Sure, And 'Tis The Green They're Wearin' In Shamrock Today

By LOUISE COFFMAN Pampa News Correspondent SHAMROCK - (Special) - The City of Shamrock, the outpost of Old Erin in the Texas Panhandle, went wild late this morning as the Shamrock National Guard unit Color Guard led off the 15-mile-long annual St. Patrick's Day Parade.

deep at all the intersections to the parade route. An estimated 45,000 spectators had pushed their way into this city that normally boasts a population of perhaps 5,000. Eleven hundred of those people were in the bands and the floats in the parade. The parade itself had 10 sections, each one of them with seven units in it.

The oldest settler to have registered by parade time was F. W. Tilton, 88, of Shamrock. And he is really a native - he was born in Wheeler County. Leading the dignitaries in this Irish - city - for - the - day was Oklahoma Lt. Gov. Cowboy Williams. Dignitaries were introduced on the sound stage after the concert by the Shamrock Irish Band. The Anadarko (Okla.) High School Band traveled the longest distance. And all the bands were fed lunch at noon.

and the Irish "spirit" had a host of events packed into the rest of this one special day. Irish music, interspersed with hillbilly and western numbers, waited for the crowd from the sound stage during the noon hour. All the "Irish" lassies entered in the colleen contest attended a luncheon at 12:45 p.m. in the First Christian Church with Miss Molly Mayfield. "Miss Shamrock of 1955," serving as official hostess. Miss Mayfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Mayfield, was the Shamrock High School football queen in 1953 and football queen attendant in 1954. Among the other colleens entered in the Colleen Queen Contest were Francis Henry, Erick, Okla.; Annette Weinheimer, Groom; Barbara Lorene Lennon, Dodson; Kathryn Knutson, Gruver; Sandra Stiles, Kelton; Gayle Russell, Miami; Gene Havens, McLean; Donna Ramsey, Canadian; Willetta Sims, Mobeetie; Mae Donaldson, Allison; Lonelle Lee, Wheeler; Gayle Young, Wellington; and Sandy Ely, Amarillo.

Fifteen minutes after the lassies began their luncheon, the Pamhandle A&M Precision Drill Team, Goodwell, Okla., performed on the sound stage and the drill team was followed by the Texas Indian Dancers of Borger at 1:30 p.m. Then Miss Maxine Green Canyon baton twirler, who appeared a year ago, did her act. The Hardin-Simmons University Symphonic Orchestra, which appeared in Pampa Wednesday night, played a concert in the Clark Auditorium, beginning at 2 p.m. A quarter of an hour later, on the sound stage, the West Texas State College Buffalo Band appeared for another concert. At the same time the two concerts were underway, the Wheeler County Sheriff's Posse Rodeo kicked off with its grand march at the Lions Club Park, west of Shamrock. Posse men were dressed - appropriately enough - in green shirts and white chaps. Cortez Barnett, posse parade marshal, was master of ceremonies for the annual affair, and Lloyd Whitledge, Sweetwater, Okla., furnished the music. (See IRISH, Page 4)

ONE OF THE FLOATS - The Shamrock Chamber of Commerce entered this float, one of many, in this morning's annual St. Patrick's Day Parade. Crowds jammed the streets to watch the parade which began at 11 a. m. and went for the best part of an hour. Dozens of activities were planned in Shamrock during the day.

Yalta Talks Released With Shocks, Surprise

Army Security Called Confused

WASHINGTON - UP - Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-S.D.) said Thursday testimony in the Peres case showed that the Army's security program in 1953 was "an unconscionable state of confusion." "I hope there will now be indication that the roadblocks have been eliminated," Mundt told newsmen. The Senate Investigating subcommittee recalled a Pentagon intelligence officer, Lt. Col. James D. Anders, for more questioning on the Army's handling of former Maj. Irving Peres, who was honorably discharged after refusing to tell Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) whether he was a Communist.

Churchill Cites U.S. 'Errors'

LONDON - UP - Prime Minister Winston Churchill told Parliament Thursday that the American version of the Yalta papers contains "some serious mistakes." He added that it seemed to him it would have been "a good thing" if he had been consulted on the text before it was published. Churchill was plainly annoyed at release of the embarrassing Yalta documents by the U.S. State Department against his wishes. The prime minister, lone survivor of the Big Three who charted the postwar world at Yalta in February, 1945, made it clear by implication that he disapproved and resented the American decision to publish the documents in his lifetime.

Diplomatic Storm Brews Over 10-Year-Old Papers

WASHINGTON - UP - Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said Thursday he expects the controversy over records of the Yalta conference which changed world history "to go on through the age." The Yalta papers made public Wednesday night proved the Crimea conference in 1945 to be a good deal for Communist Russia. At the conference the late President Roosevelt dealt the Reds into the war against Japan. The Russian armies struck in the East only five days before Japan accepted unconditional surrender. Mr. Roosevelt's "bloodthirsty" attitude toward them and the Yalta plan to dismember their nation. Churchill will be unhappy. He has opposed publication of the Yalta conference details at this time. Churchill is the lone survivor of the Yalta Big Three. The State Department had delayed publication to avoid what was described as international complications. There was anxiety here and in Great Britain last night about the Yalta papers. Churchill is the lone survivor of the Yalta Big Three. Texas House Opens Debate On Whopping Spending Bill

AUSTIN UP - House members opened debate Thursday on a record-whopping $1,512,426,951 state spending program for the next two fiscal years. An even larger proposal, amounting to the all-time high of $1,553,000,000, was scheduled for consideration Thursday afternoon by the Senate Finance committee. Both measures carried with them the certain need for additional taxes, soaring to an estimated $60 million over the next biennium. The House bill would tap the general revenue fund, the main cash drawer of the state, to the tune of $32.6 million over present spending. Multi-million dollar increased appropriations are approved for old-age pensions, public education, state hospitals and highways. Meantime, members of the lower chamber pondered a special House committee report recommending

Harlan OK Clears Way For Race Vote

WASHINGTON - UP - Senate confirmation of John Marshall Harlan as an associate justice of the Supreme Court cleared the way Thursday for early action on the controversial issue of public school segregation. The high court is expected within the next few weeks to set a spring date for hearings on how and when the states shall abolish separate school systems for whites and Negroes. Segregation was declared unconstitutional last May. The oral arguments have been held up for months until Harlan could fill the vacancy caused by the death of Justice Robert H. Jackson last October. The Senate's long-delayed vote came late Wednesday after a day of debate in which opponents attacked Harlan's lack of judicial experience, his association with internationalist groups and with former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

Red Guns Shell Amoy

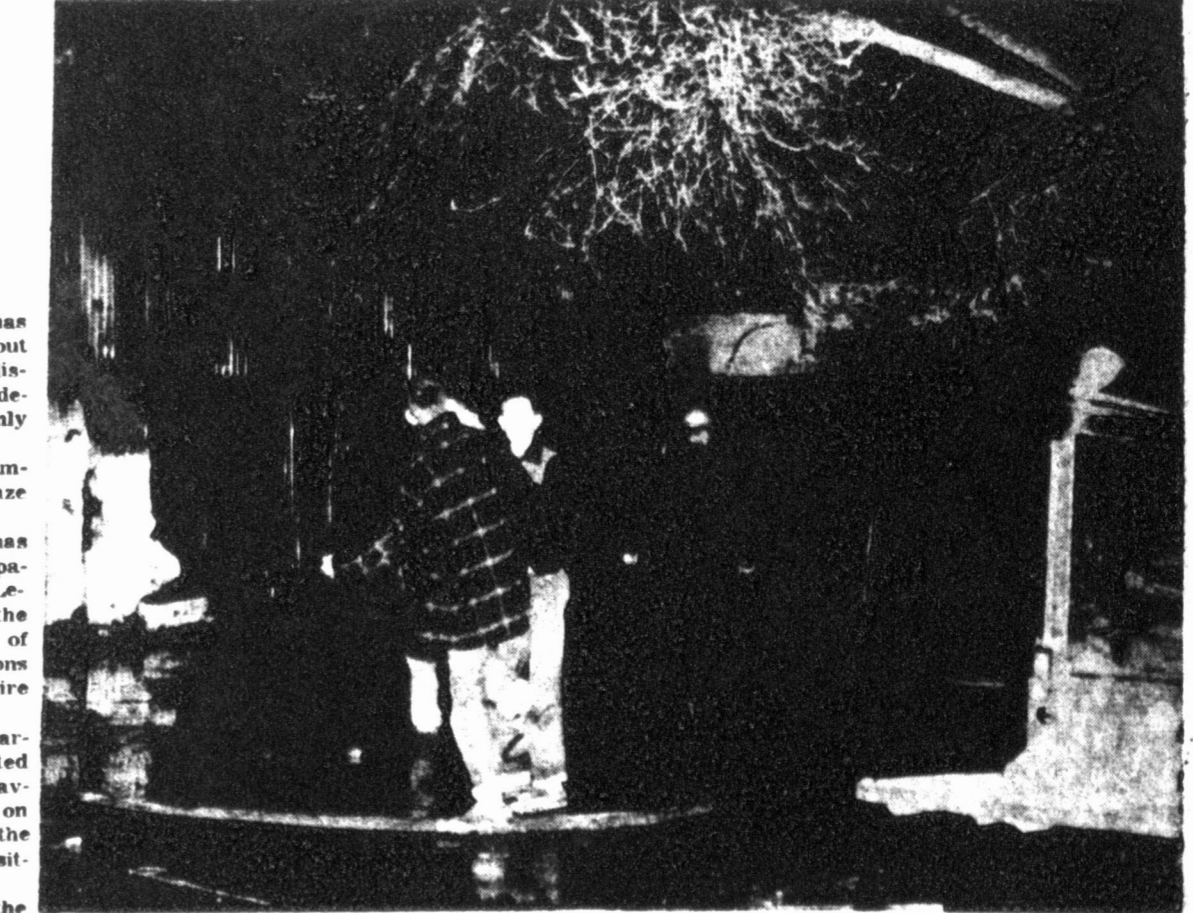

TAIPEI, Formosa - UP - Communist artillery on Amoy shelled Nationalist Chinese positions on little Quemoy Island early Thursday, but caused no damage. The Nationalist military information service reported the Reds fired 14 rounds from big guns between 10:15 and 10:50 a. m., without effect. If it comes from a Hardware Store, we have it. Lewis Rude.

Worst Fire In 10 Years Destroys Lefors Theatre

(Editor's Note: News Staff Writer Joel Combs, a Lefors resident, is a member of the Lefors volunteer fire department and was on hand to aid in the fire fighting last night and then wrote this first-hand account of the blaze.) By JOEL COMBS Pampa News Staff Writer LEFORS - Raging flames in Lefors' worst fire in 10 years destroyed the Rogue Theatre and a service station grease room here shortly before midnight Wednesday. The fire burned for an hour and a half, and damages today were estimated at nearly $21,000. The fire was reported by Bill Watson, who lives across the alley from the movie house. He reported that his wife smelled smoke and when he got up to investigate he could see flames shooting through the sides of the theater building. His son, Joe Dan and Mrs. Rena Cole, owner, estimated the fire station, about a mated a $20,000 loss. Mrs. Cole block away, and turned in the alarm. In less than five minutes the Lefors Volunteer Fire Department was on the scene and, although they required the assistance of the Pampa Fire Department, managed to save an adjoining building, the Pioneer Club, owned by F. C. Jones, which is only about three feet from the theatre. The origin of the fire was unknown this morning. It is estimated the fire had been burning about 30 minutes before it was discovered. W. C. Breining, owner of the service station, said that although several oil cans in his building did not burn, damage to his establishment would reach $1,500 with the loss of his air compressor, battery charger, and various other equipment in the blaze. He had no insurance coverage in effect. The theatre was a total loss. The building was a total loss. The theatre building, his son, Joe Dan and Mrs. Rena Cole, owner, estimated the fire station, about a mated a $20,000 loss. Mrs. Cole who, with her son Rondal, has run the show in Lefors for about three years, fainted when she discovered that her building was destroyed. The theatre was only partly covered with insurance. Approximately 500 persons jammed the area soon after the blaze was discovered. Mayor Fred Blackwell, who has been instrumental in getting capable fire fighting equipment for Lefors, was one of the first on the scene and spent a good portion of the night seeing that precautions were taken to prevent the fire breaking out again. The Pampa Fire Department arrived minutes after the reported fire and were instrumental in saving the rest of the buildings on the block. They remained until the fire was extinguished and the situation was under control. Lefors citizens said it was the worst fire since three business buildings burned adjacent to the present site of the Cut Rate Grocery over 10 years ago.

FIRE EXTINGUISHED - The blaze which destroyed the Rogue Theatre and W. C. Breining's grease room is extinguished and fire fighters are about to put up equipment after the $21,500 fire in Lefors last night. (News Photo)

Marilyn Monroe Mary Pickford MARY PREFERS MARILYN

Retired Actress Mary Pickford, shown at right in a 1921 photo when she ruled as "America's Sweetheart," has picked the girl she wants to portray her life on the screen, if and when a movie of her is made. The girl is Marilyn Monroe, left, whom Miss Pickford thinks could play the role "better than most actresses in Hollywood."

Ex-Big League Pitcher Now Selling Atom Bomb Shelters

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON —UP— I was out for my morning swim in the pool at the Shamrock hotel in Houston and under 10 feet of water whom did I bump into but Mort pitcher of the St. Louis Cardinals. Cooper the former right-handed "Glad I ran into you," of Mort said, "I would like to sell you an A-bomb shelter like they probably will be using at that new housing development called Sharpstown here in Houston."

It turned out that old Mort is still in there pitching, but now he is in a bigger league. He is vice president of a bomb shelter manufacturing company which dearly loves his name and reputation. Mort has the developers of the new $400 million housing project interested in something that may add up to a bomb cellar in each of the 25,000 units of the new project.

Best part of it is, said the big Texas, is that folks in the development can install a shelter for 75 cents a month.

The shelters, according to the former hurler, are being built with the approval of the government, under 30 feet of concrete and steel and "no home should be without one."

Mort said that one of these hide-aways can be installed in eight hours, which maybe or maybe not would be fast enough.

The old right-hander dog paddled away and up came another old pal in the swimming pool. There was T. C. (Buddy) Brennan Jr., who isn't built like a Texas, but talks like one.

He looked pretty sharp in his white swimming gear. Texas, he let me know, doesn't go in for anything cheap—except when it comes to taking care of Texans. Like in this Sharpstown housing development there you can get three bedrooms with roses all around for $12,000.

"But guess what we've got planned for the poor man's golfer," said Buddy. "For $29 a year a whole family can belong to our country club. And not only that, we will have fine eating facilities at restaurant prices."

Buddy Brennan is rightly proud of his boss, Frank Sharp, since Mr. S. has made our lad general manager of a gigantic operation.

"Know what that fellow did?" Buddy said, puffing to the surface.

$700-A-Month Worker Admits Robberies

HOUSTON —UP—A former Air Force officer who earns $700 a month as an oil company geologist and hasn't a financial worry admitted to police Wednesday he had an avocation—robbing parking meters.

But he wouldn't say why, only that he "worked" at his avocation only on Tuesday nights—his "club night" out—so his wife wouldn't know.

The 33-year-old geologist was caught Tuesday night by police Lt. Jack Wilburn while he was systematically opening a row of downtown parking meters and dumping the nickels in his pocket.

Wilburn said the man had been doing it for months, and a search of his car and garage turned up five boxes of nickels that weighed more than 100 pounds.

Wilburn obtained a search warrant to hunt for more nickels in the modest home where the geologist lives with his wife, six-year-old daughter and three-year-old son.

Merger Talks Terminated DALLAS —UP—Harry Rolnick, president of Resistol Hats, Inc., disclosed Monday that negotiations have been underway for two years on a proposed merger of Resistol and the Hat Corporation of America of South Norwalk, Conn., but that the two firms have been unable to reach an agreement and talks have been terminated. The two companies are among the nation's largest hat manufacturers.

The National Guard armory was the scene at 3 p.m. of the presentation of awards to the winning bands and floats in the parade and the coronation of "Miss Irish Rose." The old fiddlers whipped out a fast concert at 3:30 p.m. on the sound stage and Russ Gary and his orchestra played a free dance for high school students at the same time in the armory.

The last item on the St. Pat's Day agenda is a dance, scheduled to begin at 9 p.m. today in the armory with Russ Gary and his orchestra furnishing the music. The Russ Gary Floor Show will be a special attraction.

All during the day of the Wear-in of the Green a carnival featuring rides for the youngsters was set up on the Puckett's Food Store parking lot. Downtown Shamrock was roped off and concession stands lined the sidewalks offering for sale the usual souvenirs and trinkets that, in the words of the Shamrock Texan, "the youngsters love, the women tolerate and men pay for."

Lonnie Burks was the general chairman of the St. Patrick's Day Association.

And the Shamrock Texan, as is its custom, published its special celebration issue in green — every page of it.

observers to protect an honest poll.

Public opinion in France may react to the agreement of Mr. Roosevelt and Stalin that France should have no part in post-war administration of occupied Germany — although France might, perhaps, have a zone of her own as a "kindness." Churchill demanded that France resume her place in post-war Europe. He said he had to think of the time when the Americans went home (in "two years," FDR told him) and Britain might need France again as a defense against Germany.

Lively Developments

Publication of the Yalta papers promises some lively developments. The overall Yalta story, the commitments and results, long have been known. But the details were secret. Much will remain so because the documents published Wednesday night admittedly were not complete, although they were certified as giving the most definitive and comprehensive picture possible at this time. The State Department said it had deleted no matter of substance.

The documents cannot fail to whip up again debate whether FDR was justified in making, at the expense of China, political and territorial concessions to persuade the Soviet Union to join the war against Japan.

They show that Mr. Roosevelt thought breaking Germany into five or seven different states would be "a good idea."

He was deeply concerned about Poland at the Yalta conference. The President told Churchill and Stalin that the Polish vote was big in the United States and he wanted at least "a gesture" to take back to the 6 million Americans of Polish extraction. But Stalin and Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov finally beat down the British-American plan to have the Big Three ambassadors observe the post-war Polish elections to insure a free and honest ballot. Mr. Roosevelt backed down on that.

The British protested to the last. Stalin also won on his demands for a slice of eastern Poland.

Miss Occasional Participant

Alger Hiss emerges from the papers as an occasional participant in discussions, but with no discernible policy part in the show. His pencilled notes in a single file folder were reproduced but revealed nothing as to the influence — great or small — which he may have had.

Charles E. Bohlen, then an assistant secretary of state and now U.S. Ambassador to the Soviet Union, was the principal contributor to what admittedly is an official record far from complete. He served at Yalta as Mr. Roosevelt's interpreter. Papers of some of the other participants were not made available to the State Department in preparing the documents as published. They were compiled largely from department records, notes such as Bohlen and others took and documents in the French-lin D. Roosevelt library in Hyde Park.

Okla., are visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Kiser, 722 Buckler, Kiser, who has been seriously reported to be improved.

Bohlen recorded Mr. Roosevelt's great shock at the Crimea devastation effected by the Germans. He said the President seemed "more bloodthirsty" against the Germans at Yalta than a year before at Tehran where he had advanced the idea of cutting Germany up into five or seven parts. He set down that Mr. Roosevelt expressed the hope that Stalin would propose again a toast for the execution of "50,000 officers of the German army."

No Discussion of Concessions

Mr. Roosevelt told Stalin he did not discuss the concession matters with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, adding that "one of the difficulties involved in speaking to the Chinese was that anything said to them was known to the whole world in 24 hours." Stalin agreed and told the President he did not think the time had come to talk to the Chinese about the matters being discussed at Yalta.

There was occasional small talk and the President told Stalin he had been betting the Americans would reach Manila before Stalin's soldiers took Berlin. Stalin wouldn't bet; said the Germans just then were giving his armies a hard time.

Christian Science Lecture Is Set

That God is a powerful means of solving our daily problems will be illustrated in a free Christian Science lecture to be given at 3 p.m. Sunday in the Senior High School auditorium.

Miss Florence Middaugh of Los Angeles, Calif., a member of the board of Lectureship, currently on a nationwide lecture tour, will be the speaker. Her subject will be "Christian Science: The Science of Pure Christianity."

Pampa's First Church of Christ Scientist is sponsoring the lecture, which is open to the public.

Hy. 70 Open To Bronte

State Highway 70 from here south to Bronte, a distance of 275 miles, is now open, according to Fred Thompson, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Highway Committee.

A new section of road between Clarendon and Turkey was only recently completed which cuts the distance between the two points south by some 20 miles. At Bronte the road connects with U. S. Hwy. 277 through to Del Rio, Eagle Pass, and Old Mexico.

The section of Texas Hwy. 70 between here and Perryton is complete except for the opening of the Canadian River bridge set for April 29. Total mileage between Perryton and Bronte is 335 miles.

Wiring Group To Organize

An Adequate Wiring Bureau, which is to become affiliated with the National Adequate Wiring Bureau, has been formed in Pampa. The purpose of the group is to insure adequate wiring in housing "from blueprint to purchase," according to Joe Gidden, secretary of the Pampa bureau.

Officers for the bureau were selected at a meeting earlier this week. H. D. Waters is president. Named to the executive committee were B. R. Cantrell, Ed Ward, T. M. Brooks, Ben Ogden and Robert Burns. Chosen for the standards committee were W. T. Seitz, James Cowan, Quentin Williams, E. W. Southard and Jack Chisholm.

A joint meeting of the executive and standards committees will be held "sometime next week." Gidden said today. One of the points on the agenda for the session is the election of an inspector.

The Pampa chapter of the national bureau is the second of its kind in the Panhandle. Efforts will be made, Gidden concluded, to bring the Pampa group into the national organization at the earliest possible time.

Chamber Sets Credit Class

A retail credit institute will be held in Pampa May 2-4, conducted by Heinz Ulrich, Jr., retail credit specialist with the University of Texas, and sponsored by the Retail Merchants Association and the Chamber of Commerce.

The course, offered with the cooperation of the University of Texas extension division, will be held from 7 to 10 p.m. in the Palm Room of the City Hall, according to Joe Tooley, chairman of the Merchant Activities committee.

Areas covered in the three, nightly sessions are opening accounts profitably, reducing credit risks, increasing credit volume, controlling accounts safely, and decreasing collection problems.

This is the first time the course has been offered. The enrollment fee is three dollars. The Chamber of Commerce is now handling advance enrollment.

GI Waives Extradition In Murder

WACO, Tex. —UP— An emotional AWOL soldier from Fort Hood, Tex. Wisconsin where he is charged with slaying his parents because they hadn't written him or sent him money for three weeks. The soldier, Pvt. Eugene Salzman 24, was returned to McLennan county jail where he was being held for his return to Hayward, Wis., on charges of ambushing and robbing his parents, Emil, 45, and Clara Salzman, 39. Salzman denied that a second man was involved in the double slaying, although reports from Wisconsin said two men were seen in a car near the murder scene. The reports said that one of the men had a bandaged head and was dark and pock marked. Salzman has no head injury and does not fit that description. Salzman, absent without leave from Fort Hood since March 2, told Waco authorities he "just got mad" at his parents because they had not written him for three weeks, nor sent him any money.

WHEELER — (Special) — Miss Janet Russ was named top honor student of Wheeler High School's 1955 graduating class with an average grade of 99 according to a recent announcement made by school officials.

She will be awarded the honor of delivering the customary valedictory on the commencement program.

Canadian Scouter Due High Award

The first Arrowhead Honor ever to be given in the Adobe Walls Council will be presented to J. C. Cronson, Scoutmaster of Troop 71, Canadian, during the giant Explorers training season beginning March 19 in Pampa.

The Arrowhead Honor is earned by a Scoutmaster who performs a certain program and administrative activities with his Troop and keeps records of these activities which show that the activities are superior to the Council Average in the field. As evidenced by the fact that this is the first one ever presented in this council, few of the awards are earned.

In addition, Berson will also receive the highest training award, Scoutmaster's Key, for outstanding performance in helping others through training courses maintaining a high degree of efficiency in his Troop for the three years.

Lottery Tickets Turn Up

SEBANY, Ga. — UP — Police hunting a war on the numbers set reported Tuesday that a man found a number of lottery tickets in a woman suspect's "falsified" bra. Another batch was found up in a shoebox by a German in the Flint River.

Meditations for LENT

By DR. J. CARTER SWAIN
Written for NEA Service

Jesus taught that temptation has its origin in inner desire. James says it gives an interesting analysis of the psychological process by which evil desires come swiftly to the logical conclusion: "desire when it has conceived gives birth to sin; and sin when it is full grown brings forth death." This is illustrated in the Genesis story of how sin entered the world. Our first parents desired what was not theirs. Desire led to disobedience, and disobedience resulted in an expulsion from the garden.

car, as other boys do. His parents cannot afford one and so he steals. Not knowing how to drive, he violates traffic laws, steps on the gas to escape the cops — and journey's end comes in death on the highway.

It is sobering in this connection to remember that others may want to follow our manner of life. Do we live in extravagance that arouses envy? High school youngsters desire to drink as they have seen their parents do. Their joy ride ends in head-on collision, and death for all. Desire, sin, death — it is a logical and fatal sequence. The only place to stop it is before it begins.

MAKES HAM LOAF — Mrs. Bill Braly, 1105 Terrace, is shown mixing up her ham loaf, whose secret lies in the sauce served with it. Good for company or for the family, it is easy to prepare. She also advised serving it warm, not hot, as it tastes better and slices easier. (News photo)

THIS IS MY DISH:

Horseradish Sauce Adds To Ham Loaf

By JANE KADINGO
Pampa News Women's Editor
A dish that is good for company and for the family is Mrs. Bill Braly's ham loaf. It is easy to prepare, giving you time to enjoy company rather than spending all your time in the kitchen. Mrs. Braly, originally from Tulsa, Okla., has been a Pampa since 1938. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom O'Rourke, also of Pampa. Considering Mrs. Braly's maiden name, she makes a good feature of St. Patrick's Day, which, of course, is today. Her husband, a tool pusher for the O'Rourke Well Service Company, has been a Pampa since 1948. He is originally from Brady. "Cooking is one thing I like to do," Mrs. Braly stated. She cooks for her husband and her two children, Sheila, 4 and Tim, 2½. She learned to cook from her mother, and although she did some before her marriage, she didn't really do much of it until after she was married. In addition to her household duties, Mrs. Braly is a member of Beta Gamma Kappa sorority, belongs to a bridge club and to Holy Souls Altar Society and Parish Council of Catholic Women.

Juice of 1 lemon
2 tsp. prepared mustard
Mix ingredients together. Place in loaf pan and sprinkle with ½ cup brown sugar. Bake at 350 degrees for 1½ hours.
SAUCE
1 cup whipped cream, beaten stiff
1 Tbsp. finely chopped pimento
1 Tbsp. horseradish sauce
Fold pimento and horseradish into whipped cream.
Mrs. Braly says the loaf is best served warm, not hot. And it is also good served cold, during the warm summer months. She says the loaf slices better when just warm. It makes a good company dish, especially for buffet dinners, she explained. She serves the sauce in a separate dish.

Orange flavored apples with pork chops are dressy enough to serve for company and a delicious treat for the family, too. Combine 2 teaspoons grated orange rind, ½ cup orange juice and ½ cup granulated sugar in saucepan or skillet. Core four spicy Washington Winesap apples and cut into quarters. Arrange apples, skin side up, in the liquid and cover. Simmer over low heat 10 to 15 minutes, or until apples are tender. Arrange apples on heated platter with pork chops. Cook orange over apples. Serves 4.

Upside Down Cake Gives Good Dessert

Here is an unusual recipe for a really delicious pineapple upside down cake. Cream of Rice, quick-cooking rice cereal, is used as the main ingredient. . . . this gives a very interesting texture and a delightful crust. Incidentally, this cake will be most welcome to anyone with an allergy to wheat.
3 tablespoons butter
1 cup sugar
1½ teaspoon ginger
9-ounce can sliced pineapple
7 maraschino cherries
2 eggs, separated
½ teaspoon salt
2-3 cup Cream of Rice, quick-cooking rice cereal
Melt butter in bottom of 9-inch round baking dish. Combine ½ cup sugar and ginger. Spread evenly over bottom of baking dish. Place drained pineapple and cherries in design over sugar mixture. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry, gradually adding all but 2 tablespoons of the remaining ½ cup sugar. Beat egg yolks and last 2 tablespoons sugar until fluffy and lemon-colored. Add salt and Cream of Rice to beaten yolks. Mix well, then fold into beaten egg whites. Pour batter over pineapple, spreading evenly. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degree F., until cereal is cooked through, about 40 minutes. Remove from oven. Run knife around edge of pan, then invert on serving plate. Serves 6.

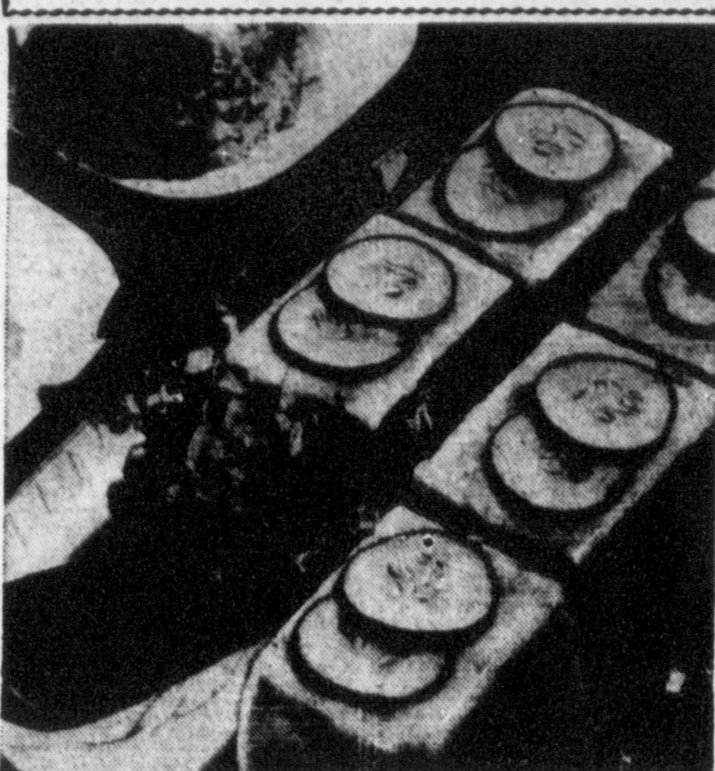

MANNERS MAKE FRIENDS

When talking to a person who is ill or is facing an operation, don't tell him about some friend or relative to yours who had "exactly the same trouble."
No one who is ill wants to hear about the illnesses of others.

Dixie Pork Chops With Creole Sauce

Tasty Pork Chops a la Dixie is a dish your family will look forward to having often. Prepared this savory Dixie way, the pork flavor is developed to the fullest. Browned chops are simmered in an easy to make Creole sauce, then served over fluffy white tender cooked rice.

PORK CHOPS A LA DIXIE
Fresh Fruit Salad
Garlic Bread
Prune Pudding
Ingredients:
6 pork chops
2 cups tomato juice
1½ tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
Dash of Tabasco sauce
1 teaspoon lemon juice
¼ cup chopped green pepper

1 cup uncooked white rice
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups water
Method: Trim some of the fat from the chops and fry out. Remove the pieces of browned fat. Add the pork chops and brown slowly on both sides. Add the tomato juice, Worcestershire sauce, salt, pepper, Tabasco sauce, lemon juice and green pepper. Cover and cook slowly for 40 minutes or until the chops are tender.
While the pork chops cook, put the rice, salt and water in a 2-quart sauce pan and bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover and leave over this low heat for 14 minutes. Remove from the heat but keep the lid on for 10 minutes. To serve, arrange the rice on a hot platter. Place the pork chops over the rice, and pour the Creole sauce over the rice and chops — or serve it in a separate dish. This recipe makes 6 servings.

Haddock Fillets Are A Meal-In-One-Dish

Save dishwashing by serving this meal-all-in-one-dish. The haddock fillets are quickly baked to a crisp succulent flakiness and served over rice and mixed vegetables. You can use up those bits of leftover vegetables in the dish, too.

1 1-2 cups of water
1 teaspoon salt
2-3 cup of uncooked white rice
1 pound haddock fillets (thawed and cut into serving pieces)
2 tablespoons of mayonnaise
2 cups crushed-corn flakes
1½ or 2 cups cooked seasoned mixed vegetables.
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ cup of water
1-2 teaspoon of salt
½ teaspoon of pepper
Put the 1½ cups water, 1 teaspoon salt and rice in a 2-quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover and leave over this low heat 14 minutes. Remove saucepan from the heat but keep the lid on 10 minutes.
While the rice cooks, spread both sides of the haddock fillets with mayonnaise. Roll in corn flakes, covering all sides. Spread the cooked rice in one side of a greased shallow baking dish. Spread the cooked mixed vegetables in the other side. Cut up the butter or margarine and place over the rice and vegetables. Pour the water over the rice and vegetables. Arrange the fish fillets over the top. Sprinkle with the salt and pepper. Place the baking dish in a pre-heated 500-degree F. oven for 15 minutes or until the fish is browned and flakes easily.
This recipe makes 4 servings. Serve with hot biscuits and gingerbread with hot lemon sauce.

Pinwheel Cakes Are Fun to Make

Swirling through this Pinwheel Cake is fun to do and results in an exciting novel design that's baked right into the cake itself. Melted chocolate is poured in a circle on top of light chocolate batter, and with a twist of the wrist, you twirl a spatula—pulling the dark chocolate completely through the unbaked batter. Bake the layers, split them if desired, and fill with

PINWHEEL CAKE
2½ cups sifted cake flour
1½ cups sugar
1 tsp. double-acting baking powder
¼ tsp. soda
1 tsp. salt
4 squares unsweetened chocolate
¼ cup shortening
1½ cups evaporated milk, undiluted
2 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla
Melt together flour, sugar, baking powder, soda and salt. Melt 2 squares of the chocolate and soda. Stir shortening to soften. Mix in dry ingredients. Add 1 cup of the milk; blend. Beat 2 minutes at a low speed of mixer or 300 strokes by hand. Add eggs, remaining milk, melted chocolate and vanilla. Beat 1 minute to mix or 150 strokes.
Melt remaining 2 squares of chocolate. Pour batter into two round 9-inch layer pans, lined on bottoms with paper. Pour melted chocolate in a circle on top of batter in both pans, about 1 inch from rim. With a rubber scraper or spatula, swirl chocolate in continuous circles through batter, once around each pan.
Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) about 30 minutes. Cool; then split each layer, making four 4½ layers. Spread desired filling between layers. Chill before serving.

Add Oriental Touch For Tasty Franks

We are pretty sure that the Chinese did not invent frankfurters . . . but we do know that they did invent some delightful ways of preparing meat. So, we borrowed one of their methods and evolved this really good economy recipe.
8 frankfurters, about 1 pound
1 teaspoon Kitchen Bouquet
2 tablespoons fat
¼ cup coarsely chopped onion
1 cup sliced green pepper
1 cup diagonally sliced celery
3-ounce can chopped broiled-butter mushrooms
½ cup cold water
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Cut frankfurters in diagonal slices about ½ inch thick. Place in mixing bowl and sprinkle with Kitchen Bouquet. Stir gently with a fork so that all pieces are evenly covered. Melt fat over moderate heat in large frying pan or Dutch oven. Add onion and celery, stirring frequently, until tender but not brown, about 3 minutes. Add sliced frankfurters and brown quickly turning to brown all sides. Add green pepper, celery and contents of a can of mushrooms. Bring to boil, lower heat and cover. Until vegetables are just tender, about 5 minutes. Do not over cook. When vegetables are tender, combine and add water, cornstarch and Worcestershire sauce. Cook, stirring constantly, until sauce is thick and clear. Serve immediately with fluffy hot rice. Accompany with Chinese noodles if desired. Serves 6.

Always Good Eating—Spanish Omelet

Eggs, always so popular, are at their delicious best in a fluffy omelet, and for tops in good eating add a piquant Spanish Sauce. Light and puffy omelets stay up for serving when quick-cooking tapioca is one of the ingredients. Try this recipe and see for yourself.

Spanish Omelet
2 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
¾ teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
3/4 cup milk
1 tablespoon butter
4 egg whites
4 egg yolks
Spanish Sauce
Combine tapioca, salt, pepper, and milk in saucepan. Place over medium heat and cook until mixture comes to a boil, stirring constantly. Add butter. Remove from heat and allow to cool slightly while beating eggs.
Beat egg white until stiff. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Add tapioca mixture to egg yolks and mix well. Fold into egg whites.
Turn into hot buttered 10-inch skillet. Cook over low heat 3 minutes. Then bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 15 minutes. Omelet is sufficiently cooked when a knife inserted comes out clean. Cut across at right angles to handle of pan, being careful not to cut all the way through. Fold carefully from handle to opposite side and turn out on hot platter. Place Spanish Sauce between folded layers and around omelet. Serve at once. Makes 4 servings.
*Spanish Sauce. Melt 6 tablespoons butter or other fat in saucepan. Add ¼ cup each chopped onion and chopped green pepper and saute until onions are golden brown. Add 1 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons sugar, dash of cayenne, 1 cup canned sliced mushrooms and 2 cups canned tomatoes. Cook over low heat 15 minutes, or until vegetables are tender.

Ida Lupino Is Overweight Teacher For Television Role

By ALINE MOSBY
HOLLYWOOD —UP— Television's most astonishing pin-up queen Wednesday is a 200-pound "wide screen" blonde—named Ida Lupino.

The one-time shapely actress is waddling around with the measurements of 42-38½-44.

Her dress size is 22½ and her legs could best be described as the piano variety.

This situation, however, was not caused by too many calories. Ida, like Jan Sterling in "The High and the Mighty," decided to toss her glamour to the winds, she climbed into a "false body" to play an overweight school teacher for a drama in her TV series, "Four Star Playhouse."

But Ida shrugs she has no qualms about giving up her figure for art "because I've never gone through that frightening period of having been a glamour girl."

"To be a glamour girl and then lose your looks must mean a painful emotional transition," she said.

"Ever since I remember, I've played offbeat characters.

"When I read this script I wanted to do it. It's a wonderful love story. It doesn't make fun of fat people. It shows that it isn't what you look like, but what you are inside that people love."

Adding 100 pounds, to the tiny star wasn't easy. The wardrobe mistress ordered three "false bodies" before one was approved.

"A dressmaker made two but they made me look sloppy," added Miss Lupino as she stood, hands folded over her ample midriff, between scenes of the telefilm at RKO-Pathe studio.

"Finally a tailor took over and he knew just where to put the budget."

The rubber-and-pads false body zips up the front. Blonde hair and light make-up make her face and head appear wider. Padded stockings and three cotton stockings over that transform her legs. One problem was disguising her slender neck, but she finally covered it with strands of costume jewelry.

The result was so realistic she even fooled old friends.

"One day I didn't take off the rubber suit to go to lunch," she said. "A director I hadn't seen for a while kept staring at me in the commissary and finally remarked I'd certainly put on weight. Once I also wore it home. A guest dropped in and at last tactfully inquired if I were feeling well."

Mamie Completely Recovered
WASHINGTON —UP— Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower has fully recovered from an attack of the flu which kept her in bed for almost a week, her secretary, Mrs. Mary Jane McCaffree said Tuesday.

However, the first lady will "take it easy for the next few days," Mrs. McCaffree added.

City Ousts Woman Council

FORT TOWSON, Okla. —UP— Election returns showed Thursday that this town of some 700 population wanted men back in control and ousted the all-woman city council.

Defeated were three of the five women elected to the council two years ago and two female newcomers who had sought election Tuesday.

The women campaigned on the fact their administration bought the city's new modern fire truck and installed a tornado and fire warning siren on the town hall.

But the men countered with the slogan: "Haven't You Had Enough?" and "Let's Send the Women Back to the Kitchen."

Self-Operating Push Buttons Are Coming Thing In The U. S.

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON —UP— Push-button civilization is not enough. We're headed for push buttons that are smart enough to operate without any pushing.

According to Bill Nessell, the gadgets that make a home comfortable will soon be nearly that automatic, anyway. Nessell heads up the research committee for the National Warm Air Heating and Air Conditioning Association. He has spent the better part of a lifetime figuring out ways to make people comfortable in their homes.

"Some day," he said, "the buttons will make your home so automatically comfortable, you'll have to run outside occasionally to appreciate how much you are enjoying home life."

Today's air conditioned home, Nessell said, is already partly controlled by electronics. And in the future temperature, humidity and air circulation will be so ideal you won't be conscious of them.

"Just like you don't notice the efficiency of your refrigerator, washing machine and clothes dryer," the air expert said, "they generally work so good, folks take them for granted. And you'll take ideal air conditioned temperature, humidity and air circulation for granted too, before long."

Nessell said that present-day heating plants and electronic controls are 100 times more sensitive to the elements than humans.

"One system," he added, "uses a thermostat outside the house to tip off the furnace to whip up the heat before the cold air comes inside. But take other comfort factors like humidity.

"Humidity can be awfully unhealthy when there is too little, and very uncomfortable when there is too much. And humidity is just one of the things that air conditioning straightens out.

Air conditioning, Nessell will have you know, gets rid of house odors, like the cooking of cauliflower. It is made to filter the air and take out the impurities. And it keeps the air moving.

The engineers are doing a great job. But I had a question for the air man.

How about a problem we have at our house, mister?

The rest of my family likes a room real warm. I prefer my heels cooled off a little.

What have you engineers done to keep peace in such a home and satisfy everyone?

I found that I had stumped an expert.

'Crazy Horse' Statue Work Going Slow

By PATRICIA WIGGINS

WASHINGTON —UP—The great Sioux Indian of them all, Chief Crazy Horse, is slowly appearing again in the Black Hills of South Dakota. Too slowly, Sen. Karl Mundt (R-S.D.) thinks.

A giant statue of the Indian warrior is being carved out of the 563-foot-high Thunderhead Mountain in South Dakota—a statue which sculptor Korczak Ziolkowski hopes some day will be the biggest monument ever produced by man.

But the carving is going slowly, and Mundt wants the federal government to help speed it up by lending some financial support.

So far, using about $280,000 of his own and $80,000 donated by tourists, Ziolkowski in eight years has blasted down only as far as Crazy Horse's nose.

That's 600,000 tons of granite less than was on the mountain when he started. But he has about 5.5 million tons to go before the towering monument is finished.

When it is done, it will dwarf the 70-foot-high Sphinx, top the 555-foot-high Washington Monument by eight feet and the 481-foot-high Great Pyramid at Giza by 82 feet.

Mundt called a press conference, attended by cowboys booted and Stetson-hatted Ziolkowski, to announce the South Dakota delegation will introduce a bill proposing that the federal government "expedite" the project.

Boston-born Ziolkowski, 46, said getting the work started hasn't been easy. In fact, getting the mountain was a job made difficult by former Interior Secretary Harold Ickes, who didn't want any more mountains "defaced," and others.

Just in outlining the proposed work on the mountainside, Ziolkowski used up 14½ gallons of white paint and had to talk to his wife at the base of the mountain over a field telephone asking her "where am I?" from time to time. Ziolkowski plans to show Crazy Horse astride his horse with his left arm raised and pointing to the East.

Bracero Advice 'Conflicting'

WASHINGTON —UP—The Labor and Agriculture Departments gave conflicting advice Wednesday on how long and under what terms it should continue the program for recruiting Mexicans to work on American farms.

The program, under which 300,033 Mexicans entered the U.S. last year, operates under a U.S.-Mexican agreement which expires Dec. 31.

The Agriculture Department asked that authority for the program be made permanent without change. The Labor Department called for a 4½ year extension with three amendments, two of them designed to "protect job opportunities" of American farm workers.

The opposing views were outlined to a House Agriculture subcommittee by Earl M. Hughes, administrator of the Agriculture Department's Commodity Stabilization Service, and Assistant Labor Secretary Rocco C. Siciliano.

Hughes said the Agriculture Department favored permanent legislation sponsored by Rep. E. C. Gathings (D-Ark.), subcommittee chairman, and opposed the Labor Department amendments.

The Labor Department opposed permanent legislation because American farms in the future may not be so dependent on foreign labor because of increasing mechanization, Siciliano said.

One of the amendments recommended by the Labor Department would require that before Mexicans are recruited American workers must be offered transportation, housing and insurance benefits comparable to those provided foreign workers under the program.

Suit Asks Lien Against Giles' Land

AUSTIN — UP — The state Wednesday filed a civil suit asking that a lien be placed against some 2,000 acres of land owned by former Lead Commissioner Bascom Giles to recover money alleged to have been received by him as a bribe.

The action was filed in 33rd District Court by Attorney General John E. Sheppard.

Giles has been indicted by a Bexar county grand jury at San Antonio on a charge of accepting a bribe in connection with the veterans land program.

Cow Draws Big Money
MERCEDRES, Tex. — UP — The Willacy county beef syndicate paid $2,836.50 — a record $3.95 per pound — for the 330-pound grand champion fat calf of the Rio Grande Valley Livestock show. The 18th annual show ended last night. This year's record attendance was 104,000, compared to the previous top of 60,000 last year. The champion fat calf, exhibited by Clifford Smith of the Lyford FFA chapter, was sold at auction Monday.

Six Airlines Settle Wage, Hour Battles

WASHINGTON — UP — The White House has announced that five of six major airlines have settled their wage dispute with the AFL Machinists Union.

The dispute involved more than 14,000 mechanical and ground service employees of the five airlines. The settlement means a $2,587,000 payroll increase for these workers, plus $1,500,000 of payments retroactive to last July 1.

A union spokesman said it was a voluntary settlement and it represented a "substantial victory" for the workers.

The five airlines reaching an agreement were Capital, National, Northwest, Trans-World and United. The case involving Eastern Airlines is still to be settled.

The machinists originally had scheduled a strike for Nov. 16. President Eisenhower forestalled it by creating an emergency board to investigate the dispute.

Man Dunks Car Launching Boat
GALVESTON — UP — Charles Johnson, 28, of Houston had intended to launch his fishing skiff in Galveston Bay, but he estimated Thursday it will cost him $400 to repair damages caused to his automobile that went in, tied to the boat.

Johnson said he backed the skiff, fastened to a trailer, up to the water and got out to untie it. But he forgot to set his emergency brake on the car and everything rolled into the water.

The car "floated a few feet," then sank to the bottom, where it sat until a wrecker retrieved it.

NEW PERESS INVESTIGATION

The Senate Investigating Committee opened a new investigation of the Peress case Tuesday on an old note—accusing Army Sec. Robert Stevens of withholding a pertinent document. This time it was Democratic chairman John L. McClellan instead of former chairman Joseph McCarthy. Here, McClellan greets McCarthy prior to start of the hearing.

Pat Ward Tells Sordid Story In New Jelke Trial

NEW YORK — UP—Pat Ward, the state's chief witness in the vice trial of oleo heir Minot (Mickey) F. Jelke, told a sordid story Wednesday of intimacies with good-time "Johns" including a rendezvous in the governor's suite at the Statler hotel here and a love-for-money tryst in a Long Island private home.

During the morning session she identified eight men with whom she was intimate for fees usually of $100.

They included a "Joe Gomez," identified as a South American millionaire.

Confident and calm, the 21-year-old brunette told of a mixed party she attended at the Statler hotel. There, she said, she was introduced to a man she identified as a "Mr. Nemeroff." She said she was intimate with him "in the governor's suite" while other members of the party drank and played dice in an adjoining room.

Nemeroff paid her $100, she testified, and later tossed her an extra $50 when he began to win in the dice game.

The slim, black haired Miss Ward, dressed in a high neck aqua blue dress with a black collar, appeared much more sure of herself on the witness stand than she was late Tuesday when she collapsed in tears and forced Judge Francis L. Valente to adjourn the session.

The first hour of Wednesday morning's session was taken up while attorneys for both sides discussed with Valente the report of juror Max Cohen that he was approached Tuesday night by a newspaper reporter who questioned him about a Manhattan property he owns. As a result, Valente dismissed Cohen and replaced him with Ernest G. Wheeler.

The slim brunette with the wind-blown bob broke down in tears late Tuesday and forced Judge Valente to adjourn Jelke's re-trial on compulsory prostitution charges for the day.

Miss Ward, playing the role of the state's star witness, as she did at Jelke's first trial two years ago, had just testified to an affair with a man in a Savoy-Plaza hotel suite here when the tears began to roll. After a five-minute recess, she regained her composure somewhat. But when Assistant District Attorney Anthony J. Liebler abruptly asked the extent of her intimate relations with a William Cahn, her body again shook with sobs. Even as chief defense counsel George Washington Herz rose to ask that she be excused until she could testify "clearly and without tears," Judge Valente adjourned the session.

U. S. Naval Laboratories in California require the services of engineers, physicists, electronic scientists and mathematicians at a salary range of from $5,000 to $10,800. Actor Is Arrested BEVELLY HILLS, Calif. UP—Brian Donlevy, 32, film and television actor, was freed on $250 bail Friday a few hours after his arrest on a drunk driving charge. The actor was picked up by police when his car hit a curb, and blew out a tire a block from police headquarters.

Gasoline Tax Boost Asked For Highways

AUSTIN — UP—The chairman of the state highway commission has asked enactment of a two-cent boost in the state's gasoline tax to help put into effect a long-range $2.2 billion highway improvement for Texas.

E. H. Thornton Jr., told the House Revenue and Taxation committee additional funds are provided for the highway department "we won't be able to accomplish our minimum needs until 1967."

Thornton was one of four witnesses appearing for a measure by Rep. Charles Murphy of Houston to boost the state gasoline tax from four to six cents a gallon.

The bill was referred to a subcommittee for one week's study, under a standing rule of the committee.

Sadler Against Bill

Rep. Jerry Sadler of Hickory Grove opposed the bill and called it a "sales tax." Sadler, author of a bill to tax gasoline refining and processing, said, "I'm authorized to speak for a majority of the members of the House of Representatives. We have decided to hold the line and stand firm as they did at the Alamo. We have signed a solemn covenant to stand firm." Proponents besides Thornton were James E. Taylor, Austin, executive director of the Texas Motor Transportation Association; J. H. Kuitgen, Waco, past president of the Texas Good Roads Association, and Allen Sears, Cedar Valley, representing the American Automobile Association.

Thornton told the committee "I find the people of Texas are willing to pay for an adequate highway system." The proposed two-cent tax increase was recommended by Gov. Allan Shivers, along with a one-cent boost in the state cigarette tax.

Thornton outlined a $2.2 billion improvement program which he said Texas needs as a "minimum highway program" over the next 10 years. He called that a "fantastic and staggering figure, yet very realistic."

"If the average motorists would pay seven cents more a day...it would raise $100 million additional a year, and would provide for the highway needs for you and your children," Thornton said.

Murphy estimated the proposed increase would cost each Texas motorist $15 to $20 a year in gasoline taxes. Thornton said the increase would provide for about $43 million more a year for highway purposes, and about $14 million more for the state's available school fund.

Ike Hails Conference For Judaism

DALLAS — UP—President Eisenhower has expressed hope that the 11th annual Conference of the American Council for Judaism, opening here Thursday night, "will serve to promote a wider understanding among Americans of the ethical and spiritual values of Judaism and of their contribution to our civilization."

The meeting, which lasts through Sunday, opens with a 7 p.m. dinner meeting, to be addressed by Jerome K. Crossman, Dallas civic leader who is general chairman of the conference.

Members of the council, which is dedicated to the premise that "our nationality is American, our religion is Judaism," were greeted by the President, by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, members of the Cabinet, members of Congress and other public officials, educators, clergymen and community leaders.

HE HAD HAIR THEN—George Gobel with long hair is shown as a senior in high school. This picture was taken in 1936, and that's Alice Humelki with him.

So Now George Heads For Movies

(Second of Three)
By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — So now little, crew hair-cut George Gobel is becoming a movie star. It was bound to happen because you can't hardly find comedians like George no more.

Every studio in Hollywood launched open Gobel-warfare after his appearance last October on TV's Diamond Jubilee of Lights show, on which he explained the intricacies of an electronic brain. He prefaced his remarks with: "I'm just a common man. I'm about as common as you can get and stay sober. But I didn't come up here to be made sport of."

The film contracts tossed at him following this appearance were fabulous. "Sign here," studio bosses said, "and we'll dream up a story for you." But George and his manager, David O'Malley, played it smart. "Find a story we like," they replied, "and then we'll talk contract."

The stories, hastily written, piled up higher than the fan mail in the offices George and O'Malley share in a building at the corner of Hollywood and Vine.

All of them were turned down with the same explanation: "It doesn't fit George's personality." At Paramount, production Boss Don Hartman had an idea. He remembered the studio's 1941 movie hit, "The Lady Eve," in which Henry Fonda played a shy millionaire who becomes involved with a couple of cheating cheaters, gamblers Charles Coburn and Barbara Stanwyck, on a trans-Atlantic liner.

"This movie," said Don, "should have been made the first time with George Gobel." He invited George and his manager to see the picture, explaining he'd like to rewrite it a little and remake it, with George in the Fonda role and Paramount sharing with George in the profits.

George and Manager O'Malley looked at the movie. Hartman knew it was a deal as soon as the lights went up. George was beaming. "You can't hardly find stories like this no more," he laughed. That was two months ago. Just the other day the contract was signed. Nothing — not even a big studio like Paramount — can rush Gobel and his manager. As George says: "I'm too young to go to the cemetery on the dead run."

Paramount will cast two important stars with Gobel in the film which goes into production in July for release this winter. The "let's-not-rush-into-this" way in which George and O'Malley faced the big movie look was typical of them. They never move until things are "just right" for George. They've been operating that way ever since they teamed up 10 years ago in Chicago.

Before he launched his own TV show last September, 29 scripts were written and rejected by Gobel and O'Malley. And even on the first show, Gobel wasn't convinced he was on the right track. His opening line was: "Well, this is the show. It's not the greatest show on earth but it might keep you from gettin' sulen. This is a sort of — you might call it a comedy show — an if you don't, we're through."

grams and started telling stories related to him by fellow officers. For eight years before the war, he was a singer and guitar player — Little Georgie Gobel — on radio's National Barn Dance program. He also toured with the radio station WLS Barn Dance Revue, and played kid roles on the Tom Mix radio show from Chicago. His best line, he recalls, was "I'll hold your horse, Tom." Singing soprano with his church choir on WLS started it all while he was dreaming of becoming a professional ball player.

But after the war, George convinced O'Malley, a Chicago theatrical agent, that he was a comedian. O'Malley booked him on a USO Show in Chicago, into small midwest night clubs and finally he played the most successful supper clubs in the country, from New York to Los Angeles.

But it took television — first as just a guest star on 1953's Saturday Night Review — to win him overnight fame. So there you are.

Tomorrow: The Best of Gobel. Democratic Conference Planned

WASHINGTON — UP — Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler Friday invited 27 Democratic governors to a conference here May 4 and 5 to "discuss ideas and formulate plans for the 1956 campaign."

Solon Would Ban Drinks On Airliners

WASHINGTON — UP — Rep. Albert Thomas (D-Tex.) wants the Civil Aeronautics Board to stop the sale of alcoholic drinks aboard airliners. This was brought out in hearings before the House Appropriations committee which were made public Monday night. Chan Gurney, acting CAB chairman, said the agency is keeping its eye on the whiskey sales to make sure safety is not impaired. "Are you going to wait until a plane crashes or until you have to hit somebody over the head or have a fight and let women and children get hurt before you do something about it?" Thomas asked, "I think the board is sound asleep and you had better do something before something happens."

Gurney said he would "call the matter to the attention of the board."

Ike Names Iowa Man To AEC

WASHINGTON — UP — President Eisenhower Wednesday nominated Allen Whitfield, Des Moines, Iowa, attorney, to be a member of the Atomic Energy Commission. Whitfield, a 51-year-old Republican, was nominated to replace Joseph Campbell who resigned when he was nominated to be comptroller general. Whitfield was nominated for the remainder of a term expiring June 30. Whitfield served in the Army during World War II and is a trustee of two Iowa colleges, Simpson and Iowa State.

Matusow Sentenced To Three Years For Contempt Of Court

EL PASO — UP — Turnabout former Communist Harvey Matusow was sentenced to three years in a federal prison Wednesday by District Judge R. E. Thomson on a contempt of court charge. The federal jurist set Matusow's appeal bond at $10,000 and the one-time Red and professional government witness on communism said he would file an appeal immediately and post the bond himself in order to gain his freedom. The sentence Wednesday was for criminal contempt for Matusow's affidavit and testimony in the hearing last week in which New Mexico labor leader Clinton Jencks had sought a new trial in Judge Thomson's court on a 1954 conviction of falsifying a non-Communist affidavit. Matusow's testimony last week repudiated all his decisive testimony that had helped convict Jencks, who was president of the mine-mill union local in Bayard, N. M., at the time he filed the non-Communist affidavit with the National Labor Relations Board. The stocky, dark-haired Matusow told the court before his sentencing Wednesday morning that "wherever I go, I can live with myself because I have told the truth."

He stood erect before the bench and showed no emotion when the sentence was handed down by Thomson, who had told Matusow last week that he had "schemed to defeat justice" and "deliberately shown contempt for this court." Matusow was the only witness in Jencks's trial to link the labor leader with communism after the date he filed the non-Communist affidavit. Despite Matusow's recanted tes-

Amarillo Man Hurt In Crash

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. — UP — An Amarillo truck driver was in good condition Wednesday after he was pinned for an hour and a half under his overturned truck near Clines Corner Wednesday night thinking he was dying. Police said the truck driver, Glenn Anderson, 45, rode his big semi-trailer successfully around two curves after his steering gear went out, and the truck crumpled over an embankment pinning him beneath it. It took state police and rescuers more than an hour to hack away through the cab of the truck to reach him, Anderson, "sure I was going," asked if there were any Catholics in the crowd watching rescue attempts and an unidentified woman stepped out and said the Rosary with him.

Justice Department Expands WASHINGTON — UP — Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr., announced Monday that the Justice Department will expand its program of recruiting top-flight graduates from the nation's law schools. Brownell said that his department had such success with 39 honor graduates selected last year that 45 will be chosen this year.

Over Half Of World's People To Be Represented At Conflab

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Foreign Analyst
More than half the people of the world will be represented at that big Asian-African conference to be held in Indonesia next month. Potentially, the conference is important. It could prove to be a major development in world politics.

The prime ministers of the five so-called "Colombo powers" — India, Pakistan, Indonesia, Ceylon and Burma — have asked the leaders of 25 other Asian and African countries to meet with them at Bandung in Indonesia April 18 for a seven-day conference.

Plans for promoting "good will and cooperation among the nations of Asia and Africa" will be the chief topics for discussion. Bloc Is Discussed

Actually, despite denials, there seems to be no doubt that some of the sponsors hope the conference will lead to the formation of an Asian-African bloc of nations. This bloc would be "Neutralist" in the cold war but would oppose what some Asian and African leaders call "Western imperialism" — that is, the policy of the United States and its chief allies.

But the conference is so big that it may merely turn into a diplomatic talk-fest. Communist countries, Neutralist countries, countries allied with the West and countries which have no ties are to attend the meeting. There will be Christian delegations, Moslem delegations, Hindu delegations, Buddhist delegations.

Large Representation Expected In all, about 1.3 billion of the world's 2.4 billion population will be represented. Red China and the Indo-Chinese state of Northern Viet Nam will represent the Communist world. The "Neutralist" movement in East Asia will be represented by India, Indonesia and Burma.

The eight nations of the Arab bloc will be there. Egypt is trying to encourage neutralism among the Arab countries. But Iran has just signed an alliance with Turkey, which is allied with the West. Allied Countries Listed

In addition to Turkey, countries at the conference which are allied with the West will be the Philippines, Thailand, Pakistan, Turkey, Japan, Southern Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia. Ceylon also may be numbered among the countries oriented toward the West as may

Rail Strike Idles Coal Miners

By UNITED PRESS
A railroad strike forced thousands of Kentucky coal miners into idleness Wednesday while in another walkout Southern Bell Telephone Co. charged that its lines were cut. The strike against the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, now in its third day, affected industries in 13 southern states. The Harlan County Coal Operators Association reported 35 mines were closed, idling 7,000 to 8,000 miners in Harlan and Bell counties in Kentucky. About 5,000 more were laid off in Perry and Letcher counties. The Reynolds Metals Co. at Louisville, Ky., said the strike was affecting its operations to a lesser extent.

The walkout was intensified as unions representing train crews succeeded in overthrowing a court order which had barred them from observing picket lines set up by 10 non-operating unions. In the telephone strike, Southern Bell charged that pistols, axes and ropes were used to damage lines at 77 points in six of the nine states where 50,000 workers are on strike. Officials of the striking CIO Communications Workers said they had some union members deputized in an effort to halt the vandalism, which cut off telephone service to some police stations and hospitals.

CAUTION!

YOU MAY BE THE VICTIM OF A FAST-TALKING ARTIST AND, SO, WE OFFER YOU THESE SUGGESTIONS

Be on your guard when approached by certain out-of-town roofing and siding salesmen. It's always wise to consult your local lumber dealer and compare notes and figures. You'll save if you take local, friendly advice. You'll have few, if any, regrets later. You'll avoid buying inferior materials and poor workmanship. Home owners throughout the country have learned the hard way and now they take caution . . . they consult the man in their home town with whom they live and see every day. Don't be pressured or kidded into buying a roof or a siding job at prices which in the end cost you more than your local dealer asks. Your local, reliable lumber dealer will give you estimates without cost. Be sure to consult him!

A recent edition of The Ladies Home Journal contained an article favoring the creation of a new government agency for purposes of handling juvenile delinquency.

And as in so many similar and equally futile articles, the authors and apparently the publishers concur that the government can and will solve all problems if only it has the money and the personnel to do the job.

This is totally specious reasoning. As is the equally unsubstantiated but ardently pleaded theory that some agency must be in existence to help cure the delinquent before he is a delinquent.

This particular article has the distinction of favoring socialized medicine through the establishment of government-owned and operated mental health agencies set up in virtually every fair-sized community throughout the country.

In some respects the Journal article has merit. Research for the conclusions it propounds has been conducted on a fairly broad base. But there is a wide vacuum in this research which we would like to see filled before we could or would advocate turning the problem over to the government, which indeed has proved itself to be less than everything desirable in virtually all instances.

There are apparently voluminous case histories available for research and study. We should like to propound a series of questions to the researchers which we believe they have totally overlooked in arriving at their conclusions.

Does delinquency occur in homes where one or both of the parents are engaged in some type of work which has an immoral base?

Is the father a labor boss?

Does he work for a union?

Has the child been exposed to conversation which indicates that might makes right?

Is the child the offspring of parents one or more of whom are active in political activities?

How many juvenile delinquents are offspring of families which are successful in free enterprise?

Is there a larger percentage of delinquency in homes where one or both parents are members of unions than there is in homes where neither parent will join a union?

How many delinquents are there from homes where parents are employed by the government in some capacity?

How many parents of children branded as delinquents have expressed themselves in conversations before their youngsters that "the world owes them a living."

How many children are convinced that the government is responsible for their own individual actions?

How many children are convinced that all they have to do is survive until they are old enough to retire and then the government will look after them?

How many children have become convinced that the man who hires their father is a crook, and that the labor boss, who practices extortion, is his friend?

Since all government functions on the premise that the majority shall rule (might makes right) isn't it foolish to try to heal the child from this moral sickness until the parents are cured?

With society containing within it these running sores of immoral and illogical philosophy, how can there help but be an increase in juvenile delinquency? Further, we believe there will be no cure for this increase by resorting to force or violence, or "mental health" agencies, or governmental activity.

When enough people in this country turn back to the principles of liberty and freedom which guided our founding fathers, then we will cure delinquency, and not before.

When enough people in this country understand that freedom is not the same as license, but that liberty itself is co-existent with self-responsibility, then we can cure delinquency.

When enough people in this country recognize that government itself is actually powerless, but that there is a Divine Source which is all powerful, and when they turn to that invisible but very real Source, then there will be an end to delinquency.

When enough people recognize that rule by majority may be expedient, but it does not eliminate the moral rightness of the minority, then we may be able to cure delinquency.

These are areas the researchers have avoided like a skittish horse. Because once more, the planners want to create still bigger government. They want to pass the responsibility of individual living off on the government, and then get our attention off the problem. This will increase, not cure the malady.

The experts say that living conditions in Russia are so bad that a revolution there is almost inevitable. They say the same thing, in time, may occur in Red China. This must be an awful discouragement to the Americans (?) who've been working their little hearts out for the past twenty years to sell

BETTER JOBS

"History's Greatest Breach Of Promise"

I am continuing to quote from an article in the March issue of The Freeman magazine by Chesley Manly under the heading of "History's Greatest Breach Of Promise."

Under a sub-heading of "Still Appeasing Red China" the article explains:

"The same policy of appeasing the Chinese Communists to appease the UN has been continued by the Eisenhower Administration. On November 29, 1954, Secretary of State Dulles said the United States would not blockade Red China to compel the release of thirteen American prisoners held by the Communists in violation of their armistice agreement. Such action would violate our obligations to the UN and 'impair the alliance of the free nations,' Dulles declared.

"How are the mighty fallen since Theodore Roosevelt's time! When Rainsui, a Berber mountain chieftain, abducted an American citizen named Perdicaris and held him for ransom in 1904, Roosevelt electrified the nation by sending this message to the Sultan of Morocco: 'Perdicaris alive or Rainsui dead!' If President Eisenhower should send such a message to Mao Tse-tung, the UN would emit lamentations and imprecations that could be heard around the world. Instead, the Eisenhower Administration abjectly appealed to the UN on behalf of eleven American airmen and two civilians imprisoned by the Reds. This was only a gesture to placate public opinion, which was outraged by Peiping's announcement that the thirteen Americans had been imprisoned as spies. Nothing had been said in the UN about some eight hundred Americans who were known to be alive in Communist hands and were never accounted for after the armistice, according to Defense Department announcements.

"In the 1954 congressional campaign, Republican orators extolled the Eisenhower Administration not only for the armistice in Korea, but for the French capitulations in Indo-China, the overthrow of the Soviet satellite regime in Guatemala, the settlement of the Anglo-Iranian oil dispute and the Suez canal zone occupation; and the London-Paris accords on German rearmament. The UN, not having considered the Indo-China question, cannot be justly praised or blamed for the Franco-American fiasco in Indo-China except insofar as its appeasement of the Communists in Korea strengthened their position in Indo-China. The UN had tried and failed to settle the Anglo-Egyptian and Anglo-Iranian disputes, which eventually were resolved by old-fashioned diplomacy. The German question had not been before the UN since the Russians vetoed a Security Council resolution on the Berlin blockade and rejected a General Assembly proposal for all-German elections.

"Guatemala Freed By Rejecting UN Advice
"The Guatemalan revolution was considered by the Security Council; and if its recommendation had been respected, Guatemala would be a Soviet satellite today. The council's resolution, supported gleefully by the Russians and stupidly by Lodge, called for the immediate termination of any action likely to cause bloodshed and requested 'all members of the United Nations to abstain... from rendering assistance to such action.' Fortunately for the United States, Colonel Castillo Armas, leader of the Guatemalan patriots, ignored the UN and proceeded to eject the Communist-dominated Arbenz regime.

"The spirited arguments of Administration officials against the admission of Communist China to the UN would merit far more respect if they did not recoil from proposals to terminate diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union and demand its expulsion from the UN. Such a course probably would mean the end of the UN, which is unable to expel a member of the Security Council—but that would be a gain for the noncommunist world. No nation can pretend to a decent respect for the opinions of mankind while associating with such a monstrous regime on terms of equality and mutual esteem, in a purported peace organization.

"Assistant Secretary of State Walter S. Robertson recently denounced the Chinese Communist government as 'an outlaw-gangster regime, unpurged of its crimes and aggressions, and unfit to sit in any respectable family of nations.' One wonders whether Robertson believes the Kremlin gangsters are more suited to the company of civilized men. Ambassador Lodge recently told a group of visiting Congressmen that the UN is not a place 'in which the virtuous and the criminal sit side by side without regard to whether they are virtuous or not, or criminal or not.' Since the United States and the Soviet Union do sit side by side, it follows that if Lodge's reasoning is correct, either the former is criminal or the latter is virtuous.

"Lodge himself told the UN on February 25, 1953, that the Soviet Union instigated and maintained the aggression in Korea. A Department of Defense release on May 15, 1954, stated that 1,300 Russians were employed as staff and technical advisers throughout North Korea and that 'from six to twelve thousand Russian tactical troops' took part in the war. Lieutenant General Samuel E. Anderson, commander of the Fifth Air Force in Korea, declared that 'entire Soviet air force units' fought in the Korean war for two

Democrats Hard Pressed To Find Anti-Ike Vote Issue

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The continuing lack of a big, popular, anti-Eisenhower issue for the 1956 campaign has forced the Democratic opposition on Capitol Hill to pitch their appeals to the voters on a wide-open, pocketbook level. Their major legislative proposals envisage lower taxes and larger handouts for the so-called "little fellows" — the mass vote.

In search of a stirring and vote-getting issue, the Democrats first sought to brand the Administration as ultrafriendly to "big interests" on taxes, antitrust prosecutions, private power, etc. But these largely technical problems did not catch on. The so-called "Soulless corporations" are not unpopular when times are as good as they are now.

The attempt to indict the White House for "McCarthyism" failed because Ike rolled with that punch until the Senate censure delivered its blow. The Democrats have peeked away at certain phases of the Dulles foreign policy, but they have supported its major tenets, chiefly because it carries out Roosevelt-Truman concepts of collective security. Indeed, it leans too far in that direction to suit nationally minded GOP-ers of the Middle West.

Thus, with the 1956 test only 20 months off, the Democrats have yet to hit upon a single overriding and possibly victorious angle against the Administration. Politicians generally agree that they must do better between now and November, 1956, or see Ike win by default.

Senate Democrats are not too deeply disturbed by this prospect. Only a handful must run again next year, and most of them seem secure in their seats. Moreover, several of the more prominent opposition members in the upper body sympathize with Ike's moderate philosophy.

They prefer him to the Democrats most frequently mentioned as his possible opponent — Harriman of New York, Williams of Michigan, Kefauver of Tennessee, and even Adlai E. Stevenson.

But House Democrats, as well as some uneasy Republicans, are not so well fixed for 1956. With Eisenhower heading the GOP ticket, there should be an unusually large Republican turnout at the polls. The salary increase which they voted themselves will attract a sizable batch of opponents in the primaries, and possibly a higher caliber of contestants.

BID FOR A SMILE

The visiting lecturer unwittingly has chosen for his topic of the evening a subject of tremendous controversy in the little town. He was roundly hissed and booed, and was leaving the hall dejectedly when he was approached by the night watchman.

Watchman—Don't let 'em fetch down, sir (consoling). The really important people all stayed at home, so you have nothing to worry about.

would abolish the flexible Eisenhower-Benson program of 82 1/2 to 90 per cent in favor of the latter percentage.

Cooley predicts that Congress will accept his version, even though existing surpluses total $7.3 billion, and are increasing at the rate of $1 billion annually. Democrats from farm states, where the GOP held its own in last fall's Congressional contests, demanded more generous payments to their constituents.

House Democrats voted themselves a larger salary — $25,000 — than the Senate compromise of $22,500. They also insist on a 10 per cent raise for government employees instead of the 5 to 7 per cent offered by Ike. Both boosts, of course, will be cited by labor spokesmen as justification for wage hikes in forthcoming contract negotiations.

The "big builders" bloc on the Democratic side want more direct and generous Federal appropriations for schools, highways, public health, public power dams. They line up almost unanimously against the Hoover recommendation of greater economy in management of veterans' hospitals, and to Eisenhower's proposed survey of the pension system for old soldiers and their survivors.

Even without a major scandal, war or depression, Democratic strategists figure that they will be in the running next year, for control of Congress at least, if these pocketbook gestures earn the patronage of the farm, the labor, the Federal and the veterans vote. They make a mighty ballot-box combination.

Another influential and responsive Democratic leader, Representative John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, heads the movement for an increase in the hourly minimum wage from 75 cents to $1 or $1.25, as against Ike's 90-cent figure. Such a boost should win millions of unskilled workers in the cities, even though it will inflate production costs and retail prices.

Representative Harold D. Cooley of North Carolina, the Democrats' farm expert, has persuaded his committee, Agriculture, to report a bill for higher farm subsidies. It Never one to do things by half measures, I made three starts in the annual Mobilgas Economy Run early this morning.

The third one took. Unaccustomed to the tinted glass windshield of the Mercury Montclair lent to me by the Ford Company for the 1323-mile test from Los Angeles to Colorado Springs, I twice mistook white-shirted men who passed in front of me for the starter's green flag.

Then I caught on, and my third start was a beauty, with the Mercury rolling away as smoothly as syrup over a waffle, and soon I was tooling down the freeway toward Tucson, end of the first leg of the trip.

There was a passel of excitement at the starting point in downtown Los Angeles. Searchlights circled the sky. Cars were weighed for tonnage, gas tanks filled and sealed. Last-minute instructions given by A.A.A. officials, flash bulbs popped, and at one minute past midnight the first car rolled away.

The Mobilgas Economy Run is unique in that the drivers pull away as slowly as possible instead of gunning their motors and high-balling. The car which gets to Colorado Springs on the least gas (according to its price and tonnage) is the big winner, so the best speed is the speed which will get a car across the finish line in the time limit of 32 hours 50 minutes.

This, of course, lets me out as a winner, even if I were a completely official driver. I haven't the willpower not to find out what this new Montclair will do when I step on it. About the only time I'll drive like the expert drivers of the other 22 new stock cars entered will be in school zones and when I'm passing one of those State Police highway houses.

Someone must be wondering some!

Investing In Stocks Not Such A Good Idea After All

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Winthrop H. Smith, the managing director of a Piggy-Wiggy chain of play-pens stretched across the country at which suckers try to outguess the stock market, made a statement recently which a friend of mine would like to challenge. As a witness before the Senate committee investigating the stock market, Mr. Smith said the average American ought to buy stocks after he has bought his home and sufficient insurance and established a savings reserve.

In reply, George Spelvin, American, says that the citizen depicted by Mr. Smith is the champion parakeet of the whole economy or racket. When Spelvin buys ten shares of almost any common stock that Mr. Smith cares to name, the stock certificates contain a clause in irrevocable ink whereby Spelvin must guarantee pensions up to $100,000 a year for the corporation executives and for the other employees up to $100,000 or $50,000. The only pension Spelvin can look forward to is his so-called social security.

These executives not only fix their own salaries and their own pensions, too, but often vote themselves trick bonuses in self-appreciation of their own extraordinary acuteness and diligence, although the salaries which they set for themselves are high enough to justify their best efforts without any extra reward.

The union bosses also get high wages and pensions and also vote themselves bonuses for doing no more than they are paid to do. Soon after the war, they boomed into the bargaining sessions with the corporation executives and laid it down that horny-handed wage laborers in the oil industry and big manufacturing plants also were entitled to pensions at the expense of Mr. Spelvin. The executives did not even blink at this. The fact had occurred to them in their own discussions that the unions would soon point out that a grease-monkey in dungarees is just as much an employee as the chairman of the board. So when the union leaders put the proposition, the executives took them into their arms. They had said over and over that they were, after all, only employees themselves, who toiled only to enhance the fortunes of George Spelvin, American, the holder of ten shares. They said many an honest heart beats beneath a delicately tailored shirt in the main office. They felt that they were entitled to modest maintenance when they are old, say, at $1,000 to $2,000 a week, for life. It would be cruel to throw them on the scrap heap.

Incidentally, they set their own arbitrary retirement ages. Spelvin would have been willing enough to let them go on indefinitely but they wanted to take the old lady to Spain after the hum-drum of expense-account lunches and dinners at "21" all those years — you know, "entertainment." They also felt that it would be unjust to their young subordinates in the executive branch to stick around so long, postponing their advancement.

Now Spelvin is paying for pensions for everybody employed by his big corporation, but nobody is buying any pension for him. If the stock takes a tumble, and sometimes had management catfish a tumble, Spelvin takes a loss, but the salaries and pensions may be fixed. The horny-handed types may drift on to other companies, but their pension rights remain a lien on Spelvin's investment. If the stock goes up and Spelvin sells, he has to pay either income tax or capital gain on any profit. But if he sells at a loss, well that certainly is too bad. Better luck next time, Spelvin.

Nowadays, big executives are a very eleemosynary. That means Spelvin's money. They go to baguette at $100 a plate. They are not sore at anybody. They hate hatred. The only people they hate are people who hate other people. They miss no opportunity to hang a medal on somebody for stirring up hatred of people who are said to hate other people. That is not strictly company business and Spelvin would prefer that big high-paid executives would go home and get their shut-eye instead of running around nights proclaiming how noble they are for hating people for hating other people. But these executives get a high opinion of their importance as messiahs of "Democracy" with a mission to show the world that Americans "know-how" and "can-do" are better than Communist despotism.

Under the Republican form of government ordained by the Constitution the Republic was content to live modestly and to let the lesson of our success impress the lesser breeds without ballyhoo. Millions of Europeans migrated to the United States in the years before Woodrow Wilson. We were a Republic then and we didn't have to send paid handshakers all over the world to beg people to love us. We didn't give a damn what they thought of us. The question was what did we think of them?

Today the big executives of Spelvin's corporation are taking another hack at his profits and his equity by voting millions of dollars out of his treasury for scholarships to educate persons unknown to him. Meanwhile, of course, Spelvin is paying enormous taxes for public education systems and trying to save enough to educate his own children. That was one of his reasons for buying these shares. Moreover, he is taxed to the eyes for "education" as it is. The school tax is a direct lien on that home of his which Mr. Smith mentioned in paragraph one, here- tofore.

If he buys government bonds he takes a trimming as the dollar goes down, down, down. Congress recognized this devaluation of the government-bond dollar by raising its own pay 50 per cent.

Never one to do things by half measures, I made three starts in the annual Mobilgas Economy Run early this morning.

The third one took. Unaccustomed to the tinted glass windshield of the Mercury Montclair lent to me by the Ford Company for the 1323-mile test from Los Angeles to Colorado Springs, I twice mistook white-shirted men who passed in front of me for the starter's green flag.

After 10 Years, Yalta Talks Are Still Too Hot To Discuss

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Foreign Analyst
The Yalta Conference, it has just been decided, is still so diplomatically hot after 10 years that its full details can not yet be made public.
That was the conference which President Franklin D. Roosevelt, Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Premier Joseph Stalin held in February, 1945, at the Russian Black Sea resort of Yalta in the Crimean peninsula.
People are always referring casually to "Yalta." It is very seldom that anybody bothers to remind us all what happened there.
Yalta Changes History
Well, Yalta changed the course of world history. But a lot of things have happened since then to crowd it out of memory.

Yalta provided for Russia's entrance into the Pacific War against Japan. It provided for the full liberation of all the countries conquered or dominated by Nazi Germany.
It also provided, among other things, for the "complete disarmament, demilitarization and dismemberment" of Germany.
The Roosevelt - Churchill-Stalin talks in the one-time summer residence of Czar Nicholas II in the Livadiya suburb of Yalta were held in the deepest secrecy. No newspaper correspondents were even permitted to accompany Roosevelt and Churchill to the Crimea. It was not until two years later that the full text of the Yalta Treaty was made public.
Was It Sell-Out?
It has been charged that Yalta was a diplomatic sell-out to Soviet Russia.
Russia got enormous concessions for its promise to declare war on Japan, including the Japanese Kurile Islands and Japan's half of Sakhalin Island.
Stalin promised to enter a pact of friendship and alliance with the Chinese Nationalists.
Russia did enter the Pacific War five days before Japan accepted allied surrender terms.
Instead of helping to liberate the countries Germany had enslaved or dominated, Russia communized most of them. Instead of entering an alliance with the Nationalists, Stalin betrayed them to the Chinese Reds.
Arguments Advanced
But it has been argued that in February, 1945, nobody could know that the atom bomb would be dropped on Hiroshima and that Japan would be crushed within six months. The United States was preparing to invade the Japanese mainland, at the possible cost of hundreds of thousands of casualties.
Recently, the United States considered publishing the full record of the talks at Yalta. Britain objected, and the State Department came around to the view that even now some of the things said might be embarrassing.
One reason for keeping secrecy is the fact that West Germany is now allied with the United States, a friend and not an enemy.

IT'S THE LAW ★ IN TEXAS ★

The sign over the coat rack read: "Not responsible for lost or stolen articles." John glanced at it as he hung up his coat and hat and then turned to assist Jean, his wife, in taking off her fur coat. He put it on a hangar beside his own.
The two of them drifted casually down the corridor into the dining salon and were assigned to a table by the hostess. The lunch was exceptionally good and both were hungry. The minutes flew by. John glanced at his watch. "Golly, it's almost 1 o'clock. Better get going."
But when they got back to the coat rack, Jean's fur coat was gone.
"I'm sorry, sir," said the manager, "but we are not responsible for lost articles. We put up the coat rack for the convenience of our patrons, but that sign you see makes you responsible for your own hat and coat. I'm awfully sorry, but we just can't watch everybody's possessions."
The fact is that in the case of Jean's fur coat the restaurant would not have been responsible for its loss even if there had been no sign. One who takes off a garment and places it on a coat rack, as one would do in a restaurant, retains the power of surveillance and control over it himself. Ordinarily, under such circumstances, the operators of the restaurant have no responsibility toward the customer's belongings because they have not knowingly received the exclusive possession and dominion over them.
The case would be different however, where the coat had been delivered to an employee in a checkroom. In such event, the management probably would be responsible. So, also, in the cases where a customer checks valubles with a bathing house proprietor, or with a hotel desk clerk, or leaves his automobile with the parking lot attendant to be parked and stored for him, those receiving possession of the customer's property have the duty to use proper care to see that the customer's property is returned.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE Never Give Foe Any Information

By OSWALD JACOBY
How should the South cards be bid in the hand shown today? I'm afraid that most players would pass after North's bid of four hearts. They would make a profit on the hand, to be sure, and it would probably never occur to them that they had shown the white leather.
The "scientific" school of bridge players would bid it as the actual South player did, in the diagram shown today. East would double to encourage a diamond opening lead, and South would wind up with a score of minus 100 points.
When the hand was actually played, West opened a diamond, and South tried the finesse even though it was almost a sure loser. Later on, South had to try the club finesse; and he was defeated when the second finesse likewise lost.
I would give such a player good marks for bidding the slam since, after all, the odds were 3 to 1 in his favor. It is touch and go whether to bid a slam when it depends on a single finesse; but the slam should certainly be bid when it depends on winning either of two finessses.
My quarrel is not with the final contract but with the method of getting there. There is such a thing as being so scientific that you furnish a blueprint to the opponents as well as to your partner.
South should not cue-bid the spades. If he trusts his partner, he wants to move towards a slam after his partner has made a jump bid in clubs and raised the hearts. In order to make this move without helping the enemy, South should simply bid five hearts.
This asks North to go on to slam if he really likes his hand, but to pass if he has already bid every point of his values.
With the actual hand, North would gladly raise to six hearts. South would still have the 3 to 1 shot if West opened a diamond or a club. If West opened a spade for the slam, South would win the ace of spades, draw two trumps, and develop the clubs; and he would never need the diamond finesse.

By OSWALD JACOBY
How should the South cards be bid in the hand shown today? I'm afraid that most players would pass after North's bid of four hearts. They would make a profit on the hand, to be sure, and it would probably never occur to them that they had shown the white leather.

Arguments Advanced
But it has been argued that in February, 1945, nobody could know that the atom bomb would be dropped on Hiroshima and that Japan would be crushed within six months. The United States was preparing to invade the Japanese mainland, at the possible cost of hundreds of thousands of casualties.
Recently, the United States considered publishing the full record of the talks at Yalta. Britain objected, and the State Department came around to the view that even now some of the things said might be embarrassing.
One reason for keeping secrecy is the fact that West Germany is now allied with the United States, a friend and not an enemy.

PUTT POWELL SAYS HE HAS the "inside" dope that the new Harvester football coach, Jack Lockett, is going to bring along two assistants instead of one.

Don't know where Putt is getting his information from but Lockett is still planning to bring only one assistant.

Actually, Lockett is bringing along two assistants. But only one will serve on the varsity staff. The other assistant Jack brought with him to confer with the Pampa school board members will serve in the junior high.

The fellow ticketed for the varsity staff is Carl Ellison, star end for the Oklahoma Sooners last fall.

There has been no official announcement, however, on any further coaching changes in the Harvester football program. The only official change thus far is Lockett's being hired as the head coach, replacing Aubra Noncaster who resigned about two months ago because of ill health.

As we have said before, the official word of any other changes in the coaching department will come from the school board.

THERE IS NOTHING TO add on the McNeely-to-Texas A&M rumor that broke out Tuesday night when John Floyd tendered his resignation at Aggieeland.

5 Teams On PHS All-Foe

Five teams are represented on the Pampa Harvester all-opponent season.

Three of the five players chosen are members of District 1-AAAA teams, Bub Farrell of Amarillo, Gerald Meyers of Borger and Wade Wolfe of Lubbock. The other two chosen on the all-opponent team are Kenneth Brunson of Waco and Wayne Wedgworth of Beaumont.

O'Neal Stars In TCU Win, 1-0

PORT WORTH — UP—Dick O'Neal and Bob McDaniel combined to outpitch Southern Methodist's flashy Tommy Bowers Tuesday as Texas Christian won a non-conference baseball game from the Pirates 1 to 0.

O'Neal, moving over from his baseball campaign to the basketball arena, gave way to McDaniel, who retired 16 batters in a 6 1/2-inning effort.

PHS Thinlies, Golfers To Fort Worth

A party of 14 Harvester athletes departed today for Fort Worth where they'll compete in the annual Southwestern Recreational Meet this week end.

Four members of the Harvester golf team left at 6 a.m. today while 10 members of the track team departed at noon. The golfers left early in order to get in a practice round this afternoon on the Meadowbrook course, scene of the Recreation Golf Tournament.

The four boys representing the Harvester golf team are Don Prigmore, Bill McLeod, Leslie Howard and Joe Chisum. These four posted the low qualifying scores for 36 holes among 10 members of the Harvester squad to earn the Fort Worth trip.

The golfers were accompanied by Coach Weldon Trice. The Harvester tracksters, accompanied by coach Duwain Lyon and his assistant, Marvin Bowman, left for the Cowtown meet at noon. The track and field meet will be run off Friday and Saturday while the golf tournament for the school-boys will be unreeled Friday.

Members of the track team making the trip and the event they'll enter were as follows:

- Harold Lewis — 100, 220 and 440-yard dashes.
- Jerry Neef — 440-yard relay and mile relay.
- Jim Green — 440-yard relay and mile relay.
- Dickie Mauldin — 100 and 220-yard dashes and 440-yard relay.
- Ed Strickland — Shot put, discus and broad jump.
- Jon Cantrell — Shot put.
- Carl Blomkvist — 440-yard relay and mile relay.
- Bobby Marlar — 440-yard dash and mile relay.
- Harlan Boyle — High hurdles and low hurdles.
- Allen Holtman — 880-yard run and mile run.

Cantrell, who ordinarily enters the discus and high jump events in addition to shot put, will be allowed to enter the shot put event only in the Cowtown meet.

Cantrell has been ill most of this week and he has been advised by his doctors to take it easy. The doc, however, gave Cantrell the green light on entering the shot put event at Fort Worth.

The tentative date for the house-to-house canvass on the Oiler season ticket drive has been set for April 4, according to Joe Fischer, co-chairman of the committee ramrodding the canvass.

City-Wide Canvass On Oiler Ticket Drive To Be Held

The tentative date for the house-to-house canvass on the Oiler season ticket drive has been set for April 4, according to Joe Fischer, co-chairman of the committee ramrodding the canvass.

The tentative date of the drive was set at a breakfast yesterday morning which was attended by members of the Pampa Oiler Community Baseball Association and the presidents or representatives of each civic club in Pampa.

Fischer said the preliminary plans of the city-wide ticket drive call for extending the canvass through one week's period.

Members of the local civic clubs are being asked to participate in the canvass.

Each club will be given an equal number of homes to contact in the drive.

Fischer said the committee hopes that at least 250 members of the five local civic clubs pitch in on the drive.

Kansas City A's In 1st 1955 Win

City Athletics, stimulated by the first victory ever won by that city, sought victory No. 2 Thursday in an exhibition game against the Chicago White Sox.

After suffering four defeats and a minor-league tie, the Athletics at last gave their new hometown fans something to cheer about Wednesday when they blasted 11 hits to beat the Detroit Tigers, 8-3, at Lakeland.

Five A's walloped homers—Jim Finigan, Bill Renna, Joe Demas, Bill Stewart, and Don Bollweg—and thus made the nine-hit pitching of Cloyd Boyer, Hal Raether, and Ozzie Van Brabant good enough to win.

The White Sox got excellent three-hit pitching from Bob Chalkes and Sandy Consuegra to beat the New York Yankees, 3-1, at St. Petersburg Wednesday. The Sox got all their runs in the first two innings off rookie John Kucka.

Turley Sparkles

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — UP—Yankee Manager Casey Stengel is not nearly as worried now about Bullet Bob Turley.

Stengel was mighty unhappy when Turley, speedballing right-hander obtained from Baltimore during the winter, was hammered for five runs in one inning in his first exhibition appearance. But Casey relaxed Wednesday as Turley pitched four innings of shutout ball, allowing four hits, in a 3-1 loss to the Chicago White Sox.

The Cardinals, who have been hitting hard in spring training, were to test the Yankee pitching staff further Thursday. Wednesday the Redbirds hammered 17 hits, including a homer and two singles by rookie Ken Boyer, of Houston, but lost to Milwaukee, 11-10. It was only the second loss in seven games for St. Louis.

Feller Mows 'Em Down

TUCSON, Ariz. — UP—Veteran hurler Bob Feller of the Cleveland Indians, delighted with an excellent spring debut, said Thursday he intends to keep pitching "as long as I can get anybody out."

The 36-year-old right-hander, victor in 262 major-league games since joining the Indians in 1936, hurled three shutout innings and allowed only two singles Wednesday as the Indians' "B" squad defeated the New York Giants' "B" team, 6-4. Bob Lemon followed Feller to the mound but allowed three runs in the fourth inning before settling down.

Thursday the Indians clash with the Chicago Cubs, who suffered a 5-3 defeat Wednesday by the Giants' first team. The Cubs, however, were pleased with the showing of rookie "phenom" Bob Thorpe, a 28-game winner in the minor leagues last year, who allowed the Giants only one hit in three innings.

Reiser Returns To Baseball; To Boss Minor Team

TODAY'S SPORTRAIT BY BOB PARKIN
ST. LOUIS, Mo. — UP—Pistol Pete Reiser, a baseball man with a fighting heart and a battered body, celebrated his own and St. Patrick's birth Thursday.

And the best present for him on his 35th anniversary came just in time—an assignment from his former manager, the Brooklyn Dodgers, as player-manager of the Class D Thomasville, Ga., farm club.

Had the ball clubs of Reiser's heyday in the 40's had the narrow grassless strips bordering the outfield that are a commonplace today, he might still be in the big time, shooting for baseball immortality along with fellows like Stan Musial.

Because the grass ran right up to the walls Reiser did, too. His Hell-for-leather spirit brought him into frequent and painful contact with concrete, and his injury record mounted along with his achievements in hitting and runs-batted in.

In less than seven years he broke an ankle, splintered a breastbone and had his skull cracked. But that was all in the past Thursday as the one-time National League batting champion looked ahead to his new role in the game.

Dykes Upsels Kid Gavilan

MIAMI, Fla. — UP—Elongated Bobby Dykes of Miami, bubbling with confidence after practically ruining Kid Gavilan's comeback campaign, challenged Thursday for a shot at the middleweight crown.

"I believe I can whip Bobo Olsen for the title," declared the stringy six-footer who Wednesday upset an upset unanimous 10-round decision over ex-welterweight champion Gavilan before 4,457 under the stars in Miami Stadium.

Their bout was televised nationally. Although 29-year-old Gavilan suffered his second straight defeat on the comeback trail, the Cuban "Kid" insisted he would not retire. He said Thursday, "I'll fight for the public as long as the public will keep paying to see me."

The defeat was doubly disappointing to Gavilan, for he had outpointed Dykes, a former Texan, at Miami in their first fight three years ago. And the Cuban was favored at 2-1 to repeat Wednesday night.

Yanks Stretch Lead In Pan-Am Games

By HAL WOOD
MEXICO CITY — UP—Rod Richard, the United States' newest version of the "world's fastest human," and two muscular men named Bob Backus and Bert Schemansky left world and meet records crushed in their wake Thursday as they pushed the Yanks even farther ahead in the Pan-American Games.

Richard, an Army lieutenant, whizzed over 200 meters in a meet record 20.3 seconds Wednesday to become the second double-winner of the games.

Backus, hefty heaver from the New York Athletic Club, shattered a meet record with almost every effort as he won the hammer throw with a new mark of 180 feet, 1-4 1/2 inches. And Schemansky, a 30-year-old Detroit policeman, set a world record by matching 233 1-3 pounds in winning the heavyweight weight-lifting gold medal.

With many other star performances piled on these, the United States widened the margin in the unofficial team point race, now owning a total of 278 points to only 90 for runner-up Argentina, the defending champion.

More Successes Predicted
Even more successes appeared in store Thursday for the Yanks in the javelin throw, 110-meter high hurdles, and boxing.

And the U.S. athletes were expected to set the stage for other victories in events where only eliminations were being held Thursday. Chief among these was the 1,500 meter run—the so-called "metric mile"—in which Wes Santee of Kansas and Fred Dwyer of New York were the heavy favorites.

'Darkhorses' Are Serious Threats In North-South

PINEHURST, N.C. — UP—Medallists Mary Patton Johnson of Charlottesville, Va., and Mae Murray Jones of Montpelier, Vt., loomed as serious threats to the favorites Thursday as match play began in the 53rd annual North and South Women's Invitational Golf championship.

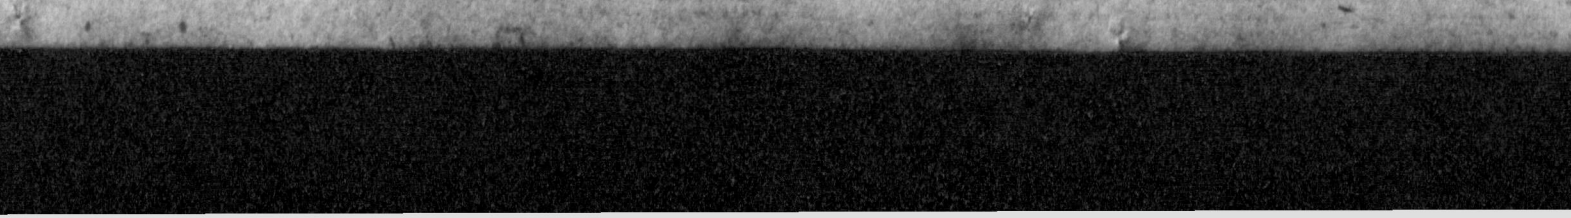

Miss Johnson and Mrs. Jones led the 22 qualifiers Wednesday with identical 74 over the windwept par 74 championship No. 2 course. The qualifying round began under sunny skies and in 70-degree temperature but strong winds marred some of the late rounds.

National Amateur champion Barbara Romack of Sacramento, Calif., one of the pre-tournament favorites, was hampered by wind on the last nine holes and finished with a seven-over-par 81.

Cloze behind the medalists were Gloria Armstrong of San Lorenzo, Calif., and Marge Burns of Greensboro, N.C., with 78. Former Eastern champion Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore was one stroke back with a 79.

Co-favorite Pat Lester of Seattle, Wash., also had trouble on the back nine and ended with an 86. Tied with her were Wini Smith of La Canada, Calif., Mrs. Maurine Glick of Baltimore, Greta Leone of Chicago and Mrs. Holbrook Flank of Pinehurst.

Thursday's first 18-hole round matched Miss Johnson against Mrs. Pearson Mosher of Southern Pines and Mrs. Jones against Mrs. Stuart H. Patterson of Pinehurst. Miss Romack, seeking her second North and South title, met Mrs. C. F. Eaton Jr., of Wellesley Hills, Mass., and Miss Lester met Sheila Moss of San Bernardino, Calif.

CHOLLY SAYS Braves Have Best NL Mound Depth

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series on the 1955 prospects of the major league clubs.
By LEO H. PETERSEN
BRADENTON, Fla. — UP — Charley Grimm is going into the 1955 pennant race figuring his Braves have "as good a chance as anybody."

The San Francisco Dons, with a 26-1 record, meet Iowa at 9 p.m. on Friday and Coach Phil Woolpert said his club was in "good shape."

Asked about his team's chances against Colorado, which has an 18-5 mark for the season, Woolpert said "I think they are as good as anyone else's. But you never can tell what will happen in tournament play. After all, the teams here represent the best in the nation."

Miami Personals

By MRS. JOE CUNNINGHAM Pampa News Correspondent Joy Webb of Denver City spent the week end in Miami with her mother, Mrs. Van Webb.

Mrs. Gladys Dodson, Ralph Byrum, Charles Lyons, Joe Cunningham attended the girl scout meeting in Pampa, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Schroder and children of Spearman visited in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Stribling recently.

Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Pennington visited in Canadian one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Kint Philpott and family have returned from a visit with Don Philpott and family in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Mrs. Sam Seiber has as her guest, her grandson, Freddie Barber, of Dumas. Freddie's parents are visiting in California.

Mr. D. Deatherage has returned from a visit to McKinney, where he visited with a brother who is in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Talley and family visited in Oklahoma over the week end.

Miami grade students taking part in Quiz Down in Amarillo.

Veterans, who have been taking second money or less most of the winter golf circuit, have found a week's rest and the hot Florida sun to their liking as the large field polished strokes here for the first several days.

Leading the "oldtimers" are Chick Harbert, Cary Middlecoff and Tommy Bolt.

Harbert of Detroit spends his winters in St. Petersburg and is familiar with every tricky contour of the tree-lined Lakewood Golf Club course. The 1964 PGA champion, also has been working diligently on his game just for this tourney.

Middlecoff and Bolt have been among the few veterans who have held their own among the newcomers on the winter circuit.

Top money has been going to such young blades as Shelley Mayfield, Gene Litter, Mike Souchak, who has taken two in a row, and Bo Winger, who won the recent tourney at Baton Rouge, La.

With most greens equipped with tricky putting surfaces and long fringes grass around the edges, 70% of the pros figured a score of 70 to 75 for the 72 holes would take the top prize of $2,200.

Professor Due Honorary Degree STEPHENVILLE, Tex. - UP-Tarleton State College announced Thursday one of its professors would receive an honorary doctor of literature from Howard Payne College at Brownwood, April 6.

She is Dolle Marie Glover, professor and acting head of the Tarleton State College English department.

The degree will be conferred at the school's spring convocation. J. Howard Payne, retiring postmaster of Dallas, will be the principal speaker.
