Berserk Ex-Con Kills Wife, Three Children

Dallas Cop Shoots It Out With Killer In Phone Booth

By JUD DIXON and KYLE THOMPSON
DALLAS — (UP) — A berserk ex-convict killed his three children — he both cut their throats and shot them — Tuesday, murdered his estranged wife and gravely wounded her son-in-law. Police Sgt. George Johns cornered the ex-convict, Buford Calhoun, 32, in a telephone booth in a drugstore in northeast Dallas and shot it out with him.

Johns wounded Calhoun three or four times with his .38 caliber revolver, including one wound in the head. Calhoun shot at Johns with a .22 caliber pistol, through the glass of the telephone booth, but missed him.

Still Alive
At last report, Calhoun was still alive. An ambulance took him to Parkland Memorial (City-County) hospital.

The babies he killed were Pamela Sue and Patricia Lou, three-month-old twins, and Bobby Lynn, a son, 15 months old. Bobby Lynn was sleeping with his mother, Mary Calhoun, 32, who was killed. The son-in-law, shot once in the arm and twice in the body, was John Warren, 19.

Were Asleep
Warren's wife, Shirley, 16, said she and her husband were asleep in the front bedroom of the five-room house in East Dallas. They heard Mrs. Calhoun moving about, but didn't think anything about it because she frequently got up at night with the children.

Finally, Mrs. Warren said, she got up to see what was going on. "When I went in, both of them were coming out of the kitchen into her room," she said. "He had a pistol. Mother was screaming, 'Shirley, help me.'"

At last report, Mrs. Warren was so hysterical that she still could not tell a coherent story. The twins were born to Mrs. Calhoun in September. Calhoun had left her in July and a final hearing on her divorce suit was scheduled Friday.

Convicted of Rape
Mrs. Calhoun's father, James G. Apel, said Calhoun was convicted once of raping a 13-year-old girl and had threatened his wife once before.

After the murders, Calhoun fled in a green automobile. Police, while hunting all over Dallas for him, posted a guard at the home of all his relatives.

Calhoun was shot at the drugstore where he was shot, but himself in the booth and telephoned his sister-in-law. Police were at her house and as soon as his voice was recognized, Police Sgt. L. O. Jones asked the telephone company by radio to trace the number.

Police squad cars converge on the drugstore. Johns was the first to arrive. He found Calhoun in a (See EX-CON, Page 2)

Dr. John Returns To West

Ex-Security Chief Quizzed In Germany

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
BONN, Germany — (UP) — Dr. John, 46, the West German security chief who plunged the West into crisis when he "defected" to the Communists last year, bounced back across the Iron Curtain Tuesday in the most spectacular turn-about of the cold war.

A West German government spokesman said John slipped back across the border into West Germany under cover of darkness and that he is being questioned at a secret location by an examining magistrate of the federal supreme court.

The square-jawed spy specialist who once helped plot the death of Adolf Hitler in the abortive bomb plot of 1944, entered the Soviet zone of Berlin, in July, 1954, and soon afterward told a press conference he had gone of his own free will.

Withheld Comment
There was no indication whether he fled back to the West as a disenchanted traitor who had got a belly full of communism or whether he had been working as a double agent all the time. West German officials withheld comment.

His position as Germany's "J. Edgar Hoover" at the time of his "defection" caused an immediate government crisis for Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and consternation among western intelligence agencies who had sponsored his visit to Washington for talks with Hoover and Allen Dulles, head of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Socialist Party Press Chief Fritz Heine described John's return flight as "no surprise."

"This situation is not a surprise for all observers," he said. "This will wipe out part of the prestige gain which the Soviet zone government achieved through John's presence in the Soviet zone."

John's flight to East Germany was carried out with the assistance of a Berlin physician, Dr. Wolfgang Wohlgemuth, with whom he had been in close contact since 1942.

They left Wohlgemuth's West Berlin office together on the evening of July 29, 1954, and crossed the sector border into East Berlin on the way to the East Berlin Charity hospital.

That was the last seen of him until the Communists announced later he had requested political asylum.

Man Killed, 3 Hurt In Train-Car Crash

One man was killed and six persons injured in a rash of automobile accidents Monday afternoon and night.

Elvin H. Barclay, 64, Lincoln, Amarillo, died in Highland General Hospital at 1:30 a.m. today as a result of injuries received when the car he was riding in collided with a Santa Fe switch engine 4.2 miles west of Pampa on U. S. Highway 60.

Three persons were hospitalized as a result of injuries received in the collision.

In another collision, just outside of the city limits, three persons were injured in a three-car accident. Receiving injuries were Roy Wilson, 68, of McLean, Betty Mc-

White, 18, of Lefors, and another man, name unknown, was admitted for surgery last night. The 1950 Studebaker being driven by the unidentified person who underwent surgery, tried to pass a school bus stopped at the side of the Lefors highway, when he collided with a '53 Chevrolet following the school bus too closely, coming from Lefors. The Chevrolet was also in collision with an Oldsmobile that had stopped to avoid the accident. An estimate of damages was unavailable late this morning.

The Barclay accident occurred as the engine was switching cars onto the track running to the Calcasieu plant. The accident occurred about 5:48 p.m. Vernon Moore Monroe, Amarillo driver of the car, is hospitalized here with injuries resulting from the collision as are Jay C. Yell, 27, of Vega, and Eugene A. Kelley, both passengers in the car.

At the time of the accident, the car coming from east collided with the engine. Phileas A. Groves of Amarillo was the engineer on the train.

The accident was investigated by Gray County Deputy Sheriff Buck Haggard.

Four collisions were reported occurring within the city limits. No injuries were reported. Damages were estimated at over $400.

The first collision occurred at 2:30 p.m. on the 100 block of W. Francis and at the intersection of N. Russell. Mrs. Lucille Baylock Cox, 53, N. Warren, driving a '53 Ford was in collision with Mrs. Ouida Morris of 516 Magnolia in a '55 Oldsmobile. Damages were estimated at $75 for the Ford and $150 for the Oldsmobile.

Another mishap took place at 5:40 p.m. at the intersection of Cuyler and Atchison. Ruthie Lee Bullard, 23, 1177 Vernon Dr., driving a '53 Chevrolet, was in collision with Robert Milton Barrett, in a '55 Chevrolet pickup. Barrett met with estimated damages of $65. Bullard encountered light damages.

Two collisions, resulting in minor vehicle damages, also took place Monday afternoon.

Panhandle Gets Front

By UNITED PRESS
A Canadian cold front blew into the Texas Panhandle Tuesday, but wasn't expected to get much farther south than Childress as it moves eastward across the state.

The front was expected to drop temperatures down to around 15 degrees Tuesday night in the Panhandle and South Plains. Gusts of surface winds already were reported in some parts of the state and were expected to cause considerable blowing dust in the Panhandle and South Plains later in the day.

Wind gusts up to 29 miles an hour were reported in Fort Worth, while Abilene — in West Texas — reported 40 mile an hour gusts. The winds were moving eastward across the state ahead of the front which was slowing down considerably. It was expected to reach North Central Texas by early Wednesday morning.

The front wasn't expected to affect temperatures too much south of a line from Childress to Fort Worth-Dallas. Forecasters said that actually the worst part of the front was north of Texas and was moving eastward.

Pampan Hurt In Hunting Mishap

John Lee Bell, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin R. Bell, live at 2014 N. Russell, is hospitalized in Oklahoma City following a hunting accident near Stillwater, Okla., where he was attending Oklahoma A. and M. College.

John Lee was hunting with two companions when the accident occurred. Both his hunting companions fired at a bird and parts of the shots struck John Lee in the face. He was some 60 yards from the pair.

The accident occurred about 5 p.m. Saturday. John Lee is the husband of the former Anita Southard.

Textbook Committee Appointed

A textbook selection committee was appointed by the school board last night to select from five titles of text books approved by the state for use in Pampa High School next year.

Knox Kinard, superintendent of schools, will act as head of the committee to select texts for seven high school subjects. Other members of the committee are: Mrs. Zela C. Pulliam, Mrs. Alta Lane, Don Swadley, H. Cameron Marsh, Mrs. Elaine Ledbetter, Betty Riddle, T. E. Curley, and Mrs. G. K. Hobbs. Books will be selected for the subjects of English, speech, American history, government, safety, physical education, and home economics.

Rev. Ronald Hubbard, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, met with the board to propose the placing of New Testaments, donated by the Gideons, in all the elementary schools. Rev. Hubbard was representing the Ministerial Alliance. His request will meet with consideration from the board.

Both local radio stations have arranged to give publicity to the coming school bond election, scheduled for next Saturday in the junior high school. The election will be concerned primarily with the approval of Senate Bill 116, granting the School district authority to raise additional taxes in order to pay on the bonded indebtedness, incurred from the proposed school expansion program.

Ford Gives Half Billion To Hospitals, Colleges

NEW YORK — (UP) — The Ford Foundation, in a history making move, Monday gave a half billion dollars to hospitals and colleges in the United States and recipients hailed the grants as a tremendous contribution to the progress of medicine and education.

Secretary of Education Marion B. Folsom said the funds — the largest in history of philanthropy — would "contribute significantly to the well-being of the American people."

Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele said the hospital and medical school contributions would "result in improvements in medical care for persons in all parts of the country."

Privately supported colleges listed for sizeable contributions were particularly strong in their praise of a provision which would make possible considerable auxiliary increases or professorials.

Hailed as "Greatest Thing" Chancellor Henry T. Heald of New York University said "this tremendous gift to American colleges and universities is the greatest thing that has ever happened in educational philanthropy." He added that the money would "greatly strengthen education" and provide real and lasting benefit in improving the status of faculty members in the liberal arts and sciences.

New York University received the largest education grant — $5 million. The grants are sufficient to give an estimated 4 per cent salary increase for each professor.

John's flight to East Germany was carried out with the assistance of a Berlin physician, Dr. Wolfgang Wohlgemuth, with whom he had been in close contact since 1942.

They left Wohlgemuth's West Berlin office together on the evening of July 29, 1954, and crossed the sector border into East Berlin on the way to the East Berlin Charity hospital.

That was the last seen of him until the Communists announced later he had requested political asylum.

The White House also refused to speculate on tax reduction, although President Eisenhower and Republican congressional leaders were told Monday the outlook is hopeful for balancing the budget in the current fiscal year without cutting military spending.

Boggs is a vice chairman of the Democratic National committee as well as a member of the House Ways and Means committee. Mills is chairman of a joint congressional economic subcommittee studying tax policy and is second ranking Democrat on the ways and means committee which initiates all tax legislation.

George has long had a major voice in tax matters as a member of the Senate Finance committee, which considers tax bills after they are pushed through the House.

Canadian Blizzard Hits North Plains

By UNITED PRESS
A mounting blizzard drove out of Canada into the Northern Plains Tuesday.

The storm was already in full force in southern Saskatchewan, where severe blizzard conditions were reported. Blizzard and cold wave warnings were hoisted in this country for parts of the Dakotas, Wyoming, and Montana, and heavy snows were reported in South Dakota early Tuesday.

The advancing cold battered its way through southern air which warmed up the midlands Monday, boosting temperatures as much as 24 degrees. The respite was to be brief, since fast-falling temperatures were forecast for much of the western Midwest.

Heavy Rains in Washington
Elsewhere, up to five inches of rain forced the evacuation of 40 persons near Kent, Wash. And caused landslides which shifted the foundations of homes at Astoria, Ore. A desert-born "heat wave" continued to bring summery temperatures to Southern California, but the East shivered in cold which included a scant 1 degree above zero at Elkins, W. Va.

It was much colder in the Canada blizzard area, where the mercury ranged between zero and 10 below. The falling snow was whipped by winds which reached gusts of 75 miles an hour, restricting visibility occasionally to zero.

The storm's advance guard was felt early Tuesday at Aberdeen, S. D. where nearly an inch of new snow fell in a one-hour period. At Huron, R. D. weathermen said winds were hitting 39 miles per hour and were piling new-fallen snow into drifts.

60-Mile Winds in Wyoming
Winds of 60 miles per hour were clocked at Laramie, Wyo., and Billings, Mont., reported gusts of 58 mph. Blowing snow and winds up to 50 miles per hour swept North Dakota.

More snow was blamed for the death of four persons in two drift-stalled cars in northern Wisconsin and upper Michigan Monday. The victims all kept their motors running for warmth and died of carbon monoxide poisoning.

A cold snap was welcomed in the Pacific Northwest, where it promised to put an end to torrid rains and keep swollen streams inside their banks.

A storm was reported in the mid-Atlantic ocean, where winds of near-hurricane force delayed a number of New York-bound ships with 40 to 50-foot waves. The giant British liner Queen Mary was among the storm-tossed vessels.

Farm Leader Says Soil Bank Will Help

By SHELDON GARBER
CHICAGO—UP—Charles B. Shuman, leader of 1.6 million farmers, said Tuesday a soil bank could help fight slipping farm prices.
 But he told the American Farm Bureau Federation he heads that the idea can also backfire and create even greater farm surpluses.
 The soil bank program must be coupled with flexible price supports, such as those backed by the Eisenhower administration, he said.
 Shuman, a 48-year-old farmer from Sullivan, Ill., gave an accounting of his first year as president of the federation at its 37th annual meeting.
 He talked to 5,000 delegates, who are expected to re-elect him Thursday and also approve some kind of soil bank proposal for 1956.
 The soil bank approach has been growing in popularity as a method of cutting down price depressing farm surpluses.
 It would return to grass those farm lands which are spilling out surpluses for the government to buy and store.
 The Eisenhower administration has been reported considering the soil bank approach as a possible part of its new farm proposals to congress.
Income Declines 28 Per Cent
 Shuman said that total net farm income has declined about 28 per cent in the last five years. An economist told the convention Monday it may go down another 5 per cent during 1956.
 The nation is producing 15 per cent more than it can consume domestically, Shuman said, and surpluses are piling up at such a rate that the government will be holding $10 billion worth by next March 1.
 Shuman outlined a seven-point attack on the farm problems.
 The first job, he said, is "to encourage an orderly shrinkage in the agricultural plant," and soil fertility bank idea can help in achieving that goal.

Boy Caught In Hit-Run Death Case

HOUSTON—UP—A 20-year-old Mexican youth who doesn't speak English was jailed early Tuesday to climax a 15-day police search for a hit-run motorist who killed a man last Nov. 27.
 Police said they would file charges of negligent homicide and failure to stop and render aid against the youth, Heriberto R. Fernandez.
 Fernandez, who spilled out his story in Spanish through an interpreter, would not admit or deny that he drove the car that killed W. B. Risdon, 36, as Risdon crossed a street about 1 a. m. last Nov. 27, but investigating officers Sgt. Walter Rankin, Joe Eckerd and Paul Nix said they found two young Mexican women who were riding in Fernandez' car at the time.
 Police said the girls admitted riding with the youth when the car "hit something" and said Fernandez told them he had "hit somebody." They said they begged him to stop but he sped away.
 Police said Fernandez later the same day took the car to a garage where he was known and had the increase to every teacher in every private four-year college in the nation. Colleges which use the grants exclusively for salary increases might be able to give professors increases as high as 6 per cent, a spokesman said. However, each college is free to determine how the increase is distributed.

Distribute Over 18 Months
 The Ford Foundation said the funds would be distributed during the next 18 months. The record contribution brought to nearly $1 billion the amount granted by the Ford Foundation since it was established in 1936 with profits made by the Ford motor empire.
 The Ford Foundation said it decided to contribute toward raising teachers salaries when a survey showed that railroad engineers smashed car hood repaired. They said he told the repairmen he had smashed into a fence and wanted the car fixed quickly so his father wouldn't find out about the accident.
 The accident set off a manhunt during which literally hundreds of "tips" on the death car were relayed to police and the Houston Press, a Scripps-Howard newspaper which offered a $200 reward in the case.

made more money than professors.
 The survey report, prepared under the direction of tax expert Beardsley Ruml, said that coal miners had been making more money than instructors at large universities—$4,198 compared to $3,700. Telephone operators receive about $500 a year less than professors.
To Encourage Efforts
 The Ford Foundation trustees, in announcing the grants Monday, said they were designed "to supplement and encourage the efforts of the American people in meeting problems affecting the progress of the whole nation."
 The funds were earmarked as follows:
 $210 million to 615 regionally accredited, privately supported liberal arts and science colleges and universities in the United States to help them raise teachers' salaries.
 $200 million to approximately 2,500 privately supported hospitals to help them improve and extend their services.
 $90 million for privately supported medical schools to help them strengthen their instruction facilities.
 Two of every three passenger cars and three of every four trucks manufactured in 1954 replaced vehicles that were scrapped.

BRIGHT IDEA—Model Lisa Weeks points to the "most significant incandescent lamp improvement in 42 years." It's the new internal construction of a light bulb developed in Cleveland, Ohio, by General Electric. An improved, doubly coiled filament has been mounted in the bulb lengthwise instead of crosswise. This produces 8 to 15 per cent more light—with the same amount of electricity. The bulb is being made in 750 and 1000-watt sizes now, but will be offered in household sizes later.

Hit Every Time
 Calhoun looked up, raised a .22 caliber pistol and shot at Johns through the glass. Johns, from a distance of about 10 feet, almost emptied his gun into the booth. He hit Calhoun every time he fired.
 Dicki Metcalf, the drugstore cashier, watched the shooting from about 50 feet away. Johns said he had to tell her three times to get out of the way.
 Calhoun's automobile was found parked on the street (Gariand Road) across from the drugstore. In it police found a suicide note, a Bible and medicine.
 While he was talking with his sisters-in-law, Calhoun threatened to kill himself.
 Jeff Budenski, an ambulance driver, said there was a powder burn as "big as a silver dollar" on Calhoun's right temple, indicating that Calhoun also shot himself.
 The suicide note, written on the flyleaf of the Bible, said: "A man shall cling to his wife until death do you part. So shall a woman to her husband. This was our promise so it has held good now. Now" was underlined twice.
 "I love my wife, and if I can't have her, neither will anyone else. Buford Calhoun."
 Police said Calhoun has relatives in Pleasant Grove, "Pleasant Valley," and Clarendon. The location of the place they described as "Pleasant Valley" could not immediately be determined.
 Pleasant Grove is a part of Dallas and Clarendon is in the Texas Panhandle.
 Lee said Warren was shot when he tried to get his gun.
 Patrolman H. R. Freeman, one of the first policemen to reach the scene, said:
 "There were the two three-month-old babies, twins. He had cut their throats first, then shot them in the head. Then he cut the throat of his 19-month-old baby boy and shot him in the head. Then he shot his wife."
 "He also shot another man who lived in the same house. He is in the hospital now in critical condition. He was shot three times, once in the arm and twice in the body."
 "They all lived in the same house except the man who did the shooting, who was estranged from his wife. The wounded man's wife escaped without getting shot. The wounded man is named John Warren. He's 19 years old."
 "All the people who were killed were named Calhoun. The shooting was done with a .22 rifle. The babies' throats were cut with some kind of a short saber. We found the scabbard for it."
 "The man hasn't been caught yet."
 The shooting happened at 5519 Oleander Street, in East Dallas. The mother was identified as Mary Calhoun, 33, and a pick-up was put out for her husband, Buford Calhoun.
 The twins were named Pamela Sue and Patricia Lou. They were asleep together in the same crib. The older baby, Bobby Lynn, was asleep with his mother.

Turncoat's Mother Talks With Her Son

ALDEN, Minn.—UP—Mrs. Portia Howe, mother of American turncoat Richard Tenneson, talked to her son on trans-Pacific telephone Tuesday hours after he left Red China for free Hong Kong and said he "sounded very wonderful."
 "It's been almost five years since I last saw or talked with my son and you can't imagine the thrill it was to hear his voice again," the Alden farm wife said.
 Tenneson told Mrs. Howe he would arrive in Minneapolis Friday at 8 a. m. and told her to be "sure and meet me."
 "Richard sounded older, more mature, and his diction was different," Mrs. Howe said. "It probably comes from speaking Chinese."
 Tenneson also spoke to his half-brother, Nathan, and half-sister, Jan, 12-year-old twins.
 Mrs. Howe said she asked her son about reports that he blamed his defection to communism partly on whippings he received as a child from his step-father, Eb Howe.
 "Richard denied saying the whippings he received caused him to turn to communism," she said. "He said he told newsmen that as a child he was punished and as a child he resented it, but that it had nothing to do with staying with his Communist captors."
 Mrs. Howe said her prayers were answered when she learned her son had crossed over the Red border into Hong Kong Monday night.

Transfer of the units will add 365 men to the installation.

Perryton Farm Family Is Honored

PERRYTON — (Special) — The Harlan A. Hawk Family of Ochiltree County was honored as a "Master Farm Family" by The Progressive Farmer magazine at a State Award Dinner in Dallas Tuesday night. At a banquet held in the Terrace Room of the Baker Hotel, the Hawks were presented an engraved silver howl in recognition of their accomplishments in farming, homemaking, and community leadership. Later, their story will be told in a well-illustrated article in the magazine.

Principal speaker at the Award Dinner was Eugene Butler, president and editor of The Progressive Farmer. Miss Sallie Hill, home editor, also addressed the group. After presentation of the awards, guests were taken on a pictorial visit to the farms and homes of the Master Farm Families with the showing of colored slides.

The Hawks are one of eleven farm families in the State to receive the Master Farm Family Award for 1955. To meet the requirements for this high honor, a family must take good care of the land, while making it pay a reasonable profit on farming operations. There must be a good house with attractive surroundings. The family must take an active part in community life. They must show interest and leadership in good schools, farm organization, 4-H clubs, soil conservation, and all those group activities that are so vital to a happy, prosperous farm life.

Senterfitt Hits 'Closed Shop' Politicos

AUSTIN — UP — Governorial candidate Reuben Senterfitt Tuesday accused political "closed shops" in Texas, both liberal and conservative, of running "puppets" for public office.

Senterfitt, in a speech released in advance of delivery over a state-wide television program Tuesday, confidently predicted victory in his campaign and aimed his attack directly at U.S. Sen. Price Daniel, Gov. Allan Shivers, Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey, Agriculture Commissioner John White and Ralph Yarborough by name.

The former House speaker said the "political shops" are making "interchangeable parts for their machines this year."

"The political integration going on indicates that they are using parts from both major shops to keep their empires from crumbling. Look at the mixture of so-called liberal and so-called conservative leaders in this state. This integration has caused great confusion and resulted in greater frustration than ever before in the history of Texas politics."

Senterfitt, San Saba attorney, said "special agents from the closed shops" are saying he is the best man but can't win because he isn't well known. He said that statement is "back-firing right in their faces," and added:

"Reuben Senterfitt is now the best known unknown man in Texas."

Senterfitt charged a "phony draft movement" is underway to bring Daniel into the governor's race.

"Price, the whole plot is not designed for putting you in the governor's office. It is designed for the purpose of getting you out of the United States Senate. The left-wingers and radicals know you are honor bound to resign your Senate seat if you run for governor."

Senterfitt also told Daniel, "if you desert your United States Senate post, you would render the conservative cause the greatest possible disservice."

People Are Arguing About Your Living Room Rug!

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY

NEW YORK — UP — People are arguing about your living room rug.

It should or it should not be tacked to the floor, wall to wall; it must or it must not be a background for other furnishings; you will or you won't like the idea of putting bright colors and distinct patterns underfoot.

Both sides of each argument have supporters in a carpet controversy which already has brought changes in rug designs and may bring many more.

American families are not satisfied with the selection of rugs they have had in the past decade, one leading carpet company executive warned a recent meeting of floor covering experts. He maintained we had been sold too many yards of monotone wall-to-wall carpeting, until floors had ceased to be focal points in decorating schemes.

What we needed, the executive said, were more high quality rugs in interesting colors and designs made to accept a particular area of a room.

Another company has used famous paintings to inspire colors for its 1956 line.

"We selected 10 of the most popular paintings from great art museums all over the world," an executive of the Firth Carpet Co. explained. "Predominant colors from each painting were assembled in each different rug design. The effect is in an all-over brush stroke design."

"The American taste has improved so much," the executive said, "that we feel all manufacturers must step up merchandise to equal the new levels of appreciation."

Homeowners already have started buying more rugs and less wall-to-wall carpeting, rug designer and Manufacturer Edward Fields claims. His company sells rugs to interior decorators, in the price-per-yard brackets where rug fashions first appear, to be copied later in less expensive versions.

Fields says average families have found tacked-down carpeting too difficult to clean, too expensive to install and impractical because it couldn't be moved successfully to a new home.

THE JOY OF Christmas is in living. We are told that over and over again, but it often fails to sink in, and thus, the real pleasures of the season are lost.

Christmas has become somewhat of a task to so many of us. It isn't mere imagination on my part. . . people are heard everywhere, complaining that it is so difficult to buy this person or that person a gift.

But every once in a while you hear of something that puts the real joy of the season back in your heart. There is no tangible proof . . . you just get a feeling, as they say.

This time it is the occasion I had Sunday to visit the Bernard Gordon Memorial Home in Panhandle, endowed home for little girls from broken homes.

It is operated by a group of Catholic sisters. It is a small home, remodeled two-story farm house on a desolate looking field on the outskirts of Panhandle.

As a representative of the Pampa Elks Lodge, I visited the home Sunday with our exalted ruler, Lee Roy McBride and treasurer, Joe Tooley.

I learned from the veteran Elks that the Pampa Lodge helped get the home established during that uncertain beginning about four years ago. The lodge members here collected items of furniture and what have you. Another lodge provided metal fire escapes for the home.

Then Sunday, one of the sisters told us that airmen from Amarillo Air Base have been donating things. Come Christmas, the little girls will receive a "merry-go-round" bought by donations of a group of these airmen. There is other outdoor playing equipment which has been given by Pampa Elks.

Our trip to Panhandle was made to learn what gifts might be given the little girls this year.

There are eight girls in the home; Pat is 14; Mary Ellen is 13; Barbara and Sandra are 12; Teresa is 10; Maria is nine and Rose and Janie are eight.

As we talked with this devoted sister about what practical gifts the Elks might try to provide this year, I had the unhappy thought that the gift really needed by these girls was impossible for us to provide. . . that in reality, a "material" gift to these little girls will be a spiritual gift for ourselves.

We are all a bit selfish.

ANYWAY, THE GIRLS will need dress-up hats, gloves, shoes. Two of them, Janie (size 7) and Teresa (size 7) will need dresses. They are the newest members of that little "family" the sister explained, and they came to the home with only the dresses they wore.

"And I'm sure," the sister explained "that if these two are given a little bit more, the other girls will understand."

We will not be able to fill that void created by the absence from a real home. We may add something to the material comfort of these children. . . give them a moment of pleasure. But mostly, we will be taking ourselves a sleigh ride into the wonderland of the spirit of Christmas.

And you, too, can come along. You know the girls' names, their ages and where they will be waiting for Santa Claus.

WELL, AFTER MY long-range prediction concerning the state AAAA football championship play-off, it has come down to a final battle of my old home town and the Abilene Eagles. Since I have to stick to my prediction of an East Texas victory, things have come to a pretty pass around the News.

It appears that either I leave town or some of my colleagues will after Saturday's battle in Fort Worth. If Tyler loses Saturday, don't be surprised if you don't see me again.

I find myself a lone Lion in a nest of swarming Eagles, and the heat of these Warbirds is a bit uncomfortable already.

However, not being one of faint heart, I am prepared to make the trek to Fort Worth Saturday to watch the giants grapple for the golden crown, and will be pulling for the same outcome of 25 years ago when an underdog Tyler team knocked Amarillo over for the championship. It happened in 1930 in Fort Worth.

MY LITTLE STORY about Christmas above reminds me of an elderly couple in a little East Texas community near Tyler who play Santa Claus for thousands of needy children. They are Mr. and Mrs. Neal Cain of Garden Valley. A couple of meagre means, they spend the entire year collecting toys, repairing, repainting, mending a doll here and there and wrapping the gifts. Folks who have heard of this couple send them things. They get donations from all over the United States, and when Christmas comes, they have a big party for needy children and gifts are lavished upon the unfortunate.

Then, it's back to the old grind again, collecting, fixin' for next year.

They are well known to the Post office crew. . . mail comes to them addressed "Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus, Garden Valley, Texas."

THE POET'S NOOK Baffin island covers 197,000 square miles, the largest of the Canadian Arctic islands.

effort. . . It struck me as appropriate. I won't ask you to guess the title and author.

AN ANCIENT PRAYER Give me a good digestion, Lord, and also something to digest; Give me a healthy body, Lord, and sense to keep it at its best; Give me a healthy mind, good Lord, to keep the good and pure in sight; Which, seeing sin, it not appalled, but finds a way to set it right; Give me a mind that is not bound, that does not whimper, whine or sigh; Don't let me worry overmuch about the fussy thing called I; Give me a sense of humor, Lord; Give me the grace to see a joke; To get some happiness from life and pass it on to other folk; Thomas H. Fred Thompson, Treasurer of the First Baptist Church, announced Sunday morning that the members had over-subscribed the 1956 budget by $6,268.00. The total amount for the 1956 budget is $117,270.00 and the amount subscribed was $123,538.00. Thompson also announced that a total of 1,782 members of the Sunday School and church had been contacted about pledging and there are yet 374 to be visited before the campaign is officially closed.

This budget includes world-wide mission as supported by Southern Baptists and also a local mission program which includes the support of Barrett Chapel and two new churches in the Western States. The budget also includes the complete retirement of the present debt of the church and the beginning of a building fund for future expansion. The local operating expenses are included in the total budget.

Dr. E. Douglas Carver, pastor of the church, announced that this was the largest amount ever subscribed and the largest number of people pledging in recent church history. The number pledging included members of the local congregation and Sunday School and did not include members of any of the missions supported by the church.

He has been accused of trying to organize a terrorist organization in behalf of ousted dictator Juan D. Peron.

Ante Pavelich the durable leader of the once-dreaded Ustaichi terrorists of Yugoslavia, denies the Argentine charge. He says he is just a man of peace now.

If ever a man lived on borrowed time, it is Pavelich. He has had death sentences hanging over him since 1929.

But Pavelich is living prosperously in Buenos Aires. He says he is making progress as a building contractor.

Pavelich was in the newspaper headlines all over the world in 1934.

On Oct. 9 of that year, King Alexander I of Yugoslavia was on a state visit to France. He was driving slowly through Marseille in an open car with French Foreign Minister Louis Barthou beside him between lanes of cheering people.

A gunman leaped onto the running board of the car and shot both men dead. Guards cut down the assassin with sabres and pistols. The enraged crowd finished him off.

It soon developed that the assassination had been organized by the

Man Who Helped Start World War II is Refugee In Argentina

By CHARLES M. MCCANN

One of the men who helped sow the seeds of World War II is living as a refugee in Argentina.

Pavelich turned up in Fascist Italy. It developed that he had been permitted to maintain a fantastic terrorist camp in Hungary, just across the frontier from Yugoslavia.

Benito Mussolini refused to extradite Pavelich. The crime which he had organized caused bitterness between France and Italy, Italy and Yugoslavia and Hungary and Yugoslavia. It helped materially to create the atmosphere which led to World War II.

After the outbreak of World War II, Mussolini and Adolf Hitler made Pavelich the Quisling "chief of state" of a puppet Croat government. It is charged that, in that capacity, he was responsible for the murder of 800,000 Serbs, Croats and Jews.

Pavelich disappeared when Germany collapsed. He was indicted as a major war criminal by the postwar Yugoslav government of President Tito. It was reported that he had been executed. But he escaped and turned up in Argentina. Tito vainly sought to get dictator Peron to extradite him.

Stocky, grim-faced Pavelich may be now, as he says, just a man of peace. But a lot of people would like to see him dead.

Attack Fatal To Cowboy Artist

By UNITED PRESS

BROWNWOOD, Tex. (UP)—Harold O. Kelly, a nationally-known cowboy artist, died of a heart attack Monday at the age of 71. His funeral was scheduled for Tuesday afternoon.

Burial will be at Blanket, Tex., near where Kelly lived on a Brown county farm the last 17 years.

A self-taught artist, he started painting in oils in 1948 and made a fast climb in the art world. By 1950, his works had been published in Life magazine and other national publications.

In 1950, he gave a one-man art show at the Dallas Museum of Fine Arts and a record number of persons attended. Since then, Kelly's cowboy paintings that usually featured a rural theme had been featured at the State Fair of Texas.

Planned Tyranny

This is an age of paradox. Never have working men and women had so much leisure time. Never have they been so pressed for time to get done the various things they wish to do. Never have men been blessed with so many devices (books, magazines, newspapers, radio, television, telephone, etc.) with which to convey ideas. Never have they had so much difficulty in conveying SENSIBLE ideas.

Of course, there is large communication. Nearly everyone talks to nearly everyone else. But what about? There is much ado and considerable fanfare about an appalling array of trivia. Everyone wants to be clever. Few care to take the time to be wise.

Therefore, when we come face to face with a new book that contains sensible ideas and much wisdom, we are puzzled, because of the characteristics of the age in which we live; as to what we can say to bring it to the attention of people who should read it.

Dr. V. Orval Watts' book, "The United Nations: Planned Tyranny," (Devin Adair — New York) is the reason for our dilemma.

When time has passed, and historians are able to view the 20th century from the advantage of perspective, they will probably remark that this was the age of collective disillusion. For it is in the 20th century that human beings, seeking to solve humanity's problems, have turned to the collective as the panacea for all the world's ills. It is reasonable to assume that the disillusion will come, when after something close to a hundred years, the collective efforts prove to be purposeless and fruitless.

This, although he doesn't state it in this precise manner, is the general revelation of "The United Nations: Planned Tyranny." Dr. Watts reveals that the U.N. is the penultimate of the collective effort. Ostensibly, it is supposed to provide peace. Actually, it is so ordered and formulated to be an instrument of war and tyranny.

And since this is the age for collective attempts to solve problems that have not been solved individually, the importance of Dr. Watts' book in this year can scarcely be over-emphasized.

Dr. Watts is no raving reactionary. His style is learned; his prose, simple and direct. His book, a brief and easily read treatise on the major problem of our age, is so logical and succinct that we are convinced that it would change the opinion of the most ardent one-worlder, if he would only take the trouble to read it. That is the problem. How to get one-worlders and others to read the book.

Tell you what we'll do. We are so convinced as to the efficacy of Dr. Watts' book that we will challenge anyone here at the Top of Texas to find ONE SINGLE ILLOGICAL OR UNTRUE SENTENCE IN IT. Now, either we are right in our evaluation of the book or we are not. If we are right, then Dr. Watts points out, the U.N. is leading us toward a great disillusionment in that it will assist in bringing more war and tyranny than it can possibly prevent. If Dr. Watts is right, then the United States should get out of the U.N. immediately.

On the other hand, if we and Dr. Watts are wrong, how will you ever know unless you read his book? Again we say we should like to hear from someone who disagrees with Dr. Watts so we could publish his point of view and his reasons for disagreeing. We do not believe that anyone can honestly disagree with Dr. Watts with respect to the U.N. after having read this book.

Don't you think you owe it to yourself to read what Dr. Watts has to say so that you can make up your own mind first hand?

THE NATION'S PRESS

THE MIXTURE AS EXPECTED
(Chicago Daily Tribune)

The White House conference on education, to no one's surprise, wound up with a report declaring that the delegates, by a ratio of more than two to one, were in favor of federal aid to the public schools of the nation. The report specifically called for federal support of school construction, but did not close the door to other forms of federal aid to education.

The conference was convoked behind a smoke screen of allegations that it had been "stacked" against federal aid. It is apparent, all right, but stacked the other way. This should occasion no surprise, for what other possible reason could be found for calling a national conference in the first place if not to use it as a means of endorsing federal aid?

In fact, the outlines of the plot, which had always been visible, were drawn together so that all might see at the finish of the conference, when Martin Folsom, secretary of health, education, and welfare in the Eisenhower cabinet, came out in favor of federal aid.

Mr. Folsom made the usual pro-federal declaration that of course, the government would attach no strings to aid. This was intended to meet the argument that there cannot be federal aid without federal control of the curricular content and methods of the public schools — a truth that follows the maxim that he who pays the piper calls the tune.

The conferees embodied the same sort of wishful thinking in their report, piously stating that federal aid was not "interpreted" by them to mean federal control. They might have added, "We hope, we hope, we hope."

Alas, the conference thus came out where it could have been expected to arrive without all the rignarole of three days of round table panel discussion, the inconsistencies of its position carry a fascination all their own.

Thus, on Wednesday, one of the major reports of the meeting, on the subject of school construction needs, read as follows: "The general consensus was this: No state represented has a demonstrated financial incapacity to build the schools it will need during the next five years. But, with the exception of a few states, none of the states presently has plans which indicate a political determination powerful enough to overcome all of the obstacles."

In other words, no state is unable to handle its school problem itself, but some states may be reluctant to do so. Thus, as we are informed by the final report, the solution is for the federal government to tax the people of the states for their school needs because the people of the states are hesitant to tax themselves.

The concluding report the following day then directly contradicted the declaration that no state has "a demonstrated financial incapacity" to meet its own educational needs. For the report urged federal aid said, "A substantial majority (of the delegates) felt that the federal government has sufficient financial resources to take care of the essential needs of the schools."

Mr. Benjamin Fine of the New York Times, a doctor of education himself, appeared to become somewhat confused, for he said, in the face of the statement that there was no "demonstrated financial incapacity" in any state, that "so critical is the school building shortage only two or three states can meet their needs in the next five years."

In reporting the final endorsement of federal aid, Mr. Fine, in a refreshing burst of candor, did

The American Crime Of Crimes XI.

I am continuing to quote from Muzey's "A History of Our Country," used in the high schools throughout the United States more generally, it is claimed, than any other history textbook.

Throughout his text, Muzey invariably calls those people who did not believe in joining the League of Nations or the United Nations isolationists rather than non-interventionists. "Isolationist" is a smear word because it implies that the individual who opposed intervening in the political affairs of other nations was opposed to free trade among nations and wanted to build a fence around the country to keep goods and foreigners out. That's really what an isolationist would want done.

A non-interventionist, by the very nature of the word, would have to believe in free trade and permitting people of all nations to cross borderlines without government restrictions. In other words, the non-interventionist is a man that believes in liberty for all people, while an interventionist is in reality an isolationist. That is a man that believes in not only restricting the natural rights of the citizens in his own country but trying to intervene in the rights of citizens throughout the world.

In other words, a non-interventionist is a man who believes in the ideologies of our Founding Fathers as set forth by George Washington in his Farewell Address.

On Page 591 Muzey again repeats that organized labor pledged its full cooperation for victory. What good did it do to so pledge when they used the war as a method of forcing people into unions and putting the employer in an embarrassing position that might be called unpatriotic if they refused to grant every demand made by union labor on the threats of strikes and sabotage.

Desert

On Page 604 he writes: "... our Senate would not desert the United Nations as it had deserted the League of Nations a quarter of a century earlier."

A deserter, in America is, of course, a person who is not loyal to the principles on which this government was formed; is not loyal to liberty and justice.

Muzey likes to make it out that any man or legislator who believed the best way to improve the lot of mankind was to improve our own government rather than to try to improve the whole world, was a deserter.

The Hope Of The World

On Page 609 in discussing the United Nations, he uses the sub-head, "The Hope of the World." Under this heading he writes:

"In spite of its failure on major international issues, the UN accomplished much in its first years in the work of such agencies as the World Health Organization, the International Trade Organization, the International Refugees Organization, and the Children's Emergency Fund."

One wonders what these organizations accomplished other than taking by the use of aggressive force from one group of people to benefit others. In other words, what did they do except promote a form of state socialism.

Then he continues in this sly, clever manner: "In the view of many, the most promising of these agencies was the United Nations Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Organization (UNESCO), whose aim was to further a better understanding among the peoples by improving the education of their people and encouraging the interchange of the cultural benefits which each of the countries had to offer."

Remember, the American Legion recently went on record as opposing UNESCO and well they might oppose it, because it is based on the use of aggressive force rather than on the free trade of merchandise and ideas. If we want to exchange the cultural benefits from different nations, all we need do is take off protective tariffs and immigration quotas and let private citizens freely exchange goods and services and go to the uttermost parts of the world.

Muzey does everything he can to make the student believe that we can promote peace by the use of aggressive force by way of the United Nations.

New Concept Of War Seen In 1957 Budget

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower and his military advisers have framed a national defense budget and program for 1957 that contemplates a 30-day "sudden death" decision in any World War III. It is the most historic decision in this field ever made.

It represents a victory for the Air Force and Navy over Army spokesmen who insisted — and still do — that the advent of nuclear weapons has not revolutionized or outmoded more classic forms of warfare. Specifically, it is a triumph for Admiral Arthur W. Radford, the aggressive head of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and General Curtis LeMay, Chief of the U.S. Strategic Air Command.

They argued at Gettysburg that the two and three-year buildup of industrial capacity, which proved a decisive battle force in World Wars I and II, is no longer possible. In their opinion, the nation which has initial superiority in air and atomic power will be able to deliver a knockout punch almost overnight.

Although there has not been, and will not be any public announcement of the new policy, General LeMay proclaimed it in a recent interview with the editors of David Lawrence's U.S. News and World Report.

Asked if he thought that any future conflict would be "short-lived — a matter of a week or two, or a month at the outside," he replied:

"I think that it is entirely possible that the decisive phase of the war will be over in a very short period of time, one side or the other lost its means of defending itself against further destruction, and its means of launching destruction against the enemy."

"The decision will have been won. The fighting may not stop, at least not immediately, but the decision will have been reached, and it is just a matter of time to exploit what has already been done, and bring the war to a close."

Not even the conclusive "explosion" of an initial destructive at-

Fair Enough

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

James F. Byrnes, our Secretary of State under Truman, has written a defense of the State Department against the attacks and other forms of attack which greatly exaggerates and misrepresents the case. In general, the department has the respect of most Americans whose opinions matter, including politicians, specifically Senator Joe McCarthy. As one who carefully watched the development of the Eisenhower cabal to discredit McCarthy because he was exposing vicious conditions in the State Department, I can agree with both Byrnes and McCarthy.

McCarthy would be the last to deny Byrnes' declaration that the people of our career foreign service are "Alert, intelligent sentinels on constant duty in all our diplomatic outposts," except that Byrnes does not note the existence of dangerous exceptions. When he writes that it is time "To stop shooting our sentries" he insinuates that the decent, non-partisan, non-political members of this corps suffer the same public contempt which the wicked deserve and too seldom receive.

He resorts to innocence by association, which is far different from guilt by association. A corrupt person does not acquire innocence by associating with the innocent majority. He is still corrupt — a Communist traitor, perhaps, or a homosexual or a drunken flannel-mouth. Neither does his contamination of innocent persons who know him as flagrantly corrupt positively condone their corruption and this in itself is a poor excuse for a poor person's legitimate punishment.

Mr. Byrnes admitted that soon after the war Harry Truman dumped into the State Department "More than 10,000 persons from the Office of War Information, the Office of Inter-American Affairs, and the Office of Strategic Services." All three of these bureaus were evil, nasty concentrations of parasites, to say the best of most of them, and Communist traitors at worst. Byrnes and Truman well know this by now if they did not know it then. I certainly knew it then without any of the official sources of information which were at their service, and Congressional inquiries since 1945 have proved many facts which sailed right past the public eye and ear. There were small minorities of technically decent but useless bureaucrats in each of these aggregations, but all three were on the whole rotten.

The OSS was worse. The OWI was little better except the OWI was American Affairs was more futile and stupid than sinister, as far as our knowledge went at the time. However, the decay of Latin American politics since the war undoubtedly is the result of infections incurred through the office during the war. It is a sorry fact that the OSS, the worst concentration of Reds, was organized and, in a loose, haphazard way, managed by a great patriot and hero, William

Byrnes Misrepresents U.S. State Department In Article

Donovan, of New York, who won the Medal of Honor in battle with the 88th New York of the 42nd or Rainbow Division in the first war. He is a Republican in politics and, in religion, a Catholic, so it were unthinkable that he should have permitted Communists to infest his OSS to promote their own purposes. Like John L. Lewis (in the organizing days of the CIO) he thought he could use Communists in European espionage without allowing them to use the OSS for the purposes of Soviet Russia. He was badly mistaken. The slaughter of thousands of fine Italians of the Anti-Communist, Fascist regime was a ghastly consequence of the flippant, cynical policy of the Roosevelt — Truman regime of "recognizing" the Communists in the enemy countries and cooperating with them merely because they were enemies of Mussolini and Hitler. They were also enemies of the United States as any knowing person knew then.

Mr. Byrnes knows, indeed most of Washington knows, that one of the highest officials of the State Department under Cordell Hull, a family favorite of the Roosevelt, was a notorious homosexual. A male secretary to William Bullitt, our Ambassador in both Petrograd and Paris, was arrested and charged with such an offense in Washington and admitted later that in forfeiting his $25 bail-bond he tacitly acknowledged guilt. So, unfortunately, the department has suffered stigma, including some which could have been averted by honest, courageous official action. It was not enough to permit this notorious friend of the Roosevelt to withdraw with honor. The State Department had a duty to the country and to its own people whom Mr. Byrnes is now defending against casual, unfair suspicion, to drum this individual out. Mr. Byrnes surely knows of this case but he says nothing about it.

When Whitaker Chambers went to A. A. Berle with his long, detailed story about Alger Hiss, Berle, an important secondary official of state, regarded it as a mere matter of internal bureaucratic rivalry. He soon went sailing gaily off to Rio as Ambassador. When Walter Winchell, then a naval officer on active service, took the same facts to Roosevelt, Roosevelt scoffed... the situation was not innocent. The State Department was not only infected with treachery not only by this sudden access of 10,000 cats and dogs from the three rogue bureaus but by an intentional policy of the long Roosevelt regime.

However, no decent man or woman in the American Embassy in Rome or Bonn, for example, today, can possibly feel conscious of suspicion. Like decent persons everywhere in American society they carry their heads high. Any mere rumorist or downright accuser would bring scorn on himself, not them.

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JORDAN, M. D.

A correspondent writes that she would be much interested in "my version" of muscular rheumatism. She says that she has been told she has it.

I do not have a "version" of muscular rheumatism. Rheumatism is a rather old-fashioned name which formerly was used for a whole raft of conditions now known as arthritis, neuritis, fibrositis, or some other more specific term.

The march of science has gone on and it no longer satisfies careful doctors to call so many conditions just plain rheumatism.

WHEN THE DOCTOR is still used, however, it generally refers to those muscular pains and aches which may develop in almost any part of the body and from any one of several different causes and which will not fit into the classification for more specific disorders.

Nearly everyone at one time or another has suffered with such kinds of muscular rheumatism. A draft blowing on the back or neck may be enough to set it off. Muscular aches and pains often accompany sore throats or influenza. Toxic substances absorbed from diseased tonsils or an abscessed tooth not infrequently produce rheumatism.

Muscular pains which feel exactly the same as rheumatism often come after one has given hard use to muscles which were soft and flabby or after one has maintained a poor posture for a long period of time.

IN OTHER WORDS, there are still some things left for which the label of rheumatism is about as good as anything else. A rose by any other name would smell as sweet.

Rheumatism of any cause is uncomfortable and a thousand different treatments have been tried. Many, if not most, get well by themselves. In others the cause can be traced and eliminated. But some go on and on until the victim without his or her rheumatism seems like a different person.

Hank Wants Do-It-Yourself Handbook For Christmas

By HENRY McLEMORE

It has been my custom in the past to keep secret from Mary what I would like to have for Christmas, as I am a firm believer that surprise is half the fun.

There's nothing like unwrapping your gift, expecting a pair of pajamas and a bowl of shaving soap, and having it turn out to be a hand of cards.

I know, because that was the thrill I had last Christmas, but this year I have told Mary what I want. I knew I had to have it the minute I read about it. I'd just be sick if I didn't get it. It is a do-it-yourself book, written by the former University of Wisconsin track coach, Thomas E. Jones, and it tells exactly how to build your own athletic field.

Now there's a do-it-yourself project that a man can get his teeth into! I never have been very enthusiastic about the do-it-yourself craze before — it didn't offer enough of a challenge. Building a dog house, a barbecue pit, papering a wall, or making a cobbler's bench is all right, but it isn't an accomplishment of enduring merit. You never would call in friends from far and wide and, with your chest bursting with pride, point out one of these and boast of how you had done it all by yourself. No newspaper, unless you owned it, would send a photographer to take a picture of you and the wall you'd papered or the linoleum you'd laid, but with an athletic field it would be different.

I'd be willing to bet that when you opened the field by unveiling the broad jump pit, or running the 100-yard dash in ten seconds flat while wearing your brick ma-

IF YOU ARE STILL UNDECIDED about some Christmas gifts, here is another suggestion from the Pfaff Sewing Institute of a gift you can make easily and inexpensively. And it's different — a tweed eyeglass case to match a suit. If you read on further, there is a suggestion for displaying your Christmas cards.

You need: 6 1/2" x 7" piece of Board" panels has brought an easy solution. Take two or three panels, or satin for lining; 4 pieces 20 by 23 inches in size, hinge them together with ribbon, set them up on a table or mantel, and there you have a handsome device for your most beautiful Christmas cards.

Using wood or plastic golf tees, you can prop up the cards to make a handsome display. You also can use special clips or perforate the cards with the golf tees. Another method is to suspend the cards on loops of ribbon strung through the holes in the "Peg-Board" panels.

Two or more panels will stand nicely, much like a miniature screen. Three-panels can be formed into a three-sided display, an unusual feature of which can be a lamp in the center to back-light the cards through the perforations in the boards. A cube-shaped display, of course, can be made similarly by using four panels.

Perforated boards in the suggested size are widely available in lumber yards and other retail outlets. Some are painted, or you can make your own by obtaining a larger panel and sawing it. In this case, round the corners with a file and lightly bevel the edges in the same way or with a sander. Then prime and paint the boards before setting them up for your display of Christmas cards.

Some families may want to display all the cards they receive. In that case, obtain a 4 x 8-foot "Peg-Board" panel, frame it with wood molding and suspend it on a wall or lean it against a long table. Of course, it should be primed and painted first. Available at lumber yards are especially-designed clips that fit into the perforations and hold the cards much as common paper clips would.

AMONG THE SCORES of Christmas cards that families receive every year, most folks like to display the "special" ones, rather than just tossing them on a stack. An effective display method, up to now, has been a problem.

DKG Society Has Christmas Meeting

A Christmas turkey luncheon was held recently in Lamar School cafeteria by the Delta Kappa Gamma Society. Decorations followed the Yuletide theme.

The program, under the direction of Miss Claudia Eversly, included a Christmas story, "The Round John," told by Miss Oleta Marlin. Several vocal selections, "Baby Brother" and "Christmas," were presented by Mary Kay Johnson of Groom, daughter of Mrs. Sanford Johnson, a member. She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Weldon Reno of Groom. Mrs. Joe Page led the group in singing of Christmas carols.

Another highlight of the meeting was initiation of new members. Active members initiated were Mrs. Fay Della Adams, Mrs. Esta Armstrong and Mrs. Para C. Rander. Associate members initiated were Mrs. Helen Davis and Mrs. C. O. Mangold.

The business session was led by Mrs. Roy Sullivan, president. Roll call, led by Miss Pearl Spough, was answered by spelling Christmas in Greek.

Pampa AAUW Has Musial Program And Art Exhibit For Its Christmas Tea

The Pampa branch of the American Association of University Women held its guest-day Christmas tea Sunday afternoon in the City Club Room.

The program of Christmas music, presented by a choir of eighth grade girls, was arranged by Miss Eloise Lane, who also directed the choir. Carols from different countries were sung. They included "Angels We Have Heard On High," a French carol; "Low, How a Rose Ever Blooming" by Praetorius; "My Sheep were Grazing," a German carol; "Jesus Is Born," a Bohemian carol; "As Lately We Watched," an Austrian carol; "Jeau Bambino" by Yon; and "O Holy Night," a French carol.

Accompanists for the choir were Sue Foster and Nannette Flynt. The Christmas story, as told in the scriptures, was read by Miss Mary Sturgeon.

Another highlight of the tea was an exhibit of art by Pampa school children, from the first through the eighth grades. The exhibit was arranged by Mrs. Epar Shover, who announced it will be shown in the Lovett library this week.

Guests were welcomed by Miss Sibyl Turner, club president, and Miss Louise Sharp, president at the guest register. The program was introduced by Mrs. N. G. Kadingo, program chairman.

Refreshments of Christmas cookies, nuts, candies and punch were served. The serving table was covered with a pink net cloth trimmed with white Christmas trees and beads. ### Time Out With Tom

By TOMMIE ELLIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

We appreciate Putt Powell giving Pampa a plug in his column this week in regard to the Football Banquet which is to be held on the 16th. He mentioned in his Wednesday column "I've never heard a better speaker."

We have never had the privilege to hear Coach Bear Bryant speak but we are sure looking forward to it. We understand that almost all the tickets to the Banquet have been sold so if you fans plan to attend you had better get around to B & B or Malone's Pharmacy or Richard's Drug and get a couple.

Well it looks like the Borger Bulldogs are going places this year. They have been doing very well in their past season games but that doesn't always mean they will fare the same in district.

Early in the past football season they picked up three rather impressive victories but didn't win but one conference game and they were underdogs in it.

We still think they are the likely team to win the northern half of the 1-AAAA district and probably the district championship since they defeated the Abilene Eagles in the recent Hardin-Simmons Tournament.

Then too the Amarillo Sandies have been doing pretty good in their past season games but we will rate them second behind Borger.

The Harvesters should take third spot in the conference with the Lubbock Westerners in the fourth spot. We think from Borger's defeat of the Abilene Eagles, any team in the northern half can defeat the champion of the southern half. It's just a shot in the dark though since we don't have any comparative scores on which to base this prediction.

The Harvesters will be meeting the Plainview Bulldogs tonight and Phillips in Phillips on Thursday. Then on Saturday the Palo Duro Dons will invade Harvester Fieldhouse.

The Dons have been on a winning streak and well they might since they have most of the Amarillo Sandies 1954-55 squad. We think they will win their district and have a good chance of winning the state championship for their first and only year in the AAA classification for they will be in the 2-AAAA district with Pampa next year. Here's wishing them good luck in their district this year.

The Pampa Optimist Boxers are holding their own with the better boxers in the Panhandle both in the high school division and in the open brackets.

They have Jesse Ring, Gary Wilhelm, Tommy Richardson, Gary Green, Charles Snider, Jim Murray, Loyd Marlar, Gary Willis, Terry Timmons, Clovis Shipp, Richard Conner, Vernon Goodwin, Larry Powell and several other Pampa boys fighting in the high school division and Bobby Wilhelm and Kenneth Woods will be boxing in the open division this year.

Here's hats-off to the men behind the scenes that are working each day to keep this program going properly.

The White Deer Bucks proved they have what it takes when they downed the strong Claude club in the McLean basketball tournament Saturday night. We can now safely predict that they will win district honors this year.

We see where Perryton placed

Big Seven Relaxes Eligibility Rules For Study 1 Year

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 12 —UP— The Big Seven relaxed a rule recently to preserve the eligibility of Blue-Gray football players after their all-star play.

Harold Burnline, Missouri, along with Colorado's Sam Salerno and Don Karnosack and possibly Rex Fischer of Nebraska expect to compete in Big Seven track, wrestling and baseball after they play in the Blue-Gray game.

"We are making the exception for one year only," said R. H. Peters, Big Seven commissioner. "It's better we want to study the matter further." Previously the rule has been side-stepped only for Shrine charity games. In all other All-Star events, a player's eligibility has ended with his appearance.

Big Seven faculty representatives, athletic directors, business managers, and baseball coaches ended their winter meeting in Kansas City Friday night.

The meeting produced almost no sport news. It did, however, give pole vaulter Hendrix Kruger of Oklahoma a transfer from Capetown, South Africa, another year of eligibility. Re-examination of his credits and the rating of his school extended his track career, Peters said.

It was announced that beginning in 1957, the conference will play its baseball on Fridays and Saturdays. The schedule will include 18 conference games for each school. Single, nine-inning games will be played on Fridays and seven-inning double-headers will be played on Saturdays.

Frisco Still Holds Lead As Nations Top Team S-West Conference Cage Teams Gain Recognition

By UNITED PRESS
The Southwest Conference, which gradually seem to be coming into prominence in the basketball world, flexed its muscles Monday night by taking three of four intersectional battles for the best one-night record this season.

Southern Methodist, led by Jim Krebs, a king-sized center with an artistic hook shot, staged a comeback 75-62 victory over the Wisconsin Badgers at Madison, Wis.

The Perryton selections were Glen Simpson, tackle, Bill Jines, guard, and Jimmy Todd a half-back.

Stafford and Gruver both placed five boys on the 1-B all-district team with Groom placing three and Vega, Sunray and Claude all placing two boys on the team.

We are glad to see that the "little man from SMU" closed out his pro career as a champion. It just goes to show that a small man can make a name for himself the same as a big one.

As far as the Abilene-Tyler State Championship clash is concerned we are a bit prejudiced because we like to see a team from our part of the country win it. It would be more democratic for the Tyler Lions to win since they have only won one and that from Amarillo 25 years ago. It could just be another upset as it was that year but we don't think so.

If we were asked to make the odds we would say the Eagles should take the Lions by two touchdowns or more but then we haven't been asked.

The Eagles will be playing against a team that is coached by an ex-Pampa, Yes, Buck Prejean was head coach at Pampa on that 20th day of November in 1941 when an underdog Pampa Harvester team upset the defending state champion, Amarillo Golden Sandstorm team and ended a 10 year losing streak for the home town scrappers.

Will he come up with an upset over another 1-AAAA district team this week? He is well capable of it if his boys are fired up for the game and who wouldn't be in the state Championship game?

Harvesters Tackle Plainview Tonight

The Pampa Harvesters will be in Plainview tonight in a game with the Plainview Bulldogs. They will be trying to get back on their feet after dropping a hard fought game to the Clovis Wildcats last week.

The Bulldogs are playing AAA basketball this year but will be in the 3-AAAA district with Pampa, Borger, Lubbock and Amarillo next year.

The Harvesters will probably be starting with Dickie Mauldin, and Buddy Sharp at the forward posts and Tommy Glindorf or Gene Brown at the center. Gerry Gee will probably be in the lineup when they meet the Bulldogs.

The game between the Dons and the Harvesters will give some insight as to how Pampa will stack up in the district competition this year.

Ex Pampa Harvesters that played football under the present Tyler Coach, Buck Prejean, plan a reunion with him at the state championship game in Fort Worth Saturday.

The men hope to charter a bus and take 25 fellows down for the game and the reunion. The bus will leave Pampa at 5 a.m. Saturday and will return immediately after the game.

All persons who would like to go on this trip are requested to call the bus station and make arrangements or call Bill Abernathy at 4-6445 after 6 p.m.

The fare will be $9 for the round trip. This does not include meals or other expenses.

The Harvesters of 1941, who played under Buck Prejean, were the boys that broke a 10 year losing streak to the Amarillo Sandies. They were highly favored to take the Harvesters and only the minority gave the Green and Golders a fighting chance to make a good game of it. They did make a good game and upset the defending State Champion, Golden Sandies in a game that few people will forget.

Other members of the football team that plan to go are Dick Bynum who will drive the bus, C. J. Smiles, Bill Arthur, John Cornett, Floyd Hatcher and Bill Abernathy.

Maryland Began Job Of Stopping Sooners

COLLEGE PARK, Md. —UP— Maryland Monday began its task of figuring out how to stop Oklahoma's hindering speed in the Orange Bowl clash between the two undefeated teams.

Coach Jim Tatum ordered a full-scale workout starting at 4 p.m., and the accent will be on defense against the Sooners' jack-rabbit backs whom the Maryland coach called "the fastest in the nation."

"Oklahoma's the fastest team I've ever seen," Tatum declared. "Our scouts say so, and the movies we've seen Oklahoma play bear them out."

Those movies, which Tatum showed on a local television show last week, stirred up something of a controversy. They were films of Oklahoma's victories over Pittsburgh and Texas, and the Sooners looked so fast that many viewers complained the pictures had been speeded up.

"They were normal action films," Tatum insisted. "I know they made the Oklahoma backs look like old-time movie actors moving in that jerky, unnatural fast motion, but that's because people are used to watching out own game films which are slowed down somewhat to enable better viewing."

Tatum's pre-game strategy indicates he'll use an old weapon against the swift-Sooners—conditioning. While the Terrapins' formal workouts don't begin until this afternoon, the squad has been run hard for a solid week.

"The boys' tongues were hanging out," Tatum observed, "but that's one way to counteract a faster team—the ability to keep going at top speed yourself."

Repairs Completed On Local R-Range

As all club members know, the Pampa Rifle Club was very fortunate in being able to repair the back stop after the November 27 incident.

Repairs have now been completed and the back stop is now safe for all pistols and 22 caliber rim fire rifle.

Our report to the D.C.M. on 22 caliber rifles and pistols is due the 31st day of December. To date only three men have qualified with the 22 rifle and one with the pistol. Our club champion will be chosen from these scores and the big bore scores that already have been sent in.

This coming Friday night will be a qualification score night only. If you have not fired your scores yet, please be present Friday, December 14, between 7 and 8 p.m.

Kentucky Falls To Lowest Spot Ever On UP Ratings

San Francisco maintained its lead as the nation's No. 1 college basketball team Tuesday, but unheralded Temple's weekend upset dropped the powerful Kentucky Wildcats to the lowest spot they ever have held in United Press ratings.

While San Francisco received first-place ballots from 32 of the 35 leading coaches who make up the United Press rating board, Kentucky dropped to sixth place, giving Utah an opportunity to move into the runnerup spot.

Never since the United Press ratings were begun in 1950 have Coach Adolph Rupp's Wildcats been slotted so low in any weekly rankings. In winning the national championship in 1950-51 and 1951-52 and finishing runnerup in 1953-54 and last season, Kentucky never was picked lower than third during the course of a campaign.

Utah attracted a total of 245 points—99 less than San Francisco. The Dons led Kentucky by 34 points last week when they received the same 32 first-place votes and a total of 343 points.

North Carolina State had 238 points, Iowa 215, Dayton 114 and Kentucky 95. There was a close three-team race for seventh place, Alabama receiving 86 points to 83 for Duquesne and 82 for Brigham Young. Holy Cross had 60.

Behind Illinois in the second 10 group came Kansas and Marquette. St. Louis was tied with Indiana for 14th place, followed in order by George Washington, Temple, Cincinnati, Louisville and UCLA.

In all, 39 teams received points in this week's ratings. The other teams were: Southern Methodist, Vanderbilt, Stanford, Xavier (Ohio), Oklahoma City University, Niagara, North Carolina, Ohio State, Duke, Seton Hall, Missouri, Villanova, Rice, Purdue, Detroit, Oklahoma A&M, Minnesota, Maryland and Canisius.

The United Press college basketball ratings (with first-place votes and win-loss records through Dec. 10 in parentheses):

Team	PTS.
1. San Fran (32) (3-0)	344
2. Utah (1) (3-0)	245
3. North Car. State (4-0)	238
4. Iowa (1) (2-0)	215
5. Dayton (3-0)	114
6. Kentucky (1-1)	95
7. Alabama (4-0)	86
8. Duquesne (3-0)	83
9. Brigham Young (4-0)	82
10. Holy Cross (3-0)	60

Second Ten: Illinois 37, Kansas 36, Marquette 34, St. Louis (1) and Indiana 33, George Washington 28, Temple 26, Cincinnati 20, Louisville 17 and UCLA 12.

Others: Southern Methodist and Vanderbilt 8 each, Stanford, Xavier (Pa.) and Oklahoma City University 7 each, Niagara, North Carolina, Ohio State and Duke 6 each, Seton Hall 5, Missouri 4, Villanova and Rice 3, Purdue, Detroit, Oklahoma A&M, Minnesota and Maryland 2 each, Canisius 1.

tucky did not compete in basketball during the 1952-53 season.

Behind runnerup Utah in this week's ratings came North Carolina State, Iowa, and Dayton. Alabama, the lone newcomer in the top 10, ranked No. 7 behind Kentucky, with Duquesne, Brigham Young and Holy Cross completing the select group in that order.

Utah, Iowa and St. Louis, which tied for 14th place, each received one first-place ballot. San Francisco received 344 of a possible total of 350 points.

Alabama, a new national power which may challenge Kentucky for Southeastern Conference honors, jumped from 18th to seventh place after winning the 1954-55 Birminghams Classic. Illinois, upset by Missouri, fell from the No. 7 to the No. 11 spot.

Utah advanced two notches to second place; Dayton moved up one place to No. 5, while Brigham Young and Holy Cross exchanged the rankings they had last week.

A WILL, A WAY—Bruno Carati, 14, clenches his brush with his teeth as he paints a landscape in his Milan, Italy, apartment. His arms and legs paralyzed, he has found this way to express what is in his heart. Critics have called his work exceptional. With money made from his paintings, Bruno hopes to pay for special surgery that might regain for him the use of his limbs.
