 to 15 minutes. Serve hot.

What determines how much paint you are going to need to paint walls is how smooth they are. The smoother the walls, the less paint. Usually a gallon covers between 300 and 500 square feet.

Shower Presented For Jeanne Casey

Miss Jeanne Casey, bride-elect of John V. Mosely, was' complimented with a bridal shower recently in the educational building of the First Presbyterian Church.

Hostesses were Misses Jim White, Skeet Roberts, Jesse Smith, Joe Lutz and Howard Hampton. The honoree was presented a corsage of yellow split carnations. Mrs. Jim White, with whom Miss Casey lives here, and Mrs. Ruth Mosley, mother of the prospective bridegroom, were given corsages of yellow daisies.

Guests were registered by Mrs. Bill Garrett, and Miss Mary Sturgeon provided background piano music.

The serving table was covered with a white linen outwork cloth over blue and centered with an arrangement of yellow carnations and white and silver wedding bells. Flanking the centerpiece were yellow tapers in silver holders.

Refreshments of tea sandwiches, cookies, minis, nuts and coffee were served. The hostesses and Mrs. Bill Garrett alternated at the serving table. Approximately 45 persons attended the event.

Grooming Of Hair Told HD Members

Merten Home Demonstration Club met recently in the home of Mrs. A. O. Huffhines, with Mrs. Jack Prather in charge.

Mrs. Archie Maness gave the program, "Grooming of the Hair." The most important part of hair grooming is to keep it clean, she advised, adding that it is best to use a shampoo that will help condition the hair. Normal hair should be shampooed once a week, while oily hair needs it every 4 or 5 days. An acid rinse is better on the hair because it helps to remove soap, and will make it shine, she told the women.

In setting hair, it should be handled as gently as possible, Mrs. Maness explained. It should be worn in the style most becoming to the individual and the easiest style for which to care. Hair should never be pulled out for any reason because it may never grow back, she warned.

For women using home permanents, she advised following the directions carefully and being especially careful during the first 72 hours as it takes the hair that long to return to normal. The solution of the permanent weakens the hair, she pointed out. The hair and fingernails are made of the same material, with the hair growing about one-half inch a month.

The recreation period was led by Mrs. Clyde Edmundson. Refreshments were served also. Next meeting will be June 7, in the home of Mrs. Jack Howard. Attending were Misses T. G. Groves, John Brandon, Jack Prather, Bob Brandon, Carl Jones, Archie Maness, Jack Howard and Clyde Edmundson.

Like Pennsylvania Dutch recipes? Here's one from Tarentum, Pa. It's a favorite supper dish. Goes well with almost any kind of meat.

Scalloped Tomatoes and Sauerkraut (Makes 4-6 servings)

One No. 2 can sauerkraut, 1 No. 2 can tomatoes, 1 teaspoon grated onion, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1/2 teaspoon marjoram, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon freshly ground pepper, 4 slices toast, cubed, 1/4 cup melted butter or margarine.

In a bowl, combine sauerkraut, tomatoes, onion, sugar, marjoram, salt and pepper; mix well. Arrange layers of toast cubes and sauerkraut mixture in four greased individual casseroles or in a greased 1 1/2-quart casserole.

Pour melted butter or margarine over contents of casserole. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) 30 minutes, or until thoroughly heated. Garnish with slices of crisp bacon, if desired.

You probably never thought of combining sauerkraut and peas. Well, in Pennsylvania they do just that and the result is good.

Sauerkraut and Peas (Makes 4-6 servings)

One-quarter cup butter or margarine, 1/4 cup minced onion, 1 No. 2 1/2 can sauerkraut, 1 cup cooked peas or one 8 1/2-ounce can peas, 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce.

In a heavy skillet, melt butter or margarine over low heat. Add onion and cook 5 minutes. Add remaining ingredients, mixing well. Cook mixture over low heat 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. Serve immediately.

Soup for breakfast is fast becoming a favorite. It's both quick-to-fix and satisfying, too. Try this soup-cereal combination in the morning. Have cooked white rice in the refrigerator in a covered container. Add 1 1/2 cups cooked rice to 1 can condensed tomato soup and 1 1/2 cans water. Mix and heat until very hot. Serve in soup or cereal bowls with a crunchy topping of crumbled crisp-cooked bacon. This is a hearty, healthy way to start your day.

IT'S THE LAW IN TEXAS

Made your will? If not, the State of Texas may wind up as owner of your estate upon your death. Under our statutes, the estates of persons having no heirs who die intestate revert, or "escheat," to the State.

Such provisions have been carried over from the English common law. There, under such circumstances, the estate escheated to the British Crown. The theory of the process is that the "sovereign (or State), having been the original owner of all lands before they were parcelled out to individuals, is entitled to a return of such lands when the possibilities of legal inheritance have been exhausted.

This idea has been expanded to include personal property as well as real estate. It also applies in the case of a person absent for a term of seven years and not known to exist who leaves no heirs and no will.

Presumably, there is hardly a person who does not have some individual or charity that he would prefer to have his estate, rather than have it go to the State by default, so to speak. Yet, surprisingly, estates worth many thousands of dollars do escheat to the various states from time to time.

Now, before you shrug the matter off with the idea that these statutory provisions could not possibly apply to you, better think a minute. Suppose you and your spouse have no heirs besides each other and your children. Many people do fall into this category.

In event of a catastrophe resulting in death for you and your entire immediate family, no legal heirs would remain. Therefore if you had no will, your property would go to the State. In preparing a will, it is possible to provide for such an eventuality.

In this hypothetical case, you would probably want to designate some friend as executor, to take care of all necessary arrangements and then distribute the estate according to your wishes.

On the other hand, if you have plenty of possible heirs, a will could be used to designate which of them shall participate in the division of the estate. And even if you wish your property to be distributed entirely in accordance with our statutes of descent and distribution as explained in previous columns, a will can perform useful functions. Among other uses, a will could provide for an orderly and economical partition of your property, preventing any waste of the assets by heirs impatient for a settlement.

What happens to property which escheats to the State? Following certain required legal formalities and court proceedings, all escheated lands are set apart to the permanent Free School Fund of the State, and may be leased and sold by the Land Commissioner under certain regulations. Escheated personal property is sold by the personal sheriff under a court writ and the money received therefrom paid into the State Treasury.

A free pamphlet containing useful information on wills and related matters has been prepared by Texas lawyers. To obtain a copy, merely print your name and address on a postcard and mail to State Bar of Texas, Colorado at Fifteenth, Austin 1, Texas.

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform—NOT TO ADVISE. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts because the facts may change the application of the law.)

Press Box Views By BUCK FRANCIS Pampa News Sports Editor

THE WEST TEXAS-NEW MEXICO LEAGUE season is only a little more than one month gone and already one-fourth of the starting managers have been ousted.

Bobby Westfall of Abilene and Red McQuillen of Amarillo have been relieved of managerial duties for their respective teams.

This is another proof that managing a team in the WT-NM League is no snap.

Several newcomers in the past have come to this league thinking they would "tear it apart." But in almost every case these fellows didn't last a season.

There were four managerial changes in the WT-NM last season so we're still behind the 1954 pace of "fired" managers.

Starters in the WT-NM last season but who didn't finish the season are Red Lynn of Lubbock, Ted Chaitwiter of Amarillo, Hershel Martin of Borger and Doug Lewis of the Oilers.

Martin and Lewis stayed in the league, however. Martin replacing Lewis as the Oiler manager and the Dugger staying on the Pampa roster as a player.

Prospects now appear that we won't reach the total of managerial changes in the WT-NM as we had last season.

For a while it appeared Jackie Sullivan might be on his way out at Plainview, at least as the field boss, but the Ponies have required some needed pitching talent.

The Ponies, despite their "murderers row" of Stokes, Lewis and Palmer couldn't win consistently in the early season because of poor pitching. We actually believe Plainview figured she could combine her vaunted power attack with a mediocre pitching staff and turn out a winner.

But the Ponies soon found out that there is more to the game of baseball than hitting.

With the new pitching finds, Plainview is going to be tough to beat out for the top rung in the 1955 race.

Syd Cohen may be in "hot water" at El Paso. The Texans have found it rough sledding in their first year in the WT-NM.

But we rather believe Cohen will be retained for the full season unless he quits on his own accord. Cohen is more or less a permanent fixture in El Paso.

Otherwise, most of the other clubs are doing fairly well at the moment and it looks like the managers' jobs are secure for the balance of the season.

There is still another change due at Amarillo. The Gold Sox, who have been dividing time with El Paso for the cellar spot in the current race, are currently under the direction of Buck Fausett.

But Fausett, according to reports, is serving on a temporary basis until a replacement for Red McQuillen can be found.

UNDERSTAND THAT PUTT POWELL is becoming pretty well sold on the new Sandie football coach, Joe Kerbel.

Wonder if he will remain sold on him if he doesn't turn out a winner next fall?

Oilers Recapture Lead; Rip Ponies 13-4

Hardaway Clubs 2 HRs; Pollet Wins

PLAINVIEW, May 26 — Pampa's Oilers were back on top in the West Texas-New Mexico League standings today after romping to a 13-4 victory over the Plainview Ponies here Wednesday night.

The Oiler victory knocked Plainview out of the lead. It was the third consecutive day that the Oilers and Ponies have exchanged places in the No. 1 and 2 spots.

Second game of the series will be played tonight with Buddy Woods expected to take the mound for the Oilers. Woods will be seeking his fourth win of the season. He has lost one.

Tom Pollet pitched his sixth win of the year against only one loss in pitching the Oilers to victory here Wednesday. Pollet allowed 10 hits but kept them pretty well scattered. One of the four Plainview runs was unearned.

Oilers backed Pollet up with an explosive 3-hit attack that included four homers.

Curtis Hardaway led the Oilers in both the hit and homerun department. Hardaway homered twice and hit safely five times in six trips to the plate.

Joe Fortin and Dick Hairston got the other Oiler homeruns. It was the 10th homer for Fortin. For Hairston it was his third. Hardaway's two blasts brought his homer total to four for the season.

The Oilers broke a 1-1 tie in the headed. In the first inning, Rach Slider led with a double and scored on a single by Paul Halter to give the Oilers a 1-0 lead.

Plainview tied it up in the bottom of the first when Don Stokes blasted a homer with two away.

Then in the top of the second, Pete Carmona got life on an error and scored on Hardaway's double.

The Oilers made it 6-1 in the third with a four-run rally. Successive doubles by Fortin, Hairston and Jim Martin produced two quick runs. After Sonny-Tims was retired, Martin then scored on another double by Pete Carmona and Carmona scored on a single by Hardaway.

Plainview cut it to 6-3 in the bottom of the third but that was as close as the locals could come to pulling abreast of the slugging Oilers.

The Oilers scored in every inning with exception of the sixth and ninth. All of the Oiler runs from the fourth inning on came on homeruns.

Hairston hit a solo homer in the fourth to give the Oilers a 7-3 lead. Hardaway made it 9-3 in the fifth with a two-run homer and 12-3 in the seventh with a three-run roundtripper.

Then Hardaway connected for his second homer in the eighth to conclude the Oiler scoring. Plainview got its final run in the eighth on successive doubles by I. B. Palmer and Don Tierney.

DIAMOND DUST — Rach Slider ran his hitting streak to 11 straight games for the Oilers — he got two hits, one a double — Dick Hairston's streak of getting at least one base on balls was snapped at 11 game — but Hairston had a field day at the plate with four hits — the 22-hit Oilers Gets Tyler Pitcher ODESSA, Tex. — UP — The Longhorn League will have a look at some former Big State League pitching. Mike Gazella, who had established a 2-3 mark at Tyler, has joined the Odessa Eagles.

Corbin to Defend Title WAXAHACHIE, Tex. — UP — Art Corbin of Dallas will be expected to defend his 1954 Waxahachie Country Club golf championship as qualifying begins Friday.

BATTING STARS -- Curtis Hardaway, left, and Joe Fortin knocked in more than half of the Oiler runs last night to lead the Oilers to a 13-4 victory. Hardaway got five hits, including two homers, a double and two singles and driving in five runs. Fortin got three hits -- a homer, double and single and driving in three runs. (News Photo)

'Merry-Go-Around' In WT-NM Chase

The merry-go-round chase for the lead in the West Texas-New Mexico League found Pampa holding the gold ring Thursday.

Pampa slapped a 13 to 4 defeat on Plainview Wednesday night, enabling the Oilers to move past the Ponies into first place again.

In other games Abilene downed Lubbock 6 to 2, and Clovis topped Amarillo 9 to 6.

The Albuquerque at El Paso contest was postponed because of high winds and dust.

Pampa used a 22-hit attack and the seven-hit pitching of winner Tom Pollet to regain the lead. Jack Cardey was the loser.

At Abilene the Blue Sox' Chet Morgan got two doubles, a single and triple for a perfect night, at the plate to drive in three runs

Little LEAGUERS

Late Inning Rallies Feature Play In Local LL; Bankers Romp To Win In Pony

Late inning rallies featured activity in the two Pampa Little Leagues last night while First National Bank had little trouble winning in the Pony League.

In the Eastern Little League, Randall Cross pulled the game out of the fire for Cabot when he blasted a three-run homer in the sixth inning to give the Cabot team a 6-4 victory over Tom Rose Ford.

It was the second homer of the day for Cross and he drove in five of the six Cabot runs. His second homer broke up the game. Cabot was trailing 4-3 going into the bottom of the sixth.

Then Cross, with two on and two away, hit his second homer and gave Cabot the victory.

Cabot got nine hits to seven for Tom Rose. Cross and Dennis Duncan each had three hits for Cabot while Billie Cooper led Tom Rose with two hits.

Larry Stroud was the winning pitcher while Leland Knight absorbed the loss.

In the Western Little League, C. M. Jeffries Trucking spotted the Spokesman a 10-1 lead and then battled back to down the defending champions, 11-10.

Spokesman was rocking along with a 10-1 lead going into the final inning. The bottom of the sixth, when the Truckers erupted to score 10 big runs and take the decision.

Before the winning Trucker rally, George Duke had gone on a homer spree for the losers. Duke clouted two homers, one a grand-slammer. The other homer came with two on.

First National Bank rung up its second straight win by overpowering Kist, 21-9, in the Pony League.

The Bankers collected 18 hits off three Kist pitchers.

Bobby Gindorf was the winning pitcher. Gindorf struck out 11 and walked seven.

Minor League schedules in both Little League and Pony will get underway Saturday afternoon.

All teams in both leagues will see action Saturday. Doubleheaders will be played in each park Saturday.

The schedule is now being drafted and will be announced Friday.

John Campbell took over in the sixth for the Bottlers.

SOUTHPAWS, SCARCE BEACON, N.Y. — (NEA) — Melio Bettina, light-heavyweight champion in 1929, was the last southpaw to hold crown.

OUT FOR SIXTH PHILADELPHIA — (NEA) — Robin Roberts of the Phillies has been in the 20-game win circle for the past five years.

Phillies Chilling Giant Flag Hopes

By UNITED PRESS
The Phillies have operated strictly as a "public utility" this season, playing in-and-out baseball in and out of Philadelphia—but don't try to tell that to the Giants.

Those brotherly love Quakers have been the town bullies as far as New York is concerned with six victories in seven meetings thus far, counting a double header sweep 8-3 and 5-2 Wednesday night. The Giants could be right on the necks of the first place Dodgers if only things were as they have been in 1954—when at this time New York had won six out of eight from the Phils. They wound up with a season mark of 16 wins and only six defeats against them.

This year, the Giants are the only team Philadelphia beats consistently. Philly has only 13 victories overall against 23 defeats and had been in last place until the twin wins Wednesday night.

Hofman for Bat Power
Robin Roberts struck out six and checked the Giants with five hits to win the opener. His biggest difficulty was with Bobby Hofman, sub infielder installed by Manager Leo Durocher as a catcher to get more punch behind the bat. Hofman hit a triple and a homer.

Del Ennis and Richie Ashburn were the hitting big-wigs behind Murry Dickson's third triumph in the second game. Ennis hit the menace socked a three-run homer in the first inning when lefty Johnny Antonelli was kayoed. He suffered his third straight loss to the Phils. Ashburn made three hits, giving him six for the night.

In other National League games the Cubs took over second from the Giants by defeating the Cardinals 1-0 and 3-1 behind the sizzling pitching of Paul Minner and Bob Rush while Cincinnati pounded out a 13-2 decision at Milwaukee. The Dodgers and Pirates were rained out after three innings with the score 1-1.

Bob Turley of the Yankees went two-up on all other major league pitchers when he won his eighth game, a three-hit 6-2 job over Washington before any other hurler had gotten more than six. Detroit topped Kansas City 8-2 while Baltimore beat Boston 6-2, then lost 5-2, in other American League games. Chicago at Cleveland was rained out.

Yogi Berra gave Turley a big boost when he hit a three-run homer in a four-run first and the Yankees coasted in. Turley struck out six to give him a total of 78—tops in the majors.

Frank Lary, Detroit's 24-year-old kid, pitched his fourth victory, giving Kansas City but six hits. Fred Hatfield and Bill Tuttle hit homers in a 24-hit offensive. It was Detroit's sixth win against one loss over KC.

Losing Streak Broken
The Delock halted Boston's latest losing streak at five when he pitched a five-hitter and struck out eight after the Baltimore Orioles took the opener with a 12-hit assault that included a triple and two singles by Billy Cox.

Minner, pitching his first game in 19 days, doled out four hits and topped-rookie Larry Jackson in a duel when Bob Speake homered for the only run in Chicago's opener. Rush missed the $250 prize offered by a Chicago radio station for one-hitters when he was tagged for a ninth inning homer by Rip Repulski in the second game—St. Louis' only run of the day. Eddie Miksis hit a first inning Chicago homer.

Cincinnati, winning its seventh game in the last eight, racked up 18 hits off five Milwaukee pitchers including starter and loser Warren Spahn. Jabbo Jablonski tagged Spain for a two-run homer.

Wednesday's Star
Richie Ashburn, who made six hits in Philadelphia's 8-3 and 5-2 sweep of the Giants and took over the batting lead at .384.

8 Of Top 10 Prize Winners In Tournament

FORT WAYNE, Ind.—UP—A field of about 120 linksmen, including eight of the season's top money winners, opened first round play Thursday on the soggy Elks Country Club course in the $15,000 sixth annual Fort Wayne Open golf tournament.

Some 68 pros and 52 amateurs are entered in the four-day, 72-hole meet. The field will be cut Friday to the low 64 and tied, and the winner will collect $2,400, with $1,800 going to the runnerup.

Doug Ford, Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., the defending champion, predicted after practice rounds that this year's winner will "have to do better" than his 270 total last year on the par 36-36-72 course.

"The greens are holding better and the approach shots will stick better," Ford said. Previously, the tourney was held later in the summer and the pros found the sun-baked course tricky. Heavy rains have softened the 6,335-yard course this spring.

Two other former winners are in the field, Jimmy Clark, Huntington Beach, Calif., and Art Wall, Jr. Lloyd Mangrum, who won the first meet in 1950, and former title-tist Jim Ferrer are not entered.

Early favorites include Gene Littler, Palm Springs, Calif., No. 2 money man on the circuit and winner of the tournament of champions, and Dick Mayer, recent winner of the Kansas City Open.

They will match strokes with such other "name" challengers as Bill Maxwell, Odessa, Tex.; Ed Furgol, the National Open champ from St. Louis; Tommy Bolt, Houston; Jerry Barber, LaCanada, Calif.; Frank Stranahan, Toledo, Ohio; Julius Boros, Mid Pines, N.C.; Jerry Kesselring, Toronto, Ont.; Johnny Palmer, Charlotte, N.C., and Fred Wampler, Indianapolis.

Jockey Scores Triple
PIMLICO, Md.—UP—John Choquette booted home three winners on the Pimlico racing program Wednesday including both ends of a $339.80 daily double. He scored on Kitch ($58.80), Our President ($17.80) and Hot Walker ($17.80).

Jensen Protests 'Fight' Fine

BALTIMORE—UP—Outfielder Jackie Jensen of the Boston Red Sox asked permission Wednesday to protest the $50 fine levied against him by the American League for a scrap with Washington pitcher Mickey McDermott on a run down play Sunday.

Both players were ejected in the 12th inning for throwing punches during the play between first and second base. McDermott also drew a $50 fine at New York, where the Senators are playing. President Will Harridge of the American League notified both players Tuesday.

Stephenville Hires Irish's Coach McCall

STEPHENVILLE, May 23—Scott McCall, veteran Panhandle coach and former TCU halfback, Monday night was hired as head coach of Stephenville High School.

McCall comes from Shamrock and will report here August 1. He replaces Mike Murphy, who resigned to take the head coaching job at Comanche. McCall received a two-year contract at an undisclosed salary.

The new coach was all-state quarterback for Masonic Home at Fort Worth in 1932 when the Mighty Mites were state finalists, losing to Corsicans in a 0-0 game decided on penetrations. From 1933 to 1936 McCall played at TCU.

He was with the Horned Frogs when they defeated LSU, 3-2, in the 1935 Sugar Bowl game and when they whipped Marquette, 16-9, in the Cotton Bowl on Jan. 1, 1936.

McCall served at Comanche, Okla.; at Wellington, Tex.; in the Navy during World War II, and took the Shamrock job in February, 1946. His Shamrock teams won the district and bi-district in 1947, 1950 and 1951.

4-Run HR In 11th Wins For Dallas

By UNITED PRESS
Dallas catcher Ray Murray slugged an eleventh-inning grand slam home run Wednesday night as the Eagles beat Shreveport and pushed a half game loser to Texas League-leading San Antonio.

Dallas, dropping Shreveport 9 to 6, moved to within three games of the Missions when they were tied at Oklahoma City by threatening weather and a tornado alert.

In the other contests played Hopston stayed in third place, a half game behind the Eagles by blanking Tulsa, 4 to 0 and Fort Worth outlugged Beaumont 6 to 4.

In the game at Dallas the Sports and Eagles each put three pitchers on the mound as both broke loose with their big bats. Shreveport took an early 4 to 0 lead, but Dallas tied it up in the eighth and forced the game into extra innings.

Harry Heslet got his second homer to put the Sports ahead briefly in the eleventh before Murray came through with his game-winning blow.

Jim Koranda pounded out two doubles and a home run at Fort Worth to drive in three runs as the Cats whipped the Exporters.

WINNER DAN McDEVITT struck out 11 as Fort Worth got its eleventh win in its last 14 games.

Floyd Woodridge, making his first start for Houston since coming to the Buffs from the St. Louis Cardinals, was within one pitch of a no-hitter as he got his first win over Tulsa.

Two were out in the ninth and Mike Lutz drew a full count before sending a sharp single to center.

Other starter Lorey Meyers was the victim of the whitewashing.

The Texas League clubs ended their northern swing last night and tonight finds Oklahoma City at Houston, Tulsa at San Antonio, Fort Worth at Shreveport, and Dallas at Beaumont.

Mims Wins; Demands A Title Shot

ST. LOUIS —UP— Middleweight Holly Mims, as dangerous moving backward as a runaway trailer on a hill, demanded a title shot Thursday.

That is to say his manager and spokesman, Nick Trotta, did the demanding.

Holly, a solidly built Negro from Washington, D.C., was as sparing with words as he was generous with punches Wednesday night in handing Charley Green a convincing defeat on points.

Mims, outweighed 154 1/2 to 140, thrilled a scant crowd of 1,272 and an uncounted national television audience by coming back from a near knockout in the ninth round to hammer out the unanimous verdict.

"They can hardly turn him down for a shot at the title after that one," Trotta said as Mims nodded agreement.

Mims, a counterpuncher with power, retreated throughout the fight. But Green, a Los Angeles Negro managed by Sid Fishert, Bobo Olson's handler, found him too much to handle nearly every time he caught up.

Most of the excitement was packed in the ninth round.

Green plunged in on Mims and swung a roundhouse right to the jaw that sent him through the ropes. Mims fell on his back and his neck hit the edge of the ring apron to snap his head back.

He had to roll under the bottom strand to get back into the ring and onto his feet by the count of nine. He was glassy-eyed and entirely on the defensive until a few seconds before the end of the round. But he recovered to fight back gamely.

In the 10th, he again outboxed Green, talking the round on the cards of the referee and two judges.

Overall, Referee Dick Young gave him the fight 52-48, Judge Harold Hess 54-46, and Referee Fred Connell 53-47.

Same Name, Same Number
DALLAS —UP— Seven seems to be a constant number of decisions for a pair of Texas League pitchers named Atkins. When Arne Atkins of Shreveport beat Dallas last Sunday it marked his seventh straight victory, while, on the same day, Jim Atkins of Beaumont lost his seventh in a row in a game with Fort Worth.

Filly Wins Two Stakes
CAMDEN, N.J. —UP— Pretty Plunger made it two stakes victories in as many starts Wednesday when she turned back nine other two-year-olds in the $14,125 Rancocas at Garden State Park. The Hill Prince filly paid $3.20 for $2.

TODAY'S SPORTS PARADE

'Bells' Putting Ags On Baseball Map

TODAY'S SPORTS PARADE
By ED FITE
COLLEGE STATION, Tex. —UP— The name of Bell and baseball success are practically synonymous at Texas A&M College where Coach Beau Bell has just piloted the Aggies to a Southwest Conference title.

It was Beau Bell who delivered the telling blow that gave Texas A&M its first conference diamond crown in 1931 to break a stranglehold the University of Texas had held on the championship.

It was his brother, Woody Bell, who came through with the same type of climactic home run that brought the school its third loop crown in 1937 — both times in season-windup games against Texas.

And it's been Beau Bell who has coached the Aggies to their sixth and seventh titles in 1951 and 1955.

Bell's "midgets" will seek to win a berth in the college world series at Omaha, Neb., at nearby Bryan next week in a series against the always-tough Arizona Wildcats of the Border Conference for the District 6 slot.

Bell, a native of Bellville, Tex., lettered three years in baseball at Texas A&M in 1929-30-31 as an outfielder and went on to pro fame.

The husky, six-footer slapped the ball at a rousing .474 pace in his senior and championship year at Texas A&M in 1931 and that earned him a berth with Galveston of the Texas League that same year. By 1934, a .336 average and 27 home runs boosted him into the majors with the St. Louis Browns.

In 1936 with the Browns Bell hit .344 and the following year a .340 average got him on the all-star team. That was the same season he led the American League in doubles with 32. He moved on to Detroit in 1939 and to Cleveland in 1941-42 before Uncle Sam called him for 33 months of infantry duty in World War II.

He never tried the majors again after his discharge, but went into the construction business in Texas and Oklahoma. But the game was in his blood and in 1951 Texas A&M lured him back onto the campus as a coach.

That year his team tied Texas and got into the NCAA playoffs, where it beat Arizona, but lost two of three games at Omaha.

This year his team has won 19 of 24 games, with a fine blend of good pitching, fielding and hitting—and most of all, Bell says, "the desire that makes the difference in any player."

The Aggies look somewhat like a grade school team when they take the field with several of their players around five-feet, seven-inches.

But there are no prima donnas and the usual bench-warmers have played a major role in the Aggies' success.

'Minus Betting Pool' Likely In 79th Preakness Saturday

BALTIMORE —UP— Pimlico officials foresaw the possibility of a "minus betting pool" for the 79th running of the Preakness on Saturday as the entry box opened Thursday with six or seven the probable field for the second jewel of the tripla crown classic.

Expected to be entered along with Belair Stud's brilliant Nashua are Montpelier's Saratoga, Clifford Moers' Traffic Judge, the W.L. Ranch's Honey's Alibi, Hilton A. Dabson's Nance's Lad, the Dunbreath Farm's Fleet Path and George M. Cohen's Chuck Thompson.

Chuck Thompson finished an unimpressive third behind Honey's Alibi and Fleet Path in the Preakness prep Monday and was not regarded as a probable starter, but late Wednesday, his owner said, Chuck Thompson would be entered, if only to shoot for the lesser prizes.

As matters now stand, the classy Nashua probably will go to post in the $100,000 mile and three-six-teenths classic a prohibitive if not 1 to 2 favorite. This is not expected to make the Maryland Jockey Club happy since a minus pool appears inevitable.

Nashua is the obvious target of the odds-on-favorite in a small field and is more than happy to get a $2.20 return for $2. A large number of such bettors means a minus pool, because there isn't enough money bet on the others to make up the $2.20 minimum payoff required by Maryland law.

Of the prospective field, only Saratoga and Traffic Judge are expected to draw some support. The others apparently are in for the lesser prizes.

The winner's share of the purse will be worth approximately $65,000. Second place money will run to $25,000, third to $15,000 and fourth $7,500.

PROUD PAPA TELLS THE WORLD

It isn't every new mother who get a royal welcome home like this one, arranged by Bob Chambers of Cleveland, Ohio the proud papa, Dorothy did a double take when she and the new addition, a girl, arrived home from the hospital. Flags and giant signs proclaimed Chambers' happiness at having his wife back, with their first child.

Women make better quiz show contestants than men. Thus spake Alan Gilbert, associate producer of "Break the Bank" (both NBC-Radio and ABC-TV).

"They stand up better under pressure," he says. "And they're calmer. The average woman also has more leisure time than men to read and look at TV. They get a very liberal education this way. So, they're bound to be quicker on the trigger when it comes to answering difficult quiz questions."

"And women are pretty good at asking questions, too, as any husband knows."

Singers Rise Stevens and Virginia Ruggiero were comparing pictures of their children. They were joined by the veteran conductor, Pierre Monteux.

"How old are they?" he asked. "My son is 10," said Rise.

"Mine are two and four," said Virginia.

Monteux pulled out a picture. "My son," he said, proudly. "He's 50."

Although "House of Flowers" has finally closed, Diahann Carroll wasn't caught with her hair short. She now has nice, long hair, even as you and I — well you, anyhow.

Diahann is the talented young soprano who supplied some of the brightest moments in the Harold Arlen musical. She's not yet 20, and a glorious long-hair career stretches ahead.

The short hair came about curiously. She'd been appearing in night-clubs and in movies ("Car-

Six Killed In Wreck

NEW BRAUNFELS, Tex. —UP— Five persons were killed and a sixth died a few hours later from injuries received in a two-car crash near New Braunfels Wednesday.

The crash occurred four miles south of New Braunfels on U.S. 81. Three of the victims were members of an Elgin, Tex., family, while another was an airman who was discharged Monday at Fort Bliss, Tex.

The Elgin family was identified as Lincoln Creppon, 42, Bobby Joe Creppon, 22, and Shirley Creppon, 19.

The other victims were Cpl. Mark Beltran of Roundrock, Tex., who received his discharge at Fort Bliss, and Edward L. Harper, 28, of Oklahoma City, Harper previously lived at Akron, Ind.

HARTFORD, Conn. —UP— Probably the shortest congratulatory telegram to Dr. Jonas Salk, developer of polio vaccine, came from the Connecticut State Nurses' Association. It reads: "Thanks."

"Self-drive" automobiles may now be ordered in advance at the railroad stations of 29 German cities and left at the stations when the travelers depart.

men Jones") before she auditioned for "House of Flowers."

"And I'd neglected my hair terribly," she says. "So my hair dresser said he couldn't do anything with it. He insisted on cutting it all off and starting from scratch. Well, there, I was with my hair all cut off and a big audition. I took a picture along and before I sang I showed them the picture."

"And they asked me to take off my shoes, too. If there's anything less glamorous than a bald, bare-foot girl, I don't know what it could be. But they said they liked my hair short for the part, so I had to keep it like that. Of course, when I heard rumors that the show was going to close, I let it grow. Now it's just about right again."

So there you have the story of Diahann Carroll, all tressed up and nowhere to go. Except on to bigger and better things in music and the theater.

It's been so far a short and happy career. Up until December, 1953, Diahann had done little professionally. Her parents weren't too thrilled with the prospect of her going into show business. They wanted her to get an education; she was majoring in sociology at NYU.

"Then I met Chuck Wood, who is now my manager," she says. "My parents liked him, and Mr. Wood and I made a promise — I'd try show business for three years and if nothing had happened, by then, I'd go back to sociology. Four months later, I was in Hollywood making "Carmin Jones," and now I'm almost a star and the promise still has more than a year to go."

The big break for her was winning Dennis James' televised "Chance of a Lifetime." That led to movies, night-clubs, theater and the barber shop.

Nelson Eddy is another show business personality who is spending more and more spare time painting. While he's waiting for the next batch of shortfinned bread to rise, Nelson takes the easel way out and paints the desert scenes around Palm Springs. He won't exhibit any, however.

"I don't wear my art on my sleeve," he says. "I must paint in a T-shirt."

For them as thinks every songwriter makes heaps of money, peek over the collective shoulders of Ed Simmons and Norman Lear. They just got a royalty statement on a song they wrote several years ago for Jerry Lewis. The financial report: "Copies of sheet music sold, 12. Royalty, $1.32."

But do not weep too wet for Messrs. Simmons and Lear. At the moment they are gainfully employed writing the Martha Raye scripts. Their fee for each script — $10,400. So their music royalties just about keep them in rubber bands to wrap around their loot.

Ike Picks Burke For Navy Chief

WASHINGTON —UP— Rear Adm. Arleigh A. ("31-Knot") Burke was nominated by President Eisenhower Wednesday to succeed Adm. Robert B. Carney as chief of naval operations.

Burke, 53, was nominated for a two-year term, with the rank of full admiral, starting Aug. 16.

Mr. Eisenhower nominated Adm. Arthur W. Radford for another two-year term as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Gen. Nathan F. Twining was nominated for re-appointment for two-year term as air force chief of staff.

In picking Burke, Mr. Eisenhower jumped the famous World War II destroyer leader over 90 admirals, vice admirals, and rear admirals who ranked ahead of him in seniority.

The White House said Carney, who was 60 last March, would have been unable to fill out another full two-year term prior to reaching normal Navy retirement age.

The White House said the decision to replace Carney had "nothing whatever" to do with Carney's famous "leak" to a group of Washington newsmen that the Chinese Communists would be in a position to attack Quemoy and Matsu islands off the Chinese mainland by last April 15.

Teenagers Beat Man Pervert

SAN ANTONIO —UP—A refrigeration technician was beaten severely by an angry gang of teenagers when he called on the girl friend of one Tuesday night and asked her for the panties she was wearing.

The 26-year-old employee of a refrigeration manufacturing firm, was "worked over pretty well," Policeman E. B. Buckner said Wednesday. The man, Richard J. Mitchell, was held on a vagrancy charge.

Police said he reported that he had an uncontrollable desire to wear women's clothing, and admitted that he had telephoned several San Antonio women during the last year and asked them for their panties.

The girl he called on Tuesday night—17-year-old Charlene Jonietz—was prepared for him, but not like he thought. She had called her boy friend, Ronald Bramble, also 17, who in turn had rounded up seven of his teenage friends.

Miss Jonietz said an automobile with two men in it drove up shortly after she got the call and that one man got out and came up to the front door. When he asked her for the panties she was wearing, the gang of teenagers suddenly appeared and began beating the man.

Bird Housing WINTHROP, Iowa —UP—Twins Merton and Burton Doyle have a bird community called "Wrenville." It is a collection of large and small bird houses clustered atop white posts which annually attract a flock of wrens, martins and other varieties.

MAKING A GO OF LIFE

By ROY L. SMITH
Read Luke 12:54-56

All of life is manageable. Knowing that fevers are caused by bacteria in infected swamps or wells, we drain the swamps and close the wells, thereby saving the community from a plague. The soil chemist finds that certain chemicals are lacking in the earth, fertilizer is added and crops become abundant.

The psychologist recognizes the symptoms of frustration in the conduct of his patient, and knowing that life can be changed from a nightmare to a beautiful experience, prescribes mental adjustments for the sufferer. Helpful techniques are employed, sanity returns, and a "mental patient" is saved.

Scientific agriculture has produced the hybrid corn and doubled the farmer's crop; hybrid chickens, and a vastly increased supply of poultry is on its way. These, and thousands of other benefits, have come to the race because we have discovered laws by which we manage life.

We can control even the mind, and by a process of regimentation we can produce a custom-made civilization. Nazified Germany and the "thought control" of the Japanese government were ghastly illustrations of what such mental management could accomplish for whole peoples.

What was accomplished in the mass by governmental control can also be accomplished in the individual by personal control. Whether the human mind is closed by government order or by private action, the result is always the same—a fanatical distortion.

With the spiritual life of man subject to law in the same way that the physical and mental life are, it becomes perfectly plain that the individual is able to establish mastery, and thus obtain peace of spirit, it is his duty to conquer life. There is growing up within me a confidence in my world and my life, for I believe it can be made into something splendid by using Thy laws, O God, I will think Thy thoughts after Thee, and learn of Thee, that my life may conform to Thy law, Amen.

Try for one day to find evidences of good will and kindness in the acts of your friends. Close your mind to all evidences of ill will. Remember the good and ignore the disagreeable. At the close of the day take note of the happy state of mind you enjoy.

Methodists Honor Dilley Church

SAN ANTONIO —UP— The First Methodist Church of Dilley was selected at the Southwest Methodist Conference in session Wednesday at San Antonio as the "rural church of the year."

Selection was made on the basis of membership, church school activities, religious education programs, evangelistic program, physical improvement of church property and co-operation in community affairs.

Printing Trouble MEAD, Neb. —UP— Police are glad Virginia Siercks never considered a life of crime. A secretary at the Nebraska Ordinance Plant, she has fingers that defy ordinary finger-printing methods. She was sent to the Nebraska military district in Omaha where an expert diagnosed the problem. Her fingertips are so fine and sensitive that any slight pressure causes the ink to smear. It took the expert almost two hours, but he finally got a readable copy of Virginia's prints
