Chou Renews Offer To Discuss Formosa

Red Leader Wants U.S. Troops To Leave Area

TOKYO — UP — Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-Lai renewed his offer Tuesday to negotiate directly with the United States but made it clear he was interested chiefly in negotiating the withdrawal of U.S. armed forces from Formosa.

OWEN J. ROBERTS

Former High Court Justice Roberts Dies

PHOENIXVILLE, Pa. — UP — Former U.S. Supreme Court Justice Owen J. Roberts died Tuesday at his home in nearby West Vincent township.

The 80-year-old "great dissenter" of the high court had retired from the bench 10 years ago, devoting his time to civic affairs and an occasional appearance in court as an attorney.

Roberts left behind a reputation as an independent and "unpredictable" jurist who frequently cast the deciding vote in five-to-four decisions of the high tribunal.

The tall, affable jurist, who regularly wore loud bow ties, recently was a strong advocate for uniting the free nations of the world into a "federal union of Atlantic democracies."

He was an active alumnus of the University of Pennsylvania, his alma mater, serving as dean of the law school until recently and continuing afterward as a trustee of the university.

Until his death, he was outspoken on international affairs and frequently accused congress of permitting politics to interfere with national defense. He was an active supporter of universal military training and was chairman of the National Security committee which promoted U.M.T.

He termed the United Nations "at best a debating society" and said only a united world could prevent future wars.

Council Talks Additions

East Fraser Area Gets First OK

The Pampa City Commission today tentatively approved the plat for a new addition to the city, passed on its first reading a proposed ordinance to annex another addition and passed on its third and final reading an ordinance to annex a third addition.

The plat for the Pampa Heights Addition, first one in sometimes in the south part of the city, was presented by Jake Osborne and John Bradley. An 80-acre area, it is bounded by Barrett, the Clarendon highway, McCullough and a section line on the south.

Passed on the first reading was a proposed ordinance on another section of land, developed by Bill Fraser. It will be called the East Fraser Addition, will lie just north of Fairview cemetery and will contain a "higher class" mercantile district. North and south streets will be called Aspen, Beech, Dogwood and Chestnut.

Finally annexed after three ordinance readings was the Fraser Annex No. 2, also developed by Fraser.

In other action, the city commission awarded a contract to Roberts and Merriman Consulting Engineers, of Pampa, for a survey of the drainage problem on the proposed Hobart St. Underpass.

The commission set 10 a.m. June 7 as the time and date for the opening of bids on a tractor and rotary mower for the park department and a pneumatic tire roller for the street department. Estimated costs are, respectively, $2,400 and $1,400.

Optimist Club representatives asked the commission for permission for cars attending kid ball games in Lions Club Park to use the park itself and a Pampaan asked for an ordinance to require all television antennas to have ground wires. City officials will check into each request.

Commissioners also paid $31,021.18 and late this morning were discussing proposed Social Security for city employees. City Mgr. Fred Brook reported to the commission on what he had found on it at the Texas city managers' convention.

Phone Strike Mediation Try Renewed

ATLANTA — UP — National director Joseph F. Finnegan of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service urged renewed efforts Tuesday to end the Southeast's 65-day-old telephone strike.

Finnegan said in Washington late Monday that he had "reviewed developments" and instructed two mediation officials to resume negotiation sessions in Atlanta with company and union officials.

The CIO Communications Workers of America last March 14 called a strike of 50,000 member-employees against the Southern Bell Telephone Co. across nine states.

Clyde M. Hill and Commissioner E. Marvin Sconyers, after their conference with Finnegan, called another of the many negotiation sessions held without reported progress thus far since the strike began.

Both sides of the dispute over a company-proposed "no strike clause" for any contract renewal have expressed optimism over settling the strike soon but there have been no reports of actual progress in the negotiations.

The CWA called its 50,000 members on strike when the company refused the CWA's demand for arbitration of routine grievances.

The company said it could not afford to place such policy decisions into the hands of an arbitrator.

IT AIN'T WHAT YOU SAY, IT'S JUST HOW YOU SAY IT

CHICAGO — William Masamitsu told police Monday why his dog Rex wouldn't come when called.

Police, summoned when the dog tried to board an elevated train, said they had to chase Rex half way across town before they caught him.

Masamitsu said the dog understands only Japanese.

Ford To Be GAW Strike Victim

DETROIT — The betting in Detroit is that Ford will be the victim if a strike develops over the CIO United Auto Workers' demand for a guaranteed annual wage.

The union itself has not revealed whether it would hit Ford or General Motors in case contract negotiations reach complete breakdown. But, if a strike does develop, all signs point to Ford as the company most likely to be struck.

The union has extended the General Motors contract to June 7. It had been due to run out May 29, ahead of the Ford contract on June 1. Now it will run out six days later.

It also has been noted that union President Walter Reuther has spent more time in early negotiations at the Ford talks than at the GM talks.

But the experts in Detroit who figure Ford as the No. 1 target of the wage drive have more behind their guesses than these two moves.

A drive against Ford, for example, would cost the union a lot less than a strike against General Motors. A Ford strike would idle only 140,000 workers while a GM strike would mean 325,000 out.

Strike benefits would cost a great deal more if General Motors were the company hit. In addition, the union has just levied a $5 a month extra assessment on members to build up a $25 million war fund.

Members on strike don't pay dues. The union would take in a lot more $5 bills if GM's 325,000 workers still were paying than if Ford's 140,000 were still on the "dues" list. If the strike comes, it is apt to be a long one. Financing a lone strike would be an important matter.

The experts also believe the union considers Ford more vulnerable. Ford, which reportedly lost $10 million a month in the immediate postwar period, now is reaching the climax of a long reorganization. After years of effort, it finally is recapturing the leadership as the nation's biggest-selling car from Chevrolet.

Reds Agree To Discuss 'Blockade'

BERLIN — UP — Soviet High Commissioner G. M. Pushkin agreed Tuesday to meet the three western allied ambassadors Friday and discuss the East German Communist "cold blockade" of West Berlin.

The meeting was set at Soviet headquarters as suggested by the three western officials in a note sent May 7.

The East Germans imposed the blockade April 1. It increased by elevenfold the tolls on heavy trucking between West Berlin and West Germany and described by the allies as "exorbitant."

The West Berlin truckers were unable to pay the huge sums and the money was supplied by the West Berlin and the Bonn governments in a move to keep Berlin's supply of food moving.

A Soviet liaison officer notified the western allied headquarters here of the Soviet official's decision to accept the May 7 invitation.

The western ambassadors—high commissioners before West Germany regained its sovereignty—originally proposed an earlier meeting but Pushkin said he could not see them until after May 16.

Peiping radio broadcast the 5,500-word text of the report Chou made before the standing committee of the National Peoples Congress. He used the same "turn the other cheek" attitude he displayed at the Bandung conference but he did not budge an inch on the Formosa question.

He did retreat on one propaganda line. He said a plane which crashed en route to Bandung with Red Chinese aboard was sabotaged by Nationalist agents. He did not repeat Peiping's earlier charges the crash was plotted by Americans as well.

Soviets To Seek Neutral Germany

VIENNA — UP — Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov made it clear Thursday that Russia will press for the neutralization of Germany when the Big Four heads of government meet this summer.

Molotov flew back to Moscow Tuesday to set the time and place of the meeting "at the summit" with Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin.

Before leaving he told newsmen he hoped the signing of the Austrian state treaty would be "the pattern for the solution of other international problems."

The treaty establishes Austria as Europe's newest neutral—and his statement was regarded as a direct reference to Germany, the chief concern at the moment of Soviet policy in Europe.

"I am convinced that the conclusion of the treaty will contribute to peace in Europe and the world," Molotov said.

Molotov was the last of the Big Four foreign ministers to leave Vienna. He stayed behind and stole a march on the West by holding surprise "friendship meetings" with high Austrian officials.

Rains To Resume Over Texas Area

By UNITED PRESS — some rural communities and forced evacuation of 20 persons in the Happy Valley rural area on Highway 277 in southwest Taylor county. Banks of both Spring and Valley Creeks overflowed to force the evacuation, but no one was reported hurt.

Forecasters called the rains of the past week the best general rainfall over the state this year, soaking crops and filling reservoirs and stock ponds in numerous communities.

They said the rain would continue generally over the state late Tuesday and Tuesday night before it began clearing off.

The three-pronged tornado cloud skipped around for four hours Monday night across the country, side of four Abilene-area counties.

A thunderstorm hit Houston late in the day one recorded .91 inch of rainfall at the airport weather station in less than an hour. .88 in. was recorded in downtown Houston, .85 in. was recorded. Hail fell in some sections of the city and winds up to 40 miles an hour knocked down some power lines and blew off tree limbs.

Hail pounded southern Fisher county, while high winds buffeted the Claytonville community, 10 miles north of Sweetwater. Heavy rain was reported on the divide area 15 miles south of Sweetwater, but Sweetwater itself received only .49 of an inch.

Dallas is Rain Center — Dallas is in the center of some of the heavier rainfall activity that spread over North Central Texas, but the city received less than one-half inch at the official recording station at Love Field.

Parr Cleared On One Tax Indictment

HOUSTON — UP — George Parr, South Texas political boss, was free Tuesday of an income tax indictment here but must face a similar indictment returned at San Antonio.

U.S. District Attorney Malcolm Wilkey said the government wanted to try Parr in Austin. A site has not yet been selected.

Parr was indicted on a charge of evading $85,000 in income taxes last year in Houston. Judge T. M. Kennerly earlier had moved the trial site from Corpus Christi to Laredo, at Parr's request.

Free Vaccine Work To Last Till July

WASHINGTON — UP — The Public Health Service said Tuesday it will finish the free polio inoculation program for the nation's 9 million first and second graders.

Only then will the government's new voluntary distribution plan go into effect. And then will more than 7 million other children from five through nine begin getting their Salk shots.

This represents a sharp and discouraging setback in the vaccination timetable. But health service officials still expressed confidence most five-through-nine youngsters will receive their two shots before the polio season hits its peak

Farm Income Hike Seen

WASHINGTON — UP — Agricultural economist Nathan Kofsky predicted Monday that gross farm income will increase 40 per cent within the next 20 years.

Kofsky made his prediction to the nation's farm editors, basing it on 25 to 45-year indices on farmers' prices, both paid and received; income of farm operators; farm population; total farm output; food costs and consumer income; marketing charges; farm exports, and farm labor productivity.

Kofsky said a progression of the indices indicates the total population by 1975 will be one-third higher than now; personal income will be up 50 to 60 per cent; food consumption per capita will be 10 per cent higher because of better diet conditions; and agricultural production will be up 40 per cent.

All this, he said, will produce a 40 per cent increase in gross farm income.

6 More Counties On Drouth List

AUSTIN — UP — Six additional Texas counties have been approved for participation in the federal drouth emergency feed program, the governor's office was advised Monday.

The six counties are Borden, Gillespie, Guadalupe, Lampasas, Llano and San Saba. Their addition brought to a total of 122 the number of Texas counties now eligible for the drouth program.

Chairman of key Senate and House Committees promised quick approval of Mr. Eisenhower's request for a $28 million funds to purchase vaccine, if necessary, for children of low-income families.

The administration plan knocked the wind out of the drive for compulsory federal control. But there still is a move on to give the President standby powers to crack the whip if the voluntary system doesn't work.

Sen. Lister Hill (D-Ala.), chairman of Senate Labor committee, said Tuesday he thinks standby controls "would be wise." Chairman Brent Spence (D-Ky.) of the House Banking committee said they are "probably necessary."

PAMPA PEEVES—When you've been planning to go to the movies all day, when you've read the ads in the paper on the latest film, when you've checked to make sure that the show will go on at 10:05 p.m., when you dilly-dally around to kill time so you won't have to get the ending first, when you finally get to the darkened theater at 9 p.m. sharp, when you ask the sweet young thing inside how many minutes to go before the show begins and she tells you — "Oh, you've missed a half an hour of it, it started at 9:30 p.m." The schedule in the paper was wrong, that was for yesterday. That is a "Pampa Peeve," for sure. Name of the picture was "Shotgun." And Gnashings had better stop right here before the name of the show gives him ideas.

London Press Critical Of Billy Graham

LONDON — UP — London newspapers took a long hard look at Billy Graham's east side visit Sunday and agreed that something went wrong. Only 5,000 persons turned up and 100,000 had been expected. Some papers blamed the weather, others public apathy and others said the American evangelist was trying too hard to sell himself. Only one, the News Chronicle, was optimistic about the meeting. It said the Sunday meeting and the Saturday opening meeting at Wembley Stadium constituted a "week-end of fresh triumphs for the preacher." Graham entered the troubled Stockland area of London Sunday behind a Salvation Army band which played "Onward Christian Soldiers" and picked up hundreds of persons in its wake. The American evangelist had opened his second "Greater London Crusade" before at least 70,000 persons Saturday night. Sunday he moved into the grim and grubby east end at Dagenham, a factory suburb on the Thames River where Ford Motor Co., builds its English cars. Graham's services had the getting of a circus until police literally pushed dozens of peddlers out of the park. They were shouting out their wares of "peanuts and Billy Graham photo buttons" and "orange pop" and "Billy Graham's Life Story" until police intervened.

Threatening Ike Brings 5-Year Term

OKLAHOMA CITY — UP — Richard Arlen Smith, 19, of Sandy, Okla., was sentenced to five additional years in prison Monday for threatening to kill President Eisenhower. Arlen had written Mr. Eisenhower that he would kill him if the chief executive failed to get him released or transferred from El Reno, Okla., federal reformatory. Smith is serving a term for burglary. Federal Judge Stephen S. Chandler said Smith had been in trouble for the past six years and added, "I have no alternative but to continue your imprisonment until you change your attitude." Smith has 13 months left to serve on a sentence which will run concurrent with the new term, giving him five years of time yet to serve. Chandler said he would recommend the youth be transferred to the federal medical center at Springfield, Mo., for examination. The judge said the five-year term could be extended if Smith's attitude failed to change.

Wolfson Sees A New Fight

CHICAGO — UP — Financier Louis E. Wolfson has served notice there will be "a real proxy fight" for control of Montgomery Ward & Co. if he doesn't get cooperation from the mail order firm's shaken-up board of directors. Wolfson lost out on his first bid to take over the $750 million firm, but he still won enough proxies to seat himself and two associates on the board of directors Saturday. The six other members showed no indication of following Wolfson's lead at the new board's first meeting. But the 43-year-old financial "boy wonder" said he was still willing to go along with his former antagonists if they felt the same way. "We have no idea of a proxy fight in 1956 if we work together," Wolfson said. The board majority handed Wolfson two setbacks at the very start. It ignored his demand for a company president with merchandising experience and instead gave the job to the board's new chairman and successor to Sewell L. Avery, attorney John A. Barr. Christopher Buxton, a British student at Dartmouth, won an essay contest and a trip to Washington. While here he let it out that, in his opinion, American work-manship sometimes is over-rated.

Pakistan Embassy Style Show Shows What Burlap Can Do

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON — UP — What's new in Washington: The Pakistan embassy had a fashion parade, showing what a lady can do with a bolt of burlap if she puts her mind to it. There were lovely things, running the line of stitch from play clothes to evening dresses. Ambassador Syed Amjad Ali said he was very happy, and added, "we are in favor of real progress, but we are afraid of substitutes." Take haircuts, Christopher said. For three months he said he went without a trim because the price here is three times what it is in Britain. "Finally I got one," he said, "and look what I got — scapled!" The young Briton told the barber he wanted a cut, and the clipper thought he said "crew cut."

Johnny Ray In Love With English Girl

BIRMINGHAM, Eng. — UP — Johnny Ray said Monday he is in love with a British girl and she is in love with him "but we probably won't get married for a year." The American singer said he and 21-year-old singer Sylvia Drew fell in love while playing the card game, hearts, which "she usually won." "We are very much in love with each other and she wants a career, too," Ray said. They met only four weeks ago on Ray's singing tour of Britain. Miss Drew sings with the Vic Lewis band which is accompanying Ray at his concerts. "We fell in love quickly," Ray said, "but we decided that in all fairness to her we would wait a year to see if she can make a success of her singing." "We are going to consider ourselves as going steady in the meantime. We have decided that either she will make a success of her singing in a year or give it up. We think marriage should be a full time job for a woman."

High Court Rules Against Contempt Case

WASHINGTON — UP — The Supreme Court ruled Monday that Michigan judges who act as one-man grand juries do not have power to punish witnesses for contempt. The 6 to 3 ruling was a blow at the unusual Michigan state law that permits individual judges to perform the functions customary entrusted to grand juries, including questioning witnesses and returning indictments. The court majority did not say it was unconstitutional to have a one-man grand jury. But it held that "it was a violation of due process" of law for Judge John P. O'Hara, serving as a one-man grand jury in an investigation of Detroit police corruption last year, to impose contempt sentences on two men who refused to answer questions.

In another major ruling Monday, the court rejected the appeals of three Cleveland newspapermen who were convicted of contempt of court for photographing a courtroom proceeding after the trial judge had forbidden pictures. The newspapermen — city editor Louis Clifford, reporter Sam Giammo and photographer James Thomas of the Cleveland Press — contended their convictions violated freedom of the press. They said photographs are a type of news, and that the judge's order was tantamount to "a law against the publication of news of criminal trials." Clifford was fined $500 and Thomas and Giammo $100 each. The Supreme Court refused to review the case in a brief order, without giving any reason. The justices did not act Monday on three of the outstanding constitutional decisions now pending before them. These are the final order on how and when states should wipe out school segregation; whether government employ-

New Type Registered Mail Here

A new type of registered mail, called certified mail, is expected to be adopted in Pampa beginning June 7, according to Mrs. Cassie Bathrope, assistant postmaster.

The new system will be used for registering mail for which there is no monetary value assigned such as legal notices, or the form for severing an insurance policy. Mrs. Bathrope said. Certified mail will cost 15 cents plus the regular first class postage. The additional minimum fee in registry is 30 cents.

For those requesting return receipts, when they send a letter certified, return receipts may be gotten at an additional charge of seven cents. Where the address is sending something of monetary value, it will require the regular registry form.

Postmaster O. K. Gaylor had a few words of advice for the public, advising of the necessity of providing the post office with a change of address from before "you move."

"For those who are building new homes," Gaylor said, "they should have their mail delivered to the old address until they move into their new home. When they actually take occupancy of the new residence, the post office should be then advised of the change of address."

Tot Found Strangled In His Crib

A nine and one-half month old baby was found accidentally strangled to death in his crib last night, according to Police Chief Jim Conner.

Euel Dwayne Guthrie, whose parents live at 209 E. Francis, was found with his head stuck between two upright posts on his crib and was pronounced dead on arrival at Worley Hospital about 4:45 a.m.

Euel was born July 30, 1954. The baby's father is employed at the Parsley Roofing Company.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow in the chapel at Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home. Rev. Raymond Dyess of the Harrah Methodist Church will officiate.

Euel is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Guthrie, 209 E. Francis; one brother, Harrison Ray of Pampa; grandparents, Mrs. Vera Pryor and Mrs. J. L. Baker, both of Pampa.

Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery.

BOARD

board would need a minimum of 30 acres for a public school site. Several weeks ago, the board bought some other property in the north part of town from Will Wilks. But, at the time, Whatley said the land involved was not enough for both a junior high school and an elementary school—both of which school officials say are needed.

School Business Mgr. Roy McMillen presented the board with a many-pages list of items on the school tax rolls which it was proposed should be deleted. They included adjustments, errors in evaluation, overassessments—that type of thing. Some of the items dated back to 1930, McMillen said.

John Campbell and Leslie Hart, representing Panhandle Insurance Agency, were on hand yesterday afternoon to propose the insuring of all school pupils while engaged in school activities with one exception—football. Those in the first through the eighth grades would pay $1.50 a year and those in subsequent grades, plus principals and other school administrative officials would pay $2 a school year.

The matter was tabled by the board, pending the receipt of other proposals by other insurance firms. Campbell and Hart said they would not have to have a board decision till mid-summer.

Board members decided they could not establish a precedent in the matter of Barbara Jean Gelfinger, 228 W. Craven, who was swinging in a school yard when the swing chain broke, dropping her to the ground. Kinard pointed out that Texas statutes state the school system has no liability in such matters.

Pampa Lumber Co. and Home Builders Supply were the two bidders on steel doors for the junior high school. But the board decided to ask for bids again when it was discovered the two firms were bidding on different doors. The east and west doors of junior high are in a "bad state of repair," Kinard told the board.

In other action, the board took under advisement a proposal by the Pampa Country Club that the school system pay, at least in part, for the tree instruction and lack of greens fees that the Pampa Harvesters golfers have been benefiting from for the last few years.

R. A. Baker, of the country club, estimated in a letter to the board that $4,000 had not been spent by the schools on the golfing program for the Harvesters. The board decided to go into the matter and figure out how much per golfing boy, whose parents do not belong to the country club, should be spent.

City Mgr. Fred Brook met with the board and it was decided that Brook, Board member Rex Rose and a Negro representative of the Flats would get in a huddle on the matter of the Negroes using the park where the city is building a wading pool. The decisions from the meeting will be put in writing, on the advice of Teed. The school board recently gave the city permission to use the land concerned, but retained title to the land.

Bill Fraser proposed to the board that he put in feed the acreage that the school board bought from Will Wilks. That way, the dust will be held down, he said. The board agreed and will be paid by Fraser what one-third of the "crop" brings.

Board members also decided to advertise for the school funds depository for the next two years and okayed bills amounting to $1,131.20 and $184.70. The board will also pay 90 per cent of the cost of the high school band uniforms, the remainder to be paid later after satisfactory "performance" of the apparel.

Board Member Gene Green was absent from the session.

On a recent test of speed on British highways, half a mile was covered in 16 seconds flat and several miles approaching London were covered at the rate of 114 miles an hour.

Armed Force Day Rites Scheduled

Pampa's three military units will celebrate Armed Forces Day Saturday at the new Texas National Guard armory building in Recreation Park.

Participating will be the U. S. Army reserve unit, the U. S. Air Force unit and the local National Guard unit.

The raising of the American flag in front of the Pampa post office at 8 a.m. Saturday will precede the day's observances, reserve and Guard officials said today.

The public is invited to come to the armory at any time during the nine-hour period Saturday.

County Docket Slated June 2

Among the criminal cases coming up are three aggravated assault charges, 11 charges of driving while intoxicated, and one driving while license suspended charge.

County attorney Don Cain said the criminal jury cases will be set beginning June 7.

once more. The council hired Dr. Irving P. Krick, a Denver cloud seeder, to try and produce more rain for the city's fast-falling water supply.

Although a $32,000 a year contract wasn't officially approved by the council until Monday, Krick and his crew began work in the Dallas watershed last week.

Dallas Mayor R. L. Thornton said that water "is such an important thing to our city that the council feels we should do everything that can be done to obtain an adequate supply."

Bureau Confirms Twister

As Monday night's thunderstorms rumbled and flashed over the state, wind and hailstorms lashed many areas. The hop-skip-ping tornado in the Abilene area was confirmed by the weather bureau which charted its path and sounded alerts ahead of it.

It skipped through Scurry, Kent, Mitchell and Jones counties. Scurry County Deputy Sheriff Buddy Norris followed it along farm roads for nearly two hours before losing it near Snyder.

Residents of Snyder, Roby, Rotan, Sweetwater, Hamlin, Aspermont, Loraine, Colorado City and Hermleigh rushed for cover and all emerged unscathed. The three-pronged funnel missed the more heavily-populated areas.

Warning On Rights

Notre Dame's ex-dean of law, Clarence E. Manion, charged in a recent radio address that American freedom is exposed to imminent destruction "because of prevailing judicial constructions by which treaties supersede the Constitution."

Not merely the International Covenant on Human Rights and the Genocide Pact, but literally thousands of international agreements now in effect, in the works or awaiting ratification by the Senate will wreck our form of government and wipe out the last shed of protection for our God-given liberty.

Dean Manion pointed out that ours is now one of the very few servant governments in the world. "Elsewhere, government is not the servant but the master of its citizens. Outside of the United States . . . a personal right is something that government grants, but always subject to immediate withdrawal at the government's supreme will."

Manion, the author of several works on Constitutional liberty, charged that it is obvious that "when the United States makes treaties with foreign governments on the subject of personal liberty and other human rights, the United States and the involved foreign governments are not talking the same political or legal language."

A graphic example of the danger to our liberty-protecting Constitutional system, Manion said, is the so-called International Covenant on Human Rights. He pointed to its prescribed right "to freedom of thought, conscious and religion," but then noted a further provision: ". . . freedom to manifest one's religion or beliefs may be subject to such limitations as are prescribed by law."

Dean Manion continued, "The right to 'hold opinions' and the right to 'freedom of expression' are also recognized but, as in the case with all rights described in the Covenant, opinion and free expression are subject to such restrictions 'as are provided by law.'"

"Freedom of association in trade unions is recognized, too," Manion added, "but this, says the Covenant 'shall not prevent the imposition of lawful restrictions on the exercise of this right by members of the Armed Forces or the Police.'"

Manion summarized, "These quotations are typical of the whole involved and bulky document. They illustrate the international as distinguished from the American concept of human rights, namely that these international rights are BESTOWED by the respective governments and that in every instance they are subject to restriction or extinction by governmental regulations."

On the other hand, said Manion, "The pattern of all American constitutions, state and federal, set forth our rights in terms of specific firm restrictions upon the government."

qualified and sole judge of the work of thoughtful scholars. And how then should the work of scholars be judged? By "checking with equally reputable educators."

This giddy conceit stems from a sort of self-hypnosis; it is a manifestation of that dream-world mysticism in which education ceases to be education and becomes holy writ. Its kingdom is not of this world. Teachers College, in this view, takes on the status of a Brahmin temple; it is a seminary, where high priests admit acolytes to the inner sanctums, and the acolytes, elevated and inspired, go forth to preach Dr. Dewey's gospels to all men. When the ordination process is complete, criticism of an educator by a mere layman becomes not criticism; it is blasphemy, it is sacrilege. A layman, even a governor, thus is "not qualified" to judge the work of an educator. Educators should be judged by other educators, and the uninitiate parents should keep their mouths shut.

It is this attitude of quasi-clerical superiority that so often gets the goat of the free-born citizen. He looks around him and observes no one else obsessed with quite the same phony divinity. The citizen feels abundantly qualified to judge his political leaders; he feels no special reverence for the bench, high or low; he sees nothing alien or un-American in assailing a newspaper editor; he challenges the judgments of aldermen, state senators, tax collectors and businessmen. Both labor leader and businessman are fair game for comment and criticism.

But the professional educator, it appears, is somehow different. He stands aloof, apart, above the ordinary hurly-burly. When he writes some hifalutin' nonsense, or offers an essay couched in the toffee-like prose of Morning-side Heights, mere mortals—even governors—must not cry nonsense or criticize the butterscotch goo for what it is. This is to be anti-intellectual."

What the professor was saying here is what a good many of us unbelievers have encountered whenever we are moved to discourse upon the more sacred rites and mysteries of progressive education. He is saying that it is "unwarranted" and indeed "alien" and in fact "un-American" for the Governor of a sovereign State of the Union "to set himself up as a

Drafting Soldiers. Violates Eternal Laws, And Thus U.S. Constitution

Lucille Miller being sent to an insane asylum by a federal judge because she used her influence against drafting soldiers brings before the American people the question of whether or not drafting soldiers is in agreement with Eternal Laws, and thus the Constitution of the United States. She is rendering a service to mankind by reviving this question that has been too generally accepted by men who profess to believe in the ideologies of the Commandments and the Golden Rule and the Constitution of the United States.

It will be remembered that Mrs. Miller was arrested for writing letters to soldiers about their being drafted. She asked for a speedy jury trial. The judge, whom she had criticized in her writings, instead of giving her a speedy jury trial, sent her to a sanitarium, where she was deprived of Norton's "Constitution" and the Bible. She was released on bail and later the judge declared her insane and had the Attorney General put her in an insane asylum in Washington, D. C.

It is her contention that the draft laws violate the Constitution of the United States that says: "Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States, or any place subject to their jurisdiction."

If the Constitution of the United States is based on Eternal laws, then drafting soldiers certainly violates the Constitution. If it is a purely man-made law, without any reference to Higher or Eternal Laws, then drafting soldiers might not violate these man-made laws. If we are to use the wisdom expressed in the Bible as being a guide to Eternal laws, drafting soldiers certainly violates Eternal Laws. And Eternal laws are pretty well set forth in the Ten Commandments and the Golden Rule.

Remember the First Commandment says: "Thou shalt have no other gods before me. . . . That means, if it means anything, that we shall obey the Eternal laws rather than transitory laws made by men. Another of the Commandments is "Thou shalt not steal." And having the bureaucrats, even if they are elected by the majority, take a man against his will and direct his life is certainly a form of stealing, according to the Eternal Laws. The draft law certainly violates the summary of the Ten Commandments—"Thou shalt not covet anything that is thy neighbor's." And remember that Jesus constantly warned that no one can serve two masters. He said: "No man can serve two masters; for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon."

And Peter and the other apostles said: "We ought to obey God rather than men."

And the constitution of Eternal Laws certainly is the guide that men should attempt to live by if they want to promote peace and good will and even material well-being.

Man's Character Shlipping

This drafting of soldiers has done a lot to deteriorate the character of man in the United States. The only wars the United States ever should have been in were the Revolutionary War and the War of 1812. We did not draft soldiers then and men volunteered to defend their lives and their property. The first time we resorted to drafting men was in the Civil War and that was not really drafting because men could hire a substitute. Undoubtedly we would not have been in World War I or World War II if the government had not had the power to draft soldiers. And if we had not been in either one of these wars, we would not have had atomic and hydrogen bombs that are causing men to seek security rather than liberty and freedom.

Drafting soldiers is a nice example of the wisdom of Pope's statement: "Vice is a monster of so frightful mien, As to be hated needs but to be seen; Yet seen too oft, familiar with her face, We first endure, then pity, then embrace."

When drafting soldiers was first established during the Civil War, people were horrified at the thought of American citizens being subject to enslavement by the state. But since it became established by degrees, it has gradually been accepted—and of course the government going into the educational business and drafting children to be indoctrinated and have their brains twisted in conformity with the ideas of the politicians, who are always seeking more and more power, had its influence in making people accept the draft laws.

Drafting laws are one of the primary tyrannies of any country. No country that believes in drafting soldiers can have free citizens. They are wards of the state instead of having the state a servant of the citizens.

Lucille and Manuel Miller are performing a service to the American people by bringing to their attention how drafting soldiers violates both the U. S. Constitution and the Eternal laws of God.

US Foreign Aid Program Faces Serious Opposition

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — America's vast foreign aid program, which has been expanded in the last two years so as to commit us to defend and rehabilitate 700 million people in 39 countries on three widely separated continents, today faces the most serious opposition since its inauguration in 1947 by General George C. Marshall, Dean Acheson and Harry S. Truman.

Even erstwhile supporters of the plan to rebuild our Allies in the cold war against Russia rebel against President Eisenhower's demand for $3.5 billion for fiscal 1956, insisting that it be cut down. The principal argument leveled against another huge donation by American taxpayers are these:

(1) When the program was proposed in Marshall's Harvard address in 1947, it was promised that foreign assistance would be needed for only four years at a total cost of about $17 billion. Eisenhower and Harold E. Stassen say that it must be continued indefinitely, perhaps permanently.

(2) The vast expenditure of money, according to foreign observers, has not succeeded in winning friends for the United States. Many of the major beneficiaries begrudge us our generosity, and oppose our policies overseas.

(3) Permanent outpouring of American funds, in view of our financial straits (a peak public debt, excessive taxes and an unbalanced budget), will play into the hands of the Russians, and bear out the forecast of Lenin, who said: "We shall force the United States to spend itself to destruction."

The foreign aid program was recently criticized by two spokesmen so well qualified that their impression has made a profound impression on Congress. The two were Hugh G. Grant, former Minister of Thailand and Albania, and Indro Montanelli, editor of a leading Milan newspaper.

Grant characterizes continued aid as a "fantastic" venture.

"Some of this friendship," he warns, "is extremely dubious, as indicated during the Truman police action in Korea, where American battle casualties totaled about 140,000 men, while streams of strategic war materials flowed to the Red enemy from some of our major Allies.

"And, despite the enormous expenditure of American lives and wealth in Korea, our military commanders were prevented by our Allies in the United Nations from winning this war, the first example of its kind in American history."

In effect, former Minister Grant fears that the United States may go "broke" in an unsuccessful effort to "buy" friends and Allies. Editor Montanelli explains why we have not been able to make friends with dollars.

"Why," he asks, "is America so unpopular, even in those countries which she has liberated and subsequently helped to rebuild and rescue from starvation? . . . They

States Dodge Attempts To Pass Responsibilities

BY PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Eisenhower administration policy to shove more responsibility back on to state governments is having its two-day conference of state governors in Washington.

In the national defense session, the governors complained that too much of the civil defense job had been given to state and local governments. They wanted the federal government to do more.

On the 101-billion-dollar, long-range highway program, there were strong dissents from the governors on paying for it by a federal tax on gasoline. Some governors felt this was a source of revenue that should be left to the states. But they were all for having the federal government foot the bill for more roads by money grants to the states.

On the Salk polio inoculations, Washington had planned to give the states direct responsibility for distribution of the vaccine to local doctors. Many governors complained this put too great a burden on the states.

The governors heard no reports from Eisenhower administration cabinet officers and economists on the general business situation. But this became a number one topic for consideration when the Democratic governors met separately, after the White House conference was over.

Gov. Averell Harriman of New York brought it up. He observed that while production was at record highs, employment wasn't. Bankruptcies were running at record rates. Farm income was at a low level of parity. He blamed it all on the administration's economic program.

There was considerable political sour grapple in this line, but other governors support it.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams pointed to record high auto production, along with five per cent unemployment in Michigan.

Gov. George M. Leader of Pennsylvania complained of seven per cent unemployment in his state, along with ten per cent of the nation's 140 surplus labor areas. He reported this was due largely to drops in coal production. He said the Scranton area had relieved this by bringing in 80 new industries in the last ten years.

But what Governor Leader proposed as a corrective was not more state or local government action. He wanted an extension of federal tax depreciation allowances to industries that located new plants in the areas of greatest unemployment.

There was also a tendency to blame everything on Washington. Gov. Ray Gary of Oklahoma blamed unemployment in the oil fields on the federal government's oil import policy.

On the farm price drops, Gov. Hugh White of Mississippi said cotton quotas cutting small farmers down to four acres or less, made it impossible for them to make a living.

Young Gov. Orville Freeman of Minnesota said the impact of 75 per cent dairy price supports was most serious. "There is no imaginative, creative planning at the national level," he declared.

The Eisenhower administration planning all along has of course been to decentralize authority from Washington and give the states more responsibility for solving local problems.

For instance: Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, just back from a tour of the dust bowl is counting on a coming conference at state level to develop more local drought relief programs.

It is the administration formula for letting the states set the unemployment insurance rates and other labor legislation.

The administration policy on aid to education is to give the states major responsibility on school construction.

There is of course still much southern states' rights sentiment for local determination of school segregation policy. But this is almost the only other area in which there is strong support for state, rather than national government control over many local matters.

Family Doctor Keeps Track Of Age By Log Of Ailments

By HENRY McLEMORE

A good way to keep track of your age without reference to the family Bible or a call to the old family physician is to keep a log of the kinks, aches, stabs, cricks and other miseries which attack you.

This is particularly effective when you are in your forties or beyond, as I can vouch for from personal experience. Until a man reaches forty he is reasonably free from aches as unexpected as they are unexplainable, but once the human bark sails into the waters of the fourth decade it is buffeted by a steady stream of minor afflictions.

A man will go to bed as free from aches as a log, sleep as soundly as one, and awaken with a smile on his face. Then he will lift his head off the pillow only to find that sometime during the night a corkscrew, or something that feels like a corkscrew, has been twisted into his neck. The first six or seven times this happens the man is able to convince himself that he just slept the wrong way, or that a stray Arctic blast happened along and played on his neck all night, but after that he knows what's the trouble, even though he won't admit it.

Another way Nature has of keeping his birth date firmly fixed in a man's mind is the way that unseen assassins will jab what feels like an ice pick into the calf of his leg or up around his hip when he is walking along. If this happens when he is with someone—and this is especially true if the someone happens to be his wife—the man is very apt to blame the sudden limp on a sports injury he suffered when in high school or college.

"That ol' football hurt keeps coming back on me," he'll say, even though a search of his yearbook would reveal that the nearest he ever came to bodily contact was on a debating platform or in the glee club.

Another thing that a man has to guard against as he gets along in years are those invisible pranksters who bind him in a chair with invisible straps. I am always getting ready to spring from a chair only to find that when I spring, I don't. A sort of airplane seat belt holds me back, forcing me to make a show, if more dignified, ascension. This is doubly true if I have been sitting for quite a while in a deep-cushioned chair.

Unlike wine, a man's knees do not improve with age. They don't lose anything in outward appearance, being pretty homely to start with, but the hinges on which they swing start playing dirty little tricks. After driving a car for a two- or three-hour stretch a man should be wary of making too hasty an exit from his machine. If he isn't, he is likely to discover that his knees have become as set as a washboard and for the first minute or so he will have to walk about as if he were a member of a hopscotch team. This does nothing for the ego, I can assure you.

It gets so that a man can't count on going through a day without some part of him being ambushed by peaky pains. And they strike apparently without rhyme or reason. A toe will start aching just as he is lining up a putt—a toe that he hasn't given a thought to since he stubbed it forty years ago. Something that feels as if it would look like a streak of lightning will zig-zag across his ribs and disappear out his shirt collar. An almost forgotten elbow will develop a soreness that will linger for a day or two and then be gone without so much as a goodbye.

That Methusalem must have felt like something when he was 500 going on 800!

HAIL, COLUMBIA (TEACHERS COLLEGE)

(The Richmond (Va.) News Leader)

In the remarkably satisfactory uproar that followed last week's game of education squat-tag, in which everybody stuck to base and nobody was it, quite a stream of correspondence came flowing in; and among the more interesting items in the moraine of brickbats, dead cats and old master's deers was a copy of a letter sent by an associate professor of social science, whatever that is, to Governor Stanley. The professor was aggrieved by Mr. Stanley's action in condemning and recalling that conglomeration of pedagogy and propaganda known as Course of Study for Virginia Elementary Schools. He said, among other things:

"As I understand it the conclusions about our political, economic life were arrived at by responsible and reputable educators. Among these was Dr. Hollis Caswell, now president of Teachers College, Columbia University. Apparently you are now saying that their scholarship and sober judgments are not only unwarranted but also 'thoroughly alien and un-American.' It seems to me these terms apply more appropriately to a Governor who sets himself up as a qualified and sole judge of the work of thoughtful scholars, by condemning it without checking with equally reputable educators. Is this not dictatorship pure and simple?" (Our italics.)

What the professor was saying here is what a good many of us unbelievers have encountered whenever we are moved to discourse upon the more sacred rites and mysteries of progressive education. He is saying that it is "unwarranted" and indeed "alien" and in fact "un-American" for the Governor of a sovereign State of the Union "to set himself up as a

It is nonsense to say that Quemoy and Matsu are not important to the defense of Formosa. In Communist hands they are the places from which assaults can be launched against Formosa. Can we believe the Communists when they tell us that they only want Quemoy and Matsu—that they will not proceed from them to an attack upon Formosa? After their many violations of the Korean Armistice and the Geneva Convention, what would such a promise (or any promise) from the Chinese Communists be worth?

Even if he's crowned, this lad will undoubtedly prefer his present bushy headgear.

MARTYRS BEATIFIED—In the glow of candlelight and amid the breath-taking beauty of St. Peter's Basilica in Vatican City, a ceremony of beatification was carried on for 56 Roman Catholic martyrs. Four French Jesuits and 52 Chinese Catholics, slain in China during the 1900 Boxer Rebellion, were elevated to the glory of the altar in this solemn rite.

NEPTUNE SPAWNING GROUND—The new Lockheed Aircraft Corporation P2V-7 Neptune goes through four stages in its straight-line final assembly line working its way toward the exit in Burbank, Calif. It's a sub-hunter, sub-killer, patrol craft, minelayer and bomber, as naval operations demand. In the four positions shown here, Neptunes go through many production steps, all of them taken care of by experts. They're called "jack-of-all-trades and master-of-each."

IT FIGURES — Other entrants didn't have a chance when pretty Ruth Williams' skeleton was judged in the Miss Correct Posture Contest in Chicago. It was obvious on the surface that Ruth was a beauty, but it took an X-ray machine and a plumb line hanging behind her to set everyone straight about her posture. Anyone can see it's good.

CONTRAST—A Saudi Arabian villager halts his alfalfa-laden donkey to watch an employe of an American oil company sink a putt on a desert golf "green." The greens of the courses are made with oiled sand and enthusiasts keep right up with their game.

HOMERS OFF LOPAT—First man up for the Cleveland Indians was Al Smith, an outfielder who wasn't bothered by New York Yankee "junk" pitcher Ed Lopat, who had 40 wins and only 12 losses against the Indians. Smith homered and he's being congratulated as he crosses the plate by Bobby Avila, who's waiting to bat. Cleveland won, 7-4, in its home town.

10 YEARS LATER—The War Room, where envoys of the German High Command signed an unconditional surrender to Allied Forces at the end of World War II, has become an historical monument. It's one of the leading tourist attractions in Reims, France. Here, a college instructor is explaining to a class of students the meaning of various maps and charts which cover the walls. The signing took place on May 7, 1945, in this room which was visited last year by some 24,000 persons.

OLD AND NEW — Pretty Katherine Shiroma, right, wears a traditional Japanese kimono while Jane Toda sports the smart uniform of an air line stewardess. The girls, both from Hawaii, are among the first group of U.S. citizens of Japanese descent to be chosen for that work.

STAR OF STARS—Actress Viveca Lindfors, in center, is surrounded by other Broadway stars as she holds the Drama League Award given her for the "outstanding performance" of this season in New York in the play "Anastasia." Surrounding her clockwise are: Don Ameche, Gloria Marlowe, Hildegard Neff, Patricia Jessel, Barbara Cook, Gretchen Wyler, Eugenie Leontovich, Miss Lindfors' co-star, and Shirl Conway. They're all in hit plays.

MEN'S FASHIONS and accessories are still much in the news — and since men's apparel has been slow to leave the ultra-conservatism behind, it's almost more news than women's fashion. We're still on that fashion show for men, too. Below is a description of some more choice items shown . . . The Oriental robe, the "Vendome" hat and, of course, that sensational new Roman cuff. How cosmopolitan we're getting!

THAT FORCED ORIENTAL tour that some Americans have been taking at Uncle Sam's expense was bound to have its effect.

One of the minor sensations at the men's fashion forum sponsored by Esquire and Esquire's Apparel Arts magazines at the Waldorf in New York and attended by several hundred men's fashion leaders who paid $100 each to see what styles would reign in the fall of '55 and winter of '56, is the short robe.

In bright orange corduroy, it borrows comfort from the Japanese kimono, with full 3/4 sleeves and generous size pockets. The shirt worn under it sports new Roman cuffs which are narrow cut — the same width as the height of the short point spread collar which is about half the width of the usual cuff.

Never happen? They said they wouldn't wear pink shirts or Bermuda shorts either!

THE SENSATIONAL NEW "Vendome" hat, low crowned for low slung auto tops, goes well with a reversible raincoat — black on one side, light on the other.

Both items were among thousands shown at an all-day Fashion Forum. The hat looks good on almost any shape of face and makes a Gary Cooper of Joe Dokes. Originally intended for evening wear and designed in Paris, it is

RUTH MILLET

It is usually a mistake for a woman to ask advice of her women friends.

Take a woman friend along to help you pick out a hat and unless you are lucky you are liable to come home either without a hat or one you wish you hadn't bought.

Well, with the best intentions in the world it is difficult for one woman to advise another about what she should wear. It is too hard for the advice giver to keep her own prejudices out of her opinion.

Without even intending to, she usually urges the other woman to buy something that catches her eye because it would be becoming to her.

What is true of clothes is just as true of home furnishings. Only you know what you really need, what you can afford to pay, what kind of an atmosphere you are trying to create. So when you take a friend along to help you pick out a sofa you are more likely to come home with one that would be just right for her house than with one just right for your own.

And certainly it isn't wise to consult your friends about your personal problems. They want to keep your friendship so they aren't going to tell you that you're in any way to blame if you tell them about the fight you and Jim had. They're going to side with you. And instead of getting a clear insight into your problem, you'll go home more convinced than ever that all the right is on your side.

So if you have a decision to reach, a problem to solve, or a selection to make, remember the wo-

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Two months after Eric's brother was born, his mother placed Eric in her local nursery school. He has not "adjusted." His teacher thinks he's jealous of the baby. She says he'll accept his new school experience as soon as he's accepted his new home one. And she warns that removing him will hurt him psychologically.

His mother writes: My family thinks I should remove him. One person says one thing; somebody else another. I am so confused. Please tell me what you think. . . .
But what I think doesn't matter any more than it matters what Eric's teacher or his mother's family thinks. It's his mother's thinking that matters here.

As it's confused, let's see if we can clarify it.
It could be that her thought is this: "I want to keep Eric in nursery school because it keeps him and his troublesome jealousy out from under my feet for five hours a day."

This, of course, is a shockingly selfish thought. So Eric's mother may be pretending she isn't thinking it. If so, it's why she's been pursuing the thoughts of other people. It's why their thoughts have been making her feel more and more helpless and inferior. Let's just accept this selfish thought. It won't be easy. Eric's mother will loathe the idea that she has a selfish idea. But the struggle to be kind toward her own selfishness is moral warfare. And I promise she'll be rewarded for her victory.

She will find kindness in herself for Eric's jealousy.
Now because she can't sympathize with her own selfish wish to get rid of Eric for five hours a day, she has no appreciation whatever of Eric's wish to get rid of that inconvenient baby. His desire to have things cozy for himself is a bore.

Well that's the way we're always doomed to feel toward children's selfish wishes when we're scared of our own. If his mother is brave enough to know her own struggle, her decision will be made. She'll want Eric home with her all day to help him with his.

Canadian Park Is Dedicated

By JOEL COMBS
Pampa News Staff Writer
CANADIAN—Approximately 1,200 enthusiastic Canadians enjoyed the opening day of the new Canadian

City Park yesterday amidst old time games, contests and southern fried chicken.
The park dedication program started promptly at 6:30 p.m. but dozens of kids had already enjoyed an hour or more of playing on the new playground equipment which includes teeter-totters, swings, merry-go-rounds and others with more to come.
Mayor Malouf Abraham opened the day's festivities, with a welcoming address in which he gave most of the credit for the work on the leased park ground to the city employees.

The Canadian High School Band and Chorus played and sang several selections during the evening. Included among the numbers by the band were a medley of marches, "This Ole House" and "Shake, Rattle and Roll." The chorus sang "On Top of Old Smokey," "David's Lamentation," and "Good Night, Irene."

"Three Men in a Tub, a trio of Canadian High School boys entertained the crowd with their renditions of "Davy Crockett" and "Cigarettes, Whiskey, and Wild, Wild Women."
After the prayer of dedication and invocation, the crowd settled down to the immediate task at hand—eating. Such a spread of fine food has not been available in these parts in a long time. Each family in the city on the river tried to out do the other in fixing the best picnic supper, it seemed.
Free ice cream and pop were provided by the City and an ice cream distributor.

Following the meal, the group took part in several games and contests including a men's suitcase race in which four men had to run to a certain point and put on a suitcase full of women's clothes with the help of an assistant, and run back to the starting point.
Other contests included a boys sack race, a women's husband

Oklahoman Admits Texans Do Get Around, Rogers Says

In his weekly newsletter to the people of the eighteenth district, Pampa's Congressman Walter Rogers tells of a time an Oklahoman had to admit that Texans really do get around. He says:
"My good friend Tom Steed, who ably represents the 4th Congressional District in Oklahoma, is serving on the Public Works Committee and recently represented this government and Congress in the opening of the Inter-American Highway between Nicaragua and Costa Rica. This was the first time that it has ever been possible to go from the Capital of Costa Rica to the Capital of Nicaragua on an all-weather highway. It is one of the important links in the Inter-American Highway which we all hope will be completed in the not too distant future. Tom is a very loyal Oklahoman and never fails to heckle any of us Texans about everything from football to flapjacks if he thinks Oklahoma might be a little bit superior at that particular time. As soon as he returned from Central America and the dedication ceremonies, he looked me up and said, "Rogers, I've got to tell you this story even though it might hurt my pride." He then proceeded to relate to me the fabulous ceremonies attending the cutting of the ribbon and the opening of this important gap of highway, about the gathering of the natives from both countries and the high officials of the governments. He said that immediately after the ceremonies had concluded and the highway had been officially opened, everyone was waiting to see the first car to make use of the road. He said it was just a few minutes before a car hove into sight, and everyone was waiting to see where it was from. Tom's face then fell and he said, "I swore it couldn't happen, but it did. The license plate was TEXAS." He then laughed, because he is an excellent sport, and walked off mumbling to himself that no matter where you go, the first fellow you run into is a Texan, even in the wilds of the Central American jungles."

Man Killed Over Dice Game Cash

FORT WORTH — UP — Wilcie Turner (Blackie) Matthews, 30, was shot to death early Monday during a Fort Worth tourist court argument over dice game winnings. Matthews had been charged three years ago in the pistol slaying of his wife.
James Clyde Parrish, 33, former Fort Worth motorcycle officer, was arrested in connection with Matthews' death at Valley View Courts No. 2 on East Belknap. Matthews and two other men had been in a dice game, according to reports received by Homicide Detective A. C. Howerton.
Howerton said one of the dice players was A. M. Horwitz, 25, a vice president of the Keystone Pipe and Supply Co. Howerton was looking for a fourth man, who left the tourist court in a cab with a $50 bill to get change before the argument began.

Police Hunt Saucer Joker

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. — UP — Police were looking Monday for some practical jokers who rigged up a gadget that terrified citizens thought was a flying saucer.
Residents of Corpus Christi called police Sunday to report a "saucer" was flying over the Gulf. An Eastern Airlines plane and a Coast Guard plane were sent out to cover the area where the "saucer" was reported. They could find nothing.
Then, six students picknicking on the bay found the gadget that had caused all the alarm. It had floated into shore.
The "saucer" was a propeller mounted on an iron frame. On both ends of the propeller blade was a small waterproof flashlight. Two kites were tied to the frame and were held aloft by about 100 yards of rope. When the wind lifted the kite, the frame took off from the water allowing the propeller to spin wildly and give the illusion of a saucer in flight.

Today's power cars ride smoothly. But your tires feel lumpy, stiff, noisy, and they wear out. B. F. Goodrich SAFETYLINER has patented inner liner that changes blowouts to seal-offs.

THE POWER TIRE FOR TODAY'S POWER CARS
Power Starts — It turns slip to grip with 36% to 46% more traction on wet roads.
Power Go — It takes out the blowouts caused by bruises.
Power Stop — It gives new protection against skids on skidgy pavement.
Power Turn — Its near-silent tread resists side-skid to give you better control.

WONDER HOW MUCH the Amarillo Gold Sox would pay the Oilers to get Tom Pollet back?

Pollet, even if he doesn't win another game for the Oilers this season, has already been worth many more times what the Pampa club paid Amarillo for him.

The Oilers paid just $100 for the tall right-hander. Pollet turned in one of the top pitching performances we've seen when he stopped Abilene on three hits Sunday at Abilene to win 7-1.

The only unfortunate thing about Pollet's game Sunday was that he didn't get a shutout. The long Abilene run was unearned. But Pollet didn't mind about not getting his shutout though, so long as the Oilers won the ball game.

Actually only one Blue Sox runner earned his way as far as second base. Villodas doubled in the fourth inning to reach the midway station "honestly."

Villodas' rap scored Howard Bierman from first base for the Abilene run. Bierman was on base via an error. Bierman, too, was the only Blue Sox to advance beyond second base.

In other words Pollet hurled one heck of a ball game against the Blue Sox Sunday.

Blue Sox Stadium has worked up a "gimmick" whereby they have a pennant for all eight clubs in the WT-NM League flying high on the grandstand roof just above the entrance.

And the pennants are ranked in the order of the team's standing in the league.

We stuck out our chest a little when we walked into the park Sunday since the Pampa flag was flying high at the head of the heap.

Abilene is getting the inside track on Amarillo and Lubbock for admission to the Texas League if a chance beckons for such a move for any of the WT-NM clubs.

I'm sure the Texas League officials will take serious consideration on this year's attendance before taking any new members in.

About the only change in any change in the Texas League setup as it now stands is a replacement for Beaumont. Beaumont has been hanging on the past two or three years and for a spell last year it looked like the southeast Texas city would be without baseball for the 1955 season.

Wichita Falls, Lubbock, Amarillo and Abilene were being talked for a replacement for Beaumont.

Abilene made a formal application the past winter for admission to the Texas League after Beaumont solved its difficulties and remained a member.

Amarillo, too, has been dicker-ing for a possible franchise in the Texas League or some other higher league but as far as we know they haven't made any formal applications.

Champ-Cockrell Rematch Talked

By JACK CUDDY

SAN FRANCISCO —UP— Promoter Jim Norris said Tuesday he hoped to re-match Rocky Marciano and Don Cockrell of England "in the not too distant future," but, meanwhile, Marciano "certainly will defend again in September" against some other contender.

Norris added, "Cockrell won American hearts last night with his game stand against the champ."

Unbeaten Rocky, making his fifth defense of the world heavy-weight crown, used his brand new left uppercut effectively against the champion of the British Empire and scored a technical knockout over him at 54 seconds of the ninth round in Kesar Stadium.

Most of Damage

I did most of my damage with the left uppercut, said the unmarked champion Tuesday. "It's a new punch I've been practicing a lot. Of course I worked on his body too."

The combined head and body attack before 15,235 fans in the chilly stadium hammered chunky Cockrell into bloody helplessness, floored him three times and stopped him in the ninth round.

The fight grossed $196,720. Pre-fight predictions from the promoters were for a $350,000 gate and an attendance of 28,000.

Rocky, fresh from his 48th straight victory as a professional, praised lavishly the brown-haired hog farmer of Horam, England. The 30-year-old swarthy "Rock" from Brockton, Mass., declared, "I've fought a lot of brave men in my time, but this fellow was tops."

The courageous 26-year-old challenger disclosed Tuesday that John Simpson, his manager, had wanted to stop the fight in the sixth

Is Cardinal Pitching This Effective?

By UNITED PRESS

Is the St. Louis Cardinal current pitching the real thing or the calm before another storm of enemy base hits?

That's Manager Eddie Stanky's $64 question now, after rookie southpaw Luis Arroyo hurled the Cardinals to a 6-0 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates Monday night. In sweeping the three-game set, the Redbirds limited the Pirates to a grand total of one run and 13 hits.

Those three fine performances marked the first time this season that Stanky's pitching looked top-flight. The hitch, of course, is that Sam Jones of the Chicago Cubs pitched a no-hitter against the non-hitting Pirates just before the series began.

That left Stanky wondering whether the Pittsburgh sweep proved the Cardinals have solid pitching or merely that anybody can beat the Pirates.

Arroyo, a 27-year-old native of Penuelas, P.R., who pitched last year for Columbus, Ga., in the Sally League and Houston in the Texas League, limited the Pirates to six hits in scoring his third win without a loss. Arroyo collaborated with Herb Moford in shutting out Cincinnati on April 30 and last Friday snapped a seven-game Cardinal losing streak with a five-hit triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Idle Pampa Has Lead Trimmed

By UNITED PRESS

Pampa, idled by rain Monday night, claimed the lead in the West Texas-New Mexico League by only eight percentage points Tuesday.

Plainview, with an 8 to 6 victory over Lubbock, caught up with leading Pampa in the games-behind column. But Plainview has won one more game and lost one more game than the Oilers and was officially eight percentage points off the pace.

Albuquerque also moved a half game closer to the lead Monday night by edging Amarillo 5 to 4.

In the only other game played, Clovis downed the cellar team, El Paso, 13 to 11.

Pampa had to sit tight when their game at Abilene was postponed because of rain.

At Lubbock, Bob Upton won his second league game without a defeat to help Plainview get one foot into first place.

TROUBLE IN KIPLING COUNTRY

Western diplomats are worried over an explosive dispute between Afghanistan and West Pakistan over the "Northwest Frontier" of Rudyard Kipling. This 190,000-square-mile strip — larger than California — contains the Kyber Pass, historic gateway for invasion of India from the North.

Alliances Cheaper, Group Told

DALLAS — Defense alliance costs obviously are cheaper than war, a cabinet aide told a Dallas group Tuesday.

The speaker was H. Struve Hensel, assistant secretary of defense for international security affairs. He addressed the Dallas Council of World Affairs.

Hensel's topic was "Collective Alliance — Are They Necessary and How Should They Be Supported."

Hensel emphasized the alliances are a necessity saying "we are part of a single world in which the distances have shrunk and the interdependence of the nations increased."

"Defense alliance expenditures are, obviously, cheaper than war. If they can prevent war — and that is the purpose of our program — the money cost of the ounce of prevention is almost negligible when compared with the money cost of war."

Hensel said our foreign policy is not a partisan political issue.

"In its essence, it was started before this administration and in its essence, it has been continued. It is both bipartisan and non-partisan. It is common sense."

MAKING A GO OF LIFE

By ROY L. SMITH

Read Matthew 6:9-15

Faith and fruits go together. For many years it has been the custom to judge men's spirituality by the "beliefs" they have held. If a man could "prove" that Jesus was the Christ, or that God was a reality, this ability identified him as a Christian regardless of the spirit in which he lived. Obviously this has been a mistaken emphasis, for Jesus himself said: "By their fruits ye shall know them." (Matt. 7:20)

A logical theology furnishes the intellectual base for religion, but Christlike acts and conduct are the fruits of a spirit. The right spirit will produce a Christlike life; a wrong spirit will produce an evil life.

Good religion is attested by reasonable beliefs, but it is demonstrated by the fruits of godliness. We have a right to ask, "What do you believe?" but before we pass judgment on a life we must also ask, "How do you live?" It is precisely at this point that much formal religion has missed the mark. A genuinely spiritual life requires straight thinking, but it also calls for straight living. A few simple questions make this perfectly plain. Can you carry your loads without worrying? Can you meet discouragement without being dismayed? Can you return to the attack on evil after being defeated? Can you continue in godliness in spite of appearances? Can you walk confidently in the dark when you do not understand? Have your beliefs produced within your life such spiritual graces as tolerance, peace, serenity, gentleness, kindness, and patience?

Good religion calls for a belief in life after death, but it is also deeply concerned in relieving the tensions of this life.

My life is a divine gift conferred upon me by thee, O God. It was planned as something glorious, and the spiritual materials to make it such are awaiting me. I know thou art ready to give them to me. Make me ready to seek them at whatever cost they may be obtained. Amen.

Make an honest examination of your life and your religion, and honestly if you can: Are you any kinder, more generous, or more agreeable than you would have been if you had not been religious? Has religion improved your living?

A baby will consume 315 pounds of food in its first year, of approximate cost of $120.

Heir Killed In Accident

JUNCTION CITY, Kan. —UP— John W. Baughman II, 20-year-old heir to a trust fund totaling more than $3 million, was killed in a highway accident near here Sunday.

Baughman was the grandson of the late John W. Baughman, of Liberal, Kan., owner of thousands of acres of wheat and cattle land in Kansas, Colorado, Oklahoma, Texas, and New Mexico.

Officers said young Baughman, a student at Kansas State College, was en route to his home at Liberal when he apparently fell asleep at the wheel of his automobile. The car struck a bridge abutment on Highway 18, 15 miles west of here. Officers said the automobile apparently was traveling at a high rate of speed.

The elder Baughman, who died last year at the age of 82, willed his grandson half of an estate totaling about $6 million with the money to be held in trust until young Baughman was 35. In event of the grandson's death, the trust would go to his children, and if he had no children it would go to nephews and nieces of the grandfather.

GUNS DON'T INTEREST HIM NOW

Gen. John Salling, one of three surviving veterans of the Confederate Army, seems more interested in the camera than in little George Elkin's pistol. The old soldier recently spent his 109th birthday quietly sitting at his Slant, Va., home, wearing a new "Texas style" hat and eating from 40-pound birthday cake.
