CANADIAN RIVER BRIDGE

The 100th and last concrete slab for the Canadian River Bridge, between Pampa and Perryton, was poured Wednesday. But there are still six more weeks of work before the structure is completed. Remaining to be done are two approach slabs, floor slab joint sealing, painting rig erection and the completion of air-walls and rip-rap protection. Dedication of the bridge will be May 5.

Romanian Partisans Hunted In Switzerland

BERN, Switzerland, Feb. 17—UP—Switzerland sealed its borders Thursday to prevent the flight of two Romanian anti-Communists who slipped away from the Romanian legation while their four companions held it for 40 hours.

The tiny nation shrugged off for the moment blasts from Moscow radio charging that U. S. intelligence agents organized the successful raid and that the Swiss were "negligent" in protecting the representatives of Communist Romania.

However Switzerland ordered a "discreet" plainclothes guard of all Iron Curtain diplomatic missions after two sharp protests from Romania and the propaganda blast from Moscow.

The Communist staff headed by Charge d'Affaires, Emeric Stoffel was busy repairing damage to the building and contents. Stoffel said he would invite the press in for a look as soon as police finish taking pictures of the damage.

Capt. Herbert Althoff, official police spokesman, said the anti-Communists smashed the legation files and tore up Communist propaganda and books but left valuables intact.

The strange cold war incident came to an end Wednesday when the three anti-Communists who had stormed the building and held it in defiance of police ultimatums gave in to the pleadings of a Roman Catholic priest and surrendered to authorities.

Authorities did not disclose the men's names and allowed them to cover their faces from photographers when they were escorted to headquarters. Police would say only they "are doubtless anti-Red Romanians."

No Confirmation of Rumor Rumors circulated here without official confirmation that a Communist chauffeur, Aurel Setu, killed in the initial assault, was in reality a captain in the Romanian secret service and actual head of the legation. The sources said his real name was Georgij Petrescu. The trio gave up 15 minutes after Msgr. Beat Lorenz Sekinger of the Bern Trinity Church entered the besieged legation and freed them from their vow to fight to the death for the freedom of five jailed countrymen.

A total of six Romanians were reported involved in the attack. Three surrendered Wednesday and a fourth gave himself up earlier. Two other men managed to slip away in the darkness.

Water District To Be Talked

An overflow crowd was expected in the county courtroom this afternoon for the discussion meeting regarding the establishment of an underground water district in Gray and eight surrounding counties.

Tom McFarland, manager, and W. L. Broadhurst, water engineer, both of the High Plains Water District, Lubbock, were scheduled to be the principal speakers at the multi-county conference of farmers, ranchers, business and city officials from Gray, Potter, Armstrong, Carson, Donley, Roberts, Hemphill, Randall and Hutchinson Counties.

A meeting Feb. 25 in Panhandle before the state board of water engineers will decide whether it is feasible to form an area underground water district. Two districts now exist in the High Plains, one north of the Canadian River and the other with headquarters at Lubbock.

If the district is found feasible, three proposals will be put to all those who have paid a poll tax, reside in the district and who have rendered property in the district for taxation.

The proposals are: 1. For or against the creation of a district. 2. For or against the levy of maintenance taxes not to exceed five cents on each $100 valuation of taxable property. (Under state law the maximum is 50 cents.) 3. To elect a director in each of the five precincts into which the district will be divided.

Gray County's 18 individual precincts may vote themselves in or out of the underground water district as separate units, when and if the election is called. A meeting has been called in McLean at 2:30 p.m. Friday in the vocational agricultural building. County Attorney Don Cain and County Agent Ralph Thomas will attend.

The House, after some 253 hours of noisy debate, voted 288 to 118 Wednesday to boost congressional pay from $15,000 to $25,000. But pending in the Senate is a pay increase bill already approved by the judiciary committee which calls for an annual increase of only $7,500. If the Senate sticks with the lower figure, it will be up to a conference committee to work out a compromise.

Pineau's Choices Back Out

French Cabinet Still Incomplete

PARIS, Feb. 17 UP—Two members of the Gaullist party backed out of Socialist Christian Pineau's newly formed cabinet Thursday, but he said he still planned to seek national assembly approval Friday as premier.

The two Gaullists were Gen. Edouard Cornigron-Molinier, slated as minister of justice, and Pierre Ferri, named as minister of posts and telegraphs.

The Gaullist party balked Wednesday afternoon at supporting the Pineau coalition but said the two men could go ahead on a personal basis. Thursday they decided to go along with their own party after conferring with party leaders.

Pineau had formed his cabinet early Thursday after many hours of conferences with political leaders. Withdrawal of the Gaullists threw last minute snags in his efforts to end the 13-day-old crisis, but he said he would try anyway.

He had planned to present his new list to President Rene Coty at 11:30 a.m. but the deadline came and passed and Pineau resumed his hurried negotiations.

Three other Gaullists were on the cabinet list and one at least may quit, too.

Pineau hoped to be able to present a full list to Coty before nightfall.

The assembly then will meet Friday and France will learn whether the suave writer of children's fairy tales has managed to end France's 13-day-old crisis and formed France's 21st government since the war.

Dulles Affirms US Will Defend Quemoy, Matsu

BET NO ONE'S INTERESTED IN WHY THE BOY DID IT

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 17 — UP — Edward C. Huff of Louisville, Ky., came to Norfolk on his first weekend pass after joining the Coast Guard and joined the Army.

Huff landed in the Army Stockade. He protested the Army could not rightfully hold him because he was a Coast Guardsman.

Military authorities straightened it out — Huff was transferred to the Coast Guard brig.

Blunt Statement Warning To Reds

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 — UP — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' blunt warning that Red China shall not shoot its way toward Formosa was equally a warning to the Western European allies of the United States.

Beyond that, it was a reassurance to the American people that the military might and diplomatic efforts of this country would not again be hog-tied, handcuffed and sewed in a sack, as in the recent Korean war.

Dulles spoke Wednesday night in New York before the Foreign Policy Association. He strongly implied that the United States would fight if Red China sought to make the near-shore islands of Quemoy and Matsu stepping stones toward the seizure of Formosa. It is confidently expected that this firm position will be badly received by the western European allies of the United States.

There was bipartisan congressional agreement but in varying degrees that Dulles did a good job in letting the Communists know where this country stands, even though he did not spell out every detail.

Chairman Walter F. George (D-Ga.) of the Senate Foreign Relations committee said Dulles made U.S. policy on Formosa "as clear as he could."

"Clear Indication" Chairman Styles Bridges (R-N.H.) of the Senate Republican Policy committee said the speech "clearly indicates our intention to assist in the defense of Quemoy and the Matus if they should be attacked as stepping stones for an invasion."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) was not as well satisfied. He said "we would be better off if we say bluntly that we are not going to defend the islands."

Rep. Alvin M. Bentley (R-Mich.) of the House Foreign Affairs committee said, however, that the administration "apparently wants to keep the Communists guessing."

Sen. Wayne L. Morse (Ind-Ore.), a persistent critic of the administration's Far East strategy, dissented. He said the speech "contained some doubletalk."

He acknowledged the split within the GOP. But he wrote off the anti-Eisenhower wing as "a few people who haven't caught up with the facts of life."

"These little groups don't trouble me," he said. "Every nation and every political party has them. But the group is small and will get smaller."

Fire Toll High In US, Canada, Japan

By UNITED PRESS

Roaring fires in the United States and Canada have killed at least 13 persons. In Japan 90 aged women died in the worst fire since World War II.

The nation's worst tragedy was at Baltimore, Md., where a three-story building's fire weakened walls collapsed on 20 firemen Wednesday night. At least one fireman was killed, five more were missing in the rubble and presumed dead, and 10 were injured.

In Montreal, Canada, 11 persons were killed and 10 were injured when fire destroyed a five-story, block-large apartment house during a swirling snowstorm.

John Wester Gunter, a 67-year-old paralytic was burned to death as he lay helplessly in his bed at Indianapolis, Ind., Wednesday.

The blaze at Yokohama, Japan, swept through a Catholic mission home for old women at dawn Thursday. Most of the victims were too feeble to flee and were burned to death near their beds.

Smaller Pay Hike Seen In Senate Vote

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17—UP—Democratic leaders predicted Thursday the Senate will vote a smaller pay raise for congressmen than the $10,000 annual salary hike approved by the House.

The House, after some 253 hours of noisy debate, voted 288 to 118 Wednesday to boost congressional pay from $15,000 to $25,000. But pending in the Senate is a pay increase bill already approved by the judiciary committee which calls for an annual increase of only $7,500. If the Senate sticks with the lower figure, it will be up to a conference committee to work out a compromise.

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), who is guiding the bill through the Senate, said "it will not have much opposition" and should clear the upper chamber next week or the following week.

Senate and House Bills also differ in their effective dates. The House measure is retro-active to Jan. 1 while the Senate bill would make the raise effective the first day of the month following enactment.

Quemoy Pounded By Red Artillery

TAIPEI, Formosa, Feb. 17—UP—The Chinese Communists broke a lull of almost four days in the Formosa Strait Thursday with a bombardment of the Nationalist island outpost of Quemoy.

The Communists, who have built up massive forces opposite the Nationalist held islands, fired more than 90 rounds of artillery at greater range than they had in the past.

The communistic Red gunners opened up from the nearby islands of Lienho and Tatung between 10:04 and 10:50 a.m. in the first shelling since Feb. 13 shortly after the evacuation of the Tachen Islands.

There were no Nationalist casualties, the announcement said. Nationalist sources said recent deployments in the coastal area indicated the Communists were preparing the way for the next stage of their threatened invasion.

Nationalist sources said the Communist action indicated the appeal to Peiping by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles for a peaceful solution of the Formosan crisis meant the appeal would fail.

Dust Dims Pampa View

Pampans today were scratching their eyes as dust-and-dirt started whipping around again.

The weather was chilly, though windy, in the Pampa area despite the fact that the mercury had risen to 51 degrees at noon from an early morning low of 33. The high mercury reading Wednesday was 55. Station KPDN reported.

United Press, however, reported that a new wave of cold air was due into the Eastern Panhandle and South Plains later today and Friday, thereby ending the summer-in-February weather. The forecast was for partly cloudy skies today and widely scattered thunder showers Friday.

A weak cold front that moved across the state Wednesday set off showers and thundershowers along the Gulf Coast.

Five-Day Bank Week To Be Law When Governor Signs

AUSTIN, Feb. 17—UP—Two legislative proposals, one permitting banks to work just five days a week, needed only the governor's signature Thursday to become law.

The bank bill, sponsored by Sen. Rudolph Weinert of Seguin, would make it optional for Texas banks to operate on a five-day work week, but take as holidays only New Year's Day, San Jacinto Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Also passed by the Senate and sent to Gov. Allan Shivers for his signature was a measure changing the name of McKnight Sanatorium, near San Angelo, to McKnight State Tuberculosis Hospital.

But the hottest debate during Wednesday's brief House session was over a measure by Rep. Joe Pyle of Fort Worth to regulate insurance securities in Texas by the state Board of Insurance Commissioners.

Not Enough Votes After debate, the measure was approved 105-35 on second reading, but did not get enough votes to permit immediate final passage Wednesday.

Present insurance stocks are not regulated by the state in Texas, and Pyle's bill would require "full and fair disclosure of the character of insurance securities." An amendment was added to let the board deny registration of insurance stock issues it finds are "valueless or worthless" or involve fraud.

Rep. Joe Pyle of Dallas tried unsuccessfully to amend the bill to let the insurance commission reject issues found to be unfair, unjust or unreasonable.

Pool Complains Stocks in general are currently regulated by the Secretary of State's office and Pool complained the insurance bill would set a double standard for regulation.

"If you have a standard over there in the Secretary of State's office, why have a different standard in the insurance commission?" Pool asked.

But Pyle said the proposed amendment by Pool would let "one employe say whether or not a stock would be issued."

In other floor action Wednesday, the House approved a resolution allowing emergency action on a bill reappropriating funds for construction of tubercular hospitals at Harlingen and San Antonio. The measure now goes to the Senate.

Committee action saw a bill banning sale of all types of fireworks in Texas, but exempting cap pistols, sent to a sub-committee for two weeks' study by the Senate Criminal Jurisprudence committee.

Subcommittee Gets Bill The House Agriculture committee sent to subcommittee for one week a bill by Rep. Gustin Garrett of Raymondville requiring marking of Texas grapefruit to distinguish it from out-of-state grapefruit sold in Texas.

The House Revenue and Taxation committee referred to the attorney general for a constitutional ruling a bill to exempt from taxation property owned by the American Legion, Disabled American Veterans, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Amvets.

IT'S THE LAW
★ IN TEXAS ★

(This column, based on Federal law, is written to inform — not advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without aid of attorney who knows the facts because the facts may change the application of the law.)

There is no time like the present, while last year's tax problems are fresh on your mind, to start a procedure that will add you with next year's income tax calculations. That is to maintain a record of your income and outgo. Such a record can be simple and brief but it may save you tax dollars.

The average man who works for a wage or salary doesn't have to concern himself about keeping books and records — at least so he thinks. His employer keeps a reliable record of his earnings and Uncle Sam looks primarily to the employer for information on his earnings and the withholding of various taxes out of his wages. But whether or not you run a business of your own, you have a partner who each year is claiming a substantial interest in your personal income. And the law requires that you keep books for him in case he ever asks for an accounting.

Perhaps you own your home or are paying it out in installments. It's likely that some day you may sell that house. When you do you'll want to be able to prove whether you realized gain or loss on that sale. If a gain on capital resulted, it probably will add to your income tax. If a loss was a ffered, it probably will reduce your income tax.

You may have made certain capital improvements on the house while you lived in it, but unless you can show what out-of-pocket expenses you incurred while making them, you may not get credit for them in your cost basis so as to prove that you have no capital gain or that you had a loss.

Or perhaps you received that little summer cottage on the lake as a gift from your father. If you ever sell it, you should be able to show Uncle Sam not only the cost of improvements you made on it while you owned it, but also what its fair market value was at the time Dad gave it to you.

It may be that you are receiving an annuity on an insurance policy. If so, do you know how much that policy costs you and how much of that cost you have recovered tax-free to date?

There are many kinds of transactions you enter into that may some day affect the computation of your personal income tax. The best proof of the cost of anything you've purchased is a receipted bill or canceled check. If these pieces of evidence relate to any transaction that may affect your income in later years, it's a good idea to keep it. Your partner may some day ask to see it.

Russ Seen Ready For Military Rule

By LEON DENNEN
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — Russia is heading for a military dictatorship with Marshal Gregory Zhukov as the possible Red Napoleon. This is the consensus of U. S. intelligence authorities watching the Kremlin struggle for power.

How soon the collision between Khrushchev and Zhukov will come is anybody's guess. A top U. S. official told NEA Service.

George Malenkov gained the premiership of Russia after Stalin's death by playing closely with Lavrenti Beria, ex-vice chief of the secret police. He betrayed Beria to make common cause with Nikita S. Khrushchev, who heads the Communist Party, and Marshal Zhukov, who is today the most popular leader in the Red Army.

This is the traditional Kremlin pattern. Stalin alternately used Gregory Zinoviev against Leon idols and later Nikolai Bukharin against Zinoviev to become the absolute dictator of Russia.

With Beria dead and Malenkov in disgrace, the coming struggle for power — as U. S. intelligence sees it — between the two remaining power forces in Russia — the Red Army and the Communist Party. During Stalin's life the Red Army was subordinated to the party.

Stalin even exiled Zhukov into obscurity after he led the Soviet armies to victory in Germany. Lately the Red Army has taken a leading role, with Zhukov not only a soldier but also a politician.

The choice of Marshal Nikolai Bulganin — half soldier and half politician — as premier is seen by intelligence sources as at best an uneasy truce between the Party and the Army.

Malenkov is seen as not likely to meet the bloody fate of Beria. Beria's secret police are disorganized and the party machine and Red Army are against him. Malenkov has become merely a bloated second-rank bureaucrat whom none even fears.

Temperatures also soared into the 50s in Colorado and Wyoming, but a fresh blast of cold air turned Bemidji, Minn., into the nation's ice box with a one degree below zero reading.

A band of showers early Wednesday stretched from Illinois through Minnesota into Arkansas, Wisconsin, got three inches of new snow.

Disc Jocks
Carry On Marathon

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 17 — UP — Two disc jockeys carried their marathon broadcast of the same record past the 48-hour mark Wednesday and vowed to continue until the author appeals in person for them to stop.

Disc jockeys Bill Stanley, 31, and Bill Elliott, 38, now reinforced by a "hostage" program director and armed with a tape recording, reached their goal at 6 a. m. but kept on playing the record in their barricaded transmitter room.

The staff members of radio station WNOE had played the blues and rhythm tune, "Stiggy Boom" an estimated 1,200 times since they began the marathon at 6 a. m. last Monday.

Program director Bill Stewart, 27, purported "captivity" of the intrepid disc jockeys, said they were going to continue playing the record until they were asked in person by its author to stop.

Stewart said disc jockey Al Jarvis, who wrote the tune, was arriving by plane from Hollywood after pleading with them "not to continue" but, incidentally, also to bring them fresh records.

The disc jockeys, all but forgotten in the city's Mardi Gras revelry, played "Stiggy Boom" an average of 23 times an hour with five-minute breaks for commercials, news and ad libbing.

Nugent Trial Witness Speaks Favorably Of Accused Major

FORT SILL, Okla., Feb. 17 — UP — A major testified before a general court martial board Wednesday that Maj. Ambrose Nugent organized his first "committee" in a North Korean prison camp reluctantly and after a senior American officer told him to go ahead.

Nugent is being tried on nine counts of collaboration, part of which concern the formation of "peace" committees and signing "peace" leaflets and soliciting the signatures of other American POWs.

Maj. Marian Green, 43, a stocky career officer from Lawton, Okla., near Fort Sill, said the first committee was organized after a winter in which 350 of 700 American prisoners were murdered, starved or died unattended of various illnesses.

Suggest Letter
The North Koreans suggested, he said, that if the POWs would write a letter to Kim Il Sung, president of North Korea, and tell him they would like to form a "committee," they might get better living conditions.

He said they asked Nugent to write the letter and take over the committee because he'd been a POW longer than any of the others. He was reluctant, Green said, and finally Lt. Col. John J. Dunn (then a major) told him to go ahead and see what they've got.

Nugent finally agreed to organize a committee, he said, when the North Koreans promised to give the POWs seed so they could try to raise food for themselves. Shortly after that, they held the first "peace" meeting in Camp No. 7.

Green said that on an eight-day POW march from South Korea deep into North Korea in November 1950, Dunn, as senior officer, told him and Nugent to lead the columns of POWs and march as slowly as possible.

During the eight days, he said, they lost 80 men, most of them murdered by the North Koreans for being too weak to walk. When the march ended, they were shoved into a small schoolhouse.

Men were dying every day. The ground was frozen too hard to dig graves and the other Americans shoveled the bodies in old foxholes and covered them with brush.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

There's No Quarrel With Real Success

Today's remarkable hand was played by Dick Kaplan, of Asheville, N. C., one of the fine younger players of the Southeast. I find myself starting in some surprise at Dick's jump bid of three hearts, which I consider an overbid, but I am not one to quarrel with success. It got Dick to an unsound but very interesting contract which he proceeded to make by very fine play.

West opened the three of spades, and Kaplan naturally won immediately with dummy's ace. His next step was to lead the king of clubs from dummy in order to knock out the ace. East stepped up, properly enough, with the ace of clubs and led the king of spades to make declarer ruff.

Having arrived in his hand, South led a trump towards dummy. West properly played low since he expected to win two trump tricks after dummy had taken the ace and the jack. Declarer naturally finessed dummy's jack of hearts, and East followed suit with the ten.

The ten of hearts was a very revealing card. It seemed unlikely that East would be false-carding with so important a card, so Kaplan decided to "believe" it.

The count of losing tricks was now: one club already lost, two probable trump losers, and one probable diamond loser. This counted up to one trick more than South could afford to lose.

After some thought, Kaplan cashed dummy's queen of clubs, ruffed another spade, cashed the jack of clubs, discarding dummy's last spade, and then led out the two top diamonds and a low diamond.

When the third diamond was led, East naturally played the queen. West couldn't afford to ruff, since then he would surely make only one of his trump honors; so West had to discard his last club and let East hold the trick.

At this stage all hands were reduced to three cards. East had two spades and a club. South and West each had three trumps. Dummy had two diamonds and the ace of trumps. When East led one of his black cards, South played the seven of trumps, and West was caught in a "smother" play.

If he overruffed, dummy would win with the ace of trumps; and if West ruffed low, South's seven of trumps would hold the trick. In either case, West could win only one trump trick and could not defeat the contract.

"So many people think there's a mystery to writing songs," says Arthur Schwartz, one of the greatest song writers we have. "Maybe because I do it, I don't think it's mysterious. I think there's a mystery to painting a picture."

Art Linkletter has always been a fast man with a quip. But perhaps it is not so well known that Linkletter is also a fast man with a spoon.

Linkletter, his wife, Lois, and I had lunch together. When it came time for dessert, as if by prearranged signal Mrs. Linkletter ordered vanilla ice cream and Art asked for deep-dish cherry pie.

As we talked, Art's spoon, like a striking cobra, flashed out and transferred his wife's ice cream, bit by bit, to his pie. It was a well-executed maneuver. Art had cherry pie a la mode a la larceny.

Over and above this display of table trickery, Art Linkletter talked about some other tricks — the tricks of his trade.

"I guess I'm a successful interviewer because I've learned the tricks," he says. "One trick is to listen to what people say. It sounds simple, but I've heard some interviewers who didn't know it. They'd have a guest who said, for example, that he just spent a year with the headhunters of Zanzibar. And the next question would be, 'Well, how did you meet your wife?'"

"Another trick is to look the person straight in the eye, so their attention doesn't wander, so they ignore the audience and the camera and are put at ease."

What Linkletter modestly calls "tricks" is actually a technique of interviewing on radio and TV that puts him head and tonsils over his competitors. On his two shows ("People Are Funny" on CBS-TV and "House Party" on NBC-TV) he's mastered the knack of making his guests relax without in any way embarrassing them.

He is currently so successful that he's able to lead the life of Linkletter — he's one of the few TV stars who has a straight nine-to-five, five-day-a-week job. He has breakfast and dinner with his family every day. And he's a happy man.

And, as long as he has a spoon within reach, he'll never go hungry.

When a woman's son becomes a star, no telling what it will do to her. In the case of Richard Oneto's mother, it's done a lot. Oneto is the tenor in "Kismet" and his mother, now 80, lives in California. With her son in a big hit, she's suddenly stage-struck. She's just subscribed to Variety.

Bill and Cora Baird, those magnificent marionettes steal every show they're on, contribute this little fact to your general store of knowledge:

The average marionette has 13 strings, and it takes from three to five hours to fix the strings properly.

See if you can figure out where each of the 13 strings is attached.

Don't sneer at country music. Fran Warren says she can sing anything "except hillbilly."

"It takes a certain kind of foie to sing those songs," she says, "and I haven't got it. Hillbilly music is tough to sing."

Masons Give Housewife Needed Blood

DENVER, Feb. 17.—UP—A 36-year-old Texas housewife began the long trail to recovery Thursday after 10 Masons gave rare blood so she could survive four hours of long surgery.

Mrs. Doris Grayson of Weatherford, Tex., was slowly bleeding to death through a tuberculosis-ravaged lung lobe because her type O-negative blood—which occurs in only six per cent of the population—lacks the Factor 7. This blood fraction causes coagulation.

The Texas housewife and mother of one child received 10 pints of blood donated by Masons while a team of surgeons at the National Jewish Hospital opened her chest and cut out the damaged lobe Wednesday.

The donated blood coagulated normally, but only for an hour or so after being transfused into Mrs. Grayson's circulatory system. The surgical team, which included hospital residents from Thailand, Argentina and Japan, also used artificial coagulants to stem the flow of blood through the incisions.

Achesons Are Truman Guests

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 17.—UP—Former Secretary of State Dean Acheson, here for a visit with former President Truman, conceded there has been improvement in the Middle East under the Republicans but said he foresees danger in the European area.

Acheson said Wednesday he considers Europe the "focal point" in the United States' struggle with communism, and he feels the Western European situation has "deteriorated badly since Mr. Truman left office."

Alaska-Hawaii Bill Possible

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—UP—Key statehood supporters expressed cautious optimism Thursday about getting the tandem Hawaii-Alaska statehood bill to a House vote.

This hope was based on indications that Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) may not order the bill locked in the rules committee, although he still finds it personally objectionable.

Heiress, Servants Killed In Crash

HAVANA, Feb. 17.—Mrs. Ruth Danziger Guerra, 37, the daughter of Fort Worth millionaire Jack Danziger, and two Cuban servants were killed Wednesday in an automobile accident.

The Cadillac Mrs. Guerra was driving overshot a curve on the highway and plunged 80 feet into a dry river bed. The gas tank burst and sprayed a trail of flame from the road to the river bed.

Service Station Is Burglarized

A break-in at the Hall and Pines Fire Co., 700 W. Foster, sometime Wednesday night or Thursday morning was reported today by Police Chief Jim Connor. Nothing was found to be stolen.

The break-in was effected by smashing glass in the east door at the back of the building. The inner entrance to the front of the store was locked.

Veterans Land Probe Back In Spotlight

AUSTIN, Feb. 17.—UP—A double-barreled investigation of the multi-million dollar veterans land program was to resume Thursday with a Senate committee scheduling a morning hearing and a House group subpoenaing six witnesses for an afternoon session.

The House panel issued 15 more subpoenas Wednesday, bringing to 55 the number it has ordered to testify.

Meanwhile, Attorney General John Ben Shepperd filed an eighth suit Wednesday in an effort to recover money paid under the veterans land program. The latest suit was against B. H. Holsomback and H. R. Stallings of Crystal City, seeking $76,790.

It brings to $1,488,790 the sum now sought by the state from "black deal" land transactions.

The Travis county grand jury also figured in the land program Wednesday as District Attorney Les Proctor summoned 20 persons to appear before the jury panel Friday. All are present or former employees of the Veterans Land Board or the General Land Office.

Boys Dig Up Man's 'Bank'

HOUSTON, Feb. 17.—UP—Three young boys playing at "digging for treasure" in a backyard found one—a buried coffee jar with $550 in it.

To the boys, Steve Matajek, 8; Richard Owens, 11, and his brother, Douglas, 9, it was "more money than we'd ever seen."

To Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Forque, it was the loss of their life savings.

Bowers Bridge Almost Finished

The Bowers City Bridge, just on the Pampa side of Bowers City, today was 81 per cent complete.

The state highway engineers reported that only four of 20 concrete slabs remained to be poured. Workers will have to wait warmer weather before asphalt work can begin.

On U. S. Hwy. 66, workmen are still moving in dirt, engineers said. The job is only 7 per cent finished. The work on U. S. Hwy. 60 is shut down until mid-March, they concluded.

Networks Wonder Which Is Best -- Live Or Filmed TV

By ALINE MOBBY
HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 17 — UP— Television's biggest controversy, Friday is whether viewers prefer their shows live or on film, with the anti-live group collecting TV "blooper" as ammunition.

Networks admit the trend for filmed shows is growing. Jackie Gleason and George Gobel plan to try filming their programs. Donald O'Connor and Eddie Cantor already have encased theirs on celluloid, and one New York dramatic program, "You Are There," has moved to Hollywood to be filmed. But many of the big programs still are live, resulting in fluffs that provide lively conversation in parlors of the plaster city.

One actor moans that a microphone boom crashed to the floor in the middle of his tender scenes in "The Penny Serenade" on the Lux Video Theater. On the U.S. Steel Hour's production of "The Boyeman," the camera showed Celeste Holm silent, but a pre-edited line of her dialogue had her yelling, "Tony, the cane!"

The prize for the most noticed fluff goes to a "corpse" who got up and walked away in the middle of a Kraft theater dramatic program.

One live TV director here admits, "on live shows you deal with human beings and we can't eradicate all their errors."

Viewers chuckled the night veteran movie star James Mason forgot the name of the star he was introducing on the Lux show. On "The Hit Parade" veteran singer Snooky Lanson couldn't remember the words to a Christmas carol.

One local TV columnist suggests an award be given to the actor who can parlay a fluff into a successful piece of business on the show.

On a recent Jackie Gleason epic, for example, the comic slammed a door so hard it jammed. Art Carney, due to enter the scene, couldn't get the door open. He gracefully climbed through the window. This quick recovery, however, was marred by the fact he forgot to open the window but stepped through the glass-less frame, to the giggles of both audience and cast.

Comedian Steve Allen once was demonstrating an "unbreakable" fibre-glass chair by hitting it with a hammer. The chair broke.

"This must be a fibreglass hammer," he quipped. The pro-live program supporters, however, insist such fluffs "give the show spontaneity and excitement." "On live dramatic shows you have story, performance, drama and background noises," says one network executive. "On film show you have no story, no performance, no drama and no noise. Which do you want?"

Missouri Bank Robbed Of $50,000

PINEVILLE, Mo., Feb. 17 — UP— Three men held up the Corner Stone Bank of Southwest City, near here, shortly before noon Wednesday and escaped with approximately $50,000, the state highway patrol reported.

James Cantrell, assistant cashier, said the bandits entered the bank about 11:15 a.m. None was masked.

While one man approached Cantrell's window, the other two herded four other employees and three customers to the rear of the bank. Cantrell was ordered to open the vault but protested, in a stall for time, that it was operated on a time lock.

Cantrell then was taken to the rear of the building and another assistant cashier, Clay Wilson, opened the vault when the bandits threatened to shoot him. Officers said the three left in a 1933 or 1934 black four-door sedan, probably a Ford, and headed north in the direction of Joplin. Roadblocks were thrown up in the area immediately. The Oklahoma highway patrol was alerted. Southwest City is in the extreme southwest corner of Missouri, almost on the borders of both Oklahoma and Arkansas. It is 80 miles northeast of Tulsa.

Minister's Wife Found Bludgeoned

HOUSTON, Feb. 17 — UP— A tiny, 46-year-old widow of a Baptist minister was found murdered — her body kneeling with the brutally-beaten head hanging over the rim of a bathtub — in her home in a quiet residential section of North Houston Wednesday.

The victim was Mrs. Lucille Quarles, a widow of a woman who lived alone since her husband, the Rev. L. B. Quarles, died some 15 months ago.

Police did not immediately determine if she had been criminally assaulted. The body was fully clothed except for shoes. Police said she apparently had struggled "furiously" with her assailant.

Police Detective George Chapman said hairs and tiny bits of flesh were found beneath Mrs. Quarles' fingernails. He declined to say immediately if the murder weapon had been found in the house.

Chapman said Mrs. Quarles apparently had been killed in another part of the house and her body carried to the bathroom, where it was placed by the bathtub to allow blood from the beaten head to run into the tub.

Chapman said "the whole bathroom was splattered with blood and there was blood in the kitchen sink, indicating that someone washed their hands or the murder weapon in the sink."

The body was found by another Baptist minister, the Rev. O. C. Edwards, a close friend and neighbor of Mrs. Quarles, who remained active in church work since the death of her husband.

CLIMB OF COURAGE

Backing agonizingly up the steps, Mary Susan Evans, of East Spencer, N. C., was doing one of the hardest things she will ever have to do in her life. Recovering from polio, she was learning to walk again with braces. Mary Susan is a symbol of an unusual demonstration of courage in adversity. She represents the institution in which she is being treated. The Central Carolina Convalescent Hospital, Greensboro, N. C., was built in a record 94 days with money subscribed in 42 days during the polio epidemic in 1948. Valued at six million dollars, it has handled 1266 patients. It is one of the few in the country to take care of the whole scope of polio from early phases through rehabilitation.

Ex-Representative Asked How He Likes To Be A Senator

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17—UP—"How do you like being a senator, senator?"

That's the way the interview started.

The 62-year-old senator from Iowa, Thomas Ellsworth Martin, said he liked it fine.

Tom (I've called him that for 24 years) moved over to the Senate this year after serving a long hitch in the House.

It had been a long time since I had seen the big, now gray, hunk of man. When I was going to the University of Iowa he was weight coach. Tom, as a fledgling, could side-wind a 25-pound weight farther than almost anybody.

Tom, who would rather talk about track than politics, almost asked me if I remembered how he became a weight coach at Iowa. I sure had heard about it. It was in 1921 when Tom was around Iowa City, his home, thinking about digging into law books.

One day he went out to watch the javelin boys and the shot-putters and the weight-lifters perform. He told the coach that the swings of the 25-pound hammers were letting go without making a proper whirl-around.

"Let me show you," said Tom. He did and came within a couple of inches of setting a new outdoor record.

So naturally they tapped him to be coach.

Tom Martin, former mayor of Iowa City—and that's how he got into politics—has two favorites among the men he coached.

One was "Spike" Nelson, who was an All-America tackle back in the early 30's, and another great Iowa athlete, the great Negro runner Duke Slater, who was a little ahead of "Spike."

"Both were fine weight men," Tom told me, as if I didn't know from watching. "Duke was one of the best co-ordinated athletes I ever saw, and 'Spike' wasn't far behind."

Sen. Martin has been round the Capitol for quite a spell now and he works as hard as the next one. He is proud as punch of his grand-sons, and he ought to be. They are all lovely—all nine.

"Getting old, Senator?" "Well, I'd like to think I'm not," he answered.

But maybe the wonderful guy is. Not too long ago he and a bunch of other biggies from Capitol Hill challenged the Marine lads at Quantico for a game of ball. Tom hit a long ball. It should have been a double. By walking fast, our man made it to first. And through the aid of teammates he got to third. Then a smoking double went through the short-stop's legs.

run on my hands and knees," the senator said. "Could have made it around the horn on my own hit 20 years ago," he said.

Yank Saves Mexican Baby From Death

MERIDA, Mex., Feb. 17—UP—A Pennsylvanian injured while saving the life of a Mexican baby as a bullring stand collapsed remained in a "delicate" condition, but said Wednesday he expects to fly home to Philadelphia in little more than a week.

A 10-year-old girl, two women and a man still were reported in serious condition from the Sunday disaster that killed 16 persons and hurt another 168. Police blamed the mishap on four days of rain that weakened the wood and straw bleachers.

The American tourist, William H. Maxwell, 40, received multiple fractures in his right foot when he jumped 13 feet holding the baby as temporary stands gave way.

Maxwell, vice president of the Hutchins Advertising Co., said Tuesday he would fly back to Philadelphia in "nine or 10 days."

He was operated on Sunday night and Dr. Fernando Gusman Espinosa said his condition was "still delicate but satisfactory."

Mrs. Margaret Maxwell said she and her husband had gone to the holiday bullfight with Mr. and Mrs. Bond Perry, also of Philadelphia, and were seated high in the flimsy stands when they started to crumble. "We all leaped together, Bill holding the baby," Mrs. Maxwell said. "The Perrys and I were uninjured."

"Bill's right leg doubled up under him and he fell to the ground, but he held on to the baby until the mother reached the arena."

She said "someone found a chair for Bill and we waited in the midst of the debris and the poor, screaming people until it was safe to try to get Bill to a doctor. We were surrounded by wreckage from the stands and countless dead and injured. It was a terrible sight."

No License
TORRINGTON, Conn. — UP — After first saying he'd left his automobile license in his other trousers, Rhoderick K. Clinton finally admitted, according to police, that he'd been driving for 16 years without one.

UP President-Elect Wins VFW Award

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—UP—was covering the Chinese civil war and the subsequent fall of Shanghai. He was the last correspondent of the United Press, Tuesday night was awarded the Omar N. Bradley medal and citation of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The presentation was made at the VFW's annual congressional dinner attended by members of the Cabinet, high-ranking officials of the armed services and congressional leaders. Commander-in-Chief Merton B. Tice of the Veterans of Foreign Wars said Bartholomew was being honored not only as a press association executive but as an active war correspondent. Bartholomew's most recent trip to a fighting front was made last year when he covered the closing phases of the war in Indo-China.

Never Stopped Reporting
"Although this man has been a press association executive for many years, he has never stopped being a newspaper reporter," Tice said. "He served as a front-line war correspondent during World War II, covering campaigns in New Guinea, Okinawa, the Philippines and the Aleutians. At the same time he directed the operations of a large staff of war correspondents in the Pacific area."

"He was on the battleship Missouri when the Japanese surrendered to Gen. Douglas MacArthur. He was among the first correspondents to reach fallen Tokyo. True to his role as a reporter, he returned to the Central Pacific to cover the atomic bomb tests at Bikini in the summer of 1946. He was the lone observer for all news agencies and the combined world press aboard a B-29 observation plane at the time of the bomb drop. "In 1948, when a press association executive should have been sitting behind a polished desk somewhere in the states, this man

Japanese war lord—wounded by his own pistol—gasped out his confession of guilt for the Pacific war."

Speech of Acceptance
In his speech of acceptance Bartholomew said:
"In bestowing upon me the Omar Bradley citation I feel that you are doing more than honoring me. You are paying tribute to war correspondents who served on all the far-away battle fields of World War II. They marched with the troops, they sailed with the Navy on dangerous missions and many of them died in the line of duty. It was because of their efforts that World War II was the best covered and most accurately reported war in history. In honoring me, you also are saluting them."

Bartholomew became Pacific Coast division manager of the United Press in 1927. He was elected a vice president of the U.P. in 1938 and first vice president in 1954. He becomes president of the

Weather Hurts Valley Crops

AUSTIN, Feb. 17.—UP—Freezing temperatures in the lower valley over the last weekend brought damage ranging from light to heavy to hardy vegetables, but citrus suffered only minor loss, the U.S. Department of Agriculture reported Wednesday.
In the first survey since the northern roared downstate last Thursday, the USDA said some cotton was nipped by frost, and predicted replanting of early fields will be heavy.
However, the report pointed out much intended cotton acreage had not been planted.
Meantime, strong, dry winds rapidly dissipated urgently needed moisture in the low plains, cross timbers, blacklands and southward.
However, in parts of East Texas drouth conditions above the Cap Rock continued to take a toll of wheat in that area, and the sharp drop in temperatures at the week's end temporarily checked crop growth.
Growth of grasses, weeds and small grain pasture was slowed over the eastern two-thirds of the state by chilling winds that forced livestock to hunt cover. Supplemental feeding, particularly in the west and northwest, was stepped up to minimize loss from shrink-

Allotment For Cotton Increased

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—UP—The House Agriculture committee voted Wednesday to increase this year's national cotton planting allotment by 3 per cent to alleviate "hardships" under government-ordered acreage cuts.
It approved a bill which would give each of the 20 cotton states a 3 per cent increase in its planting allotment.
This would add 542,000 acres to this year's total allotment of 18.1 million acres.
Last year's allotment totaled 21.4 million acres. The Agriculture Department slashed the allotment this year to hold down surpluses under the price support program.
Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson told a news conference Monday he was opposed to increasing the planting allotment.
He said he saw "hardly any grounds" for increasing it because reserve carry-over stocks of old-crop cotton will be larger when this year's crop is harvested next August than they were last August.
The committee also approved a bill which would repeal a law enacted last year which requires farmers to comply with planting allotments on basic crops in order to be eligible for government subsidy payments under the soil conservation program.

SUBCOMMITTEE CHANGE-OVER: Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (left) shakes hand with his successor, Sen. John McClellan, as McCarthy ends last day as head of Investigating Subcommittee.

HOLLYWOOD TODAY!

MOVIES - TV - RADIO
by Erskine Johnson

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Exclusively Yours: Gloria De Haven's Broadway stage debut as Diane in the musical version of "Seventh Heaven" will cost her a flock of movie roles and a pile of Hollywood gold. But she isn't shedding any tears.

"It's my chance to prove to Hollywood that I'm a dramatic actress," she told me on "The Girl Rush" set. I've always been cast as an ingenue. It was discouraging. You get older. You wonder when somebody will believe in you."

Betty Hayden's still betting on a reconciliation with hubby Sterling Hayden. "We're still trying to work things out," she says. . . . Nancy Sinatra is selling the $200,000 Hollywood home that was the scene of the first years of marital happiness with Frank.

A property settlement dispute is brewing between Rhonda Fleming and Dr. Lew Morrill, who will file for divorce in Los Angeles despite Rhonda's own divorce action in Switzerland. The medic says he wants only his share of their joint property and none of Rhonda's.

GREGORY PECK'S career blueprint calls for a temporary switch to the other side of the camera as a director before the year is up. . . . Changing the title of "Anything Goes" to "You're the Top" isn't the only change Paramount is making for the film remake. So much story revision that Donald O'Connor will play the role Charley Ruggles had in the 1937 original.

Fan loyalty note: Roy Rogers' last big screen movie was in 1952, but he's No. 1 western money-making star again in the theater exhibitors' "Fame poll"

Shelley Winters to a magazine writer about her "temperament": "No movie I've ever made has been a penny over budget or a day over time because of me. If that's an indication of temperament, I'm a Notre Dame full-back."

DEAN MARTIN and Jerry Lewis are huddling with PGA big wheels about a Martin & Lewis tournament, similar to Bing Crosby's, for next year. . . . Not likely that Donald O'Connor and Marilyn Monroe will be paired in a follow-up to "There's No Business Like Show Business." MM refused to take off her shoes in the love scenes to make Donald look taller — "it spoils my stance" — and it shows on the screen.

Buddy Lester's Christmas card just arrived with a note: "Christmas cards are much cheaper this time of the year."

Memory quiz: Name the actors who played the war correspondent and the Marine colonel in a 1950 movie, "Halls of Montezuma." Give up. They're television stars now.

Jack Webb was the scribe and Richard Boone of "Medic" was the marine colonel.

KAY KENDALL, THE "Genevieve" dazzler, is showing signs of temperament. She's mixed three roles in a row since signing a seven-year contract with J. Arthur Rank. . . . George Jessel is considering a telefilm version of the old radio standby, "Breakfast in Hollywood." Credit Mary James, a close friend of the Robison family, with helping Edward G. Jr., take important steps toward a career as a TV performer and film actor.

Television producer's version of "A tree is a tree, a rock is a rock, let's shoot it in Griffith Park": "A set is a set, a desk is a desk, let's shoot it in my office."

Short Takes: Sonny Tufts and Marie Morehouse will visit the altar this spring. . . . Errol Flynn and wife, Pat Wymore, are co-starring in a telefilm series before the cameras in Rome. A comedy about an American couple in Europe.

A major lot is paging TV's Max Liebman to produce and direct a big musical this summer.

Add "The Men Fish" to Hollywood's underwater cycle. . . .

Questions, Answers With John McClellan

From the Washington Bureau of NEA Service

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Sen. John B. McClellan, Arkansas Democrat and new chairman of the Senate Investigating Subcommittee, promises that his group will promptly review and evaluate the explosive case of the Ft. Monmouth Army radar laboratories, which Senator McCarthy charged were shot through with subversion and espionage.

(The Army recently reinstated all but eight of more than 30 employees suspended from Ft. Monmouth while security charges against them were weighed.) McClellan takes over the committee reins from McCarthy because the Democrats won the Senate in the 1954 elections.

In a question-and-answer interview especially for NEA Service he indicated, however, that he would have no special axe out for the present Republican administration. He promised instead simply to dig into waste, inefficiency and Red infiltration wherever and whenever they might occur in government.

Here follow the questions and the senator's replies:

Q. Will you ask the Government Operations Committee which you will lead to continue investigating communism through the Investigating Subcommittee?

A. I will not have to ask the Government Operations Committee to continue investigating communism. Under the present rules of the U. S. Senate, it is its duty to continue such investigations if and when it develops that there is reasonable grounds for believing or even a well-founded suspicion that Communists have infiltrated any agency of the Federal Government. Therefore, such investigations will continue if information before the Subcommittee warrants.

Q. If so, do you think it should continue to look into the Ft. Monmouth case?

A. Yes, we will review promptly the Ft. Monmouth case. We will make an evaluation of it. If there is further information that should be developed or Communist infiltration that should be exposed, the Subcommittee will finish the task already begun.

Q. Will the Government Operations Committee as organized by the Democrats automatically get all of the files of the Committee as it was directed by the Republicans?

A. It should, and I assume it will. The files of the Subcommittee are official files of the U. S. Senate and are not the property of any individual senator or staff member.

Q. What do you consider is the primary role of the Committee's Investigating Subcommittee?

A. The duty, responsibility and function of the Investigating Subcommittee are thoroughly covered by the rules of the Senate. Primarily, this Subcommittee was established to investigate and study efficiency and economy in government. The term "efficiency and economy in government" is so broad as to include Communist infiltration, as such might affect or have an impact upon government economy and efficiency.

Q. Will you permit live TV coverage of Committee hearings? Or where will you draw the line?

A. In my judgment, the Subcommittee shall have to determine in each instance whether the public interest will best be served by permitting Subcommittee hearings to be televised. I do not think we can have a hard or fixed rule either way — the peculiar circumstances of the situation should determine.

Q. Do you think the Committee should investigate any specific activities of the past two years of Republican administration? If so, what activities?

A. I do not think the Subcommittee should be partisan in any respect. It should investigate waste, extravagance, inefficiency and Communist infiltration wherever it has occurred and exists, either in the past or present administrations.

Q. Will you recommend that committee hearings be conducted according to the rules of regular court procedure, especially as they apply to the admission of evidence?

A. No, not necessarily. In many instances, the rules of evidence in court procedure would be entirely too rigid to serve the legitimate objectives of an investigating committee. We must differentiate between evidence designed to establish guilt or innocence, and evidence necessary to provide information for committee and legislative action.

Q. Do you anticipate any difficulty in getting full cooperation from the Republican administration in the securing of files or other information needed by the Committee in its work?

A. No. Of course, it is quite probable that in some instances the Subcommittee will desire and need information marked confidential which is in the files of the executive agencies. In such cases, we shall undertake to secure the release of that information to the Subcommittee by proper authorities. I do not anticipate and I trust no instances will occur in which the Subcommittee and the government will not be able to cooperate for the best interest of our government.

Q. Will you recommend the end of one-man hearings? How will you change hearing procedures generally from the way they have been conducted???

A. The answer is yes. I shall urge the Subcommittee to amend its rules to require the presence of at least two members of the Subcommittee to constitute a quorum for the holding of hearings, either executive or public. I am confident the Subcommittee will agree.

Incidentally, however, as chairman I can control that without a rule. I do not propose to hold hearings except that at least two members of the Subcommittee be present, and I would much prefer that all members should be present.

'Token' Fine Probe Asked

FORT WORTH, Feb. 17.—A member of the Tarrant county grand jury said Wednesday he expects his group to demand an explanation of the "slap on the wrist" fine levied on Edell Evans after a raid on his luxurious Richardson Hills home.

Sheriff Harlon Wright and Richardson Hills police said they seized more than 3,000 sets of dice, poker chips, cards and other gambling equipment during a mid-day raid Tuesday. The home was raided after Henry Rogers, elderly Dallas insurance man, complained he lost $500 in a "crooked dice game" there.

Assistant District Attorney Randall Riley filed a simple gambling complaint against Evans, ex-convict who has served a federal sentence for violating the white slave law, and Peace Justice R. S. Callaway assessed a $25 fine.

IS YOUR CHILD (or children) hankering for a party? Or are you planning a George Washington party for some children, your own or a group with which you work? Here is a cute suggestion for such a party, and it doesn't require too much preparation.

"YOU CAN TREAT the children to an unexpected party on Feb. 22. Let them celebrate George Washington's birthday as heartily as they do their own.

"School's out for the day, so Junior and Sis can invite their chums to an afternoon of fun.

"George Washington birthday party refreshments and decorations are no trouble to fix. Serve the kiddies cherry ice cream and cup cakes jelled in white, small American flag on a stick decorating the top of each cake. Use a white paper table cloth and from each child's place run alternate red and blue streamers to the center of the table where you have arranged a "candy and chewing gum" grab bag.

"For games, the Pfaff Sewing Institute has invented a thump-out success - Beambag the Cherry Tree. It's wonderful fun for the children, and easy for you to make by following these simple directions:

"All you need is a piece of wallboard or beaverboard 24 x 36 inches; crayons and a knife.

"With crayons draw outline of tree. Make holes large enough for beanbags around branches and at tree bottom. Place scoring points under each hole.

"Stitch about 10 small beanbags or one for each guest. Make them about 3 inches square, using strong denim remnants or other heavy material on hand. On your sewing machine sew up three sides of the bag, fill with dried beans, and then sew fourth side.

"For hatchet decoration, cut out as many hatchets as you have beanbags, using red felt or some other red material. Applique one hatchet on each bean bag.

"Each child, in turn, gets a chance to throw his beanbag at the cherry tree. To score, he must throw a bag through one of the holes. The boy or girl who scores 100 first, wins.

"For prizes - or as a memento for each child - you can embroider white handkerchiefs or scarves with the words, "I cannot tell a lie." Buy inexpensive white handkerchief material, hem on your machine and then, in pencil, lightly print or write the saying. With brightly colored thread stitch over the pencil marks. To make these mementos even more delightful, embroider each guest's first name on, too."

AAUW Members Presented Review Of Book About Ben Franklin's Sister

Mrs. Luther Roberts of Borger presented a review of the book, "Jane Mecom" by Carl Van Doren at the meeting Tuesday of the Pampa chapter of the American Association of University Women in the City Club Room.

Mrs. Roberts is chairman of the Borger chapter's study group on current literature.

During her review, Mrs. Roberts explained that "Jane Mecom" was the author's last book before his death in 1952 and the only one he wrote about a woman. His brother, Mark Van Doren, is on the English staff of Columbia University and is a poet and critic. Both men are outstanding in American literature, she pointed out.

Carl Van Doren won a Pulitzer prize for his biography of Benjamin Franklin, Mrs. Roberts advised. She went on to explain that she felt the purpose of "Jane Mecom," which is about Franklin's favorite sister, was to give a new slant to the statesman, to present him as a very human person in relationship with his family and to present him against background of his time.

During her introduction to the review, Mrs. Roberts stated that the yardstick of a good book was "a story worth remembering in a style worth reading." Another essential factor she mentioned was the element of struggle, either physical, mental or spiritual. "Jane Mecom," she pointed out, dealt with the physical struggle of the woman against poverty and her spiritual struggle and growth as an individual.

During her review, Mrs. Roberts told of incidents in the lives of Franklin and his sister and read portions of their letters revealing the "wholesome philosophy that made Franklin a statesman, not a politician."

Miss Sibyl Turner, president, led the business session. Miss Evelyn Milam, education chairman, reported that the chapter had been asked if it would like to sponsor a spring production of the Children's Theater. The women voted to do so, with proceeds to go for new books for the library.

Mrs. Walter Bowen, chairman of the nominating committee, submitted the names of Miss Mary Reeves for vice president and Miss Minnie Allen for treasurer. The chapter will vote at the next meeting. The president and secretary and the vice-president and treasurer are elected for two-year terms during alternating years. Other members of the committee were Miss Bernice Larsh and Mrs. O. M. Prigmore.

A report on the Council of Clubs was given by Mrs. Nicholas Kadingo. She told the women of the style show, to be held Mar. 13, and advised them of the tickets club members are to sell. She also reported on a suggestion of the Council to sponsor a bake sale to buy books for the library.

During the social period, refreshments of cake and spiced tea were served. The table was covered with a white cloth decorated with red hearts and centered with a stereophonic cupid. The centerpiece was flanked with white tapers in crystal holders.

Hostesses for the event were Mrs. Otis Nace, chairman; and Miss Helene Huff and Miss Edith Kral.

RUTH MILLET Members Of ESA Plan Dinner Dance

Plans for a dinner dance for members and their husbands or dates were made at the recent meeting of Epsilon Sigma Alpha in the City Club Room. The event will be held Feb. 26, in Poole's Steak House.

Chosen for the dance committee were Mrs. Parks Brumley, chairman; and Mmes. Oscar Engle, Burton Doucette and Bill Ragadale.

During the business session, a letter was read from Eta Rho chapter, Fort Worth, thanking the Pampa group for their aid to Jack Edward Barnes who was suffering from cancer. A poem was also read from the child's mother in his memory.

Mrs. Bill Ragadale reported on the district ESA meeting, held recently in Perryton. Next district session will be in Borger in April.

A letter from Mr. and Mrs. Jack Foster, co-chairmen of the March of Dimes, was read thanking the chapter for its cooperation in the drive. Mrs. Melvin Watkins reported on the Council of Clubs style show, to be held March 13, with showings at 2, 4 and 6 p.m. She distributed tickets for members to sell.

Attending the meeting were Mmes. John Samsel, Melvin Watkins, Oscar Engle, Max Hickey, Lovell Stevens, Al Doucette, Guy LeMond, John Nutting, Walter Reek, Bert Arney, Harold Payne, Bill Ragadale, Burton Doucette and Parks Brumley.

When a woman looks up from a newspaper to say: "Blank Store is having a perfectly marvelous sale," the husband knows his wife isn't just making an idle comment. She is preparing him for the fact that when he comes home that evening or the next — depending on whether she is reading the morning or evening paper — he is going to be shown some great bargains.

When a man describes another woman to his wife as "nice looking" she knows that he is deliberately using husbandly understatement. He would be far more enthusiastic in his choice of adjectives if he were describing the "nice looking" girl to another man.

When a woman says, "We haven't had a party in a long time," she isn't just stating a fact. She is already mentally making out a guest list and planning a party menu.

When a man says, "Does it have to be done now?" to his wife's announcement that it something about the house needs his handyman's touch he isn't asking a question. He's putting the job off — indefinitely if he can get away with it.

When a woman says, "I saw the most beautiful watch at such-and-such a jewelry store" and goes on to describe it in detail, she isn't just making conversation. Ten to one she has a birthday or anniversary coming up, and is getting her hints in early.

Now that eggs are so low in price, recipes using eggs are important. We select these two that use monosodium glutamate, a powdered agent for bringing out the flavor of the ingredients used in the recipe. It does not add flavor of its own, it brings out flavors already in the recipe. Both the French and Chinese have been using it for centuries.

Souffle Topped Cauliflower (Serves 4-6)

Trim and wash large head of cauliflower; separate into flowerets. Cook in boiling salted water just until barely tender, drain, reserving liquid. Arrange flowerets in single layer in greased 8x8x2-inch baking dish. Make sauce with 3 tablespoons each butter or margarine and flour, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup reserved cauliflower liquid, and $\frac{1}{2}$ c. cream. Add $\frac{1}{2}$ cup grated Parmesan cheese, salt and pepper to taste, and teaspoon monosodium glutamate.

Cool, then blend in 2 slightly beaten egg yolks; fold in 2 stiffly beaten egg whites. Spread evenly over cauliflower; dust with paprika. Bake at 425 degrees F. about 20 minutes, until lightly browned.

Corned Beef Hash Casserole (Serves 6-8)

Mix 2 (1-pound) cans corned beef hash, 2 cups (firmly packed) grated soft bread crumbs, 2 slightly beaten eggs, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup milk and $\frac{1}{4}$ cup chopped onion. Season with salt and pepper to taste, and $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon monosodium glutamate. Pack into greased 8x8x2-inch baking dish. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 1 hour. Remove from oven. Spread $\frac{1}{2}$ cup catsup over top; sprinkle with 1 cup shredded processed American cheese. Return to oven long enough to melt cheese.

Barley Gives Lamb Shanks Novel Twist

Barley is stuffed into these lamb shanks for a novel twist your family will applaud. Reba Staggs, home economist, suggests that you serve tomato salad, green beans, whole wheat bread, butter or margarine, prune whip and a beverage with the stuffed lamb shanks.

STUFFED LAMB SHANKS
 6 lamb shanks
 2 tablespoons lard or drippings
 1 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 2 cups water
 1/2 cup barley
 Brown the lamb shanks in lard or drippings. Season with salt and pepper. Add water, cover and simmer until tender, about 1 1/2 to 2 hours. Remove meat from broth. Cool and remove bones. Cook barley in lamb broth adding water if necessary. Stuff lamb shanks with cooked barley. Thicken remaining lamb broth with flour for gravy. Pour gravy over stuffed shanks, cover and cook on top of range or in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until heated through. 5 servings.

Q. What is the name of these cuts of meat?
A. Pork loin chops.
Q. Where do they come from and how are they identified?
A. They are chops from the loin. Each has a T-shaped bone and two muscles (back strip and tenderloin).
Q. How are they prepared?
A. By broiling, or, for chops cut less than 1 inch thick, by pan-frying. For broiling, they are broiled slowly on both sides in a frying-pan. Then they are seasoned and the pan is covered tightly. They are cooked slowly until tender. For pan-frying, they are browned on both sides in a frying-pan. Then they are seasoned and cooked slowly, uncovered and are turned occasionally.

Apple Gingercake Is Festive Dessert

A festive looking dessert that requires only a minimum of preparation time is today's delicious tasting Upside Down Apple Gingercake. If you prefer a white cake the same recipe may be used, simply substituting a white cake mix. You'll want to select your apples with an eye to crispness and texture and one of the choice varieties now available is the all-purpose red Winesap apple now arriving from Washington State orchards. This late-harvested apple is fine-grained, juicy and tender and holds its distinctive wine-y flavor superbly under cooking processes.

2-3 Winesap apples, peeled and cut into 9 apple rings, 1/2 inch thick
 1/2 cup shredded coconut
 1 pkg. gingerbread or ginger-cake mix
 Melt butter or margarine in heavy saucepan or frying pan and stir in sugars and water. Add apple rings and simmer slowly until barely tender. Don't crowd apple rings; cook only as many at a time as will fit easily into pan. Sprinkle the bottom of a 9-inch square baking pan with shredded coconut. Arrange apple rings in even rows over coconut and pour over syrup from cooking apples. Follow directions given on package for making gingerbread or gingercake but reduce liquid called for one-quarter cup.

Better Grades With Better Breakfasts

This young gentleman smiles over his breakfast of orange juice, whole wheat flakes with prunes and milk, buttered French toast and honey, and hot milk beverage. A month of breakfasts like this and his report card will be better. A new scientific study of boys 12 to 14 years of age, made at a distinguished medical school of a leading mid-west university, has shown that boys get better grades, do better work, and have better attitudes from better breakfasts.

Of special interest to mothers who are re-establishing eating habits and regular meals after the vacation period are these conclusions from the experiments:

- Maximum work rate and maximum work output were significantly less in the late morning hours during the period when breakfast was omitted.
- It was the consensus of the school authorities that the omission of breakfast exerted a significant detrimental effect both on the attitudes and scholastic attainment of the boys who followed this practice during the time they were in school.
- The subjects showed no significant change in body weight whether they ate no breakfast or a basic cereal breakfast, so long as their total caloric intake per day was not changed.

The conclusions drawn from the study of boys 12 to 14 years of age not only confirmed many of the findings which applied to young women and young and old men, but demonstrated that, for the most part, the good breakfast habit is a sound nutritional principle that applies to teen-agers and the young and old alike.

A basic breakfast pattern, readily adapted to individual and family needs, provides 1/4 to 1/2 of the day's total food requirements and makes a good contribution of most essential nutrients. It includes the basic foods—fruit, breakfast cereal, milk, bread and butter. These foods form a nutritional basis for an adequate breakfast.

Buy Big Pork Roast To Last Two Meals

When you buy a pork roast, buy one large enough so that there will be "planned-over." This is a time-saving as well as money-saving practice, says home economist Reba Staggs.

For the first meal, roast the pork in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until the roast reaches a thermometer registers 185 degrees F., the well-done stage. Let the roast set 15 or 20 minutes so it will carve more easily. Slice it and serve it hot.

For the second meal, you can choose from many dishes in which cooked pork is the main ingredient. You can grind it and use it in croquettes. Or it can be cubed and baked with vegetables, a sauce and biscuit topping for a meat pie. Cold slices of cooked pork mixed with French dressing, cooked peas, diced celery and nuts is a hearty luncheon salad. And you can't go wrong by serving cold, sliced roast pork.

Test On Knowledge Of Foreign Dishes

Some of the best foreign recipes have been imported, enjoyed and become popular. These dishes used to be reserved for the gourmet who ate in the most exclusive restaurants. According to Reba Staggs, home economist, many Americans are now cooking these dishes as a hobby. How many of the following do you know?

1. A German dish in which beef and veal is marinated in a spiced vinegar solution for two or three days before being cooked.
2. A Russian dish or strips of lean beef, usually top round or sirloin, which are served with a sour cream mushroom sauce.
3. The French version of a thick well-seasoned meat stew.
4. A Mexican "pie" in which chili-spiced ground beef is the filling and corn meal mush is the crust.
5. An Italian dish of alternating layers of cheeses, ground meat and tomato sauce and broad noodles.
6. A German way of preparing veal in which the veal is breaded and fried.

Answers: 1. Sauerbraten. 2. Pot Beef. 3. Stroganoff. 4. Ragout. 5. Tamale Pie. 6. Lasagna. 6. Wiener Schnitzel.

LOOKS OVER RECIPES — Mrs. Porter Brooks, 2109 Hamilton, looks over some of her recipes in her cookbook on foreign dishes. Mrs. Brooks, who lived in Germany for some time, also makes quite a few dishes, "unique in this country, but which she says are "quite common" in Germany.

This Is My Dish German Sauerbraten Makes Delicious Meal

By JANE KADINGO
 Pampa News Women's Editor

Mrs. Porter Brooks, wife of the vicar of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, can make all kinds of foreign dishes. She has a wonderful cookbook with a lot of foreign recipes in it too, all written in German. But the language is no barrier to Mrs. Brooks who spent most of her life in Germany. In fact, that is where she met her husband, who was stationed there while a chaplain in the U. S. Army.

Mrs. Brooks cooks for her husband and her daughter, Beverly, 6. She likes to cook "when it goes fancy," but dislikes lunches or hurry-up meals. "If I get appreciation, of course, I love to cook then," she laughed. In general, she likes to bake more than just cooking.

Mrs. Brooks has been cooking for about seven years, and was taught mainly by her mother. She pointed out that the recipes she has are "all ancient hand-me-downs," and although unique in this country are quite common in Germany.

Her talents, however, are not confined to cooking alone. She has played the accordion for 14 years and says she is still playing "at it." Her husband plays the violin and they like to play duets.

Mrs. Brooks likes to make pictures from wood and paint them, and has made several of Cinderella, Little Red Riding Hood and Snow White. She loves decorating, and lately has been painting and redecorating some of the rooms in her home.

"I love to dream and scheme about what can be made from what there is," she explained.

She also makes braids from various colors of thread and fashions them into placemats and coasters. She also made a doll house and furniture for her daughter while she was in Germany.

Mrs. Brooks' activities outside the home are concerned with the church. She is a member of the Altar Guild and the Auxiliary of the St. Matthew's church and is on the bazaars committee.

Mrs. Brooks has a recipe for Sauerbraten which takes a minimum of three days to make.

SAUERBRATEN

The main ingredient for sauerbraten is a loin tip roast of the size you would ordinarily use for your family. First step is to make a solution of 1 cup of vinegar and water, with the proportions of 1 cup vinegar to 1 cup water, to completely cover the meat. Bring the solution to a boil and pour over meat while it is still hot. Carrot slices, bay leaves, pepper corns (3 or 4) and raw onion rings may be placed on the meat beforehand.

Let stand for 3 days. Mrs. Brooks never puts it under refrigeration as the vinegar is a natural preservative. "It never spoils," she stated. The only attention it needs during this period is to be turned over once a day.

When it is taken out at the end of three days it looks cooked, she advised. Drain, saving the solution, and blot the roast dry.

The roast is then cooked as an ordinary roast, with enough water to make stock for gravy. Mrs. Brooks prepares it in her pressure cooker.

For the gravy she uses 1 pint of stock. If you want brown gravy she says to brown onions with it. You add enough flour to thicken. Add 1/2 pint sweet cream and 2 or 3 Tbsp. of the vinegar solution. Simmer until done.

Mrs. Brooks serves potato dumplings with the Sauerbraten, the recipe for which will appear in Jane Talk next Thursday. She also serves a salad and sour red cabbage. She pointed out that it gives you 30 minutes out that if you are having company, before everything is ready to serve.

MANNERS MAKE FRIENDS

"I didn't want to accept the invitation, but she made it impossible for me to refuse." That has happened to you, hasn't it? All because some hostesses won't take "No" for an answer.

The good hostess can accept a "No" as graciously as she can accept a "Yes."

Here's a good way to sweeten apple pie: Make your favorite pie, leaving out the sweetening. Then right after you take the pie from the oven, pour 3-4 to 1 cup of honey mixed with 2 tablespoons lemon juice carefully through the perforations in the top crust. By the time the pie is ready to serve the honey will be absorbed by the apples.

The baking industry uses a lot of honey because honey absorbs moisture, and thus keeps a baked product fresh longer than usual and because it adds flavor and extra food value.

Here's a delicious cold weather drink: Dissolve 2 tablespoons honey in 1/2 cup boiling water. Then add enough hot grape juice to fill a glass. Some folks like to add a bit of lemon juice to this.

The Pampa Daily News

One of Texas' Five Most Consistent Newspapers

We believe that one truth is always consistent with another truth. We endeavor to be consistent with truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule, the Ten Commandments and the Declaration of Independence.

Should we, at any time, be inconsistent with these truths, we would appreciate anyone pointing out to us how we are inconsistent with these moral guides.

Published daily except Saturdays by The Pampa News, Atchison at Secondville, Pampa, Texas. Phone 4-2522, all departments. Entered as second-class matter under the act of March 3, 1879.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

By CARRIER in Pampa, 30c per week. Paid in advance (at office) $7.50 per month, $27.50 per year. By MAIL in advance (at office) $7.50 per month, $27.50 per year. Outside retail trade zone, Price for single copy, 5 cents. No mail orders accepted in localities served by carrier.

New Formula

Since many folks at the Top of Texas are interested in the cattle business, we submit the following observations concerning government range land payments.

Every now and again some bureaucrat with unreconstructed tendencies toward honesty tries to figure out a new formula to make some burdensome levy more fair and more palatable. Despite his efforts, presumably well and honestly motivated, he hasn't a chance.

The use of force in the business of bookkeeping just never adds up to anything fair and equitable. And it's bound to be unpalatable somewhere along the line.

Take the new fee of 15 cents an animal unit month just established by Washington. This is supposed to cover the amount of grass a cow will eat in one month, providing she's a normal grazer.

However, if you have a cow which is subject to reveries, you may feel that you are overpaying the government for her particular usage of Federal range lands.

Then, too, some cows get up early and work late, and by crowding them on holidays and over the weekends you can probably squeeze about 16 or 17 cents worth of fodder into them, all for 15 cents.

Actually this 15 cents an animal unit month only applies to normal cows.

It takes five normal sheep to equal one normal cow. This does not include rams nor bulls.

If you want to know what the 15 cents is for, that too, has been broken down and itemized. Actually only 11 cents is for grazing. The other four cents is the range improvement fee.

Now, any cow improves the range, that we all know. But just how the Government figures that each normal grazing cow improves the range four cents worth is a mystery.

Especially when the former price was only 12 cents for the whole works, with 10 cents for grazing and two cents for range improvement. Seems as though the Government figures that if a cow is a ten-cent grazer, she's only going to improve the range by two cents.

Now, on the other hand, if she's an eleven cent grazer, she improves the range by four cents.

A fellow we know has just come in and informed us that we got this whole thing wrong. He says the Government doesn't believe cows improve the range.

He figures the two cents or the four cents as the case may be is being collected from the ranchers to help pay for the bureaucrats to improve the range.

But we've had a lot of experience watching these range lands. And it just stands to reason that cows are going to improve them a lot more than the boys in Washington ever could. We've seen plenty of the bureaucrats wandering around the mesquite and they don't improve the scenery nor anything else. Maybe we've got the reasons for the cost all wrong.

The Government never did anything for anybody without charging plenty to somebody else.

Anyway you figure it, the Government wants the owners of cows to know that this fee is not figured on the basis of what it costs to operate the range lands. No sir! That would be too logical.

This fee is geared.

The experts of the National Advisory Board Council made a recommendation along this line. Secretary of the Interior McKay saw it the same way. Then these high priced experts took it up with the Bureau of Land Management.

Beginning in 1957 there won't be any of this flat 15 cents per animal unit month. By then the fee will be geared to the price of beef and lamb, dead and delivered, computed on the grazing speed of normal cows, divided by range improvement.

Now this is what could be called a formula.

"Taxes And The Individual"
I want to quote an editorial from the February issue of the Freeman magazine under the heading of "Taxes and the Individual." From here on I am quoting:

"It is still possible for you personally to help a deserving boy or girl to secure an education, but you should be informed that your government frowns upon such practices. You see, your government now favors groups and group actions at the expense of individuals and individual actions. That's why it permits you to 'deduct from taxable income' your gifts to government - approved groups, but makes you pay a tax on gifts to individuals."

"If you had any real choice in the matter, maybe you would prefer to emulate the Good Samaritan and do your charity as an individual and not as a group. The law doesn't yet forbid you to follow the individualistic examples of Christ, but through its tax policy your government is doing as much as it can to discourage such 'primitive' Christian actions. That's why the tax laws on charity force you, in effect, to pay double when you decide to help the individual instead of the government-approved group."

"Governments have little faith in individuals; deny it as they will, those who govern us prefer to deal with groups, masses, blocs, majorities, organizations and so on. They are well aware that groups are easier to control than individuals. Group action is slow and cumbersome and predictable; in boxing terminology, the punch of the crowd is usually telegraphed well in advance of its arrival, and those who govern us can lay their plans accordingly. But they can seldom anticipate the actions of just one individual. That's why they design the tax laws to submerge the individual and elevate the group."

"The government no longer looks with favor upon 'rugged individualism' like Edison, Ford, Steinmetz, Carnegie and others who reaped huge fortunes because of their ability to make life easier for the rest of us. In an effort to put a stop to that sort of thing, those who enjoy the job of governing us have written tax laws to deprive the successful individual of about 90 per cent of his income. This pulls the unpredictable individual back down into the crowd which government knows how to handle."

"During the so-called 'dark ages' of American history, when individuals were conquering a wilderness and laying the foundations which have resulted in a nation with the highest standard of living the world has ever known, the successful individual could leave his money to his children or to any person he wished. But since this put some individuals ahead of the group, our officials turned to the inheritance and gift taxes in an effort to draw all of us back toward a common or mass level. The government designed its tax laws in a fashion to encourage successful individuals to give or will their property and money to groups, crowds, foundations and various other organizations approved by government."

"It used to be that our tax laws were designed for the purpose of raising revenue needed for the legitimate expenses of a government limited to protecting equality of life, liberty and property of each individual citizen. Our government still performs these functions to some extent, but they are now purely secondary. Modern tax laws are designed primarily to penalize the successful, to equalize the unequal, and to appeal to the baser instincts of the crowds who have the masses of votes."

"Those who govern us haven't yet stopped the individual and his instinctive determination to excel. I doubt that the government ever can stop the individual for long. But it won't be from lack of trying."

"SLAVERY AND TAXES"

Here is another editorial from the Freeman magazine showing how taxes are regarded as worse than slavery by some people. From here on you are reading from The Freeman.

"Human slavery is still practiced against the pigmies in the Belgian Congo — under government supervision and permission, of course, since the institution of slavery cannot exist unless it is enforced by the prevailing government. But in all fairness to the government of Belgium, it must be stated that the pigmies were already enslaved by the normal-sized African when the colonizers first arrived from Europe, and that the present government has abolished some of the most inhuman features of the slavery they found there."

"The pigmies are hunters, and they must supply their masters with meat. Since the government won't permit the slaves to possess firearms, this duty is sometimes difficult."

"But at any rate, the pigmy slaves don't have to pay taxes — while their masters do! This fact is a favorite topic of conversation among the slaves. They observe that every man is forced to share his income with a master of one sort or another. The slaves debate whether they would rather be free and share with the governmental masters, or remain slaves and share with their individual masters whom they know and who sometimes give them vegetables and permit them to have celebrations. Observers who have lived among them report that the pigment did not know — or divulge — all the facts in the controversy, which are these:

When the Delaware deepening was first proposed, the program contemplated only a 35-foot channel. But when U. S. Steel built the new Fairless Plant at Morrisville, Pa., it found that its ore-carrying vessels required a 40-foot depth. The additional cost for U. S. Steel's extra five feet depth amounted to $18,000,000.

When demanding that "local interests" contribute this amount, neither Eisenhower nor the Budget Bureau have identified the corporation's special interest fully and frankly.

The House Public Works Committee agreed with Eisenhower. The members of the committee prefer their slavery to their masters' taxes: ('Madam', by Putnam and Keller; Prentice-Hall, 1954, $3.95).

"I intended to write an editorial about the significance of this choice of slavery rather than taxes. But, honestly, I don't know just how to handle it. Do you?"

Ike Bucking 'Big Interests' In Delaware River Squabble

WASHINGTON — A pork barrel brawl involving President Eisenhower, the United States Steel Corporation and Pennsylvania Republicans has boiled up afresh behind the scenes on Capitol Hill. It is one of the strangest politico-economic quarrels in several years, with Ike bucking normally GOP-ish "big interests."

It concerns a new chapter in the story of the proposed deepening of the Delaware River between Philadelphia and Trenton. Over the Pennsylvanians' protests, the President and Budget Bureau insist that "local interests" pay $18,000,000 of the total $91,000,000 cost. Otherwise, they will oppose the project.

He tried to explain and justify his stand at a recent press conference, but he was obviously unfamiliar with all the facts. He declared that whenever internal improvements benefited a certain area, the regional interests, public and private, should pay a percentage of the costs.

His insistence on local contributions has been interpreted as laying down an entirely new theory for financing major Federal projects. In the past, the government has paid for them on the theory that what helped one large area strengthened the national economy, and, therefore, was a legitimate Federal charge.

Since 42 other states had regional and beneficial projects in the popular omnibus measure, Martin's holdup measure worked. House and Senate passed it as they wanted it, and forwarded it to the White House for approval.

But the Public Works Bill amounts to only an authorization for the Delaware deepening. It carries no money. Opponents are now buttonholing members of the House Appropriations Committee, especially Chairman Clarence Cannon, and begging them to knock out any funds for U. S. Steel's extra five feet.

It is recalled, ironically, that last year this erstwhile Republican Gibraltar elected a Democratic Governor.

FOR REFLECTION

...with JAMES C. WOODBRITEN, President, Spiritual Mobilization

John Carter Vincent, leftish career diplomat who was dismissed from government service by Secretary of State Dulles in March, 1953, wrote a letter recently to THE FOREIGN SERVICE JOURNAL which was published in the January, 1955, issue of that unofficial organ of the career diplomat service.

The letter, written in defense of himself and his left-wing colleague, John Paton Davies, Jr., who was dismissed last Nov. 5, said, among other things: "There is no mythical 'right' course in foreign policy."

In other words, according to John Carter Vincent, to suppose that there is a right course in foreign policy is to believe in a myth.

If this is true, then Washington and the other Founding Fathers believed in a myth. For they held that "the great rule of conduct for us in regard to foreign nations is, in extending our commercial relations to have with them as little POLITICAL connections as possible" and that in public as well as in private affairs "honesty is always the best policy." (Quotations from Washington's Farewell Address.)

But Washington and his compatriots were not myth — followers. There IS a RIGHT course in foreign policy — as in everything.

The Secret Of Foundation Effort To Dissolve The U. S.

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

I suspect that I have come upon the secret of the Ford Foundation's mighty effort to dissolve the nationality and sovereignty of the United States and merge this and other nations into a grand humanity beginning as the United Nations. I came to know old Henry Ford rather well in his last few years. The strange conduct of the foundation and the subsidiary fund for the republic nowadays reminds me of a gesture which he made a number of times as we rode swiftly around his empire near Detroit.

Mr. Ford would direct the conversation to the oneness of humanity and the havoc which man wreaks upon man by maintaining separations by artificial boundaries, then he would whip out a small, illuminated card like an old-fashioned Sunday-school card, containing a few stanzas of Tennyson's "Locksley Hall." I did not make daily notes on these penny lectures of an unlearned mechanic and genius of mass production so I have to rely on the general impression which he made. That impression is deepened now by the activities of his foundation and fund for the republic. Henry Ford believed the human race was intended to be one race under one authority, possibly God. And the stanzas from "Locksley Hall," taken out of context, were the following, give or take one or two:

"For I dipped into the future and as far as eye could see,
Saw the vision of the world, and all the wonder that would be,
Saw the heavens fill with commerce, argosies of magic sails,
Pilots of the purple twilight, dropping down with costly bales;
Heard the heavens fill with shouting, and there rained a ghastly dew,
From the nations' airy navies' grappling in the central blue."
Far along the world-wide whippersaw of the south-wind rushing warm,
With the standards of the people, plunging through the thunder-storm.

Until the war-drums throbbed no longer, and the battle-flags were furled
In the parliament of man, the federation of the world."
That was the ending of the excerpt, but I think this little Sunday-school card of his also contained this couplet:
"There the common sense of most shall hold a trifling realm in awe,
And the kindly earth shall slumber, lapped in universal law."
Now old man Ford was a cantankerous tyrant as many of his executives, and even his own son, Edsel, knew. He could be intimate and kind but he was an authoritarian boss over an empire of industry and human beings. It was said with as much truth as vulgarity that if you worked for him you had to let him regulate your entire life — including your bowels. He spied upon his workmen.

Like his grandfather, young Henry is stubborn, sulky and conscious of the power of his money. Like his grandfather, he has no record of scholarship, but old Henry never would have put himself and his fortune at the disposal of designing schemers, promoting a federation of the world without the slightest provision against betrayal even so soon after Yalta and Potsdam.

With no exception the popular press of all the world lambasted the Ford mission. Just before the ship tied loose a pair of squirrels in a wire cage were delivered to Henry and for about ten days while the Oscar II lingered at Halifax, Lind says Denison, a great rewrite man of the evening World, wrote amusing communique from the squirrels. The missionaries were a freak show but the British and German governments were even crazier. They repulsed as a horrid thought the very idea of calling off a war which was to destroy the flower of the youth of christendom and the seed of the future. The disaster of that stubborn stupidity is beyond measure even today.

Henry is stubborn, sulky and conscious of the power of his money. Like his grandfather, he has no record of scholarship, but old Henry never would have put himself and his fortune at the disposal of designing schemers, promoting a federation of the world without the slightest provision against betrayal even so soon after Yalta and Potsdam.

Hank Wants Durocher To Introduce Giants To Poetry

By HENRY McLEMORE

I have a little wager on the Giants to repeat in the National League this year, so I am hoping that Leo Durocher read last week's magazine story, on England's victorious cricket team which gave a great deal of credit for England's win over Australia to one Frank (Typhoon) Tyson.

Frank is a speed ball bowler, and it was pointed out that when he was preparing to deliver the ball to the batsmen he liked to recite bits of Wordsworth to himself. The intimation was that Tyson drew stamina and strength from the poetry of the great Lake poet.

I want Durocher to introduce poetry to the Giants. Tyson's secret may be just the recipe that Sal Maglie needs to regain his old sharpness. Who knows but that a thorough steeping in Coleridge wouldn't enable Monte Irvin to recapture his real form?

And what about Willie May? Durocher considers Willie percussionist with a capital P, and he darned near it, but the chances are Willie has never had a booster shot of poetry. Given a dose of Keats, and Willie might very well hit a cool 500 and catch everything hit within two miles of him.

Can't you see Willie now, standing at the plate, eyeing the pitcher, and reciting:
"A thing of beauty is a joy forever: Its loveliness increases; it will never pass into nothingness; but still will keep a bower quiet for us, and a sleep full of sweet dreams, and health, and quiet breathing."

Willie's reciting of poetry would have another effect, too. I am quite sure that Roy Campanella, say, when he heard Willie spouting Keats, would get rattled and call for a fast one, letter high, a pitch that Willie does on. And I am not sure that most of the pitchers in the league wouldn't lose a lot of their stuff against the Giants if, at the top of their wind-up, they heard this coming from the batter's box: "Comrades leave me here a while, while as yet 'tis early morn; Leave me here, and when you want me, sound upon the bugle horn."

If Durocher should adopt the Tyson approach to better performance by his players, I want to be in the clubhouse when the team holds its pre-game meeting. It will probably go something like this: Durocher: Antonelli, how far are you along with "Prometheus Unbound"? You're working this afternoon, and I do hope you know most of it, because this is a big game, and the Braves are hot. Whitey Lockman: Leo, can't I learn something besides Swinburne? I don't like his stuff. I believe I'd hit a lot better if I could switch to Edgar Allan Poe. Durocher: No, Whitey, you stick to Swinburne. There's no better poet when it comes to sharpening a fellow's fielding. And you, Westrum, how are you coming along with Shakespeare? As soon as you learn "King Lear" so you won't need prompting by the bat boy, you'll find you won't have so much trouble connecting with fast balls. And I want you to read "Cymbeline," too. Nothing like it for helping a catcher on his pegs to second.
If Durocher doesn't want to take on the duties of poetry coach, along with managing and coaching at third base, he could hire Lou Stutzemeyer, Carl Sandburg, or any price was no matter, Robert Frost. Think this over, Leo.

COST ACCOUNTING IN FEDERAL BUSINESS

(Chicago Daily Tribune)

The director of the budget, Rowland R. Hughes, has ordered government departments and agencies to see how fast they can divest themselves of business operations which compete with private enterprise. They are to complete an audit of their commercial operations by April 15 and advise the budget director by July 15 what manufacturing functions they can end.

J. C. Jackson is one of Mr. Eisenhower's refreshment with which we are in members accord. While campaigning in Byron Hodge pledged, "That no federal man, member, large or small, will be un-Mr. George Washington, J. C. Grimes, J. C. Coitell, L. C. W. J. Thompson.

Pampa Harvesters Out To Even Series

Tickets Gone For 2nd Game Friday

The Hustlin' Harvesters returned home late yesterday from San Angelo and west right to the practice court at Harvester Fieldhouse to begin preparations for the second game of the District 1-AAAA championship series with the San Angelo Bobcats.
Coach Clifton McNeely spent most of his time in yesterday's workout correcting the mistakes that cropped up in Tuesday's surprise loss to the Bobcats, 51-47.
Tuesday's win gave the Bobcats a 1-0 lead in the best two of a three-game series for the overall District 1-AAAA title. San Angelo is the Southern Zone champion while the Harvesters nailed down the Northern Zone flag.
The Harvesters must win tomorrow's game to get back in the running. Should the Green and Golds pull the trick tomorrow, the third and deciding game of the series will be played Saturday night at Harvester Fieldhouse. Winner of the series will then take on the champion of the El Paso district, 2-AAAA. Three teams were still in the running for the 2-4A flag, Jefferson, El Paso High and Ysleta. The champion of this district will be known either Thursday or Friday night.
The regular schedule ends Thursday but there will likely be two of the above mentioned teams who'll wind up in a tie for the flag. A one-game "sudden death" playoff would be played Friday night in the event of a tie for the crown.
The travel-weary Harvesters should be in better physical shape for Friday's game than they were for Tuesday's game.
The Harvesters appeared headed for an easy victory Tuesday night when they moved ahead by six points, 23-19, early in the third quarter but the Green and Golds fell to pieces at this point.
San Angelo put on a spirited rally and moved ahead, 38-36, at the three-quarter mark.
The best the Harvesters could do in the final period was to tie the count at 38-38 in the early seconds of the quarter. The Bobcats surged into a 50-42 lead before the Harvesters came back to make a game of it, narrowing the gap to 50-46 and 52-48, the latter with two minutes remaining.
Sloppy ball handling hurt the Harvesters in Tuesday's game. The Harvesters lost the ball several times by bad passes before getting a crack at the basket.
The Harvesters had a better than average percentage for field goal attempts, sinking 21 of 43 for 48 per cent.
The Green and Golds had a bad night from the free throw line, however, hitting only six of 13 attempts.
San Angelo left this morning enroute to Pampa for tomorrow's second game of the series. The Bobcats were to have held a workout at Plainview this afternoon before stopping overnight at Amarillo tonight.
Guard Ken Hinkle, who was held out for much of Tuesday's game because of illness, will likely be ready for full-time duty Friday. Hinkle started the game but was too weak to go all the way.
All tickets for tomorrow's game have been sold, according to the school business office. The business office said that fans may call in reservations for tickets to the third game of the series, if it is needed.
The third game will be played if the Harvesters win tomorrow. Site of the third game is Harvester Fieldhouse.
Playoff Date, Site Set For 11-B, 12-B
First game of regional playoff girls of winners 11B (Wheeler) and 12B (Samnorwood) will be played at McLean Feb. 28 at 8 p.m. The winner goes to Canyon for the Regional Tournament.

BOBCAT STAR—Bobby Joe Walker, above, had a big hand in leading the San Angelo Bobcats to 54-48 upset of the Pampa Harvesters Tuesday night at San Angelo. Walker pumped in 20 points in the Tuesday tilt. He'll be one of the starting Bobcat guards tomorrow night when the championship series resumes at Harvester Fieldhouse.

Bufs' Scott Retains Lead In Free Throws

NEW YORK, Feb. 17—UP—Richard (Buz) Wilkinson of Virginia, basketball's highest returning scorer from last season, moved up Thursday to challenge Furman's Darrell Floyd for the National Collegiate scoring lead.
Wilkinson, who stands six-two, tossed in 68 points in two games during the week ending Sunday, to boost his per game scoring average to 32.1 points. Only Floyd, with 40 points in a single game that week, is ahead of him with 35.5.
Wilkinson thus moved ahead of Robin Freeman of Ohio State, whose average is 31.5 points per game and will stay at that figure since he has quit for the season because of ill health.
Buzz Third Last Year
Wilkinson finished third in the nation in scoring last year with an average of 30.1 points per game—higher than all previous records. The two players who finished ahead of him, Frank Selvy of Furman and Bob Pettit of Louisiana State, now are playing professionally with the Milwaukee Hawks of the National Basketball Association.
Wilkinson, who actually leads Floyd in total points for the season, 675-674, moved this week into the exclusive 2,000 point club for his college career. This club had only two major-college members before the start of this season, but Wilkinson is now the eighth. His total is 2,010 not including a 45-point performance Tuesday night.
Other active major-college players in the 2,000 club are Dick Henric of Wake Forest, Tom Gola of LaSalle, George Dalton of John Carroll, Don Schundt of Indiana, and Cleo Littleton of Wichita.
Other Scorers Listed
Behind Floyd, Wilkinson, and Freeman in the top 10 in scoring this season are Bill Yerborough of Clemson at 28.6 points per game, Henric at 28.3, Jesse Arnette of Penn State at 28.1, Denver Brackeen of Mississippi at 27.3, sophomore Dick O'Neal of Texas Christian at 27, John Mahoney of William & Mary at 26.8 and Jack Twyman of Cincinnati, also 26.8.
Stan Givowski of Seattle took over the national basket-shooting lead with a 59.7 per cent shooting mark from the floor and Joe Holub of George Washington moved into second at 58.6 per cent. Gene Carpenter, four-week leader, dropped to third, also at 58.6 in fewer games.
Jim Scott of West Texas State retained the free throw shooting lead with an average of 90.8 per cent (29 of 32) to 86 per cent for Bob Walczak of Marquette—Charlie Slack of Marshall College stayed on top in rebounding with an average of 26.1 rebounds per game, followed by Art Quimby of Connecticut with 24.

SOMEONE HAS UNDER-RATED the San Angelo Bobcat basketball team.
Either the Bobcats were playing "over their heads" Tuesday night or the Southern Division of District 1-AAAA was stronger than most critics gave them credit for.
We still think the Harvesters can win the series but they'll have to bow their necks if they are to do so.
San Angelo showed lots of hustle in Tuesday's game and stole the show in this department from the Green and Golds.
It's true, of course, the Harvesters were a bit travel-weary Tuesday night. And lacked on top of that they were possibly exhausted from the crucial week end series with the Amarillo Sandies.
The Harvesters know now that they'll have to be ready for the Bobcats. The "Cats from the Concho" can't be taken lightly.
San Angelo has taken on added enthusiasm over their win Tuesday and they'll be tough to handle for the remainder of the series.
We were tickled to learn upon our return to the city late yesterday afternoon that Harvesters fans had gobbled up all of the tickets to tomorrow's game.
The Harvesters will need all the backing the fans here can give them. We didn't know how the fans here would take Tuesday's defeat. But apparently the fans are making a special effort to back the Harvesters to victory in the series as the advanced ticket sales will attest.
The spirit of the Harvester players, no doubt, took on a new lift when it was announced upon their arrival back home that tomorrow's game was already a complete sell-out.
We don't know what the rival fans of the Harvester cagers have against the Green and Golds but they have been the victims of unsportsmanlike conduct in the past two series with Amarillo and San Angelo.
You'll recall that the Harvesters were peppered with bean shots last Friday at Amarillo and were almost hit with rotten tomatoes Saturday night in the second game in our neighbor city.
Well Tuesday night, San Angelo fans tossed fire crackers at the Harvesters while the Green and Gold were taking their pre-game warmups.
We don't know how this might have upset them but it certainly showed bad sportsmanship on the part of San Angelo.
BOB MILBURN, SPORTS EDITOR of the San Angelo Standard-Times, asked San Angelo coach, Norman Mullins, on what he thought was the turning point of Tuesday's victory.
Mullins' comment was "Putt Powell."
We don't know what Putt said about San Angelo but the Bobcats were out to take it out on the Harvesters.
The clipping that Putt had written apparently running down the Bobcats was pasted in the Bobcat dressing room.
Don't know why that would apply to Pampa since Amarillo is the home of the Putt.

Ex-Harvester, Woods, High On Soph List

FRED WOODS
HOUSTON, Feb. 17—(Special)—This has been quite the season for sophomores in Southwest Conference basketball, and the Rice Owls are proud of a variety rookie, Fred Woods.
There has been much praise, and rightfully so, for such soph standouts as league scoring leader D.Dick O'Neal of T.C.U., big Jim Krebs of S.M.U., rangy Jerry Mallett of Baylor, and Texas' fast improving and high scoring Raymond Downs. Arkansas boasts of forward Terry Day, S.M.U. has able guard Bobby Mills, and there are other fine rookies in the circuit.
The Owls believe their newcomer, though, has done as much for his team as anyone. The handsomest youngster from Pampa is a regular at forward, and his fine rebounding and defensive play has been a major factor in the Owls' campaign that has produced more wins so far than a lot of experts expected after the graduation loss of stars Gene Schweiger and Don Lance of the '54 co-champs.
Statistically, Fred's record to date is impressive but not sensational. In 37 games he has scored 161 points for a 4.3 average per game with 57 field goals on 147 tries for .388, and 47 free throws on 68 attempts for .691. He's had 101 rebounds, has had 37 personal fouls but has only fouled out of one game. His high point total for one game was 18—he was high man for that contest in a 67-64 conquest of Baylor in the Southwest Conference tourney here with his parents and brother seeing that one on a Christmas holiday visit.
However, Woods' value to the Owls is more in his steadiness and all-around ability than in impressive box score totals. He has a good eye and fine shooting form, so he gets his proper share of points. But where the 6-3 lad really shines is defending against rival "hot shots" and clearing the boards in an amazing manner against teams that consistently have players three or four inches taller than Fred.
He might do much better here over a course he knows to perfection. Although it takes almost phenomenal golf to win at Brackenridge, where professional golf's low records of 60 for 18 holes, 28 for a front nine and 259 for a full 72 holes all were set.
Par always undergoes a terrific shattering here and this tournament—the 28th since Jack O'Brien spanned the idea of a $5,000 affair back in the early 1920's—should be no exception. The course and the weather seem to be in condition for it.
The Simon pure who might do it is Stan Mosel, a former North Texas state college NCAA championship star who grew up around Brackenridge Park's tight, par 36-38-71 layout.
Mosel was low amateur in three of the previous tournaments and last week at Tucson was only eight strokes off Tommy Bolt's winning pace with a 274 that would have gotten him eighth place in the pro money.

Texas Open Starts Today

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 17—UP—Veterans Johnny Palmer and Tommy Bolt and couple of fledgling pros, Gene Littler and Billy Maxwell, were rated the men to beat as the $12,500 Texas Open Golf tournament started Thursday.
Littler, like Maxwell a former National Amateur champion, and Bolt already have two tournament championship checks deposited in their bank as a result of victories along the eight-weeks old winter tour, while Palmer has one and Maxwell has a runnerup check to his credit.
The chunky Maxwell, a pro just barely long enough to make him eligible for the money, served his notice earlier this week by winning both divisions of a pro-amateur warmup that netted him $800.
The Texas Open, where the winter tour got its inception back in 1922, also might be the place for an amateur to beat the pros at their own game—something that hasn't happened since Littler turned the trick in the 1934 San Diego Open just before he turned pro.
The Simon pure who might do it is Stan Mosel, a former North Texas state college NCAA championship star who grew up around Brackenridge Park's tight, par 36-38-71 layout.

Maglie Comes To Terms With Giants

By UNITED PRESS
Only four World Series games have been played outside New York City in the last six years—but the "Big Town's" continued domination may depend on the rubber right arms of three somewhat elderly pitchers who signed contracts Thursday.
Returning signed parts on the same day were key hurlers Sal Maglie of the world champion New York Giants, Johnny Sain of the New York Yankees, and Jim Hughes, who set a Dodger record by relieving 60 times last season, in the "baby," he'll be 31 next month. Maglie, counted on to win those really "big" games for the Giants, and Sain, whose role as chief Yankee reliever has been stressed by the retirement of Alie Reynold, each admit to 28.
Maglie, who claims the back trouble that bothered him in 1953 is now cured, signed for the same $32,000 he received last year, after first rejecting a salary cut. "Sal the Barber" won 14 games as a "spot" pitcher last year with four wins over the Dodgers, including the pennant clincher on Sept. 20. Sain posted only a 6-6 mark last season, but trudge into 45 games and time and again was the "stopper" when Yankee starters faltered. Although he was somewhat ineffective in the last stages of the season when he seemed tired from overwork, Sain also signed for the same salary as last season, about $22,000.
Hughes, like Sain, was ineffective from weakness near the end of last season, but had an 8-4 record and was credited by the Dodgers with saving 24 other games. His earned run mark was 3.21, best of any pitcher who was with the Dodgers all season, and he was boosted to $14,000.
The Dodgers also signed rookie pitcher Ron Bessent, who had a 12-13 record at St. Paul, and now are missing only rookie pitcher Ron Negray. The Giants also signed infielder Foster Castellani and are missing only rookie outfielder Bob Lennon, Negray and Lennon both have been playing winter ball in Venezuela and are expected to sign when they return.
Willie Mays of the Dodgers and infielder Don Zimmer of the Giants both were scheduled to return to New York Thursday after playing with Sauter, the team that won the Caribbean World Series.
The Philadelphia Phillies announced the signing of four players—pitcher Ron Morozinski, who had a 3-1 record last season; catcher Gus Niarhos, who appeared in only three Phillies games last year; outfielder Danny Schell, who hit .283 in 92 games; and shortstop Robert Mielotta, up from Syracuse where he batted .229.

Harvester 9 To Play 12 1-AA Games

A 12-game conference schedule has been released for 1955 Pampa Harvester baseballers. Coach Deck Woldt revealed yesterday.
The Harvesters will play three games with each of the other four members of District 1-AA, Borger, Amarillo, Plainview and Lubbock.
First conference action for the Harvesters will be a doubleheader at Plainview, April 9.
The Harvesters' first home game will be Saturday, April 23, when Lubbock moves in for a double-header.
The Harvesters will begin baseball practice March 14, Woldt has announced.
Several non-conference games will be played before the conference race begins.
Pitching is due to be Woldt's chief worry at the moment since only one regular, John Perkins, is returning.

Marquette, Frisco Extend Win Streaks

By UNITED PRESS
Marquette and San Francisco, those twin tourney-bound comets of the court, now have extended their dazzling winning streaks to 20 and 18 games, respectively.
Marquette gained the 20 mark easily with a 93-83 romp over Bradley Wednesday night at Peoria, Ill., but San Francisco, the nation's highest-ranked team, was hard-pressed to make No. 18 with a 63-57 decision over St. Mary's Sunday in the Pampa Rifle and Pistol Club sponsored second annual Junior Rifle tournament to be held Sunday at 1 p.m. at the indoor range at Recreation Park, following a competitive run-off elimination.
The four-man team will compete Sunday in the Pampa Rifle and Pistol Club sponsored second annual Junior Rifle tournament to be held Sunday at 1 p.m. at the indoor range.
The Gray County team, under the direction of adult instructors, A. P. Coombes and Assistant County Agent Jerry Mobly, will shortly begin preparations for the district contest in April at West Texas State College at Canyon. The district 4-H winner goes to the state contest at Texas A&M College at College Station, June 7-9.
The Gray County 4-H team, organized 10 years ago, won the district championship in 1953. On the team were: Bob Coombes, County Champion, Paul Eckin, and Jimmy Bond. The 1954 team won top honors at The Top of Texas Agri-culture and Livestock Achievement Days in August. Staffing the team were Alvin Dater, Bob Coombes, E. D. Robson, Jr., and John Schodtfield, Jr.
It was a case of brother coaching brother as the Aggies, coached by Hank Isa, took command after the first eight minutes against Tulsa, coached by Clarence Ba, Tulsa rallied from a 33-28 halftime deficit to trail by only three points with 10 minutes left for Tulsa. Pat Peterson led Tulsa with 25 points, while Vic Barnhouse had 21 for the Aggies.
By contrast, Pennsylvania took a commanding Ivy League lead by whipping Brown, 67-61, while second-place Columbia was being upset by Princeton, 53-52.
In other leading games Wednesday night: St. Bonaventure took its 56th straight home court win, 90-82, over Westminster College; LaSalle took an 89-69 over Albright; North Carolina beat Wake Forest, 83-79, in an Atlantic Coast Conference game; VMI won a 76-74 victory over Virginia Tech and a good chance for the last playoff berth in the Southern Conference; Canisius trounced Villanova, 86-63; Connecticut, wallopped Rutgers, 91-78; Gettysburg upset Navy in overtime, 74-72; Army downed Hartwick, 73-63; West Virginia beat Pittsburgh, 92-86; Lafayette dethroned Muhlenberg, 71-60; Western Kentucky defeated Oklahoma, City, 71-59; and Kansas beat Oklahoma, 87-73.
An experiment with the rules will claim a lot of attention on Thursday night's slim court program. In the first game of a Madison Square Garden doubleheader, Manhattan and New York University will clash under the professional rules. Then Niagara and St. John's will meet in the second game under college rules for a contrast that may guide the rule-makers.

ESAD TWIGGS! YOU'VE ALWAYS STRUCK ME AS AN INVESTOR OF THE CANNIER SORT!—
I'LL REQUIRE—OH, SAY $100—
TO FINANCE CONSTRUCTION OF A WORKING MODEL OF MY AIR-CONDITIONED CHAIR—WOULD YOU—
COULD YOU—
AH-ER—
CONSIDER—
HERE I GO AGAIN!—
WELL, I'VE PUT DOUGH INTO OIL, WELLS THAT TURNED OUT TO BE JUST A LITTLE GAS IN THE EARTH'S STOMACH—
AT LEAST THIS IS A SWITCH—
I'M BUYING A BUNCH OF AIR—
AND IF THE CHAIR DON'T GO I CAN SIT IN IT AND ROCK MYSELF!

HERE'S HOW TO ENTER medical and child care expenses, losses and miscellaneous deductions. Note itemized lists required.

Income Tax Primer No. 10

Medical Expense, Other Deductions

By RICHARD A. MULLEN, Written for NEA Service

The new tax law substantially increases the amount which may be claimed as a medical expense and has added a brand new deduction—child care expense...

Medical expenses exceeding three per cent of adjusted gross income are now allowed as a deduction, subject to a maximum limitation explained later...

There is, however, no percentage limit on the deduction for medical expenses for the care of the taxpayer or his wife if either was 65 or over before Jan. 1, 1955...

The maximum dollar limit on the amount of medical expense deduction has been doubled under the new law. The top limit is now: On a joint return or return of a head of household...

On a separate return of a taxpayer not the head of a household, $2500 if one exemption is claimed and $5000 if two or more exemptions are claimed...

In determining the limit on medical expenses, do not count the extra exemption for old age or blindness. Expenditures for medicines and drugs can be treated as a medical expense only to the extent that they exceed one per cent of your adjusted gross income...

The so-called child care deduction for working mothers has several restrictions which will disappoint many taxpayers. For one thing, even though you qualify for the deduction, you cannot claim it and the standard deduction too...

The only people entitled to this deduction are women (including working wives) and men (provided they are widowers, legally separated, or divorced) who, in order to be gainfully employed, must pay for the care of one or more of the following described dependents:

- 1. A son, daughter, or stepchild who is under 12 years of age. Amounts paid for the care of such a person 12 years of age or over cannot be included in the deduction unless the dependent qualifies as: 2. Any dependent who is physically or mentally unable to care for himself...

A taxpayer is considered to be gainfully employed if he is working for someone else, is self-employed, or is looking for work. For any one year, you cannot deduct more than $600 for such expenses, regardless of how much more you actually spent...

Russ Ready To Discuss Treaty TOKYO, Feb. 17—UP—Russia notified Japan Wednesday that she is ready to discuss a peace treaty with Tokyo.

The Russian, the Russians said, can pick the time and place—including United Nations headquarters in New York—for the negotiations. The Soviet Union was the only major Allied power that refused to sign the San Francisco peace treaty ending the Japanese hostilities...

Mine, Mill Workers Expect Favorable Court Decision

DENVER, Feb. 17—UP—The Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union feels sure a U.S. Court of Appeals will strike down Thursday on a charge of falsely swearing to the National Labor Relations Board's denial of protection in its labor disputes.

The court ruled unanimously Tuesday in Washington that the NLRB could not withhold recognition from a union on the grounds one of its officers had filed a false non-Communist oath with full knowledge of the membership.

The decision upheld a lower court order granted earlier to the International Fur and Leather Workers against the NLRB. The Mine-Mill union said in Denver Tuesday night that the "defeat administered by the court of appeals" in the leather workers case was also "a defeat for the NLRB in the Mine-Mill case."

Court Has No Authority The court "has told the NLRB in definite language that it is without authority to pass on the Taft-Hartley non-Communist affidavit," the union's executive committee declared.

The NLRB said the union was no longer "in compliance" with NLRB regulations after Union Secretary-Treasurer Maurice E. Travis was arrested on charges he swore falsely to a Taft-Hartley anti-Communist affidavit.

It is the NLRB's contention that the Mine-Mill membership knew Travis was lying in his affidavits. In its ruling Tuesday, the Court of Appeals said, "Congress explicitly provided a criminal penalty for false non-Communist affidavits. It is assumed that this threat of criminal sanctions would be a sufficient deterrent to false swearing by union officials. If these sanctions have proved insufficient, it is for Congress, not the Board, to provide new ones."

The Mine Workers union had received an "informal" favorable decision from three appeals judges earlier this week. One More Question The union said Tuesday there remained one more question to be settled. "What will the Board do now," the union asked, "to repair the damage it has inflicted on this union and its membership while this case has been pending?"

The union said it believes the NLRB owes it an accounting for financial and other costs to the union imposed by the case. It also said "the time has come" for Congress to investigate the other "recent anti-union actions and decisions of this agency."

The Mine Workers union, which claims 70,000 members in western states and another 30,000 in Canada, was expelled by the CIO on the grounds it had been infiltrated by Communists.

Brewery Workers On Strike

GALVESTON, Feb. 17—UP—Maintenance workers of the Galveston-Egerton Brewery, makers of Southern Select beer, were striking Wednesday against a proposed wage cut, and members of the CIO union local voted to honor the AFL picket lines.

Walt Newman, Galveston Labor Council (AFL) business manager, said the company proposed a 45 cent an hour cut for workers in the higher-pay classification and 32.2 cents an hour cut for lower classifications.

A company official said Tuesday that only 12 or 13 maintenance men belonging to the AFL local were striking. At the time, the CIO was crossing the lines.

But CIO local No. 130 voted Tuesday night to support the strike, Sam Musey, agent for the Brewery, union, said.

Musey said the CIO-AFL co-operation was "entirely local and had nothing to do with a CIO-AFL merger."

Meanwhile, another threatened strike was temporarily averted when the Office Workers Union and Gas Workers Union agreed to resume negotiations with the Southern Union Gas Co. in Galveston.

The groups earlier had threatened to strike when their contract ran out last Saturday midnight, but they tentatively agreed to continue working while contract talks were progressing.

The union workers sought increased pay and longer vacations in a new one-year contract. Paul E. Nicholls, district manager for the company, would not say what changes had been worked out in the contract thus far, but said negotiations would continue.

Cities Bid For GOP Convention

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17—UP—Representatives of Chicago, Philadelphia and San Francisco put in their bids Wednesday for the 1956 Republican national convention.

They submitted the invitations to a seven-member subcommittee which will make its recommendation Thursday to the GOP national committee.

The Democrats already have cited tentatively on the week of July 23, but will hold their convention the week of Aug. 13 if state laws are changed to permit later certification of nominees.
