Reds Mass Invasion Fleet Near Tachens

May Play To See If U.S. Will Fight

TAIPEI, Formosa, Sunday, Feb. 13 — UP — A new Red invasion fleet was reported massing near Matsu Island Sunday within hours after the evacuation of the Tachen Islands. The reports indicated the Chinese Communists may plan to test the United States' readiness to fight for the strategic off-shore islands.

Nationalist sources said Communist gumbots, motorized junks and other invasion craft were concentrated in the past 48 hours near Matsu, 150 miles south of the Tachens, which were evacuated to the Reds under cover of the U.S. Seventh Fleet.

In Washington Vice Admiral Robert P. Briscoe said that "from all indications and reconnaissance reports the sighted Chinese junks are engaged in fishing." He conceded junks were used by the Reds for troop movements, but said "it's hard to hide troops on a junk" and that no troops had been sighted in the area.

He said the Tachen evacuation "turned out to be an entirely routine operation" and that 28,500 Nationalist soldiers and civilians along with 40,000 tons of military equipment were removed from the island.

High military officials in Washington said that the Communists probably will continue trying to make trouble in Formosa Strait with probing attacks, but they doubted the Reds would try to capture Matsu or Quemoy in the immediate future.

Matsu and Quemoy Island, 150 miles still farther south, now are the key island outposts for Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's forces guarding the approaches to Formosa.

Nationalist sources said that with Tachen evacuated the Communists probably will "probe" Matsu, Quemoy and Nanchiashan to see where the United States stands in backing the new Chiang defense line.

The Communists were expected to follow the pattern they set around Tachen. The Reds shelled and bombed Yikiang Island, just north of Tachen and found they had not yet come up against the American "fast line" of defense, the Nationalists said.

U.S. Sees Unrest In Kremlin

German Set-Up Believed Cause

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 — UP — The United States sees strong evidence that Kremlin disagreement over Germany played an important role in the rise of new Soviet rulers, official sources said Saturday.

The evidence, being assembled from a variety of sources, points toward increased East-West tension over Germany in the next few months. The Allies are pressing for quick and final approval of West German rearmament.

Experts do not look for the new Russian leaders to send troops into West Germany or risk a big war. But the outlook, they say, is for formal creation of an East German army and measures to hamper movement of persons and goods between East and West Germany.

Berlin will be a focal point in this tension but the Russians are not expected to try another all-out blockade of the city.

Failure of Soviet foreign policies and trouble on the home front are expected to be highlighted by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles in a major foreign policy address before the Foreign Policy Association before the Foreign Policy Association.

Division For Land Probe Set

Burney To Head Investigation

AUSTIN, Feb. 12 — UP — Attorney General John Ben Shepperd Saturday created a new division in his department, headed by a former president of the state bar, to spearhead investigation of the scandal-ridden veterans land program.

To quarterback the signal-calling, Shepperd tagged Cecil Burney of Corpus Christi, ex-president of the state bar and a former first assistant district attorney.

Burney, the attorney general said, will "be in charge of all phases of our drive to bring the guilty to justice and to recover the money defrauded."

Assisting him will be T. Kellis Dibrill, for seven years an agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and since 1942 a practicing attorney in San Antonio.

The attorney general announced at the same time filing of a suit seeking recovery of $143,501 loaned under the $100 million veterans land program.

The suit, filed in 53rd district court, was the sixth such action taken by Shepperd and brought the total recovery sought by the state to $1,237,301.

The petition alleged "false and fraudulent representations" in connection with the sale of Maverick county land to 22 San Antonio veterans, all of Latin-American extraction.

The defendants were named as C. V. Wynn, Eloias Wynn, H. E. Lebrun and Minnie Lebrun, all of San Antonio.

Meantime, as members of a special Senate committee prepared to resume their inquiry of the veterans program Monday morning, Sen. Jimmy Phillips sparked his own independent sleuthing.

Phillips, who announced he intended to spend the week-end "running down leads" furnished him by persons "in the field," was reported by his office to be in Houston.

The Angleton lawmaker, a member of the five-man senate committee, made a flying trip out of Austin Wednesday, but declined to say publicly what the investigation developed.

DONATIONS HELPING FURNISH NEW NATIONAL GUARD ARMORY

They've got a new armory, but they don't have much furniture to put in it. WO William Leonard Saturday night reported that four desks, two tables and up to 150 chairs were needed for the new building.

Lynn Boyd Saturday afternoon donated a desk for the new armory, Leonard said. And Paul Crossman and Melvin Moyer had donated earlier a gas range apiece.

Normally, Leonard explained, the armory would be able to get what it needs from government surplus. But there is no government surplus available at the present time. So the new armory is having to rely on donations from the community itself.

Joe Charges Ike On Dem Pattern

CHICAGO, Feb. 12—UP—Sen. Joseph McCarthy and Republican Gov. J. Bracken Lee of Utah Saturday joined in an attack on the Eisenhower administration for alleged failure to follow Republican principles.

Lee questioned President Eisenhower's party loyalty and issued a qualified proposal for a new political coalition among conservative Republicans and dissident Democrats.

McCarthy charged that the administration has dropped the policy of liberation as propounded in the GOP platform of 1952 and has reverted instead to the Truman administration's policy of containing communism.

McCarthy and Lee spoke at a meeting sponsored by the Abraham Lincoln National Republican Club and other groups.

Contrast to Mitchell Their speeches were in sharp contrast to an address by Secretary of Labor James Mitchell, who spoke at the regular state Republican organization's traditional Lincoln Day observance in the same hotel.

Mitchell said the GOP stood at a crossroads, with a choice between ultra-conservation or Mr. Eisenhower's "progressive moderate program."

McCarthy, welcomed by a full store we have it, Lewis Hardware.

100 Voices Sing Tonight In Festival

Tonight, starting at 7:30 in the First Methodist Church, seven churches will combine evening services to "sing unto God" new words to familiar music in Pampa's First Bible Hymn Festival.

Five denominations will be represented during this hymn sing. Six songs rated as winners of a contest held three years ago among church people of the nation will be included in the program.

"One purpose of this Bible Hymn Festival," according to Rev. Porter Brooks, St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, "is to encourage Bible-reading."

Rev. Brooks is chairman of the Festival.

"The cooperating churches — members of the Pampa Council of Churches — also seek to emphasize the common heritage of thought and feeling which the Bible has given to them," Rev. Brooks added.

"Therefore, this is not just a joint effort but also an affirmation of our resources and background, a worship service which underscores our similarities without compromising our particular denominational differences."

Members from St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, First Methodist, St. Paul's Methodist, Harrah Methodist, First Christian, First Presbyterian and Church of the Brethren will be represented at tonight's hymn sing.

A 100-voice mass choir will be featured and will sing "Battle Hymn of the Republic," under the direction of Roy Johnson, minister of music, First Methodist Church.

Although there will be no regular sermon, Rev. Ronald E. Hubbard, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, will give a short meditation.

Other ministers participating in the Bible Hymn Festival are Rev. Edmund J. Kirby, district superintendent, Methodist Churches; Rev. Richard Crews, First Christian Church; Rev. Woodrow Adcock, First Methodist; Rev. Brooks; Rev. Raymond Dyeas, Harrah Methodist; Mrs. Roy Johnson, organist.

The Pampa Council of Churches and the United Council of Church Women are sponsoring the event.

Gray Picks Three For Soil Contest

Amos Harris, Peb Everett, and Quentin Williams were selected by the supervisors of the Gray County Soil Conservation District to represent the county in the annual Fort Worth — Star Telegram sponsored "Save Our Soil and Save Texas Conservation" contest. State winners will not be announced until late April.

Regional awards will be made early in May, with Pampa serving as the location for one of five awards banquets, according to Homer Abbott, McLean, chairman of the Gray County SCS. Arrangements for the regional presentation, which includes the Panhandle and South Plains, are being made jointly by the Chamber of Commerce and the Soil Conservation District.

Harris was picked as the outstanding Gray County conservation farmer, for his practice of conservation practices on a 960-acre farm operated as a tenant one mile east of Kingsmill. According to Abbott, Harris has built division terraces, a complete water conservation system, and practices stubble mulching and contour farming. He was one of the first farmers in the High Plains area to plant winter legumes. Last year's Gray County nominee was Clyde Magee, of McLean.

Nominated for the outstanding comeback farmer (taking a poor piece of land or run down farm and building it up) was Peb Everett. Everett took an 80-acre tract of land which 10 years ago was a sandy waste, according to Abbott, and has made it fully productive. He now gets eight months of grazing, 50 pounds of seed on the average per acre as well as a ton of hay per acre out of the one-eighth section of land. Productivity is estimated at $50 per acre. Williams was the Gray County Soil Conservation district nominee for best non-farmer conservationist. His activities span a multitude of projects. Over this past year he served as chairman of the agricultural committee of the Chamber of Commerce, and recently was superintendent of the FFA Livestock Judging contest at the Top o' Texas Fat Stock Show, Jan. 24-26. He was district conservationist here in the 1940s, and on Dec. 17 was panel discussion leader for the irrigation clinic held in Pampa.

Tentative date set for the regional award in this area which includes some 50 counties, has been set for May 5. Regional winners receive $100 in cash, according to Abbott. Winners in the state-wide contest are awarded $500 cash prizes.

2 Indicted In Bomb Slaying

Grand Jury Names Washburn, Nelson

SAN ANGELO, Tex., Feb. 12 — UP — A grand jury indicted Harry L. Washburn, 38, and Andrew H. Nelson, 45, a burglar and ex-convict, Saturday on charges of murdering Washburn's rich, former mother-in-law with a bomb ingeniously hooked to the electrical system of her automobile.

The ex-mother-in-law, Mrs. Helen Harris Weaver, 52, was horribly mutilated on Jan. 19 by the bomb when she started her automobile to go to a beauty parlor. Chunks of the automobile were thrown half a block by the blast.

But the indictments, handed up by 51st District Judge Joe L. Mays, said Washburn and Nelson were not after Mrs. Weaver at all, but wanted to kill her husband, 67-year-old Harry L. Weaver. The jury returned the indictments after questioning 45 witnesses Thursday and Friday.

"Haven't Got Right Man" Washburn refused to say anything at first when he was asked what he thought about his and Nelson's being indicted. Then he said: "The guilty man is still out. They haven't got the right man yet."

Formosa Crisis Kills Tax Cuts

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 — UP — Key Democrats on the tax-writing House Ways and Means committee said Saturday the Formosa crisis has killed off prospects for a nearly drive to cut income taxes.

They still hope, however, that world tensions will ease so a cut can be put through before congress adjourns this summer.

President Eisenhower has warned against reductions now but indicated in his Jan. 17 budget message he may change his mind by the time the Democrat congress opens its second session next January.

Some Democrats have been in favor of beating him to the punch to gain a political advantage. But party tax experts don't see how cuts can be justified in view of the Far Eastern situation and when Democrats are questioning the wisdom of the President's military manpower cutback.

Rep. Wilber Mills (Ark.), a senior Democrat on the committee, said he favors a "wait and see" policy.

"As late as last month I might have been willing to go along with an early move to cut taxes, effective July 1, 1955, or Jan. 1, 1956," he told a reporter. "But I would want to be cautious now."

Mills said that in view of the present world situation he questioned whether congress "would be justified in taking immediate action to cut any taxes." He said he hoped the world situation would "adjust itself" so that congress could give "consideration" to a tax cut before the end of the session.

Committee Chairman Jere Cooper (D-Tenn.) said he had not given "any thought" to a tax cut.

A third Democrat, one who has pushed the idea of an early drive soon after Mr. Eisenhower's message reached congress, said "the whole idea is dormant now."

He declined to be quoted by name. The question is likely to arise as a matter of legislative strategy within a few weeks when the committee considers Mr. Eisenhower's request for a one-year extension of present rates for corporation taxes and certain excise levies. Lowering of the rates, now scheduled for April 1, would result in a $3 billion annual revenue loss. Congressional leaders have said the higher rates are certain to be extended.

The Pampa meeting will be in the courtroom of the County Court house, with John Harnly of Miami, the tentative chairman, McLean will hold a discussion meeting on the plan, Friday at 2:30 p. m. in the vocational agriculture building.

Both speakers have previously appeared in Pampa. McFarland was here for Lions Club Farmers Day, last May, and Broadhurst was one of the principal speakers at the irrigation clinic in December. They represent one of the two underground water districts in the High Plains.

Industrial as well as agricultural and city interests are asked to attend Thursday's meeting, according to Ralph Thomas. If the proposed district becomes a reality, all wells whether industrial or agricultural producing over 100,000 gallons of water per day will be affected.

Russia Proposes Formosa Conflab

LONDON, Feb. 12—UP—Russia made public Saturday its proposal for a 10-power Formosa conference in Communist Shanghai, or New Delhi, India, Britain, with United States endorsement, already has rejected the Soviet suggestion.

Moscow radio announced that Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov eight days ago proposed in a meeting with Britain's Ambassador Sir William Hayter that a conference on Formosa be held in the Red Chinese city or the Indian capital this month.

The Russians suggested that Britain, India, and the Soviet Union invite the other nations to the meeting including the United States, Pakistan, Indonesia, Burma and Ceylon.

Nationalists Not Invited Nationalist China was not to be invited, but Red China would be. Britain refused the proposal because it did not include the Nationalists and the United States has made it clear it would attend no talks on Formosa at which Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's government was represented.

The British said they refused the bid because the exclusion of Nationalist China from the talks was "impractical" and the United States would not consider such a meeting.

B-47 Crashes; Survivors Seen

WINNIPEG, Feb. 12—UP—An American B-47 plane crashed in the sub-zero wasteland of northern Manitoba Saturday and two survivors were sighted in the vicinity of their downed plane.

The plane crashed 125 miles north of The Pas, Man. Canadian air force spokesmen said the men could not survive long in the bleak, windswept muskeg. The plane had carried four persons.

The Air Force dropped a parachute team and emergency supplies at the scene. The temperature was 25 degrees below zero.

Negotiations Continue The Soviets in broadcasting their proposal Saturday added that "the negotiations which have been started are continuing."

The Moscow broadcast was the first official confirmation that the Russians had proposed the conference. The British foreign office for more than a week has refused official comment.

However, the Soviet-British meeting and the Soviet proposal of a conference had "leaked" from many sources and was well publicized. Washington officials said that Britain had advised the United States of the proposal and that the U. S. endorsed the British refusal because it did not include Nationalist China.

Washington officials said that the United States had not received a formal invitation to a conference. The project "never got to the invitation stage," a Washington spokesman said.

He would not say who the "right man" is.

In essence, the indictments charged that Nelson bought dynamite and detonators for Washburn and showed him how to make a bomb and hook it to the electrical system of an automobile so the first person who tried to drive the car off would be blown up.

Both Washburn and Nelson are from Houston, where Nelson has a long record. Nelson told Houston police that a practice bomb he helped Washburn with was hooked to the generator of a car so the engine would have to be accelerated to generate enough electricity to set the bomb off.

'Nary An Artilleryman'

Reserve Unit Personnel Has Varied Background

By BILL KERR Pampa News Staff Writer Strong is the esprit de corps of Pampa's Battery "Baker" of the 807th Armored Field Artillery Battalion, army reserve. The unit is one of thousands of component parts throughout the country making for the continued military strength of our nation. The local unit of 22 men and five officers contains "nary" a man who had served in an artillery outfit while in active service. But the men have applied themselves to the chores of their new-found specialty with an interest characteristic of many a career artilleryman. The unit, which represents versatility on the strength of previous experience covering the engineers, medics, infantry, military intelligence includes even a bombardier of World War II. Training over the long months each Monday night pays off, as far as the boys in the outfit are concerned. The battery looks on their annual two week summer encampment at Fort Sill, Okla., as a special dividend. To a man they echo — "come June we'll have some man-sized work cut out for us with two weeks of tough and rough field work, but it's one of the bright spots of our training."

Sgt. Clifford Hill, with the army along for a free ride on the ram-matics. He put up stakes on the University of Oklahoma campus, and proceeded to make off with an M.A. in Math in 1950. Before coming to the Pampa High School four years ago, he was dean of a junior college in Carnegie, Okla. He took over as commander of the Pampa unit in June of 1953. Other Officers Assisting the "old man" as executive officer is 1st Lieut. M. Edward Callahan, who served with but a few armies during World War II, first, third, seventh, ninth, and 10th armies all part of the 12th Army group. Service on active duty and in the reserve, makes Callahan a nine-year man. Starting as a private during the last war, he rose through the ranks to serve as a radio intelligence officer. A graduate of the Missouri School of Mines, Callahan is an engineer here with Celanese. He was called back to active duty during the Korean conflict, and has been with the local unit the last year and a half. Other unit officers are first lieutenants Roy L. Stine, William H. Thompson and Donald Finn. "Baker" Battery is but one of the five component units of the battalion which is scattered over the geographical confines of Texas from Beaumont to Borger. It is staffed by 150 men and 20 officers.

One Non Vet According to the commanding officer of the local unit, Capt. Truett Ross, all the personnel are veteran soldiers except one. Pfc. Gary Baker is a recruit of little over a year's service who will see his first field duty this summer. Baker may be short on experience, but Ross proudly said, "I'll take all the recruits I can get my hands on of his calibre." Setting the pace for the cadre of the Pampa reserve unit is a core of five rugged "old" non coms, four of them with the rank of master sergeant. They have been with the battery since it began. Capt. Ross says an outfit is never any better than its sergeants who head the details, and "I've got five long-time staffers with the unit who handle their jobs in top order." Hill Is Topkick Running the battery when the old man isn't there is topkick M-

M-Sgt. George W. Terry of McLean, owner of an appliance store in his home town and an oil field employee, heads up the communications section, while Sgt. Robert J. Zimmerman, is chief of the firing battery. Zimmerman has an unusually close acquaintance with the equipment used in the field. At the Cabot Shops, he makes the gun barrels for the Howitzer's used in training. The Youngsters Among the "youngsters" in the outfit, who have made at least one camp at Fort Sill, is Cpl. Paul Carter, rammer-staff artist, who is known amongst his comrades as a "mountain of muscle," and whose "Ready-Ram" when the guns are being loaded in the field, is audible for two miles on a clear day. According to Capt. Ross "You had better be ready to ram when he says so or you'll be taken

60 Cities Working On Slum Clearance

By RICHARD E. MOONEY
WASHINGTON, Feb. 12—UP—At least 60 cities and towns are working on plans to clean out their slums and re-build their rundown areas under a program set forth in the 1934 federal housing law.

Three of the nation's largest cities — Chicago, Philadelphia and Minneapolis — and five smaller communities already have had their plans approved by the housing and home finance agency and are ready to proceed with the work.

An FHA official recently estimated there are 20 million dwellings in this country which need to be replaced or made liveable. He estimated it would take $24 billion of federal, state and local government money, plus three times that amount from private sources.

President Eisenhower's advisory committee on housing policy arrived at the conclusion in late 1933 that the job could not be accomplished by the slum clearance methods used in the past. Eradication of one slum area often pushed the slum dwellers into another, thus defeating the purpose of clearance, it said.

The committee came up with a plan to attack a city's entire problem through coordination of federal, local and private funds and efforts.

On the federal level, three divisions of the FHFA participate: The Urban Renewal Division, the Federal Housing Administration and the Public Housing Administration.

To qualify for federal cooperation in a plan, a community must submit a "workable program" which shows it is prepared to do its share.

The three big cities and five smaller ones have had their plans approved. Another dozen or so have submitted theirs for FHA's clearance, and at least 35 or 40 more are working on their plans.

Specifically, a city must show it has adequate building codes and will enforce them, an organization to administer the program, plans for financing it, plans to re-house families displaced by slum clearance, and the support of the local citizenry.

Ag Department Asking Wives To Buy Corn, Beans

By GWEN GIBSON
WASHINGTON, Feb. 12—UP—The Agriculture Department is coordinating an unusual type of promotional campaign designed to encourage the American housewife to buy up a surplus of canned corn and snap beans.

Officials in the Agricultural Marketing Service have compiled a mass of recipes which make the two vegetables sound almost exotic.

The drive begins officially March 17. For the following two weeks canned corn and snap beans probably will be on prominent display in most of the grocery stores in the country.

The drive is necessary, the Marketing Service said, because a record-breaking supply of the canned vegetables has accumulated on warehouse shelves through a mass carryover from last season combined with last year's high-level production.

Could Have Overall Effect Unless this supply can be pushed through normal trade channels the processor could be hurt by another burdensome carryover, the farmer could suffer because the processor is overstocked, and the Agriculture Department could wind up in another surplus buying program to straighten out the market.

It was for these reasons that the Marketing Service agreed to coordinate the corn-and-bean program for processors and other food trades groups. Ordinarily the Department's so-called "plentiful foods" campaigns are concentrated only on raw farm items.

"It's as simple as this," one spokesman said. "If we can push the canned foods and consumption we won't have to buy them."

Served as the service suggests, corn and snap beans could be interesting and succulent foods to consume.

For example, the Department said that snap beans are good eaten when seasoned with minced onions, green peppers, parsley, butter, horseradish, garlic and oil and slivers of almond for crispness.

One recipe features a white sauce for snapped beans embellished with mushrooms, tomatoes, cheese and hardcooked eggs.

Others compiled by the Service give directions for serving snap beans with chili sauce, with prepared mustard, in salads and soups and chowders and finally for combining them with almost every type of vegetable grown.

Sweet corn, the Department insists, is just as versatile and is "time-saving, thrifty and rich in flavor" as well.

Suggestions that the Service makes for serving this product run the gamut from old-fashioned corn chowder to a rich combination of corn, tomato, cheese, onion, egg and "whatever garnishes desired" served over thin, crisp toast.

The latter dish, the service points out, is meatless but protein-rich "and may be featured at luncheon or supper."

Other Developments Listed Elsewhere on the farm front: EGGS: A spokesman for the Agriculture Marketing Service reports that January's special drive to push egg sales, conducted jointly by the Department and the industry, apparently was "a huge success."

MILK: The special school milk program is meeting with tremendous success. Latest figures compiled by the Department show that since the start of the campaign the consumption of milk in participating high schools and grade schools has increased by 53 per cent over the normal monthly figure.

GRAINS: The Department is expected to take action soon on at least part of a series of recommendations made recently by the Grain Research and Marketing Advisory committee. The committee cited needs for new or expanded research on the utilization and marketing of grains.

BEEF: Unless another serious drought upsets the picture, Agriculture Department statisticians believe cattle raisers have an exceptionally bright season upcoming. The current edition of the Agriculture Statistician said that the five-year increase in cattle production "probably" has ended.

POTATOES: Housewives soon may find it simpler to prepare mashed potatoes than is to open a can of biscuits. The Department, in an effort to create expanded markets for potatoes, recently developed a new and improved process for dehydrating the spud.

Department laboratories, through dehydration processes, have found they can produce potato flakes that turn into delicious, fluffy mashed potatoes — with a baked potato flavor — when simply mixed with hot water or milk.

Solon Predicts Cotton Increase

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12—UP—Rep. E. C. Gathings (D-Ark.) predicted Saturday that the House will pass his bill to add 512,000 acres to this year's national cotton planting allotment.

The measure was approved late Friday by a House agriculture subcommittee headed by Gathings. It is designed to relieve "hardships" and "inequities" which Gathings said have developed under the sharp planting restrictions imposed by the government to curb surpluses.

UP AND IN -- Gary Griffin, Harvester center, lays one up and in to tie the score at 42-42 midway through the third quarter of Friday night's Harvester - Sandie game at Amarillo. Sandies Win Friday; Tie PHS For Title

Late Harvester Rally Falls Shy

BY BUCK FRANCIS

Pampa News Sports Editor

AMARILLO, Feb. 12 — A belated rally by the Hustlin' Harvesters here Friday night fell shy as the Amarillo Sandies won a 66-62 thriller to pull even with the Green and Gold for the District 1-4A Northern Zone championship.

Both the Harvesters and Amarillo wound up with 4-2 district records, Borger was eliminated from the title chase by its surprise loss to Lubbock Friday, 82-70, the Bulldogs finishing third in the race with a 3-3 record.

Lubbock's win over Borger Friday was its first district win, making the final Westerner district record read 1-5.

The Harvesters and Sandies played off their title tie last night at Amarillo as Sandie coach T. G. Hull won the coin toss with Harvester coach Clifton McNeely for the home game site.

The "hot shooting" Sandies were in command of the situation most of the way Friday but the Harvesters kept within striking distance of winning the game right down to the final buzzer.

Herbie Dodson, who has averaged 21 points in the previous five Sandie district games, was the Amarillo hero in Friday's contest.

Dodson, in addition to capturing scoring honors for the game with 24 points, broke a 62-62 deadlock with 1:33 minutes remaining in the game with two free shots and the Sandies held on to the finish.

The Harvesters had two more chances to tie up the game on field goal attempts but both hit the rim and bounded away with the Sandies taking the rebound on each occasion.

The Sandies, after gaining possession the last time with a minute left, stalled out the rest of the game. Bobby Boyter slipped under the basket in the final second for a layup as the Harvesters were pressing hard for the ball.

The Harvesters led four times during the game, 1-0 in the first 25 seconds on Gary Griffin's free shot; 26-25 with 3:30 minutes left in the second quarter on a field goal by E. Jay McIlvain; 44-42 and another field goal by McIlvain with 1:55 minutes left in the third; and 46-44, on a field goal by Benny Cartwright with 1:28 minutes left in the third.

On all but one occasion when the Sandies regained the lead it was Dodson doing the scoring.

The score was tied six times during the game, 14-14, 40-40, 42-42, 44-44, 46-46 and 62-62.

Harvesters Rally

The Sandies moved ahead 62-56 with 2:30 minutes left in the game before the Harvesters made their last serious bid for victory. Two free shots by Buddy Sharp and field goals by McIlvain and Griffin tied the score at 62-62 with 1:33 minutes left.

Griffin was called for charging when he scored the tying field goal at 62-62 and Dodson made good both free shots to give the Sandies the lead for the remaining seconds.

The biggest point spread of the night was 10 points when the Sandies jumped out front, 35-25, in the first 20 seconds of the third quarter. But the Harvesters battled back to tie the game at 40-40 less than four minutes later and it was nip and tuck rest of the way. Griffin with 20, McIlvain with 17 and Ken Hinkle with 14 led the Harvester scoring. Following Dodson's 24 points for the Sandies was Bub Farrell with 20.

Both teams were hot from the free throw line. The Harvesters hit 24 of 29 for 82.4 per cent while the Sandies converted 20 of 24 for 83.3.

TROUBLE AHEAD -- E. Jay McIlvain, Harvester forward, runs into a nest of Amarillo Sandies during Friday night's heated District 1-4A contest at Amarillo. Coach Figures Where His Team Is Tops

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 12 — UP — Coach Jack Gardner of Utah has come forth with his own system of ranking the top college basketball teams — and "odds" in his figures show his own Redskins to be No. 1 in the nation.

The best evaluation, according to Gardner, besides a won-lost record, is the point spread between a team's average offense and defense.

A lot of teams with either exceptional offensive or defensive averages, Gardner explained, are experiencing poor seasons. A team with a 90-point per game average isn't always a success, he said, and the same is true for a team with a low defensive average.

Computes Averages

To explain his formula, Gardner computed the averages of the first 10 teams in this week's United Press ratings. And according to his figures, Gardner's own Redskins are tops.

Gardner's evaluations were based on games played through Saturday night, Feb. 5, and did not take into account Utah's 76-74 setback at the hands of Brigham Young, Friday night.

The United Press rankings this week had the Utes in fourth place behind San Francisco, Kentucky and LaSalle.

Gardner stressed that he had favored his system of siding up strength long before it showed Utah to have the best "point spread" in the nation.

"Feels Same About System
"My team might have no point spread at all," he said, "but I'd still feel the same way about this system."

Gardner continued: "Statistics can be misleading, especially in basketball, unless the picture is considered as a whole."
Utah, winner in 17 of its first 19 games (not including the BYU defeat), averaged 77.2 points per game and held the opposition to 56.8 points per game. The difference is a spread of 20.4 points — tops among the first 10 teams.

LaSalle was second with an 18.7 point spread between its offense and defense followed by San Francisco, 16.8; UCLA, 14.6; Illinois, 14.6; Kentucky 13.4; George Washington 12.4; Duquesne 10.3. North Carolina state 6.1 and Minnesota 5.3.

Middleweight Is Machinist

WASHINGTON, D.C., Feb. 12 — UP — The International Association of Machinists proudly called attention Saturday to the fact that middleweight Gene Fullmer of Bingham Canyon, Utah, is a machinist instead of a miner.

"We in the machinists union are very proud of Brother Fullmer and it hurts to see him described as a miner," the IAM said in a letter to the United Press. Fullmer is often referred to as a miner because he is employed by the Kennecott Copper Corporation.

DiMag Due To Try Again On Italy Tour

NEW YORK, Feb. 12 — UP — Joe DiMaggio, whose plans for an Italian baseball playing tour were vetoed in a Communist - directed campaign last year, is going to try again to carry the "gospel of American democracy" to Italy's baseball fans.

DiMaggio, who has retired from professional baseball, hopes to head a squad of 25 players, all of Italian descent, on a $100,000 tour who has made a fortune manufacturing a remedy for indigestion, headaches and hangovers.

The group was organized by Marco Brizzolara, president of the concern, "to vividly portray the American ideal — that boys from all walks of life in America can rise to the very heights and become the greatest heroes in a democracy."

"We hope to show the Communists that any individual can be a success in a democracy," Brizzolara said.

"The Department of State is all for the project. It is already planning to brief the players in protocol and school them in whom to pose with and what to say."

Along with Di Maggio on the squad, which will split into two teams for exhibition game purposes, will be his brothers, Vince and Dom and Yogi Berra, Ralph Branca, Phil Rizzuto, Frank Crossley, Sal Maglie, Carl Furillo and John Antonelli, among others.

A spokesman for DiMaggio said this would be his first trip to Italy. DiMaggio, reported to be seeking a reconciliation with Marilyn Monroe, was not available even for comment on baseball.

A similar trip was planned last year but the Italian Communists protested bitterly against the proposal to mix baseball and politics.

Lubbock Five Knocks Borger From Running

LUBBOCK, Feb. 12 — The Lubbock Westerners knocked the Borger Bulldogs from the District 1-4A Northern Zone title race here Friday night with a stunning 82-70 upset.

It was the first win in six District 1-4A starts for the Westerners this season. Borger ended with a 3-3 district mark. Both teams closed out their season in Friday's game here.

Borger could have finished the district race in a three-way deadlock for the 1-4A Northern title had she won Friday. Amarillo and Pampa wound up in a two-way deadlock for the crown with 4-2 records.

Friday's game here produced the hottest individual scoring battle of the year. Gerald Meyers, pint-sized Borger guard, swished the nets for 32 points while Lubbock's giant center, Wade Wolfe, poured 31 points through the hoops.

Lubbock led all the way in the game, leading 20-14, 38-30 and 62-54 at the quarter stops.

Borger suffered its sixth loss against 23 wins in Friday's game while Lubbock was winning her 15th against 10 setbacks.

Friday's Lubbock win broke a seven-game losing streak of the Westerners. The Westerner victory also gave Lubbock a 2-1 edge over Borger for the season. In addition to the other 1-4A game between the two schools which Borger won by 64-56, the Westerners had beaten the Bulldogs, 71-55, in the Odessa Tournament finals.

1-4A May Furnish 3 Starters For 1955-56 Rice Cage Team

HOUSTON, Feb. 12 (Special) -- Pampa teams the last two years, with Hill (first name King) and Dale (last name Ball) the Rice Institute freshman basketball team goes rolling along.

There has been considerable praise by phrase this winter -- and justifiably so -- about the Owlets' high scoring 6-10 center, Temple Tucker. After all, the big boy sports a 29.5 per game scoring average and is a near cinch to set a new unofficial record for scoring by a freshman in the limited 12-game route.

There are a couple other red hot varsity prospects on Coach Charlie Moore's frosh squad, however, in the aforementioned King Hill and Dale Ball who bring a gleam to the eye of varsity mentor Don Suman as he watches them in games and workouts.

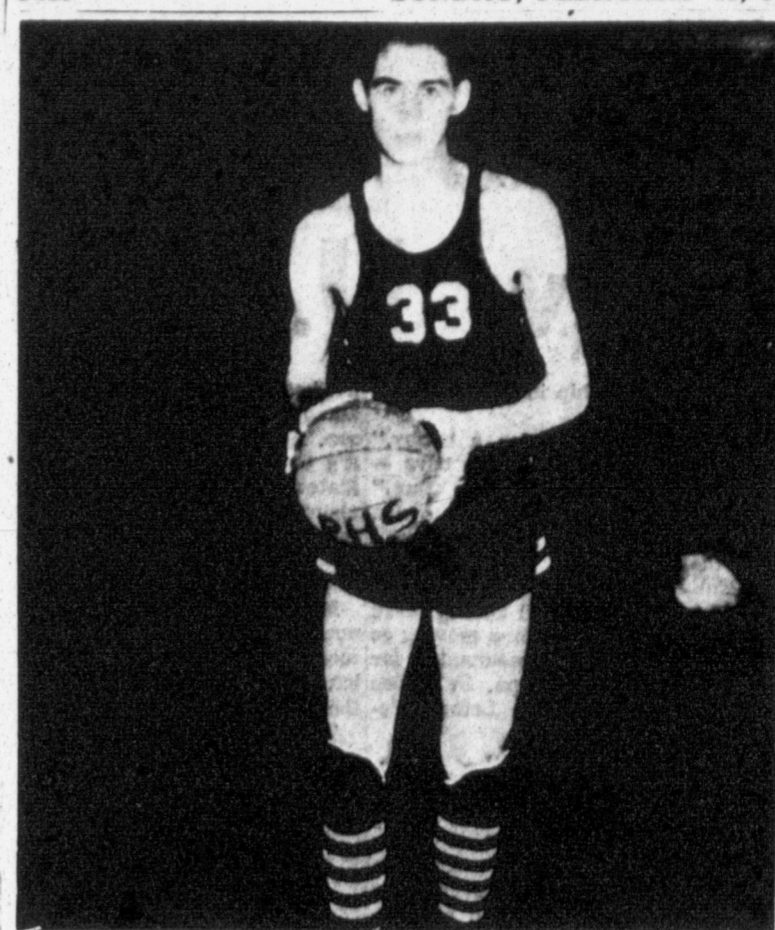

Hill and Ball particularly stood out in the Owlets' recent 82-69 win over a fine University of Texas freshman team to hand the sharp shooting Shorthorns their first loss in eight starts. Despite their setback, the visitors from Austin did the best job of the year in stopping Tucker as the former all-state lead from Bowie was held to a mere 18 points. But Hill and Ball took up the slack with 21 each, and their inspired all-around play was the difference.

The rugged 6-3, 205-pound Hill has been in the spotlight quite a bit since he was a star quarterback for the Rice frosh grid team and is well known along the Gulf Coast for his golfing ability. The splendid all-around athlete, who played in the high school all-star cage game last summer at Dallas, is doing a fine job in basketball with a 16.1 per game average for his 145 points in nine games.

But the lad who really has the Rice Gym fans buzzing of late is Ball, the little fireball from Lubbock, who appears ready to take over at a guard post with the varsity next winter -- if all goes well -- for the whiz-bang senior, Monte Robicheaux.

Ball is well-known in the Texas Panhandle where he starred for ex-Owl David Cook's Lubbock Westerners and was rated by his high school coach as a great player. But after Lubbock won the Westerners -- and Ball -- didn't get far from home for Ball's fame to spread because Lubbock was edged out in district play by great

12-Meet Slate For Raider Cindermen

LUBBOCK, Feb. 12 -- Texas Tech's track team, jumping the gun with a hastily-arranged dual meet against Oklahoma at Norman Saturday, will ace a 12-meet schedule this season.

Coach Landon Westbrook also said that Kenneth Fannon, who won the state championship in high and low hurdles for O'Donnell two years ago, was scholastically ineligible at Tech and had transferred to Victoria Junior College. Fannon passed all his work at mid-term, but his grades were not high enough to meet Tech and Border Conference requirements.

Two of the meets, with Sheppard Air Force Base, Mar. 5, and a quadrangular Apr. 29, will be run on Tech's new nine-lane, red cinder track.

The complete schedule: Feb. 12 -- University of Oklahoma, Norman

Mar. 5 -- Sheppard Air Force Base, Lubbock

Mar. 11-12 -- Border Olympics, Laredo

Mar. 18-19 -- Southwestern Recreation, Fort Worth

Mar. 25-26 -- West Texas Relays, Odessa

Apr. 1-2 -- Texas Relays, Austin

Apr. 8-9 -- Triangular (Abilene Christian, East Texas, Tech), Abilene

Apr. 16 -- Kansas Relays, Lawrence

Tag Title Bout At Mat Arena Monday

The Valentine for Pampa's wrestling fans is not altogether in keeping with the spirit of the day. Love and adoration do not enter into Monday night's Southwest States tag team championship match at the Top of Texas arena.

Newly crowned champs of the two-way wrestling game are Bob Geigel of Des Moines, Ia., and striking Boris Kameroff, Russian-born athlete from New Haven, Conn.

Their challengers for the title, in a two best falls of three or 90 minutes, are the well-known, versatile Parks Brothers from Canada, Herb and Bill.

The Parks boys work outside of Canada only in the winter time, but they have a habit of collecting trophies and championships. They dared the combo, Geigel and Kameroff, to risk the title at the Pampa Sportsman's Club and, eager as he is to preserve championships, Geigel talked Kameroff into accepting the challenge. It is not necessary, by state law, for a champion or a team of champions, to defend a title within 90 days, but Geigel, the individual title holder, and Kameroff, one of the better junior heavyweights in the business, accepted the challenge.

Reapers End Slate With 9-7 Record

By RAUL (Rabbit) RAMIREZ
Coach Pernal Scoggin's Pampa Junior High Reapers finished their 1954-55 season Thursday with an impressive victory over Sam Houston of Amarillo that gave the future Harvesters a 9-7 record for the season.

In Panhandle Junior High Conference play, the Reapers won eight and lost six.

The Reapers had only one returning letterman at the outset of this season. And all 16 of this year's squad will graduate into high school next season.

The Reapers compiled a 5-2 record in the first round of this year's conference race as they ranked among the leaders in the conference. The second round showed 3-4 for the Reapers.

The difference of the second round was the last second loss to Stephen F. Austin, 51-50, and the 29-42 loss to Dumas, both of whom bowed to the Reapers in the opening round.

The Reapers lost both games to Horace Mann and Borger while winning both loop games from Phillips, Elizabeth Nixon and Sam Houston, the latter two of Amarillo.

The Reapers averaged 45.5 points per game to 40.7 for the opponents.

Following is the Reaper season record:

Americanization Week

Pampa To Soon Have Four New U.S. Citizens

By ED NASH
Pampa News Staff Writer

One of them is a Belgian, another is a Canadian and two are Germans. They are married to a mechanic, a maintenance superintendent, an oil company employe and an engineer.

And, among them, they have nine youngsters, all under the age of 4, and 27 years in the United States.

They do have one thing in common, however — they will become American citizens in the near future.

For they are the only four members of the Pampa Lions Club Americanization Class who have been in the United States long enough to qualify for citizenship.

Americanization Week
This is Americanization Week and each of the four women is thrilled about becoming a full-fledged member of the American society.

The Belgian is Mrs. Helen (Beryl Dean) Brister, 1133 Neel Rd. Mrs. Pat (Donald L.) Bissell, 1341 N. Starkweather, the class president, is a Canadian. And from Germany are Mrs. Eva Maria (Duane) Cash, who lives some five miles southeast of Pampa, and Mrs. Anita (Martin) Lantau, 2106 Hamilton.

Mrs. Brister, a native of Brussels, Belgium, has been in America for the last six years and has been in the Pampa area twice during that time. She came to Tulsa in 1950 and stayed a year. Then she went to California with her husband's folks and returned to Pampa two years ago this May.

"Split Residence"
It is that "split residence" that is causing her some difficulty, too. She passed her citizenship test Tuesday in Amarillo but now she has to find two persons who will testify they have seen her frequently for a period of three years. She expects to take the oath of citizenship in another week or so.

"I have no time for a hobby," she says. "Not with three boys — they keep me busy all the time." The boys are Beryl Dean Jr., Michael Ray and Jerry Lee, all of them under 4.

The Bristers were married in 1948 in Germany and stayed there for three months before moving to America. He is a mechanic for Keller and Co., Pampa. In Lefors he worked for the Lefors Petroleum Co.

"Moves Fast"
Her comment on the change from Belgium and Germany to the United States is typical of many a person who comes to America for the first time: "Everything moves so fast over here, even in Americanization Week."

She's been in America long enough now that, though she still has some relatives in the old country, "I'm not sure how many, I don't even know some of them now."

Mrs. Bissell hails from London, Ontario, Canada, within 90 miles of Toronto, but has been in the United States since her teens — she attended high school in Tulsa, Okla.

Of the 12 years she has been in America, she has been in Pampa two of them. She met and married her husband, an engineer for the Celanese plant west of Pampa, in Tulsa. Celanese sent him first to Kingville, then to Pampa. How did she get to Tulsa in the first place? Her mother's mother lived there. The Bissells have two offspring, Susan, 3½, Alan, 18 months.

"Canada is beautiful," Mrs. Bissell says, remembering her girlhood days. "It's a more restful way of life, everybody isn't always chasing his tail."

Hasn't Heard
She is one of the two Americanization class members who has not heard Word No. 1 from federal authorities about becoming a citizen. Says she, chuckling, "Maybe it's the 12 years I've been in the States without doing anything about becoming a citizen, maybe they don't think I'm in a hurry."

That's what she good-humoredly refers to as her "sordid past."

Mrs. Bissell gets back to Canada now and then, and, consequently, most of what she's seen of America is "up and down both sides of the Mississippi River."

"Canadians do not collect things as people do in the United States," she claims. But in her native country they do seem to have more time for just plain visiting. There are more household appliances in America, but it is greener and food is cheaper in Canada. As she says, "I went home for two weeks and gained 10 pounds."

From A Seaport
Mrs. Cash comes from Hamburg, Germany, a seaport town, and has been in America for the last five years.

She lived on Long Island, N.Y., where "the flowers and houses are pretty," and then joined the U.S. Women's Army Corps and was sent to Fort Lee, Va. That is where she met her husband, who is now a Phillips employe.

The Cashes stayed at Fort Lee till his discharge from the service, lived in Hopewell, Va., for a short time, then in March, 1953, moved to Borger, home of his sister and where he had been living as a civilian. Phillips transferred him to Pampa a month later.

"I miss the German food, especially the dark German bread," she says. She had plenty of opportunity to get such commodities on the lower East Side of New York City, in bakeries and delicatessens.

Water
Then there's the matter of water. Hamburg, a seaport, naturally has plenty of it. Now she's in the Texas Panhandle where, she says with exaggeration only "there's not a drop of it." She could use some forests and mountains, too.

One thing, though, the prices are higher and the wages lower in Germany. "You can't save a thing over there — everything goes for rent and food."

The Cashes have two children, David, 2, and Evelyn, 8 months. And David is as American a kid as you could want — complete to a pair of six-shooters strapped to his side. Mrs. Cash, who wants to be an American too, has yet to hear from the federal authorities about her examinations.

Mrs. Lantau, who comes from Munich, Germany, will have been in the United States for four years in April. Six months of it was in San Antonio and the rest in Pampa.

Came To Visit
Her husband is a Celanese maintenance superintendent. She came up here one time to visit her sister, Mrs. Walter Stein, who lives in Pampa. Her sister got sick, so Mrs. Lantau stayed over — and met the man she was to marry. "I just stayed on," she commented. Today they have two youngsters, Sallie Ann, 2, and Cristina Louise, 2 months.

"I love America," she says, simply. But she can still remember fondly the Bavarian Alps, "quite different" from Pampa and the Panhandle. Each summer she and her husband go to the Illinois home of his parents and seeing the Colorado mountains on the way "holds me for the rest of the year."

America is different from Germany in that "the people are so friendly — they're all in a good mood, most of the time." And then there is the way Americans do things:

"Everything is so much easier. For the housewife, especially. Take your laundry. You've got automatic washers. All you have to do is push a button. Back home, you have to use a board and boil the clothes twice on the stove. And everything's so much cheaper here. You don't have to worry about wearing things out, just buy new ones. They don't cost enough to worry about."

FUTURE CITIZENS—Becoming American citizens in the near future will be, left to right, Mrs. Pat Bissell, Mrs. Helen Brister, Mrs. Anita Lantau and Mrs. Eva Maria Cash. One has already taken her citizenship exam, another expects to take hers any day now and two others are still awaiting word. (News Photo)

Notified
Mrs. Lantau has been notified she will hear any day now that she is supposed to go to Amarillo for her test, the one Mrs. Brister has just completed.

That's the four Pampans who will soon be American citizens. They're all thrilled about the prospect, naturally. When they become citizens, they can appreciate the more the words on the Statue of Liberty in New York harbor which greet the majority of newcomers to American shores, it says, in part:

"... Be me your tired, your poor, your huddled masses yearning to breathe free. The wretched refuse of your teeming shore. Send these, the homeless, tempest-tost to me, I lift my lamp beside the golden door."

Gas Workers Call Strike

GALVESTON, Feb. 12—UP—The Gas Workers Union said Saturday its members will strike Sunday at midnight if negotiations don't produce a new contract by then.

Such a walk-out could effect most of the residents in Galveston, because company officials said only a skeleton crew would be maintained and anyone whose gas goes out would be "out of luck."

A spokesman for the Officer Workers Union and Gas Workers Union said they were asking 15-cent hourly wage hikes, one day extra sick leave and three weeks vacation after 10 years' seniority.

Paul E. Nicholls, district manager for the Southern Union Gas Co., said the company had offered a "satisfactory two-year contract" and he indicated it was all the company could afford.

for a 40-hour work week for maintenance and repair men.

The constitution of the Irish Free State was adopted Dec. 11, 1922.

Columbus' voyages to the New World here in 1492, 1493 and 1494 (same voyage), 1498 and 1502.

Nicholls did not say what the offer was, but union spokesmen said it was a three-cent hourly pay raise for office workers and 42-hour pay

Railroad Plans

To Cut 2 Trains

SHAMROCK — (Special) — The Rock Island Railway plans to file applications to abandon its only two trains between Amarillo and Tucumcari, N.M. and to remove two of the four trains now in service between Amarillo and Memphis, Tenn. Two streamlined trains would replace the four now in service between Memphis and Amarillo.

The Sayre, Okla., Chamber of Commerce is leading the fight in an attempt to prevent the curtailing of service, which would result in slower mail service along the route. The Shamrock Chamber of Commerce went on record this week, opposing the removal of the two trains.

Rock Island officials say they are losing about $4 per mile on the operation of trains through here. Citing figures for last November, a spokesman said the operating cost of the trains was $4.43 a mile. He said gross revenue for two trains was 81.5 cents a mile and for the other two slightly under 50 cents.

The spokesman said receipts for passenger operations all along the line "have shown a steady decline."

McKay Rests for Weekend
HONOLULU, Feb. 12—UP—David O. McKay, president of the Latter-Day Saints Church, returned here Friday morning with his wife and party from a four-day flying trip to the outer islands. McKay and his wife spent most of the day resting at the home of Oahu State President Edward L. Clissold for the rigorous weekend of Church activities which has been planned for them. The white-haired spiritual leader was the guest of honor Friday night at the Oahu State feast at Laie on the island of Oahu.

PEG JUST LOVES exotic food and here's recipe she picked up with a "mysterious" flavor. . . a seasoning trick from the Far East. . . Indian timbales. . . the "Indian" comes from the curry powder. . . and it has a simply delicious mushroom-egg-pimiento sauce! Goes real well with hot French bread and a lettuce salad.

- INGREDIENTS
- 1-2 cup finely chopped green pepper
 - 1 cup uncooked white rice
 - 2 cups water
 - 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
 - 1-2 teaspoons salt
 - 1-8 teaspoon black pepper
 - 1-4 teaspoon curry powder
 - 1-2 cup chopped whole canned pimientos (1, 4 oz. can)
 - 2, 10-2 oz. cans condensed cream of mushroom soup
 - 3-4 cup water
 - 1-2 teaspoon salt
 - 1-8 teaspoon pepper
 - 6 hard-cooked eggs, thinly sliced

METHOD: Put the green pepper, rice, water, Worcestershire sauce, 1-2 teaspoons salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper and the curry powder in a 2-quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover and leave over this low heat 14 minutes. Remove saucepan from the heat but keep the lid on 19 minutes. Make 6 timbales by pressing 1-3 cup of the rice mixture into a custard cup. Dip the custard cup into water before pressing rice into custard cup. Immediately shake out each timble and arrange them in a shallow greased baking dish. Cover and store in the refrigerator until mealtime. About 30 minutes before the meal is to be served, mix together the pimientos, mushroom soup, water, salt, pepper and hard-cooked eggs. Pour over and around the timbales. Top each timble with an egg slice. Bake in a 350 degree oven, 30 minutes or until the sauce bubbles. This recipe makes 6 timbales.

Miss Marjie West And Bennie Holland Are United In Marriage At Kellerville

Miss Marjie West, 1022 Duncan, became the bride of Bennie L. Holland, 509 W. Browning, at 2 p.m. Feb. 6, in the home of the bride's parents in Kellerville. Rev. Grady Adcock officiated for the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. West of Kellerville, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Eunice Holland of Miami.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length dress of white faille. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a v-neck and three-quarter length sleeves. She wore navy blue shoes and a white hat. She carried a bouquet of white staphanotis, centered with a white orchid and tied with blue streamers, over the Bible she received from the Rainbow Girls.

The couple was married before an altar formed from ferns and flanked by baskets of white gladioli. Mrs. Arthur Wells of Shamrock was pianist. She played "Love You Truly" as a prelude, "Because" during the ceremony.

"Leather Look" For Spring Told

A preview of the leather look for spring was unveiled this week by Leather Industries of America, at an informal showing of new styles and leathers in shoes, handbags, garments, belts, gloves, luggage and a variety of other leather items.

Leathers that are printed, woven, crushed, corked and glowing appear in shoes and handbags for the first time.

Woven leather, which is slated to supplant mesh in popularity this spring, was on view in both men's and women's shoes in solid and two-tone styles.

The soft construction in shoes was featured in a variety of casual and leisure flats and pumps, crafted of soft, glove-like leathers with interesting surface detail such as a cork finish, pigskin, and ostrich.

Soft velvety suedes — many of the brand-new "dry-cleanable" leather-and smooth butter-soft capskins were seen in jackets, suits and greatcoats; also in cardigans with knitted wool sleeves and leather bodies.

Handbags ranged from a six-inch flat envelope to suitcase-size squares, pouches and totes. Most of them carry no decoration — the glowing colors and textures of velvety suedes, lustrous and palest calfs, smooth kids, llama, elk, glove leathers, reptiles, are their own adornment. Leathers are lightweight and supple.

Colors ranged from the palest pastel yellow to deep, flaming scarlet, including avocado, shell pink, sweetheart pink, pimento, Ile de France blue, oriental yellow, and a whole family of browns, ranging from honey to whiskey.

RUTH MILLET

Mothers who don't teach their sons as well as their daughters the simple mechanics of running a home ought not to complain or even be surprised if their daughters-in-law don't love them very much.

By the time he marries every mother's son should know how to make a bed and be trained to hang up his own clothes instead of dropping them on the floor or tossing them over the backs of chairs.

By the time he is head of his own house every young man should know how to cook a simple meal so that he can cook for himself and his wife if she is ill.

Any young man of marrying age ought to be able to fix small repairs around a house without yelling at his wife to find him the hammer, hand him the saw, etc.

He ought also to be capable of, and responsible for, answering his own letters, writing regularly to his parents, and penning his own thank-you notes for gifts.

Also in the gift line, he ought to be able to select gifts, and should know when a woman expects to receive a gift. The husband who doesn't buy his wife a valentine of some sort just hasn't been well-trained by his mother.

He should take enough interest in his own clothes to take good care of them and to at least tell his wife when he wants a suit sent to the cleaners.

Young men who have even this much preparation for marriage not only make more considerate husbands but are happier themselves.

For all people feel more secure if they have a sense of independence about small things as well as big, and boys who will some day be husbands and fathers are people, too.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Some years ago I was visiting friends whose son is John, then seven years old. His father is American; his mother British. Late one afternoon it had begun to snow when John suddenly discovered he'd left his skate key at a friend's house. As he was preparing to go and get it, his mother ran into the hall to make sure he was wearing rubbers.

The next moment, sound effects from the hall told me that the issue of rubbers had become physically joined. Then I heard John getting himself pushed up the stairs to his room and proclaiming his rage at the spanking there administered.

His British mother returned to the living room where I was shelling than she'd have been by another than she'd have been by another unusual exertion. She said, "Well, that's a grubby little job over! The child's so fond of his father that he tends to lord it over me sometimes. Can't have that, you know. Poor chap, he's worried about his skate key. As soon as he stops roaring, I'll go up and tell him that we'll delay dinner so that he can go and get it."

This was done. Wearing rubbers, John went off for his key. On his return, he came to the table, a little subdued but grateful, too, for his mother's interest in his original problem.

She was able to keep it in mind because she was not distracted by intense emotions about what she had done. She felt no special anger at her child for disagreeing with her on the rubbers issue nor remorse for the way she'd resolved it. So she could remember to make it clear to John that she had denied him not the right to get what he wanted but the wrong—unrubbered—way to get it. (At this point, lest odd people get the idea that I think spanking children is wonderful, I must say that this was the last spanking of four John's mother has given him during his lifetime.)

Always we have to discipline a child because he has chosen the inexperienced way to get what he wants. Jimmy lies about taking cookies only because he hasn't discovered that truth is more comfortable. If our discipline of him is steamed up with anger and fear of what we have done, we will not remember that our young lar is hungry. And be able to say to him, "After this, if you're hungry, say so. There's nothing to be ashamed of in wanting cookies. Believe in what you want so that I can help you get it. It is silly to make us both unhappy to let about wanting a cookie."

If we remember to show our interest in the original need the child has tried to fill in his inexperienced way, discipline is not so much resented.

Exercises Help Shape Of Legs

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Women who lack perfect legs look at those women who are well-endowed and sigh. Most of them imagine there is nothing that can be done. If legs are bad; well, resign yourself, is the best attitude. Actually, something can be done to change the shape of the legs, although the bony structure and muscles remain pretty much the same.

If the calves are overdeveloped, there are stretching exercises that can be done to smooth them out. If they're skinny, they can be built up.

The impression of a good-looking leg comes from the contrast between the calf and the ankle. About four or five inches difference between the two is what you should strive for.

To build up your calves, try this: stand with one side toward the wall, with that hand resting on the wall. Rise up high on the toes nearest the wall, letting the outside leg hang. Then lower yourself to flatfoot, putting the outside foot back in place.

Repeat this for the other leg. Don't tire yourself, but do as much as you feel like each day.

To slim your calves, try this: Sit on the floor with your legs straight out in front of you. Keep your knees straight, lean forward and grasp one toe with each hand. Pull on the toes gently while you count to ten. Relax between pulls.

Refreshments of strawberry float punch and angle foot cake were served from a lace covered table, centered with a seasonal arrangement of leaves sprayed with silver. Appointments were crystal and silver.

Sweetheart Dinner Held By Ruth Class

Members of the Ruth Class of the First Baptist Church held a Sweetheart banquet recently for their husbands in the church's young people's department.

Jim Dean acted as master of ceremonies, and the invocation was given by Rev. Bob Stroble.

Decorations followed a Valentine theme. The serving table was covered with a white cloth and centered with an arrangement of chrysanthemums surrounding a red stereofram heart. Red stereofram holders decorated with a heart held white tapers.

Each member of the class was introduced by Ronnie Trice, dressed as Cupid, in a white skirt and blouse with red hearts attached. As each woman was introduced, "Cupid," who carried a bow and arrow, threw a red heart in the air.

Group singing was led by Joe Whitten, director of music for the church. Members of the Vota Vita class served. The benediction was led by Mr. Whitten.

Attending were Messrs. and Mmes. S. E. Waters, Bob Fugate, Jim Dean, David Shoup, Joe Magee, John Jones, Robert Hogan, Jim Johnston, Walter Guenzel, Glen Stewart, Gordon Bayless, John Ramsey, Carlos Grissom, Dee Burba, Ross Buzzard, Les Sellers; Rev. J. R. Stroble; Joe Whitten; Mmes. Owen Johnson and Weldon Trice; and Misses Sheila Lemmons, Gwen Barrett and Ronnie Trice.

Bethie Mantooth And Lt. Gilbert Stribling Marry In Double-Ring Rite In McLean

McLEAN — (Special) — Nuptial vows were exchanged by Miss Bethie Vonn Mantooth and Lt. Gilbert Taylor Stribling in a double-ring ceremony, Feb. 4, in the First Methodist Church here. Rev. C. W. Farmer, pastor of the Wesley Memorial Methodist Church of Abilene, read the service.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Mantooth of McLean, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Stribling of Shamrock.

Tiered candelabra with lighted blue tapers, backed by jade palms, and flanked by tall baskets of pink snapdragons and blue carnations formed the setting for the candle-light service.

Mrs. Frank Rogers, organist, and Mrs. Bill Day, pianist, played a prelude of nuptial selections, and accompanied the male quartet, as they sang, "Tell Me Why"

GRACE FRIEND

Dear Grace Friend
I recently named two friends as references in a letter I had to send to a firm where I hope to have a job. Later on someone told me that I had no right to send in names as references unless the people had been consulted. Since both men are good friends I saw no reason for consulting them first. I know they won't mind at all.

Sally

Dear Sally
It is courteous to ask people before using their names as references. Since it is too late to ask your friends for permission, you should call them or write them and explain what you have done.

TABLE MANNERS

Dear Grace
Our meal times have become such horrors that I have decided there is nothing to do but write to you and tell you about it. Perhaps you may have some helpful suggestions.

We have two little children, 19 months and three years, and we love them dearly. Perhaps that is the trouble because my husband who seldom gets to see them wants to have them at the table to eat with us.

Of course everything is upset every minute. The kids don't eat properly and my husband scolds them and pretty soon they throw their food and they cry finally after he has yelled at them and then I lose my temper and send them to the bedroom or put them to bed.

I can see why my husband thinks he wants them with him at dinner when he can put them out to be some better way to manage it. I try to make him happy and be a good wife but he does ask a lot in this matter.

Dora

Dear Dora
Probably such little children are too tired to eat properly by the hour your husband is ready for dinner.

I would suggest that you feed them early and get them ready for bed before you eat. Let your husband supervise their baths and getting into their night clothes while you finish your dinner, thus they will have a chance to be with them and get to play with them. They will be happier, having already had their dinners.

And then if he wants them to come to the table in their high chairs while he eats, try it and see if it will work out with letting them have some quiet toy to play with while you eat. If they won't quiet down, then try to work out an hour for their father to be with them before your dinner for the sake of everyone in the house.

Then get them to bed and eat your own meal in peace and quiet even if you have to serve it later. I am sure that after he tries such a schedule he will grant its merits.

COOK'S NOOK

Cream And Tomato Juice Combine Into Hearty Soup

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

We spent the weekend with friends on a farm in Connecticut. Cold? Yes. But the soup was a quick and warming. Our hostess, miles from the nearest shopping center, keeps 4-ounce cans of powdered cream on hand (its shelf life is long and its calories count much lower). Cans of tomato juice are always on the shelf, too, ready to go into this quick, rich and really fine soup.

Cream Tomato Soup
(Makes 4 servings)
Six tablespoons powdered cream, 1 tablespoon flour, ¼ teaspoon celery salt, ½ teaspoon salt, dash pepper, 2 cups tomato juice, 1 cup water, 1 tablespoon butter or margarine.

Mix powdered cream with flour and seasonings. Combine tomato juice and water. Bring to the boiling point. Shake powdered cream mixture into hot juice, stirring. Add butter or margarine and heat a few minutes longer.

Our friend served cream snacks with the soup. Tender, rich and the kind that melt in your mouth. Of course they take a little time to prepare, but are certainly worth it.

Cream Snacks
(Makes 2½ dozen snacks)
One-quarter cup powdered cream, ½ cup margarine or butter, softened; ¼-cup sifted all-purpose flour.

Mix ingredients together with

Wearing Of Make-Up Needs Attention And Careful Application To Look Nice

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

One hazard of wearing a real job of make-up is that it needs to be tended even more carefully than a naked skin. A smear or a streak, a sharp line under the chin or a neglected spot can turn hours of work into a ha'quin mask, ugly and unbecoming.

have had skin coloring or because your skin has flaws.

But once you've decided, don't do a halfway job. Get a good strong light for your dressing table and survey your work from all angles. Learn all you can from cosmetics specialists about application for your individual skin. Keep a watchful eye on a mirror all day, even if you have to duck out of the room. Make sure you don't smear it on your shadow and rouge, you know it by now. It may be because you brows.

Plastic Hooks Give Extra Clothes Space

Because today's teen-ager "would simply die" if she had to wear the same outfit to school day after day, the strain on the family budget usually is matched only by the strain on available wardrobe space. A happy solution is extra hooks in her wardrobe to augment those already there. New plastic hooks now featured in stores are a handy aid. They can be pressed into position on the wall for permanent use, thanks to a special adhesive coating on the wood insert on the back of the hooks. It's necessary only to moisten the adhesive with water and work it into a soft consistency like glue before pressing the hooks to the wall. No nails, screws, or tools are required.

One of the new plastic towel bars on the back of your kitchen door is an inexpensive way of providing a place for hanging tea towels to dry. A unique feature of one of the latest plastic relations is a special adhesive backing which permits the towel bar to be pressed into position without using nails, screws, or tools of any kind.

Shirtwaist Dress For Spring Evening

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Women's Editor
NEW YORK — (NEA) — The spring fashion story in dresses is by no means completely told in terms of a long-torso, string-bean look.

Balancing the narrow silhouette is the full-skirted petticoated dress that's the essence of softness and femininity. Even the fabrics for these dresses float. Or they are done in silks that whisper and rustle.

Thus, you can take your pick of the sleek line or the whirl of petticoats and be in fashion either way. Newly developed is the combination of the long torso and the high empire line, creating a smooth, sleek midriff.

Torso, middy and even pleated-skirt dresses retain the petticoat as propping for a full look. Even the shirtwaist dress, seen most often in slim and tailored versions, is done with soft, wide skirts and worn with petticoats this spring.

In fact, the shirtwaist dress appears in many guises. It's done in print and solid combinations, the contrasting fabrics used to gain a two-piece blouse and skirt look. The dress-up shirtwaist dress is for late-day or evening wear, done in silk chiffon or voile or organza. There's often the added flipp of thimstone glitter. The severity of the shirtwaist look disappears in the softness of fabric and wrapping through the midriff.

Pleats are important to the daytime dress whether the skirt is full or narrow. Pleats may start at the waist and continue to the hemline or they may be released at the hipline to fan out gracefully. There are even pleated sleeves and, of course, pleated fronts.

Miss Nancy Joy Brown and Pleasant Albert Smith were married Jan. 29, in Clovis, N. M., with Rev. R. C. Bolton of the First Christian Church officiating at the single-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. Shuss, 329 Zimmers, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Smith of Guymon, Okla.

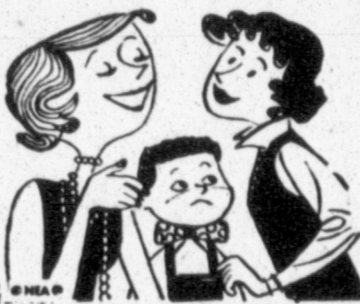

The bride wore a navy blue street-length dress with white accessories. Her corsage was of carnations. Attendants were the bride's parents. The bride's mother wore a grey dress with black accessories. Her corsage was of yellow roses.

A dinner and reception was held for the families of the bridal couple Jan. 30 in the home of the bride's parents.

The couple is at home at 302 S. Quinn Street, Guymon, Okla.

The bride was graduated from Pampa High school. The bridegroom attended Guymon schools and is in the welding business.

MANNERS MAKE FRIENDS

If someone compliments your child you don't — in order to appear modest — have to find some fault with the youngster. If someone tells you that your child has beautiful manners say "Thank you."

Too many mothers reply: "Her manners are anything but beautiful at home."

Peccary Leather Has Spring Debut

Today, with fashion's new ease-up look of casual sophistication, pigskin leather has really come into its own, and even makes its debut in a sparkling white long glove for evening. This new leather longie, which also comes in a full range of new fashion colors, is so versatile that it can be worn right through the day with your casuals and with your afternoon ensembles, too. Wear it with your push-up sleeves so that it just about reaches the sleeve's hem, or wear it right over the new tightly-fitted sleeves decreed by current fashion.

Just as smart among the batch of new pig leathers are several new versions of the shorter glove ranging from a diminutive shorter-than-short, barely reaching the wristbone, to the new 4-button length which just covers the wrist.

The shorter gloves are smartly styled to produce a chic boxy effect and are often hand-finished with fine saddle stitching or clock embroidery. Many of them are trimmed with distinctive self-leather straps, chunky metal buckles or dainty mother-of-pearl buttons. Others show self-leather tassels or black and gold metal tabs with your own initials dangling from the wrist.

New colors include brilliant shock hues like cornflower blue and oriental yellow as well as flower pastels like hydrangea blue and lotus pink. All of them blend perfectly with navy blue, pastel and neutral spring ensembles.

Welcome news concerning the new pig leathers is that they are really washable since they are chrome-tanned rather than alum-tanned. Simply wash them on your hands in a lukewarm, sudsy solution made with a mild soap or flake. After rinsing thoroughly in lukewarm water, roll them in a towel to remove excess moisture. Finish by blowing into them in order to restore their shape and lay them flat to dry. Be sure to work them thoroughly in your hands once or twice before they are almost dry in order to prevent any possible stiffening.

Pig leather is not obtained from the domesticated hog, Figakin, or peccary leather, is made from the skins of the wild peccary found in Central and South America which are shaved down to a light weight for women's better gloves. At its finest, pigskin leather is soft, elastic, fine-grained and one of the most durable leathers known.

If you're having trouble with runs in nylon hose or lingerie, it may mean the soap or detergent you use fights with the water. Experiment with a milder soap with one item, see if it lasts longer. Then switch.

Successful laundering starts in the store. Pick fabrics that you know will launder with ease, not run and not shred. Be picky about pinked or taped seams, good hems, stout construction.

Projects Planned By 4-H Members

The Wayside 4-H Club met Friday afternoon in the Home Demonstration Office, Courthouse. During the business session, the girls chose projects for the state award contest along the lines of dairy foods, safety, public speaking, vegetables, "share the fun," and electric.

Good bath towels have a firm background weave, close and long loops or tufts. They should be colorfast to washing. They should have a wide, firm, even selvage and well-finished hems.

FOUR GENERATIONS

Barbara Wells, Lefors, Becomes Bride Of Sgt. Chuck Hamner In Simple Rite

Miss Barbara Wells, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Wells of Lefors, and Sgt. Chuck Hamner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hamner of Kahoka, Mo., were married Monday in the First Christian Church of Pampa. Rev. Richard Crews officiated at the double-ring service.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length princess dress of white faille, topped by a jacket trimmed with rhinestones on the mandarin collar and the cuffs of the three-quarter length sleeves. She wore a white linen hat decorated with rhinestones and her shoes were white linen. She carried a cluster of blue stephanotis, centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Ray Timmons was matron of honor. She was attired in an aqua street-length dress with pink accessories. Her corsage was of pink garnets.

Ray Timmons served as best man.

The bride's mother wore a green and brown suit with beige accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

The couple was married before an altar flanked by baskets of pink and white gladioli. Miss Joyce Gordon was organist.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents in Lefors. The table was covered with a white lace cloth over blue, centered with an arrangement of white gladioli and blue candy silk.

The two-tiered wedding cake was decorated in blue and white and topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Assisting with the serving were Meses Roy Bull, C. B. Coberly and G. E. Winegart.

For the wedding trip to El Paso and Mexico, the bride wore a black and white tweed suit, trimmed in black leather, with matching accessories. Her corsage was the white orchid from her bridal bouquet. The couple will reside in Midwest City, Okla.

The bride attended Wewoka High School, Wewoka, Okla., and was graduated from Lefors High School. She was also graduated from Draughon School of Business, Oklahoma City, Okla.

The bridegroom was graduated from Kahoka High School and has served seven years with the Air Force. He is now stationed at Tinker Air Force Base, Oklahoma City.

Hints On Beauty

A worn-out glove is pretty hopeless unless it is only the seam that's open. When the fingers wear, retire the pair to kitchen work or for use under rubber floes when floor scrubbing. With the fingers cut off, they are good for gardening.

A favorite ruse for stockings with runs is the answer "Oh, do it!" when attention is called to the run. It doesn't fool anyone — she's probably seen that same run for three days. Keep a spare pair in the desk or pocketbook. Try mesh or a stouter stocking if you're run-prone.

If you're thinking of a new way of cutting your hair and don't want to be putty in a beauty operator's hands, try it out. Lather up your head with a thick lather and mold it around, looking in the mirror. You can get an idea of what shape's good for you.

It is not necessary to give a death grip to a coffee cup. If your lipstick has been blotted and still comes off on the china, this is probably what you've been doing. Delicacy and just enough contact to keep the coffee from dribbling is what you need, not a look that seems as if you were going to take a bite out of the crockery.

Jewelry is meant to be worn to point up your costume. Don't just hang it on your any old place. Study its effect in the mirror. Make sure it carries the eye of the beholder where you want it, not to a figure fault.

Miss Nancy Adams Feted With Shower

Miss Nancy Adams, bride-elect of Jim Bob Cox, was complimented with a shower recently in the home of Mrs. E. J. O'Brien, 823 N. Somerville. Co-hostesses with Mrs. O'Brien were Meses W. S. Dixon, Dick Walker, Brent Bionkivist and E. L. Biggerstaff.

The honoree, her mother, Mrs. G. H. Adams, and the mother of the prospective bridegroom, Mrs. A. C. Cox, were presented corsages of blue Dutch iris.

Decorations followed the theme of the bride-elect's colors of blue and white. The serving table was covered with a white cutwork cloth and centered with an arrangement of Dutch iris in a silver bowl. Blue tapers in silver candelabra flanked the centerpiece. Other decorations included blue candles in silver holders on the buffet.

Refreshments of white cake decorated with blue bells, tea sandwiches, salted nuts, coffee and tea were served. Mrs. Bionkivist

Harrah Methodist WSCS Plans Dinner

The Women's Society of Christian Service of Harrah Methodist Church will sponsor a dinner from 6 to 8 p.m. Thursday in Fellowship Hall. The public is invited to attend.

Twenty-five persons attended or sent gifts.

If your white woollens are yellowing, it's not because they're reverting to their original color. They've been subjected to soap with too much alkali in it or chlorine bleaches or sun drying. Use only hydrogen peroxide or sodium perborate to restore whiteness.

White House Residents, Ike And Mamie, Seem To Enjoy Whirl Of Social Season

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The White House is catching the full brunt of one of the busiest social seasons in years, but this doesn't seem to bother residents Ike and Mamie. In fact they appear to enjoy it.

On top of the usual receptions and dinners thrown by the President, a bevy of foreign dignitaries has flocked into the nation's capital in recent months to see and say hello to the Eisenhowers. Great Britain's elegant Queen Mother even spent three nights at the Executive Mansion during her visit.

Despite wear and tear on the presidential welcome mat, the social docket is only half cleared. This month there will be congressional and diplomatic receptions, plus dinners for the Vice President and the Speaker of the House. Just what happens at one of these gala affairs in the home of the President of the U. S.? Is it fun? Do you really meet Ike and Mamie personally? What do they say? What do you wear? How long do you stay?

Well, here's an inside view of a White House reception from start to finish which should help to answer these and other questions.

Let's assume you're a twentieth century Cinderella with a Republican fairy godmother. One day about three weeks before an official reception, you receive an impressive engraved invitation.

It reads, "The President of the United States and Mrs. Eisenhower request the pleasure of the company of . . ." and in the space is your name.

Right off the bat is problem of clothes. In all circles this shindig is considered ultraformal, so the ladies must attire themselves in full-length ball gowns. As for the gents, it's nothing but white tie and tails.

Since this is a reception, no r.m.v.p. is necessary. Guests just hand over an "admit card" which comes with the invitation. Except for members of the cabinet, everyone enters the White House via the East wing. Cars or taxis can come up the driveway and drop you off right at the door.

Once inside, you follow the crowd down a long corridor leading to the main section of the building. On the way is a spacious check-room, and when you depart it's okay to leave a tip.

Then comes the waiting, unless you arrive very early. All White House receptions begin at nine on the nose, and since it's frowned on to be late, a long line queues up

If affair is particularly large, such as last year's diplomatic reception when 2100 were invited, then you might have to shuffle along for over an hour.

The worst part about this is that you can't watch the ceremony marking the arrival of the President and his wife. And it's something to see. Signalled by a drum roll and blast of bugles, a grand procession majestically descends the stairs to the main hallway.

At the forefront is the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine color guard carrying the American and presidential flags. Then come two pairs of White House aides following by the President with his wife on his arm.

Behind them are Army, Navy and Air Force aides and the Vice President and members of the cabinet.

A stirring climax is reached when the presidential couple arrives at the center of the foyer. After a moment's wait, the First Marine Corps band gives forth with "Hail to the Chief."

Then the handshaking starts. Ike and Mamie go to the Blue Room to receive the long line. Two by two guests file through the Green Room then into the Blue Room and out to the Red Room where refreshments are served.

Few people are disappointed and most of the women and numerous men go away a little bit starry-eyed. For both the Eisenhowers make it a point to give each and every guest a warm greeting.

For example, Mamie varies her salutation, so she might smile at you and say, "It's so good of you to come," or "I'm delighted to meet you."

As a result, you'll hear yourself or others exclaim, "How sweet she is," or "He really looked me in the eye," or "Did you hear what she said to me?"

TO BE MARRIED

Mr. and Mrs. Murry Sanders of Wheeler announce the engagement of their daughter, Juanita, to Jimmy Don Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jackson, of Wheeler. No definite wedding date has been set. The bride-elect is a senior student in Wheeler High School.

How To Handle Sale Of House

By RICHARD A. MULLENS
Written for NEA Service

Let's now take up Schedule D accompanying Form 1040 where you report gains and losses from sales or exchanges of property. The average taxpayer seldom has to use this schedule. Possibly for this reason, there is no place on report sales of property on Form 1040A.

If you had one or more of the following transactions in 1954, you will have to fill out what is called "Separate Schedule D" and file it along with Form 1040:

1. Sale of your home, car, household furnishings, jewelry, or other personal property for MORE than it cost you. If you sold any of these items for less than it cost, you CANNOT deduct the loss.
2. Sale of securities you bought for investment or speculation.
3. Securities or non-business loans which became worthless in 1954.

All of these transactions would be reported as Capital Assets on Schedule D, under either "Short-Term Capital Gains and Losses" or "Long-Term," depending on this rule:

A non-business or personal loan which became worthless in 1954 is a short-term capital loss regardless of how long ago you made the loan. The rest of the transactions will be short-term if you held the property for six months or less and long-term if held for more than six months.

If you sold your residence in 1954, read over the special rules on page 9 of the official instructions. Note that under certain circumstances where the proceeds of the sale are used to buy another house, part or all of the gain realized may not be taxed. Then check over the following additional information and tips:

The term "residence" includes a house, houseboat, or house trailer. If you live in more than one place it must be your principal residence. When part of the property is used as your principal residence, and part is used for business purposes or rented out, only the allocated gain on that part of the property used as the principal residence is not taxed. The gain on the business or rented part of the property must be reported.

For example, if a taxpayer renting one-third of his residence, sells it for $6000 profit, he must report one-third of the gain, or $2000, but need not report $4000 of the profit if he otherwise complies with the special rules on sale of a residence.

In determining how much you have to put into a new house in order to postpone the tax on a profit you made during 1954 in selling your old house, you start with the selling price of your old house and subtract selling commission.

In addition, you can subtract expenses for redecorating done to assist the sale and performed within a 90-day period ending on the day you sign a contract to sell the old house, provided you pay for the redecorating within 30 days after the date of sale.

For example, if you sold your house for $15,000, paid a $1000 commission and a $1000 redecorating bill just after you sold, you will not be taxed on any profit if within the proper period you buy or construct another home costing $13,000 or more.

This is true even though you may have only paid $10,000 for your old home and hence have a gain of $3000. Schedule D printed with this article shows how such a sale was reported.

If you claim the benefit of special rules on the sale of your residence, be sure to attach to Schedule D the information asked for in the official instructions. Even though you did not purchase a new home by Dec. 31, 1954, if you think you may either buy or build within the required period you need not report a tax on the profit from the sale of your old residence on your 1954 return, but should enter "none" in the column

(h), headed "gain or loss" of Schedule D. If it develops that you don't buy or build and occupy a new residence within the specified time, then you must file an amended 1954 tax return and pay a tax on the profit.

Here are some tips to help you fill out Schedule D:

1. After filling in columns (b) and (c), the date acquired and the date sold, check to make sure all property listed under long-term capital gains and losses was held for more than six months.
2. Put "0" in column (e) (depreciation) unless at some time you rented out the property or used it in a business. You must show depreciation for any period during which the property was so used or rented. Watch for Article 7 for instructions on how to compute depreciation.
3. Remember to include in column (f) the cost of any improvements, such as an additional room, front porch or the like. Do not include the cost of repairs and ordinary maintenance such as painting the house. Any cost you include here reduces your taxable gain.

Your cost or other basis, which also goes in column (f), is what you paid for the property if you bought it. If it was inherited, it is the fair market value at the date of the decedent's death, or one year later at the election of the executor. If it was a gift received since 1920, the basis is whatever it cost the last person who bought it. If received before 1921, the basis is its fair market value at the time of the gift.

Next: Profit or loss from business or profession. The schedule automatically includes only half of any long-term capital gains in taxable income. This half becomes part of your income, taxed at the same rate as your other income until you pass the 50 per cent bracket. After the separate Schedule D is filled out, transfer either the gain or loss to the small Schedule D on page 2 of Form 1040.
