JayCee President Is Pampa Booster

By RONALD WATERS
Pampa News Staff Writer

Joining the ranks of Tip Top JayCees is Bob Carmichael, who has led this group of enthusiastic young men in numerous successful projects since last May. At present, Bob is looking forward to two future projects of the Junior Chamber of Commerce — both of which will be far-reaching in their consequences.

The first is the free dental clinic which will soon start operating in

Widow's Trial In Husband's Murder Opens

FORT WORTH—UP—Mrs. Mary Clark, the fading but still shapely widow of the late William P. Clark, slain Texas-New Mexico oil millionaire, was scheduled to go on trial in Fort Worth criminal district court Monday for allegedly guaranteeing three thugs $10,000 to rob and kill him.

Three hoodlums in the Dallas-Fort Worth underworld were actually charged with Clark's murder. Two of them since have met death by gangland guns. The other is free in bond, and it was his "confession" that led to all of their indictments. Mrs. Clark is charged as an accomplice.

Clark was killed on the night of May 22, 1953, in his palatial 23-room mansion in Fort Worth. He was estranged from Mrs. Clark at the time and ten days before had moved to have their marriage annulled.

Clark's death was at first ruled a suicide. But two weeks later that verdict was changed to murder when it was brought out that the rifle that killed him was on a chair some ten feet from the body when officers investigated.

The case was filed in "unsolved murders" for two years, until April 1955. Then police picked up Harry Huggins, an admitted user of narcotics, and he broke under questioning. He implicated hoodlums Cecil Green and Leroy (Tincy) Eggleston.

Highland General Hospital for welfare patients and charity cases. The second big project, which all the JayCees are enthusiastic in supporting, is the Pancake Supper slated for Dec. 2 after the Santa Day Parade. Bob says this... "will be a big annual profit making project to help raise enough money to take care of all other fund-raising projects and particularly to pay off our indebtedness on the dental equipment."

Next Thursday noon, Bob will meet with the newly-formed steering committee to make final plans and arrangements for the big affair, meeting with Ernest Vernon, representing Quaker Oats.

Aunt Jimmie will be here in person to serve the pancakes, and tentative plans call for her to tour all the city schools. Bob is publicity chairman of the supper, and J. C. Hopkins and Johnny Campbell — both Tip Top Texans — are co-chairmen for the big event.

Carmichael has been a member of the JayCees since the summer of 1951, and a member of the board of directors since his first month. For two years (1952-'53) he served as secretary of the club, and last year he filled the capacity of first vice-president. In May this year, Bob succeeded J. C. Hopkins as president of the organization.

He is a licensed funeral director and embalmer for Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home. His father is part owner of the home with Charlie Duenkel. A graduate of the Dallas Institute of Mortuary Science in 1951, Bob enjoys his work saying, "I consider it my professional duty to the community, its work that I enjoy."

Reflecting on past activities of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Bob says, "When I first came to JayCees, the soap box derby was the big event of the year, and for the last two years it's been the teenage driving road-race." The big road-race was held last May 17 on Atchison St., with about 50 teenagers participating in a driving contest stressing safety and a written examination.

General Denounces Lonardi's Ouster

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina — UP—Gen. Juan Jose Uranga denounced Monday as "treason" the Palace coup that overthrew President Eduardo Lonardi and said he was resigning from the army to have full freedom of action to fight the move.

The strongly worded statement by Lonardi's transport minister brought into the open the first major rift among the military forces supporting the revolutionary regime that ousted President Juan D. Peron. Some 60 per cent of these remained loyal to Peron during the revolution.

Lonardi was replaced Sunday by a new soldier-president, Maj. Gen. Perdo E. Aramburu, 52, and a four-man council consisting of Lonardi's army, navy and air force ministers and Vice President Rear Adm. Isaac Rojas, a hero of the revolt against Peron.

The ousting of Lonardi was accomplished without bloodshed, but the defiant statement of Uranga and a statement by Lonardi himself that he had not resigned raised the possibility of trouble ahead for the new regime.

Troops cordoned off the Plaza de Mayo but no incidents were reported.

The state of siege restrictions already in effect were somewhat tightened but the city was quiet.

Political observers said Lonardi was overthrown because his government was becoming too extreme right-wing. In recent weeks his cabinet had become "packed" with ultra-right-wing Catholic nationalists and there were fears this group would seize power.

MARTIN DURKIN

Martin Durkin, Ex-Secretary Of Labor, Dies

WASHINGTON—UP—Martin P. Durkin, the first labor secretary in President Eisenhower's cabinet, died Sunday after a lingering battle with a brain tumor. He was 61.

Durkin had been on the critical list at Georgetown Hospital since August when he suffered a relapse from his second brain operation within a year. He had been in a coma for several weeks before his death.

Funeral services will be held in Chicago. Arrangements have not been completed.

Durkin, a Democrat, had a short but explosive career as labor secretary. He resigned in September, 1953, claiming the administration had reneged on a pledge to support his proposals for amending the Taft-Hartley law.

Durkin was succeeded by Republican James P. Mitchell who called him "a great American who served labor, his state and his nation with devotion and distinction." Durkin "earned the undying affection, admiration and gratitude of his fellow men," Mitchell said in a statement.

Durkin was surprised when Mr. Eisenhower chose him to be in his Cabinet. The late Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-O.) called the nomination of the President of the AFL Plumbers and Pipefitters Union "incredible."

Taft pointed out that Durkin had supported Adlai E. Stevenson for President against Mr. Eisenhower, had campaigned for repeal of the Taft-Hartley act and was a life-long Democrat.

During his brief career in government, the former pipefitter was jocularly referred to as the "plumber" in the "Millionaires' Cabinet."

Governor Asks Ike's Support For Warren

WASHINGTON — UP — Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland indicated Monday he hopes President Eisenhower will back Chief Justice Earl Warren for the GOP presidential nomination if Mr. Eisenhower decides not to run.

Warren would "sweep the country" if he should be the GOP candidate, with Mr. Eisenhower's blessing, McKeldin said. Warren has said several times that he will not be a candidate.

McKeldin, who placed Mr. Eisenhower's name in nomination at the 1952 Republican national convention, said he "hopes and believes" Mr. Eisenhower will run for reelection.

Meanwhile, Democrats expected Adlai E. Stevenson, their party's 1952 presidential nominee, to announce Tuesday at a Democratic rally in Chicago that he will seek the nomination again.

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) is expected to oppose Stevenson for the nomination. Kefauver came very near committing himself on his intentions Sunday.

He appeared on a television program (ABC's "College Press Conference"). Sponsors of the program said that after the show he intends to run. They quoted him as replying: "I think so."

Kefauver told the United Press later that he could not recall making just that statement. If he did, he said, he probably was only kidding. He said he preferred to stand on his decision to issue a statement in December.

Kefauver said he thinks former important man in the Democratic President Truman is "the most party and that he has more to do with setting the party's course than Stevenson."

Brazil Civil War Threat Lessens

By JUAN DE ONIS
RIO DE JANEIRO — UP — A threat of civil war eased Monday with the pledge of ousted President Carlos Luz to accept the new government of Brazil "to avoid bloodshed."

Luz said he would offer no resistance to the military coup that overthrew him and installed Nereu Ramos in his place.

Tension began building up when Luz returned to Rio harbor aboard the cruiser Tamandare on which he had fled the capital with a number of supporters at the outset of the bloodless revolt.

He remained aboard ship part of the day and then was brought ashore and held in the naval arsenal. Brazilian marines armed with tommyguns stood guard.

He was released Sunday night and went to his apartment. There he gave United Press an exclusive interview in which he renounced any claim to the presidency.

Although he had said earlier he would not resist the new government, it had been feared he might change his mind when he returned to Rio and urge his supporters in the military to fight.

But he acknowledged, instead, that "the presidency has passed to Ramos."

"I plan to resign the presidency of the Chamber of Deputies, probably in the next meeting, so as to avoid any judicial situation," he said.

Luz became acting president when Joao Cafe Jr., who succeeded to the presidency after the death of Getulio Vargas, suffered a heart attack and took a leave of absence to recover.

Ramos, president of the Senate, was elected by the Senate and Chamber of Deputies, to be acting president until the inauguration of President-elect Juscelino Kubitschek next January.

The revolt, led by Army Minister Gen. Henrique Teixeira Lott, was staged to prevent a coup by a group of army officers who sought to prevent Kubitschek from taking office.

Had Insurance On Mother Who Was Passenger On Plane

DENVER — UP — A handsome ne're-do-well son who had insured his mother for $37,500 was arrested Monday for the bomb crash of a United Air Lines DC-6B airliner Nov. 1 that killed her and 43 other persons.

The suspect, a once-convicted forger, was identified by FBI as John Gilbert Graham, 23, who worked with his mother, Mrs. Daisy King, in operating a drive-in restaurant here.

Graham faced a preliminary hearing before U.S. commissioner Harold S. Oakes Monday on a technical charge of violating a section of the federal code which makes it an offense to sabotage a national defense material establishment or utility. A commercial aircraft is defined as a defense utility, the FBI said.

But it appeared that if Graham's connection with the bomb plot crash of the big airliner, which crashed in a flaming explosion in a sugar beet field near Longmont, Colo., less than two weeks ago, could be proven, he could be charged in state courts with the murder of any or all of the 44 victims.

Two Colorado district attorneys said they were considering such a possibility.

Denver District Attorney Bert M. Keating said he planned to confer as soon as possible with federal authorities on the state's possible role in the sabotage case. The plans took off from the Denver Municipal Airport.

Still Being Questioned
District Attorney Marc Smith of Greeley, Colo., who has jurisdiction over the territory where the plane crashed, said he would await the advice of federal authorities before taking any steps in the case.

Graham, a husky, six-footer, with black crew-cut hair, was still being questioned by the FBI about his mother's trip to Alaska and the $37,500 insurance.

Graham is married and the father of two small children.

Sailor Invited to Run
PIMLICO, Md. — UP — The Brookmeade Stable has been invited to enter its colt, Sailor, in the $50,000 added Pimlico Special, Nov. 26. According to the stable, Sailor will run in the mile and three-sixteenths invitation race, making 10 entries in this far. The colt won last Saturday's Roamer Handicap in the mud at Jamaica.

Police said Buckethal, a regular churchgoer and non-drinker, apparently set fire to his downtown plumbing supply store before going to his home in fashionable Shorewood in the early morning hours and killing his family.

Shorewood Police Chief Emil Bartels said Buckethal apparently opened a quart can of No. 10 motor oil and loaded a .22 caliber automatic pistol in the kitchen. Then he went upstairs, the chief said, and shot his wife in bed and the children in their bedrooms. Next he set individual fires to the bodies and shot himself in the head.

The wife's body was found near the doorway of their bedroom, the little girls were in bed and the boy lay crumpled near his doorway. All of them were badly burned but the fire was confined to the floor around the bodies.

Big Cold Wave Bears Down On Midwest

By UNITED PRESS
A long-awaited cold wave bore down on the Midwest Monday, driving record breaking Indian summer weather before it.

Temperatures which climbed into the high 70s Sunday were expected to skid as much as 40 degrees. Snowy weather accompanied the blast and icy highways were already blamed for five traffic deaths — three in South Dakota and one each in Iowa and Minnesota.

The U.S. weather bureau said a chunk of Arctic air had broken from the frigid masses located over the northern Rockies and was speeding eastward. It was expected to leave the central Midwest in a chilling grip by Monday night.

Midwesterners enjoyed what possibly will be their last taste of Indian summer weather Sunday. The temperature set a Nov. 13 record and another record for warm weather so late in the year when it went to 77 at Indianapolis. Chicago's 67 was only three degrees shy of a record and St. Louis had a summery 82.

To the west, there was no let up in the icy cold mass which kept the mercury between a range of 30 to nine below zero at Culbunk, Mont., Sunday.

The wintry weather also moved across the continental divide, dumping 11 inches of snow on California's Blue canyon and breaking a dry spell with "generous" rains in the state's central and northern sections.

Father Kills Wife, Three Children, Self

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—UP—A 41-year-old successful plumbing contractor, described as an ideal family man, shot his wife and three children Monday, then set fire to their bodies before turning the gun on himself.

The death victims were Elmore Buckethal, his wife, Mildred, 40, Bonnie Lynn, 12, Cynthia, 10, and Thomas, 8.

VISITORS TO THE NATIONAL HOUSING CENTER are finding a new source of inspiration and information in the Center's new products displays, Neal J. Hardy, Director of the National Housing Center, said today. This section is devoted to exhibiting outstanding new products destined for the home of tomorrow which inaugurate a new concept in the field of home construction and service.

"SOME OF THE NEW products which are commanding attention of the home owner, home builder, architect and manufacturer who have toured the Center include a new type vacuum cleaner, a new method of electrical wiring, a wood veneer that can be laid directly over rubber base mastic applied to concrete floors as well as a score of other unique products which improve home construction methods," Hardy said.

The new type central system vacuum cleaner is built into the floor joint in a central location in the home. The sixty foot hose ejects and retracts mechanically and can be carried to other rooms in the home. The vacuum cleaner can also be used to clean rugs. It does not have to be cleaned since dirt and water are discharged into the plumbing system.

The new method of electrical wiring is placed in the baseboard of each room in the form of an electrical strip. Receptionable outlets clamp into the strip at any position along the length of the floor. These self-locking electrical plugs may be inserted into the strip simply by a twist of the hand. They can be removed just as simply.

The wood veneer that is laid directly over rubber base mastic applied to concrete floors is an eighth-of-an-inch thick. A special process has been developed which protects the veneer from shrinking and swelling and enables it to be laid much in the manner of ordinary floor tile.

ANOTHER OUTSTANDING new product is the air-source heat pump. It is both a furnace and air-conditioner in one unit which uses electricity for energy and fuel. Actually, the air-source heat pump operates somewhat similar to a refrigerator in the home. During the winter heat is condensed from the cold air outside and pumped into the house. In summer, the reverse happens. The condenser takes heat out of the home and pipes it outside.

Still another new product cuts down on flooring and carpeting costs by combining both materials. This product is a combination of foam rubber, carpeting and a hard board underlay that goes over the rough sheathing of the floor. It can also be laid over a concrete slab floor.

Other exhibits in the new product section demonstrate materials which are more effective in eliminating moisture, new paints that make it easier to keep walls of the home clean and new types of insulation that retard entrance of summer heat and winter cold.

"Displays are exhibited in the new product section on a no cost basis and are rotated every three months," Hardy said. "In order to exhibit in the new product area, a manufacturer's product has to be screened by the National Association of Home Builders' Research Institute and meet specified requirements. Among others, these requirements demand that product is either entirely new or not well known in its manufacture, and offers an entirely new way of improving on present construction methods," Hardy said.

Medical Auxiliary Organizes A Club For Future Nurses

The Pampa Medical Auxiliary met recently in the home of Mrs. R. M. Brown, 1919 Charles.

Mrs. Joe Donaldson reported on the organization of a Future Nurses' Club in Pampa High School. Plans were made for the Top of Texas Women's Medical Auxiliary meeting, to be held in the Pampa Country Club Tuesday evening. It was decided to present a Christmas gift to the girl who won the nurse's scholarship and who is now in training at St. Paul's Hospital in Dallas.

Mrs. F. J. Vendrell announced the Episcopal Women's Auxiliary will hold a bazaar Thursday and Friday in the church's new Parish Hall.

Those present were Meses. R. M. Brown, Joe Gates, George Hrdlicka, Joe Donaldson, Walter Bertinot, N. J. Ellis, F. J. Vendrell, E. S. Williams, C. E. High, M. C. Overton and M. McDaniel.

Fathers Preside At PTA Meeting

Men presided and presented the program at the recent fathers' night meeting of the Horace Mann Parent-Teacher Association.

The invocation was given by T. M. Brooks, and Ot Shewmaker led the meeting. John Branham served as program chairman. A Pampa barbershop group presented several selections, and Dr. N. J. Ellis sang several numbers, accompanied at the piano by Miss Eloise Lane. Two films on mental health were shown.

John Mitchell acted as secretary, and Sam Bogert reported on the membership drive. The third grade won the room count.

Refreshments of coffee and cake were served at the close of the meeting. Mrs. John Mitchell served the cake, and Mrs. A. L. Smiley presided at the coffee service.

The white blouse is in everybody's wardrobe. But it can be worn just once. After that, it should be laundered or cleaned in order to maintain a crisp, immaculate look.

The T-shirt dress in broadcloth is good-looking, takes to tailored accessories and gold jewelry.

Mrs. Fred Neslage Gives Talk At Meet Of H-S Association

"Charity Comes To The School" was the topic of Mrs. Fred Neslage, featured speaker at the recent meeting of Holy Souls' Home and School Association in Parish Hall.

"The Christian child lives in a fundamental relationship to God, church, his fellow man, nature and self," she stated. "Charity is the bond which united the child first to God and through Him to his fellow man. It is the foundation of all his social living. By practicing the virtues of prudence, justice, gratitude, fortitude, patience, temperance and humility, the child brings charity to school."

She went on to explain each virtue.

Mrs. Lloyd Simpson, president, led the business session. She urged all members to participate in the food shower for the nuns. She explained that the food may be left at the rectory between now and Thanksgiving, and frozen foods may be taken to the convent.

It was announced that plans are underway by the school children to show the film, "Life of St. Vincent" to members of the parish. The women were told, also, that kitchen towels are needed for the school cafeteria. Each member was urged to contribute one. Mrs. Simpson thanked the women for helping with the association's fun night program.

Mrs. H. H. Hicks, out-going president, led the meeting. A vote of thanks was given to Mrs. Hicks and to Mrs. Charles Brauchle, program chairman, for their work during the year.

Hopkins PTA Unit Hears Bob Hudson

Bob Hudson of Pampa was featured speaker at the recent meeting of the Hopkins Parent-Teacher Association in the Hopkins' community hall. His topic was "The Family Lives By Spiritual Values."

Mrs. Howard Brown, president, led the meeting. The devotional was presented by Mrs. Robert Orr, and J. B. Huntington introduced the speaker.

During the business session, Mrs. John Mackie reported on the food, fun and frolic night. A skit on American Education Week was given by fifth grade students.

Mothers of sixth grade students were hostesses. The fifth grade won the award for having the most parents present.

COOK'S NOOK

Serve Apricot Fritters With Brownd Sausages

By GAYNOR MADDOX, NEA Food and Markets Editor

Ever eat apricot fritters with those tender little sausages that are precooked and require nothing more than browning. Good eating. We had this dish in Chicago at the home of Marian Looe, who is as skillful with a skillet as she is always smartly groomed.

SAUSAGE WITH APRICOT FRITTERS
(Yield: 4 servings)

One package (½ pound) brown-and-serve sausage, 3-4 cup cooked dried apricots, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 cup water, ½ cup sifted flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 eggs, separated; fat for frying.

Cut apricots in small pieces. Beat with sugar and water until they are plump. Cool. Drain apricots, save liquid for sauce. Mix together flour, baking powder and salt. Combine egg yolks and drained apricots. Mix well with the dry ingredients.

Poach in beaten egg whites. Heat fat in a heavy kettle to 360 degrees F. Drop batter by teaspoonful into hot fat. Turn to brown. Drain on absorbent paper. Fry sausage in deep fat about 1 minute to brown while fritters are draining. Serve sausage and fritters hot with Fritter Sauce.

Two teaspoons cornstarch, 2 teaspoons brown sugar, 3-4 cup apricot liquid.
Combine cornstarch and brown sugar in a saucepan. Gradually add apricot liquid. Cook and stir over low heat until the sauce is clear. The sauce will be thin.
Note: One cup drained, canned apricots cut into small pieces may be substituted for the cooked dried apricots.

of the JayCees reflect an intense effort in helping teen-agers.

The Pampa Youth Community Center started out as a JayCee project, Bob indicated, that over a year ago was turned over to the center. Over $4,000 in bonds was turned over to the project at that time, the result of another JayCee sponsored effort. Carmichael is also quick to point out that the JayCees started the Top o' Texas Fiesta back in the 1930's, which eventually grew and developed into the Chamber of Commerce project, the big annual rodeo.

Born in Hillsboro in 1927, Bob has been a resident of Pampa since July of 1930. He graduated from Pampa High School in May of 1945, and enlisted in the U.S. Navy the next month. Serving for 18 months and 22 days, Bob was stationed for awhile at San Diego Hospital Corps School where he received his boot training. At the Oakland Naval Hospital in California, he worked with prisoners-of-war tuberculosis patients brought back from Japan for awhile.

Seeing crash-crew duty at the U.S. Naval Air Station in Norman, Okla., Bob was on stand-by duty with the firemen. He was also in charge of the hospital section of the naval air station in Atlanta, Ga. Bob returned to Atlanta last June as a delegate to the National Junior Chamber of Commerce Convention. In May of '54, he also attended the state convention in El Paso.

"I think delegate at conventions helps JayCees work, learns what the Jay Cees stand for, and obtains a broader outlook on the national organization as well as on the local level," Bob declares.

Entering Texas Tech College in January of 1947, Carmichael majored in Business Management and received his B.B.A. degree in May, 1950. He married Virginia Platt of Fort Worth at the start of his Senior year. At the time she was majoring in Social Science. They now have two children — both boys — Doug, 5, and Mark, 18 months.

Upon graduation, he started to work at Duenkel-Carmichael and has since heard his share of jokes concerning undertakers.

"What time I'm not working, I go trout fishing when I have a chance," Bob states. He usually goes to Creede and Lake City, Colo. With great enthusiasm, Bob is looking forward to the annual Pan Cake Supper. "By the people coming and supporting the Pan Cake Supper," he says, "they'll be doing a lot of good for Gray County for many years to come." He concluded with, "We know the JayCees are going to put a lot of time and effort into it, and we hope the people will respond as readily as the JayCees to make it a success."

The deepest point of any ocean bottom is believed to be a spot in the Pacific Ocean about 20 miles southwest of Guam where a sounding of 35,640 feet was made in 1951.

There were 58,000,000 motor vehicles registered in the United States in 1954. By 1965 it is believed there will be 81,000,000.

Letters Set For TB Drive

Letters will be mailed out to all Gray County residents next Wednesday announcing the 1955 sale of Christmas seals to aid Gray County TB Association's fight against the infectious disease.

A new case of tuberculosis is reported at the rate of one every five minutes, approximately 100,000 last year. How many people are being infected annually is not known. Undoubtedly, there are great variations in infection rates in different geographic areas and different population groups.

It is believed that about one third of the population may have tubercle bacilli — the germs that cause tuberculosis — in their bodies. The great majority of these people probably will never develop the disease, but any of them could if circumstances were to lower their resistance.

This sale is the 49th in the annual series since 1907. Each successive Christmas Seal Sale has proved again that the "man in the street" is willing and able to give vigorous support to the fight against tuberculosis. The dollars that American people have given individually and voluntarily to fight disease have mounted into the billions.

Three Mishaps Reported Here

Three automobile collisions occurred over the week end resulting in considerable property damage, no injuries were reported.

The first mishap took place at the intersection of Cuyler and Kingsmill at 8:45 p.m. Saturday. Jaquitta Lisenbee, Lefors, driving a '35 Chevrolet, was in collision with Edward Mack Stewart, of 1038 S. Hobart, in a '51 Chevrolet. Lisenbee encountered damages estimated at $30. Stewart met with damages of about $10.

The second collision occurred at 11:40 p.m. Saturday on E. Cuyler and 200 feet south of Tyng. Gerald Lee Weaver, 407 Powell, driving a '48 Oldsmobile, met with estimated damages of $200 when he collided with the rear of two parked Yellow Cabs. Damage was estimated at $125 for the '55 Plymouth cab, and at $20 for the '52 Plymouth.

A one-car collision occurred on S. Cuyler and 150 feet north of Albert at 1:08 a.m. Sunday when Donald Eugene Marriott, Orange Courts, blew out a tire and lost control of his car, a '50 Oldsmobile. The automobile hit a light post, encountering estimated damages of $175; damage to the post was estimated at $25.

Man Fined For Shooting Quail

Constable Charley S. Clendennen of Lefors Sunday arrested J. T. Pool for killing quail out of season.

Pool was arrested southeast of Lefors about 15 miles.

He pleaded guilty to the charge in Justice of the Peace John Anderson's Court and paid a fine of $78.50.

Merl Kercheval Dies In Kansas

Merl Kercheval of DeSoto, Kans., a former driller in the Pampa area, died at the Veterans' Hospital near Walsworth, Kans., on Saturday.

Mr. Kercheval was employed as a driller around Pampa for some time in the 1930's. He had been in ill health for several years and had been in the hospital for the past fifteen months.

He is survived by his wife, Fern and two sisters.

The funeral is scheduled to be held at the Hospital Chapel tomorrow and burial will be at Burlingame, Kans.

The first railroad locomotive operated west of the Mississippi River to the Pacific Railroad of Missouri, a predecessor of the present Missouri Pacific Lines. It made its first run at St. Louis Dec. 9, 1852.

The Eagle Smiles Too

Great cries of anguish have recently come from the entrenched "right."

Americans have expressed themselves as shocked and distressed that the Eisenhower administration seems to seek the "Geneva spirit" in an effort to smile tooth to tooth across our difficulties with the Soviet. We cannot see any reason for surprise.

We all know that the greatest fear the ruling men of Russia have is that they will be forced out of power. They will stop at nothing to retain their political ascendancy. They must do whatever is necessary to keep the communist party on the throne. To this end they have committed every crime known to man. They live in a state of towering apprehension. The winds of international displeasure could bring on a case of political pneumonia. They must, at all cost, keep their subjects docile and tax-paying.

The Kremlin grizzly is a terrifying beast, we all admit. We shudder when we think of it. We marvel that an American administration will have anything to do with it. But there is no reason to marvel if we will look at the American administration. The problems it faces are precisely those of the Russian cabal of commissars. Those who hold the highest positions in our land are committed to the doctrine that the "party" must stay in power. And, while it is true that in an effort to stay in power, certain inhuman acts are not countenanced, still others are assayed by the boys at the top which could make your blood run cold.

If you doubt this, look at what has happened to men like Martin Dies, Joseph McCarthy, General Douglas MacArthur, Dean Clarence McCarty, J. B. Matthews and a host of others who have dared to throw the peridy of our own paltry leaders squarely in their faces. And what of the persecution of the Manuel Millers? What of the programs of vilification, the lies, the innuendoes, the character assassinations that go on hourly against anyone who dares to suggest that our political masters are dominated by motives other than sweet love and charity?

What of the entrenched radicals who inhabit the propaganda arms of the United Nations and the National Education Association?

"Ah," you say, "this may be true. But there is a document that prevents the kind of activities here that admittedly occur in Russia. That document is the Constitution." True. The document is here. But it is violated and by-passed every day. Men are being fired for daring to oppose the communist line. And some have been forced to undergo a sojourn in the madhouse to keep them from revealing the dictatorial tactics of our masters on the Potomac. And their principal offense has been that they depended on the Constitution rather than on the rabble-rousers who seek to make the document passe.

In short, the first chill wind of international adversity may strike to the very marrow in the heads of our entrenched bureaucrats in Washington. They will do anything, almost, to keep the wind away. They must, at whatever cost, keep their subjects docile and tax-paying.

Then where is the vast difference between the Soviet administration of grinning tax collectors, and the Eisenhower coterie of similar propensity? Of course they'll see eye to eye. The only reason the Soviet has taken so long in learning to get along with us was because the men in power over there had read the American Constitution. They felt that this was a notion of principle. They were afraid of our principles. They were sure they could never come to terms with us. Now that they have been assured and reassured that the men in power in both places have similar if not equal problems, there is every reason for agreement.

But where does freedom go, when the eagle folds its wings to roost in the bears' lair? How are the rights of the individual to be upheld, when the two greatest political machines the world has ever seen interlock their gears?

When individual freedom and responsibilities are stolen through the use of the big lie; when alleged security can triumph over honor and integrity, what then? A meeting of the minds between these two great powers may prevent an immediate war. But it can do nothing else save expand slavery.

At least, we don't have to be surprised.

REFLECTION
...with JAMES C. INGBRETSSEN
President, Spiritual Mobilization

"Politicians are as useless to us farmers as a bug on a potato vine," Frank N. De Groot, Lake Park, Minn., farmer, told the members of the touring Senate Agriculture Committee at its recent hearing in Worthington, Minn., according to a news dispatch.

"We don't want to be wards or puppets," he asserted continued.

De Groot, who said he was a direct descendant of the Onondaga Indian tribe of New York State, aptly likened the present farm situation to the days when the white men took over Indian lands with all "kinds of fine promise." These promises, he was quoted as saying, turned out to be for political purposes and Indians became wards of the government.

Well, I don't see how it could be put much plainer than De Groot has put it. When farmers, and all the rest of us, come to see that, as far as aiding us economically is concerned, "politicians are as useless ... as a bug on a potato vine" we can start looking at things in their proper perspective — remembering that a potato bug saps the life of the potato vine rather than adding any strength to it.

Parrot Studies Education

I want to continue to quote from a little booklet issued under the heading of "Look, Vigilant Parents, Toward Education!" This little book was written by Everett Tidley Taylor, Post Office Box 78, Diablo, California. A free copy of it can be secured by dropping Mr. Taylor a card.

Mr. Taylor is so interested in education that he has communicated with 1200 people on the subject and his conclusions after this study are presented in this 24-page pamphlet.

Since our spiritual and material well-being largely depends on the kind of education the youth is exposed to, I can think of no more important subject than citizens getting a better understanding of what education is and what we are getting in government schools. From here on Mr. Taylor is speaking:

"In the consideration of extremes, we would have, on the one hand, all phases of education governed by law. Parents would be required to send their children to school whether they wished to or not; and to pay for the support of schools, whether they could afford the tax burden—and other sacrifices—or not. In this extreme, teachers would be required by law to have certain qualifications; to work for certain wages, for a certain period of time, and where required. In this extreme, children would be required by law to attend school for a certain number of years, to take certain courses of study from certain textbooks and in certain schools. It is apparent that the United States has not yet reached this extreme, but may be approaching it.

"The Supreme Court decision requiring desegregation of schools in the South may well be an example of what will happen under an extreme rule of educational law. The decision piles a drastic Federal law on top of numerous state educational laws. Now will some parents rebel by taking their children out of the government schools? Will voters rebel by voting down bond issues and school taxes? Will some teachers withdraw to do other work, and others lose their jobs because there will not be funds to pay their salaries? Will students vandalize the government schools until they are desolate ruins? Will extremist whites and blacks destroy each other over this law-created issue?

"Clearly no law can force parents to like a situation they abhor; no law can make teachers effective as teachers; no law can make children study their lessons. Education under legal compulsion simply will not work.

"In the opposite extreme, parents—even parents of the animal kingdom—have the instinct to make personal sacrifices to educate their young, and no law can increase this natural instinct. Some teachers enjoy teaching and have the gift of inspiring children to learn; but many persons, even though highly educated themselves, do not have this gift. No law can make a teacher more effective. In this extreme, some children have the instinct to acquire book knowledge; others would rather work with their hands. No law can make a child learn anything. In this extreme, the hard work and sacrifices of Nancy Lincoln and the ambition of Abe Lincoln made him, as evidenced by the Gettysburg Address, the most literate man of his day. This extreme declares that education, like religion, demands the exercise of free conscience.

"Comparing the emotional arguments in favor of educational laws with the extremes of education law, we see that they are not consistent with each other. The emotional desire that everybody should be highly educated brings forth the hope that this can be legislated into reality. However, extreme consideration indicates that a system of laws which attempts to bring this about does, instead, bring the exact reverse.

"On the other hand, the emotional arguments against educational laws are consistent with the extreme nature of attitudes of human nature. Parents instinctively provide at least some education for their children who, in turn, have the natural desire to acquire knowledge. These instincts are consistent with the extreme that human ambition is the motive force to education and that this nature is and must be free. These natural instincts and these extremes are consistent, practical, workable, proven.

"The conclusion therefore is: There shall be no law respecting education."

"Wealth does not consist, as Marx said, in a collection of commodities, but in a collection of capital goods. Such a collection is the result of previous saving. The antislavery doctrine of what is, paradoxically enough, called New Economics, first developed by Messrs. Foster and Catchings and then reshaped by Lord Keynes, are untenable. If one wants to improve economic conditions, to raise the productivity of labor, wage rates and the peoples' standard of living, one must accumulate more capital goods in order to invest more and more. And there is no other way to increase the amount of capital available than to expand saving by doing away with all ideological and institutional factors that hinder saving or even directly make for dissaving and capital decumulation."

'Middle Of Road' Strategy To Be Used In 1956 Race

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The apparent shift of the American people to a politico-economic middle path — the so-called "middle of the road" philosophy — will be recognized by the strategists of both major Parties in nominating candidates and framing platforms next year. On the doors of Republican and Democratic headquarters hangs the warning: "No radical or imitation thereof need apply!"

No alteration in a cautious but not too conservative program will take place if President Eisenhower decides that his health will permit him to run again, for he has fixed the pattern. But if he should retire, the more likely substitutes must model themselves after him. Otherwise, they would be repudiating the first Presidential record the GOP has had a chance to hang up in more than 20 years.

More specifically, an examination and analysis of other possibilities discloses no advocate of even a modest change in the Administration's general policies. Nixon - Knowland - Warren Knight - Harter - Lodge - Humphrey, so the list runs, and there is not a revisionist in the group. Oddly, Chief Justice Warren is the most liberal, and he insists flatly that he is out of politics. Moreover, in the most recent polls, Vice President Nixon is running ahead of the fellow-Californian.

On the Democratic side, the recognized leaders already discount the chances of the two more extreme New Dealers — namely, Governor Averell Harriman of New York and Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee. In view of the latest developments, it is generally expected that Adlai E. Stevenson will be renominated on an early ballot.

Although the Chicago lawyer felt compelled to spread himself on farm and labor policies in 1952, largely because the shadow of Harry S. Truman fell upon him, he is no radical or reformer. His friends insist that he would seek no fundamental departure from Ike's slight modification of his predecessors' programs, if he were elected.

Stevenson, as is true of every other Democratic prospect, would

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JORDAN, M. D.

A young woman of 28 with two children says that she is constantly fatigued. Although she has not lost any weight and the doctor cannot find anything specifically wrong she just drags herself around and must always retire early. She would like any suggestions as she is at her "wits end."

This question of chronic fatigue is a difficult one. If it comes early in life, as it has to this young mother, when there are many calls on the strength, it can be a pretty serious matter.

It is true, of course, that most of us get overtired from time to time. This can be ascribed to not enough sleep, overdoing of some kind, or bad dietary habits and can usually be remedied by more sleep, a vacation, or some similar simple means.

When a physical cause for fatigue should be found, the simple steps should be taken first. One should experiment with trying to find the proper balance between work, recreation, and sleep. When the fatigued person is employed, however, change of occupation does not often appear to be successful.

One of the things that many of us have to learn is how to relax when we have the chance. This is principally a problem of mental training.

THE CONSISTENT USE of a balanced diet with plenty of vitamins may be helpful since almost undoubtedly some problems of fatigue are simply the result of improper eating habits. It is usually unwise, however, to try to combat a tired feeling by the use of stimulating drugs, such as coffee, since the let-down after the effect of the drug has worked off may be worse than the original fatigue. Also all stimulating drugs in large quantities may be harmful.

MANY WHO COMPLAIN of being fatigued cannot identify the cause or seem to remedy it by such simple methods.

'McCarthyism' Is Needed In British Foreign Office

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Rome — A strong campaign of "McCarthyism" is just what the British foreign office and the British press need to purify them of an easy attitude toward treachery and indecency. For reasons too obscure to be debated here, both of the big British political parties and all the press of Britain have adopted the smear-word "McCarthyism."

They had spread it around before the filthy scandal of treason and sexual depravity in public but, like most of their American opposite numbers, they have never stated precisely what they mean by "McCarthyism." In the states, those who have condescended to define their term have resorted to lies, misrepresenting the charges and belittling the positive accomplishments of Senator Joe McCarthy. In this work he was joined heartily by one of the best Democrats of his time, the late Pat McCarran, who also was foully smeared and allowed to go undefended by publicists who deplored "McCarthyism."

Senator William Jenner, of Indiana, also has practiced "McCarthyism" and still carries on. And since the Democrats won control of Congress, other Democrats have waged the same fight in the same way.

The British foreign office, having reason to suspect two of its bright young gentlemen in the field of American affairs, let them escape to France on an excursion boat and then vanish into Russia.

David Lawrence, the American journalist and publisher of the news-magazine, U.S. News and World Report, conjectured that 35,000 American young men killed in Korea and more than 103,000 wounded, were betrayed to the Red armies by spies in the British foreign office and in the British embassy in Washington. Few professionals will deny that Lawrence is one of the best journalists of our time. He is not a scandal-monger and his reports of information and his opinions command respect.

Lawrence plainly implies that Donald Maclean and Guy Burgess, the vanishing Britons, and a third person passed the word to Moscow that the Truman government would not let General Douglas MacArthur bomb the Red Chinese bases in Manchuria. So, knowing that MacArthur's hands were tied, the enemy launched the big attack which won the war for Red China and the Soviet Empire. Senator Eastland, of Mississippi, a Democrat who threw down Joe McCarthy on the motion to rebuke him for exposing treachery, is now chairman of the sub-committee on internal security and is practicing "McCarthyism" as hard as he can.

The terrible details of the case maybe taken for granted because the worst has been admitted, in general, by the foreign office. But the British press failed miserably, coming up with nothing but its usual cabbage bagged by futile legions who pursued Maclean's wife to southern France and harried her for a time. But, finally, they lost her in Switzerland whence she vanished into Russia to join her husband. She is a native of the United States, an attractive young woman, with a little income.

The foreign office excuses its incompetence on the ground that it had no "legal" right to grab Burgess and Maclean or to third man now back in London, or to pick up Mrs. Maclean and hold her. That is a raw fake and it is odd that the foreign office should take its stand on such grounds because nobody is deceived by the pretense of scrupulous regard for the niceties of law.

The British government hanged Lord Haw-Haw, actually an American from Brooklyn named Joyce, out of sheer rage at Joyce for mocking Winston Churchill's feathery lip and the stammer of the late King George VI in his broadcasts from Berlin. He proved in his trial that he was not a British subject and so could not have been guilty of treason to Britain. They threw Tryer Kent into prison for five years for no actual crime at all under any law.

The purpose was to keep Kent out of the United States so that he could not libel the fact that F.D. Roosevelt and Churchill, then a subordinate member of the British government, were conspiring by means of telegrams sent through our London embassy to pitch the United States into World War II. They joined us and the Russians in condemning Rudolf Hess to life in solitary confinement in Spandau prison, Berlin, to shut him up about his futile solo flight to Scotland to seek an interview with Churchill. The legend is that Hitler sent him to offer a separate peace, so that he could devote his whole might to the Russian war. The myth of the rough-stuff in rough circumstances is invoked here only to preclude denunciation of other spies who may still be in their service and the fools or worse who protected Maclean and Burgess.

Through it all, not one single voice in the entire British press has attacked either the old socialists of Churchill and Eden. Both parties were guilty. Herbert Morrison, now deputy leader of the mis-called Labor Party, sounded his personal blast in a stamp speech. The "conduct" of Maclean and Burgess while he was foreign secretary "warranted the requirement of their dismissal or resignation," but, "in discussing their disappearance, people must be careful not to degenerate into the spirit of McCarthyism."

The Manchester Guardian, which did not hit a single lick of journalistic enterprise in the face of this challenge, launched into a tedious yammer about the need to raise the efficiency of the foreign office. But it said, if criticisms were made in "exaggerated form" good men would resign as "in the state department, as the result of the McCarthy persecution." And the Daily Telegraph eagerly picked up remark by the Baltimore Sun, which speaks only for its owners, praising an obscure English party back for expressing a hope that this thing would not encourage a resurgence of McCarthyism in America.

RESPONSIBILITY DISCLAIMED (The Wall Street Journal)

Foundations which grant funds for research purposes with no strings attached will have a ready answer for those who wonder why some control over the way the money is spent is not retained by the donors.

The reply, of course, is that research is a search for truth and that to direct the paths of the research may be to let truth remain undiscovered, or even to violate it. Yet other questions occur which are not so easily answered. When the experimenters use the wrong methods to ascertain truth, are the researchers alone responsible? Or are the foundations, which are tax-free, accountable to the public for the transgressions?

The question arises from the Wichita jury cases. The Ford Foundation granted a sum of money to the law school of the University of Chicago to finance studies of commercial arbitration, the income tax law and the jury system. On their face these projects certainly had the look of worthwhile subjects for research.

But it was not long before the study of the jury system became a study of juror behavior. Microphones were hidden in jury rooms in five cases in the Wichita Federal Courthouse and the deliberations of the jurors were surreptitiously recorded. That this was done with the consent of the judges and lawyers involved is neither explanation nor mitigation for the violence done to the jury system and thus to our system of justice.

The right to trial by jury is a Constitutional cornerstone in that system but it would be a meaningless one if the deliberations were conducted in privacy were conducted in public. No one but the jurors have any right to listen in on their assessment of the evidence. The dangers in any other course are obvious.

This particular study — more sociological than legal in its wire-tapping aspects — has justly caused a great deal of criticism of the judges who permitted it, the lawyers who condoned it and the professors who conducted it.

Also it has caused criticism of the Ford Foundation, though the institution disclaims knowledge of the course the experiment was to take. But the fact that the Foundation provided the funds used for eavesdropping on Federal juries cannot be denied.

Certainly the general public will hold foundations responsible for grants used in irresponsible ways. And unless the foundations themselves assume a responsibility for seeing that their grants are not misused, the unfortunate result doubtless will be that the Government will assume it for them.

For a foundation can no more disclaim responsibility where legal research is used for tampering with the jury system than it could if some irresponsible people used its funds for research into structural engineering by blowing up some public bridges.

'National Championship' Clash Set For Orange Bowl

Oklahoma, Maryland Meet Set; Other Bowls Unsure

By JOHN GRIFFIN
United Press Sports Writer

The prospect of a "national championship" clash between Maryland and Oklahoma danced before the eyes of delighted Orange Bowl promoters Monday, but Rose, Sugar, and Cotton Bowl officials must wait a few more days to learn their lineups.

Maryland, the nation's No. 2 team, now needs only the official Atlantic Coast Conference vote to put it in the Orange Bowl as a result of Saturday's comeback 25-12 victory over Clemson.

What's more, the Terrapins and Oklahoma were left as the only major unbeaten, untied teams in the nation when West Virginia—only other claimant to that record—was dealt a jarring 26-7 loss by Pittsburgh in Saturday's most important upset.

Terps Came Back
Clemson, Maryland's last conference foe of the season, stunned the Terps by setting a 12-0 lead in the first 16 minutes, but Ed Vereb's two touchdowns led Maryland in a brilliant rally that proved the Terrapins' class. Maryland thus is in line for a chance to revenge its 7-0 upset by Oklahoma in the 1955 Orange Bowl. Duke still can tie for the ACC league crown but a pro-Maryland league vote is regarded as a mere formality now.

Oklahoma and Maryland are heavily favored to wind up their regular seasons unbeaten by scoring victories this Saturday, the Sooners over Nebraska in a battle for the Big Seven championship and Maryland over George Washington in what promises to be a meaningless rout.

But here's how the "guessing game" on the other major bowls is going:

Pacific Puzzle
Rose Bowl—Big Ten: It's either Michigan State or Michigan, and this Saturday's Ohio State-Michigan game will decide it. Michigan State finished its league season with a 3-1 mark by drubbing Minnesota, 42-14. Michigan, which trounced Indiana, also is 3-1 now with this one extra game to play. Ohio State is the league leader, but is ineligible for the bowl bid as last year's representative.

Pacific Coast Conference: Either UCLA or Oregon State. UCLA can clinch by beating Southern California this Saturday in its final game. But a UCLA loss would give Oregon State a chance to finish with a slightly better league mark (6-1 to 5-1) by beating Oregon. That would turn the official league vote into a puzzle, since UCLA

Midland, Tex.—UP—The Longhorn Baseball League had taken action Monday to move up from a Class C to a Class B league, effective at the start of the next season.

League directors met Sunday in Midland and made provisions for the advancement to a higher classification. Five clubs deposited $2,000 checks with President W. J. Green as assurance they will organize.

These included Midland and San Angelo, Tex., and Hobbs, Roswell and Carlsbad, N.M. Artesia, N.M., and Big Spring, Tex., indicated they wished to await developments before committing themselves.

Further developments probably will come next Sunday. That's when directors of both the Longhorn and West Texas-New Mexico Leagues will meet together in Lubbock.

The meeting will be held to discuss a possible realignment. The Longhorn League ended last season with seven members after Odessa turned its franchise back to the league.

The West Texas-New Mexico League has lost two clubs to the Western Association.

McMurry Indians Close Out Season
By UNITED PRESS
Champion McMurry College's Indians close out their regular season this week in the only Texas Conference tilt on the menu.

The potent Indians, winners of seven of nine games and still entertaining hopes of a post-season bowl invitation despite a 38-21 setback to North Texas last week, will play Missouri Valley College at Abilene Saturday.

Howard Payne, which ends its season Thanksgiving Day against Abilene Christian, will be idle this week after eking out a 14-13 victory over Sul Ross last week.

Eastern New Mexico players already have hung up their tops after closing the schedule on a winning note with an 18-0 decision over New Mexico Military.

Two Major Colleges Remain Undefeated
NEW YORK—UP—The national list of unbeaten, untied college football teams was cut to just 23 names Monday and included were only two major-college teams—Oklahoma and Maryland.

Among the seven casualties who suffered their first losses last Saturday was West Virginia, beaten 26-7 by Pittsburgh. It marked the second straight year that Pitt blocked the Mountaineers' bid for a perfect season.

Others to drop off the list this week were Idaho State, St. Olaf (Minn.), Jacksonville (Ala.) State, Hampden-Sydney, Bethany (W.Va.), and Allen (S.C.).

Of the 23 remaining teams, 11 are "safe"—they have finished their season schedules.

Tyler-Wichita Falls Clash Is Top AAAA Game In The State This Week

(Editors note — Jim Dean, managing editor of The News, was sports editor with Tyler-Currier-Times for 5 years. He will be starting his vacation this week and will be on hand to witness the top 1-AAAA game of the week.)

By UNITED PRESS
The chips are really down in both Class AAAA and AAA this week and when the firing is over all but two playoff berths in those divisions of the Texas schoolboy football race are expected to be filled.

The clash between 5-AAAA's great unbeaten powers, Tyler and Wichita Falls, tops a star-sprinkled schedule, but the pressure will be all along the line with the playoff spots riding in the balance in every sector except 1-AAAA and 6-AAAA.

Baytown and Alice already have clinched the bottom rungs of the playoff brackets in their respective divisions, but each has a game this week that will serve as nothing more than a chance to prolong their perfect record strings. Baytown plays Port Arthur, Alice meets Kingsville.

In 1-AAAA, defending state champ Abilene is the prohibitive favorite — especially after last week's 62 to 7 drubbing of Lubbock but both of the Eagles remaining foes—Midland this week and San Angelo next—have 4-1 records and also could move into the post-season play with upsets.

In 6-AAAA, the two Corpus Christi rivals, Miller and Ray, tangle Thanksgiving Day for the title and the playoffs.

Here's the situation in the other districts:

CLASS AAAA
2—El Paso High (3-1) plays El Paso Austin (3-1) for the honors.

3—Fort Worth Arlington Heights (3-0) can win a playoff spot by beating Fort Worth Paschal (2-1). A Paschal victory would shunt Carter-Riverside into the playoffs if that team beats North Side.

4—Dallas Sunset (6-0) clinches playoff if it beats Dallas Hillcrest (4-2). A Hillcrest victory would shift the honors to Forest (6-1) if it beats Woodrow Wilson.

5—Tyler (3-0) can take it all by beating Wichita Falls (2-0), but latter still has to face Highland Park (2-1).

7—Houston Lamar (5-0-1) plays S. F. Austin (5-1) and Reagan (5-0-1) plays Jeff Davis (2-2-2) as both end schedules. A loss by one of them would give the title to the other. If both lose, S. F. Austin gets it.

CLASS AAA
1—Snyder (6-0) plays Levelland (5-0-1) and can clinch playoff with victory. Levelland victory would prolong it until after Levelland plays Plainview.

2—Garland (4-0) can get playoff spot by beating Grand Prairie (3-1). Grand Prairie would have to beat Garland, then Birdville.

3—Winner of Sherman (4-0) vs. Gainesville (5-0) game gets it.

4—Texarkana (3-0-1) can win it all by beating Longview (1-2), but Longview victory would throw race wide open.

5—Temple (5-1) wins playoff if it beats Corsicana (3-3), but if it loses or ties, Palestine (5-1) gets nod if it beats Bryan (2-1-3).

6—Winner of Port Neches (6-0), vs. Beaumont South Park (6-0), takes title and playoff spot.

7—Victoria (5-1) gets playoff if it beats San Antonio Burbank (1-4-1), but Burbank victory would give it to Harlandale (5-1) if it beats Alamo Heights (1-5).

Seventh Ranked TCU Toads Favorite For Cotton Bowl

By ED FIFE
United Press Sports Writer

Texas Christian's tremendous toads, the nation's seventh ranked grid power, may not win the Southwest Conference championship, but they can pick up a ticket for a Jan. 2 Cotton Bowl date and the accompanying financial plum by plucking the Rice Owls this week.

What's more, if they should fall in that task—and the odds are all against any such failure—Coach Abe Martin's Horned Frogs will get a second chance a week later to cop the coveted bowl bid by confronting the Southern Methodist Mustangs.

Coach Paul Bryant's "probation kids" from Texas A&M—the only outfit able to pummel TCU into submission in eight games this season—have the inside track on the championship, but they'll have to be content with just that and no more if they lazzo the Texas Longhorns Thanksgiving Day.

Part of the punishment meted out to Texas A&M for violation of recruiting rules included a moratorium on post-season athletics—a penalty that seemed mild enough back before Bryant's audacious Aggies jelled into a formidable touchdown machine.

The Aggies, ninth rated national power, will be idle this week in preparation for the Turkey Day showdown with Texas at College Station, but TCU opens a two-week home stand at Fort Worth against a Rice team fired in cellar.

There'll be other activity around the conference, but it won't matter materially whether SMU or Baylor breaks out of their 1-3 conference standing on top in their meeting at Waco; or how Arkansas fares in its season finale against Louisiana State at Little Rock.

Defending champion Arkansas has completed its conference schedule on the upgrade with a tie against A&M and consecutive victories over Texas, Rice and SMU for a 3-2-1 loop mark, good enough for at least fourth place. The latest was a 6-0 whipping of SMU last Saturday while the Aggies were zooming to a 20-12 stunner over Rice and TCU was manhandling Texas 47-20. Baylor was idle last week.

The Aggies' three touchdowns blast in the final four minutes against Rice had to share the spotlight with Slim Jim Swink's spectacular forays against Texas as TCU speedster ripped out four touchdowns and 233 yards rushing to run his season point total to 107 and his yardage figure to 1,056.

Swink, with two games to play, has a chance to break the loop records of 128 points held by Joel Hunt of Texas A&M since 1927 and 1,302 yards rushing set by the Aggie's Bob Smith in 1950.

Texas A&M holds down first place with a 4-0 record, followed by TCU at 3-1, Texas at 3-2 and Arkansas at 3-2-1. The Aggies can clinch the title by beating Texas and assure themselves of no worse than a share of the crown by a deadlock with Texas. An Aggie loss would open the door for TCU to take the championship and the bowl bid if it could sweep both the Rice and SMU games.

LAST WEEK'S RESULTS
TCU 47, Texas 20.
Texas A&M 20, Rice 12
Arkansas 6, SMU 0.

THIS WEEK'S SCHEDULE
SATURDAY — Baylor vs SMU at Waco; TCU vs Rice at Fort Worth; Arkansas vs Louisiana State at Little Rock non-conference.

Bears, Rams Tied As West Pro L. Leaders

By UNITED PRESS

The Chicago Bears scored their fifth straight victory by whipping the Los Angeles Rams, 24-3, and the Philadelphia Eagles erased a 17-point deficit to upset the Cleveland Browns, 33-17, in Sunday's key National Football League games.

The Bears tied the Rams for the Western division lead by scoring all their points in the first 15 minutes. Both clubs now have 5-3 records.

Philadelphia's second-half rally cut Cleveland's Eastern division lead to one game over the Washington Redskins. Washington's defensive platoon made four successful stands inside its own 20 to defeat the San Francisco Forty-Niners, 7-0. Cleveland now has a 6-2 mark while Washington has a 5-3 record.

Colts Miss Title Tie
The Baltimore Colts missed a chance to share the Western lead when they dropped a 17-7 decision to the New York Giants.

In the other games, the Detroit Lions defeated the Pittsburgh Steelers, 31-28; and the Green Bay Packers downed the Chicago Cardinals, 31-14.

Pittsburgh (4-4) missed a chance to gain on the champion Browns and now is third in the Eastern race, two games behind Cleveland. Baltimore and Green Bay (both 4-4) are now tied for the runner-up spot in the Western division, a game behind the Rams and Bears.

Get Summer STARTS

Change to SHAMROCK'S NEW MOTOR OILS

No matter how low the temperature drops, you'll get quick summer starts all winter with Shamrock 5W-20 or Shamrock 10W-30. They are new multi-viscosity motor oils that flow freely even in coldest weather. At temperatures well below zero, you get the snappy engine turnover you expect only in summer. Yet at high operating temperatures, you get the engine protection of a heavy weight motor oil. This flexibility pays off in greater engine performance in both winter and summer... it makes Shamrock 5W-20 and Shamrock 10W-30 the ideal motor oils for year-round use. Ask for Shamrock 5W-20 or 10W-30 motor oil today. They're at the Shamrock station in your neighborhood.

Visit Central Tire Works To Solve Your Tire Problems

It may interest you to know something about Central Tire Works, and how well Central can do a job.

Central Tire Works, 618 E. Frederic, 4-3781, has a capital investment of over $50,000 in the best and most modern equipment known to the tire industry. This firm can repair just about any size of tire that rolls in the Panhandle.

Wardie Maddox, who owns and operates the plant, has had 37 years' previous experience in the tire recapping and vulcanizing business. He can look back over his years of experience and realize the great progress he and the tire industry have made in tire repairing and recapping.

Improvements
It is amazing to note the great improvement made in the quality of repair and recap materials and in the equipment to service tires. Cold rubber, now in use, has revolutionized the entire retreading industry.

More and more people are having their tires retreaded. Even the former skeptics return to have additional tires retreaded.

People are learning that they can not do without an automobile any more than they can do without a pair of shoes. A large majority of these people must look to recapping to make ends meet. It is a good deal, too, because a retread costs only about half the price of a new tire.

Retreaded For Long Wear
Processed in a Bacon Mold at Central Tire Works, a retreaded tire does not get out-of-round. Central Tire Works has just in-

MOST MODERN, MOST PROGRESSIVE — Central Tire Works, 618 E. Frederic, 4-3781, has invested more than $50,000 in the shop and very latest equipment for repairing and recapping tires. In addition Central Tire Works uses only top grades of materials to do repairs and retreads that wear like new tires. From Central Tire you get these long wearing retreaded tires for just about half the price of new tires. Wardie Maddox, owner and operator, invites every one to inspect the shop, watch it operate, look over the stock of retreads, and see the mud and snow tire Maddox designed for best traveling on slick roads. Visit Central Tire, 618 E. Frederic.

stalled a new mold for recapping truck tires. The mold does not allow the tire to stretch one bit. There is absolutely no strain on the tire body. In fact the tire is molded in the position that it will perform on the road with a maximum load.

Contrary to old type molds the Bacon Band Type requires only 120 pounds of air pressure in the tire to mold the tread. The old tire mold used 170 pounds pressure.

Top Tread
Central Tire Works uses an imitation of the U.S. Royal Air Ride tread which pioneered the low pressure tire field. Many believe this tread is the most trim looking, smoothest running tread on the market.

In the last two years Central Tire Works has abandoned the use of airbags in the section molds. Instead this modern firm uses bags which circulate live steam to the patch on the inside of the tire as well as on the outside.

Mud-Snow Tire
Central Tire Works has designed a mud and snow tire tread which has become the most popular in the Panhandle. The firm has been complimented by some of the most widely traveled persons in the rubber industry on maintaining a clean shop, a shop free from oil which is the number one enemy of rubber.

Mr. Maddox has seen many changes in tires over the years, but in his opinion the tubeless takes the cake for the amount of equipment required to do the job of repairing a flat. Central Tire Works has the best equipment available now for tubeless tire repair.

Central Tire Works takes advantage of the many educational facilities offered by the rubber industry. These opportunities enable Central Tire to do a better job on deciding whether a tire is worth recapping, and on many other problems.

Wardie Maddox cordially invites every one to visit, and inspect Central Tire Works, and to watch the firm operate. Central Tire Works, 618 E. Frederic, 4-3781.

New Gimmick To Teach Kids Table Manners Is Devised

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON—UP—A man in Chicago has a new gimmick where by the small fry can learn table manners and play a tune on a spoon at the same time.

I wish inventor James Greco well with Pat. No. 2,722,153. He calls his brainchild a "mechanical eating utensil." It will be produced in sets—knife, fork, and spoon, or can be bought singly. On the handle of each is a hollow tube, equipped with holes on top, which when blown, can make a noise like a tin whistle or a flute. Tunes like "Yankee Doodle," "The Old Gray Mare" or "Brahm's Lullaby" can be made to come out if one is bright enough to blow hard and old enough to finger correctly.

Idea is that music can be made by mama or the kid himself and is supposed to put junior in such a happy mood he will then turn the instrument around the other way and dig like crazy into his mush, grits, or applesauce.

Greco is a little coy in his introduction to the description of his musical eating tools. He says he is aware of the fact that often exasperated mothers have a devil of a time getting Frankie or Patty to swallow their spinach.

Greco let it be known that he spent considerable time coming to the aid of all with his brand new invention.

Inventor Greco puts it like this in his prose filed with the patent office: The blowing of a tune into the tin-horn end of the spoon, musical eating device will "provoke considerable amusement, sufficient in many instances to distract the child so that he may go on eating his meal while somewhat simultaneously amusing himself with his noise-provoking spoon, fork or knife, as the case may be."

He doesn't anticipate any trouble with the high-chair set, but trouble may come from mama if the youngsters decide to play some pranks along with some tunes.

Say there is alphabetical soup on the tray at luncheon one day. Junior gives with a little tune. Then he decides to use the spoon end to dip into the soup.

Then, with his mouth full of letters from "A to J" he takes himself a deep breath and blows real hard.

Not, only does he clog up the musical end of his eating tool, but out comes part of the alphabet and all of the soup on mother's clean dress.

Have you thought of that Mr. Greco? It could happen.

MAKING A GO OF LIFE

By ROY L. SMITH
Read Matthew 9:27-30

We must learn to recognize God's voice. All of us have to learn to identify our spiritual experiences with God. Most of us have at some time talked to a person over the telephone under the impression that he was a certain individual, only to discover after talking a moment or two that he was someone else. Thereupon it became necessary to shift our whole mental attitude in order to adjust to the fact that we were talking to an entirely different person.

Something of the same situation faces us in the case of many spiritual experiences when under the impression that we are dealing with our own irresponsible impulses, we have taken certain attitudes, only to discover upon closer examination that we have actually been dealing with God himself.

If, for instance, we act in a certain way in a given situation and experience remorse as a consequence, our attitude will be of one sort, but in we decide that our remorse is only a psychological reaction, then we take another attitude entirely. It is highly important that we shall discover that our spiritual experiences are in reality contacts with God.

Those who have developed spiritual skills have learned to recognize the voice of God in these inner promptings to do the right and noble thing, these inner compulsions in the direction of generous and forgiving attitudes. They have also discovered that the warnings of conscience, the restrictions that moral judgment lays upon us, and a variety of other restraints are all the result of the pressure on God upon the human soul. These are the voices of God speaking to the spirits of men.

I have been warned so many times against evil, and prompted so many times in favor of the good and true, that I am convinced that I have never been out of his presence, O God. There has not been an hour or a minute when I have been out of thy sight, Amen.

Go back over the last forty-eight hours of your life and see if you cannot pick out some moment or some experience in which God was laying pressure upon you. Have you felt impelled to do some magnificent or some godly thing? Did you do it? Why not?

Giles Makes New Appeal

AUSTIN, Nov. 12—UP—Bascom Giles, who as land commissioner once administered the state's scandalized $100-million-veterans-land program, Saturday appealed to high court the second of two convictions stemming from his stewardship.

Giles' attorneys submitted to the state supreme court an appeal of his San Antonio trial, in which he pleaded guilty to a charge of consenting to accept a $30,000 bribe while a state official. A six-year prison sentence was assessed the 54-year-old former state land commissioner last Aug. 16 by District Judge M. D. Jones of San Antonio. No bills of exception were included with the record of the San Antonio trial court proceedings, submitted Saturday to the Court of Criminal Appeals.

Previously, Giles appealed a conviction in Travis county. At jury trial at Austin found him guilty last July of aiding in the theft of $6,800 in state funds under the veterans land program.

Haynes said the second appeal probably would be docketed for airing by the appellate court on Jan. 25 or Feb. 1. Appeal of the Travis county conviction has been set for consideration, Jan. 18. Meanwhile, Giles remains free in bond.

Christmas Seals, sold since 1907 to fight tuberculosis, are collected by many philatelists. No issue has ever been reprinted, and each year the plates are destroyed.

Library Sets Observance

Lovett Memorial Library is issuing a special invitation to all citizens of the Top of Texas to visit the library during National Book Week, Nov. 13-20.

Since Jan. 18, when the new library opened, 2,500 books have been added to the collection with approximately 500 of these coming since Sept. 1.

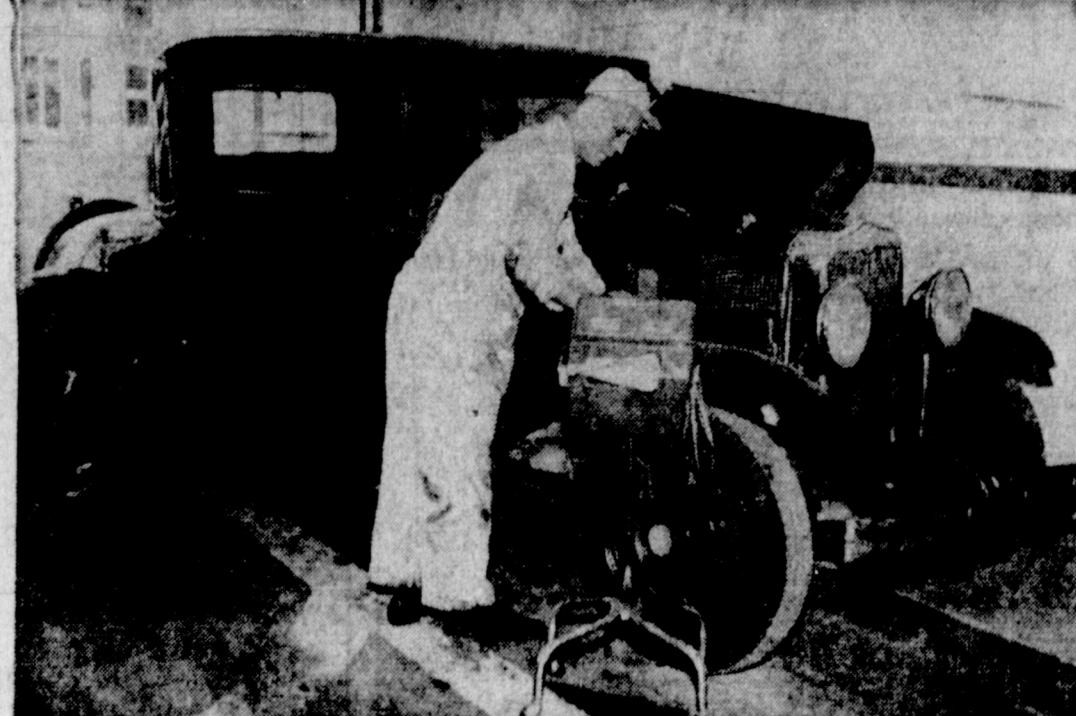

Special displays will be seen during the week in the library.

Let Culberson's Shop Prep Your Car For Winter Driving

USING LATEST EQUIPMENT TO SERVICE 26-YEAR-OLD — Culberson's Chevrolet Auto Shop with the most modern of equipment and tools, services this 1929 Chevrolet Coupe owned by Earl New, 1701 Christine. Here James Schaub tests the engine with the Sun Tune-Up Analyzer. Culberson's has the latest tools and equipment to service all makes and models of automobiles from minor adjustments to major overhauls. He experienced mechanics (about a century of experience at Culberson's alone) take pride in correcting the cause of auto trouble, not just the apparent "symptoms." Drive in for a tune-up to get ready for winter motoring, and remember now is the time to get your Texas Safety Inspection. Come in Culberson's, 212 N. Ballard.

- 1. Getting your engine tune-up.
- 2. Having your car inspected for safety and the Texas inspection.
- 3. Making sure of your battery, and winterizing your car.

Auto care at Culberson's Chevrolet Auto Shop, 212 N. Ballard, 4-4666, means your car will be peppy, sure starting, protected from winter's cold and SAFE.

Skill Experience
Experienced mechanics repair and service your car at Culberson's. These six men, who have a century of experience at Culberson's, have the skill and determination to find the cause of your automobile trouble, not just the apparent trouble. In a short time they can "fix - up" your car to give you instant starts, sure stops, happy motoring.

Drive in, talk with Perry Franklin, service manager, and Wayne Washbourne, service salesman, and watch these mechanics work: Archie Bullard, Hank Roberson, Gordon Miller, Bill Oler, Henry Kolb and James Schaub. Also notice how Johnny Wheelchick corrects front end damage and straightens frames, and notice how quickly Rusty Gordon straightens fenders and paints a car.

As you turn back from the body department toward the office watch S. W. Daugherty clean and porcelainize a car. His porcelainize job will make your car better looking, and will protect the car finish all during the hard - driving winter months.

At Culberson's have Gordon Miller give your car the Texas Safety Inspection. Now is the time for the test, and now is the time to avoid waiting in the long lines that form at the last minute, and now is the ideal time to make sure your car is SAFE!

Tune-Up
When you get your tune-up, watch any one of the six experienced mechanics make sure of the right rienced mechanics check your engine with the Sun Tune-Up Analyzer. In just about 15 minutes with this machine your mechanic can tell you exactly what is right and what may be wrong with the engine.

And in only about two hours he can tune-up the engine. Those two hours of work means miles of happy motoring, lower gas consumption, better performance.

These In Tune-Up
A Culberson Tune - up includes: checking engine compression, cleaning and adjusting spark plugs, testing battery, cleaning or replacing and adjusting distributor points, checking distributor rotor and cap, checking manual and vacuum ignition advance and timing, testing coil and condenser, cleaning fuel pump bowl and air cleaner, tightening head and manifold bolts, adjusting carburetor idle, adjusting fan belt, adjusting solid valve tappets, overhauling carburetor.

Tools, Equipment
Culberson's has the skill, the tools and equipment to service all makes and models of automobiles in addition to the special tools recommended for Chevrolets, and the complete stock of Chevrolet parts.

Equipment includes the giant Bear Frame Straightening Machine which can handle frame-straightening on anything from the size of a tiny Austin to the size of a Sherman Tank; the Hunter Wheel-Balancer, the Merrill Electronics Balancer, the Elam True Buff Wheel Truer, the Sun Motor Analyzer.

Services All Makes
In car servicing Culberson mechanics make sure of the right parts, by using only those parts recommended by the automobile or truck manufacturer.
