JayCee Delegates Jam City

Business Talks Scheduled Today

Some 200 delegates to the Pampa bi-regional convention of the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce, accompanied by 75 of their wives, were in a festive mood Saturday night, before settling down to a general business session this morning. The business session will be held in the LaVista Theatre, presided over by Rocky Ford of Midland, president of the Texas JayCees.

Called one of the largest regional conventions in the country by Pampa JayCee president, J. C. Hopkins, the meeting drew delegates not only from within the 60 counties in the two regions, but from towns and cities as far removed as San Antonio, Dallas, Arlington and Houston. The bi-regional limits extend north from Lamesa and from Childress to the New Mexico line.

The bi-regional, representing Junior Chamber of Commerce regions 1 and 2, precedes the state convention which will be held at San Antonio, April 28-30. Pampa will send a sizeable delegation according to Hopkins.

Hotels Jammed Bob Carmichael of Pampa, chairman of the housing committee for the bi-regional, said all hotel and motel facilities were cramped by the arriving delegates. Delegates were expected to arrive early Sunday and accommodations were being turned over to Ray Dunham and Joe Glidden who are heading up the registration and welcoming committees. Overcrowding was in part due to considerably more out-of-region representation than was anticipated. Hopkins estimated the "observers" at close to 50. Convention activities were underway at 1 p.m. Saturday but got (See JAYCEES, Page 2)

PAMPA GIRL, 6, DIES AFTER PARK ACCIDENT

Linda Kay Fanning, who Friday had celebrated her sixth birthday, died Saturday after suffering an injury while playing in a Pampa park. The youngster suffered a brain concussion early Saturday evening in Lions Club Park when she either fell from a swing or "playfully" descended a park slide. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Fanning, 742 E. Campbell. Linda Kay died about 7.30 p.m. Saturday, 45 minutes after her admission to Highland General Hospital. Services are pending at the Duenkel - Carmichael Funeral Home. Other survivors include a sister, Laronda Fay, and two brothers, Ernest Ray, and Kenneth Jay, all of the home, and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Small, Wichita, Kans., and Mr. and Mrs. L. Z. Clapp of Pampa.

US Aiding Evacuation; Two Red MIGs Downed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 - UP - President Eisenhower Saturday flashed snoot-if-necessary orders to the U. S. Seventh Fleet to protect the Chinese Nationalist evacuation of the Communist-threatened Tachen Islands. His orders, issued at 12 noon (CST), signalled start of the evacuation in about 24 hours, but U. S. air cover over the dangerous area will begin almost immediately. Some 14,000 Chinese Nationalist troops and 18,000 civilians are on the Tachens.

The orders went out to the Seventh Fleet and its 45,000 Navy personnel after Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek abruptly ended his week-long stand against the evacuation without more specific U. S. guarantees for the protection of other islands he holds. A State Department announcement disclosed that Chiang received only general assurances that "related positions" in the Formosa area which are deemed necessary to the security of Formosa and the Pescadores would be defended. That was no more assurance, than Mr. Eisenhower had given him previously. After Mr. Eisenhower's orders were flashed to the Seventh Fleet, a high Defense Department official said the evacuation would begin in about 24 hours and air cover almost immediately.

Reds Build up Strength The defense spokesman said the Chinese Communist forces in the Tachens area are "about on the same order" as those which recently captured Yihuang Island. But he added that the Reds may have been building up their air strength in the general area. The spokesman indicated that about 45,000 U. S. naval personnel would be engaged in the operation, plus 3,000 men in the Air Force's Sabrejet wing. The spokesman said surface ships on the scene can assist the air cover from the fleet's carriers by moving in to "render gunfire support if necessary."

The United States has five aircraft carriers in the area the Yorktown, Wasp, Kearsage, Essex and the Princeton (an anti-submarine warfare carrier). The 45,000-ton Midway, the Navy's biggest carrier, is expected to join the Seventh Fleet Sunday morning. "Our forces have been instructed not to provoke encounters with the Chinese Communist forces," this official said, "but not to accept a tactical disadvantage to any maneuvers which would be equivalent to a threatening gesture." That means U. S. forces will fight back if attacked. This attitude of firmness was underscored by the State Department earlier in the day. It said the action of U. S. Sabrejets which shot down two Russian-built MIG fighters which jumped them over the Yellow Sea west of Korea, demonstrates that the Air Force will fight back if attacked. The best estimate here was that evacuation of the Tachens would require from 10 to 14 days. During that tense period the Chinese Reds can show whether they want war or peace whether they will accept the islands peacefully or risk a major clash with the United States. Chinese ships will be used primarily in the operation although the United States does have some

Navy Moves In For Evacuation

TAIPEI, Sunday, Feb. 6 - UP - Chinese and American naval units began moving into position Sunday to evacuate the Nationalist-held Tachen Islands off the coast of the Red-controlled mainland. The atmosphere was one of tension. Full security measures have been taken to guard against a surprise Communist attack and Red attempts to interfere. All quarters were aware of the possibility of armed clashes and of war.

During the night, the Chinese air force paved the way for evacuation by pounding Communist positions and ship concentrations in the Tachen-Yikiangshan area. Nationalist Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, it was announced earlier, has agreed formally to evacuate his military forces from Tachen Island, but has asked protection by U. S. forces. Officers of the mighty American naval force also revealed that "unidentified objects" presumed to be submarines appeared to be shadowing the fleet which is standing by for the Nationalist evacuation of invasion-threatened Tachen Island.

The objects detected by the fleet's radar and sonic equipment very probably could be submarines lurking around the fringes of Vice Admiral Alfred M. Friede's reinforced fleet, one officer said. American military advisers have been returned to Tachen and the Nationalist defenders of the island also have been alerted for possible some 200 miles north of Formosa Red sneak attacks before the evacuation of the island can be carried out.

92 Per Cent Taxes Paid

The City of Pampa Saturday had collected 92.31 per cent of the $356,909.06 on the tax rolls. That means there is $33,829.59 in unpaid taxes, according to statistics compiled in the office of City Tax Collector Aubrey Jones. Of the $328,675.56 on the 1954 city tax rolls, a total of 90.96 per cent had been collected by Saturday, leaving $29,727.64 still uncollected and delinquent. Last Monday was the deadline for the collection of taxes by the city, by the Pampa Independent School District and Gray County. But neither the school business office nor the county tax office had compiled the total collected by Saturday. On the school tax rolls is a total of $743,711 and the county has $751,455.75 on its books.

Scout Sunday Opens Week Of Activity

Today is Boy Scout Sunday, the traditional first day of the annual Boy Scout Week. All Scouts - Cubs, Boy Scouts and Explorers - and their parents are expected to attend the church of their choice today, according to Phil Pegues, Santa Fe District Scout executive.

Also on the agenda for Scout Week are an Eagle Scout review Thursday night, a 45th birthday party and district court-of-honor Friday and Demonstration Day Saturday. A special committee composed of Don Cain, district chairman, Perry Gault, Frank Culbertson and Rufe Jordan - will conduct the Eagle conference review at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the City Commission Room of City Hall for two potential Eagles, Jack Dunham, chairman of the district advancement committee, said Saturday. Before that session will be held, however, there will be a meeting Monday night "for training the review board." Dunham said. Doing the honors will be Dunham's committee: Guy Harris, Dr. Bob Sybert, Harold Miller, James Austin, Charlie Wilkerson and Albert Morrison. Friday's special program will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Pampa Junior High School and will include a dedication to the Cub Scout Promise by all Cubs, a dedication to the Scout Oath by all Boy Scouts and Explorers and an inspiration talk by Paul Beisenherz, Adobe Walls Council Scout executive. Dunham and his committee will be in charge of the court-of-honor and Jim Dean will be master of ceremonies. Dunham's committee will make the presentations for advancements in rank. Demonstration Day will find Cub packs, Scout troops and Explorer posts setting up demonstrations and displays on the blocks near the Pampa Fire Station, City Hall and the Courthouse. During the week, Cubs will hold their annual "Blue and Gold" banquets and Scouts and Explorers will stage "Father and son" banquets. French Premier Is Sought

Mendes-France Forced To Quit

PARIS, Feb. 5 - UP - French President Rene Coty Saturday began the long, arduous task of finding a new premier to end the government crisis caused by the national assembly's ouster of Premier Pierre Mendes-France. The 49-year-old Radical Socialist premier resigned early Saturday after he was defeated 319 to 273 in a national assembly vote on which he had staked the life of his government.

Mendes-France's fall came over his policies in North Africa, and also threatened to delay French parliamentary ratification of the Paris-German rearmament pact - a condition which could strain United States-French relations. The United States policy on Europe for several years has been based on the plan to rearm Western Germany in the defense of Western Europe against the threat of Communist aggression. The assembly has taken the first step toward ratification of the Paris rearmament treaties, but they now are ready for consideration by the French upper house and face delays because of Mendes-France's fall.

Brook Says Bond OK Won't Up Tax

City Manager Fred Brook said Saturday the passage of the city's $200,000 water improvement bond issue should not necessitate a hike in tax or water rates. Presumably, Brook said, the bonds would be paid off over a 20-year period out of current operating funds. However, unforeseen expenses could bring increased taxes or water rates, he pointed out. The election will be held Feb. 26 in the city's four wards. Only property-owning taxpayers who have paid their poll taxes or received exemptions will be eligible to vote. The Pampa City Commission last Tuesday called the special election, scant hours after the deadline for paying poll taxes passed. The figure of $200,000 was arrived at by Brook and City Director of Public Works James Cowan, who made a survey of present and future water needs. If the issue is approved by the voters, the bonds will be sold and the money used to drill two new water wells and to finance engineering and plans for a 10-to-15-year program. Mayor Tom Rose, Brook, the four city commissioners, Cowan and City Atty. Bob Gordon will be on hand for a public meeting in which the city's water needs will be explained. The meeting will probably be held late this week or early the following week. And city officials are also expected to make the "service club circuit" to inform club members. At last Tuesday's city commission meeting, Mayor Rose pointed out that another, larger water bond issue would have to be held eventually - probably late this year or early in 1956. The Feb. 26 election, Brook emphasized, is merely a "stop-gap" measure, though it is true the plans include the long-range engineering and planning costs. To pay for the bonds, plus the interest, there would probably have to be a reallocation of funds between the city's general fund and its interest and sinking fund, Brook said Saturday. But that should not necessitate a hike in the total tax rate. The city's bonded indebtedness is $1,500,000, Brook pointed out. There is no particular limit on the amount, other than the fact that a too-high interest rate on bonds would serve as a brake, he said. The city manager pointed out that Pampa's real water problem is not a lack of available water but the lack of ability to get the water to the "city gate" and the water-users. It costs a lot more, of course, for water to be pumped through a pipe system than to have gravity do the job, Brook said. Coupled with the pressure problem are the current drought and the increased use of new home appliances like air-conditioners and lawn-sprinklers which make for added use for water. The way the bonds will be handled - provided the issue is approved - is probably by means of a public bid-letting, the city manager figured. The city commission, of course, would have the final say-so on selling of the bonds. The ones with the lowest rate of interest would get "preferential treatment" - though they would not necessarily be the best buy for the city, everything considered.

Government Retakes City In Costa Rica

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, Feb. 5 - UP - Airborne government troops Saturday recaptured the Northern Costa Rican town of Los Chiles after a bombing and strafing attack by government warplanes and Nicaragua promptly charged that the Costa Rican planes had carried their attack over the border into Nicaragua. Nicaraguan President Anastasio Somoza said he had dispatched air force fighter planes to the border area immediately "to avoid new territorial violations." The Costa Rican government said government troops landed in Los Chiles in two transport planes which flew in with fighter cover. A spokesman said the troops found no sign of the rebels who captured the town and its airport Friday, but that before the planes landed several persons were seen crossing the Nicaraguan border. The rebels were believed to be stragglers from the rebel army which was crushed after 11 days of fighting with government troops last month. In Managua, Somoza charged the attack on Los Chiles had been carried out by six Costa Rican planes which bombed and machine-gunned the surrounding area, including "Nicaraguan territory."

Partridges To Be Loosed In Texas

AUSTIN, Feb. 5 - UP - Red-legged partridges, which are about twice as big as ordinary quail and flourish under extreme heat and drought, are about to be released south of Childress. W. S. Jennings, assistant director of wildlife restoration for the Game and Fish Commission, said about 70 birds will be released. He said red-legged partridges thrive in Spain.

Ike Asks Support For UMT Plan

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 - UP - President Eisenhower said Saturday night the administration's modified UMT plan is an effective and economical way of producing "a ready reserve which is in fact ready," available and well-trained. He appealed for support of his controversial reserve program, now pending before a non-too-enthusiastic congress, in a message to the National Council of the Reserve Officers Association, Sen. Strom Thurmond (D-S. C.), president of the association, read the presidential message at a council banquet. Congressmen of both parties have been lukewarm, and some openly hostile, toward the plan which calls for admitting about 100,000 youths annually to a special corps which would receive six months basic training and then go into the ready reserves for 9-12 years. Youths between 17 and 18 could volunteer for this training in lieu of serving two years active duty through selective service. If there are not enough volunteers, the Defense Department would induct enough youths 18-12 to 19 years of age to fill out the quota.

Stevens' Fate Talked After Adams Quits

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (UP)—The abrupt resignation of Army Counselor John G. Adams, a key figure in the Army's fight with Sen. Joseph McCarthy, revived speculation Saturday on Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens' political future.

Adams, whose face became familiar to millions in last year's televised Army-McCarthy hearings, disclosed late Friday that he had resigned effective March 31. Adams made no mention of the Senate inquiry in his formal resignation letter to Stevens. But he told reporters later it was a "painful experience for everybody" and he was "proud of the Army's part in the hearings."

Stevens Made Letter Public Stevens, in making public his acceptance letter thanking Adams for "loyal and steadfast support," obviously anticipated reporters' questions about his own plans. Spokesmen were ready with a statement that he does not plan to resign. At the White House reporters were referred to earlier Stevens statements on the same line.

McCarthy, whose chief aides in the battle with the Army have resigned, immediately commented that "a few more resignations should be tendered and accepted." Adams' departure from Army more Senate testimony on the celebrated case of former Maj. Irving Peress, the New York dentist McCarthy called a "Fifth Amendment Communist." Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.), succeeding McCarthy as Senate investigating subcommittee chairman, said Adams "will probably be needed as a witness later."

Peress Study Upcoming The subcommittee plans to go into the case of Peress, who was honorably discharged a year ago after McCarthy proposed a court martial. The Army disclosed in a 10,000-word report a month ago that Adams and Lt. Gen. Walter L. Weible, deputy chief of staff, gave the final approval for Peress' discharge after studying McCarthy's protests.

Nixon Begins Tour Of Central America

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (UP)—Assistant Secretary of State Henry F. Holland, an expert on Latin American affairs, and Mrs. Holland; two members of the Nixon staff, a military aide, a State Department policy-planning official, five newsmen and three photographers. Nixon moves into troubled waters, Guatemala only recently threw off a Communist-tinged government, Honduras and Haiti are suffering from unemployment and the ravages of flood and hurricane. Nicaragua and Costa Rica have been making warlike gestures at each other. Panama is under a state of emergency due to the assassination of her president. While these areas are friendly to the United States, there is, nevertheless, an anti-Yankee undercurrent of which Nixon is well aware. He feels the best approach is to go easy on the diplomatic back-slapping and demonstrate genuine U. S. interest in the welfare and independent development of these countries.

US Family Savings High

CHICAGO, Feb. 5 (UP)—American families have more money "salted away than at any time in the nation's history, the United States Savings and Loan League reported Saturday.

The league said the total in all savings media reached a record high of $231.3 billion at the end of 1954, an increase of an estimated $14.9 billion during the year. In contrast, savings increased by $12.5 billion in 1953, by $11.7 billion in 1952, and by only $7.4 billion in 1951. The league said that the total 1954 savings figure of $231.3 billion represented a 255 per cent increase over savings of $65.2 billion at the start of World War II. At the end of the war in 1945, savings amounted to $141.5 billion. J. Howard Edgerton, president of the league, said savings associations and co-operative banks made the biggest gains, percentage-wise, of all organizations handling savings during 1954. The savings associations showed a gain of 18 per cent over savings in 1953, while commercial banks gained 8.3 per cent, mutual savings banks 7.8 per cent, life insurance companies 7.5 per cent, and savings bonds, 0.9 per cent. Edgerton said only postal savings lost ground in 1954, recording an 8.3 per cent decline.

During World War I, he served with the quarter-master corps of the Army, and was recalled for 44 months of active duty during the Second World War as a postal officer with the adjutant general's group. Active in the Masons and the Elks, Gaylor is presently secretary-treasurer of the Pampa Lions Club.

Soviet, Poland Military Confer

MOSCOW, Feb. 5 (UP)—Unconfirmed reports circulated Saturday in Moscow that delegations of top military leaders of Czechoslovakia and Poland conferred here in the past week with Soviet military chiefs, including Defense Minister Nikolai Bulganin. The Polish delegation was reported to have been headed by Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky. Soviet leaders included Marshal Georgi Zhukov. The conference was understood to have been on preparations to implement an East European security alliance, particularly the naming of a supreme commander.

Solon Says Lies Can Hurt Future Trials

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (UP)—Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) said Saturday Harvey Matusow's statement that he lied as a witness may make it difficult for the government to convict Communists. Jackson, a member of the Senate investigating subcommittee, said Matusow's recanting may shake the faith of juries in the testimony of other professed ex-Communists. "That's why it is so important to make a thorough examination of the Matusow case," said Jackson, renewing his demand for an investigation of Matusow's claim that he lied to congressional committees and in the trial of 13 Communist leaders. Meanwhile, it appeared likely the Senate Internal Security subcommittee would postpone its scheduled questioning of the admitted former Communist, who testified in four of its hearings. The subcommittee subpoenaed Matusow Friday to appear at a public hearing Tuesday.

An informed source said Saturday the hearing probably would be deferred because a federal grand jury in New York is expected to be questioning the 28-year-old Matusow at that time on his trial testimony. Jackson said Matusow's flip-flop did not make him doubt all former Communists. But he added: "The Matusow incident may make it difficult for the government to prosecute future cases effectively. Juries might not put much faith in the testimony of professed ex-Communists."

Ford-Chevy Fight Is War Of Nerves

DETROIT, Feb. 5 (UP)—The Ford-Chevrolet battle to claim leadership as the No. 1 choice of car buyers in 1954 has turned into a real war of nerves while the two wait for the final figures. Ford went into the month of December with a 9,000 lead in new car registrations. But the first two states to report for December have narrowed the gap to 4,000. Final figures for 1954 sales are now being added up by the R. L. Polk Co. in Cincinnati. They should be released in next two or three weeks. The figures are computed by adding all the new car registrations for each make in all 48 states. Chevrolet Held Lead Chevrolet, since 1953, has been the winner each year. But Ford, after its postwar reorganization, took out after Chevrolet in earnest last year. The battle has been nip and tuck. The winner will receive the chance to spend thousands of dollars advertising "we won." But the automobile companies believe there are enough car buyers who like to get on the "handwagon" of the winner that the privilege of spending all that money for advertising is well worth it. Both sides express confidence they won. Ford supporters point to figures announced for retail sales by various other divisions of General Motors as an indication Ford will be the winner.

Compupe Figures They figure this way: They've added up the 428,808 cars which Oldsmobile said it sold, 175,291 which Buick said it sold and the 120,120 which Cadillac said it sold in 1954. They subtract that from the 2,760,639 cars which Harlow Curtice said all of General Motors sold in 1954. Then they subtract the 218,619 Pontiacs registered for the first 11 months of 1954. That leaves only 1,390,401 cars for Chevrolet for the 12 months even if Pontiac didn't sell any in December. Ford in the first 11 months registered 1,224,358 new cars. For December, Ford has announced its sales were the best for any month all year. The best previous month was 1,087,785 in June. So they figure Ford sold a minimum of 1,264,143 in 1954. But Chevrolet spokesmen, after cautioning everyone to wait for the missing precincts in the "official" tabulation, later said it was the sales leader in 1954 on the basis of 1,421,478 factory sales.

You find it in the extra roominess, the extra frame strength, the extra tread width, the extra silencing—all part and parcel of every Buick. We could tell you about the little things, too. Things usually charged for as "extras" in other cars, but yours as standard equipment at no extra cost in every Buick. Things like direction signals, oil-bath air cleaner, full-flow oil filter, automatic lighting in glove and trunk compartments—and so on. But—you get the idea. This is a buy, this '55 Buick—a great buy—and a thriller from the instant you press its gas pedal. Come in this week and check things for yourself, won't you?

Quemoy Defenders Express Confidence

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Norman Williams, United Press Asia division news pictures editor, flew to the island of Quemoy within sight of the Communist-held China mainland to see Nationalist defenses. Williams, a combat photographer in the Korean war, reports what he saw in the following dispatch.)

By NORMAN WILLIAMS
 QUEMOY, Feb. 5 — UP Gen. Liu Yu-Chang, Nationalist commander on this outpost 2,300 yards off the China mainland, said Thursday his men could hold Quemoy against any attack if they had sufficient air cover.

Liu said the Communists had some 220,000 troops on the mainland opposite Quemoy but predicted the Reds would not attack until after they capture the Tachen Islands some 300 miles to the north. Quemoy, unlike the Tachens, is within easy range of the Nationalist air force based on Formosa some 100 miles to the east. Tachen Island is about 210 miles north of Formosa.

Hold Six Airfields
 Liu said the Communists had six airfields in the vicinity but only one that can handle jets. However, he said the Communists had new long-range Russian artillery which could bring a large portion of Quemoy under fire.

Even then Quemoy can hold, he said. He said Red artillery killed 300 persons on Quemoy during the last four or five months, most of them civilians.

The Nationalists are rushing the buildup of military facilities here and after touring some of their key positions I can see why they are confident.

The place is set for just about anything. General Liu, the short, bald, robust commander, radiates a defiant spirit. He outlined the work being pushed here and said the escape.

Nine Prisoners Escape Stockade

FORT LEWIS, Wash., Feb. 5 — UP — Nine prisoners broke out of the stockade at this big military installation early Friday, but seven of them were recaptured before dark, Friday night, the reported.

The prisoners overpowered two sentries from one of them in their being pushed here and said the escape.

SOME ADVICE — horse that changed Billie's life is revisited while the farm boy waits for last bandages to be removed from head caved in by horse's hoof. Billie refused to allow old horse to be sent.

THE NEW HEAD — Preview of inside of "new head" wraps Billie in solemn fascination as he watches surgeon practice insertion of tantalum plate, which finally went into his skull, on a clay model.

Lad Gets A New Head

Horse Kicked Billie To Head Of Class

Pictures and Text By FRED MENAGH

LYNCHBURG, Va. — (NEA) — You could say that Billie Grant, 12, who lives on a farm near Lowesville, was kicked to the head of his class.

For if old Bill, the blind, bare-foot horse, hadn't lashed out with hoof last February and fractured Billie's skull, Billie might still be the indifferent student he was in the fifth grade. In sixth grade this year, he's getting all A's and B's — an almost unbelievable change, his teachers say.

And says Billie, with a tantalum plate in his patched-up skull: "I've got a bright new head. It's much better than the old one." Medical experts are watching his case with interest. Some believe the blow from the horse's unshod hoof, which caved in Billie's skull just above the left eye, may have caused an accidental pre-frontal lobotomy.

In surgery, that's an operation in which tracts are cut in the frontal lobes of the brain. It was devised by a Lynchburg-born physician, Dr. James Watts, now of Washington, some 20 years ago.

Its purpose is to improve a patient's personality, and it is now in wide use with varying success. Billie, who lives with his widowed aunt, Mrs. Abbie Campbell, used to stop to feed old Bill every afternoon as one of his chores. Last Feb. 1, while the horse munched his corn, Billie started wrestling with his dog, Black Jack. He rolled under old Bill's hoofs, and the startled blind horse kicked.

A neighbor found Billie after his aunt became worried, and he was rushed to Lynchburg Hospital. He was unconscious for eight days, and in his delirium, ripped out such pungent phrases that it startled his father, Homer Grant, and left nurses blushing.

But when he regained consciousness, Billie was a shy, inquisitive character. He became a favorite in the hospital.

A first operation cleaned away the splintered bone and disclosed that some brain tissue had been dislodged by the fracture. Where the bone was gone, the brain was dangerously exposed. In a second operation, the surgeon inserted a tantalum plate that closed up the hole and protects the brain.

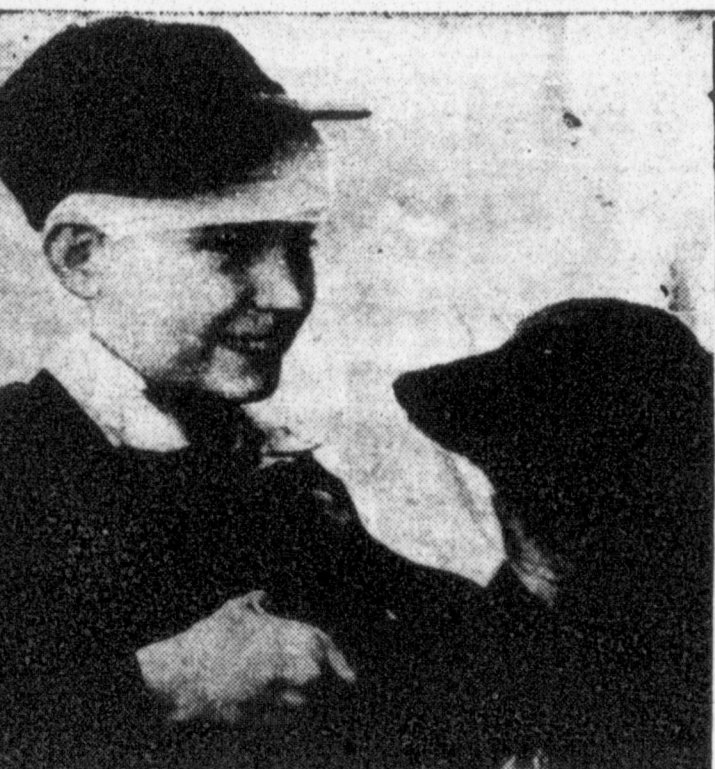

That was months later. In between, artists and artisans in Lynchburg made plaster casts of Billie's head so the surgeon could practice the operation. Others cast, shaped and polished the plate.

Members of Billie's family wanted to shoot old Bill, but Billie wouldn't let them. "It wasn't his fault," Billie says. "And I've got my bright new head."

Having kicked Billie to the head of the class, it looks as if old Bill's accidental pre-frontal lobotomy performed with an unshod hoof instead of a surgeon's scalpel, was a success.

OPERATION SUCCESSFUL — his "bright new head" bandaged after two long sessions in the hospital, Billie looks serious as last evidences of his injury get a close scrutiny. Under scars is a metal plate.

NEW BOY — The "New" Billie Grant, home from the hospital after surgery on his hoof-splintered skull, is greeted by his dog, Black Jack, with whom he was romping when blind horse kicked him.

SOME ADVICE in kitchen of home after last operation, Billie gets some advice on handling brand new air rifle from his father, Homer Grant, while Mrs. Abbie Campbell, his aunt, looks on.

Your Heart's In Your Hands Keeping Heart Well Is Big Job

(Last In A Series) By DR. WILLIAM A. BRAMS Distributed by NEA Service

NEW YORK — (NEA) — To the millions of persons with heart disease, there is often a definite question as to which is harder to do: survive the attack itself, or make the adjustments later that will help to prevent a recurrence.

One of your hazards is constipation because of the extra straining needed to empty the bowels. Your doctor can help to relieve this, and always should be consulted.

Shamrock Personals

By LOUISE COFFMAN Pampa News Correspondent

Sgt. I-C Holice Turnbow, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Turnbow, received his discharge from the U. S. Army Jan. 14 after four years in service.

John Shackelford, 86; Donnie Dodgen, 87; Johnny Sanders, 86 and Jerry Moore, 92. The Shamrock Lions Club held their monthly Ladies' Night Banquet last Thursday.

In anticipating the future, our experience shows there are two possibilities. Hardening of the arteries may continue and increase, so that the condition becomes more hazardous.

Stick to sports that are not competitive, such as easy horseback riding or walking on the level. Games like tennis and squash are too fast and hard.

Solon Asks Probe Of Tax Handling

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5—UP—Sen. John J. Williams (R-Del.) said Friday the treasury and Congress should investigate to see whether there has been "undue negligence" in the handling of delinquent tax accounts.

He told the Senate the Internal Revenue Service has informed him the number of outstanding delinquent tax warrants is "at a very high level."

One fact, however, is certain: your prospects of pulling through are less if you're overweight. You must win the battle with your appetite to win the war with coronary thrombosis.

The word on what you can eat and drink will have to come from your doctor, who knows your entire condition. As far as your heart itself is concerned, the only food banned is salt.

Pampan To Represent Baylor U.

Six students will represent Baylor University at the winter executive council meeting of Texas Intercollegiate Student Association, stated Harlan Murray of Marshall, official delegate of TISA.

The meeting is to be held at Texas A&M College, Feb. 12, and will be attended by delegations from all the member schools.

The main business of the representatives will be to review outstanding committee reports, however, primary consideration will be given to the annual TISA Convention to convene in April at Trinity University, Austin.

Topics for panel discussion, as well as possible resolutions to be presented at the convention, will be dealt with at this time. These will include such controversial issues as segregation, federal aid to education, and the place of athletics in academic life.

Baylor is one of three schools representing the sixth district of TISA, and the issues considered at this meeting will ultimately represent the collective viewpoint of approximately 100,000 Texas college students.

For you, once your attack is over. Following a sensible program will bring you, day by day, closer to recovery. Then, as you find yourself easing back into life, put fear behind you.

To Introduce Parity Law WASHINGTON, Feb. 5—UP—Sen. Strom Thurmond plans to introduce legislation next week to restore permanent 90 per cent parity price supports for the six basic farm crops.

Expanded Housing Program Forecast

By RICHARD E. MOONEY WASHINGTON, Feb. 5—UP—The Eisenhower administration's 1955 housing program is emerging from an assortment of proclamations by the White House and various government agencies.

Its major points are three: extension of public housing and relaxation of some restrictions on it; expansion of the federal housing administration's authority to insure mortgages; and presidential power to adjust the terms on which the government will back mortgages.

Leaser points cover the clarification and extension of numerous existing programs. To date, there is no single-package program of the sort which introduced so many changes to the government's housing activities last year.

Requested Last Year Last year the President asked Congress for a three-year public housing program. He got a one-year program, this year he is asking for a two-year program, providing for 35,000 new units each year.

Expansion of FHA's insuring authority appears more certain of congressional approval. The Administration is asking for permission to insure $5 billion more. The proposal for presidential authority to vary insurance terms is one which was rejected last year.

Restaurant Group Elects Caldwell

Loyse Caldwell, proprietor of Caldwell's Drive Inn, was recently elected a director of the West Texas Restaurant association at their meeting in Midland, it was learned Saturday.

Caldwell, who has operated the drive inn since 1947, said the group is attempting to form an effective organization in the Panhandle. Last Thursday, Caldwell, along with Owen Johnson of Johnson's Cafe and Ted Gikas of the Coney Island Cafe, attended an organizational meeting in Amarillo where plans were made to hold their regional meeting in Pampa on April 7.

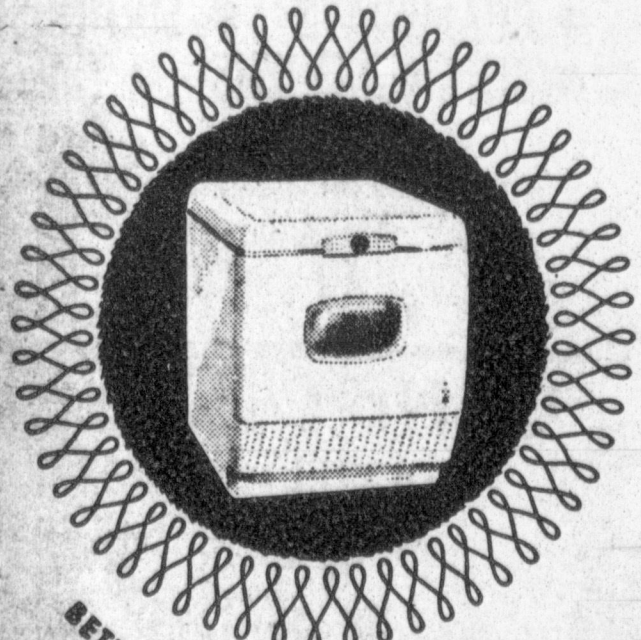

Caldwell's Drive Inn was the subject of a picture spread in a recent issue of the "Chuck Waggon" monthly organ of the Texas Restaurant association.

SCOUTS OBSERVE 45th BIRTHDAY

SCOUT WEEK POSTER

Boy Scout Week, Feb. 6 to 12, marking the 45th anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America, will be observed throughout the nation by more than 3,660,000 boys and adult leaders.

Pampa Scout May Get To Meet Ike

One of two Explorer Scouts from the Adobe Walls Council has a chance to meet President Eisenhower later in the year.

Each of the nation's 540 Local Boy Scout Councils were asked to name one Scout or Explorer for the honor of meeting President Eisenhower.

SCOUTMASTER — Roy Webb, 1340 Terrace, is the Scoutmaster of Troop 89, of the First Methodist Church.

The nation's twelve Scout Regions each selected its representative from among the Local Council nominees.

The Scouts and Explorers will arrive in Washington, Sunday, Feb. 8. They will visit the Capitol, Supreme Court, the F.B.I., tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington Cemetery, Washington's home at Mt. Vernon and the Smithsonian Institution.

At a breakfast in Washington during Boy Scout Week attended by about 100 leaders representing the Senate, House of Representatives and national organizations each young man will be seated next to his home area's Congressman.

Over 6,000 Men And Boys Take In Adobe Area Scouting

The Boy Scout organization, which headquarters in Pampa serves 15 Texas and Oklahoma counties and contains 4,350 boys and 1,810 adult leaders, both up more than 100 per cent over the figures seven years ago.

Presiding over the Adobe Walls Council headquarters office is Paul Beisenherz, council Scout executive. Phil Pegues, who is Scout executive for the Santa Fe District, one of the five in the council, also uses the office — but only because he lives in Pampa, the center-most point of the district.

The five districts of the council and the counties they include are Pioneer District, Cimarron and Texas Counties; Okla.; Kiowa District, Beaver County, Okla., and Ochiltree and Lipscomb Counties; Santa Fe District, Hemphill, Roberts, Gray and Carson Counties; Adobe District, Hutchinson and Hanford Counties; and Southern District, Wheeler, Collingsworth, Donley and Hall Counties.

The Increase Seven years ago, there were only 2,065 boys and 872 adults in the 85 Scout units in the council. Today there are 4,350 boys and 1,810 adults in 149 different units.

In the Santa Fe District today there are 1,520 boys. Seventeen Cub packs contain 723 boys. There are 64 in the 20 Boy Scout troops. And the nine Explorer posts keep 137 boys busy on their projects. Just four years ago, there were only nine packs, 13 troops and four posts.

There are 51 communities in the council. Pioneer District has 12 communities with 13 different units. Kiowa has six with 17 and Santa Fe 10 with 47. Twelve communities in Adobe have 43 units and there are 11 communities in Southern with 24 units. The break-down for the council is 49 Cub packs, 71 Scout troops and 29 Explorer posts.

One-Third Of Them Beisenherz is particularly proud that his council reaches an estimated one-third of the boys eligible by age, contrasted to the national average of one in five. And, to top it off, 1,706 of the boys and 80 of the units in the council are "rural" (1,500 or less population).

Four professional Scouters preside over the activities of the council camp northeast of Canaan, Tex. In addition to Beisenherz and Pegues, both of whom live in Pampa, there are J. D. Ross, Borger, and Dave Agnew, Guymon, Okla. Pegues handles the Santa Fe District and half the Southern District. Ross does the Adobe District and the other half of Southern. And Agnew is executive for the Pioneer and Kiowa Districts.

Adult Participation When it comes to volunteer adults, there is one for every 2 1/2 boys in the council, indicating the willingness of adults to serve as leaders. Over the nation, the ratio is 1-to-4. Adults include everyone from den mothers to Cubmasters, to district committeemen and members of the council executive board members.

There are 107 institutions which sponsor one or more Scout units in the council and 13 of them sponsor the complete "Scout family" — a pack, a troop and a post. Four of the 13 are in Pampa: the First Presbyterian Church, First Christian Church, First Methodist Church and First Baptist Church.

A total of 1,222 boys — only Boy Scouts and Explorers can do so — was camped six days or more last summer at Camp Ki-o-wah, the council camp northeast of Canaan, or took one of several trips of a distance. That is 52.5 per cent of the eligible boys, a high percentage. There were no serious accidents, no one hospitalized and no serious illnesses.

During 1934, there were 2,165 merit badges (for everything from agriculture to photography, skiing and zoology) and 3,950 rank advancements passed out, the latter making it almost one per boy.

The council has an operating budget of $42,000, set by the council executive board which determines how extensive a program is to be presented during the year. Part of that money comes from United Funds (Pampa, Hutchinson County and Guymon) and the remainder comes from community campaigns.

The money is used for the council office, the professional staff (four men), maintenance of Camp Ki-o-wah, volunteer training program, maintenance of standards in advancement progress, organization of new units, conferring training of the professional staff and the "necessary expense" of raising money.

Exec Board Sixty persons comprise the council executive board. All are volunteers who represent various phases of activity in the communities of the council. They come from all faiths, from agriculture and industry, from educational and civic groups. From everywhere.

President of the council advisory board this year is R. J. Rust, of Phillips. The district chairman from each of the five districts is a vice president. Gens Fatheree, of Pampa, is council treasurer. Board members are elected annually.

The "key men" on the Santa Fe District committee are Don Cain, district chairman; E. E. Shelhamer, district vice chairman; and the chairman of the six top committees: Ross Buzzard, camping and activities; Kay Jordan, health and safety; Kay Fancher, assisted by Bill Craig, organization and extension; Jack Dunham, advancement; Harry Wilbur, Jr., Canadian, and Clarence Williams, Panhandle, finance; and R. L. Hendricks, leadership training.

District Committee The district committee is the administrative group that carries out the policy set by the council executive board. It has 40 to 45 members. But then, too, there is a district commissioner's staff which organizes and plans the roundtables, a monthly get-together of all unit leaders and unit officers on the adult level to review the month and exchange program ideas for the new month.

E. Roy Smith is the district commissioner. His assistants are John Ayres, Explorer roundtable chairman; Mrs. George Newberry, Cub women's roundtable chairman; J. Q. Russell, Cub Men's roundtable chairman; and Elmer Radcliff, Scoutmaster roundtable chairman.

There are a lot of eligible boys for the Boy Scout organization to serve. The 1940 census reported there were 11,169 "potential" Scouts in the area covered by the council. In 1930, the figure rose to 13,113. And the estimate today is 14,919.

Percentage wise, Beisenherz points out, "You have to increase Scout membership to stay on an building on U.S. Highway No. 1 even keel." And that is just what the Boy Scouts Adobe Walls Council has been doing. But the council has been increasing Scout participation enough to go above that even keel.

Shamrock To Reorganize Explorer Post Three People Run Scout Office Here

Explorer Scout group, which has been inactive the past few months in Shamrock, will be reorganized on Monday, Bill Shelton, unit leader, has called a meeting of all boys 14 years old or older to meet at the First Methodist Church basement at 7 o'clock Monday evening.

The explorer program is designed to furnish wholesome recreation and fun for teen age boys in addition to its program of physical and mental development. The activities are largely governed by the youngsters with the cooperation of adult leaders.

All former Boy Scouts of Explorer age are especially invited but it is not necessary that a boy be a former member to be eligible.

The reorganization of the Explorer Troop coincides with Boy Scout Week, Feb. 6 to 12. The theme for this year's birthday observance is "Building for a Better Tomorrow."

Disaster Corps Formed By Scouts

In 1910 the Emergency Service Corps plan was adopted for older Scouts. Methods of mobilizing Senior Scouts to render aid in times of disasters, and severe storms were developed. The entire resources of the Boy Scouts of America were placed at the service of the Government with the declaration of war. Boy Scouts in Honolulu and Pearl Harbor rendered valiant services immediately following the Pearl Harbor attack.

There are three persons who work in the Boy Scouts Adobe Walls Council headquarters on the second floor of City Hall.

They are Paul Beisenherz, council Scout executive; Phil Pegues, Santa Fe District Scout executive and Mrs. J. M. Fitzgerald, Beisenherz's secretary.

Beisenherz has been in Scouting for 25 years, all but nine of them in the professional end.

A tall, lean man, he was a Scoutmaster for seven years in Lexington, Mo., and from 1932 to 1938 was on the Kansas City (Mo.) Council camp staff, with a camp in the Missouri Ozarks.

It was in the summer of 1939 that Beisenherz became director of the Boy Scout camp in Sioux City, Iowa. In the fall of that year, he attended the National Training School for Scout executives in Mendham, N.J.

The first day of 1940 he became district Scout executive in the Last Frontier Council in Oklahoma City. In 1943, he became district Scout executive for the Sam Houston Area Council in Houston and also served as assistant Scout executive in charge of the camping and activities program.

land and a member of the U.S. Vampire Sea Scout ship. Then he became both a Scoutmaster and an Explorer advisor in Denton while he was at North Texas State College.

Pegues became a professional Scouter April 15, 1947, when he was appointed district Scout executive in the Long Horn Council in Fort Worth. He held that job till Dec. 31, 1950.

The next day he took over as district Scout executive and came to Pampa to live.

Mrs. Fitzgerald has been secretary to the council Scout executive since October, 1933. Her son, Danny, has been a Cub Scout and a Boy Scout and is now an Explorer Scout.

8 Scouts Went On Arctic Trip

A big Scout adventure came in 1927 when eight Chicago Scouts sailed with the Borden-Peabody Museum Arctic Expedition, north of Bering Sea. The following year Commander Byrd took a Sea Scout, Paul A. Siple of Erie, Pa., on his first Antarctic expedition and also in 1928 three Eagle Scouts accompanied the Martin Johnsons on a safari in Africa.

The second decade closed Dec. 31, 1929 with an active enrollment of 833,887 Scouts and Leaders.

West Was First Officer

James E. West, a young attorney of Washington, D.C., accepted the invitation to be the administrative officer of the organization. Dr. West opened the first National Scout Office at 200 Fifth Avenue, New York, on Jan. 2, 1911 with seven employees. Sixteen years later larger quarters were required and the National Office was moved to 2 Park Avenue, New York.

Raden-Powell made a tour of the United States in Sept. 1910, explaining the program wherever he went. His timely visit gave great impetus to the organization work.

The first of many National "Good Turns" came in 1912 when Boy Scouts promoted a campaign for a safe and sane Fourth of July. Scouts rendered valuable service at Gettysburg, Pa., in 1913, aiding the Civil War veterans who gathered for the 50th anniversary of the famous battle there.

Although a young organization, its members gave a good account of themselves rendering aid in the spring floods in Ohio and Indiana. This and other civic service led Congress, in 1916, to grant to the organization a Federal Charter which gives special protection to the name, insignia, terminology. Another Act of Congress protects the Scout Uniform.

On their final day, Feb. 11, they will visit the new National Boy Scout headquarters at New Brunswick, N.J., as guests for lunch and later tell of their experiences at the Boy Scout Week birthday party before leaving for home that evening.

Jamboree Held Near Los Angeles

The Third National Jamboree was held at the Irvine Ranch near Los Angeles in July 1933 with 45,401 Scouts and leaders from all over the nation and 21 other nations taking part. In 1934, at the request of President Eisenhower, their Honorary President and National Executive Board member since 1918, the entire membership of the organization undertook an extensive educational and technical conservation program.

As 1934 drew to a close the National Office of the Boy Scouts of America moved into its own new building on U.S. Highway No. 1 a few miles from New Brunswick, N.J. The 45th birthday in February 1935 finds the organization with over 3,660,000 boys and adult leaders.

First World Jamboree In England, 1920

The First World Scout Jamboree was held in England in July 1920. It attracted Scouts from 37 countries including 301 Scouts and 55 adult leaders from the United States. Since then the Boy Scouts of America had a prominent part in furthering world-wide aspects of Scouting.

Scouts served as aides and guides at the Limitation of Arms Conference in 1921. Outstanding civic service included forest conservation and assistance at the Knickerbocker Theatre disaster at Washington, D.C., and floods at Pueblo, Colo., and San Antonio.

In 1923 the Lone Scouts of America, comprising mostly rural boys, merged with the Boy Scouts of America. Where there are insufficient boys in rural areas to form a Scout Unit, a boy may become a Lone Scout, carrying on his program with the aid of an adult friend and counselor. There are several thousand such members today.

In 1922 the Boy Scouts International Bureau was established in London. Today there are 56 Boy Scout Associations registered by the Boy Scouts International Bureau with a total membership in 1952 of 5,561,993 boys and adult leaders.

The Second World Jamboree in 1924 brought together 6,000 Scouts in a camp outside Copenhagen, Denmark, with 98 Scouts from the United States. The Third World Jamboree marked the "Coming of Age" of Scouting in 1929. It was the largest encampment held to date with 50,000 Scouts at Birkenhead, England, with 1,300 Scouts and leaders from the United States.

In 1925 Scouts gave outstanding aid in the Illinois tornado, California earthquake and Louisiana fire, and the following year in the Florida hurricane and the Arkansas flood.

President Coolidge shared in the presentation of the first of the annual Silver Buffalo Awards "for distinguished service to boyhood," in 1928.

Scouting Started By A 'Good Turn'

A "good turn" by an unidentified British Boy Scout in 1909 to an American businessman who had lost his way in a London fog, led to the incorporation of the Boy Scouts of America in Washington, D.C., 45 years ago on Tuesday, Feb. 8.

The late William D. Boyce, Chicago publisher, was so impressed with the helpfulness of the British Boy Scout, who declined his tip for the "good turn," that he accompanied the Scout to the office of Sir (later Lord) Robert Baden-Powell, founder of Scouting, learned about the program and brought a trunkful of pamphlets to America. Later, he incorporated the organization.

On June 21, 1910, a group of men representing 34 national groups interested in youth, started developing the organization and opened a temporary office in New York City.

From that modest beginning the Boy Scouts of America has grown in 45 years until now it has an active enrollment of over 3,660,000 boys and adult leaders. Since 1910 more than 22,780,000 American boys and men have subscribed to the Scout Oath and Law.

Four Million GIs Were Boy Scouts

It is estimated that over four million men in the Armed Forces were once Boy Scouts or leaders.

During the war years Scout service included the distribution of Defense Bonds and Savings Posters, air raid posters and other Government literature; collection of aluminum, waste paper and rubber. They served as Government Dispatch Bearers and helped harvest crops in addition to raising victory gardens.

Sixty-nine requests by the Government from 1941 to 1945 for Boy Scout war service were received. The World Friendship Fund from voluntary gifts of Scouts and leaders to help restore Scouting in the war torn nations was inaugurated. The Fund, since 1944, has made available to Scouting in other countries cash and supplies to rehabilitate and build their national organizations.

In 1943 Dr. James E. West, having served as Chief Scout Executive for 32 years, became the Chief Scout and Dr. Elbert K. Fretwell became Chief Scout Executive for five and a half years, until Sept. 1948 when Dr. Arthur A. Schuck assumed the duties of the highest administrative office in the movement.

Walter W. Head of St. Louis, who served as President of the National Council from 1925 to 1946 was succeeded by Amory Houghton of Corning, N.Y.

During 1947 the basic requirements were reigned, tested and authorized, putting equal emphasis on Scout spirit, participation and Scout craft or skills. In 1949 in line with other progressive moves, the entrance ages were lowered by one year as follows: Cub Scouting to 8 years of age; Boy Scouting to 11 years of age and Exploring for young men beginning at 14.

The Sixth World Jamboree, first since 1927, brought together 32,000 Scouts from 38 countries in France in the summer of 1947 with the United States contingent including 1,151 Scouts and Leaders.

In Feb. 1948 and Feb. 1949 President Truman received twelve outstanding Boy Scouts at the White House who presented to him a "Report to the Nation" of Scout service to communities throughout the nation. It included everything from simple usher service at charity entertainments to aiding blood banks, traffic surveys and collecting millions of pounds of food for the hungry here and abroad.

The International Scout conference. The 5,561,993 boys and leaders have common ideals and similar activities and uniforms, 3,660,000 members of the Boy Scouts of America now belong to 95,000 Units.

Last September Boy Scouts distributed a million fire prevention posters, 140 Boy Scouts were honored in one year by their National Court of Honor for saving or trying to save life.

Uranium Hunt Encouraged By AEC Head

DENVER, Feb. 5—UP—The thriving uranium industry was in a most healthy position Saturday after the top man in the Atomic Energy Commission renewed his plea for a continuous search for the fissionable ore.

Chairman Lewis Strauss, chairman of the AEC, told delegates at the National Western Mining Conference Friday that the possibility was emphasized by the importance of a continuing development of new sources of uranium in this country as well as in Canada.

second atomic powered submarine, and similar type ships and airplanes would be developed in the future. He said plans were for the submarine to be launched this year.

"As long as the peace of the world depends, in such large measure, on our being well ahead of competition in nuclear weapons," he said, "every new (uranium ore) deposit found and every new tonnage record set in the Colorado plateau will add to the chances of preserving... peace."

He termed America's atomic weapons program as "satisfactory."

Meanwhile, a group of 25 private utility companies announced consideration of plans to construct an atomic electric generating plant with 100,000 kilowatts capacity and costing more than $50 million. They didn't say where the plant would be built.

The plant, the group told the mining conference, would be the largest of its kind and would be operated under arrangement with the AEC.

Arthur S. Griswold, assistant to the president of the Detroit Edison Co., and spokesman for the group, said the 25 power companies still were considering whether to submit a proposal to the AEC on construction of the plant.

However, Griswold emphasized that the group, which spent in excess of $2 million on research and study during the past year, had decided that the plant would be possible, although uneconomic, at present.

Scouts Served In World War I

The Boy Scouts of America placed their full resources at the service of the Government in 1917 when this country entered the first World War. Then began a tremendous demonstration of boy-power, trained and organized for service. Scouts sold 2,350,997 Liberty Loan Bonds totaling $147,876,962; War Stamps to a value of $53,043,698; located 20,758,660 board feet of walnut and the equivalent of a hundred carloads of fruit pits used in gas masks. Over 30,000,000 pieces of Government literature were distributed. Service in other ways included food and fuel conservation and the growing of thousands of Boy Scout War Gardens.

The active membership at the close of the first decade, Dec. 31, 1919 was 462,060 Scouts and Leaders.

More than 22,750,000 boys and men have enrolled in Boy Scouts of America since 1910. In 1954 more than 900,000 Boy Scouts and Explorers camped in various sections of the country.

Cub Program Opened In '20

In March 1930 President Hoover launched a development program at a dinner in Washington attended by Cabinet officers, which commemorated the 20th anniversary. The Cub Scout program for boys of pre-Scout age was launched that year. In 1932 the Ten Year Program of growth was started, seeking to enroll at least one boy of every four, keeping them in Scouting at least four years. That year Mrs. Jacob H. Schiff presented to the organization the Mortimer L. Schiff Scout Reservation at Mendham, N. J., as its national training center, in honor of her son, a national leader in the movement for over two decades, and President at the time of his death in 1931.

An American contingent of 406 Scouts and leaders attended the 4th World Scout Jamboree in Godollo, Hungary in 1933 which brought 21,000 Scouts together from 46 countries.

Scouts rendered outstanding service in relief work throughout the depression. The radio call from President Roosevelt on Feb. 10, 1934 for a "National Good Turn" resulted in collection of 1,821,284

Valley Forge Was Site Of 2nd Jamboree

In February 1949 the organization launched its Crusade to "Strengthen the Arm of Liberty" to give more boys a richer experience in Scouting through better trained adult volunteer leaders. As the fourth decade closed Dec. 31, 1949 there were 2,579,515 boys and leaders enrolled.

President Truman personally opened the Second National Jamboree which brought 47,163 Scouts and Leaders to historic Valley Forge for a week of camping together in July 1950, when the Government honored the Boy Scouts of America with a commemorative postage stamp.

The Crusade to "Strengthen the Arm of Liberty" ended with a 33 per cent gain in membership and goals were met in leadership and program. In 1951, the United States was represented at the 7th World Jamboree at Bad Ischl, Austria by 700 Explorers. At this great convocation 13,000 Scouts represented 59 countries and colonial possessions.

In May, 1951 John M. Schiff of Oyster Bay, N.Y., succeeded Amory Houghton as President of the Boy Scouts of America.

Expanded development at the Philmont Scout Ranch at Cimarron, New Mexico, made possible new leadership training possibilities. The Ranch now attracts over 10,000 Explorers each summer from all parts of the nation for wilderness camping.

The three-year program, "Forward on Liberty's Team," was launched in 1952. That year Boy Scouts distributed more than a million posters and 30 million Liberty Bell doorknob posters in the Get-Out-The-Vote Campaign which saw a record turnout of more than 60 million voters.

There are 1,130,000 Boy Scouts who are members of 51,000 Boy Scout Troops in America.

There are 410,000 Explorers, older boy members of the Boy Scouts, in 12,000 Explorer Units.

There are 960,000 adult volunteer leaders in the Boy Scouts of America.

There are 1,200 Boy Scout Camps in the nation valued at 45 million dollars.

First Council Met In White House

President Taft became Honorary President of the new organization and at his invitation the first annual meeting of the National Council was held in 1911 in the White House. His successors in the White House have served as Honorary Presidents, and all have shown keen interest in Scouting.

Colin H. Livingston of Washington, D.C., became the first President, an office he held until 1925. Daniel Carter Beard was National Scout Commissioner, a post in which he served until his death in 1941, shortly before his 91st birthday.

Narcotics District Gets New Chief

DALLAS, Feb. 5—UP—Texas-Louisiana-Mississippi narcotics district headquarters had a new chief Saturday.

He is Ernest Gentry, 41, who smashed the international narcotics ring of notorious Waxy Gordon in 1932. He replaces Pliny Williams, who is taking an indefinite sick leave. Prior to his Dallas appointment, Gentry was stationed in San Francisco.

The new chief said from his observation in the port city an influx of drugs from Red China were America's greatest danger in dope traffic. "They don't come in directly," he said, "but shipments of narcotics, particularly heroin, are being made to ports of other nations and from these they are shipped to the United States."

Farmers Get More Time To Pay Tax

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5—UP—The Internal Revenue Service has announced a 15-day extension of the deadline for farmers to file 1954 tax returns and pay their taxes under certain circumstances. Farmers, like other income tax payers, are required to file estimates of their income in each quarter of a year.

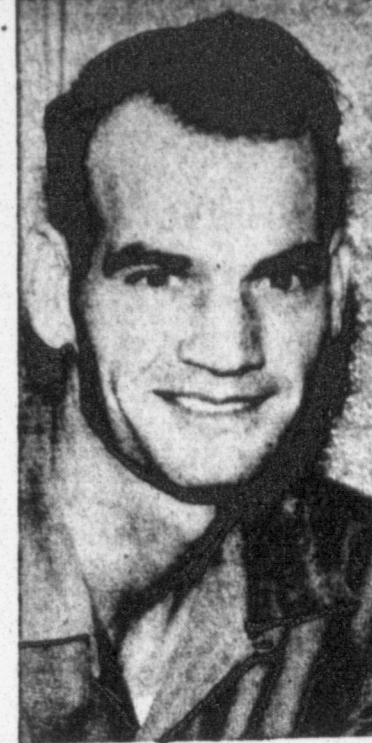

They need not file estimates, however, if they file a final return and pay their full tax by Jan. 31 of the following year.

The Jan. 31 deadline has been shifted to Feb. 15 this year. Last year's tax law makes the shift permanent, effective in 1956.

Civil Rights Bill Champ Criticized

INDIANOLA, Miss., Feb. 5—UP—An official of a pro-segregation organization criticized Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) Friday for his pledge to champion 11 civil rights bills during this session of Congress.

Robert B. Patterson, secretary of the Mississippi Citizens Council, questioned Humphrey's sincerity and asked if Minnesota would "welcome a few hundred thousand southern Negroes." Mississippi's population is 45 per cent Negro, Patterson said in a letter to Humphrey, while Minnesota has only five Negroes per 1,000 residents.

Shamrock Irishettes Unbeaten in District 1-A A Cage Play

MRS. LOUISE COFFMAN, Pampa News Correspondent
SHAMROCK, Feb. 5 — (Special) Shamrock's girls basketball team is raising a lot of eyebrows and the Panhandle area this season. The Irishettes have defeated one of the three teams they've lost to. McLean holds two wins over Shamrock while the Irishettes have currently own a perfect 6-0 record in District 1-AA competition. Tournament play has "jinxed" the Shamrock lasses this season. Three of their four losses this season have occurred in tournaments. The Irish gals have defeated one of the three teams they've lost to. McLean holds two wins over Shamrock while the Irishettes have currently own a perfect 6-0 record in District 1-AA competition.

Littler Top Prize Winner

CHICAGO, Feb. 5 — UP — Gene Littler, one of the golf world's young "comers," is off and running in the scramble for money winning honors after the first month of the winter tour, the Professional Golfers Association announced Saturday. The quiet youngster from San Diego, Calif., has banked $8,000 so far, mainly on the strength of his $5,000 win in the Los Angeles Open. Consistent Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N.Y., is second with $4,180 on his second-place finish in the Los Angeles Open and third in the San Diego Convoir Open. Johnny Palmer of Charlotte, N.C. is third with $3,750, Tommy Bolt of Houston, fourth with $3,095.25, and Shelley Mayfield of Chicopee, Mass., fifth with $2,551.25. Bolt leads the field in the Ryder Cup race with 443 1/2 points, while Palmer leads the Vardon Trophy race with an average score of 69.91 with a sparkling 87 strokes over 12 rounds. Other Ryder Cup leaders behind Bolt were Bob Toth with 408 5-12, Cary Middlecott with 364 1-4, Kroll with 338 9-12 and Jerry Barber with 303 1-2. Bolt is second in the Vardon Trophy race with an average of 69.33 followed by Fred Haas Jr., with 69.50, Mayfield with 69.53 and Kroll with 69.91.

Rookies Galore On NL Club Rosters

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Feb. 5 — UP — Call out "hey, rookie!" at any of the eight National League spring training camps next month and you might be trampled in the rush. The National League's freshmen crop will reach an all-time peak this spring when a total of 143 rookies shows up at the various training headquarters and goes all-out in an effort to "make the team." Of that total, 43 are rookies who were minor league all-stars last season, according to Dave Grote, manager of the National League Service Bureau. The Cubs boast the greatest number of minor league all-star rookies with 11 while the Dodgers have seven and the Braves and Cardinals six each. Promising Cub pitchers include John Andre, who had a 21-9 record with Shreveport and was the "most valuable pitcher" in the Texas League, Vince Amor, 18-11 with Oklahoma City. Karl Spooner of Fort Worth, the 23-year-old southpaw who broke in with successive shutouts last September, is the highest regarded Dodger rookie among the club's seven all-star "graduates." Even lowly Pittsburgh is coming up with four all-star minor leaguers, plus nine other highly-regarded rookies. One all-star is pitcher Bob Garber from Denver of the Western League. Cincinnati will have three all-star minor league players including outfielder Glen Garbous, who batted .283 at Fort Worth. Ramsey to Be Replaced BOSTON, Feb. 5 — UP — Fred Scolari was slated to replace rookie guard Frank Ramsey for the Boston Celtics during the next week. Ramsey, a star newcomer to the National Basketball Association, is sidelined with virus pneumonia. He had averaged 10.5 points a game. There are regular travel routes across the Sahara Desert.

After Durando Win Kid To Omit Rest Period

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 — UP — Kid Gavilan will omit a rest period between fights for the first time in his long career and return to camp Monday in search of more speed than he showed in Friday night's split victory over Ernie Durando. "I want to be much faster for Bobby Jones," said the former welterweight champion, whose whirlwind tenth round gave him his first comeback win on a split 10-round decision over middleweight Durando in Madison Square Garden. The Cuban veteran is slated to meet middleweight Jones of Oakland, Calif. at Miami on Feb. 23. That bout will be televised, as was Friday night's excellent fight, which attracted 6,208 cash customers and $21,956. Gavilan, who weighed 152 1/2 pounds to Durando's 160 1-4, had a much harder fight than expected. Durando went into the ring a 4-1 underdog, but he did so well a referee Mark Conn voted for him on a rounds basis, 7-3.

Wrestle Tag Team Champs To Appear Here Tomorrow

Bob Geigel of Iowa and Boris Kameroff of Connecticut, the newly crowned tag team wrestling champions of the Southwest States Junior Heavyweight territory, will demonstrate "how we got the title" in Monday night's main event at the Top o' Texas Sportsman's Club in Pampa. The two strong, rough-acting athletes go against a twosome of equal toughness, "Mad Man" Doc Gallagher of Bayonne, N. J., and George Overhuls, strong man from Amarillo. Overhuls, formerly a peaceful-like wrestler, has been doing the rough act recently and should be a fitting partner for Doc Gallagher. Until recently, they were bitter enemies, but they seem to have forgotten their personal troubles and have gone in together for tag team honors. The match, for two best falls of three or one hour, is not for the title. Gallagher and Kameroff won it a week ago in the finals of a four-weeks tournament at Abilene, defeating the famous James Brothers, Jesse and Johnny, in the Monday night's semi-final, two best falls of three or 45 minutes. Trudell, sly and cunning, and also strong, will create a contrast when he goes against tall, handsome Poffo, of Italian extraction. Poffo, however, has changed his styles, in dress and action. He's a "fancy dan" now with an elaborate wardrobe, in and out of the ring. He is also rougher than he used to be. It should be an interesting contest.

Pin-Money Styles Bewitch Valentine

NEW YORK — "Beguile your Valentine in pin-money fashions that go straight to the heart."

So says the February "Seventeen," which presents a nifty array of pretty, practical daytime clothes at small-money prices — surrounded by the lace frill of party and date dresses, also for next-to-nothing sums.

Featured in the issue are two complete spring wardrobes (including shoes, hats, handbags and gloves), each less than $75; one in wear-together shades of beige and orange, the other in varying intensities of blue.

The first budget spring wardrobe consists of a party dress, a suit, a date dress, a blouse and two skirts (one wide, one narrow), plus headband, earrings, gloves, bag, shoes and belt. For parties a billow of cotton organdy striped by apricot and white, and frosted with tating lace is suggested. Skirt foams out from under a streak of black patent. Featured suit is deftly tailored in cotton with velveteen touches. Jacket is shaped like a chesterfield that's been cut short at the hips. Skirt is taper-slim. Pointing out that there's no extra charge for brilliant color, the article shows a princess-style date dress in blazing orange, with rhinestone-centered daisies appliqued on its yoke.

Another spring wardrobe presents a coat that doubles as a dress, a three-piece suit and a date dress, plus accessories, all price-tagged at a minimum. Navy blue coat is cut smooth to the body above the waist, released into a freewheeling (crinolined) skirt. Date dress is a cool, water colored cotton on which blue flowers drift on a pale green sea.

Spring Preview From France Reveals Paris Style Is 'Blow Below The Belt'

By ROSETTE HARGROVE
NEA Staff Correspondent
PARIS — (NEA) — Brace yourself for a "blow below the belt" for spring from the Paris world of high fashion.

It's not from Christian Dior, perennial eyebrow-raiser and all-housette-shifter, but from Jean Patou, and "blow below the belt" is just what Raymond Barbas, Patou's director, calls it.

Barbas, who is also president of the Paris Fashion Designers' Syndicate, explains that the blow results in a flattened tummy, which brings new emphasis to the bosom above a smooth diaphragm. It also means that when fullness is used, it is thrown towards the back of the skirt.

As the Paris designers began lifting the veils on their new collections, Patou seemed to promise the most quotable style phrase. From what reports were available ahead of time, it is pretty certain no major revolution was in the offing.

In fact, the top designers appear unanimous in one respect — sunshine. Yellow, in all its most luscious, luminous tones, is the dominating color, probably inspired by the recent Van Gogh exhibition here. Navy blue seems to have ousted black, and women can look forward to a season of suave blues, greens and pinks, lots of reds and more white than ever.

Dior, who admitted recently he spent only two days working out his H-Line sensation, offered this cryptic statement: "Although bound by geometrical rules, yet because of the infinite variations in a woman's body, we shall see a sprightly mode ready to greet a capricious spring and a sunny summer."

In plain words, this means a logical evolution of the H-Line, hitting at, rather than revealing, the feminine figure. He has created clothes to "come down the street" — practical, easy-to-wear, beamed at the modern busy woman. A new technique of cut has enabled him to make even the slenderest skirt comfortable to walk in and sit in.

He has gone in for prints in a big way, especially an exclusive Dior splashy rose design.

Other forecasts: Hubert de Givenchy — pale, willowy and madly feminine styles with "a surprise in tailored suits;" hems set at "variable;" waist, hips and bosom, "natural;" generous décolletés for town dresses, "audacious" décolletés for evening.

Castillo of Lanvin — a "young" collection for the young woman, adapted from the "robe de style" theme created in the 1920's by the late Madame Lanvin with extremely diversified necklines as a point of interest.

Jacques Heim — "timid" shoulders, a free Balinese bosom-line with nary a whalebone, a "traveling" waistline and "indiscreet" skirts.

Pierre Balmain — a line called "Jolie Madame des Beaux Jours" (Pretty Lady of Happy Hours) which he says "is like a long-stemmed American Beauty rose (with) an aura of the beginning of the century;" smooth and slender hips with fullness, like Patou's, toward the back of skirts; flattering necklines; heavy use of stripes in all widths.

Jacques Griffe — functional clothes for the career woman who, he says, "more than any other needs to assert her personality;" a daytime line elongated like a piece of elastic to please the petite woman; plenty of hip interest; extremely romantic evening gowns with a definite new style; a preference for dots rather than floral prints.

Jacques Fath — bright, carefree and youthful with skirt lengths adapted to every style, says his ex-clover girl widow, Genevieve: "nothing has been changed" from the spring collection he was already working on at the time of his death.

After she has seen everything, she narrows her choice down to either the green or the blue.

Then she is in a real quandary. The clerk — and everyone waiting — has to listen to her debate out loud over the merits and the drawbacks of blue vs. green.

The debate is a draw and so she asks the advice of the clerk. Not satisfied with it, she turns to the nearest shopper and asks HER advice.

When she begins to wonder about all sorts of possibilities. Maybe if she waits awhile to make her purchase, the store will have a better selection.

Or perhaps she ought to bring a friend in and get her opinion. Then she remembers that she once had some material very much like what she is looking at that didn't wash well or faded in the sunlight, or whatever.

And she listens doubtfully while the clerk guarantees the product against all her fears.

Finally she decides that she should perhaps look a little further before buying.

If indecision makes people tired, the hard-to-please woman shopper ought to be the tireddest human being in all the world.

FLUID AND WIREWORM LINES — Dior's "H-line" of 1954 has now been taken over by Modelistes of France, young designer group which sells to the ready-to-wear trade all over Europe. Their 1955 spring look includes "fluid line" (left) as on "idea which has caught on" and the "wireworm line" (right) as a "shock-making notion."

Knitted Fashions Feature Sheaths

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Women's Editor
NEW YORK — (NEA) — The new custom-made look in medium-priced knitwear is one that's luring women who've never owned knitwear before to add at least one dress to their wardrobes.

Suits, dresses, coordinates and signs and details are the knitwear fashions to look for this year. There are concertina sleeves, boned collars for new contour neckline effects, pockets patterned with smoky pearls, Angora with a beaded trim look, sailor collars that softly drape in back, removable neckline bows. Belts are sculptured and trimmed to become an integral part of the fashion, often in accent colors.

Sleeve treatments included the three-quarter dolman, short dolman, raglan and there are even French cuffs with jeweled cufflinks. Skirts are wide and flowing or are tiered godet, four-gored, six-gored and classic rib.

An example is an after-five belted sheath in a grayed-blue banded in ribbon and with a scroll of ribbon trim at neckline. Another is a wide-skirted knit with sculptured top and short dolman sleeves. Both designs are by Sidney Gould.

Knitwear fashions are cut for misses, juniors and tall girls.

THE BLOW — Jean Patou offers this sketch as a preview of his "blow below the belt" line, which features the "flattened tummy" and "bosom emphasis." It also means that when fullness is used, it goes to the back of the skirt. Indications are, however, that this is no major style revolution.

Designer Oleg Cassini Considers Dallas Among Top Fashion Centers In Country

By ANNE LEE
DALLAS, Feb. 5 — UP — Fashion designer Oleg Cassini came to town this week with his dazzling spring collection in tow and declared, among other things, "I like Irish girls."

The handsome Paris-born designer, one-time husband of actress Gene Tierney and now romantically linked with flicker queen Grace Kelly, proved his prowess as a showman, as well as designer, while captivating overflow crowds at the luncheon-showing — one of his rare personal appearances at his own exhibits.

That was made, emphasized the suave, dark and thinly-mustached Cassini, because he considers the city of Dallas second in line of importance among style centers of the U.S.

Cassini also spoke up to say he likes his women on the "natural" side, explaining he agrees with fashion czars in rooting for the return of the female bosom.

"Most Unromantic" — The bound-up and flattened-out look presents a most unromantic and unnatural appearance to the feminine figure," Cassini said firmly.

The dynamic little designer classified clothing as only an "envelope for a woman" and takes great pains in keying his interpretations to the perfection of the feminine form divine.

"Fashion should reflect the happiness of living," he said. And it was noted the Cassini collection did just that.

Cassini believes American designers are more considerate of styles in their relation to the individual rather than in designing for fashion's sake, as their foreign competitors.

Male More Objective — He added the male designer is more objective in designing, since he would naturally be considering the total picture rather than its component parts.

"Clothes should be simple and functional," he said. The brilliant young style luminary was introduced to women's clothing design as a child in Italy and came to the United States in 1936 as a designer for Joe Copeland.

Within three years, his reputation had skyrocketed sufficiently to bring him a place as top designer with a major Hollywood studio. In the interim, he did a three-year stint of service for Uncle Sam at Wichita, Kan.

Diversified Interests — Cassini's diversified interests include skiing, tennis and riding... His "escapes" include the theater and the fight arena.

And how does Oleg Cassini like his steaks, ask his Texas friends? Rare, says he... or in his Paris-to-

Carver Students Form Social Club

A group of teenage students from Carver School and their mothers met recently to organize a social club. The name "Debutante Club" was chosen.

Officers elected were Dorothy Tucker, president; Willie Roland, vice-president; Mary Sanders, secretary; Bobby Jean Cobbs, assistant secretary; Nettie Tucker, treasurer; Virginia Frazier, historian; Jane Alice Harris, chaplain; Margaret Cash, parliamentarian; Ola Mae Lightfoot, reporter; and Margaret Faye Cobbs, chairman of the program committee.

Purpose of the club is for recreation, and for the girls to learn the rudiments of parliamentary procedure.

Texas interpretation, "quite blue, if you please."

For the information of his feminine fans, he'll take his perfume "on the heavy side." And if he was cornered for his favorite color, he would probably settle for blue.

Trademark of the Cassini success story might be his light approach to living and working.

"After all," he said, "you don't have to be dead to be a designer." And Cassini is very much alive.

French Start Production-Line Methods As Ready-To-Wear Industry Hits Paris

By ROSETTE HARGROVE NEA Staff Correspondent PARIS — (NEA) — For the first time, 14 million Frenchwomen who are not wives of millionaires can look forward this spring to buying a ready-to-wear dress styled by a big-name designer.

This minor revolution was staged a few months ago when the exclusive kingdom of the Haute Couture was considerably shaken to loose its most successful and talented members — the late Jacques Fath — had decided to create models for the French ready-to-wear industry.

Fath was among the first to realize that the time had come for the big-name creators to come down from their ivory towers if they wanted to survive. But the French ready-to-wear industry — although it has made considerable progress in the last five years — still has a long way to go before it can hope to equal that of the United States and other European countries.

LARRY FILKINS ... Was a Private Eye

2 Purple Hearts Vet

Announcer Sang With Berigan

AMARILLO — From featured vocalist with Bunny Berigan's famous band to buck private in the Army overnight was the unusual predicament Larry Filkins, KGNC's chief announcer, found himself in in February of 1942. And, from there things went from bad to worse, Larry recalls today. "Not that I minded very much," he says, "because I was just a kid — and probably a pretty obnoxious one at the time, but believe me, it was a rude awakening. I thought they'd probably put me in Special Services because I thought I was pretty hot stuff. I wasn't even dry behind the ears yet and I had been with Berigan since 1939 and had just finished cutting two sides for Bluebird under the name of Danny Richards, which was my stage name. "The nearest I ever got to special services was going to the USO. I wound up in G-2 (intelligence) with the First Division and caught the Africa, Sicily and Italian campaigns. Then I was sent back to England for convalescence and convalesced just in time to take part in the push through Belgium, France and caught 'The Bulge' with the Third Armored Division of the 83rd Recon group. And the interim adds up to just exactly two Purple Hearts for the genial gent who is the "Tello Test" quizmaster each week day afternoon at 1: 15 on KGNC. Getting back to his stint with the "I Can't Get Started With You" man — Berigan, which Larry doesn't talk about much anymore, it all started like this. Larry was 17 at the time and had progressed from drummer deluge who doubled as a vocalist in a college dance band while a freshman at Cornell University to a personal summer contract as featured vocalist at the Rainbow Room of an Albany Hotel. "It was during our late show one night when this gentleman calls me over and tells me that he is Bunny Berigan. I hate to admit it now but I didn't recognize his name right off. He told me that he was playing the RKO Theatre, was losing his male vocalist in a month or so, liked my voice and asked me to try out with him. "Not quite believing that somebody wasn't pulling my leg, I went to rehearsal the next morning (after absolutely no sleep, I might add), and was hired. His next job was as a "private eye," yes that's right, for a civic group in Denver, Colo. The civic group was out to break up gambling in Denver and even though they closed a lot of spots, the gamblers almost closed up Larry and he beat a "hasty and rather secret retreat" out of the Mile High City — upon pointed request of the big gambling boys. It was here that radio entered the picture. He served his apprenticeship with KSCB in Liberal Kan., winding up five years there as a program director. Larry Filkins joined KGNC on March 1, 1953 as chief announcer of radio and TV. TESTING . . . ONE, TWO, THREE. Honesty is put to a test on the Tuesday, Feb. 8 "People Are Funny" show (NBC 8 p.m. NYCT). Clownmaster Art Linkletter experiments with ten customers at a famous Hollywood supermarket to find out how many of them will return an extra dollar bill handed to them with their change by a cashier. Also featured on the show will be a test of a public speaker's "talkability" powers. To do this Link has a bewildered contestant recite the favorite nursery rhyme, "Mary Had A Little Lamb" while at the same time listening to his own voice through a stammering machine. Link explains that a stammering machine makes even the best orator sound as if he's stuttering. Sales Records Are Announced MIAMI, Feb. 5-UP—New all-time retail sales records were set by all five General Motors divisions during January, Harlow H. Curtice, GM president, announced Friday. Curtice, here for the opening of the General Motors Motorama of 1953, said GM dealers sold 261,393 cars during January, surpassing the previous record of 218,096 set in January, 1951.

Advance Work Heavy For Person-Person

By JACK GAVER NEW YORK, Feb. 5 — UP — There is a lot of advance work in getting those weekly "person to person" half hours on CBS-TV. The celebrities who are interviewed in their homes by Edward R. Murrow have to go through about two weeks of various preparatory steps if they live in New York City and environs. If they live out of town, the ground-laying takes four weeks. About 100 individuals work to get one of the shows on the Friday night air. The program on Feb. 11 will bring its 127th and 128th guests to the screen. They will be Esther Williams and Toots Shor—she in Hollywood, he in New York—all in the same half hour. This doesn't mean that Murrow is going to appear in both places; the jets aren't that fast yet. As a matter of fact he doesn't enter the homes of the subjects during the show, although there is the illusion that he is present. All of the time Murrow is in a CBS studio in the Gand Central Terminal building. He sits near a wall on which a "picture window" illusion is created. It is there that the image of the subject appears. The engineers blend the two images to create a composite that gives the illusion of the two persons being together in the same room. Preparing the homes for a "person to person" telecast requires the quick installation of a lot of equipment, including three or four TV cameras in the home, loudspeakers, etc. Each guest carries a battery pocket microphone concealed on his person. There is no actual rehearsal of a program, although Murrow does get together with his guests some days before a show to "talk through" the points to be covered. Dempsey Unpopular Jack Barry thought recently that it would be a wonderful idea to have as a guest on his "Juvenile Jury" program the former heavyweight boxing champion, Jack Dempsey. He thought his moppets would be pleased to meet the great man, but he dropped the idea before he mentioned it to them. The kids didn't know who Dempsey was. The judge mailed Brown a receipt for the money and set the famous blond's trial for Feb. 15 at 9 a.m. The telegraphic bond did not indicate whether Miss Monroe was responsible for posting the bond or whether someone did it without her knowledge. BOOK PATTERN

By BILL KERR Pampa News Staff Writer

Annie Oakley may not have learned to read until she was 16, but she had a versatility with a rifle that has never been duplicated. She was probably the only gal who was ever asked to shoot a cigarette from the mouth of European royalty. It was done at the request of the German Crown Prince, later Wilhelm II, Kaiser of Germany during World War I. According to eye-witnesses, Annie, at 30 paces, was reported capable of slicing a playing card with the edge placed toward her. As for other members of a deck, her marksmanship was such that she was able to put a half dozen holes in a card before it fluttered to the ground. Complimentary tickets, and theater tickets with holes through them are still called "Annie Oakleys" in tribute to her skill with firearms. Annie's lively career has appeared in a new biography "Annie Oakley of the Wild West" and Walter Havinghurst chronicles a fascinating career in the spirit in which it was lived. Annie skyrocketed to fame when in 1885 she joined Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show with which she toured for 17 years. In her many tours of the European continent she was always a favorite, and gained the applause of Queen Victoria who asked her to put on a command performance. Annie married Frank Butler, the man she defeated in a shooting match. Theirs was a life filled with domestic felicity. Butler gave up vaudeville performing to manage his wife's affairs. Herself childless, during her lifetime she aided and educated no less than 18 orphan girls. Annie died in 1926, 20 days before her husband. Hers was not just a story to provide material for folk-lore writers and fodder for pulp magazine publishers. Her private life, and her efforts in behalf of the many she befriended, makes her career one to emulate. Paul Wellman's "Glory, God, and Gold," a survey of 100 years of Southwestern history, has been in for some severe criticism at the hands of qualified writers and historians in recent weeks. Frank Waters in his recent review of the book in the Saturday Review of Literature throws several barbs into Wellman's historical scholarship, especially the Wyatt Earp-Clanton feud at Tombstone some 75 years ago, which paints Earp as the knight in shining armor against the forces of evil. According to Waters, "documented material in the Arizona Pioneer Historical Society shows Wyatt Earp to have been no more than a shady saloonkeeper, operating a good racket under the protection of a deputy marshal's badge; a man with an exhibitionist complex who was run out of Arizona under President (Chester Allan) Arthur's threat to declare martial law unless the Tombstone was cleaned up. . . . Yet Mr. Wellman insists on glorifying him." Wellman has attempted to depict the American Southwest through the amalgam of Spanish, French, Yankee and Indian stocks. Waters criticizes the book not only for its inaccuracies, but also for its glaring omissions. Wellman may have been found lacking in his objectivity in planning the major outlines of Southwestern history. There is considerable difficulty in confining between two covers so vast a field during so many years. But innumerable historical inaccuracies on his part help discredit the book. This is a charge which can be leveled against many writers today who graduate from their historical novels, and apply slipshod historical methods to their new ventures in historical writing. The trouble is that many of these writers who have built an outstanding reputation in the minds of the public in the field of the historical novel, gain acceptance by readers in their new field of history without any qualification. One well known novelist (historical) recently tried his hand at writing the history of French Canada. Historically it was somewhat of a fiasco, but as is often the case with much that is published, financially it will probably be a success. It is strange how man's reputation in one field will "osmose" over to another in which he lacks the training and the necessary erudition. What constitutes historical fact in novels, often will not stand up under the test of scholarship. The pudu, or rabbit deer, is the world's smallest deer. It lives in Chile and is less than one foot tall. Read The News Classified Ads.

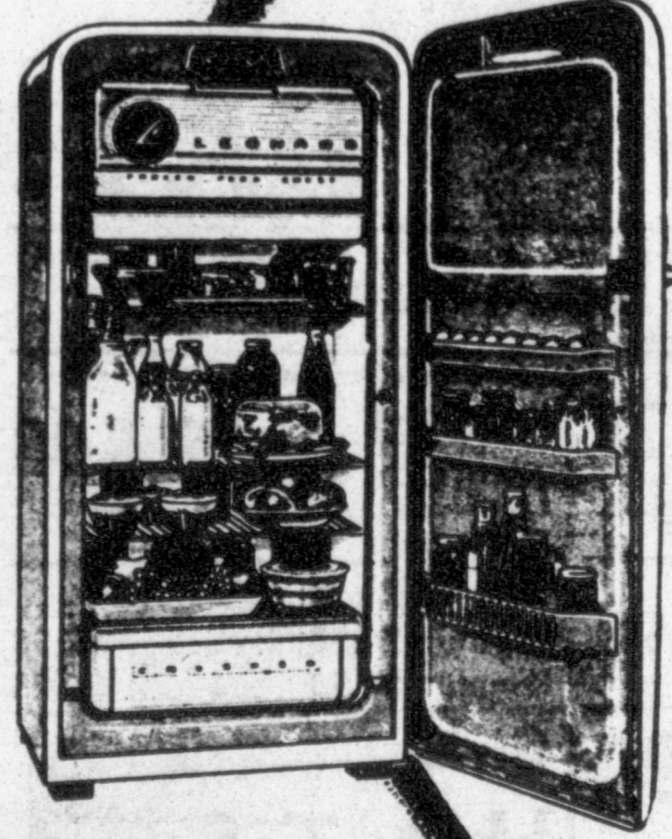

Group Wants Government Program To Build Up The Soil

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5-UP—The Inaak Walton League has jumped into the farm surplus fray with a proposal to build up the soil, bring food supplies in line with demand and eventually eliminate farm price supports. The "defenders of soil, woods, waters and wildlife" would have the government lease and remove from production enough cultivated land to bring farm production in line with consumer demand. The excess acreage would be turned over to pasturage or timber. The League believes that 60 million acres, including 12 million in the Southwest Dust Bowl, could be so leased at a cost to the government of $450 million a year. It said the plan would be a "bargain at $1 billion a year." Loss Is Taken The League pointed out that the taxpayers, through the Commodity Credit Corporation took a loss of $419 million on price support operations last year. They are expected to hit $748 million this year. Agriculture Department officials viewed the proposal with reservations. It is similar to the American Farm Bureau Federation's "soil bank" and the land retirement scheme of Melvin O. Steen of the Missouri Conservation Commission. Officials concede, nevertheless that the plan may come up for congressional scrutiny. Several members of the House Agriculture committee are interested. The objections of Department experts boil down to five points. Doubt Expressed There is doubt whether the leased land could be put back into production in an emergency. Idling land does not necessarily increase its worth, said one expert. He claims such contentions are not sound economics. Taking land out of production would not necessarily decrease overall output. Improved soil and planting practices have stepped up production generally. The food emergency may never come. Thus, a propitious time to halt lease payments would never occur. EUROPE'S FASCINATION — The Joan of Arc celebration (on the left) is one of the major festivals of Orleans, commemorating the patron saint of France. The small town of Fussen (on the right) is where Brazil attended wheel vehicle mechanic school, and got in his first licks on skis. The village is high in the mountains of southern Germany.

Pampan Home From Europe

You Leave Paris And You're 'Camping Out'

By BILL KERR

Pampa News Staff Writer Bobby Brazil returned from France only about two weeks ago after 18 months of European duty with the army engineers near Orleans, but he has had time to reflect on a government imposed European tour. His summation—Paris is without a doubt the most charming city in Europe, and any place out of the "city of light" on the European continent should be classed as "camping out."

But surveying his experience on the continent under conditions far removed from the college freshman tour — he's just plain glad to be back on the semi-arid Pampa Plains.

Brazil returned to the waiting arms of his wife, Ginger, and his one-year-old son, Nicky Joe, who was delayed in having his curls cut until "Daddy" arrived, and assumed his fatherly duties. Naturally he was delighted with seeing "Mom" who is Mrs. C. H. Brazil, 601 Lowry, and is anticipating getting in harness again as a roustabout for the Magnolia Petroleum Co., his former employer.

Bantering about some of the conclusions he reached as an observer of the French scene, Brazil turned to the prices charged GI's, which he said are largely influenced by our troops who determine the "going rate" by their own braggadocio.

"The only reason Frenchmen think Americans are millionaires is because the GI's tell them so kidding" — but they take it seriously and charge accordingly.

Joan of Arc
Brazil's outfit was stationed at

Orleans in glorified tents known as hutments. The city is 77 miles southwest of Paris. Joan of Arc raised the siege of the city by the English May 8, 1429 during the First Hundred Years war. Every year in July natives have a large pageant depicting St. Joan's entry into the city, according to Brazil, and it makes for a colorful spectacle to watch "including the armor of the knights of old."

But the joys of France as far as Brazil and thousands of GI's are concerned center in Paris "for Paris is everything."

To quote a seasoned traveler "you are Parisian, or else you are provincial." Just about 90 per cent of what is worth seeing in the Republic, according to Brazil, lies within a mile of the Ile de la Cite, which is the heart of Paris, on which is situated the Cathedral of Notre Dame.

Paris Has Changed
But the destruction of over 80 per cent of French industrial production, and the loss of 620,000 Frenchmen during the Nazi occupation have sapped much of the "joie de vivre" of the Frenchman, the returning serviceman said.

The Paris of F. Scott Fitzgerald, Harry's New York Bar, and the dean of ardent livers, "Pop" Hemingway, just isn't there anymore, though Brazil said he expects in time the Parisians will once again recapture the spirit for which they are justly famous.

"When you think of what those people went through it doesn't seem hard to understand their present attitude, toward life," Brazil said contemplatively, though his estimation of the French in general would not qualify him for a Gallic booster.

Lack Initiative
"Most Frenchmen lack drive, go-gettiveness. Three meals a day seems to be all they want out of life, and lots of fun making."

But with all its shortcomings, Paris to Brazil was the "jewel" of his European sojourn.

As for the hub of GI activities in Paris, according to Brazil, it could be no other place "than the 'joy spot' known as Pigalle — France's counterpart of Greenwich Village.

An apt description of the area known to those desiring the lush life Brazil said would be "narrow streets, numerous cheap hotels, with the cabarets featuring loud lights, thick smoke, and loud jazz music, usually American Jazz."

"But probably its main attraction is the fact that it is a happy hunting ground for servicemen on leave because no military police patrol the area — giving the boys an opportunity to hoot and howl and just kick it around without any military interference.

Three months in Germany training to be a wheel vehicle mechanic found Brazil studying another field of transportation.

Skiing in Germany
"Like any good Texan, I'd try anything once, even skiing. At Fussen near the Austrian border, I donned the old boards for my first trip on any ski slope. I came weaving down like a spider, and must have fallen four times. But it was pretty good for my first

Navy Renews Grad Policy

The Navy has reopened its High School Graduate Training Program allowing qualified high school graduates to enlist for one of four specific occupational fields which will insure them of attending a service school immediately following recruit training.

The announcement was made Saturday by Chief H. T. Johnson of the Amarillo recruiting station.

The occupational fields open for direct enlistment are electronics field seaman recruit, hospital recruit, airman recruit, and seaman recruit. Those qualifying for and enlisting in one of these fields will be assigned to one of 43 service schools that cover the four major occupational groups.

During recruit indoctrination the man will be tested, interviewed and counseled to determine to which school he will be assigned. His choice will be the main factor, but he will have to meet certain mental and physical qualifications in each case, depending on the school desired.

To qualify, an applicant must have completed high school or the equivalent, have had no previous military service and be able to meet the physical, mental and moral qualifications.

"ride" on skis, even though I made no more progress down a mile long mountainside than 150 feet."

As far as transportation was concerned from then on Brazil decided to stick to the "wheels." While in Europe he combined a 1932 Dodge body with a 1949 Frazer chassis and built himself a car with the help of a G. I. buddy.

"What did we use to make the front end?" Brazil said. "We made it out of plain old G. I. 90 oil cans. Then we really began our European tour, because what's an American without a car."

Wheeler County Gets New Well

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Irrigation in Wheeler County got a boost last week when an irrigation well producing an estimated 400 gallons of water per minute was drilled in on Dr. J. M. Gooch's farm 2 1/2 miles southwest of Shamrock.

The well is in the southwest corner of section 23, block 17, H&GN Survey.

Water was struck at a depth of 30 feet and the well was bottomed at 70 feet. It was drilled in Monday, pipe was set Tuesday morning and the well was put on the pump at 11 a.m. Tuesday. The estimated 400-gallon per minute production is expected to increase after the well has cleaned itself.

Colvin & Colvin drilling Contractors punched the hole about 20 feet from a gas well which they completed two weeks ago. A 22-inch drill was used, 16-inch casing was set and gravel packed. A 6-inch pump was installed.

Just as she has charmed this island's residents at the start of her four-week goodwill tour of Britain's Caribbean possessions, so has she been charmed by Trinidad's native music.

Secret Survey Made Of US Oil Industry

By HARRY WILSON SHARPE
WASHINGTON, Feb. 5-UP—The Census Bureau will shortly begin tabulating answers to the first business survey of the oil and gas industry in 15 years.

Early last month more than 30,000 oil and gas establishments were asked to fill out a searching questionnaire which pried into even closely-guarded competitive secrets. But all responses were classified as strictly confidential so none of the secrets would leak.

The survey was part of the first blanket census of nearly all business since 1939. The idea was to throw light on the industry as a whole so it can be fitted properly into the nation's economic mosaic. It will pay off later in marketing information of uncounted value.

Some of the more pertinent questions asked were:

What is the identity of our oil and gas holdings and the nature of their operations?
What are your company affiliations and ownership?
How many persons do you employ and how much is your payroll?
What are the man-hours of production by type of work?

Payment In Full
MT. AIRY, N. C. — UP—J. E. Davis, retired grocer, bumped into an old customer in a crowd of shoppers here. The man remembered "some business I've been meaning to take care of" and paid Davis on the spot $32 owed on an account for 27 years.

What are the costs of supplies, fuels, electric power, contract work, and machinery?

What was the horse-power rating of your equipment at the end of 1954?

How much are your capital expenditures and the cost of drilling oil and gas wells?

What is the rate of your crude oil and natural gas extraction?

What are your products and services?

The answers will go into a composite report which will show the current and prospective status of the industry. The report, in turn, will become part of the overall business survey which will include business-planning data of incalculable value to the industrial world.

The Bureau of Mines cooperated in the oil and gas survey since it already covers some areas with annual reports.

Businesses not covered in this census include transportation, communications, public utilities, real estate, finance, insurance, radio and television.

Trusting Soul
LOUISVILLE, Ky. — UP—Newman Smith's faith in human nature has been shaken by a motorist whose car struck him. The driver of the car asked Smith, 44, to wait at the scene of the accident while he went for help. Police found Smith the next morning sitting against a building still waiting. Smith was treated for minor injuries.

"The value of the census depends largely upon prompt, accurate reporting and speedy compilation and publication of the results," the Census Bureau said. "Businessmen need facts in developing markets, determining production schedules, and making decisions required by the ever-changing consumer demand picture. The census will provide the facts."

In all, more than 3 million business concerns are being surveyed. In addition to oil and gas, they include 275,000 factories, 3 million retail, wholesale and service outlets, and theaters, amusement hotels, motels, etc.

Forest Fires Set 15-Year Record

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Feb. 5-UP—J. O. Burnside, head of the Texas Forest Service's Fire Control Department, said Saturday there were more wild forest fires in East Texas last year than any year since 1939.

He said a total of 4,184 fires burned 116,734 acres of East Texas forest land last year. Only 25,000 acres were burned in 1953.

There were more than 100 fires in every month of 1954 except May. The worst month was February. A total of 797 fires were reported to have burned 51,997 acres—more than the entire 1953 total.

Burnside said much of the high loss in February was due to a wave of incendiarism in Southeast Texas.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5-UP—Alfred Magasiner, Austrian newsmen, has arrived in the United States for a three-month assignment as a special staff member of the Charleston (W.Va.) Daily Mail. SLEEPY TIME GAL—Ticks, an alley cat in Minneapolis, is earning a living as a photographer's model these days. At top left, the two-month-old feline faces the camera with considerable poise until she feels a bit tired and lowers her head, right. She's struggling to keep her eyes open, lower left, but the next photo shows that she lost the battle.

BORROWED FINERY—Well, rented, anyway, and husbands who rent tuxedos will be happy to know their wives can now do the same with evening gowns. A West Berlin fashion designer has a stock of 100 evening dresses which he's now renting to ladies who don't want to own a wardrobe of their own. Here, a prospective party-goer looks over some of the stock. The idea is proving very lucrative.

OBSTRUCTION—When something went wrong with the moving truck, this house was parked on a Kansas City, Mo., street for eight days. The snowfall did nothing to add to the pleasure of motorists who had to try to pass this "road block" to get to their destinations.

EVOLUTION—Robert Fiance, featured lecturer at the New York hairdressers' convention in Manhattan, is demonstrating the progress made in 50 years of permanent waving. At left is the "torture chamber" of early days, with the newest method beside it. The gal demonstrating the old-timer seems to be garbed in something milady wore in those days.

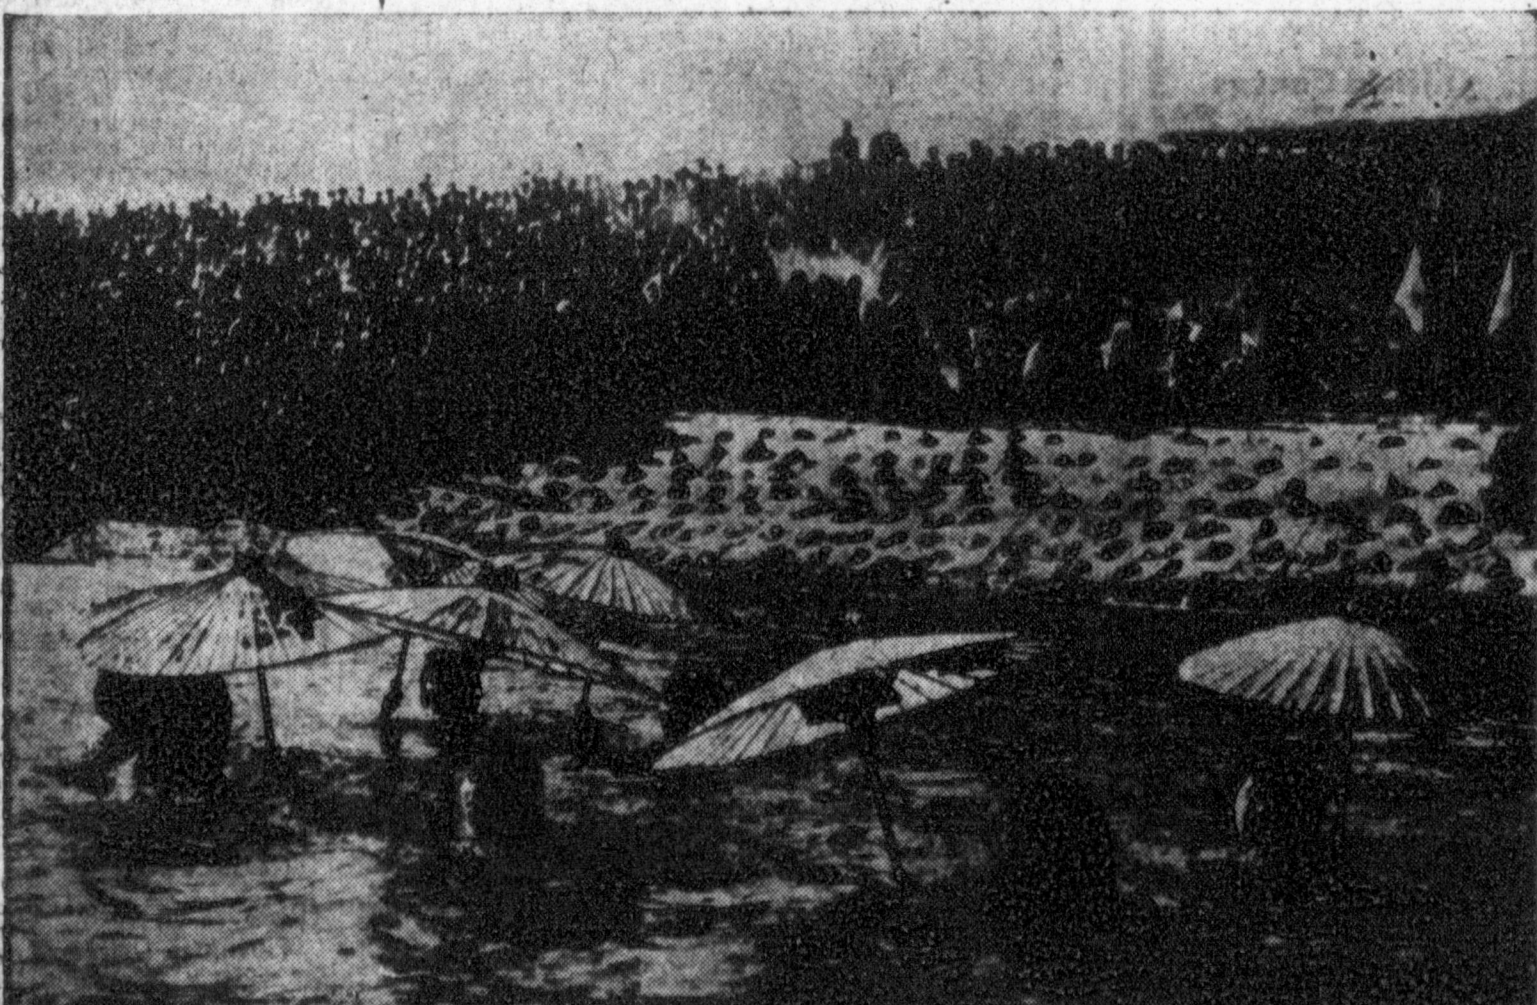

ROLLING IT — Marjorie Kneitzer, 15, used roller skates to cover the 13-acre Farm Show Building at Harrisburg, Pa., while caring for her heifer, Honey. Marjorie was among 4-H Club members showing their pets at the Pennsylvania Farm Show, and she found her skating technique helped her cover a lot of ground.

ICE TIME—A slip full of ice greets a ferryboat entering its berth on the Manhattan side of the Hudson River as it returns from a trip to New Jersey. River transportation takes on an adventurous sound as boats crunch through thick layers of ice on their runs.

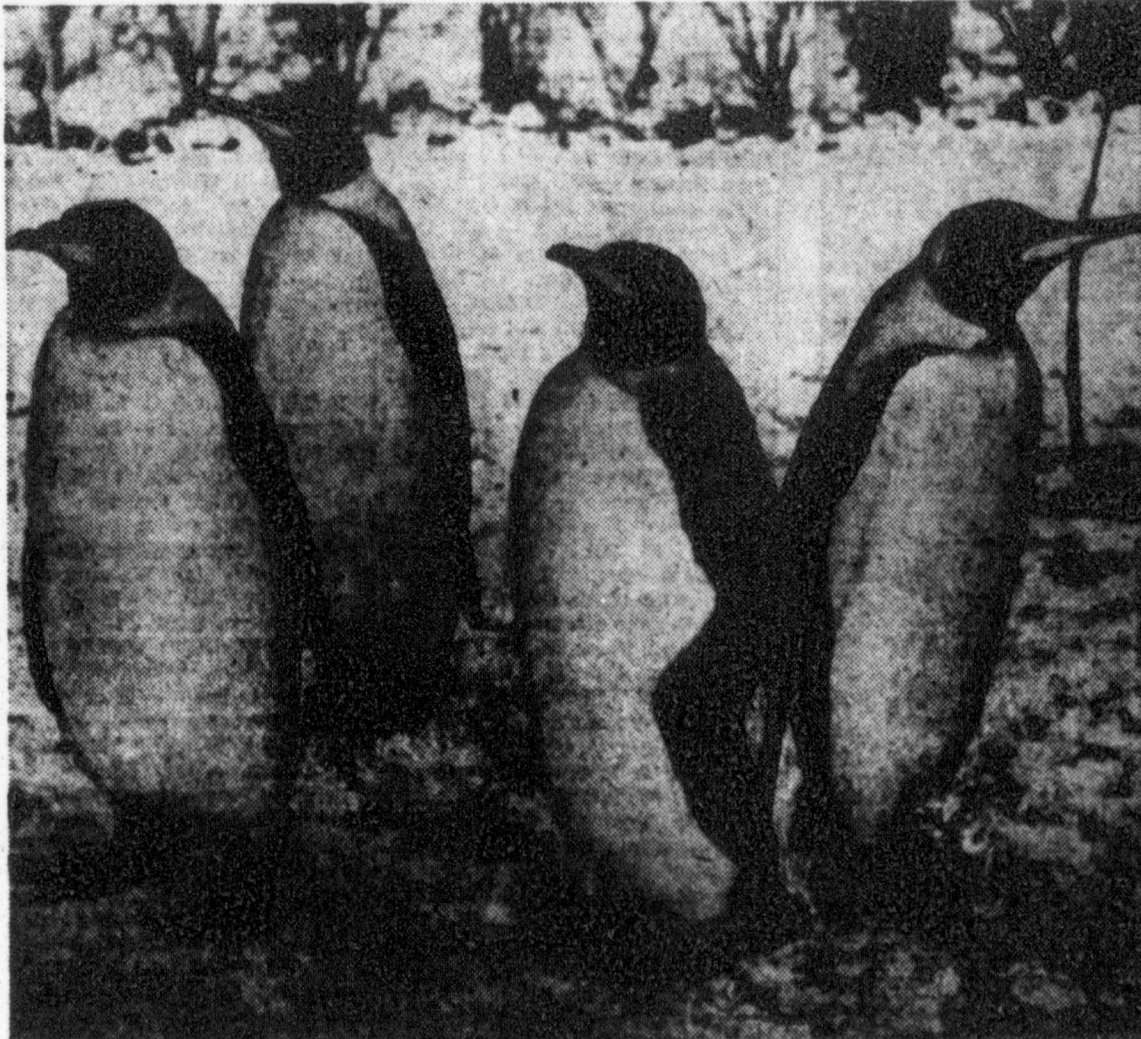

OUT OF THE SWIM—Donna Reed, another Academy-award winning actress, wore this leopard skin bathing suit when she relaxed beside a swimming pool in Palm Springs, Calif. Donna was taking a short vacation between Hollywood movies, but she's a treat for any camera that gets a shot at her.

TRICKY BUSINESS—A group of teen-age girls went swimming in the chilly, mid-winter waters of a river in Tokyo and held open umbrellas over their heads. About 50 volunteers participated in the demonstration, which was one of the events in an annual celebration. The swimmers certainly drew a large crowd to watch their aquatic maneuvers.

WAIT A MINUTE! — That seems to be what Candy, a French poodle, is telling the cameraman at New York's Idlewild Airport. Candy had flown here from Holland with his owner, pretty Kay Palmer, of Newark, N. J., who purchased the dog in Paris. He certainly wants to get into this act.

MAKING THE MOST OF IT—A three-inch snowfall is something King penguins enjoy, and this quartet at the Cleveland, O., Zoo are out in the open to welcome it. That white stuff on the ground makes them feel more at home than at any other time.

CHOIR TO SING HERE — Wayland College International A Cappella Choir and director, William E. Steward, who will appear at The First Baptist Church Saturday. On this tour the Plainview group is singing in Vernon, Quanah, Chillicothe, Hollis, Okla., Dumas, Perryton, Borger, Pampa, White Deer, Groom and Amarillo.

Famed College International Choir To Sing Here Saturday

Thirty-seven college students from six states and four foreign countries make up the Wayland College International A Cappella Choir, which will sing here at 7:30 o'clock Saturday at First Baptist under the direction of William E. Steward, chairman of Wayland's division of fine arts. They have all been selected by audition for this top traveling musical organization of Wayland College.

The International A Cappella Choir is in its seventh season of tours, which have taken the whole choir or ensembles to every Southern state and as far west as California. In 1952-53, a group spent six weeks on tour in Brazil and as a featured part of the Fourth World Baptist Youth Conference in Rio de Janeiro. One tour last season included a concert in Monterrey, Mexico.

The present tour will include concerts in Vernon, Chillicothe, Quanah, Childress, Hollis, Okla., Dumas, Perryton, Borger, Pampa, White Deer, Groom, and Amarillo. A second tour will be made in March which will include a featured appearance at the World Missions Conference in Fort Worth, and concerts in Haskell, Broadway Baptist Church, Fort Worth, Odessa, Midland, Big Spring, Lamesa and Brownfield.

Many invitations have had to be refused because the choir members are first students and second traveling musicians and cannot be absent from classes only a limited number of times during a semester.

High School students interested in becoming members of the choir can arrange for auditions while the choir is in their home town.

Accompanists for the choir are: Joe R. Abston, Houston, senior music major; Susan Logan, Lamesa, and Jimmie Malone, Clovis, N.M., both freshmen.

Koko Maeda, Honolulu, Hawaii, and Misako Hirabe, Yokohama, are two soloists who are also seniors and who are on their last tours with the group. Maida Esmerian, Corinth, Greece, and Samuel Hernandez, Monterrey, are junior soloists.

Others in the choir are: Karen Bruckner, Lamar, Colo.; Callie Roby, Avalon, and Bob Hartcock, Pasadena, Calif.; Lucy Roberts, Lenoir, N.C.; Janette Barr, Hope, Ark.; Janice Tankersley, Roswell, and Don Archer, Hatch, N.M.; Margaret Reynolds, Fort Arthur; Carolyn Smith, Alpine; Dorothy Webb and Earl Nance, Fort Worth; Ramona Meadows, Bob and John Allford, David Cartwright and Fred Brister, Pampa; Ann Workman, Kress.
