Geneva Conference Gets Ike's Attention

President In Bedside Meet With Secretary Of State

By MERRIMAN SMITH

DENVER —UP— President Eisenhower holds a last-minute bedside conference Wednesday with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles about the forthcoming Big Four foreign ministers' conference in Geneva.

When Dulles' plane landed Tuesday night, he said the theme of his and the President's conference was "getting ready for Geneva." But Dulles and the recuperating President were expected to cover a wide range of foreign developments.

Meanwhile, the President's doctors in their first medical bulletin of the day issued at 7 a. m. mst (8 a. m. est) said the President slept nine hours Tuesday night and that his condition continues to progress.

Brief Conference

The conference will be brief, on doctor's orders, and was set some time during the morning. Later Wednesday, Dulles will fly back to Washington for a conference Thursday with congressional leaders of both parties. He leaves Saturday for Geneva.

The President steadily gained strength and his doctors went ahead with their methodical preparations to get him back on his feet again. He was allowed in a wheelchair Tuesday for the first time.

But hospital corpsmen lifted him from his bed and into the wheelchair, and, after pushing him about on an eighth floor terrace at Fitzsimons Army hospital for 20 minutes, returned him to the bed.

Sits Up for Half Hour
Mr. Eisenhower sat up in his room for half an hour later in the day in an easy chair, in which he regularly sits now. On previous trips to the terrace to take the sun, he was pushed in his bed, which is on wheels.

While the President was sitting in his room, he was visited by Dr. Milton Eisenhower, his younger brother, who is the president of Pennsylvania State University. Mrs. Eisenhower brought the President up-to-date on goings on at their Gettysburg, Pa., farm.

Mr. Eisenhower signed documents Tuesday proclaiming Oct. 26 as "National Day of Prayer" and extending emergency flood relief to two more states—Pennsylvania and Massachusetts.

Oklahoman Puts Out Larger Paper

OKLAHOMA CITY —UP— The Daily Oklahoman published a larger-than-usual 42-page newspaper Wednesday despite a strike by 140 composing room employees.

The morning newspaper carried 26 regular pages, about normal for a Wednesday, plus a 16-page special section on a new shopping center.

Tuesday, the evening paper, Oklahoma City Times, came out with a normal 24 pages for Tuesday. Both are published by the Oklahoma Publishing Co.

Personnel director Robert Spann said reporters, advertising workers and executives have put on print shop aprons and are doing a "magnificent job."

"Many of our editorial people got their start on small Oklahoma newspapers and know a little about the back shop," Spann said.

Accepting Applications

He added the company is now accepting applications to replace the 140 International Typographical Union members who left their jobs Monday.

He indicated the door still was open to strikers to return, saying, "They can make application for employment."

"We're looking for a lot of trainees, mostly," he said. "We're expecting to have to train a lot of young men in printing."

While there was little noticeable difference in the publication typographically or in size, the number of editions on both the Oklahoman and Times was reduced from four to three.

Prepared in Advance

Spann said much of the 16-page special section was prepared before the strike started, although it was not printed until Wednesday. (See OKLAHOMAN, Page 3)

Search For Killer Starts

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Robt. Loughran has covered Chicago crime for the United Press for 37 years. Among the stories he has reported are the murder of Bobby Franks by Leopold and Loeb in the 1920s and the Suzanne Degnan murder case in 1946.)

By ROBERT T. LOUGHRAN

CHICAGO —UP— A giant manhunt covered Chicago Wednesday for the sex maniac or teen-aged hoodlums who strangled three young boys and left their nude bodies stacked like cordwood in a ditch.

The mangled bodies of the victims, three "wonderful" home-loving boys, lay in county morgue. John Schuessler, 13, and his brother, Anton Jr., 11, had been strangled by hand. Their friend, 12-year-old Robert Peterson, had been viciously beaten on the head and then strangled with a tie or rope.

The clothes of all three boys had been ripped from them and marks showed their eyes, mouths and hands had been laped. They were not sexually assaulted.

One of Worst Crimes

It was by far one of the worst crimes in Chicago's history. The only comparable cases were the murder of 14-year-old Bobby Franks by Nathan Leopold and Frank Loeb almost 30 years ago and the slaying of six-year-old Suzanne Degnan by William Heirens in 1946. But those murders only claimed single victims—this time it was three.

In their modest bungalow homes, the murderers' boys' parents were near collapse.

Mrs. Schuessler, a frail, 37-year-old woman, rocked back and forth on her living-room couch Tuesday night while neighbor women clustered about her.

She would murmur "my life... my arms... my legs... now gone." Once she shrieked "I want my boys! I want my boys!"

The father came in and fell on his knees before his wife. "Mother, mother, what kind of land do we live in?" he sobbed.

At the Peterson home, Bobby's brother and two sisters cried hysterically last night when they learned they had apparently been killed shortly after they were last seen in a bowling alley Sunday night.

Chicago authorities disagreed on the motive behind the killings. Coroner Walter J. McCarron called it the work of a "sex maniac—the most horrible sex crime in years." Sheriff Joseph Lohman, however, believed that a brutal teen-aged gang had murdered the boys.

A man identified as an unemployed school teacher was picked up for questioning early Wednesday after he was named in an anonymous telephone call to police. The man lives five blocks from the Schuessler home, but police said he denied any connection with the murder and offered to take a lie test.

Look for Middle-Aged Man

Chicago police, leaning towards the sex maniac theory, also searched for a middle-aged man who took two teen-aged boys for a ride Sunday night after meeting them in a bowling alley.

An inquest was scheduled for Wednesday and a small army of city and county policemen took up the search for the killer.

The search for clues in Robinson's wood's located outside the city's northwest limits, continued through the night and into the early morning hours. It intensified at daybreak, with 100 officers, stationed only four or five feet apart, moving through the brushland. Guards and road blocks isolated the area.

Dewey Mentioned As '56 Candidate

WASHINGTON —UP— Speculation increased Wednesday that Dewey would be named as a 1956 Republican presidential nominee.

Chairman L. Judd Morhouse of the New York Republican party intensified the speculation Tuesday night with a statement that any one of several men "in or out" of government could lead the party to victory if President Eisenhower does not run again.

Morhouse, speaking at a $50 a plate GOP dinner at Schenectady, N. Y., did not identify the potential candidates. But Dewey, now engaged in private law practice, and Dr. Milton Eisenhower, the President's brother, are the most frequently mentioned possibilities outside federal or state government.

Figures in Decisions

Morhouse, as New York Republican leader, would figure prominently in decisions by that state's important delegation to the GOP convention on whom to support for the nomination. Dewey could be a favorite son candidate.

In his speech Morhouse attacked New York's present governor, Averell Harriman, a Democrat and also regarded as a presidential hopeful, for his part in the "Truman administration's decisions that led to the Korean war and the disgraceful dismissal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur."

At a news conference in Newark, N. J., meanwhile, California Republican Gov. Goodwin J. Knight said Republicans can win in 1956 with or without President Eisenhower. But, he said, the job would be easier with Mr. Eisenhower heading the ticket.

Knight May File

Knight said he would file for Mr. Eisenhower in California's presidential preference primary if the President himself does not. In California, the candidate winning the primary receives the support of the state delegation to the GOP convention.

Knight said the GOP candidate should be a "moderate" similar to Mr. Eisenhower if the President himself does not make the race. He declined to comment on whether two Californians mentioned for the Republican nomination, Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Senate Republican leader William F. Knowland, fitted the "moderate" label.

Well, It Could Have Been So!

MADRID, Spain —UP— A man who showed up at the offices of newspaper "Madrid" Tuesday said he knew the secret of the Townsend-Princess Margaret story—it all revolved around his daughter who was in love with Townsend.

The newsmen lost interest in the man's story, however, when an ambulance arrived and took the man back to a nearby insane asylum from which he had escaped.

Margaret Resumes Her Royal Duties

LONDON —UP— Princess Margaret Wednesday resumed the royal duties which are among the greatest stumbling blocks to her reported romance with RAF Group Capt. Peter Townsend.

She presented colors to a battalion of Highlanders Troops on famed Salisbury Plain southwest of London and told them that this is a time "for resolute and unwavering service."

Wednesday night she and other members of the royal family dined with heads of the Church of England, who are among the strongest opponents of her possible marriage to a divorced man.

The dinner at Lambeth Palace was the fourth of five crucial events this week in the unfolding romance.

There were three Tuesday. Prime Minister Anthony Eden met with his cabinet to discuss the legal implications of such a wedding. Then Eden went to see the queen. While they talked Princess Margaret received Townsend once more—their sixth date in six days.

The fifth major event of the week comes Thursday when Eden, selected fully briefed in an unusually long 90-minute call on the queen at Buckingham Palace holds another cabinet meeting at No. 10 Downing Street.

Injunction Stops Union Agreement

AUSTIN —UP— The Texas Supreme Court Wednesday ordered an injunction prohibiting the Santa Fe railroad and 16 non-operating unions from signing a union shop agreement held in effect until the U.S. Supreme Court rules on a related case.

The court pointed out that a case now under appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court from Nebraska presents points of law "to a considerable extent the same" as in the Santa Fe case.

"It is ordered that this cause be passed to await a decision by the Supreme Court of the United States in the Hanson case and that the injunction granted by the trial court be maintained in full force and effect until further orders of this court," the court said in a brief order.

An injunction was granted early in 1954 by District Judge E. C. Wilson at Amarillo, directed against the unions and the vast Santa Fe system, barring them from negotiating a union shop contract.

The suit was brought against the unions and the Santa Fe by 13 Amarillo employees of the railway, and Santa Fe joined the case as cross-defendants.

Neilon said in the trial court ruling that the decision was directed "only at compulsory unionism."

Rock To Be Examined At Rice I.

HOUSTON —UP— A shower of "fireballs" that made nationwide headlines last week may have left a rocky memento of the phenomenon on the Texas Gulf Coast.

Noble Miller, an employee of Union Carbide & Carbon Chemicals Co., Texas City, found a charred black rock Wednesday while riding, and scientists at Rice Institute were to examine it Wednesday.

Dr. John Adams, a Rice geology professor, said "the prospect of it being a meteor is terribly exciting, because they are extremely rare."

Miller, who witnessed the fireball shower over South Texas last week, said he found the blackish, strange-looking rock on top of the ground, not buried.

"It seemed strangely out of place," he said. "It's heavy, and pitted, and looks weird."

The rock measured eight by nine by 14 inches and weighed 16 pounds.

Administration Would Cut Long Term War Reserves

By CHARLES CORDRY

WASHINGTON —UP— The administration has directed the military services to concentrate on the weapons and forces needed in the opening stages of a war and cut down on building long-term war reserves.

Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson brought the new move to light Tuesday in outlining a plan which he hopes will bring annual savings of about $500 million in defense spending.

Wilson said that the savings sought would be "just one little piece" of the effort to balance the federal budget and would help to offset increasing military spending in the field of weapons, radar and other new developments.

The emphasis on forces ready to strike devastating blows at the opening stages of a conflict fits the theory, mainly, advanced by the Air Force, that another global war would be decided quickly because of the power of nuclear weapons.

Wilson told a news conference late Tuesday that the Pentagon had turned away from the idea of preparing to "fight" a five-year war on the World War II pattern and "storing all the brooms and adding machines" in advance.

In a seven-page order to the service secretaries, titled "general guide lines for fiscal 1956 and 1957," Wilson said that "continued emphasis is to be placed on maintenance and modernization of the combat forces that are required for the initial phases of hostilities."

Russia Releases Field's Daughter

EDITOR'S NOTE: Mrs. Erika Glasser Wallach is the last of the "disappearing" Fields to emerge from imprisonment in a Soviet Russian slave labor camp. As was the case with Noel Field, her foster father, Herta Field and Herman Field, she was sentenced as a spy.

By MRS. ERIKA GLASSER WALLACH

Written for United Press

MOSCOW —UP— The Russian authorities brought me back from the Vorkuta labor camp to Moscow several weeks ago and told me with apologies that my imprisonment was a mistake.

All I can say now is that I am happy to be free to walk about the city—sightseeing, going where I like, seeing films and plays, and planning a reunion with my mother, husband and children.

I do not want to discuss my prison experience for, as you know, there is a Russian saying, "turna ne kurort," which means prison is not a resort.

"Certainly No Picnic"

It is certainly no picnic. It is no pleasure to be a labor camp inmate, but I cannot complain about my treatment.

I was released and cleared of all charges with apologies from the Soviet authorities. Now I just want to plan a quiet simple life with my family.

(Her husband, Robert Wallach, a Washington bank employe, was overjoyed when informed that his wife was free and is returning to him.)

(However, Mrs. Wallach still faces the problem of getting a U.S. visa, before she can rejoin her American husband and two children in the United States.)

Native of Germany

(She is not an American. She is a native of Germany. But now, it is understood, she has no citizenship anywhere.)

(Washington officials recalled that she had been temporarily denied a visa for entry into the United States before. The grounds for this action were not disclosed. Furthermore, they noted that she once was closely associated with Noel and Herta Field, Americans who decided to remain in Hungary rather than return to the United States after being freed from jail in that Communist Nation.)

Please do not consider me a martyr or a heroine. I want bygone to be bygone and to forget. I am not planning to exploit my unfortunate experience, to write books or articles, or to lecture—just to live quietly for the rest of my life.

450 Enjoy C of C Banquet In Cafeteria

Art Briese "pulled the wool" over approximately 450 Pampa citizens' eyes last night at the Pampa Chamber of Commerce and Board of City Development annual banquet.

Posing as an Englishman, who was asked to speak when Briese failed to show up, "Major Cecil Bates," Briese, pulled the "Top of Texas" leg a bit and kept the crowd, which really thought he was a Britisher, in an uproar with his fake intentions to write a mythical book called, "So This Is America."

In a very few moments of seriousness, Briese told the members of the chamber to "pull together and put your shoulder to the wheel," in order to guarantee a progressive Pampa.

After his speech, Briese was exposed by Ed Myatt, much to the delight of the crowd.

New executive officers and members of the official board were greeted by the crowd and Floyd Watson, outgoing president, who was master of ceremonies for the event.

The new officers are Ed Myatt, president; Paul Crouch, vice president; and E. L. Henderson, finance director.

New directors are E. Roy Smith, Warren Hasee, Gordon Lyons, Jake Osborne, Joe Fischer, Hugh Burdette, J. C. McWilliams, R. H. Nensell, Frank Pata, James A. McCann, Arthur M. Teed, Aubrey Steele, George Cree, John Frick, Paul West, Joe Tooley, and Don Cain.

Entertainment for the affair was provided by the Four Hearsemen of Amarillo, international barber-shop quartet champions. Ramona Hudgins was at the organ to provide dinner music.

The invocation was by the Rev. William E. West, rector of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church.

A large delegation of visitors from neighboring towns and cities was also recognized.

Watson and Cameron Marsh received a plaque and a hat from the chamber for outstanding service during the past year.

Leon Holmes received a plaque for maintaining the outstanding service station in Pampa during Oil Progress Week.

Mary Kennedy, "Oil Queen," was also present at the banquet.

Paternity Case Is Resumed

HOLLYWOOD —UP— A Washington, D. C. showgirl's paternity suit trial resumed Wednesday against singer Johnny Johnston, accused of fathering her 11-month-old daughter.

Belle Bowers, 25, said she was intimate with Johnston on March 4 and 5, 1954, in his Washington hotel room. Her daughter, Dana Elizabeth, was conceived at that time, she said in opening testimony Tuesday.

Johnston has denied the charge. Superior Judge Elmer D. Doyle a year ago refused to award Miss Bowers temporary support pending trial of the suit because he said there was no proof of paternity.

Miller, who witnessed the fireball shower over South Texas last week, said he found the blackish, strange-looking rock on top of the ground, not buried.

"It seemed strangely out of place," he said. "It's heavy, and pitted, and looks weird."

The rock measured eight by nine by 14 inches and weighed 16 pounds.

Boy Scouts

(Editor's Note: This is another in a series of articles about the work of the agencies which are being served by funds from the United Fund Drive which begins in Pampa Monday.)

In Pampa and Gray County more than 40 per cent of all boys eligible by age are members of the Boy Scouts of America. Credit for this outstanding record must go to the sponsoring institutions—churches, parent-teacher associations, civic clubs and veterans organizations which make their facilities available. Credit should also go to the hundreds of volunteer leaders who give leadership to the program.

The Adobe Walls Council, which serve the boys of 15 counties in the Texas and Oklahoma Panhandles, will close 1955 with a boy membership of more than 4500. More than 1900 adult volunteer leaders serve in some capacity.

Since a boy joins scouting to have fun, the program of activities of the council is designed to give the boy the fun and adventure he wants and, at the same time, emphasize the ideals of scouting. Features of the 1955 program have included the scout circuit which attracted more than 3000 boys to the Pampa Rodeo Arena last May.

There, in a fast-moving program, the boys demonstrated their skill in scouting activities and put on an entertaining show for some 5000 parents and friends.

Camp Ki-O-Wah, located near Canadian, attracted 882 Boy Scouts during the 1955 summer camping season. Boy Scout advancement was stressed, with special emphasis on water activities and life saving. In addition, more than 600 Cub Scouts and dads enjoyed a week-end at Camp Ki-O-Wah, where the Cub Scouts got a taste of what lies ahead for them when they reach scouting age.

Don Cain, county attorney of Gray County, serves as district chairman of the Santa Fe District which includes Gray, Carson, Hemphill and Roberts Counties. Under his direction the Boy Scout program has been extended to more boys and the District Committee, under his direction, has rendered valuable service to the cub packs, scout troops and explorer posts of the district.

The executive board of the council, which consists of business and professional men from all communities, sets the general program of the council and administers the business and financial affairs. Pampa men serving on the executive board include Gene Fatheree, Don Cain, Rev. E. Douglas Carver, M. K. Brown, Raymond Harrah, Hugh Burdette, Ray Evans, Joe Gordon, C. A. Huff, James A. McCune, George H. New.

BIBLE THAT ISN'T READ—This Bible, which nobody can read today, is a recent addition to the rare-book collection in the Detroit, Mich., Public Library. It's a translation into the language of the Massachusetts Indians, who disappeared as a tribe in the early 1700's. Translation was made by the Rev. John Eliot, D.D., in 1663. Dr. Eliot devised the alphabet, as the tribe had none, and then taught the Indians how to read it. Today, because the tribe's traditions and dialect in the Algonquin tongue are forgotten, nobody can decipher Dr. Eliot's Bible. The copy pictured above is one of a second, revised edition published by Samuel Green, of Cambridge, Mass., in 1885.

His, Her Fashions Have Become Distinguishable

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY

NEW YORK — UP — Women have stopped borrowing from the men's wardrobes, ceased chopping their hair in little-boy bobs and decried an amicable separation of his-and-hers fads.

Now it's his and hers, without the hyphen. The split came without any noisy arguments — even the people who copied man-tailored shirts for woman seem happy about it. They simply have added a girlish collar here and a puffed sleeve there and brought out the new all-girl versions of men's suits.

Hair stylists talk in such phrases as "back to Venus" as curls begin to reappear at the nape of the neck. And scarf makers, who a year or so ago heralded bow ties, string neckties and even miniature four-in-hands for women now talk of satin ascots and embroidered collars.

Foundation Needs Surveyed

Evidence that we're definitely launched on an era of all-out femininity in fashions comes by various authorities. A company that makes foundation garments did a detailed survey of what women were asking for when they went shopping.

Their interest in sentimental shades like pink . . . in elegant fabrics such as satin . . . and in less see-through fabrics and more coverage . . . was extremely significant," the survey concluded.

The researchers from the H. W. Gossard Co., termed it "the lady look" and defined it as "gentle, modest and quietly elegant." The woman who has the look, according to the survey, "neither wears nor shows too much of anything."

An executive of one of the nation's largest blouse and shirt manufacturers revealed that the strictly man-tailored shirt lost favor with women when the new "dress-up feeling of fashion" began to catch on.

"The man's shirt looks best worn under a jacket," explained William Netzky, "Women like the simplicity of shirt tailoring, but they want adaptations that make their shirt look more like the top of a dress."

Shirt Necklines Plunge

As a result women now have shirts with necklines that plunge unexpectedly below tailored reverses; pointed collars that can be turned up Italian style and collarless necklines to be topped with round collars glittering with embroidery.

"The little-boy collar is the closest thing to a masculine look in our new shirts," added Netzky, an official of the Ship 'n Shore Blouse Co.

We haven't been so feminine since the middle ages, one fashion source claims. That was also the period when the idea of romantic love came into general acceptance.

All of which indicates that while women are giving men back their bow ties and white shirts and clipped necklines they may expect something in return—like a seat in the subway or a courtly bow now and then.

Oklahoma Oil Increase

OKLAHOMA CITY — UP — Conservation director Massena Murray Tuesday recommended a 10 per cent increase in Oklahoma oil production allowances for November.

The Corporation Commission look Murray's recommendation under advisement, and was not expected to act on it until Wednesday.

Murray recommended the 10 per cent increase apply to all wells. That would raise the present 20-barrel per minimum to 22 barrels per day.

Production this month has averaged about 560,000 barrels per day. If the commission approves Murray's recommended increase, Oklahoma oil production next month could top 600,000 barrels per day.

However, some oil men predicted that even if the 10 per cent increase were approved, actual production would not increase by that much because some state wells cannot produce the maximum allowed.

A commission spokesman said the increase production was recommended because of increased national demand for petroleum.

Poet Has Heart Attack

DETROIT — UP — Poet Edgar A. Guest Tuesday was reported recovering from a slight heart attack which he suffered at his home.

Guest, confined to an oxygen tent in New Grace Hospital, was reported in "good spirits." He suffered the attack Tuesday.

Mrs. Cave Addresses Gray Ladies

Mrs. Thelma Cave of Plainview, service group consultant of the national Red Cross chapter, spoke on "Why You Serve as a Gray Lady" for the annual coffee of the Pampa Chapter of Gray Ladies yesterday at 10 a.m. in Lovett Memorial Library.

Mrs. A. D. McNamara was unanimously elected as chairman of the chapter. Outgoing chairman was Mrs. C. E. High, who has served for the past two years.

Mrs. Lynn Boyd was elected to succeed Mrs. Boyd and Mrs. High received certificates for outstanding service, presented by Mrs. F. W. Showell.

A new class of Gray Ladies, completing their training, were presented with certificates and caps in a short ceremony. They are now authorized to work in local hospitals and to serve in the homes of the ill.

Mrs. H. O. Darby and Mrs. Charles Brauchle were in charge of table decorations, which included a large Red Cross emblem with streamers coming down to maps of North and South America. Red carnations decorated the table, and silver appointments were used.

Two Gray Lady dolls in uniform were on both sides of the globe. Receiving their caps were: Mmes. C. F. Kito, R. E. Dunbar, H. H. Threlk, Merle Allen, Raymond Parker, A. C. Wilkerson, George Hancock, Sadie Gilbert, E. A. Finkelstein; and Miss Annie Dixo.

No Justice SOUTH KINGSTON, R. I. — While Chester B. Lakomski was rescuing an exhausted swimmer from East Matunuck Beach, a thief entered his automobile and stole a wallet containing $22.

Pullers For Cotton Are Needed Now

About 200 cotton pullers are needed now in Wheeler County and an additional 50 in the McLean area, according to Bill Ragsdale, manager of the local Texas Employment Commission.

Pullers are needed for farms in Wheeler, Kelton, Briscoe, and Allison areas. Housing is available for crews. The demand is strong for pullers up to two-bale crews.

About 50 percent of the cotton is now open, and about 10 percent has been harvested. Wages in effect this year are $2 per 100 lbs.

Complete information may be obtained at the local employment office or at cotton gins in area towns.

SCOUTS

Financial support for scouting is obtained through membership in United Fund organizations in Pampa, Borger and Guymon, and through independent campaigns in 36 communities not served by United Funds. The money raised is disbursed under the direction of the executive board and is used for various council services which include leadership training, extension of the program, maintenance of standards, field service by professionally trained personnel, office service, and the maintenance of Camp Ki-O-Wah.

The professional personnel include Paul L. Beisenher, scout executive of Pampa, Phil Pegues, district executive, Pampa; J. D. Ross, district executive, Borger; and David S. Agnew, district executive, Guymon. Mrs. J. M. Fitzgerald serves as registrar at the council office located in Pampa.

As a member council of the Boy Scouts of America, the boys and men of the Adobe Walls Council have available the use of facilities at Philmont Scout Ranch, located near Cimarron, N.M. This huge reservation is used for high-adventure camping by explorer scouts and as a volunteer training center for leaders. Last year more than 12,000 explorer scouts from all over America attended Philmont, and about 3,000 adult leaders spent a week or more in training courses. A number of Pampa leaders have availed themselves of this opportunity for training and this council each year sends a delegation of explorers to the ranch.

In all such expeditions by scout and explorers, and in all training courses for volunteers, the actual expenses involved are paid by the participants. These expenses are held to a minimum through the support of the national council.

Because of the tremendous increase in the number of boys who will be eligible for scouting in the next five years, plans are now being made for an expansion of facilities to meet this increased need. Under the leadership of Cain, the long range planning committee is studying the expected growth of the next five years and outlining the manpower and financial support which will be needed.

Judge Fines Fort Worth Hotel Owner

DALLAS — UP — Federal Judge T. Whitfield Davidson Tuesday sentenced a Fort Worth hotel man to two years in prison, then turned a verbal hot blast on Internal Revenue Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews.

Troxy C. Risinger, 41, the hotel man, also was fined $10,000 in the Dallas federal court.

Judge Davidson took the occasion to hit back at Andrews, who recently offered his resignation from the top U.S. income tax post, for statements in a series of newspaper articles.

Criticized Judge In the series, Andrews criticized judges for being too lenient in income tax cases.

"Andrews was guilty of reprehensible conduct for criticizing judges for not giving heavier sentences in income tax evasion cases," the judge declared. "I'm glad the government accepted that man's resignation."

He said the penalty in the Risinger case was not "influenced by Andrews' abuse of the courts."

Other Aspects of Penalty Judge Davidson noted that a "man's sentence does not begin or end with the fact he goes to prison." He said the defendant also must pay back all taxes, plus a 50 percent penalty, plus 6 percent interest from the date taxes are owed.

Turning to Risinger, he said: "You're not subject to probation since you received a considerable sum of money from prostitution in Fort Worth. Fifty to $100 a day probably flowed into your pockets from the selling of women's bodies. Now you have to pay the penalty."

Jane Talk

By JANE KADINGO

Pampa News Women's Editor

REMEMBER WHEN A FUR COAT was simply a fur coat cut on the same old pattern? That's a thing of the past, says Woman's Home Companion fashion editor Elizabeth Madeira.

SHEARED RABBIT in shock yells in a November article: "First, discover how the disturbing sounds are reaching the quiet area. In the kitchen, for instance, you might find that an appliance is vibrating against a hollow wall, magnifying its sound out of all proportion. It is a pretty safe rule, says Henle, that a noisy appliance needs servicing, so have it checked. Also take these precautions: make sure appliances are level; place rubber pads or other resilient material under and behind vibrating equipment; oil motors; tighten fan belts and rattling metal inclosures; strap down vibrating pipes and set-crews loose heating ducts.

IF YOU START NOW, there's still time to knit or crochet an attractive and useful gift for everyone on your Christmas list, reminds Florence Casey, handicraft editor of the magazine. You might like to start your needles going on some of these gift suggestions she pictures in a November column: Youngsters will love the amusing down bean bag — or the cuddly elephant — you can crochet from one ball of cotton thread.

DO THE CHILDISH SHOUTS, the rumble of laundry appliances and the blare of the neighbor's television set get on your nerves when you're trying to relax? These are just a few which he recommends in a November article: "First, discover how the disturbing sounds are reaching the quiet area. In the kitchen, for instance, you might find that an appliance is vibrating against a hollow wall, magnifying its sound out of all proportion. It is a pretty safe rule, says Henle, that a noisy appliance needs servicing, so have it checked. Also take these precautions: make sure appliances are level; place rubber pads or other resilient material under and behind vibrating equipment; oil motors; tighten fan belts and rattling metal inclosures; strap down vibrating pipes and set-crews loose heating ducts.

Another thing to remember is that sound travels easily through the smallest opening. Even if the sound-producing areas are shut off in rooms by themselves, you may find most of the noise is creeping around loose-fitting doors. Strips of felt or rubber tacked to the door to fill up the cracks may be very effective. In some cases you will find that the noise is passing through a partition wall itself, says Guy Henle. Adding a layer of plasterboard, separated from the wall by furring strips, if one procedure which will substantially increase the sound-insulating quality of the partition in question. Acoustical tiles also are very helpful in deadening noise. They are easy to apply to any smooth surface with adhesive, or may be nailed or screwed to a furring-strip framework. They are normally applied only to the ceiling, but there may be unusually noisy rooms in which one wall might also be covered with them. Most acoustical tiles can be painted to blend with the decor of the room without losing effect.

Perryton Ceramic Club Has Meeting

FERRYTON — (Special) — Mrs. Dwight Drake, 1413 S. Eton, was hostess to the Perryton Ceramic Club recently. The group worked on greenware. Refreshments were served. Present were Mmes. Travis Baker, Bill Traylor, Alva Drake, Frank Holdeman, Marshall Stone, J. W. Chase, Raymond Oberbey, and Tip Collingsworth.

Gifts fashioned with her own hands ease the strain on this young lady's budget and make her presents unique. Desk box for daddy or uncle, left, is trimmed with family musapeta. Holiday apron, right, is pretty, takes minimum of hand sewing and can be sized to fit either someone's dolly, or some very special grownup in the family.

Charter Members Feted At Reception By Lamar Church

Lamar Christian Church held a reception for all charter members Sunday evening in the Lamar School cafeteria. It was the last day in the charter membership period. The church held its first service Easter with 29 charter members. By Sunday evening, it had swelled its number to 85 charter members. Decorations followed a gold and white theme. The table was covered with a white cloth and centered with an arrangement of bronze chrysanthemums flanked by white tapers. Refreshments of finger sandwiches, cookies, nuts, mints and coffee were served.

Mrs. Sonya Hood, Mrs. Phyllis Laramore and Mrs. Jerry Senise were hostesses, and Mrs. Howard Brown presided at the coffee service. Attending were Messrs. and Mmes. Price Smith, Dick Kennedy, J. J. Rance, Earl Shuas, J. L. Savage, John P. Soudy, C. G. Reeves, A. G. Kisterson, Raymond Maddox, Howard Brown, Owen Handley, B. J. Smith, Lloyd Laramore and Jerry Senise; Mmes. J. R. King, T. A. Bodey, Ray Boswell, Josephine Blalock, I. U. Bryant, Margie Bonnell, J. L. Love, Alvis V. Smith, J. E. Spinks, Dave Kerns and Lillian Vaughn; Rev. and Mrs. Bill Clout.

And Misses Karen Bonnell, Carolyn King, Georgia Collins, Laquita Shuss, Sally Smith, Kristi Karen Brown, Barbara Spinks, Cynthia Shuss and Beverly Bonnell; and Gale Boswell, Mike Spinks, Larry Partin, Doug Laramore, and Raymond Smith.

Mrs. D. V. Burton Gives Book Review

A review of the book, "Gifts From the Sea" by Ann Lindbergh, was given by Mrs. D. V. Burton to El Progresso Club at a recent meeting in the home of Mrs. Sam B. Cook, 1300 Christine.

Mrs. Lindbergh has a very sophisticated style of writing. Mrs. Burton stated, Mrs. Lindbergh was born in Englewood, N. J., and attended Smith College where she received two literature honors when she graduated. In her book, she stated that women put on a three-ring circus each day and that this type of life kills the soul. Mrs. Burton reported, A woman is the one who has always turned inward for strength and contemplation, she stated.

Mrs. Lindbergh wrote that she was going to take home from her two week stay at the beach a little moonshell, to remind her whether or not it is necessary to add something else to her already busy life; a double sunrise; shell to symbolize that one must always look forward; and an oyster shell to remind her of how a family keeps building on rooms as it increases and how life is made up of love and loyalty.

"A rare shell is when you know how much you are loved," Mrs. Burton reviewed. "No one has to tell you, and you don't have to compete with anyone."

The business session was led by Mrs. Carlton Nance, president. Attending were Mmes. W. R. Ewing, S. A. Blundell, J. F. Curtis, Harold Wright, P. C. Ledrick, C. P. Buckler, Bob McCoy, Carlton Nance, D. V. Burton, George Walstead, Roy Johnson, Grudny Morrison, Knox Kinard and Sam B. Cook.

Sunshine HD Club Has Business Meet

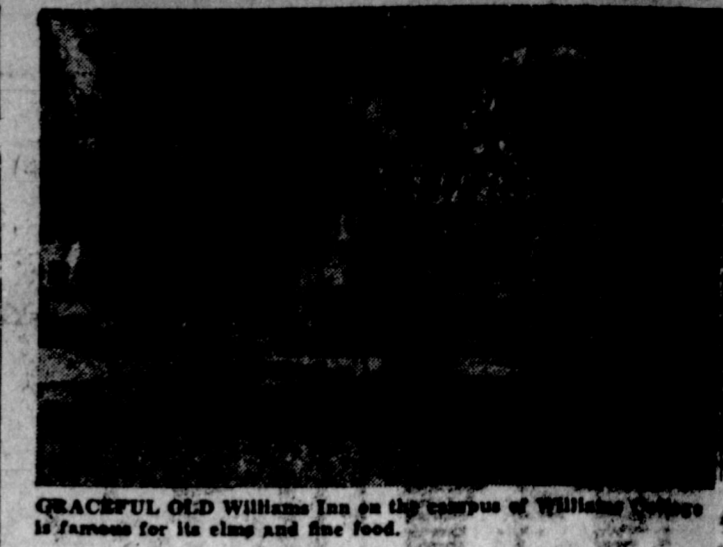

Mrs. John Mobley, 2314 Alcock, was hostess to the Sunshine Home Demonstration Club recently. Mrs. Cecil Diest was awarded the "white elephant" brought by Mrs. A. A. McElrath. It was announced the club is invited to attend the Worthwhile HD achievement day observance Friday at 2 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Ray Robinson. Mrs. McElrath reported that reports from all chairmen are due by Monday. Refreshments were served during the social period. Next meeting will be Oct. 28, in the home of Mrs. T. C. McGlohon, 601 Plains, Apt. A. Attending were Mmes. Jim King, A. A. McElrath, Joe Achor, P. J. Chilcoat, Cecil Diest, Ray Frazer, Cordia McBride, T. C. McGlohon and R. H. St. Aubyn.

Laurence Dale Brown Given Birthday Party

Laurence Dale Brown was honored with a party on his 12th birthday recently in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Brown, 864 S. Faulkner. Games were played, with prizes going to Connie Fuller and Phillip Gist. Pictures were taken, and refreshments of cake, ice cream and soft drinks were served. Attending were Mike, Brenda and Rex Waldon, Dale Clements, Earlene Jean and Connie Fuller, Phillip Land, Phillip Gist and Joyce and Alice Brown; and Marion Fuller.

Hat Remodeling Told To Mobeetie HD Club

MOBEETIE — (Special) — The Mobeetie Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. Billy Morgan, with Mrs. Francis Keahy, president, conducting the business and Mrs. Jack Miller calling the roll. The program consisted of a demonstration of remodeling felt hats by Mrs. J. M. Hathaway. The hostess served refreshments. Mrs. R. J. Tyson was a guest. Members present were Mmes. Jack Miller, Francis Keahy, C. A. Dysart, Johnny Murrell, Fannie Bartram, Laverne Scribner, Roy Oglesby and Jim Hathaway.

GRACEFUL OLD Williams Inn on the campus of Williams College is famous for its class and fine food.

Old Williams College Inn Glorifies Garden Salads

By GAYNOR MADDOX. On the rolling green campus of Williams College in Williamstown, Massachusetts, stands the sprawling white Williams Inn. Clifford Ingham, the chef, is largely responsible for its lure to townfolk and tired travelers. But Cliff will tell you that back of his success is his patrician-looking wife, Helen Ingham, born in Williamstown, mother of two boys and a girl, is her husband's unofficial taster. He never puts a new dish on the menu until his busy wife has tasted it several times and given her okay. Two of Cliff's recipes his wife prides as his Roquefort cheese dressing and garlic dressing. Roquefort Dressing (about 1 pint) Three ounces blue cheese, 3 tablespoons coffee cream, 3 tablespoons vinegar, 1 1/2 cups mayonnaise. Break cheese in small pieces in bowl with cream and vinegar. Cream well with fork. Stir in mayonnaise. Garlic Dressing (1 pint) Six cloves garlic, 1 1/2 tablespoons salt, 1 tablespoon dry mustard, 1/4 cup vinegar, 1/4 cup salad oil, preferably olive oil. Place garlic cloves in bowl; add salt and dry mustard and stir. Pour in vinegar and oil and mix thoroughly. The flavor of this dressing is improved if allowed to stand at room temperature for 2 or 4 hours.

Luncheon Meeting Held By SS Class

A luncheon meeting in the church dining room was held recently by the Friendship Class of the First Baptist Church. Hostesses were Mmes. L. H. Anderson, Rupert Orr, M. D. Dwight, L. V. Hopp and Mabel Teague. The tables were decorated with fall flowers. The invocation was given by Mrs. H. M. Stokes, and the devotional was presented by Mrs. Rufe Jordan, who was introduced by Mrs. L. H. Anderson. Special guests were Miss Joyce Miller and Mmes. H. M. Stokes, Roy Sullivan, Carrie Austin and Rufe Jordan. Members attending were Mmes. Earl H. Eaton, Lee Miller, Madala Teague, W. R. Dunn, V. L. Hobbs, G. E. Groninger, Hugh Ellis, L. H. Anderson, Orval Batson, L. V. Hopp, Ruth Mosley, F. W. Broyles, E. M. Keller, Iver Crissey, Rupert Orr, M. D. Dwight and H. T. Thornhill. Members-in-service present were Mmes. D. A. Caldwell, J. R. Moss, R. L. Edmondson, Claud Wilson, C. H. Matthews and C. E. Powell.

New Pamphlet Ready At Post Office

Helpful facts about wrapping and shipping packages are contained in a well illustrated pamphlet entitled "Packaging and Wrapping Parcels for Mailing" available free at the Pampa Post Office Postmaster O. K. Gaylor announced today.

A new publication excerpted from the Postal Manual, this pamphlet describes the types and sizes of cartons best suited for outer and inner shipping containers, gives details for the internal protection for goods being shipped; lists hints on wrapping chinaware, stemware, framed pictures, books, and other goods; and gives instructions for making various types of parcels to insure the quickest possible delivery.

Written instructions are highlighted by numerous illustrations showing how to wrap and tie packages securely. Drawings of various types of containers and boxes and the best way to use protective material to guard goods against breakage are also used.

"If used in conjunction with the free pamphlet, "Domestic Postage Rates and Fees," issued a few months ago, this pamphlet should answer practically all questions any user of the mails might have on fees, rates, special services, and protection of parcels in transit," Gaylor commented.

The postmaster emphasized that much of the delay in delivery of parcels, particularly at Christmas, and most of the damage enroute is due to lack of knowledge of basic rules to follow in mailing packages.

"I hope patrons of the Pampa Post Office will avail themselves of these two free pamphlets: "Packaging and Wrapping Parcels for Mailing," Post Office Department Publication No. 2; and "Domestic Postage Rates and Fees," Publication No. 3, which will answer most of their mailing questions, demonstrate the best methods of packing goods, and help the postal employees throughout the nation in their important work of moving the huge volume of Christmas parcels," Gaylor said.

Sex Fiend Blamed In Death Of 3

CHICAGO — UP — The nude, mutilated bodies of three young boys were found in a forest preserve Tuesday in what authorities called the "most horrible sex crime in years."

The bodies, stripped of all clothing, were found piled in a dry creek bed a short distance from a parking area in Robinson Woods, west of the city.

Coroner Walter McCarron said the boys had been strangled, their mouths had been taped and their hands and feet wired together.

"This is the most horrible sex crime in years," he said. "It must have been done by a madman."

One of the victims appeared to have been slashed with an ax. Two of the boys were identified as John Scheufler, 12, and his brother, Anton, 11. They were identified by Fire Department Lt. John M. O'Donohue, a next door neighbor.

The other victim was believed to be Robert Peterson, 14, who was with the Scheufler brothers when they disappeared Sunday after telling their parents they were going to a downtown theater to see a Walt Disney movie.

The bodies were lying in crisscross fashion in a muddy ditch south of Lawrence Ave. The uppermost body had a bloody gash on the head.

The gruesome discovery was made by Victor Livingston, a salesman for the Capital Wine and Liquor Co., who had pulled off the road to eat his lunch.

TEEN TOPICS

By HELEN STEWARD

"HEY MOOSE, hand me that pencil so that I can get this dober of a geometry paper." This real gone type of talk can be heard almost anywhere that there're teenagers. We haven't completely "dipped" yet. It's just more of that cool, cool-bop talk. Seems like everybody is a dober these days, and the trick of putting the word "one" after nouns is catching on fast.

There's one group of boys in PHS that really goes in for jiving lingo. Gene Anderson, Russell Barnard, Russell Pickett, Jim Parrish and Danny Briester are just a few.

IN ABILENE they have something that we think is absolutely the most solid. It is a drive-in cafe with its own radio station. The drive-in is Casey's, it is one of the favorite hang-outs of all the college and high school students down there. When you send in an order, you just send up a request and sooner or later it will be played over the radio. The broadcasting booth is on top of the cafe, all glassed in so that you can see the announcer as you sip your cokes in the parking lot below.

Isn't that just the most cool? Congratulations to Mary Kennedy on being chosen Miss Oil Progress of 1956. She certainly makes a pretty representative of Pampa.

Mary will take an airplane trip to Dallas soon to meet other queens from all over the state.

Carol Roundtree was runner-up. Congratulations to her, too.

If you have been wondering why the promised juke box for the cafeteria has not been installed, relax. It will be here very soon, says Lee Ledrick, Student Council President. The company had a few difficulties getting one, but has promised to have one within two weeks.

Plans to take a bus to Midland were talked over in SC meeting yesterday. If enough students would like to go, one will be chartered. Dig into your piggy banks and let's all get behind this and go down there with the team.

Tomorrow morning will mark the very first try at daily devotionals in PHS. Ted Swindle, who is head of the devotional committee promised that they will begin then and continue as long as they are successful.

The first bell will ring at 8:50 in the morning. Devotional will begin at 8:55, all students are asked to be in their first period classes by then. However, no one will be counted tardy until the usual 9:00 o'clock bell rings.

Today was the fateful day that report cards were sent home to eager parents. Here's hoping that none of them were disappointed.

Rhona Finkelstein, Lee Ledrick and Mrs. Ruby Capps will be South Carolina bound soon. These three will attend the Southern Association of Student Councils in Columbia.

Rhona was elected by Student Council to go. Wadens Thomason is her alternate.

They will be gone a full week. A chartered bus will take them and the other delegates from this area to the meeting.

Tomorrow night the Trespian Society will stage their annual play in the high school auditorium. The plays to be presented are "The Lunatic" and "The Importance of Being Earnest."

Tickets can be obtained from all Trespian for the price of 25 and 50 cents.

JayCees Plan Dental Clinic

The Board of Directors of the Junior Chamber of Commerce will meet next Monday night at 7:30 in the Chamber of Commerce office to discuss the possibility of buying used dental equipment for the free dental clinic to be set up in Highland General Hospital.

The board will also consider setting up a concession stand at the Top o' Texas Sportsman Club for wrestling events every Wednesday night. The Pampa Shrine Club has asked the JayCees to consider this project.

J. C. Hopkins announced that every club in Region 1 would donate funds to be used for the Little White House in Washington D. C. as a token of appreciation to Hugh McKenna, national president.

Bob Carmichael, president, announced that a Region 1 work shop conference would be held in Dumas Thursday, Oct. 20. He read a letter from the Amarillo JayCees extending an invitation to the club to come over for "Bosses Night" to be held Nov. 26 at the Country Club. Ed Stumpf, state president, and Hugh McKenna will be guests of honor for the occasion.

FTA Group Gets New Members

WHITE DEER — (Special) — The Emmett D. Smith Chapter of Future Teachers of America recently welcomed fifteen new members who have been initiated and entertained by old members of the group. New members are: Joyce Ballard, Nancy Lester, Howard Farley, George Collins, Jerlene Harris, Kay Mulla, Theresa Fields, Rodney DeFever, Joe Martinez, Brantley Laycock, Joe Lopez, Virginia McGee, John Parsons, Bob Smith, and Bobby Stevens.

At a recent meeting of the group, Raymond Driskill, program chairman, introduced members of the group, who discussed recent activities and future plans. Various projects are being planned for the school year, including the election of a Mr. and Miss F.T.A., who will represent the local group at area meetings of the national organization, to be held at West Texas State College, Canyon.

ANOTHER GULF FIRST!

New Super-Refined Gas-Oil Team

gives you more miles per gallon... more miles per quart

This lamp is burning the "DIRTY-BURNING" TAIL-END of gasoline which GULF refines out.

This lamp is burning NEW SUPER-REFINED GULF NO-NOX, the clean-burning super-fuel.

Gulf No-Nox burns clean. Here's proof: Note the black deposit on plate at left, caused by the "dirty-burning tail-end" of gasoline—the part which Gulf refines out in making new NO-NOX. But see how clean new NO-NOX leaves the plate at right. Now—in your own car, see how new NO-NOX can give you more miles per gallon in the kind of short-trip, stop-and-go driving you do most.

Gulfpride Select works clean. Here's why: Most conventional oils are refined only to the stage shown in A. But New Gulfpride Select is further refined by the Alchlor Process—removing up to 15% more of the carbon-formers, in B... C contains the new super-refined oil that gives you more miles per quart because it has natural viscosity (body)—contains no artificial thickeners that break down in service.

Together they give you thousands of extra miles or new-car performance... new-engine economy

Gulf now brings you not just a gasoline... help you enjoy thousands of extra miles of not just an oil... but a great new gasoline and a great new motor oil which, working together, boost each other's efficiency.

This new Gas-Oil Team will help your car retain all the horsepower you paid for—

Damages Sought In Traffic Death

FORT WORTH — UP — A $102,829 damage suit was on file Tuesday against a Fort Worth man as a result of the traffic death of a Baton Rouge, La. woman.

The suit was brought by Robert L. Crumholt, whose wife, Hazel, 51 was fatally injured in a traffic accident near Terrell, Tex., July 11, 1954. It names O. D. Dean of Fort Worth as defendant.

Good Excuse
MUNCIE, Ind. — UP — Charles A. Paul was ticketed recently for unnecessary horn blowing downtown. He showed up at the station with a newly wed couple to explain that the horn blowing was part of a wedding celebration. Officers voided the ticket.

BACKS BROUGHT UP—Two Sophomore backfieldmen were brought up to the Harvester squad this week in order to give the Green and Golders a better chance with the Abilene Eagles. Buster Baird, left, a hard-running halfback, and Dale Lake, Shocker signal caller, will probably see some action on offense as well as defense when the Abilene Eagles fly into Harvester Park Friday night at 8. Harvesters Prepare For Eagle Invasion

Real old-fashioned contact work has been the menu for the Pampa Harvesters at their workouts this week. The offense has been working on a series of new plays and the defense has been working on the plays that will be used by the Abilene Eagles when they invade Harvester park Friday night.

By BILL FERGUSON
AUBURN, Ala. —UP— His opponents had the best pass defense in Dixie.

Howell Tubbs, who never before had shown much proficiency as a passer, hit with four completions in a row good for 72 yards in an 80-yard march to the winning touchdown.

Navy's Welsh Tops Total Offense Race

NEW YORK —UP— George Welsh of Navy shot to the top of the total offense race Wednesday in major-college football circles on the basis of a spectacular one-man passing show against Penn State Saturday.

By completing 15 of 20 passes for 283 yards, and adding three yards rushing, Welsh not only piloted the Middies to a 34-14 victory over the Nittany Lions but increased his total yardage gained to 634.

Welsh has racked up his total in only four games while Art Lupino of Arizona was second with a total yardage of 606 in five games, according to official NCAA service bureau figures.

Behind Lupino came Jim Halska of Wisconsin with 589 yards gained followed by Jim Swink of Texas Christian with 569 yards and Bill Beagle of Dartmouth with 556 yards. SMU's Roach is sixth with 550 yards.

Lupino led all major college players in rushing with 606 yards in 100 rushes and was followed by Swink in second place with 569 yards and Henry Moore of Arkansas in third place with 417 yards.

Beagle, who completed 19 of 40 passes against Lafayette Saturday, gained the passing leadership. He has gained an even 600 yards through the air with 53 completions in 105 attempts.

Nick Consoles of Wake Forest, with 50 completions in 79 attempts and 560 yards gained, was second in passing while Joe Clements of Texas was third with 43 completions in 78 tries for 499 yards.

Doane of Missouri is eighth with 35 out of 71 tries for 506 yards and Ford of Hardin-Simmons is ninth with 33 out of 59 tries for 360 yards.

Jesse Owens Picked By Hundred Experts

LOS ALTOS, Calif. —UP— Jesse Owens was named the greatest track and field star of all time; Cornelius Warmerdam the top field man and the track at Turku, Finland, as the fastest in the world, in a poll of 100 experts announced in the October issue of Track and Field, News, international publication.

The experts gave 49 per cent of their votes to Owens, 12 per cent to Bob Mathias and 10 per cent each to Emil Zatopek of Czechoslovakia and Cornelius Warmerdam of U.S.

Owens, who was setting world records nearly a quarter of a century ago, has the oldest world mark still on the books: A leap of 26 feet, 8 1/4 inches in the broad jump on May 25, 1935. Five other world records, including one tie, made by Owens that memorable day, have since been bettered. He still is co-holder of the world mark for 100 meters and the 400-meter relay.

Owens was named the greatest runner in history by 80 per cent of the voters, while pole vaulter Warmerdam is considered the greatest field event man, getting 64 per cent. Others receiving more than 5 per cent were: Greatest runner, Zatopek; Pavo Nurmi of Finland and Mel Patton of U.S.; greatest field man, Parry O'Brien, Owens and Mathias.

In the balloting for the fastest track, Turku won with Ratcliffe Stadium at Fresno, Calif., home of the West Coast Relay, second and the tops in United States.

Deer Park May Repeat, Sonora Doesn't Think So

SONORA, Tex. —UP— The state's sports writers are booming Deer Park as a likely repeat state champion in schoolboy football's Class A ranks, but the folks here don't feel that George Johnson will spur the Sonora Bronchos into the throne room.

The slender, six-foot, 176-pounder is certainly off to a running start in the right direction with more than half of his team's 226 points personally accounted for and clicking 667 yardage in 200-yard hunks per game.

In six games so far, he's piled up 19 touchdowns, 15 extra points and one field goal for 132 points in addition to passing for four more touchdowns.

The field goal came in the only game the Sonora has lost and Class AA's undefeated Ballinger had to hurry to two touchdowns in the last five minutes to overcome that three-pointer.

His top job this season came against Bangs, when he scored six times and passed for three others as Sonora won 59-31, and against Rankin, when he accounted for all the points in a 40-7 victory by running for five of the touchdowns and pitching for the other.

Johnson doesn't confine his athletic talents to football, either.

Veteran And Rookie Share Pro Honors

PHILADELPHIA —UP— Time-tested Otto Graham and rookie Alan (The Horse) Ameche retained the No. 1 spots in passing and rushing Wednesday as the National Football League reached the one-third point in its season.

Graham, yanked from the luxury of retirement when the Cleveland Browns spluttered during the exhibition games, had a 9.32-yard average gain for each pass he attempted in four games to date. Automatic Otto is hitting at a 61.4 percentage with 35 completions for 531 yards.

Ameche, fresh from the Wisconsin campus, had a 476-yard total gained on the ground for the Baltimore Colts, a figure which had him 145 yards ahead of second place Howie Ferguson of Green Bay. Ameche piled up 72 yards last week and has averaged 8.3 yards per carry.

The vagaries of the statistics columns were shown when Bobby Thomason of the Eagles jumped into second place in passing despite the fact the Steelers stopped the Eagles' air game cold. Thomason has an 8.95 average, with 4 completions for 697 yards and five scores. Eddie Lebaron of Washington dropped from second to third.

Billy Houston and Gary Knefelc of the surging Green Bay Packers took over the first two places in pass receptions. Houston leads with 21 for 35 yards and Knefelc is second with 18 completions.

The Redskins' Vic Janowicz held first place in scoring with 40 points. Other leaders were Norm Van Brocklin of Los Angeles in punting with a 45.1-yard average; Joe Heap of the Giants in punt returns; Jerry Norton of the Eagles in kickoff returns; and Willard Sherman of the Rams in interceptions.

Phillies Buy First Baseman
PHILADELPHIA —UP— The Philadelphia Phillies Wednesday purchased first baseman John Mookus from Ruidaville, N.C., of the Class B Carolina League. Mookus batted .238 and clouted 21 home runs last season.

Hartack Winners Total $48

Texas Quarterback Holds Top Spot In SWC

By UNITED PRESS
Senior quarterback Charlie Brewer, who has been in and out of a job the past three seasons at Texas, held the No. 1 spot again Wednesday on the strength of his play against Arkansas last Saturday.

The Lubbock signal-caller powered the badly-trailing Longhorns to the 27-20 loss to the Razorbacks.

Coach Ed Price moved Brewer into the starting role as the Steers prepared for Saturday's game with Rice.

In 1953 as a sophomore, Brewer staged a similar performance to lead Texas to two touchdowns in a last-half rally in a 19 to 14 loss to Oklahoma. Since then, he has been in and out of the first string spot.

Price also reported that two players injured in the Oklahoma game—halfback Mickey Smith and guard Mike Trant—would remain out of action for the Rice game. Second-string ends Allen Ernst and Bill Germany also will be unable to play because of injuries.

Reserves for Opposition
At Houston, the Rice reserve unit ran Texas offensive and defensive plays against the Owl first and second string units.

Owens remained somewhat battered from their 20 to 0 loss to SMU. Three first string linemen were held out of rough work because of injuries but all three—regular tackles Orville Trask and Eddie Rayburn and guard Jay Riviere—were expected to be ready to play Saturday.

Texas A&M Coach Paul Bryant said he was well pleased with the Cadets' workout yesterday after the first two teams held a 70-minute scrimmage session.

Bryant singled out backs Roddy Osborne, Gene Henderson, Billy Huddleston and Ken Hall as outstanding.

Bryant said it was highly doubtful that halfback John Crow would play against Baylor Saturday, but he said he would know definitely after a doctor's report on Crow's bruised knee later in the week.

Baylor's offense looked sharp as the first three teams divided time between offensive scrimmage against the Red shirt squad and defensive scrimmage against the freshmen running Texas Aggie plays.

said his Mustangs "showed a lot of hustle" in their first hard workout this week. Twenty minutes of full-speed work featured Tuesday's two-hour closed drill as the Ponies prepped for Kansas.

At Fayetteville, the Arkansas Razorbacks held a long scrimmage with the entire squad participating and in the best condition of the season. The Hogs met Mississippi at Oxford, Miss., Saturday.

Jimmy Carter Favored To Win Title Tonight

By JACK CUDDY
CINCINNATI —UP— Shufflin' Jimmy Carter, who pops in and out of the world lightweight championship like a jack-in-the-box, is an 8-5 favorite to win in the title for the fourth time Wednesday night in a return bout against Cincinnati's Wallace (Bud) Smith.

Smith, 26, will be making his first defense of the 135-pound crown since he won it from hard-to-figure Carter at Boston on June 29 on a split decision.

His 15-round bout at Cincinnati Garden will be televised and broadcast nationally over ABC networks at 8 p.m. (est).

Despite a TV blackout in the Cincinnati area, only about 9,000 fans are expected to pay about $36,000. Tuesday's rain put brakes on the ticket sale. The Garden could seat 15,000.

Carter, 31, is favored because he lost the title to Smith in June by the narrowest possible margin of a single point. And because he recaptured the crown on other occasions in return bouts with Lauro Salas and Paddy DeMarco.

"I'll be sharp tonight," the ex-champ said Wednesday. "And I won't make the same mistake I made at Boston. I waited too long there for a knockout opening. I thought I could put him away with one punch. Tonight I'll go right after him."

Carter, who suffered a deep gash on his right brow at Boston, had his hopes boosted by the Cincinnati Boxing Commission, which agreed that the fight will not be stopped because of cuts.

Wednesday's engagement is not only a return title fight, but their third and "rubber match." Each holds a victory. Carter won a decision over Smith at Cincinnati May 28, 1950. That was before Jimmy first became champion by beating out Ike Williams May 25, 1951.

During their training Smith sharpened his left hook, his best weapon, and Carter sought greater accuracy for his booming straight right. Each is a good puncher. Smith knocked out 15 of his 48 opponents. Carter belted out 27 of his 99.

If the fight lasts 15 rounds, it will be decided on a 10-point-must basis but by the vote of three judges, instead of the usual two in other cities. However, the referee has no vote.

The Aching Irish Fear Purdue's Air Attack

By UNITED PRESS
Notre Dame's still-aching Irish collide Saturday with a fellow who whipped them pretty soundly last year—Purdue's Lenny Dawson of Purdue—when that's why the odds-makers figure Notre Dame will be the only team in the nation's top 10 to have trouble on the gridiron this week.

Dawson, the nation's top touch-down passer of 1954, tossed four scoring passes last year as Purdue upset Notre Dame 27-14. The Irish went on an unbeaten streak after that game that ended only last week when they were upset by Michigan State 21-7.

Now the "wizards of odds" make Notre Dame a seven-point favorite over Purdue. Every other team in the "top 10" is favored by at least 13 points.

Michigan's top-ranked Wolverines are expected to beat Minnesota this Saturday by 13 points in the annual "Little Brown Jug" classic at Minneapolis, a game that will be regionally televised in the Midwest.

Maryland, Oklahoma Favored 15
Second-ranked Maryland and third-ranked Oklahoma are even stronger favorites at 15 points. Maryland will face Syracuse, the team that upset Army by 13-0 last week. Oklahoma will meet Colorado in perhaps its most important game of the Big Seven conference season.

Fourth-ranked Navy, boasting the nation's top ground-gainer in passing ace George Walsh, is picked by a thundering 23 points over Pennsylvania. Fifth-ranked UCLA is 13 over Iowa in a big intersectional game that highlights the Friday night program. Sixth-ranked Michigan State, conqueror of Notre Dame, is favored by 13 over Illinois in a Big Ten clash. Seventh-ranked Duke is picked eight points over Pittsburgh.

Eighth-ranked Auburn is such a prohibitive choice over Furman that no points are quoted. Ninth-ranked Southern California is favored by 30 points in its Pacific Coast Conference clash with California.

The college football "weekend" gets an early start Thursday with the annual "Big Thursday" clash of Clemson and South Carolina at Columbia, S.C. Clemson is favored by six.

TCU an Underdog
On Friday night, in addition to the UCLA - Iowa struggle, Miami (Fla.) is picked by four over Texas Christian, and Oklahoma A&M by one over Detroit.

In other Saturday games: Intersectional—Tulsa 7 over Cincinnati; Mississippi 7 over Arkansas; West Virginia 12 over Penn State; Boston College 13 over Marquette; SMU 14 over Kansas.

East—Yale 7 over Colgate, Army 27 over Columbia.
South—North Carolina State and Wake Forest even; Kentucky 7 over Florida; Georgia 7 over Tulane, Mississippi, State 13 over Alabama.
Midwest—Iowa State 3 over Kansas State; Missouri 3 over Nebraska; Indiana 8 over Northwestern; Wisconsin 7 over Ohio State.
Southwest—Rice 3 over Texas; Texas Tech 6 over Houston; Texas A&M 6 over Baylor.
Far West—Oregon State 6 over Washington State; Utah 7 over Wyoming; Washington 7 over Stanford.

Clemson To Meet Carolina

COLUMBIA, S.C.—UP—Clemson's Tigers, long bewitched, bothered and bewildered by South Carolina's gamecocks, roared snarling into Columbia Wednesday with hopes of ending seven years of frustration in the nation's most unusual football rivalry.

Thursday at 2 p.m., the two state-supported institutions meet before 35,000 fans in Carolina Stadium in the 53rd "Big Thursday" classic, which is played annually during state fair week.

Clemson, with three 1955 wins in four starts, is favored by a touch-down to break the spell the gamecocks have held since 1948 when the Tigers' unbeaten Gator Bowl squad came from behind for a 13-7 win. In 1950, Clemson's Orange Bowl champions got only a 14-14 tie.

Although ace quarterback Don King is slowed by a knee injury, Clemson's more impressive record makes the Tigers favorites over the Gamecocks, who have broken even in four starts.

The favorite often doesn't win on Big Thursday, however.

Clemson holds a 29-30 edge in the series, with three ties, but the 1948 victory is the lone Clemson triumph since World War II.

Football's Largest Man Plays In High School

DUNDEE, Ill.—UP—Dundee high school's football team has come up with a defense which is an improvement on the proverbial stone wall.

Coach Robert Whamond has a wall that moves in 18-year-old Herbie Dierich, a 325-pound junior who throws his weight around at tackle and guard when Dundee's opponents start moving on the ground.

American Still Strongest Man

MUNICH, Germany—UP—Paul Anderson, the 22-year-old Toccoa, Ga., Hercules, kept the "strongest man in the world" title in the U.S. Monday even though Russia won the international weight-lifting crown for the second straight year.

Anderson set a new world record by lifting a total of 1,127 1-2 pounds in the heavyweight division Sunday but even with that victory, the U.S. won only three gold medals while the Soviets topped four.

By lifting a world record 408 pounds in the two arm press, 319 pounds in the snatch and 400 1-2 pounds in the clean and jerk, the 342-pound Anderson erased the previous world record total of 1,072 pounds lifted by Norbert Szesmansky of Detroit, the 1954 titlist who did not compete this year.

Dierich was issued the biggest uniform ever made by the Rawlings Sporting Goods Co. of St. Louis—a size 62 jersey and a pair of size 56 football pants.

Les Bingham, the giant University of Illinois and Detroit Lions' guard, held the previous uniform record at dimensions of 64-82, sizes that Dierich would split at the seams.

Whamond said "I haven't used Herbie too much this year, but he stops 'em cold when he goes in." "I take a lot of razzing if I miss a tackle," Dierich said, "and I always come in last when the coach makes us take laps around the field at practice, but I love to play."

The five-foot, eight-inch miniature mountain said he's tried to go on diets several times, "but I never quite make it. Guess I haven't got enough will power."

Hawaiian Is 'Most Beautiful' Winner

MUNICH, Germany—UP—Tommy Kono of Honolulu, Hawaii, was elected "most beautiful weight lifter in the world" Monday night in a beauty contest among contenders at the 1955 world weightlifting championships.

Kono scored 156 points when he posed without his usual glasses. In the main championships he had won the light heavyweight lifting title.

Kevel Daly of Canada won third place in the "beauty contest" with 121.80 points after second-place Robin of France (14).

The Russians, who scored heavily in the lifting championships, did not compete for good looks.

KINGSIDE MATCH—The ring wasn't large enough for Primo Carnera, at right, and King Kong when they met in a wrestling match in Singapore. In the fourth round, they toppled out of the ring but continued their brawl among the ring-siders. Both were disqualified for not returning to the ring before the count of ten. When Carnera was disqualified, he threw a punch at the referee—who ducked.

MODEL WORK—Small-size power boat enthusiasts Fred Manderville, left, and Bob Graham are putting last minute touches to their miniature but speedy craft at a park in Flushing, N. Y. HOLDING THE LINE—Lissome Alyn Colliere was out to try her luck with rod and reel in Cypress Gardens, Fla. It's really a most idyllic Southland-scene that's being presented by the pretty young lady, and she may be doing better by herself than many fishermen more in the know.

NO NET LOSS—Amputee veteran Corbit Ray is adjusting the Amputennis adapter which enables him to play tennis and other sports at the "country club" for handicapped persons in Danville, Calif. Ray and others formed the Ampu-Service Foundation to do for themselves what money and the best specialists do for others, and they're making out very well.

REALLY ROLLING—With 1,500 miles behind her, Louretta Zatterstorm is shown pedaling through Leavenworth, Kans., en route from Sunnyvale, Calif., to St. Paul, Minn. She started out three months ago with a few belongings strapped over the rear of the vehicle, and a steady will to reach her destination.

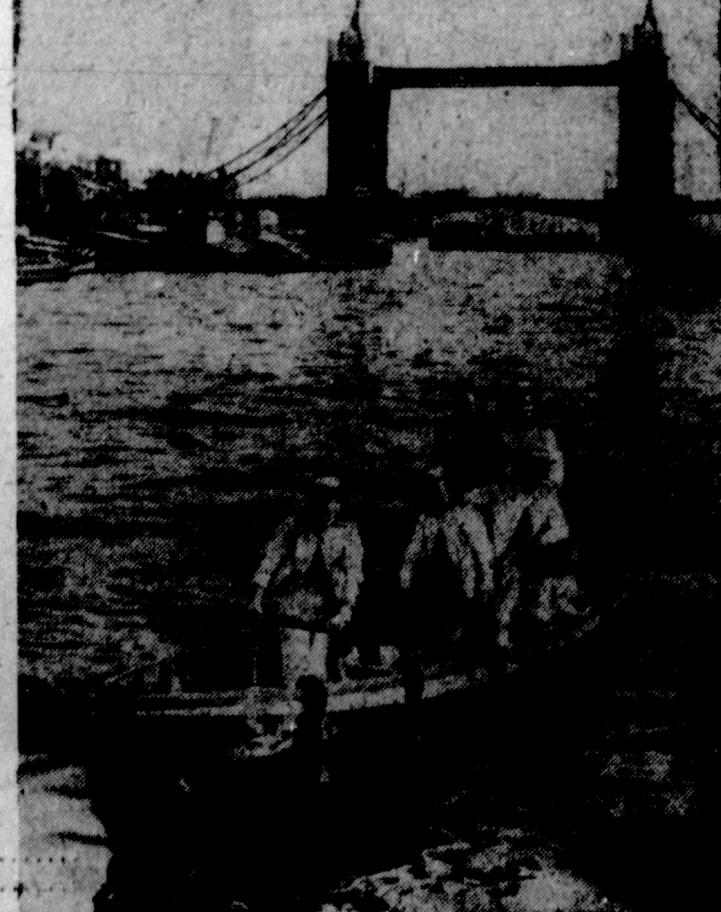

AND HE WAS—Jon Arnett, University of Southern California halfback, thought by many to have All-American potential, is introducing football in Los Angeles to Jon Nakamura, a baby named up for him. Last New Year's Day, little Jon's father jumped up after Arnett's touchdown jaunt against Ohio State in the Rose Bowl and declared that if his coming baby were a boy, he'd be named after Arnett.

NICE TO SEE—Vivacious blondes Carolann Conner, right, a recent "Miss Universe" contestant, and her sister, Jere, were on hand at a football game in Atlanta, Ga. They're making quite a fuss over Mike, a bulldog mascot of the University of Georgia's squad.

NOW IT'S FRESH, TOO—The Red Rambler prep football team of Mooseheart, Ill., field training schedule which prohibits many sweets. But the squad makes up for plenty of fresh milk available at all times. Here, they are shown going to the source of it as they take turns milking a prize-winning Holstein.

THE HARD WAY—These Venetian gondoliers are rowing up the Thames River in London, not far from Tower Bridge. The colorfully-costumed men were in the British capital for the premiere of a movie which was made in Italy, and they didn't actually row all that distance.

'Workday For Christ' Will Be Held By Nation's Teenagers

By ROBERT ZIMMERMAN
NEW YORK — UP—Across the country, Saturday thousands of teenagers will tear themselves away from dance records and hot rods, put on old clothes and go to work.

They'll dig potatoes on Long Island, pick fruit in California. They will wash windows, polish cars, rake yards, saw wood and scrub floors in towns and cities in all the 48 states.

And everything they earn—about $30,000 altogether—will go to missionary churches, schools and hospitals all over the world.

Saturday is the annual "Work Day for Christ" in the Pilgrim Fellowship Youth Organization of the Congregational Christian Churches. While it is only one of many youth programs carried on by churches of all denominations, it is also one of the most unique and fastest-growing.

From its beginning only five years ago the "Work Day" idea has grown to include more than 700 different groups of high school boys and girls who volunteer for a day's work once a year and turn their earnings into the pilgrim fellowship world mission fund.

This means they have worked to help pay for hospital dressings for patients at a mission in India, or for books for a youth training center in Germany.

They do odd jobs in groups of two or three, or descend in larger numbers into orchards and fields, wherever a job can be found.

The returns vary. Some boys

Dulles, Reds To Talk Middle East

WASHINGTON — UP—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said Tuesday he expects to discuss the explosive Middle East situation with Russian Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov at next week's Big Four foreign ministers meeting in Geneva.

Dulles noted at a news conference that he already has raised the question twice in discussions with Molotov.

The third time might bring more luck, he said.

Dulles also said it would be permissible for the Middle East situation to be placed formally on the Geneva agenda if all of the Big Four foreign ministers agree. But Dulles said he thought it more likely the matter would be discussed informally in private side talks.

Ward Week Is Set Here

October 31 — Back in 1930, Montgomery Ward held its first Ward Week sale. It has since become a traditional, twice-a-year event—nation-wide in scope and in complexity. This fall, Ward Week will run through October 22.

The task of planning for such an event is a formidable one, according to W. G. McComas, manager of the Ward store here in Pampa. "We started work on this Ward Week the very day that Ward Week ended last April."

Mr. McComas said that after preliminary surveys on what customers wanted, orders were placed months ago with both American and European manufacturers—in huge quantities to insure lowest possible price. Fashion experts alerted their sources to be ready for large, last-minute orders, in order that styling would reflect latest trends.

Then, Ward's Testing Laboratories set up a rigid schedule of tests for all the special purchase merchandise to be sure it met Ward's standards of quality. Display artists moved in on the job of dramatizing the event through the use of colorful signs, banners, window displays and mass counter presentations. Advertising was prepared to inform the public of the sale.

Traffic experts took over the intricate job of routing thousands of tons of merchandise over the railroads, on the highways, through the waterways; even by air, in case of some of the fashion merchandise.

All this merchandise and promotional material, said McComas, began arriving in the store here, and in almost 600 other Ward stores, about a month ago. Unpacking, checking, and tagging the merchandise, following up on stray orders, making display and advertising plans have been a daily activity since then.

West Texas May Reduce Cotton Acres

ABILENE, Tex. — UP— West Texas will suffer a 7 per cent reduction while some parts of East Texas will enjoy an actual increase in cotton acreage for next year if a formula proposed by the state ASC committee for distributing the Texas 1956 cotton acreage allotment is followed, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce said Tuesday.

Alarmed at the economic loss to West Texas if the state agricultural stabilization and conservation committee uses the formula, the WTCC has scheduled three meetings this week at which details of the proposal will be discussed.

The meetings, to be conducted by Loyan H. Walker, manager of the regional chamber's agricultural and livestock department, will be held in Haskell Wednesday; Plainview Thursday; and in Big Spring Friday.

Cotton farmers, ginners and oil mill operators, farm organizations, members of county ASC committees and local chambers of commerce have been invited to send representatives to the meetings.

Under marketing quotas established for 1956 as required by law, Texas cotton acreage is to be reduced approximately 4 per cent below the 1955 allotment.

Because of the state committee's proposed method of allocating the 700,000-acre reserve, however, West Texas acreage would be reduced approximately 7 per cent under 1955 while some parts of the state would receive an increase, Walker said.

Alien Crime Rate Goes Down

EDINGBURG, Tex. — UP— The crime rate among illegal aliens in the Lower Rio Grande Valley this year is only 13 per cent—down from about 80 per cent last year, Hidalgo County District Attorney Jim Bates said Tuesday.

A crackdown on so-called "wetbacks" was started in mid 1954 by the Border Patrol. Prior to this time for about six years, Bates said, at least four out of every five crimes in the county were committed by illegal aliens.

A check of this year's records to date, he said, shows only about 13 per cent of the criminals arrested have been wetbacks.

The total number of indictments this year, the prosecutor added, has been about the same as in 1954—mainly because authorities have had more time to go after U.S. citizens guilty of various offenses.

Tulsa JCs Host Viet Namese

TULSA — UP— Tulsa Jaycees were hosts Tuesday to seven visitors from Viet Nam who are touring this country to give personal thanks for the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce project, "Operation Brotherhood."

Junk Stores Are Often Filled With Rare Furniture Pieces

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON — UP— You don't have to pay fancy antique store prices to collect rare old pieces of furniture, jewelry and housewares. If you know what you're doing, you can often find real bargains in junk stores and pawn shops.

That's the advice of an expert antique collector from England, Charles Gray.

Gray is touring America as a goodwill ambassador from London's Grosvenor House, a high-type hostelry that is famous for having more help than customers. This makes for fine—if expensive—service.

Part of Gray's job with Grosvenor House is to help guests from America and elsewhere find the best places to shop for antiques. So it was natural for him to bring along some of his own notable relics to show off on his tour.

"It takes some time to know a phony piece of old furniture from the real thing," he told me over breakfast. "Same goes for jewels. Furniture isn't too tough. Take a stick of furniture and if the dealer is honest he will have scraped it down to the raw. If the grain shows a chocolate color you can be sure it is an old piece. Jewels—"

In 28 years of collecting, Gray has picked himself up some fabulous bargains. He has 10 grandfather clocks all of them dating way back. Some have wooden works which still work.

One of his most valuable clocks is a "postman's alarm," which he picked up for a few pounds in a second-hand furniture place. It is equipped with pull cords. When it was invented there was no electricity in Britain, and you couldn't just snap on a light in the dead of the night. They would wake in the dark of the night, and would yank a cord—Chimes would tell whether the postman had time for another cat nap.

Gray bought another old time-piece for the equivalent of about $10 a decade ago. It's called a parliament clock, and he found it in a side street junk place while looking for a second-hand umbrella (it was raining that day). This thing is three feet, six inches high and is two feet across the face. A stone weight, carefully balanced on the pendulum, keeps the time-piece accurate.

On account of the high taxes on time pieces in Britain at the time hardly anybody could afford a clock. So parliament passed a law that every public place had to have a clock where all could see it.

"It was not a striker," Gray told me. "But it could be seen for

Newsprint
Company
Ups Prices

MONTREAL (UP)—The St. Lawrence Paper Corp., Canada's fourth largest producer of newsprint, announced Tuesday it was raising the price of its product $2 a ton, effective Nov. 1, to "absorb the rising costs of labor and expansion."

A price increase by a leading manufacturer has, in the past, been followed by identical increases by other major producers.

The St. Lawrence increase was announced by its president, Percy M. Fox. He said it would permit the company to increase its production facilities from approximately 400,000 tons a year to 450,000.

"We have spent $30 million to increase facilities and production and we recently authorized another $9 million for the same purpose," Fox said. "We could no longer absorb the rising costs of labor and expansion."

The St. Lawrence company supplies newsprint to 200 newspapers in the United States, although not their complete supplies.

A newsprint price increase had been rumored for several weeks and had been denounced vigorously by the American Newspaper Publishers Association which said that such action at this time was "neither justified nor wise."

Although there had been no increase in newsprint prices in more than three years the ANPA pointed out that prior to that there had been eight price increases within six years.

The increase came at a time when publishers were feeling the pinch of a newsprint shortage due to a record increase in newspaper advertising lineage.

The first hint of an increase came Oct. 5 when such action was forecast by Sir Eric Bowater, chairman of Bowater Paper Corp. Ltd., who said the industry needed additional revenue to meet rising labor costs and expansion programs.

Newspaper publishers and the ANPA, through its president, Richard W. Stocum, took issue with Bowater. One newspaper pointed out that net profits of five Canadian producers for the first half of 1955 were up 21.6 per cent over the same period a year ago.

Copper Permits Increased

WASHINGTON—UP—Slight increases in copper allocations for military production in the first three months of 1956 were announced Tuesday by the Office of Defense Mobilization. It also said slight declines in aluminum and steel for the same period.

Gail Russell Returns To Pics
In Western With Randy Scott

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD—UP—Portrait of a woman starting life over: Gail Russell, her hands clasped in her lap, looked shyly at her movie "comeback" that has become the Hollywood heart-story of the year. The beautiful brunette is playing a western heroine with Randolph Scott in "Seven Men From Now," a production at Warner's Studio.

When Gail put on her old-fashioned bonnet, it was the first time she had faced a camera in 4 1/2 years. During that period Hollywood watched the one-time promising Paramount actress sink out of the screen limelight into headlines that were not so glamorous.

Gail starred in some real-life scenes that were more dramatic than in the movies—a night in jail, a day weeping in court, near death in a sanitarium.

The shapely actress, who shot to stardom in "The Uninvited" and "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay," married cowboy star Guy Madison but the marriage was an unhappy one.

"I quit acting because I wanted to make a marriage and a home life," she explained. "But, well, it was one of those things..."

She denied she had ever trunked on a job, and added, "I've never been late to work."

After a stormy life, Gail and the young actor separated. Then she was named in the fiery John Wayne divorce suit. She and Wayne denied the allegations. Later Gail was arrested on drunk driving charges. At her trial nearly two years ago she was fined, put on probation and ordered to take "medical treatment."

For more than a year she was under treatment for hepatitis. Her lawyer later revealed she entered the hospital in a coma, and near death.

"I was in the hospital five months," she said as she sat in a friend's apartment. "I needed a good rest, a long one."

While she was in a sanitarium Madison divorced her because she was too "emotionally upset" to appear in court herself.

Last April she was in court again when she was fined on a hit-run charge. But now Gail indicates the unhappiness is behind her.

Last month Wayne tested her for the starring role in "Seven Men From Now," which he is producing. When the movie company went on location to nearby Lone Pine, a huge sign decorated the town "Gail Russell is back."

"It's been so long since I acted it took a lot of grinding to get the rust out of the wheels," she said with a smile.

"It's wonderful to be back at work. I had been a vegetable, doing nothing, for much too long."

Now the 31-year-old actress is looking forward to "another picture right away, and possibly some TV films."

"I may marry again some day, but now I want to get my career going," she said. "I'd like to get some security."

United Airlines
Hit By Strike

CHICAGO—UP—The AFL Flight Engineers, International Association Tuesday called a strike against United Airlines, effective at 12:01 a.m. Oct. 22, to enforce its demands for "job security."

The airline issued a statement that if the strike comes off, "only a minor amount of its scheduled service" will be curtailed.

The airline said that for two years the company has employed flight engineers with pilots' qualifications as third members of cockpit crews. United has assured non-pilot engineers of job security, the statement said, and the only point in issue is the requirement that new flight engineers include pilot qualifications.
