Thompson, 1812 Coffee, looks over an honorary membership card from John Clark, Pampa Optimist Club president, as the youngster's mother watches. Both James Alexander and the club will be one year old Friday and Clark thought it fitting that the infant be made an honorary member of the Optimist Boys Club. (News Photo)

Texas Town May Oust School Board

WACO, Tex. — UP — A group of citizens at Speegleville, a Waco suburb, called a meeting Thursday night which may lead to removal of the small community's school board.

The community is divided over the school board's refusal to renew the contract of School Supt. H. A. Bennett who has been running the 277-enrollment school the past two years.

Bennett supporters said no reason was given for refusal to renew his contract. The vote was four-to-three not to renew it. When he was hired two years ago, the vote was four-to-three to employ him. Bennett supporters said they would decide Thursday night whether to lay plans for an election to abolish the independent school district, which would mean the jobs of the present school board, and become a common school district.

J. V. Davis, school board president, said in explaining the board's refusal to renew Bennett's contract: "We thought we could best him as an administrator and as a disciplinarian."

Morris Lawson, superintendent of the Methodist Sunday school, took a petition to a church service and said he "had no trouble getting signatures." His petition asks the school board to give a reason for not rehiring Bennett.

Bennett is serving his second tenure as superintendent of Speegleville schools having operated the schools from 1929 to 1936, then returning in the fall of 1953.

Mrs. M. M. O'Dowd, a past president of the Speegleville Parent-Teachers Association and a supporter of the school board, said "in any community I feel those in authority should be expected to set an example for our children."

103-Year-Old St. Louis Paper Sold

ST. LOUIS — UP — Purchase of the controlling interest in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat for a reported $6 million by Samuel I. Newhouse was announced Wednesday by E. Lansing Ray, publisher of the morning newspaper.

Newhouse also owns the controlling interest in the Newark (N.J.) Star-Ledger, the Syracuse (N.Y.) Post-Standard, the Portland (Ore.) Oregonian, the Long Island Press, Long Island Star Journal and the Staten Island (N.Y.) Advance.

Ray, who is also chairman of the board of the Globe-Democrat, said he would continue in his current capacity and his name would remain on the paper's masthead. He said he would, as in the past, set the newspaper's political and editorial policies.

The Globe-Democrat, now in its 103rd year of publication, has a daily circulation of about 290,000 in Missouri and Illinois.

Ray said he sold the stock control to Newhouse, despite a higher offer from other sources, because Newhouse had met his condition that the present staff of the newspaper would remain intact.

Ray gave "advancing years" and illness as reasons for selling control of the newspaper which his family has owned for three generations. His only son, E. Lansing Ray Jr., died in World War II.

Chief Named To Appear Mexico Mobs

VILLAHERMOSA, Mex. — UP — The state legislature named a provisional governor Wednesday to appease mobs that have rioted and pillaged for more than a week in demonstrations against Gov. Manuel Bartlett Bautista.

The rioters burned buildings in the Gulf Coast port of Frontera, they sacked the city hall, razed the mayor's home and freed all the prisoners in the city jail.

At least one person was reported killed in the city jail.

Governor Bartlett Bautista, who was hit by a rock before flying to Mexico City to explain the situation to the interior ministry, was believed to have asked the legislature for a "leave of absence."

Gen. Miguel Orrico de Los Llanos, the new provisional governor, was sworn in Wednesday.

Political observers attributed the immediate cause of Bartlett Bautista's downfall to an increase in bus fares, which was used by students and opposition elements to press for the governor's resignation.

In Mexico City, he refused to comment on the reports from Villahermosa.

"The whole affair is in the hands of the interior ministry. The interior ministry alone will solve the problem," he said.

He said he was forced to call out federal troops to put down the disorders in Villahermosa but that "never for a single moment were constitutional guarantees violated."

Reds Release US Pilot Held For Week

HEIDELBERG, Germany — UP — Russian authorities Thursday returned an American pilot, his German passenger and the helicopter in which they accidentally had flown into the Soviet zone of Germany a week ago.

The U.S. Army helicopter disappeared last Thursday while on a routine flight from Friedberg, near Frankfurt, to Fulda, about 12 miles from the border of East Germany. West German police said previously that border area residents saw it flying over the frontier in an apparent navigation error.

Soviet authorities finally admitted Wednesday that the helicopter was sighted on the ground in the Westhausen-Comperthausen area, and reported that the two men aboard were "safe and unharmed."

The helicopter was piloted by 1st Lt. Louis H. Jaquay, of Fort Wayne, Ind. The second man on board was a German civilian named Horst Kuehn.

Canyon Loses Bid For Hall

DICKINSON, N. D. — UP — The cowboy hall of fame committee, home from a whirlwind tour of 10 western cities last week, has picked three as final candidates for the permanent site of the proposed multi-million dollar memorial. Ray Schnell, chairman of the committee, announced Thursday.

Colorado Springs, Colo., Dodge City, Kan., and Oklahoma City, have been invited to send representatives to a board of trustees meeting April 15 in Denver, Colo., Schnell said. The board will hear the cities' cases and make its decision that day.

The three were recommended by Schnell's four-man committee. Other cities visited were Canyon, Tex., Cheyenne, Wyo., Las Vegas, N. M., Miles City, Mont., North Platte, Neb., Rapid City, S. D. and Prescott, Ariz.

Solon Admits Getting Fees In Vet Land Deals

Virus Which Caused Cancer In Mice Isolated By Medic

WASHINGTON — UP — A Veterans Administration physician has isolated a virus that has caused cancer and can be transmitted from parent to offspring in mice. Congress has been told.

The Veterans Administration reported this "rather startling" discovery to a House Appropriations subcommittee. It was made by Dr. Ludwik Gross, of the Bronx, N. Y., veterans hospital.

Dr. Gross said in New York that while his research has been conducted with mice it may have implications for other species.

The Veterans Administration, in reporting Dr. Gross' discovery, said another VA researcher has developed a sort of sonar device which, through electronic soundings into deep body tissues, "may prove most effective, in early diagnosis of cancer."

Dr. William S. Middleton, chief medical director of the veterans agency, said the virus finding of Dr. Gross could prove "one of the greatest advances yet made" in the search for a cancer cure.

Rep. Bell Says He Made Loans To Land 'Promoter'

AUSTIN — UP — U. S. Rep. John Bell, testifying under oath, said Thursday he received $26,112 in fees stemming from veterans land deals now under investigation, and made personal loans of at least $6,900 to a man tagged as one of the key promoters.

He read a page and a half statement, and then was subjected to more than an hour of searching questions by Sen. Dorsey Hardeman, chairman of the committee, and Sen. Jimmy Phillips of Angleton, a committee member.

Bell revealed loans amounting to at least $6,900 to T. J. McLarty of Denver, Colo., a former resident of Cuero, Bell's home town.

McLarty, a key figure in the burgeoning investigation, is named in 21 criminal indictments returned by a DeWitt county grand jury. The charges allege he falsely interpreted certain legal papers in connection with a veterans land deal.

Bell is scheduled to appear Thursday afternoon before a House committee conducting a similar investigation of the scandal-ridden veterans land program.

As a former state senator, Bell sponsored original legislation leading to enactment of the multi-million dollar veterans program.

"Revealed Legal Fees"

Fingering the neatly typed statement as he read, Bell told the committee:

"As an attorney I have received legal fees from persons who sold land under the veterans land program. These fees were paid to me for services rendered as an attorney and were for all legal services I might be called on to render. The client in each instance engaged me to represent him in a business undertaking and I did so to the best of my ability and was compensated accordingly. Each client, so far as I know, is an honest and legitimate business man, and I did not at that time nor do I now have any feeling that in representing these clients I have violated any legal, moral or ethical rule."

Bell, brows furrowed and hand to forehead, repeatedly hesitated prior to answering a question, as if searching his memory.

His testimony, he said, was to the best of his recollection.

He included in his statement an itemization of fees received.

"To the best of my knowledge and belief, the foregoing is all the knowledge I have of any transaction in which I received fees to represent a client in any transaction involving the sale of land to the Veterans Land Board," he said.

Rodeo Gets TV Singer Wakeley

Jimmy Wakeley, noted television, radio, movies and recording star will be in Pampa Aug. 3-6 as the star of the Top o' Texas Rodeo.

Paul Crouch, president of the Rodeo Association, following a meeting of the directors Wednesday announced that negotiations had been completed with the star to appear at the rodeo and the four-nightly dances.

Directors voted to extend the kid pony show to two days, Aug. 1 and 2. It has in previous years been a one-day show. For the 11th consecutive year it was voted to let the Boy Scouts handle the concessions.

Selected also was the grand entry committee. It is composed of Joe Looper, Dr. E. Douglas Carver and Clayton Mathis.

About the first of July a rodeo headquarters office will be set up at a downtown location. Location as yet is not set.

The cutting horse purse was raised by the directors from $400 to $500. Entry fees were upped from $25 to $50. Crouch said the raising of the purse "should insure for a better contest."

Negotiations are presently underway to arrange for a dance band for the nightly dances during the rodeo.

Most Of Auto Tags Unsold

An estimated 43 per cent of the passenger car license plates available in Gray County had been sold by today.

County tax offices deputies estimated that 5,000 of the 11,600 plates had been sold with only little more than a week to go before the deadline.

The last day for Gray County motorists to use 1954 plates on their vehicles is April 1. The next day they can be picked up by law enforcement officers for not having the 1955 plate.

And it won't be long after that motorists must display their inspection stickers, as required by law. The deadline on them is April 15. There are 10 Pampa places of business where the inspections can be made.

Youth Center Group Plans Meeting

A meeting of the incorporators of the Pampa Youth and Community Center, Inc., will be held "within the next month" for the purpose of considering proposed by-laws and the constitution.

Aaron Sturgeon, president of the organization, today said that he and Bill Waters, one of the 11 incorporators, had just about completed the tentative by-laws and constitution to be presented.

One thing that Sturgeon and Waters have not included in their proposals — which Sturgeon said he thinks might be a good idea — is the Midland plan of having an advisory board of seven or nine 11th and 12th graders from the high school. It would be purely an advisory board, the adult directors would have the final say-so, he emphasized.

The incorporators are presently engaged in looking around for a suitable site for the proposed structure, Sturgeon continued. But nothing definite has yet been done.

The idea of a youth and community center has been kicking around Pampa for a number of years. The Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce was the first to push it. But it was decided that a broader section of Pampa was needed to be behind it.

Pampans selected the slate of incorporators last August. The group was chartered and officers selected in October. Since that time, it has been a question of searching for funds and a building site.

Anti Salk Factions Still Anti

'Killed Virus' Use Controversy Key

By DELOS SMITH
NEW YORK — UP — Scientifically the only controversial thing in the Salk anti-polio vaccine is that it uses "killed" viruses of all the three types which cause the disease.

Last-ditch scientific believers in the premise that only a "live" virus can produce the lasting antibodies to bestow lasting immunity, were going to need overwhelming proof to change their views.

And not until all scientifically-qualified authorities were convinced, would all public health doctors and other physicians start using the "killed virus" vaccine wholesale. Hence, the need for mass-testing.

Of the 1.8 million children between six and eight who took part last spring, 440,000 were vaccinated with the vaccine. 210,000 were vaccinated with an inert substance which could no more affect the antibody producing machinery than a smile could, and the remainder merely were recorded by names, ages, and addresses.

The simplest outline the forthcoming Francis evaluation report could take would be that none of the children vaccinated with the vaccine got polio but that some who were vaccinated with the inert matter and some of those not vaccinated at all, did have paralytic polio.

But even something as simple and forthright as that wouldn't prove the vaccine beyond doubt. Paralytic polio is a rare disease — 10 to 20 cases in a population of 100,000 is said to be an epidemic. So, any given 440,000 children could go through a polio season untouched.

However, non-paralytic polio is quite common — otherwise the paralytic kind wouldn't be so rare. The viruses get into the body readily, they produce antibodies and naturally immunity, and the individual hardly knew he was ill, if he knew at all.

Texan Says Court Erred In Gas Rule

WASHINGTON — UP — A Texas attorney said Thursday the Supreme Court was mistaken in ruling that congress intended to make independent natural gas producers subject to the Federal Power Commission.

David T. Searis, an expert on natural gas legislation, discussed the legal aspects of the court's decision in testimony prepared for the House Interstate Commerce committee.

The committee is considering a bill by Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark.) specifically to exclude independent gas producers from the price-fixing and other controls of the power commission.

Some committee members have expressed the fear that passage of the bill would mean higher consumer prices for natural gas.

But Ernest O. Thompson, a member of the Texas Railroad Commission who endorsed the bill, told the committee Wednesday that he believes gas prices will go up whether the bill passes or not.

Searis generally confined himself to the legal aspects of the high court decision last year. The court ruled that, contrary to the belief of the commission itself, the commission has jurisdiction over the production, as well as the transmission, of natural gas.

Searis said he believes congress never intended to extend the commission's jurisdiction to natural gas producers when it passed the natural gas act in 1938.

"Only congress can say authoritatively that the Supreme Court misinterpreted its intention," he told the committee. "The Supreme Court," he added, "has repeatedly recognized the power and duty of congress to overturn its decisions."

He said that the pending bill would specify "clearly and distinctly" the intent of congress on this matter.

Rubber Plant Sales Okayed

WASHINGTON — UP — The administration was free Thursday to go ahead with its plans to sell 24 government-owned synthetic rubber plants to private industry for $285,465,000.

The Senate approved the sales Wednesday and the House on Tuesday. Under a 1953 law ordering disposal of the plants, the sales were to become effective unless rejected by congress by Friday.

The Senate vote came on a resolution by Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) to disapprove the sale. The resolution was rejected 56 to 31. Sen. William Langer (R-N.D.) voted with Morse and 29 other Democrats.

The Senate also voted 48 to 39 to reject a resolution by Minnesota Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey (D) and Edward J. Thye (R). It would have disapproved sale of three plants in California to Shell Chemical Co. The House also rejected a similar proposal.

The Senate then approved a resolution by Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.) ordering the rubber facilities disposal commission to continue negotiations another 60 days to sell the plant at Baytown, Tex., Merello, 18, Miss. Chile.

Houston Mom Now Denies Killing Sons

HOUSTON — UP — Red-haired, now serving time in a federal prison at Atlanta, Ga., Mrs. Ann Williams was reported Thursday as having repudiated the man and Assistant Chief Deputation that she killed and butchered her two small sons and had implicated an ex-convict.

However, officials in both Galveston and Harris county won't comment on the new development and Galveston county officers are named but so far haven't been able to determine if he even exists.

Mrs. Williams, according to the report, claimed the man killed her sons, Calvin and Conrad, and cut up their bodies with a straight razor after giving her a narcotic and sending her on an errand.

She claimed the man was a "junkie," a supplier of drugs.

Mrs. Williams reportedly said she met the man at a tavern and he began paying her a great deal of attention after her husband was sent to prison for auto theft. He found out, she said, that she was addicted to drugs and he furnished them to her.

Gray Schools Awaiting OK

According to E. R. Nuckols, Gray County Schools Superintendent, plans are complete for the Salk Polio vaccination of all 1st and 2nd grade students in the county if the federal government passes on the effectiveness of the vaccine. April 12 has been set as the tentative date for beginning of vaccinations pending the report and go-ahead from the government.

Three shots are to be given with the last two coming a week and a month later.

In the event the go-ahead is given, a team will visit all the schools in the County giving the shots.

Sen. Phillips To Resume Filibuster Against Money Bill

ALBANY—UP—The Senate was scheduled to vote on the money bill Thursday. But Sen. Jimmie Phillips was prepared to resume a filibuster against the measure when it was brought up again.

Also possibly behind Phillips' decision to resume his filibuster were Sen. O. E. Latham of Arizona and Warren McDonald of Texas. Each had amendments dealing with the appropriation for education.

Despite the procedural road-block, Sen. Crawford Martin, chairman of the Senate Finance committee, indicated he was confident the measure would pass with little, if any, changes.

The House has approved an appropriation bill calling for expenditures of $1,125,000,000 during the next two fiscal years. The Senate version is somewhat higher and their differences probably will be worked out in a joint House-Senate conference group later.

Threat of More Taxes

Both measures carry the threat of additional taxes ranging upward to $60 billion over the next two years.

Phillips called his demand for an additional $2 million "ready-made" compared with the total amount of the appropriation bill.

The House meanwhile gave final passage Wednesday to a Senate-approved measure fixing maximum penalties of $1,000 fine and two years in prison for breaking into a coin-operated machine with intent to commit a felony or theft.

FLYING FIRE TRUCK

Something different in fighting fires is the aim of the Phase A Helicopter Corp. of Morton, Pa. As an artist has illustrated the idea above, a special designed copter could reach burning places down on mountainsides, in swamps, forests or other places inaccessible to water and equipment. Rescue workers would be lowered to the ground while the flying fire truck hovers over the fire spraying an extinguisher from its crane-like front flames would be kept away from the copter by its whirling rotors.

Sanity Hearing Appears Next For Galbraith

MCALESTER, Okla.—UP—A sanity hearing appeared Thursday the next step for a 36-year-old heart specialist who pleaded innocent to charges of murdering his wife and three children.

Dr. Ben T. Galbraith, a temperamental surgeon who earlier confessed slaying the four March 17 entered his plea of innocent Wednesday and waived a preliminary hearing. It opened the way for a sanity hearing.

Fred W. Whelan, his attorney, said he probably would ask for the sanity test "in view of the circumstances that exist."

Galbraith, known to have occasional bursts of temper, is charged with the premeditated murder slaying of his pretty wife, Mrs. Kitty Galbraith, 25, their sons, Frank T. and Jere, 5, and a daughter, Sarah, Ann, 4.

The heart specialist confessed Tuesday that he killed his wife by hitting her on the head with a wine bottle, killed his children with injections of morphine and arsenic, and set fire to the house to conceal the crime.

Galbraith, by waiving preliminary hearing, advised the court directly to the district court, which has power to send him to a mental institution for a 90-day observation. A court sanity hearing then must rule on the finding of the state mental institution, which has no standing under Oklahoma law.

The accused said at the time of his confession that he once was treated for a nervous disorder, but County Attorney Jim Whyte claimed this was not true. Whyte said there was evidence Galbraith planned the slaying at least a day in advance.

Galbraith contended he awoke during the night in a tourist court 70 miles from his home and suddenly decided without a motive "I have to kill my wife."

He has said the decision to kill the children came later.

"Dead" Sweetheart Alive
BUENOS AIRES — UP — Lorenzo Avelo, 24, confessed to police Tuesday that he had strangled his sweetheart, Bianca Merlo, 23, after an argument. Avelo guided police to the scene of his crime but found no body. They went to her home to check and Bianca opened the door. She said Avelo did try to strangle her but after he fled the scene she regained consciousness and went home.

US-Mexico Highway Meet Called

LAREDO Tex. —UP—A meeting of U.S. and Mexican chamber of commerce delegations to discuss action toward completion of the paved highway from Durango to Mexico's west coast port of Mazatlan, in Sinaloa state, has been set for Saturday, May 7, in Monterrey. Announcement was made by Jose F. Muguerza of Monterrey, president of the five-state Good Neighbor Council, and by Robert M. McVey, who was named chairman of the chamber of commerce sub-committee of the five-state organization at its conference in Laredo last month.

McVey said that chambers of commerce along the new route of U.S. Highway 59 from Houston to Laredo, and from San Antonio which is not itself on U.S. 59, and chambers in Mexico from Laredo to Mazatlan are to be represented at the meeting in Monterrey.

Completion of the highway from Durango to Mazatlan would make a Pacific Coast port approximately 800 miles nearer to Houston and other Gulf points, via Laredo, than the California ports, and create additional transportation facilities to the Far East, the Houston chamber has pointed out.

The new Houston-Laredo highway, then State Highway 202, was formally opened in ceremony at Freer on Feb. 17, when the mayors of Laredo and Houston cut the symbolic ribbon. The new route cut 41 miles off the distance making it only 291 miles from Houston to the border at Laredo.

Ireland, Denmark and Canada are the main exporters of live cattle, shipping 480,000, 329,000 and 225,000 head, respectively, of exports of 1.9 million head in 1951.

Ex-GI Killer Questioned About 3rd Case

TACOMA, Wash. —UP—A marine veteran of Iwo Jima fighting, who has already confessed to two murders, was questioned Wednesday about a 1953 slaying in Kentucky.

Harvey J. Collins, a former Army captain who once attempted suicide while stationed at Fort Sill, Okla., has admitted he fatally stabbed Andrew Stolen, 74, operator of Eleanor's motel a few miles north of here Monday night, Collins, 29, is from Puyallup, Wash.

Collins made headlines in Oklahoma more than a year ago, when he stole an Army observation plane at Fort Sill and crash-landed it on a railroad track near Temple, Okla.

The captain took the plane at night after scribbling a note, "I want to die in the air." He surrendered to Dallas, Tex., police three days later, was placed in an Army mental hospital and given a dishonorable discharge.

Police said Stolen was murdered with a Samurai sword Collins said he took from the body of his superior officer who was killed in the bitter Iwo Jima fighting in World War II.

Stolen's wife, Anna, 67, was critically slashed in the same attack and was hospitalized here.

Police said Collins also has admitted the robbery - slaying of Edward Morley Feb. 7 at a service station a few miles from the motel.

Collins was also to be questioned in connection with the death of Mrs. Edna Iona Hall, 37, Louisville, Ky., whose body was found in a shallow grave at Fort Knox, Ky., in January of 1954.

Collins, in his first confession, asserted he "picked up a girl named Hall" and "did away with her during a drinking bout. Later he said he had been questioned twice before by the FBI in Oklahoma and Texas about the Hall case.

Richard Auerbach, special agent in charge of the Seattle office of the FBI, said Collins admitted knowing the woman but denied knowledge of how she died.

Collins said he became an Army pilot after his Marine service.

New Addition Lot Sales Called Heavy

An estimated 87 per cent of the lots in the city's two new housing additions have been "spoken for." Approximately 80 lots have been sold in the Jarvis-Sone Addition and there have been "probably 50" applications for lots in the Engler-Buckelew Addition.
L. L. Sone pointed out that the city had only annexed one-half of the Jarvis-Sone Addition which is to include 275 lots when completely annexed. Garvin Elkins reported that the city had annexed all but 12 of the 105 lots in the complete Engler-Buckelew Addition.
Both Sone and Elkins pointed out that they were awaiting word from the Federal Housing Administration in Washington on their application for the use of the FHA loans.
Actually, the lots sold in the Jarvis-Sone Addition are signed contracts in which a down payment is put up as escrow. The money will be held in escrow till the deeds are signed and the utilities problem is ironed out.
In the Engler-Buckelew Addition, only "two or three or four" applications have actually been accepted. Construction is expected to begin in about 45 days.
The Engler-Buckelew Addition will be Pampa's first all-brick residential addition. The Jarvis-Sone Addition will probably be zoned residential, semi-commercial and commercial.
The Pampa Zoning Commission earlier in the week recommended to the Pampa City Commission such zoning for the parts of the additions. The commission will hold a public hearing on the zoning recommendations at 9 a.m. April 12.

Area Scout Leaders Plan Meeting Trip

Approximately 45 leaders of Adobe Walls Council, Region Nine, Boy Scouts of America, will emplane here and in Borger next month for the regular yearly meeting of the Region Nine council in San Antonio. The meeting will be April 14 through 16.
According to E. E. Shelhamer, promotion chairman, the delegation from this area won the Man-Mile Award last year for the most delegates traveling the most miles to attend the convention. There were 47 attending the meeting in Houston last year. Approximately the same number is expected this year.
The convention is a series of training sessions for Council and district leaders. The featured speaker will be John M. Schiff, New York, who is President of the Boy Scouts of America.
Planes have been made available for the group by Shamrock Oil and Gas, and Southwestern Public Service, Amarillo, Robinson Mission Manufacturing, Houston, Cities Service and possibly Cabot Carbon of Pampa, according to Shelhamer.
The group will leave Thursday, April 14 and return Saturday the 16th.

Employment Up in Pampa Area

Business is beginning to pick up as far as employment is concerned, according to Bill Ragsdale, Manager of the Pampa office of the Texas Employment Commission. Ragsdale said there were a few short labor jobs this week they were unable to fill immediately, which indicates there are fewer unemployed in the area.
Present listings at the office include Security Salesman, Maid, Child Monitor, House-to-house salesman, porter at a filling station, and housekeeper.

The contest will be held in the White Deer School Auditorium.

City In Better Business Bureau

The Pampa Chamber of Commerce became a member of New York's Better Business Bureau, "Red" Wedgeworth, manager, announced Wednesday it will make it possible "for the chamber to better serve the community."
The Pampa chamber joined with 700 similar groups throughout the country in the protection of the buying public from fraudulent promotions and unfair practices, Wedgeworth said.
As a member of the bureau, the local chamber will receive monthly bulletins alerting the community of sharp practices used by promoters in other parts of the country.
"While this program is not a cure-all and will not stop all the abuses practiced by a minority who operate on the fringe of business, it will give the community greater control over them, and provide it with a channel through which investigations and corrections can be made," Wedgeworth said.

Firemen Put Out Two Small Fires

The Pampa Fire Department answered two calls yesterday. The first, at 12:50 p.m., was at 425 N. Rider where a trash fire had ignited a shed. The fire was extinguished in about 30 minutes and no damage was reported.
The second was in the 700 block of S. Gray where a grass fire was burning near L. E. Lightfoot's residence. The fire was reported at 2:20 p.m. and was extinguished in about 20 minutes.

Bridge Group To Meet

A meeting of the Canadian River bridge dedication program committee has been called by Fred Thompson, chairman of the planning committee for noon April 5, at the bridge site. Thompson said inventory will be taken of present plans "and we will make any last minute decisions necessary."
In addition to the committee, sheriffs and county commissioners from Gray, Roberts and Ochiltree counties, have been invited to the meeting, the last to be held before dedication April 29. County law enforcement officers will aid in coordinating plans for handling the traffic problem.

All maples yield sweet sap, but only two are significant to syrup producers -- the sugar maple and the black maple.

Rotary Club Views Film

Approximately 77 Rotarians and 200 guests were in attendance at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Pampa Rotary International Club, held in the Palm Room of the City Hall at noon Wednesday. "The Great Adventure," a film commemorating 50 years of Rotary service, was shown to the group. The film put over the Rotary idea of understanding and goodwill for world peace among the various countries represented by Rotary. The five guests were Homer Boob, Wichita Falls, John Croft, Austin, Jack Green, Berger, Arvel Boyd, Amarillo, and Jimmy McCune, Pampa, who showed the movie.

Kidnaper Says She Took Baby 'To Scare A Man'

BEAUMONT —UP— Police announced Wednesday that Mrs. Pauline (Pat) Schulze, held in the kidnaping of a newborn baby here Saturday, had confessed and admitted doing it "to hurt a man."

Police Capt. Doyle Wingate said Mrs. Schulze, a practical nurse, named a Houston doctor as "the man" and said she wanted to "scare hell out of him."

Mrs. Schulze, charged with kidnaping the 20-minute old baby of Mr. and Mrs. George Wharton from Beaumont Baptist hospital, signed the confession, Wingate said.

Mrs. Schulze, mother of three young boys, made the confession in a cell of the Jefferson county jail where she has been held since her arrest, with the baby, Carolyn Sue, in Houston early Sunday.

Wingate said she readily admitted the kidnaping a few minutes after officers began questioning her late Tuesday night after she had regained her composure following a weeping binge. She had alternately wept and raged at police and newsmen since her arrest Sunday.

Wingate said the details of the kidnaping as supplied by Mrs. Schulze, who formerly worked at the hospital, dovetailed completely with those given by witnesses.

Mrs. Schulze, he said, admitted being "friendly" with a doctor in Houston, where she lived with her laundry route driver husband, Martin, and, he said, she had a disagreement with the doctor.

"I wanted to hurt him," Mrs. Schulze's statement said. "I just wanted to make him feel for just one day like I have felt for months."

Mrs. Schulze said she thought about coming to Beaumont and getting a baby—"any baby"—and then "scaring the hell out of him."

She said "I don't remember changing my clothes but I must have put on my nurse's uniform and took a mask (a surgical mask) because I knew that was the only way I could get into a hospital."

Mrs. Schulze formerly worked at the hospital and was confined there on three occasions for treatment, once for psychiatric treatment, in 1951.

Doctor Who Praised Reds Whisked Away

LOS ANGELES —UP—Dr. Malcolm Beeson, the American physician who praised communism after his release by Red Chinese captors, was spirited off a freighter Wednesday and whisked off for New York aboard a plane in company with an Army intelligence officer.

The doctor was taken off the Pacific Far East Lines ship California Bear by a launch which mysteriously intercepted the vessel in Los Angeles' outer harbor in a midnight rendezvous six hours before he was scheduled to disembark at San Pedro.

Newsman and cameramen waited vainly at the pier at 6 a.m., hoping to interview the doctor, who strongly advocated the Communist cause when he was released by the Reds in Hongkong in January.

The California Bear docked on schedule from Tokyo and a ship's officer disclosed that the physician who had been imprisoned more than three years and underwent Red "brain-washing," had been taken off on the launch.

Wheeler Slates Senior Play

WHEELER — (Special) — The Senior Class of Wheeler High School will present a three-act comedy, "Don't Take My Penny," by Anne O'Leary Martens, April 1 in the Wheeler Gymnasium.

All the action centers around a movie-struck young girl, the lead in a new movie, for which the author is hunting "just the Right Girl," a farm for Mark, and the usual hysteria that occurs in a family with a daughter just out of high school. Bedlam sets in when, in an effort to keep Penny from going to Hollywood, Kerry and Greg masquerade as a famous author and a beautiful model who just adores Penny's boyfriend, Kerry.

The play is under the direction of Miss Jeanne King, head of the high school English Department.

YOU LIVE LONGER TODAY

A youngster born in 1954 had the prospect of living to more than twice the age of a forebear born in the period 1879-89, according to a recent survey made by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company of its industrial policy holders. As Newschart shows, life expectancy has increased steadily to 1954's new high. Actually, life expectancy of a 1954 baby would probably be higher, because it may be expected that in the near future science will achieve further strides in prolonging life.

Latin Girl Testifies In Jelke Trial

NEW YORK — UP—Marguerite Cordova, a nervous Latin beauty, testified under cross-examination by a defense attorney Wednesday that she dated men for money before she discussed a life as a call girl with Minot (Mickey) Jelke.

Miss Cordova, testifying at Jelke's retrial on compulsory prostitution charges, admitted in reply to a question by defense attorney George Washington Herz that she had engaged in cash intimacies with men "three weeks or one month before discussing such acts with Jelke."

Miss Cordova is one of the two girls Jelke is accused of inducing to become call girls.

Herz drew the admission from her after extensive questioning. — But she admitted later that after a chance meeting with Barbara Harmon, a prostitute, she quit her job as a night club hat check girl and started going out with men for money. She said her dates were with men whom she had met at the nightclub.

Miss Cordova, 24, attired in a tight-fitting, low-cut black dress with a black lace shawl draped over her shoulders, was the first witness in the 11th day of the retrial of Jelke on two charges of compulsory prostitution.

Las Vegas Gamblers Quote Odds On Time Of A-Tests

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON — UP—My friend who has been watching bombs bursting in air over the Nevada desert has come up with a nice little behind-the-scenes yarn.

It seems that the Las Vegas gamblers are laying odds on when an atomic bomb will be fired. Las Vegas is 70 miles, or in seeing and hearing distance, of the proving grounds where the tests are being held.

Well, there is one gambler in a Las Vegas spot who is going to think again before he puts up.

The gambler turned the color of his vest, and started peeling off $5s and $10s and $20s, considerably reducing the size of his green bundle.

"How the devil did you hit it? You know something?" the odds man asked.

"Sure," said the soldier, wadding bills into his pocket. "I know this was the 11th time the shot was scheduled. This is the seventh of the month. Seven come 11. And thanks, sir."

Jap Defeat Seen Before Yalta -- Mac

NEW YORK — UP—Gen. Douglas MacArthur said Wednesday the "imminent collapse of Japan" in World War II "was clearly apparent several months" before the Yalta conference concession to bring Russia into the Pacific war.

MacArthur said that all his reports after October, 1944, had predicted the imminent collapse of Japan and that discussions had even been held in his headquarters about the possibility that the war against Japan would end before the war in Europe.

There have been published reports that MacArthur had told Washington the invasion of Japan and the final defeat of the Japanese would cost perhaps 1 million lives. These reports were cited by backers of President Roosevelt as sufficient and good reason to make concessions to the Russians at Yalta.

Braniff Protests Airline Merger

WASHINGTON — UP—Braniff Airways Wednesday asked the Civil Aeronautics Board to reconsider its approval of purchase of Pioneer Air Lines by Continental Air Lines of Denver.

It also asked that the transfer be postponed until the board acts on the request. Braniff contends the purchase would result in a duplication of air routes that already services adequately.

The CAB refused to act on Braniff's petition last week because it couldn't muster a majority of members to decide the issue.

The merger is scheduled for April 1.

CAUTION!

YOU MAY BE THE VICTIM OF A FAST-TALKING ARTIST AND, SO, WE OFFER YOU THESE SUGGESTIONS

Be on your guard when approached by certain out-of-town roofing and siding salesmen. It's always wise to consult your local lumber dealer and compare notes and figures. You'll save if you take local, friendly advice. You'll have few, if any, regrets later. You'll avoid buying inferior materials and poor workmanship. Home owners throughout the country have learned the hard way and now they take caution . . . they consult the men in their home town with whom they live and see every day. Don't be pressured or kidded into buying a roof or a siding job at prices which in the end cost you more than your local dealer asks. Your local, reliable lumber dealer will give you estimates without cost. Be sure to consult him!

HERE'S WHAT YOU SHOULD PAY ROOFING SIDING

Roofing is sold by the bundle or by the square. It takes three bundles or one square to cover an area 10x10 ft. An average size roof, completely applied, should cost about

$6.39 Per Month

Asbestos cement siding is the most popular type. This is also sold by the square. An average home can be resided, including all labor charges for as little as

$11.19 Per Month

This Includes Tufflex Insulation

HERES WHAT YOU SHOULD GET

No. 1 quality Rubberoid tite-on 230 pound shingles. The latest colors and patterns (no discontinued lines or factory seconds.) Applied by local workmen and sold by a local merchant who will be right here to back up a guarantee of complete satisfaction.

Johns-Manville First Grade Abestos Siding. All siding looks good when it's first applied. But it takes first quality material, skillfully applied, to hold up year after year. Because we're here in town to stay, we take pains to see that everything's okay. We want you to be a satisfied customer for years to come.

Please Note: Our own workmen apply INSULATED SIDING on an average house, including labor and materials, and insurance on labor, for as little as $14.38 per month.

Plane Crash Kills Pilot

COLEMAN, Tex. —UP—A small military plane, apparently out of gas, crashed in an oat field near the Coleman municipal airport before dawn Wednesday, killing one of the two men aboard.

The dead pilot was identified from papers as 1st Lt. James W. Walker, 27, of Walnut Grove, Mo. The other man, who was not seriously injured, was Warrant Officer William Novick, 27, of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Novick told an ambulance driver en route to the hospital that he and Walker, the commanding officer of the 29th Transport Company, were flying from Fort Sill, Okla., to Ford Hood, Tex., where they were stationed.

Novick said he was asleep and woke up to hear Walker say they were lost and almost out of gas. They were looking for the Coleman runway, which was not lighted, when they crashed at 2 a.m. in the field, one-third mile east of the airport runway.

Kerrville Solon Wants Each Vet Land Sale Investigated

EDITORS' NOTE: The story behind the headlines in the veterans land scandal has been told in a number of exclusive dispatches prepared by Preston McGraw, of Dallas, state manager for United Press. He has spent several days in Austin to learn why the program collapsed. This dispatch discusses possible liquidation of the program.

By PRESTON MCGRAW
AUSTIN —UP—Rep. Joe Burkett Jr., of Kerrville, who probably knows as much about the veterans' land scandals as any man in Texas, thinks that every sale under the program should be investigated and the program itself liquidated as soon as possible.

He is the head of the House committee investigating the program. The only sales Burkett wouldn't investigate are about 400 to veterans who have paid in full.

Burkett is alarmed not only by the abuses his committee has discovered, but also by what he considers the lack of practicability in the $100 million program.

Few Good Tracts
For instance, he thinks that there are few places in Texas, if there are any, where a man can buy enough land for the maximum $7,500 permitted under the program to support a family.

"Most purchases under the program were speculative," he said. And he said some came under the same category of the dancing lessons that veterans took under the federal GI bill of rights after World War II.

For instance, there was the Mitchell Lake deal, in which more than 20 professional men, like doctors and dentists, bought a hunting preserve under the veterans' land act.

They have 40 years to pay for the preserve and have to pay only 3 per cent interest on the purchase price, Burkett says the deal is perfectly legal and the veterans will undoubtedly pay.

Doubts Interest in Lodge
But he doubts that the framers of the original law were interested in making it possible for veterans to buy hunting preserves with the state's money.

"There were some good deals of about 20 acres—the minimum permitted under the program—near towns," he said. "But there were not enough of these."

He doesn't think it would take an excessive time to investigate all the deals. He says about 15,000 were completed before the scandal broke and action was pending on about 2,000 more.

"The bad deals follow a pattern," he said. "After looking at them for a while, you can take one look at a deal and tell whether it was phony."

Could Sort Out Bad Ones
So far, he says, his committee has looked at less than 2 per cent of the deals. He thinks the state auditor's office could go through the others and sort out the bad ones.

And he said his investigation hasn't shown that the land racket was conceived before the voters approved a constitutional amendment that set up the veterans' land board.

"I think the idea grew like topsoy," he said. "Somebody thought up the racket and it spread. I don't think anything to speak of happened before 1932."

That was three years after the program was started, Burkett thinks one of the worst features of the present law is the one which permits any person—veteran or non-veteran—to buy a piece of property a veteran has gotten under the veterans' land program on the same basis as the veteran.

Three-Year Limit
That is, after a veteran has acquired property under the program, he can do whatever he wants with it after three years. The person who buys it from the veteran has 37 years to pay off at a 3 per cent interest.

Some promoters took full advantage of that weakness. For instance, Burkett said, a promoter would find a tract of land that he felt he could "GL."

He would take an option on it from the original owner. Then he'd round up veterans and buy their "GI rights" for $50 to $100 a man. The state would "buy" the land from the promoters for the veterans.

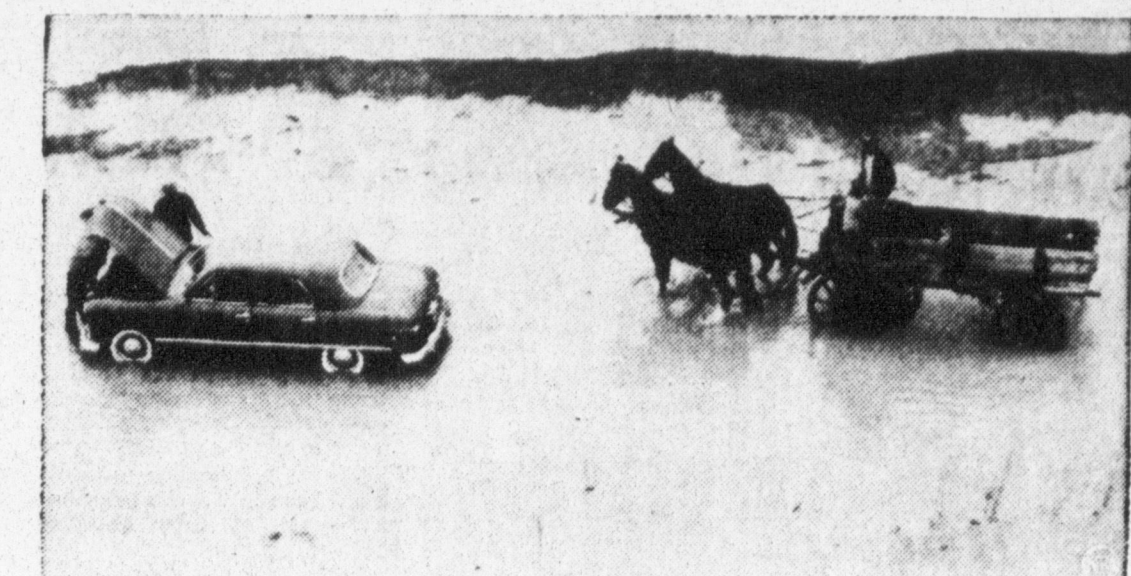

With the money from the state, the promoter would pay off the original owner, from whom he had taken an option. He always made a profit there, since what the state paid him was more than he agreed to pay the original owner.

He had, meanwhile, gotten options from the veterans which let him keep up the monthly payments and taxes on the land and at the end of three years, "buy" it from them at the same terms the veterans' land program made it available to bona fide veterans.

The difference was that this promoter, having already made a profit on thousands of acres, was buying the land at 3 per cent interest over a period of time no other lending agency would have permitted.

"It's the only way I ever heard of that a man could eat his cake and have it too," Burkett said.

Shetsky Gets Six Years

TULSA —UP—Rubin Shetsky, appearing in a wheelchair instead of the customary ambulance cot, was sentenced Wednesday to six years in the state penitentiary for a $31,000 fur burglary.

District Judge W. Lee Johnson, who had ordered the trial to be held despite Shetsky's complaint of heart disorder, handed out Wednesday's sentence.

A jury found the 49-year-old Minneapolis hoodlum guilty last week and recommended the six-year penalty.

Shetsky's attorney, Elmore A. Page, Chicago, filed a motion for a new trial, but did not argue it. He gave notice of intention to appeal the conviction and sentence to the Oklahoma Criminal Court of Appeals.

Johnson set appeal bond at $10,000 and Shetsky had already made arrangements to post it. Shetsky, who operates a Chicago tavern, also faces a charge of assault with intent to kill a Tulsa police officer. That is scheduled for trial next month.

He is accused of trying to kill police who arrested him after the fur burglary. Shetsky and two others were captured after a three-mile high speed chase and gun battle.

● JACOBY ● ON BRIDGE This Hand Isn't Easy To Figure Out

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Today's hand comes from my good friend Ewart Kempson, editor of an English magazine for bridge enthusiasts.

"How should South plan the play to give himself the best chance of making three no-trump after West has led the six of clubs, East has played the ace and returned the two of clubs?"

This isn't the easiest hand in the world to play. You are sure of three spade tricks, two hearts, and only one club. Hence you need three diamonds to make your contract.

You can make three diamond tricks if the suit breaks 3-3 by just giving up one trick to the king. You must hope that East has the king, of course, for West will defeat you with his long clubs if he can gain the lead.

If the diamonds don't break favorably (and, as it happens, they don't), you must find a way to take two finesses through the king of diamonds. How do you get to dummy twice in order to take those finesses?

By the time that you have reached this stage in your thinking you are ready for the rest of Kempson's comment:

"West is known to have five clubs as soon as East leads the two of clubs to the second trick. Before that lead, however, South should have made the key play of throwing the king of clubs under the ace.

"This enables South to get into dummy twice, once with a club and once with a spade, and take two finesses in diamonds, thus making nine tricks. To play a low club at the first trick results in defeat."

Very true and very neat. If this gives you a good opinion of English bridge, you're on the right track. The English won the European championship last summer, and their team will come to New York on Jan. 9 to play against the American champions for the world title. In my opinion, the match will be the toughest an American team has ever faced.

Big Suit Threatened

JACKSON, Miss. —UP—Mayor Allen Thompson is wondering what to do about a threatened lawsuit from nine tots. The irate youngsters wrote the mayor, "If you don't let the ice cream man put the music box on his truck, we will sue for one trillion dollars." A city ordinance forbids the noise.

FOC Approves Skelly Transaction

WASHINGTON —UP—The FOC Thursday authorized W. G. Skelly, Tulsa oilman, to relinquish his control in Station KV00-TV. Skelly owns 51 per cent interest in Central Plains Enterprises, which operates the Tulsa station. He asked authority to sell 12 per cent of this stock to Harold C. Stuart, president of Central Plains.

A Lecture

BOSTON —UP—A bandit who held up a Back Bay cleaning shop got $25 and some advice from his victim. The clerk, Mrs. Frances Lockhart, 56, told the bandit: "You are getting off on the wrong foot young man."

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — S... who's going to win 1954's Oscar on March 30? Don't ask me.

I'm willing to take a couple of long-shot guesses for you, but I'm not putting any money on the line this year. There are two candidates in almost every category capable of winning or splitting the votes to allow a dark-horse victory.

For the best motion picture "On the Waterfront" is the favorite, but "The Country Girl" could come home a winner.

It's Judy Garland or Grace Kelly in the best actress department—the toughest pick Hollywood has had in a long time. Sentiment and home-town loyalty seems to favor Judy.

Best actor — Marlon Brando or Bing Crosby? I'll guess Brando. Best supporting actress: I'll be definite about this one — Eva Marie Saint for her "On the Waterfront" performance.

Best supporting actor: Another close one. Tom Tully for "The Caine Mutiny" could make it.

Best direction: It should be George Seaton for "The Country Girl."

Best original movie song: I'm whistling "The High and the Mighty."

But don't count on anything because anything can happen.

Doris Day may not want it mentioned, but she took a slap from James Cagney in the final day's shooting of "Love Me Or Leave Me" that almost flooded her. Even the Italians don't have that kind of realism.

Edward G. Robinson and his Gladys aren't letting a little thing like divorce split them up. They paired at a dinner party given by the Jean Harsholtz and have dates for other movietown social events. You figure it out.

A couple of years ago, I upset Patricia Neal by saying out loud that there was no such person as the romantic Southerner her press agent was linking her with in newspaper. Today I have to do the same thing to Sheree North and a figment of somebody's imagination named Jeffrey Schwartz, who has been linked with her in print. There's no such person. End of romance.

The witnet: I've never seen it printed, but the friend of the medic swears it's true. Several months before W. C. Fields died, the medic went to the comedian's bedside and spent an hour explaining the effects of alcohol on the comedian's health graph.

"There's a chance for you," said the doc. "Drink water — it's up to you."

"I will do something about it," promised Fields. "I'll put an ice cube in every Martini."

This is Hollywood, Mrs. Jones; Janny Kaye's trumpet blowing in the Red Nichols filmography will be dubbed, but he's learning to finger the instrument like a pro. The flinkers he rips off, says Director Mel Frank, "Are Bach, backwards."

Mary Anderson's comedy magic on Broadway in "Lunatics and Lovers" won her a role in Elliott Nugent's next footlight offering. The switch to comedy is something Mary has been seeking for a long time.

Vivian Blaine will star in a new telefilm comedy series, "It's Sunday Again." ... As expected, Rita Hayworth called off suit against Columbia for an accounting of profits on her Beckwith Co. films released by the studio now that she's back in the Columbia fold.

Bullfighter to Appear
NUEVO LAREDO, Mex. —UP—Mario Moreno (Cantinflas), a Mexican comedian and movie star, considered by many the world's best comic bullfighter, will appear in Nuevo Laredo's bull ring at 4 p.m. Sunday. Cantinflas will kill two small bulls, alternating with the program with Paco Montano and Manolo Perez.

Pampans To Attend WT CofC Meet

A delegation from the Pampa Chamber of Commerce will attend March 27-29 the 37th annual convention in Lubbock of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. Featured on the program will be a panel forum of six West Texas Congressmen.

Attending the three-day convention from Pampa will be chamber president, Floyd Watson; George Newberry, chairman of the C of C Industrial committee; Gordon Lyons, member of the Industrial committee and chamber manager, Red Wedgeworth.

The congressional forum at 9 a.m. Monday at Lubbock's Lindsey Theater, includes Congressmen George Mahon, O. C. Fisher, W. R. Poage, Omar Burleson, Frank Ikard, and Jim Wright. Cong. Walter Rogers will not be able to attend the convention forum.

Monday's program in addition to featuring the Congressional forum will be highlighted by the address of Dr. John O. Christianson, dean of the school of agriculture of the University of Minnesota. He will speak at the annual dinner. At the luncheon at the Hotel Lubbock the Texas Tech Choir will entertain.

At Tuesday morning's convention session, Robert W. Kneebone, of the National Bank of Commerce, Houston, will speak.

Made-to-Order
LAWRENCE, Mass. —UP—The city of Lawrence is the only made-to-order community in Massachusetts. In 1845, a group of industrialists headed by Abbott Lawrence formed a company to lay out a city on the Merrimack River. A dam was built, hills leveled, valleys filled in, buildings erected and an entire community moved into houses.

CHEVROLET TRUCKS HERE

Chevrolet's new line of pickup trucks will be on display Friday at Culberson's Chevrolet, 212 N. Ballard. The trucks this year claim a long list of improvements that range from added driver convenience to beauty of design. Two pickups, among the 75 models offered by Chevrolet on 15 wheel bases, are offered in the light duty series, one featuring a 78-inch length box and the other a 90-inch length.

IT'S THE LAW IN TEXAS

Included among the measures pending before the current 54th Texas Legislature are several Concurrent Resolutions and Bills permitting various individuals and firms to file suits against the state. Applying to local situations only, such measures are ordinarily attended by very little publicity, and the majority of Texans are probably not even aware of their passage.

In fact, the average individual would seldom have occasion to ponder the question of whether the State of Texas can be sued on the same basis as a person or corporation. One of the prerogatives of sovereignty carried down from ages past into our present day laws is that of immunity from being sued. The State of Texas may not be sued without its consent.

The Legislature by a proper action may permit certain general types of suits to be brought against the state, under certain conditions and restrictions. Then, if a specific situation arises which is not covered by the general rules, the legislators are authorized to pass a special measure to permit suit to be brought.

Therefore, any person seeking to enforce a claim against the state through the courts must petition the legislature for the necessary permission, unless his claim falls within some general category or type previously recognized by our lawmakers.

In its preceding session, the Legislature passed legislation allowing suits to be brought against the state in a variety of cases, ranging from an action for damages for personal injuries suffered in a collision with a State Highway Department truck to a suit for monetary damages alleged to have been incurred in connection with the securing of a right-of-way for a farm-to-market highway.

Sometimes, however, suits may be brought against individuals holding office under the State of Texas and acting as agents of the state, but where the state itself is not the principal party to the suit, without first gaining consent to sue. There are numerous situations in which an individual officer may be sued with regard to the duties and functions of his office, and in which the state is not directly or substantially a party in interest.

Suppose you do obtain legislative permission to sue the state. What happens then? If suit is brought against the State of Texas, and the action is successfully prosecuted, you will be awarded a judgment against the state. Then, it's back to the Legislature for more legislation to appropriate the necessary money with which the state may pay off the judgment.

Ike Would 'Release' War Papers

WASHINGTON —UP— President Eisenhower said Wednesday he earnestly believes that pertinent documents of all secret wartime conferences should be made public.

But he said they should be used to learn lessons from past mistakes — not to damage reputations or pin blame on participants.

Nor should they be used to upset American allies, the President told his news conference.

Mr. Eisenhower made the statement under questioning about the administration's controversial decision last week of the 1945 Yalta conference documents. Publication of the Yalta papers, kicked up a political and diplomatic furor.

Releasees Should Be Limited

The President said release of such documents should be confined to things of political and military significance. He said such papers should not include casual conversations of the participating leaders.

And he emphasized that publication of such documents must be considered carefully where interests of American allies are involved.

British Prime Minister Winston Churchill objected to the U. S. decision to publish the Yalta papers at this time. He said the American version of the documents contained some "serious mistakes."

German Rearmament In Sight; Oklahoma, Texas Dems Set Contest

By CHARLES M. MCCANN

United Press Foreign Analyst

West German rearmament seems to be in sight at last, and the allies will face a new problem soon—how to control it.

A lot of people in France and Great Britain, including some who agree that German rearmament is necessary, are asking whether it will lead to the revival of German militarism.

The German armament treaties on which the French Senate is to vote Friday provide for West German armed forces totaling 500,000 men.

At first, the problem will be to get the armament program going so that German troops may take their place with those of the allies in the line of defense against possible Russian aggression.

Present Government Democratic

The present West German government, under Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, is safely democratic.

But Adenauer—the one strong man in the entire German political picture—is 79 years old. He can not last for ever, and when he goes the German armament problem could become a serious one.

Germany is traditionally the most militaristic country in the world. Its new fighting forces will be under the command of professional military men, naturally eager to build up as strong a military organization as possible.

Right Wing Eager

In the background, increasingly active, will be German right wing

militaristic elements, awaiting any chance to get into power.

There was a little incident the other day that was reminiscent of what happened in Germany after World War I.

Dispatches from Bonn, the West German capital, said the British Navy had bought three fast motor boats which the West German government had ordered.

These boats, 114 feet long, were ordered by the West German Interior Ministry in 1952 for coastal patrol work. The Germans said they would speed 45 miles an hour. Allied inspectors said their three diesel motors of 2,500 horsepower each would push them faster than 50 miles an hour.

Construction Not Approved

The Allied Military Security Board refused to approve construction of the ships. Nevertheless, the Germans started work on them. The work was stopped by the allies before the boats were finished, and their partly completed hulls lay in a Bremen shipyard until the British decided to buy them.

This was just a minor incident. But London newspapers gave it some prominence—they remembered clearly how the Germans had cheated on disarmament after World War I even before Adolf Hitler got into power.

The London Daily Express quoted a Londoner as saying: "West or East—they're the same old Germans." The headline on the story asked: "Will They Cheat Us Again?"

AUSTIN —UP—Oklahoma and Texas had agreed Thursday on a challenge to see which state can have the most Democrats attending an April 16 dinner in Washington honoring House Speaker Sam Rayburn.

George W. Sandlin, Texas state Democratic chairman, accepted Wednesday a challenge offered by William C. Doenges, Oklahoma's Democratic national committeeman.

"The courage shown in issuing such a challenge in the face of certain defeat is most admirable," Sandlin told the Oklahomans in a telegram.

"Your acknowledgement that Texans' reputation as champions has spread throughout the world is appreciated and of course being Texans we must admit it is true. I will present you with a Texas Stetson hat if there are more Sonners present than Texans, providing you will furnish me with an Indian war bonnet if there are more Texans present."

"I wear size 7 1/2," said Sandlin.

Webb Signs New Contract

HOLLYWOOD —UP—The National Broadcasting Company announced Thursday it has signed "Diagnet" star Jack Webb to a 16-year contract for his exclusive services on both radio and television. Announcement of the long term deal with Mark VII Ltd., Webb's production company, was made by Sylvester L. Weaver Jr., NBC president.

Meditations for LENT

By DR. J. CARTER SWAIN

Written for NEA Service

"The impossible we do at once; the miraculous takes a little longer." This slogan, heard often during World War II, seems to have been especially characteristic of the "Seabee," the construction battalions that built bridges over the jungle and cleared airfields in the jungle and made swamps habitable. The saying is attributed to Gen. Brehon Somervell, who died Feb. 13, 1955.

During all his professional life, General Somervell had attempted great things. He had served as assistant chief of staff of the Supply Division of the Army of Occupation in Germany; Works Progress Administrator for New York City; and as president of a company manufacturing industrial machinery. During World War II his Army Service Forces had supplied a total of 8,300,000 men and disbursed $172,000,000.

For the Normandy invasion he arranged to land a million men and 100,000 vehicles in 109 days, each when needed. Although his was the ultimate responsibility, it is evident that such achievements required the cooperation and assistance of thousands upon thousands of others. Yet he did not scorn personal effort. During certain periods of his life, as in preparation for the invasions of North Africa, he regularly worked a 98-hour week.

Hard work, inspired by patriotism, produced incredible results. The Christian serves an even greater cause. For him, hard work is inspired by eagerness to advance Christ's kingdom. Sometimes the results are out of proportion to the striving. "I can do all things," says Paul (Philippians 4:13, RSV), "in him who strengthens me."

SPANISH GOULASH: Fry to golden brown:
1 chopped onion
1 chopped green pepper
6 chopped strips of bacon
1 can mushrooms
2 lbs. ground round steak
1 tsp. sage
Soil, drain and butter about one

lb. spaghetti. Add to sauce and cook slowly for 30 minutes. Serve with grated Parmesan cheese. Serves about 8 persons.

HERE'S A RECIPE from the Baking Soda Institute on Raisin Bran Muffins.
To make twelve medium-sized muffins, cream one-quarter cup shortening and one cup firmly packed brown sugar until light and fluffy. Beat one egg and add to shortening mixture. Beat well. There is also the wife who treats her husband as though he were a child, instead of a full-grown man. She watches his diet, his manners, his bed time, his health and so forth as though he were an invalid.
And what about the nagger? Certainly no one thinks a man is lucky who is married to a wife who doesn't know when to drop a subject, especially when the aim is getting her husband to do something he doesn't want to do.
There is also the married gold-digger, who has a way of getting everything she wants, and letting her husband worry about the bills. She regards as so much velvet anything she can manage to persuade her husband to buy for her or that she can charge and get him to pay for.
If they realized in what an unenviable light they put their husbands all of these wives might change their ways. For what woman would want to leave others feeling sorry for her husband — simply because of his choice of a wife?

SEVERAL WEEKS AGO, while interviewing Mrs. Dan Glaxner or "This Is My Dish," she gave me a recipe for rolls and for Spanish goulash that I will pass on to you. The roll recipe is very good and easy to make, a boon to beginner cooks like myself and to those more experienced, too.

ROLLS' RECIPE: 1 cup milk
1 ea. yeast
1 Tbsp. shortening
1 Tbsp. sugar
1 tsp. salt
3 cups flour
Warm milk to lukewarm. Dissolve yeast in warm milk. Melt shortening and put in milk. Add salt and sugar. Mix as for biscuits. By "mix as for biscuits," Mrs. Glaxner explained she means sifting the flour into a bowl and stirring in the mixture with a spoon. Soak's very simple. Maybe I can get around to try it soon.

SPANISH GOULASH: Fry to golden brown:
1 chopped onion
1 chopped green pepper
6 chopped strips of bacon
1 can mushrooms
2 lbs. ground round steak
1 tsp. sage
Soil, drain and butter about one

HERE'S A RECIPE from the Baking Soda Institute on Raisin Bran Muffins.
To make twelve medium-sized muffins, cream one-quarter cup shortening and one cup firmly packed brown sugar until light and fluffy. Beat one egg and add to shortening mixture. Beat well. Add one and one-half cups bran and one cup buttermilk. Let stand five minutes. Sift together one cup sifted all-purpose flour, one half teaspoon baking soda, one-half teaspoon salt and one teaspoon baking powder. Add one-half cup seedless raisins. Add to bran mixture and mix only until ingredients are combined. Fill greased two-inch muffin pans two-thirds full. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees) twenty-five to thirty minutes, or until muffins test done.

Delegates To Girls State Are Chosen
The American Legion Auxiliary met recently in the City Club Room for a program on community service, presented by Mrs. Charles Gilson.
"We, of the American Legion Auxiliary, are pledged to unselfish devotion, to mutual helpfulness, and to give service to the community, to the state and to the nations," Mrs. Gilson pointed out. "We are pledged to God and to country. The story of our Lord has no parallel in unselfish devotion to the interest of others. The greatest story ever told is one of love, humility and self-sacrifice for the benefit of all. Let us dedicate and consecrate ourselves anew to living useful lives and doing useful work, which will be of benefit to others."
During the business session, members voted to send $10 to the National American Legion Child Welfare Foundation. It was also decided to send two Pampa girls to Girls' State. They will be Sheila Cissom and Carol Carnes.
Delegates elected for the district convention, to be held in Herford April 1 and 2, were Mmes. Joe Shelton, F. W. Shotwell and Al Lawson. Alternates selected were Mrs. J. M. Turner and Mrs. Lee Harrah. The membership chairman reported the group's goal of 88 members had been reached.
Next meeting will be April 7 in the home of Mrs. Joe Shelton, 823 N. Russell. Present were Mmes. Al Lawson, J. M. Turner, Diana Wood, Ruth Sewell, F. W. Program On Voice Quality Presented To B&PW Group
Mrs. Lillie Mae Fowler, chief operator for Southwestern Bell Telephone Company here, assisted by Mrs. Kate McConnell, presented the program at the meeting Tuesday evening of the Business and Professional Women's Club in the City Club Room.
Title of the program was "Your Voice Is You." The women played a tape recording giving examples of different types of voices. With the recording, they used sketches or caricatures of persons with different voice types, such as "Mrs. Droopy Voice," and "Mrs. Shriill."
Mrs. Fowler spoke briefly on the training a telephone operator must go through to obtain a pleasant voice quality, and told of exercise a person can do to modulate his voice.
At the close of the program, Mrs. Fowler and Mrs. McConnell recorded some of the voices of club members and played them back.
Mrs. D. C. Ash, president, led the meeting, and the program was introduced by Mrs. Gladys Jaynes, public affairs chairman.
During the next business session, Mrs. Nell Timmer reported on the Council of Clubs style show.
Following the program, a social period was held. Attending were 31 members and guests.

Civic Culture Names Committees, Hears Program On Russian Situation
The Civic Culture Club met recently in the home of Mrs. A. D. Hills, 708 Frost, with Mrs. A. C. Houchin, president, in charge.
Committee members for the new club year were appointed by Mrs. M. M. Moyer, incoming president. They were Mmes. A. W. Skewes, Emmett Gee and Katie Vincent, civic committee; Mmes. D. W. Coffman, A. C. Houchin and J. B. Townsend, program; Mrs. Willis White and Mrs. Carl Patchin, finance; Mmes. John Brandon, H. C. Roberts, Henry Link and W. C. Scott, special; Mmes. A. D. Hills, Lloyd Kuntz, R. E. Daur, and H. W. Waters, social; and Mrs. Irvin Cole, fine arts.
The program on Russia was presented by Mrs. J. B. Townsend.
"Russia today seems to be on a toboggan, on a down-grade and is desperately struggling for power," she explained. "All Russia seems to be upset, worried, confused and uneasy. They seem to be going from one crisis to another."
Mrs. Townsend told the women that political stability in Russia, with no one person yet proving himself to be "boss" or a legitimate leader.
"Khrushcher, the present strong man, has not been tested," she pointed out. "Stalin climbed to the top as an absolute dictator through purges and rivers of blood. Yet, when he died, there was suspicion of murder."
In Russia today the people are being told they still cannot have enough to eat or wear, Mrs. Townsend stated. They are being told they must hate America and make arms and heavy machinery. Russian farms and industries are lagging and the country looks "down-at-the-heels," she added. She told the women that Russia is slipping closer and closer to bankruptcy.
The Russian-subdued countries are becoming increasingly confused and their leaders fear their own people, she pointed out.
"The new strong man, Bulganin, ruled by Khrushcher, is taking over a bundle of trouble, ranging from acute food shortage to threatened revolt," Mrs. Townsend advised.
Russia doesn't want war now, she explained, but will urge another country to antagonize America and cause unease, worry and trouble for this country. She added that Russia would be pleased if she could talk Red China into fighting the U. S. with their own man-power.
"Bulganin is a Communist hack, a political general with no military background and will not take any decided action until he is sure of the military," Mrs. Townsend concluded. "If the Soviet leaders can push Red China into a hot war, they can weaken China and force the Chinese to depend more on Russia; they can damage U. S. economy and tie down American armed strength; and they can give themselves more time to get Russia affairs in order."

GRACE FRIEND
Dear Grace Friend:
I would be so grateful for some advice about a problem.
A woman whom I've baby sat for owes me $7. She claimed she would send it to me when she got paid which she never did so I assigned a claim against her to the Department of Labor Law Enforcement not knowing I must appear in court to collect.
Today I received a card saying a hearing would be held later this month and for me to bring all evidence, records and witnesses. What bothers me is that I can't even remember the exact date I worked for this woman. It was about four months ago and I don't have any records and the only witnesses available are my parents who have refused to be drug into it.
Now I don't want to go through with it and since I am not working at the present I couldn't even afford to pay bus fare to appear. And my folks won't take me.
Now I would like to know if I could get out of this in some way, or must I go through with it since I assigned the claim.
I am a very nervous person and I don't think I could stand facing this other woman who will probably tell lots of lies about me.
Please give me some advice and I'd just as soon lose the money than become involved in a lot of trouble.
Your advice will be appreciated. Please answer immediately. Upset

Dear Upset:
You may write a card to the department where you filed your original claim and state that lacking evidence, you will not appear on the date set for the hearing. Or you can just not appear without any word at all in which case the claim will be dismissed.
I suggest that you consider the matter more carefully in the future before filing such a case. Decide before you file whether you really want to appear and state your grievance and if you feel that you won't want to carry the matter through to a conclusion don't take up the time of busy men and women in the claims office.
LETTERS SENT TO M
Letters sent in answer to that by M in my column a few days ago have all been forwarded to her. Several of you asked for her name. As this column never reveals the names of writers without their express permission, those letters also went to M so that she may answer if she wishes.

Moody Girl Named State Homemaker
Miss Mariene Comer of Moody has been chosen the Texas Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow, it was announced today. Miss Comer will compete with 47 other state winners for the All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow title. By winning the Texas pin, she received a $1500 scholarship and an expense-paid trip for herself and her school advisors to Washington, D. C., colonial Williamsburg, Va., and Philadelphia, Pa. Her school will receive a set of Encyclopaedia Britannica.
Fifty Pampa High School girls competed for the local prize, which was awarded to Miss Joy Shumate. Miss Shumate's entry was then sent to the state contest. The local prize was a gold pin and a cook book, and a cook book was to be presented to the high school home economics department.

The all-day meet will begin at 10 a.m. The style show will feature sports clothes and Easter outfits. (News photo)

Civic Culture Names Committees, Hears Program On Russian Situation
The Civic Culture Club met recently in the home of Mrs. A. D. Hills, 708 Frost, with Mrs. A. C. Houchin, president, in charge.
Committee members for the new club year were appointed by Mrs. M. M. Moyer, incoming president. They were Mmes. A. W. Skewes, Emmett Gee and Katie Vincent, civic committee; Mmes. D. W. Coffman, A. C. Houchin and J. B. Townsend, program; Mrs. Willis White and Mrs. Carl Patchin, finance; Mmes. John Brandon, H. C. Roberts, Henry Link and W. C. Scott, special; Mmes. A. D. Hills, Lloyd Kuntz, R. E. Daur, and H. W. Waters, social; and Mrs. Irvin Cole, fine arts.
The program on Russia was presented by Mrs. J. B. Townsend.
"Russia today seems to be on a toboggan, on a down-grade and is desperately struggling for power," she explained. "All Russia seems to be upset, worried, confused and uneasy. They seem to be going from one crisis to another."
Mrs. Townsend told the women that political stability in Russia, with no one person yet proving himself to be "boss" or a legitimate leader.
"Khrushcher, the present strong man, has not been tested," she pointed out. "Stalin climbed to the top as an absolute dictator through purges and rivers of blood. Yet, when he died, there was suspicion of murder."
In Russia today the people are being told they still cannot have enough to eat or wear, Mrs. Townsend stated. They are being told they must hate America and make arms and heavy machinery. Russian farms and industries are lagging and the country looks "down-at-the-heels," she added. She told the women that Russia is slipping closer and closer to bankruptcy.
The Russian-subdued countries are becoming increasingly confused and their leaders fear their own people, she pointed out.
"The new strong man, Bulganin, ruled by Khrushcher, is taking over a bundle of trouble, ranging from acute food shortage to threatened revolt," Mrs. Townsend advised.
Russia doesn't want war now, she explained, but will urge another country to antagonize America and cause unease, worry and trouble for this country. She added that Russia would be pleased if she could talk Red China into fighting the U. S. with their own man-power.
"Bulganin is a Communist hack, a political general with no military background and will not take any decided action until he is sure of the military," Mrs. Townsend concluded. "If the Soviet leaders can push Red China into a hot war, they can weaken China and force the Chinese to depend more on Russia; they can damage U. S. economy and tie down American armed strength; and they can give themselves more time to get Russia affairs in order."

GRACE FRIEND
Dear Grace Friend:
I would be so grateful for some advice about a problem.
A woman whom I've baby sat for owes me $7. She claimed she would send it to me when she got paid which she never did so I assigned a claim against her to the Department of Labor Law Enforcement not knowing I must appear in court to collect.
Today I received a card saying a hearing would be held later this month and for me to bring all evidence, records and witnesses. What bothers me is that I can't even remember the exact date I worked for this woman. It was about four months ago and I don't have any records and the only witnesses available are my parents who have refused to be drug into it.
Now I don't want to go through with it and since I am not working at the present I couldn't even afford to pay bus fare to appear. And my folks won't take me.
Now I would like to know if I could get out of this in some way, or must I go through with it since I assigned the claim.
I am a very nervous person and I don't think I could stand facing this other woman who will probably tell lots of lies about me.
Please give me some advice and I'd just as soon lose the money than become involved in a lot of trouble.
Your advice will be appreciated. Please answer immediately. Upset

Dear Upset:
You may write a card to the department where you filed your original claim and state that lacking evidence, you will not appear on the date set for the hearing. Or you can just not appear without any word at all in which case the claim will be dismissed.
I suggest that you consider the matter more carefully in the future before filing such a case. Decide before you file whether you really want to appear and state your grievance and if you feel that you won't want to carry the matter through to a conclusion don't take up the time of busy men and women in the claims office.
LETTERS SENT TO M
Letters sent in answer to that by M in my column a few days ago have all been forwarded to her. Several of you asked for her name. As this column never reveals the names of writers without their express permission, those letters also went to M so that she may answer if she wishes.

This Is My Dish

Almond Paste Enhances Flavor Of Coffee Cake

By JANE KADINCO
Pampa News Women's Editor
A Pampa woman who loves to cook and says she spends "most of my time in the kitchen," is Mrs. Ted McGuire, 1326 Charles. Born in Oklahoma City, Okla., Mrs. McGuire came to Pampa 14 years ago from Pawhuska, Okla.

Mrs. McGuire cooks for her husband, who is a salesman for the Armour Company, and her two sons and one daughter. She has another son serving with the Air Force, who will be sent to England soon.

Mrs. McGuire says she loves to cook and thinks one of the most important phases of cooking is preparing and serving food in an appetizing way or with an appetizing appearance.

When asked about a hobby, Mrs. McGuire said cooking was her hobby . . . and she likes to sew, too. She confines most of her activities to her children and her home.

One of Mrs. McGuire's favorite recipes that makes a hit with her family, too, is one for coffee cake.

COFFEE CAKE
2 packages yeast
1/2 cup water, lukewarm
1 cup milk
1/2 cup sugar
2 tsp. salt
1/2 cup shortening
2 eggs beaten
5 cups all-purpose flour
Soften yeast in water. Scald milk. Add sugar, salt and shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Add about 3 cups flour to make a thick batter.

FROSTING
1 cup powdered sugar
2 Tbsp. butter
2 Tbsp. cream
1 tsp. vanilla.
After frosting, sprinkle with pecans.

Mrs. McGuire says that you can buy the almond paste in most any grocery store. This recipe gives enough dough for 2 cakes. She keeps half of it in the refrigerator for two or three days and makes another coffee cake. It doesn't keep much longer than 2 days, however.

He-Man Specials Braised Short Ribs

Restaurant owners report that short ribs always are a favorite with the men. They're one of the thriffter beef cuts which, when combined with vegetables, make an inexpensive and wholesome one-dish meal for the family.

Braised Short Ribs with Vegetables
2 1/2 to 3 pounds beef short ribs
Salt, pepper, flour, fat
1 medium onion
1/2 cup celery leaves
2 sprigs parsley
1 1/2 cups hot water or bouillon
8 medium carrots
8 small onions
3 to 4 medium potatoes

Deviled Ham-Corn Dish Delights Family

Give your budget a boost and serve this inexpensive main dish. What's more, your family will be delighted with the interesting flavor of every delicious bite.

Succulent yellow corn, green pepper and rice cook together before the sippy deviled ham is added and then your broiler turns the cheese topping into a bubbly golden brown.

Deviled Corn Casserole
Hot Spiced Beets
Buttered Green Beans
Hot Rolls
Lemon Fluff Pudding

INGREDIENTS:
1 cup whole kernel yellow corn drained
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1 cup uncooked white rice
3/4 cups water
2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon black pepper
1 1/2 oz. can deviled ham
1/2 cup grated American cheese

METHOD:
Put the corn, green pepper, rice, water, salt and pepper in a greased 2-quart baking dish. Stir in thoroughly mix the ingredients. Place in a pre-heated 350 degrees F. oven for 45 minutes. Do not stir during the baking. Break the deviled ham into small chunks and sprinkle the grated cheese over stir until the corn-rice mixture the top. Place under the broiler and broil until the cheese is melted and browned. Serve from the baking dish. This recipe makes 10 servings.

A Pineapple Salad Inspired By Spring

With all your fresh enthusiasm inspired by Springtime, how about passing some along to those next door neighbors or the friends you've been meaning to invite for dinner? Have party at your house, and by making it a buffet supper it will be easy for you and fun for all.

For your menu you might choose:

- Chilled Spicy Tomato Juice
- Cocktail with Wedge of Lemon
- Big Bowls of Oyster Stew
- Crisp Crackers
- Buttered Toast Triangles
- Double Decker Pineapple Salad
- Individual Cherry Tarts
- Coffee

Oyster Stew is a favorite with many people and it makes a special supper dish for company. Use your own recipe or the new, frozen canned soup. You'll be surprised how your guests will rave about it.

This double decker pineapple salad adds interesting crispness and color to your meal. Here's all you do:

Add coarsely chopped green pepper, pimiento and crisp celery to cottage cheese (either creamy or country style); season with salt and pepper and spread between slices of drained Dole Pineapple. Top with additional cottage cheese and mayonnaise. Sprinkle with paprika. Makes a big, crisp, yet juicy and flavorful salad.

Spaghetti, Meat Sauce For Crowd

Have you thrown a party recently? A main dish which always goes over with the crowd is spaghetti with meat sauce. Here's the home-kitchen-tested recipe for an especially delicious meat sauce for spaghetti.

Spaghetti Meat Sauce
2 pounds ground beef
4 tablespoons fat
1 cup chopped onions
2 cloves garlic
2-3 cup coarsely chopped green pepper (optional)
2 No. 2 cans tomatoes (5 cups)
2 cans tomato paste
4 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
1 bay leaf
2 cups chili powder
Salt, pepper, sugar
2 (8 oz.) packages spaghetti
Parmesan cheese

In a heavy deep pan, heat fat and in it lightly brown onions. Push to one side, add beef and sear thoroughly. Add minced garlic, green pepper, tomatoes, tomato paste, bay leaf, Worcestershire sauce, chili powder, 2 tsp. salt, 1-2 tsp. pepper, 2 tsp. sugar. Cook covered, over low heat for 1 1/2 hours, stirring occasionally and adding a little water if needed. Remove bay leaf and add extra salt, if necessary; serve over hot cooked spaghetti. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. 8 servings.

Cheese 'n Pepper Salad Bread - Different!

Baked to a glossy brown, this airy-light yeast bread has a colorful veining of yellow cheese, green pepper and red pimientos. The fusion of flavors is unusual and tantalizingly delicious. This new Spry recipe, developed in the Lever Test Kitchens, yields two generous-sized tea rings—ideal for casual buffets or party luncheons.

Cheese 'n Pepper Salad Bread
2 pkg. compressed or dry yeast
1/4 cup lukewarm water
1/4 cup lukewarm sugar
1/3 cup Homogenized Spry
1-1/2 teaspoons salt
1/4 cup sugar
3/4 cup milk, scalded
2 eggs, well beaten

3-1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 cup grated American cheese
3 tablespoons chopped green pepper
1-1/2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
1 teaspoon chopped onion

Crumble or sprinkle yeast in lukewarm water in small bowl. Add 1 teaspoon sugar and mix well. Let stand until yeast is thoroughly dissolved (5-15 min.). . . . Put Spry, salt, and 1/4 cup sugar in very large mixing bowl, add scalded milk, stir until Spry is melted, then cool to lukewarm. . . . Add eggs and dissolved yeast and mix well. . . . Add flour gradually, beating thoroughly after each addition. Turn out on floured board and knead until smooth and elastic. Place in Sprycoated bowl and brush with melted Spry. Cover and let rise in warm place until double in bulk (about 1 hr.). . . . Roll into a rectangle 18" x 11" x 1/4" thick. . . . Sprinkle with grated cheese, green pepper, pimiento, and onion. Roll up lengthwise, cut into halves, and shape each half into a circle on Sprycoated baking sheets. Pinch edges together. With scissors, cut each ring into 3/4" slices, cutting almost through the roll, then turning each slice partly on its side. Let rise until light (about 30 min.). . . . Brush surfaces with cream before baking. . . . Bake in hot oven (400° F.). 20-25 minutes.

Marmalade Muffins Provide Royal Meal

Remember A. A. Milne's poem "The King's Breakfast?" The Royal household was in a turmoil — not a bit of butter in the royal kitchen for the royal slice of bread, so the king had marmalade instead. 'T would have been a simple matter had the king only known about marmalade muffins — he'd have ordered marmalade instead. Marmalade muffins made the baking soda-vinegar way are a delectable treat for cold winter breakfasts or afternoon tea and snacks. Baking soda gives them a delicate texture, makes them tender and light. And for a new twist, these muffins have marmalade — or jam if you prefer — baked right into them.

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg, beaten
1/2 teaspoon finely grated lemon rind
1/2 cup milk
1/4 cup vinegar
1/2 cup melted shortening
1-3 cup jam, fruit jelly or marmalade

Sift together flour, baking soda, salt and sugar. Add egg, lemon rind, milk, vinegar and melted shortening to flour mixture all at once. Stir lightly and quickly with fork until just mixed. Fill greased muffin pans one-third full. Place 1 teaspoon jam, fruit jelly or marmalade on top of each muffin. Add more batter to fill muffin pans no more than two-thirds full. Bake at 375 degrees F. (moderate oven) about 25 minutes. Makes 18 muffins.

Those plump 4 to 6-pound stewing chickens on the market have rich flavor and lots of meat. Thought you might like two recipes from our household file, recipes full of Sunday flavor. So here they are:

Chicken Cacciatore
(Yield: 6 to 8 servings)
One 4 to 6-pound stewing chicken, 1/2 cup flour, 1 1/2 tablespoons salt, 2 tablespoons fat, 3 1/2 cups cooked tomatoes, 1/2 cup chopped green pepper, 1/2 cup chopped onion, 1/2 cup chopped celery, 1 clove garlic, cut fine; 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce.

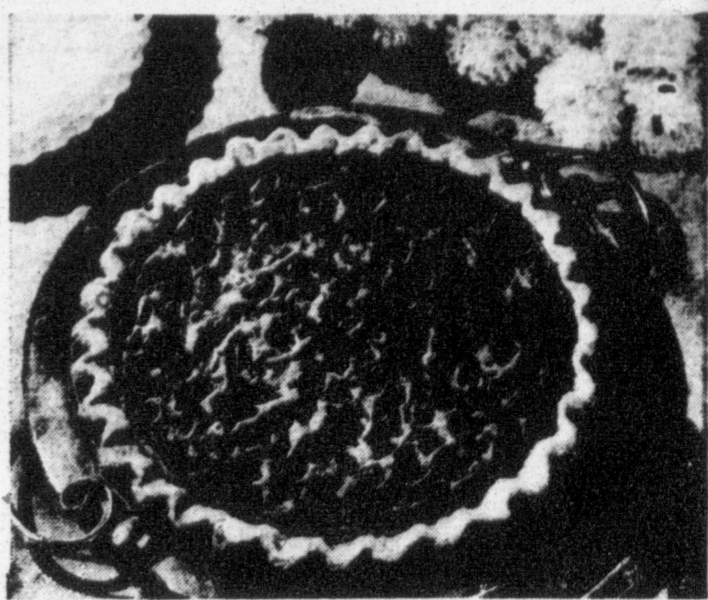

Cut chicken into serving portions. Place in cold water and dry. Combine flour and salt in a paper bag. Shake pieces of chicken in bag with flour. Heat fat in a large skillet. Brown floured chicken in fat. Add tomatoes, green pepper, onion, celery, garlic, sugar and Worcestershire sauce. Cover and simmer about 3 hours or until chicken is fork-tender. Stir occasionally.

Chicken Curry
(Yield: 6-8 servings)
One 4 to 6-pound stewing chicken, 1/2 pound (1/2 cup) butter or margarine, 2 cups finely diced onions, 1 clove garlic, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons curry powder, 1 cup top milk, 1 cup chicken broth.

Cut chicken into serving portions. Place in kettle and cover with water. Season with 2 teaspoons salt. Cover. Simmer until tender (about 2 1/2 hours). Remove from broth. Melt butter or margarine in heavy skillet. Add onions and garlic. Cook until lightly browned. Remove garlic. Add 4 flour, salt and curry powder. Stir to blend. Add milk. When mixture thickens, add chicken broth. Add chicken and cook over low heat about 30 minutes. Serve with cooked rice or noodles.

Praline Pecan Pie—Rich and Chewy

There is something especially festive about this elegant pie — combining Spry's flaky "Water-Whip" pastry with a filling "plumb full" of crunchy pecans. For special holiday entertaining, home economists in the Lever Test Kitchens suggest topping each wedge of pie with a small ladle of unsweetened whipped cream or a scoop of vanilla ice cream.

Praline Pecan Pie
1 "Water-Whip" Pie Shell (unbaked)
3 eggs
2-1/3 cups (1 lb.) light brown sugar, firmly packed
1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted
Dash of salt
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup pecans, coarsely cut

Make a pie shell with a flat, not an upstanding rim. Do not prick or bake shell. . . . Beat eggs slightly to blend yolks and whites. . . . Add brown sugar gradually, beating well; then add melted butter and mix well. . . . Add salt and vanilla and blend. . . . Sprinkle 1/2 of the pecans over bottom of pie shell. Pour mixture into pie shell. Sprinkle remaining pecans over top. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 40 min., or until filling is almost set. Reduce heat to slow (250° F.) and bake 10-15 min. longer, or until thoroughly set and firm.

"Water-Whip" Pie Shell
1/2 cup less 1 tablespoon Homogenized Spry
3 tablespoons boiling water
1 teaspoon milk
1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted
1/4 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon salt

Put Spry in medium-sized mixing bowl. . . . Add boiling water and milk and break up shortening with fork. Tilt bowl and, with rapid cross-the-bowl strokes, whip or beat with fork until mixture is smooth and thick like whipped cream. . . . Sift flour and salt together onto Spry mixture. Stir quickly into a dough that clings together. . . . Pick up and work into a smooth dough; shape into a flat round. . . . Put dough between two 12" squares of waxed paper and roll lightly into a circle about size of paper. Peel off top paper, place pastry in 9" pie pan, pastry side up. Carefully remove paper. Fit pastry into pan, trim 1/2" beyond pan, turn back even with edge of pan, make a flat, fluted rim.

If you have a home dryer, you'll find that starched clothes come out much better than they do from the line. Just stop the dryer before the articles are bone dry. Take 'em out when they're just to ironing dampness.

Allison New PHS Grid Assistant

Formal announcement of Carl Allison being moved in as an assistant to the newly appointed Harvester football coach, Jack Lockett, was made yesterday afternoon by Knox Kinard, school superintendent.

CARL ALLISON ... in Sooner baseball rig ... "Phillips will remain as a teacher," Kinard said.

Allison, a standout end for the Oklahoma Sooners last fall, came to Pampa about two weeks ago to confer with the school officials here concerning the assistant coach post. Allison was offered the job at that time but it wasn't until yesterday afternoon that he accepted the job.

Rice 9 Hands Gophers 3rd Loss On Tour

HOUSTON — UP — The University of Minnesota baseball team was about ready to pack up and go home Thursday following its third straight loss in Texas Wednesday.

The outcome of Wednesday's game with Rice might have been different if Rice left fielder Bill Trotter hadn't made a great catch. Minnesota's Roger Anderson hit what appeared to be a home run when the game was scoreless, the bases were loaded and two were out in the third inning. But, Trotter reached over the left field fence and made the brilliant catch that saved the day for the Texas team.

DASH MEN — Shown above are the two ace sprinters of the Harvester track team who'll compete in the West Texas Relays at Odessa this week end. They are Dickie Mauldin, left, and Harold Lewis. Both will run in the 800 and sprint medley relays. Lewis will also enter the 100-yard dash while Mauldin will enter the 440-yard relay.

Press Box Views

By BUCK FRANCIS Pampa News Sports Editor

IT CERTAINLY LOOKS LIKE the Oilers have landed a mighty fine catcher in this fellow Jack Hall. Hall comes highly recommended to the Oilers from the Shreveport Sports organization. We've been waiting for our 1955 edition of the Baseball Guide to arrive to check further on Hall's past record, but for some reason the Guide is late getting off.

Hall played with Alexandria of the Evangeline League in 1953 which is Class C. He caught 136 games for Alexandria, catching all Alexandria games with exception of one.

Hall sported a .962 fielding average, third best among the regular catchers. Only one other catcher came close to catching as many games as Hall, Al Keeter of Crowley running second with 132 games.

Hall led the Evangeline League in most putouts — 602 — and assists with 99. The latter figure indicates he has a good arm since most assists by catchers are throwing base runners out stealing or tossing out runners at first on bunted balls in front of the plate.

By comparison, the second top man in assists that year had only 67 so you see Hall won this honor hands down.

Hall had only seven passed balls which is better than the average, especially for players catching as many games as Hall did.

Well, that's Hall's defensive record. His offensive record is equally as impressive.

Hall is a long ball hitter and a dangerous man with "ducks on the pond." The big catcher pounded 30 homers in 1953, second best in the league and drove in 113 runs, third best in the loop. Conalyn Meriwether of Crowley was the only player besting Hall in homers. Meriwether hit 42 round trippers and he also won the RBI title with 134.

You can see the Oiler catching worries are apparently over. The Oiler management only tracked Hall down last week to get him on the dotted line. Hall has agreed to terms and will be here Sunday when the Oiler spring training camp opens at Oiler Park.

Which reminds us, of course, of the season ticket sale that is now in progress.

It's going to take some revenue to conduct the Oiler spring training camp, of course, and it's rather vital at the moment that fans pick up their season ticket books. If you can't find anyone selling these season books then drop by the office here and we'll be glad to fix you up with one.

IT'S GOING TO BE RATHER quiet on the Pampa High School athletic fields this afternoon. All three of the spring sports outfits left for activity on foreign soil.

The baseballers are in Borger this afternoon to contest Frank Phillips College; the tracksters and golfers left early this afternoon for Odessa where they'll compete in the annual West Texas Relays Friday and Saturday.

last season, still was nursing a sore shoulder. But this didn't keep the Brooklyn team from taking a 1-4 win over hard-knuck Kansas City.

In other games Wednesday: the Detroit Tigers took a 5-1 victory over Cincinnati; the New York Yankees beat the Washington Senators 10-4; the Pittsburgh Pirates nudged the Chicago White Sox 7-4, and the New York Giants beat the Cleveland Indians 9-4.

Bragan's Ambition Is To Become Pilot To Major League

SIDNEY, Calif., — UP — Slow-spoken, trigger-tempered Bobby Bragan figures he is destined to become a major league manager and only grins when his enemies shriek "bush."

"My ambition is to run a big league team and I intend to get up there," the sultry star of the Hollywood Stars said as he watched his Pacific Coast League squad work out. "And even if it meant mugging a last place club, it still would be the big time."

That Bragan, who is seeking his second pennant in three years with the Pittsburgh farm club, indicated he is in the running for the Pirates' helm if ever the brass decides that Fred Haney, the Buc's current strategist, needs a change.

And Bragan is known as one of General Manager Branch Rickey's favorites.

Bragan, swarthy and brown-eyed, is a masterful public relations man as well as umpire-buster and hotter guy. Spring training fans who haven't seen him for over a year are greeted by name by manager Bobby, and he gallantly throws away his chew of tobacco if they are elderly ladies.

"Well, how-do-do," he cries in homey Texas tone during an interview and, after excusing himself, saunters over to the rail to greet what may be a ladies aid group. He shakes hands all around, may even toss in a few introductions if necessary, then comes back working on a fresh plug.

"What was I sayin'?" Oh, year — when I got up to the majors it will be as a bench manager. That's where I prefer to handle things."

Kansas City A's Depend On Shantz' Comeback, New Spirit

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the 10th in a series on the 1955 prospects of the major league clubs.

By LEO H. PETERSEN

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla.—UP—Lou Boudreau is counting on a comeback by little Bobby Shantz and a new spirit to get his Kansas City Athletics out of the American League cellar.

He admits, however, that he could be wrong on both counts. The pint-sized Shantz won only one game last year, hurting his shoulder in the opener against the Boston Red Sox. The year before that same shoulder ailment sidelined him much of the season and he wound up with a 5-9 record, a far cry from the 24 victories he scored in 1952.

Shantz has been taking it easy this spring and so far reports his shoulder feels fine.

"If he could come back far enough to win 10 games I'd be satisfied," Boudreau said. "That would give us a big lift."

As to the new spirit, Boudreau said he never has managed a club, which "has given me more co-operation and spirit than this one."

"I think it's going to mean a lot to the players to get out of Philadelphia," he explained. "After all, most of them were all but booted out of the park there last season."

"Now they know they will have the enthusiasm of the Kansas City fans and that could mean a lot, for I know my players will go all out."

"So I figure that spirit and the enthusiasm of the fans should add five to 10 games in the win column."

No First Division Hopes
Boudreau, who is taking over a last place club for the first time in his major league managerial career, has no first division hopes.

"I'll be satisfied to get out of the cellar," he said, "for I realize we have a tremendous rebuilding job ahead of us."

Shantz, Kellner, another lefty who disappointed last season with a 4-17 record, and Arnold Portocarrero, who won nine games while losing 18 but is regarded as one of the most promising right handers in the league, will form the nucleus of the staff.

Behind them, Boudreau has high hopes for two draftees, Cloyd Boyer, the former Cardinal who won only two games at Columbus; and Arthur Ceccarelli, a 15-game winner with Birmingham.

Relief Possibilities Given
For relief he is banking on John Dixon, who won only one game with the Senators but went on to win five for the Athletics after being traded, as his No. 1 man. Other relief possibilities are Ed Burt-sch, 5-4 with the A's last season; rookie Ozzie Vanbrant, who won only three at Ottawa; and Robert Spicer, a southpaw up from Los Angeles where he registered 13 triumphs.

Robert Trice, who asked to be sent to the minors last year because he did not think he was ready for the big time, is back for another shot and the Negro right hander may make it, although he won only four games with Ottawa.

Holdovers Charles Bishop (4-6); Marian Francano (5-11); John Gray (3-12) and Art Dittmer (1-4) are other possible starters. So are William Oster and Harold Reather, two rookies.

Coaching Duties Divided
Wilmer Shantz, brother of Bobby, and Joe Astroth will share coaching duties with Al Robertson, the No. 3 man if he recovers from a sore arm. Otherwise, rookie Eric McKenzie, just out of service, will move in.

To get more left handed hitting in his lineup, Boudreau shifted outfielder Vic Power to first base and first baseman Louis Limmer to the outfield. Power is batting Don Bollweg for the first base job.

Spook Jacobs and rookie Hector Lopez are leading candidates for second base with Joe Demasiri at Castilo and Stewart Carrell at third. For infield reserve duty there will be the veteran Pete Suter and either Harold Bevan, a rookie, or Jack Littrell, a good glove man.

Gus Zernial in left is the only outfielder sure of regular duty and he must beat out two rookies, Joe Taylor, a 318 hitter at Ottawa last season, and Al Pinkston, a big, rangy Negro who can hit a long ball. The veteran Elmer Valo and Bill Wilson are fighting for the center field job and Bill Renna and Limmer for the right field berth.

It takes more than 100,000 union-management contracts to set the wages and other conditions of employment for 15 million workers in the United States.

NTS Linksmen Down Mustangs

DENTON, Tex.—UP—North Texas State golfers have humbled Southern Methodist's national NCAA team champions for the second time this season.

The latest victory came here Wednesday and was of the whitewash variety as Ray Ferguson nosed out Kenneth Scott one up with a sub-par shooting of Ray Ferguson; A. J. Trigg walloped Floyd Addington 5 and 4, Benny Castilo whipped Stewart Carrell 1-up, Max Wilkinson defeated Tommy Towry 4 and 3, Trigg-Ferguson defeated Addington-Scott 5 and 3 and Castilo-Wilkinson beat Carrell-Towry 4 and 3.

San Jose Cindersmen Win
TEMPE, Ariz.—UP—A well-balanced San Jose State College track team won its second straight meet Wednesday night by defeating Arizona State College, 71 1-3-59, 2-3. The Spartans won eight events and placed second in seven.

Cleveland, Giant Series Again Tied

TUCSON, Ariz.—UP—The New York Giants and the Cleveland Indians each owned five victories Thursday in their springtime renewal of last year's World Series.

The Giants donned the white exhibition series Wednesday by whipping the American League champions, 9-4, behind the pitching of Big Jim Horn and Don Liddle. Wes Westrum led New York's 12-hit attack with a three-run homer and Bob Lemon in the second inning.

Dodgers Break Camp
VERO BEACH, Fla.—UP—Carl Furillo and Pee Wee Reese were hitting at a tremendous clip Thursday as the Brooklyn Dodgers broke camp and headed towards Florida's west coast for a final series of exhibition games before moving northward.

Furillo upped his average to .372 and Reese was hitting .348 following Wednesday's 15-4 get-away victory over the Kansas City Athletics. The Dodgers also were cheered by the pitching of big Don Newcombe, who worked five innings against the A's and scattered seven hits.

Brooklyn's main asset was scheduled to stop off at Fort Myers Thursday for a game with the Pittsburgh Pirates, while the "B" squad took on the Milwaukee Braves at Bradenton.

Bugs Nip Chisox, 7-6
FORT MYERS, Fla.—UP—The Pittsburgh Pirates are running up an impressive record against American League teams thus far in the spring training season.

Preston Ward's three-run pinch homer in the ninth inning enabled the Pirates to turn back the Chicago White Sox, 7-6, Wednesday. It was Pittsburgh's fourth victory in five starts against AL competition.

Garver Impressive
TAMPA, Fla.—UP—Ned Garver and Steve Gromek are conducting an interesting duel for the honor of serving as the Detroit Tigers' opening day pitcher this season.

Garver appeared to get the bump on his rival Wednesday when he pitched five innings in leading the Tigers to a 5-1 victory over the Cincinnati Redlegs. The veteran right-hander scattered five hits and gave up one run on a walk and singles by Johnny Temple and Roy McMillan.

Spin Sparks Yenik Win
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—UP—Officials of the New York Yankees Thursday were happy they talked relief pitcher Johnny Spin out of his latest retirement plans.

Spin made his spring debut Wednesday against the Washington Senators and allowed only one hit in three innings as the Yanks won, 10-4, on an eight-run rally in the eighth inning.

The Yankees remained at their own training base Thursday for another exhibition game with the Detroit Tigers.

Phil Ropke 'Great'
CLEARWATER, Fla.—UP—Rookie right-hander Jim Owens was causing quite a stir among the Philadelphia Phillies Thursday as they returned to their home camp for a game with the Washington Senators.

Owens held the Milwaukee Braves hitless during a four-inning relief stint Wednesday as the Phils triumphed, 3-1. The 21-year-old youth from Gifford, Pa., has 11 without innings to his credit thus far this spring.

against junior league competition Wednesday by defeating the Boston Red Sox, 5-4. Rookie right-hander Lawrence Jackson pitched the first four innings for St. Louis and allowed only one hit.

Herb Score Rests
MESA, Ariz.—UP—The Cleveland Indians left rookie southpaw Herb Score back in Tucson Thursday as they met the Chicago Cubs.

Score, who is undergoing treatment for bursitis of the left knee, was given pain-killing injections Wednesday and later was ordered to rest for a few days by the team's physician.

Alston 'Naps'
VERO BEACH, Fla.—UP—Pete Suder of the Kansas City Athletics proved that the winner in an argument often is the guy who does not open his mouth.

It happened in the A's 15-4 loss to the Brooklyn Dodgers Wednesday, Sandy Amoros of the Dodgers made it safely into third base on a close play but Dodger Manager Walt Alston started "chewing him out" for ignoring a sign to slide. Umpire Nestor Chylak chimed in and agreed with Alston.

Third baseman Suder, who had his mouth shut but his eyes open, noticed that no one was watching him. So he pulled the old "hidden ball" trick and tagged Amoros out as soon as he stepped off the bag.

"It was my fault," admitted Alston ruefully. "But the umpire helped."

Narleski Likes 'Pen'
TUCSON, Ariz.—UP—It once was almost an insult for a pitcher to be relegated to relief assignments, but young Ray Narleski of the Cleveland Indians was never happier over his fate.

"Sure," he said. "I'd like to start once in a while. But I got my chance as a reliever, and as far as I'm concerned I'd just as soon stay one as long as I can pitch."

Narleski, 28, came to the Indians last year from the Indianapolis farm club.

Injury Sidelines
3rd Ag Trackster
COLLEGE STATION, Tex.—UP—A third member of the Texas A&M track team was apparently out for the remainder of the season Thursday.

High jumper Fritzie Conally of San Antonio broke his foot in practice Wednesday.
Southwest Conference shot put champion Bobby Gross of Big Spring had already been lost to the team through injury and broad jumper Bobby Robinson of Bryan is also out with an injury.
The Aggies are scheduled to meet Rice at Houston in a dual meet Saturday.

Youth

In order to rule the world, Hitler and Marx agreed on one important point. The future belongs to the kiddies. The most vital necessity, then, is the control of the minds of the youngsters to the end that they will think and do as you want them to do long after you are dead.

So Hitler organized his youth groups, his summer camps, his "Joy in Life" activities, and marshalled the resources of the nursery into a sort of kindergarden.

Marx, who lacked Hitler's organizational ability, put it down this way in his Communist Manifesto: "Free education for all children in public schools; abolition of children's factory labor in its present form; combination of education with industrial production."

As an enemy of individualism, Marx was opposed to private schools. He believed that education for the "masses" could only be provided by the state. Therefore, he demanded "free" education, which, of course, meant that the state must furnish the money by the ancient and dishonorable device of taxing everyone to get it.

The fact that the state was to enter the educational field moved instruction out of the realm of education and put it in the realm of political indoctrination.

It is interesting to observe that Marx went on to call for the abolition of child labor in its present form. Marx had no compunction about children working. He merely wanted to make certain that the child labored for the state and not for himself and his own well-being. The combination of education with industrial production is of course nothing in the world except pragmatic education with emphasis placed on learning a trade rather than learning to think.

This has been the key to the modern trend called "progressive education" which follows Marx and parallels Hitler without observable variances.

Current trends which tend to eliminate the rules for math and grammar, to belittle the classics, to underplay the necessity of learning the alphabet and how to sell merely follow the dictum of Marx.

Emphasis on "adjustment" rather than education, tends to cement the student into a rut of mediocrity and conformity and to make him "comfortable" there. Despite his ignorance and stupidity he is expected to remain poised. This is the cum laude of current "educational" effort.

As though he obeyed the behests of Marx, President Eisenhower, aided and abetted by Oveta Culp Hobby, has proclaimed a vast program of Federal Aid to Education. This "aid" is to be extracted from all taxpayers in the country, a percentage retained by the extractors for services rendered, and the balance channeled into the separate states where it is expected to gradually seep down into the school district for purposes of building more school rooms and paying more teachers.

We are indebted to Facts Forum News of Feb. 1955 for bringing us excerpts of a speech made on September 29, 1875, before the Texas Constitutional Convention by a Mr. Samson. This speech was made only 27 years after the Manifesto of Marx had been issued. But it is noteworthy that the poison of Marx's prolification had already found advocates in this country.

Mr. Samson said in part: "How dare a free government professing to be free ruthlessly invade the sacred domain of private duty and private right? What right has government to lay violent hands upon American citizens who have not attained their majority to force them to attend particular schools, study particular books under a particular teacher? By assuming control of the children for educational purposes the state deprives the father of the sacred rights of parentage. . . . If the state may upon the plea of 'necessary to the general welfare' take under its control the education of the people, it may, upon the same plea . . . take charge of their religion, for if education be necessary to the maintenance of good government . . . religion is more so."

The education of children is the responsibility of their parents. The government cannot assume that responsibility without resorting to tyranny. This nation is dedicated to the concept that free men, under God, will arrive at their own destiny. It is time we erected a large sign and hung it over the doorways of state schools: "Government, keep out!"

THE NATION'S PRESS

THE REDS JOINED THE U.N.

(USA)

To make an intelligent reappraisal of the United Nations, it is necessary to study the reasons why the Soviet Union joined the international organization. These reasons were clearly set forth in the Communist pamphlet "The United Nations" issued by the People's Publishing House, Bombay 4, India, September 1945.

Though the London Preparatory Commission for the U.N. was then in session, and the foggy air was filled with war-weary people's hopes and dreams for peace, the Communists were already planning for war.

On page three of the Red pamphlet there is the statement: "It (the San Francisco Conference) met to outlaw war. Not everyone knows that war cannot be abolished till imperialism is abolished."

Because imperialism means the highest form of capitalism in the Communist American language, it is plain that the Reds were saying: "We won't make peace till capitalism is smashed."

The Communists went on to explain that unless the people of Great Britain and the United States were induced to smash capitalism in their own countries, the cause of war could not be removed. He later wrote "The United Nations is a trap for the people."

Knowing that the British and Americans were not quite ready to commit national suicide, the Communists cynically stated: ". . . the international peace organization through which—in today's conditions—the peoples of the whole world and particularly of Britain and the U.S.A.—could learn to fight their own imperialist Tory reactionaries and those of other lands and thus to fight for the preservation of peace."

Since every free enterpriser and believer in true parliamentary or constitutional government is "an imperialist Tory reactionary" according to the Communist view, the real aim of the Reds in joining the United Nations is made plain: The Soviet Union looks on the international organization as an instrument for subverting the main enemies—the British and American people.

Is this a correct interpretation? The Communist explained on page 6 of their pamphlet "The United Nations": "So long as capitalism exists, war as an instrument of foreign policy . . . will always be the aim of the big monopoly-capitalists in Great Britain and the U.S.A. They can be checkmated only by their own people; and their own people will checkmate them only if their foreign policy is shown to be one of unprovoked aggression. . . . There it is. The Communists intended in 1945 and now intend to

Proposed Platform For The Republican Party

Since both the Democratic and Republican parties have practically abandoned the concept our Founding Fathers had on a limited government and have adopted various degrees of socialism and communism, I want to quote what J. H. Gipson of Caldwell, Idaho, suggested in 1932 as a Platform for the Republican Party:

"The Republican Party realizes the obligation of each generation of Americans to hand down to the next a constitutional and solvent republic, in which the area of personal freedom has been extended and not reduced.

"Realizing that the happiness and well-being of this and future generations depend upon the liberty, freedom, dignity, responsibility, and opportunity of the individual, we urge and demand that all public officials elected on our ticket support all legislative measures which will accomplish these objectives; specifically, to obey Article X of the Bill of Rights; to restore, respect, and preserve the constitutional rights of the several states which compose our Republic; to steadily reduce and finally eliminate government corporations; to drastically and continuously reduce federal taxes and federal expenditures; to eliminate deficit spending; to destroy or rigidly control monopolies and to conserve our natural resources; and give the people of America a honest dollar with steady purchasing power. These things we can and will do, while providing, through command of the air and sea, for an impregnable national defense and achieving and maintaining peace with dignity and honor."

The above, of course, is rather general inasmuch as it does not specifically define liberty or freedom.

It seems to me that the federal government will never be improved so long as the people in each community, each county, and each state, believe that the majority has a moral right to force the minority to pay for things that it does not want and believes are harmful. As long as each community believes in tax supported schools, zoning regulations, fire departments, public libraries, city parking lots, building codes, garbage collection, and the right of the majority to make the minority pay for services they do not want or use, there is not much chance of ever getting either party to adopt a platform that is in harmony with the first official document of the United States—the Declaration of Independence.

Each community, by its belief in the above is completely denying the ideology that "governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed" from the consent of the individual. It is a fact that only the individual can give his own consent.

We are rapidly adopting the Old-World philosophy that our inalienable rights come from the state or the county or the school board or the city council rather than understanding that these natural rights come to man when he is born and the only purpose of government—local, state or federal—is to preserve these inalienable rights.

In short, it is a question of moral education—of education of what is just and what promotes peace and liberty.

Editor The Pampa Daily News Pampa, Texas

Dear Sir: The editorial "Socialist Security" in your March 18 edition was a direct honest report much needed by us Americans.

It seems that a series of articles reporting to Americans the true nature of our Social Security Program is a real opportunity for some good newspaperman. In my opinion, it is the responsibility of every newspaper.

Please accept my personal thanks for publishing "Socialist Security."

Sincerely yours, M. E. Stevens, Jr. Amarillo.

use the United Nations as a means of inducing us to checkmate our own foreign policy.

How did the Soviets use the U.N. in the Korean affair? They induced us to checkmate ourselves; they induced us to forfeit a hard won military victory and to accept useless death and defeat as the price of taking part in a United Nations State War.

TEMPEST ON THE CAMPUS

New York Daily News

Some 1,000 college presidents, deans and other leading educators are convening this week in Chicago. Most of their chats, to-date, have been on such scholarly topics as enrollments, curricula, etc. But, on Monday, President Buell G. Gallagher of CCNY chose to toss a large, embarrassing dead cat into the dignified forums.

Said Dr. Gallagher, as his colleagues' blood pressure soared, all big-time college sports, including football, basketball and track, are subsidized in one way or another. He suggested that it was high time for his fellow educators to be a bit more candid about the situation.

Republicans See Votes In Release Of Yalta Papers

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Practical Republican politicians feel confident that the Yalta publicity will yield them millions of decisive votes in 1956, as F.D.R.'s friendly actions and references to important racial blocs are developed by GOP headquarters. They think that publication may have cost the Democrats of today the so-called "foreign vote."

Leonard W. Hall, the shrewd Republican National Chairman, will not harp on the theme that Roosevelt's postwar policies for the Far East gave China to the Communists by his generous concessions to Stalin in that area. Hall believes that this issue has been sufficiently exploited by the Know-Nothing-McCarthy bloc on Capitol Hill. As a bread-and-butter and down-to-earth politician, understanding local sentiment better than he does national or international questions, Hall will play up Roosevelt's activities at Yalta on a local level. He will try to transform that Conference, which reshaped the world, into a carbuncle issue against the Democrats.

Franklin D. Roosevelt himself anticipated this strategy at Yalta. In a broadcast to the Polish people, he said that he was chiefly interested because there were 6,000,000 Poles in the United States. Therefore, to F.D.R. it was both a problem of domestic votes and international settlements.

But it was Prime Minister Churchill, not Roosevelt, who fought for a postwar arrangement that would really achieve Polish independence. Poland is, of course, now a Soviet satellite. Roosevelt agreed to the dismemberment of Germany, which would have made it easy for Red troops to walk through that country in any third World War. This was the Henry Morgenthau-Harry Dexter White program. It was opposed by Churchill, and Cordell Hull, then Secretary of State, but F.D.R. overrode them.

Franklin D. Roosevelt's remarks about the American Jews, including their demand for a free Palestine, were deleted from the State Department's publication of the Yalta Papers. But it is known that he referred slyly to them, and facetiously offered to exchange them for certain British "colonials" who were giving Churchill a headache at home.

Despite this suppression, politics being what it is and always has been, it is too much to expect that these deleted and disparaging passages of Roosevelt's off-the-record remarks will not become common knowledge in 1956 Presidential and Congressional campaign.

There is, perhaps, no solid, sizable British voting bloc in the American electorate, comparable to the Polish, German, Irish, Jewish and Italian groups. Nevertheless, there are many Americans who prefer an alliance with Britain than with Russia. They may not be too happy over F.D.R.'s ridiculing attitude toward Churchill in his duels with Stalin.

Roosevelt made fun of Churchill's post-Dunkirk statement that "I did not become the King's first minister in order to preside over the liquidation of the British Empire."

Franklin D. Roosevelt forced the liquidation of both the British and Dutch Empires in India, Burma and Indonesia, weakening them for Communist infiltration. He was not able to put over his plan for "internationalizing" Britain's Hong Kong foothold.

Yalta may be a ten-year-old tragedy. The main features of the secret agreements and of F.D.R.'s "giveaway" have been known for years. In a sense, Yalta is a subject for the book-writing historian, like the published versions of the treaties which terminated the Napoleonic and World War II dramas.

But they do not appear in that Encyclopedic light to Republican National Chairman Hall. To him, the Yalta documents are political gold. They mean millions of votes for the Polish, German, Jewish, Yankee etc. — when publicized properly for local, racial newspapers and campaign speakers.

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JORDAN, M. D.

A letter from Mrs. L. States that her brother has been told he has Addison's disease, and a communication from Mrs. C. states that she has this condition herself. Both ask for a discussion. This is somewhat difficult because exactly what happens is hard to explain and the treatment is both highly technical and must be most carefully adjusted to the individual victim.

The disease arises from small glands lying next to the kidneys called the adrenal or suprarenal glands. These glands have a rather complicated structure. They belong to the glands of internal secretion. They contain several kinds of cells which form hormones which flow into the blood. A chemically prepared substance called epinephrine or adrenalin has some of the actions of the adrenal gland; cortisone is perhaps the best known of the hormones produced by the adrenals.

COMPLETE REST in bed and protection from chilling and muscular exertion is necessary in acute stages. Those who have mild cases or chronic insufficiency of hormone production may do well when they are given an excessive amount of ordinary salt—sodium chloride—at same time that potassium, another chemical, is kept low.

Addison's disease is fortunately a rather rare disorder. It received its name from a famous English physician, Thomas Addison, who first described the condition in 1855, and has been a subject of great interest and concern to physicians ever since.

ADDISON DESCRIBED the characteristic symptoms as anemia, languor, or general weakness, feeble beat of the heart, irritability of the stomach, and a peculiar brownish change in the color of the skin. General weakness is particularly characteristic and the deep yellowish brown color of the skin, which is due to deposits of pigment, is also usual. Most patients lose weight.

Tip Claims Army Major Once Was Director Of Red College

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

TUCSON, Ariz. — Some weeks ago I received a tip that a major now serving overseas in the American army had been director of Commonwealth College, a Communist school which operated at Menard, Ark., in the early 'thirties and was closed by the state of Arkansas because it was a subversive institution and for that reason only. The present Governor of Arkansas, Orval Faubus, was a Commonwealth student and formal leader of organized student activities. Faubus is a major of the army reserve and, under the loyalty requirements, is compelled to state under oath whether he ever was a member of, or active in, any Communist, Fascist or Nazi organization. The oath is sweeping and seems to contain no loopholes. During the late political campaigns, the primary and regular election, telegrams from authorities in Washington were flaunted before the electorate of Arkansas indicating that Faubus has met the usual requirements under that oath.

I sent my tip to Senator Joe McCarthy, who investigated the major named as a former editor of Commonwealth. On March 9 McCarthy made a formal presentation of facts before the Senate Investigations Subcommittee of which he formerly was chairman. The present chairman is Senator John L. McClellan of Arkansas, who, of course, is thoroughly familiar with the history of Commonwealth. McClellan is also a member of the same state political machine which elected Faubus.

In presenting his information to McClellan's subcommittee, McCarthy did not name the major under discussion. However, he did submit an army serial number and an army p.o. address. Joe then left it up to McClellan and the Democratic majority either to summon the major back from overseas to testify or to take the consequences. The temptation to discredit the Pentagon Republicans is always present. The fact that this would help McCarthy in his fight against Eisenhower and the palace guard would be a minor consideration.

The character of Commonwealth College and the fact that it was a Communist exploit are too well established in public records to require further discussion. However, the Arkansas Gazette, of Little Rock, the biggest, which is not to say the "best" paper in the state, has doggedly tried to belittle the truth. In general, the Gazette tried to have it that Commonwealth was an ideal, a dream which went wrong. The "long arm of the Kremlin" apparently reached out after 1933 to exploit and subvert an innocent if not indeed noble effort of earnest idealists, according to the Gazette's version of things. Faubus last year and minimizing his personal record as a Communist center.

McCarthy sharply questioned Wilber M. Brucker, general counsel of the defense department, in the hearing on March 9. Brucker said he had never heard of the case of this major and asked, "are you sure he is a Communist?" to this McCarthy replied, "to be a director of a Communist College he obviously had to be a Communist."

He added that a man bearing the same name as the major, a combination of two unusual first names and a surname which is by no means common, had a long record of affiliation with Communist fronts.

In dealing with this scene in Washington, the Gazette was consistent with its earlier attitude on Faubus' connection with Commonwealth. It said: "In last summer's primary, Faubus said he was the victim of a whispering campaign because he once attended the college for a few days." However, it then admitted that when it was campaigning for Faubus last year and minimizing his personal record as a Communist center.

It seems that people are always trying to kill me with kindness.

Take yesterday, for example, when I visited the Army's only dog training center at Fort Carson, high in the Rockies near Colorado Springs.

I had no more than shaken hands with the head trainer, Lewis Buckley than he graciously offered me the opportunity of being attacked by a 90-pound German shepherd. Never one to pass up a golden chance like this, I got into a padded suit and took up a position in the training corral.

Fifty yards or so distant, Capt. Bill Boxmeyer slipped Tony's leash and said: "Get him!" meaning me. In a matter of seconds Tony had my right wrist in his jaws and me on the ground. He was just settling down to having me for lunch when his handler called, "Out!" At the command, Tony released his grip and took up a watchful position a few yards away while Boxmeyer frisked me for weapons.

"Make a pass at Boxmeyer," Buckley said.

I drew back my fist but before I could swing Tony was on me. When a handler walked away as if to home, Tony remained on guard, and I could see in his eyes, and by the munching of his jaws, that he was hoping and praying that I would make a break for it. When Boxmeyer took me into custody, and started marching me away to the supposed patrol wagon, Tony walked between us to see that I tried no monkey business with his master.

The training center at Fort Carson trains scout dogs for combat patrol work, and entry guards for protection of military installations. Every U. S. division has at least one platoon of scout dogs, and the sentry are on watch over Uncle Sam's property all over the world.

The handlers and the dogs are trained together from the beginning, with the scout teams getting ten weeks basic, the sentry combines eight. The handlers are all volunteers, and a majority of the men reenlist when their two-year hitch is up.

"They just don't like to leave their dogs," Buckley told me.

The dogs are all German shepherds, this breed having been found to withstand a range in climate from the Aleutians to the South Pacific without bother to their health.

Most of the shepherds are bought from kennels, but quite a few are gifts to the Army, and they lead a rugged but happy life. There are no mistreated dogs, for mistreatment brings on court martial, with the minimum punishment being six months in the guard-house and two-thirds loss of pay.

The shepherds are the real dog-faces of the Army. They pass a rigid physical, spend 90 days in quarantine, are tested for gun shyness, and are given serial numbers which are tattooed on the inner thigh.

A scout dog will alert on sound and scent up to 1000 yards. No football is too light for them, no strange scent too delicate. Stories of their saving patrols from ambush in World War II and in Korea can be told by the hundreds, and when sentry dogs are placed on duty losses by their always take a tremendous drop.

The dogs are conscientious, loyal, fearless and brave. In short, just about everything a good soldier should be.

RESTING IN PEACE—There's a pelican on just about every pole in the boat basin at Miami, Fla., top photo. The big-billed birds spend the day on their perches, awaiting the return of the fishing boats. Then there's a mad scramble for handouts. One local fisherman is shown tossing out some of his catch to a flock of feathered friends, below.

MUZZLE-TO-MUZZLE—It certainly looks as if a duel is taking place at very close range in Portsmouth, England, but British WRAF Corporal Georgina Barster isn't really out to shoot anyone. She's taking aim at her reflection as she checks her firing stance before a mirror. She was getting ready for an inter-service rifle match at the Royal Navy yard.

JUST LIKE DAD — As a matter of fact, Chips and Twigs have come up with this handsome outfit for Junior that can make him outshine his parent in the Easter Parade. The rayon linen threesome is complete with contrasting slacks and an embroidered vest. It can be had in a variety of colors.

SOMETHING TO CELEBRATE—Famed pianist-maestro Vincent Lopez is flanked by fellow musicians Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey in New York. The brothers, once members of Lopez' band, had dropped in to congratulate him for having played dance music for 17 consecutive years at the Taft Hotel, and that's a record.

TO EACH HER OWN—That's what sisters Mrs. Joseph Lahart, 26, left, and Mrs. John Cushing, Jr., 28, got in Evanston, Ill. Mrs. Lahart holds Timothy Joseph, her first child, while Mrs. Cushing displays Robert, her fifth youngster.

FOR LUCKY JUDGES—Early entrants in the annual Miss New York State beauty contest get helpful tips from charm expert Grace Downs, shown at blackboard in center, in New York. Bernice Nemirov, of Brooklyn, is demonstrating the art of posing for other hopefuls. The winner will represent the Empire State in the next Miss America contest.

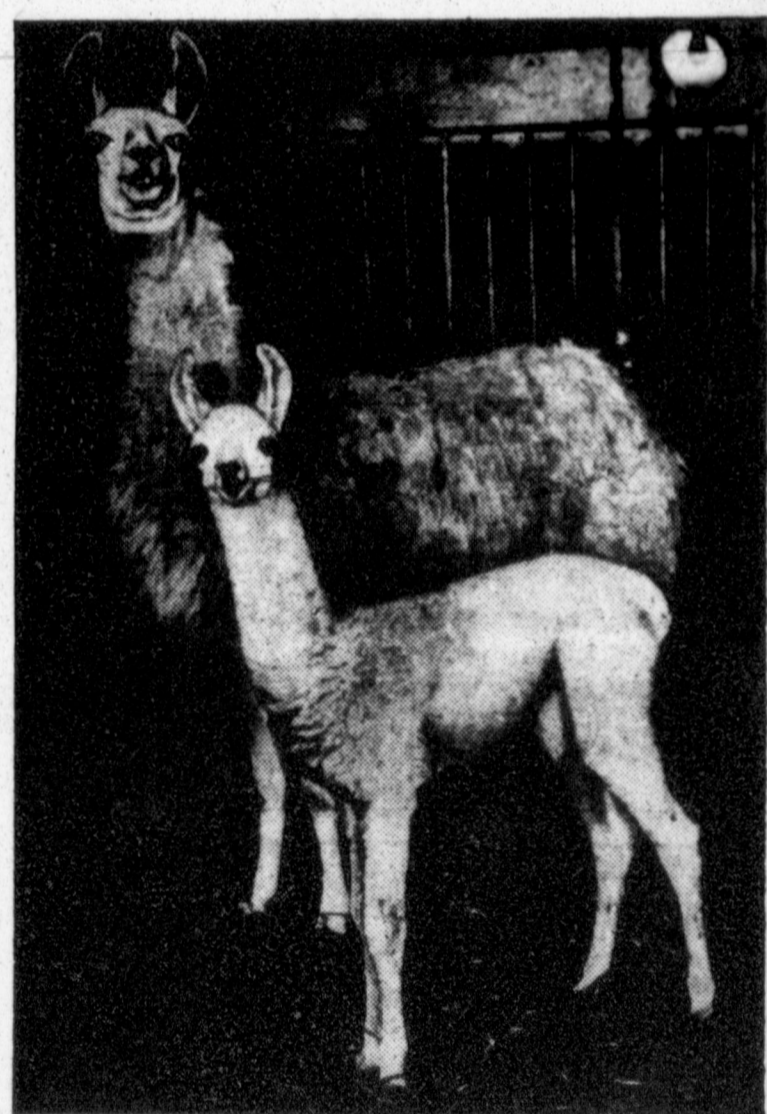

NEXT BEST THING—For 25 years, 51-year-old Theodore Mihail has taken a daily dip in a pond near Cleveland. When it was recently frozen over, he had to settle for a roll in the snow clad only in a pair of trunks. Mihail says he hasn't been sick a day in those 25 years.

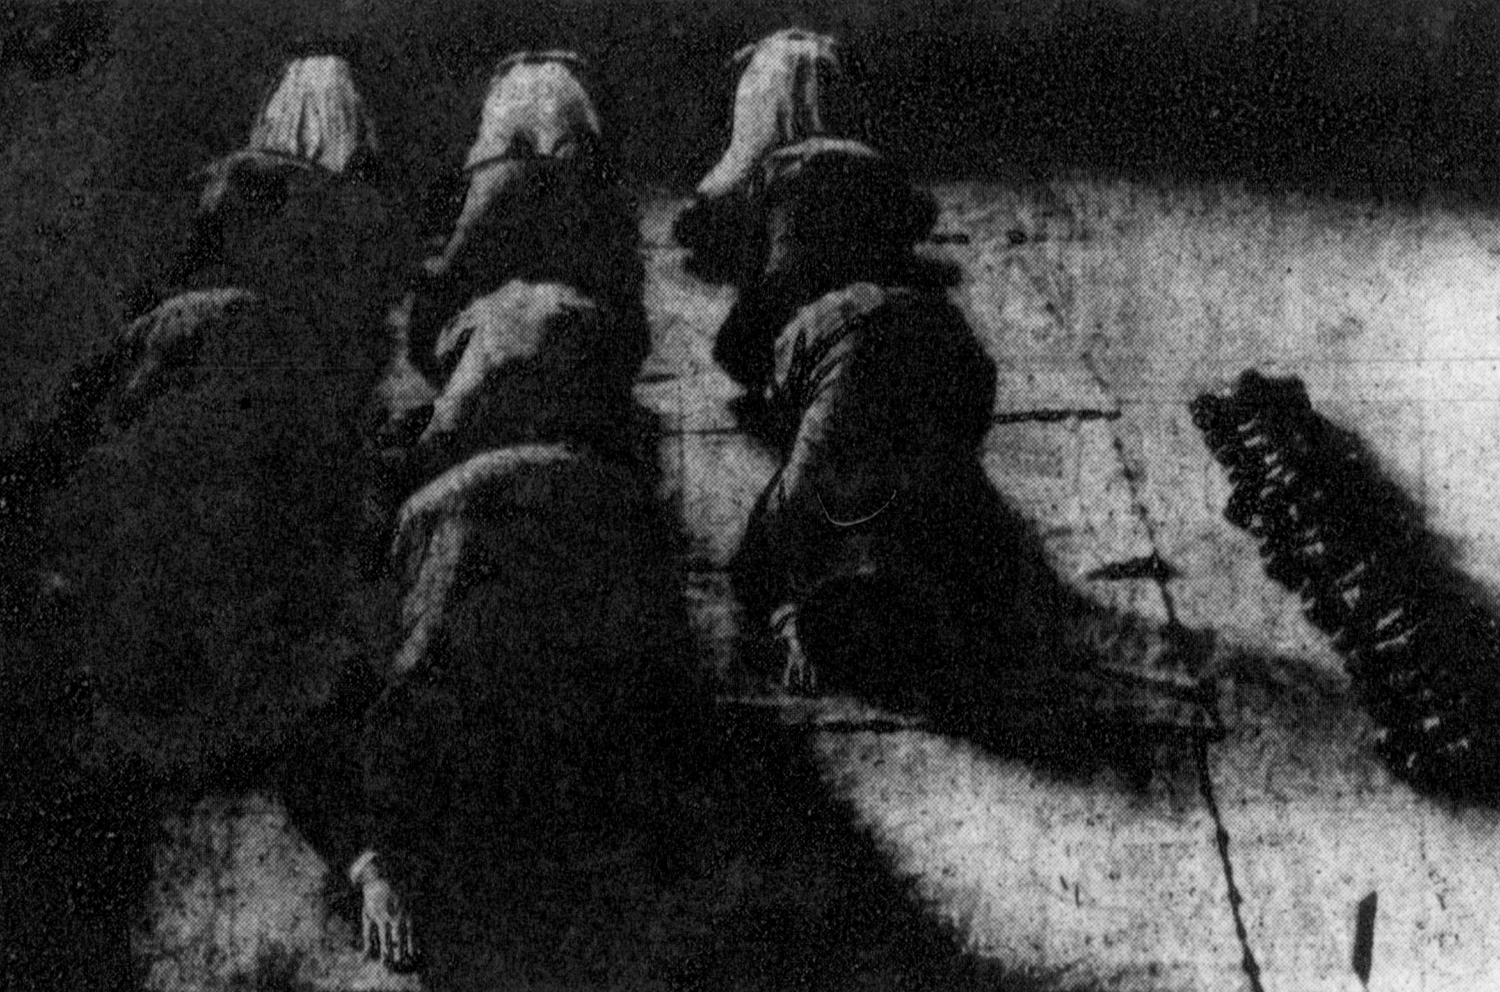

PICTURE NEWS AROUND THE WORLD

NO, IT'S NOT!—Really, that isn't a snow drift these lads are cavorting in at Jacksonville Beach, Fla. It's a king-size bubble bath compounded of foam drifts blown up from the shore by recent nor'easters. Winds certainly blew hard to churn up that much foam.

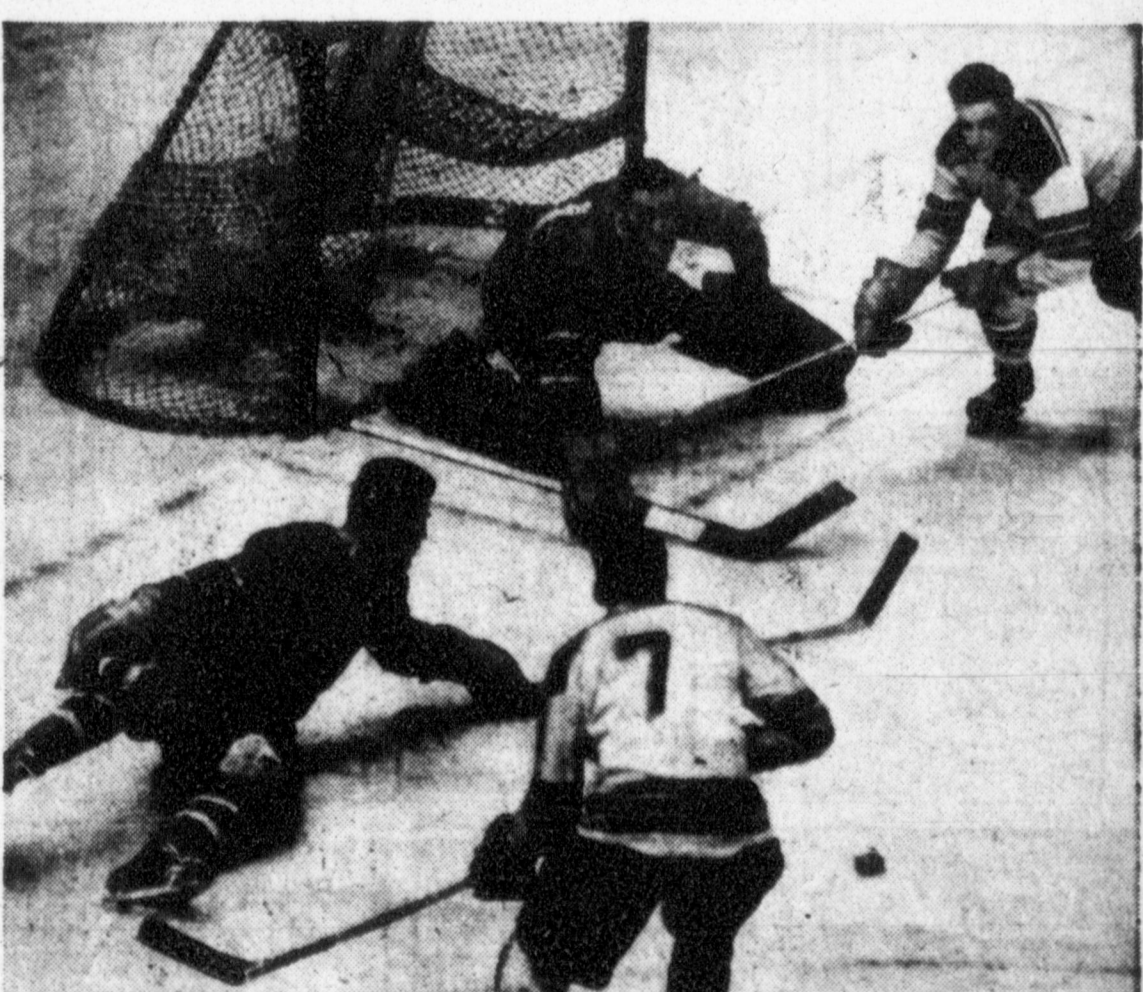

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER—And it's baby llama's debut at the Vincennes Zoo in Paris. She's nonchalantly chewing a straw to show she's not a bit impressed by her first public appearance. The happy mother, however, looks pleased as punch with her carefree offspring, as any proud mother would.

TOWARD MECCA, FROM AMERICA—Prostrating Moslems are an unusual sight in the Quaker State of Pennsylvania—or anywhere else in the U.S.A. These devout worshippers, facing eastward with shoes removed for prayers, are Turkish sailors on temporary duty at the U.S. Naval Base in Philadelphia. They are crewmen of an American sub given to the Turkish Navy in 1951.

LOOKIN' GOOD — Vocalist Lynne Stuart, of CBS Radio's Galen Drake Show, suggests eye tests for everyone during Save Your Vision Week. There could be no more effective argument for sight-saving than a good look at Lynne—and here, is one of the very best.

NO GOAL—Montreal's goalie Jacques Plante and teammate Butch Bouchard, left, combine forces and sticks to prevent a goal by Don Raleigh (7) and Bill Eznicki, of the N.Y. Rangers. The Canadiens were playing their last game of the season at Madison Square Garden.

Perryton Play Takes Honors

By BLOSSOM NEWELL
Pampa News Correspondent

PERRYTON — (Special) — The Perryton one-act play entry in the district one-act play contest held at Canyon last Friday took first place in the contest, and it will compete in the area contest at Amarillo, Saturday. The play is a cutting from the two-act play "I Remember Mama," which will be presented later in the year.

This play was selected in the local contest recently as the play to represent Perryton at the district contest.

The cast also received another large honor in that Barbara Rose Powell, who played Mama, and Danny Myers, who played Neils, were named the outstanding actor and actress of the entire contest. Marilyn Reitz, and Larry Watson were named to the all-star cast. Other members of the cast were: Connie Edwards, Ann Portwood, Bill Thrasher, Kayleen Schnell, Carla Blackmore, and Clova Castlebury. The play was directed by Mrs. Rose Powell, speech teacher for Perryton High School.

Laredo Planning 200th Birthday

LAREDO, Tex. —UP—Mayor J. C. Martin Jr., announced Wednesday he has appointed a special bicentennial commission to plan appropriate ceremonies to commemorate the 200th anniversary of Laredo's founding on May 15, 1755.

Although the 200th anniversary was the theme of the Washington's Birthday celebration in Laredo there will be special observances on the actual anniversary day.

The mayor's commission is composed of the heads of leading civic and patriotic organizations. Laredo, named for a Spanish port on the Cantabrian Sea, was founded by Capt. Tomas Sanchez, a Spaniard.

Dies in Fatal Collision
DALLAS—UP—Andrew P. Smith 43, a Dallas service station attendant, was fatally injured Sunday when another automobile hit his car at an Oak Cliff intersection (Beckley and Colorado.) The other driver, Billy Roy Covert, 17-year-old Negro, admitted to accident investigators R. J. Hamilton and J. V. Phillips that he ran a blinking red light.
