New Perils For Housewife Are Do-It-Yourself Kits

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY
NEW YORK—UP—If "The Perils of Pauline" were rewritten now it just might be the saga of a pretty housewife mired in discouragement in the middle of her own do-it-yourself projects.

There is no one around who thinks a woman can't paint her own kitchen ceiling—but there are a number of learned painters who admit that a lot of paint has fallen on pretty faces while the amateur painter was learning how to do it.

Now we are entering a new phase of do-it-yourselfism. More people who are experts are trying to see that homeowners have more places to turn for help when they get into trouble.

"First the amateur must overcome his or her reluctance to ask for detailed instructions," a paint demonstrator at a new do-it-yourself show here advised. "Too often a man, especially, will just buy a can of paint and walk out with it because he is embarrassed to reveal how little he knows."

Rigger Job Than Thought
"Many people get started in the first bloom of enthusiasm," said an executive of a laminated plastic covering manufacturer. "When the bloom fades they find it is more of a job than they thought. That is where the professional should be willing to step in and help the homeowner finish the job."

The expert said he felt that professional workers, at first inclined to resent the surge of interest in learning certain building and decorating skills by homeowners, now were adopting a more realistic attitude. They realized, he said, that do-it-yourself projects often represented redecorating or building that the homeowner never would have started if it meant hiring a professional. And an expert with a kindly attitude could make a tidy living completing the ambitious attempts that go awry.

A savings bank in midtown Manhattan opened a do-it-yourself show here this week with daily demonstrations of various projects—wall papering, painting, making slip covers and installing tricky traverse curtain rods.

Looked Easy
A well-dressed man watched in fascination as a girl demonstrator casually slapped a length of wall paper on a plywood backdrop. He wasn't a struggling young married man trying to cut corners—but a successful vice-president of a large commercial real estate firm who liked to relax on weekends by decorating a recently bought house in the country.

"If that girl can do it, I guess I can," he said. "And if I get a lot of wall paper and find I can't do it, then I'm sure my wife can. She's handier than I am."

Two women pined a patient, white-capped man at the painting display with questions. "You didn't squeeze enough paint out of the roller before you started," he said. "That's why paint ran up your arm."

enforced when in conflict with the Constitution.
Yet Marshall did not feel that the Constitution should be read and interpreted narrowly. Instead, he said, it is "intended to endure for ages to come and . . . to be adapted to the various crises of human affairs." In another landmark case, "McCulloch vs. Maryland," in 1819, he read the Constitution as impliedly conferring upon the national government the power to select any appropriate means of achieving the broad purposes for which the government itself was established.

In other cases he invoked provisions of the Constitution to strike down state legislation impairing the obligation of contracts, to back the power of Supreme Court to review and reverse decisions of state courts on questions of federal law, and to assert the supremacy of acts of Congress in the field of interstate commerce.

Commonplace as many of these ideas are today, in Marshall's time they were innovations. Without his genius, different decisions might have been rendered and our courts might not have developed into the bulwarks against legislative or executive oppression that they are today.
Chiseled above the entrance to the U. S. Supreme Court Building are the words: "Equal Justice Under Law." John Marshall played an impressive role in making this phrase a reality, and it is fitting that special observances have been planned throughout the nation to celebrate the bicentennial of his birth.

IT'S THE LAW IN TEXAS

"Equal Justice Under the Law"
On September 24, 1755 was born a man who contributed more than any other single individual to the preservation of many of the freedoms which we today enjoy as American citizens. He was John Marshall, the fourth (and often referred to as the greatest) Chief Justice of the United States. To him we are largely indebted for the fact that we have a "government of law and not of men." Because of his vital role in strengthening our constitutional form of government, September 1955 has been designated as "John Marshall Bicentennial Month," and nationwide ceremonies will commemorate his work throughout the Fall of this year.

The Supreme Court of the United States has come to play its role as head of one of the three great branches of our national government by methods that are different from those used by the other two branches. Since it has only "the judicial power," the Court can act and speak only as a decider of some of the "cases and controversies" that litigants choose to bring before the courts. And since its primary work is that of reviewing decisions of lower courts, it can usually decide only some of the points in the cases that reach it.

Yet within this framework of judicial method the Supreme Court has come to perform functions of the highest importance in our scheme of government. The Court is an umpire of our complex federal system, resolving questions of the geographic location of powers between nation and states. It is likewise an umpire within the national government, resolving questions of the organic location of powers between Congress, the Executive and the Judiciary.

It is also a defender of individual rights and privileges, defining fairness standards as to what government may do and how it may act in areas that impinge on liberty and equality. And it is a watchman over the mechanics and methods by which many government policies are carried out, bringing order and facility into the administrative processes.

While these great functions of the Court have been evolved over the years and under many of its chief justices, it was John Marshall's role in developing them that made him "the Great Chief Justice."

One of Marshall's most brilliant decisions was written in 1803 in the case of "Marbury vs. Secretary of State Madison." Although not the first, this is a landmark case on power of a court to hold an act of a legislature unconstitutional. The issue was whether a new federal administration could refuse to deliver judicial commissions which had been authorized and prepared by the previous administration. Many political overtones were present, but Marshall went straight to the root of the matter by declaring that the law involved was "unconstitutional." This was established the principle that acts of Congress cannot be SLING OF OUTRAGEOUS FORTUNE—At a recent 4-H Club style review in Salina, Kan., where the girls showed off dresses they had made, Sandra Shilling wore something no other girl had—a sling. In the sling was a cast holding her right arm. She broke the arm when she reached around her neck to undo the slide fastener on the back of the dress. It stuck. She twisted her wrist to loosen it. "Cr-a-ack" went a bone in her wrist. She couldn't move the arm. At the hospital, the dress was cut down the back and the arm put in a cast. The dress was in no condition to be entered in the contest. But a friend basted it together and entered it with a note of explanation. It won second prize.

MAKING A GO OF LIFE

By ROY L. SMITH
Read Psalm 107:1-21

All men are religious. It has sometimes been argued that the origins of religion, being humble, are discreditable. The primitive savage and his medicine man have been pointed out as the spiritual forefathers of the modern congressman and his scholarly clergyman, as though the medicine man discredited the clergyman. But by the same logic all music would be discredited because it began in the jungle with a simple rhythm, and all great architecture would be scrapped because it began with a hut under a crazy wall. A cynic once paraphrased the noble words of Genesis, saying: "And man said, Let us make God in our own image; in the image of man created he God," as though ridicule could deflate the passage of all meaning. As a matter of fact, his rival just threw a fascinating light upon the text, for it made vivid the truth that man has always thought of God in terms of the highest conception of which he had any knowledge. Because man was the only spiritual being of which he knew, he used his own spiritual life as a measurement of God.

Science has discovered that there is some deep-seated explanation for every universal instinct of humanity. There is such a one for sex, of course, and there is also one for the religious impulses, to which all are subject. Nature (God) never plays tricks on us; the gropings of human spirit may be uncertain, and, at times they may lead us off into vagaries, but they root back in something very real and strictly fundamental. As a French philosopher once said: "Man is incurably religious." And that is true of all mankind. There are no exceptions.

For implanting spiritual hunger within me I am grateful to thee, O God. Without them life would be as common and as gray. I thank thee for the promptings that drive me, though the climb be steep and difficult. For the progress I have made I am indebted to thee, Amen.

Car Crash Kills Officer
LAS VEGAS, Nev. —UP— Second Lt. Leslie K. Roberts Jr., 21, of San Antonio was killed Tuesday in a four-car crash near Nellis Air Force Base where he was stationed. Three other persons were injured in the accident.

Go back through this day and see if you cannot identify at least one time when, as you view the matter now, God must have been trying to get your attention. Have you not been impelled to do something courageous and splendid? What was that impulse?

Senterfitt Campaigns For Governor

SAN SABA, Tex. —UP— Reuben Senterfitt, who described himself as just a small town country lawyer with a modest farming interest, swung into his campaign for governor Wednesday after formally launching it with a biting attack on all prospective opponents.

Senterfitt, a two-time former speaker of the Texas House and the state's only announced gubernatorial candidate, spoke Tuesday night at a hometown rally held at the nearby ranch of his campaign manager, Kelly Owen.

He predicted that some prospective opponents might take offense at what he had to say, and then added: "If the shoe fits, let them wear it."

Senterfitt presented his platform as he warned of a "deplorable waste" of state money. He challenged other prospects to contest his bid for the office of governor.

He assured his listeners that before the campaign was over, he would give specific examples of the "deplorable waste of money within our state government."

He said his campaign would develop a full program for water and soil conservation, hospitals, health and public welfare, old age assistance and social security; development of an "adequate first class educational system," and plans and specifications for "remodeling our state and local units of government."

The normally soft-spoken Senterfitt named no names, but said that he "never was cross-filed—although I have been double-crossed." (Nearly all candidates for state offices were cross-filed on the Republican ticket during the last presidential election, including Gov. Allan Shivers.)

He said he had never advocated "bolting a party or a convention." As a matter of fact, he said, he was "just a country lawyer in a small town with a modest farming interest."

NEW FORD MODELS

Advanced front end and side styling of the new 1956 Ford is emphasized in this view of the Sunliner convertible, one of 17 new body styles which Ford dealers will place on display next Friday, September 23. The grille has been widened and lengthened, and parking lamps have been worked into chrome housings which extend around the sides of the fenders. A new-style hood ornament is recessed above the special Fairlane crest. On the fender is the new ornament indicating "Thunderbird power," which is standard in Fairlane models with the Y-8 engine. The 1956 Ford will be on display tomorrow at the Tom Rose Motor Co., 121 N. Ballard.

Russia Won't Get Far In Move To Weaken West

By CHARLES M. McCANN United Press Foreign Analyst

It looks as if Russia will not get far in its new attempt to weaken the western defense system in Europe.

On the contrary, there is every indication that the United States and its Allies will continue to strengthen their position.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer announced emphatically Tuesday that despite the agreements he made in Moscow, he will proceed with the formation of a 500,000-man West German fighting force.

The Kremlin's smiling "new look," he said, is just a phase of the cold war, and its aim still is to conquer the world for communism.

In Madrid, Air Force Secretary Donald Quarles made it known that the United States not only will continue building its bases in Spain but may amplify its program.

A Red Invitation In announcing their intention to give up the Porkkala military base which they compelled little Finland to lease to them, the Russians invited the United States to abandon its foreign bases.

Quarles' disclosure seems to constitute at least an interim reply to that invitation.

The United States program in Spain is little publicized. But it is important.

For one thing, Spain's situation at the southwest corner of the Pyrenees Mountains, is strategically strong.

For another, while communism might still become a threat in France and Italy, there is no communist problem in Spain.

Generalissimo Francisco Franco agreed in 1953 to give the United States facilities for an extensive system of air and naval bases dotted all around the Spanish Atlantic and Mediterranean coasts.

There was considerable coldness between the United States and Spain after World War II, in which Franco remained neutral. The United Nations maintained a diplomatic boycott against him for a time.

Never a Threat But Franco never was a threat to any other nation, and the dire threat of Russian aggression altered the situation radically.

Gen. Julio Alberto Lagos, commander of the Argentine rebels' second Army, on whether Peron should be permitted to leave the country: "A delinquent must be brought to trial."

may, he was known nationally as a man of incorruptible honesty and of efficiency.

Franco was made a captain in the army at 20 for heroism in action against rebels in Spanish Morocco. He rose to be chief of staff.

An unusual compliment was paid to him last week. A French Moroccan nationalist leader asked that Franco summon an international conference on the Moroccan crisis. He praised Franco's rule in Spanish Morocco and said real progress had been made there toward freedom.

Court Case For The Birds

HOUSTON — UP — Van M. Raybourn, a bird fancier; Miss Bertie Goode, a bird trainer, and a mynah bird who answers to any name were talking in court Wednesday.

Raybourn said he owned the talking bird. He said he bought "Blackie" when the bird was learning to talk and whistle like other birds. Then, he said, Miss Goode offered to train "Blackie."

"That's not his name," Miss Goode told Peace Justice W. C. Ragan. "It's Nickie and Mr. Raybourn can have him for $500 for upkeep and training."

Raybourn said he wanted $195 for the bird, and didn't care which.

"I taught "Nickie" everything he knows," Miss Goode said.

The bird chimed in with: "Johnny is a bad boy. Gimme a bottle of Pearl."

Justice Ragan said he'd decide later, who gets the bird.

Back-Seat Rider

CHASKA, Minn. — UP — A tipsy motorist slipped into the back seat of his car, fumbled around for a moment in alarm, then telephoned Sheriff Lester Melchert: "They stripped clean, sheriff; even the steering wheel and foot pedals are gone."

Benson Hits Democrats For Farmer Woes

HOUSTON — UP — Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson Wednesday charged the Democrats left the administration a "pure political demagoguery" to "neat package of carefully fused bombs" on the farm front and are "blaming us (the Republicans) for the explosion."

Benson said there were "plenty of warning signals" in the picture before the Republicans took office. But he said the "broiler was kept wide open and nobody bothered about the brakes."

In a speech prepared for delivery before the Texas Citrus and Agriculture Ezra T. Benson Vegetable Growers and Shippers Association, Benson charged it is the present flexible support program for "all of agriculture's commodities owned by the government, and depressing farm prices, which we had price supports at 90 per cent of parity for basic commodities."

busy "putting out the fires, cleaning up debris, and attempting to rebuild our agricultural economy upon a solid foundation." He said the GOP "inherited" the large and fast-growing inventory of farm surpluses and falling prices.

The $8.5 billion surplus of farm commodities owned by the government, and depressing farm prices, he said, was "piled up almost entirely while we had price supports at 90 per cent of parity for basic commodities." For nearly three years, he said, the administration has been kept

Here Tomorrow! NEW '56 FORD! The fine car at half the fine car price!

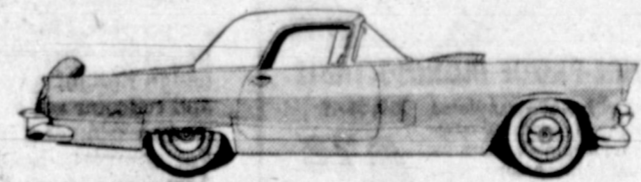

With new 202 h.p. Thunderbird Y-8

New 202-h.p. Thunderbird Y-8 engine is available in Fordomatic Fairlane and Station Wagon models. In Fordomatic Customline and Mainline models you can have the "GO"-packed 176-h.p. Y-8. And Ford's new 137-h.p. Six is available in all 18 models.

...with new Thunderbird styling

The new '56 Ford looks like the Thunderbird, too! You'll find the same graceful lines... the same long, low silhouette... the same dashing appearance... styling which helped the fabulous Thunderbird to win America's heart. You can drive the '56 Ford anywhere, with assurance that it "belongs."

...with new Lifeguard Design

For '56, Ford brings you the greatest safety news in a generation. It's new Lifeguard Design. In cooperation with universities, medical associations and safety experts, Ford learned that most serious injuries in accidents were caused by drivers being thrown against steering post, occupants being thrown forward against hard interior surfaces, or thrown out of the car. To provide extra protection against these hazards, Ford developed the new Lifeguard features described at right:

Ford's new Lifeguard Design features are: a new steering wheel, with deep-center design, to act as a cushion in the event of an accident... double-grip door locks to reduce the chance of doors springing open under shock... optional padding for instrument panel and sun visors to help lessen injuries from impact... optional seat belts to help keep occupants securely in their seats.

Come in... See the new '56 FORD tomorrow

Murder Trial Juror Ousted

MINEAPOLIS — UP — A 65-year-old widow was removed from the jury for the murder trial of Dr. A. Arnold Axilrod Wednesday. Axilrod, 50, a Minneapolis dentist, faces trial on charges of drug-dealing and making 21-year-old Mrs. Elizabeth Mary Moonen pregnant and strangling her April 22 when she threatened to "tell the world." Four jurors had been chosen in the first two days of questioning veniremen Monday and Tuesday. But Tuesday night it was reported that the husband of the first juror—Mrs. Anna E. Sidwell—had been murdered in 1923. The husband, Mahlon Sidwell, was shot while trying to keep a burglar from stealing $150 from their bedroom. The case never was solved.

Arthritis Drug May Be Dangerous

NEW YORK — UP — A professor of medicine has figured out that 24 patients have died during the last few years after taking phenylbutazone, a drug which is widely used for arthritis and related diseases.

Dr. Edgar F. Mauer, associate clinical professor of medicine, University of Southern California, found that 1,176 other patients have suffered distressing "side" reactions, many of them very serious and long-lasting.

He got his figures by putting together everything which has been reported concerning the drug in the medical literature. He found 26 reports. These reports covered 3,934 patients. Thus almost one third of the total had "reactions of varying degrees of severity, from easily reversible water retention to death."

His points were: Phenylbutazone is "chemically similar" to aminopyrine, a drug which had to be abandoned because of its "disastrous effects on the bone marrow." Phenylbutazone, too, has a large toxic potential which now is well established. These poisonous effects have been observed in the skin, the gastro-intestinal tract, the liver, kidney, bone marrow, "as well as in other organs."

"These reactions," he continued, "do not appear to be related to dosage or duration of treatment. They may occur after the drug has been withdrawn. There are no known methods of predicting an impending reaction. At present there are no specific means of treating reactions that have appeared."

If the drug were curative, "a modicum of risk might be justified," he said. But it isn't curative — it's a pain-reliever. He then told his medical readers "that a far greater awareness of the risk taken in its use is warranted not only by the deaths that have been reported but also by the long continued morbidity and the suffering and economic hardship entailed in the slow and painful recoveries of some of the more fortunate victims of the toxic properties of phenylbutazone."

DANIEL BOONE

Shawnee Chief Blackfish, on his way to attack Boonesborough, surprised Boone, who was collecting salt near Salt Lick in 1778.

Boone told the chief that blood would be spilled if he attacked Boonesborough. Blackfish replied: "We want captives to sell the British."

Daniel Boone persuaded 28 companions to surrender on condition that the helpless village be spared and that they would be well treated.

After the surrender, Chief Blackfish said the terms did not apply to Doni, who was forced to "run the gantlet," a mild form of torture.

Tsetse Fly Withstands Roughest Human Assault

By ROBERT MUSEL

BUKAVU, Belgian Congo — UP — No insect in the world has stood up under a more concentrated attack by the human race than Africa's tsetse fly. So far, the tsetse fly has won.

But scientists have reported to the Lederle-Sikoraky medical expedition crossing the dark continent by helicopter that a new drug is going to be used in an effort to get the upper hand over the insect that has made an area of Africa as big as Europe unsafe for human colonization.

A vast part of Africa is almost desolate except for wild game — and the tsetse fly, which is the carrier of the parasitic trypanosome. This parasite causes sleeping sickness, which is fatal to domestic cattle and extremely dangerous to man.

Dr. Said Kinany of the Cairo Expedition Medicae said he hoped to arrange tests of the new antibiotic stibomycin as a weapon against the tsetse's bite. In preliminary experiments the new drug has shown hopeful results in clearing trypanosomes from the blood. The tsetse fly itself has survived the most ingenious of man's weapons.

"The astonishing thing," said Kinany, "is that the female tsetse lays less than two eggs a year — not hundreds or thousands as other insects do. Yet it resists all efforts to exterminate it."

"They've tried breeding sterile males so no offspring would follow a mating. They've tried killing them out it would just open their way for some females so the more-homeland to penetration by the numerous males would harass the signers. They like things the way rest of the females to death, they are."

They've bombed tsetse with insecticides.

"They've tried using parasites to kill the tsetse's parasites, and they've even tried changing its surroundings by removing certain vegetation. But the tsetse keeps on living," said Kinany.

The sleeping sickness carried by the tsetse is believed to be a comparatively new disease for domestic cattle and human beings. It tends to kill them. But zebras, antelopes and other game native to Africa don't die from it, probably because their species have been exposed to it for hundreds of thousands of years.

Doctors believe any amount of effort to eradicate the tsetse fly is worthwhile for economic and humanitarian reasons. A victory in the fight would open a now-impoverished area to economic development.

Africa remains a hostile territory, health-wise for the foreign traveler. He must take anti-malaria shots, boil his drinking water, watch his food carefully, sleep under mosquito nets, and wear boots.

Even malaria is getting resistant to new drugs in some places, but medical science has managed to keep one jump ahead of the disease. Some West Africans have a form of immunity to malaria.

One tropical disease expert told the expedition he understood that West Africans were reluctant to go along with schemes to eradicate the menace of malaria. Malaria doesn't bother them, and if the threat of the disease were wiped out it would just open their way for some females so the more-homeland to penetration by the numerous males would harass the signers. They like things the way rest of the females to death, they are."

Duplicate Bridge Club Organized

A group of Pampa bridge players met recently in the Pampa Hotel to organize a Pampa Duplicate Bridge Club. A Mitchell movement of duplicate was used by the 9 1/2 tables or 38 persons attending. North-South winners were Mrs. Jim Nation and Mrs. E. A. Herriman, first; Mrs. Knox Kinard and Mrs. W. B. Murphy, second; and Mrs. Maybelle Braly and Mrs. Theo Randall, third. Winners in the East-West position were Mrs. Pearly Mitchell and Mrs. I. B. Hughey, first; Mr. and Mrs. Quentin Williams, second; and Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Hicks, third. Playing above an average match-point game were Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Harness, Mr. and Mrs. Ivy Duncan, Mrs. Edith Sims, Mrs. Grace Munson and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gindorf. Acting on the scoring committee were Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Rogers, Mrs. Gregory Warner, John Locke, Mrs. Herriman and Mrs. Bob Goodwin. Prior to playing bridge, a short business session was held. Mrs. Edith Sims was chosen temporary secretary; Mrs. Jim Nation, temporary treasurer; Mrs. Ray Kuhn, publicity chairman; and M. G. Rogers, scoring chairman. Election of officers will be held Monday evening. The nominating committee appointed by Mrs. E. A. Herriman, director, included Ed Greely Warner, Mrs. H. H. Hicks, Mrs. Ivy Duncan and Mrs. Jim Nation. The group voted to affiliate with the American Contract Bridge League which has duplicate clubs in every major city in the country.

Mrs. Otis Nace Presents Book Review During AAUW Tea For New Members

"Life is not all easy. It requires courage to meet it." Miss Dove, the leading character in the book, "Good Morning, Miss Dove" by Frances Gray Patton, vowed she would teach her students the discipline and courage needed to meet life. Mrs. Otis Nace reviewed this book at the American Association of University Women's reception for new and prospective members Tuesday evening in the City Clubroom. "This is one of the most charming books I've read lately," Mrs. Nace said. "It is a book which appeals to everyone and it especially emphasizes the importance of the classroom teacher in developing and molding students." Miss Dove often told her ex-students, who now were grown: "Do your duty to yourself and to your town. Right is right and wrong is wrong." Mrs. Nace explained that there was no middle road for Miss Dove or for her students. "This geography teacher had no moods. She would be today and tomorrow as she was yesterday." A free-lance writer, Mrs. Nace writes under the name of Evelyn Pierce Nace. She is the author of books and magazine stories. In addition, she has given book reviews and original readings in Pampa and surrounding towns. Preceding the review, Mrs. Mack Hiatt presented two vocal selections, "You'll Never Walk Alone" and "When I Have Sung My Song." She was accompanied at the piano by Miss Eloise Lane. Miss Evelyn Milam, president; Mrs. Mary Reeve, membership chairman; and Mrs. Nace were in the receiving line. Miss Nova Mayo was in charge of the guest register. The tea table, covered with a white cloth, carried out an autumn theme. The centerpiece was an arrangement of yellow and rust chrysanthemums against a straw background. A straw cornucopia contained fruits which spilled out onto colored autumn leaves. Yellow tapers in crystal holders completed the table decorations. Miss Evelyn Milam presided at the crystal punch bowl. Hostesses were Miss Oleta Martin, chairman; Miss Pearl Spang, Miss Inez Clubb and Mrs. M. E. Lamb. Miss Turner, president, welcomed guests and old members and conducted the business meeting preceding the program. Mrs. Nell Ralston, secretary, read the minutes from the last Executive Board meeting and Miss Mayo, Library Committee chairman reported that $25 had been given to the Lovett Memorial Library. Mrs. Nick Kadango, Council of Clubs representative reported on the last meeting and Miss Reeve explained requirements for prospective members and associate members. Miss Reeve said, "We want to plant a garden this year for AAUW." She read a poem, which is not original but which she considered applicable to AAUW members. "First, plant five rows of peas: 'Presence, Promptness, Preparation, Purity and Perseverance.' Next, to these plant three rows of squash: "Squash gossip, squash indifference, squash criticism, squash indifference." Then, plant five rows of lettuce: "Lettuce be faithful to duty; let us be loyal and unselfish; let us be true to our obligations; let us obey rules and regulations; let us love one another." "Last, no garden is complete without turnips: "Turn up for meetings; turn up with a smile; turn up with new ideas; and turn up with determination to make everything count for something good and worthwhile." Miss Turner announced that Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor, state AAUW president, will be guest speaker at an AAUW dinner meeting Nov. 3. Further details will be given at a later date. Over 50 persons attended the meeting.

AAUW TEA — Shown at the AAUW tea Tuesday evening are Miss Evelyn Milam, left, who presided at the punch bowl, serving Mrs. Otis Nace, who reviewed the book, "Good Morning, Miss Dove," by Frances Gray Patton. The event was a tea honoring new and prospective members. (News photo)

THE STORIES BEHIND THE DISHES we eat so often are fascinating. I, personally, wish I could make a study of the origin of different dishes. If you've ever eaten pomme souffles, you'll be interested in the following story. If you've never eaten them, the story might inspire you to try them.

POMMES COUFFLES, those fascinating puffed-up potatoes introduced by young Antoine to New Orleans in 1840, were first accidentally discovered because of a king's tardiness. Institutions Magazine reports:

It occurred in 1837. A great banquet was being held in France to celebrate the initial run of that country's first train. King Louis Philippe was the guest of honor, and the renowned chef Collinet planned to serve the king's favorite food—french fried potatoes. The train arrived on schedule; the potatoes were put on to cook, but no king. Rather than risk his life in this new-fangled contrivance, the king was coming by carriage, and was delayed. Distraught, the chef quickly dipped the potatoes out of the hot fat, but not before the edges had become slightly browned. He placed them aside. As the royal entourage approached, the potatoes were returned to the hot fat. In amazement and delight, the chef saw the potatoes puff into crisp, hollow fingers shaped like balloons. The king thought them delicious, and a new dish was born.

This is the procedure for making pommes souffles: 1. Peel California Burbank potatoes, and cut in 1/2 in. slices lengthwise. 2. Place potatoes in wire basket, and run cold water over them to remove any excess starch. Dry thoroughly. 3. Have two kettles of fat. Have fat in one kettle at a moderate temperature (270 degrees - 300 degrees F.), and fat in other kettle at a very hot temperature (375 degrees - 400 degrees F.). 4. Cover bottom of frying basket with layer of potatoes. 5. Place basket in pot of moderate hot fat. 6. Cook until potatoes rise to the surface, and edges show signs of puffing. (If the puff does not deval.

Merten HD Group Fetes Goodwill Club

Merten Home Demonstration Club entertained the Goodwill Club recently in the home of Mrs. R. V. Lewis, 428 N. Dwight. The recreation period was under the direction of Mrs. Clyde Edmondson. On display were canned food and handwork the women had made during the year. Also on display was the award the club won at the recent achievement day for its exhibit of trays the members had made. The serving table was covered with a white lace cloth, over yellow. Refreshments of coffee, sweet rolls and nuts were served. Mrs. Jack Prather, president, presided at the coffee service. Next meeting will be Oct. 4, in the home of Mrs. A. M. Nash, 721 N. West. Officers elected at a recent meeting were Mrs. Jack Prather, president; Mrs. L. F. Watt, vice-president; Mrs. T. G. Groves, council representative; Mrs. Jack Howard, secretary; and Mrs. Bob Brandon, reporter. Guests present at the coffee were Mmes. Derrel Hogsett, Worth Nelson, A. P. Coombes, Bill C. Cox, Eugene P. Turner, and Miss Helen Dunlap, county HD agent. Members present were Mmes. Archie Maness, Bert Jones, D. F. Flynn, Jack Howard, A. M. Nash, L. F. Watt, T. G. Groves, V. S. Day, Jack Prather and R. V. Lewis.

Millionaire Won't Quit Politics

HOUSTON — Millionaire oilman R. E. (Bob) Smith, Houston's 31-year civil defense director, replied to city councilmen's demands that he resign or "get out of politics" as chairman of the United Citizens Association that he would do neither.

Smith said by telephone from New York that there was "no connection" between the two jobs and that he had no intention of quitting either of them.

The United Citizens Association is an organization which will choose a slate of candidates for mayor and council in the Nov. 19 city election.

Joe Resweber, one of the six present councilmen who demanded Smith resign, accused him of using the civil defense organization as a "political machine" to support Mayor Roy Hofheinz.

Doctors Decide Surgery Risky

CHICAGO — UP — Doctors decided Wednesday not to risk an operation on 14-year-old Jo Nell Lane, of Anthony, N. M., who has been crippled since birth.

Surgeons at the University of Illinois Research and Educational hospital said not enough could be gained to justify the risk.

They said the decision was made in accord with the wishes of the parents.

A spokesman said the girl has limited use of one arm, and might lose it if surgery failed.

Jo Nell is virtually paralyzed from the neck down.

Ike Prepares Early Meal

DENVER — UP — The coldest weather of the early fall inspired President Eisenhower Wednesday to cook up a whopping crack-of-dawn breakfast and start painting a new landscape with snow-capped peaks in the background.

Despite a 12-degree low in the early morning, the President arose before six and showed his cooking versatility with leftovers by turning out a batch of crisp mush cakes covered with thick chicken gravy.

The chief executive, noting the snow-capped peaks surrounding the Byers Peak ranch of Akgel Nielsen where he is staying, put aside an unfinished canvas of a "peasant type" woman's head and began a new painting of the Rockies' landscape.

He later tried his luck again at fishing in the swift, chilly waters of St. Louis Creek.

Department Of Justice May Commit Citizens To Asylum

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

ROME — The law authorizing the Department of Justice to throw innocent citizens into lunatic asylums for life without trial is a trap which jeopardizes the freedom of any citizen who may antagonize a ruling political machine or any politician who later becomes a Federal Judge or U.S. Attorney.

In this attack on an infamous condition, I specifically disavow any intimation against any particular judge or District Attorney. I deal with two specific cases only to prove that political dissidents can be persecuted legally by the Department of Justice.

Erna Pound, confined more than 10 years in St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Washington, is one of the greatest poets we ever had. He won the Bollingen Prize for poetry.

This law says that if the U. S. Attorney suspects that a prisoner, not yet tried, is "mentally incompetent," he or the Judge himself, shall cause an examination by one "psychiatrist." The Judge may throw the victim into a lunatic asylum for a "reasonable" period for "observation" by the "psychiatrist." It should be noted that "psychiatry" in many instances has become a scandalous racket of quacks who flagrantly ignore the most rudimentary ethics of the medical profession.

In Mrs. Miller's case the court jury ord by the defendant the Judge was prejudiced because she had reviewed in print and condemned the political circumstances attending his appointment. Notwithstanding this, the Judge insisted on sitting in judgment on a woman claiming to be his personal adversary.

Neither Pound nor Mrs. Miller ever was "violent." Yet Pound cannot get up until Overholser shall find out he "will not endanger the safety of the officers, the property or other interests of the United States."

That night I answered such questions as the name of a county in Arkansas that begins with the letter Y (it's Yell); the number of Wisconsin citizens who voted the Greenback ticket in 1884 (4,988); the amount of snuff produced in the United States in 1920 (34,349 pounds); the names of all Marco Polo's uncles on the paternal side (Elmer, Peter, Merle, Homer, Howard, and Horace, the latter two being identical twins); and the 1960 winner of the radio chess match between Argentina and Spain (Argentina 13, Spain 2).

I got the addresses of the bicycle riders and the agronomists, but for

Not Subversion

January 25, 1955

The Green Mountain Rifelman, Bethel, Vermont.

Herbert Brownell, a shoddy political hack, is currently serving a trick as Attorney General because he was not quite important enough to rate Secretary of Treasury but a shade too important to be smacked off as Secretary of Interior.

Brownell has recently expressed front-page dissatisfaction over the inadequate penalties for sedition. It seems that some seditious conspirators, if they play their cards right, might spend as little as three years in the clink. Brownell is anxious to keep all seditious conspirators out of circulation long enough to give the public a chance to forget what they were conspiring about so seditiously. Twenty years would be just about right for Brownell, and present inflationary trends seem to assure Attorney Generals of the future the joy of sending seditious conspirators to prison for life just as they do in all other Communist countries.

Sedition is defined by Webster as "excitement of discontent against the government." Anybody who incites discontent against the government is a seditious. This definition can be spun out to include any citizen who criticizes any person who works in any branch of the government, for it is a commonly observed condition that these parasites always identify themselves with the government which gives them suck. "The State—that's me!" exulted Louis XIV of France. "I am the Government!" solemnly echoes the most wretched petty bureaucrat, burrowing in the most remote dead-end of the countless ramifications of this luxuriantly sprawling and ever-increasing government.

If Brownell were on solid ground then every last one of these swarming vermin would enjoy complete immunity from criticism or even questioning, for these creatures fastened to the flesh of the body politic, to question is, by implication, to criticize, and that's sedition!

If Brownell could secure such a Bureaucratic Paradise for himself and all the millions of others like him, that would be the fulfilling of an age-old dream. Through all these centuries, despots, tyrants and other kinds of assorted autocrats, have aspired to create a system which would give them absolute power without the need of constantly fighting to keep it. But we want to warn Herb that this is still a dream.

The writers and signers of the Constitution of the United States forswore the unsavory possibility of many Brownells to come, and provided us, their often unworthy posterity, with many sturdy defenses, in writing, too. The Constitution thunders "Congress shall make no law abridging freedom of speech or the press!"

If there is some federal statute making a crime of sedition, and there must be, since even Brownell hasn't got the nerve to refer to it without the existence of some such law, then that law is clearly void and invalid as it does what the Constitution forbids — it abridges freedom of speech and the press. Examination of state constitutions and statutes will disclose the fact that the Old Timers in the states were careful to safeguard freedom of speech and of the press and they, too, avoided the word "sedition." When early in our history, a president tried to have a sedition law enforced, it failed so dismally that it expired, and such an experiment was never attempted again until the Mass Sedition Trial during Roosevelt's fourth term which also failed gloriously.

This bloated Brownell deliberately confuses sedition with subversion hoping the public will do the same. Subversion, however, is the attempt to violently overthrow the government and is obviously treasonable. Repeated attempts by the like of Brownell under the five preceding administrations have failed to make a crime of sedition as such. It is reasonable to talk of conspiracy to commit murder, arson and burglary as crimes in all states. But if sedition is not a crime it is nonsense to talk of seditious conspiracy. It would be as sensible to talk of a conspiracy to bake a cake for a surprise party or a conspiracy to catch a runaway pig.

Now if Brownell says sedition is a crime, and we want to know who? We have personally challenged Brownell repeatedly to prosecute us for sedition . . . but if Brownell is going to demand "doubled and tripled" punishments for seditious, then he will have to try a seditious sometime — if he can find one he dares to confront. We are seditious who practice sedition every day not only from a sense of duty but from preference. Let Brownell fight us, one at a time, and perhaps the public will be enlightened concerning the true nature of sedition.

We want the public to know that SEDITION IS NOT SUBVERSION or anything like it, and also, that SEDITION IS NOT ALWAYS A CRIME.

"Give Me Liberty or Give Me Death"

Total Personal Savings Declining

Those people who believe there are eternal natural laws both ethical and physical that determine men's prosperity believe that a decline in personal savings is a bad sign as far as moral and economic development are concerned. Evidently people are beginning to believe the government will take care of them and they need not provide by saving for their own well-being.

The American Institute for Economic Research weekly bulletin reports on the personal savings for the past four years. Their September bulletin says that "current personal savings was at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $15,300,000,000, compared with $17,300,000,000 in the five years, 1950 to 1954, and $17,500,000,000 in the 15 years, 1940 to 1954."

"These conditions, an increasing rate of consumer spending and decreasing rate of personal savings, associated with an upward trend of personal income are contrary to the conditions assumed as a basic premise of the Keynesian theories. According to Arthur F. Burns, 'the most important proposition in Keynesian economics is that the consumption function has a certain shape, that is, consumer outlay increases with national income, but, by less than the increment of income.' A close review of recent data reveals that the Keynesian notions of economic behavior have not been supported by recent spending and savings patterns."

"In 1951, when disposable personal income totaled $226,100,000,000, consumers saved $17,700,000,000, or 7.8 percent of their income available for spending. In 1952 disposable personal income increased 4.7 percent, yet the percentage of income saved remained unchanged at 7.8. In 1953 disposable personal income increased to an amount 5.8 percent more than that of the previous year and 7.5 percent more than that of 1951, and yet income saved increased by only one-tenth of 1 percent of disposable income to 7.5 percent, compared with 7.8 percent for the two previous years. In 1954 disposable personal income increased to an amount 1.8 percent more than that of the previous year and 12.7 percent more than that of 1951, yet income saved decreased to 7.2 percent of disposable income. In 1954 disposable personal income was $28,700,000,000 larger than it was in 1951, yet at $18,300,000,000, the amount of income saved was only $700,000,000 larger than that saved in 1951 and was less than that saved in either 1952 or 1953, years when the total of disposable income was less."

"In the first half of 1955, disposable personal income was at a seasonally adjusted record annual rate of $264,000,000,000, nearly 4 percent larger than that of the corresponding period of 1954, yet the rate of savings declined to 6.1 percent of income, compared with 6.5 percent in the first half of 1954."

"Thus, except for 1953 when the percentage of disposable income saved increased one-tenth of 1 percent, the proportion of income saved has been trending generally downward since 1951 a period when income has been trending upward. Although these data do not reveal the reasons for the composite consumer behavior that they portray they provide a clear outline of that behavior pattern."

"Especially if the Keynesian theories are assumed to have some value in explaining business cycles do the recent data seem perplexing. The annual rate of personal savings in the first half of 1955 was reported at only $15,950,000,000, nearly 20 percent less than the $19,400,000,000 rate reported a year earlier, in spite of a 4-percent increase in disposable personal income. Eventually, all economists must admit that the record of experience should control economic theories in the sense of forcing their modification or abandonment when the theories fail to meet the test of facts. When that day comes, we believe that it will be difficult to find adherents to the Keynesian theories."

"Those people who have made any study of what raises the standard of living are convinced that anything that retards the accumulation of capital, as a result of decreased savings, will also retard the increase in the standard of living that has averaged some 3% or 4% a year for the last 150 years. The standard of living normally goes up each year due to one thing. That is increased capital, and increased capital to be diversified must come from personal savings."

"Of course this report does not show the increased savings of corporations. It is better for a society to have the savings personal rather than have concentrated in corporations controlled by officers who do not own control of the company. The reason it is harmful is that it relieves individual owners of the rights to manage their own savings. Anything that deprives individuals of the right to choose, in the long run is harmful."

Light Sentences Disgust Internal Revenue Director

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Internal Revenue Director T. Coleman Andrews has denounced publicly the leniency of many Federal Judges toward fraudulent income tax evaders. As further evidence of his attitude, here are his written private comments on certain cases which outrage him, as well as the criminal details:

"Ugh," wrote Andrews on a court file involving Robert C. Leuty of Minnesota. He failed to file any income tax return for 1951, with tax and penalties amounting to $23,403.35. He is a dentist, Judge Robert C. Bell placed him on probation for three years, and fined him $5,000.

The Internal Revenue agents investigated Leuty from 1946 to 1952, inclusive—seven years in all. With court costs, the expense to the government was more than the $5,000 fine.

"How considerate," was Andrews' written comment on the sentence which Judge J. Joseph Smith gave to Patsy Frank Di Zeno of Bridgeport, Conn.

Di Zeno was convicted of evading income tax payments totaling, with penalties, $236,112.23. From 1946 to 1951, inclusive, a Rental housing corporation official and general contractor, he omitted business receipts from his records and claimed mortgage interest deduction to which he was not entitled.

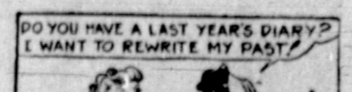

When he pleaded nolo contendere usually regarded as an admission of guilt, he was fined $1,000. He was given a suspended six-month prison sentence because of "poor health."

And, as reported in yesterday's column, a New Orleans man who failed to buy a $50 Federal Gambling License was fined $5,000, as against the $1,000 top on a $236,112.23 cheater.

"No! I can hardly believe it!" This was Andrews' comment on a tough sentence by Judge George Boldt of Seattle, Wash. For 1946-1948 income tax evasion, involving taxes to penalties of $179,100.53, Judge Boldt gave Amador A. Seigler, a pinball operator, five years in prison and a $10,000 fine. Andrews wishes there were more Boldts on the Federal Bench.

DO YOU HAVE A LAST YEAR'S DIARY? I WANT TO REWRITE MY PAST! DIARIES

Moran was convicted of income tax evasion for 1948, 1949, and 1950. The money on which he paid no taxes consisted of "shakedown" from installers of oil and other municipal equipment.

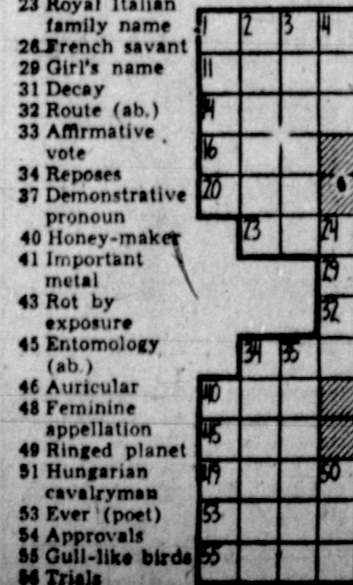

Taxes and penalties assessed against Moran amounted to $272,925.70. Judge Robert A. Inch gave him two years and fined him $22,500. Moran is now serving a twelve-and-a-half to a 18-year term for extortion and conspiracy, to be followed by consecutive sentences of five years for perjury and Judge Inch's two years for income tax evasion.

Twelve-and-a-half years to 15 years for extortion and conspiracy — five years for perjury — and only two years for swindling Uncle Sam of $272,925.70 in an illegal operation that involved all the other offenses—extortion, conspiracy and perjury.

Being a Virginian, Director Andrews knows practical politics. Federal Judges' handling of tax fraud cases have made him cynical. So, anent Moran, he appends this comment to the Tammany politicians' file?

"It'll be interesting to see who springs him, after things quiet down."

EAGLE ROCK — As I talk to people, I gather the impression that Secretary of State Dulles is getting the sympathy of an increasing section of the American public. But I ain't quite sure what that is getting him. When India's pro-Soviet roving ambassador, Krishna Menon, was in Washington recently, he requested an interview with President Eisenhower. Dulles brusquely told him the President was too busy. Then, as reported by Human Events (Aug. 13, 1955) Menon appealed to the "unofficial State Department" consisting of Milton Eisenhower, Harold Stassen, Nelson Rockefeller and Paul Hoffman. They got him an invitation to have tea with Ike and Dulles, was required to be present. It must have been bitter tea for him. Jonathan Yank

Mac Is Studying Hard, Will Try For $64,000 Question

By HENRY McLEMORE

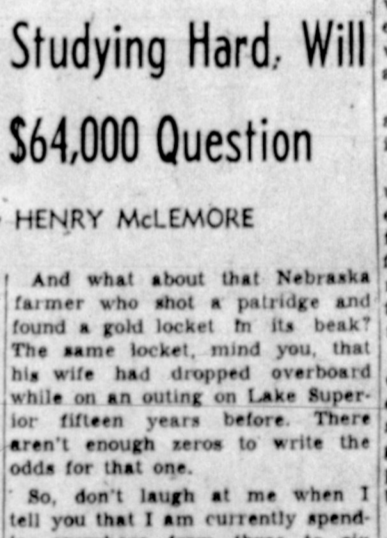

Just because the odds against being asked to appear on the $64,000 Question program are 20,000 to 1 is no reason for a man not doing his best to be ready in case he is invited.

Longer shots than that have come through. The chances are 5,000,000 to one that you won't be bitten by a goldfish, but I read a while back that a fellow nearly lost his ding finger to rapacious goldfish.

And what about that Nebraska farmer who shot a pair of geese and found a gold locket in its beak? The same locket, mind you, that his wife had dropped overboard while on an outing on Lake Superior fifteen years before. There aren't enough zeros to write the odds for that one.

So, don't laugh at me when I tell you that I am currently spending anywhere from three to six hours a day boning up on general information, the category I intend to choose if I am ever hauled out on the stage.

Until a man starts gathering general information in earnest he doesn't have any notion of the million and one things he doesn't know. It's downright discouraging. Last night after I had put away my encyclopedias and World Almanacs, and was standing under the sun lamp, I was stumped on the very first question. Didn't even get to first base and win the $64. After I had told Mary my age, my occupation, where I lived, and how I had happened to marry her, and she had laughed with that hollow laugh she had acquired since starting to act as a master of ceremonies, she popped the first question: (We don't have any bank of vault to keep the questions in. But we do the best we can. Many pull them out of a sewing basket that Dilly, the bulldog, sits on so that I won't have a chance to peek.)

The address of the National Shuffleboard Association is Post Office Box 2842, St. Petersburg 1, Florida. Mary said, "Now, for $64, give me the address of the following organizations: The Bicycle Club of America, the American Society of Agronomy, and Society of the Descendants of the Colonial Clergy."

PHS Foe Has New Coach, New Formation, New Faces

By JOHN DOUGLAS Sports Editor
Vernon Daily Record

Pampa's next football foe, the Vernon Lions, will come to town next Friday with a new coach, a new formation and a lot of new faces on the team.

Head Coach Bob Percival took over as head mentor after Spot Collins left last spring, and he inherited a good-green squad that had only one returning regular and three lettermen.

Switching to a split-T offensive pattern, Percival took his 33-man squad to Wichita Falls Sept. 9, where the Coyotes gave them a 28-6 football lesson that spoiled the Lions' opener with a four-touchdown aerial barrage in the first half.

The Lions' six points could be misleading about their offense as Tackle Willie Hannah made the score when he snatched the ball off the quick-kicking foot of a Coyote back and scampered 10 yards with the ball to the goal line.

The game with Pampa Friday night will be the second game for the Lions this season. They had an open date last week.

Left End Benny Goodrum, a 170-pound senior, is the lone returning regular. The other two returning lettermen are Keith Morris, and Richard Christopher.

Because of the inexperience of the 33-man squad, Percival will not use the platoon system on a full scale.

At least four, probably more, will see action against the Harvesters on both defense and offense.

They are backs Jimmy Williams and Roger Coats, Guard Paul Earnhart, who becomes a line-backer on defense, and Tommy Ford, also a guard.

Backfield men are strictly poppy-size. The heaviest back on the team is Fullback Roger Coats who weighs 185 pounds. Another active fullback is Dick Veto who weighs 155.

Quarterback Keith Morris will till the scales at 135 after a good, soaking rain. Another player expected to do a lot of signal calling is Larry Hamm who weighs 145.

Some of the halfbacks who will see action are James Bolton, 160; Bob Dillingham, 156; Richard Christopher, 170, and Jimmy Williams, 130.

Tackles will have to break the backs into the clear, said Percival, "because it's obvious our backs aren't going to run over anybody."

Speaking of tackles, that is where the Lions are strongest, according to Percival.

Three of them send the scale needle past the 200 mark. Jerry Bristo, a junior reserve letterman, is a solid 250 pounds, and he can move well for a big guy. He is capable of working from tackle to tackle in the line.

Gerald Guthrie, a senior at 220, and Donald Colbert, a senior at 201, are the other two tackles.

Another standout in the line is Benny Goodrum, veteran end, who carried from two to four blockers around on his back during the Wichita Falls game.

Primarily a running team, the

Shockers Meet Palo Duro B Here Tonight

The Pampa B team Shockers will host the Palo Duro (Amarillo) B team tonight at Harvester Stadium, starting at 7:30.

The Shockers opened the season last week with a 13-6 victory over the Berger B team.

The Pampa Junior High Reapers will also see action here today. The Reapers meet Horace Mann Junior High of Amarillo at Harvester Stadium at 7:30.

Shocker Coach Weldon Trice is expected to start the following boys tonight on offense:

Ends — Franklin Snow and Tommy Mullins.

Tackles — Glenn Howell and Bill Walsh.

Guards — Glenn Howell and Charles Peacock.

Center — Gary Peterson.

Quarterback — Dale Lake.

Fullback — Robert Lanford.

Halfbacks — Robert Warren and Buster Baird.

The Reapers dropped a heart-breaker last week in their season opener, losing to Austin of Amarillo, 13-7. Austin rallied in the last two minutes to win. The winning TD came after a Reaper batted down an Austin pass only to knock it into the arms of an Austin player who scored the winning TD.

Rocky Is Tough Cookie But Lacks Experience -- Dempsey

Editor's Note: Here's how Jack Dempsey, one of the greatest heavyweight champions in history analyzed Rocky Marciano's knockout victory over Archie Moore Wednesday night.

By JACK DEMPSEY
Written for United Press
NEW YORK—UP—Rocky Marciano proved to me that he is a mighty tough cookie, but he'll be an even better champion with a few more fights under his belt.

Marciano did a methodical job on game, old Archie Moore but I'm convinced he could have finished him sooner than the ninth round if he would have fought more to the body instead of the head.

The only way Rocky will learn how to finish a man quicker is Lions completed only one pass in four tries for a one-yard gain in the Coyote fray.

Although the Coyotes hit the Lions for four touchdowns via the air, they may be stronger on pass defense than it seems at first glance.

They allowed no completions in the second half of the game and the same passer and ends were at work that counted the earlier completions.

Percival and his two assistants, Backfield Coach Vernon Townsend and Line Coach I. D. Russell, have been working the Lions on tackling and pass defense since the game.

Another goal is synchronization in the backfield. That's the thing that makes the split-T click.

Percival is making no predictions about his boys chances against Pampa, saying that he knows little or nothing about the Harvesters.

Oilers Drop Home Finale, 14-4

Move To CC To Complete Season

By BUCK FRANCIS Pampa News Sports Editor

Baseball season in Pampa ended last night when the Corpus Christi Clippers again staged a late rally to down the Oilers and take a 2-0 lead in the Little Dixie Series.

The Oilers led 4-3 going into the seventh of last night's encounter but the Clippers rallied for two runs in the seventh to take the lead for the first time in the ball game and then the South Texans turned the game into a rout with nine runs in the final two frames to win by 14-4.

The series now shifts to Corpus Christi for its completion. Activity will be suspended until Saturday night when the series resumes. The next game would ordinarily have been Friday night but due to a high school football game in Corpus, the date was reset for Saturday.

The Oilers left last night after the game and many of the players will go directly home from Corpus following the series.

Last night's "meager" turnout of 970 paid fans was treated to a fine ball game until the eighth inning when the Clippers caught fire to put the game on ice.

The Clippers scored four in the eighth and then poured five across in the ninth to win going away.

Six homers were slammed in the game, four by the Clippers and two by the Oilers. The big blow was Don Leppert's grand slammer in the ninth that put the game out of reach for the Oilers.

The other three Clipper homers were by Dean Stafford in the second and the bases empty; Ed Charles in the seventh with one on; and Bill Toshee in the eighth with one on.

Curtis Hardaway hit his 10th homer of the post-season playoffs for the Oilers with none on in the fifth. Earlier in the game, Dick Hairston also had smashed a solo blast for the Oilers.

Charles' homer in the seventh was the blow that sent the Clippers out front for the first time and to stay.

The Oilers took a 2-0 lead in the first inning with two unearned runs. The first two Oilers to bat, Rach Slider and Len Attyd, got on when third baseman Connie Ryan bobbled their ground balls. Hardaway moved both runners up with a sacrifice bunt and Joe Fortin doubled to score the two runners.

Stafford's homer made it 2-1 in the second with the Oilers coming back in the lower half of the inning to make it 3-1 on Hairston's roundtripper.

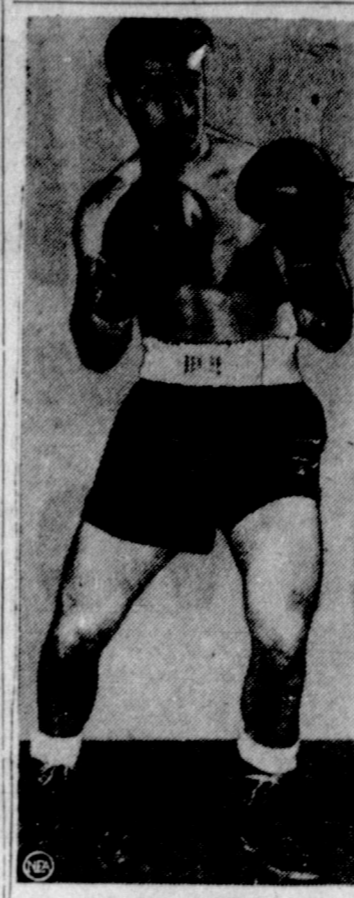

The Clippers tied it up in the fourth on singles by Charles, Stafford and Jack Christian and a sacrifice fly by Ryan.

Then came Charles' roundtripper in the seventh with one on to give the Clippers the lead they held the rest of the way.

Noel Oquendo went the route for the Clippers and gave up six hits. Starter Andy Bush, although striking out 12 Clippers, absorbed the loss.

Yankees Cinch Tie For American Loop Pennant

By UNITED PRESS
 There's only one question left Thursday in the once-blazing American League race: Will the New York Yankees have enough champagne to go around?
 For the relentless Yankees' "magic number" was down to "one" and it'll be cork-popping time sometime during the four-game weekend series with the Red Sox in Boston. The Yankees need only one victory in the series to wrap up Manager Casey Stengel's sixth pennant in seven years.
 The Yankees, rolling to their eighth consecutive triumph and their 15th in 19 games in a magnificent September stretch drive, clinched at least a tie for the flag when they beat the Washington Senators 7-3 Wednesday night while the Cleveland Indians bowed to the Chicago White Sox 7-2.
 The Indians' forlorn hope is that the Yankees will lose four straight and that they will sweep their three-game series with the Detroit Tigers and go on to beat New York in a single-game playoff next Monday. The only betting on this possibility is that you can't get a bet on it.

Turley Gets 17th Win
 The Yankees rolled out their siege guns to win Wednesday night's game. Billy Martin blasting a homer and Bob Cery and Bill Skowron belting triples. Fireballer Bob Turley received credit for his 17th victory and raised his strike-out total to 206.
 It was the New York Giants who broke the Indians' bubble in the 1954 World Series and it was an ex-Giant pitcher who dealt them Wednesday night's mortal blow. Jack Harshman, who has only a 6-5 record against the rest of the league, beat the Indians for the fifth time this year with a five-hitter embellished by seven strikeouts.
 Bob Lemon protected a 1-0 inning when a double by rookie Cal Peterson, a walk, George Kell's

TL Playoff Finals Tied At 3-3

SHREVEPORT —UP— Shreveport and Houston, the third and fourth place Texas League finishers during the regular season, square off Thursday night in the final game of the playoff series with the winner going on to meet Mobile of the Southern Association of the Dixie Series.
 The Sports beat the Buffs 8 to 2 last night to draw even in their final set with three victories apiece. It was the second straight Shreveport victory after Houston took an early 3-1 lead in the series.
 No-hit pitcher Billy Muffett, who became the first Texas League ever to hurl a no-hit ball in a playoff game in the final Shreveport-San Antonio game of their first round series, teamed up with reliever Gale Pringle to stop Houston on seven scattered hits last night.
 Muffett went six innings and surrendered both Buff runs in getting credit for the win. Houston starter Bill Gzeason, the first of five moundsmen, was tagged for three runs in the third by the Sports and that was enough to win.
World Series Tickets Gone
 NEW YORK —UP— Don't waste that three-cent stamp if you haven't already ordered World Series tickets from the New York Yankees.
 The Yankees announced Wednesday that all box and reserved seats for the anticipated four games at Yankee Stadium are sold out. Standing room tickets at $4.20 and approximately 14,000 bleacher tickets will go on sale on the day of each game.
 "We are oversold and are accepting no more orders," a Yankee official said. "We thank our fans and regret there are no tickets left for sale."
Eastern Shore Wins Pace
 YONKERS, N.Y. —UP— Eastern Shore, the favorite driven by John Simpson, won the Peiham Pace at Yonkers raceway Wednesday night before 15,229 fans. The winner paid $5.30, 3.50 and 2.60.

Raiders Out To Prove Win Over Texas Was No Fluke

By ED FITE
 DALLAS —UP— Texas Tech's rampant Red Raiders, begging for years to get into the Southwest Conference, make another pitch Saturday at trying to show the conference they're worthy of the role in the area's feature game against Texas Christian.
 Coach DeWitt Weaver's Raiders already have one big feather in their cap after a shocking 20-14 upset of the University of Texas at Austin last week.
 But, that isn't enough for the ambitious West Texas school which has repeatedly been denied a seat among the select seven that make up this area's major conference.
Want to Show No Fluke
 They want to prove that the Texas triumph was no fluke and that Weaver's long-building athletic program now has Tech at the stage where it can stage an upset and not suffer a letdown the following week.
 There'll be no element of surprise for either team in Saturday's game before an overflow crowd of 30,000, for TCU looked efficiently potent last Saturday itself in burying Kansas 47-14 with a running attack that clicked on both the long breakaways and the short power plunges.
 Neither Tech nor TCU bothered to use the forward pass with much frequency in their opening victories, but in the light of the effectiveness of Texas' and Kansas' aerial efforts, both may elect to open up this week.
 Coach Abe Martin's Texas Christian outfit came through unscathed against Kansas, but Tech didn't fare so well, losing two-time all-Border Conference fullback Jim Sides for four to six weeks with a broken wrist. Also guard Arlen Wesley may be out with a cleat wound and center Dwane West suffered a twisted knee that may sideline him.
 The game may be a battle of breakaway backs — Tech's Don Schmidt against TCU's Jimmy Swink, both of whom performed brilliantly last Saturday.
Schmidt Got Over Half
 Schmidt picked up 125 of Tech's 209 yards rushing, including scoring plays of one and 79 yards, returned a kickoff 26 yards and averaged 39 yards on six punts.
 Swink did even better in the yardage department, kicking in 137 yards that included an 80-yard scoring sprint from scrimmage, and another 46 yard touchdown jaunt with a pilfered pass.

Cotton Bowl May Add 5,000 Seats

DALLAS —UP— The Cotton Bowl may come within 500 seats of being the second largest bowl in the nation if present plans to add some 5,000 seats to the upper deck on the east side becomes a reality.
 The Texas State Fair officials Wednesday advertised for bids on the proposed addition — which would bring the total seating capacity of the Cotton Bowl to 80,504 — and if the construction price meets their approval the project will be authorized immediately and financing begun by selling seat options.
 The Cotton Bowl currently ranks third in size as compared with other bowls in the country. The Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif., which seats nearly 100,000, is first and the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans second with 80,985 seats.
 The new seats in the Cotton Bowl would be added to the upper deck on the side opposite the press box to make it equal the capacity to the west upper-deck.

NC Points For Sooners

RALEIGH, N.C. —UP— "There's nothing like experience," Coach George Barclay chuckled, talking about the opening football game for his University of North Carolina Tar Heels Saturday.
 Oklahoma is the Tar Heels' foe at Chapel Hill. And, even on a schedule that includes Maryland, Notre Dame and Duke, the Sooners are "the big one."
 "The first game always means a lot," Barclay said. "They don't come any bigger than a game with Oklahoma."
 Despite the schedule, Barclay confidently expects the Tar Heels to improve on a 30-30 1954 record of four victories, five losses and a tie. He counts heavily on the finest crop of sophomore talent in Tar Heel history to pave the way for a return to national prominence for North Carolina.
 Quarterbacking has been the main problem since Barclay took over the helm a year after his predecessor, Carl Snively, switched from the single wing of the Charlie Justice era to the split-T attack.
 Barclay figures he finally has the man — or rather three men, all sophomores. All are battling for the starting role at directing the split-T.
 The Tar Heel line is big and Barclay has a couple of shining sophomore linemen who will help.

Anything less is an old-fashioned truck!

New Chevrolet Task-Force Trucks

They're the most modern trucks on the road. If you don't get all the advantages they offer, you stand to lose money on the job today... and again at trade-in-time!

Most modern power—V8 or 6

In most new Chevrolet truck models, you have your choice of V8* or 6. Chevrolet's new truck V8's have the shortest stroke of any V8 in any leading truck! That means less friction and wear per mile. The valve-in-head sixes are new editions of the engines that have long been famous as the "work horses" of the truck world! And all Chevrolet truck engines have a modern 12-volt electrical system for quicker starting, better ignition and a greater electrical reserve.

The truck driver's "dream cab"

That's the closest we can come to describing the new Flite-Ride De Luxe cab. What truck driver wouldn't go for features like these: panoramic windshield for wider, safer vision; concealed Safety Step that stays clear of snow, mud and ice; High-Level ventilation that provides a more constant supply of outside air in all kinds of weather.

Most modern truck styling

We call it Work Styling—and you get it only in new Chevrolet trucks! Two fresh, functional styling treatments are offered—one for light- and medium-duty models, another for heavy-duty models. Your Chevrolet truck will do your job better—and look better doing it!

Most modern features throughout

Advanced suspensions, more rigid, ladder-type frames! Tubeless tires standard on 3/2-ton models! Come in and see all the ways you're way ahead with new Chevrolet trucks!

*V8 standard in L.C.F. models, an extra-cost option in all others except Forward Control models.

Year after year, America's best selling truck!
