UNFAMILIAR SCENE -- Motorists in Pampa had to slow their pace today to make the intersections without spraying water everywhere. This is a typical street corner scene recorded at 10:15 a. m. today on South Cuyler at Brown. The rains were welcomed by almost everyone except the housewife who had to keep the children indoors and the Little Leaguers who had to postpone today's games. (News Photo)

Texas Gets Potpourri For Weather Menu

By UNITED PRESS
Cloudburst, tornadoes, fist-sized hail and violent electrical storms swept over nearly all the South Plains section of Texas Tuesday night, and ominous black clouds still hung over the area Wednesday, threatening more rain.

to San Antonio and northwest to Abilene and into the Panhandle. One tornado went through a tenant farm on the Bill Hobgood place, eight miles north of Abilene, smashing farm buildings and equipment. But it left untouched the house in which the Hobgood family composed of three children were.

Chillicothe Missed
Another twister dipped to the ground near Chillicothe, but missed the city. Police Chief Henry Bunch said that he received a report one automobile was blown into a field, but the driver, unhurt, waited out the storm and then drove back onto the road. Funnels were sighted at both Vernon and Wichita Falls. County agents in the Panhandle reported the land was "in fine shape" for planting. But the torrential rains of the past week have prevented farmers from working their fields.

Practically all the South Plains section was drenched with rain. Falls of two to three inches.

'Monsoon' Hits Pampa

The Panhandle "monsoon" which has fortunately smiled on Pampa these past two weeks, has found a new ally in the rain falling here since May 1, according to a tabulation made by The Pampa Daily News. Scattered showers which began falling Tuesday night through 10:45 a. m. today have measured .32 inch according to the weatherman at Radio Station KFDN, but from the way Pampans are having to jump over islands of rain on local streets the "inundation" seems to be greater.

County Agent Ralph Thomas said

the rains will be of immeasurable aid to area pasture and range lands. He estimated a depth of about a foot and a half of soil has received moisture in the area. Locally, the rain began falling about 9:45 p. m. Tuesday and continued intermittently until this morning. About 8:30 a. m. today the "rains came" and still showed little signs of letting up as of noon. The radio station reported .17 inch between last night and 5 a. m.; .35 inch falling this morning until 10:45 a. m.

The most fortunate part of the Panhandle was the area around Perryton. The weatherman there at Radio Station KEYE reported 2.30 inches, falling since 8 p. m. Tuesday. The city was receiving steady showers this morning. Southeast of Perryton 5 inches of rain was reported. Neighboring Spearman had reports varying from 1.5 to 4 inches. Since May 10, Perryton has received 3.27 inches of moisture.

Over at Panhandle, the official weatherman, A. J. Weiser, measured the moisture falling since 8 p. m. Tuesday at .78 inches. The first good rains we've had since May of last year. The May measurement he said for 1954 was 5.91 inches. For some reason, "the entire Panhandle seems to be doing well as regards rain, but missing us."

Shamrock this morning, according to Radio Station KEVA, reported only a trace falling in the past 24 hours, but showers had begun falling this morning, promising a "good shower."

Other measurements in the area according to area forecasters were: Booker, Okla., 2.90; Darrouzett, 1.30; Beaver, Okla., 2.12; Liberal, Kan., 2.83 and Farnsworth, 3.50. The Pampa forecast is for considerable cloudiness with scattered rain showers, today, tonight and Thursday with little change in temperature.

Zhukov May Aid Big Meet

Ike Says In Conference

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower said Wednesday that some value might result if his old World War II friend — Soviet Marshal Georgi Zhukov — attends the Big Four conference and he gets a chance to talk to him personally. The President told his news conference that Zhukov's presence at the forthcoming, top-level talks would give him a chance to talk personally with Zhukov on events since 1954 when they last saw each other.

And, Mr. Eisenhower said, we just might get some value out of such a meeting. But the President told a reporter who asked if he "would like to have Zhukov present" that he had not considered the suggestion.

Mr. Eisenhower said he has not had any correspondence lately with Zhukov, the Soviet defense minister. Asked if he plans any correspondence with the Zhukov, the President said not at the moment. Mr. Eisenhower spoke at length about various phases of the Big Four conference of heads of government, making these points:

1. He said there seems to be a developing thought that a neutral belt might be built up eventually from northern to southern Europe. But he said it must be remembered that Austria, newly set up as a neutral power, is not disarmed. He said he believes Austria and Switzerland, another neutral, would fight valiantly if attacked.

2. He flatly rejected some criticism in Congress that the President's attendance at a Big Four meeting with Russia was an act of appeasement. The President said he did not believe that for a minute. Speaking personally, he said there is no appeasement in his heart. Appeasement, to him, he said, means selling the rights of others. The President said he does not believe the American people think their government is going into the appeasement trap at an East-West meeting.

Caution Expected
3. He said the United States is going to be cautious and vigilant during the top level talks. But the United States will not overdo this to the extent that it would bar a search to lower the burden of armaments and hunt for peace.

4. Agreed with Dulles that some of the "great problems" for Big Four discussion will include disarmament, German unification, the problem of the satellite states and the penetration of other nations by international communism. The President said these were the kind of problems for which the heads of government might set paths for later solution by specific groups and exchanges.

5. He expressed confidence that the American people don't expect too much from a head of government meeting. But at the same time, he said, they do not want to ignore the chance of taking even a tiny step towards peace hopes.

Appears With Dulles
Mr. Eisenhower met with reporters after appearing with Dulles last night on a nationwide televised foreign policy "chat" with the American people.

Dulles believes that the big four talks will open new opportunities to roll back the Russian Iron Curtain now isolating eastern Europe.

Nannie Doss Is 'Guilty'

TULSA — UP — Mrs. Nannie Doss, who has cheerfully confessed to poisoning four of her five husbands with arsenic, asked for a district court hearing and entered a surprise plea of guilty to a formal charge she murdered one of them.

The 50-year-old grandmother, inclined to giggling, was smiling as usual when she faced Judge Elmer Adams Tuesday. He will sentence her on May 31.

County Attorney J. Howard Edmondson said he would make a showing at that time to support his demand that Mrs. Doss be sent to the electric chair. "You realize, don't you," Judge Adams asked the plump defendant, "that you have the right to a trial by a jury? You realize you can be sentenced to death in the electric chair or to life imprisonment if you plead guilty?"

Mrs. Doss answered with a smile: "I plead guilty."

Four Jets Top Mark

NEWCASTLE, Australia — UP — Four U.S. Air Force P-54 Thunderjets streaked here Wednesday from Tokyo on a record-breaking 4,800-mile non-stop flight that demonstrated American ability to strike anywhere in the Pacific.

The flight of the fighter-bombers which are capable of carrying an atom bomb from New York to Moscow was marred by the crash in Japan of one of two escorting planes. The pilot was not seriously hurt, but was hospitalized.

The 4,800-mile flight was the longest ever made by single engine jets. They refueled in flight over Guam, Port Moresby and Townsville, Australia, from KB-29 Flying Tankers sent ahead to demonstrate the Air Force's long-range plans.

Operation Handclasp
The arrival at Williamtown Royal Australian Air Force Base touched off a two week "Operation Handclasp" goodwill visit to Australia which also carried the assurance that the big U.S. Far East air force stand by to aid Australia as in the last war or to move into troubled southeast Asia quickly if needed.

The four planes left Tokyo at 4:31 a. m. (1:31 p. m. est Tuesday) and landed here 11 hours and one minute later—just one minute more than the Air Force had estimated.

The pilot of the crashed F-54 bailed out safely and was hospitalized with only minor injuries. His crippled plane crashed into a thickly populated area of central Japan and ripped the roofs off four houses, injuring one person.

Pilot Not Named
The Air Force did not disclose the pilot's name immediately.

Rains Slow Field Work

AUSTIN — UP — General rains have slowed field work but materially improved cotton, feed crop and summer pasture prospects over much of Texas, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reported Wednesday.

The USDA said in its weekly crop and weather bulletin that recent rains over the low rolling plains and parts of the high plains were "ideally timed" as cotton and sorghum planting started. However, in parts of that area, particularly the southern and southeastern low plains, only light showers have been received and additional moisture "is needed to even assure germination," the report added.

In East Texas, only light showers were received and the lower Valley and Trans-Pecos had only light sprinkles.

Rains came too late to save the bulk of the dryland wheat crop on the high plains and parts of the low rolling plains, the USDA said. Development of commercial vegetables was "satisfactory" in most areas.

GIRLS JUST LIKE BOYS

MADISON, Wis. — UP — Superior Court Judge Roy Proctor said it was a switch on the usual case when a girl appeared before him charged with one-arm driving while she had the other arm around her boy friend. "I've had a lot of boys in here on that charge," Proctor said, "but this is the first time I've had a girl."

USSC Racial Rule Coming

WASHINGTON — UP — Chief Justice Earl Warren indicated Wednesday that the Supreme Court will issue an order before it recesses for the summer on how states should carry out its ruling abolishing school segregation.

"As has been the practice for many years, action in all argued cases is expected to be announced prior to adjournment," Warren said in a speech prepared for delivery before the 32nd annual meeting of the American Law Institute.

The court heard arguments last month on how its historic, year-old decision should be carried out. The justices will decide how and when the states should finally lower the racial bars in public schools.

There had been a possibility the court might break with precedent and delay its ruling until next fall because of the importance of the decree and the vast sociological and legal problems involved.

But Mr. Warren's statement apparently means the court intends to hand down its order within a few weeks. The high tribunal is now scheduled to recess May 31, but the date may be postponed for several weeks if the justices find they cannot meet the deadline.

Most of the chief justice's address was devoted to the problems of the nation's federal courts. He said that they are understaffed, overloaded with cases and hampered by "inadequate facilities, outmoded practices."

18 City Blocks Up For Paving

James Cowan, city director of public works, announced this morning that 18 additional city blocks are scheduled for paving pending the clearing of weather.

The Jarvis-Sone addition is tabbed to get 10 blocks paved and one block in Prairie Village will be topped.

Cowan said that five blocks in the Fraser Annex No. Two will be paved as will the 100-block of West Georgia and the 200-block of West Louisiana.

By Ike In His News Conference

WASHINGTON — UP — President Eisenhower told his news conference Wednesday that the supply of Salk polio vaccine is sufficient to complete first shots for first and second graders in the relatively near future.

Mr. Eisenhower at the same time strongly defended Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, secretary of health, education and welfare, against charges of "gross incompetency" in handling the vaccine. The President said he found Mrs. Hobby's record highly efficient.

Speaking of the vaccine supply, the President said he was informed this morning that there was enough to complete the first shot for first and second graders.

He said if some children could not be given the vaccine by the end of school, particularly in the South, plans were being set up for special inoculation days after the school season.

Mr. Eisenhower seemed openly resentful toward criticism leveled at Mrs. Hobby Tuesday by Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) who said she should be removed from office immediately for "gross incompetency."

He said it was a waste of time to discuss such a statement since Mrs. Hobby had proved herself to be highly efficient and a person of great character. He said also she had done a magnificent job in her department.

He was asked—completely aside from the Morse criticism—about a report that Mrs. Hobby for personal reasons was going to leave the government in a few months. Her husband has been in poor health.

He said the only woman member of the cabinet had placed him on notice months ago that conditions might arise that might compel her to leave the government.

Saigon Gets Hot Again

SAIGON, Indo-China — UP — Rebel snipers stalked the streets of Saigon Wednesday in what officials said was the beginning of a large-scale terrorist campaign against American-backed Premier Ngo Dinh Diem.

Two loyal Viet Namese officers were shot and killed and two others gravely wounded by the roving terrorist bands Tuesday night. The gunmen were believed members of the Ninh Xuyen gang of ex-river pirates whose private army was driven from Saigon by Diem's loyal army troops after violent street fighting.

The new "offensive" came even as Diem pressed urgently for talks with the United States, France and Britain to bolster his shaky regime.

Informal sources said the big three almost certainly would reject Diem's proposals for a four-power meeting.

Officials said the Catholic premier sent notes to the western Big Three May 13 asking for a conference in Saigon to examine means of strengthening his government and improving mutual relations. There were unofficial reports that Diem proposed the conference be held on the foreign ministers' level.

Most People Have Faith In Vaccine

By UNITED PRESS

The vast majority of American parents still have faith in the Salk polio vaccine and will let their children receive further inoculations, a survey showed Wednesday.

But some have changed their minds and may withhold their youngsters from the second round of mass inoculations.

A United Press spot check showed the greatest reluctance to continue the program was in California, where 36 children have come down with polio after receiving inoculations of vaccine prepared by the Cutter Laboratories of Berkeley, Calif.

The second round of mass inoculations was getting under way this week in California. But Siskiyou county authorities postponed the program indefinitely after 30 to 50 per cent of the parents withdrew their consent.

In Los Angeles and Los Angeles county, where 16 of the 38 cases have occurred, parental withdrawals were running about 15 per cent. Shots were given to only 67 per cent of an eligible 17,564 youngsters on the opening day of inoculations.

Withdrawals were also on the increase in some other states and cities. But in most areas the number of parents, who had changed their minds about the revolutionary vaccine was negligible.

Gray County Gets Go-Ahead

Permission has been granted to the county health officer, Dr. Joe Gates, to give the second Salk polio vaccine shot to those students whose schools will "let out" this week.

Gates reported that he wired to the State Board of Health yesterday to get permission to give the shots and received the go-ahead later in the day.

The present schedule calls for the vaccination of the Grandview first- and second-graders.

The Grandview first- and second-graders were vaccinated this morning from 8:30 to 9 o'clock in Highland General Hospital.

The remainder of the schedule calls for the vaccination of St. Matthew's Episcopal and Holy Souls first and second graders to get their shots Friday morning at 9 o'clock in the Holy Souls school.

The Hopkins school will be visited from the inoculation team Friday afternoon. Inoculations will begin about 1:30 p. m.

This Performer Doesn't Mind Putting His Audience To Sleep

By ALFRED LEECH
CHICAGO — UP — "Just sit back and relax," Dr. Arthur Ellen said.

"Put your feet on the floor," he said. "Relax."

I tried to, but it had been a busy day and I felt tired and sort of tense.

In a soft, pleasant voice Ellen told me to imagine I was walking through the woods on a hot summer day.

"You're tired," he droned. "Your legs are heavy — so heavy you can hardly take another step."

Ellen is a hypnotist by trade, but this was not hypnotism.

"Just a simple demonstration of the power of suggestion," he said. What he did for me Ellen hopes to do for a great many others. He is recording an album with pretty much the same spiel he used on me.

Ellen won't guarantee it will work for everybody, but he feels the records should be a boon to a lot of people caught up in today's frantic tempo.

Ellen, a handsome, dark-haired guy, was a consulting psychologist until he switched from the lecture platform to show business.

His only problem is drunks. "You might say they're already hypnotized," he said.

Second Underwater Atomic Test Successfully Completed

WASHINGTON — UP — The government announced Tuesday it has "successfully completed" history's second underwater atomic test—presumably of a nuclear depth charge or other missile designed to destroy enemy submarines. The first underwater atomic explosion was set off July 25, 1946, at Bikini in a test of nuclear weapons against naval ships. The new test was held to get information for developing a defense "against submarine attack."

Civil Service Audit Jobs Are Available

The U. S. Civil Service Commission has announced an examination for Internal Auditor for filling positions paying from $4,205 to $9,600 a year in the Post Office Department. The jobs are located in Washington, D. C., and in Branch Audit Offices throughout the United States.

Despite this assurance, spokesmen for the West Coast sardine fishing industry asked that the test be cancelled. They expressed fear it would damage sardines during their spawning period.

In trying to avoid doing any damage, the government followed recommendations of Scripps Institute of Oceanography experts on sea life and currents. Tuesday's announcement said nothing further would be said "concerning the military results of the experiments."

It appeared likely that the weapon exploded ranged in energy yield from around 1,000 tons of TNT equivalent to 5,000 tons. It also seemed evident that it was in the form of a device that could be dropped or fired into the sea and exploded at the desired depth.

It has long been known that the Atomic Energy Commission has perfected a family of nuclear weapons ranging from mammoth city-killing H-bombs down to comparatively low-yield warheads for rockets and torpedoes.

Apparently it was something that could be dumped like a depth charge or from a surface ship or submarine. The distance from land appeared to preclude fixing firing from an anchored ship, as at Bikini in 1946, or from a vessel held in position by cables from shore.

Further information and application forms may be obtained from the Commission's representative, W. Stowell or Conner Hicks, civil service secretary, located at the Post Office in Pampa, or from the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C.

CONAD Man Talks Force

PUEBLO, Colo.—UP—Maj. Gen. Frederick H. Smith Jr., deputy commander of the Continental Air Defense Command, sees the Soviet Union as a potential enemy which could do great, and perhaps ruinous damage to the United States if not forestalled by vast defensive power.

The CONAD officer told an Armed Forces Week gathering here Tuesday Communist nations "appreciate only force in their dealings with the international family."

He said Russia had to be considered "a potential enemy" with the capacity to "inflict grievous, if not catastrophic, damage" upon this country.

"We face a serious and current growing threat... coupled with the capability to attack us in a fatalistic ideology implacably determined to destroy our democratic way of life," General Smith said.

Red Farm Group Gets Visit OK

WASHINGTON — UP — The United States said Tuesday it will admit a delegation of Russian agricultural specialists for a visit to this country when the Soviet Union submits their names.

In a note delivered by the American Embassy in Moscow, the United States proposed that the Soviet Union send a delegation of about 10 persons to visit farming areas of the United States between July 10 and Aug. 10.

"It is contemplated that the central part of the tour would be concentrated in the state of Iowa, where Iowa State College, at the request of the United States government, is willing to undertake to make appropriate arrangements for the reception and itinerary of the Soviet delegation," the note said.

The idea of such a visit grew out of a Feb. 19 editorial in the Des Moines Register and Tribune. It suggested that Soviet farmers visit Iowa and Iowa farmers visit Russia.

By naming an official delegation the Soviets avoid fingerprinting requirements. A proposed visit to Soviet student editors was canceled at the last minute last month because of Russian objections to fingerprinting.

An American farm delegation will visit Russia in exchange. This status will be selected in consultation with the Agriculture Department, Iowa State College and others. The U. S. note asked Russia to indicate how many Americans it would like on the U. S. delegation.

JayCees Hear Rev. Crews Tell Of Communist Threat

Rev. Richard Crews, pastor of the First Christian Church, told the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce yesterday noon that the American people need to put one faith — that in "Christ's church" — first in order to combat the threat of Communism.

The people must get over their paganism, materialism and indifference, and present "a united front," Rev. Crews pointed out, if they are to defeat Communism, which is "a faith, it has all the earmarks of a religion."

His serious remarks followed the recitation with dialect of an amusing story in which an Italian immigrant boy describes to his mother what he saw at his first baseball game.

Following his talk, Sheriff Rufe Jordan made the presentation of a plaque to Mrs. Gladys O'Gorman, mother of Leo O'Gorman, who won the second annual Pampa JayCee teenage safe — driving road-e-o O'Gorman in the regional road-e-o, the winner of which will go to the state competition.

Rev. Crews preceded the main part of his serious talk by indicating that these were "messaged-up, confusing times of great crisis and change" — just like they were in the early 1930s.

The threat of Communism, he said, is not so great as that to the American spiritual heritage caused by indifference, "religiously, morally and politically."

The answer, the pastor said, is "to put one faith first." "Who is really the head of your church?" he asked, then answered, "It should be Christ's church."

Bob Carmichael, the new president of the club commented after Rev. Crews had finished that May was the JayCees' "Back To Church" month. Carmichael also announced that a donkey baseball game between the JayCees and the Optimist Club would be held June 10, probably in Oiler Park, and that the annual JayCee — junior golf tournament would be held sometime after June 1 in Pampa, the winner competing July 14-15 in Abilene in the state meet.

New members admitted to the club were Gene Imel and Dale Walker. Guests included Mrs. Charley Wilkerson, Highway Patrolman Monty Colter, Driver License Examiner Walter Roberts, KPAT's Bob Harris and Police Chief Jim Conner.

Two Killed In Big Fire

TACOMA, Wash.—UP—A three-hour fire raged through a four-story apartment house here Tuesday, killing two persons and injuring three more.

Fire department officials said six other tenants of the Stanton apartments could not be accounted for, but added that there was a "strong possibility" they were not in the building when the fire broke out about 5:30 a.m. Tuesday.

Firemen were searching for bodies in the charred hulk of the old, frame building.

Killed in the blaze were Mrs. George Betchart, 64, and Don Sigafos, 37. Only one of the three critically injured was immediately identified, as David Wallrat, 64.

Polish Communist Leaders Are Worried Bunch Of People

By CHARLES M. MCCANN, United Press Foreign Analyst
Polish Communist leaders probably are a worried bunch of people right now.

Little mention has been made of Poland in the surge of diplomatic activity that has resulted from the ratification of the West German armament treaties.

It is true that the Iron Curtain governments met in Warsaw last week to conclude their new military set-up. That was merely a formality.

But Poland may be much more prominent in the news in months to come.

Willing to Betray
There have long been indications that Soviet Russia would be willing to betray the Polish Reds in an attempt to prevent the materialization of the German armament program.

It would be a most logical move for Russia to hold out hope that if Germany might itself a neutral country, Poland would be forced to give up its rich German territory it now occupies.

It is most unlikely — in fact, it is incredible — that Germany ever will accept neutral status for good. Germany is a world power and it is certainly not the neutral type. Its men are born soldiers.

Also, Germans most likely figure privately that they will get back their territory from Poland sooner or later, one way or another.

But there is nothing to keep Russia from trying the neutrality dodge.

It will be remembered that Nazi Germany invaded Poland from the West on Sept. 1, 1939, to open World War II, and that the greedy Russian Reds invaded it from the east on Sept. 17. Hitler and Stalin then partitioned the whole country between them.

At the Yalta conference in February, 1945, the United States, Great Britain and the Soviet Union agreed that after the war Poland must be given substantial territorial concessions from Germany.

This was decided upon to compensate Poland for the 70,000 square miles of territory Russia had grabbed.

Farm Fund Increased

WASHINGTON — UP — The House passed a bill Tuesday giving farm spending programs a $105 million more than President Eisenhower asked for them.

The bill is expected to clear the Senate and reach the White House has decided to put more money into farm programs than the President in a day or two. It will be the third year in a row that Congress denied wanted.

House passage was by voice vote. The appropriation bill provides $696,917,855 in new cash and $388,000,000 in lending authority for the year starting July 1. It also provides authority to commit the government to spending $250 million on soil conservation subsidies to farmers for the year starting Jan. 1.

This was an increase over the Eisenhower budget of $20,155,897 in cash, $11 million in lending authority, and $75 million in conservation subsidies.

Mrs. Douglas Out To Find Sexy Girl For Kirk To Love

By ALINE MOSBY
Hollywood — UP — Kirk Douglas put his wife to work Wednesday on a picture and her first job: Find a sexy beauty for him to make love to on the screen.

But Mrs. Anne Douglas didn't blink an eye at that order when she took over the job of casting director for Douglas' independent movie company with husband Douglas as the producer-boss.

Attractive Anne joins the increasing ranks of husband-wife producing teams. Actress Ann Pierce gave up acting to work behind the scenes with her producer-husband, Stanley Kramer, on such films as "Not as a Stranger," Mrs. Samuel Goldwyn works as hard on "Guys and Dolls" as her famous producer husband.

"I also wanted to work because I hate to be left out of everything Kirk does," explained Douglas' bride of a year. "I'm not so much out of the game now when he comes home to talk business."

"Besides, I like activity. I'm not the luncheon, bridge club type wife."

Douglas literally married his press agent, Anne, a Belgian, first worked as casting director on such movies as "Moulin Rouge." She met Douglas in Europe when he hired her to handle his publicity for "Ulysses" and "Act of Love."

"He called me to say I had the job and then asked me out to dinner," she laughed. "But I would not go. I said 'either I work for you or I don't.'"

"We became good friends. Later a romance began. My friends thought he would just return to Hollywood and forget me."

But publicist Anne was invited to movietown later by Douglas. When she arrived there, she said, "He asked me to marry him."

"I tired of lying around the pool," she went on. "He promised I could work with him when he started his first independent production, 'The Indian Chief' (in which Douglas also stars)."

"The first part I had to cast was an Indian girl who had to be sexy. She has love scenes with my husband. I was looking for this girl with mixed feelings. But my professional integrity finally won — even though I would have preferred Marjorie Main got the part!"

The girl she signed is a New York model, beautiful Elsa Martinelli, who arrived from Italy only four months ago.

The idea of such a visit grew out of a Feb. 19 editorial in the Des Moines Register and Tribune. It suggested that Soviet farmers visit Iowa and Iowa farmers visit Russia.

By naming an official delegation the Soviets avoid fingerprinting requirements. A proposed visit to Soviet student editors was canceled at the last minute last month because of Russian objections to fingerprinting.

An American farm delegation will visit Russia in exchange. This status will be selected in consultation with the Agriculture Department, Iowa State College and others. The U. S. note asked Russia to indicate how many Americans it would like on the U. S. delegation.

JayCees Hear Rev. Crews Tell Of Communist Threat

Rev. Richard Crews, pastor of the First Christian Church, told the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce yesterday noon that the American people need to put one faith — that in "Christ's church" — first in order to combat the threat of Communism.

The people must get over their paganism, materialism and indifference, and present "a united front," Rev. Crews pointed out, if they are to defeat Communism, which is "a faith, it has all the earmarks of a religion."

His serious remarks followed the recitation with dialect of an amusing story in which an Italian immigrant boy describes to his mother what he saw at his first baseball game.

Following his talk, Sheriff Rufe Jordan made the presentation of a plaque to Mrs. Gladys O'Gorman, mother of Leo O'Gorman, who won the second annual Pampa JayCee teenage safe — driving road-e-o O'Gorman in the regional road-e-o, the winner of which will go to the state competition.

Rev. Crews preceded the main part of his serious talk by indicating that these were "messaged-up, confusing times of great crisis and change" — just like they were in the early 1930s.

MAKING A GO OF LIFE

By ROY L. SMITH
Read Corinthians 15:12-22
We must live for the next world. Our fathers talked much about heaven and pled with sinners to accept forgiveness that they might be sure of entrance thereto. That emphasis has been lost sight of in much modern preaching, and the loss has been very great for we do not live trivially when we live for two worlds. We are in need of the long look of eternity in modern religious thought, for such a belief will sanctify all of life.

Mastery over this world prepares us for the glories of the next. If life in heaven is to be a spiritual existence, then this life is our opportunity to develop the skills that will be needed if we are to enter into that life to its fullest advantage. "Blessed are the pure in heart," said Jesus, "for they shall see God" (Matt. 5:8), and this life is our opportunity to purify our lives in anticipation of the life with God.

Men have jested about sin, but only because they have not realized its seriousness. One does not joke about a dread disease if one is afflicted with it. Neither does one joke about sin if he understands how it despoils life.

Sin is not an invention of the preachers, as certain of the intelligentsia would have us believe, but a mismanagement of life which results in corrupted spirits and closed doors. The sinner is never to be envied, always to be pitied. Sin never enlarges life; it always has the effect of shutting man away from spiritual joys which are his birthright as one made in the image of God. Good religion must provide salvation from sin by teaching sinners they can open their lives so that God can come in. Thou art ever near me, O God, but I have missed the many times, because I have thought it was something or someone else pleading with me to take the way of righteousness. Forgive me for my dullness and lack of spiritual understanding, Amen.

"TELEPHONE IS THE CENTER OF OUR FAMILY CIRCLE"
These are the words of Mrs. Colin Stewart, one of a group of Southwestern Bell customers who recently kept a day-to-day record of telephone calls made and received during one week.
Until she kept this record of calls, Mrs. Stewart says she never realized how important a part the telephone plays in her family life.
You see, Mrs. Stewart's husband is retired now, and though they spend more time together, she still likes to keep in touch with all of her family—a daughter, son-in-law and four grandchildren.
Above are just a few of the telephone calls Mrs. Stewart listed during one day. They show why she says that the telephone is the center of her family circle.

7:00 a.m. My daughter called me to ask if I would be home so the children could come for lunch. I said, naturally, I'd love to have them.

9:15 a.m. I called the grocer, as I do most mornings, to order food for the children's lunch. Wanted it delivered before noon.

12:15 p.m. My grandson called his mother from our house to tell her everything went fine at school and he had finished all his lunch.

2:30 p.m. My son-in-law called me to say he would be a little late in picking up the children on his way home from work.

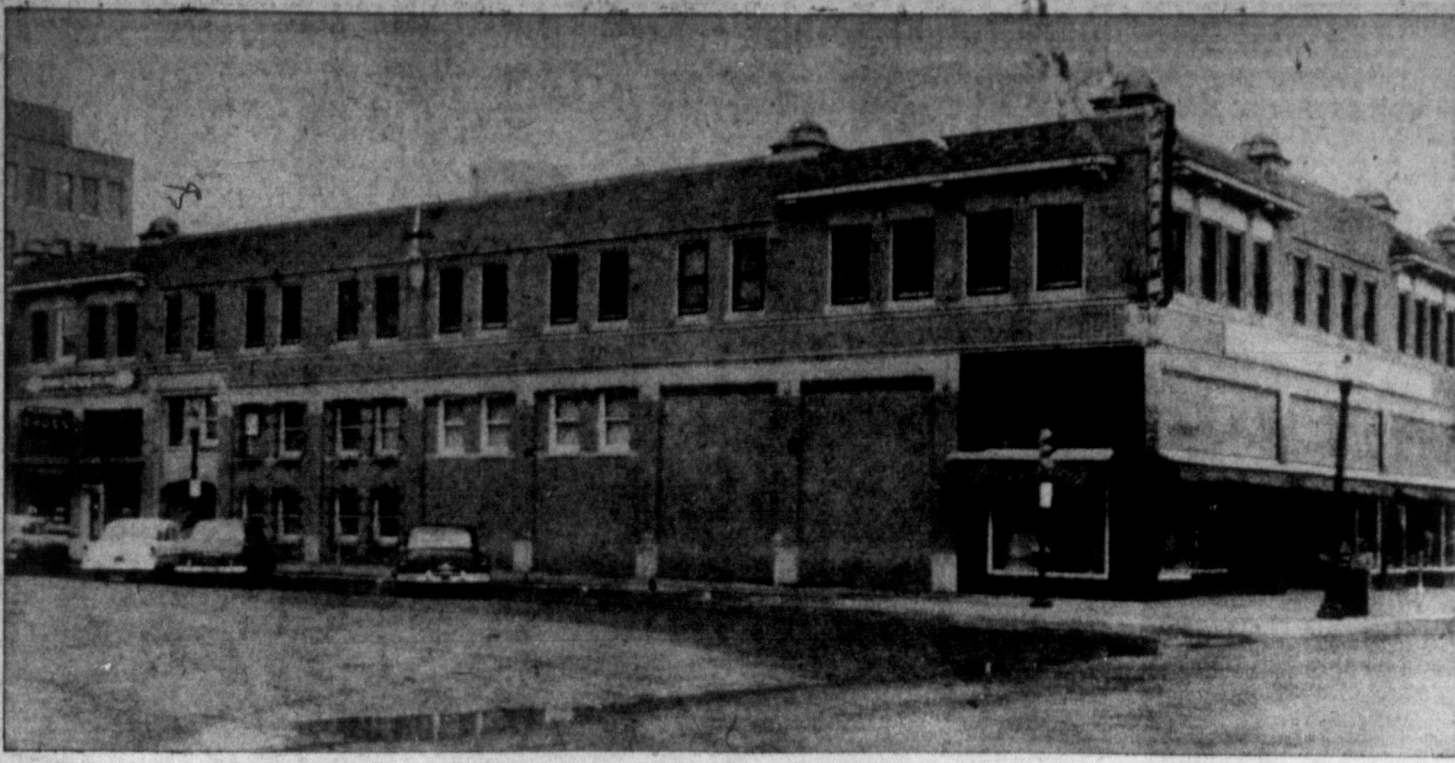

4:30 p.m. I called a friend who had invited my husband and me to come for the evening. I told her we would be a little late as we were keeping the children right up to dinnertime.

UNDER NEW OWNERSHIP

The Pampa Realty Corp. is the new owner of the Rose Building, according to Clifford Braly, attorney for Bonnie Rose in the transaction. The firm purchased the building and final details were worked out yesterday. The sale includes the part housing the J. C. Penney department store but the lease that company holds will be good until 1966. The building was erected in 1929 with Bonnie Rose and his brother, the late Tom E. Rose, as owners. (News Photo)

Military Reserve Bill Up Today

WASHINGTON—UP—Critics of the President's compulsory military reserve training program hoped to soften it with amendments in the House Wednesday. But supporters were confident it would pass intact. Chairman Carl Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House Armed Services committee said "the critics... have presented indictment but have offered no remedy" for the program. He said the House would pass it. But a barrage of amendments had to be dealt with before a final vote. Chairman Graham H. Barden (D-N.C.) of the House Education committee called for one to let high school and college students take their military training during summer vacations. Rep. Dewey Short (R-Mo.) urged outright defeat of the program. He said it was a "sugar-coated" step toward universal military training. The measure would require every man entering military service to spend a combined total of at least five years on active duty and in the ready reserve. It also would permit between 100,000 and 250,000 pre-draft age youths to volunteer for as little as six months active duty provided they follow it with 7 1/2 years in the ready reserve. Other developments: The Senate Investigations subcommittee opened hearings on alleged graft in the purchase of uniforms for the armed services. Chairman John L. McClellan said the investigation would touch on at least 10 contracts, involving millions of dollars, for Navy raincoats, military garrison caps and white Navy sailor caps. TRADE Rep. Wilbur Mills (D-Ark.) charged President Eisenhower "has surrendered to the protective tariff wing of his party." His criticism came as a 10-man conference committee of which he is a member began efforts to reconcile conflicting Senate and House versions of the President's liberalized foreign trade program. Mills' charge was prompted by Mr. Eisenhower's acceptance in advance of the conference of all but one of the so-called "protectionist amendments" added to the bill by the Senate. The House voted down such amendments. FARM The Senate Agriculture committee met in closed session to consider a House-approved bill to junk the administration's flexible farm price support program and restore rigid 90 per cent supports. Sen. Milton R. Young (D-N.D.) predicted committee approval by a 9-to-6 vote. Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.), champion of the flexible program, conceded the bill may get approval of the committee but said it has no better than a 50-50 chance of passing the Senate itself. YACHTING The administration bill to authorize $28 million to provide free polo inoculations for some 10 million needy children was introduced in the Senate by Chairman Lister Hill (D-Ala.) and Sen. H. Alexander Smith, ranking Republican member of the Labor committee. Hill said there is "no doubt whatever" Chairman Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) of the Senate Armed Services committee supported demands for an investigation of whether Russia is about to surpass the United States in air power. He said the investigation would fall within the field of his committee's preparedness subcommittee headed by Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.).

3 Crashes Kill 11 People

GUADALAJARA, Mex.—UP—Three highway smashups near here that killed 11 persons and injured 57 all were blamed Wednesday on speeding. The worst occurred when a bus driver lost control of his vehicle near the village of Amatitan, 35 miles east of here. The bus plunged off a curve and overturned several times before smashing into some trees. Six persons were reported killed and 35 hurt. A large truck loaded with a baseball team and a group of fans en route to a game left the road and overturned while racing another truck, police said. Five were reported killed and 20 injured. A man and a small girl were critically injured in the third accident on the same road as the truck smashup.

Indian Service Will Stay Same

DENVER—UP—The U.S. Public Health Service intends to make no change in medical and health services to Indians when it takes over those functions from the Bureau of Indian Affairs on July 1. Dr. James R. Shaw, chief of the Indian Bureau's health branch, said Tuesday that he will remain as head of the services when they are transferred to the Public Health Service. He told a meeting of federal officials involved in the administrative switch that "there will be no reduction in health services or facilities for the Indians." "The Public Health Service and the Bureau of Indian Affairs will work in close co-operation to assure continuity of medical and health services after July 1," Dr. Shaw said. "Changes in policies and procedures will not be made immediately. However, the congress has directed that the health needs of the Indians be reviewed carefully and completely and changes made in the future if studies indicated the need." "The objectives of the Public Health Service are to make the improvements in medical and health services to the Indians intended by the congress," he said.

PREPARATIONS FOR AN OUT-DOOR PARTY

at this time can be a chore. There are the chairs and tables and other lawn-party equipment to get out of winter storage and clean or otherwise ready for the event. However, your vacuum cleaner can be an aid. The article below tells how.

and you're planning a lawn party? You will want to have a festive atmosphere, of course, but after going through a morning of hectic preparation, such as shopping, checking hubby's gardening, setting the tables, preparing the food and other necessary duties, you may find you have hardly enough breath left to blow up those rubber balloons.

Relax! Use your vacuum cleaner. Sounds silly? Not if you listen to Madge Lewyt, Director of the Home Service Department of a major vacuum cleaner company. Miss Lewyt has done much research and has come up with several unusual ways to use your vacuum cleaner outdoors.

Here's how to blow up the balloons. Insert a kitchen funnel into the neck of the balloon. Then use the blower of your vacuum cleaner in the funnel. Bingo! Your balloon will be inflated.

That's one of several outdoor uses for your cleaner, says Miss Lewyt. For example, you can inflate your child's rubber wading pool. The blower again. And the blower will help start the flame of your barbecue. The sprayer attachment of the cleaner, says the Home Service expert, is handy too, for spraying insecticides outdoors.

If you think of it, you may want to use the cleaner in its conventional manner. The powerful suction, says Miss Lewyt, will help you clean your garden umbrellas, remove cobwebs on the terrace, clean screens — and remove silks from corn on the cob!

GRADUATION BRIEFS:

If you're planning a graduation party, check your local greeting card shops for the kind of card that can be used as decorations for colorful placecards and other party accessories. Kaye King, gift wrapping stylist for Hallmark Cards, says these items can greatly simplify your party planning.

A handkerchief card, combining an attractive hanky with a handsome, ready-to-mail greeting card, is a new and ideal graduation gift this year.

Graduation presents will mean even more to their recipients if they're wrapped attractively in special graduation gift wraps. New designs this year feature appropriate end-of-school themes.

A novel graduation greeting allows the sender to wish the graduate good luck as he enters any of 13 professions. The card can be set to specify journalism, nursing, engineering and similar careers.

Graduation cards are available this year in many special titles, such as those for son, brother, niece, nephew and so on. There are special cards, too, to be sent to the graduating nurse.

Cook's Nook

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

During the last blitzard of the season, we had a very special dinner in Rochester, N.Y., at the home of the J. Frank Birdsalls.

So that it becomes a beautiful piece of furniture and have you not even notice, or worse yet, say without really looking, "Yeah, that's fine" when she shows you what she has done.

It is also discouraging for a woman who puts in long, hard days at her job never to have her husband tell her he is proud of the home she has made for him, or the way she handles the children, or that he appreciates what a good manager she is.

So think of that, you men, next time some recognition at the office sets you up and makes you feel like a million. As you are looking forward to telling your wife about your triumph, stop and ask yourself this question:

"How long has it been since I have given my wife any reason to feel as proud of the job she is doing as I now feel about my own work?"

Muffins will come from the baking tin in one piece, if the pan is placed on a cold, wet rag for a few minutes immediately after being taken from the oven.

We thought it the best fresh fruit dessert we've eaten in a long time. When this former major serves a dinner, it's a dinner.

Mrs. A. A. Webb installed the new officers.

Eleanor Owens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Logan Owens, read the poem which won first place in the state Class "A" division of the Texas Inter-scholastic League.

First grade pupils presented a program of recitation and song.

Every normal working day more than one million tons of revenue-earning freight is carried on British rail ways by 20,000 freight trains. This is a substantial increase over prewar records.

RUTH MILLET Junior High Pupils Exhibit Art Work

The art works include original cartoons representing experiences in the lives of the students, portrait sketches of classmates, greeting card designs, poster and transparent and opaque water colors.

One high school student, Franklin Baggerman, has a pencil drawing on display.

Several pieces were exhibited earlier in Fort Worth, where honorable mention and achievement awards were given. The three winning first places in this state exhibit were Carolyn Teague, Larry Trollinger and Franklin Baggerman. They were awarded gold achievement keys. These pieces were sent to a national exhibit at Carnegie Institute in Pittsburgh, Penn.

This is the third annual junior high school exhibit, sponsored by the Art Club. The eighth grade art teacher Miss Roy Riley.

GRACE FRIEND

Dear Grace: My son who is in the Air Force is to be married when home on leave to a girl here we know and love. It will be a small afternoon wedding in the church or church hall.

The bride will wear a suit. My son will be in uniform. My problem is what shall I wear? A light suit or an afternoon dress. Would a light gray suit be appropriate for my husband?

What is expected of me? Thank you very much for your help.

B. T. Since Mrs. T.: Since the bride is wearing a suit, I would suggest that you follow her example and wear one too. However, it is quite proper for you to consult the bride and ask her what she would prefer for you to wear and even if she would like you in a special color. I imagine that since she is to be in a suit she will want you to wear one too.

Your husband will be properly dressed in a neat suit.

BROKEN ENGAGEMENT Dear Grace: I have to perform a hard job and I am not sure how to go about it.

It started some time ago when my older daughter was engaged to a young man whom we all like very much. Then she went away to school and he started taking my younger daughter out. They fell in love and eloped. Since he is stationed in another state with the Army now they went right on there and neither one has bothered to tell my older daughter so I must write to her, and as soon as possible.

How shall I break the news to her? Distracted Mother: Dear Distracted Mother: The best way is the quickest and the shortest.

No matter what method you use or how you try to make it easy for her it is going to hurt her very much as she still loves him.

So tell her in straightforward fashion what has happened and as much about the situation as you can.

I suspect that she may be prepared in part as she probably hasn't been hearing from the boy very often and no doubt the tone of his letters has changed. So unconsciously she may be expecting the news that he has left her.

MANNERS MAKE FRIENDS

"It's pretty — but what is it?" a guest asked the bride-to-be when she had opened a shower gift and held it up for admiration. Fortunately the bride knew the answer. But it was a rude question — for she might not have known and then she and the giver both would have been embarrassed.

It's always wise to think before you ask a question.

Solon Asks 90 Per Cent Price Drop

WASHINGTON —UP— Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey proposed Tuesday that small farmers be guaranteed 90 per cent of parity for their crops but that price supports be curtailed sharply for large farmers. Under legislation drafted by the Minnesota Democrat, farmers would be given 90 per cent of parity for the first $25,000 worth of their crops and 75 per cent of parity for the next $25,000. No supports would be provided for farm production above $50,000. Humphrey said his bill would assure a "family farmer" of meeting living expenses but remove support incentives "for the big corporation farm operator to increase production beyond the point for which there is effective demand in the open market." His measure would apply to all farm products.

Lad From Missouri Possible Winner In National Spelling

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS WASHINGTON —UP— Young Bill Kelley of Missouri is a possible winner in the national spelling bee here Wednesday. And if the 12-year-old from Kennett, Mo., does win, the way he looks at it he will walk into the winner's circle with the help of a stony bead strung on a safety pin. All of the preambles happened in Memphis. The Press-Scimitar is among Scripps - Howard newspapers which annually sponsor the big spell-down. The finals are held here. Bill already has outspelled his buddies at home and went to Memphis to compete in the Mid-South competition. After he won there he was whisked into a taxicab with a nice guy named J. Z. Howard, managing editor of the Press-Scimitar, as his guide. Idea was to put the lad on television.

Isle Mayor Cools On Vice Plans

GALVESTON —UP— Mayor-elect George Roy Clough apparently has dropped plans to reopen Galveston's red light district, at least for the time being. Clough, scheduled to take office late Tuesday, was quoted as saying he had decided against reopening the red light district reopening, "because it is not in the best interest of Galveston." The Rev. George Scotchmer, president of the Galveston Ministerial Association, said Tuesday Clough indicated to the association that he may be willing to soften his stand on reopening the Post Office street district.

Redistrict Proposal Lose Out

AUSTIN —UP— A proposal calling for redistricting of county-commissioners precincts fell short by only four votes of House adoption Tuesday. The measure, sponsored by Rep. Louis Anderson of Midland, received a vote of 96-38, only four votes shy of the 100 votes necessary in the House for approval of a constitutional amendment. On two previous occasions the measure has come before the House, it gained 85 and 87 votes. Rep. J. W. Cooper Jr. of Corpus Christi, speaking for the proposal, said it "would give the majority the right to say what it wants." Amendments by Cooper providing that an election could be called to redistrict precincts on petition of 25 per cent of the voters, and providing no precinct in a county should contain more than 50 per cent of the population were adopted by the House.

"People, people everywhere, and not a place to sit!" Sprawled all over the halls, steps, cafeteria tables, any place they could find a vacant spot — PHSams were signing annuals Monday night. And still nobody managed to get all the signatures they wanted. Mr. Marsh had a tough time shooing everyone out. The utterly scum-pious green and gold annuals came from Dallas and were distributed in home room Monday after their dedication to the school in the farewell assembly. All the seniors were glad beyond words that out of their three years of annuals, they got one in the school colors. Congratulations one thousand fold to salutatorian James Vicars on the many honors he has recently received in recognition for his scientific ability. The latest was an award presented by the Catesness Company in the assembly Monday afternoon.

Weather Hits Billy Graham

LONDON —UP— American evangelist Billy Graham's outdoor London revival was having weather troubles Tuesday. Battering rainstorms have soaked Graham's congregations since Saturday and weather forecasters predicted at least two more days of foul weather.

More than half the seats in the huge Wembley Stadium were empty when Graham preached his sermon in a downpour Monday night. But the evangelist was undisturbed by the gloomy weather and looked on the brighter side. Preaching bareheaded with his blond hair plastered down by the rain, he doggedly went ahead with his sermons under the leaking sky. "It is more to the glory of God that people come to surrender their lives to Christ in the pouring rain at Wembley than if they came in warm sunshine," Graham said Monday. "There is a spiritual depth at our meetings now which I did not sense here last year and I feel it is going to gather momentum during the week," he said.

LAST NIGHT'S OILER GAME sent us scurrying to our rule book to find out what the actual score of the game was.

The game, as you probably know, was halted by rain while the Oilers were batting in the bottom of the sixth inning.

Our first thought was that the game reverted back to the fifth inning since the sixth frame wasn't completed.

There was a difference of opinion, however, on whether the game would revert back to the previous inning, the previous half-inning or let the score stand as it was when the game ended.

Here is the ruling on the matter as it is stated in Rule 4.10 in section (E).

The umpire terminates play after five complete innings. The score of such game will be the score at the end of the last completed inning. If, however, the home team shall have scored more total runs than the visiting team when the game is terminated while the home team is at bat, the score of such game shall be the total runs scored by each team.

Also, when a game is terminated after five completed innings, with the visiting team at bat and the home team ahead, the score shall be the total number of runs scored by each team at the time the game is terminated.

So, last night's game will go into the record books as an 8-1 win for the Oilers since the Oilers, the home team, were out front when the game was halted.

Actually, the only way the game could have reverted back to the previous inning is that if Abilene had scored enough runs in the top of the sixth to go ahead, since the Oilers didn't get to complete their portion of the sixth inning at bat.

THE KID BASEBALL SEASON got underway to an auspicious beginning yesterday.

All three games on the opening card were good, tight contests. Four runs was the biggest difference of any one of the opening games.

There will be a lot better baseball played by the kids this year.

Oilers Hold 1st With 8-1 Win Over Sox Game Shortened To Six By Rain

By BUCK FRANCIS Pampa News Sports Editor

Jack Venable notched his fourth win of the season last night as he hurled the Oilers to a two-hit 8-1 triumph over the Abilene Blue Sox in a rain-shortened game at Oiler Park.

The game was called while the Oilers were at bat in the last half of the sixth inning because of a heavy down-pour.

The win kept the Oilers in first place for the fourth straight day. The Oilers have been on top since Sunday but never by more than a one-game margin.

The Oilers had a rally going when the rains came. The locals had scored two runs in the bottom of the sixth and had the bases loaded when the game was halted by the umpires.

After about a 40-minute wait, the rains were still coming down and plate umpire Harry Theodore called the game.

For the second straight game, an unearned run deprived an Oiler pitcher of a shutout. Tom Pollet missed a shutout at Abilene Sunday by an unearned tally when he pitched the Oilers to a 7-1 win.

Then last night, Venable blanketed the Sox through five innings and retired the first two Sox in the sixth before the visitors scored their lone marker.

Chet Morgan walked to set up the Sox tally. He moved to second when shortstop Rach Slider bobbled Gozza's grounder and Morgan scored on Manager Bobby Westfall's double.

Slider, earlier in the sixth inning, had literally robbed Bob Paschal of a base hit when he leaped high in the air to spear a hot line drive.

It was virtually no contest, however, from the first inning on when the Oilers opened with a three-run rally in the first inning, added a single marker in the second, two in the fourth and their final pair in the sixth before the game was halted by rain.

Westfall got both of the Sox hits off Venable. The Sox manager singled in the second inning after two were away but was stranded at the initial sack when Venable got Scooter Hughes on a fly to right.

In the first inning, Slider and Red Dial drew successive walks to open up and Paul Halter singled sharply to left to score Slider with the first run. Halter's hit got past left fielder Tom Barton and Dial scored on the miscue.

After Joe Fortin was called out on strikes, Dick Hairston doubled to the right field corner to easily score Halter with the third run of the inning.

In the second, Slider again started a rally, getting on via a hit-by-pitch ball. He later scored on Halter bounded into a force-out, making the score 4-0 for the Oilers.

The Oilers put the game virtually out of reach in the fourth with two more runs. Dial singled to start the rally, stole second and then scored when shortstop Hughes overthrew third in an attempt to nail the red head at third on Halter's ground ball.

Halter took second on the error and scored on a single through the middle by Fortin.

The Oilers loaded the bases with one away in the sixth and the third Abilene pitcher of the night, Sam Brown, issued free tickets to first to Hairston and Curtis Hardaway to force across two runs.

Then the rains came. A crowd of 474 braved the cold and threatening weather to witness the contest.

KID BASEBALLERS OPEN -- Sheriff Rufe Jordan, with bat, and John Schoolfield, the catcher, ready for the opening pitch which was being thrown by Mayor Lynn Boyd (not in picture) to officially open the 1955 Pampa Kid Baseball program.

Close Games Feature Opening Of Pampa Pony, Little Loop

The cloudy weather that prevailed over Pampa Tuesday the 1955 Kid Baseball program got underway at the PONY League park at 5 p.m.

On hand to officially open the baseball season for the second year in Pampa were, besides several hundred fans and parents, several dignitaries.

The newly elected boys work coordinator, Johnny Campbell, took charge of the opening day ceremonies. He stressed that the purpose of the kid baseball program was to build character in the youth first and then athletes.

Following the invocation by Optimist Club chaplain, Rev. Arthur Bruns, was the playing of the National Anthem while the flag was raised in centerfield by Boy Scouts.

Each Little and PONY League team was introduced along with their coaches. The ceremony, brief as it was, terminated as Gary County Sheriff, Rufe Jordan belted the second pitch thrown by Mayor Lynn Boyd. The catcher for the conventional first pitch was John Schoolfield Optimist Club president for 1955-56.

In opening games yesterday, First National Bank, the defending Pony League champions, opened with a 3-2 victory over the Pampa Druggist Pill Rollers; Tom Rose Ford registered the only shut-out of the day with a 5-0 victory over Sportsman Store in the Eastern Little League; and the Spokesman Senators a 5-3 win over the Utility Oil team in the Western opener.

The Oilers outthrew the Senators, 7-6, but the Sens made better use of their base raps. The winning Sen rally came after two were away in the fifth when George Duke doubled and Wilson lined one over the left field wall, the only homer of the opening day games.

Ernest Mathis went the route for the Senators while Jim Scott went the distance for the Oilers. Charles Fant of Sportsman's Store spoiled a no-hitter for Leland Knight of the Tom Rose Orioles in the Eastern Little League opener.

Fant singled in the third inning for the only hit off Knight. The Orioles scored one in the first and then led the game with three in the fifth.

A two-run homer by Larry Wilson broke a 3-3 tie in the fifth inning to give the Spokesman Senators a 5-3 win over the Utility Oil team in the Western opener.

The Oilers outthrew the Senators, 7-6, but the Sens made better use of their base raps. The winning Sen rally came after two were away in the fifth when George Duke doubled and Wilson lined one over the left field wall, the only homer of the opening day games.

Ernest Mathis went the route for the Senators while Jim Scott went the distance for the Oilers. Charles Fant of Sportsman's Store spoiled a no-hitter for Leland Knight of the Tom Rose Orioles in the Eastern Little League opener.

Fant singled in the third inning for the only hit off Knight. The Orioles scored one in the first and then led the game with three in the fifth.

Fox And Its Prey

In the field of propaganda there is nothing more devastating than the almost truth or the half truth that has the appearance of truth but actually results in total misconception.

And no one has better exploited this facet of the business of propaganda than those who would destroy the country by destroying the principles upon which it was built.

As witness that such is the case, we have the ceaseless propaganda campaign being conducted on many fronts in favor of what might be called internationalism or one-worldism. From whatever point the propaganda stems, it all has as the objective the elimination of the United States as a nation in which the people believe that government is the servant of the people and not the master. And the unfortunate part of the whole thing is that it makes not the slightest difference whether the propagandist does his evil job knowingly or unknowingly. The result is the same.

While it is not the only front being advanced, certainly one of the principal ones is that of the United Nations. There have been millions and millions of words written and spoken about the United Nations and, of course, many of them are true — so far as they go. And the propaganda for this organization and the purpose behind the organization reach into every corner of the nation, touching all of us intimately in a personal way. Some of it is accomplished through the public schools. Some of it is done through written material in newspapers and magazines and some of it is done through speakers and lecturers.

And the basic pattern in all of the propaganda is pretty much the same theme: take an almost truth or a half truth to give credibility to what you are going to say and from this basis a successful presentation can be made for the propaganda. Well-meaning persons and organizations are propagandized into having the kind of speakers who will present such propaganda and the captive audience is given a sugar-coated indoctrination. Most of the audiences are made up of people unable or unwilling to press questions to these professional speakers. The people are amateurs attempting to challenge a professional and more often than not are made to look foolish or the object of scorn if an attempt is made to question the motives and beliefs of the speaker who holds control of the meeting. Those who entered the meeting with skepticism come away half convinced and need only a little more indoctrination to be "sold a bill of goods."

No speaker of today in America can come out flat-footedly in favor of a communist program and hope to receive any sort of backing. He probably would be lucky if he wasn't bopped on the nose. But there seems to be a special category set aside for intellectuals and dilettantes who can preach the same sort of gospel as the fiery Red speaker and he or she gets a fine and attentive audience and full credence to her statements. To our way of thinking, it is this latter type that presents a grave danger for they are, in effect, sneaking up on our blind side to apply the dogger rather than the frontal attack of the club-swinging Red. And in either case we are the loser if we listen to such propagandists.

THE NATION'S PRESS

SOMETHING OF VALUE

(The Tulsa Tribune)

In his new book, "Something of Value," based upon the Mau-Mau terrorism in Africa, Robert Ruark cites the tragedy of a people deprived of their old gods and given no new ones.

The African native, he points out, has been shamed out of the condition of savagery in which he lived with reasonable comfort and satisfaction for thousands of years. The native saw his land taken away by the white bwanas. He was put into pants. He ceased being a warrior, and became a servant or a farm hand. His most sacred dances were forbidden. The mission school opened and he was urged to become a Christian.

Upon all these changes the white settler looked with satisfaction and self-righteousness. Wasn't the native better off? Tribal wars were ended. Babies were no longer being killed to drive off evil spirits. He had more food, more security, more creature comforts than ever before. And now Christianity was offered.

The trouble was that the new god was not readily understood. The old gods were gone and there was spiritual vacuum. Nor was the old warrior-pride replaced by an equal pride in the new way of living. The African Negro was humiliated and resentful. He drifted into the city slums. The old tribal disciplines were dead and the native often reverted to illness, drunkenness and crime.

At last the secret Mau-Mau brotherhood arose, pledged to drive the white man out of Africa and establish the old ways. It was religion, but it had appeal. The result has been terrorism and bloodshed.

If you uproot an old culture, Ruark asserts, it must be replaced with "something of value." Christianity, modern agriculture and industry, and the eventual rise of

Departing More And More From The Constitution

A few years ago people would not have dreamed that what has happened to Lucille Miller of Bethel, Vermont, could have happened. Remember, she has been committed to an insane asylum in Washington, D. C. without trial because she exercised free speech.

Our government is violating the First Amendment to our Constitution, which reads:

"Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press;..."

Now, what did Mrs. Miller do? She used free speech to influence American youth that Congress wants to make putty out of rather than men.

It is a little hard to tell the difference other than degrees from what the United States government stands for from that of the Russian government, when citizens are judged insane and refused a speedy jury trial because they exercise their rights. When this is done in Russia, we are horrified. What in the world is the use of trying to police the rest of the world when we are denying in our own country freedom of speech and a speedy jury trial and subjecting men and boys to involuntary servitude? We even subject the youth of the land, who has had nothing at all to do with making the laws, to involuntary servitude. We have gradually slipped from the ideologies of the individual being independent of other people and the government, to coming to believe that the individual is a serf of the government rather than its master.

This Miller case shows that we have completely discarded the Free Speech Amendment, the Involuntary Servitude Amendment and the amendment that grants each citizen a speedy and impartial jury trial. These three guarantees are the cornerstones of the American way of life. They put the United States in a different class from all other nations.

Why No Trial?

It is easy to see why the military government that we have now does not want to grant Mrs. Miller a trial by jury. It is afraid that a jury would acquit Mrs. Miller of any violation of the Constitution. The Federal Government however, could probably win with a Supreme Court appointed by presidents who seem to be guided by man made laws instead of Eternal Law. Even so they do not want a jury trial with the publicity that would go with it. They want a judge appointed by a military President who does not seem to believe in the Constitution of the United States to commit a patriotic woman to an insane asylum. They dare not have a trial and let the public think over the blessings of free speech and the protection by the Constitution from involuntary servitude.

Mrs. Miller certainly has never advised any individual to violate any moral law, and yet she is put in an insane asylum for expressing her sincere, honest interpretation of the Constitution of the United States and the laws of God. She is only advocating the ideologies set forth in the Declaration of Independence that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed. But the courts and the majority of people interpret this to mean, which it does not, that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the majority. Mrs. Miller is absolutely in harmony with the Declaration of Independence when she is fighting the draft laws.

The acts of the Administration in the Miller case are just another example of the truth of the statement that "He who exalts himself shall be abased." The Administration that has appointed such judges and which advocates unilateral military training has exalted itself and it dare not permit its acts to be brought to the attention of the public and fear the public will commence to realize that it is paying no attention to the Constitution of the United States and, which is worse, paying no attention to the Eternal laws of God. The members of the Administration, evidently know that no form of tyranny will stand the light of day. They must know that "Men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil. For every one that doeth evil hateth the light, neither cometh to the light, lest his deeds should be reprobated. But he that doeth truth cometh to the light, that his deeds may be made manifest, that they are wrought in God."

If their acts are in harmony with the Constitution and Eternal laws, they need not be afraid of a jury trial with the publicity that accompanies it. Yes, Mrs. Miller is rendering a service to all mankind by attempting to arouse the American people to believe that man is supreme and not the bureaucrats in the government.

Ike Closed-Mouth, Pulling For Eden's Election Victory

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower counts on more enthusiastic Anglo-French support for his Far Eastern policy, including a possible clash with Red China over Formosa, because of the belated political push he has given to the Eden and Faure Ministries. Although the White House denies that there was any connection between Ike's reluctant consent to talk with Russia and Britain's May 26th election, the disclaimer does not sound too convincing to American or overseas observers. The demurrer is a necessary bit of stage play because too obvious American interference in British politics would react against Sir Anthony Eden.

Eden, however, needs a pre-election promise of a Big Four peace conference as much as Eisenhower felt the need of a promise to visit Korea on the eve of the 1952 balloting. Like the American people then, the British populace cherishes the termination of tensions in this atomic age, as do the French and Germans.

Moreover, had Ike held out against pressure for the proposed parley, he would have given substance to Labor orators' repeated charges that the Tories are too subservient to American influence. A Churchill could and did scoff at such an indictment, but Eden lacks the veterans' stature.

Eisenhower cannot express any open preference, of course, but an Eden victory will be in Washington's interest. The Attila-Morrison Labor forces are running on two issues dominant to the Administration — namely, virtual appeasement of Russia and China, and nationalization of key industries.

From the standpoint of practical American politics, Labor's return to power would be detrimental to the GOP's chances in the 1956 election. It would be interpreted as evidence of a rebound of liberal or radical sentiment, as Churchill's 1945 defeat and labor's postwar resurgence pointed to Truman's unexpected 1948 triumph over Dewey.

Despite personal differences between Secretary Dulles and Prime Minister Eden, Eisenhower believes that he can coexist more comfortably with the Conservatives than with the Laborites.

As commander of our European forces during World War II, he had daily and intimate contact with Eden and minor figures of the Churchill regime. Ike got to know them personally, and to understand their viewpoint on world problems. Harold Macmillan, the new Foreign Secretary, was Eisenhower's British aide and adviser during the North African campaign. Macmillan's mother was an American.

Eden's support will be invaluable, if the question of hostilities with China arises in the General Assembly of the United Nations. In

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JORDAN, M. D.

A correspondent writes that she is frequently troubled with low hemoglobin and that she would welcome a discussion of what this means. No doubt many others have a similar difficulty so that some understanding of anemia should be of wide interest.

What is anemia? The most important thing about it is that this is not a single disease and there are several possible causes and several varieties. In any form of anemia, however, there are a lessened number of red blood cells or hemoglobin (which is the coloring matter of the blood), or both. It is not sufficient to measure the hemoglobin alone or the red cells alone but both must be studied and frequently other tests undertaken as well.

Generally speaking there are about four and one-half or five million red blood cells in each cubic mm. of blood. (This is an extremely small amount since there are more than 16,000 cubic mm. in a cubic inch.) The red blood cells contain oxygen and hemoglobin, both of which are necessary to maintain health and life.

One kind of anemia is known as primary or pernicious anemia. The cause of this condition is complicated but now it can be successfully treated in almost all cases.

With the exception of pernicious anemia, the problem boils down to finding out what has caused the reduction in red blood cells or hemoglobin. One of the most simple and yet frequent causes is bleeding from somewhere in the body. If a person loses more blood than the system can replace, anemia develops. If the bleeding is sudden such as from a cut, the difficulty can be remedied promptly by stopping the hemorrhage and giving a blood transfusion.

Another kind of anemia is fairly frequent in women between 30 and 50 years of age.

Russia's New Peace Plan Same Old Model, New Grille

BY PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — First examination of Russia's latest disarmament proposal shows it to be as full of bugs as a back-yard garden.

This is not something for consideration by the proposed Big Four Conference of the heads of government and their foreign ministers. The Russians propose that their new plan be put into effect by the United Nations General Assembly, which meets next in September.

As a starter, the plan has been presented to the U.N.'s third special disarmament subcommittee now meeting in London. Basically, this is the same old Russian plan, its essentials are: Ban the atomic bomb. Abolish all foreign military bases. Then banish all international propaganda for war.

The Russian has modified their position on a few points. Their previous stand has been that all conventional armaments be reduced by a third. Under that formula, Russia and Red China, with the largest armies, would stay that way.

Now the Russians propose that America, Russia and Red China be allowed a maximum of 1,500,000 men, Britain and France 500,000 each. This is approximately what Sir Gladwyn Jebb of the U.K. proposed for the western powers in 1952. The Russians turned it down then.

But it is noticeable that under this plan the two Communist powers would have a 3,000,000 man maximum force while the three western permanent Security Council members would have 2,800,000 all military budgets and armed forces at figures no higher than on Dec. 31, 1954.

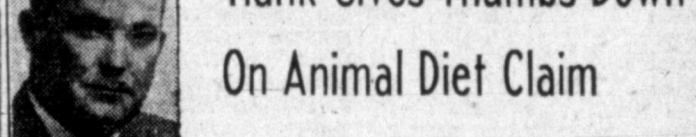

This would mean western Germany would not be rearmed. Also, all foreign forces would be withdrawn from Germany and all military bases on foreign soil would be dismantled. The aim here clearly is to wreck the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

In the past the Russians have always insisted on voluntary reporting of armed strength and no census or inspection by international teams of observers. This would still be their basis for the first report on armaments, within one month after agreement on a U.N. disarmament convention.

But the Russians have now swung over at least part way to propose two kinds of inspection.

Hank Gives Thumbs-Down On Animal Diet Claim

By HENRY McLEMORE

Since one of my greatest ambitions is to live long enough to see the United States gain something from one of those top-level conferences with Russia, I was gratified to read that Fred Miller, an Altona dentist had told the Southern California Dental Association that man could live to be 200 if he would only eat like an animal.

Dr. Miller did not introduce any 200-year-old people to his fellow dentists, nor did he even give the names and addresses of any centenarians in case any skeptics wanted to look him up, but this did not deter me from deciding to give his advice a try.

As the Altonian did not specify by name any animal whose eating habits it would be wise to follow, I chose Dilly, our year-old English bulldog. I did not start eating like Dilly right away, but spent a day or two in studying her feeding habits, making careful note of what she had for breakfast, lunch, dinner and between-meal snacks.

One day of checking Dilly's diet was enough to convince me that not only is she never going to reach the two-century mark, but that she is awfully lucky to have survived as long as one year. As far as I could see there is nothing that she won't eat, or at least nibble at.

The wide range of a bulldog's tastes almost caused me to back down, but Dr. Miller must know what he's talking about, I thought, so yesterday morning I was up with Dilly's first morning bark and joined her while she was still stretching and yawning on the sofa.

The first thing we had for breakfast was a left-over golf ball that Dilly rooted out from under a cushion. She showed no inclination to share it with me, so I got a new one out of my bag. I heartily recommend the Spalding Dot for distance but its flavor and texture leave something to be desired. But Dilly nibbled on hers until it started unwinding and then left it for a table leg, which she started munching on with evident relish.

There wasn't room for both of us on the same leg so I switched to the leg of a bridge table, trusting that walnut contained just as

ON THE BALL—Football for females is the project of the North German League Club of Hamburg. These young ladies, taking a soccer lesson, will be formed into the first German women's soccer club and they ought to provide some good action for spectators.

NET RETURN—U. S. tennis ace Art Larsen, of California, slams a return to Mark Lasry of France during the International Tennis Tournament in Rome. It was Larsen's first game since he was suspended for hitting a ballboy with a tennis ball. He later explained and was absolved of charges.

EN GARDE!—Very young Penelope Graham, an enthusiastic fencer at the age of four, is apparently ready to take on all comers in Hove, England. She's the youngest member of a local fencing club and her small size makes her a difficult target for an opponent's foil.

VENETIAN-STYLE RACE—Instead of the typical lazy pace set by gondolas in the canals of Venice, these craft are in line for the start of a race for real speed in the Grand Canal. Gondoliers proved that they could build up speed and steer a good course in the traditional event starting in front of the Islet of St. George. The occasion was the Marciano Trophy competition but, normally, passengers want the slower, more romantic pace of gondola transportation.

OVER AND OUT OF THE MONEY—Jockey Thomas Field barely escaped the falling body of Deep River after the horse stumbled on the last hurdle in a race at Belmont Park, N. Y. Deep River was leading until this spill. At right is Lough Ree, which came in third.

THIS IS THE LIFE—Three couples at Pensacola Beach, Fla., seem to be taking things easy on that shallow-draft catamaran, which beaches easily when "necessary." Sailing is one of the many aquatic sports at this beach, located on Santa Rosa Island, where there's surf bathing and quiet water swimming.

ACTING UP—Actress Vivien Leigh plans a movie scene with producer-director Anatole Litvak on a snow mountain near Klosters, Switzerland. Scenes requiring skis and snowshoes made the Alps the logical place for the filming. Miss Leigh will join husband Sir Laurence Olivier in Shakespearean plays this summer.

SEVENTH INNING STRETCH—Dick Groat of the Pittsburgh Pirates is safe at home on a single hit by Jerry Lynch to Giant Willie Mays in New York. Giant catcher Mickey Grasso took the throw but was unable to stop Groat on the seventh inning tally. Umpire Frank Dascoli calls Groat safe as upcoming batter George Freese (3) watches. Pirates won this, 7-5.

OFF-THE-RECORD FULLBACK—San Francisco Forty Niner fullback Joe "Jet" Perry, who breaks records in the National Football League, has another use for them; he spins records in his morning sessions as a radio disk jockey. Perry thinks he may remain in the "dee-jay" business after his gridiron days.

ERRORS AS PIRATES LOSE—Hank Thompson of the New York Giants is safe at first base as Pitcher Bob Purkey of the Pirates drops the ball in a third inning collision during their game at New York's Polo Grounds. Purkey was charged with an error, one of the four the Pirates made as they lost, 11-3. The Giant win broke a Pirate six-game winning streak.

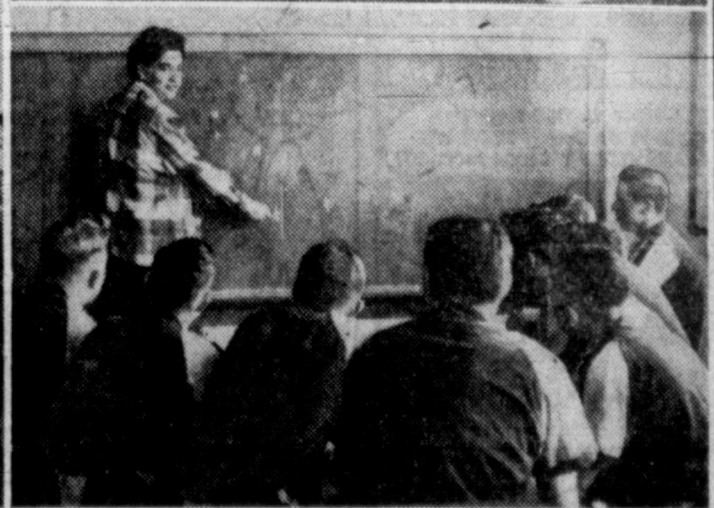

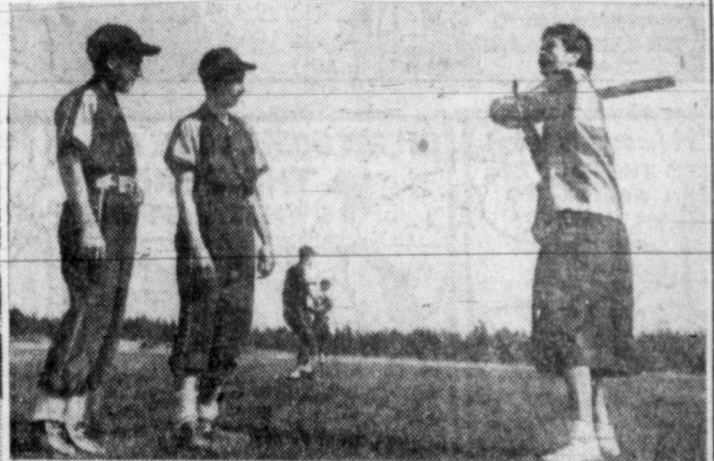

THE BEST WAY—Susan Hatcher, of Hamlet, N. C., wore a beach costume in Pinehurst, N. C., that matched her dog's outfit. Sun spots before the eyes would seem a natural when looking at the two of them. It's also difficult to tell which suit is white with black spots, or black with white spots, or even if there's one of each kind.

Missouri Legislators In A Tiff

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo.—Members of the House, shouting and shoving, marched on the Senate Tuesday night in a demonstration of anger over an altercation earlier between the Senate sergeant-at-arms and a member of the lower chamber. Senate Majority Leader Floyd Gibson finally managed to bring an end to chaos with his shouted pleas that "mob rule is no way to settle differences." The scores of representatives left the Senate chamber after 15 minutes of milling and pushing around. Earlier Wednesday Rep. Charles W. Foley, Pecos county Democrat, had stepped into the Senate Chamber and started talking with Sen. J. F. Patterson, a Democrat from Caruthersville. Turner Bryan, Senate sergeant-at-arms, intercepted Foley and told him Senate rules did not permit him to talk with Patterson. Foley swung on the Senate employe and connected. Lt. Gov. James T. Blair bellowed from the chair: "Arrest that man!" Bryan and Foley were herded outside. The representative struck the Senate sergeant-at-arms again. Other senators started rushing toward the door. A prankster set off a firecracker in the corridor, leading many legislators to the conclusion that a shot had been fired. Senate doorkeeper W. W. Bailey tried to take Foley into custody. But by this time he was rushed by other representatives, who rescued their man. The House, in a regular night session, discussed banning state senators from its chamber unless the Senate sergeant-at-arms apologized for his action. S. E. Robinson, a representative from Knox county, delivered a fiery speech on the matter and House members, aroused, marched en masse from their hall to the Senate chamber, ramming their way past the doorkeeper amid shouts and shoves.

Crack-Down On Smuggling Seen

TIJUANA, Mex.—Efforts to halt air smuggling between Mexico and the United States are being intensified, immigration officials said Tuesday. Officials said planes with U. S. registrations are flying Orientals with forged documents and shipments of contraband goods, to ranches in the interior of Baja California. The planes then return to the United States with cargoes of "pirated fish." "Several" Orientals with forged permits have been picked up in a check of papers of all foreigners in Baja California and will be deported, immigration authorities said.

Solon Warns Reds Can't Be Trusted

COLLEGE STATION, Tex.—UP—The Russians may be changing their tactics, but "you never can be sure about them," Florida Democratic Sen. George Smathers told a group at Texas A&M College Monday night.

Smathers spoke to about 100 persons assembled in the Memorial Student Center at the college. His talk was sponsored by the Great Issue committee made up of students at A&M.

Smathers said he is opposed to any attempt to balance the nation's budget by cutting down on arms spending. A balanced budget is desirable, he said, but then "so is survival." He added: "A balanced budget never shot down a MIG-15."

The Florida senator said he was hopeful of the outlook for world peace. Smathers added that the Russians were "well aware" that U.S. air bases on the perimeter of Communist nations were equipped and prepared "to strike back at a moment's notice."

Most of his statements came at a question and answer session following a short talk. He touched on issues ranging from the present foreign aid program, which he opposes and thinks should be trimmed drastically, to selective service. He said he believes selective service will continue until a strong program or universal military training are adopted.

Pinky Lee To Have Full House At $150,000 Home Warming

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD —UP—When Pinky Lee moves into his new $150,000 mansion in July, the television star will invite thousands of "guests" to a housewarming — his own fans.

The lispng ex-burlesque comic, scorned by critics when he started entertaining youngsters on NBC-TV, has the last laugh now.

His show has garnered so many viewers from the bubble-gum set that Pinky is building hilltop mansion in a swank Beverly Hills neighborhood.

But, unlike most luminaries who move into moneyed society, Pinky is not hiding his home from the tourists. After the ranch-style house is finished he'll protect the white rings with canvas, and then throw open the doors so his moppet fans and their parents can ogle the place.

"I want to share my good fortune — my house — with my fans. I feel very close to them," Pinky reflected as he showed me through the house, now in the plastering stage.

"If it wasn't for the public I'd be no place today. When some guys get big-shot they get aloof and indifferent."

Pinky will show his fans an electric barbecue in the kitchen and a six-foot fireplace in the living room. There's even a palm-tree-dotted island in the swimming pool.

The NBC-TV star naturally has five built-in TV sets in the new house, including a gigantic model on a swivel so you can watch the wrestlers and old movies from the swimming pool.

Pinky appeared proud and as enthusiastic as one of his tiny fans Monday while he showed off "my first real home." Once he was thrown out of hotels because he worked in burlesque, but now he'll have such fancy neighbors as Robert Cummings and Samuel Goldwyn.

"I didn't build a big home to go Hollywood," lispd Pinky as he perched on a pile of lumber. "I wanted a little comfort. I've lived in hotels that weren't good enough to be called hotels, and my wife and I went hungry. A lot of pratfalls in burlesque built this house. The success of my TV show means a lot because when I started last fall some critics were so cruel they completely broke my heart. I didn't deserve it. I'm not trying to be something I'm not. I'm just a flat-show comedian."

Liberace is another star who often lets fans see his home. He even marks the spot with a mailbox engraved with his flowing signature. Pinky will not be outdone. His mailbox will be in the shape of his trademark, his tiny round hat.

Symington Cites Red Air Power

WASHINGTON —UP— Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) said Tuesday the recent appearance of formations of Red Intercontinental bombers over Moscow could force the United States to revolutionize its air strength goals.

Symington, a former Air Force secretary, said Russia's "incredibly rapid development" of jet bombers is an indication "they have more strength in the air than anybody knew about."

The development, he said in an interview, could "revolutionize all our concepts of what we should have against what they have."

The Defense Department announced over the weekend that formation flights of the T-37 bomber had been observed over Moscow. The T-37 is an intercontinental jet bomber corresponding to the American B-52 just now going into production. The Defense Department said the development affords "a new basis" for estimating Soviet production of the T-37.

Symington, a frequent critic of the administration's Air Force program, called upon President Eisenhower to "verify to the American people this incredibly rapid development" in Soviet air power.

He said the development is another indication the administration has been underestimating Soviet air capability.

Germany has 641 youth hotels providing 6,000,000 reservations in 1955, an all-time record.

Passerby Saves Tots From Bomb

HOUSTON — UP — Only quick action by a passerby averted possible death of three youngsters early Sunday when two teen-aged Houston boys threw a home-made fire bomb under the car in which the children were sleeping.

The youngsters, children of Mr. and Mrs. Otto H. Haardt, were sleeping in the family automobile while the parents stopped briefly to visit a friend.

The two boys drove by and tossed a beer bottle filled with gasoline, containing a long fuse, under the parked automobile. The home-made bomb burst into flames directly under the car in which the children were sleeping.

At that moment, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Horrigan of Houston drove by and Horrigan saw the fire burning furiously under the parked car. He tried to start the motor, but when he was unable to he blew the horn until the children's father rushed out and drove the car from over the fire.

The two boys drove up again, stopped and pretended to be curious. Haardt became suspicious and held them until police arrived. The boys later admitted to police they were the ones who threw the bomb under the car. Their cases were referred to the Houston probation department.

Reds Reject Protest On Plane Attack

TOKYO —UP— The Communists have rejected an American protest of an attack on U.S. planes off North Korea last week, Radio Pyongyang reported Tuesday.

The broadcast by the official voice of the North Korean regime fact. It said the Red Chinese labeled the protest a "distortion of MIG-15 jets did not start the air battle, but were attacked by American planes."

Maj. Gen. Li Feng Cho, chief Communist delegate on the Korean Military Armistice Commission, sent the protest to the United Nations delegates Monday, the broadcast said.

The U. S. Air Force reported that two MIGs were shot down and two probably destroyed in the dogfight May 10 between eight F-86 Sabre-jets and from 12 to 16 MIGs over international waters.

they fell in love...

...with the sweetheart of the low-price 3

Biggest of the low-price 3! Plymouth is much bigger than the "other 2" low-price cars. You get more beauty outside, more roominess and comfort inside, more trunk space, plus the only truly big car ride in the lowest-price field.

Most economical of the low-price 3! Plymouth's fast-stepping new 6-cylinder Power-Flow 117 is a joy to drive, and own. Its exclusive Chrome-Sealed Action locks in power to give you peak performance for extra thousands of miles — at rock-bottom cost.

Greatest vision of the low-price 3! Plymouth's new Full-View windshield, with cornerposts gracefully swept back both top and bottom, gives you the widest, safest vision of any low-price car.

Newest power features! Plymouth alone offers full-time Power Steering, and all the other energy-saving power assists (at such low cost they'll hardly affect your monthly payments!). And you get many features that other low-price cars don't have.

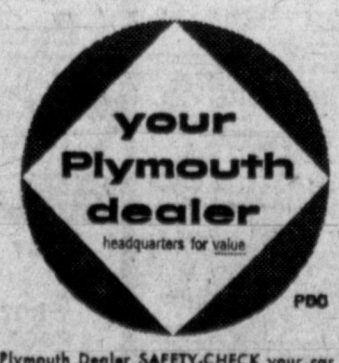

Come in and drive this big beauty today!

Why pay up to 5500 more for a car smaller than Plymouth? Don't be fooled by the claims of medium-price cars that they cost practically the same as Plymouth. When you compare price tags, you'll find that, model for model, Plymouth sells for much, much less, and gives you more car for your money!

Plymouth named "America's Most Beautiful Car" by famous professional artists, the Society of Illustrators
