ED LANDERS
... learned code at 10

A Key Man For McLean's Future

By JOEL COMBS
Pampa News Staff Writer

McLEAN — Ed Landers, the Mayor of McLean, learned telegraphy from his mother when he was ten years old and remembered his lessons well.

He is now manager of the train depot at McLean.

Ed, who has been in this part of the country since 1919 when he got the depot agency at Groom, has always been interested in trains and railroads. He says, "I used to hang around railroad stations when I was just a kid at Lawrence, Kans., and my mother taught me telegraphy when I was about 10 years old."

At the age of 17 Ed got a job as an extra operator for the Rock Island Railroad at Alva, Okla. He has been associated with railroads ever since.

Born in Kansas

Landers was born in 1896 at Lawrence, Kans., but moved, about five years later, to Alva, Okla., where he graduated from high school.

He studied for two years at North Western (Oklahoma) State and then went to Draughton's Business College in Alva before going to Ft. Worth to work for the King Caddy Company as a stenographer. He soon returned to Alva, though, and worked for a year as a court reporter.

All this time he was mixing in a little railroad work, learning how to read code and send it, etc., from his mother, who was formerly a reporter for the Kansas City Journal. He worked a little as an "extra" telegraph operator, and then, in 1916, he moved to Erick, Okla., and took a job as a full time telegraph operator for the railroad line.

Served in France

In June of the next year, though, he was drafted and spent two years in the Signal Corps, serving for a time in France.

In September of 1919, Ed came back to Erick and worked until he got the depot agency at Groom.

Groom was an important stop in his career, for on March 15, 1920, Ed married Moureen Riley of that town. The two made their home in Groom for the next four years and then, on November 11, 1924, they came to McLean.

Ed and his wife have become two of the most popular and most-to-be-depended-upon people in the history of the little town in the south west corner of Gray County.

Three years after coming to McLean, in 1927, Ed was elected to the McLean City Council. He has been either on the council or Mayor since that time except for two years, 1939 and 1940.

He was elected Mayor in 1951 and still holds that office, being unopposed in the last election.

Many Improvements

Since his arrival on the scene, McLean has seen many improvements. Since Ed came, McLean has paved streets, constructed sewer and gas systems; added street lights; improved its fire department, and added many other conveniences.

Ed, whose hobby is playing the organ, has been active in many other civic organizations, too. He is a past president of the chamber of commerce, has been a vice president and director of the Lions Club, a director in the junior chamber of commerce, and has held almost every office in the McLean American Legion Post.

A member of the Episcopal Church, Ed was also the McLean Home Service chairman for the Red Cross during the second World War and was Western Association Passenger Agent for the government during that time. He has also been active in the boy scout work.

When Ed first came to McLean he had two telegraph operators and a clerk, to help him. He does it all alone now.

He likes the people of this area, and especially McLean. He has turned down offers at several other towns, including Amarillo and other larger towns.

Ed says, "My main interest is to have a better McLean."

Dies in Auto Collision

LAREDO, Tex.—UP—A visiting Zapata, Tex., woman, Miss Manuela Santos, was fatally injured in a two-car collision that saw one of the vehicles veer onto a sidewalk and hit a pedestrian. Miss Santos was thrown from the car to the pavement by the crash impact. The pedestrian was not seriously hurt.

Strike Puts LA Walking

LOS ANGELES — UP — A strike against the Los Angeles transit lines early Monday forced an estimated 1 million commuters to take private transportation to and from work.

The walkout, called at dawn, was precipitated by a wage dispute between the company, the city's largest transportation system, and the AFL transportation union.

The union sought a 20-cent hourly wage hike. The company offered a 14-cent hourly increase over a three-year period.

Effects of the strike were immediately felt in the sprawling Los Angeles metropolitan area. Free ways were jammed at an early hour with motorists who normally took streetcars and buses. Thousands of persons were late for work.

The union said its negotiating committee had recommended a delay in the strike but membership rejected it. The vote followed a new offer by the company.

Another Round Of Storms Expected Over Panhandle

10th UN Birthday Observed

Diplomats Open Celebration Today

SAN FRANCISCO — UP — Diplomats of the world's great powers met here Monday on the 10th birthday of the United Nations, hopeful they could ease the cold war in the same spirit in which they made plans to preserve peace 10 years ago.

PI — PERON 1-36

The western Big Three foreign ministers unanimously expressed the hope that their meetings with an unusually cordial V. M. Molotov, Soviet foreign minister, would produce "something concrete."

Top-level representatives, from nearly every major nation on the globe were assembled for the historic anniversary observance which was to begin officially at 4 p.m. with a major policy address by President Eisenhower.

But the series of informal conferences which were expected to produce the most important results during the week-long meeting already were underway.

British Foreign Secretary Harold MacMillan, French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay, Molotov and Henry Cabot Lodge, United States ambassador to the UN conferred at dinner Saturday night.

The subject of their talks was not disclosed but they presumably began laying the groundwork for the Big Four "summit" meeting among heads of state of the U.S., Great Britain, France and the Soviet Union at Geneva next month.

A similar session among Molotov, MacMillan, Pinay and U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was scheduled for Monday night.

"We don't expect to settle the problems of the world in a few days," MacMillan said. "But we do hope to open up a new phase of encouragement."

Encouraged by Atmosphere

Pinay said he agreed with MacMillan that the diplomatic atmosphere created by Russia's friendly "new look" was "encouraging" and said he hopes the Big Four talks here "will bring us one more step in the direction of peace."

"I think these meetings are the beginning of a series of more serious talks," Pinay added.

Dulles was more cautious in his appraisal of Molotov's new amiability. "I haven't seen him here yet so I don't want to pass judgment on the sincerity of his friendliness," the secretary of state said.

MOST ACCOMODATING, THESE BRITISH BOBBIES

SOUTH SHIELDS, England — UP — A 10-year-old boy, who gave himself up to police for stealing $6.80 from his aunt, told magistrates in juvenile court he wanted to go back to reform school because "they have television there and I like it."

The boy's father said he served time in reform school last year for stealing and "when he got back he said it had been smashing. They had plenty of sweets and went to the pictures."

The boy got his wish.

Hoover Men Cite More U.S. Wastes

WASHINGTON — UP — A better bookkeeping system might save the federal government $4 billion a year, the Hoover Commission said Monday.

The commission said congress has lost much of its control over the national purse and should get it back.

It said congress has lost this control because of budgetary practices which permit agencies to obtain vast lump sum appropriations for long-range projects and then carry unspent portions over from year to year with little congressional scrutiny until payments are completed.

The commission proposed that this system be scrapped in favor of an "annual accrued expenditure budget" with an accounting system which would "show currently, completely, and clearly all resources and liabilities, and the cost of operations."

The commission, headed by former President Herbert Hoover, made this recommendation in another of its reports to congress on proposals for making the executive branch of the government function better and more cheaply.

As things stand, the commission said, neither the legislative nor the executive branch exercises "effective control over expenditures." It said federal agencies should be required to operate like private industry on "cost-based" budgets supplemented "by periodic reports on performance."

A special commission task force estimated that budget-bookkeeping improvements could save the government $4 billion a year in money that now just goes down the drain.

The task force complained about "huge unexpended appropriations carried forward from year to year, running as high as $7.4 billion for fiscal 1954, $6.8 billion for 1955, and an estimated $5.3 billion for 1956."

Congress, under the present system reviews in minute detail new programs for the budget year under consideration but gives "little consideration of past performance" of programs for which it has appropriated money in previous years.

"This inadequacy," the commission said, "applies particularly to military procurement."

Strong Quake Is Recorded

WESTON, Mass. — UP — A "strong" earthquake — probably on the ocean floor off the Aleutian Islands — was recorded Monday on instruments at the Boston College seismograph station here.

Weston officials said the quake was recorded at 6:18.25 east and was some 4,765 miles northwest of Boston.

"That would put it in the ocean off the Aleutians or possibly off the Kamchatka peninsula," a spokesman said. "It was a strong quake. There is no telling whether it could have caused any tidal wave. That would depend on the movement in the earth during the quake."

Ike To Map Peace In UN Keynote

SAN FRANCISCO — UP — President Eisenhower opens the 10th anniversary meeting of the United Nations Monday with an address expected to contain a new blueprint for peace.

The President was expected to set his sights on his meeting with the chiefs of state of Britain, France and the Soviet Union in Geneva, Switzerland, in July.

The President flew here from Washington Sunday, had a short talk with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles before going to bed Sunday night at the St. Francis hotel.

The President at first declined an invitation to attend the anniversary session of the United Nations. He was believed to have changed his mind at the urging of UN Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold.

There was no indication whether the President would take any part in the Big Four foreign ministers talks scheduled to take place during the UN anniversary celebration.

Although the President intends to return to Washington Monday night, his schedule for Monday was a busy one.

Monday at 12:30 p.m. est, members of the San Francisco UN committee and others were to be received by the President in his suite.

New Front Open In Indo

SAIGO, Indo-China — UP — The South Viet Nam army opened a second offensive Monday against Ho Hao rebel warlord troops massed in the Cochinchina — China jungle 85 miles southwest of Saigon.

Commandoes struck at dawn in the follow-up phase of the campaign aimed at purging free Viet Nam of insurgent forces fighting under the banners of Gen. Ba Cui, the pirate of the rice fields.

The first phase of the drive resulted in hundreds of wounded rebels, but failed to crack resistance.

As the commandoes launched their attack, 20 infantry battalions, armored troops and marines were returned to their bases after a week-long campaign.

Peron May Lose Powers

WAR MINISTERS HEADS OPPOSITION

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay — UP — Diplomatic sources said Monday President Juan D. Peron may be stripped of power under a campaign by Gen. Franklin Lucero to restore order in Argentina.

Lucero, 57, staunchly Catholic war minister who now heads all Argentine armed and security forces as chief of the "forces of repression," may have to ease out Peron to win support of all branches of service, the diplomatic sources said.

(Curran said dispatches reporting the imminent fall of Peron were "pure guess work." But he said the army appeared to be loyal to Lucero as chief of Argentina's military and security forces and noted that Peron gave assurance to the army that all rebels would be given a fair trial.)

The diplomatic sources here based their belief on evidence the "revolutionary process" is still on in Argentina, on the repressive measures taken by the government and on the fact that Peron's violent speeches suddenly became conciliatory.

They also noted there has been no announcement on the activities of the Argentine General Confederation of Labor (CGT), hitherto Peron's chief support. The current announcements are made almost exclusively by the "forces of repression."

The diplomatic sources said there had not been any firm news on the whereabouts of Argentine cruisers and other war vessels and that Lucero apparently was hoping to win over dissident naval elements by lessening Peron's power.

Diplomatic quarters here said they believed navy chiefs aboard two cruisers which bombed government buildings Thursday may be negotiating with Lucero to prevent possible new clashes and that Peron was a hurdle to pacification of the country.

Three Dead, Damage High From Violent Wind, Rain

By UNITED PRESS

West and North Central Texas braced Monday for another round of vicious thunderstorms after violent weather spread death and destruction over a 15,000 square mile section of the Panhandle and South Plains Sunday night and early Monday.

Forecasters at the U.S. Weather Bureau in Fort Worth said the "situation looks about the same."

A flow of moist Gulf Coast air triggered by cool air aloft has caused unstable weather conditions, touching off the severe weather activity.

The violent weather spread as far east as Mineral Wells, reaching south to around Austin before it finally died out. But before it quit, it spewed death and destruction, caused millions of dollars damages and beat the life out of crops over-wide sections.

Torrential rains, hail up to three inches around, and winds of near hurricane force lashed the Panhandle and South Plains Sunday night and early Monday. Three children, all members of the same family, were drowned in a storm cellar at Elba, Tex.

Families Leave Homes

High water drove a number of families from their homes at Pleasant Valley, an Amarillo suburb, Sheriff Paul Gaither said. The Red Cross set up in a drug store to handle them. There were no reports of injuries.

Four major highways—U. S. 60, U. S. 87, U. S. 287, and SH-256—were under water. Traffic was completely or partially blocked on all of them. Rail traffic over the Fort Worth to Denver railroad was running behind schedule.

More than 50,000 acres of cotton, wheat and sorghum grains in fields from north of Amarillo southward—110 miles almost to Lubbock—were pounded flat by hail, high winds and pouring rain. Farmers already have replanted their cotton twice. It is too late in the season to do so again.

An Air Force L-19 spotter plane en route from Fort Worth to Fort Carson, Colo., crashed-landed at the Amarillo Air Force Base. Its pilot, Lt. Ronald J. Gait, 26, of Coral Gables, Fla., walked away unhurt from the wreckage. He blamed the crash on treacherous wind currents.

Winds Clocked at 70 MPH

The wind was clocked in gusts of more than 70 miles an hour by a wind gauge maintained atop the Amarillo News-Globe Times building. Wind and hail tore great chunks out of the roof and sides of the studios of station KGNC-TV, knocking the station off the air.

Hail stacked up six inches deep over two miles between Amarillo and Canyon, 17 miles to the south. But the most deadly storm struck Elba, 70 miles northwest of Wichita Falls.

Shooting Suspect Sought

SAN ANTONIO — UP — A 24-year-old suspect was being held Monday after the fatal shooting of John Williams, also 24. Police said Williams obtained a .45-caliber pistol and returned to the scene of an argument. He was shot twice in the chest with a .32-caliber pistol.

The week end rainfall brought the total moisture falling in Pampa this year to 9.74 inches.

Over the area, Panhandle reported the most moisture falling, according to weather forecaster A. J. Weiser, with 1.31 inches hitting the town during both days, bringing total moisture for the year to some 9.5 inches.

Americans Reported Held In Siberia

VIENNA — UP — Austrian captives freed by the Russians Monday reported several Americans are being held in Siberia.

Information reported by more than 180 returning Austrians indicated the Americans have been in captivity from eight to 10 years.

The freedom-train carrying the latest batch of returnees from Soviet slave camps crossed the Hungarian frontier into Austria Monday morning.

The most complete information was on a 1st Lt. Jerry Ford, of Oklahoma, about 38, who was reported to have been a member of the counter intelligence corps before the Russians seized him. The Austrians said he was in good health when last seen in 1950.

A second American was reported as Mike Feingers or Fingersh, of Brooklyn, 36. The Austrians said he was arrested in Czechoslovakia in 1947 and was imprisoned two years near Baden in the Soviet zone of Austria before being transferred to Alexandrovsk camp near Irkutsk, Siberia.

The U.S. embassy in Vienna said the files showed a missing American civilian called Murray (or Mike) Feingers from the New York area. He was reported sentenced at Prague, Czechoslovakia, in 1947, to 25 years for espionage. Earlier returnees reported seeing him at a Soviet camp in 1952 and 1953 and said he was suffering from a serious head injury.

A third American was identified only as Walls or Wallis. The returnees said he was believed to have been employed by the U.S. legation at Bucharest before he was kidnapped and sent by the Russians in 1945 or 1946.

The Austrians mentioned seeing a fourth American named Morris Varas at Camp Alexandrovsk, but could supply no more details.

The returnees reported that Clifford Costa Brown, about 38, of Chicago, died two years ago at Alexandrovsk. They said he had been arrested in Rumania in 1946.

An American whose name has cropped up repeatedly among prisoners returning from Russia the past two years was mentioned again Monday. He is Johnny Hopkins, described as about 30, fair-haired and blue-eyed. Prisoners said he was arrested in Berlin while holding "some kind of official American job" after World War II.

San Antonio Hires Former City Manager

SAN ANTONIO — UP — A 24-year-old city manager's post at a salary of $25,000 a year, assuming his duties July 15.

Matthews has held the city manager's post at Lubbock for several years prior to his acceptance. He appeared before the city council Thursday to personally accept the offer, and a formal statement of acceptance was presented to Mayor Kuykendall for release.

He becomes San Antonio's seventh city manager. Matthews indicated that Robert L. Brown, a city manager trainee of Lubbock, would be his "executive assistant."

It is believed that several top men within Lubbock's city government may be "drafted" to assist Matthews.

Members of the council stated they believed Matthews is "the best qualified man for the job." Councilman Henry Gonzalez termed him "an up-and-coming manager with a great potential."

It's natural, says a fire chief, for men to rush to see a fire. And if a fire sale follows, that's where the women come in.

A Chicago man reported to police that a woman knocked him down and robbed him. Ordinarily, they don't have to use force.

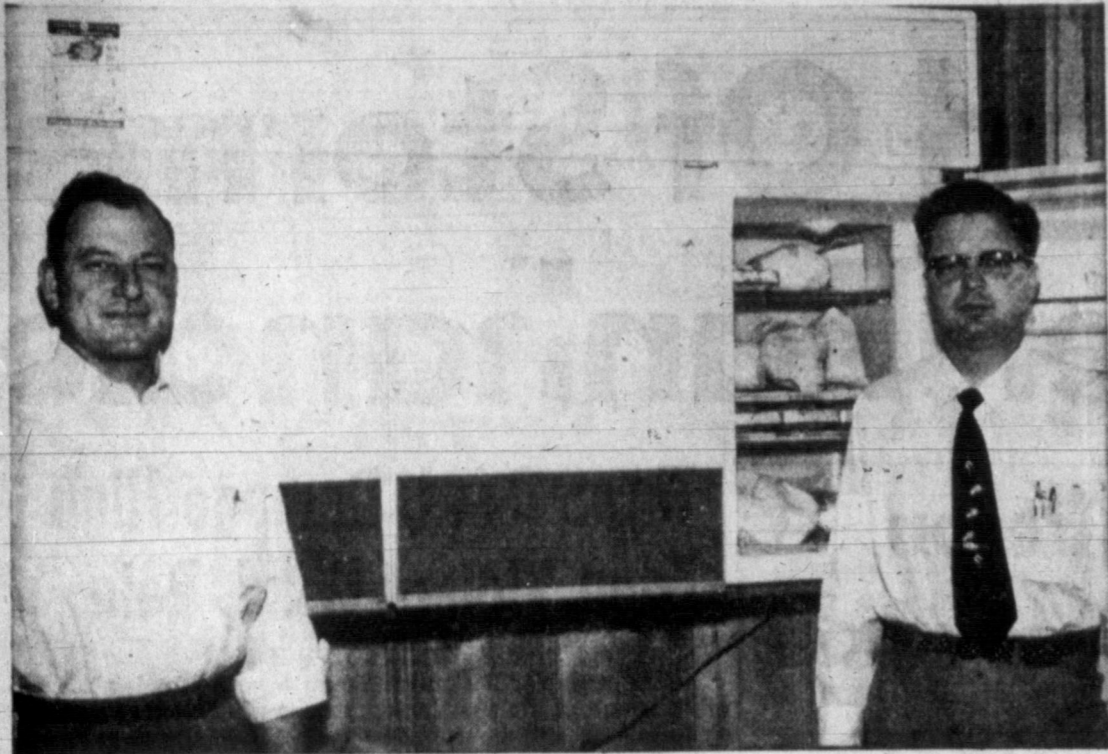

You can tell by some gardens that the person who planted them has a green thumb only when painting yard chairs.

Butchers in Florida held a golf tournament and we've heard of no kicks about their slices.

There's 'No-Roach' Like A Dead Roach

After months of experimentation, scientists have produced a new kind of insecticide that provides 100 per cent control of the new resistant variety of roaches. It is no secret that in recent years, some roaches have become immune to ordinary roach killers, just as flies became resistant to DDT.

The first cases of these resistant roaches were reported in Corpus Christi three years ago. Since then the resistant roach strains have spread and developed over the entire country.

Many cases have recently been reported in such far apart cities as New York, Chicago, and Miami. To date, no product on the market could kill them. The chlorinated hydrocarbon insecticides are losing their power to control roaches.

This new brush-on formulation, SUPER-NO-ROACH, now available to householders for the first time, contains organic phosphate compounds. It is more effective, longer lasting, and safer than any other roach killer now on the market.

Super-No-Roach is brushed on surfaces where roaches are found. Insects that walk across the invisible coating pick up some of the organic phosphate compounds. Then they become paralyzed and die. The liquid is brushed only where needed, leaving a residual coating effective for months.

Super-No-Roach kills all four varieties of roaches found in America, as well as the resistant strains. These are the American, German, Oriental and Brown-Banded roaches.

This new product is manufactured by Gaston Johnston Corporation, Long Island City 2, N. Y., and will be available at Cretney Drug Store, Furr Food Store and other stores. 8 oz. 89 cents; pt. $1.69; qt. $2.98.

Bring them in as big as they come! Central Tire Works, 618 E. Frederic, 4-3781, will repair the biggest tractor and truck tires in the great Texas Panhandle!

Wardie Maddox, owner and operator of Central Tire Works, and his son, Vernon, have just installed the giant Grimes Mold to do section repairs on big tractor and oil field truck tires. It will repair tires up to the big 18 inch treads -- just as big as tires are in the Panhandle!

Latest Equipment
Central Tire Works in the past eight months has installed the latest and most complete tire retreading and repairing machines to handle just about all sizes of passenger car and truck tires from the smallest to the largest sizes.

Come in to Central Tire Works to see these up-to-the-minute machines. Learn how efficiently Central Tire Works can retread or repair your tires.

Tractor Feature
Learn about Central Tire's special tractor feature: It works like this -- you bring in your damaged tire, look over the growing supply of tractor tires at Central Tire Works, find one to fit your tractor, then trade with Wardie Maddox! You get on with your work, save your time, save worry.

It means a lot to take off a damaged tire, and in a short while replace it with a good tire. That is a Central Tire Works feature.

Come in, look over all the machines at Central Tire Works. Begin with the Henderson Tire Changer, a machine devised to keep your tires clean during the changing process. Cleanliness is especially important with the tubeless tires because dirt between the tire and rim could let air escape -- cause a flat tire.

Look at Central Tire's buffing machine to make tires perfectly round before retreading.

Cool Retreading
Watch Wardie or Vernon Maddox retread a tire. Notice how the several Bacon molds operate. Put your hand on the sidewall of the tire during the retreading. Notice how cool it is. The mold keeps that sidewall cool to prolong the life of the tire.

Inspect the retreaded tire as it is taken from the Bacon mold at Central Tire Works. You know it has a new retread, but it looks like a new tire! And it will give thousands of miles of carefree wear, just like a new tire.

In the Bacon process the new, cold rubber tread is fitted to the tire to eliminate any need to heat the tire carcass.

Repairs Tubeless
Come over and look at the Monkey Grip, the most perfect tool to repair tubeless tires. The little tool vulcanizes the repair into the tire itself, renews the life of the tire. And, of course, the tire will "hold" air again -- like new.

In all work the Central Tire Works uses the tire sprayer to inspect interiors to make sure there is nothing inside the tire to cause damage.

Note how the Grimes molds operate to do section repairs. The "patch" is vulcanized into the tire to make that part even stronger than the tire itself was when new! Note how cool the rest of the tire remains all during this process -- no miles lost to heat!

— All Sizes

Central Tire Works repairs just about every size of tire you can list, because this tire is up to the minute with the most modern equipment and the most efficient methods.

Bring your tires to Central Tire Works for retreading -- Wardie Maddox retreads all tires from small passenger sizes to big 10.00 by 20 truck tires!

See GE Wall Refrigerator-Freezer At C&M

It's the latest for convenience, comfort and economy!

The General Electric Wall Refrigerator-Freezer at C & M Television, 304 W. Foster, 4-3511.

This GE innovation combines the roomy, automatic defrost refrigerator and the true, zero-degree freezer in one modern, eye-level wall appliance and gives you an extra 11 cubic feet of cabinet space.

Wall Type Features
The advantages of the new wall refrigerator-freezer are immediately apparent: all foods are at eye level; it adds new personality, new beauty and freshness of decor, it requires no expensive remodeling.

The cabinet is mounted on a 5-foot "picture-hook" bracket which is screwed to the wall. It can easily be moved and hung in another location if and when you desire. It can be mounted conveniently above your existing floor cabinets.

Separate Doors
The roomy, automatic defrost refrigerator is insulated and refrigerated separately with two separate doors. Plenty of room in its 8.7 cubic foot capacity for storing lots of fresh foods. All foods are conveniently at eye level -- there's no need to bend or stoop looking for foods on the shelves. And this compartment NEVER needs defrosting.

The true, zero-degree freezer is separately insulated, separately refrigerated with its own separate door. Two cubic foot capacity that holds up to 83 packages of frozen foods conveniently at eye level. This is a true freezer that permits long-time storage of frozen foods at zero temperature. Also permits quick-freezing of foods for storage.

More Cabinet Space
This new Wall Refrigerator-Freezer gives you extra kitchen cabinet space, too. By replacing your old refrigerator and conventional shallow wall cabinet with the new GE Wall Refrigerator-Freezer you can add a new base cabinet in the floor space made available. This deep base cabinet gives you more than twice as much storage space as the shallow wall cabinet previously used.

US Reopens Bridges Suit

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—The government reopens a civil suit against waterfront labor leader Harry Bridges Monday designed to strip him of his naturalized citizenship and prepare the way for his deportation. The civil suit, first filed against Bridges in 1949, charges he illegally obtained a certificate of naturalization in 1946 because at the time he allegedly was a member of the Communist party and affiliated with it. The charges are the same as those used by the government in Bridges' 1950 perjury trial when a jury found him guilty, but was overruled in 1953 by the U. S. Supreme Court. The high court ruled that the statute of limitations had run out.

This latest instrument can be seen in Pampa at Hotel Adams on Wednesday, June 22, from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m. You may call Heinz Pasch at the hotel for an evening appointment in your own home, if you wish. Adv.

Storms

Paul Butler, Mrs. Weinert, Meet Today

SEGUIN, Tex. (UP)— Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler, who chatted with former Vice President John Nance Garner Sunday, was to meet with National Committeewoman Mrs. Hilda Weinert Monday. Butler, in the semi-windup of his trip to Texas to mend a breach in party fences, re-arranged his schedule to include Mrs. Weinert in his itinerary. She sent an automobile to San Antonio Monday to bring him here. She also held to her promise that she would boycott his tour of the state. The scheduled tour ended Sunday with Butler's visit with Garner in Uvalde. He will fly from Seguin to Houston later Monday to meet with financier Jesse Jones. He is scheduled to take off from Houston on a trip to Washington at 3:30 p. m. Monday, bringing to close a week-long tour in Texas which began last Monday in Dallas. He has said the tour was successful. Butler and Garner, 86, chatted for about an hour-and-a-half Sunday at Garner's tree-shaded home in Uvalde. The two Democrats avoided mentioning the purpose of Butler's trip. Instead, they talked about hunting and fishing, theories of government, the bitter nature of politics in Butler's home state of Indiana, and about newspapers— Garner reads 10 each day. The Democratic chairman was scheduled to have lunch with "Cactus Jack" but the lunch was cancelled because of Butler's 11 g. h. and lounging slippers with part of schedule. He was driven the 85 miles from San Antonio to Uvalde by State Rep. Maury Maverick Jr. When Butler arrived at 2:30 p. m., about 50 townspeople had gathered under the live oak and pecan trees on the front lawn of the home of Garner's son, Tully, who lives next door to his father. Garner was dressed in khaki trousers, a short-sleeved grey sport shirt, a soiled grey felt hat and lounging slippers with part of the toes cut out for comfort. A long gold watch chain hung from his shirt collar to a watch in his shirt pocket.

Presbyterian Confab Ends

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UP)—The 125th General Assembly of the Cumberland Presbyterian church drew to a close Monday as an education committee prepared to report on a resolution to move the location of a Tennessee college. The explosive resolution that has provoked hot arguments by opposing factions calls for moving Bethel College from McKenzie, Tenn., to Memphis. A group from McKenzie offered Sunday to build a girls' dormitory on the college campus if the church would permit it to remain in the town. But a group of Memphis businessmen led by G. H. Kensingler seeks to move the college to their city. It is the only school of higher education belonging to the Cumberland Presbyterians.

Can't Compete

Dictator Juan Peron of Argentina figures he's strong enough now to break with the Catholic church and discontinue the uneasy marriage which has existed between these two powerful contenders for the minds of the Argentines.

The Catholic church is the "state" church of Argentina. It is only logical to believe that sooner or later either the church or the state politicians would try to shed, oust, shade or destroy the other; for there can't be two Gods. Either a man worships at the shrine of the church or the shrine of the state. Either he believes the Gospels or the Code of Civil Law is the supreme law. When there is conflict, a man must cast his lot either with his church or his state.

There is a difference between freedom of worship and an official state religion. The Catholic church in Argentina has enjoyed the privilege of the official religion of the Argentine. As in Spain, communicants of other faiths have been persecuted and denied certain civil rights because of their insistence on worshipping in churches other than the official ones.

THE NATION'S PRESS

NO: NO: NO:
(Valley Morning Star, Harlingen, Texas)

Who said it couldn't happen here? The city of Harlingen is about to plunge into socialism in an off-street parking lot deal that does not make sense from any standpoint.

The proposal is to purchase three lots (may be four) on W. Van Buren to provide parking space for the customers of downtown stores that should be right by the stores themselves and not by the taxpayers.

The subterfuge is being used that the money to pay for this socialistic operation will come from parking meter revenue and not taxes. This is completely false, as we will endeavor to show further down this column.

Ever since the city shifted from angle to parallel parking all over town a couple of years ago there have been loud demands that the city was under obligation to provide parking space for the customers of downtown merchants.

That, of course, is silly. The city has no such obligation. In fact, the city has no right to do any such thing.

Some of the merchants of the city, or their landlords, have recognized their obligation — if they or their tenants are to prosper — to provide parking areas at their own expense. They did not come crying to the City Hall in an effort to get the taxpayers to take care of them.

The present deal, if it goes through, would make those forethoughtful merchants and landlords help pay for the parking lots of their competitors.

It also would require an aged couple or widow with a home but no automobile to help pay for a parking lot they could not possibly use. If anyone says the parking lot would increase property values, we will scream! Those old folks are not interested in increasing their property values. That would increase their taxes and they are having a tough enough time paying the present ones.

(It is highly questionable that three or four comparatively vacant lots ever have increased the value of any adjoining property.)

But whether property values were raised or not, all taxes are bound to go up eventually if this deal goes through.

The contention of the proponents is that the purchase of the property would be financed out of parking meter revenue alone. Let us look at the facts.

Freedom Will Stop War

Here is one of the best presentations I have come across as to the best and only way to end war. It is taken from the May issue of Christian Economics. From here on I am quoting:

People do not propose war and seldom wage it voluntarily. Strongly centralized governments with power to deceive their citizens by propaganda and to coerce them by economic controls, excessive taxation, fiat money and conscription, are the makers of war. Under freedom, governments are strictly limited. They do not have these powers and large scale war is impossible.

If governments did not have large propaganda powers, they could not work up a popular demand for war. If governments were not strongly centralized with overgrown power in the hands of executives, the latter could not design and carry out such incidents as Pearl Harbor, in order to make war seem necessary. Only overexpanded government with great power can develop atom and hydrogen bombs. If the development of nuclear power were left to individual initiative it would be used for peaceful industrial purposes and not for war.

Deprive governments of the power to remove the intrinsic values from the monetary unit and resort to the printing press and inflation, and they could not finance large scale war. Deprive them of the power of conscription, and they could not wage extensive warfare, unless the people almost unanimously approved.

Take from governments the power to fix prices, wages, control materials and set up quotas and rationing and it is difficult to see how large scale war could be fought. War is possible only when governments have control of the economic activities of the people!

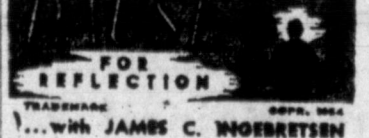

Overexpanded Government Causes War
Moreover, war seems necessary only to strongly centralized governments. Under freedom, if a man is not happy in his own country he may go to another. If the Russians could do that today, the Kremlin would soon be without the capacity for aggression. If the Italians and the Germans could have done it in the '30's, there would have been no problem of "vital space."

If money had intrinsic value and hence, were interchangeable all lands, and if there were no tariffs, quotas or cartels, money, raw materials and finished goods would flow freely from country to country. There would be no problem of inaccessible raw materials or markets. What reason for war would any government have? All the raw materials and the markets of the world would be available without war. Under such conditions it is almost inconceivable that Italy, Germany, Russia, Japan or any other country would have been or would now, or in the future, be aggressive.

No Reason to Fight
If men, money and goods could go freely anywhere, what would there be to fight for? Not raw materials, not markets, not vital space! What else remains? Only the ambition of individuals — a Napoleon, a Hitler, a Stalin, a Roosevelt, but unless these were clothed with the power of a strongly centralized government, they would not have the means of enforcing their will to war.

Sound, honest money of intrinsic value, not subject to inflation, and governments of strictly limited power, without the right to interfere in the economic activities of the people, or conscript soldiers — in other words, freedom, is the answer to the problem of war.

As Christians, let us continue to emphasize the importance of love, neighborliness, and generosity, but let us become aware that neither these alone, World Government, United Nations, nor disarmament unilateral or multi-lateral, will stop war till the basic conditions set forth above are achieved.

"I would rather die," declared Socrates, "having spoken in my manner than speak in your manner and live."

How many of us, in this age of conformity, are thrilled by these words?

Too many of us, I fear, are inclined to view such an utterance as that of a man at least "slightly cracked." "Isn't it better to be a live dog than a dead lion?" we timorously ask.

We seem to almost frantically avoid anything that smacks of individuality. We have become so standardized that we apparently feel uncomfortable if in anything we differ noticeably from our neighbors.

And yet Paul tells us: "... be not conformed to this world; but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God." And he goes on to say that we all have different gifts and that it is God's will that we develop them to the full.

I believe that a truly Christian society would be as diverse in its perfection as is the world of nature around us, instead of as stereotyped as say, automobiles coming off a single assembly line.

Ike Tolerates More From Subordinates Than Others

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower has been accused, frequently of surrounding himself with conservative and complacent "Yes Men." His critics attribute the trait to his military background and experience, where commanders brook no opposition or insubordination.

But the ironic fact is that no recent President has faced or tolerated so much disagreement within his official and political family. F.D.R. revealed in Cabinet feuding, over minor matters, but he cracked down on serious policy divisions, as when he let go one of his ablest public servants — Jesse H. Jones of Texas.

Harry S. Truman resented differences among his appointees because, in secret at least, he recognized his own limitations, and regarded disagreement as a reflection on his judgment. He got rid of such a close friend as former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, and also of the late Harold L. Ickes.

Technically, Byrnes and the "Old Curmudgeon" resigned, but there was no regret at the White House over their stormy departure.

Ike, however, has not complained or retaliated against revolt that involves two of his major and basic policies — namely, his proclaimed attempt to narrow the field of Government activity and regulation. The two unpunished offenders are Controller General Joseph Campbell and Jerome K. Kuykendall, Chairman of the Federal Power Commission.

As a former member of the Atomic Energy Commission Campbell voted against the Dixon-Yates contract, which is designed to reinscribe the Tennessee Valley Authority's jurisdiction and operations. As Controller General, he opposes the plan to permit TVA to issue its own bonds, thus relieving the budget of this financial burden.

Campbell likewise condemns the Eisenhower highway program because of the indirect means of financing it proposed by the President. His attitude has furnished fuel to Capitol Hill Democrats.

Kuykendall was one of two FPC members to vote that his agency should regulate the prices which producers of natural gas receive at the wellhead. For political, economic and philosophic reasons, Eisenhower Republicans and Democrats from natural gas areas believe that the arm of the Federal Government should not have such a long reach.

To make Kuykendall's attitude more ironic, it is pointed out that he bases his action on the edict of a Supreme Court packed with Roosevelt-Truman "liberals." In the Phillips case, the tribunal ruled that the FPC did not have the authority which it does not want to exercise.

The prize example of internal rebellion, of course, is Senator William F. Knowland of California, Senate Majority Leader. Yet Eisenhower shows no irritability toward Knowland's open opposition to the Administration's willingness to talk with Moscow and its leadership of Chiang Kai-shek.

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JORDAN, M. D.

One estimate has been made to the effect that some 18 million persons in the United States and Canada and about 208 million in the entire world harbor the pesky pinworm or seatworm in their intestines. Whatever the figures, many correspondents have written me that their endeavors to push this pest out of their families almost drives them to distraction.

Pinworms are more common in children than grownups, especially among those in large families or in those living in institutions. Infection is comparatively rare in families in which separate bedrooms are used.

This is because the worms get on the bed linen, pajamas and other clothing and are picked up by others who come in contact with such objects. When children live in an institution or dormitory, or when several use the same bedroom, the spreading of the worms from one person to another is hard to avoid.

The eggs from pinworms are usually laid on the skin and mucous membrane near the outlet of the bowel. This causes severe itching. In fact, the itching can be so bad that it produces nervousness, sleeplessness, and even convulsions. The exact diagnosis must be made by taking swabs from the place where the worms are likely to be and examining the material under the microscope.

Infection with pinworms is frequently confused with other parasites and the diagnosis must be clarified by accurate examination. Once this has been done, proper treatment can be started.

Drug treatment has been extensively used with satisfactory results in some and not in others. Investigation of different preparations goes on and it is encouraging to note that several preparations now in use in this field are showing a good deal of promise and resulting in a high cure rate.

When you're average, you're as close to the bottom as you are to the top.—Hudson Newsletter.

Fair Enough

War On Germany In 1917 Worst Mistake By U. S.

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The worst mistake the United States ever made was the declaration of war against Germany about one month after the second inauguration of Woodrow Wilson, whose campaign slogan in the summer and fall of 1916 had been "he kept us out of war." There is no doubt that the declaration of war was very popular. We Americans were spilling for a fight and we still suffered from an insane delusion that one American could lick a dozen Frenchmen, Englishmen or Germans.

The silliest idiot in the clamor of our press was Henry Watterson, editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, who has nevertheless been exalted as one of our great journalists. That he may have been, notwithstanding his stupidity here and his opposition to votes for women, but he certainly was a great fool in this particular issue. The old man envisioned an American army marching through the Germans under Theodore Roosevelt, who was quite patriotic, but no soldier at all. However, his editorial voice did not have much carrying power so he probably did little harm by comparison with the New York Tribune, which regarded England as the mother country because Whitelaw Reid had been ambassador in London. William Randolph Hearst kept his head and held out against war until the last. It is hard to recapture now the lunacy that possessed us then.

Our people, by some psychological freak, had developed a terrible crush on the French and France. We have since learned, the hard way, that the French are damned nasty neighbors. They had some marauding themselves not too long before but we forgot all about Napoleon and went ooh-la over Lafayette. That war of 1914-18 finished them off. It killed the flower of their manhood and millions of good Frenchmen didn't get born because the men who would have sired them were fertilizing scraggy fields where they had fallen.

The "issue" for us was freedom of the seas. The Germans were in bad shape for food not only for their soldiers but for the women and children at home. However, the British blockade kept us from feeding them. The Germans retaliated by sinking ships bound for Britain and France with food and all kinds of military supplies as well. We made a few plaintive beeps just for the record about the British blockade but we got aburdly high-minded and chivalrous about the sinking of the Lusitania because some Americans went down with her, including a few women. The Germans had plainly warned all Americans to stay off the Lusitania that trip, but we were insisting on the precision letter of some debatable right like a man dragging his heels across the street in heavy traffic and daring drivers to hit him.

The Lusitania was carrying bullets to Britain to be fired at German soldiers and if we had had any sense we would have forced Americans to stay off all British and French boats because the Germans were very decent about sparing American ships with our flag painted on their sides, illuminated at night. We were feeding the Allies and raking in money from a boom business in munitions which created an artificial prosperity of blood money all the way down the line. Naturally, the Germans got sore. We would have, too. They knew from our association with millions of them in our own country. They were hard workers, efficient, thrifty, clean and moral.

Theodore Roosevelt, a spectacular loud-mouth, practically called Wilson a coward in an interview in the main salon of a little steamer sailing for the West Indies. She was tied up in the East River and I was one of a gang who watched him bang a stanchion with his palm and picture Wilson as a fellow who would not raise a hand if a thug punched his wife on the nose. He was referring to the Lusitania. We ate it up. The papers gave it a big ride.

The Germans begged us to be reasonable; to insist on the same freedom of the seas from the British that we were demanding from them. Friendly they said. "Okay, fair warning, hereafter we torpedo everything on sight, including Americans." A few weeks later a Lieutenant Ware, in charge of the armed guard on the liner Mongolia, got a great ovation in the Savoy in London, with Admiral Sims and that fawning old fat-head, Walter Hines Page, the ambassador, drooling love for the dear old mother country because Ware was reported to have shot a submarine. Later it came out that a mistake had been made. He just blew up a mule drowned in the sinking of a transport. He died a few days later.

Had we kept our heads then, the second war probably would not have come nor any of its awful consequences.

Hank Prefers Moth Balls For Storing Away Clothes

By HENRY McLEMORE

I'm a moth ball man. That's an innocent enough thing for a man to be, but it has gotten me into a bushel of trouble.

The trouble started a few days ago when Mary asked me to help her pick out the clothes I didn't think I would be wearing this summer, as she was getting ready to put them away against the moths.

After I had shown her the suits, slacks, and a few sweaters I wouldn't be wearing, I asked her if she wanted me to run over to the hardware store and get her some moth balls.

"Moth balls! Did you say moth balls?" she asked unbelievably. "Yeah, moth balls," I said. "Haven't you ever heard of them? They're the little, round, white things you put clothes in before you put the clothes in cedar chests."

Mary started laughing as if I had stolen a line from George Gobel. "You silly," she said when she managed to bring her laughing seizure under control. "Of course I know what moth balls are, but no one uses them any more. They went out with anticarsars, bees wax for irons, and button hooks. Look I'll show you what every body uses now."

It was a spray bomb of some kind, and when I pressed the button it watted out a delicate mist. I sniffed and sniffed and could hardly smell anything, and what little I did smell didn't smell like anything a moth is supposed to be afraid of!

"That's like French perfume," I said. "What are you planning to do? Pamper our Moths? Don't tell me it would kill one, or it'll be my turn to laugh."

"That's what I'm using," Mary said. "So go on downstairs."

"You can use it on your stuff, but you're not going to use it on mine," I said. "I'm a moth ball man."

And I am, too. I have been a moth ball man for more than forty years, or ever since I was a tiny boy and, come warm weather, our house reeked to high heaven from attic to basement as Mama put

TO GIVE PROGRAM

Members of the Sub Deb Club talk over the course they have recently completed on charm, given by Mrs. Terry Culley. The girls learned hair styling, make-up, clothing, modeling and posture. They will put these things into practice by presenting a style show on bathing suits and beach wear to the Ladies Golf Association Friday. Mrs. George Hofess is in charge of the program. A brief program will also be given on water safety. The girls are, left to right, Charlotte Parker, Sarah Hanley, Meredith Brooks and Dorothea Gantz. (News photo)

Girls Give Program To Goodwill Group Iris Joy Martin, Perryton, Becomes Bride Of Bill E. Cornell Of Guymon

Mary Alice Coombes and Barbara Epps, 12-year-old daughters of Mrs. A. P. Coombes and Mrs. Louis Epps, respectively, presented the program at the recent meeting of the Goodwill Home Demonstration Club in Mrs. Epps' home, 1909 Duncan.

The girls, 4-H club members, demonstrated the making of chocolate chip cookies, which they later served to the members.

Miss Helen Dunlap, county HD agent, talked on buying boys' clothing. Making clothing for older boys is not usually practical, she pointed out. In buying boys' garments consider the freedom of movement, self-development features and ease of washing and ironing. The color should be fast, she explained; and the material pre-shrunk. Cotton is a good material for boys' clothing as it is easy to launder and wears well, she advised.

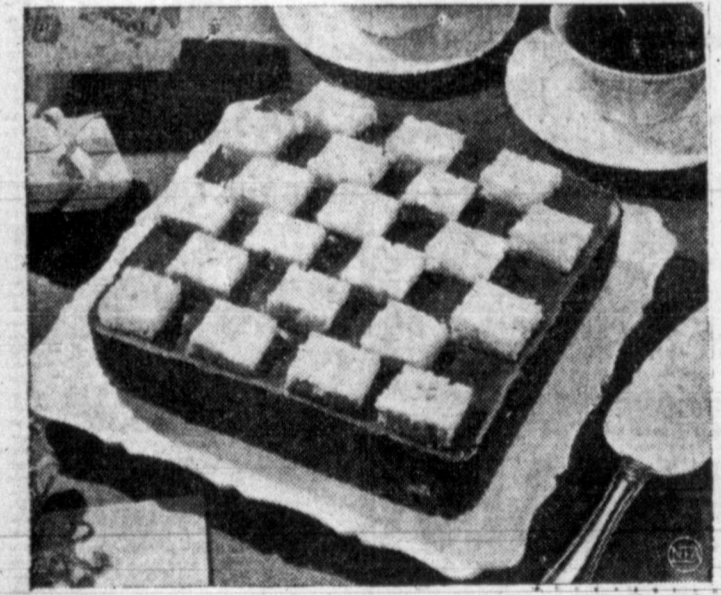

Miss Dunlap also gave pointers

PERRYTON—(Special)—Miss Iris Joy Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira N. Martin of Perryton, became the bride of Bill E. Cornell of Guymon, Okla., son of Rev. and Mrs. E. K. Cornell of Guymon, in a double-ring ceremony in the Apostolic Faith Church of Perryton June 11.

Rev. Floyd LaMunyon, pastor, read the service before an archway entwined with shasta daisies and pink gladioli. At either side were baskets of pink gladioli and cathedral tapets in branched candleabra.

Mrs. Howard Whiteley, of Wichita, Kans., sister of the bridegroom, played organ selections preceding the ceremony and acted on making aprons and buying woolsens.

Attending were Meses—Dorrell Hogsett, A. P. Coombes, Bill Cox, Louis Epps, Johnny Johnson, John Moorehead, Worth Nelson and Eugene Turner.

Recipe Shower Is Sure To Delight Bride-To-Be

By GAYNOR MADODX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Recipes for the bride-to-be, what could be more important? So why not give a recipe shower. Each friend brings a kitchen gift with her favorite and thoroughly tested recipe tied to it a ribbon.

Chocolate Angel Mousse is a wonderful easy-do dessert. Serve it at the shower and give the bride-to-be the recipe. It calls for store angel cake and semi-sweet chocolate morsels, the kind used in chocolate chip cookies.

Chocolate Angel Mousse (12 servings)

One angel food cake (6-8 ounces), 2 6-ounce or 1 12-ounce package, 2 cups semisweet chocolate morsels, 4 eggs, separated, 1/2 cup sugar, 2 cups heavy cream, whipped.

Line an 8x8x2-inch pan with waxed paper. (To line pan, grease pan lightly or rinse with cold water to hold waxed paper in place. Use 2 strips of paper, one going lengthwise and the other crosswise, with ends ending a little above the pan).

Cut angel food cake into 1/4-inch cubes; reserve. Melt semisweet chocolate morsels over hot, not boiling water. Remove from heat; stir in beaten egg yolks; cool. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry. Gradually add sugar and beat until very stiff. Stir into chocolate mixture.

Fold in whipped cream. Turn 1-3 of the chocolate mixture into prepared pan; layer with 1-3 of the angel food cubes. Continue alternating until all of the chocolate is used. Arrange remaining cubes checkerboard fashion on top of the chocolate. Chill until firm.

To serve, lift cake from pan with waxed paper ends. Pull waxed paper from sides of cake; lift cake with two spatulas to serving dish. Cut into slices.

THE LATEST IN FURNITURE

to appear in the fall, is being shown these days in Chicago. It is interesting to note the trends and the hold-overs from last year. This may be especially interesting to you if you are planning on redecorating . . . or just planning to buy a piece to add to what you have. Here is how Teresa Reese of the United Press describes the show.

CHICAGO—UP—Furniture designers have decided that it takes a heap of convertibility to make a home these days.

A preview of the summer furniture markets opening today at the American Furniture Mart and the Merchandise Mart indicated a big increase in co-ordinated pieces for use anywhere in the house.

A return to rounded contours and an emphasis on natural wood grains probably are the other most noticeable trends in the new furniture models that will be available at retail stores next fall.

Chest, shelf and table units that can be used separately, side by side or one on top of another, are now shown by almost all manufacturers.

Many of these pieces, as well as chairs and sofas are "fourth dimensional"—finished on all sides for use in the middle of the room or as room dividers.

A survey of manufacturers and designers, also showed these other furniture trends:

FINISHES—Emphasis on natural wood grains, even in colored pieces, with a rubbed-in sheen rather than a glossy finish. Almost all tops are processed to resist scarring and liquids.

WOODS—Walnut, mahogany, cherry, maple, birch, and ash in that order. Some teak in higher-priced pieces.

COLORS—Beige, brown, turquoise, pale green, copper and black in main items. All shades of blue (especially French, aqua and electric) gold, apricot, green, tangerine and copper for accent.

RUGS—Tweeds in all colors and weaves including synthetic fabrics and fibers. Fiber weaves increasing in popularity in low-priced brackets.

MATERIALS—Linen and rough weaves including an appearance of handcrafting in both upholstery and drapes. Metallic threads still popular in upholstery and in some draperies.

PATTERNS—Geometric still popular in draperies with an increase in provincial, modernized floral and scenic. Solid colors in upholstered furniture.

LAMPS—Return to fuller rounded contours with unusual glazes and polished woods used frequently in bases.

METALS—Silver tones in aluminum, pewter and pewter-finished brass.

Legion's Auxiliary Has Salad Supper

The American Legion Auxiliary held a salad supper recently in the backyard of Dr. and Mrs. Walter Purviance's home. Mrs. Estelle Wheeler was hostess.

A business meeting was held following the supper. Yearly reports were given. It was announced that the outstanding achievement of the year was the club's child welfare and rehabilitation work.

Next meeting will be a covered-dish supper July 21 in the home of Mrs. F. W. Shotwell. At this meeting, girls who attended Girls State will make their report. The nominating committee will also give its report, and delegates to the state convention will be elected.

Mature Parent

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Only ignorance is unmoved when the speed of a new jet plane is tested. Knowledge is agitated. The plane's designer, builder and pilot are anxious. For it is they who best know the risks and strains involved in forced acceleration.

It is not knowledge that presses children into premature dating of the opposite sex. It is ignorance in us that forces this acceleration of development. We are not aware of the risks and strains it involves.

So I am glad to report that the last issue of "Child Study," quarterly journal of the Child Study Association of America, discusses this problem. In it, Mrs. Selma Fraiberg, instructor in the Psychiatric Department of the Wayne University College of Medicine, writes:

"The pressure upon youngsters today to accelerate their interest in the other sex at a pace which is not geared to their emotional readiness is damaging. If the adult world withdrew its support or indulgence of precocious dating activities, we would find the scale of these activities greatly reduced."

I expect she's right. I bet any study of early adolescent youngsters would reveal their resistance to the premature sex competition of dating.

It's part of their parents' "popularity" cult, of course.

—When Judy is four, her nursery schoolmates must give her the "group acceptance" which is the four-year-old version of our "popularity" cult.

When she is 12, Judy must manipulate the approach of some equally nervous swain of 12—or something's wrong again. The cult makes it impossible for us to believe in our daughter's attractiveness unless another woman's son endorses it.

Children of this age have not lived long enough to acquire the self-esteem they need to withstand the strains of sex competition. At 12, a "stand up" is not what it is at 19. A 13-year-old's "brush off" can be clumsy and cruel.

For youngsters, pushed to prove their popularity with the other sex, fear and resent its power to exalt or degrade them. Boys and girls are not people to each other, but instruments to manipulate for their own social prestige.

Mrs. Hobby Backing Health Service In Vaccine Project

By MICHAEL J. O'NEILL
WASHINGTON — UP — Administration officials said Tuesday that Health Secretary Oveta Culp Hobby is backing the Public Health Service "to the limit" in its handling of the polio vaccine problem.

Voluntary Censorship Is Urged

By CHARLES CORDDRY
WASHINGTON — UP — R. Karl Honoman, Pentagon public relations chief, hopes for a "voluntary effort" by editors to restrain publication of information that is not secret but might prove helpful to Russia.

Such data is called "strategic information" by the man charged with carrying out Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson's new and tighter information policies. No effort to "cover up" official mistakes or other legitimate news is involved, Honoman insisted in an interview Tuesday.

Editors of newspapers, business and trade magazines have protested that the new category of "strategic information" is one that cannot be precisely defined and might result in blacking out vital news with no security consultation.

Honoman, deputy assistant defense secretary in charge of public affairs, was asked to describe the boundaries of "strategic information."

"The boundaries," he said, "are what will help the enemy more than it will help us." Judgment on such matters is not the government's responsibility alone, he said.

"Judgment can be made by editors as well."

The point was raised in the interview that critics fear new Pentagon rules, calling for information to be "constructive" as well as free of help for an enemy, could be used to hide facts to which the public is entitled.

Need for Opposition
Honoman took note of the criticism by saying "there is need for loyal opposition...vital principles are at stake."

He called for an atmosphere of "mutual trust" between government and press and apparently visualized the two as more or less partners in informing the public. "Neither side is in a vacuum," he said. "Your interests (the press) and ours are not antagonistic. We ought to serve the public that pays the bills."

He said he hopes the press would "scream" if any of the "horrendous" things feared by his critics come to pass.

Honoman, 60-year-old former publications director at Bell Telephone Laboratories and organizer of the Commerce Department Office of Strategic Information, is one of the focal points of complaints of a news "brownout" in this administration.

might when she told newsmen the service must bear the responsibility for operation of the government's vaccine safety program.

The statement, made during a radio interview, was interpreted by some as an implied effort to shift criticism of the government's vaccine policies from Mrs. Hobby to Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele.

Praises Health Service
But Mrs. Hobby explained later that her remarks "should not be interpreted in any way as criticism of the surgeon general or the Public Health Service."

"They are serving the public with all the scientific knowledge at their command," she said.

During the broadcast, Mrs. Hobby said she licensed the Salk vaccine April 12 on the recommendation of the surgeon general. She said she has "no apologies" for the action.

But from a technical viewpoint, she said Scheele has the real responsibility for assuring the safety of vaccines under the biological control law. Even if she had wanted to order changes in the way things were being handled, she said she could not have done so legally.

'Would Do Nothing Differently'
"There is nothing I could have done differently," she said.

Mrs. Hobby said she personally "is not qualified" to say whether anyone in the Public Health Service has been negligent. In fact, she asserted no one will be able to decide this until the scientists figure out what went wrong with some vaccine made by Cutter Laboratories.

Cutter vaccine was withdrawn from the market after a number of polio cases developed among children inoculated with that laboratory's product. An investigation, expected to be completed soon, may show whether inadequate government safety standards are implicated.

crisis said the new law actually will put him under "terrific pressure" to raise them.

It revives, revamps and extends to June 30, 1958, the reciprocal trade program launched on June 12, 1954. The program, previously renewed nine times, expired at midnight June 12.

The new law grants the President a request for authority to lower tariffs 5 per cent a year for three years to expand world trade.

But it includes provisions which will make it easier than at any time since the 21-year program was launched for American industries to press demands on the President for higher tariffs to protect them from injury.

President Eisenhower did not recommend these provisions. But the White House raised no objection when the Senate wrote them into the administration bill after it passed the House.

Some Democrats protested that the President had yielded to "protectionists."

Under the reciprocal trade program the President is given discretionary authority — within specified limits — to negotiate tariff-cutting agreements with other nations and to raise tariffs or set import quotas on competing foreign products to protect American industries from injury.

The President's discretionary authority is left intact under the new law. But it broadens the grounds for industry to prove actual or threatened injury, and thus persuades the tariff commission to recommend presidential use of the "escape clause" to cancel past tariff-cutting agreements.

City Building At Fast Pace

Construction in Pampa has more than doubled the total amount for the first six months of last year, a check of building permits in the city engineer's office shows.

Permits for the first six months of last year totaled $1,146,745 as compared to the $2,068,630 spent for construction for the first five months of this year.

New residences have been going up at the rate of slightly less than one a day since the first of the year. As 132 new houses have been constructed in the first 172 days. Only 61 new houses were built in the first six months of last year.

The building permits have been given this year for a numerous assortment of construction including new houses, businesses, garages, store rooms, work shops, wash houses, remodeling, moving in and out, tearing out curbs and others.

Several homes have been built at a cost of over $40,000 this year.

UAW Talks Resume

DETROIT — UP — American Motors Corp. met Tuesday with the CIO United Auto Workers after a five-day recess in contract talks centered around a union demand for a guaranteed wage proposal.

During the recess negotiators had been meeting in Milwaukee to discuss working agreements at American Motors plants there.

The union's contract with American Motors, which covers 24,000 workers in Michigan, Wisconsin and California, expires Aug. 12.

The union is expected to seek a contract from American Motors similar to ones it obtained from Ford Motor Co. and General Motors earlier this month. But the AMC contract is expected to embody some additional concessions to the smaller auto producer which would allow it to become a model for smaller manufacturers.

Steelworkers Speed Talks

PITTSBURGH — UP — The CIO United Steelworkers, promised a still unspecified wage increase by U.S. Steel Corp., Tuesday sought competing bids for a speedy contract settlement from "Big Steel's" two biggest industry rivals.

Bethlehem and Republic Steel Corporations, second and third ranking producers, returned after a nearly two-week bargaining recess to hand USW President David J. McDonald their reply to demands for a "substantial" pay boost.

U.S. Steel told the 1,200,000-member union Monday it will be ready Thursday or Friday to tell exactly how much it is willing to pay to satisfy USW contract demands ahead of the June 30 strike deadline for 600,000 steelworkers in the industry. By then, McDonald expected to have offered from Jones and Laughlin, Youngstown Sheet and Tube and Inland Steel, scheduled to meet USW negotiators here in separate sessions Wednesday.

Molotov May Let Ike Lead Meeting

'SHOT AT THE PRESIDENT' JUST FIGURE OF SPEECH

SAN FRANCISCO — UP — A San Francisco policeman's choice of words jolted secret service men guarding President Eisenhower Monday.

Just before the President stepped out of the St. Francis Hotel enroute to the United Nations meeting, a policeman with a public address amplifier on his car blared: "You people will have to move across the street. You can still get a good shot at the President from there."

Argentina Cabinet Shakeup Reported

By WILLIAM L. F. HORSEY
BUENOS AIRES — UP — A complete shakeup was predicted Tuesday in the Argentine cabinet.

(The Canadian charge d'affaires in Montevideo said a "compromise" government already has replaced the regime of President Juan D. Peron and has repealed Peron's anti-Catholic laws.

(The charge, Fulgence Charpenier, told the Toronto Telegram by telephone: "You won't hear any more from Peron. The impression here is not that he will remain as a figurehead, but that his resignation is being asked for.")

Reports of the complete shakeup persisted although the navy ministry vacancy left in the cabinet by Rear Adm. Amibal Olivieri's part in the abortive revolt Thursday was quickly filled by the appointment of Rear Adm. Louis Cornes.

(Diplomatic sources in Montevideo, Uruguay, said Gen. Franklin Lucero, the minister of army who heads the "forces of repression" appeared to be intending to set up a military junta to rule Argentina with President Juan D. Peron as a figurehead.

(This would be similar to events in Egypt in the 1953 revolt against King Farouk when Mohammed Naguib was named president and the military junta which overthrew Farouk retained power.)

Peron has not been attending official functions, and his name has hardly been mentioned in Buenos Aires and over the state radio which customarily lists the daily presidential activities.

An Argentine general who is a personal friend of Peron's said Peron has been too busy to attend to official acts.

He is neither sick nor detained but "just plain busy," the general said.

"Paul Butler, it seems, was sent down here once again to tell them (conservative Democrats) to get ready to vote blindly for a presidential nominee in whose choice they will have had no part whatever," Porter charged.

The Houston official held out an invitation to Democratic officeholders as well as rank-and-file voters to join the GOP.

"There are hundreds of conservative Democratic officeholders in Texas who have had the support of Republicans in the Democratic primaries, and I am sure Republicans would welcome the opportunity to support them as Republican candidates in our Republican primaries and in the general election," he said.

Porter was optimistic about the possibility of building a two-party system in Texas.

"Don't be too certain we won't elect a Republican governor in 1956," he said. "It is our job to go forth into every precinct in this state this year and organize for next year," he told his cheering audience. "Our job is to elect some Republican congressmen and local officeholders."

Porter said he agreed with a statement attributed to Butler that those who cannot consistently support the Democratic platform and candidates should work for the Republican party instead.

"He could not have made it clearer to conservative Democrats that they are not wanted by the national Democratic leadership," Porter said.

Plan Would Put Ike In Chair For First Session Of Big Four

SAN FRANCISCO — UP — Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov apparently has agreed to a proposal that would let President Dwight D. Eisenhower serve as a chairman for the first meeting of next month's "summit conference" in Geneva, it was disclosed Tuesday.

The proposal was one of several submitted to the Soviet foreign minister Monday by the foreign ministers of the Big Three western powers gathered in San Francisco for the 10th anniversary of the United Nations.

The Big Four foreign ministers met Monday night to talk it over. Sources close to the British and American delegations said Molotov made no objection to the proposals, but indicated his government would find them acceptable.

Proposals Listed
According to these sources, the proposals were:

1. The chief aim of the meeting would be to prove an atmosphere that would help lessen world tensions, rather than negotiate specific problems.

2. The Big Four chiefs of state will preside over the sessions in rotation. President Eisenhower will be the first chairman, followed by French, British and Russian chiefs of state.

3. The meeting should last four to six days. The exact length must be decided upon ahead of time.

4. The chiefs of state should outline in their opening statements what they consider to be the main causes of world tension.

5. As the meetings progress, the chiefs of state should suggest the procedures to follow in negotiating these problems.

Attending the meeting were Molotov, U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay and British Foreign Minister Harold MacMillan.

Earlier Monday Dulles, Pinay and MacMillan drew up a list of proposals which they submitted to Molotov. Monday night's meeting was called to hear the Russian's views on them.

A source close to Mac Millan said Molotov was "perfectly reasonable" and merely asked time to study them. However, an American source quoted Molotov as saying there should be "no difficulty."

A preliminary hearing will be held in Wheeler County Court today or tomorrow to decide what charges will be filed against J. R. Logan, 18, of Berger, who has admitted administering a beating to L. H. Tucker, Jr., 13, of Shamrock Friday night.

Tucker, who is in Shamrock Hospital with six front teeth knocked out, a broken nose and multiple bruises, was found by his father at a local ice cream store Friday night in a semi-conscious condition.

Logan was picked up in Berger Monday by highway patrolmen. According to officers, Logan was accompanied by Shamrock Friday by four other Berger boys who were questioned Monday by Wheeler County Sheriff Bus Dorman and District Attorney B. L. Waters of Pampa.

Charges have not been filed in the case by Wheeler County Attorney Guy Hardin reported late this morning that he was drawing up a complaint of aggravated assault against the Berger youth.

Sheriff Dorman and Waters were in Berger Monday afternoon investigating the case and Dorman returned to Wheeler Monday night with Logan in custody.

Two Shamrock boys, Richard Payne and Lee Harrison, reported to Wheeler County officials that they, with Tucker, came out of a Shamrock theater Friday night when a conversation was started with the Berger boys. The conversation led to an argument, according to District Attorney Waters, and the boys got in a car together where the argument was soon quieted. It started again, however, and the car was stopped on a darkened street and the beating was administered to Tucker.

After Tucker was taken to the ice cream store, his two Shamrock companions called Tucker's father, who came to take his son to the hospital.

An intensive "man-hunt" had been conducted by Wheeler County officials and other law enforcement officers since Friday night.

Tips had been given to officers from an unidentified source in Berger and from a Mobeetic grocery store operator who remembered seeing the boys after reading newspaper accounts of the beating.

Military Bill Rejected By Committee

WASHINGTON — UP — The House Armed Services committee rebelled against its chairman Tuesday and voted to send a watered-down version of President Eisenhower's compulsory military reserve plan to a subcommittee for five days of study.

By a 16 to 14 vote, the committee rejected an urgent plea by Chairman Carl Vinson (D-Ga.) for immediate approval of his compromise bill.

Members complained at a stormy session that they had not had time to consider the new proposal which Vinson introduced Monday.

Chairman Overton Brooks (D-La.) of a subcommittee which had worked on the reserve plan for two months said Vinson's action, taken without consulting subcommittee members, was a "rebuke" to the subcommittee.

The subcommittee's version subsequently was stalled in the House after Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-N.Y.) succeeded in tacking on an amendment forbidding segregation in the National Guard.

Vinson's compromise seeks to bypass the segregation issue by eliminating an administration provision to assign compulsory reservists to the National Guard. It also eliminates universal military training (UMT) features that were in the subcommittee's original bill.

"This is a watered-down version," Brooks insisted. "We may as well face it."

"I do not think by any means any one can classify this as watered-down," Vinson argued.

Dancier Estate Over $1 Million

FORT WORTH — UP — The estate of Dan Dancier, Fort Worth oilman who died June 18, is "in excess of $1 million," his probate will showed Tuesday.

Dancier, 66, was former president of the Dancier Oil & Refining Co. Relatives, friends, charities, employees and former employees will share in the estate.

Dancier's automobiles, jewelry, household goods and other personal belongings go to a sister, Miss Sadie Dancier of Tucson, Ariz. A nephew, David K. Dancier of Fort Worth, will get $250,000. The will provides that contributions to charities and institutions be "exclusive" in the state of Texas.

Getting A New Home? Read This For Luck

By ALFRED LEECH CHICAGO—UP—If you're moving into a new home take Bob Lindenthal's advice and walk into every room carrying a loaf of bread and a plate of salt. Just for luck.

This is just one of the superstitions about houses Lindenthal has uncovered in his research. An interior designer, he had made home and housing superstitions "his hobby."

The bread and salt bit originated in North Yorkshire, Eng. where it was known as "house-blessed." A loaf of bread, although not a symbol of good luck, does represent prosperity.

"And the sweep of the householder never has too much of that," Lindenthal said.

Of course, figures in many superstitions. It can mean bad luck if you spill it, but jossing it over your shoulder can remedy the situation.

Lindenthal believes salt superstitions may stem from Leonardo da Vinci's painting of the last supper. The masterpiece depicts Judas in the act of overturning the salt.

One of the most common household superstitions is the one about nailing a horseshoe over the door for good luck. But the open end must point upward, or the luck will "fall out."

Lindenthal said the origin of the horseshoe symbol is attributed to the legend of St. Dunstan and the devil.

St. Dunstan recognized his visitor as the devil, and fastened him to the wall. The devil roared for mercy and St. Dunstan agreed to stop if the devil promised never to enter where a horseshoe was displayed. There are a couple of bedroom superstitions, Lindenthal said.

It's supposed to be bad luck to put boiled water that has come cold in a bedroom. And sweeping

Parr Trial Set July 5

ALBANY, Tex.—UP—South Texas political boss George E. Parr and 11 other Duval county defendants will be tried July 5 at New Braunfels on charges of conspiracy to defraud or misappropriation of the Benavides independent school district.

The cases were set for trial at Alice Monday after 7th District Attorney Sam Burns conferred with District Attorney Wallace T. Barber of Hays county and District Attorney Richard Hunt of Washington county.

Conviction on charges carry sentences of from two to five years. The cases are based on indictments returned last summer by the Duval county grand jury when Benavides independent school district trustee Parr, others to face trial are D. C. Chapa, G. Carrillo Sr., Jesus Gonzalez, E. F. (Tom) Donald Jr., R. W. Milligan, Jesus G. Garza, Santiago Garcia, C. G. Ramirez, O. Beana Reyes Ramos and Goveva Parr.

Milligan, Benavides school superintendent, will be tried July 26 at Brenham on a two-count indictment charging theft and conspiracy.

Tyson Surrency also of Duval county is scheduled to be tried on charges of making a false certificate as a notary public in connection with the Benavides school cases.

Weed Control Dist. Talked

Plans are underfoot for the organization of a five county noxious weed control district in this area. County Agent Ralph Thomas Monday sent out letters to the county agents of Roberts, Donley, Carson and Armstrong counties for a sampling of farmer opinion.

Irvin Cole, member of the Texas Weed Control Association, which sponsored the legislation through which the districts are formed, said that as few counties as one may be made part of the district, but he feels that a five county district including Gray, could be run more economically.

Under the recently passed law, M. B. 288, fifty farmers must petition the commissioners court in which the largest area in the district lies. The commissioners court may then call a general election for the formation of a district.

Gray County's greatest noxious weed problem is the stinging nettle against which weed, Thomas said. The legislation passed at the last session of the Texas Legislature affects the Panhandle and the South Plains as far south as Lubbock. A total of 34 counties, Thomas said.

Nixon Sounds Keynote For 1956 Presidential Battle

WASHINGTON — Vice President Richard M. Nixon has sounded the keynote of the 1956 Republican presidential campaign with due regard for an issue designed to arouse boisterous Democratic anger.

Peace and prosperity will be the affirmative basis of the Republican campaign effort, Nixon would accompany that with an all-out attack on the Democratic party as a socialist and nationalizer of basic American institutions.

And that is the kind campaign the Republicans will wage if — as expected — the party renominates the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket next year. President Eisenhower has indicated that Nixon would be satisfactory to him in every way as a running mate.

Importance on Speech
That is the circumstance which imposes much importance on Nixon's weekend Detroit speech before the national convention of the Young Republican Federation. The speech plainly was a preview of what Nixon will tell the voters in 1956, and the slant of his campaign will have considerable to do with the whole Republican campaign pattern.

"In 1956," Nixon told the young folk, "we shall have a showdown battle between those who would nationalize and socialize basic American institutions and those who would continue the American economic policies which have been put into effect by the administration and which have worked so well."

That is not only a challenge to the Democratic party. It is the Republican bid for conservative Democrats to break away from domination of what Nixon termed the left wing, big city party leadership. That is the weak spot in the Democratic front. Nixon intends to force the attack there.

Depends on Peace
The peace part of the campaign program depends, of course, on the maintenance of peace. Administration estimates, as of now, are that peace will be maintained well beyond the election.

Prosperity used to be the Republican campaign trade-mark, deserved or not. It flourished from Mark Hanna's full dinner pail slogan for William McKinley until depression struck it down in 1932. The prosperity issue lay doggo for 16 years until President Harry S. Truman revived it for a spectacular triumph in 1948.

"You never had it so good," Mr. Truman told the voters then and they agreed with him. Nixon's 1956

answer to that is to be: "It's better than Eisenhower."

And, significantly, Nixon saluted the new Ford and General Motors labor contracts regards as a substantial step toward a guaranteed annual wage. The vice president predicted that other industries would follow the motor giants, which is tip enough to labor leaders to turn on the heat.

Spokesman Hits Power Co-op Funds

WASHINGTON — A private power spokesman Monday urged elimination of the controversial "continuing fund" through which the Southwestern Power Administration can buy power from electric co-operatives.

Richard L. Arnold of Texarkana, Ark., general counsel of Southwestern Gas and Electric Co., made the recommendation in testimony before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee. He said the contracts between the power agency and the co-operatives are "contrary to law" because SPA is a "marketing agency only."

The contracts have been the subject of extensive litigation recently. The House authorized the "continuing fund" in passing an appropriations bill to provide money for various public works and power projects.

Under the provision, SPA can use revenue from power sales for emergency expenditures, power purchases and rental for use of transmission facilities. The provision also was attacked by Warren L. Porter of Kansas City, vice president of Kansas City Power and Light Co., and W. B. Gesell of Oklahoma City, vice president of Oklahoma Gas and Electric Co.

ST. LOUIS — Oliver Openlander's first day as a school crossing guard was a hectic one. Police told him to call the district three times a day from his post. Openlander pleaded guilty to a charge of turning in a false fire alarm but escaped a $50 fine when he was placed on probation.

Penicillin Dropped From Salk Vaccine

WASHINGTON — UP — Some polio vaccine makers are dropping the use of penicillin in Salk shots because of allergic reactions to the penicillin, the government reports.

Dr. William G. Workman of the National Institutes of Health revealed that these firms — he did not name them — are substituting other antibiotics as rapidly as research and testing permit.

Penicillin has been included in Salk vaccine to guard against bacteria contamination. The amount is small — not more than 200 units to an average dose of vaccine — but it sometimes can cause complications.

In persons who already have developed an extreme sensitivity to the drug, the minute amount in the vaccine could in some cases cause a severe reaction, possibly death. Where this sensitivity is known, a physician may advise against an injection-containing penicillin.

In children who have not had penicillin previously, the amount in the vaccine may be enough to produce an allergy or sensitivity. This might make it risky to use the drug in a later illness when it might be vitally needed.

Dr. Orval R. Withers, head of the allergy clinic at the University of Kansas medical center, recently told the American Medical Association that penicillin in Salk vaccine would produce a new crop of persons sensitive to the drug.

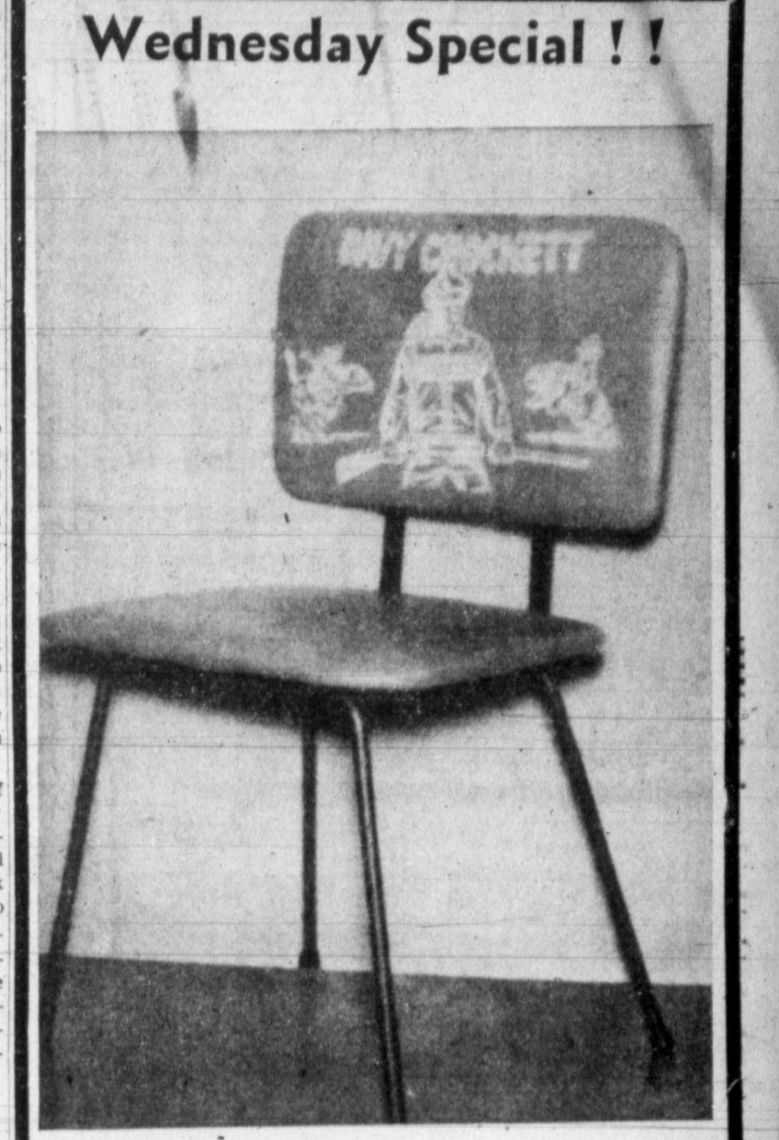

He reported the case of a seven-year-old boy who, he said, broke out in hives, sickened, and developed a mild case of anaphylactic shock because of a penicillin-spiked Salk shot.

MAKING A GO OF LIFE

By ROY L. SMITH
Read Matthew 18:1-6

The spiritual law is impartial. In our attempts to bring our spiritual nature under control we must be guided by many of the same principles which operate in other areas of life. The law of cause and effect is exactly as rigid in spiritual matters as in physical affairs. No spiritual law is dependent upon any religious denomination for its truthfulness. The atoms in the test tubes are indifferent to the politics of the chemist, and the facts of the spiritual life are indifferent to the ecclesiastical preferences of the preacher. If a spiritual law is really a law it is independent of the creed or opinion of any individual or group. Neither nature nor God are dependent upon a plebsicite. Laws are true because they are demonstrable, and not because certain sects proclaim them or place their endorsement upon them.

This means that any honest seeker after spiritual truth is entitled to believe anything that is true, regardless of the sect or religious group of which he is a member. It may be true that one company of believers has a better understanding of spiritual law than some other group, and that its techniques are more effective, but no one religious body holds any copyright on truth. God stands ready to cooperate with any individual, regardless of his religious affiliation, when that individual is ready to make use of the basic spiritual principles which govern life.

If we use a law and it produces results, then those results are the validation of the law. If aggressive faith is followed by a sense of serenity and peace, then let us exercise that faith; if positive praying, for example, produces peace, then by all means pray positively. As I meditate on thee, O God, life's problems seem to become simpler and less threatening. I will accept this, then as an evidence of the fact that thou art guiding me. I will follow my highest impulses and longings in the belief that they are thy calls to me, Amen.

Are your beliefs about Christ making you more Christlike, or are you becoming contentious, argumentative, critical of others, and censorious toward those who find it impossible to accept your beliefs? If so, then you had better examine them again.

Ford and his wife were members of a 50-car caravan driving from Dallas to Atlanta, Ga., to attend the national Jaycee convention.

Ford suffered face abrasions. Mrs. Ford was not seriously hurt. Highway Patrolman E. W. Crisler said William Sykes of Indianola turned off Highway 82 eight miles west of here and his car was struck by a pickup truck, knocking Sykes' vehicle into the path of the Ford automobile.

Sykes was taken to a Memphis hospital for treatment of a broken collarbone and an injured shoulder.

Four Escape Plane Crash

DENVER — UP — A Piper Tri Pacer cracked up Monday while landing at Stapleton Air field but the pilot and three passengers got out safely before the light plane burst into flames.

The pilot of the private plane was identified as Hobart Mitchell of Lubbock, Tex. His passengers were Jim Spaulding of Dallas, Lewis Garcia Jr. of Santa Fe, N.M., and Eva LaLief of Santa Fe.

Civil aeronautics investigator A. G. Goddard said Mitchell apparently "came in too fast and hard on the landing" and knocked off the plane's landing gear. He said the plane was demolished by the fire that followed. Goddard said the plane was enroute from Texas to Oakland, Calif. The plane had just made a refueling stop at Pueblo two hours before the crashup and was stopping at Stapleton also to refuel.

Goddard said all four suffered only minor cuts and bruises.

Longest Eclipse Blacks Out Sun

MANILA, P. I. — UP — The longest total eclipse in 1,238 years blacked out the sun in a 7,000-mile line stretching from Ceylon to the Philippines Monday, but clouds in many places foiled efforts at scientific observations.

U.S. Air Force jet planes with American scientists aboard raced the shadow of the moon five miles up Monday over the Philippines, stretching the unusually long seven-minute eclipse into nearly 12 minutes. The planes followed the eclipsed at some 600 miles an hour.

A holiday was declared in Manila, Filipinos, strong enthusiasts of spectator sports, cheered the moon onto the final full eclipse as they would a football player on his way to a goal. A roar of approval went up when the stars came out.

In Ceylon, where clouds ruined the efforts of dozens of scientific expeditions, the mid-day darkness raised a babel of noise in the jungles and astrologers terrified the population by predicting revolutions, plagues, pestilences, deaths and wars.

Schultzie Made The Grade By Slaying Homely Girl

By ALINE MOBBY

HOLLYWOOD — UP — New actresses usually parade their best curves and lipstick, but Ann Davis made television stardom this season with a new formula: Slaying homely.

Ann is better known to TV fans as "Schultzie" of the Bob Cummings show. In the series Schultzie is an unglamorous wench who is the butt of many a laugh about her homeliness.

In real life, Schultzie, as she's called now, is a friendly, down-to-earth girl who is not embarrassed over her lack of good looks.

"Sure, it took me a long time to get started because I'm not pretty," she said. "Agents used to tell me when I phoned that unless I was beautiful, don't bother."

"But I've never been sorry about my looks. I'm glad I'm not pretty. Glamour girls come and go so fast. You're great as long as your looks last — then you're dead."

Other actresses' idols are Grace Kelly or Marilyn Monroe, but Schultzie's is Mary Wickes, the funny, horse-faced character actress in movies.

Schultzie always wears her hair in that washwoman-type bun atop her head. "It's false — $1.99 worth of Woolworth's best!"

When Schultzie has her photograph taken at NBC she begs the photographer not to re-touch the lines in her face.

"Those are character lines. Leave 'em in," she cried. "Once somebody suggested getting my nose fixed. Never! That shape is all I've got."

Schultzie left Erie, Pa., for show business because her brother was a dancer in Broadway shows. For nine years she worked in tiny theater companies that toured the country.

"I had to scrub floors, paint scenery, play parts and then we'd move on to perform in another gymnasium in the next town," she said. "We were lucky if we each got $55 take-home pay a week."

The long-suffering Schultzie finally wound up with a comedy act in a little basement bistro in Los Angeles, Cabaret Concert. A TV executive saw her, told Cummings, and overnight she was a hit of the NBC filmed series.

She still entertains at the cabaret, where the customers call her Schultzie.

The actress, 29, lives alone in an apartment, except for her French poodle. She has a twin sister back in Pennsylvania who writes Schultzie about her three children. "so I live vicariously as far as being married is concerned."

"Oh, I know a fellow but we just pal around, that's all," she said shyly. "Besides, I work nights at the club so that takes care of my time. I'm not the dating type."

Compromise UMT Bill Introduced

WASHINGTON — UP — Chairman Carl Vinson of the House Armed Services committee Monday introduced a compromise bill to carry out President Eisenhower's compulsory military reserve program.

The Georgia Democrat offered the new legislation in response to Mr. Eisenhower's plan last week to enact a new reserve plan at this session of congress. Vinson's bill, however, was not cleared with administration's leaders.

The bill abandons the controversial universal military training (UMT) features of an earlier proposal and is designed to avoid another fight over racial segregation in the National Guard—the issue on which the earlier measure foundered.

Vinson's bill provides that men completing their active military duty must serve for stated periods in the reserves. This would include weekly drills and summer camps. Unlike the earlier bill, it makes no provision for assignment of these men to the National Guard.

Vinson expressed confidence that congress would approve his bill.

JACK ROBINSON'S Little League team hasn't won a ball game all year, but the boys wanted to show their manager he rates high with them.

So on Fathers Day, Sunday Robinson received a card with the following inscription:

"We fifteen kids haven't shown our stuff. We guess we just don't know enough. We know we like you anyway. So here's a gift for FATHERS DAY!"

It was signed "Your team, Gerral Owens, Pete Lewis, Nelson Rockwell, Roger Walters, Sammy Dale Cox, Don Henry, Dickie Wills, Wayne Timmons, Guy Harris, Kenny Harris, Jim Stanley, Richard Fatheree, Howard Reed and John Knott."

Manager Robinson has accomplished more of value already than winning a pennant. And, if the sense of humor his boys exhibited is a result of his leadership, he's far ahead of the game.

SINCE I KNOW there is at least one other person in Pampa who likes to read science fiction. I'll be brave enough to admit that I take it in occasionally.

Dr. Nick Kadingo reads the stuff, and if you others don't want to confess, that's O.K.

But the purpose here is to report a portion of an unusual story I read recently which may make Panhandle folks feel not too unkindly about the dust which sometimes is a bother around here.

"When the storm hit it was like night. The air was a semi-solid mass . . . and the car stopped. At once sand began to pile up behind and around it, and Harrigan, picking himself up off the floor of the cab, saw that if he didn't get out fast he would be buried where he sat."

PHS Hires New Choral Director

Bob Irby, former chorus director and music instructor in the Perryton schools for the past three years, will be the Pampa High School Choral Director next year.

A graduate of Plainview High School, Irby obtained his B.S. degree in music education from North Texas State College in 1950. He is now attending summer school at North Texas, where he is taking an advanced music course.

While instructing in Perryton, Irby's choral groups in both the junior high and high school ranked excellent in each regional contest. The junior high school chorus has achieved superior rating for the past two years.

Prior to his Perryton post, Irby held a similar position in Littlefield.

Supersonic Jet Plane Is Secret

FORT WORTH—UP—The U. S. Navy Monday drew the veil of secrecy partly off its new supersonic fighter, the XF8U-1.

The new craft has been booming through the sound barrier over Fort Worth for the past several weeks.

As yet unnamed, it will operate from Navy carriers, is shaped like a throwing dart and was built by Chance Vought in its Dallas plant.

John Konrad, the company chief test pilot, put the "Dart" through its first paces over Edwards Air Force Base, California.

Chance Vought built the plane after beating out eight other aircraft companies in a design contest.

The company at present also is building a guided missile for the Navy.

Mother Leaves Baby At Roadside

FORT WORTH—UP—A 35-year-old mother of five left a two-week-old baby at the side of a road in suburban Sansom Park Sunday night after apparently trying to give the infant away earlier at two churches.

Assistant Probation Officer Margaret O'Brien said the mother walked into a Baptist church and later a Pentecostal church while worship services were in progress.

Later, police called to the area saw the woman and children walking away from the roadside. The older children, two sets of twins, are 2 and 7.

The probation office was given temporary custody of the five children while the mother was held for examination by doctors later Monday.

Indo-China Situation Getting Worse

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Foreign Analyst

Things seem to be getting steadily worse in Indo-China.

Rebels in southern Viet Nam, most important of the three Indo-Chinese states, are fighting small-scale civil war against Premier Ngo Dinh Diem.

Diem's political enemies are reported also to be plotting against him from within his own governmental organization.

And now, as if things were not bad enough already, Ho Chi Minh, leader of Communist northern Viet Nam, is interesting himself actively in the situation.

A dispatch from Saigon, the southern Viet Nam capital, reported a week ago that Ho's radio had started appealing to the anti-Diem rebels "to unite with their brothers of the north."

Red Agents Active
It is known that Communist agents are increasingly active in the country areas of southern Viet Nam. They are telling the people that Ho is sure to take over the country sooner or later, and that it would be smart to get on his side in advance.

There was another development during the weekend which showed how chaotic the southern Viet Namese situation is. Hundreds of people who had fled from the north to escape Communist rule held a demonstration in Saigon—demanding that they be sent home again.

Most likely there were some undercover Communist agents among the demonstrators.

Unfortunately, it has been indicated for some time that some of the 800,000 people who fled the north when Viet Nam was split into northern and southern parts under the Geneva armistice now want to go back home.

Unless the present trend is stopped there is every reason to believe that more of the refugees will want to go back to the north.

There is every reason also for Ho to look forward with some optimism to the elections which are to be held next year to unify southern and northern Viet Nam.

It is not only in southern Viet Nam that the situation is bad.

A Saigon dispatch reports that 10,000 Communist guerrillas are harassing government troops in the state of Laos. These Reds were part of Ho's army before the Geneva armistice, under which Viet Nam was split into northern and southern parts.

May Involve Third Area
It is reported further that some of the anti-Diem rebels have set up a headquarters in Cambodia, third of the Indo-China states, and thus threaten to involve that area in the civil war.

Premier Diem, whom the United States supports is putting up a good fight against the rebels and against plotters in own government. But he has made himself unpopular, by his stubbornness, with many people who ought to be supporting him.

It looks as if Indo-China situation will soon cause a lot more

Senate Vote Ups Marines

WASHINGTON—UP—The Senate handed President Eisenhower a surprise setback Monday by voting for a bigger Marine Corps than the administration called for.

It approved, 40 to 39, an amendment by Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) to add to the Marine Corps in the coming year 22,000 men more than the administration planned.

The vote was a victory for a group of Senate Democrats, led by Symington, who have been critical of the administration's "new look" strategy.

Symington's amendment calls for maintaining the Marine Corps at 215,000.

The vote was the first key test as the Senate began voting on a proposed $31,836,321,000 military budget for the coming fiscal year.

Americans Not Night Owls, Nationwide Survey Shows

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK—UP—If you stay up after 11 p. m. you are going against the grain. Most Americans—76 per cent—are all tucked in by then.

You are in harmony with the masses, however, if you brush your teeth between 7 and 7:15 a. m.

These and other statistics drawn from the bedrooms, bathrooms, kitchens and living rooms of America have been offered up by an electronic computer which digested a mountain of data from a "daily living habits" survey of the U. S. populace.

The J. A. Ward Research Co. of New York conducted the study for the Mutual Broadcasting System, which wanted to find out more about when Americans are likely to have their radios turned on.

From Personal Diaries
The researchers persuaded 12,000 housewives to keep a detailed diary, or log, of the day's events. The material then was fed into a computer to arrive at a mouse's-eye view of life in the average household.

The diaries began at 6 a. m. at 8:30 p. m. though most of the first entries had to be made retroactively. The majority of people were still asleep then.

A few are up and around but their activity is pretty subdued. The four-tenths of 1 per cent are reading magazines or newspapers at 6 Two-tenths of 1 per cent are watching television. The survey didn't tell whether they were getting a fresh start or had been up watching all night.

The general wake-up period is between 6:45 and 7:15. After 7:15, only 29 per cent are still in the sack. By 8:15, all but 9 per cent are up. The low point for sleeping is 5-6 p. m., when less than 1 per cent are still holding out.

Bathing, dressing, shaving and brushing teeth occupies the 7-7:15 segment in the greater number of households, and most people eat breakfast between 7:15 and 8.

Some Sneak to Bed
After the old man leaves for school, mother more than likely begins her household (unless she sneaks back to bed to become part of the happy minority.)

Housework gets its biggest play between 8 and 11 a. m. and between 12:45 and 2 p. m. Lunch is being prepared or eaten in most homes between 12 and 12:30. The peak hours for calling on friends and neighbors are 4-5 p. m. and 7-8 p. m.

The mutual network naturally wanted to know about radio and television habits, and found that at 7 a. m., or shortly after, about 15 per cent of the people—or 20 million—have a radio on. The figure drops gradually as the morning wears on. By 11:45, only 7 per cent are tuned in.

Television fares worse than radio in the morning, according to the survey. Two per cent are watching TV at 7 a. m. and about 4 per cent at 11 a. m.

Americans are not great night owls, if the survey can be trusted. It found that 92 per cent of us are in the house by 11 p. m. and 76 per cent are in bed.

Mareta Lou Pittman, Raleigh Reese Jr. Are United In Marriage In Perryton

PERRYTON—(Special)—Miss Mareta Lou Pittman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Pittman of Perryton, became the bride of Raleigh Arnold Reese Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Raleigh A. Reese Sr. of Ballinger, in a double-ring ceremony June 12, in the home of the bride's parents.

Rev. W. O. Harmon, pastor of First Christian Church, read the vows before an archway entwined with daisies and greenery. Baskets of white gladioli, shasta daisies, carnations and stock flanked the archway.

Miss Harriet Hale, pianist, played "Always," "Because" and "O Promise Me." Mrs. Lewis Isley sang "Wedding Prayer" and "The Lord's Prayer." The traditional wedding march was played for the procession.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a dress of white embossed satin, designed on princess lines. The dress was fashioned with a low neckline and was sleeveless. The bouffant skirt was ballerina length.

She wore a small white straw hat, trimmed with white veiling. She carried a white Bible topped with a bouquet of white carnations with white satin streamers.

For something old, she wore her great-grandmother's cameo pin. Something new was a necklace and earrings, a gift of the bridegroom. Something borrowed was the white Bible and something blue was a garter.

Mrs. Ervin Lamb of Spearman, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a navy blue and white sleeveless, linen dress with white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Robert Reese of Ballinger served as best man.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Pittman wore a white and lavender dacron dress with white accessories. Her corsage was of lavender carnations. The bridegroom's mother wore a pink linen dress with pink and black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

A reception was held immediately after the ceremony in the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Clark. Assisting were the bride's great-aunts, Mrs. R. T. Correll and Mrs. W. E. McMillen.

Miss Virgie Lou Wilson, cousin of the bride, registered the guests. The registration table was decorated with a bride doll and an arrangement of sweet peas.

The reception table was covered with a lace cloth over pink and centered with an arrangement of pink painted daisies and silver leaves. At either side were tall white tapers in silver holders. The three-tiered wedding cake, made by Mrs. Rex Clark, was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

For a wedding trip to New Mexico and Colorado the bride wore a two-piece navy blue and white linen suit with white accessories.

The bride was graduated from Perryton High School this year. Mr. Reese was graduated from Ballinger High School and attended Texas Technological College in Lubbock. He is employed by Humble Oil Company.

A rehearsal dinner was held in the home of the bride's parents Saturday evening.

The serving table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with a miniature bride and bridegroom encircled with red roses and honeysuckle.

Miss Helen Dunlap, Mrs. F. P. Hayes Speak To HD Club

Talks on the making of belt loops and on care of the feet were made at the recent meeting of the Sunshine Home Demonstration club in the home of Mrs. C. L. Cochran, 315 E. Craven.

Miss Helen Dunlap, county HD agent, told the women that 90 per cent of the population suffers from foot trouble, adding that weakened arches may be caused by ill-fitted shoes, too rapid rate of growth in children and overweight in children or adults.

Mrs. F. P. Hayes Jr. showed how to make belt loops.

During the business session the women amended a previous motion to meet once a month during the summer and will continue with regular meetings. Next session will be Friday in the home of Mrs. I. U. Bryant, west of city.

Those present were Mrs. Jim King, John Mebley, A. A. McElrath, P. J. Chilcoat, C. L. Cochran, F. P. Hayes Jr., G. H. Murrain and R. H. St. Aubyn.

THERE ARE TWO SCHOOLS of thought on summer fashions: one says you look coolest covered up, the other declares you feel coolest dressed as barely as the law allows. Summer clothes for daytime observe the cover-up theory in tunics, shirtwaists and long-torso styles, but evening dresses go bare with halter, scoop and camisole tops above skirts either slim or bouffant. Play clothes, as always, expose you to the sun.

YOU'LL LOOK YOUR BEST in any of these smart fashions if your figure is trim. So don't give in to the urge to discard foundations! Choose them as you choose the rest of your vacation or workaday wardrobe for the warm days to come, with a view to comfort and coolness—plus the "C" of control.

Under a tunic dress, wear a bandeau and a waistline girdle. Or if the tunic is slim and your figure isn't, pair a longer bra and a higher girdle to smooth the midriff.

The shirtwaist, less revealing of figure, needs only the light underline of bra and two-way stretch girdle or pantie girdle. Unless, of course, you've an honest-to-goodness bulge that requires more discipline.

For the long look in summer clothes, elongate your figure; outline high bosom, slender waist, narrow hip with corselet, bralette or girdle and bra. The strapless bralette, fitting just over the hips, is perfect for the one-piece dress with two-piece effect of fitted overbust and low-flaring skirt. Slim-skirted dresses and suits need more concentrated control at the hips.

The summer sheath and the T-shirt dress are most demanding of your figure, but the right foundations will define their shape—and yours—to perfection. A corselet, strapless if you like, is one means of figure-ing. Separate bra and girdle add up to the same fine line if they meet so there is no break in the silhouette.

Evening fashions, such as the India-inspired sari, take to strapless bras or those with straps in some halter or off-the-shoulder. Some bras are convertible to such styles special arrangement—perhaps from the basic strapless.

Play clothes, too, need good underlines. The T-shirt ablaze with color will be seen everywhere. Under your chic knit, wear a bra with high, rounded cups—for definition, not exaggeration. Under the trousers that go with the T-shirt, you'll need a pantie girdle: a brief for short shorts, and a longer style with thigh control for long, skinny pants.

The fabrics of summer foundations, like those of dresses and sportswear, are light of weight and of fit. Popular bra fabrics are cotton; Dacron-cotton blends; nylon lace. In pantie girdles and girdles, look for such fabrics as cotton or nylon leno, nylon powder net and elasticized lace with down-stretch, ribbed or reinforced panels for extra control.

P.S. if your figure is "above average" you'll undoubtedly want at least one girdle or corselet in summery cotton mesh, with a bra that is correspondingly cool.

HIS TEAM DIDN'T WIN A GAME in the first half of Little League play, but we venture to say Jack Robinson was the most proud "father" in Pampa on Father's Day which, of course, was Sunday.

Robinson manages the Your Laundry team in the Western Little League and although he worked just as hard as his fellow managers during the first half, his charges failed to come up with a win.

But Jack's boys are just as proud of their manager as if they had won every game.

Here is a card Robinson received on Father's Day which was signed by all members of the Your Laundry Little League team:

"We fifteen haven't shown our stuff.
"We guess we just don't know enough.
"We know we like you anyway.
"So here's a gift for FATHER'S DAY."

Signed: Gerral Owens, Pete Lewis, Nelson Rockwell, Roger Walters, Sammy Dale Cox, Don Henry, Dickie Willis, Wayne Timms, Guy Harris, Kenny Harris, Jim Stanley, Richard Fatherlee, Howard Reed and John Knott.

The above card and gifts were delivered to Jack's house by the kids themselves and needless to say, Jack was "overwhelmed."

To our knowledge this is one of the finest gestures on the part of an athletic team, especially kids of this age, to do for their coach or manager.

Such gestures as this have been rendered numerous times, I'm sure, by winning teams but it's a rarity when a losing coach or manager is given such a royal treatment by his charges.

THE RETURN OF Curtis Hardaway to his old post at third base has certainly lifted the flashy Negro from his batting doldrums.

Hardaway, who was shifted to second when Pete Carmona was sidelined with an appendectomy, slumped to a .218 batting mark.

But, since Curt returned to third base, he has batted .364 which has raised his season average to .306.

Hardaway, before switching to second base was batting .333. Then during the three weeks he was at second he slipped to .218.

He returned to third base May 20 and his batting average has been on a rise since that time.

Up until Hardaway had returned to third, he had hit only one home run and had batted in a mere seven runs.

Now, a month later and stationed at his old post, at third, Hardaway has clouted 11 homers to give him 12 for the season and he has driven in 26 more runs to push his season total to 3 RBI's.

Let's hope Hardaway doesn't have to move away from home at third base anymore.

Oilers Drop 14-Inning Thriller; Win Nightcap

DIET DIFFERENCES—What the scale reads is Light-Heavy Champ Archie Moore's big worry as he gets ready for June 22 bout with Carl Olson, the middleweight king. Moore, at Summit, N. J., is on a midge's diet so he can make the required 175 pounds. Meanwhile, at Asbury Park, Olson stuffs away everything in sight. He's got no worries.

Bobo Seeks Use Of Oxygen For Title Bout

NEW YORK—UP—Bob Olson wants an oxygen tank to help win the light heavyweight title from 38-year-old Archie Moore Wednesday night at the Polo Grounds.

Dr. Sam Sherman of San Francisco, personal physician to midweight champion Olson, will ask the boxing commission for permission to administer oxygen to Bob between rounds.

Trainer Fred Bianchi explained Tuesday, "The oxygen will give him a lift. Yes, we've used it before in a few fights, including the one with Joey Maxim on April 13."

Dr. Vincent Nardiello of the commission's staff said Tuesday he believed permission would be given although oxygen hadn't been used in a New York ring for years.

Meanwhile, it appeared the oxygen might be necessary, for Moore became a 2-1 betting favorite, and bookies said he probably would go into the ring at 3-1. A poll of 25 picking Moore to win and only seven selecting Olson. Eleven of the 19 Moore voters predicted a kayo.

Promoter Jim Norris gave some encouragement to Olson when he disclosed that Bobo would be given serious consideration as September heavyweight challenger if he beats ancient Archie impressively.

It was the first time Norris had spoken of the 160-pounder as a contender though he has regarded a victorious Moore as a nearly certain foe for Rocky Marciano.

Norris said an advance sale of more than $100,000 indicated a gate of more than $250,000 for the fight.

Olson loafed at his camp in Asbury Park, N. J., Tuesday; but Moore said he might spar two more rounds at Summit, N. J., to help keep his weight down close to the required 175 pounds.

"I'll come in at 174-78 pounds, and I'll knock Olson out. No, I don't know what round."

Tony Petronella, president of the National Boxing Association, warned that if Moore fails to pare down to 175 pounds for the weigh-in Wednesday, "he'll lose his title on the scales, but if Olson beats him Wednesday night, Olson still will win the title."

Should an over-weight Moore beat Olson, the title would remain vacant and a tournament would be staged to determine Moore's successor.

Giants Suffer 5th Straight Defeat

CINCINNATI, adding a final run in the eighth on singles by Hobie Landrith, McMillan, and Fowler.

Lefty Luis Arroyo, who is bidding to win "rookie of the year" honors for the St. Louis Cardinals for the second season in a row, gained his eighth victory, a 4-1 seven-hitter over the Phillies.

Three of the four Cardinal runs off Philly starter Murry Dickson were unearned, the result of a two-out error by shortstop Roy Smalley in the fourth on a ground ball by Bill Sarni with Red Schoendienst on base.

One of the four Cardinal runs off Philly starter Murry Dickson were unearned, the result of a two-out error by shortstop Roy Smalley in the fourth on a ground ball by Bill Sarni with Red Schoendienst on base.

The fleet center fielder singled and stole second in the fourth and rode home on Johnny Logan's double.

In the sixth when Gene Freese bobbled his grounder he tried to get all the way to second and he reached that sack and sped on to third when Freese followed with the wild throw.

Homers Win 2nd Game For Oilers

ABILENE, June 21—The league-leading Pampa Oilers bounced back to take the second game of a doubleheader from the Abilene Blue Sox here Monday night, 5-2, after the Sox had won a 14-inning marathon in the opener, 4-3.

Buddy Woods enabled the Oilers to gain an even break in the twinbill by scattering eight hits over the route in the nightcap. The win also gave the Oilers the lead in the series, 2-1.

Joe Fortin and Curtis Hardaway furnished the necessary plate punch in the second game for the Oil victory.

Fortin banged his 17th homerun of the season in the sixth inning with two on to erase a 2-0 deficit and then Hardaway, who had homered in the first game, clouted his second homer of the night in the seventh with a man on to send across a pair of insurance runs.

Woods was backed by an errorless performance by his teammates in the second game. Ed Rach Slider and Pete Carmona, the "down the middle men" for the Oilers sparked the Oil defense.

Slider gobled up six ground balls at his shortstop position with a boot while Carmona handled eight chances flawlessly. The two collaborated to pull one double play with Carmona assisting in another twinkling.

A home run by Bob Pascal with two outs in the bottom of the 14th inning broke up the first game and gave the Blue Sox an exciting 4-3 decision.

Abilene's win in the first game was the first Sox triumph over the Oilers this season. The Oilers, by winning the second game of last night's bargain bill, now holds four wins in five starts with the Blue Hose.

The first game, scheduled for seven innings, was deadlocked at 2-2 after regulation time.

Neither team scored again until the 11th when the Oilers pushed across a run to go ahead, 3-2. Carmona led off the Oil 11th with a single. He was forced at second by an attempted sacrifice bunt by New Secret but Jack Venable, the Oilers' starting pitcher, singled to keep the rally going. Secret stopping at second.

Red Dial was inserted to run for Secret and he and Venable moved up a base on a wild pitch. Sonny Tims then beat out a slow roller past the pitcher's box. Dial scoring on the play and the Oilers led 3-2.

It looked like the Oilers would win the game here when Venable retired the first two Sox to face him in the lower half of the 11th. But Charlie Goza kept the Blue Sox hopes alive with a booming homerun over the centerfield fence to again tie the score, 3-3.

That was the way it stood until the 14th when Pascal slammed his homer over the right field wall with two away and break up the contest.

The Oilers had threatened seriously in the top of the 14th. Hardaway led with a single and was sacrificed to second by Paul Halter. Fortin walked and when Dick Hairston grounded out down the first base line, Hardaway and Fortin moved up to third and second respectively.

The rally died when Carmona popped out to Goza behind the plate.

Abilene appeared headed for a clean sweep of the twinbill when, after a scoreless battle through four of the nightcap innings, the locals scored twice in the fifth to take a 2-0 lead.

But the Oilers suddenly came alive in the sixth to erase the lead when Fortin hit his three-run homer.

Hardaway led off the Oil 6th with an infield hit and moved to second on a walk to Halter. Then Fortin unloaded his homerun over the leftfield wall and the Oilers went ahead, 3-2, and never to be headed.

Fans In Big Payoff To Abilene Trio

By UNITED PRESS
Action in the West Texas-New Mexico League Monday night was mostly confined to a six-hour doubleheader at Abilene.

The Blue Sox nipped league-leading Pampa 4 to 3 in the 14th inning first game, but the Oilers roared back to win the nightcap 5 to 2.

In the other games Plainview shaded Lubbock 4 to 3 and Albuquerque edged Amarillo 7 to 6.

El Paso at Clovis was postponed because of rain.

Abilene pitcher Ken Wade went all the way the first game maring to win his sixth game against seven losses. The loser was Red Dial who relieved starter Jack Venable for Pampa in the 11th.

Pampa rallied to tie up the opener and then score a run to go ahead in the 11th, but Blue Sox catcher Charley Goza homered to tie it up again. Bob Paschal smashed a game-winning home run to win for Abilene in the 14th.

For their feats the fans passed $40 to Goza, $78 to Paschal and $127 to Wade.

Pampa scored all its runs on home runs to win the second game and hold its league lead. Joe Forten slammed a three-run homer and Curtis Hardaway a two-run blast.

Buddy Woods got the victory for the Oilers while Edd Kapp took the loss.

Three errors lost the game for Lubbock and enabled Jack Carday to pick up the victory. Bob Gay was the loser.

Ted Shandor, Albuquerque southpaw, made it through a three-run Amarillo rally in the ninth and got the victory although giving up 12 hits.

Ken Minkles and Ernie Choukauls had homers for Albuquerque.

The teams continue the series Tuesday night with El Paso at Clovis, Pampa at Abilene, Albuquerque at Amarillo and Plainview at Lubbock.

Perkins went all the way for the Celanese team and allowed only three hits while striking out 15. The big righthander walked six.

Franklin Snow pitched a creditable game for the News but loose play aided by his teammates kept him in trouble through the most part.

Snow allowed seven hits, struck out five and walked four.

Snow's rival pitcher, Perkins, got three of the Celanese hits. Perkins pounded out two doubles and a single.

Celanese went ahead in the second inning with a two-run rally, added two more in the third and one in the fifth.

The lone News run came in the seventh. The News had the bases loaded when Perkins finally retired the side.

Fort Worth jumped from fourth to second place in the Texas League Monday night when the Cats trimmed Beaumont 2 to 1.

But Dallas is six games ahead of the field after Red Murff shut out the Shreveport Sports 9 to 0 for his 17th win of the season.

Tulsa beat Houston 3 to 1 and Oklahoma City nipped San Antonio 2 to 1 in 12 innings.

The teams play the second game of the series Tuesday night with Shreveport at Dallas, Houston at Tulsa, San Antonio at Oklahoma City and Beaumont at Fort Worth.

Joe Landrum showed no traces of the sore arm that sidelined him for a month as he won his second game for the Cats. It was only the 13th complete game of the year for the Fort Worth pitching staff.

Landrum helped win his own game when he scored tie-breaking runs in the eighth. He doubled and came home on George Anderson's single.

The veteran Murff was at his best in his 17th win as he shut out the Sports on four hits for his eighth victory in a row. It was his sixth whitewashing.

Shreveport turned in the defensive gem of the night, however, a triple play in the sixth. With men on first and second, Sports third baseman Jim Ackeret fielded Ozzie Virgil's bouncer on the first hop, stepped on third and fired to second baseman Jack Hollis who relayed to first sacker Les Fleming.

Dallas chased loser Arnie Atkins with a six-run outburst in the fourth.

Earl York, whose homer beat Houston Sunday, did it again Monday night with a game-winning round-tripper to lead off the twelfth. Rookie Marshall Long won his second game.

Long had a great pitching battle with loser Charley Locke, and might have blanked the Padres 1 to 0 but for one fit of wildness.

Al McNellie, another former sore arm, made his first start of the season as the Oilers trimmed the Buffs. Pablo Bernard and Al Jones pushed across the tie-breaking run for the Oilers with a single.

Kaline Leads Baseball Poll

CHICAGO —UP— Hard-hitting young Al Kaline of the Detroit Tigers remained the top vote-getter Tuesday in the annual All-Star baseball poll although he was edged closely by veteran catcher Roy Campanella of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Kaline, a 20-year-old right fielder currently leading both leagues in hitting with .379, held a 1,436-vote margin over Campanella in the latest tabulations. Kaline had collected 112,848 votes to Campanella's 111,412 in the pole to select eight starting players for each league for the All-Star game at Milwaukee July 12.

Baxter Beaten In Finals

DES MOINES, Iowa —UP— Walker Cup star Jimmy Jackson Monday held the championship of the 54-year-old Trans-Mississippi tournament for the second year in a row.

It was the first time in 22 years that a champion successfully defended his title.

Jackson, a Glendale, Mo., bag salesman, trimmed Rex Baxter Jr., a former national junior champion from Amarillo 2-and-1 on rugged Wakonda club course in a repeat of their 1954 final round match at Denver.

Jackson, 32, had his troubles before hauling in the victory. A balky putter hurt as Baxter, current amateur champion of Mexico, rallied on the final 18 holes of the 36-hole final.

CHAMBER DIRECTORS — George Newberry (standing) tells directors of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce about a trip by the Industrial Committee to Stamford during yesterday's noon meeting. 'Texas Friendship' Enroute To Korea

HOUSTON — UP — The freighter "Texas Friendship" was enroute to Korea Tuesday with a $2 million cargo dedicated by Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson.

The "Texas Friendship," renamed from the Sylvia Lykes, is loaded with sewing machines, seed, feed and other commodities and 1,000 head of livestock gathered by the Christian Rural-Overseas Program in Texas.

Wilson, speaking at dockside prior to the ship's sailing, called the shipment "one of the most effective counter-measures to the Communist drive to capture men's minds."

"Voluntary economic assistance contributes more than the material goods involved," Wilson said. "It provides concrete evidence of the principles on which our free society is founded. Free men do spontaneously help each other without thought of profit or reward."

Wilson's words contrasted sharply with dark warnings from Boston-educated Dr. You Chan Yang, Korean ambassador to the United States.

"Our people live in fear of renewed attack by North Korea," Dr. Yang said. "I know they will attack us again and my people sense it."

But Secretary Wilson left no doubt that any new attack would be met with force.

"The Republic of Korea," he said, "is maintaining an army of 20 divisions together with naval, air and marine forces, with a total strength of about 700,000 men. They must continue first of all to provide for their national security. At the same time they are faced with this tremendous rehabilitation task, and with the great problem of improving their economy to support a rapidly growing population."

"It is difficult to estimate the cost to the Korean people of the recent war. The human casualties are incalculable. In cold statistical terms, the number of civilian casualties has been estimated at close to one million."

Wilson said this government's present program for assisting the Korean government in military and economic aid during the past 12 months involved expenditures of $700 million.

VATICAN CITY — UP — Two Roman Catholic prelates expelled from Argentina last week were cheered by crowds Sunday night when they led a church procession through the streets of Rome at the end of the three-day festivities of the sacred heart. Msgr. Manuel Tato and Msgr. Ramon Carlos Novoa rushed to join the parish procession after participating in a solemn ceremony in St. Peter's Basilica.

CC Board To Check New Firm

Directors of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce voted yesterday to proceed with investigations which could result in the location here of a manufacturing plant employing 500 persons, mostly women.

The firm, which has operations in Oklahoma, is seeking to expand. It asks prospective cities to provide building space and for other considerations.

The chamber directors decided to have a committee check into the firm's operations in McAlester, Okla. and possibly visit the home office in New York.

At the noon meeting, the directors also discussed the advisability of bringing the Pampa industrial survey up to date. The last survey was made in 1945.

The directors also heard reports from George Newberry on a trip to Stamford by the Industrial Committee; heard J. B. McGuire's report on the civic club sign project; heard Jim Strawn report on the agricultural committee activities; heard Joe Fischer report on the membership drive and heard Jack Vaughn report on the tourist development program.

JOHNSON IN HOLLYWOOD

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Uncovering Hollywood: There's no stone tablet of rules, engraved with C. B. DeMille's initials, for the off-camera behavior of Charlton Heston during filming of the Biblical spectacular, "The Ten Commandments."

But Heston, who is playing Moses, isn't going to be caught gulping champagne at a movie-town party, doing a rumba at Ciro's or whistling at a Marilyn Monroe calendar.

Heston hooked his finger into the handle of a coffee cup between scenes and said: "Let's go to my dressing room. Mr. DeMille doesn't like me to drink coffee in front of visitors on the set."

He shut the door and said: "Mr. DeMille didn't give me a set of rules when we started the picture. He just said he would be happier if I appeared as little as possible out of context with the role. I took his advice because I agree with him."

Tony Curtis' first movie for his own company will be Irvin Shaw's best seller of some years back, "The Young Lions."

Joan Crawford took 28 pieces of luggage on the honeymoon. There were only 24 the last time.

Mario Lanza read the completed "Serenade" script, gave an "it's great" verdict and says he's ready to start emoting the minute the sets are built. Let's all bet now on whether he'll show up.

THIS IS HOLLYWOOD. Mrs. Jones: Barbara Bel Geddes was called un-sexy by Hollywood studios on her first try and washed movietown out of her hair. Now she's queen of smouldering emotions on Broadway in Tennessee Williams' hit, "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," and is ready for another movie round.

Not in the Script: Marie Wilson's explanation for starring in six weeks of summer stock in "For Love or Money"; "It's for money."

The Witnet: Jeff Morrow says the Italian version of that hit song goes: "What Lollo - brigida wants, Lollo - brigida gets."

Indian Fighter Is Dead At 102

PORTLAND, Conn. — UP — Michael Gallivan, who fought the Indians back in the 1890s, is dead at the age of 102. The oldest veteran in the state, Gallivan died Sunday at his home. His military career began in 1890. After three hitchhikes in the Army, he went looking for gold and adventure in Alaska in 1892. During his Army days, Gallivan served in Texas and South Dakota where Indian fighting was in progress. Born in County Cork, Ireland, he came here when he was 11 years old and enlisted in the Army 18 years later.
