MacArthur Favored Red Aid In Jap War

Defense Dept. Documents Show General's Opinion

By CHARLES CORDDRY

WASHINGTON — UP — The Defense Department spread before the world Thursday once-secret documents showing that Gen. Douglas MacArthur strongly favored Soviet Russia as an 11th hour ally in the war against Japan.

Last spring MacArthur said he did not favor Russia as a late comer in the Pacific conflict and would have given his advice to President Roosevelt at the time of the 1945 Yalta conference — if he had been asked, Republicans in the decade since the conference have criticized the late President for making Far Eastern territorial concessions to the Soviets in return for their entry in the war. Records produced by the Defense Department Wednesday night after a long delay, showed MacArthur had not been consulted before the Yalta conference of February, 1945. But they also showed he was urging Russian entry three days after the conference before he knew what had taken place there.

No Comment from MacArthur
MacArthur, now living in his Waldorf Tower apartment in New York, made no immediate comment. A spokesman said he was out of the city. But the five-star general was not expected to leave the report unanswered.

The Defense Department sent him a copy of the record "as a matter of courtesy."
In the 107-page historical record, the Pentagon quoted an interview between MacArthur and Col. Paul A. Freeman, an Army staff officer, in which Freeman reported that MacArthur "emphatically stated that we must not invade Japan proper unless the Russian army is previously committed to action in Manchuria (against Japanese troops). He said this was essential."

Three Days After Yalta
The interview took place three days after the Yalta conference. The report also showed that MacArthur in June, 1945, about (See MACARTHUR, Page 2)

Marlin Says Ike Could Win In '56

By FRANK ELEAZER

WASHINGTON — UP — House Republican leader Joseph W. Martin Jr., thinks another term in the White House may be just what the President needs. He says it might be less of a strain than spending four years on the Gettysburg farm. The Massachusetts lawmaker told newsmen he is advised that the President will be "fully recovered" from his heart attack. He said Mr. Eisenhower could win next year in a walk with no real campaign and "with no strain at all."

Three or four television and radio programs and that would be no strain at all.

General Speculation
There has been general speculation that Mr. Eisenhower, although making satisfactory recovery from his illness, would take himself out of the race on the ground another term would be too strenuous. But Martin, 70 and born and reared in town, indicated he thought it might work just the other way around. "There might be less strain on him in the White House than as a private citizen on his farm at Gettysburg," he said.

He pointed out that as President Mr. Eisenhower will get the best of care and can take what precautions are necessary. On his own as a farmer, he said, the President might well overdo.

Other Developments
In other political developments, Texas Democratic Gov. Allan Shivers, an Eisenhower supporter in 1952, indicated he would vote Democratic in 1956 if the party nominates "a man I can support." He indicated Adlai Stevenson was not that man.

Shivers suggested that Stevenson meet Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) in the California preferential primary. He said he believed Kefauver would win that contest.

President Back Painting Again

By MERRIMAN SMITH
DENVER — UP — President Eisenhower has started painting again and this was regarded Thursday as a significant signpost in his road back from the coronary thrombosis he suffered Sept. 24.

It is significant because for the past three and a half weeks he has been permitted almost no activity. His most exerting relief from hospital tedium has been listening to recorded music and some reading.

But Wednesday, his doctors allowed him, for 45 minutes to sit in an easy chair in his Fitzsimons Army hospital room and start work on a small canvas of a Rocky Mountain landscape.

He copied it from a picture, in color, in a magazine. Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty announced afterward that the President "got a big kick" out of the painting, which is one of his favorite hobbies.

The first medical bulletin of the day, issued at 7 a.m. (8 a.m. east) said "the President had a good night's sleep of more than eight hours. He awoke feeling refreshed and cheerful. His condition continues to progress 'satisfactorily without complications.'"

Mr. Eisenhower may get to paint more Thursday. His schedule includes a minimum of official routine, to give him an opportunity for more rest and re- strained recreation between im- portant conferences with key government officials.

Friday, he has scheduled a meeting with Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr., in their first meeting, since the President suffered a heart attack.

Wednesday, the President conferred for 25 minutes with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, whom he sent off to the Big Four foreign ministers' conference in Geneva with the "measured hope" that something concrete will be accomplished.

Belief has grown in the past two days that Margaret still was undecided whether she wanted to marry the divorced Townsend in the face of opposition from crown and church.

The circumstances of the attorney general's hasty call to the cabinet meeting posed the possibility that she may have made up her mind.

Townsend, meanwhile, was horseback riding at nearby Epsom. By design or coincidence, Margaret also was scheduled to pay an official visit to an Epsom hospital Thursday.

Break Seen In Margaret's Romance

By HAROLD M. WILLARD
LONDON — UP — Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden called his attorney general right out of the courtroom Thursday with a hasty summons to advise the cabinet—possibly on a break in the reported romance of Princess Margaret and Royal Air Force Group Capt. Peter Townsend.

"I have been sent for and re- quired immediately," Attorney General Sir Reginald Manningham-Buller said, breaking off in the middle of a legal argument he was making for the crown before the queen's bench court.

Then the attorney general hustled from the law courts through rain straight to No. 10 Downing Street and entered the cabinet session.

Girl Scouts

CASTELLAMARE DI STABIA, Italy — UP — Domenico Ingenito said he had a sure system for breaking a hypnotic trance such as the one cast by Arthur Allen to keep a young girl from picking up $100,000 on a television program.

"All anybody has to do is hold a photograph of myself in their hands when they go into the trance," Ingenito said.

Girl Scouting was incorporated in the Pampa area in 1940, with seven troops in the entire area. Today there are approximately 920 girls registered in Scouting, with 125 leaders and 220 committee members. A recent survey has been completed in each school for girls of all ages that are interested in Scouting, thus carrying out the Scout aim of democratic participation for all girls.

At present, the Scout organization has a total membership of 1,265 girls and adults.

Primarily a service organization, the Girl Scouts give aid to many civic groups and projects. Girl Scouts work in the United Fund office during its busy season, dressed over 200 dolls one year for the VFW Christmas party, and aided the firemen in collecting toys to mend for less fortunate children.

In addition to civic projects, the Scouts regularly help the Negro nursery, take magazines and favors to the hospitals, contribute clothing and articles to Girlstown at Whiteface, and visit shut-ins, make favors and placemats for the Veterans' hospital in Amarillo through the Junior Red Cross. Older girls work in the Red Cross, Boy Scout, Chamber of Commerce and Girl Scout offices. They assist with poppy sales and the Cancer Crusade each year.

As part of the Top of Texas Girl Scout Council's camping program, day camp is held each spring at Camp Mel Davis. Last spring, a total of 290 girls attended day camp, the largest number in the history of Scouting in the area. Realizing that the Scout program is steadily increasing, work is now underway at Camp Mel Davis to "winterize" and otherwise improve the camp, to make better facilities available to the girls. Also plans are underway to move and improve a building in the vicinity of the Horace Mann school for troop meetings and to take some of the load off the GS Little House for parties and entertainment for the girls.

The Council maintains an office in the City Hall where records of membership, advancement and training are kept and where pro- (See GIRL SCOUTS, Page 2)

Reds Release Two American Prisoners

GENEVA — UP — Communist China Thursday announced the release of two more American "nationals" but United States officials said they are not on the list of detained Americans whose freedom is being negotiated here.

The 22nd meeting between U.S. Ambassadors U. Alexis Johnson and Red Chinese Ambassador Wang Ping-min lasted two hours and 20 minutes. There was no indication whether Johnson had asked for information about the mysterious pair during the session. The only announcement issued at its end said the two envoys would meet again on Oct. 27, the same date on which the Big Four foreign ministers conference starts in this city.

The broadcast, monitored in London, identified the couple as "Louis Henkel and his wife, Mrs. L. A. Henkel, two nationals of the United States living in Shanghai."

(In Hong Kong, sources said that Henkel was a well-to-do export-import businessman. Both he and his wife were believed to be about 60 years old. The source says they have spent most of their lives in China and regard Shanghai as their second home.)

(According to the sources, the Henkels previously did not want to leave, because they had no family ties elsewhere. J. Thompson, manager of the Shanghai branch of the Chase National Bank who came out of China a few months ago, disclosed that the Henkels had had a change of mind.)

Senate Probers End Dallas Hearing

By SANDER S. VAN DER OIE
DALLAS — UP — U.S. Senate investigators, headed by Price Daniel of Texas, wind up two days of narcotics hearings in Dallas Thursday, a city Daniel termed among the top 20 narcotics centers in the country.

The Senate subcommittee then moves to Fort Worth for a one-day hearing, that will end the Texas visit. The group previously heard testimony about narcotics traffic in Austin, San Antonio and Houston.

Testifying before the committee Wednesday were police Chief Carl Hanson, Sheriff Bill Decker, police Lt. William P. Gannaway and several narcotics addicts. A part of the hearing was televised.

Dallas a Leading Center
Daniel called illegal use of narcotics "murder on the installment plan" and said Dallas was one of the leading centers.

Texas' junior senator said he personally favors raising the maximum penalty to death on some cases "of dope smuggling and pushing (selling) to juveniles."

He said his Washington staff would study whether it would be legal under the constitution to deny bond to narcotics users.

Hanson estimated that 30 per cent of all crimes in Dallas could be traced back to the use of narcotics, but said authorities had little trouble with juveniles in drug traffic.

Gannaway, who heads a seven-man narcotics squad, said there were possibly 175 known addicts in Dallas and that there likely were considerably more not known to officers.

Most Heroin From Mexico
Sheriff Decker said that 95 to 98 per cent of Texas heroin comes from Mexico. He also said 60 to 70 per cent of crimes in Dallas county were due to use of narcotics.

One witness, Neal E. Aebly, who was accompanied by an attorney, invoked the Fifth Amendment when asked whether he was in an automobile from which a gasoline bomb was thrown in front of a pursuing Dallas police car recently.

The last witness was a beautiful woman who was not identified. When "Miss B" entered the courtroom, the klieg lights were dimmed and cameras put away.

The animal was entered and shown by James Parker of Wickliff, a 14-year-old 4-H boy.

The champion Aberdeen-Angus steer of the junior division was Tiger, a 980-pound animal bred by Carlton Corbin of Ada, Okla., and entered and shown by Donnell Echols of Lamesa, Tex., 18-year-old 4-H boy.

Swede Wins Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM — UP — A Swedish research scientist won the 1955 Nobel prize for medicine Thursday over five famed American candidates.

Prof. Axel Hugo Theorell won the coveted plaque and the cash prize of 190,214 Swedish crowns ($38,720) for his 20-year research into the secrets of enzymes, the complex organic bits that cause chemical transformations of material in plants and animals.

It was the first year since 1950 that an American failed to win a share of the Nobel prize for medicine.

Two California scientists who have studied mushroom mutations to determine how genes affect the metabolism of cells in human heredity were unofficially reported to be runners-up.

They are George W. Beadle, 52-year-old genetics professor at Pasadena's California Institute of Technology, and Edward L. Tatum, 46, biology professor of Stanford University.

Heart Attack Fatal To Star John Hodiak

HOLLYWOOD — UP — Actor John Hodiak's fatal heart attack stunned Hollywood's film colony, already saddened by the recent deaths of four other movie stars.

Hodiak, 41, a Pittsburgh coal miner's son, pushed his way to theatrical stardom in a career that began at the age of 11, when he acted in Russian and Ukrainian plays in a parish. He was shaving Wednesday morning when he collapsed suddenly and died of coronary thrombosis.

Funeral arrangements were to be made Thursday after the arrival of Hodiak's sister, Mrs. Michael Galxy, of Detroit.

Temporary Stall in Career
Death came as the tall, handsome actor headed for new screen stardom, after his movie career temporarily stalled. Critics were praising him for his performance as a prosecuting attorney in a new film "Trial," which opened recently throughout the country.

Other deaths which have rocked Hollywood since late summer were those of Carmen Miranda, Susan Ball, Robert Francis and James Dean.

The careers of Miss Ball, who died of cancer, and Francis and Dean, killed in plane and auto crashes, respectively, were among the most promising in Hollywood.

Miss Miranda, the fiery Latin American entertainer, was re-establishing herself as a top Hollywood performer when she died suddenly—like Hodiak—of a heart attack.

Police Search Area Where 3 Were Slain

CHICAGO — UP — Fifty policemen Thursday launched a house-by-house, foot-by-foot search of a six-block area where they believe three young boys were strangled.

They hunted in garbage cans, vacant lots and alleys for clues to the wanted murder Sunday night of Robert Peterson, 13, John Schuessler, 13, and his 11-year-old brother, Anton Jr.

The policemen hoped particularly to find the boys' clothing, which had been ripped off them, and the tape which was used to bind their eyes and mouths.

The boys' nude, mutilated bodies were found Tuesday, thrown into a forest preserve ditch like sacks of potatoes.

The triple murder is one of the most shocking crimes in Chicago's history. But authorities are divided about the motive behind it. County officials, including Sheriff Joseph Lohman and Coroner Walter McCarron, have said the boys were probably murdered by one of the teen-aged gangs that roam the north-west side. But many city officers say the motive is still a mystery and may have its roots in sex perversion.

Governors Told To Speed Industry Drive

POINT CLEAR, Ala. — UP — The South's drive for new industry found a sore point for the industrial northeast, should be stepped up through an expanded program of industrial research, experts told the Southern Governor's Conference Thursday.

The governors, before closing their 21st annual conference with election of new officers and adoption of policy resolutions, held a round-table discussion on industrial development.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas, who presided, called for a coordinated regional effort to compile data on the South's marketing attractions.

Revolution of Research
Dr. Frank J. Soddy, president of the Southern Association of Science and Industry, said the real revolution in the South is the growth of its research and development programs, "rather than the vast expansion of manufacturing facilities."

Aggressive leadership can make the South the most prosperous region in the country within the next decade," Soddy said. Soddy singled out nuclear research for industrial purposes as one of the chief areas in which the South can set the pace for the nation. Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida reported that his state is already working toward that goal with a nuclear program at the University of Florida and at an industrial experiment station.

Complain About Drive
Northeastern manufacturers, particularly textile interests, have long complained about the southern drive for industrialization. Only Texas, among the 16 southern states represented at the conference, has no agency specifically devoted to industrial promotion.

Faubus said northern complaints that the south is luring industries to relocate by means of tax concessions, subsidies, cheap federal power and cheap labor are unfounded.

"The truth is that these factors actually have been of minor importance," Faubus said. "The great majority of new plants located in the region represents new units rather than relocation of existing operations."

MacARTHUR

five months after Yalta, messaged Gen. George C. Marshall, then Army chief of staff that the "hazard and loss will be greatly lessened" if Russia attacked Japanese forces on the Asiatic mainland before the United States invaded Japan.

Almost two months earlier, a Joint Chiefs of Staff report said that "early Russian entry into the war against Japan" to pin down Japanese forces in Manchuria "is no longer necessary to make invasion feasible."

The documents appeared to contradict MacArthur's statements that he opposed Russian entry into the war. The record carried the implication that he clung to the idea of a Russian declaration of war after the joint chiefs had discarded it.

On the other hand, the record did not contain any evidence that MacArthur expressed himself on Russian entry between May, 1942, and the time of the Yalta conference.

Counter Republican Criticism
In countering Republican criticism of the Yalta conference, Democrats have said Mr. Roosevelt acted on the advice of military leaders and only allowed Russia to claim territory the Communists were going to take in any event.

The specific controversy over MacArthur's views was touched off last spring by Sen. Herbert H. Lehman (D-N. Y.). He said the Yalta papers, published by the State Department, showed MacArthur favored Russian entry into the Japanese war just as strongly as other government leaders.

MacArthur replied that he was against late entry but his views had not been sought. He said he did not learn of concessions granted Russia at Yalta until months later.

The Yalta agreement was that Russia would enter the war against Japan three months after the defeat of Germany. In return, Russia would regain its former control over Manchuria's Port Arthur and its main railroad, the Manchurian port of Dairen would be "internationalized," and Russia would enter Mongolia and the Japanese Kurile and southern Sakhalin Islands would be recognized.

MacArthur's views were not sought until after the Yalta conference. He said that when Japan had already surrendered under the impact of atomic bombs and the advance of the Chinese army, the Yalta agreement was a "silly and unnecessary concession."

Overconfidence About Diet Is Reason Flabbiness Returns

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY
NEW YORK — UP — The complacent smile that follows a few weeks of successful dieting is the downfall of many a would-be size 12.

We smile too soon, one authority said the other day. Then we sit back and start eating our regular food again and get right back to our original shape.

"Treatment of overweight is in a very unsatisfactory stage," Dr. Frederick J. Stare, chairman of Harvard University's department of nutrition, stated frankly on a recent visit here to address a medical meeting.

"Practically anybody can lose weight for the first few weeks or months. But if you go back and examine these same people two or three years later, you are very embarrassed about the result of your diet."

Based on Realistic Rules
Dr. Stare explained in an interview that the new theories of weight losing are based on realistic, common sense rules.

"The hardest part of dieting is keeping the weight off once you lose it," he continued. "So far that reason the best diets are those planned around foods people normally would eat so they will stick to the diets for years."

The nutrition expert advocated a family — awareness program that will make even children conscious of sensible eating. He says parents should set the example by the size of the food portions on their own plates.

"Eat three meals a day, but simply cut down — not cut out," he said.

The future isn't all dreary for the person inclined to put on weight, even though Dr. Stare emphasizes that once you become an easy weight gainer you might just as well accept the fact you always will be.

"There are exceptions, where emotional problems suddenly cause people to put on a lot of weight in a hurry," he said. "Generally a person must learn to live with a tendency to overweight."

The bright spot, however, is in such added attractions to the "common sense" approach as before — meal snacks. Dr. Stare advocates them for many people inclined to overeat.

"They should be a 'scientific' nibble taken from one-half hour to one hour before meals, as distinguished from the 'common' nibble," he said.

Regular Meal Food
A nutritionist's idea of a "scientific" nibble is something you would have eaten at the approaching meal anyway, and not something extra.

"If you were going to have a glass of milk at lunch anyway, drink it a half-hour before lunch," Dr. Stare explained. "It gives time for the blood sugar to rise and reduces the appetite by meal time."

You can even eat dessert first by this method, providing, of course, the dessert was on the menu. It's the old theory that every mother has passed on to hungry children — "don't eat that piece of candy now or you'll spoil your dinner."

In case there's anybody around who is too thin, just reverse the rule, the doctor advised. Don't nibble before mealtime. Have second helpings instead.

Young Boy Is Killed
BROWNSVILLE, Tex. — UP — Gary Edwards Thomas, 7, of Brownsville was killed Wednesday night when he was hit by an automobile driven by Guadalupe Flores, 33, of Brownsville. Gary, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Thomas, died an hour later in a hospital.

Rotary Hears Geology Talk

Warren Fathere, geologist with the Cree Oil Co., yesterday gave the Pampa Rotary Club an insight to what is known as the old Panhandle field.

Fathere pointed out that the first oil well was drilled in the Panhandle in 1820 and since that time, over 800 million barrels have been produced. With a productive potential of about 1 billion barrels, Fathere pointed out, there is a present reserve of about 200 million barrels.

The speaker stated that the Panhandle field boasts 9,205 producing wells with a daily production of 80,000 barrels.

The geological structure of the field was illustrated, giving a comprehensive view of how oil is found in certain general types of structural pattern.

Guests for the day were Mrs. Jim McClintock, Warner Martin, J. J. Frick, Rufe Jordan, Farris Oden, John Hill, R. H. Holland, Dan Archer and Tom Lawrence.

NEW SLOGAN FOR IKE—Emanuel Ress stands beside a portrait of President Eisenhower as he displays the automobile sticker he created. Reading, "Get Well Like America Needs Your Heart," it is for use on windshields and bumpers. Ress is a New York City public relations man who specializes in manufacturing buttons for political occasions.

Ike's Convalescence Site Starts New Wave Of Guessing

By WARREN DUFFEE
DENVER—UP—Backstairs at the temporary White House, the White House's delay in announcing a firm decision on where President Eisenhower will spend his convalescence period has started a new wave of guessing and spurred the faint hopes of half a hundred Chambers of Commerce here and there.

The temporary White House has received a steady stream of feelers and offers, suggesting that Mr. Eisenhower spend the necessary weeks of recuperation after he leaves the hospital at this or that self-styled paradise.

The President's farm at Gettysburg, Pa., remains the best bet, but it still is not a certainty. Doctors may have the final say-so. If they feel that a warmer climate is important enough, some other spot may be selected.

The decision is especially important to such news media as the wire services, radio networks, etc.

All Appetites Are Satisfied In Paris Cafes

By GLORIA SWANSON
Written for United Press
PARIS—UP—Every appetite can be satisfied in Paris!

Imagine 127 hors d'oeuvres! Some hot, some cold. Sausages from all over the world, platters and platters of seafood, many things from the sea I have never seen. Picked "this" and "that," vegetables "au naturel" or completely disguised.

I am sure a tomato never realized its potential until the hors d'oeuvres were invented. Why, even a simple little new potato took on a new role. Instead of being stringed, smashed, boiled, fried or baked—there it was in its skin, cold with a little sword in its side, ready to be dunked into a sauce that I won't attempt to describe except to say it looked like mayonnaise, but it wasn't.

I did not at one sitting eat 127 hors d'oeuvres. Simply sampled 15 to 20 the first time I found Le Maubourg on the left bank. Naturally, I had to go back many times in order to try all the others (my curiosity is insatiable). The wise person, after satisfying his appetite, will have just a fruit or dessert and call it dinner. This kind of meal with wine costs about 1,100 francs ($2.50).

Often I have heard Americans complain of the high prices in Paris. About restaurants I believe this to be an error. There are thousands of fascinating little places with charm and atmosphere where prices are reasonable. Over a period of many years I have never had a poor meal in France.

True, there are restaurants here where the price is as high as New York's "21" or Pavilion. Chicago's Pump Room or Los Angeles' Chasin's. The only difference here is that if you do not choose to spend $10 to $15 per person for a meal, yet want a good one, you can find it—only minus the swank surroundings.

Instead of a waiter in black tie he will be in shirt sleeves and a vest and the decor will look as if it had not been changed since Benjamin Franklin was in Paris.

Speaking of atmosphere—there is a restaurant in the Montmartre that literally reeks with it! Instead of a bouquet of flowers or a table of fruit greeting your eye as you enter, your nose is met by a display of 40 cheeses! Now you know why the French invented the Nosegay.

Fresh meat should be stored loosely wrapped in the refrigerator, but cooked meat should be tightly wrapped.

White Warns Of Storage For Grain

AUSTIN—UP—Agriculture Commissioner John White warned Tuesday "millions of bushels of a near record" grain sorghum crop may be ruined in the High Plains area of West Texas due to a lack of storage and transportation facilities.

White wired officials of railroads operating in the area "urgently" requesting them to send "every available box car" in the Southwest to Lubbock for routing to rural areas to load grain now being dumped on the ground.

"A repetition of recent rains in the High Plains could ruin $2 million worth of grain today. The threat grows bigger every day as more grain is piled in the yards," White said.

The agriculture commissioner said the High Plains harvest will make up a large part of the state's estimated 138,424,000-bushel crop, second only to the record 144,500,000 bushels in 1950.

"The situation is acute at Muleshoe, Littlefield, Idalou, Bovins, Amherst, Dimmitt and other country points. The grain must be moved immediately to terminals where it can be handled. Grain men say they have only one box-car available for every 10 that could be loaded," White said.

White reported that almost 1,000 boxcar loads of grain have been dumped on the ground in the last few days. At Muleshoe, he said, more than 100 carloads were on the ground with harvest barely underway. Grain was reported coming in at the rate of 25 cars a day but only four cars were on hand to move grain out of Muleshoe last week.

About 70 per cent of every tree harvested by the American lumber industry now is salvaged for use.

Leslie Caron Gives Fall Dessert Recipe

Leslie Caron loves good food, especially desserts, reveals Margaret Thompson Biddis in her October Woman's Home Companion column. Here is the recipe for one of Leslie's favorites, an elegant finish for your first fall dinner party:

1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
1-4 cup water
1/2 cup strong hot coffee
1/2 cup sugar
1 cup hazelnuts
1 cup heavy cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 dozen ladyfingers

In a large bowl soften gelatin in cold water. Add strong hot coffee and sugar. Stir to dissolve. Cool, then chill in refrigerator until almost set. Meantime, finely chop hazelnuts (filberts) and dry in hot oven (400 degrees) for about 5 minutes; cool. Whip cream until stiff; fold into gelatin mixture with nuts and vanilla. Butter the sides and bottom of a 9-by-5-by-3-inch loaf pan and line with split ladyfingers. Pour in 1-3 off cream mixture; add a layer of ladyfingers; repeat these two layers twice ending with ladyfingers on top. Chill for several hours or overnight. Unmold; serve with more whipped cream and chopped hazelnuts.

THREE-PIECE SET — A three-piece set of John Charles Copperware is being offered by one of America's largest coffee roasters. The set includes a creamer, sugar bowl and tray, lined in solid pure food aluminum, permanently bonded to the solid copper sheet.

Nut-Filled Cookies Are Crispy, Tasty

Biting into a crunchy, nut-filled cookie is always a pleasure! These cookies, containing chopped peanuts and corn sirup, are especially crispy and good tasting. Use either dark or light corn sirup.

PEANUT - SIRUP COOKIES

1/2 cup lard
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup corn sirup
2 eggs
2 1/4 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup salted peanuts, chopped

Cream lard, sugar and sirup until light and fluffy. Beat in eggs. Add to mixture; stir in peanuts. Sift flour with dry ingredients and add to mixture; stir in peanuts. Chill mixture as hour. Shape into 1-inch balls and place on a greased cookie sheet. Flatten cookies lightly with a fork which has been dipped in cold water. Top each with a peanut half, if you wish. Bake at 375 degrees F. for 10 to 12 minutes. Makes five dozen cookies.

A banana tipped with green is ready to bake, broil or fry while the all-yellow banana can be used for eating or cooking.

An average-sized banana, when sliced or diced, will fill a cup, or, if mashed, it will make about half a cup of pulp.

Special Offer Told By Coffee Company

A handsome three-piece set of John Charles Copperware... send the last inch of unwinding bands from three pounds of this coffee (two-pound bands count as two) and $1.50 to the address given. For each individual piece send 50 cents with one unwinding band.

Use Leftover Bacon As Seasoning Agent

Double the amount of that breakfast bacon you pan fry, broil or bake, and use the crumbled leftovers in one or more of these:

1. Add to muffin batter just before pouring into baking cups; toss with crisp salad greens; dress with oil and vinegar.
2. Use as seasoning for fresh-cooked green vegetables—beans, peas, chopped spinach.
3. Use as a topping for casserole macaroni and cheese.
4. Stir into peanut butter or egg salad for sandwich filling.
5. Top servings of spaghetti and meat sauce with the crisp bacon.
6. Add to heated canned pork and beans just before serving.
7. Sprinkle over hot baked potatoes—right on top of the melting butter!

Pineapple Pudding Has Dessert Appeal

For a dessert that is sure to appeal to the adults as well as the children in your family you'll want to try this Pine-Scotch Pudding. Made with "on hand" ingredients, it's a good stand-by dessert and keeps well for several days in the refrigerator. The rich butterscotch flavor combines wonderfully with the flavor of Hawaiian pineapple.

PINE-SCOTCH PUDDING

1-2 cup granulated sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1-4 teaspoon salt
1-3 cup syrup drained from pineapple
1-3 cup butter or margarine
2 eggs, separated
1 tablespoon sugar
1-2 cups drained Dole "Crisp Cut" Crushed Pineapple (No. 2 can)
1-2 cup crushed graham crackers

Mix sugar, cornstarch and salt together in saucepan. Stir in pineapple syrup, add butter and cook, stirring until butter melts and mixture thickens (about 5 minutes). Stir in slightly beaten egg yolks and cook 1 minute more. Remove from heat. Beat egg whites stiff with 1 tablespoon sugar; fold in drained crushed pineapple. Sprinkle half of graham cracker crumbs in 8-inch square pan; make a layer of half of pudding mixture, then the pineapple mixture. Then add another layer of pudding and top with remaining crumbs. Chill. Spoon into dessert dishes. Serve with cream if desired. Makes 6-8 servings.

A BRAND NEW COOKY IDEA—They look and taste like bonbon candies popular in Grandmother's day. And they're full of surprise! Rich cookie dough is wrapped around a cherry, coconut mixture, or other center of your choice. Then baked cookies are dipped into tinted icings and topped with colored candies or nuts. Fancy, yet easy; Betty Crocker suggests you serve Bon Bon cookies at tea, with ice cream or sherbet, or with coffee for dessert.

Bon Bon Cookie Recipe
1/2 cup soft butter
1/4 cup sifted confectioner's sugar
1 sq. unsweetened chocolate (1 oz.) melted
1 tsp. vanilla
1 1/2 cups sifted Gold Medal Flour
1/2 tsp. salt
Mix butter, sugar, chocolate, vanilla. Stir in flour and salt. Mix well with hand. Wrap 1 tsp. dough around a candied or well-drained maraschino cherry, large gumdrop, or 1 tsp. chocolate-coconut mixture (add 1 sq. unsweetened chocolate, melted to 1/2 cup shredded coconut). Place close together on ungreased baking sheet. Bake 12 to 15 min at 350. Cool. Frost by dipping top of cookie into Chocolate Icing (mix 1 cup sifted confectioner's sugar, 1/4 cup cream, 1 tsp. vanilla, 1 sq. unsweetened chocolate, melted). Top with chopped nuts, coconut, candied fruit, chocolate pieces. Makes 20 to 25 cookies.

White Dough: Omit chocolate. To make White Icing, omit chocolate.
Cookie Centers: To 1/2 of any cookie dough add 1/4 cup raisins, chopped dates, candied fruit, chocolate chips or nuts. Mold the cookie dough around 1 tsp. of the filling.

Four-Square Plan For Morning Meal

Do you think you can lose weight by skipping breakfast? Researchers have proved this is definitely not so, and their studies show that people who eat an adequate breakfast are more alert mentally and work more efficiently than those who do not. Because a good breakfast is the cornerstone of good health and well-being, yet neglected in many homes, the food editors of Woman's Home Companion have worked out their 4-Square plan to help you make breakfasts better, easier, more exciting.

Dinner Loaf Gives Sure Family Treat

Here is a new and different chicken loaf for you to try. We think your family, from six to sixty, will really enjoy it. The thickening in the loaf is the easily used and satisfactory ingredient, quick-cooking rice cereal. The sauce is very simple. Your favorite white sauce with the addition of good broiled mushrooms and a bit of ginger. Add some buttered French green beans, a tossed salad and your favorite dessert.

The fundamental elements of the 4-Square breakfast are:
FRUIT: to give a large share of the day's vitamin C. Oranges, grapefruit, pineapple, strawberries and melons are high in this vitamin. If you choose some other fruit for breakfast, then be sure to include one of the above in another meal during the day.
BREADSTUFF: to round out your energy needs, add important iron and vitamins. Any form of bread or rolls made of whole-grain or enriched flour and spread with plenty of butter or fortified margarine will fill the bill.
MAIN DISH: for protein and energy to last all morning. Cereal served with plenty of milk is good and economical. Eggs, meat, poultry, cheese, or even that children's delight, peanut butter, are excellent too.
BEVERAGE: milk to supply calcium, coffee or tea as you choose. Unless milk is included in the menu — on cereal, in soup or a creamed dish or even as cheese — be sure to have some to drink. Have it either plain or flavored with chocolate or coffee for variety.

BAKED CHICKEN LOAF
2 cups chopped cooked chicken or turkey
1/2 cup diced celery
1/2 cup diced onion
1 egg, beaten
1 cup chicken broth, or bouillon
1/2 cup Cream of Rice, quick-cooking rice cereal
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon minced parsley
Put chicken, or turkey, meat, through food chopper with celery and onion. Add beaten egg, the broth or bouillon, Cream of Rice, salt, pepper and parsley. Mix well and pack lightly into greased loaf pan, about 8 x 4 inches. Bake until firm, about 1 hour, in moderately hot oven, 375 degrees F. When done, turn out on heat serving platter. Cut in slices and serve with hot sauce made by combining 1 cup medium white sauce, the contents of a 2-ounce can sliced broiled mushrooms and 1 teaspoon ginger, then heating together. Yield: 8 servings.

The magazine's Complete Guide to Better Breakfasts is full of varied menus to stimulate interest and morning appetites. Even the members of the family who insist they haven't time to eat in the morning can get their full complement of nutrients if you fix these tasty main-dish drinks. (With the additions suggested, they make 4-square menus.)
Banana milk: Mash 1/2 banana, add 1 egg, 1 cup milk and 1 tablespoon sugar. Beat until well blended; pour into a tall glass; sprinkle with cinnamon. Choose from the fruit and bread groups to complete the menu.

Mocha punch: Combine 1 egg, 1 tablespoon instant cocoa, 1 tablespoon instant coffee, 1 tablespoon sugar and 1 cup milk; beat until well blended. Pour into tall glass. Add something from fruit and bread groups.
Orange-nog: Add 1 egg to 1 cup orange juice and beat until well blended. Pour into a tall glass. A glass of milk and bread make this 4-square.
Eggnog: Combine 1 egg, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 cup milk and 1/2 teaspoon vanilla; beat until well blended. Pour into a tall glass; sprinkle with nutmeg. Add fruit and bread to make it 4-square.

Stanley Marcus
One of the first merchants to recognize the effect of easier, faster transportation on commerce, he contracted to bring the world to his customers, rather than waiting for his customers to shop the world markets.
This could well have been the reasoning behind the annual Neiman-Marcus Exposition which climaxes International Week in the store. Held traditionally on Labor Day, the Exposition is, for thousands of N-M fashion converts, the transition between summer and fall. It is, in the true meaning of the word, a setting forth in detail of styles for the coming season. Now in its 18th year, the event acclaims leading designers of the year from both continents.
Stanley Marcus is international also in his attitude toward food.

He has a taste for authenticity whether he is entertaining at home or hosting in the elegant Zodiac Room on the sixth floor of the Dallas store.
His contribution to the Texas Beef Council's collection of recipes from famous Texans, now being compiled into a cookbook, is ARROZ CON CARNE. It yields eight servings, and illustrates the rare versatility of ground beef, Spanish-style.
2 tablespoons chopped onion
2 tablespoons chopped celery
2 tablespoons minced parsley
1 clove garlic, minced
2 tablespoons olive oil or butter
2 pounds top round steak, coarsely ground
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons flour
2 cups beef stock
1/2 cup white raisins
1 cup sliced pimiento olives
Sauté onion, celery, parsley and garlic in olive oil until golden color. Add beef; brown. Add salt, pepper and flour; blend well. Add beef stock and raisins. Cover; simmer one hour.
Just before serving add olives. Serve with large mound of fluffy white rice and a tossed green salad.

CONTINENTAL MARK II

The new Continental Mark II, to be introduced by Ford Motor Company this month, is a prestige automobile manufactured in low volume with special attention to quality, styling and detail. It retains in modern form many styling characteristics of the former Lincoln Continental. The fashionable Continental spare tire is mounted beneath a unique moulding stamped in rear deck lid. The "modern formal" design emphasizes the functional use of chrome, steel and glass areas. The hood is almost six feet long, and the car is more than 18 feet long. Four inches less than five feet high, it is believed to be the lowest production car with both a front and rear seat. A new frame design and the 7 1/2 inch width of the car insure ample room for all occupants. The new Continental is on display at J. C. Daniels Motor Company, 219 W. Tyng

White Says Farm Plight Top '56 Issue

LUFKIN, Tex. — UP — Agriculture Commissioner John White today said that the present administration must identify the pressure of constant pressure from God. Every person lives, also every day under an air pressure of approximately 15 pounds to the square inch at sea level. Nature has provided for this by installing compensating pressure inside our bodies so that we go about our work unconscious of the situation. Only when we climb a mountain or go up in a plane are we reminded. As the air pressure is relieved on the higher levels we suffer severe discomfort because the inner pressure continues while the outer pressure decreases. Similarly, all of us are under a constant pressure of the spirit of which we are unconscious. At least most of us are unconscious that the pressure is of spiritual origin. Daily the procession of the poor tramps past our door and we are prompted to do something to relieve their suffering, or it may be we are made aware of the plight of the helpless who have no defender and we are compelled to their assistance.

White pointed out "many influential Republican congressmen are becoming increasingly impatient for more positive action to administration and forecast a coming revolt among Republican congressmen. Minor changes in details will not satisfy them." The agriculture commissioner said that since 1951 net farm income has declined 30 per cent and farm prices have gone down 25 per cent.

"Last year the per capita farm income was $918—exactly one half of the non-farm income of $1,836 per capita. In other words, the farmer should be able to live on half what he takes other people to live," he said.

MAKING A GO OF LIFE

By ROY L. SMITH
Read I Samuel 3:1-10

We must identify the pressure of constant pressure from God. Every person lives, also every day under an air pressure of approximately 15 pounds to the square inch at sea level. Nature has provided for this by installing compensating pressure inside our bodies so that we go about our work unconscious of the situation. Only when we climb a mountain or go up in a plane are we reminded. As the air pressure is relieved on the higher levels we suffer severe discomfort because the inner pressure continues while the outer pressure decreases. Similarly, all of us are under a constant pressure of the spirit of which we are unconscious. At least most of us are unconscious that the pressure is of spiritual origin. Daily the procession of the poor tramps past our door and we are prompted to do something to relieve their suffering, or it may be we are made aware of the plight of the helpless who have no defender and we are compelled to their assistance.

Just causes call for supporters and we feel an inner urge to offer our efforts for whatever contribution they will make. All such impulses are in no wise physical, nor can they be called strictly intellectual, even though logic and reason enter into our final decision. But basically all such impulses originate in our spiritual nature, and our responses are a product of the pressure of God upon us as spiritual beings. Their divine origins must never be overlooked.

Dear Father, I must be worth something if thou art willing to take so many pains in my behalf. Thou hast created me and endowed me with amazing powers. I have been allowed to live in a large place. Let me be sure of thy guidance in this world and I will live for thee, Amen.

Have any of your instincts ever led you astray? Do you know of any creature who has ever been deceived by his instincts? Is it not reasonable to believe that man's instincts to reach out for God are a part of the program for him planned by God?

PEIPING-BOUND—Sir Alexander Grantham, governor of Hong Kong, heads for Communist China, highest British official to do so since the Reds took over in 1949. Trip is supposed to be strictly unofficial but speculation is that Grantham may talk to Communist officials about easing the UN trade embargo against Red China.

3 Youths Rape Housewife

HOUSTON — UP — A 41-year-old housewife told police Wednesday she was kidnaped and raped by three youths Tuesday night after they pushed her stalled car to get it started for her.

The victim, wife of a filling station manager and mother of three sons, said the attack occurred after she attended a movie with two of her sons, 15 and 16.

"When we started home," she said, "the car wouldn't start and three young men, about 16, gave us a push, then followed us home."

She said when the two boys went into the house, the other youths pulled knives and a pistol and forced her into their car. She said each one attacked her, then let her out.

Police found the youth's car abandoned near the woman's home. It was a stolen car.

Crooked Books

There's an editorial writer for Farm and Ranch magazine called Tom Anderson who writes under a by-line called "Straight Talk." In this day of slanted journalism, Anderson, who hails from the Tennessee Valley, has delivered himself of a fine, honest piece in the August issue of his magazine.

It takes courage for a man in the midst of TVA-dominated territory to square off against the giant socialist bureaucracy there, but that's exactly what Anderson has done. And he brings out some information which is worthy of deep study by those of us who live in other valleys the socialist have sworn to rule.

TVA is making extravagant claims about the amount of money it saves electricity users in the valley. For the year just ending June 30, TVA says it has saved $70,000,000 for the people of the valley. What is actually meant by this figure is that $70,000,000 was put up by the good people of Texas, and New York, and Idaho and California so that the residents of Tennessee can get electricity with a part of the bill paid in advance. Anderson puts it: "The Tennessee river flows through three states and drains the other 47."

A 500-kilowatt hour monthly power bill in a Nashville home is $6.90. In Asheville, North Carolina, over the border from TVA, the same amount of current would cost $9.00. A Nashville merchant would pay $78 for 6,000 kilowatt hours. One in Atlanta would pay $163 for the same number of hours.

Of course these figures, taken out of context, establish the principal argument in favor of TVA. By using those figures Tennessee politicians expound the theory that government can provide cheaper power than private power companies. But why just power? Why not automobiles? And groceries? And trips to Europe? Why not, in fact, ask the government to take over everything, guarantee everyone an annual wage and every business man an annual profit?

The reason the government can't do it for anything, INCLUDING POWER, is because the government keeps a crooked set of books and doesn't tell the truth about the real cost of operating TVA. If TVA figured its costs the same way the government forces private power companies to figure their books, and if TVA paid only 3 per cent interest on the money it borrowed to get started, it would have already lost $169,000,000.

Private power companies pay $750,000,000 in federal and local taxes. TVA pays no federal taxes and only about $3,400,000 in local taxes. If TVA paid taxes the same way Southern Bell Telephone pays them in the same territory it would be putting out more than $76,000,000. Instead of a profit it would be operating in the red.

This means it actually IS operating in the red, and by juggling figures, avoiding interest payments and skipping out on taxes, it can be made to look as though TVA customers are getting something cheaper than it really costs.

The fallacy of permitting government to operate any kind of business should be apparent. The solution in Tennessee is to turn the TVA over to private operation as quickly as possible. The solution in Texas and elsewhere is to be warned in time and not permit our government schemers to extend their foothold in the power business in these United States.

THE NATION'S PRESS

ADLAI IN TEXAS

Adlai Stevenson was in his best form the other evening at the University of Texas. That is to say, he charmed the ill informed among his listeners into the belief that he is far sighted as well as modest and candid. Mr. Stevenson would like the voters to believe that in these respects as well as in the goodness of his heart he stands apart from all leading Republicans and above all his rivals for the Democratic nomination.

He was talking about economic policy. He was troubled about the current situation. He invited his listeners to regard him as one of the far sighted few who believe that enduring prosperity is preferable to a transitory boom.

Now in truth, Mr. Stevenson isn't alone or even in a minority when he professes to fear the bust that usually follows a boom. That kind of talk is commonplace among politicians, until they have to do something about checking an expanding economy. Then the honest and the conscientious among them favor the necessary deflationary steps despite the certainty that fewer jobs and falling prices will cost some votes. At the same time, the cheap politician immediately forgets everything he ever said about the need to check a boom and denounces himself wholly to denouncing the heartlessness of the monsters who brought this wholly unnecessary affliction upon the land.

Mr. Stevenson's administration, upon taking office, did take steps to halt the inflationary boom. He recommended the Korean war. He recommended the Korean war. He recommended the Korean war. He recommended the Korean war. He recommended the Korean war.

Stevenson protested against the irresponsible behavior of his party. If his advice had been taken, the boom which disturbs Mr. Stevenson today would be altogether out of hand.

Mr. Stevenson's professed concern about the boom did not lead him the other evening to commend the Eisenhower administration for the measures it has taken in recent months to restrain the economy, such as the raising of the red-count rate, the increased margin requirements, and the higher down payments on homes. Perhaps Mr. Stevenson, thinks that more stringent measures are required, but he neglected to mention them. Would he have balanced the budget as most Republicans and some Democrats like Sen. Byrd have recommended? If so, it is odd that he did not exert his influence toward budget balancing when Congress was in session.

FAISHEROOD "LEGITIMATE PROPAGANDA"

(Christian Economics) By unanimous decision the National Labor Relations Board has ruled that it is permissible for unions or employers to lie to workers when trying to convince them to vote for or against a union. As reported in The New York Times, the Labor Board's decision reads: "Exaggerations, inaccuracies, partial truths, name-calling and falsehoods, while not condoned, may be excused as legitimate propaganda before a union representation election."

It will be noted that the Board says such things are "not condoned" but "may be excused as legitimate propaganda." Such is the callous attitude of officials under the pressure of strong groups—another proof of the necessity for strictly limiting the power of government. "Falsehood then becomes 'legitimate propaganda' before a union representation election."

Danger Of Organizing An Idea

In many cities Community Chests have been taken over by what is known as "United Funds."

When one goes into the way Community Chest and United Funds operate, one begins to see the truth of the statement that "an idea can not be organized." This statement was made by Henry Jackson in his introduction to The Thomas Jefferson Bible.

The result of attempt to organize an idea is to kill it and the truth of that statement seems to be borne out by the Community Chest's attempt to organize charity. The Community Chest organization is really killing charity. Now let's analyze the method used by Community Chests and see why it is bound to kill charity.

The plan the Community Chest operates under is to get different non-profit agencies into the organization and require them to agree that any contributions they receive over and above what is allotted to them by the Chest bureaucracy will be shared with all other agencies. A committee appointed by the Community Chest determines how much of the total raised each year is given to each agency. The agency has to agree to this and promise to report to the Chest any additional gifts it receives.

Even if a contributor to the Chest does not want to contribute to one agency but wants to help another agency, he is in reality prevented from doing this. The Chest evasively tells the donor that he can specify what agency his gift is to go to. What the Chest does not tell the donor is that his specifying an agency does not increase what the agency receives. This is done by diverting other gifts from the agency specified to the agencies the donor does not want to assist. Thus, when a donor makes a gift, he helps the agency that he believes is not rendering a service to mankind. Thus the Chest takes away from the giver his right to help the agency grow that he believes should grow.

The growth of each agency is determined not by the donors of charity but by the agency's ability to persuade the Chest committee dividing the funds to increase its share. The real donors have nothing to say as to what agency should grow. In other words, the Community Chest monopolizes charity, and monopolizes always interferes with development of character and the sentiments that go with charity. This monopoly, of course, tends to deaden the initiative of the heads of the various agencies attempting to render service to the community and also tends to kill the pleasure that comes from giving when the giver hears that his gift does not increase the service he wants increased.

Purpose Back of Chest When one analyzes the motives back of the promoters of the Community Chest, one is inclined to draw the conclusion that the real purpose of the Chest is to protect the cowardly business man so he is not obliged to give as much to charity as he would if he was not protected by the Community Chest. This protection is not needed by any business man who believes in liberty. The business man who doesn't have convictions strong enough so that he can say "no" to a request that he does not believe in should go broke. He should not be protected from giving by the Community Chest.

Thus organizing the idea of charity reduces charity just as organizing monopoly education has greatly reduced education. And as Henry Jackson pointed out in his introduction to The Thomas Jefferson Bible, that organized Christianity has retarded the understanding of what he calls the "undiscovered book." He observes: "The religion of Jesus is an idea, a sentiment, a creative principle, an attitude to life. It is no more possible to organize it without defeating its purpose, than it is to organize the sunshine without making it unwholesome."

The way to kill an idea is to organize it and attempt to make it a monopoly. "I am not a Communist," said a man before a Labor Board election. The late Wendell Wilkie once voiced a fact when he referred to "campaign oratory" as having no necessary relationship to the facts.

If respect for the Commandment "Thou shalt not bear false witness" lapses, there will be no hope of maintaining a free society of self-governing man. Intelligent decision in the courtroom or in the voting booth depends upon a knowledge of the facts, and if men do not speak the truth on the witness stand, in political campaigning, in the public prints, and in public addresses, the people will not know the facts and cannot act intelligently.

The moral law cannot be repealed or amended and those who violate or ignore it cannot escape the penalty for their actions. The Board says it does not condone falsehood but that it may be excused as legitimate propaganda. What a contradiction! What disservice to the American people for a public body to accept clear violation of the moral law!

The finger of God is pointing at the American people. If we do not repent and turn from our evil ways, one of these days it will start writing the fatal inscription, "Thou art weighed in the balances, and art found wanting." (Dan. 5:27)

Anti-Ike Labor Politicians Haven't Read Own Writing

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Anti-Eisenhower labor politicians have not been reading their own propaganda publications lately. Otherwise, there would not be the comic contradictions between the bosses' political oratory and their editors' factual reports on economic conditions and the workers' great advancement in the last few years.

In the current issue of the American Federationist, which is the monthly organ of the American Federation of Labor, there is an article entitled, "We Can't Stay Out of Politics."

It was written by James L. McDevitt, Director of Labor's League for Political Education. The L.L.P.E. is the AFL's avowed vote-getting agency, which has backed only Democratic Presidential candidates in recent years.

Here is McDevitt's call to battle for the 1956 Presidential struggle, written before President Eisenhower became ill: "Unfortunately, the working people of our country now realize that their aspirations for a fuller and more dignified way of life can never be achieved as long as the present Administration is in power. "You can do your part in bringing men back to government who don't believe that helping the little fellow is socialism. Look in your wallet. If you find an L.L.P.E. card there, that means you have contributed your dollar for a better America in which to raise your children. If you haven't contributed, send that dollar to Labor's League for Political Education today."

In view of McDevitt's past performances, not a nickel of these contributions will be spent for election of a Republican candidate, save for a handful of friendly Congressmen who do his bidding. John L. Lewis is no lover of either major party. The Truman Administration fined him and his United Mine Workers several million dollars. The Eisenhower Administration has defaulted on Stassen promises to aid the coal industry by buying $150,000,000 worth for foreign shipment. Nevertheless, Lewis' publication, District Fifty News, reports record-setting gains that belie McDevitt's blast. They underwrite recent statements by George L. Meany, AFL president, that "Labor never had it so good." He made that remark in a public address before the National Press Club.

Here are a few sample headlines from the Lewis organ which McDevitt obviously has not seen:

MOPSY

"The mind of man in relation to the universe is like a key that fits in with a lock and which the key opens," observes the Rev. H. Richard Rasmussen in the New Outlook.

True — but there are certain conditions. The key must be nearly enough of the universe at a certain angle to fit the lock. When it is battered and bent by abuse and debasement, it won't fit.

Furthermore, even if it will go in the lock, it may take considerable patient experimentation to find the exact place at which it will turn the lock.

Moreover, once this place is found, the key must be turned—which may require a good deal of effort.

Man is unlocking the secrets of the universe at a faster rate today than ever before. But we are, as yet, barely within the forefront of the apparently boundless realms of knowledge still to be explored. Since God created the universe and controls its operation, the mind which most nearly accurately "thinks God's thoughts after Him" is certain to have the least trouble in opening the locks to the universe. This, to me, is a sobering thought—but, at the same time, a thrilling and challenging one.

Finally, the publication boasts that "Without even the threat of a strike, John L. Lewis won for the United Mine Workers 15 cents an hour more on September 2, plus another 10 cents next April. This is the record straight hourly wage gain of the year."

Both Meany and Walter Reuther, CIO president, have scored similar gains through negotiations and without costly strikes. Obviously, the labor politicians and the labor editors should get to know each other better.

East German Drive Scenes Mirror Soviet Brutality

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

BERLIN — The drive from Friedland in free West Germany to the American sector in Berlin takes about five hours, including delays at American, East German and Soviet check points. Friedland is hallowed ground where about two million prisoners from Soviet Russia have shuffled, blinking into the light of hope, love, compassion and civilization from Soviet horror camps as far away as Siberia.

As my car toiled through the Soviet zone of East Germany, 100 miles of a land graciously ceded to the enemy by Harry S. Truman, without remonstrance from General Eisenhower, fragments of Markham's man with the hoe rattled amid the jumbled lumber of memory. And the thought persisted, with the rhythm of the dull bumps of a crumbling autobahn, cutting this dead and abandoned land, where bent, hopeless, shapeless huddles of womanhood crawled on the cold earth, that these German women could have been free today had Truman done otherwise at Potsdam.

The Germans always despised the Russians as brutes, but already within these short ten years the Russians have stamped their impressions on the Germans of the Eastern province. They have had control of a generation of children who, caught then at the ages of eight to, say 15, have been weaned from the religion and customs of their parents, reduced to the same slavery that brutalized the Russians, have sunk into sudden subjugation.

On the West German autobahns, gangs are constantly at work doubling the width of Hitler's once-fantastic German make-work project. But perhaps one third of the 154 kilometers from the first check-point, east of Brunswick, to the turn-off, 20 miles south of Berlin, is now reduced to half its original width by delapidation. The grassy strip between the two lanes is mowed and tended in the West. The same strip in the East is rank with weeds, now gone to seed, often high enough to hide the mile-posts, and with scrub shoots of birch and pine.

In the West, great bunches of fat, black-and-white cattle are seen on every hand, but the entire Eastern journey disclosed not more than 100 head, and most of them with poor flanks, and three flocks of geese of perhaps 20 to a flock. There were a few more geese scattered in yards and fields. The biggest bunches of cows and geese were down on the wet shore of the West bank of the Elbe river, the point of demarcation chosen by John G. Winant, whom Roosevelt sent to London as his Ambassador. This weeping Mountebank had been told he looked like Lincoln and believed it. Appointed to a mysterious "control" commission of the bamboo furniture at that end of the living room. The man from Live Wire Dry Cleaners came to the door just when I was driving on all fours past the sixteenth pole, which was the TV set.

Early morning is no time to read about health and what one can do to improve it. Most men feel a little bad in the early morning and when I say "men" I mean men who are past the age of playing football, worrying about dates, and attending wrestling matches. Take my morning paper this morning for example. The first stories I saw in it were based on what doctors had to say about living longer. Here is the headline on one: "Try Walking on All Fours Expert Advises." Here is the headline on the second: "Love May Be Armor Against Virus Attack."

Every man wants to keep alive, so he is bound to read a story with a headline like that. And so great is his respect for the medical profession that he'll try whatever the doctor advises. As a result I got down on all fours just as Dr. Joshua William Davies of New York said one should do if one is seeking relief from head colds. I ran around like a bear in Yellowstone for five or ten minutes. I laid out a course and followed it closely; I started at the foot of the stairs, lumbered around the couch, went into the far turn near the fireplace, and came thumping down the stretch that ended with the bamboo furniture at that end of the living room. The man from Live Wire Dry Cleaners came to the door just when I was driving on all fours past the sixteenth pole, which was the TV set. Even if running on all fours had cured my cold, having the Live Wire man seeing me doing what I was doing set me back three months. He left convinced that he was dry-cleaning slacks for an idiot and I don't blame him. It must have been a shock to knock on a door and see the breadwinner making like an animal.

The UCLA doctors are the ones who think a man may catch a cold because his wife doesn't love him. They figure, or so the newspaper story says, that a sneeze could very easily be the result of too few kisses. They imply that a man who gets a lot of hugging stands a much better chance of avoiding flu than a man whose wife is sparse with the embraces.

I tried that theory too. When Mary saw me traipsing around on all fours I sneezed a request that I be allowed to put my head in her lap and hear her call me darling. "Hug me a couple of times," I told her, "and we'll save not only my life but a batch of those cold pills." Mary was sympathetic. "I do declare," she said, "now I have seen it all. Go upstairs and take some aspirin and go to bed."

Mac Thinks Doctors Should Stay Out of Newspapers

By HENRY McLEMORE

I am all for keeping doctors out of newspapers. Doctors should be seen by appointment only and should not be delivered at the same time the milk is. Early morning is no time to read about health and what one can do to improve it. Most men feel a little bad in the early morning and when I say "men" I mean men who are past the age of playing football, worrying about dates, and attending wrestling matches. ## Florida Court Upholds Race Integration

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. —UP—The Florida Supreme Court declared Wednesday that racial segregation is unconstitutional in Florida public schools.

It was the second state high tribunal in the South to take a stand on the side of the U.S. Supreme Court which ruled May 17, 1954, that Negroes may not be kept out of heretofore white schools for racial reasons.

The Texas Supreme Court ruled last week that state segregation laws were unconstitutional and that state money could be used to finance integrated schools.

The Florida court ruled specifically in a case involving a 48-year-old Negro, Virgil D. Hawkins, who wants to enter the University of Florida law school. But its decision enveloped other schools, as well.

The court indicated it will be a long time before Negroes and white actually attend school together in Florida.

The court ruled, in effect, that Florida cannot escape integrated schools, but that the question of public welfare must be taken into consideration before any Negro takes a seat in an all-white school.

The court refused to order the board of control to immediately process Hawkins' application.

Instead, the court appointed circuit Judge A. H. Murphree of Gainesville to take testimony as to the effect of Hawkins' enrollment on white students, other Negroes and himself, and the university and general public welfare.

Judge Murphree was ordered to hand over the transcript within four months after which the Supreme Court will determine the best time for Hawkins to enroll.

Workmen On Bishop Sheen's TV Show Work In Dress Suits

By WILLIAM EWALD
NEW YORK—UP—Some notes on Bishop Fulton J. Sheen after watching his telecast on the spot...

The cameramen and the audience work in their suits—perhaps the only crew in the business not attired in their shirtsleeves. They do it out of deference to the bishop.

The set he works on is pale blue and lit with a pale red cross in the center. The robe the bishop wears is not purple, but crimson.

The studio from which he makes his telecast seats 514 persons. His program draws the most demand for tickets of any at ABC-TV. All but 50 of the tickets are distributed by the Society for the Propagation of the Faith which receives all proceeds from the program. The remaining 50 tickets go to ABC and officials say their secretaries battle over them.

Bishop Sheen uses three blackboards to illustrate his lectures. All three can be flipped over. A crew member stands behind them and flips them over when the bishop has finished writing on the front. The signal for the turnover is a slight rap by Bishop Sheen. Then a five-second count during which the bishop walks toward center stage. The five count, explains one crew member, "is to keep the flipping backboards from smacking Bishop Sheen on the backside."

Usually, before Bishop Sheen writes anything on a blackboard, he scrawls the initials, "J.M.J." in the upper left hand corner—a common practice in parochial schools. They stand for "Jesus, Mary and Joseph."

Bishop Sheen has an ulcer and drinks a glass of milk before his telecast, but he shows no sign of tenderness.

The technicians on the show call him unique. He does not rehearse at all. Nor does he commit his address to paper.

The technicians say his sense of time is uncanny. He needs no one to tell him to speed up or slow down his delivery. He works with a clock in front of him and usually finishes right on the button.

Listeners Writing Scripts Keep Interest Up In Radio

By ALINE MOSBY
HOLLYWOOD — UP—One producer's idea of how to keep the public interested in radio: "Get 'do-it-yourself' listeners to write the scripts."

This trend is not because radio budgets aren't supercolossal any more, insists producer Fred Levings. He merely wants fans to have a hand in actor Pat O'Brien's dramatic anthology program, "Your Nutrilite Radio Theater" which is part of NBC's long "Monitor" show.

Though many fans have jilted radio for the visual glamour of TV, the office of O'Brien's show at NBC's baby blue studios is littered with scripts, indicating many a radio set stays on after all.

O'Brien each week asks listeners to send in 500-word story outlines. Staff writers whip out the scripts from the outlines. The winner gets $250 and the usual free trip to Hollywood to inspect the Brown Derby and the footprints at Grauman's Chinese Theater.

"We've had about four thousand scripts," beamed producer-director Levings.

"It's amazing what people will write—usually the story of their real life, true confession-type things."

"One woman wrote a story about a girl whose child was born out of wedlock—and then confessed the girl really was her."

So far the winners from around the country have included a Texas Air Force sergeant, a Negro housemaid from Arkansas, a housewife in Manhattan Beach, Calif., and a mother of Delaware, Ohio.

"Your Nutrilite Radio Theater" is the only full-hour dramatic show left on radio, others having switched to the sets and cameras of TV. The disconnected way this "do-it-yourself" drama is produced is an indication of how TV has changed the once king radio.

Not only does the audience write the scripts for the program, but the show is pieced together on tape recording in sections. The stars of the show, such as Joan Bennett or Frank Lovejoy, read their lines. But host-narrator O'Brien often doesn't even meet his "guest." His introduction is dubbed in later.

Then the music is added—by an orchestra that didn't even see the cast. The commercials also are recorded separately.

"But a sponsor still gets more for his dollar on radio than on TV," producer Levings concluded loyally.

IT'S THE LAW 'Beautiful Romance' Ends In Murder And Suicide Deaths IN TEXAS

Most golfers are only too familiar with sand and water hazards. However, the game involves some legal hazards as well. These won't add strokes to your score, but can be far more costly. The courts have held that a golfer has a legal obligation to exercise ordinary care to prevent injury to others. Before hitting, it is a player's duty to give a "timely warning" to persons he knows are in line, or close to the line, of intended flight of the ball. Therefore, a healthy yell of "fore" is of far more importance than most golfers realize.

The courts have recognized that the average golfer cannot control the direction or destination of his ball. They have therefore held that a golfer assumes the risk that he might be hit by a ball which is sliced or hooked into the fairway on which he is playing. A golfer injured by such a hit could not recover for his injuries.

Courts have also held that if it is impossible to anticipate that a fellow golfer might be injured by a shot, there is no liability. A situation such as this might arise when a ball is hit at right angles to the intended line of flight as would happen if the ball were hit off either the toe or shank of the club.

A person standing at right angles to the person hitting is in a position of relative safety, and it is not possible for the hitter to anticipate his ball will take such a line of flight.

Generally, to avoid the legal hazards of golf for injury to others, study the rules and customs of the United States Golfers Association. Above all be courteous on the course. Give the players in front of you a fighting chance to get out of range of the ball. Wait until other players are completely out of line or have left the green which is your objective, before you hit. If there is anyone in line of your shot always yell "fore" before you hit.

Insurance is available from many companies at a relatively low cost to protect you from liability and provide anyone you might injure with the necessary funds to secure proper medical treatment.

Legal hazards are costly ones, and common sense and a study of the USGA rules customs will help you avoid them.

MIAMI — UP — A soldier's suicide note Wednesday told the story of his love for a major's wife that began with their headlined flight across Germany and ended in blazing gunfire, suicide and murder at a busy Miami intersection.

"This ends what was once a beautiful romance," he wrote. "She is a spoiled brat with no consideration for anyone but herself. I lost everything I ever had over her, and I love her. "I wrote to her once or twice and called her, but she was having a ball. Her new boy friend really showed her a time — water skiing, dancing and the rest. I could never do it for her. I worked so hard, seven days a week. "I'm not sorry for what I'm going to do. There's just no other way out."

Police said Sylvia's attentions to a marine sergeant apparently touched off the shooting.

Census Problem Primitive and superstitious peoples have an ancient fear that the counting of persons or goods may lead to disaster, presenting a problem to census takers.

HONORED — Sir Winston Churchill will be the first recipient of the newly established Williamsburg Award for "outstanding achievement in advancing basic principles of liberty and justice." The award, to be given in London probably in December, consists of an honorarium of $10,000 and a symbolic town crier's bell. It was established by trustees of Colonial Williamsburg in Virginia.

Authorities said the beginning of the end occurred two months ago. The couple quarreled violently and separated. Fills in Details Tuesday Bryson bought a .32 caliber automatic and some ammunition and wrote his suicide note. Then he waited near the place where Sylvia had recently obtained a job as a waitress. Bryson's note filled in details of their love: "This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts because the facts may change the application of the law."

Pampa News Women's Editor

BEING AN AVID MOVIE ATTENDER, I had a lot of fun the other day with a poll on the top 12 movie actors, actresses and the top six Western stars that Ronald Waters received. He picked the women and I picked the men, and we collaborated on the Western stars. And boy, is that a chore! Out of a long list, you have to just pick twelve. If they'd given me 25 chances I might have gotten in all those I thought should have been named.

JUST FOR FUN, we thought we'd let you know our choices. I'm sure many of you will disagree with us. I didn't thoroughly agree with Ronald's choices, and he didn't with mine, and I'm sure there will be many differences of opinion about the matter as there are readers of this column.

After it was sealed and I mailed, I thought I should have listed Frederic March, James Mason and Charlton Heston, but it was too late. Burt Lancaster is no slouch, and of course, Ronald Coleman is tops, but he wasn't on the list.

Well, here we go. Here is Ronald's list of the top 12 actresses, in order of choice: Jean Simmons, Olivia de Havilland, Shirley Booth, Audrey Hepburn, Anne Baxter, Greer Garson, Jane Wyman, Julie Harris, June Allyson and Deborah Kerr.

And here is my list of the top 12 actors, (in my humble opinion), in order: William Holden, Glenn Ford, Marlon Brando, James Cagney, Kirk Douglas, Spencer Tracy, Laurence Olivier, James Whitmore, Gregory Peck, Broderick Crawford, Edmund Purdom, and Anthony Quinn.

Our collaboration on the top six Western stars, of which our knowledge is a little sketchy, resulted in this: Randolph Scott, Rod Cameron, Sammie Burnette, George Montgomery, Roy Rogers and Gene Autry.

That is how our ballot went in. However, just for fun, we both made lists on the other's choices, just to compare opinions. Here is Ronald's list of the top 12 actors:

WHEN A KNOCK sounds on your door October 31st, be ready to hand out these fat, spicy Halloween cookies. They'll make a big hit with all "trick or treaters" from the littlest goblin to the tallest witch. Make plenty for the family, too. Serve them at the youngsters' Halloween party, for TV snacks, after the football game. Everyone goes for good oatmeal cookies. And these are really scrumptious with their golden, pumpkin-pie type filling. Jean Luther, Home Economist for National Oats Co., recommends them. Each batch makes two dozen generous cookies.

HALLOWEEN COOKIES
Filling:
1 cup canned pumpkin
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 tsp. cinnamon
1/2 tsp. ginger
1/2 tsp. nutmeg
Cookies:
2 cups sifted flour
1 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. soda
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/4 cup soft shortening
1 egg
1/2 cup molasses
1 cup 2-Minute Oats (uncooked)
Mix pumpkin, sugar, cinnamon, ginger and nutmeg for filling; set aside. Sift flour, salt and soda into bowl. Add sugar, shortening, egg and molasses; stir until smooth. Blend in 2-Minute Oats. Roll out on lightly floured board to 1/4-inch thickness. Cut 48 circles using a 2 1/2-inch cutter. Place half the circles on ungreased cookie sheets and place a teaspoon of filling on each, spreading filling lightly in center of cookie. Cut jack-o'-lantern faces in other half of circles and lay these over pumpkin filling, sealing edges. From scraps, cut pumpkin stems and seal to tops of cookies. Bake at 375 degrees F. for 12 to 15 minutes.

Women's Rights Told By J. E. Thompson Basic Sewing Class During Meet Of Pampa AAUW Branch Set For Skellytown

J. E. Thompson, a Pampa attorney, spoke on women's rights at the recent meeting of the Pampa branch of the American Association of University Women in the City Club Room.

"Women have come a long way in political rights and as individual persons from feudal times to today," Thompson pointed out.

He stated that the most recent political right for women in Texas is the recent constitutional amendment allowing them to serve on grand and petit juries. Texas was one of the first states to have a woman governor, "Ma" Ferguson, he told the group.

"It is my personal opinion that women make very fine jurors," Thompson stated.

He went on to tell of marriage laws and of the means for "dissolution of marriage" which are death, annulment and divorce. The latest change in divorce laws is that a divorce petition must be on file for 60 days, instead of 30 days as formerly required, before action can be taken. There is no alimony in Texas, he told the women.

Another new law, is that a divorced husband must support his children until they are 18, instead of 16, years of age.

Steps are now underway for a reciprocal state support law, which would require a divorced husband to support his children if he leaves the state in which the divorce was granted.

"A single woman in Texas has all the rights of a man," Thompson stated when talking about property rights.

Property laws for married women have come down from Anglo-Saxon common law and merged with Roman civil law passed down through Spain, Thompson told the women, adding that it reflects the historical background of Texas.

For a married woman, there are two types of property, he explained. One is separate property to which the husband has no rights and includes any property the woman owned before her marriage, any received as a gift or inheritance, the second is community property, or that acquired after or during marriage, which is owned half-and-half by the husband and wife.

Following his speech, a question-and-answer period was held. Thompson was introduced by Mrs. John Plaster, Mrs. Plaster, legislative chairman, and Mrs. Walter Bowen, status of women chairman, arranged the program.

S. Security Man Replies To Queries

Many farm wives have been making inquiries as to their need for a Social Security Card said John R. Sanderson, district manager of the Amarillo Social Security Office.

Sanderson went on to add that a wife does not need a card unless she operates a farm separate to that of her husband. The income from a farm is reported as the earnings of the spouse that performs the majority of the work on the farm. It cannot be reported as the earnings of both the husband and wife.

These net earnings are reported at the end of the year on the income tax return. It is possible that no income tax will be due because of the number of exemptions allowed but a tax return should be filed and the Social Security, or the Self-Employment Tax paid.

Once this tax has been paid, the account of the spouse is credited with that amount of net earnings. When social security benefits are applied for, the amount of the benefits are based upon the average net earnings that have been reported to a particular account. A wife can be entitled to benefits based on the wage record of her husband. Therefore, there is no need of a wife obtaining a Social Security Number unless she operates a farm separate to that of her husband.

Gasoline consumption in Norway last year averaged 26 kilograms per capita, fifth highest in western Europe.

Man Predicts Rose Petal Jam To Become Popular

BY ELIZABETH TOOMEY
NEW YORK—UP—The alligator soup wasn't so successful, the man said honestly, but he predicted a big following for rose petal jam. It was shortly after breakfast, Leonard Morris, the man in charge of the small, immaculate food shop had just taken a telephone order for 10 pounds of caviar from a woman who said she was entertaining 60 people for cocktails. It was a setting to delight any woman bored with routine three-meal-a-day type meal planning. The shelves were crowded with delicacy foods, which our traditionally steak-and-potatoes nation of eaters has learned to accept in surprising numbers since World War II. Midwest Conservatism Yet "Midwesterners are still the most conservative," said Morris, whose Fraser-Morris Food Co. ships rare foods to people all over the U.S. "Texans will try anything. And men generally, are more adventurous than women, though the women are coming along nicely." He fitted a tall can from a shelf of foods imported from Egypt and asked, "Would you care to sample the rose petal jam?" The dark red jam smelled like roses. It tasted like roses, and ac-

According to the label, contained only roses, sugar and citric acid. Next to the jam display were several cans labeled "Vine leaves in brine." "Those are grape vine leaves from Egypt," Morris said. "You wrap them around a stuffing of rice and onions." Around the corner and past the rows of olives came the alligator soup. People buy it, Morris said, but he felt it wasn't winning many regular followers like some of the other soups. "It is not as popular as the kangaroo tail soup," he said, handing over a tall jar of amber-colored liquid. "This tastes like the best consommé you ever ate. Would you care to sample..." He nodded understandingly and said he felt unusual foods should not be tasted before 4 p.m. The label on the kangaroo tail soup jar said it contained pigs tails. Not Quite Same Morris apologized when it was pointed out to him. "This is our mock kangaroo tail soup," he said on a closer look. "We have the real thing too." Just to see whether well-traveled men truly are aware of some of the world's food wonders, we test-

Two Vie For Security Spot

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.—UP—The Philippines and Yugoslavia remained deadlocked Wednesday as the United Nations General Assembly resumed voting for the remaining vacancy on the Security Council. The assembly went through six ballots last Friday with neither the U. S.-backed Philippines nor the Russian-supported candidate able to win the two-thirds majority required for election. Russia originally supported Poland but switched to Yugoslavia, with British support, after the fourth ballot. Wednesday's results showed: Seventh ballot: Philippines 31, Yugoslavia 27. Eighth ballot: Philippines 30, Yugoslavia 23. Further balloting was ordered by Assembly President Jose Maza of Chile. ed the man at the adjoining desk when he arrived back at the office, smelling strongly of roses. "Did you ever have shark's fin soup?" we asked this man who has spent years reporting from such diverse places as the South Pole, the Far East and sunny, food-loving Italy. "Sure," the roving reporter said. "Had some last summer. Didn't wear very well though." "What didn't wear very well?" we asked. "My sharkskin suit," he said.

New Shoe Aids Flat-Footed Boys Who Play Basketball

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS

WASHINGTON—UP—Flat-footed boys now can play basketball in comparative comfort, thanks to a new shoe that has a built-in arch. The shoe, developed by the Wilson Sporting Goods people, has a support made out of heavy duck, which has a lot more bounce to the ounce. Not only that it lifts a sagging arch. Almost as good is the sponge in the toe of the shoe, which wards off painful blisters which accumulate when a man steps too soon and too often in his tracks to take a set shot at the next. The insole has a sponge running fore and aft and there is a bumper in the heel, for players who have a yen to rock and roll backward if instinct or the occasion demands.

Dr. James Naismith, who invented the game of putting a round sphere through a peach basket back there in the winter of 1891-92 had foresight, but he didn't know that half of his charges were flat-footed.

They came down with scores under a hoof. The good doctor got his idea when he was an instructor at the YMCA training school in Springfield, Mass., which now is Springfield College. He wanted to keep the boys in shape in the long stretch between the football and the baseball season. He would have done right good, if it hadn't been for foot troubles. Many of the kids hit the hardwood of the playing floor barefoot, Splinters and the stepping on the toes by other hob-nailed lads nigh wrecked the whole program. Dr. Naismith wouldn't recognize the game today. The new basketball suits are of the gayest in color. Players no longer show up in public in their civvies. The pants don't lace or button up the front. They pull on like a box-fighter's trunks. Incidentally, it costs a pile of long green to equip a basketball team these days. If you buy things by the dozen, you're lucky if you get away with less than $10 for the pants, $15 for the jersey, and a heap more for the sweat suit, without which no self-respecting basketball player would appear in public for his warm-up.

Other sports, though, can be more expensive. Football, for one, Golf, according to the head of Wilson operations in this area, is really up there, too.

A beginner can get a set of clubs for as little as $40, but he won't wind up with many birdies or eagles or double eagles. The clubs aren't that well balanced. The guy who plays regularly and wants to bust 85 generally starts out with five irons, two woods and a fuzzy jutter, and if he gets away from the shop for anything under $375 he's got himself a bargain. Golf balls go from 75 cents up. But if you want to get into sports where equipment isn't much problem take up the running and jumping game—track. You can get pants for 90 cents a pair and a shirt for $7. The Wilson people don't recommend a four minute mile in these togs, but if you work hard at the sport you'll be tired enough to sleep good at night. Track, it should be warned, is for the younger set.

Farmers use more steel annually than the automobile industry.

Chief Links Dallas Crime To Narcotics

By SANDER VAN DER OYE

DALLAS—UP—Police Chief Carl Hanson said Wednesday he believes about 50 per cent of the crimes in Dallas could be traced to narcotics.

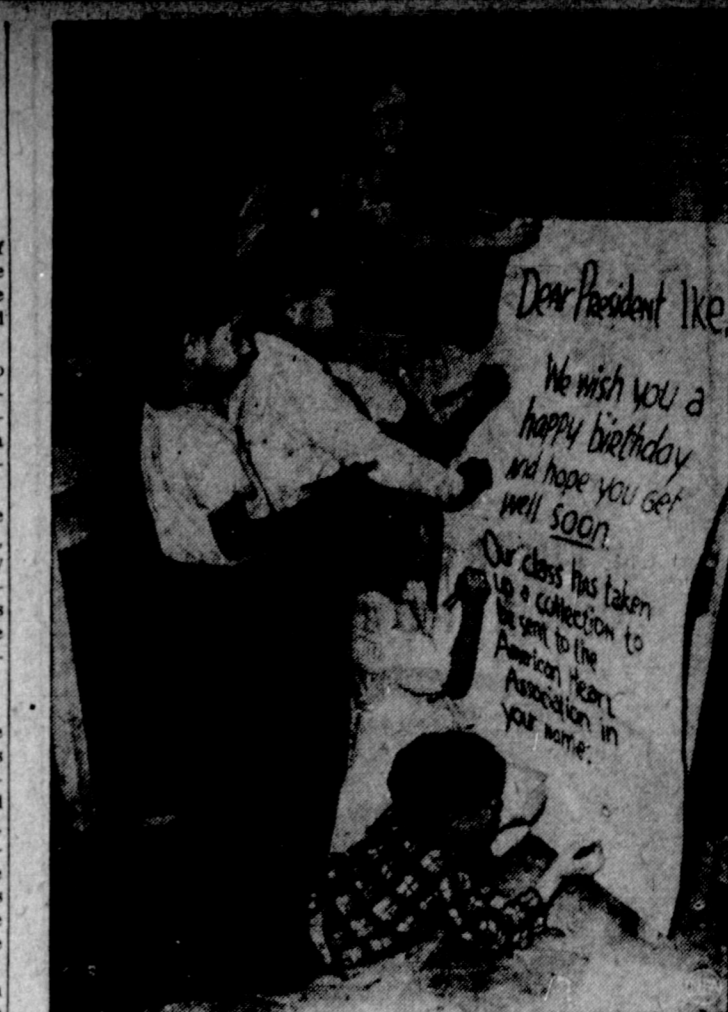

Hanson was the first witness to appear before a Senate subcommittee investigating narcotics traffic in Texas, and which opened a two-day hearing in Dallas Wednesday.

Hanson told Texas Sen. Price Daniel, who heads the committee, that there were twice as many narcotics violations in Dallas during the first nine months of this year as there were for the same period last year. He gave no figures, however.

No Increase in Dallas Daniel said that Dallas was the only place except New York, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Washington where his committee had found an increase in narcotics use. Hanson said in reply to a question by Daniel that he thought the death penalty for narcotics peddlers would be helpful, but that he doesn't think it would stop the traffic. He said also that sentences in narcotics cases tended to be lighter in federal courts, but that there was greater speed in disposing of them than in state courts. The average state court sentence for narcotics violation, Hanson said, was about five years. In federal courts, he said, the average sentence is from 18 to 24 months for a first offense and about five years for a second offense.

Wants Federal Trials The Dallas police chief said he thought that heroin cases should be tried exclusively in federal courts, since the drug is made abroad and should be considered as contraband. He said heroin came into this country chiefly from Italy, the Far East and Mexico.

Another witness at the hearing—part of which was televised in the courtroom of Federal Judge William P. Atwell—was Police Lt. William P. Gannaway, who heads the narcotics squad in Dallas. Gannaway, who heads a seven-man squad said police could identify possibly 175 known addicts in Dallas but that there likely were considerably more than this. Some 25 per cent of these live in a 12-block square Negro section of town, he said. 25 Per Cent Are Negroes However, Gannaway told Daniel in response to a question that only about 25 per cent of the known addicts were Negroes. Daniel said his committee had found the Negro percentage of ad-

Heart Attack Fatal To John Hodiak

HOLLYWOOD—UP—Actor John Hodiak died of a heart attack Wednesday at his home in the San Fernando Valley. The stage and screen star, who died to be three times this in other parts of the country. Earlier, Hanson said that authorities had little trouble with juveniles in the use of narcotics. Heroin, he said, was too expensive for them. Occasionally, he added, authorities found marijuana smokers among juveniles. Two Negro addicts appeared before the committee, but were hesitant to provide much information. Both said they had been on narcotics but had since quit. Daniel indicated Tuesday that one result of the Texas hearings would be for his group to recommend laws prohibiting known narcotic addicts from crossing the Texas-Mexican border.

first won fame for his portrayal in a "Bell for Adono," was 41 and a native of Pittsburgh, Pa. Hodiak was the son of Ukrainian immigrants Walter and Ann Fagorzellie. The family moved to Detroit when he was eight and he began his acting career three years later in Russian and Ukrainian plays. The young actor, talented to the extent that he won a scholarship in dramatics at Northwestern University, turned down a professional baseball offer in preference to acting. His professional career actually began with radio parts and, in 1940 he originated the part of "L'il Abner" in a Chicago show. Two years later MGM signed him. He was married in 1946 to actress Anne Baxter. They later were divorced. # Baylor Bears, Texas A&M Fight For Lead Saturday

By ED FITTE
DALLAS—UP—Coach George Sauer, whose Baylor Bears collide with the upstart Texas Aggies for the Southwest Conference lead this week, thinks he's learned how to keep his team from running out of steam when the chips are down.

For the past several seasons, Sauer's Baylor teams have been "hot" in the early stages of the season only to fade badly in the stretch when the school's first championship in three decades dangled dilectably in front of them.

This year, Sauer said he was going to do an about-face on his training plans and bring Baylor along slowly and try to reach a peak late in the season, stressing defense above offense and giving a host of reserves a chance to perform under fire.

"I think the plan is working fine," Sauer said today as he pointed toward the team's first big showdown against the similarly slow-starting Aggies at College Station.

Could See Plan Blossom
"I could see the plan blossom its best last Saturday when the team beat previously undefeated Washington," he said.

The Maryland game brought results defensively in that the nation's No. 2 team had to take to the air to score a 20-6 victory and then the following week Baylor bowled over Arkansas 25-20.

Good After Slow Start
Last Saturday Washington grabbed a 7-0 lead early in the second quarter, but from then on the Bears were superb.

The offense clicked, too—bafflingly so with junior Bobby Jones coming through with masterful play selection and short pass completions (the lack of which cost him a star's role a year ago) to dazzle the team that had upset Southern California only a week earlier.

Boros Wins Top Money
CHICAGO—UP—Julius Boros was a cinch to win the most money among 1955 professional golfers, statistics released by the Professional Golfers Association revealed Monday.

Other things being somewhat equal, the game might well be decided on which of the speedy backs does the better job. They are almost equally matched in weight and height and perhaps only Jenkins' injuries have kept him from gaining the national stature.

Vic Wertz Is Back In Pink

NEW YORK — Eager Vic Wertz developed any muscle weakness. Wertz of the Cleveland Indians, they said if started to limp back "in the pink again" after his shoulder return to the hospital limbo with polo, said Thursday he immediately but I've been getting feels "strong enough to play 154 around faster than a 10-second runner next year—plus four more in the World Series."

Each morning, shortly after he wakes up, Wertz goes through a series of light calisthenics before going downtown to work. "I've sure had enough rest," Wertz said, the amused laughter in his voice coming through the telephone from Mt. Clemens. "First I do deep knee bends," Mich., where he now works as a beer distributor. "Then I walk on my toes and then on my heels. These aren't a sign of anything wrong, thank the Lord. You ought to see me. The color has come back to my face and my head is even tan."

The husky Wertz, who dropped almost 10 pounds during his polo injury and came back to Cleveland for a check-up Nov. 13, Wertz said. "They want me to find out if I'm any weight."

NO TRESPASSING

Smith Keeps Crown

By JACK CUDDY
CINCINNATI — UP — Wallace (Bud) Smith, elated at ending Jimmy Carter's fantastic "on again, off again" romance with the lightweight championship, said Thursday, "I guess everybody will realize I'm really the 'champ' now."

Although Smith was champion when he entered the ring at the Cincinnati Garden before 6,883 hometown fans for his first defense Wednesday night, Carter of New York was favored at 8-5 to win back the 135-pound crown.

But Bud's aggressive, left-hooking attack prevented 31-year-old Carter from winning the title for the fourth time, although Bud was nearly knocked out in the 13th round of the thrilling, bruising 15-round fight.

Smith wound up with a unanimous decision, after more than a half-hour of calculating and correcting the addition of one of the judges.

Plans Two Exhibition Bouts
Co-manager Carmen Graziano said 26-year-old Smith "will pick up a little velvet" in at least two over-the-weight fights before he makes his second defense, and Smith said, "maybe I'll make some big money now." He may meet former welterweight champion Tony DeMarco at Boston or champion Carmen Basilio at Syracuse, N.Y.

Carter said determinedly "I want another fight with Smith. I thought I won Wednesday night, but maybe I was handicapped by my closed right eye."

It was the third "rubber match" between the two Negroes—the best combination boxer-punchers in the 135-pound division. Carter had won a decision over Bud on May 28, 1950—before Jimmy first became champion.

Smith took the title from Carter on a split decision at Boston last June 29. And he made it definite with the unanimous verdict Wednesday night.

Both Weighed 135
Each scored 135 pounds, exactly the lightweight limit, for their thriller, which attracted a gate of $30,441 and was televised and broadcast nationally for a $30,000 fee. Bud and Jimmy were guaranteed $18,000 each. And promoter Sam Becker of Cincinnati said, "even I made a little money in Cincinnati's first lightweight title fight."

Smith went after the hard-hitting ex-champion with an aggressive left-hooking attack that prevented Carter from forcing the fight.

Bud's early attack won him four of the first five rounds, and an even break in the second, according to United Press scoring, which had the champion winning on a rounds basis 7-5-3.

In Cincinnati, the referee, Tony Wardorf, has no vote. The ultimate calculations of the three judges' sheets on a "10-point-must" basis provided the following votes in Smith's favor, Gene Nitzsche 145-135, Willie Purcell 143-139 and Joe Blink 143-139.

Redskins, Eagles Trade Players
WASHINGTON — The Washington Redskins, who have been juggling players with fair regularity of late, have sent fullback Bob Goode to the Philadelphia Eagles and picked up defensive halfback Roy Barni in exchange. The Eagles claimed Goode from the waiver list and the Redskins followed suit by claiming Barni.

John Reger Wins 'Hard Nose' Pin

PITTSBURGH — UP — Center John Reger, who saved $500 to tide over his family while he was trying out for the Pittsburgh Steelers, won the team's highest award of merit Thursday. He is a "Hard Nose."

The accolade is bestowed by Coach Walt Kiesling to players who do their best under fire. "He's one of the finds of the year," Kiesling in appraising the talents of the former University of Pittsburgh player. "He likes it rough. And the rougher the better. That rookie will make himself known to the rest of the National Football League before the season is over."

Reger already has introduced himself to three teams the Steelers have conquered to share the lead in the Eastern Division with the Cleveland Browns.

The Steelers' 14-7 victory over the Chicago Cardinals was saved by the 210-pound Reger who intercepted a pass by Lamar McHan intended for Ollie Matson. The game ended with the play.

Reger played an important part in the Steelers' 20-27 triumph over the New York Giants. His interception of a pass started the Steelers on a 31-yard scoring march which provided the margin of victory.

When halfback Dick Bielecki of the Philadelphia Eagles fumbled last Saturday night, Reger was there. He recovered the ball on the Eagle five and three plays later the Steelers had a score which stood up for a 13-7 victory.

Professional football players draw only expenses during training. Pay doesn't start until the season opens and they've definitely made the squad.

During those eight weeks in training Reger's family still had grove and rent bills. He turned over to his wife $500 he had saved from his jobs.

"I just made it," Reger said. "By the time the money was running out, I drew my first pay check with the Steelers."

As far as Kiesling's concerned, it won't be Reger's last paycheck for a long time.

Defensive Teams In Top 10 Slots

NEW YORK — UP — The defense, which has struggled for the last decade to cope with the tricky T-formation and its various offshoots, may have caught up at long last with the offense in college football.

That's the evidence of the NCAA's latest statistics which reveal that six of the nation's major teams with perfect records are among the top 10 teams in total defense.

Heading the list is unbeaten and untied Boston College, which has yielded an average of 135 yards in three games. That figure just shades Navy, also unbeaten and untied, which has yielded 135.5 yards in four games.

The other teams with perfect records among the top 10 in total defense are Maryland (No. 4), Holy Cross (No. 5), Duke (No. 6) and West Virginia (No. 10).

Maryland tops the list in rushing defense, with an average yield of 39.8 yards in five games while Boston College is second with 48.7

Negroes Are Becoming Ambassadors

By WILLIAM GALBRAITH WASHINGTON — UP — The State Department is quietly sending famous Negroes as good will ambassadors to countries where U.S. race relations have been under heavy Communist propaganda fire. The program, launched without fanfare about two years ago, has already had "amazing" results, officials said Thursday. In several cases, the department has found that a single visit from an outstanding American of Negro or Oriental descent has done more to win friends for the United States than formal diplomacy or handouts of economic aid have been able to do. The goodwill envoys include people like Jesse Owens and Harrison Dillard, the great Negro Olympic champion; Carl Rowan, Negro journalist chosen as one of America's 10 outstanding young men in 1953; and Dr. Sammy Lee, Korean-American who was a two-time Olympic diving champion. These and others have been sent abroad in the past two years under the State Department's educational exchange program as specialists in their fields. Most have traveled to countries where dark-skinned people live. They don't make propaganda speeches defending America's race relations. But because of the success they have enjoyed in America, they provide living refutation of Communist claims that minority groups in the United States are ruthlessly persecuted. The State Department emphasizes that no one has been sent abroad under the educational exchange program simply because of his color. The Negroes and Oriental-Americans who have gone to Asia and Africa, it says, were picked because they were highly qualified in their fields and were able to take American know-how to countries where it would be welcomed. As part of the program, the State Department also has sent top officials from Puerto Rico, and one American Indian—sculptor Solomon McCombs of Eufaula, Okla.—has also made a tour.

Foresees Shorter Week WASHINGTON — UP — Chief of Staff Walter P. Reuther told a congressional committee Monday that "automation" can give the American working man a four-day, 32-hour week in the next 10 years. Reuther testified before a stabilization subcommittee of the congressional committee on the President's economic report. The subcommittee, headed by Rep. Wright Patman (D-Tex.), is studying the new industrial techniques of automation.

Rare Texas Document BERKELEY, Calif. — UP — One of the six known copies of the Constitution for the abortive State of West Texas has been obtained by the University of California. It will be preserved in Bancroft Library on the campus here.

No Beauty? ROCKY POINT, Pa. — UP — The annual college beauty queen contest was called off because Rocky Point Amusement Park officials could not find any contestants.

Most Dangerous Living Nazi Forms New Party in Germany

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Foreign Analyst

The most dangerous Nazi still alive has just formed a new political party in West Germany.

The Nazi is Otto Strasser, first an ardent follower, then the most hated enemy of Adolf Hitler.

His party is "the people's movement for unity and freedom." Strasser hopes to pull together the many small right wing splinter groups now active in Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's federal republic.

He is looking forward to the 1957 parliamentary election.

A lot of things could happen in Germany before then. One of them might be the emergence of Strasser as a power in German politics, at the head of a strong nationalistic party.

Strasser a menace

That would be bad news. Strasser is a menace. He is an unrepentant Nazi, even though he broke with Hitler in 1930. He is an excellent organizer. He has as material the always strong, if now relatively inactive, spirit of German nationalism.

Strasser announced the formation of his new party at a time when it is plain West Germany is going to have some serious problems. They are problems which will cause the Western Allies anxiety.

One is the health of 79-year-old Adenauer, now starting a long convalescence after an attack of pneumonia. As long as Adenauer is alive and functioning, West Germany is in safe hands. If anything happened to him, West Germany might be plunged into political chaos.

Times of chaos bring men like Strasser and Hitler to the fore. Strasser is 58, heavily built, with a big egg-shaped head the forehead of which is becoming steadily higher as he gets bald, and a deceptively mild appearance.

Strasser started out as a socialist. He met Hitler in 1920 through his elder brother Gregor, and became a Nazi leader. He broke with Hitler in 1930.

Disagreed Over Socialism

The break came not because Strasser disagreed with Hitler's nationalistic and expansionist policies or his anti-Semitism. The official name of the Nazi organization was the National Socialist German Workers Party. Strasser complained that the "socialist" part was being forgotten.

Otto Strasser fled to Czechoslovakia after Hitler got into power in 1933. Gregor was murdered in the blood purge of June 30, 1934. Otto was deprived of his German citizenship on Nov. 3, 1934.

He moved about Europe with the gestapo after him. He reached

Attorney Says NAACP Part Of Red Party

ATLANTA — UP—George Attorney General Eugene Cook charged Wednesday that the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, "either knowingly or unwittingly," has allowed itself to become part of a Communist conspiracy to overthrow the U.S. government.

Cook delivered a scathing attack on the NAACP at the annual convention of the Georgia Peace Officers Association and said he was ready to prove his charges in court.

"On the basis of the evidence in hand, no other conclusion can be drawn but that the NAACP is being used as a front and tool by subversive elements in this country," Cook said.

"Either knowingly or unwittingly," it has allowed itself to become part and parcel of the Communist conspiracy to overthrow the Democratic government of this nation and its sovereign states."

NEW YORK — UP—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said Wednesday that Georgia Attorney General Eugene Cook was lying and knew it when he charged the NAACP with being a part of a Communist conspiracy.

Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the organization, said Cook's speech "is apparently part of a conspiracy by some southern state officials to combat the United States Supreme Court's order to desegregate the public schools by charging that NAACP with being subversive."

"Mr. Cook's speech is full of distortions, word-juggling, free translations and untruths," Wilkins said.

Hot Paint

MULL, Mass. — UP—Several streets in this coastal town got some impromptu decoration, but it didn't last. Police ordered three sidewalk painters to paint out the squares immediately they had daubed on a few hours earlier. The painters did the "second coat" of blue paint. And they paid

Fire Hits Houston

HOUSTON — UP—A three-alarm fire, fed by rolls of foam rubber, swept through the Sterling Distributors Cushion Manufacturing plant Wednesday, causing more than $165,000 damage.

A dozen employees who reported for work a half-hour before the fire broke out in the one-story fabricating plant left the building safely and helped fight the fire.

The roaring blaze, which spread quickly through the building, sent flames 50 feet into the air and towering columns of black smoke that could be seen for miles.

Some 60 firemen from five stations fought the blaze for an hour before getting it under control. They kept it from spreading to other plant units but the 30 by 135-foot fabricating unit collapsed.

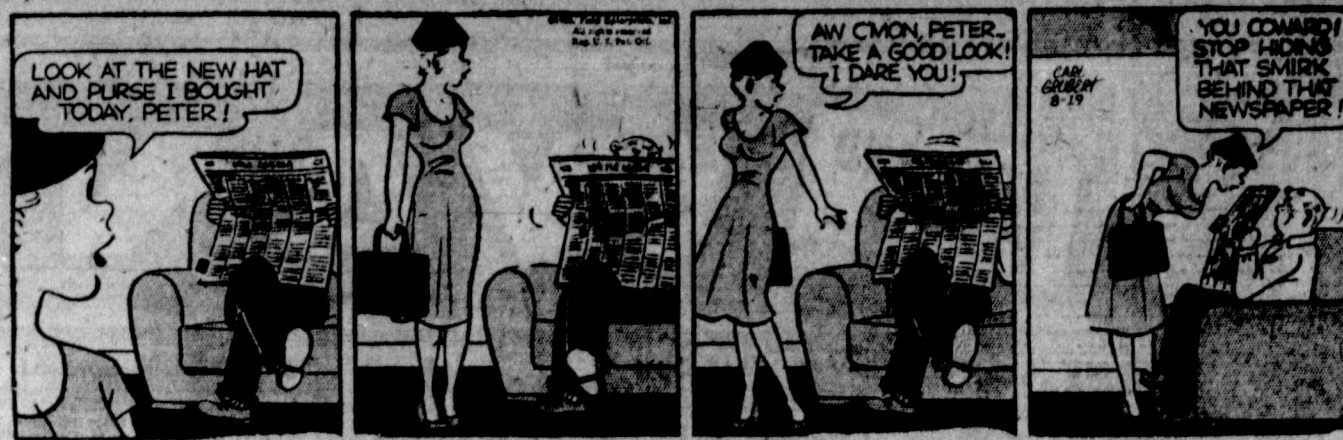

District Fire Chief R. L. Henson said origin of the blaze was a mystery. He said the fire spread so fast it was "sweeping from every corner of the building" when firemen arrived at 8:45 a. m.

Company owner David Dalley said losses would exceed $150,000 and H. J. Robbins, part-owner of the building, said it cost $18,000.

Safety Belts

BOSTON — UP—The Massachusetts state police fleet of cruisers is to be equipped with airplane type seat belts for greater safety.
