CROTSEY REVUE POSTERS

All-Out Campaign Starts To Halt Highway Massacre

By UNITED PRESS

The start of the New Year's holiday Friday touched off an all-out campaign to head off a record-breaking highway massacre.

The National Safety Council predicted that 420 Americans will be killed in traffic accidents from 5 p.m. Friday night until midnight Monday. It called the threat a "national emergency."

The council added grim weight to its forecast with the announcement that an estimated 38,500 persons died on the nation's streets and highways his year. The figure is the highest recorded since 1941's all-time record of 39,969.

Would Be Second Highest

A death toll of 420 this weekend would be five more than the New Year's record of 415 fatalities set in 1952. It would also be the second record-breaking highway slaughter in the space of just one week, since an all-time, all-holiday record of 621 deaths was set over the Christmas holidays.

The shocking "black Christmas" toll aroused a grim determination among states and cities that the slaughter must not return this weekend.

For the first time in Illinois history, National Guard units were ordered onto the highways to save lives over a holiday weekend. Gov. William Stratton, in calling out more than 500 troopers late Thursday, called it "highway martial law."

More than 200 guardsmen were also ordered out in Michigan and emergency measures were launched in other states and cities. Examples:

New York city—Police Commissioner Stephen E. Kennedy ordered a fleet of unmarked police cars, manned by uniformed officers on the streets. "When we are dealing with human lives, traffic law enforcement must go beyond the sporting stage," he said.

Washington—State justices of the peace were asked to hand out mandatory jail sentences to all persons convicted of drunken driving. Double bonds and fines were asked for other violations.

Wisconsin—State policemen who graduated from the academy only Thursday were rushed into duty. National Guard military police were asked to volunteer for weekend highway patrols.

Ohio — Authorities considered a suggestion that drivers pay "silent tribute" to those killed on the highways over Christmas by turning on their headlights during daylight hours this weekend.

At issue is Parr's holdings in LaSalle county. The attorney general was joined in the petition by Sidney F. Chandler, assistant attorney general, and Sam Burris, district attorney of the 19th District.

The petition said that on Oct. 27 the Duval county commissioners court rescinded a previous order of Aug. 25 "which attempted to employ Gordon Gibson as attorney for Duval county."

Chandler has called the Webb county suit a friendly suit against Parr.

Shepperd's petition said that on Nov. 2, Duval county, acting through the state's attorneys, filed a motion for non-suit in Wright's court. However, the petition said that instead of dismissing the case, Wright directed the clerk to write a letter to the attorney stating that if they would agree on a date for a hearing on non-suit, Wright would hear them.

The Supreme Court on Dec. 14 refused a mandamus sought by Mrs. Estella Garcia, a member of the commissioners court of Duval county last August by whom she was ousted in a suit filed by Shepperd and Burris. The ousted suit alleged Mrs. Garcia had voted to enter into an illegal contract to hire an attorney to bring Webb county suit against Parr.

Goat Butts In

VINCENNES, Ind. — UP — Pete Muchmore doesn't believe in ghosts, but he began to have his doubts when he came home one evening and saw a flash of white in his darkened living room. There was the tinkle of breaking glass, and he saw a goat leap through his picture window. The refugee from a local stock yard had entered the home by smashing a different window.

Heaviest Snow Halts Traffic In Anchorage

ANCHORAGE, Alaska — UP — Mayor Ken Hinchey early Friday declared a state of semi-emergency for this city after the worst early winter snow storm ever to hit this city dumped snow "by the foot" throttling air and ground traffic.

Hinchey's proclamation was televised through the city's two television stations and broadcast over three radio stations. He asked that businesses remain closed Friday and that nobody except snow removal crews venture into the downtown section.

Merchants thanked employees two hours early Thursday so they could get home "sometime." Snow plows were unable to keep up with the snowfall that totaled 64.3 inches at last measurement.

No traffic was moving in the city. Snow removal trucks were working around the clock trying to remove the snow. Civilian employees at nearby Elmendorf Air Force Base and Fort Richardson were told not to come to work Friday.

Meanwhile, a stretch of Alaska coastline stretching 500 miles southeast from here was getting much the same kind of weather.

More than 16 inches of snow fell at Cordova, 200 miles southeast of here Thursday and then suddenly changed to a heavy rain. A thick crust on the lake behind a dam above the fishing village of about 1,200 broke free, losing a four-foot wall of water on the town.

There were no injuries reported but a Pacific Northern Airlines employee said nearly every basement in the town was flooded and several roofs were caved in.

Court Studies Motion In Parr Tax Case

AUSTIN — UP — The Texas Supreme Court took under advisement today a motion that would clear the way to prosecution of a $1,500,000 recovery suit against George Parr, of Duval county.

The motion was filed by Attorney General John Ben Shepperd. In addition, Shepperd filed a second, supplemental petition for a writ of mandamus to force 49th District Judge R. D. Wright to dismiss a recovery suit pending against Parr in Laredo.

All issue is Parr's holdings in LaSalle county. The attorney general was joined in the petition by Sidney F. Chandler, assistant attorney general, and Sam Burris, district attorney of the 19th District.

The petition said that on Oct. 27 the Duval county commissioners court rescinded a previous order of Aug. 25 "which attempted to employ Gordon Gibson as attorney for Duval county."

Chandler has called the Webb county suit a friendly suit against Parr.

Shepperd's petition said that on Nov. 2, Duval county, acting through the state's attorneys, filed a motion for non-suit in Wright's court. However, the petition said that instead of dismissing the case, Wright directed the clerk to write a letter to the attorney stating that if they would agree on a date for a hearing on non-suit, Wright would hear them.

The Supreme Court on Dec. 14 refused a mandamus sought by Mrs. Estella Garcia, a member of the commissioners court of Duval county last August by whom she was ousted in a suit filed by Shepperd and Burris. The ousted suit alleged Mrs. Garcia had voted to enter into an illegal contract to hire an attorney to bring Webb county suit against Parr.

Daniel Considering Race For Governor

HOUSTON — UP — U.S. Sen. Price Daniel is "definitely considering" running for governor of Texas but right now it all depends on congress.

"I have vitally important legislation pending in Washington that I couldn't abandon now. But I will make an announcement in Texas to Texas within 60 days or less," the senator said.

Sen. Daniel spoke Thursday at a Rotary Club luncheon. In a press interview later he said he was getting at least 100 letters a day urging him to run for governor.

"I do feel that a governor is closer to the people of a state than a senator, and I want to live in Texas and raise my children here," Daniel said. But he said his announcement depends on three legislative matters.

Gas Bill Topped Important

"The most important bill pending now, as far as Texas is concerned, is the natural gas bill which would remove from federal jurisdiction the price of natural gas sold by producers," he said.

Daniel said the other two legislative "musts" were passage of an amendment abolishing the electoral college, and an "overhauling" of the nation's narcotics laws.

Daniel said on the basis of his recent narcotics investigations he would ask congress for more stringent penalties against convicted narcotics peddlers.

He said the investigation showed that from 25 to 33 per cent of crime can be traced to narcotics addiction. Of this amount, Daniel said, 13 per cent of the crimes were committed by juveniles.

Rape Administration

In his speech, Daniel rapped the Eisenhower administration for advocating what he called "small tax cuts on borrowed money."

"I won't vote for anything to be in the national budget but essentials until we can start spending on something other than borrowed money," he said.

The country is paying $6 billion a year interest on the national debt—that figures to $38 a year for each person over 13 in the United States."

Daniel said he believes "the only way the Communists can ever hope to take over is by making us spend ourselves to death."

Daniel also stressed the need to "get some of the power out of Washington back to the states and the people."

"Our biggest danger," he said, "is a government too big and too far from the people."

Postal Receipts Increase $7,000

Postal receipts for the year, as of Christmas Eve, show an increase of $7,000 over last year, according to O. K. Gaylor, postmaster. An increase of $1,900 for the month of December was indicated on the same date.

Receipts last year totaled $190,000, as compared with the estimated receipts for 1955 of $200,000. The amount of out-going mail cancelled here for the month, up to Dec. 27, totaled 602,000 pieces, an increase of 20,000 over last year. The largest amount of cancellations for this year was 58,000, as compared with the peak day for 1954 of 49,000.

Flood Victims Return

Death Toll 74 In Two States

SAN FRANCISCO — UP — Californians rolled up their sleeves in chilly winter weather Friday to begin the monumental job of reclaiming their homes, lands and possessions from desolation.

The toll of dead from the Christmas week storms and floods rose to 81 in California and 13 in Oregon for a total of 94. Damage estimates passed the $150 million mark.

As the flood waters began receding in most areas, they left a thick layer of slime over everything they once covered. Residents of 43 northern California counties had to wash it off everything they owned.

Refugees Return Home

Many refugees returned to their homes to find that muddy waters had covered their stoves, appliances, furniture and clothing. Others found their businesses washed away, their merchandise destroyed. Still others lost cattle, crops and farm buildings.

It was the job of the Red Cross, Small Business Administration and other federal state and local agencies to help the flood victims get back on their feet again. Nearly everybody was taking surveys Friday to get an idea of the job ahead.

Meanwhile, scattered showers fell throughout the state, but the rainfall was light and not enough to cause further flooding. A cold snap brought more snow to the Sierra Nevada, slowing the mountain runoff.

Some Danger Spots

Although the flood waters were receding in most areas, there were still some danger spots, especially along the Sacramento and San Joaquin Rivers.

These included the delta region, Verona along the Sacramento, Nicolaus on the Feather River, the river junction area south of Stockton where the Stanislaus joins the San Joaquin; the Tulare Lake basin, where flood waters from the Tulare and Kaweah menaced crops and covered 12 square miles; and Alviso near the southeastern shore of San Francisco Bay.

THE GOVERNOR'S RADAD IS A URANIUM DETECTOR

RALEIGH, N. C. — UP — Reporters were puzzled when Gov. Luther H. Hodges told them he got a "radad" for Christmas.

"A radad," the governor explained, "is something about the size of a pencil with something like snow-flakes inside. You carry it in your pocket."

"What for?" reporters asked.

"To detect uranium," Hodges said.

Dulles Says Reds To Spread Hatred

WASHINGTON — UP — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles warned Friday the Russians will do anything short of war to spread hatred and trouble throughout the world next year.

Dulles said in a New Year's statement that he expects the Russians to try to "exploit situations where free world countries seem divided by historic disputes."

But he said he foresees no open Russian aggression despite a vast Soviet arms buildup.

"For the time being it seems the Soviet leaders will seek to pursue their ambitions by means other than the use of the threat of open force," he said. "To be a merchant of hatred, is, perhaps, one degree less than to be a merchant of death."

Dulles and the nine other members of President Eisenhower's cabinet issued year-end reports and predictions in a special "election year report" published by Nation's Business magazine.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson: Farmers will refuse to be "wooed" with political promises of a return to rigid price supports. They will have to "cut corners as never before" because they are squeezed by higher costs.

Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson: The ability of the United States to launch a "retaliatory" attack against any aggressor is "unequalled in the world and we plan to keep it so."

Secretary of Treasury George M. Humphrey: "At long last we are on the way to a balanced budget." While the government can not yet pay anything on the national debt, "we will have very little, if any, net increase in borrowing."

Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks: The Bureau of Public Roads is preparing for a big new highway program. The Commerce Department plans to carry forward in 1956 the "greatest program in history" to improve the hurricane and tornado warning systems.

Secretary of Interior Douglas McKay: Mr. Eisenhower's "partnership plan" for the development of power and natural resources will be continued.

Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr.: The Justice Department next year will launch a "sustained attack" to eliminate the huge backlog of criminal and civil cases in federal courts.

Ike's Message For Congress About Ready

KEY WEST, Fla. — UP — President Eisenhower Friday edited an "almost completed" draft of his State of the Union message which will be dispatched to congress for reading on Jan. 5.

An Air Force courier during the night rushed a new draft of the message from Washington to Key West. Riding with the courier was Kevin McCann, the chief White House speech writer.

During the morning, the President planned to run over the message draft with McCann and James C. Hagerly, press secretary to the President.

Once a final working draft of the message is completed, McCann will fly back to Washington during the late afternoon. Before the message is completed and distributed to reporters Sunday night, the President may pencil in a few more changes.

Friday's program appeared less leisurely than that of his first full day here Thursday, which he spent mostly in a session of practice golf swings, a long stroll about the base, and in work on two paintings.

After clearing weather lured him from the indoor easel, the President used the opportunity to take his first full golf swings since his heart attack.

Mr. Eisenhower tried out his 7, 9 and 10 irons and a wedge and a chipping iron at the naval station's baseball diamond, hitting several iron shots over 100 yards into a stiff wind. He did not put his full power into any of the shots, however.

After 30 minutes of this performance before a gallery consisting of his brother, Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, Maj. Gen. Howard McC. Snyder, the White House physician, and Hagerly, the President took a leisurely stroll about the base.

Russia To Step Up Activities In Asia

By HENRY SHAPIRO

MOSCOW — UP — Western diplomats said Friday a study of the Bulgarian - Khrushchev report on their tour of India, Burma and Afghanistan indicated that Russia would step up its activities in Asia.

The two leaders' speeches to the Supreme Soviet (parliament) made it plain the Kremlin has found staunch allies among the non-Communist powers of Asia—at least in such big issues as the colonial problem, abolition of nuclear weapons, and recognition of Communist China.

A new emphasis on the sure-fire Asian issue of colonialism was the major shift of policy revealed by the speeches of Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist party Chief Nikita S. Khrushchev.

They apparently had found a gold mine among the restive Asian peoples, most of whom had been colonies under the western powers not too long ago.

It appeared that Russia is now in a position to exploit Asian anti-colonial sentiment for all it is worth. Westerners here believed an intense "activation," a Soviet term, of policy in Asia is imminent.

Otherwise, it was felt in diplomatic quarters, there was nothing essentially new in the Bulgarian-Khrushchev reports.

Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov's speeches at Geneva had firmly drawn the lines of Soviet foreign policy. It is as clear now, as it was after the summit conference, that the Soviet Union plans no significant departure from traditional policy.

Even anti-colonialism is not new. It has been a bulwark of Bolshevik policy since the days of Lenin. But it has acquired new urgency with the emergence of Red China and India as major powers.

Grand Jury Names Given

A list of the Grand Jurors selected for the January term of court in 31st District Court was released this morning by District Clerk Helen Sprinkle.

There were three people from McLean, one from Lefors, one from Alvanore and 11 from Pampa on the list.

Included were Milton Carpenter, Minnie M. Haynes, and Mrs. F. J. Hess, all of McLean; Mrs. F. P. Brown of Lefors; L. E. Glaas of Alvanore and C. H. Cacy, Grover C. Austin, Jr., W. E. Ballard, H. D. Balthrop, Mrs. E. G. Blomkvist, S. T. Halpain, E. J. Lewis, Ed Myatt, Dr. J. E. Veal, H. W. Waddell and M. F. Waggoner, all of Pampa.

If it comes from a Hardware Store, we have it Lewis Hardware.

Two Arrested On Check Charge

Deputy Sheriff Buck Haggard was in Amarillo this morning to pick up two persons charged with forgery and passing in Pampa, according to Sheriff Rufe Jordan.

Jordan said that he was notified last night that officers had apprehended Homer and Lola Wedgeworth in Amarillo. He added that the two were wanted here for forgery and "hot" checks in the amount of approximately $250 given about three and one-half months ago.

Invasion Of Matsu, Quemoy Apparently In The Making

By WILLIAM MILLER

TAIPEI, Formosa — UP — The Chinese Communists were reported Friday to be bombarding both ends of the Nationalist off-shore island chain in an apparent prelude to an invasion of Matsu, Quemoy or both.

Heavy Nationalist Chinese air and naval patrols were reported in the Matsu area where several naval skirmishes have taken place in the past week. Nationalist sources believed an attempt was more likely against Matsu or its satellite island of Kaoteng.

Sporadic Shelling

Sketchy reports received here told of continued artillery duels between Nationalist and Communist gunners at Quemoy Island, southern anchor of Chiang Kai-Shek's island defense chain just off the mainland, with the Reds pummeling in 700 shells Thursday alone.

Up until late Friday there were no reports of naval action around Matsu although battles were reported in the area Tuesday and Wednesday night.

There were widespread predictions in Taipei the Communists were ready to rekindle the Formosa crisis and one newspaper predicted an attack against Matsu within a week. Other sources believed the Reds would attack in mid-January.

No Predictions of Attack

There were no predictions of an immediate attack against Formosa, backed up by the U.S. Seventh Fleet and by U.S. six power which can be flown in from Okinawa and the Philippines. American sources thought there might be Red harassment to bolster the Communist position in the Geneva Sino-American talks.

Nationalist sources said the Reds now have latest model Soviet-built MIG-15s ready for action and that they were working on three more jet bases to bring the total in Fukien province opposite Formosa to eight.

Unofficial sources estimated the Communists had 1,200 Red warplanes of all types near Formosa, including MIG-15s and twin-engine Russian jet bombers. Total Red air strength was put at 2,000 planes.

Gen. Ben O. Davis, American Air Force chief in Formosa, called the Red air threat "real." He said some of the bases were not manned but that the Reds could move in aircraft overnight.

ALVARADO, Tex. — UP — The Bank of Alvarado put a $5,000 diamond ring in its vault Friday and set about trying to find the New Mexico man to whom it was willed more than two years ago by the late oil executive Tom Heater.

A workman for the A. J. Cronin Wrecking Co. of Dallas, hired to demolish the old Commercial hotel, found the ring in a crack between an upstairs wall and the floor, in the two-story structure. He didn't think much about it, but took the ring to a jeweler, J. A. Blackstock, to see if he could get "four or five dollars" for it. Blackstock recognized the ring immediately as that of Heater, who was killed on Dec. 29, 1953, in an automobile accident.

Not long ago, another employe of the A. J. Cronin Co. dug up $60,000 in the basement of a wealthy man's home in Dallas. That man, Jackson Davis, a Negro of Corsicana, later settled out of court for $20,000 of the total.

Heater left most of his estate to his two children who live in Alvarado. But he mentioned a diamond ring in the will and said he wanted a friend in Albuquerque, N. M., to have it. Relatives declined to identify the friend.

But the ring was never found. A Fort Worth detective agency was hired to search for it and has carried on the search ever since the reading of the will almost two years ago.

Heater used to work for the Texas Company, even handled some of its international accounts before his retirement. After his retirement, Blackstock said, he used to play dominoes with friends at the Commercial hotel.

The hotel was built in 1876. It used to be known as the Old Sparks House, later as the Two-Story Inn, and as it went under the demolition hammer was known as the Commercial hotel.

Great wind-up to a great year -

Buick Builds 800,000

Highest peak of all time points to Buick as the buy of the year!

LATEST BULLETIN: Buick's total new car production for the United States and Canada in 1955 is exceeding 800,000 at the time this goes to press.

Every time you traveled America's roads and streets and highways this year, you saw Buick history being made.

You saw more new Buicks than ever before — because more new Buicks were bought and registered in 1955 than in any previous year since car-building began.

You saw big, beautiful new Buicks in ever-increasing numbers because this year Buick outsold, by far, every other car in the land except the two most well-known smaller cars.

And if you had taken a look behind the scenes, you would have witnessed new Buicks being built at the rate of over three cars per minute to meet the public demand.

At Buick dealers, we recognized this mounting demand from the first — and nurtured it to the fullest benefit of the buying public.

For, with our growing volume, we were able to offer bigger trade-in allowances — and we did. So more and more people, attracted to the great new Buicks, found it easier and easier to buy them.

Today, the demand continues upward. With the much-wanted 1956 Buick — introduced last month, and now in full production — this calendar year closes with Buick building toward an all-time high of 800,000 Buicks. The New Year looks like a million.

So MAYBE you ought to look into Buick for 1956.

Maybe you ought to look into that stunning new sweep-ahead styling that's winning such raves. Maybe you ought to try the wholly new sweetness of Buick's superb ride — and the precise sureness of handling that goes with it.

Maybe you ought to sample the lofty new horsepower that come from Buick's big new 322-cubic-inch V8 engines — and the brilliant new response of an advanced new Variable Pitch Dynaflo* that brings you double-action take-off and a big boost in gas mileage.

Above all, maybe you ought to come in and see for yourself the bedrock value packed into every new Buick — and how much more sheer automobile your money buys here than the same money buys elsewhere.

Drop in first chance you get. We'll show you what solid worth Buick builds into cars to win such soaring success — and how favorable a trade-in allowance we can offer you with such tremendous volume to back us up.

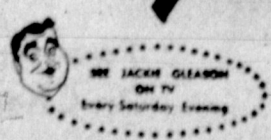

New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick built today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century — optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

Ada's Cagers Stronger Now With Addition Of Gridders

By CHARLES RHOADES
ADA, Okla. — (Special) — The rapidly improving Ada Cougar basketball team takes a 3-2 season record into the Top of Texas high school tournament tonight.

One of the biggest reasons for the fast rise of the Ada quintet is the fact that four football players, who participated on Ada's Class A football championship team in Oklahoma this year, have joined the squad.

Coach Paul Landrith saw his charges take the Sooner Star conference lead two weeks ago when they swatted Durant — a team that had posted a 3-0 record in loop competition.

Since the end of football season, Dec. 10, the Cougars have worked once and often twice each day rounding into condition for a tough season against some of the top teams in Oklahoma.

Ada opened its season with an easy victory over Duncan, divided a pair of games with Purcell, rated No. 2 in Oklahoma Class B circles, and downed Durant before dropping a one-point decision to Shawnee.

With the addition of James Murray, Don Simpson, Clyde Bennett and Don Hoover, all football players who shifted to the round-ball game overnight, Coach Landrith has a starter in Simpson and has improved his reserve strength.

Other members of the traveling squad include Jerry Beller, DeWayne Matthews, Ray Hammock, Jimmy Reynolds, Carrell Thrash and Johnny Morey. Since meeting Pampa in the Top of Texas tournament last night to the Cougars, they have made special preparations for the game, but expect to be outmanned by the better conditioned Texans.

Probable starters for the Adams include Simpson at center, Matthews and Beller at forward slots, Hammock and Morey at guard positions.

Coach Landrith and his 10-man traveling squad left Ada late Thursday morning and planned a short practice session Thursday evening to work out the kinks from the long trip.

COUGAR CAGER—Shown above is 6-1 Sr. Jerry Beller who is a member of the Ada, Oklahoma traveling team that will participate in the third annual Top of Texas basketball tournament which gets underway at Harvester Fieldhouse tonight at 7:30. He was among the 50 boys honored at the Chamber of Commerce reception in the Palm Room today at noon.

Probe Asked Of Texas Co.

DENVER —UP— O. A. Knight, president of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union (OCAW-CIO), has asked the chairman of the Senate monopoly subcommittee to look into a Texas Company demand that its employees at Fort Arthur, Tex., withdraw their investments from other oil companies.

Knight said the Texas Company order was "totally incompatible with the American concept of free enterprise" and that he had referred it to Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), chairman of the subcommittee, for investigation.

The OCAW president said he also had asked Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, and Winthrop Smith, managing partner in the Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Beane brokerage firm, to support the union's stand against the demand.

"Long-Standing Rule" Ray Andrus, the OCAW's Local 4-23 chairman at Fort Arthur, said the order was posted as a "long-standing rule" by the Texas Company. He said it "antagonized and alienated" union employees of the company by requiring they "divest themselves" of investments "in conflict with the interest of the Texas Company."

Andrus said the local threatened to strike if any of its members lost their jobs because of the order. He said the order forbids employees of the Texas Company to hold a direct or indirect interest "in any oil or gas lease, oil or gas production, oil or gas well, oil or gas royalty, oil or gas prospect, mineral rights, fee lands acquired for minerals prospects or any other interest, in general, owned for profit or gain, individually or through a company, in any petroleum company or activity, which might come in conflict with the interest of the Texas Company."

Mostly in Small Firms Andrus said the order also stipulated employees of the company could not use their wives, children, relatives or anyone else to hold their interest in trust, and that the rule applied particularly to interest or stock "in a small, local oil company."

"If the company is large enough that such ownership could not be reasonably expected to influence an employee to act in conflict with the interest of the Texas Company," Knight said he had asked Senator O'Mahoney to determine whether "this infamous directive also applies to officers, directors and management of the Texas Company, or only to wage earners."

The complaint alleged that Vic Maceo reported income of $27,099.43 for 1949 on which he paid taxes of $5,776.66. But the government alleged that Maceo actually made $65,629.99 on which he should have paid income taxes totaling $24,334.43.

Serio, the government alleged, reported income for 1949 of $15,510.27 and paid taxes of $2,488.32, whereas the complaint charged he made an actual income of $29,537.47 on which he should have paid taxes of $6,904.18.

The complaint alleged that Frank Maceo reported income of $28,818.54 and paid $6,859.18 in taxes, while the government charged that he should have reported income of $116,273.17 and paid $36,317.69 in taxes.

Youth Arrested In Theft Case

A 20-year-old youth was arrested by City Police this morning at 1:55 on the 300 block of W. Kingmill for taking a '33 Ford and German 9 MM pistol from McClure Motor Co. last night.

Recovered in the automobile was a check book, with one check made out in the amount of $30. The check was probably forged but had not been cashed, according to J. O. Dumas, assistant chief of police.

The car was taken about 9 p.m. last night from the motor company, and evidence indicates that the youth was planning to leave town.

No charges have been filed late this morning.

When you get in the habit of feeling sorry for yourself, you should be.

Tax Evasion Charges Hit Maceo Empire Heirs

AUSTIN —UP— Income tax evasion charges hung over two heirs to a Galveston gambling empire and their chief accountant Friday.

Vic C. Maceo, Frank Maceo and Sam Serio were named Thursday in complaints alleging income tax evasion filed by Donald E. Ney and Aubrey D. Logan, internal revenue agents from Houston. U.S. Commissioner Robert C. Sneed received the complaints which charged evasion of income taxes by each of the three for the year 1949.

Following a two hour hearing at which the two agents and assistant U.S. Attorney Harmon Parrott appeared, Sneed issued summons for the three Galveston men to appear before him in Austin at 9 a.m. Jan. 25.

Cousins of Sam Maceo The Maceo brothers are cousins of the late Sam Maceo who directed a huge gambling syndicate in the island resort until his death in 1951. The Maceo syndicate owns the famed Turt Grill and Balinese Room in Galveston as well as other interests.

Income evasion indictments are pending against another member of the Maceo syndicate, A. J. Adams, who is vice president of the Maceo-owned Gulf Properties, Inc.

"The evasion charges came as a complete surprise," Vic Maceo said in Galveston. He would make no other comment.

"We figured that they were going to do something," Serio said, "but we didn't know what or when."

"They have been down here for four years (going over the Maceo syndicate books)," Serio added.

Frank Maceo could not be reached for comment.

Jane Talk

By JANE KADINGO
Pampa News Women's Editor

CARRIAGE IS 90 PERCENT OF HOW YOU LOOK in your clothes, believes beautiful and talented Italian fashion designer Simonetta. Important too, is dressing for your individual type, and in the January Woman's Home Companion she illustrates how similar silhouettes can be adapted for the short and the tall, and tells how to make the most of what you believe to be your defects.

FOR INSTANCE, if you're tall, the new seven-inch length coat will just swirl over a contrasting colored dress. But if you're small, a coat that comes above your hemline looks best when it matches your dress.

For evening Simonetta shows a short, full-skirted dress in brilliant green satin for the tall girl. The low-placed waistline and a smashing bow in the front cut height.

But for the shorter girl, Simonetta recommends a simpler full-skirted black dress, slimly cut over the hips, with tapering apron inset of fallie on black velvet.

Almost everyone will admit to some defect, and Simonetta believes the best way to conceal such defects is to emphasize them. "If you have a big bust, drape it in a band of trying to flatten it down," she says. "Then no one knows which is you and which is the dress."

"If you have big hips, wear a wide skirt. If you have a big

New Year's Day Coffee Cordials

Somewhat the holidays call for coffee with brandy for the after-dinner drink. Many regard aperitifs and cordials as too heavy and sweet following a big dinner with such filling desserts as mince pie, fruit cake or plum pudding. Coffee and brandy drinks are relaxing after a heavy meal.

VENETIAN COFFEE
One of the simplest coffee-brandy drinks to prepare is the latest fashion after-dinner refreshment called Venetian Coffee. Originating in San Francisco's Italian quarter of North Beach only a few weeks ago Venetian Coffee is now served in best known eating places throughout the country. It is simply strong coffee with brandy and a float of whipped cream added.

CAFE' SALUD
For those who can do without the float of whipped cream and seek a variation from the simple coffee-brandy combination we suggest the Latin American version called Cafe' Salud. Add to a cup or glass of strong hot coffee a jigger of brandy, a thin strip each of orange and lemon rind, and a small clove. Stir with a cinnamon stick.

COLD BRANDIED COFFEE
For those who like it cold heat 4 eggs until light and foamy. Add a third of a cup of sugar and continue to beat until melted. Add two cups of cooled strong coffee and brandy to taste. Chill thoroughly. Serves four.

Spicy Apples, Pork For A Wintry Day

What's more natural on a winter's day than spicy apples and pork? Here's a recipe combining those two foods in a wonderful casserole. It's the perfect wind-up for the last bits and pieces of a roast of pork or a big ham. The recipe calls for small amount of quick-cooking rice cereal for a thickener which gives such an interesting texture. We hope you try it real soon.

PORK AND APPLE CASSEROLE
No. 2 can sliced Apples
1 tablespoon lemon juice
3 tablespoons brown sugar
3 tablespoons Cream of Rice, quick-cooking rice cereal
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon mace
1/4 teaspoon ginger
2 cups diced cooked pork, or ham
Place contents of can of apples in a mixing bowl. Add lemon juice, sugar, Cream of Rice and seasonings. Mix thoroughly. Add pork and place in greased 1-quart baking dish. Cover and bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees F, for 30 minutes. Then remove cover and continue baking for 15 minutes. Serve hot. Yield: 4 servings.

Manners Make Friends

One thing a wife quite understandably resents is to have her husband jump to perform little courtesies for other women that he never bothers to do for her. Like any woman a wife likes to have her chair pulled out at the table, to have car doors opened for her, etc.
So watch it, men, to be sure you treat your wife with as much courtesy as you show other women.

STUFFED BOLOGNA ROLLS are just one of the fine "finger foods" you can serve with soft drinks on a Happy New Year Eve.

COOK'S NOOK

New Year's Eve Treat That Packs "A Wallop"

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Celebrate the birth of 1956 with bubbly soft drinks and tangy, stuffed bologna rolls. Add salted nuts for nibbling, ice cream and cake for dessert, and the crowd will be happy, well-fed and will be able to drive home safely.

Stuffed Bologna Rolls
(Makes 2 dozen)

Two dozen thin sliced bologna (5-inch size), 2 dozen frankfurter rolls.
VEGETABLE FILLING: Mix together in large bowl: 2 cups chopped, shredded cabbage; 1 cup shredded carrot, 1 cup minced celery, 3-3 cup minced green pepper, 1/4 cup minced chives or onion.

ASPIC DRESSING: Six hard-cooked eggs, 1 cup mayonnaise, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons prepared mustard, 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce, 1 tablespoon brown sugar, 1/4 cup chili sauce, 2 cups bottled, carbonated beverage (cola, ginger ale or lemon-lime type); 2 bouillon cubes, 2 tablespoons unfavorable gelatin.

Shell eggs, separate and mash yolks, blend with mayonnaise. Chop whites and add together with seasonings. Blend well.
Put carbonated beverage in top of double boiler. Crumble in bouillon cubes. Sprinkle with gelatin and let stand until gelatin is completely moistened, then heat over boiling water until dissolved.
Blend 1-4 cup of gelatin liquid into mayonnaise mixture. Pour over vegetables and mix well. Keep remaining gelatin in pan over hot water.

Spread out bologna slices on table. Put a heaping tablespoon of filling in the center of each; spread to make a 1-inch strip down center of slices. Lap over free edges to make a roll, secure with food picks.

When all rolls are made, pour a very thin coating of gelatin liquid in bottom of one or more shallow baking pans (a 10 1/2 x 15 1/2 inch tin will hold 24 rolls exactly). Place bologna rolls side by side on gelatin base. Spoon remaining gelatin over top of each roll.

Store in refrigerator until ready to serve. When ready, remove food picks and cut apart with table knife. Cut a wedge-shaped slice of bread from center of each frankfurter roll. Toast rolls lightly in oven. Place bologna rolls in center of each.

Note: For a smaller crowd, recipe may be cut in half.

Make Sandwiches By Unique Method

French fried. That's the unique taste sensation in sandwiches for the new year. They're something you won't forget and won't want to. It takes only about two minutes to make them and the taste is strictly new. They're crispy, crunchy and brown when fried in pure vegetable shortening and so digestible you can serve them every day if you like, even to children. They make quick and delicious lunch treats, and are perfect to serve as an after bridge bite.

Use close textured bread for these sandwiches; day old, even two day old bread works better than fresh. Rye and whole wheat are fine. Place as much filling as you are accustomed to using between bread slices, spreading to the edges. Press the slices together firmly, then dip in an egg-milk mixture (2 eggs to two-thirds of a cup of milk gives good results), then into a breading material such as bread crumbs, cracker meal or a prepared breading mix. According to the Crisco Kitchen's bread crumbs will probably work best because they brown faster.

Use a deep fryer for making these sandwiches, and fill it about half full. Heat the shortening to 365 degrees F, or until an inch cube of bread will brown in 60 seconds. If you have an electric deep fryer, you need only to set the dial. Then drop your sandwich into the hot shortening and watch how quickly it browns. Hold it under the surface of the shortening with a spoon or fork. It should be ready in about two minutes. Not only will it be crunchy and delicious, but it will be hot all the way through. Drain on absorbent paper and serve piping hot. Cut them into triangles or rectangles to make them extra attractive. Here are some suggestions for fillings.

Cheese and Ham
Mix 1 cup coarsely grated sharp process cheese with 1 cup coarsely ground cooked ham; 3 tablespoons evaporated milk; 3 tablespoons pickle relish, 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard, dash salt and pepper.

Tangy Egg
Mix 4 finely chopped hard-cooked eggs with 1/4 cup minced ripe or stuffed olives, 1/2 to 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, and 1/4 cup mayonnaise.

New! Orangeade Pastry

Golden "Orangeade Pastry," a special version of the new Flavored Sprycrust, recently developed in the Lever Test Kitchens, gives a delightful tang of orange to these deliciously-spiced, tender Mince Turnovers.

Especially appropriate for home entertaining on New Year's eve, these flavorful turnovers will be popular at all kinds of informal evening parties and holiday gatherings. They will also make a wonderful family dessert anytime during the winter season.

Mince Turnovers
1 recipe Orangeade Pastry 1-1/2 cups mincemeat
Divide dough in half, shape into 2 flat rounds. Roll each round 1/8" thick and cut into 5" circles. Place 1 heaping tablespoon of mincemeat on each circle. Fold over 1/2 of circle to within 1/4" of opposite edge. Turn lower edge up over top and seal edges with fork. Prick tops. Bake in very hot oven (450°F.) 12-15 min. Makes 10 turnovers.

Orangeade Pastry
3/4 cup Homogenized Spray 1 tablespoon milk
2 tablespoons boiling water 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 tablespoons frozen concentrated orange juice, thawed to room temperature 1 teaspoon salt

Put Spray in mixing bowl. Add boiling water, thawed concentrated orange juice, and milk and whip with fork until all liquid is absorbed and a thick, smooth mixture is formed. Sift flour and salt together onto Spray whip and stir quickly into a dough. Knead up and work into a smooth, blended dough. Makes enough pastry for a 9" 2-crust pie or 9 tart shells or 8-10 turnovers.

Deserter Sentenced To 2 Years

FRANKFURT, Germany—UP—A 23-year-old U.S. Army private who spent 18 months as a deserter in the Soviet zone was sentenced to two years at hard labor and a dishonorable discharge Wednesday.

Pvt. Kenneth Miller, of East San Francisco, Calif., surrendered to authorities last September after fleeing from the Communists. He pleaded guilty to charges of desertion and asked the court for "rehabilitation and a chance to be a good soldier."

Miller went to East Germany in March, 1954, together with his German girl friend Irmgard Amberger, and her small son Heinz. He was stationed with a U.S. Fourth Infantry Division unit near Frankfurt at the time and simply drove across the zonal border in his car. The Communists put Miller to work in an automobile plant in Eisenach near the border. He also worked for a time in a tool and die making plant.

Miller slipped away from the Reds in September, and after his return to the West wrote Fourth Division commanding General Maj. Gen. R. Van Brunt to ask what would happen to him if he gave himself up. Van Brunt replied he could make no promises, but Miller turned himself in to military policemen anyway.

The standard of living in West Berlin is rising steadily, general household costs now totalling $136,000,000 annually, while the money spent for liquors, cigarettes and coffee has risen to $50,000,000.

We believe that one truth is always consistent with another truth. We endeavor to be consistent with truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule, the Ten Commandments and the Declaration of Independence.

Should we, at any time, be inconsistent with these truths, we would appreciate anyone pointing out to us how we are inconsistent with these moral guides.

Jazz Age Diplomacy

So long as our governmental plenipotentiaries are votaries of the goddess of popularity so long will they seek to obsequy with our funds for purposes of winning friends and influencing people. And devotees of this amazingly fickle goddess often find themselves in grotesque and ridiculous poses, for worship at her shrine entails all manner of strange and unnatural posturings.

In the end, of course, money buys no friends. It merely purchases envy, greed, dependence, treason, and a host of other ills. But, as we taxpayers are learning, this fact has no apparent effect upon the tax collectors. True to their religion, which places the majority on a pedestal, they are incapable of logical thought and manage to rationalize every selfish and egotistical whim into a bit of holy writ.

As an example of the extremes to which pursuit of popularity may lead us, witness the recent moves in the Department of State. There, the dignified brief-case and striped-pants set have decided that to win more friends abroad, dignity should be supplemented with a little hep-cat, give-me-some-skin familiarity.

Consequently, Representative Adam C. Powell Jr., a Democrat of New York, has announced that steps are being taken to augment our diplomatic courier stable with a string of real cool, real gone bopsters. Honest, cats, this on the plain old, flat.

Of course, Powell has an interest in this particular departure from the hum-drum, staid formality of State Department protocol. After all, he is married, to that ivory-tickling Hazel Scott and is somewhat of an expert on the Dark Town Strutters Ball.

And we must concede that the departure isn't quite as shocking as it might at first appear, since for some time, in the interests of convincing foreigners that we are real fine people, the Department has been sending bevy of ballet dancers, symphony artists, sopranos and other long-hair exponents into all kinds of strange places for the edification and enlightenment of potentates.

Now, we are going to get real folks. Real cool, that is. It will no longer be sufficient to convince foreigners that we have "kultuch." Instead, we must convince them that we are real gone, we mean the very most. Tours are being arranged now for John (Dizzy) Gillespie, father of bebop; Louis (Satchmo) Armstrong, and Count Basie.

The tub-thumping of the politicians will become an obligato against the rattling of tea cups on the one hand and the gut bucket in the pit. This, says Powell, is in the interest of extending true "Americana."

If you are slightly nauseated, you should feel downright ill to learn that last year Congress appropriated $5,000,000 for just such exchanges of artistic phenomenon. And you should also be more than passingly re-luctant to know that the tawdry "Porgy and Bess" which has been showing all over Europe to less than enthusiastic turn-outs, is now showing in Moscow. There, the Ruskiys will have a chance to chuckle mercilessly over the lyrics of "the things that you're liable to read in the Bible... ain't necessarily so." This show, if nothing else, ought to convince them that America is everything their propaganda experts have been saying for years.

We must be old-fashioned. Someway we had thought of our State Department as something more than just a branch office of USO road shows. But then, we have always been considered "square" since long ago we recognized the so-called Americana of the jazz age as nothing but imported African which we are now powdering and shipping back to its point of origin branded with the fiction "Made in the U.S.A."

Time was when the State Department upheld the American traditions of freedom and liberty. Those were the days when the torch on a certain statue in New York harbor burned brightly, and tyrants around the earth trembled at the thought of arousing the wrath of free men in the home of the brave.

The Statue of Liberty should be taken down. It is an affront to her holy symbol to keep her there. We should erect the hep-cat goddess of popularity in her stead. We may not have any principles left, but at least the world will know that we are true exponents of broken rhythm.

So while the State Department tunes the bull fiddles, the world burns.

A recent Readers Digest article that he was told was a "Lie Detector" reveals some amazing things about...
Among these is the disclosure of how a loyalty trial is conducted within the Communist Party. Hungarian-born, John Lautner had been a Communist for 21 years when he was lured to a basement in Cleveland, stripped naked and forced to sit on a stool while a loaded pistol was held to his head. BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

Little Known Dangerous Labor Laws

Very few people who are not engaged in business know the handicaps the business man has in trying to prevent organized labor from taking away from the owners of property their right to choose how it should be operated. I doubt whether there is one person in a hundred who knows that an employer engaging in interstate commerce does not have the right to refuse to hire a union man or to discharge a union man, even if he has no union contract, without being subjected to a suit by the discharged union man for pay after he had ceased to work. The only defense an employer has in such a case is to prove that he was not discharged because he was a union man, and, of course, it is very hard to prove a negative.

On the other hand, an employer can discharge a non-union man or refuse to hire a non-union man without being subject to any legal action for pay not earned by the worker. This condition gives the union man an awful advantage over the employer that believes our standard of living will increase much more rapidly if we have a free market for labor — that is, the products of labor — as well as for commodities. This condition makes it very difficult to keep labor unions from gaining complete control over our lives.

Laws Favoring Labor Unions

Labor unions have succeeded in getting the assistance of the federal government to use aggressive force against an employer who believes that workers who have a clear conscience and will make an individual binding contract are much more desirable than workers who belong to a labor union and thus cannot and will not make an individual binding contract.

In 1914 organized labor was successful in amending the Sherman Anti-Trust Law that made it a crime for any conspiracy to establish a monopoly. They were successful in exempting members of labor unions and farmers from being subjected to the Sherman Anti-Trust Law.

The only time the Sherman Anti-Trust Law applies to the labor unions is when they enter into a conspiracy with the employer — create a monopoly. They have a perfect right to create a monopoly under the Clayton Amendment and rob other workers from an equal right to help establish values and to compete in producing wealth. This Clayton Amendment certainly violates the principles set forth in the Declaration of Independence that all men are endowed with certain inalienable rights. This makes classes out of men and organized labor has a right to do things that are a crime if done by employers. Thus, it is immoral and unjust.

Another law that makes it difficult for the employer to retain an unhampered market is the Norris - LaGuardia Law passed in 1932. This law makes it a crime for an employer to make a condition of employment that the worker will not join a labor union that enters into a conspiracy to prevent hiring the man that will do the most for the reward that is in other words, it prevents him from showing preference to a man with conscience over a man that has turned his conscience over in the will of the majority or the labor bosses. The Norris - LaGuardia Law also made it difficult to get an injunction to stop a plot or a conspiracy of workers to injure the employer and his customers.

Then in 1937 the Wagner Law was passed that practically turned the management of business over to the labor bosses and the politicians. That was so raw and unjust that it was finally amended by the Taft-Hartley Law that did away with the closed shop but substituted the union shop that required everyone to join the union after a short period of employment.

These laws, together with the rulings of the labor board, as mentioned above, that makes it a crime for an employer to prefer a non-union man to a union man and makes it legal to prefer a union man to a non-union man, give the labor union monopoly almost unlimited power.

Organized labor would not be dangerous if the employer and the consumer were the final judge of what was produced and what they were willing to pay for it. Labor unions have grown because they have enlisted the federal government in making laws that require the federal government to use aggressive force against the employer who believes the Declaration of Independence means exactly what it says when it uses the word "all" men instead of just "some" men have the right to pursue happiness.

Why These Laws? And these laws, of course, have been passed because too many people are governed by irrational sympathy and emotion and actually believe that labor unions can improve the lot of working men. These laws would never have been passed had not this erroneous belief been spread by politicians and cowardly newspapers and magazines and preachers and public and private schools and colleges and, of course, by labor unions themselves.

There is no question but what, had there not been labor unions that interfered with the free and unhampered market and the government had kept out of other interferences with the free market, our standard of living would have been very much higher than it is at present.

As the late Henry Ward Beecher said, "Organized labor is the worst form of despotism ever devised by the human mind."

The problem before the American people is to get more voters to realize that labor unions can only add benefits to some workers by taking from other workers an amount equal or greater than the benefit to the union members.

Ike To Adopt Pages From New Deal Book In Message

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower's message to the State of the Union, which he will submit soon to Congress, may bring howls of pain from disgruntled Democrats. It will revive memories of Thomas E. Dewey's "Me, too" 1948 campaign, when he adopted many political-economic ideas from the liberal pages of New-Deal-Fair Deal books.

His advisers are urging him to tailor his new legislative program so that it will serve as a 1954 political document, whether he runs or not. In deference to election year pressures, the GOP will embrace many of their rivals' demands in such appealing fields as education, welfare, housing, highway, etc.

Due possibly to his illness, when the lack of pressing everyday responsibilities gave him more time and seclusion for thinking and planning, Eisenhower has shown himself more responsive to these proposals.

Ike's chief complaint about his job as the nation's Chief Executive, like it was of such predecessors as Wilson, Hoover, F.D.R., and Truman, has been that he could not give sufficient thought to long-range and far-reaching problems. The mere handling of daily questions made that impossible.

Thus, as F.D.R.'s illness developed a keener social consciousness and awareness in him — a trait which he had not exhibited in earlier years — so Ike's hospitalization may have had a similar effect on him.

What ever the reason, political or medical, the Administration's re-election year program is expected to represent a compromise with many Democratic ideas previously rejected by the White House.

On schools, for instance, high officials are now talking in terms of direct contributions rather than loans. The publicity and interest resulting from the recent White House Conference on Education has had a stimulating interest in this neglected realm.

On housing, highways and welfare, more "liberal" solutions are anticipated. These will include a request for 100,000 ore more low-rent housing units, to be built over a three-year period. Ike asked for only 70,000 at the last session, and got on 45,000.

Public welfare projects will be enlarged. According to Marion B. Folsom, the new Secretary for Health, Education and Welfare, he wants at least $25,000,000 more than his Department asked for last year. He will also propose a Federal-State program of financial aid to medical schools and nonprofit research institutions.

The eventual sum, interestingly, may be reduced because of Henry Ford's $500,000,000 grant to these institutions.

As the late Henry Ward Beecher said, "Organized labor is the worst form of despotism ever devised by the human mind."

The problem before the American people is to get more voters to realize that labor unions can only add benefits to some workers by taking from other workers an amount equal or greater than the benefit to the union members.

Fair Enough

Lack Of Controversialists Is Bad For United States

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

A layman could not smash through the great verbiage to argue in the American lay press a proposition which Father James M. Gillis, the noted Paulist missionary and essayist, has presented in the prospectus of a mission founded in his honor in Boston. But, perhaps, with Father Gillis running interference, I will be permitted to observe that in our desire to be generous to others and to refrain from hurting the sensibilities of our neighbors, we have allowed bigots to muzzle us in the public forums.

Father Gillis has recommended a bureau of controversy as a necessary activity of the Catholic Information Center overlooking Boston Common. This house was established by his suggestion ten years ago and is now to be known as the Father Gillis Catholic Center. He pointed out that controversy "is not a wicked word" as "the moguls of radio-TV and the advertising industry have insisted in particular cases, while flouting their own dictum in others. (For example, E. J. Murray, the apostle for J. Robert Oppenheimer, though controversial, has found financial backers, including the Ford Fund for the Republic, who spent lavishly to present his challenge to the concept of patriotism held by many other Americans.)

The greatest of all controversialists," Father Gillis wrote, were Jesus Christ and his Apostles. If we are to continue the tradition of militant Catholicism, we shall not shrink from controversy, for to be supine is not Catholic."

Knowing Father Gillis, a small man with an enormous voice even at 80 years, I confidentially suggest that he would not approve any pressure, economic, political or other, except intellectual, against those who attack either the church or the religion. That is the current method of "pressure groups" and it has done unseen harm. But an advocate of any cause who cannot cope with criticism or disagreement, mockery and insult, and so resorts to suppression, let down his cause. He is worse than no advocate at all. His conduct tacitly concedes that his adversary is right.

The words "hate" and "hated" have been invested with a hateful meaning, holding up to hatred persons of fine character and purpose who may virtuously hate a some proposition or element, such as Communism, and bravely invoke their right, indeed, as they conceive it, perform their duty, to hate and to state their reasons why. In other cases, mere disagreement is hatefully described as "hate-mongering."

Their opponents these days claim a monopoly on the right to

Certainly all reasonable Americans know this to be a condition of our daily life. We cover in fear of such words as "prejudice" and "intolerance," forgetting that, as Father Gillis wrote of "controversy," they are not wicked. We are brainwashed into that supine state which this great controversialist abhors.

There is also a false assumption now accepted as undebatable truth that all minorities are entitled to special immunity from fair criticism and fair opposition. The very word "minority has come to denote a small, helpless and, above all, absolutely inoffensive, element of human beings. But reason holds that a majority also may be virtuous. And majorities were massacred in Soviet Russia by a minority which did not bother to pretend that it was harmless. The Communists are still a small minority, they perform their duty, to worry throughout the Soviet Empire.

Controversy is not dead in the United States but it has been strangled into unconsciousness. That is bad for our intelligence, our character and our souls.

Mac Picks M. State In Rose Bowl By 124,000 Calories

By HENRY McLEMORE

In casting about for a more successful formula for picking the winners in the various Bowl football games, my mind happened on the old prizefight maxim, "Always bet on a hungry fighter."

The theory behind this is that the rich, well-fed pug never is as eager to spill his blood as the half-starved one who trained on table scraps and who covets the winner's share so that he can buy an acre of T-bone steaks and an avalanche of mashed potatoes.

I asked myself why this wouldn't work just as well in the selection of football winners as puntists. There's enough punching and swatting in the line in football to make the two sports second cousins at least.

So, I picked my Bowl winners purely on the grounds of nutrition, completely ignoring such standard yardsticks as the caliber of their coaches, speed, weight, glove and hat size, probable weather conditions, and the size and ability of the marching bands.

This was not easy to do. I had to find out which teams were the most poorly fed at the training table, which had the most unbalanced diets, and which teams, if any, had players with chronic upset stomachs and couldn't eat enough.

I started with the Rose Bowl rivalry, Michigan State and UCLA, and my findings showed Michigan State to be the winner by a minus 124,000 calories. Translated into points, that means Michigan State should be a 10-point favorite because it is the weaker, or hungrier, team.

To change minus calories into points you use the Rule of Holtzclaw, named after its inventor, a former U. of Arkansas tackle who majored in Home Economics.

The two teams would be almost dead even on the nutrition chart were it not for the difference in eating habits between a certain UCLA tackle and a certain Michigan State guard. The tackle does on gravy and more gravy, while the Spartan guard doesn't like a gravy. If the guard had liked gravy he would have had up the minus 124,000 calories and the two teams would tie to the field with the outcome a toss-up.

In the Sugar Bowl my investigation revealed that Georgia Tech won't have too much trouble with Pittsburg. The Tech boys have eaten almost the same amount of calories during the season as their rivals, but are sadly lacking in protein, and will go into the game much the hungrier of the two.

Whereas the Pittsburgers eat heavily of steak, the Engineers lean toward fried chicken, cream gravy, and hot buttered biscuits. Tech is hungrier by 224,000 calories and, again making use of the Rule of Holtzclaw, is selected to win by between fifteen and twenty points.

Oklahoma is the hungry fighter — and therefore the winner — in the Orange Bowl. But by the thinnest of margins. Only 237 calories separate the intake of the two teams, and if one of the Maryland players hadn't burned his tongue on some hot terrapin soup at a team banquet, which hindered his usual hearty eating habits, it would have been anybody's game. As it is, Oklahoma will win by no more than a conversion point, or a safety at most.

My dining hall scouts have not yet sent in their reports on the Cotton Bowl and Gator Bowl contestants. As soon as they are received, and the data compiled, the selection will be rushed to you.

Third Annual Top O' Texas Basketball Tourney Opens Tonite

Wichita Falls Coyotes Replace Birdville Buffs

The Pampa Harvesters will host three teams tonight as the first round of the third annual Top O' Texas basketball tournament gets underway in Harvester field house. Game time for the first contest each night has been set at 7:30 with the second game to begin at 9 or immediately after the first game ends.

The Chickasha Chicks and the Wichita Falls Coyotes will be meeting in the first game tonight and the Harvesters will face the Ada Cougars in the second.

The winner of the Chickasha-Wichita Falls game will meet the winner of the Pampa-Ada contest in the final and championship tilt at 9 Saturday night and will be preceded by the consolation game or the playoffs between the first night losers.

The Ada quintet will include more seniors than the other teams with five cagers over 6 ft. and two above the 5'8" mark and should be the tallest club on the hardwood.

They will be going into the tournament for their third year against the Harvesters in the last game tonight.

Sooners, Terrapins Taper Off

MIAMI —UP— The bruised and weary football warriors of Oklahoma and Maryland began tapering off Friday in their workouts for the 22nd annual Orange Bowl game Monday afternoon.

Oklahoma Coach Bud Wilkinson and Maryland's Jim Tatum both ordered a halt to rough practice sessions which left the Sooners physically whole and Maryland with three injuries that probably will have no effect on the game's outcome.

Only one-a-day loosening up drills will be held from now until game time and Maryland will skip any kind of work Sunday, the day before the kickoff. This should bar further injuries.

In three full-scale scrimmages during the week, Tatum's Terrapins suffered injuries to Dick Bittner, No. 2 right tackle; first string fullback Fred Hamilton, and John Fitzach, No. 3 quarterback. But only Bittner, who sustained a torn cartilage in his left shoulder Wednesday, will be missed and he may need fast enough to see him in duty.

Fitzach hurt his left elbow Thursday but wasn't counted on for much service anyway. A defensive drill laid Hamilton unconscious and left him with a bruised side that is expected to heal by game time.

Oklahoma trainer Ken Rawlinson gave all 44 Sooners a physical today. He said some were suffering sore and blistered feet but would be able to run full speed Monday. The Sooners did not scrimmage here but spent many hours hitting the dummies.

For the record, the rival coaches called the game a tie. But interviewed at the annual Orange Bowl Kickoff luncheon both jokingly declined to play overtime for a "sudden-death" victory.

PERFECT JUNIOR — Ted Hoffman, Jr., 15, is believed to be the youngest person ever to bowl 300 in league competition. He rolled game in Philadelphia.

The Wichita Falls Coyotes will be hampered in the tourney by the loss of Doyle Smith, one of their top scorers. Smith has developed a shoulder infection it is doubtful that he will be able to play.

The Coyotes will have only four seniors while the Harvesters and Chicks have five and Ada will bring seven.

The Harvesters will be the only club that operates without a sophomore as the Cougars and Coyotes each have one and the Chicks have three.

The Harvesters have the honor of previous tournament records in most of the scoring departments since they have been champions both years.

They have racked up the most points of any team with 79 against Chickasha last year. They have the most points of any two games with 141.

They have the best defense and also the best offensive records. The Harvesters will probably have the toughest series of games during this tournament that they have ever faced except during the state finals where they met the best.

Rose Bowl Gridders Start Final Stages Of Workouts

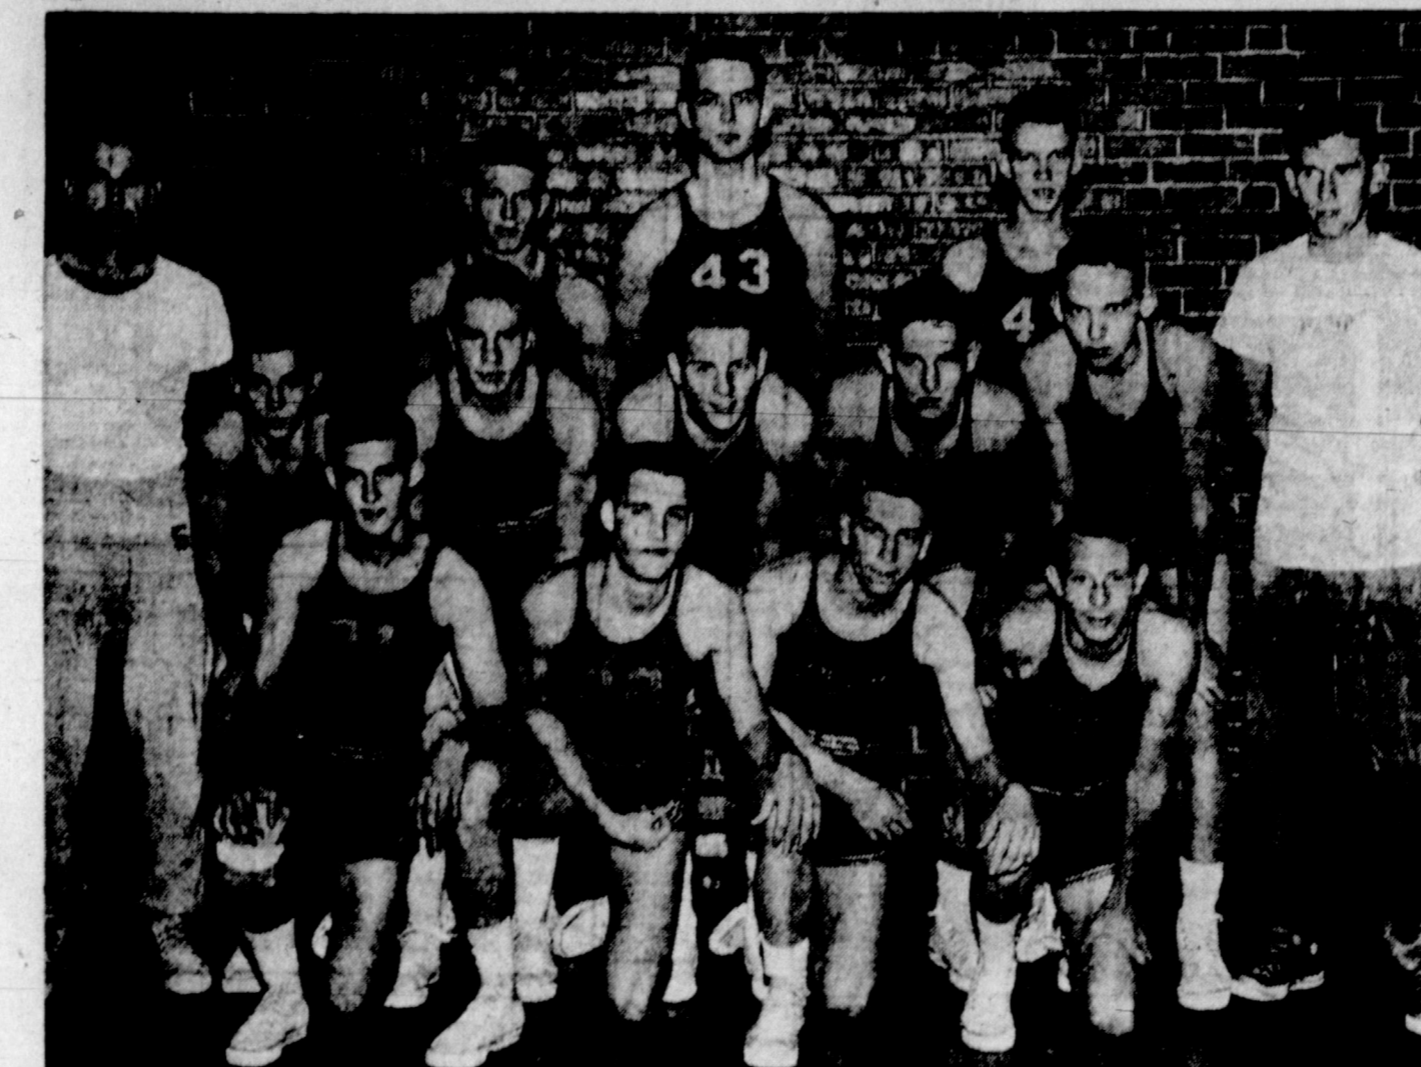

PASADENA, Calif. —UP— UCLA and Michigan State Thursday embarked on the final stages of their preparations for the Rose Bowl football game, cutting out the good times that have accompanied the drills until now.

Coach Henry (Red) Sanders took his Bruins to a hotel last night and they will remain at the hotel except for their workouts until game time next Monday.

Coach Duffy Daugherty announced that the trips and pleasures which he has permitted the Spartans until Thursday are now over and they will turn their entire attention on preparations for the game.

At the UCLA training quarters, Dr. Walter Scott, an orthopedic specialist, gave passer Ronnie Knox his final examination and said the junior star's injured ankle was entirely recovered from the break he suffered last month.

"From now on we will concentrate on getting our team razor sharp for the game," Daugherty said, adding that the Michigan State players might have gone stale had he let them get "on edge" too early. Daugherty put his players through a two-hour afternoon drill at East Los Angeles Junior Col-

DEFENDING CHAMPIONS — The Pampa Harvesters will be out to take their third Top o' Texas Basketball championship in three years. They defeated the Birdville Buffs in the finals last year by a 62-45 score to win the crown. The Green and Golders above are FRONT ROW: Buddy Sharp, Gene Brown, Bennie Sparks and Tommy Murray. SECOND ROW: Jimmie Enloe, Carroll Cole, Jerry Gee, Jerald Clark and Sam Condo. BACK ROW: Dickie Mauldin, Tommy Gindorf and Jerry Pope. The coaches are Clifton McNeely, left, and Terry Culley.

Pampa Boxers Win Nine Of 12 Bouts

Kenneth Woods and Bob Prigmore came through for the Optimist boxers last night to delight the crowd of approximately 800 fans. Woods handed Berger's Scooter Darden his second defeat of his career in a close fight which saw Woods take the first two rounds and lose the third.

Prigmore defeated West Texas State's Herman Betke in the fastest heavyweight bout ever held in the Pampa ring. The bout was a slugfest from beginning to end.

Panhandle Insurance fighters came through with three victories for the Optimists with Keith McKinney, Clovis Shipp and Jerry Lamar taking PIA victories. Bobby Wilhelm and Rabbit Ramirez took victories over Jim Greenwood and Royce Young for the Pampa News.

The Citizens and First National Bank teams took one fight each with Larry Powell winning for the First Nat'l team and Gary Willis coming through for the Citizens' team.

The Pampa Boxers took a total of nine of the 12 bouts with Bagot Hardware winning one, D&D Pharmacy one and Berger one.

Land Power Vs. Air Power Is Prediction For Shrine Game

SAN FRANCISCO —UP— When East meets West in the annual Shrine classic Sat., it probably will be land power vs. air power in the age-old controversy of the gridiron.

Indications are that the West will take to the air with talented Southern California and John Roach of Southern Methodist doing the hurting.

And the East will depend upon a ground game, with the great Howard (Hopalong) Cassidy of Ohio State, Tony Branoff of Michigan and Len Moore of Penn State doing the bulk of the ball-packing on the end sweeps; and Don Schaefer of Notre Dame and Chuck Stucka of Trinity cracking the line.

It had been expected that the East team would stick pretty close to the ground. The head coach is Woody Hayes of Ohio State and he is a noted believer in ground warfare. With Hopalong Cassidy to spearhead the attack it appears a solid choice.

The two-platoon system will be in effect—the same rules as used in the professional ranks. This will result in the ball-packers getting a chance to rest on defense.

Head Coach Jess Hill has five great pass-receiving wings in Leon Clarke of USC; Henry Greninger of Baylor; Lamar Meyer of Colorado; Menan Schriever of Texas and A. D. Williams of College of Pacific—and from indications at practice sessions, he'll give them all a workout.

In recent practice sessions, the quarterbacks have been throwing the ball on three out of four plays.

Working at a nearby high school field, the Commodores shivered through a secret session Wednesday and it is expected they'll go through another closed-door session Thursday. Coach Art Guepe said there will be no contact work, but little else could be learned about the secret practice sessions he has ordered.

Commodores Work In Secret; Tigers Worry About Weather

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. —UP— Secrecy shrouded the Vanderbilt Thursday, while their Gator Bowl opponents, the Auburn Tigers, were worried it might not be warm enough Saturday for them to wear their new tear-away jerseys.

Working at a nearby high school field, the Commodores shivered through a secret session Wednesday and it is expected they'll go through another closed-door session Thursday. Coach Art Guepe said there will be no contact work, but little else could be learned about the secret practice sessions he has ordered.

Meanwhile, the Tigers hustled through a long afternoon session and even the loss of block-busting fullback Joe Childress failed to dampen their spirits. Instead they worried about the weather.

Coach Ralph (Shug) Jordan said, "Unless it warms up some, we are going to have to break out our old heavy jerseys again." Jordan said he thought there was little possibility it would be warm enough to use the new jerseys bought especially for the Tigers' third Gator Bowl appearance.

Chickasha Chicks Lack Experience And Height

By MAL ELLIOT Express Sports Editor CHICKASHA, Dec. 30 — As Chickasha's Chicks groom this week for Top o' Texas tournament it is with misgivings despite the fact that the four-team field is not as strong as in the past two years.

In the two previous tournaments, the Chicks wound up No. 2 and No. 3 with two of the best quintets in the school's history. This year, with only one returning starter, Coach Harley Day's defending Class A Oklahoma titlists seem to have lost much of their championship stature.

One glaring weakness is lack of height. Day had to bring along a 6-2 sophomore, Jesse Jennings, to bolster Chickasha's height in under. Although he is potentially one of the best cagers Chickasha has ever produced, Jennings is inexperienced with only four games under his belt.

Garye LaFevre, hustling 6-0 senior who was named to Dell Magazine's list of prospective all-stars, leads the team in scoring. LaFevre, Chickasha's best bet for all-state honors, also led last year's team in tournament scoring.

The Chicks have lost much of their scoring punch. LaFevre furnishes the club's outside accuracy and Jennings' fading jump shots are hard to stop much like Lavorn Wright, last year's standout pivot man.

Defense, zone style, has been the feature of Harley Day-coached Chickasha teams in the past. This phase of the game is at its weakest this year.

The Chicks have considerable speed but a glaring lack of experience.

Chickasha has chalked up a 3-1 season record so far. They defeated two Oklahoma City teams, Northeast and Putnam City, and downed arch-rival Anadarko before losing an inter-state contest to Bienville, La.

The Chicks hope for repeat honors in the state tournament this year with the prospect of the polish provided by a tough 25-game schedule.

AAU Probing Track Expenses

NEW YORK —UP— Dan Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the national AAU, Friday challenged Coach Forrest C. (Phog) Allen of Kansas to name the track athletes he claims "have become wealthy in AAU meets in the East through expense money."

Allen made the charge Tuesday at Kansas City, while discussing the AAU handling of the Wes Santee case. Santee, suspended in October on grounds he accepted excessive expense money for three California track meets, was reinstated Nov. 20, but the AAU has since reopened the case.

"He went out to California when he was invited and he got travel expenses. And that supposedly makes him a professional. But, I know a half dozen or almost a dozen young men who have become wealthy in AAU meets in the East through expense money," the Kansas basketball coach said.

TAKING CARE OF MOTHER—School officials aren't interested only in youngsters. Especially in Neilsville, Wis. There officials permitted teacher Eunice Richardson, right, to park her mobile home next to Benjamin School so she could keep an eye on her 81-year-old mother, Evangeline, seated. This unique arrangement lets Miss Richardson make frequent visits during the day to see if her mother is all right. It also eases the teacher's shortage. The two women have lived in mobile homes since 1944. At left is an unidentified neighbor.

Polio Vaccine Produced Faster Than It's Used

WASHINGTON — UP — Salts large unused stocks in some areas is the effort of health departments to stockpile enough shots to keep ahead of supplies in the next few months.

A nationwide survey showed Friday there are currently about five million shots — the equivalent of nearly two months' output — on the production lines faster than it's used. But demand is picking up fast and is expected to run far ahead of supplies in the next few months.

But state health authorities said they are not concerned. Main reason for the delay in the vaccine's use, they said, is that many areas have been stockpiling shots for mass inoculation programs.

A month or so ago public health officials were worried about lagging demand for the vaccine. Now their main concern is whether they will get enough vaccine to provide protection to millions of eligible children before the 1956 polio season hits next spring.

"Demand has been increasing steadily," said Dr. Malcolm H. Merrill, California health director. "There is a question at this moment whether vaccine production can keep up with demand, especially if the current increase in acceptance continues."

There have been conflicting reports about how well the nationwide inoculation program has been doing since the government's voluntary distribution system went into effect this fall. To get the facts, United Press correspondents went to the top health officials in the 48 states. Highlights of their report:

DEMAND
Demand for the vaccine was reported to be very great in five states, substantial in 18, about equal to supplies in 51 and small in only six—Idaho, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Minnesota, Tennessee, and Virginia. Four states didn't report. In many areas, health authorities have been discouraging demand because of limited supplies.

USE
The 43 states which were able to supply figures reported a total of 4,968,114 shots currently in the hands of health authorities and physicians. The figure is believed conservative. Also, more than three million shots, recently released by the government, now are en route to the states for use.

Some of the vaccine apparently has not been used because of local apathy. But the big reason for

ABUSES
Illinois suspended commercial distribution of the vaccine until Feb. 1. Dr. Ruth Church, state vaccine coordinator, reported "there was a feeling that some vaccine had been diverted to non-priority groups." She said the supply situation will be re-evaluated in February and a decision made about resumption of distribution in commercial channels.

Health authorities cited three main reasons for the sharp drop in demand for the vaccine this fall: 1—Public uncertainty about the vaccine's safety. 2—Natural apathy setting in after the polio season ended. 3—A slump in mass inoculations during the change-over from the school program of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and the voluntary, state-by-state distribution system. The word from the nation's health authorities is that before long, they will be able to use every drop of serum they can get, despite recent reports of lagging demand.

INOCULATIONS
Some inoculations are now being given in most states but the pattern varies widely. Injections are currently being given on a state-wide basis in 13 states, in many communities in nine states, and in only a few communities in 11 states. In another 11 states, very few injections are being given, mainly because of inadequate supplies or opposition to the vaccine. Four states didn't report.

Sheriff Tells Lions About Crime Causes

Sheriff Rufe Jordan yesterday asked the cooperation of the Lions Club in assisting the local Sheriff and Police Departments. He asked Lions to report any unusual situations or happenings that they might see or encounter, at any time, to law enforcement officers.

Outlining the principal causes of lawlessness, Jordan mentioned that 85 percent of the inmates in state penitentiaries were concerned with narcotics, in some degree. Narcotics are one of main offenders, he pointed out, adding that sexual perversion and liquor were also contributing causes of crime.

"Burglars could not function at night without stimulants of some kind," Jordan said.

In recent reports made by the local Police and Sheriff's Department, very little narcotics were discovered in illegal use here. About two weeks ago, two medical kits were taken from parked cars at Highland General Hospital. When recovered the kits were found intact except for missing drugs, probably taken by addicts.

The problems of prostitution and perversion were pointed out by Sheriff Jordan, who stressed the need for legislative law for perverts. He closed by saying that "undesirables" should be kept on the move.

Colored slides of offenders, taken over a period of about five years, were shown by Deputy Sheriff Buck Haggard.

Past Sweethearts of the club were introduced and recognized by Lion Tamer Bunny Schultz, who planted a kiss on each lovely face. The six girls were: Pat Reynolds, a student at Stephens College; Carol Foster, Texas Tech; Carroll Paxson, Texas Christian University; Betty Osborne, Hardin-Simmons University; Jo Tooley, McMurry; and Jerry Sloan, North Texas State.

Joe Tooley announced that the birthday and founders program in honor of Melvin Jones would be observed by the club next month. He outlined steps in gaining new members for the forthcoming membership drive, and urged Lions to bring guests to meetings.

Calvin Whalley, vice-president, suggested a goal of 12 new members to be brought into the club next month.

Ray Duncan, program chairman for December, presented the program. Ten guests were present.

CLEANER, FASTER, WORKLESS DRYING

FOR ONLY 10% DOWN EASY TERMS

that's what you get with the NEW 1956 Whirlpool Fully-Automatic Dryer

- 4 Four drying temperatures. A safe automatic heat for every fabric... 3 settings, WARM to HOT, for regular fabrics plus a special setting for safe, gentle drying of delicate and sheer fabrics.
- Controlled air circulation. Gentlest drying possible! Heats and tempers drying air, then circulates it through tumbling clothes in a scientific pattern to give fast, gentle and efficient drying.
- Big family-size capacity. You dry more clothes in less time with fewer loads. Whirlpool dries quickly a 20-lb. load of wet clothes. Satin-smooth drum eliminates snagging or tearing.
- Dries better than the outdoors. Clothes get fluffier and softer in Whirlpool. And, there's no dust, sun-fading, matted appearance, clothespin "dog ears" or wear and tear from wind-lashing.

ANOTHER ART "MECHANIZED"—This is the season when hotel and restaurant chefs display their artistic skill in ice sculpture for window displays and dinner centerpieces. But now they can throw away their chisels and relax. A Cincinnati ice manufacturer has developed a molding process which creates any one of a dozen ice-statue subjects by just freezing water inside metal molds. Above, Paul Brogan, president of the company, displays a mold-cast fish centerpiece. He says it's just as decorative as the pieces produced by laborious hand-carving. But no assembly-line technique can overcome one weakness of ice sculpture. No matter how it's made, it will melt eventually at room temperature.
