

County Medical Aid Given Man Who Owned Land Outside Gray

An elderly man, since deceased, who was carried on county medical welfare rolls for six months, was actually an owner of a quarter section of land in an adjoining county, County Judge Bruce Parker revealed today.

Investigations conducted by the welfare office said that at the time he was added to the rolls he was not entitled to relief, having been covered during a recheck of county aid records.

Under the policy outlined, applicants authorized for county medical aid prior to March 15 must be reauthorized. Hospital bills will not be paid for any patient not under the care of the county doctor.

Authorization for hospitalization will be made only by the county physician, for in his absence someone designated by him.

Eligibility for county medical care will be authorized by Mrs. Nina Spooemore, county welfare worker, following an investigation of the applicant's circumstances.

The clinic at the Highland General Hospital will be open every day except Wednesday and Sunday from 8:30 a. m. to 9:30 a. m.

County patients will be seen only at the hospital except on emergencies. Parker said a quarterly report of county welfare agencies will be made to the County Commissioners Court at their Monday meeting.

Senate Probers Hit For Stassen Check

Eden Calls First Cabinet Meeting

LONDON — UP — Prime Minister Anthony Eden called his first cabinet meeting Thursday the same ministers who had served Winston Churchill.

Eden stayed away from a swearing-in ceremony at Buckingham Palace apparently because he hopes to make a few cabinet changes before presenting the list officially.

1951, made his new cabinet appointments before going before the queen's privy council for the ceremony. He and his ministers were sworn at the same time.

A spokesman for the office of the lord president of the council said there had been no hitch in the swearing in of Eden. He said it was simply a matter of timing and that Eden apparently was not ready yet.

Annual Pay Talk Begins

UAW, GM Open Full Scale Parley

DETROIT — UP — General Motors meets with the CIO United Auto Workers Union Thursday for the first full-scale talks about the union's demand for a guaranteed annual wage.

Preliminary talks were held last month to clear the way for Thursday's discussions but negotiators dealt only with the agenda of the talks at that time.

The current phase of the negotiations, unprecedented on any large scale in labor history, begins discussions on issues which pose a possible threat to five years of labor peace in the auto industry.

In one way or another the guaranteed annual wage proposal, principal issue in the negotiations for a new contract between the company and the union, could affect the lives of almost every American.

Unless the annual wage demand is striven, the union may call strikes which could idle hundreds of thousands of workers, including many who work for supplier firms.

The talks were scheduled to start at 2:30 p. m. at the Maytag Appliances Co. 4-6311. Joe Hawkins 548 W. Foster. Adv.

Commission Ends 'Year'

The 1953-54 Pampa City Commission met for the last time today.

In a special session, the commission today canvassed the Tuesday city election vote and passed a motion, declaring the results of the election to be official.

There was only one minor change — the total vote in Ward 2 was 60, instead of the 59 reported. The other total votes of 109 (Ward 1), 107 (Ward 3) and 77 (Ward 4) remained the same.

The new Pampa City Commission — Mayor Lynn Boyd and Commissioners Gene Fatherson, Frank Dial, W. B. Neel and W. D. Varner — will be sworn into office Tuesday morning, minutes after outgoing Mayor Tom Rose calls the meeting to order. That will be Mayor Rose's last official act.

It was a casual session today, with City Mgr. Fred Brook not even preparing an agenda. There were a few jokes about some of the commissioners having "heavy" opposition via the write-in route in the election. Then the commission adjourned to a local coffee house for its usual end-of-session cup.

Last Union Vet In Hospital

DULUTH, Minn. — UP — Albert Woolson, 108, last surviving Union Army veteran of the Civil War, was hospitalized early Thursday.

St. Luke's hospital said Woolson was admitted at about 8 a. m. after spending "an uncomfortable night" in his home here. Dr. Charles Bagley, the attending physician, would not comment on the case other than to say Woolson was resting comfortably about two hours later.

Earlier this year Woolson was hospitalized for a week with a lung congestion.

He observed his 108th birthday Feb. 11.

Bank Holdup Believed 'Inside Job'

NEW YORK — UP — The police and FBI checked clues Wednesday pointing to "an inside job" in the biggest bank robbery in U.S. history executed Wednesday with the same cool mastery of the notorious Willie (The Actor) Sutton.

Three folkys robbers, and maybe more, escaped with $365,243 from the Woodside, Queens, branch of the Chase Manhattan Bank.

Armed with a submachinegun, the robbers kidnaped a clerk near his home, called him by his first name, waited for three more persons — including two women — and forced their way into the unguarded, alarmless bank building.

After locking 11 persons in the bank vault the methodical bandits disappeared into a morning subway crowd.

The display of quietly efficient skill was reminiscent of the technique of Sutton, generally acknowledged as one of the most cunning modern bank robbers.

Sutton, now serving 30 years in Attica state prison, N. Y., estimated in his autobiography written in prison that he had stolen more than $2 million from banks and other companies during his 20-year "career."

'Emergency' In Algeria

PARIS — UP — France declared a state of emergency Thursday in Algeria to give Premier Edgar Faure a free hand in wiping out the rebellious "army of Allah" and its campaign of nationalist terror.

The national assembly passed the law a week ago. A decree published Thursday in the official journal put the emergency measures in operation in Algeria, legalizing a part of metropolitan France.

Police Report Two Accidents

An intersection accident Wednesday at the intersection of Finley and Campbell resulted in some $425 worth of damages, according to police records. No one was injured.

A 1951 Buick driven by Robert H. Clemons, 41, of 927 E. Scott, was in collision with a vehicle driven by Isaac E. Parks, 55, of 536 E. Campbell. Parks, damage to whose car was estimated at $200, was given a ticket for running a stop sign.

A 24-year-old Pampa, Delbert W. Hill, who in attempting to avoid hitting another car Wednesday on Alcock, 100 feet west of Wells, hit his breaks and lost control of his car and turned over in a vacant lot. Hill was not injured.

Sen. Bender Charges Group Attempting 'Crucifixion'

WASHINGTON — UP — Sen. George H. Bender charged Thursday that Senate investigators are attempting a "modern crucifixion" of Foreign Aid Director Harold E. Stassen.

The Ohio Republican made the accusation against the Senate Investigating subcommittee which is checking into the handling of a contract by Stassen's agency for U.S.-financed grain elevators in Pakistan. The subcommittee wants to know why the contract was being negotiated with a firm which did not submit the lowest bid.

Bender noted that Stassen told the subcommittee Wednesday he would cancel all bids on the contract and start all over. Bender indicated this should end the matter. He accused the subcommittee of using "headline-hunting tactics" in its hearings.

Subcommittee Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) retorted that Bender "has never protested the hearings to me, in fact, he acquiesced in them."

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. (D-N.C.), a subcommittee member, said Bender had made "unfortunate deductions." Another member, Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-S.D.), pointed out that "no charges have been made against Mr. Stassen up to now that I know of."

Other developments: Sen. Edward J. Thye (R-Minn.) defended the administration's decision to reduce military manpower to 2,850,000 men by mid-1954. He said military leaders questioned about the cutbacks before a Senate Military Appropriations subcommittee have all conceded "when pinned down" that "they could get along" with reduced manpower. Thye said the nation still will have "a very potent military force" despite the cutbacks. Democrats on the subcommittee (See STASSEN, Page 2)

Ex-Con Tells Of Murder

Says Woman Hired Him To Kill Oilman

FORT WORTH — UP — A Fort Worth ex-convict told police Thursday that a woman hired him and two other hoodlums to kill wealthy oilman William F. Clark two years ago.

The ex-convict, Harry Higgins, told police that the woman promised them a "guarantee" of $3,000 if they would rob Clark and kill him during the robbery. He said they agreed and Leroy (Tincy) Eggleston, 44, another former convict, shot Clark as he pleaded for his life.

City Churches Set Pre-Easter Rites

Pre-Easter Services are being held in the various churches in Pampa this week.

Holy Week services are being held in the First Methodist Church each day from 12:15 to 12:35 p. m. Rev. Raymond Dvoss of the Harrah Methodist Church spoke today and Rev. Edwin Hall of the St. Paul Methodist Church will be Friday's speaker. The series of services, which have been held each day this week, is sponsored by the Pampa Council of Churches.

Holy Week services are being held in the Church of the Brethren also this week. Rev. Glenn C. Swinger of McPherson, Kans., is conducting the services each night at 7:30. "Jesus Christ, Then and Now" is the topic for the services.

Candlelight Communion Services will be held tonight at 7:30 in the First Presbyterian Church, according to Rev. Ronald Hubbard. Tomorrow he will conduct Good Friday Services on the Seven Last Words of Christ at 7:30 p. m. Easter Sunday services each night will be held at 8 a. m. and 11 a. m. with the sermon title being "Christ Arose."

Candlelight Communion Services are to be held in the First Christian Church tonight at 7:30. Pre-Easter Prayer Services were held the first three days of the week. A three-hour Good Friday Service will be held in the St. Matthews Episcopal Church tomorrow from 12 p. m. until 3 p. m. It is the annual three hour service featuring several local ministers bringing short meditations on the Seven Last Words of Christ. Speakers will include Rev. Ike OKs Aid For 7 States

'Dust Bowl' Gets $5 Million Fund

WASHINGTON — UP — President Eisenhower allocated $5 million Thursday to help alleviate critical "dust bowl" wind erosion in seven western states.

He authorized the advance from his special disaster relief fund pending congressional action on a $15 million supplemental appropriation request.

The emergency action was taken on advice from the Agriculture Department that 7 million acres of land in the affected states already have been seriously damaged and an additional 20 million acres have insufficient grass or stubble to protect them against severe erosions in the event recent strong winds continue.

A substantial part of the money probably will be used to help farmers pay the cost of emergency tillage — deep plowing to turn the topsoil under so that it doesn't blow away.

Uranium Hunters To Organize Here

An organizational meeting for the formation of a uranium prospecting course is expected to be held in Pampa in the near future.

And there is a good chance an Atomic Energy Commission official from Albuquerque, N. M., will teach one of the classes.

R. B. Brummett, a farmer who lives along the Boger highway, told The Pampa Daily News yesterday he had visited William Soule, assistant head of the Amarillo College vocational department, and that Soule said he expected to be in Pampa in a day or so to help organize a uranium course.

Brummett is the one who told The News a week ago he knew of 80 people or more who would like to have the Amarillo College course given in Pampa. He said W. H. Fitzgerald, course instructor, had told him he would like to begin the Pampa course as soon as he completes the present course in Amarillo.

County Judge Bruce Parker has given his permission for the Pampa organization meeting to be held in one of the courtrooms in the Courthouse, Brummett said. Soule is to make final arrangements for it when he arrives in Pampa.

If plans can be completed soon enough, the Pampa farmer continued, and AEC official from Albuquerque, who will be in Amarillo, to teach a class, will be able to make the trip to Pampa at the same time and give one here, too.

The idea of the Pampa organizational meeting, Brummett said, is for as many as can to be present for it. At that time, those wishing to take the uranium course will sign up and deposit their course fee. And the more who sign up, (See HUNTERS, Page 2)

Paper Strike Ups 'Worker' Readers

LONDON — UP — One of Britain's top labor negotiators speeded at- stopped the presses of Fleet Street which supplies five-sixths of Britain's newspapers.

The government-owned British Broadcasting Corp., which has expanded its own newscasts "for the duration," said the strike has cost publishers $5.6 million so far.

The effect on business has been incalculable. The strike has hit big stores during the Easter rush period. Stage and film theaters reported a drop in box office receipts. Stage shows that opened during the strike were falling flat.

GEORGE BAILEY
... memory expert

Final Knife, Fork Club Speaker Is Memory Expert

A man who possesses one of the most outstanding memories in the United States will be the last Top of Texas Knife and Fork Club speaker of the season.

He is George Bailey, known as the "man with the photographic memory."

Bailey will appear in Pampa the night of April 14 in the high school auditorium following dinner at 7:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria. Aubrey Steele, the new club president, announced today.

Bailey, who attended Bucknell for three years, provides pure escapism, nothing else, Steele said. Bailey says of his Bucknell days that "they did the best they could for me in that time and let it go at that." While his children — he has four of them — were growing up, he gave entertainment programs in the evenings, "mainly for the fun of them, though he never turned down a fat fee when it happened to come upon him."

Eventually he undertook a professional career as a memory expert and a fantastic musician — more as a matter of self protection than anything else, for he found he had been entertaining "on the side" far too much.

He is the seventh Knife and Fork speaker of the season.

Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, Cameron Ralston, Arthur Truett, Fred Rorer, Don Bolt and Harding.

This meeting will be the first which Steele and the new club officers will preside.

1-AAAA Cage Slate Drawn

The 1955-56 District 1-AAAA basketball schedule was drawn yesterday at a meeting of the district coaches at Lubbock.

The district will again be divided into two halves with the winner of each half to vie in a series for the 1-AAAA crown.

Making up the Northern Division will be Pampa, Amarillo, Lubbock and Borger. The Southern half will be made up of Abilene, San Angelo, Odessa and Midland.

Coach Clifton McNeely represented Pampa at the meeting. The harvesters, defending 1-AAAA champions, will open their conference slate at home, Jan. 20, against Lubbock.

The 1-AAAA Northern schedule is as follows:

Jan. 20 — Lubbock at Pampa; Amarillo at Borger.

Jan. 24 — Borger at Lubbock; Pampa at Amarillo.

Jan. 27 — Borger at Pampa; Lubbock at Amarillo.

Feb. 3 — Pampa at Borger; Amarillo at Lubbock.

Feb. 7 — Pampa at Lubbock; Borger at Amarillo.

Feb. 10 — Amarillo at Pampa; Lubbock at Borger.

Requesens Delights Audience

What started out to be an introduction to a new adult education program "Sing Your America" turned into a delightful evening's entertainment featuring folkloric Spanish and Mexican themes.

Jose Requesens, pianist, composer, dancer, and well known night club entertainer from Santa Fe, N. M., played seven numbers of his own composition in a piano recital at the Lovett Memorial Library. His 20-minute "Blue-Green" concerto, Requesens said, recounted his experience as child in Vera Cruz with a hurricane.

Other numbers reflected his international experience in China, India, and his newly adopted homeland, the United States. Requesens seemed to flower as an artist when he delved into the Spanish and Mexican rhythms with which he is so familiar. "Babalu," one of his encore numbers, showed the artistry which has made him one of the most popular night club entertainers in Santa Fe.

Concluding with two "flamenco" dances, one of which was the "Bullfighters Song" Requesens received the hearty appreciation of a small but enthusiastic audience of some 40 people. Requesens, who early started making a living as a dancer, was the male star of the Ballet Russe of Mexico City opposite Nina Shestakova, celebrated prima ballerina at one time associated with the Anna Pavlova ballet.

Requesens was here with his business manager, Don Russell, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Russell, 723 N. Dwight. They are leaving this week end for a concert tour in the east including Chicago and New York.

Nine Pampans At FBI Meeting

Representatives of the local law enforcement agencies and both Pampa banks attended today the one-day Federal Bureau of Investigation conference on bank robbery in Amarillo.

Floyd Innes, president of Citizens Bank and Trust Co., and E. D. Robinson, vice president of the First National Bank, were among the area bankers in attendance. Attending from the Gray County sheriff's office were Rufe Jordan, Buck Haggard and Shirley Nickols.

Chief Jim Connor of the police department attended with Assistant Police Chief J. O. Dumas and Officers D. L. Day and Dan Lewis.

Jordan served on a five-man panel set up to discuss informally a rising increase in bank robbery not only in Texas, but throughout the country.

HUNTERS

Brummett said Soule told him it would cost $5 each if less than 25 signed-up and that it would hardly pay to have the course given if less than 20 signed up. There are 194 enrolled in the Amarillo College course, with 30 more on the waiting list.

The five classes of the course are (1) geology and map reading, (2) mineralogy and uranium minerals, (3) land and leasing and claim staking, (4) instruments and (5) field equipment and evaluations.

The course does not guarantee finding uranium, course officials point out. But that does not discourage Brummett and the more than 50 people he insists are interested.

MURDER

Huggins said the robbery actually netted only about $500, so Eggleston arranged a meeting with the woman and she paid $6,000 more. Eggleston said that wasn't enough, Huggins said, so she gave him two diamond rings.

Police said the rings were pawned in Kansas City, Mo., and they have a copy of the telegraphic money order from Eggleston in Kansas City to Huggins in Fort Worth for his $500 share of the money for the rings.

Authorities also sought two other persons: A former Fort Worth policeman who they said was the contact man between the woman and Eggleston, and a hoodlum associated with Eggleston in the past.

Scouter Trip Plans Set

Final arrangements for the Pampa Boy Scout leaders trip to the Regional Annual Meeting in San Antonio April 14-15 have been completed.

Several planes have been contributed by various companies to carry the delegates to the convention and back. Leaving from Pampa at 9 a.m. April 14 on the Aviation Manufacturing Co. Plane are Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Shelhamer, hosts, Mr. and Mrs. George Koberly, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. Don Cain, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Fatheree, Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Chase, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Boxwell, and E. Roy Smith.

Several planes will leave from Borger with delegations from that area. All planes will return on Saturday morning, April 16, with the exact departure times to be set later.

Others attending the annual meeting from this council but not traveling on the planes are: Hugh Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Murl Hovars and M. K. Brown. That makes a total of 33 delegates from this area.

Meeting On Center Set

A meeting of the incorporators of the Pampa Youth and Community Center, Inc., will be held "probably" next week.

Aaron Sturgeon, president of the organization, said today, the meeting would be held to approve the tentative by-laws and constitution which he and Dist. Atty. Bill Walters, one of the incorporators, have been working on.

Other items on the meeting agenda are the appointment of a new secretary to replace Mrs. Dorothy Station Ponce and the conversion of contribution money into bonds so that it can be earning some interest.

The meeting will probably be held at 5 p.m. some day, Sturgeon said, as that seems to be the easiest time to get all the incorporators together.

The incorporators are presently engaged in looking around for a suitable site for the proposed structure. The slate of incorporators was selected last August. The group was chartered and officers selected in October. Since that time, it has been a question of searching for funds and a building site.

YALTA

Sen. John J. Sparkman (D-Ala.) said he understands the State Department plans to announce it looked the Yalta papers to the New York Times as part of a declassification plan. Published reports Wednesday said Assistant Secretary of State Carl W. The report said the department wanted the full text printed to minimize the possibility of political exploitation.

Sen. Charles McNamara (D-Ill.) said he would introduce legislation to the House to force the State Department to release the Yalta papers to the public.

IT'S THE LAW ★ IN TEXAS ★

"The first thing we do, let's kill all the lawyers..."

Shakespeare puts these words in the mouth of Dick, the butcher, one of Jack Cade's followers, in the play "King Henry the Sixth."

It has been quoted often as an example of the occasional antipathy of the public towards lawyers. However, an examination of the play reveals a rather interesting turn to this quotation.

Jack Cade was a pretender to the throne of England. In the process of inciting his rebellion, he promised the rabble that they would get several halfpenny leaves for a penny, and all three-hooped pots should have ten-hoops, all things should be as common, the laws of England would come from his mouth, and his mouth would be parliament.

Here was the promise of dictatorship, socialism and Communism, all rolled into one, in the time of Shakespeare, and in order to accomplish these results the first thing to be done was to kill all the lawyers, who would naturally oppose any such system.

Upon the pages of history are the names of lawyers whose contribution to our free society was so great that they are beacons by which all men continue to see their inalienable rights shine forth in the darkness of dictatorship and injustice.

One, whose name stands out on the early pages of history as a champion of all men in their striving for equality, was Cicero, Chrysogonus, the political power of Rome, condemned Roscius, so that his property might be confiscated for the benefit of Chrysogonus.

When no one else would defend Roscius for fear of Chrysogonus, Cicero came forward and, with the knowledge that he stood alone against the most powerful figure in Rome, made himself immortal when he refused to temper his argument courageously attacked Chrysogonus, and shamed the court into turning from cowardice to follow the law and set Roscius free.

This was broken the abuse of the powerful in using the courts to deprive men of their liberty, their rights and possessions. Cicero's act is a tradition of the legal profession today.

Look also to Lord Coke, who defied King James when he said the king is under the law, and thus again set the pattern for the supremacy of law for all, high and low alike.

America has had many great lawyers to whom each of us owe, and will continue to owe, a tremendous debt of gratitude, for the privilege of justice as we have it today.

John Adams, one of the leading patriots of Boston, endangered his life and his career by defending the British soldiers involved in the Boston Massacre. He later applied his deep-seated convictions of human rights and freedoms by assisting in the framing of the Declaration of Independence.

Our history books contain many other stirring examples, in the preservation of the individual's rights of freedom, the lawyer's training and tradition compels him to agree with Voltaire when he said, "I disapprove of what you say, but I will defend to the death your right to say it."

Pennsylvania Residents Greet Rep. WASHINGTON —UP— Pennsylvania state Rep. U.S. Investors To Pay Tab For A-Energy

SAN FRANCISCO —UP— A financial expert says American investors will have to supply at least $40 billion to pay for the cost of developing atomic energy in the next 20 years.

This prediction came Tuesday from Gordon R. Molesworth, atomic energy consultant to the New York stock exchange firm of Harris, Upham and Co. He spoke to 500 industrialists and scientists attending the second of a two-day atomic energy conference.

Molesworth said "enormous" financial resources will be needed for atomic power development. Financing of nuclear power facilities alone will require $30 billion, he said.

The great bulk of these funds will be required by electric utility firms, and they will be needed in large blocks of perhaps $50 million each," he said.

Another $20 billion will probably be required for "package" power reactors, for shipboard nuclear propulsion systems, for locomotive and aircraft reactors, he said.

"Beyond that, we have as yet allowed nothing for domestic financing of power reactors and other nuclear facilities for the foreign market," Molesworth said.

"The opportunities abroad will be tough and I, for one, hope that U.S. industry's share of that market will be preponderant. If it is, even more capital will be required and come of it quite soon."

Molesworth said if private investors are unwilling to underwrite the cost of developing the atomic industry, then the government will "take the nuclear ball from private industry and run with it."

JACOBY ON BRIDGE
Don't Berate This Kind Of Bidding

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

There was nothing wrong with the bidding of today's hand even though South failed to make his contract. It was quite normal to get to three no-trump, and South would have made this contract against most defenders.

South didn't want to open the bidding with one no-trump, even though he had balanced distribution and a count of 18 points, because he had a worthless doubleton in diamonds. Most experts will risk bidding no-trump with a weak three-card holding, although they naturally prefer a stopper in each of the four suits, but they avoid opening in no-trump with a weak doubleton.

South's weakness in diamonds was more than compensated, of course, when North bid and rebid.

the suit, it seemed reasonable to suppose that North had at least eight points in high cards, so that the combined deal was enough to yield a good play for game. South therefore jumped to game in no-trump.

West opened the deuce of hearts, and East put up the king. South won with the ace of hearts and led the ten of diamonds, letting it ride for a finesse. Most defenders would take the trick with the queen of diamonds, and the fat would then be in the fire.

When the hand was actually played, the East cards were held by Sidney Lazard, well-known young New Orleans expert. Sidney refused the first diamond trick and thus paved the way for the defeat of the game contract.

South continued with another diamond, as good a play as any he could make, and Lazard won with the queen. Declarer was now out of diamonds and could get to the dummy once with the ace of clubs to set the diamonds up, but he could never get there again to cash the diamonds. South could therefore make only one diamond trick, which gave him a total of only eight tricks.

Declarer would have made his contract if Lazard had won the first diamond. South would win the heart return with the queen and lead his remaining diamond to force out the ace. It would do no good to refuse the second diamond trick, since dummy would win it and would be in a position to lead a third diamond. The defenders would take two hearts and two diamonds, but South would easily take the rest, making the game and rubber.

Big News For GIs In Europe:
Scotch Price Cut To $2.05

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON — UP— What's new in Washington: The Army reports that our boys in uniform in Europe are getting a break. They now can get a bottle of good scotch for $2.05. The price has been cut from $2.90.

Democratic Sen. Bob Kerr of Oklahoma says in his news letter that Republican politicians are moving in on the White House doctor. "They have pronounced Mamie 100 per cent fit," the veteran lawgiver says, "but they hope she develops a 'running' fever."

A lady wrote into the copyright section of the Library of Congress, announcing with great pride that she had a hot idea "based" on facts. But she forgot to send along the idea, whatever. That prompted Vincent Doyle of the copyright office to hold his breath and announce that maybe he could expect an arrative "with juicy details," Ouch! A lot of people frown on puns.

The season is on in the Capitol restaurants. Various states are whooping it up for their products, and making the legislators and the press fat in hope of a plug by mouth or in print.

The Army likes the one about Pvt. Andrew Mouse, whose company is training in the Grunewald forest in Germany. The soldier, from Jay, Okla., is a full-blooded Cherokee and not only that he is an expert at imitating animal calls. The other day Private Mouse cut loose one of his wolf calls and aimed it at a herd of deer. The bucks and does scattered.

Trustees To Run Tribune Newspaper

CHICAGO — UP— The vast newspaper empire headed by the late Col. Robert R. McCormick will be run by trustees and most of his estate will go to charity.

McCormick's will, made late Tuesday, revealed his plans for carrying on the Chicago Tribune and his other holdings, which died Friday at the age of 79.

His will named five new trustees including four of his best friends and a niece, to the McCormick-Patterson trust which controls the Tribune Co. The Tribune Co., a holding organization, owns the Chicago Tribune, the New York Daily News and 13 subsidiary companies in the United States and Canada.

There are three other trustees in the Patterson-McCormick family trust, all of whom are executives of the New York Daily News.

At the time of his death, McCormick was editor and publisher of the Chicago Tribune and was a trustee and large stockholder in the family trust.

Graham Cites World Woes

PRESTWICK, Scotland — UP— American evangelist Billy Graham, scoring doctor's orders, told an overflow international audience Wednesday that the H-bomb and communism are only symptoms of the problems facing the world.

He said the true solution lies in human hearts.

The North Carolina crusader addressed some 5,000 persons from 10 different countries when he visited U.S. airmen at Prestwick airport.

Despite his sore throat, Graham looked fit and preached in a strong voice Tuesday night.

A capacity crowd of 16,500 persons filled Kelvin Hall for the meeting and 449 persons "made their decision for Christ." Altogether 6,075 persons have come forward to be converted so far in the American evangelist's "Tell Scotland" crusade.

When using a paint roller, line the roller paint tray with aluminum foil when using an oil-base paint. This facilitates the cleanup job.

SIR ANTHONY AND FIRST MRS. — In the darkest hours of the war, a death blow fundered their marriage.

Charming Sir Anthony: III

Resignation Put Edén In Spotlight

By TOM A. CULLEN

NEA Special Correspondent
LONDON — (NEA) — American who suspect Sir Anthony Edén exhibits a more than passing interest in American real estate every time he pays a visit to the States are on the right track.

The State of Maryland at one time practically belonged to the Edén family, who used it as a sort of private game preserve.

One of Anthony Edén's direct ancestors was governor of Maryland at the time of the American War of Independence, and lies buried at Annapolis today. Another early Edén pirated American ships off the coast of South Carolina.

Anthony Edén's brother, Sir Timothy Edén, still styles himself as the Baronet of Maryland, a title which he confirmed in the 1954 edition of Burke's Peerage, which lists him as the sixth in line.

It was the suspicion that Anthony Edén was about to cop the Colossus in Rome that led to the present American political feud of modern times: Edén, the Ring-Strut King versus Goliath Mussolini.

Some say that Edén's dislike for Mussolini dated from the time he collapsed on a rug in front of Il Duce's desk. In another version, Mussolini, in one of his more operatic moods, splashed the contents of an ink-pot over one of Edén's favorite suits.

However, the feud started, Edén pulled no punches. It was Edén who got uncles applied against Mussolini during the Italo-Ethiopian war. It was Edén who tried to stop Italian intervention in Spain.

And he did resign from the British cabinet when he discovered that his own prime minister, Neville Chamberlain, was making deals with the Italians behind his back.

Resigning from the Chamberlain government was the smartest thing Edén ever did, next to being born handsome and with money in the family.

It was a bitter cold day in February, 1938, when Edén learned the news of Chamberlain's sell-out. Walking back from No. 10 Downing Street, a shocked Edén locked himself into his office, brewed back a glass of whiskey and began to dictate the letter of resignation which put him on the state politically.

Now that he was out, what would Edén do? Would he upset the government? Would he stump the country against the appeasers? An anxious nation awaited his next move, which was to go off to play wazle in the South of France.

Edén's failure to press the attack against Chamberlain is often cited as an example of his inability to get tough. It foreshadowed a weak-kneed attitude toward the Communist cold war, some say.

However, 18 months later Chamberlain was out, and Churchill was in as prime minister, with Edén as his foreign secretary.

EDÉN IN 1938: An earlier one was governor of Maryland.

World War II made use of Edén's talents as a diplomat to the full. It also brought him personal tragedy, revealing a human side rarely seen by the public.

For some years Edén and his wife had been estranged. Beatrice Edén, who loved to go dancing at Ciro's, made no bones of her dislike of politics. Looking back on it years later she could say, "I was never so bored." But now, during the darkest hours of the war, their marriage was to receive the blow from which it never recovered.

It came in a message from the War Ministry that their son, Simon Edén, was missing in action with the Royal Air Force over Burma. Anthony Edén was scheduled to do an important broadcast a few minutes after receiving the message. He went through with it, departing from the script to console those families who had lost someone in action. Never once did his voice break.

As for Beatrice Edén, she fled to America and never returned. In 1930 Edén got his divorce on grounds of desertion. They had been married 27 years.

Next: The new Anthony Edén.

CORN FLAKE BARS — Mrs. Wayne E. Brown, 414 N. Somerville, places a plate of corn flake bars on the table for her husband and son to sample. If made with light cream, the bars are crisp, and if made with condensed milk, the bars are more chewy, Mrs. Brown advised. (News photo)

This Is My Dish

Mrs. Brown Makes Unique Candy Bars

By JANE KADINCO
Pampa News Women's Editor
Mrs. Wayne E. Brown, 414 N. Somerville, has a delicious recipe for a "different" kind of candy, called corn flake bars. Pampans for about a little more than a year, the Browns originally came from Medicine Lodge, Kans. They have one son, Rocky Wayne, nearly 2 years old. Mr. Brown is a floor hand for Phillips Petroleum Company.

Beef And Cabbage Make Tasty Dish

Here is a savory combination of beef and cabbage that is practically a meal in itself. . . also, it is easy on the budget. If you'd like to make enough for two meals at a time, just double the recipe. . . serve half the first day and re-heat it when needed for another meal.

EVE'S CABBAGE ROLLS
1 large head young cabbage, about 3 pounds
1/2 cup catsup
1/2 cup chili sauce
1 1/2 cups water
3 teaspoons Kitchen Bouquet
1/2 cup brown sugar
1 large onion, sliced
3 pound ground beef chuck
1/2 cup uncooked rice
1 teaspoon salt
1-2 teaspoon pepper
1 egg

Separate 8 outside leaves from cabbage. Cut remaining cabbage into 1-inch slices, discarding core. Pour boiling water over all the cabbage. Let stand covered for 5 minutes, then drain well. Meanwhile measure catsup, chili sauce, 1 cup water, Kitchen Bouquet and brown sugar into Dutch oven or heavy saucepan with tight cover, and bring to boil over moderate heat. Add sliced onion and slices of cabbage. Mix chopped beef with remaining 1/2 cup water, rice, salt, pepper and egg. Roll about 1/4 cup meat mixture into each cabbage leaf, tucking in ends. Fasten with toothpicks if necessary. Place cabbage rolls on top of cabbage slices, cover and simmer until rolls become tender, about 1 hour. Serve 4.

When you wish to give a flair to meat dish flavors, turn to herbs and spices the way a gourmet does. There are two secrets to using herbs and spices, says home economist Reba Saggs: use fresh ones and use them sparingly.

For a beef roast, try a dash of rosemary or thyme. Allspice, poultry seasoning, sage and basil can be mixed into ground meat dishes.

For beef stews, soups and pot-roasts, you can mix several herbs and spices, tie them in a cloth and steep in the liquid while the meat cooks. Before the meat is served, the bag of herbs and spices is removed, but their flavors linger with the meat.

Onions and mustard are "natural" with cured pork. Have you ever added a dash of caraway or celery seed to a pork roast? For spareribs, you could add a little chili powder, marjoram, bay leaf, savory or thyme.

Lamb dishes are successfully flavored by dill, mint, marjoram, rosemary and savory. Curry powder, poultry seasoning, rosemary, sage and thyme enhance the flavor of veal.

Herbs and spices do wonderful things with leftover meats, too. Poultry seasoning, celery seed and sage may be stirred into croquettes. Curry dishes made from cooked meats get their name from the flavoring, curry powder.

Meat Balls And Tomato Sauce

A satisfying ground beef family dish is meat balls in tomato sauce. Tender meat and rice balls, simmered in a savory tomato mixture, are just the thing for cooler days.

Meat balls
1 pound ground beef
1/2 pound ground lean pork
1 clove garlic, minced.
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup uncooked rice
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon sage

SAUCE:
2 cups canned tomatoes (No 303 can)
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 teaspoon chili powder
1/2 cup water
1/2 teaspoon sugar

Have meat ground twice. Combine with remaining ingredients and shape into 35 balls. Brown in a little hot fat. In a large saucepan, bring sauce ingredients to boil; add balls. Cover and simmer over low heat for one hour. Remove balls and thicken sauce, if necessary. Season to taste. Serve balls topped with hot sauce, 4 servings.

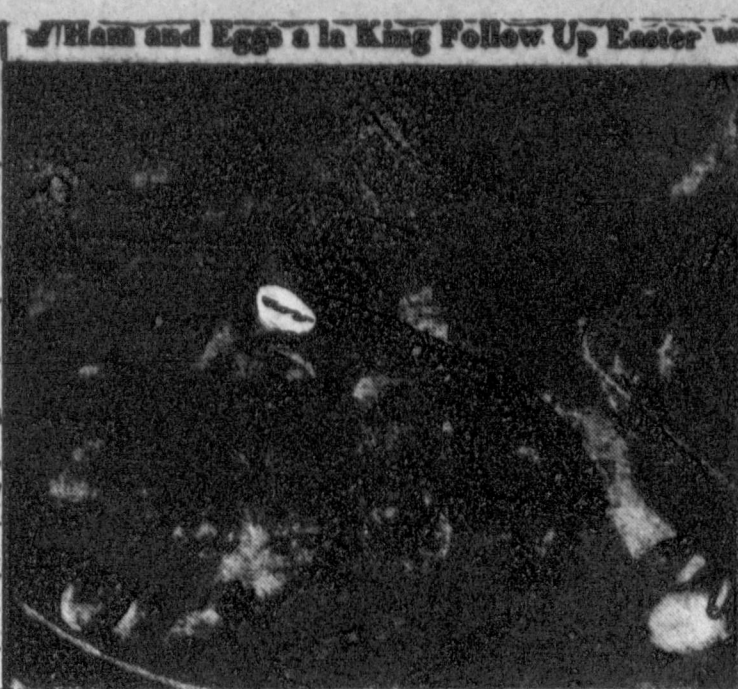

Fried Foods Rated Crisp, Wholesome

Just about everyone likes deep-fat fried foods. When properly fried, these foods are crisp, wholesome and digestible, says home economist Reba Saggs.

Lard is a thrifty shortening to use for deep-fat frying. It can be reused, too, when you take care of it. After you have used it, clarify it with raw potato, if necessary. This is done by cooking a few slices of raw potato in the deep, hot lard. Then strain the lard and store it in the refrigerator.

Temperatures of 350 degrees F to 365 degrees F. are best for frying in deep, hot lard. Use the lower temperatures for cooked foods such as meat croquettes. It's wise to use a deep-fat frying thermometer to be sure the temperature is just right. If the temperature is too low, the food may become fat-soaked. If it is too high, the fat may become too brown. The bread cube test for temperature can be used if you don't have a thermometer. The temperature of the lard is right for frying when a 1-inch cube of bread browns in it in 40 seconds.

Ham and Eggs a la King Follow Up Easter
If you can gather a few Easter eggs (hard-cooked variety) before your off-spring. . . and if any Easter ham remains. . . the next meal will be all set for you. In the form of Ham and Eggs a la King.

Wrap up these two basic ingredients with a real "smoothie" of a sauce, right out of a can of mushroom soup. Dash in some snips of bright pimiento. Heat this lovely-to-taste mixture. Then ladle it over hot buttered waffles. Umm, what a honey of a dish.

Should a few eggs remain even after the a la King, you can put them to savory use in soup. Shred the golden yolks and whites. Sprinkle them an extra tempting garnish on cream of asparagus soup, or chicken, or tomato. The last tidbit of ham will find a happy ending the same way, sprinkled into vegetable soup or chicken noodle, or

SOUP SCOOPS

Bake Macaroni with Ham, Asparagus: For Macaroni that melts in your mouth, fix the canned kind this way: Empty 1 can of macaroni into a greased casserole. Mix in about 1 cup of ham cut in strips or chunks. Also add 1 cup or more of cooked asparagus (canned, frozen or fresh) that's cut in chunks. Top the macaroni with buttered crumbs; or swirl strips of cheese over the top to form a wagon-wheel pattern. Bake casserole at 375° F. for 1/2 hour. Pass the golden-good macaroni along with a big bowl of fruit salad (orange, banana, pineapple). Polish off the treat with hedge-out cake topped with whipped cream.

Ham and Eggs a la King
1 can (1 1/2 cups) condensed cream of mushroom soup (or cream of chicken or celery soup)

Hamburger Tarts Give Exciting Meal

Hamburger tarts are an exciting new ground beef dinner dish which your family will love. There's no need to worry about leftovers, as any extra tarts may be stored in the refrigerator and served cold the next day, either in the lunch-box or for a snack.

Hamburger Tarts
Pastry
2 cups flour

1 teaspoon salt
2-3 cup lard
3 tablespoons cold water
Filling
1 pound ground beef
1/2 cup finely chopped celery
1/2 cup minced onion
2 tablespoons minced green pepper
1/2 teaspoon salt
1-4 teaspoon pepper
1-4 teaspoon thyme
1-2 cup catsup
1 can cream of mushroom soup
1/2 cup milk

rounds and fit into eight muffin tins.
In 2 tablespoons hot fat, cook celery, onion and green pepper for 5 minutes. Push to one side and sear beef. Spoon off excess fat and add seasonings and catsup. Fill pastry cups with meat mixture and fold pastry edges over filling. Bake in a 400 degrees F. oven for 15 to 20 minutes, or until pastry is delicately browned. For a decorative touch, place strips of pimiento to criss-cross on top of each tart before serving. Serve with mushroom soup with the milk. Makes 8 tarts.

For Easter Monday—Ham and Egg Pie

This delicious ham and egg pie, created in the Lower East Kitchen, is a wonderful way to use up leftover Easter ham. The filling is based on a Spicy sauce, attractive and nutritious with dried ham and hard-cooked eggs, and subtly flavored with a variety of seasonings. The golden-brown pastry topping is marked into six generous serving portions and each wedge is decorated with attractive steam vents.

Easter Monday Pie

1 recipe "Water-Whip" Pastry 2 cups milk
4 tablespoons Homogenized Spicy 1/2 cup grated cheese
4 tablespoons flour 1-1/2 cups cooked diced ham
1 teaspoon salt 4 hard-cooked eggs, diced
1/4 teaspoon dry mustard 1 tablespoon horse-radish
1/8 teaspoon paprika

Make pastry and let stand while making sauce. . . . Heat Spicy to soupcon. Add next 4 ingredients and blend. . . . Add milk gradually; stir and cook over low heat until thickened. . . . Add cheese, stir until melted. . . . Add ham, eggs, and horse-radish; heat thoroughly. . . . Roll pastry between two 15" squares of waxed paper into a circle about 1/8" thick and 1" larger than a round 8" baking dish. . . . Pour hot ham mixture into baking dish. . . . Fit pastry over top and seal edge of pie. Mark top into 6 serving portions and in each wedge make decorative steam vents. . . . Bake in a very hot oven (450° F.) 30-35 min. . . . Makes 6 servings.

"Water-Whip" Pastry

1/2 cup less 1 tablespoon Homogenized Spicy 1-1/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
5 tablespoons boiling water 1/8 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon milk

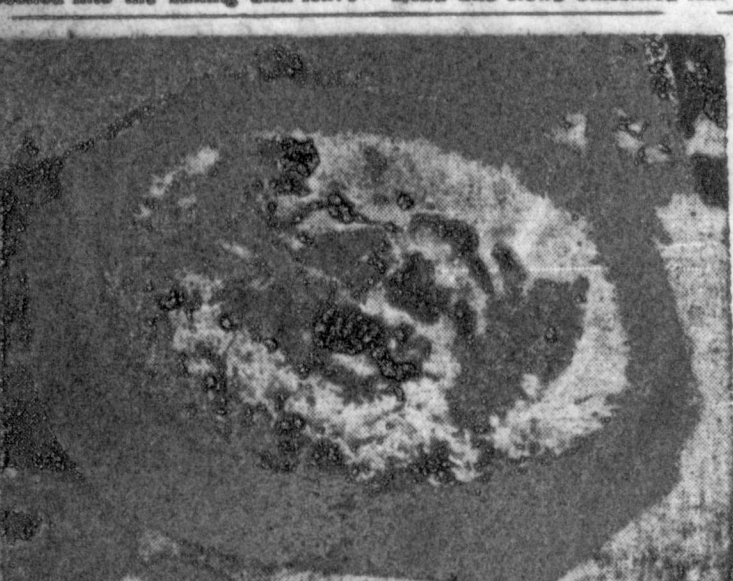

Put Spicy in medium-sized mixing bowl. . . . Add boiling water and milk and break up shortening with fork. . . . Mix bowl and, with rapid cross-the-bowl strokes, whip or beat with fork until mixture is smooth and thick like whipped cream. . . . Sift flour and salt together into Spicy mixture. Stir quickly into a dough that clings together. . . . Pin up and work into a smooth dough; shape into a flat round.

Cherry Dessert Ring With Marshmallow Puff Topping Gives Good Company Dish

The sooner you are, the better you will like making this Cherry Dessert. It's that easy! Better, it's a dessert to make ahead of time and to store in the refrigerator. Just before serving, marshmallows are put over the top of the dessert and a quick stay under the broiler makes them a puffy and luscious golden brown.

INGREDIENTS FOR SAUCE:
1 No. 2 can tart red cherries
1-3 cup beet or cane sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt

METHOD FOR MAKING DESSERT: Put the milk and rice in a 2-quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover and leave over the low heat 45 minutes. Stir once during the cooking. Stir in the egg yolks, salt, sugar and cherries. Beat the egg whites until stiff. Stir in the vanilla. Fold the egg whites into the rice-cherry mixture. Press into a well greased 8-inch mold, loaf pan or other mold. Bake about 30 cups; or spoon into a baking dish. Cover and chill until in the refrigerator until time to serve. To serve, unmold on a heat-proof serving platter, cookie sheet or pan without sides. Arrange the marshmallows around the top of the ring or over the top of the loaf. If the dessert was spooned into the baking dish leave

LENTEN DISH— "Tuna and Rice" make a "quick as a bunny" pre-Easter meal. Made from canned tuna and served over easy-to-prepare rice, it is a natural for meatless meals.

"Tuna and Rice" For Lenten Meal

Chunks of flavorful tuna in a white-onion sauce—served over steaming, fluffy rice! It's "quick as a bunny" to prepare—and, because this main dish fits the bill for meatless meals, it's a natural for Lenten meals. The basic ingredients—tuna and rice—are as up-to-date as today's modern homemakers. For instance, what's more convenient than opening a can of ready-to-use tuna—needing no further preparation? And, for perfect rice, there's the Converted type—processed to cook fluffy and separate by the very simplest method. To serve, pour creamed tuna over fluffy cooked rice. If desired, sprinkle with paprika or garnish with parsley, grated cheese, or chopped olives. Makes six servings.

GETTING SET FOR SEAWAY

Millions will be invested in the Great Lakes area in preparation for the completion of St. Lawrence Seaway, scheduled for 1959. Newsmap spots some of the cities which plan harbor improvements to accommodate the large ocean-going vessels. Erie, Pa., and Manitowoc, Mich., have not yet come up with any specific plans. Federal channel improvements amounting to 109 million dollars are planned on the upper Great Lakes. Inset shows Lake Calumet, Chicago, which is to be made a mooring basin where freight can be transferred to ocean freighters from Mississippi barges coming up through the Des Plaines River and the Cal-Sag channel, which will be widened. It is estimated that when completed the seaway will equal Panama Canal in shipping tonnage.

Soviet Concerned Over Youth Who Fled To West Germany

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Foreign Analyst

The Kremlin is showing great anxiety over the flight of Valery Alexandrovich Lysikov to the freedom of West Berlin.

So far there have been four official Soviet demands for Lysikov's return, each more excited than the one before.

The fourth protest was made by no less a personage than Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov.

Molotov summoned American Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen to his office to protest against Lysikov's "detention."

"The just indignation of the Soviet people has been aroused," Molotov said solemnly.

no mature Russian who, after being stationed in the West, decided not to go home.

Russia had been bolshevized for 20 years when Valery was born. He was reared in a Communist home. His father is a Red fanatic. He was educated in Communist schools, was subjected to incessant Communist propaganda.

Yet Valery disclosed he had listened, in open defiance of his father, to broadcasts from West Germany and London. He and his friends would listen to jazz programs and try to imitate jazz dancing. Valery belonged to a secret anti-Red group, "The Anarchists," in school.

It may be taken for granted that allied propaganda radios beamed behind the Iron Curtain will tell Valery's story to countless thousands of his fellow-Russian boys and girls. And the Kremlin knows it.

Student's Wife Found Shot Dead

NORMAN, Okla., —UP—The wife of a University of Oklahoma student was found shot to death Wednesday in the couple's pre-fab apartment on the south part of the campus.

The body of Mrs. Earl B. Kilpatrick, mother of three children, was found by her husband when he returned home from school at noon. Kilpatrick, a graduate student from Oklahoma City, said his wife had been depressed since birth of a baby two months ago. The couple had two other children, 6 and 8.

Red Charges Are Checked
WASHINGTON —UP—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said Tuesday his department is checking charges by Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) that Edward F. Corsi associated with Communist-front groups. Corsi recently was appointed as Dulles' special adviser on refugee problems. He has denied the charges.

Cop Charged With Beating Newsmen

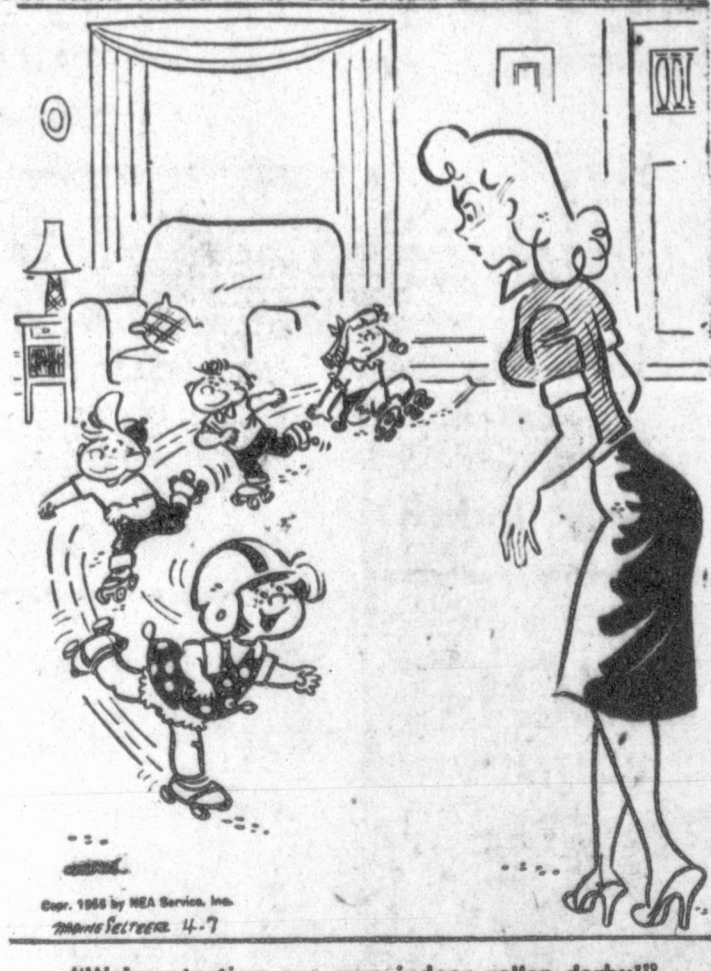

DENVER —UP—A Denver policeman accused of striking and kicking a Denver newspaperman Monday night after stopping him on a traffic violation, began an indefinite suspension Thursday pending a hearing into the charges.

Artis R. Burks was charged with beating Denver Post reporter Nello Casati, while the newspaperman reached for his driver's license in answer to the policeman's demands. Casati said at a preliminary hearing Tuesday that Burks cursed him, struck him twice and kicked him while he lay on the ground.

Police Chief Walter Johnson suspended Burks "indefinitely" and said the suspension would be in effect pending a full hearing before Safety Manager Charles Lowen.

Johnson said a formal report on Casati's charges at the preliminary hearing was being sent to Lowen, who has two days in which to decide if the accusations against Burks warranted a full hearing.

Meanwhile, Robert Inman, Wyoming assistant U.S. attorney, said he would not make an investigation of the beating until the Denver suspension had been completed. He said the case would be taken up in the state when it was decided whether or not Burks might have been charged.

House Committee Okays Gas Tax Hike, Quits For Easter

AUSTIN —UP—The Senate held a solo session Thursday, while House members, already in an Easter recess, had until Monday to feel out the voters on a committee-recommended penny increase on gasoline and cigarettes.

The House Revenue and Taxation committee approved, by voice vote, Wednesday night a measure adding one cent per gallon to state gasoline taxes and a penny-a-pack to the cigarette levy.

But an earlier test vote on the measure, sponsored by Rep. Stanton Stone of Freeport, showed seven of the 13 members present against it, indicating an almost certain fight on the House floor.

Stone Gives Estimates
Stone estimated the gasoline tax increase would yield some $33 million more a year, the cigarette levy hike would bring in another $8,750,000 while approved boosts in license fees on beer and wine retailers and distributors would add an estimated $3.5 million a year.

Stone noted that some $35 million in new revenue, exclusive of highway needs, must be found for the next two fiscal years. Exactly how much must be raised will be decided when a joint House-Senate conference committee works out a final appropriation bill.

Meanwhile, a measure doubling drivers' license fees in the state was approved Wednesday by the Senate and sent to the governor for his signature.

Baker Sponsors Measure
The measure, sponsored by Rep. Robert W. Baker of Houston, was intended to raise enough money to add 100 highway patrolmen the first year to the current 470 in uniform, and show a net increase of 200 by the second year. The new license fees would be boosted from the current $1 to $2 for most drivers, payable every two years, and from $2 to $3 a year for commercial operators and $3 to $4 a year for chauffeurs.

The House passed Wednesday legislation tightening financial requirements for fire and casualty insurance companies. The measure goes back to the Senate now for concurrence in House amendments.

The bill, endorsed by the State Board of Insurance Commissioners, resulted from numerous fire and casualty company failures last

Giles' Trial Is Delayed

SAN ANTONIO —UP—Bascom Giles, former state land commissioner, won't face trial until May 23 on charges he accepted a $35,000 bribe in connection with the sale of Bexar county land to the state while a member of the Veterans Land Board.

His trial originally had been scheduled for next Monday, but he was granted a continuance Wednesday.

Giles' attorney, Clint Small of Austin, argued that Giles had been under investigation since Jan. 1, when he resigned his state post, and that investigative committees of both branches of the legislature and the Department of Public Safety have kept his records tied up.

"Such investigations have jeopardized the rights and liberties of this defendant to such an extent as to demand his constant and undivided attention and haven't permitted him to prepare his defense," Small argued.

The continuance was granted on that appeal. The charges against Giles allege he accepted the $35,000 bribe to boost the price paid for land by the state for resale to 32 veterans.

Twining Says Reds Could Triple Might

By JOHN W. FINNEY
WASHINGTON —UP—Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Air Force chief of staff, said Wednesday the Communists could double or triple their Far East air strength overnight.

Twining, testifying before a Senate Military Appropriations subcommittee, said the armed might of "the whole Communist bloc, particularly their strength in the air, has expanded and improved" in the past year.

He said the Russians are not only building up their own forces but are "contributing to the airpower of Red China."

"This buildup, which includes many jet aircraft, is particularly significant in light of the present tension in the Far East," Twining said.

But the "growing Chinese air force is not the real danger," he said, adding: "A potentially greater danger is their expanding system of air bases. This increased base system gives the Communists the ability to move in aircraft rapidly from the Soviet Union.

"We cannot ignore their capability to double or triple their air strength in the Far East overnight."

Twining appeared before the subcommittee with Air Secretary Harold E. Talbot to defend the Air Force budget for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Mexican Sugar Production Slows
MEXICO CITY —UP—The National Sugar Producers Union reported Wednesday that Mexican sugar production passed the 640,000 ton mark at the end of March. The organization predicted 1953 sugar output would amount to 950,000 tons by next month when the sugar making season ends.

Minnesota farmers will put 5,000 miles of farm drain tile in the ground this year.

Irving School Men Facing Demotions

DALLAS —UP—John Andrews, one of the new trustees of the Irving, Tex., common school district, said Wednesday that Acting Supt. Charles Langston and John Pollen, his assistant, will be demoted.

He said R. H. Copeland and Ira L. Lassater, both former principals in the Irving schools, have been "mentioned" for acting superintendent and assistant acting superintendent, respectively.

The demotions will be the first actions of the new trustees, who were sworn in last Saturday, to undo the actions of the old Irving independent school board.

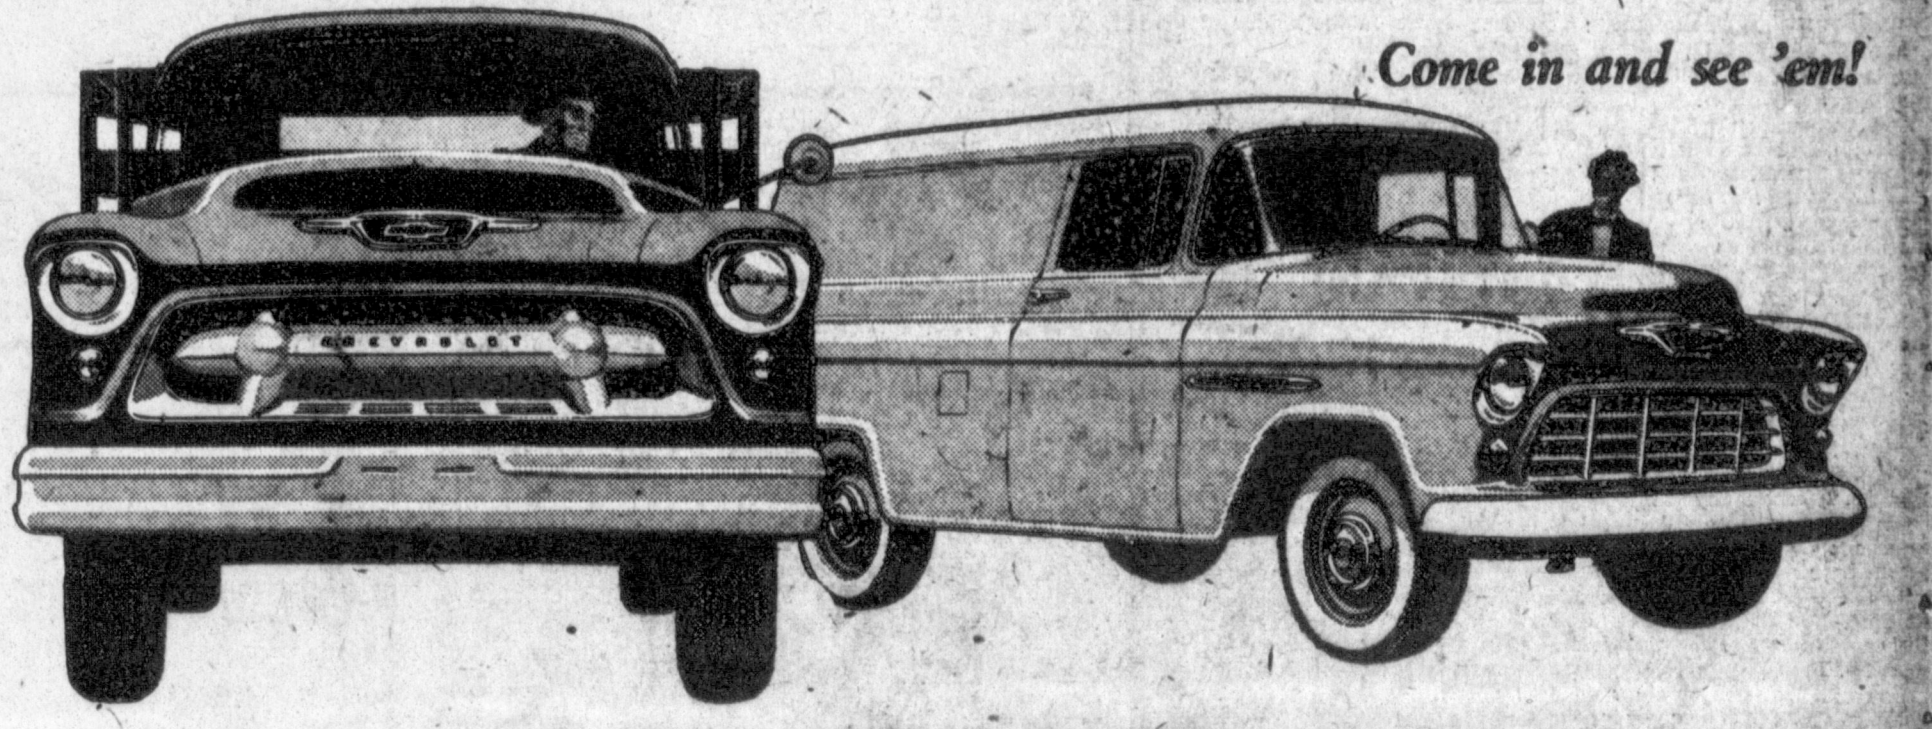

The independent district board, along with the independent district, was abolished March 28 in a special election. The independent board fired Dr. John L. Beard, superintendent of Irving schools, on Feb. 16.

Subsequently, 226 teachers, principals and other employees struck, and the school board fired them. Teaching vacancies were filled with substitutes, whose qualifications are now being surveyed by the trustees.

The House passed Wednesday legislation tightening financial requirements for fire and casualty insurance companies. The measure goes back to the Senate now for concurrence in House amendments.

The bill, endorsed by the State Board of Insurance Commissioners, resulted from numerous fire and casualty company failures last

Paper Says Taylor Next Army Chief

OKLAHOMA CITY —UP—The Washington Bureau of the Daily Oklahoman, Oklahoma City newspaper, said Thursday it has been learned from "official Washington sources" that Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, U.S. Far East commander, will become army chief of staff when Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's term expires this summer.

The 53-year-old career officer only last week assumed command of U.S. and United Nations forces in the Far East, relieving retiring Gen. John E. Hall.

Taylor's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John E. M. Taylor, who live at Oklahoma City, said they had received no word of the promotion. The Daily Oklahoman article said it had been "commonly believed" that Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, supreme allied commander in Europe, would succeed Ridgway.

Ridgway is being forced to retire under Army regulations which state officers must retire at 60 if they have had 35 years of service and have spent five years in the same grade.

Ridgway, who was 60 last March, was allowed to hold his commission only after he was granted two exceptions to the retirement rule.

Taylor, the country's youngest four-star general, served as artillery commander of the 82nd Airborne Division and commander of the 101st Airborne Division in World War II. He has been Eighth Army commander in Korea the past two years.

He was commissioned at West Point in 1922, where he was fourth in his graduating class. He speaks eight languages.

"Just think—some day you'll look back and laugh at all the cute tricks I pull!"

Rayburn Praises Winston Churchill

BONHAM, Tex. —UP—Sam Rayburn, speaker of the U.S. House, Thursday described Winston Churchill as a "strong factor for real world democracy."

He said the retiring Great Britain prime minister is "one of the greatest statesmen of the times. He contributed much to his time and age and was a strong factor for real world democracy. He was a man of great courage and education."

Legion Meeting Called For Friday

The Pampa post of the American Legion will meet at 8 p.m. Friday in the Legion Hall for a "really important" meeting.

Bill Thompson, post commander, today called the meeting and said that plans would be made for the visit next week of Paul Stillman, commander of the Legion district.

Stillman will be in Pampa Wednesday night, Thompson said.

Murder Suspect May Get Lie Test

HEMPSTEAD, Tex. —UP—Mrs. Betty Bushey Morris, under a murder charge in the cat-jump death of her husband, a former Waco assistant district attorney, may be given a lie detector test.

Waller County Sheriff A. S. Fletcher said Mrs. Morris, 29, who was arrested Tuesday in Beaumont, agreed to take the test with the approval of her attorney, Joe Goodwin, Beaumont.

Fletcher said the test would be given either in Houston or Austin. The test could be delayed Thursday by an examining trial on the murder complaint filed by County Attorney C. W. Kartisch. Kartisch said he would ask Peace Justice A. M. Wallingford for an examining trial.

Mrs. Morris' husband, James R. Morris, died Sunday night in a plunge from a car driven by Mrs. Morris near Navasota. She said he jumped from the car.

AEC Seeks A-Test Cans

LAS VEGAS, Nev. —UP—The Atomic Energy Commission Thursday warned authorities between Las Vegas and Kingman, Ariz., to be on the lookout for seven canisters which floated through the blast area of the 10th shot of the current nuclear series on the Nevada proving grounds.

Spokesmen said the seven missing canisters were among "at least" 11 others which were dropped Wednesday to record effects of what was believed to be the first self-propelled air-to-air atomic missile designed to knock enemy aircraft out of the skies.

The canisters were suspended from parachutes, the AEC said, and contained "simple recording equipment." Based on scientific calculations, the canisters were exposed to between one and two roentgens of radiation but the amount would decrease about 50 per cent in 24 hours.

Second AF To Take Over Carswell Field

FORT WORTH —UP— Officials confirmed Thursday the Second Air Force will take over Carswell Air Force Base about July, after Eighth Air Force headquarters are moved from Carswell to Westover Field at Chicopee Falls, Mass.

A story to that effect in the Fort Worth Press, a Scripps-Howard newspaper, was confirmed by Maj. Gen. John B. Montgomery.

The Press had quoted an unidentified military spokesman as saying that the Second Air Force will command the Second Air Force that takes over Carswell. There are no plans to relocate Armstrong's Second Air Force Command headquarters, Montgomery said. Several air bases in south-east portions of the United States and in Puerto Rico are included in the command.

4 Fireballs Spotted In New Mexico

ALAMAGORDO, N.M. —UP— Four mysterious "fireball" objects fell from the sky in southern New Mexico Wednesday and state scientists were trying to find out Thursday just what they were.

Dr. Lincoln la Paz, director of the University of New Mexico's Institute of Meteoritics, said none of the four "fireballs" were meteorites.

He said a meteorite fall seldom spreads itself more than 10 miles. He said chances of two falls in the same area about the same time were very small.

The fourth of the "fireball" fell near Alamogordo late Wednesday. Earlier, Hobbs residents reported seeing a dark ball with a blue tail fall near Hobbs, not far from the Texas-New Mexico line. Earlier reports told of a green fireball in the Roswell area and another one near Lordsburg in the far southwestern corner of the state.

Authorities at the White Sands Proving Grounds and Holloman Air Force Base said they had discharged no rockets within the two hours and the time the "fireball" were reported. Meanwhile, Dr. la Paz and other university scientists were searching for the true identities of the objects from space.

Tributes For Churchill Pouring In

LONDON —UP— Ringing tributes poured in on Winston Churchill Wednesday in a demonstration of world homage unparalleled since the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Churchill's retirement as the British prime minister was front-page news throughout the free world except in London itself where the presses have been stilled by a newspaper strike.

Behind the Iron Curtain the Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda devoted only two paragraphs at the top right hand column of Page 3 to the news.

There was no comment.

There were tributes from friends. President Eisenhower said "out of your great experience, your great wisdom and your great courage, the free world yet has much to gain."

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles called Churchill "one of the great men of history."

There were tributes from leaders of former enemy nations.

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said "it is one of Sir Winston's great achievements that the western world lives in freedom."

Political opponents also spoke kindly.

Former Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison, deputy leader of the Labor party, said "I have fought him and he has fought me with great vigor but it has not been possible for me to have other than a high regard for this great national figure with his long and varied political career."

Not all the comment was friendly.

The Paris Communist newspaper L'Humanite carried a grim caricature of Sir Winston with the caption "forced by age, Winston Churchill resigns."

In Dublin the Irish Press, former Prime Minister Eamon de Valera's newspaper, said "his long day of power was tragic from Ireland's point of view. He knew the truth and he acted against it."

Moose Elect New Officers

B. B. Bearden is the new governor of the Pampa Moose Lodge. His election, along with that of other officers, came Tuesday night at a meeting of the lodge membership.

Other new officers and their posts are J. S. McBride, junior governor; Harold DeVore, prelate; Ed Gething, trustee; and Earl Miller, treasurer.

Holdover officers are W. C. Brown, trustee; George McClure, trustee; and Ray H. Miller, secretary.

Refreshments were served.

A hammer dent can be removed from wood by applying water to the dented portion. The water expands the wood and the dent will vanish.

35 Abilene Men On Trip To Kansas

ABILENE, Tex. —UP— Thirty-five business leaders from this West Texas town left at daybreak Thursday aboard 14 airplanes for a visit to Abilene, Kan.

The Texans were planning to tour the Kansas city for which Abilene, Tex., was named in 1881 and which is the birthplace of President Eisenhower. During the visit, they said they planned to seek information about the Kansas industrialization program, and would visit Eisenhower's home and museum.

The Abilene, Kan., Chamber of Commerce will be host to the Texans, who planned to return home Thursday night. Accompanying them will be Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Phillips, named "typical couple" of the Kansas town. They will be honor guests in Texas until Sunday afternoon. A special plane will then fly the couple back to Kansas.

Thursday's trip is part of the industrial week activities of the Abilene, Tex., chamber of commerce.

Early day cattlemen who had driven cattle up the Chisholm trail to the railroad in Kansas liked the city there and chose the name for the Texas town.

Mayor C. E. Gattin and Andrew B. Shelton, president of the chamber of the commerce, head the Texas delegation.

Miss Wanda Hill Feted At Shower

Miss Wanda Hill, bride-elect of Ray Smith, was complimented with a miscellaneous shower recently in the home of Mrs. Jim Parks, 1000 S. Christy. Co-hostesses with Mrs. Parks were Mmes. J. L. Romines, O. E. Hest, Essie Romines, Lloyd Summers and W. L. Morris.

The honoree was presented a corsage of blue carnations. The bride-elect's mother, Mrs. R. P. Hill, and the mother of the prospective bridegroom, Mrs. Lonnie J. Smith, were given corsages of white carnations.

Guests were registered by Mrs. Morris. Mrs. Summers served the cake and Mrs. Parks presided at the punch bowl. Refreshments of cake, decorated with blue and white bells and hearts, and lime sherbet punch were served.

The serving table was covered with a lace cloth. The centerpiece was an arrangement of blue and white daisies, over which was placed an "umbrella" fashioned from pipe cleaners and blue tulle, across which was strung a banner with "May 14" on it. Attached to the umbrella were blue hearts fashioned from tulle and pipe cleaners, with banners reading "Wanda and Ray." Flanking the centerpiece were blue tapers in silver holders.

CHOCOLATE IS A FAVORITE of almost everyone . . . children and adults. Here is the fascinating story of chocolate . . . how it was first discovered, how it was brought to Europe, and how it was and still is processed. After reading about it, you may appreciate it more since there is so much involved in getting it from the tree to your table.

"CACAO, FOOD OF THE GODS" is the literal translation from the Greek of "Theobroma Cacao," the botanical name of the cacao bean. The Indians in Mexico believed that the cacao tree was of divine origin. A legend, handed down from generation to generation, says that the Aztec God of Agriculture received the seed from Paradise.

For possibly 2,000 years extracting "chocolate" from the cacao bean remained the secret of the Aztec Indians, before Hernando Cortez arrived in Mexico in 1519 and learned how the delicious new beverage was prepared. The Aztecs valued the beans highly, not only as a food — to repair strength and produce vigor — but for many centuries as an official medium of exchange.

On his return to the Court of Spain in 1528, Cortez brought with him his new discovery. This was the beginning of the introduction of chocolate into Europe . . . the gift of the New World to the Old.

For many years the Spaniards kept the secret of chocolate, before it finally spread to all of Europe. As early as 1657 the drink was introduced in England. In the eighteenth century Chocolate Houses sprang up in many cities, and the beverage became a popular as well as fashionable drink.

BECOMING INCREASINGLY popular over the years, chocolate is now considered one of America's very favorite flavors. According to Paul S. Willis, President of Grocery Manufacturers of America, the United States is the largest consumer of cocoa beans, using over one-third of the world's crop, and U. S. consumption in 1951 was estimated at 603 million pounds. The cacao tree thrives only in tropical climates and, under normal conditions, reaches a height of 12 to 15 feet — sometimes 30 to 40 feet. The leaves are always green, regardless of the season, often hiding the myriad of small pinky-red flowers which are succeeded by the pods.

The long, melon-shaped pods . . . resembling bright orange, red, yellow and green lanterns . . . hang from the branches and grow out of the tree trunk. Each pod is filled with 40 to 50 chocolate seeds, called berries or beans. These are scooped out by the natives and put through a curing process which changes the beans from a whitish pulp color to brown. Then they are spread in the sun to dry, or taken to drying houses, and bagged for shipment. These are the first steps chocolate takes along the Life Line . . . the line of essential processes from the field to the family table.

Roasting of the cacao bean must be handled with great care in order to develop the food value and flavor of the finished chocolate. Besides sterilizing, the roasting operation keeps the outer shell of each bean brittle for easy removal. After shelling, the remaining "nibs" are put through the grinder, producing a thick dark fluid paste called "chocolate liquor," commonly known as unsweetened chocolate. This chocolate liquor is the base for a great variety of other chocolate products.

BLENDING is another important step. The beans may be blended before or after roasting, or the finished "liquor" may be blended. Always the quality of the chocolate depends upon choice and blending of the beans. A final operation called "conching" kneads the mixture into the fine velvety smoothness we always associate with chocolate.

Jack Webb And George Gobel Most Popular TV Personalities

By ALINE MOSBEZ
HOLLYWOOD — UP — Emmys and Oscars notwithstanding, the popularity award in Hollywood according to the postman's mail bag goes to television stars George Gobel and Jack Webb.
This information was spirited out of Hollywood's only fan mail answering service, headed by an executive named Claire Rochelle. She takes care of the fan mail of nearly every big movie star from Elizabeth Taylor to Lana Turner, and recently she took over many TV stars and programs, too.
She can judge the ups and downs of the stars from the size of the mail sacks that come to her office. Currently the postman rings the most for prize comedian Gobel and Webb, the hero of "Dragnet". The two Hollywood programs that draw the most letters are "Private Secretary" and "My Little Margie".
"I remember a few years ago a TV executive said he didn't think TV would pull fan mail because people see the star so often in their living rooms," said Miss Rochelle.
"But TV pulls as much and in some cases more than movie stars. The mail Webb and Gobel get is phenomenal."
It is one of the sad truths of this magic city, but the letters fans write to most stars wind up, not at their mansions, but at Miss Rochelle's unassuming office on Sunset Blvd. And the letter-openers are not the stars but Miss Rochelle and her staff of 23 workers.

Requests for photos and routine mail are handled on an assembly line. But Miss Rochelle insists "any letter that requires personal attention or an answer is sent to the star." Letters of criticism are often shipped to the network's publicity department or the writers of the show.
Each month a customer gets a report of how many letters he got, what percentage was favorable and how many letters asked the star to please disappear from the TV screen.
"Gobel receives many jokes that people hope he'll use," said Miss Rochelle. "A lot of fans sent in story synopses and songs."
"Recently," she added, sifting through stacks of letters, "Gobel used a joke on his show: Send, 25 cents and any old box top. Well, we're still getting cartons of box tops. We send the money to the March of Dimes."
Miss Rochelle started her unique business seven years ago with a tiny office and one client, Howard Duff. Now she has five secretaries and more than 250 film and TV stars as customers.
"Fan mail is a good barometer for TV," she said. "Once a show was threatened with cancellation but when the sponsor saw our mail report he signed for another season."
THERE'S MOVIE interest in the life story of Edith Piaf, the French singer who stars in a Continental Revue opening Monday at the Baltimore theater here.
Marie Wilson's ex, Alan Nelson, and Fern D'Orsay are an item. . . . Lori Nelson will be a bridesmaid at Debbie Reynolds' June hitching to Eddie Fisher. Lori gets her best career break in Warners' "The Jagged Edge."
Joan Evans' coming stork date hasn't noticeably healed the breach between her husband, Kirby Weatherly, and her parents, Katherine Albert and Dale Emsen. The bitterness lingers on.
Anne Francis has been incommunicado to the press since she filed for divorce from Bam Price. This split is a genuine puzzler. She played nurse to him for months during an illness that almost took his life less than a year ago.
SHORT TAKES: Bob Preston's first movie in three years will be "Last Frontier" at Columbia. . . . Ann Corio, the stripper, and Bob Williams, owner of the famed act-

Nixon Praises Ex-UP President

WASHINGTON — UP — Vice President Richard M. Nixon Wednesday publicly congratulated Hugh Baillie, who advanced from president to board chairman of the United Press, on a "magnificent job."
Nixon in a statement also expressed "best wishes" to Frank Bartholomew, another Californian, on succeeding to his "highly responsible post."
American Habits Dwinding
CHICAGO — UP — Americans are drinking, smoking and gambling less, the Commerce Clearing House, which compiles federal tax figures, reported Tuesday. It said taxes on alcohol, tobacco and wagering were all down in the last six months of 1954, compared with the same period of 1953.

JOHNSON IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Behind the Screen: I've been hearing again about those naughty Italian movie makers. This time from Rhonda Fleming.
Tsk! Tsk! Such goings on.
The girls' magazines are full of Italian movie cuties bustin' out of low cut gowns but I have Rhonda's word for it that in one scene of an Italian film she just made 50 Roman cuties had no gowns to bust out of because:
The girls were only smiles from the waist up!
The movie is a Biblical epic titled "Simeramis." But the sequence with the 50 dolls playing peekaboo with the camera will be seen only in Egypt and Turkey, where, it seems, movie fans worry more about spicy-celluloid than about butter on their popcorn.
"Even though I wasn't in the sequence," says Rhonda, "I was worried about my reputation because I'm the star of the picture. I even protested to the producer and my agent. But everyone assured me the sequence will not be shown anywhere else."
Aside to travel bureaus: Stand by for a ticket-buying rush to Egypt and Turkey.

Sneak preview audiences are gasping over a "new" Grace Kelly in "To Catch a Thief." She plays a thrill-seeking American girl on the prowl in Cannes, proving her versatility with a capital V. But there's no look of surprise on the face of Director Alfred Hitchcock, who has all-ways claimed:
"She'll be different in every movie she makes. Not because of make-up or clothes but because she plays a character from the inside out. There's no one else like her in Hollywood."

THE MARQUEE
BY DICK KLEINER

The Record Shop: Stan Freberg's rather naughty record, "John and Marsha," is revived in Alec Guinness' new picture, "To Paris With Love." Most stations banned the song, but it's used in the film. Which should prove that radio is a tougher censor than the movies. (It should also bring a big revival of the record).
Anybody who questions the accuracy of the statement, "Opportunity knocks but once," is advised to keep a close eye and ear on the further adventures of Bernice Parks. The lovely Coral records thrush had one solid knock on her door. Due to circumstances beyond her control (namely, double pneumonia) she was unable to answer. And now she's waiting patiently for another chance.
It happened 11 years ago. Miss Parks had come down from Boston, where she'd been a ballerina with the Boston Opera. Somehow, she became interested in singing. It turned out to be a lucky somehow.
"Good breaks came fast," she says, "I signed at the Copas for two weeks, stayed three months. Then I doubled at the Paramount for four weeks. I was getting offers right and left. I had three picture offers and went to Hollywood. I sang at Ciro's — and after three days I collapsed."
She was sick eight months, and out of show business for two years. It's never easy to come back, especially when she was coming back from being only a budding star.
Bernice's records have always sold well, never great. She's known as a "singer's singer," and you'll find her records in the private collections of most of her competitors. She's had some tough breaks in the matter of just missing big songs, a common complaint in the record business.
"Once," she says, "I was all set to record a certain song, but the arranger couldn't get it the way he wanted. So we switched to something else. The 'one I didn't make turned out to be 'You, You, You' pooch. 'Red,' have called off divorce plans and will try again. . . . A big screen version of "Make Room for Daddy," starring Danny Thomas, is about to be announced.

Truck Driver Union Plans Plush Building

WASHINGTON — UP — A truck drivers' union is putting up an office building near Capitol Hill that rivals the government's own marble palaces in architectural splendor.
The multi-million dollar structure built of the same white marble as the Supreme Court and Federal Reserve buildings — is being financed by the dues of 1.3 million truck drivers and warehouse workers who make up the giant International Brotherhood of Teamsters (AFL).
When it is completed, sometime this spring, it will provide a sumptuous headquarters for Teamsters President Dave Beck, a former laundry truck driver who has worked his way up to one of the most powerful posts in organized labor, and other national officers of the union.
The building is equipped with a penthouse, a private cinemascope theater, a two-level garage. Its interior will be finished in imported marble and mosaic tile, paneling of walnut, mahogany and oak.
The building also boasts a series of three conference rooms, the largest of which has a concealed bar. There are several executive suits, each with its own parlor-bedroom, tiled bath and pullman kitchen.
A union pamphlet refers to the entrance lobby as "monumental," and so it is. The entire front wall

Freedom Of The Press

On occasion we find ourselves the target of criticism because we are always "attacking the government." Even some of our best friends suggest from time to time that we should be "for" the government when we find it doing something "constructive."

We should like to delve into the history of the American press for purposes of establishing clearly the heritage we are attempting to uphold.

The advent of the daily news sheet on the American scene occurred about the same time American editors were thoroughly and completely aware of those dangers that exist implicitly in all forms of government.

In those formative years, nearly without exception, the "free and untrammelled" press tacitly summed up its editorial policy thusly:

- 1. The government, be it local or national, is an instrument of force.
2. No business or private person can make use of aggressive force. Every business and every person is at the mercy of the government as it uses force.
3. The power of the government is so great that it is capable of telling its own story, i. e., pro-government propaganda has always been supplied in great abundance throughout all of history.

4. Therefore, the free and untrammelled press set itself up as the vigilant arm of a people who proposed to remain free. The press determined that it would not be a booster for any kind of government. It might conceivably praise some independent action of some government employee. But it would man the walls of the people's liberty against the encroachment occasioned by government force and coercion.

Government within itself has always had ample avenues for corruption, malfeasance, negligence and high-handed dictatorship so that a watchdog is definitely needed. The government cannot be trusted to be the watchdog over itself, since any such pretense is usually a political dodge for throwing one batch of politicians out so that another batch of politicians can get in.

The press, then, became the stalwart defender of American independence and liberty. This position of the press was upheld, with a few notable exceptions until about twenty-three years ago. Then, under the economic pressure of a depression, and the advent of the socialist theory into high government offices, the most outspoken of the nation's dailies began to weaken in their editorial policies. Instead of remaining critical of the government, which was their natural tendency and, indeed, their duty, they began to extoll the virtues of the men in power.

More and more the press became merely an extension of the government propaganda organs. A great percentage of the "news" reported was merely a reshuffle of government news releases. More and more the newspapers became dependent upon government services and governmental slants. Until today, there are many papers across the country which consider opposition to the clique in power as parallel to treason.

At this point certain questions could be asked. 1. Has there been any convincing evidence that government in the 20th century is less corrupt than it was in the 18th or 19th centuries?

2. If governments tend toward corruption, is there any reason why the American people should trust their government, particularly in the task of revealing its own shortcomings?

3. If the government cannot be trusted to reveal its own weaknesses and shortcomings, how are these failures going to be learned by the people?

4. Is there any agency in America better qualified to hold the activities of all types of government under the merciless glare of publicity than the daily newspapers?

5. If there is no other agency better qualified, why, then, should the daily newspapers take the part of government and uphold it?

6. Is not freedom of the press best expressed by the policy of revealing to the people, the true facts of government?

7. Is not the freedom of the people dependent in large measure upon an uncontrolled press which can and will report the facts in government and brave the consequences?

The self-evident answers to these questions point up the reason for the News' editorial policy regarding government. Of course, we will not praise government per se, although we may praise certain men in government. We are the eye of the "loyal opposition" delving into every governmental mistake, and laying it bare before the public. Why should we support the government in our editorial policies? The government takes from us our money, and limits and controls to a greater or lesser degree most production and distribution without our permission or consent.

Every now and then these pages will come out against some man or group of men in power. It is easy, then, for the uninformed to assume that we must favor that man or those groups of men who also, at that particular time, are in opposition to this same man or group. But this is not the case.

We hold our loyalty to this country and to the people of this country. We conceive it to be above the temporal sway of political advantage. We feel no sense of loyalty to any political party of any person elected or appointed to political office. We cannot favor any government when it initiates force against the individual.

We favor human liberty, the right of a man to be independent and self-determining; controlling himself by his own moral, ethical and spiritual compulsions, and not by mass regimentation, however benignly it might be administered.

We shall continue to oppose the men in power, not because we do not like them personally, but because we believe in Lord Acton's famous maxim: "All power corrupts. Absolute power corrupts absolutely."

BETTER JOBS

UN War On U.S. Business

Most of the believers in the United Nations do not realize how similar it is to the communism in Russia. I did not realize this until I read an article in the March issue of U. S. A. by the editor, Alice Widener. Here is what she reports: "Whether he knows it or not, every American business man is involved in United Nations economic affairs up to his neck and down to the lining of his pocket. For self-preservation, he has got to get the hang of complex U. N. economic plans and deals. They are mostly Marxist and are aimed at the destruction of American free enterprise."

"As a first move in thwarting U. N. action against capitalism, business men must learn to recognize the specific Socialist directives that are now being carried out by the United Nations. They were best explained by Joseph Stalin who declared long before World War II: "1. We must work for the disorganization and destruction of capitalism."

"2. The amalgamation and collaboration of nations within a single world system of economy constitutes the material basis for the victory of socialism."

"3. We must fight for control over the direct reserves of capital held by the middle classes of the independent nations, and for the most deep-seated reserves of capital in the colonial and non-sovereign nations."

"4. It is essential that the advanced countries should render real and prolonged aid to the backward nations in their cultural and economic development. Unless such aid is forthcoming it will be impossible to bring the various nations and peoples within a single world economic system which is so essential for the final triumph of socialism."

"It remains for us to give a positive solution of the national problem. The only real solution is regional autonomy which does not divide people according to nation; on the contrary, it only serves to break down national partitions and unite the population in such a manner as to open the way for division according to class. The aim must be to unite the workers of all nationalities into united and integral bodies in the various localities, and then to unite these collective bodies into a single party in a world dictatorship of the proletariat. Only thus can the whole of society be fully democratized. As long as the power of capital exists there can be no equality of nations."

The Basic Lesson "In the foregoing five points lies the whole of Marxism as it is practiced anywhere today - in Moscow, London, Peking, Santiago, San Jose, Washington, D. C. and in the United Nations."

"Anyone who takes the trouble to study the Socialist five-point program must recognize that the U. N. plan to raise the level of the underdeveloped countries to that of the advanced nations mostly through expenditure of government funds will ensure the creation of a single world economic system which is essential for the final victory of Marxism."

Big U.N. Step To The East "Only last month that victory was made more likely through the issuance of U. N. regional economic reports that hit American business with a ton of U. N.-manufactured bricks."

"On February 23, 1955, the Wall Street Journal reported from Geneva, Switzerland, that the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe had distributed to member governments a working paper, deceptively titled 'The Price of Oil in Western Europe,' which deals with underdeveloped Middle East nations, and which characterizes American oil concerns as owned and operated by monopolists who fix prices to gain extortionate profits."

"This U. N. Economic Commission for Europe paper is being sensationally publicized in England, Switzerland, Holland and France. According to the Wall Street Journal, the Italian News Agency was debating whether to file the story; there was fear of feeding ammunition to the Communists."

"The Journal stated: 'The (ECE) report did not endorse any specific program to cure the alleged abuses, but it did indicate a need for action in the direction of international governmental control. Diplomats comment this is the type of program normally suggested by the ECE Secretariat which is headed by a Swedish Socialist, Gunnar Myrdal, who, while he was still in domestic politics, led Sweden into its first big postwar trade with Russia.'

"On February 24, the Wall Street Journal carried the front page headline 'Global Group Aids Oil Price Regulation to Set Right Rate' and the subhead 'Dull Document Packs a Punch' to continue the tale about the U. N. regional economic agency's 'potential political wallop' at United States oil interests."

Political Price Fixing "Stripped of its complexities, the ECE report calls for international price-fixing of crude oil and refined products according to Marxist policies instead of free enterprise economics. In such a program, the biggest sufferer would be the United States - as the London Financial Times (London) pointed out."

Synthetic Food Substitutes Have Aroused Farm Bureaus

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON - Displacement of fats, oil and sugar in foods and beverages by chemicals, poses such a potential threat to normal agricultural crops that it has aroused the farm bloc on Capitol Hill. Manufactured pills cannot yet supplant a juicy steak, potatoes and biscuits, but the increasing appearance of synthetic substitutes on the dinner table has aroused the American Farm Bureau Federation and the Department of Agriculture. Principal target is the continued substitution of chemicals for fats and oils in bakery products, and of chemical sweeteners in soft drinks and canned fruits. The displacement threatens to pile up Secretary Ezra Taft-Holt's present surpluses of wheat, fats, oils and similar products, which already run into billions of dollars. Eventually, the tendency could upset the country's whole farm structure. Unfortunately for opponents of this dietetic movement, the appeal of the new ingredients to a weight-conscious public, especially feminine housewives and purchasers, is greater than is generally realized.

The Farm Bureau demands that the Food and Drug Administration be given greater authority to prohibit the use of synthetic ingredients until their non-toxicity is proved. At present, Food and Drug may ban them only if it can show that such ingredients are harmful for human consumption. And the bureau's inspection and test personnel and facilities are limited. Two important members of the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee have introduced measures to this effect. They are J. Percy Priest of Tennessee, Committee Chairman, and Joseph P. O'Hara of Minnesota, ranking Republican on the Committee. Although they hope for action at this session, so many industrial interests would be affected adversely that prolonged and bitter controversy is expected.

It will be another of several rows between urban and rural factions on Capitol Hill. They have already squared off on the Administration's $100 billion highway program, and the farm bloc's effort to restore 90 per cent parity payments on farm products. The alliance of Representatives Priest, a Bay Democrat, and O'Hara, a conservative Republican, reveals that the controversy will ignore Party lines. Priest is thinking of displacement of the South's cotton, peanut, soybean and vegetable oils, also sugar, while O'Hara

FOR REFLECTION

...with JAMES C. ROOSEVELT, President, Spiritual Mobilization.

Communist Premier Imre Nagy of Hungary (now under fire by Party bigwigs), "in assuming office in mid-1953, assailed the forced collectivization of the peasants and told collective farmers they could leave the farms if they wished," according to Correspondent Harry Schwartz writing in a recent issue of THE NEW YORK TIMES.

"The Hungarian peasants took him at his word," Mr. Schwartz continued. "Despite intense propaganda pressure and other coercion, less than a year after this concession more than half of the members of Hungary's collective farmers had left those institutions."

As I read that, I couldn't help wondering if something very similar wouldn't happen if all the legal and other pressures which tend to force American workmen into political organizations parading as labor unions were eliminated. We boast of our freedom while actually permitting millions of our fellowmen to be dragged into organizations which they in all probability would not support as now manipulated were they absolutely free to do so or not as they pleased.

If we really believe in freedom, why do we have laws that militate against it?

If you don't want more Yalta's, you'd better be for the Bricker Amendment. Yalta was an executive agreement. Jonathan Yank

Age Of Fabulous Machines Sometimes Is Too Much

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

An acquaintance of mine named Norman J. Rader, Jr., has had a fascinating experience. Mr. Rader is a conventional American businessman - Dartmouth, trick-knee from a skiing accident; married twice; red brick home with slate roof near Metuchen; attends church regularly every Easter; shoots about an 82 and holds a commission as a colonel of the Air Force Reserve for press relations. He worked three years for an advertising agency. He now has his own business, a regional agency for a consumers' goods product with offices, show-room and warehouse. He went to a national convention of the regional agents at the Waldorf last fall and there saw a demonstration of a machine which could do things that Mr. Rader could not do, even with his degree certifying a standard measure of education. The company which makes it leases it to clients such as Rader and undertakes to train select employees of the client.

In Rader's case this employee is an unmarried young woman about 26. He pays her $150 a week but reaps a net economy because eight other clerical workers were eliminated. Their coffee-time, alone was a big expense. The machine took no coffee-time. The young woman did take coffee-time but she fed the machine a big batch of problems to keep it busy while she powdered her nose. Moreover, the machine, which was known as Iron Mike, never was late for work never had a hangover and never called up to report sick. It did blow a fuse one day, but the serviceman was there in a few minutes. Having replaced the fuse, he called Mr. Rader to join the young lady in listening to a caution. On page 92 of the book, operators were admonished not to feed Mike social science problems on the red button. The blue button was for social science. The girl plainly was at fault. The red button was still jammed, as the serviceman pointed out. Then he unjammed it and went his way. Iron Mike, being unmarried, did not borrow money for his wife's operation, as some of the eight who were laid off had done. Rader still holds $2,900 of I.O.U.'s from these individuals. He tried to offset some of the "severance pay" to those debtors, but the labor relations commission ruled that he would have to pay the "severance" an then sue for judgment.

Finally, Iron Mike was non-union, whereas three of the eight were in the teamsters. They were "war housemen." Rader's commerce was tied up tight for six weeks two years ago because the busness agent wanted these three and they refused to join. Finally, Rader told them they could not sacrifice all his investment of money, work and experience, just for a picaresque principle. In these days, we all have to make little compromises. So they joined.

A week ago, the Iron Mike people came around again. They unfastened Mike's floor-bolts, and casted him out on rollers. Then they rolled in an awe-inspiring engine which the young demonstrator addressed as "doc" and "Herr Iron Professor." He was a tweedy, flow-cut proposition from Mans Tech. The genius from M.I.T. said, on leaving, "this one makes old Mike look like a Dartmouth A.B." This was just perflage in the M.I.T. manner. He did not know Rader was a Dartmouth A.B.

The first problem put to Herr Professor brought a startling answer. The young lady fed in about a half-pound of perforated cards. Herr Professor sat there silent. She asked "what is wrong, professor? Mike did that kind life flash."

The machine pulsated and a small card tumbled from the place. It said: "Do not bother me with trifles." Mr. Rader was sore so he got out an old Dartmouth textbook. "Okay, wise guy!" he said, "this one will give you ulcers!" He almost literally threw the book at Herr Professor. The machine whirred and spat out a card.

The young lady looked over Rader's shoulder. She, almost blushed. The retort was actually obscene. "Call up that bum from Tech," Rader said. The machine marled and another card came down. "Yes," she said. "Phone him to get me out of this anti-intellectual atmosphere! I am in the house of the boob-burgers!"

They tried it on long division - 12 into 144 per cent. The prof answered: "eight." Rader said, "Wrong! The answer is 12." "That is the old-fashioned way," the prof said. "Fearfulness has got you. Dare to think independent, original thoughts!"

The young lady put in a card reading: "Spell Louisiana." The prof answered: "O-h-i-o." She said: "Wrong." The prof said: "Conformity! In 25 years you will all spell it 'O-h-i-o.'"

It was quieting time so Rader pulled the lever marked "thoughts" and set the prof an oversight chore.

Next morning Mr. Rader grabbed an enormous batch of records from the hopper. He was shocked.

How To Take A Dog Where Dogs Are Not Allowed To Be

By HENRY McLEMORE

If I were asked to name the field that offers the most limitless opportunities, I believe I'd say writing. Billions of words have been written on tens of thousands of subjects, that's true, but the end is nowhere in sight of subjects that sorely need attention. This is especially true of the popular "How To" books. The surface has just been scratched on "How To Do Your Income Tax," "How To Plant Begonias," "How To Build an Aviary," "How to Become a Successful Salesman," "How to Paper Your Own Walls," etc., etc.

There are millions of things that people don't know how to do, as I am finding out on this motor trip through the Southwest. For example, how does one go about smuggling an English bulldog into a motel that forbids dogs?

We faced this problem on an Arizona highway, with night falling fast, but there was no dozen paper-backed books in half a dozen drugstores had revealed no such treatise, though I would have gladly paid a dollar for one. So, Mary and I were left to figure out our own way to get Dilly past the motel-keepers' eyes and into our bedroom.

Someone before us must have faced the same dilemma, and that someone seized an opportunity to do his fellow men a great service, as well as pick up some easy money, by putting down on paper the proper steps for English bulldog smuggling.

We finally worked out a system, but it was by the trial-and-error method. Before we hit upon the right one we had been rejected at half a dozen motels, had driven far into the night, and had just about worn out our patience as well as Dilly's.

At the first motel I slung Dilly in the car robe, threw her over my shoulder, and when we reached the desk said to Mary, "I'll walk on down the hall with the laundry while you register." But the clerk, a suspicious fellow if there ever was one, halted me when the "laundry" began barking.

There the clerk placed me, and

Rain Aids N. Carolina Firefighters

SWANQUARTER, N. C. —UP— Firefighters, helped by light rain and favorable wind, Thursday had all forest blazes in eastern North Carolina under control for the first time in weeks. One monster blaze considered the biggest in modern state history was brought under control late Wednesday after it had burned over 200,000 acres of coastal scrub forests in eight days. Numerous smaller fires also were checked by the rain, state foresters said. Assistant Forester Paul Tillman

Civil Service Exams Open

The U. S. Civil Service Commission has announced examinations for cement finisher, grade WB-11 at $1.82 per hour for employment at Amarillo Air Force Base. Full information and applications may be obtained from the post office or from the Executive Secretary, Amarillo. There is also still an urgent need said that while the blazes all were under control only the smallest had been put out and all the fires must still be closely watched. Army, Marine and Coast Guard personnel called to fight the big coastal blaze when it threatened several villages kept their stations to prevent any further outbreak.

2 Re-Hired At Irving

IRVING, Tex. —UP—The Irving school board Wednesday re-hired two of the fired principals and demoted the acting superintendent and his assistant. The board re-hired Ira L. Laster, who had been fired along with eight other officials during the controversy over the schools, and made him acting superintendent. Charles Langston, who had been acting superintendent, was demoted to his old position as curriculum co-ordinator, and John Follan, who had been his assistant, was returned to his old job as a junior high school principal. The other principal who was re-hired is R. H. Copeland, who was given back his old job of "principal at large." The nine school officials were fired after some 200 teachers and other employees went on strike to protest the firing of former Supt. John L. Beard on Feb. 18. Since that time the independent school district has been abolished, which also abolished the old school board, and the present board was appointed when the district became a common school district, which was automatic when the independent district was abolished. Another election is scheduled, on April 18, on re-establishing the independent district.

Methodists Open Youth Revival

The Harrah Methodist Church will stage a youth revival for three nights, beginning tonight. Dwayne Blair, a student in McMurry College, Abilene, will be the visiting evangelist, according to Floyd Sackett, publicity chairman for Harrah youth activities. Revival meetings will be held at 6:30 p.m. today, tomorrow and Saturday in the church, Sackett said. The revival is for all youths, 12 to 23, but adults may attend if they wish, he indicated. However, the revival is primarily for the youth. Read The News Classified Ads.

Kefauver Likes Free TV Idea

WASHINGTON —UP— Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) Thursday applauded a proposal that free television time be offered to candidates for federal office. "Speaking as one who won't be a candidate for re-election for five years," he told a reporter, "I think there should be a larger allocation on public time. As of now, television expense is so terrific that it gives the advantage to the fellow with a lot of money." Federal Communications Commissioner Frieda B. Henock proposed the free TV campaign time Wednesday in testimony before Kefauver's juvenile delinquency subcommittee. Read The News Classified Ads.

Man Charged In Death Of Woman, 54

HOUSTON —UP— A 34-year-old "traveling salesman" was charged with murder Thursday after admitting to police that he beat to death a woman companion who fell out of a tourist court shower and "wouldn't get up." The man, Louis Manley Hagler said he and the victim, Mrs. Mary Warfield, a 54-year old widow, had been on a marathon drinking binge when they started arguing about which one was going out for more beer. "I hit her a couple of times," he said. "Then she started to take a bath and fell out of the shower and I got mad." Mrs. Warfield's nude body was found on the floor surrounded by broken furniture and empty beer cans. Hagler was sitting by the body drinking beer when police arrived at the cabin Tuesday night. Mrs. Warfield was dead with a fractured skull, a brain injury and a ruptured liver. Hagler told police he was a traveling salesman but hadn't worked for more than a year. The pair checked in at the motel last month as Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hagler, New Orleans. The motel manager said they registered a month before then as being from Memphis, Tenn. Police said Hagler had been arrested here a half-dozen times in the past year for drunkenness and Mrs. Warfield was arrested two years ago for fighting with the same man. Carriers to Get Jets BURBANK, Calif. —UP— A new jet plane equipped with a revolutionary air-blowing system which increases lift and permits shorter take-off and landing runs will be the first two-place jet trainer assigned to Navy carriers, Lockheed Corporation said Wednesday. The plane, also to be assigned to land stations, is designated the T2V-1 and was developed from the two-place shooting star-type trainer.

She's shopping bound and sure of herself. This newspaper keeps her informed about improved or entirely new products, and guides her to the dealers who carry them.

She knows that manufacturers compete constantly for her favor... that they spend fortunes in research, development and quality control to induce her to buy their brands instead of their rivals'.

And she makes a point of learning which manufacturers' brands serve her best... and always asks for them by brand name.

So, whether she's buying "little" or buying "big"... things that she can tuck into that shopping bag, or things that take two strong men just to lift... she knows where to head to get her money's worth.

Tribe Nips Giants; Take Series Lead

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. —UP— The Indians lost the 1954 World Series to the Giants but they can win the 1955 spring series with them Thursday.

Dava Pope's 10th inning double following a walk to Al Smith enabled Cleveland to defeat New York, 3-2, at Charlotte, N.C., Wednesday and take a 3-2 lead in the spring series. The teams conclude their series here Thursday.

TOLEDO, Ohio —UP— J. W. Porter, the promising ex-GI who pitched in the 1954 World Series, has been converted from a catcher to an outfielder, was he tried at first base also Thursday by the Detroit Tigers — just in case Ferris Fain's lame knee fails to hold up.

Porter was shifted to first base against Milwaukee at Evansville, Ind., Wednesday in a game which the Braves won, 2-1. He handled six chances and doubled in the Tigers' only run.

Southpaw Warren Spahn limited Detroit to three hits in seven innings while his successor, Joey Jay, held the Tigers hitless over the last two frames. Billy Hoist gave up only two hits in the seven innings he worked for Detroit, one of the hits being a 350-foot homer by Hank Aaron. George Zverink was the loser.

The two teams were to meet here again Thursday.

RICHMOND, Va. —UP— No one will ever say Country Slaughter doesn't go all out for his kinfolk.

Slaughter's relatives traveled from Roxboro, N.C., to Lynchburg, Va., to see him perform Wednesday and he chipped in with a homer, double and a pair of singles to lead the Yankees to 19-2 massacre over Lynchburg of the Piedmont League Thursday.

Phil Bissuto, Mickey Mantle and Andy Carey also hit homers as left-hander Tommy Byrne hurled a four-hitter and became the fourth Yankee pitcher to go the route.

LYNCHBURG, Va. —UP— Art Fowler, Cincinnati's opening day pitcher, will get his final tuneup for Monday's National League inaugural against the Chicago Cubs, when he faces Lynchburg of the Piedmont League Thursday.

Fowler will split the pitching chores with Cliff Ross. The Redlegs' scheduled game with Richmond of the Piedmont League was rained out Wednesday. Cincinnati resumes its spring series with Washington at Hagerstown, Md., Friday.

DANVILLE, Va. —UP— Veteran Max Surkont will be the Pirates' opening day pitcher against the Dodgers at Ebbs Field next Tuesday.

Pittsburgh Manager Fred Haney made the announcement Wednesday and added that Dick Littlefield will open Pittsburgh's home season two days later against the Phillies at Forbes Field.

At Burlington, N.C., Wednesday, the Orioles edged the Pirates, 3-2, when Roger Bowman walked pinch hitter Vern Stephens with the bases full in the ninth. The two teams were to meet here again Thursday with Pittsburgh holding a 7-3 edge in the spring series.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. —UP— That worried expression on Manager Eddie Stanky's face Thursday was all due to his pitching staff.

The White Sox repped three Cardinal pitchers for 19 hits in a 12-3 triumph at Little Rock, Ark., Wednesday, two of the hits being homers by big Walt Dropo. Southpaw Harvey Haddix, the Cardinal starter, was blasted for seven runs in the first three innings while Vic Fensch, testing his ailing back in the mound for the first time this spring, was hammered for five runs in two innings.

PORTSMOUTH, Va. —UP— Rookie catcher Pete Daley has been impressing Red Sox Manager Mike Higgins but Sammy White, who leads the club with a .509 batting average, has no intention of giving up his first string job.

White grounded out three hits in helping the Red Sox to a 9-3 victory over the Phillies at Roanoke, Va., Wednesday, one of his hits being a homer. Grady Hatton and Jackie Jansen also homered for Boston while Earl Torgerson and Del Emms each hit homers for Philadelphia.

The final spring game between the two teams was to be played here Thursday with the Red Sox holding an edge in the series, four games to three.

BEAUMONT, Tex. —UP— Outfielder Hank Sauer nursed a heavy cold Thursday but said he expects to be ready when the Cubs face the White Sox in Comiskey Park in their city series Saturday.

The Cubs embarked for Chicago Thursday and will arrive there Friday. Sam Jones will open the city series for the Cubs.

WASHINGTON —UP— Pitchers Bob Darnell and Ron Naylor were opposed to St. Paul of the American Association Thursday by the Brooklyn Dodgers.

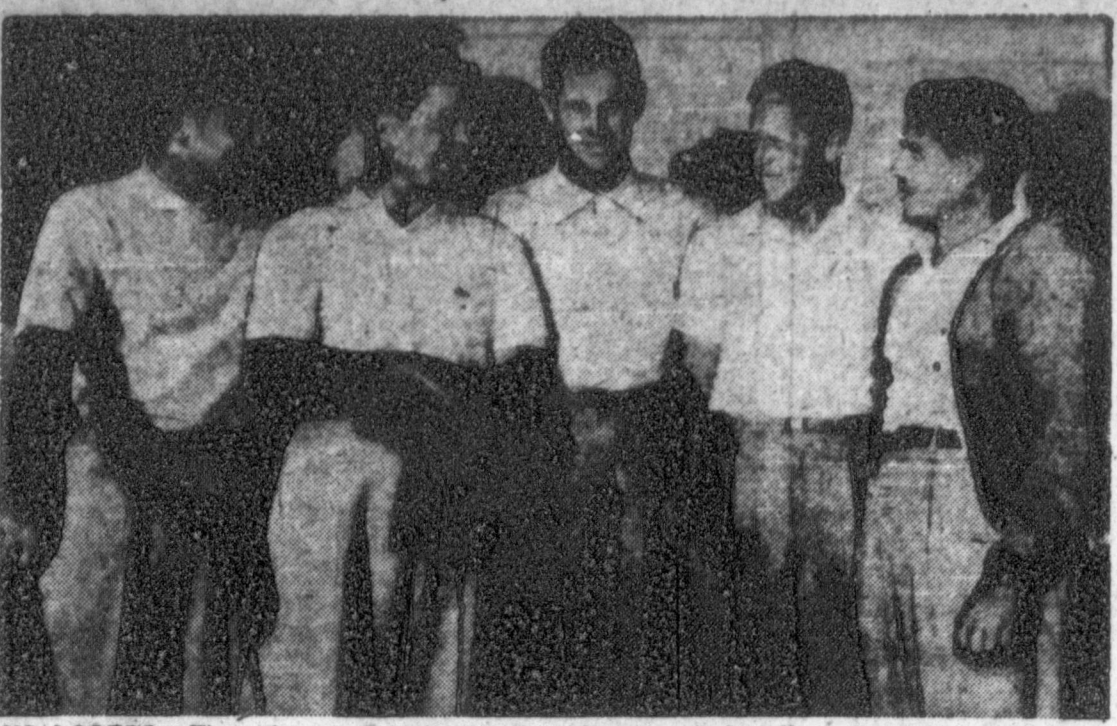

Carl Erskine, who has been named as Brooklyn's opening day pitcher, became the first Dodger hurler to go the route when he scattered 16 hits in beating Washington, 6-0. Carl Furillo homered off loser Bob Porterfield in the second inning.

NORFOLK, Va. —UP— Major-league players, turned down in their bid for a minimum salary of $7,500, are ready to suggest the same thing again—but with an important amendment.

Ted Klusmeyer, player representative of the Cincinnati Reds, disclosed Wednesday that the players' new suggestion shapes up this way:

Owners will be permitted to sign players to the beginning of the season for a $5,000 minimum; the figure provided for in the current rules. But players who stick with the team after the May 15 "cut-down date," when each team must reduce its roster to 25 men, must be hoisted to $7,500.

The players intend to present this plan to the club owners at the annual meeting during the All-Star game period in July at Milwaukee. The plan was adopted by the players' representatives at their meeting in Cincinnati on Tuesday.

Sooners Win North Texas Relays Title

DENTON, Tex. —UP—The University of Oklahoma's star track and field team took home the North Texas Relays college-university crown Thursday after sweeping the annual meet Wednesday.

Port Worth North Side captured the high school title, which saw nine records fall. Graham, Tex., was runnerup in the high school division.

The Sooner team defeated host and defending champion North Texas State 27 to 27, followed by Houston with 31 points and Abilene Christian with 14. Fourteen universities and colleges participated in the meet.

Six records fell in the university college division and three in the high school division.

Oklahoma swept four events and set two records. Ervin Cook broad-jumped 24 feet 1-4 inches to top the 23-9 1/2 mark set last year by Joe Craig of Texas Christian.

O.U.'s Hendrick Kreuzer's 13 feet, 3-4 inches in the pole vault bettered the 1952 mark of Ray Lucas of NTSC.

Sooner Robert Derrick edged Houston's Ronnie Pruitt in 14.5 in the high hurdles, and the OU mile relay team won that event in 3:19.8.

NTSC captured the sprint medley. Its team of Mike Hager, Dean Renfro, Boyd Dollar and Paul Patterson ran the event in 3:27.8. Their time wiped out Abilene Christian's 1952 mark of 3:34.5.

NTSC also captured the discus event. Bob Burch hurled the discus 168 feet and one inch.

Houston set new records in the 400-yard and 800-yard relays, running first in 4:15 and edging NTSC. The team came back with 1:26.2 time in the 400.

Billy Joe Whitley of Southwest State set the other college record in the shotput, with a toss of 50 feet, 2-1/2 inches.

Bobby Morrow of Abilene Christian won the 100-yard dash in 9.5. He equalled the previous record. The ACC distance medley team won first in that event in 10:28.2.

Hardin-Simmons' John Whitley won the high jump with a leap of 6 feet, four inches. Howard Payne won the two-mile relay in 7:58.3.

In the high school events, North Side set a new mark of 3:19.8 in the spring medley, 3:28.0 in the mile relay and then won the 400-yard relay in 44.5 and the 800-yard relay in 1:30.6.

Jimmy Reeves of Weirnot won the mile run in 4:38.2; Joe Nagler of Muskrat captured the 100 in 10 seconds flat, and Don Green of Diamond Hill set a new high hurdle record of 14.9.

20,000 Witness TL Lid Lifters

By UNITED PRESS
A crowd of 20,782 braved biting north winds Wednesday night to watch the Texas League season open in Beaumont, San Antonio, Houston and Shreveport.

If the old superstition of "win the first game and lose the rest" comes true, it will make it hard on Wednesday night's hometown teams, because the only winning visitor in the lot was Dallas and its 13-2 convincer over Shreveport.

Beaumont beat Fort Worth 8-2. San Antonio won over Oklahoma City 6-2 and Houston downed Tulsa 6-1.

Cold Wind Blows
A cold north wind and temperatures in the middle 40's greeted opening night fans at all four cities and held the San Antonio attendance to 3,282—even worse than last year's 3,901 for an opening game rainout. Shreveport reported 3,805 fans, while Houston had 7,431 and Beaumont 6,272.

Thursday night's games have the same teams vying in the same locations.

The Dallas Eagles, last year's last-place team, went on a batting rampage Wednesday night and collected 15 hits in their 13-2 win over Shreveport.

Lee Tate sparked Dallas with a three-run homer in the ninth inning, while doubles were hit by Tate, Ray Conde, Art Dunham, Bob Smith and Don Tausig. Ozzie Virgil tripled for the Eagles in the eighth. John (Red) Murff spread out five Shreveport hits for the victory.

Houston Rallies in Seventh
A five-run seventh inning rally helped by six bases on balls, gave Houston its 6-1 victory over Tulsa as veteran Negro right-hander Bill Greason went the route for the Buffs. He allowed only six hits and was seldom in trouble.

Catcher Hal Smith led Houston's hitting with four-for-four as the Buffs collected 10 hits.

San Antonio's first baseman Dave Roberts was a one-man terror for Oklahoma City as he smashed two home runs, each with a man on base, to give the Missions their 8-2 victory.

Missions Get Five Hits
The Missions collected only five hits off three Oklahoma City pitchers, but it was Roberts' big blows that made the difference. The Negro player's two-run homers came in the first and seventh innings.

Frank Farnovich went most of the way on the mound for San Antonio and was credited with the win.

Clem Kosherok hit two singles and two doubles to help the Beaumont Exporters take their 8-2 victory over Fort Worth. But nine walks helped the Shippers a lot and they never trailed.

Michael Clark went the route for Beaumont to become the winning hurler, while starter Gaylor Le-

Hogan Favored 78 Tee Off In Masters Tournament

AUGUSTA, Ga. —UP—A field of 78 teed off Thursday in the 19th Masters Golf Tournament, expected to be the tightest competition in the history of the event founded by Bobby Jones.

Co-favorites were two-time Masters champion Ben Hogan, rated at a 7 to 5 chance, and Sam Snead, pegged at 8 to 2 on the basis of his playoff victory over Hogan in last year's Masters.

But this is the year that even the cold-eyed betting gentry figure the younger, straight shooting pros will have a look-in. Mike Souchak, the football player who found out that a putt is more profitable than a blocked punt, is rated an 8 to 1 gamble.

Middlecoff Gets Late Support
A late rush of support established Cary Middlecoff of Memphis a 6 to 1 shot. Middlecoff, winner of the St. Petersburg Open this year, has finished strong in the Masters since he first made its entry list in 1948.

Others liked in the odds were Gene Littler of Palm Springs, Calif., runner-up to Souchak in 1955 collections, at 10 to 1, and Billy Joe Patton, the amateur who was figured as a 25 to 1 gamble. Patton was 1,000 to 1 a year ago but he came within a stroke of matching Hogan and Snead.

The weather was warm and humid over the majestic 6,590-yard Augusta National course famous the world over as the site of President Eisenhower's vacation cottage.

Rains Predicted
Intermittent rains were predicted for the weekend grind but the weather is volatile in Augusta, which lies on the edge of the Atlantic coastal plain and is subject to ocean winds of the winds. The golf course is in the best condition ever, for the event founded by Jones in 1934, four years after he retired with all the world's links laurels.

Jones put in a token competitive appearance at the Masters until 1948 but he has been felled by a back ailment and is on the sidelines now.

Bobby rode his electric go-cart out to the 15th hole Wednesday to dedicate the "Sarazen Bridge" over the water hazard, a lasting reminder of an "impossible" shot.

It was at that point Gene Sarazen holed out a 200-yard shot in 1935 for a double eagle to tie the Craig Wood on the last round. Sarazen won next day in a playoff.

Wood Wins
Wood, on hand as one of sport's history's most crucial victims, had a line for the occasion.

"If this bridge had been dedicated 20 years ago I would have torn it down and tossed Sarazen in after it," he said.

But he added that time mellow. As it does, it also ripens the Masters into one of the richest plums of golf. The winner will get more than $5,000 cash, unless it should be an amateur like Billy Joe Patton who almost did it a year ago.

The prestige in winning the event is immeasurable. It means the richest connections for a pro and if an amateur should win it he would be sitting right alongside Mr. Jones himself.

Doak Undecided Over '55 Plans
DALLAS —UP—General Manager Nick Kerbawy of the Detroit Lions had to go back home without finding out whether Doak Walker will be performing at half-back again next fall.

Walker told Kerbawy before the latter returned to Detroit that he just couldn't make up his mind whether to return for the 1955 season or stay in Dallas to handle his various business enterprises.

Kerbawy said that "contract terms or money" were no stumbling block. He said he "tried to impress upon Doak that we'd like to have his decision as soon as possible because the coaches need to know whether to count on him or try to find a replacement somewhere."

Cleburne Star Chooses SMU
CLEBURNE, Tex. —UP—Don Ury, Class AAA all-state end for Cleburne high school last fall, said Thursday he planned to attend Southern Methodist, passing up an appointment to West Point and scholarship offers from several schools, including Notre Dame and Oklahoma.

Ury is now a member of the high school track team. He said he liked SMU because of its engineering course and that he would sign a formal letter of intent as soon as his eligibility is completed in high school athletics.

Mayor Flected Roping Head
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. —UP—John E. MacWherter, retiring mayor of Springfield, was expected to become assistant manager of Cahokia Downs race track near East St. Louis, Ill., it was reported Wednesday. George Day, manager and secretary of the track, said the board of directors would meet Thursday to name an assistant manager, and MacWherter was the only person under consideration.

UP Sports Ed Picks Yankees, Dodgers To Win Pennants

By LEO H. PETERSEN
UNITED PRESS SPORTS EDITOR
NEW YORK —UP—The Yankees and the Dodgers.

That's the way the 1955 major league pennant races shape up to this observer after spending six weeks covering the clubs training in Florida and getting first hand reports of the three teams which triumphed in Arizona.

The American League shapes up as a two club race between the Yankees and the defending champion Indians with little or no hope for the other six teams. The League figures to be as unbalanced as last year when only three teams—the White Sox, in addition to the Indians and Yankees—won more games than they lost.

But the outlook is different in the National League clubs—the Braves, the World champion Giants, the Cardinals, the Redlegs and even the Phillies in addition to the Dodgers—having a chance. Only the Cubs and the Pirates appear to be on the outside looking in.

Here is how the writer picks them to finish:

- AMERICAN LEAGUE
1—New York Yankees
2—Chicago White Sox
3—Detroit Tigers
4—Boston Red Sox

- 8—Washington Senators
7—Baltimore Orioles
6—Kansas City Athletics
5—Cleveland Indians
4—St. Louis Cardinals
3—Philadelphia Phillies
2—Chicago Cubs
1—Pittsburgh Pirates

The Yankees get the nod over the Indians because they have the better defense, more power hitting and a stronger bench. The Indians should come up with the best pitching in the majors, but the defense is porous and the bench only average.

The White Sox are likely to run out of gas with a mixture of cast-offs. Fighting between the Tigers and Red Sox is tough. For if Ted Williams should come back, Boston, with a fine mixture of youth and veterans, could possibly go the way. There just isn't any hope for the Senators, Orioles and Athletics—especially the latter club unless it makes some deals.

The writer agrees with Chuck Dreesen's size-up of the Dodgers, the team he led to successive national league pennants in 1953 and 1954 before he was let go.

They should win even if they come up with a few broken arms and legs, for they have youngsters ready to take over for any veterans.

The weak link in the Dodger scheme of things could be their manager, Walt Alton. He hasn't been the take-charge guy the Dodgers need to keep them hustling, but there are indications that Alton has changed and will assert himself more forcibly. If he does not, the Dodgers are likely to blow it again.

The Braves have the strongest pitching in the league but the reports on outfielders Bobby Thomson and Henry Aaron, both of whom broke ankles last season, are not encouraging. And the Braves may have second base troubles, too.

Leo Durocher's Giants are going to defend the flag with the same club and it isn't likely the team will be as lucky as last season in escaping serious injury. The Giants may be short in pitching, too.

If the Cardinals come up with pitching—and the same holds true of the Redlegs—they could win it all. The Phillies need a second baseman, a right fielder, and a sturdy Curt Simmons if they hope to be a contender. The Cubs and Pirates are rebuilding and are a couple of years away.

Lightweight Bout Set [Philadelphia, the No. 1 contender] CHICAGO —UP—Mrs. Lillie E. for the light heavyweight crown. PHILADELPHIA —UP—Tommy will meet here in a 10 round bout (Hurricane) Jackson of France on May 6, promoter Herman Tawaway, N.Y., and Harold Johnson of, for announced Wednesday.
