COFFEE BREAK BEATS THE 'HEAT'

• Doffing their coats and jackets because of spring-like temperatures in mid-winter (at 11 a.m. it was 59) are Miss Marie McPherson, Lefors, Miss Faye Burns, and Mrs. Geneva Parks, courthouse employes, on their way to one of the local "eateries" for the usual mid-morning coffee break. Tuesday's high mercurial reading of 67 was expected to be outdone with the thermometer climbing to a top of 72.

Chinese Reds Shoot Down Navy Plane Near Tachens

TAIPEI, Formosa, Feb. 9 —UP— Communist anti-aircraft shot down a U.S. Navy plane Wednesday and the mighty Seventh Fleet began closing in for increased firepower and anti-aircraft defense to protect the evacuation of the Tachen Islands. The U.S. Navy announced the American plane, a Douglas Skyraider attack bomber, was shot down when it "mis-navigated" over a Communist-held island. The Navy said no retaliation was planned against the Communists. The pilot was identified as Lt. (jg) W. J. O'Heren (name address unavailable). The two crewmen were not identified. All suffered only from the cold and minor cuts and bruises. No Retaliatory Action Planned The Navy did not regard the shooting down of the plane as a "hostile act" and said no retaliatory action is planned. But a dispatch from the Seventh Fleet reported the new protective movement as the evacuation proceeded far ahead of schedule with removal of all organized civilians and the beginning of demolition work at the Nationalist base by Chinese soldiers. The plane incident was the first to mar the smooth-running operation. The chief of staff to Rear Adm. Lorenzo Sabin, amphibious operation commander, said the shooting down of the carrier-based Skyraider was not considered a provocative act on the part of Red China. He said the American plane had unintentionally made a wrong turn and wandered near a Communist island within sight of Tachens. The pilot crash-landed in the sea only two miles from Tachens. Fired on By Ground Guns The pilot reported he was being shot at by ground guns (See CHINESE, Page 3)

Reserves Not Set For War -- Ridgway

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 —UP— Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway warned Congress Wednesday that the nation's present military reserves are unprepared for combat. The Army chief of staff told a House Armed Services subcommittee that creation of a stronger, better-trained reserve is a matter of "utmost urgency." He pleaded for adoption of the administration's new reserve program which is based on a modified form of universal military training. "Unfortunately, our present reserve forces continue in an unacceptable state of readiness, unable to reach combat effectiveness within any period of time likely to be available to us," Ridgway said. Unless the new reserve program is adopted, he said, "the Army will be compelled to continue to rely upon a demonstrably inefficient system which would fail us in an emergency." The administration plan, aimed at building up a combat-ready reserve of 3 million men, would require draftees who serve two years of active duty to spend six years in the reserve. In addition, about 1,000,000 youths a year would serve only six months active training on reaching draft age but would have to complete 9 1/2 years in the reserve. Indications were, meanwhile, that if the reserve program might become a tug of war between House and Senate which could delay final approval of a four-year extension of the draft. The House overwhelmingly approved the draft bill 394 to 4 Tuesday. But Senate military specialists said they may try to tie the reserve program and the draft extension measures together in an attempt to push the reserve program through a reluctant House. The House has long opposed any form of universal military training. Other developments: TREATY The Senate prepared to debate the Formosa mutual defense treaty. Senate leaders predicted overwhelming approval but a final vote appeared unlikely before Thursday. SCHOOLS Democrats attacked President Eisenhower's proposals for helping states build more schools as "too little and too late." DIXON-YATES Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) a foe of the Dixon-Yates power contract suggested that the contract be administered by some agency other than the Atomic Energy Commission so the AEC can concentrate on atomic matters. Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-N.Y.), a supporter of the contract, agreed in principle with Jackson. Jackson suggested the Interior Department might handle administrative details of the contract. PRIVATE ENTERPRISE Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) proposed that Congress act to limit government encroachment into fields of private enterprise.

Who's First With Bomb?

Reds Claim Top Power U.S. Claims The Lead

MOSCOW, Feb. 9 —UP— Soviet Marshal Ivan Konev warned Wednesday that a Red army more powerful than in World War II will crush any western attack on Russia with "all types of modern weapons." "We are not alone," Konev said. "The great nation of (Red) China, and the Soviet Union now form one camp and a powerful army for peace." He attacked what he charged was the "continual provocation against China our great friend." The famed Soviet military leader addressed the Supreme Soviet (parliament) during debate on the foreign policy speech Tuesday of Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov who said the United States and not the Soviet Union lagged in hydrogen bomb production. Malenkov Attends Former Premier Georgi Malenkov, who resigned Tuesday in a development that startled the whole world, attended Wednesday's Supreme Soviet session with the other Soviet leaders and heard speaker after speaker attack the "warlike policy" of the United States. Konev, defender of the Soviet Ukrainian front in World War II, spelled out the army's backing July 24 hours after Marshal Nikolai A. Bulganin took over as premier. There was no immediate announcement of new changes in the Soviet government. Konev, now commander of the western Ukrainian military district charged with the defense of the southwestern Soviet frontier, is one of the leading Soviet combat generals. "Crush By All Forces" "As a deputy and as a military man I think I express the feeling of all Soviet soldiers when I say that if an enemy attacks our country he will be crushed by all our forces and all types of modern weapons as well as all the techniques of Soviet military science," he said. "Soviet army troops have been reorganized on modern lines and are an even mightier force. They have all the equipment necessary to wage modern warfare." The white-coated Bulganin was present in the huge white chamber Wednesday morning when the 1347 deputies resumed debate. He was preceded into the room by Communist party Secretary Nikita Khrushchev and Malenkov who had resigned after admitting his inexperience and ineffectiveness in leadership.

MARSHAL BULGANIN ... New Red Chief

New Red Policies Started

Council Of Elders New Soviet Body By W. A. RYSER Written for United Press

LONDON, Feb. 9 —UP— Five words of Communist party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev gave a strong clue Wednesday that Russia already has followed up the dismissal of Georgi M. Malenkov with a far-reaching government reorganization and a seemingly painless purge. Khrushchev, powerful first secretary of the party, disclosed the existence of a new body inside the Kremlin and its very name hinted at the ascendant role of Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov. Khrushchev said Tuesday he was instructed to nominate Marshal Nikolai A. Bulganin by the central committee of the CPSU (Communist Party of the Soviet Union) and the council of elders. "And the council of elders" — these five words unveiled an organization that western experts said had never been mentioned previously in Moscow's government set-up. Its members were not identified. For the moment Russia apparently was determined to cover up the extent of the shake-up given to the rest of the Kremlin rulers by Malenkov's resignation. Khrushchev did not speak of the council again, nor did Molotov in his long foreign affairs speech. But preliminary western estimates of Khrushchev's bland disclosures were that the existence of the "council of elders" paved the way for silently and painlessly superseding left-over leaders now that Malenkov's star had set. Western observers who already had considered Molotov's hand to be behind the Bulganin promotion pointed out that nobody in the Kremlin is more "elder" in the hierarchy than Molotov. In 1954 Fatal Crash In the March 1, 1954, at Bikini in the Marshalls, the United States began a new series of H-bomb tests with an explosion that dwarfed the curtain-raiser of 1952. The report, never officially confirmed on the record, got out that Soviet H-bomb also was cheaper, more efficient, and more manageable than ours. Two Airmen Die In Crash Of B36

FORT WORTH, Feb. 9 —UP— Two airmen were dead Wednesday, but 18 other crewmen aboard a B-36 scammed to safety when their intercontinental atomic bomber crashed, exploded and burst into flame when it set down short of the Carswell Air Force Base runway. The super-bomber that is as high as a five-story building made a normal approach Tuesday night, but touched down just short of the main runway, skidded 3,600 feet and stopped in front of hangars near the flight line. It exploded seconds later. The 18 surviving airmen scrambled through numerous escape hatches to safety. One received serious burns and three others fractured bones. Maj. Robert F. Spence, Carswell PRC, identified the dead as S-Sgt. Gerry Nichols of Malvern, Ark., and A-2C Dean D. Grandquist of Ogden, Utah. Guards Stand Watch Armed guards stood watch all night in ankle-deep water, silhouetted by spotlights around the wreckage. It was a clear, moonlit night when the giant bomber

President Knew Big Red In 1946

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 —UP— President Eisenhower, speaking warmly of his 1945-46 friendship with Soviet Marshal Gregori Zhukov, said Wednesday he would not hesitate discussing with his advisers a new invitation for Zhukov to visit the United States. Mr. Eisenhower talked of Zhukov at a new conference shortly after the Russian army leader was named Soviet defense minister. The President said the shakeup said such an invitation would be in the Soviet government is a quite a remarkable thing under greatly significant change which present conditions. But he said shows dissatisfaction there. He wouldn't hesitate to discuss it if it would not change basic with his advisers. American policy to work for peace. The President said that he had great respect for Zhukov's ability back in 1945 when they were the commanders in Berlin. He said they saw eye to eye on local problems then and that he believed superior in the field of hydrogen weapons. Mr. Eisenhower said there certainly was no proof to that effect and such a superiority as claimed by Molotov would be a rather remarkable feat. Mr. Eisenhower seemed to go out of his way to speak highly of Zhukov, who only Wednesday was appointed Soviet defense minister in a continuation of the shake-up that was announced Tuesday. Recalling their friendship in Germany at the end of World War II, Mr. Eisenhower said he had invited Zhukov then to come to this country. He gave the invitation on instructions from Washington. He said he made his plane available to Zhukov and that his son, John, was detached for the trip to the United States as Zhukov's military aide. Recalls Incident Saying again that he and Zhukov were good friends, the President recalled with a laugh that Zhukov had said it should be a safe trip with Eisenhower's plane and son. Asked if that invitation back in 1945 was "still open," the President said, somewhat taken aback that this was the first time it had been mentioned to him since he became President and that he wouldn't do it now at any rate without consulting his advisers. Then the President, his eyes sparkling as he paused to reflect.

Dem Leader Hits Ike's School Plan

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 —UP— Democratic spokesmen Wednesday labeled the President's plan for schools as "too little and too late." They called for more liberal grants from the federal treasury. The Democratic criticism indicated there will be serious and probably successful efforts to provide larger direct federal grants for school construction than Mr. Eisenhower recommended. Dedication Of Armory Set March 7

Dedication of the new National Guard armory, just west of the entrance to Recreation Park, has been set for March 7 at 2 p.m., according to details worked out between Red Wedgeworth, manager of the chamber of commerce, and CWO William Leonard of the local guard unit. An invitation to the dedication has been sent to K. L. Berry, adjutant general of the Texas National Guard at Austin. Wedgeworth said high state and federal officials are expected to come to Pampa for the opening. Complete details have not yet been worked out for the ceremonies, which will be handled by Capt. Charles Robison, commander of the local unit, Leonard and Wedgeworth. The program will be held inside the building. The public is invited to attend the opening day ceremonies.

Rotary Fete To Honor 7

Seven charter members of the Pampa Rotary Club will be honored at banquet Thursday night at 7:30 in the high school cafeteria, celebrating the 50th anniversary of Rotary International. Dr. C. Dan Proctor, president of Oklahoma College for Women at Chickasha, will be the featured speaker. Charter members of the local club organized in 1927 and still living in Pampa who will be honored are: Delea Vicars, M. K. Brown, C. P. Buckler, Lynn Boyd, Albert Doucette, P. O. Sanders and J. E. Murfee. Presiding over the meeting as toastmaster will be E. E. Shelhamer, president of the Pampa Rotary Club. Entertainment will be provided by the junior high school choir, unless the direction of Jim Austin, Malcolm Brown will provide dinner music at the Hammond organ.

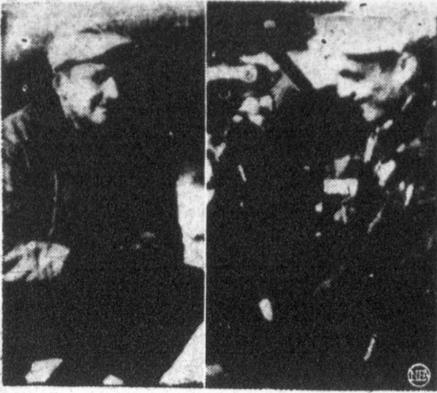

Zhukov Gets Defense Job

MOSCOW, Feb. 9 —UP— The Supreme Soviet Wednesday appointed Marshal Gregori Zhukov minister of defense. He succeeds Marshal Nikolai Bulganin, who is now the nation's premier. Georgi Malenkov, who was ousted Tuesday as premier, was named minister of electrical energy and a vice premier of the Soviet Union. The new switches in the Soviet cabinet were announced to the concluding session of the Supreme Soviet, which Tuesday unanimously approved Malenkov's resignation and the selection of Bulganin to succeed him.

Army May Rest In Nugent Case

FORT SILL, Okla., Feb. 9—UP—The Army was expected to rest its case Wednesday in the court martial of Maj. Ambrose Nugent, charged on 13 counts of collaborating with his captors while a North Korean prisoner. One of the last Army witnesses told the court Tuesday American POW's could not have escaped if they had wanted to because they were too weak from disease and starvation. Tuesday's witnesses included M. Sgt. Ray T. Gordon of Tacoma, Wash., Sgt. Leroy Carter Jr., 28, of Milwaukee, Wis., and Sgt. 1-C Joseph T. Gardiner of Iron Mountain, Mich., now stationed at Fort Lewis, Wash. Gardiner said an American colonel had an escape plan, but Carter said the prisoners could not escape if they had wanted to. He said all were reduced to the state of "animals" and were "practically eaten alive by lice." Gordon said Camp No. 12 did not even have barbed wire and the prisoners could wander into the woods, but he said their bad physical condition prevented them from trying to escape. Most of the afternoon session Tuesday was used for legal bickering over whether certain evidence could be introduced. The court martial is in its third week of testimony, then the defense is expected to use almost as long to present its witnesses. Lt. Col. Donald E. Manes, court law officer, finally admitted five dictaband recordings and texts prepared from a monitor of two broadcasts made by members of the "central peace committee," of which Nugent was head. Manes ruled against introduction of a document allegedly signed by members of the committee. The Army offered testimony

Tuesday on the 12th of 13 charges against Nugent, a 45-year-old career officer from Merrill, Wis. He spent three years in a prison camp. Gardiner testified that Nugent was in bad physical shape while a prisoner and at one time had to be led to the latrine (restroom) at night because he had lost his eyeglasses and was almost blind. Gardiner supported earlier testimony that the ranking officer in camp, Col. Paul V. Liles, told the POW's to co-operate with the North Korean Communists when necessary to avoid undue hardships. Gardiner said Liles told every POW in camp 12 on several occasions to go along with the Reds as far as they wanted to, and as senior officer, he would be completely responsible for their actions. County Settles Right-Of-Way Clearances

Gray County commissioners Tuesday okayed a right-of-way settlement, approved a curb-and-gutter bond for U. S. Hwy. 60 and set a date for opening of bids for a bridge. Gray County settled with the Fraser Estate, on U. S. Hwy. 66 near Groom, for the sum of $14,500. County Judge Bruce Parker said. Most of that was for fence, land, phone line and water line damages and the remainder was for damage to the estate home — the improved highway will come within 20 feet of it. The right-of-way settlement had been in the works for the last several years, Judge Parker commented. Commissioners okayed a motion to sign bonds, guaranteeing that the county will pay up to $10,000 for curb-and-gutter work, from the Pampa city limits to the Rodeo Grounds entrance. Judge Parker estimated it would cost $8,000. Wayland Merriman, the commissioners court's consultant engineer, was directed to prepare specifications for the Sand Creek Bridge, eight miles east of Lefors, and for a concrete culvert in the southwest part of the City of Lefors. Bids are expected to be opened at 10 a. m. March 3. The court looked over plans for some signs pointing the way to Perry LeFors Field, but turned over a final decision on them to the airport board.

Houston Nabs Dope Pushers

HOUSTON, Feb. 9—UP—City narcotics agents climaxed a month's "undercover" work with a series of fast raids Tuesday night and jailed eight men described as "big pushers" of drugs to Negroes. One of the men charged later with possession and sale of narcotics told police his source of supply was Jefferson Davis hospital where he is an orderly. He said he "just picked the drugs left lying around." Police identified the hospital orderly as Herbert Hudson, 26, a Negro. Hospital authorities immediately began an investigation into handling of narcotics by doctors and nurses. All of the men arrested were Negroes and officers said the fast strike "broke the back" of narcotics selling to Houston Negroes.

(Continued from Page One) fired upon by ground guns and a moment later he crashed-landed in the east China Sea. Destroyers and helicopters rescued him and his two crew members and they were returned to the carrier Wang. United Press correspondent William Miller reported from Tachen that the island rocked almost every minute to dynamite explosions and that clouds of dirt and powdery smoke rose into the hills as Nationalist squads blew up everything they could move. Meanwhile Gen. Huan Chieh, commander-in-chief of the Nationalist army, served notice that China will not give up Nanchi Island "without a bitter fight." Nanchi lies near the mainland between Tachen and Formosa. Vice Adm. Alfred M. Pride, commander of the Seventh Fleet, issued a statement on the plane incident after talking with the pilot. "Aircraft Misnavigated" "One of our aircraft misnavigated southwest of Tachen Island," he said. "It was hit in the engine by anti-aircraft fire and ditched four miles west of South Tachen. Nobody was hurt." The Navy said removal of the 10,000 or more civilians from the Tachens was carried out without a real hitch. The first American and Chinese ships carrying civilian refugees arrived in Formosa Wednesday. Pride also disclosed that a Navy patrol plane which came within range of a small Communist-held island Tuesday was discovered to have three small flask holes in one wing when it landed safely.

Cotton Stalk Destruction Deadline Set

AUSTIN, Feb. 9—UP—A mandatory cotton stalk destruction deadline in 20 Central and East Texas counties was set Wednesday by Agriculture Commissioner John C. White as part of an extended pink bollworm control law. Midnight Dec. 5 was pegged as the final hour for destroying stalks in the new regulatory zone. White said planting dates will not be enforced in the zone this year. However, he recommended farmers plant their fields between March 15 and May 25 to insure a uniform growth of cotton. White said an increase in pink bollworm population over the 20-county area was responsible for extending the control zones. Addition of the new area brought to 82 the total number of counties now included in the cotton growth control zones. Follow-up regulations are designed to destroy winter hibernating quarters for the pink bollworm. Counties in the new zone, No. 6 include: Angelina, Bell, Brazos, Burnet, Falls, Grimes, Hardeman, Houston, Jasper, Leon, Madison, Milam, Montgomery, Newton, Polk, Robertson, San Jacinto, Trinity, Tyler and Walker.

Probers Call 9 More Land Board People

AUSTIN, Feb. 9—UP—Subpenas for nine additional former employees of the Veterans Land Board or the general land office were issued Wednesday by the special House committee investigating the veterans land program. The action boosted to 12 the number of such former employees who have been called by the House committee for informal preliminary questioning. At the same time, the committee announced its intention to "talk to every possible employe and ex-employe" in an effort to obtain information in the investigation of alleged windfall profits in the veterans land program. All of the 12 subpenas were returnable at 10 a. m. Wednesday. The witnesses assembled in a committee room overlooking the House of Representatives chamber, awaiting questioning by representatives of the investigating committee. No testimony was heard under oath. Summoned to appear Wednesday were: Connie Groos, Kyle, L. H. Klaveman, Thelma Purnell, Walter R. Callahan, G. C. Morris, Mrs. William H. Gardner, Curtis Bishop, Melvin C. Eckhoff, and Mrs. James E. Danheim, all of Austin. Kneevern now is with the state auditor's office and has been active in investigations conducted by that agency into the $100 million program. The House committee Tuesday subpoenaed Harry C. Jander and Bob J. Barnes, both former employes of the Veterans Land Board, and Hamilton Blair Parks, a former employe of the general land office, the "mother agency" of the land program.

Three Bills Before House In Land Case

AUSTIN, Feb. 9—UP—The Texas House had before it Tuesday three bills seeking to revamp procedures of the controversial Veterans Land Board and application of the multi-million dollar program. Rep. T. W. (Buckshot) Lane of Wharton, following recommendations of Gov. Allan Shivers that the land board membership be changed, proposed a constitutional amendment calling for a land commissioner and two other members appointed by the governor. The new members would include one "well-versed in veterans affairs" and another in "general finance." The present board includes the land commissioner, governor and attorney general, and Shivers has spoken out against such ex-officio boards. Rep. Dolph Briscoe Jr. of Uvalde introduced two bills Monday to make "block deals" under the $100 million land program more difficult to carry out, and to prevent abuses in the leasing of timber and hard metals. Meanwhile, Senate members met briefly Monday and members of the upper chamber's investigating committee spent the afternoon questioning Attorney General John Ben Shepperd, Sen. Jimmy Phillips of Angleton consumed most of the meeting with efforts to prove Shepperd and members of his staff, through communications, hastened approval of land block deals.

17 Apply For Coach Job

Herman Whatley, Pampa school board president, said today he expects all applications for the job of head Pampa Harvester football coach to be in by the end of this week. But he doesn't think any action will be taken Monday night, time of the next scheduled meeting of the board. An estimated 17 applications have been turned in, Whatley said, pointing out that there would be a "gradual process of elimination" to select the successor to Aubra Noncaster who resigned from the job Jan. 31. The Monday night meeting will be held as scheduled, unless there is not enough business to warrant holding it, he concluded.

Cop Rescues Wad Of Bills From Stove

FLORENCE, Colo., Feb. 9—UP—Police Chief John Camerilo put his hands into a roasting coal range Tuesday to save $1,400 from an unreasoning widow. About $300 worth of the currency which Mrs. Edith Clayton, 54, had stuffed into the range went up in smoke. But Camerilo saved the bulk of the money. Camerilo said Mrs. Clayton, whose husband died recently, was badly upset and during an argument with a roomer, Clarence Walker, threatened to burn up the money. Walker said he grabbed the bills before Mrs. Clayton could destroy them in the living room coal range. Mrs. Clayton rushed upstairs for a pistol. Meanwhile, neighbors who feared she would harm herself called Chief Camerilo. Camerilo said he went into a bedroom and disarmed Mrs. Clayton, but the widow ran down the stairs. He saw her snatch the wad of bills from Walker's hand and throw them into the stove. Despite the heat, which burned his hands painfully, Camerilo dragged most of the money away from the coals. He said Mrs. Clayton was sent to a hospital at Pueblo.

Rains Aid Texas Crops

AUSTIN, Feb. 9—UP—Soaking rains over much of Texas have materially brightened 1958 crop prospects, the U. S. Department of Agriculture said Wednesday. Areas particularly benefited by the precipitation were east of a line running through Fort Worth and Del Rio and north of a line running roughly from Laredo to Corpus Christi, the USDA said in its weekly crop and weather bulletin. Soils in some southeastern counties are "near saturation," the report noted. However, the moisture tapered off to the west with only "light, ineffective drizzles received above the Caprock." The Trans-Pecos and extreme southern counties were missed completely. Spring planting will be rushed as soon as soils dry in the favored areas. Sorghum planting was starting in the coastal bend, and South Texas flax prospects were "greatly improved." Early spring pasture feed prospects soared over the eastern two thirds of Texas. The rains were expected to insure a thickening of rescue grass and clovers over Central Texas counties. In the plateau country, winter weeds and grass were expected, with the advent of warmer weather, to soon make "sheep feed." (The pasture) outlook is again hopeful in areas favored with rains during the week. Over the eastern third of the state, an end to high feed bills may be in sight," the USDA reported.

Reds To Step Up Arms Production

EDITOR'S NOTE: Henry Shapiro, the writer of the following dispatch, is a Nieman fellow on leave in the United States from his duties as United Press Chief in Moscow. Shapiro served as a newsman in Moscow for 22 years and was the dean of Moscow foreign correspondents. He predicts that the man behind Russia's new premier will be Nikita S. Khrushchev, head of the Communist party. "Peaceful co-existence" probably will remain the key propaganda slogan in Soviet foreign policy. Naming of Marshal Nikolai Bulganin as premier may be symbolic of the recognition of the army's role in the country's leadership. His position should not be exaggerated, however, since Bulganin is not a "man on horseback." Instead, he is a professional economist and civilian head of the armed forces, which he controls. It was the central committee of the party which met for some time before the Supreme Soviet session. This meeting, attended by Soviet ambassadors to London, Paris, and Washington, made the decisions which brought about Malenkov's resignation. Nikita S. Khrushchev, as party chief, probably will remain the power behind Bulganin. A general purge of party and government workers is unlikely. It is not without significance that Malenkov was permitted to resign and was not simply relieved of his post. The new administration probably will continue to stress "collective leadership." The idea of one man rule has been discredited thoroughly since Stalin's death and is not likely to be restored.

Jane Talk

By JANE KADINGO
Pampa News Women's Editor

THIS IS ANOTHER "what next" article, although it might not seem so strange to a person who craves unusual foods. There really isn't anything too startling in a man wanting someone to raise hummingbirds — it's the reason for it all, that gives the jar.

By WILLIAM H. MEYERS
CHICAGO, Feb. 9 (UP) — Max Ries said Monday he'd like to see someone up in business-breeding hummingbirds.

Ries said he'd buy up the entire production so he could add canned hummingbirds' tongues to his line of fancy and exotic foods.

He made a fortune already by selling such delectable items as French fried worms, barbecued muskrat meat, termite eggs, alligator soup, quail eggs, canned snails, and deep-fat fried grasshoppers.

A suave, continental type, Ries is president of Reese Finner Foods, Inc. He varied the spelling of his name "so people wouldn't pronounce it 'rice'."

"Americans are becoming more adventurous in their eating habits," Ries said. "Almost every day we get orders for foodstuffs even we haven't heard about."

Ries himself lives dangerously so far as food is concerned. "I'll try anything—once," he said.

For example, he recently received a letter from C. Dale Weaver, head of the Puyehed Nutria Association at Van Nuys, Calif. Association members breed nutria, a rat-like animal, for their pelts. The problem was what to do with the carcasses.

Canadian's Rebekahs Hold Traveling Dinner
CANADIAN — (Special) — Mrs. Aubra Bentley, noble grand, and Mrs. Floyd Pyeatt, vice grand, entertained the Rebekah Lodge with a traveling dinner recently.

Cocktail and salad courses were served at the home of Mrs. Bentley; the main course of Italian delight, candied yams, relish plate, and hot rolls was served in the home of Mrs. Pyeatt. Dessert course of individual Valentine cakes, coffee and tea was served in the home of Mrs. Jim Ballard.

Party games were played. Attending were Mrs. Gilman Flowers and daughter Frances; and Mmes. Chris Shaeff, Jack Graham, Jack Sutton, Warren Harrington, W. R. Hines, Jim Poindexter, Martha Newton, Clark Reagan, Annabell Hoover, Horace Rivers, Bert Wood, Ora Curmuit, G. W. McLean, W. S. Newell, Leila Kindell, F. D. Teas, Bentley, Pyeatt, and Ballard.

RUTH MILLET
If your husband seems vaguely dissatisfied with his life it could be that you are feeding him discontent in small daily doses.

Some wives never ensure their chatter to cut out the kind of talk that breeds discontent. Such a wife will hurry to tell her husband that the Smiths have a new car, even though she knows her husband is already frustrated by the fact that his own old car refuses to start without being pushed at least two mornings out of a week.

She will pick flaws in their friends so that her husband can't help but come to value their friendships less than if she had built up their friends instead of tearing them down.

She will talk wistfully of all the things she would like to have that she can't afford.

She will keep telling him what a good manager she is, so that he gets the feeling that the reason they get by is simply because she knows how to stretch his inadequate salary. In reality his salary may be perfectly adequate for the family's needs.

She will point out that other men in the office get better treatment than he gets.

She will find fault with his family, and dread their visits.

She will talk about how they aren't getting any younger and say that it doesn't look as if they will ever be able to do the things they once talked of doing.

And then, after feeding him such little doses of discontent instead of selling him on the idea that life is good and that they are indeed a fortunate couple, she wonders why he is so dissatisfied with life.

MANNERS MAKE FRIENDS

It confuses some hostesses to have guests pitch in and help in the kitchen. So if a hostess politely refuses your offer to help, don't insist. The hostess who hopes you'll offer to help will give you a job without quibbling.

Let the hostess run her own home.

"I took a trip out there and Mr. Weaver served me nutria—barbecued, fried and broiled," Ries said. "It was outstandingly delicious. Tasted just like muskrat."

As a result, a line of tinned nutria is now forthcoming.

Ries had a hard time convincing Japanese exporters that Americans would eat French fried grasshoppers. But a shipment of 10,000 tins, still en route from Japan, is almost sold out.

When Ries, who is 54, came to this country from Germany in 1939, he started his food business the hard way—selling imported cheese in Wisconsin. He was a big success, he said, because the dairy state's residents "love the old country's cheeses as much as they do their own."

Final plans for the Valentine dinner dance, to be held Friday in the Pampa Country Club, were made at the recent meeting of Beta Sigma Phi Upsilon chapter, in the City Club Room, Mrs. B. M. McMullen, president, was in charge.

Valentine girls to be honored will be Mrs. Weldon Trice of the Upsilon chapter and Mrs. H. C. Grady Jr. of Exemplar chapter. More than 100 members and guests are expected to attend the event.

Tickets for the fashion show, to be held March 13, in the City Club Room and Palm Room were distributed to members to sell. Proceeds from the show will go toward buying new furniture for the Club Room.

Members were reminded to bring guests to the guest night meeting, slated for Feb. 21. Mmes. Howard Buckingham, Ross Buzzard and Homer Deck were chosen to serve on a nominating committee to select the 1955-56 slate of officers.

Following the business meeting, the program, "Nature's Beauty," was turned over to Mrs. Harold Fabian and Mrs. Homer Deck. During the first portion of the program, Mrs. Martin Stubbe spoke of the gathering of weeds, grasses and plants, such as dock, yucca, okra, wheat, cattails, maize and cock's comb, to dry and then spray to make into centerpieces.

Mrs. Stubbe had four different arrangements on display.

During the second portion of the program, Mrs. Fabian showed slides of Ogden, Utah, showing the many different colors of leaves to be found along the mountainsides in the fall.

Refreshments of cake, coffee and Valentine candies were served. The table was covered with an imported cloth of ecru and brown and centered with an arrangement of petrified wood, red carnations and small velvet hearts. Hostesses were Mrs. Thelma Bray and Mrs. Bob Sybert.

Guests were Mrs. Martin Stubbe and Mrs. Ralph Esson, both of Exemplar chapter. Members attending were Mmes. Buck Buckingham, Ross Buzzard, Ken Calkins, Terry Cully, Homer Deck, Harold Fabian, Kay Fancher, Jack Foster, Bill Garrett, Malcolm Hinkle, Robert Johnson, Rufe Jordan, Albert Kemp, Ralph McKinney, B. M. McMullen, Cliff McNeely, Don Morrison, John Phelps, W. D. Price, Ken Reeves, Bob Sybert, L. Crump, Thelma Bray, and Miss Gerry Carruth.

Franks, Kraut And Pineapple Is Deliciously Different Dish

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor
Bill Moore of Oak Park, Ill., knows his sauerkraut recipes. He should because he is secretary of the National Kraut Packers Association. He tells us sauerkraut with pineapple from the land of the hula dancers is one of his favorites.

Kraut and Frankfurters, Hawaiian
(Makes 4 servings)
One No. 2 can sauerkraut, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, ½ cup chopped onions, 6 slices canned pineapple, 6 frankfurters.
Combine sauerkraut, butter or margarine and onions. Turn into greased 1½-quart casserole. Top with pineapple and frankfurters. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 45 minutes.

Bill Moore has a round-up casserole recipe, too. Says it is great eating.
Round-Up Casserole
(Makes 4 servings)
One No. 2 can sauerkraut, 1 teaspoon caraway seeds, ¼ cup chopped onion, 4 frankfurters, mustard, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 package frozen French fried potatoes, salt.
Combine sauerkraut, caraway

The couple will be married March 2, in San Antonio. The bride-elect was graduated from Brackenridge High School and is attending San Antonio College. The prospective bridegroom was graduated from Pampa High School and attended West Texas State College. He is now serving with the Air Force at Lackland AFB, San Antonio.

DAYTIME SILHOUETTE IS A NARROW ONE
By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Women's Editor
NEW YORK — (NEA) — A narrow silhouette, fitted from bustline to hipline, makes fashion news in daytime dresses this spring.

This does not mean that full skirts are absolutely out. But it does mean that it's a gentle fullness and it also means that spreading skirts are worn over fewer petticoats than in the past.

For both the narrow and full-skirted dress, the bustline is high and rounded, is paired with a long, smooth waistline achieved by seaming.

The great difference between the lean silhouette of the 1920's and the lean, limber silhouette of 1955 is that the new clothes are constructed to fit. This means that they do not simply hang from the shoulders. They are darted, lightly boned, fitted, seamed until they achieve a narrow line that still supplies some curves.

Hipline interest is developed by self tucking or banding, piping or seaming. Where pleats are used, they're stitched down below the hipline, then released into fullness. Both the shirtwaist dress and the unbelted coat dress are strong in all the trend collections.

Income Tax-Primer No. 3

New Rules Cover Dependent Claims

(Third of 12 articles)
By RICHARD A. MULLEN
Written for NEA Service

Thousands of taxpayers are entitled to claim persons as dependents on their 1954 tax returns who wouldn't qualify as dependents in previous years.

This is true because the new tax law has made some important changes in the tests for determining your dependents.

For example, formerly you lost an exemption if your dependent child earned over $600 a year. Now, if your child is under 19 or is a student, you can still claim him as an exemption regardless of what he earns provided you furnish over half of his support.

A foster child living with and supported by you can be your dependent even though not related by blood or marriage.

And, when two or more persons join together to furnish the support of another individual, one of the group can designate to take the exemption under certain conditions, the details of which are spelled out later in this article.

But the new law still retains basically the same tests for determining exemptions as was in the old law. This means that the business of figuring your exemptions is still complicated and will give most taxpayers more trouble than any other part of the return.

It will pay you to dig into the complicated exemption tests, since each exemption gives you a $600 deduction from your taxable income.

The easiest way to figure out your exemptions is to use this article along with the brief explanations that are in the official instructions mailed with your blank tax returns.

Let's take up first the exemptions for you and your wife.

The official instructions make it clear that extra exemptions are still allowed when you reach 65 or you are blind. It will help you figure the exemptions for you and your wife if you remember two things:

First — you were 65 or over in 1954 if your 65th birthday was on or before Jan. 1, 1955.

Second — unlike your dependents, you cannot claim your wife as an exemption if she files a separate return to get back the tax withheld on her earnings of less than $600.

If your wife has income of less than $600, you should file a joint return.

Her income has to be included

Pakistan Has First Polo Field At Gilgit

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 — UP — Franklin Roudybush, a nice little gent with rimless glasses, has just returned with some information about what is cooking in Pakistan.

He works for this government. The serious stuff was what you might call off the record. What he had to say about life in Pakistan was something else again.

For instance, over there at Gilgit, Pakistan (look it up) is what you might say is the original polo field. Kids play the game afoot, instead of horseback. They use hockey sticks — like we did as kids when Salt Creek "frizz" over back there in Illinois.

"Ought to see that country," Frank said, with a gleam in his eye. "Highest mountains in world. Best scenery. Take the Nanga Parbat; 27,000 feet high. She is a dolly. They call her the 'Naked Lady.'"

Come to think of it, Frank said, while he was flying over the Naked Lady, something awful almost happened.

"We were sitting there in the aircraft," he said, "and the pilot came back to talk with us and while he was talking the co-pilot came back, too. And so everybody said, who was flying the airplane? Turned out nobody was. But everything turned out all right. We missed the 'Naked Lady' by a couple of thousand feet."

Frank rather liked Pakistan, though, and hopes to go back for a visit some day. Food was cheap, for one thing.

"We could get a five course meal, like you might find at a big hotel here in Washington for about $1.70," he said. "And if you stayed at a hotel for four or five days, it was proper to leave a little tip — although you could come back into society if you didn't drop a dime."

Pakistan, our man said, has folks that live like they did in the time of Christ. You can see women washing up the side of a hill with a bowl balanced on their hair-do.

"They have the finest irrigation system in the world," Franklin Roudybush said. "The waters come down from the Himalayas — through five rivers — you can raise anything there. Wheat, rice, cotton, oranges, lemons, nuts and every kind of vegetable you can think of. There are lots of cattle goats and sheep and the exporting of wool is important."

Frank reports that there is some sort of "trade" over the Iron Curtain.

Siberian ducks, it seems, aren't too smart. They fly over the curtain and get themselves shot down. Good eating, too.

Survey Shows Red Farms In Poor Shape

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 — UP — A recent survey, prepared by the reference service of the Library of Congress on economic trends behind the Iron Curtain, may provide a clue to the enigma of the Malenkov resignation.

In his statement of resignation, Malenkov said: "I see particularly clearly my guilt and responsibility for the unsatisfactory state of affairs which has arisen in agriculture."

The survey, prepared at the request of the Joint Economic Committee of Congress, pointed up how unsatisfactory Soviet farm production was, compared to the West.

A committee report on the survey, released less than 10 days ago, said:

"Agricultural production is the tightest bottleneck standing in the way of the further rapid industrialization of both the Soviet Union and the captive countries of eastern Europe."

The report added:

"Even official Soviet announcements indicate that agriculture is probably their No. 1 problem."

The report pointed out that in the United States less than 14 per cent of the total population works on the farm and yet manages to produce an abundance and even surpluses of food and other products.

But in Russia, at least one-half the total population is engaged in agricultural production, with more women than men forced to do farm labor. Nevertheless, Russia has had repeated shortages of food and fibers, and apparently is now producing less per capita than before World War II.

The congressional report concludes that: "Inadequate output and low productivity per man in agriculture are major restraints upon economic development in the entire Soviet bloc."

Missing Man Being Sought

PASADENA, Tex., Feb. 9 — UP — A widespread search was under way Tuesday for a missing 65-year-old plumber contractor who disappeared Jan. 17 after drawing $600 from his bank account.

Since then, according to police, an envelope containing $7,000 in checks made out to and endorsed by the man, Charles E. Mower, was received from San Antonio.

Police Chief Verec Ebery said the checks were received by Sam Bloom, another plumbing contractor, on Jan. 24. The checks were sent to Austin for a handwriting examination.

Berry said R. N. Stephenson, foreman at the Mower Plumbing Co., reported his employer's disappearance. He said Mower left Jan. 17, leaving a note saying he would be back to the shop that night.

Police contacted Mower's son, M. C. Mower, in Norman, Okla. He said he had a letter from his father Jan. 20 saying he was in Austin on business.

No word has been received since, Berry said.

GI, Released By Reds, Is Charged

BERLIN, Feb. 9 — UP — The Army Tuesday charged Pvt. William T. Marchuk, of Norristown, Pa., released last month after six years in Soviet hands, with betraying American secrets to the Communists.

Marchuk also was charged with desertion.

The Army said the 38-year-old soldier voluntarily deserted from his military intelligence unit in West Berlin and "divulged vital information" while in Soviet custody.

An American official said Marchuk would be court-martialed.

with yours, but you get a $600 exemption for her (more if she is 65 or blind) so it's cheaper than filing separate returns. Furthermore, even though your wife had no income during 1954, you cannot claim an exemption for her if you file a separate return and she is claimed as a dependent by another taxpayer who furnishes more than one-half of her support.

Another advantage of filing a joint return is that dependents of either the husband or wife can be claimed on the return.

This brings us to the exemptions you can claim for your children and other dependents.

There are still a number of tests which each dependent must meet, but the tests have been changed somewhat, especially those applied to the taxpayer's children.

You will find these tests in Item 14 of the instructions for Form 1040A and on page five of the instructions for Form 1040. To help you with this important step, NEA's Income Tax Primer lists the tests and then gives some explanatory material.

Remember, unless otherwise indicated in the test, each of your dependents must meet all the following:

1. Received more than one-half of his or her support from you (or your spouse if you file a joint return.)
2. Explanation: Support includes such items as the cost of education, food, clothing, medical care, and lodging expense. If your child, stepchild, or adopted child is a student, any amount he or she receives as a scholarship need not be considered in determining whether you have furnished over half the cost of supporting the child.

This test, in prior years, made it impossible for any member of a group, say three brothers, who shared in the support of a parent, to claim an exemption if no one of them contributed more than half the support. Under the new law, a parent can be claimed by one of the brothers provided he contributes at least 10 per cent and the other brothers state in writing that they will not also claim an exemption for the parent in 1954. These statements should be attached to the return of the person claiming the exemption.

2. Received less than $600 gross income.
3. Explanation: This test does not apply to your child, step-child or adopted child who did not reach

Chronology Important

John G. Adams, Army counselor, who with Lt. Gen. Walter Weible, deputy chief of staff, approved the discharge of former Major Irving Peress, may have some cause to regret his choice of words when he was questioned about the case.

Adams, it will be recalled, said that he had nothing to say to the press, adding that "the chronology speaks for itself."

In this statement we are inclined to agree, for the chronology of events connected with the Peress case and others connected with alleged subversives in the Army certainly does not redound to the credit of anyone except those interested in promoting the cause of Russian Communism.

How does this "chronology" strike you? Republicans, led by Sen. Joseph McCarthy, batter the members of the Democrats for coddling Communists in and out of government and the Republicans promise that under the leadership of Eisenhower and Nixon "we will clean the Reds out." Americans believe what they hear and give a hearty approval with their votes.

McCarthy, in control of the Senate Committee on Un-American Affairs, goes to work and before long, lo and behold, all sorts of Reds and pinks are turned up in government — some of them truly criminal, despising the United States and determined to do anything possible to injure our nation and help Russia and the Communist cause; some are just confused; and some are just b...

But keep turning up in one category or another and providing additional fuel for the coming Congressional elections.

Under such conditions, the first and obvious thing to do is stop McCarthy as quickly and effectively as possible — never mind how, just stop him.

But it will take a lot of something to stop McCarthy, now that he is really rolling. More and more volunteers of information are coming in and whatever it is that will stop McCarthy has to be pretty good.

Knowing that a savvy press will assist, the thing to do is bring charges against McCarthy and his aides and, although there is no basis for them, as everyone will find out later, the charges are brought and the work of rooting out Communists by the committee is halted while McCarthy and Roy Cohn and G. David Schine are put on trial.

After the investigations are halted by the "investigation" of McCarthy and his assistants this can't be dragged out forever, even though at times it looks as though it will be. So, to keep McCarthy from continuing his avowed task of blasting Communists in government and elsewhere and thus making the Democrats look bad for the coming congressional election, he has to be silenced again.

So new charges, in the form of censure, are dreamed up... although there is no chance that anything will be accomplished except the stopping of the committee.

TV Commercials Convince Hank He Lives In Museum

By HENRY McLEMORE

The more I look at and listen to the commercials, the more I become convinced that our house is packed with far more antique treasures than Williamsburg.

The Smithsonian Institution is missing a bet by not buying the whole place, bag and baggage, and hanging it from a ceiling as a perfect example of how Americans lived in primitive times.

People would pay good money just to see our refrigerator. It bears no more resemblance to the ones pictured and described on TV than a doghouse to the Taj Mahal. Its door opens only one way, and serves only as a door. It doesn't have any device that feeds ice cubes the way a coal chute does coal. If you want water, pry a tray loose, run hot water over the tray, and then grab the cubes before they melt.

It doesn't defrost itself. The only way to defrost it is to shut it off, leave the doors open, and work on the ice-coated areas with a chisel.

It doesn't serve juice or ice water; it isn't a pretty pastel color; but rather a fatigued white; and instead of being quiet as a mouse, it hums like a vacuum cleaner, with the accompaniment of a steady, whirring noise.

The freezing compartment is not a freezing compartment at all. In the 1955 refrigerators there is room to freeze a whole steer and a bunch of wild turkeys. All we can freeze in ours is what we can shove on top of the ice cube trays — and once the shoved-in food gets frozen, just try to get it pried loose!

Grandma Moses never painted anything as primitive as our day bed. The ones I've seen on television can be opened by an unaccompanied child of three, simply by the touch of a tiny finger. As hospitable as I am, I would much rather ask a guest to curl up on the floor for the night than try to open our day bed. I don't mean that it won't open, but it's a bit embarrassing to go about the neighborhood recruiting strong men to help me wrench it loose from its moorings. And unlike the ones shown on TV, it isn't something about which to point with pride. Actually, it's an eyesore, and Mary keeps it pretty well smothered with a thick meringue of pillows and throws.

But it is our electric range that I believe the Smithsonian would place in the most prominent spot. It bears no date, but the initials "BF" are scratched into its oven door, leading me to believe that it was built and owned by Benjamin Franklin right after he flew his kite. Who knows but some of the biscuits cooked in its oven were eaten by signers of the Declaration of Independence?

I'd like to see it on the same TV screen with the present-day ranges. It has no glass door. If you want to look in, you grab a hot handle, bend down, and take a peek. It does not have a clock that provides Naval Observatory time, in addition to turning off the stew when it's done or blowing the whistle on a pie that is about to burn up. You wear your own wrist watch when cooking on our fellow. Its control panel does not resemble the cockpit of a Super Constellation, but is as simple as a man could make it. A knob for each of its four burners, and that's all.

Compared with the modern bedside radio to be seen on TV, ours would not look out of place in Napoleon's field tent. It does not wake us up with music, turn on the heat, lower the windows, put on the coffee to boil, or let the dog out.

As for our vacuum cleaner — well, it is one of the few remaining horse-drawn ones in the world. Our museum is open from 9 to 5, except on Sundays.

A Depression Aid War Promoting Book

I have been discussing the book "Christian Values and Economic Life," published by the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A., under a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation.

Now I want to point out why I regard this book as a depression and war promoting book. It is a depression and war promoting book because its contents are that there are no absolute, eternal moral values and no absolute physical values that the state needs to respect. In other words, the authors of this book advocate that the state has a right to do things that would be immoral for an individual to do. In other words, they try to serve two masters and yet they pose as representing Christianity.

Must Be Irrational

Any book that contends there are no absolute moral or physical values, has to be completely irrational. There can be no reason unless there is some point from which to start to reason, and the authors' philosophy is that they, as the heads of the church, determine right from wrong; but they will set down no standards of moral or physical values, so of necessity they must write an irrational book based on emotion rather than reason.

This book is bound to promote depression, because it advocates the very things that bring on depression. It advocates controlling credit, special privileges for union labor, and the right to organize to take away from an individual his right to make an individual contract. In other words, it advocates collectivism rather than individualism — and collectivism is entirely foreign to Christian ethics. Real Christianity emphasizes the worth of the individual — his importance, his right to develop, his right to be an individual so long as he does not tramp on the toes of any other person.

The book advocates the government having the right to use aggression to take from one to give to another, and that is the essence of war. It denies the moral philosophy that all men are entitled to all they produce. It denies this when it sanctions the state having the power to take from one to give to another.

The authors do not oppose the very things that bring on war — such as protective tariffs and immigration quotas. They seem to want to be on the popular side, and it is not hard to see why. It is not hard to see why they are so difficult to convince that we could get into war. If we did have protective tariffs and immigration quotas, this country would be so rich and prosperous that no nation would dare to attack us. If other nations tried to force its citizens to engage in war, they would escape and enter this country and what they produced would furnish the pay for other workers. It would make a more complete division of labor, and the more completely we divide labor on a free and unhampered market, the greater our production would be and the higher our standard of living would be.

This book also denies that voluntary action is ethically right and involuntary action is ethically wrong. The authors never cite one place where Jesus ever advocated trying to make people do good by aggression or by involuntary acts. Certainly the commandments and the Golden Rule sides with voluntary acts rather than aggression. The authors do not seem to realize that the primary cause of war is the belief that involuntary acts by the state are ethical and in agreement with the Golden Rule. They completely discard the whole American philosophy that "government derives its just powers from the consent of the governed." That means from the consent of the individual because no one can give an individual's consent but the individual himself.

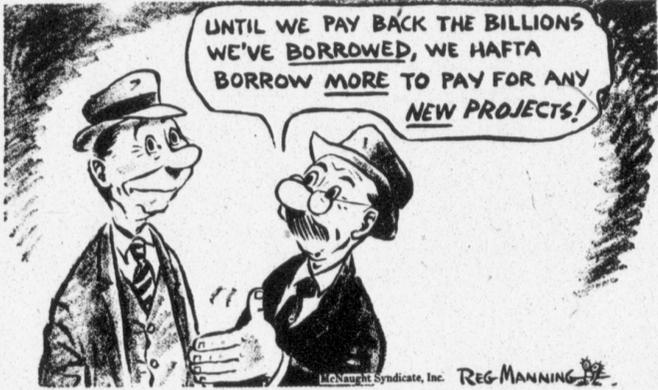

And when they take away from an individual his right to choose, they have to substitute the right of the majority, or collectivism. Wars come from collectivism and not from the belief in the inalienable rights of the individual.

Advocate Cause of Confusion

Throughout the book the authors stress the collective act that seems to be the most popular in America — the belief in tax-supported, compulsory, politically-controlled schools. They do not seem to understand that the only ethics tax-supported schools can teach is some form of collectivism or coercion. If they are really sincere in their belief in tax-supported schools being ethical, let them name the moral standards the state should use to enable the pupils in state schools to determine the difference between right and wrong; justice and tyranny. If the state has no moral standards, then of course the pupils when they grow up are bound to be confused and are inclined to follow the blind into depression and almost continuous wars. But these high officials in the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. are perfectly willing to make every man and woman and child in the United States help pay for their propaganda by accepting tax exempt donations from foundations. They do not even put their own acts in harmony with the ethical law that all men have certain inalienable rights that they receive from God, rather than the state.

In the next issue I want to take exception to their contention, which is the contention of all communists and socialists, that there is nothing unethical or unjust in the state being in business in competition with free enterprise. They contend that the state being in business violates no principle, I will try to answer this in the next article.

Shifts In U. S. Strategy Bring On Critical Probes

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The startling shifts in major American diplomatic and military strategy within the last few years have provoked several critical Congressional investigations behind the closed doors of Capitol Hill Committee rooms. Although no partisan spirit motivates these inquiries, the indirect and inevitable target is President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Key legislators charged with supervision of national defense preparation and preparation can't make head nor tail of the confusion and inconsistency which, in their opinion, have characterized our world program, especially in the Far East. Indeed, foreign representatives along Washington's diplomatic row are equally bewildered.

For security reasons, there will be no single, sensational and open investigation that will reveal publicly the doubts and divisions and differences that beset the Pentagon, Congress and our Allies. That would give aid and comfort to the enemy.

But the appropriate House-Senate committees dealing with these subjects are quizzing top military and diplomatic experts of the record. Under Eisenhower's non-censorship policy, which unseated General Matthew B. Ridgway's lips on opposition to reduction of ground forces, they are getting honest and frank answers, perhaps for the first time in many years.

The committee members are asking the same questions which must puzzle every newspaper reader — namely, why have the so-called top-level strategists given such conflicting and confusing advice to Congress and the White House, especially on the Far Eastern problem? Here are only a few of the vagaries which beset and upset Capitol Hill:

Only five years ago, then President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson wrote off Chiang Kai-shek as a hopeless and discredited leader. They withdrew all aid from him after the Marshall mission, thereby enabling the Communists to force him to evacuate to Formosa. Now, Chiang and Formosa have become so important that we may go to war to defend him and his island refuge.

When Chiang established his regime on Formosa, Truman said early in January, 1950: "The United States will not provide military aid to the Chinese forces on Formosa." A week later, Acheson publicly proclaimed that our Far Eastern defense line ran through the Japanese Ryukyus and Philippine Islands. He omitted Korea and Formosa.

Now, despite the earlier depreciation of Formosa as essential to our security, the U. S. may defend islands which lie within artillery range of the Chinese mainland — Quemoy and Matsu and the Tachens.

Even though there has been a change in Administration, the policy makers and advisers have carried on at the Pentagon and State. Indeed, Dulles served Truman.

In a major address, Dulles proclaimed the new strategy of "massive retaliation" by air, naval and atomic power. But when he, three members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the National Security Council urged application of this policy in Indo-China, Eisenhower disagreed. He accepted the contrary advice of General Ridgway, who insisted that ground troops would be needed.

As a result of Communist aggression and semi-defeats in Korea and Indo-China, the U. S. has extended and enlarged its commitments. Many of these pledges cover areas where air and naval power alone cannot achieve complete victory. And yet, over Ridgway's protest, Eisenhower proposes that the ground arm be cut by 145,000 men.

It is admitted that use of atomic weapons against an Asian people — Red China — will hurt that continent's 600,000,000 people into a hostile and anti-American camp. Even conventional bombing might have the same effect. But nobody knows, certainly not Congress, what our strategy and tactics will be. But they intend to find out!

The Senate voted unanimously the other day that the Communist Party is no good. It's getting so that every politician in this country is willing to be against Communism just so long as nobody is allowed to do anything to stop it. And if that ain't peaceful coexistence, I don't know what it is.

The late John Barrymore was out walking one afternoon, when he saw a girl in notorious snub approaching. He tried to avoid the man, but the other singled him out with a hearty greeting: "Snob — Good afternoon, Barrymore. You are positively the only person I've met today worth stopping to talk to."

Barrymore — Really. Then you're much more fortunate than I am.

Freedom House's Award For Murrow Is Dig At McCarthy

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

A few months ago Lewis Douglas, the Arizona banker and Democratic politician, officiated at a phony investiture at the political hive called Freedom House in New York in which a piece of junk was handed to E. J. Murray, the radio-television propagandist. The purpose of this hasle was not to "honor" Murray, who has never done anything to merit any "award," even from Freedom House, which has no standing as a cultural or patriotic institution, but to dishonor Joe McCarthy.

Lew was photographed standing there with Murray and Herbert Bayard Swope, an inveterate hanger-on at race tracks and a press-agent of such pomposity that he bills himself as a "policy consultant."

Like Tex Rickard, Swope has made a career of hanging around big people on the theory that a man who does that can rub off some big onto himself. I can admit that he got very swollen and latched onto some lucrative clients of his press-agency or policy-consultancy, the latest of public note being one of the harness parks in New York which has him down for $37,000 a year for what possible service, other than political, I cannot conjure.

Lew Douglas was our ambassador in London under Truman where, I understand, he opposed their descent into socialism at our expense but with no success against the extravagance of Paul Hoffman, always a fast man with the other fellows back.

Lew has a ranch down near Sonoma, close to Fort Huachuca, and a business office on the second floor of his bank in Tucson. I had challenged his qualifications and Herb Swope's to hang any medals on anyone and this business had carried over because Lew came down of the gripes in his trip and got latched up in the same hospital where Joe E. Lewis was having some basting done, too.

The morning that Joe went in I was there to see him through the door because he has been my partner in the sport of window soaping in Chicago, New Orleans and, occasionally, New York, and as he stumped out he mumbled that Lew Douglas was in 904 or some such number. As he went through the door he was holding a medal from the Pope the size of a silver dollar, and praying in Hebrew. Joe made it and he has challenged me to a window-soap in New Orleans come Mardi Gras.

Now here is a peculiar thing about that ceremonial stove-rod for Murrow. Lew Douglas said he had respect for Murrow as a socialist but he himself is a Democrat strongly opposed to socialism. And Swope, who claims to be a Democrat, promoted this deal for his professional wind-bag whose biggest clients are the stout old citizens of capitalism, Aluminum and Ford.

Moreover, Douglas is not even a member of Freedom House and, altogether, the more you ask about this deal the more negative it gets except as a snide kick at McCarthy.

Well, the value of all such trash for services to "brotherhood," "mankind" and "peace" is paltry enough at best, but it goes into minus when they are conferred on Hugo Bloh as a dirty dig at Mike Swift.

But Mr. Douglas is a man of more learning and manners than the run of pretentious riff-raff around Freedom House and when I commented on a familiar old poster of Georges Clemenceau as the father of victory, Lew said he had known the tiger well in those days in France.

I said I couldn't say I knew him in the sense that he knew me but that a bunch of American correspondents had fallen in with him and some staff one day in 1917 and that we all had lunched together at a long, bare table in the only hotel, the Cheval Blanc, no doubt, at Ligny, and that Clemenceau had told us Americans that he had served as a surgeon with the union army.

Lew said no, he didn't believe he had been a surgeon. In fact, he was pretty sure the old boy had been a correspondent for Figaro or one of them. Clemenceau had got out of France one jump ahead of the law back there and had quite a time for himself in the states. That was how he happened to know Americans so well. He had also taught at a girls' school in Connecticut, a fact which rang another bell with me.

I then recalled a moment at a review of the first division, marching in something like columns of battalions, about a block wide, when one of the regimental bands coming abreast of Clemenceau in his old beat-up hat and his tweedy bloomers and the legging, crashed into a regimental marching song consisting of a medley of hungry five classics. It was called happy heinie and began with the opening chords of the watch on the Rhine.

Ferishing's grim look got grimmer at the faux pas, which is French for humor, but the Tiger gave him a little dig in the stats and grinned and so did the boss, who never was called Black Jack, in case you care.

Well, Lew said the Tiger once

OFFICIAL REPORT OF CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEE PROVES SEVERAL LARGE FOUNDATIONS ARE MENACE TO SECURITY OF UNITED STATES

(The Southern States)

Now that the path has been cleared and fighting Communism has been officially designated as unpopular, the Ford Foundation's $15,000,000 program is getting underway.

This program has for its announced objective the "elimination of restrictions on freedom of thought."

This means in plain language, that the Foundation which has financed scores of Communist movements and individuals is getting ready to crack down on Americans who are heedless of Soviet interests that they actually dare to feel and express concern for the safety and security of their own country.

This, in the view of the pinhead progeny who control the Ford millions, is rank treason against the internationalists who seek to openly control the government of the United States, instead of continuing the underground domination which they now enjoy, and fifteen million dollars of the Ford money is to be spent in achieving this end.

The saga of some of the large Foundations, who pay no taxes to the government, is an ugly, filthy story—a story of subversion and of infiltration into their ranks of some of the worst characters in the United States who are diverting the millions of dollars amassed by the blood, sweat and tears of American pioneers and captains of industry into subversive movements for the ultimate betrayal and overthrow of the American Republic, under whose orderliness processes these large fortunes were built.

There are literally hundreds of struggling groups and individuals in this country who are striving with all the forces at their small command to awaken the American people to the danger posed by subversive alien influence to the American form of government.

The Ford Foundation would see them starve and drop in their tracks before one penny in "grant" would be allowed them but the officials who control this Foundation have voluntarily stepped forward and planked down fifteen million dollars to be expended in investigating those who expose Communist spies operating within the government of the United States, in the Army and in American defense plants.

The two reports of a Committee of Congress set up to investigate the activities of the Foundations just released, cover approximately fifteen hundred pages and show that there is scarcely a subversive organization or member of a Communist Front in the country that has not been financed, at one time or another, by one or the other in the large Foundations. The accuracy of the reports and the impeccable sources of references, together with the excellent job done by the Chairman, Hon. Carroll Reece of Tennessee, have made him a likely victim of the smears groups who go into action against any American who exposes any phase of the Communist conspiracy against the United States.

Any thoughtful American who reads these two reports cannot escape the conclusion that such Foundations as Ford, Carnegie, Rockefeller and others who veto organized primary to a taxpayer payment of death taxes, and have fallen into the hands of internationalists, One-Worlders and plain Communist sympathizers, are a major menace to the security and safety of the American Republic.

Harvesters Nip Lubbock To Take Lead

Westerners Fall To PHS, 80-75

By BUCK FRANCIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

Hard-pressed all the way but never behind, the Hustlin' Harvesters registered their 46th straight home court victory last night at Harvester Fieldhouse by outscoring the rugged Lubbock Westerners, 80-75.

The win, played to a near capacity crowd, gave the Harvesters undisputed lead in the Northern 1-AAA race with a 4-1 record. Amarillo's Sandies dropped into a two-way tie for second place last night by bowing to the Borger Bulldogs at Borger, 69-68.

Amarillo and Borger each have 3-2 conference records to share the rumerup spot.

The Harvesters clinched at least a first place tie with their win over the Westerners last night. The Owen and Golders will wind up their regular season schedule Friday night at Amarillo.

By winning Friday's game, the Harvesters would nail down the Northern 1-AAAA flag. A Sandie win, however, would pull Amarillo into a tie with the Pampans for the lead. A three-way tie will result if Amarillo downs the Harvesters and Borger defeats Lubbock at Lubbock Friday.

In the event of a two-way tie, a one-game "sudden death" playoff would be played Saturday. The site would be determined by a coin flip. If there's a three-way tie, the playoffs would be held at Canyon Saturday. One team would draw a bye with the other two meeting Saturday afternoon. Winner of the Saturday afternoon game would play the team drawing the bye Saturday night for the title.

Lubbock Stoppers
The stubborn Westerners, although they could never take the lead, refused to let the Harvesters relax last night. The Lubbock five, after falling 13 points behind on one occasion in third quarter, pulled to within three points of the Harvesters with 30 seconds remaining in the game, 78-75.

The Harvesters, who were attempting to run out the clock, made it 80 when Bubby Sharp was fouled and the junior guard canned both free shots awarded him to complete the scoring with five seconds remaining.

The Harvesters won the game at the free throw line. The Green and Golders made 25 of 31 free throw attempts for 83.5 per cent, their best performance of the year at the gratis line. Lubbock hit 13 of 21 free throw attempts for 71.4 per cent.

Lubbock had a perfect free throw record in the first half, hitting nine of nine. The Harvesters, at the same time, had hit 16 of 18 gift throws.

Both teams also had good percentages from the floor. Lubbock hit 30 of 82 tries for 48.4 per cent while the Harvesters canned 37 of 56 for 47.8 per cent.

The Harvesters' best quarter was in the third when they hit eight of 14, Lubbock's best period was in the fourth with nine of 16.

Griffin High
The Harvesters' Gary Griffin grabbed scoring honors for the game with 28 points. Griffin found the mark for 10 field goals and made all six free shots awarded him.

Three other Harvesters scored in the double figures. E. Jay McIlvain tossed in 22 points, Ken Hinkle 16 and Benny Cartwright 14. Cartwright, like Griffin, had a perfect night at the free throw line, making six out of six.

Carroll Stephens, sporting a deadly one-hand jump shot, led the Westerner scoring with 22 points, coming on 10 field goals and two free losses. Stephens, however, was cold at the gift line, hitting only two of seven.

Big Wade Wolfe had 20 points for the losing Westerners. Most of Wolfe's points came on tip-ins. The Harvesters led at the end of each quarter, 26-20, 42-39 and 60-53. Lubbock tied the score three times in the first quarter, 2-2, 4-4 and 6-6. The Harvesters then took the lead on McIlvain's field goal at the 2:45 minute mark and the Westerners could never draw even again.

Lubbock whittled the Harvesters lead to one point on three occasions after that, 28-27, 30-29 and 42-41, the latter in the opening seconds of the third quarter.

The Harvesters, however, thwarted every threat the Westerners made of catching up. Lubbock had one consolation, that of snapping the scoring record for the Harvester opponent on the Harvester Fieldhouse floor. The previous high was held by Phillips in the 1952-53 season.

Perryton's Rally Downs Dumas, 42-40
PERRYTON, Feb. 9. (Special) — The Perryton Rangers won their fourth District 1-AAA game here Tuesday night by coming from behind for a 42-40 win over the Dumas Demons.

The Rangers trailed 32-29 at the end of the third quarter but put on a late rally for the win. Bill Farrington led the Rangers with 15 points. He was followed by team mates Don Deer with 10 and Bill Thrasher with nine.

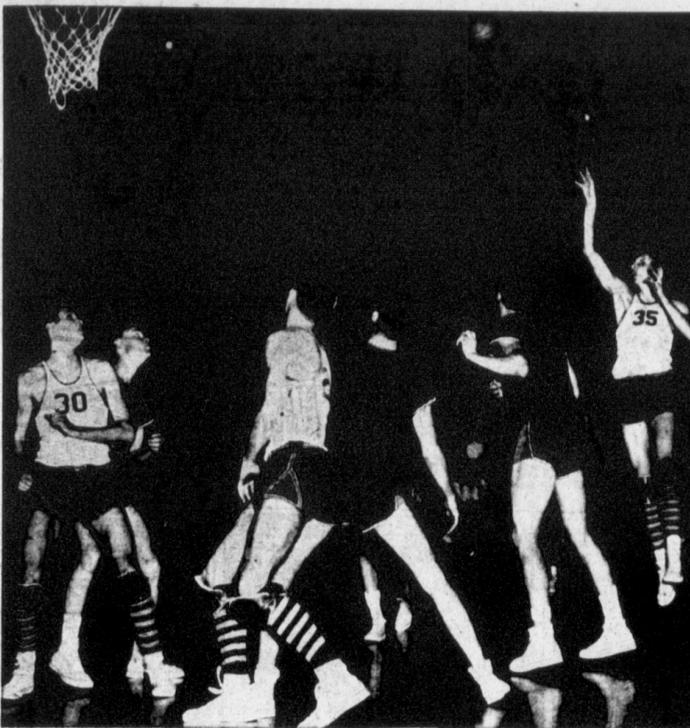

Bob Cleveland was high for Dumas with 14 points. The Rangers have four more games remaining. They play Balco Friday, Liberal Saturday, and next week they go to Phillips Tuesday and Hereford Friday to wind up their season.

In a preliminary game here Tuesday, the Dumas girls edged past the Perryton Rangerettes, 35-32. Phyllis Vernon scored 28 of the 33 Perryton points.

WE RECEIVED A LETTER from a very unhappy Borger Bulldog basketball fan yesterday. It is our policy to print letters to us if the letter is signed and that there is no obscene language therein.

Without further ado, here is the letter: (Our comments will follow the letter):
February 7, 1955
Borger, Texas

Mr. Buck Francis
Sports Editor
Pampa News
Pampa, Texas
Dear Buck:

I am writing you in reference to your column in the News on January 31, 1955. You took the privilege of working "Tex" Hanna, his Bulldogs and the Borger fans over as you saw fit, which I intended to overlook, until the debacle in Harvesters "farce" house last Friday evening.

As for your criticism of "Tex" not pulling his regulars, he didn't care as Ruben Shantz was taking care of that for him, two regulars were already on the bench, one with five fouls, one of them all the last quarter.

You didn't mention the emotions and resulting "boo's" of the Pampa fans as their Harvesters were taking the worst drubbing of their lives (in spite of Shantz) but you did lay it on Borger fans. I believe you will agree that at all sporting events, it is customary for adults to express their emotions with "boo's" when they don't agree with the likes of Shantz. Eleven fouls on Borger; two on Pampa in the first half of the game played here, a little one-sided I'd say.

I appreciate your complimenting our players on being calm and gentlemanly during the course of the game. I wonder if you can say as much for the Pampa players as was evidenced when they rushed the official scorer at the half yelling, "It's good." The decision by Scoggins stunk so bad that Shantz couldn't even call that one, or even look Coach Dillman in the eye when he protested it. So even if the adult fans in Borger do "boo" some decisions, at least the Players and Student-body have been taught to control their emotions and be ladies and gentlemen.

Do you recall when the Bulldogs spoiled the dedication of Harvesters "farce house" and the Pampa student body formed gangs and jumped the Borger kids and ran them out of town. Well, I hate to think what might have happened to the kids Friday night if the Bulldogs had beat Shantz and Scoggins too.

Now as to my opinion of the way I saw it Friday night. It was evident to me at the half, that unless a miracle happened, the Bulldogs didn't have a chance. Well, the Harvesters couldn't hold a lead, 8 points, with four minutes to play, your clock stunt didn't work (You pulled that one in '51) your mixed up score card didn't work, although I was hoping they would try it, but that would have really stunk as a head line. The Bulldogs had already gone ahead of Scoggins so the great Shantz tied it up for them, would have won it without overtime but a Pampa player choked. So it was up to the great Shantz to "give them enough free throws" to pull them through.

In summing it all up, I'm offering a prayer that our Bulldogs can go on fighting life battles and being the gentleman they are in spite of such seemingly heart-breaking defeats as they had to swallow in the debacle of Harvester "farce

Borger Wins To Keep Title Hopes Alive

BORGER, Feb. 9 — The Borger Bulldogs stayed in contention for the Northern District 1-AAAA cage crown here Tuesday night with a 69-58 win over the Amarillo Sandies.

The win left the Bulldogs and Sandies tied for second place in the standings, each with 3-2 records. Pampa leads the race with a 4-1 mark.

Bub Farrell of the Sandies copped scoring honors for the game with 28 points. He was followed closely by Gerald Meyers of Borger who hit for 27 points.

Borger had to overcome a 38-34 halftime deficit for the win. The Bulldogs led 20-12 after the first quarter and then after Amarillo moved ahead at the half, the Bulldogs came back to take the lead at 51-50 after three quarters of play.

knowingly, then the error would have never been corrected and Borger would have lost without an overtime period. But it was strictly unintentional and we're glad we found the error in time.

Wonder if Norman knew that Jake Saxton, sports editor of the Borger News-Herald, had the score 62-61 for Pampa on his scorebook at the end of the regulation time?

Saxton, like us, found his mistake by checking his running account of the game.

I don't believe Norman needs to offer any prayers for Scoggins and Shantz on the decisions they made in the Borger game. If they made any mistakes, they were honest ones.

Norman didn't mention, either, about the Borger player landing a punch on the mouth of a Harvester immediately following last Friday's game.

Well, we don't intend to start a "war" over those two ball games. The chips fell Borger's way in one game and in Pampa's way the other.

As for the dedication ceremony, we can't comment on that since that happened before our time in Pampa.

Norman has us confused on the "clock stunt." We can't see how Pampa could benefit by purposely breaking the clock.

And he certainly doesn't have any gripe coming on the scorebook. If that error was made

Panhandle, Canadian 5s Win Playoffs

Panhandle boys and Canadian girls rounded out the District 1-A tournament field last night with playoff victories.

Panhandle edged White Deer, 42-41, in the Northern Division playoff game for second place in the boys bracket while the Canadian girls easily defeated the Gruver girls, 44-30, at White Deer in the playoff for second place.

Panhandle joins Gruver as the two boys teams from Northern 1-A for the district tournament while Canadian girls Panhandle as the girls representatives.

In the Southern Division, McLean and Clarendon are the boys representatives and McLean and Memphis the girls.

The District 1-A Tournament will be held at White Deer this weekend, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

A bad third quarter cost White Deer boys in last night's playoff. The Bucks held a 24-23 halftime lead but only scored three points in the third period that saw Panhandle go ahead, 34-26.

The Bucks rallied to cut the difference to one point in the final quarter.

Ray Eller with 12 led the Bucks. Greg Sherwood led Panhandle with 22 points.

Owls Win; TCU To Meet SMU

Southern Methodist hopes its Mustangs can do better Wednesday night against Texas Christian than they have in two other meetings this year, and reduce the Southwest Conference basketball lead TCU now holds.

But the Horned Frogs were confident they could turn Wednesday night's game at Dallas into their 13th consecutive triumph over the jinxed Mustangs.

The Rice Owls kept hold of their outside chance of getting at least a portion of the conference title when they defeated the Texas Longhorns 79-70 Tuesday night in Houston. The win was the fourth against three losses in league play for the Owls.

Texas led most of the first half, but Rice rallied to gain a 31-27 edge at halftime, and then moved on to win easily in the second half. Texas' sophomore post man Raymond Downs led the scoring with 30 points, but his showing did no good as six Owls shot in double figures. Rice, with its 4-3 conference record, now is tied with Arkansas for third place while Texas moves back to a last-place tie with A&M at 1-5.

Reapers Down Nixon, 43-40

The Pampa Junior High Reapers recorded a 43-40 victory over Elizabeth Nixon of Amarillo at Harvester Fieldhouse yesterday in a Panhandle Conference game.

It was the seventh win against six losses for the Reapers in conference play.

Ray Stephenson led the Reaper scoring with 13 points. Robert Lankford with 10 and Larry Cruise with eight were the next high Reapers scorers.

The Reapers led at the end of each period, 13-8, 23-24 and 35-32. The Reapers will close out their season Thursday afternoon against Sam Houston in the Reaper Gym.

EGAD, BOYS! KEEP IT UNDER YOUR HATS, BUT I'VE INVENTED AN AIR-CONDITIONED ROCKING CHAIR THAT WILL RIVAL THE CAN OPENER IN POPULAR DEMAND!

I FIGURE THE FIRST YEAR'S SALES WILL RUN ABOUT A BILLION AND A HALF GROSS, THAT IS—HAR-RUMPH!

YOU'RE A GENIUS, MAJOR! REMEMBER THE NIGHT YOU GOT THE IDEA TO LIFT THE SIDEWALK GRATING AND WE FOUND 85 CENTS?

YEAH, AND THAT SLOGAN CONTEST WHEN YOU WON A FINE-YEAR SUPPLY OF AXLE GREASE?

THEY DON'T GRASP HOW BIG THIS IS—

Steve Canyon

THERE IS A CHANGE IN THE DEPARTURE TIME FOR GREAT ORLEANS AIRLINES FLIGHT 404 WESTBOUND. THE AIRCRAFT WILL BE READY FOR BOARDING AT 1930.

AND SO WE GO FROM THE INKY NIGHT TO THE INKY COFFEE POT...

THIS TAKES, MAAM?

NO.

DON'T LOOK NOW, BOB REDWOOD, BUT THE MAN SITTING NEXT TO YOU USED TO KNOW YOU IN CHINA!

Vic Flint

MONTY, I DON'T THINK I'VE EVER SEEN YOU SO EXUBERANT!

AND WHY NOT, JEAN? YOU SIPPED THROUGH CURTAINS WITH DR. BORN'S DOG—I'M SURE CELEPED IN GETTING A MAN TO TAKE CARE OF VIC FLINT!

WHAT AM I TO DO, MR. FLINT? DR. BORN, SO LONG AS MONTY MONTGOMERY THINKS THERE'S A CHANCE YOU'LL PERFORM PLASTIC SURGERY ON HIM, THE DOG IS SAFE!

YOU'RE SURE THAT'S FLINT SITTING IN DR. BORN'S OFFICE?

Little Doc

HIYA MISS NEWTON, IS THE DENTIST IN?

YOU'RE LATE FOR YOUR APPOINTMENT.

HE'S OUT JUST NOW!

THANK YOU.

WHEN WILL HE BE OUT AGAIN?

Wash Tubbs

I'LL TAKE THAT GUN, PALL! CAN'T BE IN MY CAR, EASY!

HURRY, I'LL LET YOU HOLD US HERE WHILE THE EVIDENCE GETS CLEAR AWAY!

THEY CAN'T KNOW WE TRACED TEA THRU GROTOL AND MAY TRY TO GET THE BABIES TO HIM AT ONCE!

YES—HEAD FOR THE AIRPORT, THERE'S A FLIGHT TO NEW YORK SOON, AND I FIGURE MRS. TOOLEY WILL BE ON IT.

BUT SHE'S NOT AT THE AIRPORT...

NOBODY GOT ON THE PLANE WITH BABIES!

BUT ONE OF 'EM HAD PROMISED TO ANSWER DEN TOMORROW MORNIN' AND TOOLEY HAD A ROUND-TRIP PLANE TICKET—HE'S NEVER LOSTER!

Boots

WHAT A SWEET CHILD! NO WONDER WILLIAM HAS FALLEN IN LOVE WITH HER! BUT, OH, DEAR!

YOUR—YOUR MAJESTY, WOULD YOU LIKE A SODA OR—?

JUST SOME TEA, IF I MAY, PLEASE!

HAVE YOU SEEN—DOES HE—WILLIAM KNOW THAT YOU'RE HERE?

NO, MY DEAR, AND I MUST ASK YOU NOT TO TELL HIM! THAT SHALL BE OUR SECRET, YES?

Mickey Finn

IT'S "INCOME TAX" IN FRONT BY THREE LENGTHS AS THEY GO PAST THE STANDS—"CORNNY JOKE" IS SECOND—"MUSCLE BOUND" THIRD—"GRAPEFRUIT" IS FOURTH.

"SHADY LADY" IS FIFTH—"SAPRAGUS" IS SIXTH—"GERTIE'S GIRL" SEVENTH—AND "INCOME TAX" IS STILL LEADING AS THEY ROUND THE FIRST TURN!

HE DIDN'T MENTION HEADACHE!

NO! I WONDER WHY?

Freckles

THEY SAY BARBARA'S REAL GONE ON THAT NEW MATH TEACHER!

HE'S TERRIBLY HANDSOME!

I WONDER IF HE HAS ANY GIRL FRIENDS?

DARLING! I HOPE I DON'T KEEP YOU WAITING!

BARBARA, HAVE YOU MET MY WIFE?

MEN! DECEITFUL MEN!!!

Susie Q. Smith

LET ME HANDLE THIS, MOTHER!

NO BATH!

WELL! FINISHED SO SOON???

GOODNESS, SUSIE! HOW DID YOU DO IT?

GET IN THAT TUB, CLEO, AND NO MORE FUSS!

Ike Asks U.S. Aid To Build Schools

By JOHN A. GOLDSMITH
WASHINGTON, Feb. 9—UP—President Eisenhower asked Congress Tuesday to authorize a federal outlay of $1,120,000,000 over the next three years to help states and local communities build $7 billion worth of new schools.

In a special message to Congress, he said such an "emergency program" is urgently needed to relieve "serious overcrowding" of classrooms. He said the goal is to wipe out an estimated "deficit" of 340,000 classrooms and "give our school children as quickly as possible the classrooms they must have."

Phone Probe To Resume

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9—UP—Hearings were to resume Tuesday on the proposed sale of the Tomball Telephone Co. at Tomball, Tex., to the Southwest Telephone Co.

Monday Bradford Ross, attorney for the United States Independent Telephone Association, told the Federal Communications Commission the proposed sale price is "contrary to the public interest." Ross said, "the payment of an excessive purchase price places an undue and improper burden of cost upon the subscribers of any acquiring telephone company."

The independent association he represents and the Texas Telephone Association of Austin, Tex., representing national and Texas independent telephone companies, are opposing Southwest's application to buy Tomball's 805-telephone system for $200,000. Tomball is 25 miles from Houston.

Judiciary OKs Pay Raise Bill

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9—UP—The House Judiciary committee Tuesday approved a bill to raise the pay of senators and representatives from $12,500 to $22,500 a year.

A similar measure is pending in the Senate. The Senate bill would abolish the present $2,500 a year taxable expense account which members receive in addition to salary. The House bill includes raises of $7,500 a year for federal court judges and $10,000 for Supreme Court justices. The same provisions are also in the Senate version.

Ad Plan Used Since 1901, Court Told

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 9—UP—A defense witness in the anti-trust trial of the Kansas City Star testified Tuesday that the newspaper had maintained a combination rate for classified ads since 1901.

The rate applies, said Raymond D. Barrows, secretary of the Star company, to the Morning Times and the Evening Star. Co-defendant with the Star is its advertising director, Emil A. Sees. Barrows said more than 170 newspapers in the nation have combination rates, both on classified ads and national advertising. The witness used numerous charts in his testimony as the defense entered its second day. Barrows said there were about 2,000 classified ads daily on week days and 7,000 on Sundays. He testified it required about 40 steps to get a want ad into the paper and used charts to enumerate them for the jury.

Preacher Sets Sermon Mark

WEST RICHLAND, Wash., Feb. 9—UP—Preacher Clinton Lacy claimed a new record for the longest sermon ever delivered Monday after 48 hours and 18 minutes of preaching and said he would "try again" should anyone better his mark.

The 58-year-old dean of the visual Bible training center entered the pulpit at 12:01 a.m. (pst) Sunday and concluded his sermon at 12:19 a.m. (pst) Tuesday. Observers said he was in "good shape" despite his marathon sermon.

During that time he completed the Old Testament, covered most of New Testament, sang hymns and lectured on the Holy Land while sipping lemon juice at six-hour intervals. "I estimate I delivered from 160,000 to 170,000 words during the course of the sermon," Lacy said. "If anyone had sat through the entire sermon they would have heard as much gospel as they'd get in a year at church."

Lacy had originally intended to stop at the 48 hour mark. He delivered a portion of the sermon during a dust storm which stung his eyes and throat and at one time was forced to preach by candle light. "Straight lemon juice kept me going," said Lacy. His audience varied from 1 to 60 persons. One member of his congregation sat up all Sunday night listening to the preacher.

Chiang Condemns UN
TAIPEI, Feb. 9—UP—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek condemned the United Nations Monday for "encouraging aggression" by inviting the Chinese Reds to cease-fire talks. Chiang addressed high Nationalist officials who were gathered in his office for a memorial service. He reiterated his policy of defending Formosa and recovering the mainland.

Beef Town Exports Itself Out Of Meat

CHIHUAHUA, Mex., Feb. 9—UP—Butchers complained Wednesday that this beef raising capital of Mexico has exported itself out of meat and the citizens are becoming vegetarians.

Chihuahua state exported 50,000 head of cattle to the United States since the first of the year and butchers, asking officials to limit exports, said the city has only one-fourth the necessary beef for local needs.

US Crude Oil At New High

TULSA, Feb. 9—UP—United States crude oil production this week was the highest in many months, the Oil and Gas Journal reported Tuesday.

Output averaged 6,739,100 barrels daily, a gain of 49,825 barrels over the previous week.

Oklahoma's increase of 15,500 barrels was the biggest jump. Other significant rises were Texas 11,475 barrels, Louisiana 11,359, Illinois 5,200 and New Mexico 4,575.

California was down 1,300 barrels, Kansas 2,200. Production remained stable in the eastern area and Florida.

It's Here! AUTOMATIC WASHING AT A NEW LOW PRICE!

The New KELVINATOR AUTOMATIC WASHER ONLY $199⁹⁵

With Your Old Washer $10 Down $2.25 a Week

Here's the biggest washer buy of the year... this new Kelvinator Washer is truly automatic at a price little higher than that of old-style wringer washers. Yes, it's a budget-priced beauty that will take the drudgery out of washday... give new leisure in laundering. See it today.

WASHES BETTER BECAUSE OF BETTER WASHING FEATURES

SHAMPOO WASHING. It's just like the method you use when you wash your children's hair... you wet their hair, add shampoo and work up a rich, creamy lather that quickly and gently loosens all dirt.

CENTRIFRIG AGITATION. The agitator moves in a continuous clockwise circle to all parts of the tub, lifting and turning clothes with gentle action similar to hand washing, forcing the loosened dirt from the fabrics. Loads stay self-balancing.

OVERFLOW DRAINING. Soap suds, dirt and lint are flushed away over top of clothes... not down through them. Then splashing rinses carries away remaining particles and your wash is spin-dried drip-free.

GETS DIRTY CLOTHES REALLY CLEAN YET IT'S SAFE FOR FINEST UNDERTHINGS!

It's time to get Kelvinator
