Building Cave-In Kills 3, Hurts 10

By LEE BOND
DALLAS — UP — Rescue workers freed a painfully injured man Thursday from the rubble of a collapsed building where three persons had been killed and 10 others injured.

The workers began searching for more bodies after pulling Lloyd Cornett from a spot where he had been trapped for more than six hours.

The three-story limestone building collapsed with a roar late Wednesday after the rush of traffic had subsided.

It crumbled into a bar and grill and a music store and spewed chunks of debris across the street, breaking overhead power lines.

The building was located in downtown Dallas on Elm Street, one of the city's three main thoroughfares.

Three persons in the bar and grill were killed. Eight others, including Cornett, were brought out alive but two were injured critically and doctors said one was not expected to live.

Two firemen were injured and Charles N. Morris, 33, a musician who worked at the music store but was away when it fell in, tripped over a police rope on his way back and broke his collarbone.

Only the owner and a customer were in the music store. Neither was seriously hurt.

But more than 200 firemen and volunteer rescue workers dug for six hours to free Cornett.

He was pinned by his left leg next to a juke box, which he said saved his life, in the bar and grill. Dr. Bernard Weiner, of the Parkland hospital staff, risked his life to administer sedatives to the trapped man.

Cornett was freed at 12:30 a.m. (cont.) He was not critically hurt, a spokesman for Parkland hospital said, but his leg was painfully injured.

Alvis Bailey Simmons, 40; William E. Kirby, 42; and Luther Gonzalez, 32, were dead on arrival at the hospital. Fireman Charles E. Hunt, after being overcome by leaking gas, heroically returned to the scene to bring out the first body.

Release of the 200,000 doses was announced late Wednesday. They are shots made by Pitman-Moore and Wyeth Laboratories. They were approved by the government once before but later held up for rechecking.

First Release in Two Weeks
The government action marked the first release of any vaccine in more than two weeks. It also signaled the first step toward full resumption of the inoculation program.

"This action," the health service said, "will permit completion of first vaccinations in a number of where the 200,000 shots are. But inoculation programs were interrupted from this point forward, vaccine supplies will become progressively available."

The service said it doesn't know communities in which immunization-Pitman-Moore said its vaccine has been shipped to Kentucky, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska and the two Dakotas.

A small amount of the total is Wyeth vaccine which has been distributed in the East.

Proclaiming Safety
In releasing the Pitman-Moore and Wyeth vaccine, the health service proclaimed the safety of all shots made by the two firms which already have been used in inoculations. By implication, it appeared to absolve the vaccine of any blame for 11 cases of polio which developed among children after they received Wyeth shots and two cases which followed Pitman-Moore shots.

The service said that one or two lots of unused vaccine — believed to be Wyeth — are being held up for further testing under the stiff new federal safety standards adopted last week. Some of this vaccine is being held in New Jersey.

Showers Hit Wide Area, Twister Seen

Thunder shower activity in the Top of Texas yesterday brought moderate to heavy rains in the area and one tornado was sighted in the vicinity of Darrouzett, an area which received 6 inches of rain during the evening.

The tornado was sighted about six or seven miles north of Darrouzett at 4:10 p.m. but didn't touch the ground. The area just north of Darrouzett received 6 inches of rain but only .88 fell in town, according to Mrs. Altmiller in Darrouzett.

Pampa fared somewhat lighter, receiving only .04 of an inch.

The forecast for Pampa and vicinity today is more thundershowers in the afternoon with an expected high of 80 degrees.

The low in Pampa last night was 61 degrees.

Phone lines were out in the Shamrock area as a result of heavy thundershowers yesterday and rain measurements were not available this morning.

Lefors received .25 of an inch and Perryton reported .02 of an inch at station KEYE and .06 in town.

McLean got .65 of an inch during heavy down pours in that area.

Panhandle got a trace of moisture and 20 of an inch was reported at Groesbeck.

Rains also fell at Canadian, giving the whole area a sampling for the day.

Tornadoes Sighted In Panhandle, None Hit

By UNITED PRESS
Severe thunderstorms lashed portions of three states in the Southwest Wednesday night and early Thursday and cloudbursts sent water up to seven inches gushing through the streets of some towns.

Tornado reports were widespread. Funnels were seen in the upper Texas Panhandle, and in Oklahoma. A twister unroofed barns near Hollis, Okla., but bounced over the town itself without causing any injuries.

Forecasters said there may be some showers in Texas Thursday, mainly in West Texas and North Central Texas. They said there should be no repetition of the violent weather of Wednesday night.

Ackerly, Tex., 20 miles south of Lamesa, was whipped by a thunderstorm. Three inches of rain fell in a space of an hour. Sheriff Henry Mayfield reported water "running like a river in the streets."

Twister Heads North
Don Smith, of radio station KEYE at Perryton in the top of the Texas Panhandle, said a twister was seen to pass over Canadian and Darrouzett, Tex., heading north.

Water ran over 300 yards of State Highway 2, he said. Mayfield said he had to wade waist deep to investigate an accident.

The heavy rain was followed by pounding hail. Mayfield reported. Farmers in the area have planted twice this year, he said, and after last night probably will have to do so again.

High wind and hail lashed Memphis, Tex., blowing limbs off trees. Burt McClelland, spokesman for the Memphis Democrat, reported a seven-inch rainfall near Hedley, 12 miles northwest of Memphis.

Two Bridges Washed Out
McClelland said two bridges were washed out on State Highway 256. Water was over the highway near Lakeview, west of Memphis. Woodrow Mullins, of Lakeview, had to abandon his house by boat.

The area around Lakeview "looked like a rice paddy," McClelland said. Memphis reported 1.73 inches of rain. Childress 1.10, Wellington 1.04, Midland .97, Lubbock .12 and Salt Flat a trace.

Hail the size of golf balls fell at Leslie, 17 miles west of Memphis.

Greenburg, Kan., reported a five-inch rain laced with hail flooded portions of the town. Rattlesnake Creek, which runs through the town, was full but not overflowing.

Officials said the Communist-run Berlin railway system Wednesday cut direct telephone cables between railway stations in West Berlin and those in the Soviet sector.

Western officials said the Communist action endangered city elevated railway traffic as well as inter-railway traffic to the west, since the latter trains use the elevated railway system to enter and leave the city.

Former Pampan Writes Alaska Paper Quotes Pampa News

An Alaska woman, who was reared in Pampa, has written The Pampa Daily News that she was afraid "the town isn't there anymore."

Mrs. J. L. Martensen, of Ketchikan, Alaska, the former Miss Mary Bell, enclosed a clipping from The Petersburg (Alaska) Press in which part of a Pampa Daily News editorial opposing socialism was quoted.

Mrs. Martensen explains that she and her husband lived in Petersburg for four years before moving to Ketchikan three years ago and "every once in a while there would be an item from Pampa."

"It was like seeing an old friend to me," she goes on, as I grew up in Pampa, but left there in 1942, and have never been back.

"Since I have met only one other person from Pampa whom I know in all these years," Mrs. Martensen continues, "I've felt that maybe the town isn't there anymore."

"'Tis nice to see such good quotations appear in our paper away here for proof that Pampa is known," she states.

The former Pampan writes that Edward and Betty Mae Clemons, publishers of the weekly newspaper in Petersburg, "have published quotations from your paper quite frequently, especially just recently."

"Best wishes for your continued success," Mrs. Martensen concludes. "I shall be looking forward to more of the quotes and articles from my old hometown."

Slain Girl Victim Of Sex Fiend

KALAMAZOO, Mich. — UP — A state pathologist who conducted an autopsy on the body of Jeanie Singleton said Thursday the crippled little girl died at the hands of a "sadiistic sex fiend."

"The brutality of the attack showed it was the work of a sadiistic sex fiend who obtained sensual pleasure not only from the sexual attack but from dominating and hurting his victim," said Dr. Charles Black.

The eight-year-old girl's mutilated body was found late Wednesday about 15 miles north of her home. She had been sought since she vanished while walking home from school last May 23.

Police said there was a chance Jeanie had been raped and slain by the same person responsible for the sex-slaying of Barbara Gaca in Detroit. The seven-year-old Detroit girl's body was found in an Oakland county dump last March about a week after she disappeared while walking to school.

Black, who conducted an autopsy Wednesday night, released his report in Lansing Thursday. He said he also had consulted the doctor who had performed a post-mortem on the Gaca girl and found "several similarities" in the two cases.

"Both girls were molested by a sex fiend," Black said. "Both had been strangled. However, the Gaca girl had been stabbed while Jeanie was not."

Detroit police who investigated the Gaca case already were in Kalamazoo to study reports in the Singleton case.

Good Company For Your VACATION

Fliers, Families Reunited Today

By ROBERT C. MILLER
HONOLULU — UP — Four American airmen freed from the isolation of Chinese Communist prison camps looked forward with almost unbearable excitement to a long awaited reunion Thursday with their families.

The fliers will see their families for the first time in more than two years at 8 a.m. (12 noon est) when a gleaming white and silver plane bearing nine relatives from the United States sets down at Hickam Field.

The Air Force flew the nine relatives to Hawaii for a five-day reunion with the freed airmen. Starting from Washington Wednesday, the plane made stops at Philadelphia and Omaha to pick them up and another stop at Travis Air Force Base, Calif., near San Francisco early Thursday for refueling. The trip cost the relatives nothing.

Get New Uniforms
Meanwhile, the four grinning airmen were outfitted in brand new uniforms to look their very best when they are reunited with their wives, parents and brothers. Doctors had already pronounced them in top physical condition.

The Chinese Communists ordered them released Tuesday after finding them guilty of flying over China during the Korean war. They arrived here Wednesday after a flight from Hong Kong.

The seven-minute welcome they received at Hickam was noisy and demonstrative — but informal. After they arrived, they were given ham and eggs for breakfast, then went through a physical examination which they passed with flying colors.

Rushed Through Processing
During the rest of the day, they were rushed through processing routines, had lunch and rested. Late in the day, they held a press conference. Wednesday night, they finally had a chance to relax in their Hickam Field quarters.

Ford, UAW In Secret Huddle

DETROIT — UP — Ford and CIO Auto Workers negotiators met in secret Thursday in the first of four days of intensive negotiations aimed at working out a new agreement before next Monday.

Union President Walter Reuther warned the company a new contract would have to be worked out before then or his 140,500 Ford workers would strike.

Ford workers at Metuchen, N.J., added emphasis to Reuther's warning by staging a wildcat walkout early Thursday.

Some 30 maintenance men at the Mercury assembly plant at Metuchen walked out at 4 a.m. and they were followed by 1,900 workers who reported for work on the day shift to find the plant circled by pickets.

Almost 2,000 Ford employees in two Chicago plants staged a similar walkout Wednesday but returned to work on their regular schedule Thursday morning.

The Chicago employees returned to work after Reuther notified them that the strike deadline had been extended four days.

In granting the extension, Reuther warned the company there would be no further delays.

Adlai Blasts Ike For Polio Vaccine Plan

NEW YORK — UP — Adlai E. Stevenson attacked the Eisenhower administration Thursday for its handling of the polio vaccination program and for what he termed its failure to provide adequate funds for medical research.

In a speech prepared for delivery at a hospital dedication, Stevenson also outlined "important points" for developing a national health program aided by federal funds.

Stevenson said he "had not thought to enter the vaccine controversy" but added that "if anything were predictable in our uncertain world, it was the immense and imperative demand" that was bound to follow discovery of a serum to check the spread of polio.

"I don't think it required any special clairvoyance to estimate the demand for the vaccine, the supply and the hazards of production and distribution, or to foresee, with the happiness and lives of our children involved, that there was a situation above all others that called for foresight and meticulous planning and preparation," he said.

Reds Tightening Berlin Blockade

BERLIN — UP — West Berlin officials charged Thursday that eastern Communists have tightened their blockade and endangered lives by cutting elevated train telephone lines linking the city's east and west zones.

Officials said the Communist-run Berlin railway system Wednesday cut direct telephone cables between railway stations in West Berlin and those in the Soviet sector.

Western officials said the Communist action endangered city elevated railway traffic as well as inter-railway traffic to the west, since the latter trains use the elevated railway system to enter and leave the city.

Big Crowd Attends Cook School Here

The Pampa Daily News' fifth annual all-electric cooking school drew to a close today before a near-capacity audience in the Pampa Junior High School Auditorium.

Miss Fern Brannen and assistant Mrs. Jimmie L. Brown, home economists from the Southwestern Public Service in Amarillo, were well received by an enthusiastic public in both parts of the two day show.

An oven meal, with standing rib roast, baked green beans, frozen peach pie, potatoes and mushroom sauce, buttered dinner rolls, and coffee, was Miss Brannen's first demonstration today. Other parts of the show demonstrated surface cooking, quick spaghetti in the deep well cooker, prepared foods from a freezer, and broiled teriyakis.

Mrs. Jimmie Brown presented a brief skit demonstrating gourmet recipes, acting the part of "Pierre," the French Chef of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. Miss Brannen discussed different parts of electric ranges and how to use them most efficiently, as well as proper methods of using washers and dryers.

The Gray County Commissioners Court yesterday turned over the Celanese road to the Texas Highway Department and discussed a policy for the commission's employees aged 65 and older.

It was 11 1/2 miles of roadway east of the Celanese plant that the commissioners court signed a release for. It has been a county road.

The age policy that commissioners talked about would apply only to persons employed by each of the county's four commissioners. It would not concern anyone employed in the Courthouse.

In other action, the commissioners court approved the East Fraser Addition which the City of Pampa had already approved the plat for and annexed to the city.

MAKES ICE CREAM—Mrs. W. B. Neel, 319 S. Cuyler, is shown cranking up a freezer of ice cream, a good dish for company of the family—especially at this time of year. Easy to make, Mrs. Neel says it can be prepared in less than 30 minutes. Mrs. Neel has been cooking since she had to stand on a chair to reach the table. (News photo)

This Is My Dish

Mrs. W. B. Neel Has Recipe For Ice Cream

By JANE KADINGO
Pampa News Women's Editor

Mrs. W. B. Neel, 319 S. Cuyler has a recipe for ice cream, a good dessert or snack for the family or company. "And, she says it takes less than 30 minutes to make it. When there is a party, Mrs. Neel is usually called upon to make the ice cream.

Pampans for 14 years, the family is composed of Mrs. Neel, Mr. Neel, and their daughter, Jo Ann. Mrs. Neel says she has been cooking since she was a child—since she had to stand on a chair to do it.

"I've always had a knack for cooking, and I've always like to do it," she explained.

The Neels are in the grocery business here for 14 years, which they recently gave up. They are now in the Ideal Lawnmower business. Mr. Neel is in his third term as a city commissioner. Both are native Texans, coming to Pampa from Corsicana.

In addition to her household duties, Mrs. Neel is active in the Harrah Methodist Church. She is a member of the Women's Society of Christian Service and the Fidelis Club, for which he is secretary-treasurer.

Her hobbies, other than cooking, include crocheting and sewing. Although she says she crochets the most, she makes a lot of her own clothes and those of her daughter.

Mrs. Neel gave her recipe for vanilla ice cream, which she says can be adapted for other flavors, too, such as strawberry, chocolate or banana.

VANILLA ICE CREAM
2 1/2 cups sugar
3 pkgs. Frosted ice cream mix
9 eggs
1 pint half and half
1 tsp. vanilla
1/2 gallon milk (approximately)
Put sugar in bowl of electric mixer. Mix in ice cream mix. Break in 9 eggs. Beat mixture at medium speed. Add half and half and vanilla. Pour into ice cream freezer and add the milk (about 1/2 gallon). Mrs. Neel says she mixes the milk and the mixture a little with the dasher and then proceeds to crank the freezer until ice cream is done. Makes 1 gallon.

Hot Pecan Cake

Oven toasted pecans and brown sugar make a crunchy top for this spicy cake. You'll want to serve wedges of Topsy Turvy Hot Pecan Cake as soon as it comes from the oven.

INGREDIENTS:
1 tablespoon softened butter or margarine
1/3 cup pecan halves
1-3 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
2-3 cup uncooked white rice
1-3 cup water
1/2 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup beet or cane sugar
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup double-cake baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons allspice
1-2 cup milk
1 egg

METHOD: Spread the softened butter or margarine evenly over the bottom and sides of a greased 10" pie pan or other pan holding 8 cups of liquid. Press the pecan halves, round side down, into the butter or margarine on the bottom of the pan. Put the brown sugar evenly over the pecans.

Put the rice, water and salt in a 2-quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover and leave over this low heat 14 minutes. Remove from heat, but leave lid on 10 minutes.

Sift together the flour, sugar, baking powder, the 1/2 teaspoon of salt and the allspice. Slowly blend in the milk. Add the egg and mix well. Stir in the rice. Pour mixture over the brown sugar and pecans. Place in a preheated 350 degree F. oven and bake 45 minutes or until a knife inserted in the center comes out clean. Place a serving plate over the pan and invert. Allow to stand about 5 minutes before removing plate. Cut the pecan cake into wedges and serve hot or warm, with a sauce or whipped cream, as desired. This recipe makes 8 to 9 servings.

Simple, Elegant Cherry Dessert

Cherries in wine dessert is about the simplest-to-prepare dessert on the books, yet it's elegant enough to serve at the most formal of dinner parties.

This is a gelatin dessert made with either regular cherry or black cherry flavored gelatin. The elegance comes in with large dark sweet cherries and port wine.

For the finishing beauty touch there's a smooth pale, pale yellow custard sauce to pour over the molds. This is made quickly with vanilla instant pudding mix, diluted evaporated milk and spices.

Cherries in Wine Dessert
1 8-ounce can pitted dark sweet cherries

1 package cherry or black cherry flavored gelatin
1 cup boiling water
Cherry juice plus port wine to make 1 cup

Drain cherries thoroughly, saving juice. Place gelatin in medium size mixing bowl. Add boiling water and stir until dissolved. Stir in the juice and wine mixture. Chill to the consistency of unbeaten egg whites. Meanwhile cut cherries into halves. Fold into the gelatin mixture and pour into individual molds. Chill until set, about 2 hours. When ready to serve, unmold and serve with Quick Cinnamon Custard Sauce. Makes 5 to 6 individual molds.

Quick Cinnamon Custard Sauce
1 cup evaporated milk
1 cup cold water
1 package vanilla instant pudding mix
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon

Put milk and water into medium size mixing bowl. Empty package of pudding mix into milk and water mixture. Beat slowly with a rotary beater until well blended, about 1 minute. Stir in grated orange rind and cinnamon. Chill and serve with Cherries in Wine Dessert. Makes 2 cups.

Note: If desired, 1/2 teaspoon cloves may be substituted for the cinnamon.

A Cake of Company Elegance

Apple Sauce Filled Spice Cake

YOU'LL HAVE FUN making this cake. It turns out high and prideful, rich and handsome—a cake of company elegance. Even if you never baked a cake before in your life, you can make this one and have it a delight to serve . . . to guests any time . . . to the family whenever the mood strikes you.

Item one—the spice cake itself is a packaged cake-mix. No problem there. Item two—that deep and luscious filling is canned apple sauce which you can buy in any grocery store. The apple sauce lends a delicate moistness and keeping quality to the cake as well as that good apple flavor. Item three—the frosting is a simple brown sugar froth, knifed on in thick swirls. Result—a real stand-up beauty of a cake that's downright delectable eating.

APPLE SAUCE FILLED SPICE CAKE

1 pkg. spice cake mix
1 cup canned apple sauce
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind

1 tablespoon lemon juice

2 Brown Sugar Frosting

Bake spice cake according to directions on package. Cool layers. Combine apple sauce, lemon rind and juice. Soften cornstarch in a little cold water; add to apple sauce. Cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Cool; spread between layers. Frost top and sides of cake with frosting.

BROWN SUGAR FROSTING

1 1/2 cups firmly packed brown sugar
1/2 cup water
2 egg whites
Few grains salt
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Boil together sugar and water to 240° F. (or when small quantity dropped in cold water forms semi-firm ball). Beat egg whites stiff; gradually add syrup, beating constantly, until frosting holds shape. Add salt and vanilla extract.

Variety Of Sandwiches May Be Made For Those Who Take Lunch To Work

The traditional sign of the working man has been overalls and a well packed lunchbox. Today, however, you'll discover that the habit of taking lunch to work has been copied by some of the smartest gals in town.

It's true, and for many a good reason: To avoid wasting precious time waiting in line for a table or eating in nervous haste at a counter. Often the food is not liked or expensive or both. So there's money to be saved, and time. Once you try it you'll think it's a great idea . . . and so will your co-workers who share a pleasant restful lunch with you.

Part of the bug-a-boo of taking your lunch has been the thought that it took a great deal of trouble to devise menus ahead of time, and to prepare the meal itself. Actually, it's quite simple when you get right down to it. And today, with the advent of the freezer (or you can use the freezing tray compartment of your refrigerator) why not make your sandwiches ahead of time, packing them right from the freezer into your lunchbox? They'll thaw in 3 to 3 1/2 hours, just in time for lunch.

Here are some suggestions to start you off. Cold cuts make good sandwiches and so do many leftovers. Be sure to keep your refrigerator well supplied with a variety of tasty sausage products as well as greens, raw and cooked vegetables and plenty of non-squashy fruits.

For the thermos consider soups, homemade or from cans. Do try to include a cut-up skinless frankfurter for a nutrition extra. Or occasionally put a whole skinless frank into a compartment warm soup to be removed at lunch time and eaten as is or in a sandwich.

To make the best sandwiches you ever ate . . . keep in mind these few simple facts: The bread: Take the trouble to shop for just the right thickness and type and remember rolls once in a while . . . they taste crisper and good. After all, bread is two-thirds of your sandwich so it is worth the effort to find just the right kind. The filling: Be generous; nothing is worse than a skimpy excuse for a sandwich. When using sliced meats such as bologna, salami or cervelat, use several thin slices instead of a single thick one. The result . . . a better tasting, easier eating sandwich.

Remember to season your sandwich just right and add an attractive garnish . . . at lunch time it looks so appetizing. Often these can be nutritious too . . . ripe olives, pickle relish, cole slaw, cheese on toothpicks, radishes, stuffed celery, canned cranberry jelly, raw carrot curls, cauliflower-eta, pineapple chunks.

Keep in mind the fact that certain fillings can be prepared ahead of time and stored for future use. Those made with egg, meat, poultry or fish are best made the day they are used.

SPICED JUICES
(This is an excellent party punch.)
Syrup:
1 cup granulated sugar
1 cup water
1 Tablespoon corn syrup
1 Tablespoon whole cloves
2 pieces of 1" long stick cinnamon

Combine water and sugar; stir until dissolved. Add syrup, cloves and cinnamon. Simmer 15 minutes. Strain; cool. (This can be made in advance and stored in a jar with a well-fitting screw top lid.)

JUICES: Add water to one can of frozen concentrated orange juice and to one can frozen concentrate for lemonade according to directions on the cans. Combine 2 cups Lemonade, 2 cups orange juice, 1 can (18-oz.) pineapple juice, and with a small dip of Pineapple sherbet. Makes 14 one-half cup servings.

Remember to season your sandwich just right and add an attractive garnish . . . at lunch time it looks so appetizing. FAMOUS TEXANS' RECIPES

"Fancy Dressing" Bows to Skill In Senator's Favorite Selection

Daniel

Fort Worth— "As all good cooks know, beef does not need camouflage," says United States Senator Price Daniel. "But all the skill of good cooking should be brought to bear on retaining its good flavor and natural juices."

"And Mrs. Daniel is one of the best cooks in Texas," he tactfully maintains.

Roast beef is very popular in the Daniel home for family meals and buffet suppers, and a special favorite of the Senator's and his four little Daniels.

The family recipe for roast beef with "locked-in flavor" was provided the Texas Beef Council by Mrs. Daniel, a resident of Liberty, Texas. It will be included in the educational council's recipe book, now in compilation.

Care in selection of the roast is an important factor also, Mrs. Daniel says. She recommends the tender mutton, loin tip, or rib roast for best results.

Fresh air and moderate sun are good for the hair. When the weather is temperate, make a point of going out with your head uncovered.

Never apply ice directly to your skin. Wrap ice in a towel or you may break tiny blood vessels under the skin surface.

If the paint now on your walls is peeling or loose, scrape the peels off with a putty knife, otherwise the new paint will flake off in a short time.

Now is an especially good time to try Mrs. Daniel's recipe, according to the Texas Beef Council, because cattle that have been fed on corn and other grain during the winter start to market in large numbers during March. Characteristics of the young, carefully fed beef cattle are juiciness, tenderness and flavor.

For six generous servings, select a five to six pound beef roast, rub it with salt and pepper, and slit it in eight places. Quarter two cloves of garlic and insert them in the slits.

Dredge the roast in flour and wrap it in foil, air tight to prevent shrinkage and insure that the natural juices stay inside.

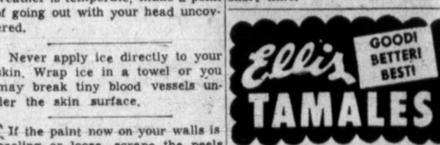

Roast the beef in a constant 325° oven until the desired degree of doneness is reached.

"We like ours well done," Mrs. Daniel says, "so I cook it 30 minutes per pound." However, rare roast beef requires only 18 to 20 minutes per pound and medium doneness can be obtained by roasting it 22 to 25 minutes per pound.

"For added crispness which my family likes, I remove the foil and brown the roast 30 minutes before serving," she concludes.

Holding Donkey In His Lap All Part Of Reporter's Job

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON — UP — When I went to work for the United Press many, many years back there was nothing in the application that said I was honor-bound to hold a jackass on my lap in a taxicab.

Gib volunteered to get a junior grade donkey, for free for the National Press Club family picnic which will come off here Sunday. Not only that, he said he would furnish a tiny Mexican, hand-tooled saddle for same. Something his foreman at Dead Horse Ranch in New Mexico makes when he isn't handling the Sandefor herd.

Ed Nash Resigns News Post

Ed Nash, a Pampa Daily News reporter for the last three years, has resigned from The News staff. Saturday will be his last day.

Sandifer called his old pal Dr. F. F. Schmidt in Douglas, Ariz., who is known around the circle as "Jackass King of America." Schmidt agreed to send the animal.

"Some of our members are sensitive," Gib quoted Mrs. Smith. Anyway, we pulled up in front the express office and Gib started to fiddle with back end of the cab. My job was to run down a flight of steps and fetch up the reluctant jackass, which not only did not like steps—it didn't want to walk.

So, 90 pounds had to be lugged. No matter that I outweighed the little fellow more than 100 lbs.

Gib said he thought it would be fine to put Press Club Jr.'s crib in the back. Gib also said he would get in front with the driver and that I could cuddle the donkey in the back seat.

During his three years on The News editorial staff, the departing reporter covered all offices in the City Hall and Courthouse. In general, he covered the police and lower-court beat his first year in Pampa and the political scene and higher courts the last two years.

Beginning last October, he wrote a weekly Tuesday column, "Gnashings," and — like other News reporters — wrote a regular Sunday feature story. He has also been The News oil editor.

That's what happened. Press Club Jr. turned out to be a wiggly little burro. All the way back from the express office it squirmed and otherwise acted up. As of now, P.C. Jr. is in his own little corral in the lobby on the 13th floor of the National Press Building, possibly looking back in memory to the lovely desert and wishing for sand—all the while learning something, reluctantly, about the ways of big city life.

Other newspaper jobs he had were copy boy for The San Francisco Chronicle and columnist for The Yale Daily News. He was graduated from Yale in February, 1951, following four years of college and two years of service with the U.S. Navy.

Nash is 27 and has lived with Mr. and Mrs. Leon Camp, 712 W. Francis, the entire time he has been in Pampa.

Fantasy Background

Sometime after the turn of the century a particular type of literature became increasingly evident. It was not altogether new. Occasionally in nearly every century since literature began, stories of this type had put in an appearance.

But the twentieth century has seen their multiplication until they have become a dominant factor in much of current reading. We are talking about science fiction. The tales of Jonathan Swift, Daniel Defoe and Jules Verne have been multiplied by the efforts of H. G. Wells, A. Merritt, Edgar Rice Burroughs, Philip Wylie, and a host of others. There is apparently to be no end to the product.

Fantastic adventures in unbelievable lands at the center of the earth, on strange forgotten plateaus or on other planets, are now on every magazine rack. Time machines, space ships, computers and death rays are crowding out yesterday's adventure equipment, the horse and the six-gun.

With this fictional approach to the future, it is no wonder that many of today's bureaucrats are caught up in the wave of science-worship which has swept the minds of much of our youth.

This is becoming an age of vivid imaginings.

Fervently, a host of otherwise sane and sensible people believe that "anything that science wants to do, is possible." There is so much conjecturing in this direction plus so many startling things that science HAS discovered that it is becoming difficult for many to draw the line between fictional guess work, and logical expectations.

Early science fiction stories dealt with atom bombs and space ships. The atom bomb is now a reality. And the space ship, slow in coming, arrived first in the public mind as the flying saucer.

So much credence is now being given to these speculative discs that new religious cults have sprung up, piloted by quacks who claim to have visited with the occupants of the saucers, little men from strange planets who have a happy faculty of understanding English.

But rocket experimentation continues. And there is sober talk of a platform which would circle the earth on its own orbit to serve as a booster station for daring inter-planet travelers who now gaze hungrily at the moon.

With space ships hurtling through their brains it is small wonder that men like Val Peterson, Federal Defense Administrator, stomp the country urging private citizens to dig bomb shelters in their back yards because the day of atomic warfare is at hand.

H. G. Wells' "War of the Worlds" is about to be enacted by our politicians, who are no better in their judgment than those glib cultists who envisage the deity arriving by means of a "strange oblong cigar-shaped space ship which gives off colored lights."

Before this entire country reacts as did the citizens of the Bronx when Orson Welles landed the Martians in a radio drama, we'd better take a good look at reality and get our feet firmly planted right down here on the ground.

Here are eight points to think upon:

1. Science has done many strange and astounding things. Space travel is probably not far away. Certainly possibilities of "Destination Moon" are improving.

2. The atom bomb and the hydrogen bomb are realities.

3. The world is filled with strange and wonderful things, many of which we do not fully understand.

4. The world is also filled with political, military and economic tensions.

5. But on the other hand, science is not at all certain of many of the things people believe it to be certain of. Science is still a puny infant, toddling on wobbly legs. It is not infallible. There is nothing so passe as yesterday's panacea.

6. The atom bomb and the hydrogen bomb may be realities, but quite conceivably they are not good weapons for combat. The whole purpose of aggressive war is to make some economic or political gain. The use of the atom bomb in warfare makes about as much sense as would the bandit, who, while seeking to rob a bank, dynamites it so effectively that it ends up as a heap of rubble.

There have been other "world destroying" weapons invented before. But they were not used extensively and were ultimately abandoned. Why? Because of any sense of kindness for humanity? Not at all. Merely because they are bad war weapons.

Greek Fire is one illustration. It was predicted that it would burn up the oceans of the world. It conceivably might have been used more effectively and extensively than it was used, except that when the fire swept over the seas it had the distressing lack of foresight of being unable to distinguish between enemy and friendly ships.

The same story is true of poison gas. Why was it not widely used in World War II? Simply because it is a poor weapon. Gassed-out areas which are enemy territory become booby traps for friendly troops.

One of the unspoken truths about warfare is that any effective weapon must be directional in nature. A small atomic warhead fired directionally may be effective. But bombs that can shatter the earth's crust on contact are as great a menace to the bomber as they are to the bombed.

This is the reason why swords had points at only one end and a handle at the other end. And why guns can be pointed in only one direction. Greek fire, poison gas and vast atomic explosions fall into the category of expensive, dangerous and impractical weapons of war.

7. From the standpoint of business and industry there is a bright future for men and women in all nations who will concentrate along free enterprise lines. The people of the world need and want many things. The providing of those things is profitable and satisfying to all parties involved.

8. The tensions admittedly present in this world are, without exception, caused by governments. The politicians' hands are on the throttle and with their minds geared to inter-planetary travel, hyper-psychosomatic tensions and astronomical budgets, it is small wonder that there's a mild form of atom-phobia.

In the end it will be God, not gadgets, that brings us a better world.

A Reactionary Movement

In the last issue I was quoting from Dr. V. Orval Watts' new book "The United Nations: Road to War" under the chapter "Why the United Nations is Reactionary." The last part quoted part of the First Amendment to the Constitution that "Congress shall make no law... abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; etc. . ." Then Dr. Watts goes on to say:

"This definitely and completely forbids men in government to interfere with the freedom of the peaceful individual citizen.

"The American Constitutions are the fact that the individual person is by nature, and of right ought to be, sovereign, because he is by nature — and of right he ought to be — self-governing, and therefore he is responsible for his acts.

"The limited function of government is to exercise only such authority and force as sovereign citizens delegate to the men in government office.

"And, since the individual citizen has no right to interfere with or coerce his fellows, he cannot delegate any such rights of interference or coercion to government officials.

"The individual's rights, from which flow government's functions, are rights only within the realm of moral law; and the nature of this moral law is indicated in the Judeo-Christian tradition by the Ten Commandments and the Golden Rule. The essential and distinctive purpose of the American political Constitutions (federal and state) was to set up a political system in harmony with this moral law that is written into the very nature of man and the universe.

"This American system was to subject every government official and every government agency to moral law as individuals are subject to it. Therefore all restricted governmental action as it provided means for defending individuals against aggression, both legal and illegal political and private.

"In other words, protection of the individual's human rights requires restraints on government as it requires restraints on private persons. It means freedom from government coercion and freedom from private aggression.

"Granted that the rights of Americans have lately been infringed by legislative acts declared constitutional by interpretations which endanger the whole edifice of freedom in these United States. Granted that the Sixteenth Amendment to the federal Constitution, establishing the federal income tax, gave the federal government legal authority and opportunity to make every citizen its subject and slave.

"Nevertheless, the original meaning of freedom and human rights which made this country so different from every other still blazes forth, unmistakably, from every one of the constitutional documents of these United States. This meaning is that freedom is the right to be free from interference, and that the function of government, the only justification for its existence and acts, is to protect the right of peaceful persons to be let alone.

"The United Nations is the expression of the very opposite idea: the idea that government is, and of right ought to be, sovereign, because it cares for the greater good, the good of the whole. In this ancient view, government can supply wisdom and power in the management of all human actions because of its broader view and its coercive might. This it can increase by broadening its scope, and from this flow it can give its people more 'rights' in the form of higher wages, shorter hours, better working conditions, more schooling and more 'social security.'

"With this Old World view of government as a source of superior wisdom and power, the Founders of the UN made it a means for expanding government everywhere — broadening its scope, and enlarging its powers, and centralizing its administration. Under this growth of government power, worldwide, they promised that the people of all the world would enjoy increasing prosperity and peace. And as their prosperity grew, people might also enjoy more of the luxury of freedom as government decided they could afford it and deserved it.

"The UN Goal: More government. This expansion of government is the primary purpose of the UN appears from every one of its documents. They are covenants, proposals, plans and arguments for compelling individuals to accept government's solution of every human problem from bearing children to burying the dead, from organizing labor unions to going to school, from enjoying a vacation to having a tooth pulled. Conventions for abolishing private employment agencies for stopping criticism of foreign governments, for preventing 'mental harm' for controlling agricultural production, allocating raw materials, fixing exchange rates, redistributing the world's wealth — these are a few samples of the agencies' proposals for coercive regulation and control of the minutest detail of individual conduct everywhere in the world.

"These are not proposals for establishing legal civil rights to protect the individual person's God-given human rights. They are not proposals to curb tyrannical uses of police force in human affairs; they are proposals to expand police power.

"They would reduce the whole life of every person on earth — his beliefs, his words, his work and play and livelihood — to subject dependence upon the 'benefits'

GOP And Dems Sparring With Issues For 1956

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Republicans and Democrats on Capitol Hill have already begun to spar over the issues they will hurl against each other in next year's Presidential campaign. Both appear to agree that, barring a war, the battle will be fought over domestic and bread-and-butter differences.

The Democrats will go before the people as the "liberal" Party, although not so insistent upon reform as were F.D.R. and Truman. They must temper their advocacy of New Deal and Fair Deal proposals in order to attract Southern leaders and voters, if possible. However, they will try to depict themselves as the friend of the "little man" and the "downtrodden," although the number of the later group fewer each year.

The GOP's slogan will be "Peace and prosperity under Eisenhower," assuming that conditions then warrant such a battle cry. Of course, if a major conflict should break out in the meantime, their campaign placards will read:

"Keep America's Greatest Soldier in the White House!"

The more conservative Democrats resent the suggestion, but opposition strategists admit that they will seek out the "gimme vote" again. They are making the record for such an appeal at the present session.

They will demand — in fact, will do so in a few weeks — broadening and increasing Social Security play for the feminine vote by urging that payments be made to a wife at 60, if her husband has reached the retirement age of 65.

On taxes, they will revive their proposals for heavy cuts, but with the major portion of reductions going to the small bracketeers. They will cater to the labor and farm population on the basis of efforts to boost their income at the current session, blaming the GOP for failure.

On foreign affairs, the Democrats walk warily, largely because their most distinguished spokesman on Capitol Hill have backed Eisenhower almost invariably. But they will "point with pride" to the fact that the system of collective security was originated by Truman, and merely expanded by Eisenhower.

The current attempt to make capital on the issue of defense cuts of all-powerful government, The countless and multiplying agencies of the UN, working everywhere in the world to carry out these proposals, are the sprouting seeds of the Marxian millennium; the Communist World Commonwealth" (to be continued)

To The Pampa Daily News, Pampa, Texas:

I note with interest that we are to face a very important bond issue in the near future, according to a report in The Pampa Daily News. The issue of a great importance not because of the amount concerned, but rather the fact that we are accepting an obligation that will be handed down to the next generation.

We should not overlook the fact that this issue is for a project similar to many of our state and national projects which so often end in failure, to say nothing of the graft and corruption that so often creeps into tax supported projects.

In considering this issue we should take stock of the fact that we have become a great and strong nation guided by the spirit of free enterprise. A county-operated hospital is in direct conflict with the principles under which we have become the greatest nation in the world. It appears from past experience that every home-loving, tax-paying citizen in our county will lose from this enterprise.

We should keep in mind that a county operated hospital pays no taxes and is a liability as long as it stands. Furthermore it will raise taxes, drive out competition and discourage private industry. Let us not forget that it has been proven time and time again that private enterprise can do a better job than our county can do.

In this case we should not overlook the fact that the Worley Hospital is contemplating adding 35 or 40 rooms to the present building. This will be an asset to our city and to us as individuals. It will help lessen our individual tax burdens.

Let us as good citizens try not to discourage these enterprising men by putting our county in direct competition with them.

In other words don't kill the goose, that lays the golden egg.

Frank Cartwright (signed) 1324 Frederic

GOP leaders on the House Ways and Means Committee will introduce their own tax-cut program, with a reduction totaling about $5 billion. About $3 billion will benefit individuals, with the balance devoted to lower corporation and excise taxes.

Nevertheless, Ike will insist on a relatively conservative platform, at least by contrast with his opponents'.

The Republicans bank heavily — almost too heavily — on Eisenhower's ability to avoid both a war and a depression. Based on past experience, they see no possibility of defeat, if business activity, employment, wages and price remain at or near the present levels. That is Ike's viewpoint, too.

But the Administration will also make positive moves to endear itself after the trial begins next January, supports have an adverse effect after the trial begins next January. Secretary Ezra Taft Benson has power to raise them. The White House is not averse to Social Security expansion, provided the system is kept solvent.

Let us as good citizens try not to discourage these enterprising men by putting our county in direct competition with them.

Hoover Commission Savings Could Balance U. S. Budget

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The U.S. budget could be balanced easily if all the recommendations of the Hoover Commission on Organization of Government were followed. Not only that — there would also be a surplus for the first time since 1951. And taxes might be cut.

These potential savings are indicated in the nonpartisan report headed by ex-President Herbert Hoover passes the halfway point on the 20 reports it is issuing this year.

They will show where government expenses could be cut and how government efficiency could be increased.

On the first 11 reports issued so far, net savings on an annual basis of over a billion and a half dollars have been indicated. Since the nine reports still to come cover bigger items of expense, the total possible savings annually could be well over the three-billion dollar mark.

The anticipated budget deficit for the government's fiscal year beginning July 1 is two and a half billion. For the year ending June 30 it will be between four and five billion.

The possible annual savings which the Hoover reports have so far revealed are: Reduction of paperwork, 255 million dollars. Medical services, 293 million. Lending agencies, 200 million. Transportation, 151 million. Food and clothing purchases, 340 million. Warehousing, 282 million.

Two major provisional savings have also been listed.

If the government's employee turnover rate could be reduced from 25 to 20 per cent a year, annual savings of 60 million dollars could be made.

The second conditional saving is a little more complicated. The government — principally Department of Defense — now declares surplus about two billion dollars worth of supplies a year. In selling these surpluses, the government gets from five to seven cents on the dollar of original cost.

If the government could increase this by one cent on each dollar's worth of surplus sold, the increased return would be 20 million dollars a year. If the return could be increased by five cents on the dollar, the return to the treasury would be 100 million dollars.

There is a third major field of possible savings known as "one-shot" economies. This is to distinguish them from recurring annual savings. One-shot savings would merely reduce the national debt.

For instance, if the government liquidated some of its lending agencies and the government's capital funds and returned the capital funds to the treasury, some five billion dollars might be recovered.

This figure is the total of one-shot savings indicated in the first ten Hoover report recommendations. For the entire 20 reports being issued this year, President Hoover has indicated the total recommended capital fund saving might be seven billion.

From this curtailment of government programs there might be further annual reduction of expense. Naturally if the government stopped doing any of its numerous activities, it would reduce expenditures. But this would not show on the books as a saving.

This recommended curtailment of government activities has put the Hoover Commission in more hot water than it has been before. It involves such popular programs as government housing loans, farm loans, rural electrification and telephone loans and the Tennessee Valley Authority activities. Also many business-type enterprises which bureaucrats consider essential.

Some of the Hoover recommendations in this field go so far as to be in conflict with expressed Eisenhower administration and Republican platform policies. This has caused the White House and some of the executive departments considerable embarrassment.

The Hoover commission answer to this point is that it was not created to defend anyone's policies. It was set up by law to show where savings might be made and more efficiency achieved. It is bipartisan in make-up and nonpartisan in objectives.

So far, the first ten Hoover reports have made 21 recommendations. Twenty of them could be carried out by presidential executive order. Eighty-four could be carried out by administrative action in the government agencies.

But 117 of the recommendations are to be carried out by Congress to change existing law. Mr. Hoover thinks nine or ten omnibus bills might cover the field.

So far only one bill — to reorganize governmental legal services — has been introduced in Congress. Others are in preparation and may be filed soon. Few will be acted on this year. But Reorganization Act authority has been extended to June 1, 1957.

It was at the first combined meeting of the Eddie Fisher Fan Club No. 324 and the Debbie Reynolds Fan Club No. 78, and we all had just finished singing a medley of "Oh My Papa" and "Count Your Blessings Instead of Sheep" when we heard that the marriage of our idols might not come off.

Our president wisely ordered an adjournment and we walked out into the night, stunned and hurt.

If the report proves to be true and Debbie chooses her career instead of Eddie, or Eddie lets a little thing like living in New York because of his show come between him and Debbie, Fan Clubs No. 324 and 78 are going to be ruined, or pretty close to it. You see, most of our members used to belong to the Marilyn Monroe and Joe DiMaggio Fan Club, or the Susan Hayward and Jess Barker club, or the Linda Christian and Tyrone Power club, and we only got them on the rebound after their idols proved to have feet of clay and community property.

And there is the chance, too, that both of them will miss pictures of themselves holding hands, or grow so hungry for stories about how theirs is the ideal love that they will cling together even if the flames of love aren't leaping as high up the chimney as they were a few months ago.

I surely hope Eddie and Debbie do decide to swap eternal vows because our club has nearly $30 in the treasury which we plan to spend on an all-day picnic on their wedding day. We plan to rent motorcycles and ride to the picnic grounds, so you see, Eddie and Debbie have the power to give a lot of their loyal fans a real fun outing, besides having a pretty good time themselves.

So, if Debbie gives Eddie back his ring and Eddie takes it, these members are going to lose faith altogether and never join a club again — unless it be the Ronald Colman and Benita Hume, the Joel McCrea, and Francis Dee, or the Jack Benny and Mary Livingston clubs.

It will be a shame to have our Debbie and Eddie Fan Club fall apart, because we had all sorts of good times planned for this summer and right now have a bowling team that we think can beat any other fan club in the county. Only last week we beat a Marlon Brando club with plenty to spare, and looked like a cinch to win a free chop suey dinner from a local chip. You'd call for help if you hit you!

WACO, Tex.—UP—A grand jury Wednesday indicted Waco's Igger, lane bandit-rapist on seven counts ranging from murder to robbery. Two police officers simultaneously were being presented $2,000 reward money for his capture in a ceremony at James Conally Air Force Base.

The indictments were returned against Sgt. Marion Andrew Washington, Fort Hood Negro soldier captured early last Friday by two policemen looking for a filling station robber.

Washington was accused of the murder last April 3 of Airman 1-C Henry Poole of Spartanburg, S.C. Poole was killed in a struggle with a Negro bandit who threatened to rape his fiancée, as they were parked on a lonely lane near Waco.

Washington also was indicted on two counts of rape and four charges of armed robbery.

A $2,000 reward fund was divided between Patrolman T. J. Richey, a veteran on the Waco police force, and rookie officer Earl Phillips. It was presented to them in a brief ceremony at James Conally AFB, where Poole was stationed. The money was contributed mostly by base personnel.

Season Closed on Officials WASHINGTON — UP — President Eisenhower Wednesday signed into law a bill to make it a crime to threaten a president-elect or a vice president of the United States.

Persons making such threats would be subject to maximum penalties of $1,000 fines and five years imprisonment.

Caught in Modern Age SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador — UP — A woman became mayor of San Salvador Thursday for the first time in the city's 416-year history. Senora Blanca de Mendez discharged from his obligation by the court.

The same rule applies to an executor under a will, unless the testator has specified that no bond shall be required. This provision may be inserted or left out of the will at the option of the maker.

IT'S THE LAW IN TEXAS

A properly drawn will can be the means of short-cutting many legal formalities, and save a great deal of time in distributing the estate of a decedent among his rightful heirs. It may also serve to save many dollars in legal fees and court costs.

As an example, whenever a person dies without a will and it is necessary for the probate court to appoint an administrator of his estate, the person so appointed is required to post a bond. This bond is for the purpose of insuring the faithful performance of his duties. When signed by individuals, the amount thereof must be double the estimated value of the personal property of the estate plus a reasonable amount to cover prospective rents and other income from real estate involved.

When issued by a bonding company, the estimated value of the personal property need not be doubled. The administrator's bond must be kept in force until the estate is finally closed and he is discharged from his obligation by the court.

The same rule applies to an executor under a will, unless the testator has specified that no bond shall be required. This provision may be inserted or left out of the will at the option of the maker.

Needless to say, there are situations in which the bond serves a real purpose. But when not needed, the statutory requirement may prove a distinct annoyance to the executor and a burden upon the estate in the form of annual premium payments.

Another example: A court appointed administrator may not sell any property of an estate without an order of the court authorizing him to do so. He must make application to the court for approval of each sale. The court must be advised of and approve the sales price and the manner in which the same is to be collected. Similar provisions apply to the making of mineral leases and other transactions.

These provisions apply equally to the executor of a will, unless the testator has freed him from such law requirements. A simple short-paragraph inserted in a will without making him an independent executor in appropriate phraseology the aid of an attorney who knows how to change the application of the law.

Cotton Price Keeps Rolling Downward

NEW YORK — UP — Cotton prices Wednesday kept rolling on gradual downgrade for the fourth session in a row.

Losses ranged up to around 11 cents with the new crop position showing relative easiness as trading developed spurts of activity.

New York cotton futures closed three to 15 points lower; New Orleans futures finished six to 14 lower.

Buyers remained on the defensive pending a clearer view of the crop picture and Washington developments on farm legislation and the government cotton export policy for the new season.

Insect Killers Show Effects On Foods

One of the remarks that our readers and "regulars" don't seem to get is that they don't have any basis for this statement.

This may be, in view of the results of studies made by the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture.

For some years, scientists have been trying to determine if potent insecticides have harmful effects on the flavor, aroma or texture of our food.

To do this, research workers have had to find a particular problem which insecticides are used according to recommendations.

Now, USDA points out that insecticides may develop if given a double recommended treatment "for good measure."

Experiments show that vegetables from soil treated with higher-normal rates of insecticides were generally downgraded in taste.

Sweetpotatoes, dusted repeatedly with heavy applications of 20 percent toxaphene, lacked sweetness and flavor.

Sweetpotatoes from fields treated with chlordane at 24 pounds per acre were poor in texture and stringy.

It has been difficult to tie down these findings, USDA reports, because soil and weather apparently can alter experimental results.

Prepare For Baby By Checking Items

Another baby on the way? You won't have to buy everything brand-new again, but you'd better check to make sure just what you will need.

Check equipment that has been stored. The dishpan that made such a fine bathtub for Junior may be too scarred or chipped to be safe for a newborn.

You don't need to visit the housewares department to replace the tub, however. A new pretty plastic bathtub, designed and decorated just for baby, should be on deck in the infant's department.

It will be lightweight, easy to carry and store and a snap to keep spotlessly clean.

Sterilizers should be thoroughly scoured and tested for performance before you bring the baby home. If it's been a few years since you've made formulas, ask your doctor about recent improvements in bottles.

Clothing supplies should be looked over. Long-sleeved shirts that fit the winter-born baby may be too hot for the summer baby.

Mobeetie Youngsters Given Wiener Roast

MOBEETIE — (Special) — Members of the Mobeetie Methodist Youth Fellowship, guests and sponsors, met in the backyard of the Homer E. Matthews home for a wiener roast recently.

Games were played and a sing-song was held. Attending were the sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. Matthews and Ora Lancaster, Wanda Gudgel, Willetta Sims, Janie Barton, Laura Lancaster, Shirley Johnson, Ellen Hooker, Mary Beth Kelley, Joyce Hooker, Lovella Patton, Geoffrey Callwell, Mac Shelton and Britt Hathaway.

When our last baby was born and I dug out the hand-me-downs, I found that plastic mattress protectors had stiffened in storage and needed replacement.

Old towels may need replacing, too. There's a new towel that's a combination apron for mother and soft blotter for baby.

It's made of terry cloth and is worn, apron fashion, by Mama while she bathes the baby. It's then slipped off to the around baby as he comes from the tub.

GRACE FRIEND

Dear Miss Friend
My son was married last month in another state and he is bringing his bride home soon for a visit with us. We are anxious to give a party in their honor and we are not sure of a few of the details.

We don't want people to feel that they must bring gifts and so we want to know first of all if we should mention that gifts are not expected on the invitations.

We also want to know whether my husband and I as well as the honorees should receive at the door.

If you could help us with these points we'd be grateful.
Mr. K.

Dear Mrs. K.
It will be better taste not to mention gifts in any way. Let those close friends who want of the bridal couple wedding presents in any case, bring them to the party if they choose. Those who would not give a gift won't feel any obligation to do so anyhow.

Usually the mother of the bridal couple receives with them, leaving the father free to visit with the guests.

LETTERS FOR SERVICE MEN

Dear Grace Friend
This is some information for the girl who wanted names and addresses of men to write to.

I followed L. W.'s advice on sending to the Veterans' Club, P. O. Box, 325, Camden, Tenn. and received a long form to fill out. If she is interested in prospects for a husband she can have my 25 cents worth if she will write me through your column.

If she wants just a chance to make friends through letters, she can write Mrs. Anna Seidenburg, 1531 Amba Court, San Pedro, Calif., otherwise known as G. I. Mail call.

I have corresponded with a number of servicemen, both our own and other nationalities, whose names I got from her.

She makes no selections as to age etc. You just get a name and from then on it is up to you.
Thank you for a very interesting column.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Soon after the Greys had discovered that Maggie was going to have a sister, they put a down payment on a suburban house — and moved.

The day after they were installed, the little girl next door shoved Maggie away from her doll carriage. Overwhelmed by her own problems, her mother resisted the realization that Maggie might have one. But on the fourth day when the little girl next door, accompanied by a friend on a tricycle, ordered Maggie off her own sidewalk, Mrs. Grey became really concerned for her child's social future.

She felt an intense desire to solve Maggie's problem for her by going out and slapping the little girl next door.

Fortunately, she controlled this impulse. What she did was to drop her work and take Maggie on her lap. Then she began to sing their Favorite Hymn to her.

By the time she'd finished, the angry impulse to solve Maggie's problem for her had passed. The oppressive fear that Maggie couldn't solve it for herself had passed. To the stilled child in her arms, she was able to say smilingly:

"My, how sad we've been about nothing! You don't like unkindness in the little girl next door. All you have to do about it is tell it so. All we have to do is just tell her that we don't like it — and then walk away from it."

And sure enough, the day or so later, Maggie was able to do just that.

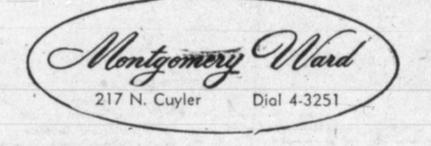

It was the beginning of friendship with the little girl next door.

Personally, I think that no mother can ever afford to be without a Favorite Hymn.

For children bring us their pains and hurts, seeking strength that is firmer than theirs. We do not always have it ready to give to them. The Favorite Hymn restores it to us.

That is why children want us to have one.

It becomes associated with our conquests of fear for them, so they learn to trust and love it. Though they do not grasp the meaning of its words, they sense that we do. And in our arms they grow quiet, knowing that we are recovering from our excited, anxious state.

Jane Talk

By JANE KADANGO

Pampa News Women's Editor

SO MUCH OF THE FUTURE health of our children depends upon their diet. And it is a mother's responsibility to see that her children eat the proper things, get a balanced diet each day. Here is an article on what should be eaten each day, by children and adults. After all, who wants to be sickly?

AN OLD TIME CUSTOM — the Medical Research Council of Great Britain. Two internationally famous nutritionists, Dr. E. M. Widdowson and Dr. A. McCance, studied the improvement of the health of about 200 German orphans on selected diets. These 5 to 15-year old orphans, retarded in growth, because of wartime food shortages, were given the best diets available in post war Germany. These diets were low in milk, meats, eggs and many of the protective foods. The diets were supplemented with vitamins A, C and D and included large amounts of bread, about one and one-half pounds a day. The bread, similar to the commercial bread in this country, was counted on to provide the major share of the nutrients.

RUTH MILLET

A man complains that his wife's three main ambitions in life seem to be to have a house and everything that is in it just as fine as her friends' houses, to have the kind of clothes that impress her friends, and to be seen at all the "right" social affairs.

That sounds like a harsh picture of a woman. Yet it may be a true one, for there are many women it fits today.

But these women aren't alone responsible for their great drive to keep up with the Joneses.

Let every man who thinks the above description fits his own wife ask himself why his wife is so anxious to shine before other women.

It might well be that her husband is partly to blame.

Does he ever tell her she's pretty? Or does he all her compliments come from other women when she has spent enough money and taken enough pains to win their grudging admiration?

Does her husband ever let her know what home means to him? Or does he only satisfaction come from having other women comment on the new draperies, or exclaim over the new sofa?

Does her husband ever give her the feeling when they spend an evening alone at home that he really enjoys her company? Or does he sit like a clam when they are alone and brighten only when they are out in a crowd?

It is natural for a woman to want to please a man and to hear his compliments. Many women who lead their lives so as to impress other women usually do so because the man in their lives is so stingy with his praise and appreciation they have to look elsewhere for a feeling of success.

What happened? Throughout the year the children made excellent height and weight gains — catching up with their American cousins. By all measures for judging nutritional improvement, (more accurate than only growth in inches), the children's development demonstrated the adequacy of the diets. The study showed that either enriched or whole wheat bread in large amounts is an excellent food for growing youngsters.

The average American child is more fortunate in the matter of food than the German orphans. A wide selection of foods is available to most families. There is not a need of dependence on any one food for the major portion of nutrients and calories. This study offers reassurance that bread, a favorite with children, makes a very real contribution to their growth and development.

COOKING HINTS: Give added zest and flavor to your next package of frozen peas and carrots. Just add 1 tsp. of finely chopped onion and 1/2 tsp. crushed, dried mint leaves, suggests Sara Wallis, Amara's home economics director. It's a taste treat to delight the whole family.

Melon ball combinations make ideal salad and dessert fare for families watching their waistlines. Serve frozen melons while still frosty, say Amara freezer home economists. Use mixture of cantaloupe, persian, and watermelon balls for added color interest.

Be sure to blanch vegetables before freezing to obtain highest quality products, advise Amara freezer home economists. Nutritive value of frozen vegetables which have been blanched is higher after freezer storage, than the unblanched. Also better are the flavor, color and texture of blanched vegetables.

Pioneers Move In For 2-Game Series

By BUCK FRANCIS Pampa News Sports Editor

The Pampa Oilers strengthened their hold on first place in the West Texas-New Mexico League standings last night by clipping Amarillo, 8-5, while second-place Plainview was being rained out against Clovis.

Jack Venable notched his sixth win of the year last night but needed help from Tom Pollet in the eighth. Venable, however, struck out 13 Gold Sox before retiring during a three-run Amarillo rally in the eighth.

The Oilers will open a two-game series tonight against the Clovis Pioneers and will then hit the road for 10 days.

Veteran Red Dial, 35, will start for the Oilers tonight. Dial has no record against his former mates this season although he has pitched against them on one occasion.

Jim Martin came on and finished up for the Sox following Tim's single, the sixth hit of the inning.

Pollet entered the scene after the Gold Sox had scored three runs in the eighth to pull within striking distance catching up. But Pollet halted the Sox threat by striking out Karl Heron, the first batter to face him, to retire the side.

The Pollet gave up a harmless single in the ninth and two walks but was aided by the second Oiler doubleplay of the game to kill a potential Gold Sox rally.

Snider Blasts 3 As Dodgers Clip Braves

By UNITED PRESS

Duke Snider's thunderous bat was wiping out the memory of his disappointing 1954 finish Thursday while the Brooklyn Dodger teammates were well on their way to wiping out the all-time club record of 221 homers in one season.

Snider, who lost the National League batting title to Willie Mays on the final day of last season, drove in six runs with three homers and a double last night as the Dodgers walloped the Milwaukee Braves 11-8 with a six-homer outburst.

The 29-year-old slugger 118 took over the major league lead with 15 home runs and 48 runs batted in, in addition to raising his season's average to .319. The six home runs gave the Dodgers a total of 67 in 44 games—a pace that would give them a season's total of 234. The 1947 New York Giants set the all-time record of 221.

25 Hits for 52 Bases
When the smoke cleared Wednesday night there had been a total of 25 hits, including five doubles, two triples and the six homers for 52 total bases.

Carl Erskine received credit for his seventh victory of the season but was routed when the Braves scored five runs in the seventh inning and needed Jim Hughes' shut-out relief pitching to preserve the verdict. On top of everything else, the Dodgers picked up a full game on both the second-place Chicago Cubs and third-place New York Giants.

Robin Roberts flipped a six-hitter for his eighth victory in pacing the Philadelphia Phillies to a 3-1 decision over the Cubs while Joe-Nuxhall's five-hitter and Ted Kuszewski's 14th homer helped the Cincinnati Redlegs down the Giants 5-2. Rookie Luis Arroyo won his sixth straight game as the St. Louis Cardinals, beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-2 in the other National League game.

In the American League, the New York Yankees swept the Kansas City Athletics 3-1 and 6-1 to increase their first-place lead to three games over the Cleveland Indians, who downed the Baltimore Orioles 5-0. The Chicago White Sox edged out the Boston Red Sox 4-3 and the Detroit Tigers routed the Washington Senators 9-0 in other games.

18 Wins in 21 Games
Rookie Johnny Kucks won his fourth game and veteran Whitey Ford his seventh as the Yankees made it 18 wins in 21 games. First baseman Bill Skowron tied the opener with a pinch-hit homer in the eighth inning and drove in three runs with two singles and a double in the second game to raise his season's batting average to .475.

Duke Snider's thunderous bat was wiping out the memory of his disappointing 1954 finish Thursday while the Brooklyn Dodger teammates were well on their way to wiping out the all-time club record of 221 homers in one season.

Snider, who lost the National League batting title to Willie Mays on the final day of last season, drove in six runs with three homers and a double last night as the Dodgers walloped the Milwaukee Braves 11-8 with a six-homer outburst.

The 29-year-old slugger 118 took over the major league lead with 15 home runs and 48 runs batted in, in addition to raising his season's average to .319. The six home runs gave the Dodgers a total of 67 in 44 games—a pace that would give them a season's total of 234. The 1947 New York Giants set the all-time record of 221.

25 Hits for 52 Bases
When the smoke cleared Wednesday night there had been a total of 25 hits, including five doubles, two triples and the six homers for 52 total bases.

Carl Erskine received credit for his seventh victory of the season but was routed when the Braves scored five runs in the seventh inning and needed Jim Hughes' shut-out relief pitching to preserve the verdict. On top of everything else, the Dodgers picked up a full game on both the second-place Chicago Cubs and third-place New York Giants.

Robin Roberts flipped a six-hitter for his eighth victory in pacing the Philadelphia Phillies to a 3-1 decision over the Cubs while Joe-Nuxhall's five-hitter and Ted Kuszewski's 14th homer helped the Cincinnati Redlegs down the Giants 5-2. Rookie Luis Arroyo won his sixth straight game as the St. Louis Cardinals, beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-2 in the other National League game.

In the American League, the New York Yankees swept the Kansas City Athletics 3-1 and 6-1 to increase their first-place lead to three games over the Cleveland Indians, who downed the Baltimore Orioles 5-0. The Chicago White Sox edged out the Boston Red Sox 4-3 and the Detroit Tigers routed the Washington Senators 9-0 in other games.

18 Wins in 21 Games
Rookie Johnny Kucks won his fourth game and veteran Whitey Ford his seventh as the Yankees made it 18 wins in 21 games. First baseman Bill Skowron tied the opener with a pinch-hit homer in the eighth inning and drove in three runs with two singles and a double in the second game to raise his season's batting average to .475.

Wednesday's Star
Duke Snider, who hit three homers and a double to drive in six runs and lead the Dodgers to an 11-8 win over the Braves.

ATTENTION, ALL GOLFERS: Starting tomorrow on the Pampa Country Club course there will be a lot of activity taking place.

First off, the local club will be hosts for the monthly Panhandle Women's Golf Association tournament tomorrow. Then Saturday, those trying for medalist honors in the Pampa Men's City tournament are required to qualify at that time.

Both the ladies tournament tomorrow and the qualifying rounds Saturday will combine with National Golf Day that will give all amateurs in the country to duel — with handicaps — the national open champs in both the men and women divisions.

Those playing in either of these two tournaments may count their score in the National Golf Day festivities.

Entry fee for the National Golf Day is $1. All proceeds will go into the National Golf Fund and the Red Cross.

You don't have to play in either of these two tournaments to participate in National Golf Day festivities. Just go on out and play against the top man and woman champ Saturday even though you will not be entering any tournaments.

WE'RE NOT TRYING TO cover up for Joe Fortin's mental lapse on the base paths Tuesday night but worse boners than the one Joe pulled have occurred in the major leagues.

And you don't have to go any further back than last Saturday to find a bigger boner occurring in the majors than Fortin's Tuesday night blunder.

Perhaps you noted the Sunday story in the Pampa News relating the base - running boner Gene Freese of Pittsburgh pulled.

For the sake of those who may have missed it, here's what happened:

Pittsburgh, playing at home, had runners on first and third, two away and the score tied at 4-4.

Freese was the base runner at first. Ramon Majias lined a single to center and Tom Saffell, the base runner at third, trotted home with what was apparently the winning run.

DALLAS' DICK BURNET

Attack Claims Life Of Baseball Mogul

GLADEWATER, Tex.—UP—Paternal arrangements were expected to be announced Thursday for R. W. (Dick) Burnett, a ruddy, one-time country boy who enjoyed dabbling in baseball as much as he did in building up oil fortunes.

Snead Favored At Palm Beach

GREAT NECK, N.Y.—UP—Defending champion Sam Snead, only three-time winner of the unique event, was favored Thursday to win his fourth Palm Beach Round Robin golf championship as 16 hand-picked professionals opened a 90-hole grind of match-medal play competition.

Cam Does Well But Pep Wins By TKO In 4th

By JOE PHELAN

BOSTON—UP—Willie Pep said Thursday that young Joe Cam is a "fighter with a lot of guts who knows a lot of tricks of the trade," but the former featherweight champ apparently knows a few more.

Pep won a fourth round TKO victory over the 24-year-old Boston fighter Wednesday night when an apparent butt, which Pep acknowledged, opened a deep gash over Cam's left eye early in the third round.

The scheduled 10-round national televised bout from Boston arena was stopped after the third by Referee Eddie Curley because Cam was bleeding so badly from the cut.

After Curley stopped the bout, the 33-year-old former champ from Hartford, Conn., came to the edge of the ring and explained to newsmen that the head-knocking was "purely accidental."

"Pep was a good fighter with a lot of guts who put on a clean fight from the first round," Cam said. Cam appeared satisfied that the bout was accidental.

Pep, a ring veteran with 189 victories in 194 bouts was fighting when Cam was shooting marbles in East Boston, Pep said. "I deliberately avoided hitting Cam that last round when I saw the cut was fairly serious."

"I would like to win every fight but not by severely injuring the other guy," said Pep who was enjoying a belated TV comeback in his 14th year of boxing.

It was Cam's sixth loss in 38 professional fights. Both weighed in at 123 pounds.

Pep had a good first round scoring consistently with a quick roundhouse right. The second round featured a good deal of wrestling. But in the third Pep caught Cam in a neutral corner and the Boston fighter came out with blood spurting from the forehead gash.

Always a Big Way He hated a loser and he went at things in a big way. He staged a Texas League opening day in the Cotton Bowl in 1930 that drew 33,373 fans and he hired Jolly Cholly Grimm, now of the Milwaukee Braves, at a fabulous $30,000 a year on a three-year contract to try and get a pennant. Grimm got fired because he didn't produce, even though Burnett had to pay off the balance of Grimm's salary.

Burnett, grandfather of voice and temper at times, flourished through a half dozen or more business ventures before hitting his first oil strike in 1932 in East Texas. He later lost that fortune in a series of dry holes in Illinois, but bounced back into the limelight a dozen years later with a huge discovery around Magnolia, Ark.

He owned a 500-acre farm here, but spent much of his time in Dallas and in Louisiana and Arkansas at his oil holdings.

AIMING AT WORLD MARK

A&M's Mashburn Has Winning Habit

TODAY'S SPORTS BY JACK HEANEY OKLAHOMA CITY—UP—J. W. Mashburn, king-sized quarter-miler from Oklahoma A&M College who has the winning habit, said Thursday he will sprint for a new world's record Friday night.

Mashburn, one of America's fastest in the 440 and 220-yard dashes, said he hopes to shatter the 440-yard world record of 46 seconds at the Compton relays in Compton, Calif.

"They have a very good track at Compton," he said. "Of course the first thing is to win the race and the record will take care of itself."

Mashburn has been winning his races since his high school track coach switched him from the pole-vault pits to a mile relay team. Mashburn never went back to the pits.

"I was interested in pole vaulting ever since I was a little kid," said the 22-year-old Oklahoma City flash. "My love for dashes had to be developed."

His love for the dashes has crowded out other sports. A 200-pounder in high school, he played fullback in high school football and switched to halfback as a freshman at the University of Oklahoma.

He developed bone spurs on his ankles, had an operation and decided "I had to give up one or the other." Football lost.

Mashburn transferred to Oklahoma A&M after his sophomore year because Big Seven Conference rules at Oklahoma limited his running in invitational meets. Last season was his first with the Aggies.

Mashburn's training starts early in the fall with distance running to build endurance. In October he starts work on the track to sharpen his speed.

Oklahoma A&M Track Coach Ralph Higgins urged an experiment this season to have Mashburn cut his weight to 184 pounds—still making the 6-3 blood the biggest 6-6 man in the country.

"I was worried when I lost so much weight," he said, "but I don't think it made me weaker. I'm better off with my weight down."

Mashburn has a full running schedule through the summer, with an eye on the 1936 Olympics—"That's my goal."

He was a member of the 1932 Olympics team but did not run. In next year's game he hopes to run the 440 and 220, plus the 1,500-meter relay.

His chief challenge appears to be "a Russian who's running awfully well—his time is about the same as mine." Mashburn's major goal is to make his time a little better than the Russian's.

Patterson to Meet McBride NEW YORK—UP—Floyd Patterson of Brooklyn, the second ranking light heavyweight contender, has signed to meet Archie McBride of Trenton, N.J., in a 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden, July 8. The two originally had signed to meet in Chicago, May 11, but Patterson withdrew because of ptomaine poisoning.

Cudd, Morey, Jackson and Conrad were teammates of Patton on the U.S. Walker Cup team that recently crushed England 10-3 and they were rated right behind him as the chief American threats.

All-Yank Duel In French Net Semi-Finals

PARIS—UP—Defending champion Tony Trabert of Cincinnati was favored to beat fellow-American Ham Richardson in one semifinal of the French International tennis championship Thursday and gain the final round against one of two surprising European players.

Giuseppe Merlo of Italy and Sven Davidson of Sweden, both of whom scored stunning upsets over Americans in the quarterfinal round, were matched in the other semifinal that was attracting heavy betting.

The odds were about even on the Merlo-Davidson match, which was the center of local attention. But the colorful Merlo, who whacks all his drives two-handed, was the sentimental favorite. Merlo reached the semifinal by beating U.S. champion Vic Seixas while Davidson advanced by beating former Wimbledon champion Budge Patty.

Trabert and Seixas of Philadelphia, currently the world's best doubles team and heavily favored to win that crown here, had to rally to win their quarterfinal Wednesday over Davidson and Kurt Nielsen of Denmark 4-6, 7-5, 6-1, 6-2.

Also moving up was the U.S. team of Richardson of Baton Rouge, La., and Patty of Los Angeles, who defeated Marcel Bernard and Paul Remy of France, while Art Larsen of San Leandro, Calif., and Enrique Mores of Argentina beat Philippe Washer and Jacques Brichant of Belgium 6-2, 5-7, 6-3, 6-4.

An all-American semifinal was on tap Thursday in women's singles with little favorite Mrs. Beverly Baker Fleitz of Long Beach, Calif., facing Mrs. Dorothy Knode of Alameda, Calif. In the other semifinal, Hester Brewer, an American living in Bermuda, faced Angela Motterin of Britain.

Mrs. Fleitz and Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., advanced to the semifinals of women's doubles by beating Mrs. Knode and Mrs. Nelly Hopman of Australia 6-0, 7-5.

Patton, 10 Other Yanks Keep On Winning In British Golf

ST. ANNE'S, England—UP—Hard-hitting Billy Joe Patton, frankly wondering just how much longer he could dare the lightning to strike him, led 11 American survivors into the fourth round of the British Amateur golf championship Thursday.

Patton, the 33-year-old Morganston, N.C., star who is rated the top U.S. golfer for the title, has been forced to come from behind in all three of his victories so far.

He admitted he thought he was "a goner" twice Wednesday, but both times he staged spectacular rallies and delighted large galleries as he scored one-up victories over Edward Bromley-Davenport of Scotland and Cpl. Ken Venturi, former U.S. Walker Cup player from San Francisco.

Both fourth and fifth round matches were scheduled Thursday, which would cut the 32 survivors to just eight for Friday's quarter-finals.

Patton was matched in the fourth round against Jackie Jones of England. Other fourth-round matches featuring Americans were as follows: Jimmy McHale Jr. of Wynnewood, Pa., vs. Dick de Loyd, England; Dale Morey of Indianapolis vs. Alsa Slater, England; Cpl. James Bernard, Westbury, Mass., vs. John de Bernard, Scotland; Don Bisplinghoff, Orlando, Fla., vs. John Niven, England; Bruce Cudd, Portland, Ore., vs. Arthur Walker, England; Bert Weaver, Beaumont, vs. Guy Wolstenhome, England; George Coleman, Miami, Fla., vs. Laurie Ranells, England; Barton Bridgford, San Francisco, vs. Eric Fiddian, England; Lt. Joe Conrad, San Antonio, vs. George Duncan, Wales; and Jim Jackson, Glendale, Mo., vs. Derek Gardner, England.

Cudd, Morey, Jackson and Conrad were teammates of Patton on the U.S. Walker Cup team that recently crushed England 10-3 and they were rated right behind him as the chief American threats.

Cotton Market Expanded In Last 5 Years

HARLINGEN, Tex. -UP - Cotton's domestic market has expanded by 50 per cent in the last five years despite many competitors, the American Cotton Congress was told Thursday.

And a "magic valley of opportunity" lies before the cotton industry.

Cotton has reached a new peak in popularity, he said, citing the current trend in women's fashions. Since 1947, Jackson said, cotton has gained more than 300,000 bales in the women's wear market.

"Today cotton, besides rayon - its major competitor - faces orlon, nylon, dacron, dyel, acrilan, saran, vicara, fiberglass, and paper," Jackson said.

"The capacity of the nation's synthetic plants is more than five times as much as it was back in 1939..."

"In the face of all this, cotton's total domestic market has not declined. It has expanded by 50 per cent. In the late thirties it was averaging about six million bales per year. In the last five years it has averaged around nine million bales."

No More Cooking Program
SAN FRANCISCO -UP - Alexander Evangoft, 28-year-old construction worker, came home from work Wednesday night and found that his dinner wasn't ready. To cure the situation, his wife said, he picked up the family's brand new television set and threw it out of a third story window.

Outlaws Don't Uniforms
BOGOTA, Colombia -UP - The newspaper La Republica reported Wednesday that a group of outlaws wearing army uniforms killed 27 persons during an attack on a rural community near Ibagu, Tolima state capital. Reason for the attack was not clear, but it was believed to be political.

Isle Mayor Battles Gunman

GALVESTON—UP—Mayor George Roy Clough struggled desperately with a crazed Negro early Wednesday after the man had terrorized his neighborhood with a shotgun.

Clough and Police Chief Willie Burns—with whom Clough had been feuding for months—later teamed up and talked the man into surrendering.

The Negro, 50-year-old Oliver Moore, had barricaded himself inside his home after parading up and down the street threatening to "kill everyone in sight" with a 12-gauge shotgun.

For more than four hours, a dozen officers tried unsuccessfully to talk Moore into coming out.

Then Clough, who knew the man, arrived on the scene about 4:30 a.m.

Called to Him
"I called to him over a Beach Patrol loudspeaker and told him I was the mayor and wanted him to come out," Clough said.

"The first time I called him he didn't answer. But the second time he walked out on the porch and said, 'Here I is'."

"He still had his hand on the shotgun. I walked up on the porch and tried to get him to come down to my car with me."

"But then he saw some officers, got scared and tried to run back in the house. I grabbed him by the arm and we struggled for a minute."

"He still had his hand on the shotgun, but couldn't use it." A police officer rushed up on the porch to aid Clough, but the mayor decided it would be better to let Moore get back in his house, then try to talk him out again.

Mayor, Burns Team Up
During the next few minutes the mayor and Burns teamed up and tried to figure a way to trick Moore into surrendering.

Burns then found out that Moore had a telephone and called him up. He told Moore he wouldn't be hurt if he came outside, and Moore agreed on the condition that Clough meet him on the porch.

Moore then walked meekly out the front door and surrendered. He turned his shotgun and other weapons, including a hammer, over to officers.

Moore then walked meekly out private car and driven to a nearby restaurant, where the mayor bought him some breakfast. He later was taken to jail, where he was to be examined by a psychiatrist.

Harlingen May Have First Cotton

HARLINGEN, Tex.—UP—The arrival of the nation's first bale of 1955 cotton, an event worth thousands of dollars to the bale's grower, is likely to be an unexpected highlight of the 16th annual American Cotton Congress, opening Thursday in Harlingen.

The Harlingen Chamber of Commerce sponsors the first bale race. Chamber Manager Jeff Bell said the prize bale may arrive any time now, although he declined to make a more specific prediction.

The first bale comes each year from the Lower Rio Grande Valley, where planting may legally start earlier in the year than it does anywhere else in the United States.

The Harlingen chamber guarantees the first bale's grower a $1,500 bonus, plus whatever the bale brings at an auction held in Harlingen late in May. This year, the bale's arrival.

Last year Ray Barnick of Mission received nearly $3,000 in the auction.

The past two years the first bale was ginned and rushed to Harlingen late in May. This year, despite widespread rumors the last week that the bale might be ginned momentarily, it has not yet appeared.

The winning bale will be the first one clocked in at the Harlingen police station, provided it meets the technical specifications set by the chamber.

Burric C. Jackson, general chairman of the American Cotton Congress, arrived in Harlingen Wednesday, meanwhile, for a final check of program plans for the opening of the group's three day meeting.

More than 100 reservations from top men in the cotton industry already have been received for the meeting, the figure is expected to be doubled by the time it gets underway, Bell said.

Bandit Car Believed Abandoned

OKLAHOMA CITY—UP—The highway patrol said Wednesday an abandoned car fitting the "general description" of one used by the bandit who robbed the Luther First National Bank has been found in Payne county.

The patrol said the grey, old-model automobile was abandoned south of Perkins.

Officers were searching for two young men in question in connection with the car. Troopers also brought a Luther man, who saw the get-away car, to the scene to identify the vehicle.

The abandoned vehicle was the first potential lead on the "amateur" bandit who escaped with $300 from the Luther bank at noon Tuesday.

"The amateurs are the hardest to catch," said FBI Chief Nat Johnson, because they have no set pattern of operation.

A highway patrol spokesman said it's more legwork than anything else at this stage. Troopers and crime bureau agents joined in sniffing for fresh leads in the robbery.

The blond gunman, about 30, forced the bank president, I. F. Baird, at gunpoint, to take money from the bank safe and put it in a leather satchel.

The gunman then fled in an old-model grey car.

Senate Sets Small Loan Ceiling; Debates Interest

By O. B. LLOYD JR.
AUSTIN—UP—The Senate Wednesday set $300 as the ceiling on small loans as it opened debate on legislation aimed at removing the constitutional limit of 10 per cent on interest.

Adoption of the proposed constitutional amendment by the voters would allow the legislature to fix the interest rate allowed on all loans under $300.

As originally approved by the House, the proposal pegged the ceiling on small loans at $1,500.

However, Sen. William Shireman of Corpus Christi, offering the amendment cutting the limit back to $300, protested.

The House adjourned until 10 a.m. Thursday after giving approval on second reading to a Senate-approved measure to raise salaries of judges of the Texas Supreme Court and Court of Criminal Appeals from the present $15,000 to $17,500.

The bill, readied for final passage, originally called for a salary boost to $20,000 a year but the House trimmed the figure to $17,500.

Shireman told the Senate, "$1,500 is not small—it is a substantial sum of money."

Proponents argued that setting the ceiling on small loans at less than $1,500 would drive borrowers into the hands of black market loan sharks.

The present constitutional provision prohibits interest rates exceeding 10 per cent on all loans.

However, Sen. Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo, sponsoring the House-approved proposal in the upper chamber, said, "It's like sticking your head in the sand to say the constitution prevents usury. It's like saying nobody drinks in dry counties."

Sen. Searcy Bracwell of Houston paced the opposition to the proposal to lift the ceiling in opening debate.

"Since I've been in this legislature, I have never experienced the pressure put on members to pass this resolution...the lobbying job to gain passage of this resolution is the greatest I've ever seen."

Sen. Jimmy Phillips of Angleton agreed.

He said that on the first test vote, several weeks ago, the proposal drew 13 affirmative votes, but "then it went to 18. The record speaks for itself. That's pressure."

Meantime, a joint conference committee prepared to tackle the problem of ironing out differences between House and Senate versions of a $100 million tax bill, the last hurdle to adjournment of the 54th Legislature.

La. Gov. Ben Ramsey named to the 10-member committee Sen. Otis Lock, Lufkin; Dorsey Hardeman, San Angelo; Searcy Bracwell, Houston; Grady Hazlewood, Amarillo, and Carlos Ashley, Llaneno.

The five House members, named by House Speaker Jim Lindsey, were Reps. Stanton Stone, Freeport; W. G. Kirkin, Odessa; James W. Yancy Jr., Houston; E. F. Crim, Henderson, and Ben Glusking, Kingsville.

MAKING A GO OF LIFE

Read Matthew 5:43-48

Our universe is impartial. The rain falls upon the just and the unjust; the ether waves carry scandal and the gospel with equal impartiality. Depressions, atoms, psycho-reactions, stethoscopes, voltimeters—none of these draw a color line. They are not interested in politics, denominationalism, or theology.

Bacteria are no respecters of persons. The laws of nature all work for individuals exactly alike, providing all are equally skilled in manipulating them.

It could not be otherwise in a world governed by a moral order, for if the good things of life went to those who obeyed the laws, and evil always descended upon those who broke the laws, good behavior would amount to little less than spiritual bribery, and we would behave ourselves because we feared disaster, and not because we loved moral character.

However, if we think of this world as one in which God is trying to produce character, our choice of the good and our repudiation of the evil, represents a moral achievement which becomes a part of our character and a partial accomplishment of God's purpose.

We must proceed, then, in the belief that God has no favorites to whom he grants special privileges. "God is no respecter of persons" (Acts 10:34), but his benefits are poured out with a lavish hand upon those who know his laws and cooperate with them. "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free" (John 8:32), is the New Testament way of putting the matter, which is another way of saying that the universe is partial only to those who know the truth and conform their lives thereto. Knowledge and obedience must go together; neither knowledge nor obedience are sufficient by themselves.

I will ask for no special favors at thy hands, O God, but I will trust the laws of the world thou hast made to provide me with the good things of life according to my willingness to cooperate through obedience. I will trust thy loving provision for all my needs. Amen.

Go back over the matter about which you worried yesterday. Was you anxiously due, in any sense, to a lack of faith in God's ability to handle the situation? Did you doubt his power, or his personal concern in you, or did you know you were wrong?

Cadillac

Has Its Own Vocabulary!

Over the years there has come into being what amounts to a Cadillac vocabulary.

Certain words and phrases have so long and so often been used in association with Cadillac that they almost automatically call the car to mind.

When the talk is of motor cars, for instance, who can hear the word "prestige" without thinking of Cadillac?

It is likewise true of "distinction"...of "luxury"...of "pride of ownership"...of "satisfaction"...of "comfort"...of "long life and dependability"...of "beauty"...of "impressiveness"...of "value"—and of dozens of other words used to denote superiority.

In a sense, these are Cadillac words—and they actually sound strange when employed in any other connection. Even when used in the promotion of another automobile, they still suggest the "car of cars".

Naturally, words like these can become inseparable only from a product which deserves them. In the case of Cadillac, it has taken half a century of the strictest adherence to the highest automotive standards to win this public approval.

Most people, of course, realize that these wonderful words apply to the great Cadillac car. But we suspect that many have not yet personally found out why.

If you are among these, we think you should come in and see us today. We will give you the keys to a new 1955 Cadillac—and you'll know in a single hour why Cadillac has its own vocabulary.

You'll know, from personal experience, that when you speak of "prestige" and "distinction" and "luxury" and "pride of possession" and "value"—you are speaking of the Standard of the World.

We have the keys—and the car—and a real welcome waiting for you.
